PACEMAKERS LOSE MUCH TIME IN AIR RACE

SEMINOLE—This is written from Gaines county, Texas—not Oklahoma.

Gray county had the misfortune—or was it?—to be given her school land in Gaines county. We've written of that before, but we didn't see the land until this trip. The land down here is poor—several inches of red sand on a base of red clay. It is not to be assumed that the sand remains as a uniform layer, nor that it all originated here. The dry, hard winds from even drier and sandier counties on the west tend to that.

WE DIDN'T come down here to Seminole, the county seat, to look at red sand even though Gray county had a big tract of it, sold it, and hasn't been able to collect much of the interest in the last decade. Droughts are habitual down here, sandstorms the rule, and crop failures expected. But the people here, on somehow, and Seminole claims 500 inhabitants. The town is at the cross roads of some of that asphalt paving the Panhandle road boosters have been shouting about.

The farmers raise a little corn down here, rather good, but they water it well, and grazing is the main occupation. The cattle we saw were in rather good shape. Terry county on the north is a great corn feeding center.

If you have read this far, we'll reward you with the theme of this article and the reason for writing it—Gaines county has a really big oil lease and royalty activity. ALTHOUGH THIS COUNTY DOESN'T AT THIS MOMENT PRODUCE A DROP OF OIL!

And, answering your next question, Gray county has a chance, although not a large one, it appears, to benefit from possible striking of oil in Gaines county. Gray has title to little of the land now and the best geologists think the oil, if there is any, is in Gray's holding. The best of geologists, however, are sometimes 100 per cent wrong.

IF YOU'VE BEEN reading the downstate papers, you may have seen oil stories under a Seminole dateline. It is true that the Humble Oil & Refining company made a lucky strike about two months ago and began to pump oil in a well about 10 miles south of Seminole. This well is in Andrews county and is producing 100 barrels a day. It is owned by the Humble Oil & Refining company.

TO GET DOWN to the actual fact, their special interest in this well is with Seminole as a refinery, not as a source of oil. The well is about 10 miles south of Seminole, and the refinery is about 10 miles north of Seminole. The well is owned by the Humble Oil & Refining company.

SUCH ACTIVITY has, of course, thrilled Seminole folk beyond description. Misfortunes are ended. There is talk of re-opening a bank. A picture show is going in. Real estate men are developing an addition—Austin Heights. The drilling has not yet begun, but a friendly real estate agent told us that a leasing offer of $25 per lot for leases inside the limits of this unincorporated town. Every major company operating extensively in West Texas, as shown by the ownership of the land, is active around here and all the way up to Hobbs, N. M. Humble, however, has honored the lease and has recently paid $20 an acre to the T. & P. Coal and Oil company for more leases around Seminole.

I HEARD—The hum of airplanes over Pampa all day yesterday. Pampa is becoming air-minded. There is a move on foot to establish a real airport here. Many Pampans flew with Art Pavey and Bud Keenan yesterday.

PRESIDENT IS LIKELY TO RENEW VETO PROMISE

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 22 (AP)—Pleas for a renewal of the bonus and preparedness bill were heard at the opening session here today of the American Legion's 16th annual national convention.

The meeting was called to order by National Commander Thomas A. Hayes in a large amphitheater at Bayfront park where thousands of neatly uniformed Legionnaires gathered in a tropical, gaily decorated setting.

Thrusting the controversial bonus question into the opening session, United States Senator Fredrick Steiwer (R., Ore.) urged that action on payment of the adjusted compensation certificates be deferred for the present.

Disinterested and patriotic persons present a question whether the convention should take an unofficial stand for the immediate cash payment. Steiwer declared:

The senator proposed that the Legion consider the advisability of "standing for early payment and asking that our government meet this obligation at a time when it will result in the minimum burden to the people of the country."

Speaking for strong national defense, Thomas H. Kelly, assistant director of Governmental activities, said for emergency service, told the Legion a "disarmament United States would be a menace to the peace of the world."

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 22 (AP)—Under bright skies, the sixteenth annual convention of the American Legion was called to order at 10 a. m. today by National Commander Edward A. Hayes at Bayfront park.

