International President To Give Address

More Than 300 In Attendance; Full Program Promised

By C. W. RATLIFF
Journal Staff Writer

More than 400 energetic civic club leaders from 50 towns of the Panhandle-Plains area gathered in Lubbock today for the annual district convention of Lions International, featuring appearance of International President Eugene S. Briggs of Enid, Okla.

The convention got under way this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Clifton theater after an early-morning breakfast honoring key members, presidents and secretaries at the Hilton hotel, sponsored by the Dumas club.

Meetings Held Sunday

Pre-convention activities Sunday included registration, meeting of District Governor Wm. R. Rutherford of Dumas and his cabinet, a buffet supper and get-to-gether, all at the Hilton hotel.

Highlighting today's program was the address of Dr. Briggs, who is also president of Phillips university, this afternoon at 2:40 o'clock in the First Baptist church auditorium.

"Politics" held the attention of most of the Lions early in the convention with activities centered around selection of next year's convention city. Childress, South Amarillo and Plainview are bidding for the convention.

One Announced Candidate

Only one man, Supt of Schools Curtis A. Cryer of Borger, has announced candidacy for district governor to succeed Rutherford, although a "darkhorse" usually shows up in convention sessions.

President Wayne Henly of the Lubbock club called this morning's general convention session to order and presided during the address of welcome by Dr. Doyle D. Jackson of Lubbock, response by Dr. Wm. A. Robertson of Brownfield and entertainment.

District Gov. Rutherford was presented the gavel at 10:10 a. m. and will preside over sessions this afternoon and Tuesday morning. This afternoon's session will be at the First Baptist church and Tuesday morning meeting again at the Clifton theater.

Political Swap Is Alleged By Lubbock Solon

Rumors Say Jester Would Be Chosen Envoy To Mexico

(By The United Press)

AUSTIN, May 23.—Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock called upon Lt. Gov. Allan Shivers today to deny that he was engaging in "political shennanigans" in going to Washington to endorse a compromise on the tidelands issue.

The West Texas legislator provoked a series of personal privilege speeches by quoting reports that Shivers sought to gain favor with President Truman by advocating a compromise as a means of gaining the appointment of Gov. Beauford Jester as ambassador to Mexico.

Cause Political Upheaval

"I sincerely believe," said Smith, "that should these (reports) be true, they will probably cause a political upheaval that will rock this state and the nation."

Shivers, returning from a tour of the east, scheduled a press conference for 2 p. m.

Should Jester be named ambassador to Mexico, Smith pointed out, it would make Shivers governor of Texas.

"Frankly," the Lubbock legislator added, "it would be perfectly agreeable with me for Governor Jester to go anywhere he would want to, but it is my opinion that if a trade is in the wind the people have a right to know the facts."

A Constant Critic

Smith has been a constant critic of Jester, and has made two speeches against the governor this session.

"We members of the House who are directly responsible to the people of this state would be fools to sit by and see our tidelands traded around for political gain without bringing these things out in the open for the people who elected us to observe."

If the reports are true, Smith said, the people "will show these gentlemen what they think of such political maneuvering the next time their name appears on a ballot for an office."

Snyder Solon Backs Smith

Rep. Sterling Williams of Snyder rose to support Smith, claiming that "the people of Texas do not want a compromise on the tidelands."

He called for the state officials "to fight this lawsuit and let them take their chances with the people like anyone else."

Rep. John Crosthwait of Dallas objected to "these silly personal privilege speeches which have already cost the state about $2,000."

Rep. Sam Hanna of Dallas jokingly suggested that "we secede from the union if it'll stop these speeches."

Military Rites Will Be Held For Forrestal

Ex-Secretary Of Defense To Rest With War Dead

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 23. — James V. Forrestal, so wearied from nine years of government service that he took his own life, will have a final resting place with the nation's war dead in Arlington national cemetery.

The national military establishment announced to day that burial will be with full military honors, and that the funeral tentatively has been set for 9 a. m. (CST) Wednesday.

The Navy convened a board of inquiry to inquire into the death leap of the 57-year-old former cabinet officer from the 16th floor of the Navy's towering hospital in nearby Bethesda, Md.

JAMES V. FORRESTAL

Friends Write Verdict

His friends already have written their own verdict: He died because he worked so hard for his country.

That was the note, too, of an outpouring of tributes from the nation's great and from members of Congress.

The military establishment said Forrestal's grave will be "within the vicinity" of that of Frank Knox, wartime secretary of the Navy whom Forrestal succeeded.

Mrs. Forrestal has requested that the funeral be kept simple, it was learned.

229 Persons Injured; 900 Houses Razed

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Hardest Hit As 21 Die; Hundreds Are Left Homeless

(By The Associated Press)

A rapid succession of tornadoes and other weather fury killed 46 persons and caused millions of dollars of property damage over the weekend in widely scattered areas.

The storms raked 10 states, injured at least 229 persons and smashed 900 houses. In Washington, Basil O'Connor, president of the American Red Cross said the organization had set aside $500,000 for relief of the many hundreds left homeless.

Hardest hit were Missouri, Illinois and Indiana where a total of 44 persons were killed. Other deaths were reported in Kentucky and Pennsylvania while West Virginia, Texas, Tennessee, Iowa and Maryland reported heavy property damage.

Cape Girardeau, in southeastern Missouri with 21 dead and property damage estimated at between three and four million dollars suffered the most. A survey of that hard-hit city showed 202 houses totally destroyed, 231 damaged, 18 business buildings and a church destroyed, and 12 business buildings and another church damaged in the city of 20,000 population. More than 200 persons were injured and hundreds left homeless.

Other Towns Suffer

Three other Missouri towns, not directly in the path of the twister, each reported one dead. They are Clarksville, Bessville and Cabool.

Indiana's 11 dead and 47 injured are at Shelburn, Terre Haute and Clay City. Ralph C. Werner, a Red Cross spokesman said the state's damage would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Eight persons were killed at Shelburn, two near the outskirts of Terre Haute and one near Clay City. The twister missed the business districts of the two cities. In the west side of Shelburn, a town of 1,000, the tornado demolished 65 houses, and damaged 95, 60 of them severely.

Illinois had a total of nine dead, five of Wood River and four at Palestine.

At Wood River, up the Mississippi from St. Louis, 325 homes in the city of 9,000 were destroyed and 55 persons injured in a 25 square block area.

The four persons killed at Palestine were in a highway lunch stand which collapsed.

Abilene Homes Leveled; Four Persons Hurt

(By The Associated Press)

Early-summer storms hit scattered Texas areas last night and today, but the threat of a major flood was lifted from the Trinidad area.

Both the Weather bureau and Army engineers said levees holding back swollen Trinity river waters would hold at Trinidad.

There were spectacular displays of lightning, thunder, rain and some hail at scattered Texas points, including Abilene, Fort Worth, Texarkana, Dallas and Corsicana during the night and early today.

Injuries At Abilene

Winds of tornadic force struck Abilene, injuring at least four persons, flattering half a dozen homes and blowing several others from their foundations. Heavy hail fell.

Ten miles north of Abilene a twister struck the Harley area, causing severe damage to wheat.

Fort Worth had two thunderstorms, each accompanied by gusts of 50 miles per hour. The first came at 10 p. m. and the second at 3 a. m. Hail accompanied the 3 a. m. storm and trees were uprooted all over the city. Power and telephone service was knocked out intermittently and downtown plate glass windows were blown in.

Lightning set fire to a 55,000,-barrel Magnolia Petroleum company crude oil tank at Fort Worth. Rain totaling 1,5 inches accompanied the Fort Worth storm.

High Winds At Dallas

Dallas also had two storms, at about the same times, but damage was mostly limited to blown-over trees.

At Corsicana, high winds and lightning accompanied a light rain, and some hail fell in the northern section of Navarro county.

Late last week a major flood had been predicted for Trinidad.

This morning the stage at Trinidad was 41.1. A crest of about 42 feet was predicted for tonight or tomorrow morning.

It was presumed the destructive

2. Berlin, including currency questions.

3. Preparation of a peace treaty for Germany.

4. Preparation of an Austrian independence treaty.

The Austrian question has been deadlocked over many a long meeting of the foreign ministers' deputies, and Austria has begged the council to take it up at this session. Like Germany, Austria is

Red Attack On Shanghai Fails

By FRED HAMPSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

SHANGHAI, May 23.—Communist troops tried all day to track Shanghai's defenses. But at nightfall they had not achieved a break through.

Some progress was made in spots. In others they failed.

The mid-day garrison communique described the Pootung battle as nearing a climax. From the Associated Press office just off the Shanghai Bund we had only to look out of the window to confirm the communique.

The center of the fighting was directly across the Whangpoo from the heart of Shangmai. Fighting raged less than two miles away. It started about 10 a. m. and was roaring on into the night.

Thousands Watch Battle

Thousands watched the battle from high buildings and the streets. Shell bursts set no less than 40 fires during the day. Some burned for hours.

Government P-51s and Mosquito bombers alternated in bombing and strafing. Sometimes the Reds answered with ground machineguns. They were not effective. Artillery and mortars rumbled at intervals of 10 to 20 minutes.

In the afternoon with the battle not more than 2,000 yards away, two ancient, rust-covered riverboats were dragged upstream and jockeyed into the middle of the

CITY MUST MATCH $1,000 GRANT

Commission Agrees To Boost In Funds For Welfare Group

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

The City-County Welfare association today was granted a conditional increased appropriation following a report of insufficient funds.

A boost of $1,000 each per quarter for the county and city was agreed to by the County Commissioners court, providing Lubbock city commission matches the allotment.

"Current welfare appropriations are not enough to cover our expenditures," Gerald Jarvis, director of the City-County Welfare association told the court this morning.

Jarvis presented each of the commissioners with a copy of the welfare costs for April which listed a total of $2,-168.61 spent on 94 cases. Of this latter figure 74 were new cases.

At the present time the welfare association receives $2,000 per quarter from the county and a similar sum from the city of Lubbock. Jarvis asked that this be raised to $3,000 each until a

HOUSTON, May 23 (AP) — Mrs. R. P. Stovall, about 48, wife of a dog sergeant at Harlem state prison farm, was found dead in her house at the prison farm about 10 a. m. today.

Mrs. Stovall's body was found with the throat slashed and several cuts on the right arm.

Government Confident Of New Strike Talks

DETROIT, May 23 (AP) — Attempts to end the 18-day Ford strike stood still today as both sides sat back and waited for the government to bring them together again.

Federal mediators said they were "confident" that sessions could be resumed soon following a 24-hour cooling-off period.

Negotiations ended abruptly shortly before midnight last night. They were still deadlocked after 12 days of heated debate.

Owners Report Property Loss

A burglary—perhaps two of them—and several thefts took priority this morning in investigation of weekend complaints to peace officers here.

F. L. Butler of 1415 Ave. L said eight to 10 new sheets, a desk lighter, underwear and a wrist watch were taken in what was described as a theft from his residence.

A burglary at 1614 Broadway resulted in loss of $20 in silver from a piggy bank, R. F. Spikes said. The house was broken and entered at a front door, police were told.

Tools Stolen

Henry White of Shallowater and Allie Callaway of 609 Ave. L, carpenters, reported theft of their tool boxes and a 200-foot roll of heavy electric cord from a construction project at 3600-block Thirty-first.

Value was assessed at $495. The tools included a $105 skill saw, police said.

SELF CONQUEST CALLED CHALLENGE

High School Commencement Sermon Given By Dr. Young

By OPAL DIXON
Journal Staff Writer

"No outside power can ever do to us what we can do to ourselves," Dr. M. Norvel Young, minister of Broadway Church of Christ, told Lubbock Senior High school's graduating class in the commencement sermon Sunday afternoon in the school auditorium.

"The greatest threat to our own nation is to our souls, ourselves," he said. Nations are made up of souls, not factories or armies, he said, emphasizing the danger of losing a nation from inside.

The greatest challenge, he said, "is to conquer your own self. You will always live with yourself. Don't kid yourself. There is no invention, no success materially that can make it unnecessary for you to conquer your own soul."

He described the graduating students as "a conquering army infiltrating in every city, town, hamlet, farm, range in this great land. In just a few years," he said, "you take over business, churches, schools.

Woman Polishes Talent, Wins Fame When Family Shows Little Interest In Her

ENSEMBLE. . . This sleek tailleur consists of flared double-breasted jacket of striped sharkskin over a camisole dress of gabardine.

"DEAR MARY HAWORTH: All my life I have loved people for what they were and what they did, day by day. They didn't have to be famous or do some piece of showmanship to win me.

Honesty, kindness, a disposition to share work and play, were qualities I appreciated above all else when I found them in others' lives. Race, faith, wealth or poverty were incidental.

When I realized some years ago that my husband and children, growing older, had less and less time and thought for me, I undertook to develop a talent, rather than feel lonely and put-aside. I felt that I had failed somehow as a wife and mother, since they seemed to care so little about sharing life with me.

SHE FEELS STRANGER TO HUSBAND, PROGENY

NOW I've become rather famous through no designs of my own, and now my family wants to be photographed with me, to go places I am invited; and it's "Mom, that's great" or "I certainly am proud of this wife of mine." Yet I am no sweeter, no better today, than I was when they passed me by.

My husband was a person who "got and forgot." And as the children grew up they were much amused by my standards for showing gratitude and reciprocal courtesy—not just to me, but to everyone. Now I feel strangers with my husband and children; the former warmth and tenderness is gone and my heart feels empty; and I do not care for laudatory publicity. What is wrong with me? (Signed) T. Y.

SHE IS FROZEN BY RESENTMENT

DEAR T. Y.: The general appearance of your letter, written in lead pencil on poor-quality paper, is hardly in keeping with your supposedly rather famous, publicized and socially sought-after status today.

Thus I wonder just what talent you've proved or what success you may have; or whether you are posing for discussion a "day dream" situation that sometimes occurs to you—in which you fancy yourself famous "on your own" and getting even with a neglectful family, by being coldly indifferent to their belated appreciation of your worth.

Or maybe you took a prize in baking, canning or needlework in a local exhibition, and had an hour of glory that turned your head. In any case, your emotionally "empty" attitude towards family is real enough, and it amounts to giving a new twist to long-standing feelings of resentment.

NEUROTIC DRIFT AWAY FROM LIFE

IN all probability you had a parasitical tendency to "devour" husband and children; that is, to absorb all their time, thought and affections, and dominate them sentimentally. And when they fought this "mom"-tendency, striving to maintain some God-given inner freedom of spirit, you felt "put aside,"—wronged, rejected and fruistrated in your drive for love-security.

You say you felt that you had somehow failed as a wife and mother; but there was no humility in your conclusion. Rather you felt stung by the family's supposed "ingratitude," so you hardened your heart against them, and whether or not you've achieved worldly success, at least you crave that alternative ego-compensation.

At present you are in a neurotic drift of psychological withdrawal from any type of intimacy, which is a drift towards death—and to bring you out of it I prescribe immediate reading of Agnes Sanford's ebullient humorous book "The Healing Light," (Macalaster Park Publishers)—a dynamic textbook on how to love, and the profit that is in it.—M. H.

Man Who Resisted Sanity Hearing With Shotgun Overcome By Drugged Soft Drink

McHENRY, N. D., May 23 (AP)—Merle Hoggarth, who stood off all comers with a shotgun for 30 hours, was in line for credit today for civic accomplishment.

Hoggarth cemented the friendship among folks in McHenry, a town of 400 in east central North Dakota. McHenry residents joined forces in their resentment to outsiders attracted here by the incident. The people of McHenry like Hoggarth.

He barricaded himself in rooms above the small restaurant operated by his wife when authorities sought him Friday for a sanity hearing. He got a drink of water from a fire hose by the ruse of lighting rags.

Tear Gas Failed

Tear gas attacks failed. Hoggarth was given a drugged soft drink. It apparently had no effect. A second similar drink worked. Steve Fisher, one of Hoggarth's many friends dis'odged him.

Fisher, standing on an adjoining garage roof, peeked into a window and saw Hoggarth dozing in a chair. He jumped in and snatched a shotgun from Hoggarth's lap. Four other men followed. Hoggarth was whisked out of town by authorities.

Thomas A. Roney, Carrington, states attorney, said Hoggarth, about 45, had twice been a patient in a state hospital.

Plaque Dedicated To Roosevelt At First School He Attended

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 23. (AP)—A bronze plaque honoring Franklin D. Roosevelt has been placed in the big granite building of the Roosevelt School where the late president first went to school.

The plaque was unveiled yesterday by his widow as a crowd of 400—including senators and school children—stood by.

Mrs. Roosevelt, in a short address, told the present students of the school to "remember that you are learning to live in the world with other people."

Senator Speaks

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn) dedicated the plaque to the late president and said "his voice admonishes us to win the peace completely.

"Because he coveted for all a decent livelihood, a decent home, a decent education, and a decent later life, he was criticized," the senator said.

"But because he was ambitious that his people attain these goals," Kefauver added, "he was also the most loved man in modern America."

The ceremony, driven indoors because of heavy rains, was held in the school's main building.

Melon-Craving Victim Of Leukemia Claimed

RICHMOND, Calif., May 23 (AP)—Ronnie Calvert has enjoyed his last watermelon.

The three year old leukemia victim, whose craving for the fruit got into the news a few weeks ago, died yesterday.

Ronnies came down with the disease last December.

His craving for watermelons, typical in that disease, brought gifts of melons from both Florida and Mexico. The largest shipment, more than a score, was flown from Florida by a B-29 crew on a routine training flight to the West coast.

Funeral services will be Tuesday in Warren, Ark., where Ronnie's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Christine Calvert, lives.

Police Hunting Shotgun Slayer

WINDSOR, Ont., May 23. (AP)—Provincial police sought today to turn up a clue in the mysterious shotgun slaying of a Ford Motor Co. inspector.

The victim, William D. Allen, 37, was felled by a shotgun blast at midnight Saturday as he ate a sandwich and worked a crossword puzzle in the kitchen of his home. He died early Sunday of head wounds.

Officers said the assassin stood on the porch of Allen's home, rammed the shotgun through a window and fired from about seven feet.

Allen's wife, Delphine, was under doctor's care, suffering from shock at discovering the fatally wounded man.

Wife Fixed Snack

After returning from a party Saturday, Mrs. Allen prepared the late snack for her husband and then went to bed. Their 10-year-old daughter, Lorraine, was asleep in a room next the kitchen.

Detective Inspector James P. Campbell said there was no indication of a robbery motive, since no attempt had been made to enter the house.

Allen worked for Ford's Canadian division. The plant has been shut down for a week as a result of the Ford strike in Detroit.

Crash Of Jet Planes Fatal To Texas Flier

WILLIAMS AIR FORCE BASE, Ariz., May 23. (AP)—A collision of two F-80 Shooting Star jet planes killed William H. Driskill, 27, San Angelo, Tex.

Officials here announced last night that the body of Driskill, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Driskill, San Angelo, had been found in the cockpit of his jet fighter 35 miles southeast of here.

Cadet Robert G. Jones, 21, Baltimore, Md., pilot of the other plane in the 25,000-foot high crash, has not yet been found.

Lieut. Driskill was a veteran of World War II and served 30 months in the Pacific theater.

With the close of school, congratulations are in order . . . to those who graduate . . . to those who move ahead . . . and too, to the schools in Lubbock and the surrounding territory for their sustained health program throughout the year. In each of the school cafeterias, milk was served with the children's lunches. Many, no doubt, have thus acquired, or retained, the wholesome habit of drinking milk daily. During the summer months it is only natural that children will expend more energy at play. Milk is is an important energy food! Let's keep it in the children's daily diet.

Hubbers Blast Gassers, 9-5

Dukes, Blue Sox In Nip-And-Tuck Race

Abilene's challenging Blue Sox came off no better than when the day started Sunday, splitting a doubleheader with the Albuquerque Dukes to remain percentage points behind the leaders.

The Dukes walked off with the first game 14 to 3, but the Sox rallied to cop the nightcap 7 to 3. It gave Abilene two of the first three games in this four-game series.

In other games around the league, Lamesa climbed into undisputed possession of fourth place by licking Amarillo 7 to 2; Lubbock blasted the third-place Borger Gassers 9 to 5; and Pampa came up with a 12 to 4 drubbing of Clovis.

Ace Sent To Showers

Abilene's ace righthander, Rena Vega, wasn't much of a puzzle to the Dukes in the first game and left the scene of the crime early as the visitors blasted his offerings with monotonous regularity. But in the second game it was a different story, with Tex Coapland outpitching Don Ferrarese to insure a Sox victory.

I. B. Palmer, who rapidly is becoming a most versatile performer, came out from behind the mask in the fourth inning at Clovis to stop Pampa. But by the time Palmer turned pitcher, the Oilers had taken advantage of Clovis generosity to score 10 runs. That was more than enough to win, with Charles Bodine hurling good ball.

Wins Seventh Victory

Stan Grzywacz pitched the Lamesa Loboes into fourth place and, by doing so, won his seventh victory of the year against one defeat. Third Baseman Paul Halter slammed in two runs with a homer and single to account for all the Gold Sox runs,t but it wasn' enough.

Lamesa got only seven hits off Ray Faust, a righthander making his first start for Amarillo, but bunched the safeties to give the Gold Sox their fourth straight loss.

An unearned tally gave the Loboes a 1-1 tie in the fourth and they went ahead to stay in the fifth on there runs. In that frame, D. C. Miller singled in two runs to pace the attack.

Tonight, Darwin Dobbs or Jim Reynolds will go for Amarillo, while Leon Hayes will pitch the finale for Lamesa at 8:15

The Hubbers moved up into a challenging position for either fourth or fifth place by winning their third straight game at the expense of the sliding Borger Gassers. Chris Haskins pitched a superb gall game and the Hubbers supported him with a 17-hit attack at the expense of Manager Eddie Carnett, who turned hurler yesterday.

Never Lost Lead

Three runs in the first inning, paved by the only Borger error of the game, gave the Hubbers a lead they never relinquished. Bob Ferguson slammed a home run in the second for the Gassers and it was one of three hits the visitors were allowed in the first eight innings.

In the bottom of the seventh, Haskins was batting with a two-two count, when Carnett came inside with a fast ball. Haskins tried to duck and get out of the way, but the ball caught him on the top of the head over the left ear.

Haskins went down, knocked out by the pitch, but soon recovered and rested for the remainder of the inning. Charles Willis was a courtesy runner and Haskins went out to finish his game.

He had no trouble in the eighth, but the Gassers got to him in the ninth. With one down, three straight hits and a walk produced one run and, after Earl Butler's fly had produced another, Verdon Gilchrist singled to center for a third, the fourth run crossing on an error.

Everybody Was Hitting

Haskins induced Carnett to loft to Joe Wisniewski and the husky hurler had a creditable seven-hit victory, his second of the year, to his credit.

Everyone in the Hubber lineup, except Wisniewski, hit safely yesterday and the task of driving in runs was distributed evenly. A crowd of 1,406 fans watched the game under sunny skies.

Tonight at 8:15 the two teams conclude the three-game series, with Jim Cain slated to hurl for Borger and Bill Grafton, (1-3) going for Lubbock.

PITCHER IS SOLD

HOUSTON, May 23 (U.P.)—Glenn Gardner, who has been charged with five losses and no victories so far this season has been sold to the Little Rock Pebs of the Southern association, Houston Buff President Allen Russell said today. Gardner had appeared in eight games. Russell said the sale was conditional

Most home runs ever hit by a pitcher in one season were the nine belted by Wes Ferrell with the 1931 Cleveland Indians.

DiMaggio To Suit Up For Workout Tonight

NEW YORK, May 23 (U.P.)—Joe DiMaggio, eager to test his ailing heel and irked at being idle so long, will put on a uniform and work out with the New York Yankees before tonight's game with the St. Louis Browns.

DiMaggio will participate in batting and fielding practice but Yankee manager Casey Stengel today gave no indication as to when the veteran outfielder will be ready to play in a game. Stengel, however, pointed out that DiMaggio might be used as a pinch-hitter later.

DiMaggio's last appearance in a Yankee uniform was on April 11 when he played two innings of an exhibition game against Dallas of the Texas league. Following the game, he left for Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore for treatment of his right heel.

Extra Qualification Set For Auto Races

INDIANAPOLIS, May 23 (U.P.)—An extra qualification day for the Memorial Day 500-mile auto race will be Wednesday because rain washed out the fourth day of competitions yesterday.

Five days originally were scheduled. Qualifications also will be Saturday. So far 24 cars have qualified in the 10-mile trials.

With at least two dozen cars still slated to battle for the remaining nine positions, a hectic last-minute rush and bump campaign was expected. Late-comers will attempt to oust earlier qualifiers by making better speeds in the four-lap trial.

Dallas Continuing To Set The Pace

Ed Gysen Proves To Be Goat As Sports Slip Into Second

By WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Shreveport used Ed Gysen as a stepping stone back into second place in the Texas league. The Beaumont pitcher is one who will argue the Sports are aptly named.

Shreveport won the first game of a doubleheader, yesterday, 6-3, and Gysen was charged with the loss. The Sports won the second, 7-6, and Gysen was recorded as the loser again.

Dallas Keeps Lead

In other games, Dallas stayed three and one-half games ahead of Shreveport by thumping Fort Worth, 9-5; San Antonio stayed in third despite a 2-5 licking by Houston, and Tulsa jumped on Oklahoma City, 11-8.

Shreveport chased Gysen in the first inning of the opening game with a four-run outburst. In the second game, Gysen relieved Kent Sterling in the fourth inning—as the Sports were off on another four-run spree.

Ben Guintini hit two home runs and scored five runs himself to lead Dallas to an easy victory.

Roy Sanner gained credit for his third victory against no defeats.

Five Free Passes

Houston used five free passes from Frank Biscan to good advantage in the first three innings and chalked up four runs in this span to go on and beat the Missions.

A seven run sixth inning gave Tulsa its decision and also gave Dave Jolly his sixth victory. Jolley survived a five-run barrage in the first.

The same teams meet again tonight.

Gate Of $100,000 Expected For Fight

CINCINNATI, O., May 23 (U.P.)—Promoter Sam Becker expected a gate of $100,000 at tonight's fight between Gus Lesnevich and Joey Maxim for the revived American light heavyweight championship in Cincinnati garden.

After a lapse of 24 years, the National Boxing association recently revived the American title as the first step toward forcing Freddie Mills of England to defend the world crown he wrested from Lesnevich last July.

Maxim of Cleveland was favored at 6-5 over veteran Lesnevich of Cliffside, N. J., in their quest for the American diadem last won by Gene Tunney before he decided to challenge for Jack Dempsey's world heavyweight crown.

Texas Tennis Star Is Downed In Sedgefield

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 23 (U.P.)—Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, a North Carolina university tennis star, defeated George Ball of El Paso, Tex., for the men's singles crown in the third annual Sedgefield Inn tennis championships here yesterday.

Seixas' smashing service and strong returns despite a stiff wind won three straight sets for him, 6-4, 7-5, 6-1. Seixas and Ball were seeded first and second in the tournament.

Seixas and Clark Tayler of North Carolina university won the men's doubles from Ball and William Lurie of New York, 6-3, 6-2, 12-14, 5-7.

Marshall Browns Konk Gladewater

(By The Associated Press)

The Marshall Browns sport a game and a half lead atop the East Texas league standings today after defeating the second-place Gladewater Bears, 6-4, yesterday.

The Kilgore Drillers swept a double-header from the Tyler Trojans, 11-3 and 14-8, to move into third place, only half a game behind Gladewater. Longview dropped from third to fourth place by losing to fifth-place Paris, 8-6. And Henderson edged Bryan, 8-7.

Missions Signup Levy As New First Baseman

SAN ANTONIO, May 23 (U.P.)—The San Antonio Missions, in the midst of a batting slump, got some promised power today with the arrival of first baseman Ed Levy, who had been a holdout.

Levy, former major league star, came to terms Saturday in a long distance telephone conversation with business manager Billy Byrd and promised to report today "in shape to take over first base." He has been playing semi-pro ball near his Florida home.

A defenseman has never won the Lady Byng trophy, awarded to the National Hockey League player who combines "gentlemanly conduct" with ability.

Parnell Keeps Sox In Chase

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Boston Red Sox can thank their lucky stars for pitcher Mel Parnell.

The 26-year-old sophomore has made seven starts and completed them all. He has won six and lost one.

The blond six-footer had to wait until the 12th before he was able to eke out a 3-2 decision over Virgil Trucks and the Detroit Tigers. Mel drove in two runs including the game-winning tally with a 12th inning single.

Tribe Loses Pair

The Philadelphia Athletics whipped Cleveland twice yesterday, 5-4 and 7-3. The crippled world champions now are in seventh place.