Thousands of neatly uniformed Legionnaires, including the approximately 1,200 official delegates and hundreds of other visitors and home boys, were gathered around the amphitheater in the park, which was the site of the opening session of the convention at which the bonus question stands as the paramount issue.

The park, which extends westward from the bay front, to Biscayne Bay, was packed with spectators. Hayes, who is a well-known figure in the Legion, was seen shaking hands with many of the veterans and their families. The atmosphere was one of warm welcome and camaraderie.

GOVERNOR Dave Shultz officially welcomed the delegates in behalf of Florida, after being introduced by Commander Hayes.

In his address, he said that as a citizen, he was equally vigilant and concerned in time of peace to protect this country from communistic propaganda and from sinister influences.

The bonus question, despite the fact that it was the most vocal issue among the Legionnaires met for their annual convention, was not taken up until the afternoon session.

Adoption by the rules committee of a two-hour debate limit on the bonus question was announced at the opening session.

INTEREST was whetted by President Roosevelt's strong implication in dedicating a veterans' hospital at Roanoke, Va., Thursday that payment of the bonus must await the return of the missing.

CITY MANAGERS Stress Need for Trained Helpers

City Manager C. L. Stone returned Sunday from St. Louis, where he attended the annual convention of the International City Managers' association, which was in session three days. The meeting was one of the most important in the history of the city managers' association.

An air of optimism prevailed as city matters of every nature were discussed. It was generally believed that city managers and heads of city departments would have to be very busy in the future as chances came through legislative action.

WORK of police departments and study of strikes also received much attention.

City Manager Stone was the only representative from the Panhandle at the meeting. He took part in the sessions during the session.

DUTCH TEAM IS SECOND AND YANKEES THIRD

COTT AND BLACK IN LONG LAP ON BUT ONE MOTOR

PARIS, Oct. 22 (AP)—A news agency dispatch from Italy today reported Harold D. Gillingham, British entry in the London-to-Melbourne air race, had crashed and burned to death with a co-pilot named Haines in the province of Potenza.

PORT DARWIN, Australia, Oct. 22 (AP)—With a loss of several hours' precious time in repairing a balky motor, W. A. Scott and Campbell, record-smashing pacemakers in the $50,000 Melbourne derby, flashed off for Charles today, heading for the last control point before the Flemington race course at Melbourne.

Parmentier and Moll, the Dutch team, were estimated to be four hours behind them, roaring at increased speed over the shark-infested Timor sea, and the Americans, Turner and Pangborn, in third place, were 2,084 miles behind.

Scott and Campbell hurried onward with the finish line 2,176 miles away. K. D. Parmentier was reported going all out to overtake them. He had been nursing his motor over the long jungle, sea and desert stretches while Scott was demolishing everything his machine had.

Scott limped into Port Darwin on only one motor.

MILDENHALL AIRDROME, England, Oct. 22 (AP)—All flight records from England to Australia were shattered today when C. W. A. Scott and his co-pilot, the dapper and stout Campbell Black, hurtled into Darwin approximately two days, nine hours and 22 minutes out of Melbourne.

With the nearest contestant in the England to Melbourne air derby had just taken off 1,688 miles behind the fleet, Britishers badly shattered the best previous record for the long trip.

This was a journey by Charles T. P. King and J. J. Molloy, who left London on Oct. 19, 1933, in 1933.

The Britishers landed in Darwin at about 6:08 a. m. Eastern Standard Time to maintain their commanding lead.

The vote in Dutch team of K. D. Parmentier and J. J. Molloy, who left London on Oct. 19, 1933, in 1933.

This is the third time Scott has flown from England to Australia, which he defeated the existing record. In contrast to the present record, it took him nine days, 3 hours, 40 minutes in April 1931 and 8 days, 20 hours, 47 minutes in October of that year.

Capt. James A. Mollison and his wife Ann, who defied anti-aircraft guns, defied pursuers, Parmentier and Moll, showed they were severely excited when they landed at Singapore. They used wet towels to refresh themselves, then took off for Darwin but landed at Bagan, Java, 570 miles away at 5:26 a. m.

Turner and Pangborn arrived at Alor Star, British Malaya, at 5:51 a. m. today after a flight from Allahabad. They are 409 miles from Singapore.

Wales' Pilot in Race

Scott, who piloted the Prince of Wales, the latter was hunting in East Africa, is from London. He is more than six feet tall and was heavyweight boxing champion when a member of the Royal Air Force.

The weather was threatening at Singapore, and a Melbourne dispatch said it was thick there. Much of the gruelling 11,323-mile derby has been over hazardous stretches of sea, desert and mountains.

Holding fourth place, now that the Mollisons have defaulted, Lieut. Cathcart Jones and Ken Walker of Great Britain, arrived at Allahabad at 1:32 a. m.

Americans Delayed

A damaged fuel pipe forced John H. Wright and John Polando, the only other American team still competing, to delay their flight.

GANGSTERISM DEPENDS ON CORRUPT POLITICS

It is reported in Washington that federal agents who investigated the famous Kansas City Union Station "massacre" have uncovered a startling tie-up between gangsters and politicians in that city.

They have found so much evidence, it is said, that a federal grand jury is to be impaneled to hear all about it.

Now the only really surprising thing about this is the fact that such a disclosure should come as a surprise. As a general rule, you may take it for granted that when any city is plagued by gangsters, those gangsters have some kind of understanding with someone in the city's political life.

This does not refer to Kansas City alone, nor does it refer to any particular group in Kansas City's politics. It is simply an axiom of modern American life; and the way we persistently shut our eyes to it is the chief reason we continue to have gangs.

There is nothing mysterious about modern gangs. They aren't such excessively secret organizations that honest, efficient, and unhampered police forces cannot cope with them. They cops almost invariably have a pretty fair idea who runs them, how they operate, what they do, and when and why they do it. And any city government that honestly wants to do so can usually drive them out of business in short order.

This is a statement that needs to be made over and over again. Gangsterism is part of the price we pay for rotten municipal politics. This is truer now than ever before, since repeal has knocked out public support of the underworld's chief source of revenue.

To be sure, it remains perfectly true that the roots of American crime go deep in the social fabric. Slums have a part in it, and faulty legal machinery helps it to sprout.

Our emphasis on money as the sole yardstick to be used in measuring a man's success or failure is a big factor. Our diversified population, the absence of a unifying national tradition, the lawless temper of the land generally—all these help gangsterism grow.

But in the last analysis, the city gang is the product of political corruption. No one need be surprised to hear that this or that city is afflicted by a gangster-politician alliance. If the gangsters are present, such alliance may be taken for granted.

WASHINGTON.—Like certain other things, if one is to believe whispers from the inside, the code for the electric light and power industry is now being held up until after election.

The code has been approved and lying around somewhere in the White House since last June. It contained wage and hour provisions which meant increased costs for the utilities, but hardly anything the electricity companies have been anxious to get.

There seems to be some fear on the administration's part that the code, although reluctantly accepted by most of the industry, would be used by skillful "power trust" propagandists and other enemies to support the charge that the White House is inimical to the profit system.

For there isn't any way the power companies can get together and boost rates to offset increased costs. For the rate increases they must go to state regulatory commissions or the courts, neither of which have been very helpful in that regard lately.

When the code appears, it will be found that the private companies didn't win their fight to have municipal power plants under it, although Roosevelt will invite all publicly owned plants to subscribe to the wage and hour provisions.

The theory here is that utilities shouldn't expect to raise rates as long as they're paying large sums on watered stock and holding company charges.

Meanwhile, the administration goes merrily ahead with an unprecedented program of busting down electricity rates—its one successful effort to reduce an item of living costs.

No one announces that private companies are being bludgeoned into reductions but that's exactly the effect of a recent statement of policy by PWA. This said that where loan-grant money had been allocated to municipalities for public plants and private companies had thereupon reduced rates, the money wouldn't be handed out unless it appeared that a public plant could operate successfully at lower rates than the private plant's.

While this meant that PWA wasn't trying to drive anyone out of business, it was a plain implication that rate reduction was the way to avoid government-financed competition.

The fact is, private rates have been chopped at nearly every point where PWA has made such an allotment, usually from 20 to 30 per cent.

Retail Sales in Texas Are Good

AUSTIN, Oct. 22.—Dollar sales in Texas department stores and specialty shops during September were very gratifying. It was pointed out in the monthly report of the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research.