Ken Raffensberger, veteran lefthander of the Cincinnati Reds, shut out Brooklyn, 2-0, on one hit in the second game of a doubleheader in Cincinnati. The Dodgers took the opener, 3-0.

The Boston Braves tied the New York Giants for the National league leadership, beating the Chicago Cubs, 7-2 while the Giants divided a doubleheader with the Cardinals in St. Louis. The Redbirds won the opener, 3-2, on Stan Musial's three-run homer in the third. The Giants walloped six pitchers in the finale for a 13-4 triumph.

Phillies Beat Pirates

Dick Sisler's pinch hit double in the ninth scored Jack Mayo with the run that gave the Philadelphia Phillies a 6-5 victory over Pittsburgh in the first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was postponed by rain.

The Chicago White Sox scored all their runs in the last two innings to defeat Washington, 6-4.

Rain washed out the doubleheader between the St. Louis Browns and New York Yankees in New York.

JUST ANYTHING CAN HAPPEN

Joe Kirkwood, Jr., Cops Golf Tourney

PHILADELPHIA, May 23 (AP)—It just goes to show you: anything can happen in golf.

A movie star won the $15,000 Philadelphia Inquirer tournament yesterday from a field studded with many of the sport's top stars.

All Were Convinced

And young Joe Kirkwood, jr.,—in Hollywood he's the movie version of Joe Palooka—did it in a fashion that convinced spectators and opponents alike His 276 score for 72 holes was 12 strokes under par—a new competitive record for Whitemarsh Valley Country club's 6,670-yard layout. Along the victory road he shot a 66 on the second round that also was a stroke better than the old course record.

Joe finished all by himself. Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., carded 280, a shot better than his own winning total in 1948. It was just good enough to pick up $1,900 second money. Kirkwood got $2,600.

Others Trail Behind

Back of these two came Bobby Locke, the South African, with 281; Fred Haas, Jr., New Orleans, 282, and Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, 283. Three others bettered the four-round par total of 288. Jim Ferrier, San Francisco, had 285; Clayton Haefner Charlotte, N. C., 286; and Dutch Harrison, Little Rock, Ark., 287.

That 66 score Saturday, added to an opening round of 68, put Joe far in front of the field. And when he added another 68 yesterday he was out front all alone.

DENTON, May 23 (U.P.) — Dick Martin of Dallas today seeks to add the Denton invitational golf title to the one he won at Corsicana a week ago when he meets Billy Maxwell of North Texas State in the 24-hole finals of the four-day tourney.

Martin brushed aside Dick McLendon of Denton 4 and 2 in yesterday's quarterfinals, then trimmed Gene Towry of North Texas 2 and 1 in the afternoon semifinals. Towry had knocked out Leonard White of Dallas 5 and 4 in the quarterfinals.

Maxwell advanced over two other North Texas players, defeating Buster Reed 2 and 1 in the quarterfinals and Joe Conrad one up, 21 holes in the semifinals. Conrad ousted Spud Cason, Fort Worth, 4 and 3, in the quarterfinals.

ASPEN WOOD COOLER PADS

Manufactured from odorless, high altitude, young aspen. Each perfect fibre efficiently maintains its fluffy, spring type resiliency, its water absorption and cooling qualities even under the most severe summer conditions. When the wood fibre in a pad becomes clogged with dirt, your cooler loses its efficiency very fast. Get the maximum efficiency from your evaporative cooler, change your pads at least once a year and more often if they become clogged and fail to cool as they should. Remember, YOUR AIR IS COOLED IN THE PAD, NO WHERE ELSE! Ask your service man to use factory made cooler pads manufactured by Anderson-Young Electric Co., available for all makes of Evaporative Air Conditioners at the following Sno-Breeze

RAW WATER IS DANGEROUS!
Chlorinate With SURECLOR

RAW WATER is water from any source—surface, streams, lakes, tanks shallow or deep wells. Any water that has not been tested for purity at least every 30 days, or treated by Health Department approved methods, is not safe for human or farm animal consumption. Many human and animal diseases such as typhoid, dysentary, cholera, hook worm, summer complaint, tuberculosis, anthrax, glanders, and stomach intestinal worms are often caused by contaminated water. Don't take chances—RAW WATER IS DANGEROUS.

INEXPENSIVE: SURECLOR, the automatic water operated hypo-feeder, is especially designed to sterilize contaminated or questionable domestic pressure water supplies, and small community water systems. Lowest Cost. Easy to Install. Simple to Operate. LOW MAINTENANCE: Fabricated of transparent plastics. Complete operating visible through unit. Requires no service unless or chlorine and water.

With exception of ball check valves, no moving parts to wear out. Chlorinating agent—household bleach (Sodium Hypochlorite 5.25% available chlorine). Available at most any grocery store. Cost less than 10c per 1000 gallons water sterilized. The amount of chlorine usually required is between a trace and 1 part per million, to make water safe for human or animal consumption without boiling or other treatment.

DEPENDABLE: Operates by water pressure. Fully automatic and on the job 24 hours a day. Positive check on correct chlorine content is quickly and easily determined by a color density test. Built-in test set with each SURECLOR. Many municipal water works install SURECLOR to emergency stand-by unit for pumps electrically.

'MR. BASEBALL', 86, IS LOOKING AHEAD

Connie Mack Still Dreaming Of 'Just One More' Pennant

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 23 — At 86 your dreams are more likely to be of the past than of the future—but no so today with Connie Mack.

The lean, gray leader of the Philadelphia Athletics had his rampaging white elephants up in second place in the American league pennant race.

And once again the grand old man of the diamond was demanding:

"Just one more pennant."

Like A Prayer

Only this time it was something like a prayer.

For the sands are running low on the tall tactician who 67 years ago came out of East Brookfield, Mass., to baseball immortality.

Some will say that he has had more than his share—nine pennants and five world championships. Yet no one would begrudge one final bit of glory to the man who has devoted his life to the game since the long-ago day when a slatty catcher named Cornelius McGillicuddy found his niche in life.

For the last 15 years have been hard on "Mr Baseball," nothing like the previous 50. He spaced his victories pretty well before that and the fans never got too down on him. It hasn't been that way of late.

Because Connie hasn't had a winner since 1931 and they said that the parade had passed him by.

They were great years in 1929, 1930 and 1931. The A's had a powerhouse and Mack was the master strategist.

Al Simmons . . . Bing Miller . . . Mule Haas . . . Jimmie Foxx . . . Jimmy Dykes . . . Max Bishop . . . Joe Boley . . . Mickey Cochrane . . . Lefty Grove . . . and George Earnshaw.

All great names in baseball history. They won three straight pennants. But when they blew their final world series the old man broke them up. The club was second the next year and then dropped to third. Since then it has been disastrous.

In 14 of those last 15 years the Athletics have been mired in the second division. Nine times they were dead last.

Closing On Yankees

The club boomed up to fourth place last season and now it is closing in on the league-leading Yankees.

Naturally, it is a long run to the October wire. Anything can happen to a winning ball club, and all too often does.

But this looks like a new deal for the long-patient Connie. He has good pitching with such hurlers as Lou Brissie, Joe Coleman, Dick Fowler, Alex Kellner and Bob Shantz. And, for a change, the club has the spirit to come from behind and win those precious close ones.

"Sam Chapman, who has regained his pre-war form, and Eddie Joost make the difference in power," Connie explained. "Ferris Fain makes the difference in spirit."

Certainly it is a club which is going to give anybody a battle. They may do it for Connie.

In recent years, Mack has turned more and more of the duties over to his coaches. Currently two of his "boys," Simmons and Dykes, are carrying most of the load.

But Connie is still right there every day, a marvel at 86 who is driven by his obsession for:

"Just one more pennant."

If he gets it you can close the books for Connie Mack.

Texarkana Leading Big State League

(By The Associated Press)

The Texarkana Bears hold a game and a half lead at the top of the Big State league standings today after the Greenville Majors dropped the Austin Pioneers out of a tie for top honors yesterday.

Greenville defeated Austin, 5-3, while Texarkana swept a twin bill from aGinesville, 9-3 and 3-2. Sherman-Denison edged third-place Wichita Falls, 7-6, And Temple trounced fourth-place Waco, 26-18.

Texarkana's great double play combination of Card-to-Hyatt-to-Archie produced four twin killings to help win the opener from Gainesville.

Between The Lines by Joe Kelly

Lions from all over the Panhandle and Plains began to stream into Lubbock yesterday for their district convention and a full program from start to finish lies ahead of them. Not the least important on the schedule is the golf tournament tomorrow afternoon at the Lubbock Country club, where Lions will vie for seven handsome thophies presented by seven members of the Lubbock club, eighth largest in the world. This tournament is an innovation to Lions conventions in West Texas, but it is apt to be a permament thing after this convention ends.

To Chick Trout, inveterate golfing fan and better than average by a good deal in his own right, goes the praise for the tournament. It was Chick's idea and he worked out the details himself. He's spent a lot of time to make the tournament a good one and visiting Lions should have the time of their life. We think that it's a good idea to have a tournament of this nature along with a convention. There are always a lot of golf fans at any convention and they generally manage to slip away when visiting out of town this way. Therefore, the idea of a tournament is especially good and brings them even closer together. We hope it's a regular thing from now on.

Oklahoma university is coming up with a scheme that should appeal to a lot of farmer-fishermen. The Sooner institution will offer a course on development of small farm ponds on a self-supporting basis next fall. They already are inaugurating a study of fish and marine life at Lake Texhoma and graduate students in zoology will make the large pond study. The university hopes to prove that fish will thrive in the ponds and aid the state Game and Fish department with its studies. Of course, Oklahoma also is going to have to convince the farmer that owning a fish pond is a sound business proposirtion, according to a release from the university. But Sooner officials point out that the farmer can have a well-stocked ice box all winter if he will spend only a little time on the pond. idea.

Texas Tech's freshmen football team is on the schedule of the Hardin-Simmons first year men next year, which may or may not indicate anything. The Cowboy Fish will play five games, three of them in Abilene, including the game against Tech's Fish. It is noteworthy that three of the games will be against Junior college clubs, two of which have produced some good players for the Red Raiders. Noteably, they are Ranger and San Angelo. Ranger replaces Decatur Baptist college. So far as we know, Tech has done nothing so far about hiring a first rate football coach for its freshmen, but will stagger along with the present system of letting the freshmen get instruction when they can, while serving as cannon fodder for the varsity and reserves.

The hotel business gained a comer over the week end and rowdy guests probably will think twice if he cautions them. Jack Ellison, Texas Mines' line coach, submitted his resignation to go into the Hilton hotel chain system as general manager of an outlet at Tyler. Ellison's brother, Spearl Ellison, currenty is an executive with the Hilton chain. Art Griffith ough to get him here. Maybe he could help Tech along, at least with freshman ball, for G. B. Morris hasn't been doing a bad job as line coach for Tech. Not bad at all. Ellison is a H-SU graduate.

Basketball hopes at Texas Mines are on the upsurge. The Miners gave letters recently to 10 varsity and 12 freshmen members. But the most important thing is the fact that they all will be back next year. Coach Dale Waters seems to be sitting pretty under the circumstanes, so don't sell the Orediggers short when the cage season rolls around. Letters went to Nelson Ohlemacher, Santos Perez, Ventura Irroball, Abe Franco, Bert Williams, Yvan Rechy and Earl Richards.

If this isn't the kiss of death, we want to congratulate the Hubbers for snapping out of the doldrums. We have maintained all along that potentially they have a better team than they had last year. We still don't think that the pitching is as good, but when you're getting as many hits as the Hubbers have gotten the last two games, the pitching can afford to be a little lax. Chris Haskins, despite being beaned and having heavy chest congestion, hurled a beauty yesterday and Don Hensick was tough enough Saturday night. Before that Ray Reighelt turned in a sufficient job to account for three of the last wins. The Hubbers now have won three straight and four of their last five, are only two games and a half out of the first division and only five and a half out of first place.

THE ROUNDUP: Denny Davidson of Lubbock won a freshman baseball letter at Texas . . . Carl Mayes of Pampa and Milton Deason of Borger won track letters, Mayes as a freshman and Deason as reserve . . . Randall Clay of Pampa won a varsity track award. . . . Cotton Russell is wearing blue jeans these days. He had all his other pants in the cleaners when the flood hit Fort Worth! . . . If you want to hear major league baseball gamese every day, tune in to KAMQ in Amarillo. They're airing 'em . . . The Hubbers are ready for sick bay: Jim Prince has tow ribs torn loose, Buddy McCallum has a charley horse the size of a discuss, Haskins added a beaned head to his chest ailment, Bill Grafton has had sickness in the family (his wife is recovering), Manager Jackie Sullivan still is bothered by his hand and John Myers says he also has a charley horse. Get out the liniment, doc.

Midland, Odessa Advance Standings

(By The Associated Press)

The third-place Midland Indians and the fourth-place Odessa Oilers are a game nearer the top of the Longhorn league baseball standings today.

Midland defeated the first-place Big Spring Broncs, 5-2, yesterday, while Odessa squeezed past second place Vernon, 5-4. Firth-place San Angelo beat Roswell, N. M., 16-12. And the cellar crew from Sweetwater trounced seventh-place Ballinger 14-8.

Midland defeated Big Spring with two runs in the fifth inning on bingles by Nibb and Presley.

Odessa bunched four hits and a hit batsman in the seventh for three runs.

Jake McClain drove in seven runs to lead San Angelo.

Sweetwater scored seven runs in the eighth frame to decision Ballinger.

Texas Trapshooter Champions Crowned

HOUSTON, May 23 (AP)—Grant Ilseng today has the Texas doubles trapshoot title to go with his 16-yard and all around crowns.

Ilseng's doubles score of 96 yesterday was tied in the 17th annual trapshoot, but J. C. Ditto, Miami, Fla., was not eligible to win a state championship. Second was J. O. Bates of Fort Worth with 92.

The state 16-yard crown was annexed Saturday by Ilseng when he broke 198 out of a possible 200. His all around winning score was 624 out of 650.

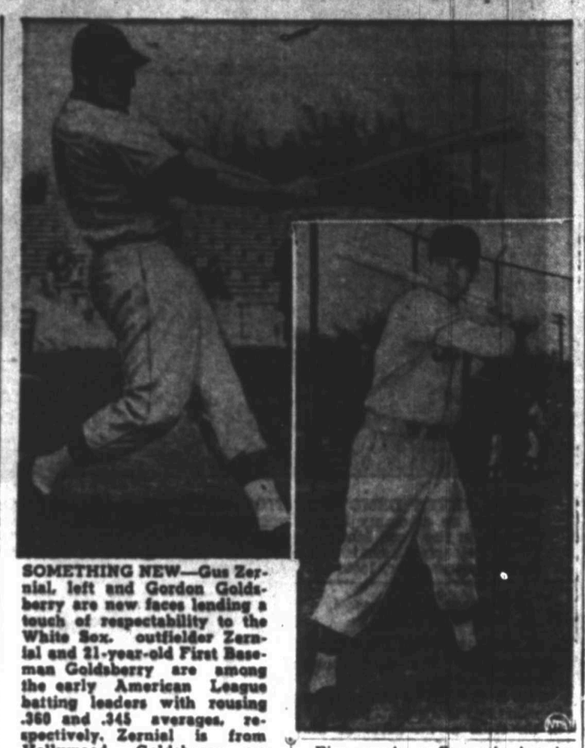

Bates, with 612, was in place position behind Ilseng in the all around race.

The Texas handicap championship was won by Dean Blank of Perryton, Texas, with 98 out of a possible 100. Blank, firing from the 20-yard line, nosed out Dr. Carrol Smith, Dallas, who dropped three from the 18-yard marker.

Janice Mason, Dallas, blasted 95 from the 13 to take the women's handicap race. Mrs. A. M. Oehlers, Houston, was runner-up with 95.

The state sports writer's title went to Bill Walker, the Houston Post, with 47 out of 50.

Charles (Silent) Hulen, Hughes, Ark., and Sam Herold, Shreveport, La., posted scores of 193 to tie for high out of-state 16-yard laurels.

SOMETHING NEW—Gus Zernial, left and Gordon Goldsberry are new faces lending a touch of respectability to the White Sox. outfielder Zernial and 21-year-old First Baseman Goldsberry are among the early American League batting leaders with rousing .360 and .345 averages, respectively. Zernial is from Hollywood. Goldsberry up from Memphis.

Eire wants a flax-spinning industry.

PRO CAGE BLOWUP PREDICTED

Sports Editor For 20 Years Gets A Good Tip On Writing

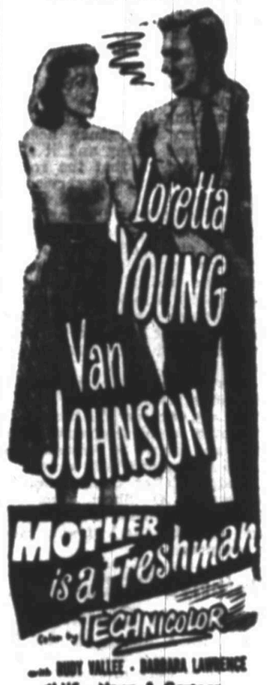

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, May 23.—According to Mr. Inside Information, the unidentified character who is supposed to know everything, you can look for a pro basketball blowoff before July 4. It probably will wind up in a courtroom somewhere . . . the idea is that those Kentucky boys aren't happy about the package deal they made for themselves with the National basketball league after authorizing coach Adolph Rupp to deal with the Basketball Association of America for them . . . Malcolm Laney, Alabama's end coach, must teach his boys to catch, run and hit. Five of the six football players on the 'Bama baseball squad are end candidates . . . When Maurie Cossman left his post as Flint (Mich.) Journal sports editor after 20 years in the writing racket, Michigan football writers presented him a book: "How to write sports."

It was during one of the spring golf tournaments that Fred Haas, jr., the New Orleans pro, ran into a sour putting streak just before he was due to tee off . . . Fred appealed to Henry Picard for advice and Henry suggested learning that long, smooth putting stroke Bobby Jones used to use. . . . "Show me just how, so I can get it down right," Haas asked . . . "Son," Picard replied sadly, "you can not get it down in one tournament . . . You'll have to spend a whole summer on it."

Ira Godin may be the second Harvard pitcher to reach the majors (Charley Devens was the first and he quit after three years). Coach Stuffy McInnis thinks Godin has the stuff to make good. . . . Angelo Bertelli, who'll make another "comeback" try with the football Yankees this fall, readily admits he was "gun shy" with Chicago last season after his knee operation . . . "Either the first operation wasn't successful or I re-injured my knee," Bertelli explains. "In any case, the pain was terrific and I just wasn't in the mood to be hit." . . . When a Notre Dame visitor the other day suggested that Leon Hart, weighing around 265, looked bigger in street clothes than in his football suit, coach Frank Leahy agreed: "Yes, you must weigh around 215 now, don't you, Leon?"

To meet your needs in 1959...
we have to start now!

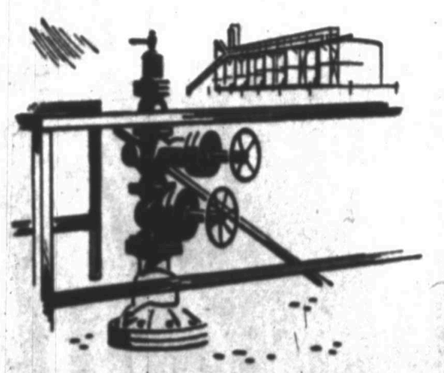

Most of the oil you are using today was found more than ten years ago. It takes about that long to explore and develop potential resources to their full, efficient capacity.

First, you have to find the oil. Geologists and geophysicists spend months of scientific study before they pronounce an area a "prospect." It takes more months to drill exploratory wells; and if they find oil, it takes years to drill the other wells that define the field, establish the amount of oil in it, and bring it into full production.

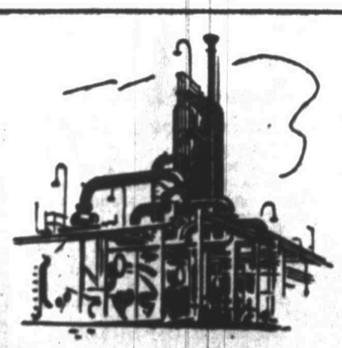

Today, this year, continuously, we must develop the oil resources we may need — without notice — on some future tomorrow. In spite of minor fluctuations in demand, the need for oil has increased steadily over the years; and every now and again, there is a sudden, heavy, unexpected need for additional supplies, like the demand for fuel oil on the Eastern seaboard during the cold winter of 1947-48. Furthermore, we must face the fact that in this atomic era, in this day of the jet airplane and the long-range submarine, the U. S. oil industry must prepare now to meet the needs of any future national emergency.

That's why the American oil industry is undertaking the heavy costs of exploring the Tidelands of the continental shelf in order to bring the oil fields that geologists think are there into full production now. Rest assured that the oil will not be wasted; on the contrary, it will be ready for instant use when you and the nation need it.

This is Humble production in the Friendswood, Texas, field. Exploratory work was begun here in 1928; and the discovery well was drilled in 1937. By 1941, Humble had 211 producing wells in the field; these wells supplied 66,110,000 barrels of oil toward the winning of World War II.

HUMBLE OIL & REFINING CO.

This alkylate plant was placed in operation by Humble at Baytown refinery in 1938. Alkylate is an essential element in the manufacture of aviation gasoline, and by December 14, 1944, Baytown had provided a billion gallons of 100-octane gasoline for Allied airplanes.

This is a Humble well in the Anahuac, Texas, Field. The first well, drilled in 1935, found oil at 5728 feet. Geological and geophysical work which preceded drilling consumed 6 years. 427 wells have been drilled, of which 357 are now producing oil. Present production is 30,108 barrels daily. With the present knowledge of the field, it is possible that additional sands may be found at a greater depth.

Georgia Mayor Might Act As Judge On Ku Klux He Jailed

(By The Associated Press)

SOPERTON, Ga., May 23.—Mayor Jim Peterson of this little south Georgia turpentine town may act as judge and jury at the trial of three robed men he unmasked Saturday night.

Peterson, serving his ninth term, said he received a call Saturday night that men in Ku Klux Klan outfits were wandering the streets. Several women were frightened, he said.

The mayor rushed out, yanked the masks off three men and had them tossed in jail. Two other hooded figures ran when Policeman M. D. Ware fired a bullet in their direction.

In Atlanta, Klan Grand Dragon Samuel Green termed the action a violation of the masked men's civil rights.

The indignant chieftain of the hooded empire declared.

"Using a common expression, we don't like out dogs kicked around by mayors or anyone else.

"If he did jerk their hoods off, he is in violation of civil rights as if I went into his office and jerked his hat off."

The masked trio Peterson had jailed are free in $100 bond each. They are to appear in recorder's court June 13 for a hearing on charges of disturb ing the peace. The hearing was scheduled today, but was postponed at the request of Defense Attorney Duncan Graham, who will be out of town.

"I may have to try them myself," commented the mayor. "Our recorder died recently and he hasn't been replaced.

"Haven't made up my mind yet. I might disqualify myself. But if I don't they them James Waller, the mayor pro-tem, will."

There is no jury in a recorder's court.

Suicide Plunge

where the funeral services will be held.

Forrestal left as his farewell only an ancient Greek poem of dispair and death.

First Defense Secretary

He was the first secretary of defense—a wearing job that he gave up as a sick man in March. Before that, he had been secretary of the mightiest navy the world has ever seen, and before that he had served as an assistant to Roosevelt.

This spring, his health broken by more than nine years of nerve-wracking service, he decided to seek release from the strain. A few days in Florida after his resignation, and then he entered the hospital April 2.

His death and the manner of it shocked the capital.

President Truman said "this able and devoted public servant was as truly a casualty of the war as if he had died on the firing line." He issued a proclamation ordering the flags fly at half staff.

No Note Is Found

So far as was known, the former secretary left no note.

But on a radiator, near his hospital bed, was found a book "An Anthology of World Poetry." A red ribbon lay between the pages opened to Sophocles' "Chorus From Ajax." That poem tells of profound and hopeless tragedy.

In the back of the book was a piece of hospital memorandum paper in which Forrestal had copied, in a firm hand, the first 26 lines of the doleful poem.

The man who found solace in the poem and then in never waking sleep was exhausted by work and worried by critics. When he was brought to the hospital, a doctor there said his condition was directly the result of excessive work. At that time, the doctor said "the only psychiatric symptoms present are those associated with a state of excessive fatigue."

Sacrifice For America

One after another, the tributes from the great rang the same note: sacrifice and labor for America.

The court of inquiry in the case was ordered by Rear Admiral M. D. Willcutts, commandant of the naval medical center. Just exactly what it might examine was not certain in advance. From statements of officials at the hospital, this story was reconstructed:

In the weeks that followed Forrestal's entry for treatment, he seemed to be on the road to complete recovery. He received visitors, among them President Truman, made phone calls, read the paper.

But when the patient's bedtime came Saturday night he declined to take the usual sedative. Choosing a time when attendants were elsewhere on his 18th floor, Forrestal left his room (carefully avoiding going through another room of his suite in which a doctor was located), walked diagonally across a corridor to a diet kitchen. There the window, unlike that of his own room, had no tightly secured wire screen.

A nurse on the seventh floor heard the thud of his body as it struck an offset of the building above the third floor. He was dead when attendants rushed to the spot. His bathrobe belt cord was twisted tightly around his neck.

Plans for the funeral—including whether there will be a military burial for the World War I veteran and former cabinet member—were left to Mrs Forrestal.

She flew in from Paris today aboard the presidential plane, The Independence, with her son Michael, an employe of the Economic Cooperation administration in Paris. In the belief that her husband was recovering satisfactorily, she had gone to France to find a place for him to convalesce.

There were heavy rains overnight in the watershed of the Trinity, but the Weather bureau said it will be two or three days before the new water hits the Trinidad area. By that time the current crest will have passed.

The rains included 1.48 inches at Rockwall and 1.44 at Roanoake, both in the Trinidad area. Other rainfall totals for the 23 hours ending at 6:30 a. m.: Carrollton 1.63, Mineral Wells 1.44, Dallas .88, Waco .35, Fort Worth 1.35, Wichita Falls .12, Tyler .44, Texarkana .39, and Rosser .75.

occupied by the four powers' forces.

The first meeting of the current session lasted until 6:30 p. m. p. m. (1:30 a. m. CST) or about two and a half hour.

Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Foreign Ministers Robert Schuman of France and Ernest Bevin of Britain met Russia's Andrei Vishinsky at the conference table.

It was the sixth meeting of the foreign ministers council since the war, and the fourth on Germany.

Biggest of issues is establishment of a united government for Germany. This is complicated by the fact that a west German government is soon to take over in the western zones and that Russia is expected to sponsor a separate German government in her zone.

Other major items involve withdrawal of occupation forces and the question of Germany's final frontiers.

The three western ministers entered the new negotiations determined to give the world an adequate account of each phase of the discussions.

This was one of the tactical decisions made by Acheson, Bevin, Schuman and their advisors in weekend conversations preparatory to today's session, according to official French sources.

Previously, Bevin had been reported to favor imposing a lid of secrecy on what actually happens at the round, green-topped conference table in the grand salon of the palace.

The French sources said, however, that Acheson and Schuman persuaded the British minister that the press and radio should be kept informed through delegation "briefings."

It was not easy to assay the battle even though it was under our noses. At times the planes and big guns seemed to be covering a withdrawal. At other times they seemed to be supporting an attack. All I can say is that mortar and artillery shell bursts and the new fires at 5 p. m. looked to be half a mile further from the river than they were at noon.

"You want money from me?" she asked.

"Yeah, all of it," he said.

"Madam, are you really hungry?" the gunman asked.

"Bread," cried Mrs. Halper. "I need bread and he asks me for money."

The gunman gave up.

"Okay, okay," he said. "Here's a buck. Get yourself something to eat." Then he fled.

further check could be made. This would give $2,000 per month for operating expenses, Jarvis said, and added:

"This $2,000 would still be short of our costs per month for this year. Actually our account for April is the lowest we have had." The expense account for April shows $725 for salaries with the next largest item being $650.55 which was applied to hospital bills.

Regarding the conditional allotment, Jarvis said he was confident there would be no hesitancy on the part of the city. He also explained that he was operating on a much smaller budget than most cities of comparable size throughout the United States.

The county commissioners also approved the bond of Tom Armstrong as public weigher for precinct No. 1; authorized a contract to install a drinking fountain on the first floor of the court house; transferred $995.30 from the permanent improvement fund to the new court house sinking fund; and, authorized Judge Walter Davies to sell, by any means he sees fit, seven pieces of property on which the taxes have been long delinquent.