"Reports from 94 representative establishments show that total sales were 31 per cent greater than during the month of September, 1933, and 45 per cent above those of August of this year, or almost double the usual seasonal increase from August to September," the bureau's statement said. "Sales for the first nine months of the year were 25 per cent above those during the corresponding period last year."

"The group making the best showing in comparison with September last year was men's clothing stores whose sales increased 48 per cent. Increases for the remaining groups were: Women's specialty shops, 40 per cent; dry goods and apparel stores, 36 per cent; small department stores, 32 per cent; and large department stores, 27 per cent."

"Cities in which the percentage increase in aggregate sales during September, as well as for the first nine months of the year exceeded the average increase over the corresponding periods last year, were: Abilene, Beaumont, El Paso, Houston, Lubbock, Port Arthur, and Tyler."

"The group of stores located mainly in the smaller cities again made a favorable showing with the periods compared. This same fact has been noted in previous months and has been interpreted to mean that purchasing power in the rural districts is apparently increasing relatively faster than in the distinctly urban centers."

"The ratio of collections to outstanding accounts was 31 per cent, against 28 per cent during September last year."

Child of Rich Woman Named in Threatening Note

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—The forbidding brownstone front of Mrs. Gloria Morgan Vanderbilt's home frowned down today on a policeman, established after Mrs. Vanderbilt received a threat against the life of her little millionaire daughter.

"If you value the life of your child, do not fail to meet me in front of the Metropolitan theater in Brooklyn at 10:30 p. m. Friday," said a crude note delivered last Tuesday at the Vanderbilt home. "I will be waiting for you. If you do not keep the appointment you will hear from me again."

Anxiously Mrs. Vanderbilt communicated with police and a guard was posted about the 5-story mansion on East 72nd street, just off Fifth avenue. Not until today did the threat become publicly known. The child, Gloria, is at the old Westbury, Long Island, estate of her paternal aunt, Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, with whom Mrs. Vanderbilt is engaged in a court contest over custody of the 10-year-old heiress.

Va-tro-nol is especially designed for the nose and throat—where most colds start. It aids and stimulates the functions provided by Nature—in the nose—to prevent colds, and to throw off colds in their early stages.

Va-tro-nol is easy and convenient to use—any time or place—at home or at work. Just a few drops up each nostril—at the first sign of discomfort in the nose—irritation or dryness, sniffle or sneeze. Used in time, it helps to avoid many a cold entirely.

Where irritation has led to a clogged-up nose, a stuffy head cold or nasal catarrh, Va-tro-nol penetrates deep into the nasal passages—reduces swollen membranes—clears away clogging mucus—brings comforting relief.

Va-tro-nol's remarkable effectiveness has been proved in thousands of clinical tests supervised by practicing physicians. Equal effectiveness is shown in its everyday home use—aiding millions to greater freedom from colds.

(NOTE—for your protection: The remarkable success of Vicks Drops—for nose and throat—has brought scores of would-be imitators. Don't confuse Vicks real medication with mere "oil drops." The trade-mark name "Va-tro-nol" is your protection in getting the original and exclusive Vicks formula. Always ask for Vicks Va-tro-nol. It is available now in two generous sizes—30c and 50c.

Get Your Trial Samples Now. Your druggist has a limited supply of de luxe combination sample packages. These contain trial samples not only of Va-tro-nol, but of Vicks Vaporub (famous external treatment for colds) and other Vicks aids to better Control of Colds. PASTORS START REVIVALS; VISITING EVANGELIST ARRIVES

DAY IS FILLED WITH SPECIAL WORSHIP HOURS

BAPTISTS WILL GREET NEW MEMBERS ON WEDNESDAY

Revivals and other special services held the interest of congregations in Pampa churches yesterday. The fine Sunday raw record crowds at several churches.

A revival started at Central Baptist church, with sermons by the pastor, Rev. E. H. McCarty. He will continue to preach at morning and evening services through the week. Special music and congregational singing will also feature the meetings, to which the public is invited.

Another revival started at Francis Avenue Church of Christ, and revivals closed at First Baptist and Harrah Methodist churches.