The contract for the installation of the drinking fountain went to the A. & B. Refrigerator company for $250. The tax title property to be offered for sale includes three parcels in Slaton, three in Lubbock and one in Idalou. These parcels first became delinquent in 1927 and were offered at a sheriff's sale at that time. No buyers were found.

At the request of Lewis Stum and E. Z. Hogan the commissioners agreed to plat and dedicate 'City View Addition', some 38 acres approximately five miles north of the court house and outside the present city limits of Lubbock.

The commission delayed action on a request of Perron Bean, acting for himself and others, to instruct the Fort Worth and Denver railroad to return to the county a road of some four miles in length on which a siding is installed. The siding was laid on the county road under a war time emergency agreement to haul supplies into the United States flying school operating on the air base north of Lubbock.

According to Bean there is no longer any emergency need for the railroad siding and it should be removed so that the roadbed could be returned to service as a county road.

Bean said that the installation of the track made it necessary for him to cut another road on his property in addition to the easement he had already given the county. He also alleged that poor maintenance along the siding caused water to back up on his property and cause further damage.

The trackage was laid down under an agreement dated April 28, 1942, and includes the proviso that it would be of temporary nature only and would be removed when the war was officially ended.

Judge Walter Davies, Commissioners R. O Short, George G. Green, Otis Isom, Perry Corley, and County Clerk Louie Moore were present.

Soviet Iron Curtain Slated To Slow 1950 Pilgrimage To Rome

BY JOSEPH J. RAICICH
United Press Staff Writer

ROME, May 23.—Only a handful, by previous comparison, of pilgrims from Central European countries behind the Soviet Iron Curtain are expected to come to Rome for the Holy Year of 1950.

Government restrictions on foreign travel, plus increased pressure on the church and those who support it, will reduce drastically the ranks of the devout from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Yugoslavia.

In those nations the Roman Catholic Church counts some of its most devout, and great numbers of them came to the Eternal City in 1925 for the last general Holy Year. A special Holy Year observance was called in 1933 and also was well attended by Central Europe.

Recent reports reaching the Vatican indicate, however that the desire to attend is just as strong now as it was before the imposition of the Iron Curtain.

In Czechoslovaxia and even Bulgaria, where Communist pressure is extremely heavy, national Holy Year committees have been formed. These groups hope to obtain permission from their government to send "not only Roman Catholics, but also large groups of schismatics (Orthodox) pilgrims" to Rome, Vatican sources said.

It appeared unlikely, however, in the light of recent events, that the committees would succeed.

Church authorities are waging a strong campaign to ensure that the ranks of the faithful along the roads to Rome next year include as many Germans as possible.

The church is exesting influence to organize pilgrimages from Germany to Italy, seeking to make known to all Germans the arrangements for the great holy event and to facilitate the journey of those who are able to attend.

The Vatican expects large numbers of pilgrims from the traditionally Catholic countries and from those nations with large Catholic minorities.

The central committee handling arrangements for the Holy Year is faced with the problem of finding accommodations for more than 1,000,000 pilgrims.

Lodgings, food, transportation and tours will be arranged by the "Peregrinatio Romana ad Petri Sedem," a branch of the central committee. This group calculates that the average pilgrim will spend three days in Rome.

In addition to 22 canonizations and beatifications, the jubilee will be enhanced by the presence of Pope Pius XII twice a week in St. Peter's Church for the celebration of mass for the pilgrims.

One of the important projects being rushed to completion is the International Center of the Catholic Action, a modern building in front of St. Peter's Square. It will have a theater, an auditorium, hotel facilities and a printing plant.

farms, banks, industry."

He said the "greatest decisions of life have to be made when you are young and least experienced." Persons have a choice in what they do, he said, and as they sow they shall reap. "We can choose the alternatives, but not the consequences."

Dr. Young's text was Luke 21:19: "By your patience ye shall win your souls."

He commended youth for "being young and being enthusiastic and zealous." Most persons "when they begin to get the signs of old age look down their noses at young people and think they have gone astray," he said. He said young people have not all "gone to the dogs" and "the world the older generation is handing you is as, as one young man put it, 'pretty well ruined, knocked to pieces, leaky, red-hot, threatening to blow up'."

The graduating class is composed of 290 students. An estimated 1,000 persons attended the sermon in addition to seniors.

The graduation exercises are to be conducted at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Chapman field gymnasium, Floyd Honeyl, principal, has announced.

Invocation at the Sunday afternoon exercises was given by Rev. David L. Zacharias, pastor of Westminister Presbyterian church. Nancy Davis, member of the graduating class, presented a piano solo, 'Romance" (Schumann). The senior girls' chorus, directed by J. H. Penn, sang "Refuge and Strength" (Siebelius) and "Lift Thine Eyes" (Mendelssohn).

Benediction was given by Rev. I. D. Walker, pastor of Parksdale Baptist church.

Kara Sam Dunn, member of the graduating class, played an organ prelude of two numbers, "Be Thou Near" (Bach) and "Come Sweet Death" (Bach). Gerre Hancock, sophomore, played the recessional, "March from Athalie" (Mendelssohn).

More Than 300,000 Degrees Conferred

The number of doctor's degrees rose from 3,479 in 1941-42 to 4,188 in 1947-48.

Mormons Developed Irrigation System

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP) — Modern irrigation as practiced by the Mormon pioneers in Utah began two years before the establishment in 1894 of the U. S. Interior Department. On July 24, 1847, the followers of Brigham Young established an agricultural pattern in the arid West which was to be repeated and improved through the next one hundred years of conservation development.

Many of the century-old Mormon canals or ditches are still used by the prosperous farming communities and suburban areas to the south and southeast of Salt Lake City. The "Big Ditch", for example, was begun during 1848, the "Big Cottonwood Tanner Ditch" and the "Green Ditch" that same year, the "Walker Ditch" during 1849, and the "Hill Ditch" in 1851.

GI's Sentenced By Czech Court Freed

(By The Associated Press)

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 23—Two American GI's who were held in Czech prisons for six months as "spies" said today beatings and threats had not broken their spirits.

The two, recruits George Jones of Owensboro, Ky., and Clarence R. Hill of Pampa, Tex., were released yesterday. Czech President Klement Gottwald, bowing to strong American pressure gave the men a "pardon."

Jones had been sentenced to 10 years and Hill 12 by a secret Czech court for "espionage."

At the Czech-German border the men were turned over to U. S. Lieut. Col. Charles Y. Talbot.

When locked in Czech prisons "we always felt sure we'd get back to the American zone of Germany before too long," they explained in a telephone interview.

They face possible U. S. Army court martial on charges of being absent without leave at the time they were arrested by the Czechs, Dec. 9, 1948.

"But at the present moment they are free like every other soldier," said Col. Talbot. "They are getting some good American food, too. They didn't get enough in Czechoslovakia."

"That's right," said Jones. "We were quite often hungry. The food was not too bad, but we didn't get enough of it."

The two soldiers said they were manhandled when first arrested.

"For a week or ten days in the first part of December," said Hill, "we moved around from jails in Pilsen to jails in Prague and back to jails in Pilsen.

"They told us they wanted information from us. When we wouldn't talk, they beat us on the back, on the head, and on the feet. Sometimes they used sticks, sometimes hard rubber billyclubs."

Hill continued:

"I once was beaten so badly on my feet I could not put my shoes on. Jones was knocked unconscious once. Who did it? Czech police. Everybody who questioned us or guarded us was Czech."

$10,000 Bonds Set In Robbery Charge

LAMESA, May 23 (Special)—Lewis Ables, 26, and Early Sydney Abbott, 21, were held in Dawson county jail in lieu of $10,000 bond each today after they were charged with armed robbery Sunday, County Attorney Vernon Adcock said this morning.

The two Oklahoma City men are charged with the hijacking of a service station and abduction of Leon Edwards, 25, station attendant, early Saturday morning.

Ables and Abbott were arrested in Lubbock Saturday morning by Police Patrolmen Robert Brasher and A. R. Mason.

Edwards, the service station attendant at Lamesa, said he was about to close the doors of the station operated at 805 South Dallas in Lamesa by W. C. Emfinger, when four men drove up in what he thought was a 1939 Buick. That was at 12:50 a. m.

They ordered gasoline and oil, then went to the restroom. When they returned, they forced him into their car after taking $44.30 from the cash register and $2 from Edwards, he related. They took him to a point in the country and left him, Edwards said.

Texan Says Forrestal 'Always Cooperative'

WASHINGTON, May 23. (Special Cong. George H. Mahon, chairman of the House appropriations sub-committee on the armed forces, told the House today that James Forrestall was ready to go to all limits to cooperate with Congress.

Mahon, at whose insistence all appropriations for separate arms of the military were considered jointly this year for the first time, had an intimate knowledge of Forrestal's problems under the unification plan.

"I believe the last request I made of him was an unreasonable one, yet he complied willingly," Mahon said. "I asked him to come before our committee at 10 a. m. the next day with the secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force."

Mahon's committee recommendations increased considerably over the budget figure the amount available to the Air Forces for expansion and cut the Army and Navy budgets slightly. The committee did not cut budget recommendations by the President as to expenditures for the Navy's aviation program.

MEET THE MANAGER—Meyer Harris, owner and manager of the Luggage Shop, was born March 1, 1890, in the town of Baranovitz, Minsk, White Russia. The town was destroyed in World War II. He attended school there, but his father came to the United States in 1896. In 1903 he and his mother and six other children joined their husband and father in Waco. After arriving in this country young Harris had no opportunity to go to school, being forced to work hard for a living, but he studied and read at night and educated himself. He worked at various jobs and in 1914 went into his own business, a general store in Fort Worth. He explained and at various times operated stores in Big Spring, Olney, and Midland. Eleven years ago he went into the luggage business at Houston. He left Houston to buy a store in Joplin, Mo. He sold that business in 1947 and came to Lubbock to operate a luggage store in Hub Clothiers. He recently opened his new store in the Masonic building. Mr. Harris is a member of Congregation Shaareth Israel and B'Nai Brith, and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce. He devotes his spare time to reading and listening to good music. (Staff Photo.)

Marshall Plan Slash Ordered

WASHINGTON, May 23. (AP)—The House appropriations committee today ordered a 15 per cent cut in Marshall plan spending for the year starting July 1.

Overriding a subcommittee recommendation, the full committee voted 22 to 19 to cut $629,730,000 from the $1,198,200,000 President Truman had asked for the European Recovery program's second year of operations.

The subcommittee had recommended a cut of only $182,300,000, but Republicans claimed this wasn't enough.

The full committee also voted to cut $150,000,000 from the 1,000,000,000 President Truman sought for government and relief in occupied areas. The subcommittee had chopped this item only $50,400,000.

The full $50,000,000 asked for aid to Greece and Turkey was approved by the committee, as was a fund of $1,074,000,000 sought for Marshall plan operations for the April-June quarter of this year.

The overall amount recommended for all operations in the bill was $5,542,470,000. The president had asked $6,322,200,000.

Smith Proposes Plan On Business Program

AUSTIN, May 23 (AP)—A measure calling for investment of special state funds as a means of setting up an eleemosynary building program without new taxes was introduced today by Rep. Preston Smith of Lubbock.

The West Texas legislator's proposal would direct the state treasurer to invest money in funds and expense accounts "not immediately needed to meet state expenditures" in U. S. government securities.

He estimated that such a move would raise between $2,500,000 and $4,000,000 a year.

The plan would be in direct contrast to one offered by Gov. Beauford Jester, who warned last week that he would call lawmakers into special session if funds for a $21,000,000 eleemosynary building plan were not approved at the regular session.

The governor indicated that he might favor a boost in omnibus taxes to care for the program.

Former Partners In 99th Damages Case

Evidence was to be commenced at the afternoon session of the 99th district court in the damages action of L. M. Blair against William J. Powell.

A jury was selected at the morning session, and pleadings were read. Judge G. V. Pardue, presiding, ordered the jury to report back at 1:30 p. m.

The case is outgrowth of a partnership in a Clovis, N. M., automobile agency. Blair eventually bought the interest of Powell, but claims Powell removed $5,000 in partnership funds prior to the deal. Powell admits he took that amount, but says the act was done with full knowledge of Blair after they had talked it over several months before the deal between the partners. Blair denies such knowledge and therein lies the issue before the court, officials said. Half the $5,000 is being sued for, it was explained.

Blair is represented by the firm of Anderson and Howard, Powell by the firm of Nelson and McCleskey.

The jury is composed of Bob Crump, J. E. Martin, C. T. Benson, R. S. Johnston, R. B. Cheney, Joe W. Hatcher, Sidney Keeton, Fred R. Kelley, Edgar H. Beyers, S. C. Simmons, V. Neal Silver, and C. B. Lively.

Youth Lost In 'Bear Country'

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., May 23 (AP)—Two-and-a-half year old Larry Conners of South International Falls was believed lost today in wild brush and swamp lands near here.

About 200 men recruited through radio appeals and on streets searched a wilderness area about a mile-and-a-half long and three quarters of a mile wide without finding a trace of the boy. The area was described as "bear country."

Larry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Conners, was last seen about 4 p. m. Sunday. He was playing in the yard with a neighbor's dog while his father worked on the family automobile.

Dog Can't Find Boy

Conners said he believed the boy wandered off with the dog, which later returned. Attempts to have the dog lead searchers to Larry failed.

Searchers who made their way through brush and swamps near the Conners home said they waded in water up to their knees in some spots.

Authorities said they were contacting officials of the Minnesota and Ontario Paper company in International Falls, to ask them to turn out the day shift of 500 men to hunt for the boy. Conners is employed at the paper mill.

As the appeal for aid was sounded in nearby International Falls, one drug store turned every flash light in the place over to the volunteers.

Child, Two, Dies From Polio Here

Two other Bednarski children also became ill Saturday and were admitted to the hospital for treatment. They are Donald Ray, 5, and Cynthia, 3.

An attending physician today said that preliminary tests on the two hospitalized children have shown no indications of polio.

Bulbar type of anterior polio was listed as the cause of the death of the youngest Bednarski child. He became ill Friday, and entered the hospital Saturday.

The body Sunday was taken overland to Memphis, where funeral services were to be held at 3 p. m. today in Spicer Funeral home chapel, Sanders Funeral home reported. Burial was to be in Memphis.

Defense Unity Bill Supported

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Senator Lucas (D-Ill) today threw the weight of the senate leadership behind a bill designed to tighten up unification of the Army, Navy and Air Force. One goal is a cut in the multi-billion dollar costs of peacetime defense efforts.

"I'm for it and the Senate should be able to pass it today or tomorrow," the Democratic leader told a reporter. "It certainly should have the support of all these fellows who have been yelling for economy."

Great Savings Seen

Chairman Tydings (D-Md) of the Senate armed services committee will be floor manager for the measure. It would make the first major changes in the 1947 unification act that squeezed through Congress after years of scrapping between the armed services.

Both Tydings and Lucas said they expect no serious opposition to the defense legislation, which would clarify and expand powers of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson and his successors. It calls for "fiscal and budget reforms" with savings estimated by Tydings at from $200,000,000 to $600,000,000 a year.

But even if the Senate gives quick approval, House action appears uncertain.

Owner Makes An Unscheduled Call

Police Take Car And Liquor, But Slip Up In Counter Raid

There was a slip-up somewhere.

A property owner telephoned police Sunday that a car had been abandoned in front of his place here.

R. O. Christesson, a police patrolman, investigated and could see whisky bottles under some paper in the car.

Wrecker Called

He reported his finding. Another member of the police traffic department, instead of calling the Liquor Control board to set up watch, asked for a wrecker.

The car was towed to the police station, where it was opened and the liquor removed to a vault inside the station. The car was left parked outside.

It was assumed that the owner would call for it.

The police were right. The owner did call—but not when any policemen were around to watch.

The car was gone this morning.

Whisky Remains

Police explained that they usually remove part of the distributor when holding a suspect automobile in such cases, but slipped up Sunday.

Anyway, they are holding 62 four-fifths quarts of whisky, six pints of whisgy, two cases of beer and 20 cans of beer.

They don't know who was driving the automobile when it was parked in Lubbock, but had traced down the name of the record owner of the machine, who lives in another town.

Early Christians In Japan Are Reported

TOKYO, May 23 (AP)—Research by Dr. Sakae Ikeda, former law professor at Kyoto University, has led him to conclude that Christianity came o Japan in 283 A. D. 1,266 years earlier than the generally accepted date.

Dr. Ikeda, as quoted by the newspaper Jiji Shimpo, believes that a Persian, called Kung Yuehwang in the Chinese language of the period, led a group of Chinese Christians to Japan. He says that the Nestorian Christian sect persisted in Japan for many generations.

The report has caused some stir in Japanese Christian circles, which credit the introduction of Christianity to St. Francis Xavier in 1549.

The preserved right arm of the Saint is due to be brought from Rome for a fourth centennial celebration starting May 29 at Nagasaki and ending June 12 at Tokyo. A Japanese monument to the Saint was erected in 1925.

Polio Cases Running Twice As High As In '48, Figures Show

NEW YORK, May 23. (U.P.)—The number of polio cases in the country now is running almost twice as high as at this time last year, statistics showed today.

The last public health reports put the polio cases at 1107 cases, as compared with 506 in 1948, which was the highest in history with a total of 27,658 during the entire year.

As of now, 34 states have reported more polio than at the same time last year. Rhode Island, Colorado, New Hampshire and Nevada are virtually "free" of the disease at the present time.

Increase Seen

Spokesmen for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis said that some major metropolitan centers may have more than the usual polio this summer. They recalled that with the exception of Los Angeles and Minneapolis, no major metropolitan area has been struck severely in some years. The disease, according to past performances, appears to strike in cycles, sometimes about every five years.

During the 1948 polio season, which usually begins about May 1 in the southern states and gradually moves northward, approximately $17,000,000 was spent for hospital care of patients. Of the amount, national headquarters of the foundation provided $6,700,000 and local chapters of the organization about $10,000,000.

50 Per Cent Recovery

Of the 27,658 cases reported, it was estimated that 50 per cent or more had complete recovery. The increased percentage of recoveries, fundation medical scientists say, has resulted from better techniques of diagnosis and earlier hospitalization.

With the 1950 polio season about here, foundation scientists emphasized again that no effective drug has been developed to fight off infantile paralysis. One promising drug was given human trials last year, but results were inconclusive.

The drug is back in the laboratory now for further trials on experimental animals.

Science has made some progress toward developing a vaccine against polio, but the experts point out that the disease is caused by a family of viruses and that no vaccine will be effective until immunity against all types of the virus can be included.

German Constitution Issues Are Studied

BONN, Germany, May 23 (AP)—George Washington and the other framers of the American Constitution would feel right at home in Western Germany today.

The Bonn parliamentary council is writing a constitution for the Western German state authorized by the Allied occupation powers.

And it's running smack into some of the issues which harried the delegates at the Philadelphia convention.

The convention of 1787 argued long and loud over this issue:

Should it blueprint a strong central government or a mere league of states?

The same issue plagues the Bonn constitution-makers. One side gives in on a point here, the other side relents on a point there. Emerging is a document designed—like the American Constitution—to prevent the ceneral government from becoming all-powerful by giving the states broad powers over their own affairs.

Historians record that the American delegates felt no "strength or inspiration." Many feared that the tates would not ratify their work. Many feared, too, for the future of the infant colonies. Much the same spirit pervades the Bonn council. The delegates are mostly tired old men. Many fear for the future of Germany. Many are awed at the problems which will beset their new state.

Water Recommended To Avert Headache

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, May 23. (AP)—Want to avoid a hangover headache?

The advice of visiting Professor G. W. Pickering, Professor of Medicine at the University of London, is worth trying out.

It is: Drink a pint of water before going to bed after the party.

"That's a real tip," the Professor told reporters.

He has a couple of others tips, too.

One is a 150-year-old prescription for clearing a migraine headache in a flash. You just hold a finger against the carotid artery (the big one) in the neck.

There is a catch about this cure. Take the finger away and the headache returns.

Professor Pickering is sure a tired headache is caused by maintained contraction of facial muscles.

"When you wrinkle your forehead and screw up your eyes you are a candidate for a headache," says the professor. "Relax your face and you'll avoid it."

The professor knows the cause of about every headache there is.

"But," he says, "we are still having trouble discovering how to avoid them."

Modern automobiles have in them from 25 to 30 electric light bulbs.

Reserve Officers Of Navy Are Given Full Training Schedule

By WALTER L. BARKDULL
United Press Staff Writer

MONTERREY, Cal., May 23. — The commander crawled out of the boiler, dusted off his gold braid, and joined his fellow students in the gently rolling "classroom."

Stuffed so full of twisted pipes it looked like a bowl of spaghetti, the classroom was the fire room of the U. S. Navy's destroyer Lofberg.

The three-striper was one of 500 student-officer sat the Navy's general line school here, "the reserve officers Annapolis."

In line with Navy policy of "learning by doing," the powerful destroyer is stationed in Monterey Bay just off the school to afford practical experience, supplementing the book learning received ashore.

Other types of Navy ships, such as submarines, are also frequently employed for training purposes and a nearby air station provides flight experience.

Despite their rows of glowing riboons, the student-officers have plenty to learn about the Navy's ships of the line. Nearly 75 per cent of the class are naval aviators.

Students at the school are former reserve officers and commissioned enlisted personnel who decided to make the regular Navy their career when the war ended.

But most of them were specialists of one kind or another and the Navy wants to do away with that. The Navy intends to have all of its officers capable of all-around duty, according to school officials.

The Navy figures that the 10-month course of more than 1,100 hours of study, both afloat and ashore, gives the former reserve the equivalent of an Annapolis education in professional subjects.

It was obvious as the student-officers clambered up and down the destroyer's near-vertical ladders between decks, pushed along the narrow catwalks and crowded through hatches that it was a new experience for many of them.

But by the time they have finished the course, under the guidance of their instructors and the veteran destroyer crew, they will have been over the vessl with a fine-tooth comb and even the ex "fly boys" will be old salts

All the reservists will have been trained by 1954, the Navy expects, and then the school will become the Navy's top graduate study center.

Worker Asks For One House, Receives Two

ST. NEOT'S, England, May 23 (AP) Ernest Gale, 43-year-old factory worker, told the St. Neot's Rural Council he wanted to rent a house in the council's department for his family.

The council counted noses and told him it would let him have two adjoining houses—and knock out the wall between.

Gale's family consists of himself, his wife and eight children from seven to 16.

British Communists Apologize To Eisler

LONDON, May 23. (AP)—British communists yesterday "apologized" to fugitives Communist Gerhart Eisler for his detention by British authorities.

The Communists staged a demonstration outside Brixton prison, where Eisler is being held pending a court hearing tomorrow.

Loudspeakers were directed toward the prison and Pat Devlin, chairman of the meeting, shouted:

"It is possible that Eisler is within reach of my voice. If so, I say to him 'we natives of Britain apologize'."

Eisler stowed away on the Polish ship Batory and fled the United States while under sentence on two criminal convictions. He was carted off the ship forcibly by Scotland Yard men at Southhampton.

The United States has asked that he be returned under an extradition treaty with Britain. Eisler's supporters claim he is a political refugee and therefore exempt from extradition.

Boat Races Take 'Frisco Back Century

SAN FRANCISCO, May 23. (AP)—For 15 minutes yesterday the San Francisco maritime industry went back 100 years—to the era of whaleboat races.

Four eight-man crews raced inward from the Godlen Gate to the Marina, bucking a strong tide. The winning boat, from Pacific Far East line's SS Indian Ear, made the mile in 16 minutes and 31 seconds. Seafarers said that was good for men of any century.

Thousands of spectators lined the course. Harry Lundeberg, business agent of the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific, and company officials congratulated the winners.

It was estimaed the crew got $1500 in overtime training for the event. This was the high mark of the city's celebration of Maritime Day.

Congress Renews Investigation Of Atomic Energy Operations

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Congress renewed its probe of Atomic Energy commission operations today with one investigator—Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa)—demanding that Chairman David E. Lilienthal resign.

Lilienthal flared back that the commission's record, including the building up of "a substantial stockpile of atomic weapons," is the best answer to that demand.

Hickenlooper was once a staunch supporter of Lilienthal. He now asks that President Truman fire the atomic chairman.

The senator said persons with "strong Communistic leanings" had been given AEC funds for scientific study. He protested, too, that Lilienthal "sneered" at concern of Congress over the disappearance of some ounces of uranium 235 from an atomic lab in Chicago. Even the small amount by weight, Hickenlooper said, is a "vast quantity" for research in weapon development.

Senator Answered

"In addition to these two highly-publicized fiascos" the Iowa senator continued, 'our atomic program is suffering from equivocation, misplaced emphasis and waste."

Hickenlooper's statement yesterday brought a counter-statement within a few hours from Lilienthal saying the nation's atomic "preeminence" answers the senator's "vague and ungenerous wholesale indictment."

Both Senators Hickenlooper and Ferguson (R-Mich) charged today that some government officials including those on the AEC, are trying to cover up Communist leaning of federal employes.

"Some of these officials are trying to cover up just as the commission did in its fellowship program," Ferguson declared. "They just don't want Congress to know what is going on."

Hickenlooper said he stands by a recent New York speech in which he said President Truman has "permitted to transfer from department to department of undesirable persons when they should have been eliminated from any position of public trust."

Oaths To Be Required

Over the week-end the AEC announced that non-Communist oaths will be required of all 497 persons who have been certified for AEC fellowships. Previously the AEC required security clearance only of those students whose study involves secrecy.

Ferguson had rebuked Lilienthal last week for not acting for several months after the AEC discovered some of its fellowship aid students in non secret work had been previously barred from classified fields for security reasons.

One of these students, Dr. Isador S. Edelman medical researcher at a Boston hospital, was called before the Senate-House atomic committee today.

Edelman has denied he is a Communist but said that applications for Communist party membership may have been filled out for him and his wife in 1943. He said neither he nor his wife supports Communism and both are "completely loyal' to the United States.

Lilienthal told a Senate appropriations subcommittee last week that despite a security finding against Edelman, the student was regarded as a man of "outstanding ability." Edelman has a $3,750 a year AEC fellowship.

LAW DATES TO COLONIAL DAYS

Court Test Is Promised For Vets Jailed In Civil Cases

RUTLAND, Vt., May 23. (AP)—A court test of the century-old Vermont law which is holding three World War II veterans in jail for failure to pay civil judgments was promised today by a Brattleboro attorney.

Edward Shea said he would go into county court in Rutland and attempt to free his client, Ralph J. Fugatt, 29, former Springfield, Mass., newspaperman. Shea declined comment on what course of action he would take.

Held in the Rutland jail with Fugatt is Bernard J. Smith, jr., 23, of Fair Haven. The third man, Fderedic L. Lapan, 34, of Marshfield, is in jail at Montpelier.

In Jail Two Months

All three have failed to pay judgments ordered by courts as a result of automobile accidents. They are held under the "close jain executive" law which dates back to colonial days.

Fugatt, a former Air Force gunner who was a German prisoner of war after being shot down over Berlin on his 20th mission, has been in jail for two months.

Smith, a veteran of two and a half years in the Navy, was pailed in February, 1948, but has spent many months in a veterans hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in a fall.

They were jailed for alleged failure to pay judgments of more than $2,000 each in separate cases arising from auto accidents. They have disclaimed responsibility for the accidents. Both say they are unable to make any payments.

Cases Not Criminal

Lapan said he is unable to pay the $450 judgment ordered against him. He has been in jail for about two weeks.

Governor Ernest W. Gibson and the Vermont department of the American Legion have said they are unable to intercede because the cases are civil and not criminal.

Some possible ways to freedom for the three are:

1. Make a financial arrangement to pay by borrowing from a bank or friends or through gifts from the public.

2. Through court action brought by their attorneys.

3. A change of heart by those owed the damages.

Under Vermont law, a plaintiff in a tort action may obtain a "close pail execution" if a judgment is not paid by the defendant. If the court finds the defendant cannot pay, it gives him permission to take the poor debtors oath and go free.

In the past, defendants have been kept in jail for at least six months before being allowed to take the oath.

Demos Banking On Farm Plan

Party Rally In Midwest Set

WASHINGTON, May 23. (AP)—National Chairman J. Howard McGrath made it plain today the Democrats are banking heavily on the Brannan farm subsidy plan to help them carry the Widwest in next year's election.

"We think we have a plan that will appeal to the farmers and help solidify the support they gave our ticket in last November's election," McGrath told a reporter.

He added that "real effort" will be made to sell the farmers on the program—brought out by Secretary of Agriculture Grannon—beginning with a Midwestern rally in Des Moines, Oowa, June 11. Brannan will be on hand at that time to explain his plan.

Subsidy Involved

It calls for government loans to support prices on storable crops, such as wheat, cotton and corn. But it would let perishables crops sell for what they can bring on the market. If prices fell, the government would pay the farmer a subsidy amounting to the difference between what the consumer pays and what the department figures to be a fair price to the grower.

The idea would be to hold down prices the housewives have to pay, but to keep the farmers' income up—a politically attractive plan if it works.

McGrath Confident

But McGrath said he thinks the farmers themselves will go for it when it is explained fully to them.

Thirteen states will be represented at the Des Moines conference. Party workers will be expected to spread the word in Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Oklahoma, Wyoming, Montana, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Several of these states will be battlegrounds of Democrats and Republicans fighting for control of Congress in next year's campaign.

McGrath thinks that by starting in June the Democrats will get the jump on their opponents, who tentatively have scheduled a farm state meeting for Des Moines next fall.

The Republicans apparently haven't agreed on a way to meet the Brannan proposal, except to attack it on general grounds.

Republicans Hopeful

They have come up with their own plan later, but many of them think it will have to include some changes in the flexibile price support program set up by the Aiken-Hope bill of the GOP 80th Congress.

If the Midwest vote last November was any guide, that program wasn't too popular with the farmers. Republicans hope they can stir up some interest in the

Delay Indicated In European Arms Bill

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—There was growing doubt today that the $1,130,000,000 arms-for-Europe program will be acted on during this session of congress.

Senate leaders are saying privately the re-arming of North Atlantic pact nations may have to wait either for a special session of Congress this fall—or until Congress meets in regular session next January.

Two possibilities are being discussed in the cloakrooms:

(1) That Congress close shop on July 31 and then return in November for a special session.

Run Until August

(2) That Congress run on until mid-August and then adjourn until next January.

But neither plan at this time calls for the re-armament program to get a priority, it is reported.

This is the talk for the moment: The North Atlantic pact will be called up for ratification before the session ends. Secretary of State Acheson is reported to have asked senators to consider it as quickly as possible as a psychological boost for the Americans at the Big Four Paris conference.

But the leadership is a bit wary about bringing up the arms program for the pact nations with Republicans leading an economy drive to cut down on government spending

Some Senators who are for the pact have shown coolness toward the plan to give arms to the pact nations. Among these leaders are Senators Vandenberg (R-Mich), Taft (R-Ohio) and George (D-Ga).

Tie-Up Developing

With a log-jam already developing on domestic legislation, some senators say the Democratic leadership will not be inclined to press for action on the armament program.

But others say the outcome of the Paris conferences on Germany may be a factor in the final decision on any action at this session.

The Senate foreign relations committee is scheduled to meet this week—probably Thursday—to discuss a vote on the treaty. Chairman Connally (D-Tex) already has predicted the committee will give it "overwhelming approval."

Faith, Yon Danny's No Longer Restless

PITTSBURGH, May 23.—Shur and it'll be a cold day in Donegal before Danny Donahue takes another ride in his mother's laundry shute.

Nine-year-old Danny has been sick the past few days—nothing serious, mind you. Just enough to make him "sort of restless" staying in bed, his mother reports.

Yesterday, Mrs. Donahue looked in Danny's room. Danny wasn't there. A search uncovered the youngster—all 78 pounds of him—in the laundry shute, stuck halfway between the first and second floors.

Mrs. Donahue called firemen. They tried ropes and poles but Danny was stuck for shur. So the firemen brought out their axes and tore out enough wall to let Danny slide the rest of the way to the cellar.

Back in bed again, Danny explained he just wanted to see if he could fit in that shute. He knows now.

Texan Proposes Bill For County Road Aid

WASHINGTON, May 23 (AP)—Rep Pickett (D-Tex) expects to introduce today a bill authorizing $150,000,000-a-year federal aid program for country roads.

Picket said yesterday the bill would propose a two year program, under which the federal money would be spent for such rural roads as the counties and states agree shall be built.

He said the money would be distributed under the regular federal aid formula, which would mean that his own state would get about $10,000,000.

Other pending rural road bills would distribute the money direct to counties. It would go to the state under the picket bill.

No one is inclined to dispute Connally's prediction.

FORT WORTH, May 23 (AP)—Two Southern Methodist university football players were injured in a three-car smashup in which one other person was killed.

Gene (Chicken) Roberts, 21, Teague, scheduled to divide first string right halfback duties with Frank Payne on the Mustang team next fall, suffered chest and possible internal injuries.

Cecil Moseley, 25, of Dundee, received bad cuts and bruises.

Student Is Killed

Carl Underwood, 21, North Texas State college student, was killed in the accident early yesterday morning. Graford Campbell, 18, Texas Christian university student, was also injured.

Roberts, Moseley and Campbell were in the same car. All were former students at Masonic Home school here and had planned to attend a homecoming today.

Roberts is one of the fastest men on the Southern Methodist team and scored one of the touchdowns against Oregon in the Cotton bowl game last New Year's day.

German Composer Dies In Salzburg

VIENNA, May 23. (AP) — Hans Pfitzner, 80, German composer, died at Salsburg yesterday.

Pfitzner, who had been without funds since his bank accoutns in Germany and foreign countries were blocked during and after the war, was a ward of the Vienna Philharmonic orchestra. They took him from a home for the aged in Munich, found him a home here and paid all his bills.

The works of Pfitzner, one of Europe's most prolific and versatile composers, were not played in Germany in the last years of Hitler's era because the composer opposed the persecution of Jews.

Pfitzner said his opera "The Rose From the Gardens of Love" was his favorite musical work. He also wrote prolifically about music

His will expressed the wish to be buried near Beethoven, Schubert and Mozart at Vienna's central cemetery.

Boy, 10, Shot On Picnic Trip

PITTSGURGH, May 23. (AP)—A 10-year-old boy was found shot to death yesterday in a woodland where he and two other boys had gone on a picnic.

Police Chief John Jacobs of North Versailles, township said the youngster, Raymond W. Jones, had a bullet wound in the head and added he "must have died instantly."

Jacobs said the boy and two companions went out on a hike Saturday, taking with them a frying pan, some bacon and potatoes.

Boys Heard Shots

One of the other youngsters was quoted by Jacobs as saying they heard a shout and then two or three shots rang out. When young Jones failed to return to his home, a searching party was formed.

The police chief said the shooting party was formed.

The police chief said the shooting occurred near the home of a recluse who had lived in the area for 18 to 19 years.

"The man," Jacobs said, "has disappeared from his hut and we are seeking him for questioning."

APPOINTMENT of John J. McCloy, 54-year-old former head of the World bank, to be U. S. high commissioner in Germany, marks the first important shift from the military to the civilian in our occupation in Europe.

It also marks the beginning of what might be called "a noble experiment" in our dealings with the vanquished Germans.

McCloy succeeds Gen. Lucius D. Clay, a four-star general and crack soldier, as our No. 1 man in Germany and while he will be backed up by the U. S. military, his administration will be a civilian one, rather than the complete military domination under the Clay regime.

The big question is:

Can a civilian-bossed occupation of Germany at this time keep the Germans in line as well as a military occupation kept them or will the absence of a strict military control cause them to buck against the occupation traces?

Everyone has known all along that sooner or later our occupation of Germany would be shifted from military to civilian control.

But whether or not the shift is being made too early is a matter of opinion.

Psychologically, the Germans respect the iron control of the military. For generations, military might has been impressed upon them. Strict military discipline, not easy-going civilian operation, long has been the rule and guide of the people of Deutschland.

In placing occupation control in the hands of a civilian we are running the risk of a psychological reaction among Germans that they now can "get away" with more than they could under the iron fist of the military.

If the Germans react that way to the change in control, we're in for trouble.

OF COURSE, the military will remain in Germany to back up the McCloy administration and to furnish necessary "window dressing."

Lt. Gen. Clarence Huebner and Maj. Gen. George P. Hays, General Clay's deputies for the past several years, remain on the ground, along with their troops, to enforce order. The Germans know Huebner and Hays as fair, but tough, soldiers. They know that Huebner, as Clay's chief aide, has pretty largely bossed the strictly military angles of the occupation.

But they also know that with the arrival of McCloy, Huebner and Hays will take their orders from a civilian.

That could make the Germans much more difficult to handle. They simply do not respect a man in mufti as they do his counterpart in bemedaled uniform.

Whether our occupation shift at this time is wise, or foolish, is strictly a matter of opinion. One person's guess is as good as another's.

But having seen the military occupation, and having had an opportunity to compare our military personnel in Germany with our civilian personnel, we take a dim view of the change.

"We believe events in the weeks and months to come will show that a change from military to civilian control in Germany this early in the game is a mistake.

IT IS possible that Mr. McCloy is a better bet for occupation boss in Germany than any available military man.

But even so, it would have been wise, we think, to have made him boss behind the scenes, with a military figure out in front for psychological reasons.

We shall see what we shall see and for our part, we hope the civilian-run occupation will be efficient and productive of good results in Germany.

But we doubt that it will do as well as military occupation has done to date, because the very considerable German underground is likely to take advantage of the change to encourage others to hamper the orderly restoration of the German nation.

Dr. Clifford B. Jones has been having good luck with a story about the late, great Walter Johnson, whose fast ball was the baseball marvel of two decades.

It seems that Johnson was at his best one day, facing the great hitter, Tris Speaker, of the Cleveland Indians. The tall Washington hurler let go a fast ball which crashed into the glove of his catcher, Muddy Ruel.

"Stee-rike One!" bawled the umpire behind the plate, and Speaker stepped out of the batter's box.

"Did you see that pitch?" Speaker asked the umpire.

"No, I didn't," the arbiter admitted.

"Well," said Speaker, "neither did I. But it sounded like it was a little high!"

THE other day we chanced to fly down to Fort Worth on an early morning plane. We were astounded by the amount of surface water we noticed lying on these plains around Lubbock.

On either side of the plane, surface lakes were so many they couldn't be counted as the ship roared along at 150 or more, miles per hour. Once we were able to county 50 lakes in sight, although there were others we couldn't get to.

There are so many lakes around here now that it looks like there's a couple to every section. Some of them are very big lakes too, as surface lakes go They look like a quarter mile, or more, in diameter.

It is safe to say that there are millions of gallons of water lying on top of our Plains these days. It is sad, but true, to say that not anywhere near all of it will seep down into the underground levels.

But some of it will and, in the aggregate will be considerable.

ACCORDING to geologists and others presumed to know about such things, about 1/40th of surface rainfall gets down into underground supplies in this country. The other 39/40ths evaporates.

But in the case of the lakes on the plains today even 1/40th is a lot of water

It will be interesting to note, at the end of the current year how much our water tables have gone up as a result of the wet cycle.

That the tables will go up there is no doubt. How much they go up depends, of course on the rest of the year's rainfall and the type of weather we get in July and August.

BY DREW PEARSON: VISHINSKY WILL SUGGEST WITHDRAWAL OF TROOPS FROM GERMANY

Sec. Acheson Will Propose United German State

WASHINGTON—Here is a summary of the general instructions in Secretary of State Acheson's pocket for the most important peace parley since Potsdam. It opens in Paris today.

PEARSON

1. The United States will take the position that we owe the Russians nothing for lifting the Berlin blockade, since this was merely righting a wrong.

2. The State department is leaning more and more to the view that Russia really wants to play ball with the western democracies; we will do our best to cooperate at Paris.

3. The U.S.A. will propose that Russia's eastern Germany be amalgamated with the allies' western Germany in one democratic republic. An election would be jointly supervised by the four powers. The recent overwhelming protest vote in the Russian zone makes it apparent that in any free election, anti-Communists would win.

4. An allied control council would be established inside Germany to inspect possible armament factories.

Troops Out Of Germany

This brings Acheson's instructions down to the most important question of all—whether allied troops are to be withdrawn from the country which, in twenty brief years, fomented two terrible wars. The answer to this is not so easy.

Nevertheless it is certain that Foreign Minister Vishinsky will propose that the troops of all countries be withdrawn from Germany and go home altogether. This would mean that Russian troops could withdraw within the Polish border—then march back into Germany with no trouble whenever they wanted to. It would also mean that American troops would pool back across the Atlantic and could not return to Germany within weeks, probably months—all depending on congressional debate.

To answer this question the State department sent to Germany George Kennan, head of its strategy board.

Kennan came back with the counterproposal that U. S. and British troops return to the two embarkation cities of Hamburg and Bremen, with French troops returning to the French border.

The Kennan plan was then reviewed by the joint chiefs of staff who frowned on any evacuation to Hamburg and Bremen. There was room in these two cities, they said, for approximately 300,000 U. S. and British troops. Instead, they proposed:

A. That all allied troops be withdrawn from the main German centers.

B. That allied troops then be stationed on both banks of the Rhine, some in German territory, some in French.

C. That a German constabulary force be carefully trained by allied instructors to maintain order in the evacuated parts of Germany.

The above joint chiefs of staff program has now been adopted as official U. S. policy, and is what Secretary Acheson will propose at Paris—if the Russians demand the complete evacuation of Germany.

NEXT problem Acheson faces is the position of our French and British allies. The latter are willing to accept the above chiefs of staff program, but the French are not. French Ambassador Bonnet has made this repeatedly clear to the State department on instructions from his government.

France, he said, was determined to keep troops in Germany regardless of what England and the United States might do and would not even accept the plan to withdraw to German port cities.

Acheson's assistant, Charles "Chip" Bohlen, is now in Paris trying to persuade Foreign Minister Schuman to reverse this stand. It is interesting to note that Bohlen, a cousin of the famous German munitions makers, Krupp Von Bohlen, does not favor keeping an allied control council inside Germany to inspect industrial plants. Other State department officials do not agree with him.

Those are some of the A-B-C points of a conference which holds the peace of the world in its hand and can, if successful, set a new tide in the affairs of men.

Senate Recess

The Democratic high command has decided not to recess the Senate until it has voted on the Atlantic Pact, Taft-Hartley law, and reciprocal trade agreements—plus whatever else can be sandwiched in. The leaders estimate this will take until July 31.

The talk is that President Truman will barnstorm the country again this summer to get a firsthand look at the state of the union—and regain some of his lost strength. Then he will probably call a special session in October.

SENATORS are priority passengers on Capitol Hill elevators. It is an unwritten rule that senators have the special privilege of buzzing three times. This is supposed to be a summons to the elevator operator to halt in his tracks and scoot full-throttle to pick up the senatorial caller. Ofttimes a common citizen gets stuck in an elevator shuttling senators, and doesn't reach his floor for five minutes.

Only one senator scorns this special privilege and buzzes once. He is Kentucky's homespun Senator Garrett Withers, who figures he is no better than anyone else. In fact, he scolds elevator boys who try to take him to his destination ahead of his turn.

Whiskey Lobbyists

Another has been is back on Capitol Hill, haunting the senators' private rooms and lobbying against increased whiskey taxes. He is Edward McGinnis, who used to be Senate sergeant-at-arms under the Republicans. After several weeks of buttonholding senators in the back rooms, McGinnis finally got around to registering as a lobbyist for the Distilled Spirits institute. Salary: $12,000 plus expenses.

NOTE—Before the last election, McGinnis left his post while still on the public payroll to campaign for GOP Senator Curley Brooks in Illinois. Brooks was defeated; McGinnis lost his job.

Government Game Preserve

BY RUTH MILLETT: TO THE LADIES

The Feminine Viewpoint

"DON'T you think I'm justified in wanting a divorce?"

That's the question put to me by an unhappy wife and mother of two young children, in ending a long letter devoted to her husband's faults.

That's a pointed question for any woman to ask herself or anybody else.

The question for the wife who is considering divorce isn't "Am I justified?" but "Will I be better off divorced?" And if there are children the question has to be lengthened to include "Will the children and I be better off?"

MILLETT

A woman can make a terrible mistake if she gets a divorce just because she is certain she is "justified" in leaving her husband.

What does it matter if both she and the world think she is justified in ending her marriage, if either she or her children are worse off after a divorce?

Ten years ago when Gloria B. asked for and got her divorce nobody blamed her. She was justified—in her own mind and in the eyes of the couple's friends.

But today Gloria is a lonely, bitter woman—with nothing but her pride and her feeling that she was justified in breaking up her marriage to comfort her.

If, 10 years ago, she had asked herself, "Will the children and I be better off if I divorce John?" she might have arrived at a different answer.

DIVORCE SOLVED NOTHING

FOR she and the children haven't been better off. John wasn't a perfect husband. But she and the children had a better home with John than they have had since. As John's wife she had a place in the community which she had never been able to make for herself. The children have been deprived of a father all these years. And Gloria, herself, has known a loneliness deeper than the loneliness of a not-too-happy marriage.

Of course, there are many cases where a woman is better off divorced. And there are cases where the children are better off, too. But before she asks for a divorce a woman should be sure that she and the children will be better off. That's far more important than whether or not she is justified.

After all, many a wise woman has stuck by a marriage and seen it work out in time who might have been justified once in asking for a divorce. And you can be sure that the reason why she stuck by the marriage was because she was practical enough to ask herself "Will I be better off divorced?" instead of "Am I justified in getting a divorce?"

Musical Outrage Supposed To Be Great Modern Achievement

NEW YORK, May 23.—A great cultural contribution to our time has been furnished by Prof. Paul Weston of Capital records. Professor Weston has just explained bop so that you and I may understand it. A "Bopitionary," or glossary of the bopster's terminology, is also included.

RUARK

This is really the second great cultural contribution that Capital has supplied in the last six months. The other was an album of records in which no melody was played — only background arrangements. This was to provide musical accompaniment for people who practice the cornet at home, and also to encourage kitchen singing on Saturday night.

Bop, as I understand it, is a kind of musical outrage for which some people profess a fondness. It is played by people who wear goatees and berets. Its language has been compared to that spoken by the Cro-Magnon man, obviously the mental equal of the modern bopster. Professor Weston says that "the bopper has his ee, ee, oo, oo, aa, aa sounds; you'll neved find him using the vowels 'I' or 'o', for some unexplainable reason."

The reason is not unexplainable at all; the bopper has not yet climbed sufficiently high on the evolutionary tree to be able to form the other letters. Give him another few thousand years, and then watch him go.

Terms Defined

Bop, or be-bop, was first popularized by one dizzy Gillespie, I believe, who explained that he played right along, went "be-bop", and then started all over again. His art form has built into something of a national epidemic.

Prof. Weston tells us that the basic element of bop harmony is "the flatted fifth." which means that the fifth note from the root of the chord is dropped a half-tone. "This," he says, "provides the same effect as spelling 'catch' with a fifth letter not as far from the beginning of the alphabet, or spelling it 'catcg'."

Thank you, professor. That clears everything up.

One need not be able to undersand bop to enjoy it, I am informed, but for fuller appreciation of this exotic adventure in music a knowledge of a few technical terms is helpful. In Bop, "geets" means money. "Lu cu pa" means goodnight. "Dil ya bla" means to make a phone call. "Mop shi lu" i sto be disappointed, and "oop pa pa da" means hello.

A MUSICIAN is a "wig," and if he's cool, he's groovy, which means he's lop pow, or okay. If one is bugged, he is annoyed. He could be annoyed by a zoo, or sad-looking chick, or a turkey, or square, or a clown, or non-hip bopper. Any of the above may be defined as a drag, or just plain awful.

Professor Weston quotes a bopper on bop: "You'll know bop when you hear it, 'cause everything is co-o-ol . . . each man's a great wig and when he starts cutting none of the greatest is mop shi lu. It's music that goes ee oo and ah ah ah, like that. You can't explain it—you gotta feel it."

In the interests of science, I have recently exposed myself to bop, in order to feel it, and must report that it feels draggy. It bugs me. It mop shi lus me. I think it's awful, and if that makes me a turkey, or clown, fine. I don't big-eye it, at all.

One rather prominent jazz musician, who has just converted his band to bop in the interests of commerciality, confided that he didn't like it either, but he had to play those noises to eat.

"I got a theory about bop," he said. "I think everybody is going nuts unless they let off some steam, and zop is the steam. You know how they tie a chain to big trucks, so that the static can escape and ground onto the road, instead of building up and blowing up the truck?

"That's what boy is—static. People open up their mouths and holler be-bop to keep the static from building up and blowing off the tops of their heads. I am playing static for a living."

I think this fellow's right. Everybody is storing up too much static, and whether it comes out in bop, pyramid clubs or kite-flying, the basis of the static is the same.

THE Wall Street Journal, gently ribbing local columnists who triumphantly credit themselves with "exclusives" on inconsequential drivel, recalled the Southwestern editor who would kill front-page stories of world-wide importance in order to scoop other papers in the region on local or sectional items.

One day he accomplished the minor triumph of being the first and only editor to report a disaster in a nearby town. The following week he scored another distinct beat with this announcement: "We were the first to announce the news of the destruction by fire of Jenkins' paint store last week. We are now the first to announce that the report is absolutely without foundation."

WHY JUMP THE GUN?

The probabilities are that, if a poll of Texans was practical, they would favor, overwhelmingly, the prolongation of the present session of the Legislature until its work is finished. Few would prefer, we think, a proposed early adjournment to be followed by a special session later.

Two among many reasons which argue for the prolongation plan are these: First, it would be much cheaper than a special session; and, second, the scheme to set up a special meeting even before the regular session adjourns would be bad precedent. It probably would mean that special sessions, which have been held rarely, would become a regular occurrence.

Texans are to vote within the next few months on a constitutional amendment which will propose annual sessions along with a generous annual salary, instead of the preset per diem, as compensation for members of the Legislature. It would be jumping the gun considerably for legislators to set up a session before people of the State have an opportunity to express themselves on the amendment which, if defeated, will be convincing evidence that most Texans don't want special assemblies except in extreme emergency

MEN READ CAREFULLY
I want to talk to ten men who are really ambitious in securing a position that will give them steady employment the year around. In other words there are no laying off periods. Consistent income is the income that really counts.
It doesn't matter what your past employment has been; we teach you our work. It will be necessary that you be willing to get along on $55 or $65 per week for the first four to six weeks while learning our work.
If you are mechanically inclined or can handle men in a supervisory capacity, or your present income is not satisfactory, answer this now. You must be able to give the names of three persons who will vouch for your honesty and integrity.
We prefer men who are married or who have some sense of responsibility and have a car.
We will present our plan only if wife accompanies you. Her happiness is contingent upon your success, and we feel that she should know completely from the first, what you will be offered.
Therefore if you are honest and of good character, a willing worker and neat in appearance, apply Hotel Lubbock, Monday evening 8:00 p. m. only. Ask for Mr. L. W. Givens.
This applies to men living in Lubbock and surrounding towns.

Outcome Of 'Cold War' Depends On Foreign Ministers' Meeting

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst

This day marks the opening of what bids fair to be the most important phase of the "cold war"—the Big Four foreign ministers' council meeting in Paris to try to decide the future of Germany.

Should it prove to be possible for Russia and the three Western democracies (America, Britain and France) to agree, then we might see the end of the cold war itself. But the issues are so controversial, and the stakes are so high, that—not to be frivolous with a grave subject—we shoul keep our fingers crossed as we pray for peace.

In dealing with this conference it is necessary to repeat what our column has pointed out numerous times—the future of Europe depends heavily on the fate of Germany. Just as the strategically situated Reich was the economic-military keystone of the continent before the world war, so she is destined to play an important role again in the rehabilitation and stabilization of Europe.

Germany Is Key

More to the immediate point, Germany is the key to the outcome of the cold war. Her domination by Russia might permit the Red offensive to push through to the English channel, thereby overrunning the whole continent. Free from Moscow's control, the Reich would be a shield for Western Europe against Communist aggression.

The great issue, of course, is the unity of a Germany which now is divided into four zones occupied by the four allies. Russia has in effect isolated her eastern zone from the other three, and has engineeded the creation of a German government labeled the "Peoples Congress" for that area. The German people of the British, French and American zones, however, have got together and agreed upon a constitution creating a federal republic.

The foreign ministers council presumably will have before it two proposals which are at utter variance. One from the Western powers will call for the union of the Soviet zone with the western zones in the new federal republic.

Counter Proposal Seen

Russia is expected to counter with the demand that the Western zones join the communized "Peoples Congress" in a centralized government.

The position of the western powers was vastly strengthened at the weekend by ratification of the new republican constitution. Russia, on the other hand, received a heavy jolt in the election for the "People's Congress" last week.

As is the custom with such Soviet elections, the vote was supposed to be close to 100 per cent for the Communist card. To the consternation of the Reds, however, they had to admit that at least one-third of the voters turned thumbs down on the Communist program. Still, that isn't expected to prevent Russia from calling for inclusion of the three Western zones in the Eastern government.

Naturally Paris is set for a possible storm.

West Takes Strong Stand

However, the Western allies are taking a strong stand, and indications at the opening of the conference were that if the Muscovites are ready to unify Germany they can do so through the Western plan, otherwise Germany will remain divided. U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson summed the situation up just before leaving Washington for Paris when he declared he would refuse to "barter away" to Russia successes already achieved by the West in building a democratic Germany.

"It is not our intention," said the secretary, "no matter how much we may desire agreement, to accept anything which would tend to undo what has been accomplished or impede future progress along the course we have charted toward the revival of health and strength for the free nations of the world."

"Miracle Worker" Is Reported In India

GODHRA, India, May 23 (AP)—Crowds of religious people have been converging recently on the village of Vejalpur, about seven miles from here in Bombay province, to see a threeyear-old boy who is reported to have "second sight."

The boy, belonging to the Khadayta Bania Hindu community and named Krishnadas, is said to have restored the sight of a man who had been blind for three years, to have converted water into sweet scented liquor and to have perfumed cloth by the touch of his hand. Cash offerings and gifts are refused by the child and his family.

LECTURE GETS RESULTS

CHICAGO, May 23 (AP)—Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety council, spoke on a radio program about accidents. Then he put on his hat and coat and waited for a car he had ordered from a livery limousine service. He had to wait some time. "Sorry," the tardy driver said. "I was sailing along the Outer Drive on the way to pick you up and listening to the car radio. There was a program about accidents that scared the dickens out of me. I took my foot off the gas and took it easy all the way over here. That's why I'm late."

Film Makers Fly To Zoo For Fly Actors

HAMBURG, May 23 (AP) — All ten of the outstanding stars in a film died here within a few hours recently. The last one fell to the ground dead just as the camera began clicking.

The E. R. K. A. Film Company had just started its newest scientific picture on flies when the bad news became known. The nimble little actresses suddenly died like—flies.

In a case like this a good idea is worth a million. The producer had the idea: "The Hagenbeck Zoo has helped us out of a lot of tight spots with elephants, tigers, horses —why not with flies?" But with temperatures below zero even a zoo will have quite a job looking for flies.

At least it's worth a phone call, thought the producer. "Is that the elephant's house at Hagenbeck? Have you got flies?" "Flies—at this time of the year? No!" The lions' cage didn't have any either. "Catch 'em alive" was the word for the stable boys who saw their ambitions as big-game hunters nearing reality. The head-price was fixed at a cigarette for a fly.

After a five-hour hunt through the "jungles" of Hamburg's Zoo they at least had 25 flies, numb with cold, but alive. They had stuck to the walls of an Indian bull's cage.

Amateur Writes Book On Violin-Making Art

HAMILTON, Ont., May 23 (AP)—Sixteen years after his first attempt to make a violin in his home workshop, Joseph Reid is convinced that what amateurs need is a book on violin making. So he is doing something about it.

In the last three years Reid has made 10 violins, some of them for professional musicians. Then he took on the added task of writing and illustrating a full-scale textbook, tentatively titled "Violin Making for the Amateur Craftsman." He hopes it will be published this year.

Thousands of amateurs have attempted to make fiddles, Reid said, but most fail. Although he is a skilled craftsman and a mechanical supervisor in the American Can Company plant here, his own first attempts were dismal failures, he said.

Virtually all of the world's knowledge on violin making, he found, is handed down jealously from one generation to the next. Extremely little about the craft has been written or diagrammed by the professionals.

India will hold an agriculture census in 1950.

Stalin Is Favorite Subject Of Artists

MOSCOW, May 23 (AP)—Generalissimo Stalin was a favorite subject for many of the winners of the Stalin prizes in art this year.

"Among the new works awarded Stalin prizes," wrote P. Sysoev discussing the question in Culture and Life, "we see a whole series of canvases and drawings embodying the great image of the leader of the Soviet people.

"In the image of Comrade Stalin the Soviet people see the embodiment of its best traits, its ideals, victories and achievements."

British Woman Is Offended By Name

LONDON, May 22 (AP)—A nature writer in the highly proper London Times noted with a slight sniff that "the older botanists believed in calling a spade a spade."

For British readers to whom "bloody" is a naughty word, he wrote:

"I have offended a lady by telling her that a pretty wild flower, growing in masses on the cliffs, was the bloody cranesbill.

"To have compromised with blood-red cranesbill would perhaps have been more wise."