New members at First Baptist church will be welcomed by the congregation at a church night program Wednesday at 7:30. About 125 persons became members during the revival, 37 of them yesterday.

Baptismal services are to follow the Wednesday evening meeting, and will also be conducted this evening at 7:30. H. J. Appelmann, evangelist, and George Wilson, song leader for the revival, left Pampa today after working here two weeks.

Sunday school was attended by 842 yesterday, and 300 young people were present for a special service at the training service hour. The church was filled for the evening preaching, with added chairs required.

Announcement was made that officers and teachers of the Sunday school will meet at 7 Wednesday with Mr. Huber, new education editor.

A series of lectures by the Rev. Francis J. Lewis, closed at Holy Souls Catholic church yesterday with observance of national mission Sunday.

The week's revival at Harrah chapel was conducted by the pastor, Lance Webb, for the newly organized congregation. Attendance increased through the week, he reports, and additional seats were placed to care for recent crowds.

First Methodist church had the preaching elder, Rev. M. M. Beaver of Clarendon, as his speaker yesterday morning, and heard an unusual service of beloved poems presented by Mrs. Gaston Poote last evening.

A revival at the Church of the Brethren, 637 N. Nelson, continued and will be in progress through next Sunday. The public is invited to services each evening at 7:30. The pastor, J. R. Jackson, preaches and songs are led by Mrs. Harris.

Sunday school reports showed 400 at First Christian church, where young people presented the morning worship service, 124 at Presbyterian church, 468 at First Methodist, 95 at McCullough Methodist, 57 at Harrah chapel, 124 at Central Baptist.

Central Church of Christ reported the largest crowd present since it started meeting in the city hall. One more Sunday there, and the congregation will then occupy its new brick building now under construction. One addition was made to membership.

SERVICES OPEN AT FRANCIS ST. CHURCH SUNDAY

YOUNG PREACHER TO BEGIN SERMONS TODAY

Evangelist Roy E. Cogdill of Dallas arrived today to continue a revival started yesterday by local workers in Francis Street Church of Christ. He will preach twice daily for the remainder of a 12-day meeting.

Large audiences heard E. C. McKenzie, minister at both services yesterday. One addition to the church was reported. Former attendance records in the Sunday school were shattered with 235 present.

The minister here says, "The church feels very fortunate in being able to secure the services of this very talented young man. Mr. Cogdill is but 27 years old, yet he has a national reputation among the Churches of Christ."

"He has been engaged in evangelistic work among the larger churches since early boyhood and is minister of the Sears and Summit Church of Christ in Dallas now. He is an eloquent speaker with a pleasing voice. He makes no display of his learning and his marked success as an evangelist, but endeavors to preach Christ and Him crucified."

Daily services will be conducted at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Congregational singing will be featured. Those who wish to attend the revival, but have no means of conveyance are invited to telephone 384, and a car will be sent.

"Every citizen of Pampa is cordially invited to lend moral support to the success of this meeting, to attend that our city may become more spiritually minded as a result of the evangelistic effort," the pastor said.

'PRETTY BOY' FLOYD EARLY TODAY ELUDES POSSE OF OHIO MEN

GUNMAN HAS USUAL LUCK-- PAL QUIZZED

REPORT OF WOUNDS IS DISPUTED BY NEW FACTS

WELLSVILLE, O., Oct. 22 (AP)—Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd, desperate western gunman, seemingly had made one of his characteristic disappearances today as a posse of heavily armed officers and citizens tramped thru the neighboring woods looking for him.

In the village jail here officers resumed their questioning of Adam Richetti, confederate of Floyd who was captured after a gun fight Saturday from which Floyd escaped.

ADAM RICHETTI

Believed to be seriously wounded, Floyd entered the woods not far from Wellsville and local officers said there was little likelihood that he had escaped from this section. The posse, however, was unable to locate or pick up his trail.

Melvin Purvis, head investigator for the department of justice in Chicago, today expressed his belief that Floyd was dead or dying in the woods where he took refuge.

Contradicting these statements of the seriousness of Floyd's wounds was the word of a coal digger, David Ramsure, that he had seen a man resembling Floyd walk out of the woods and attempt to get a ride on the bordering road.

Purvis waited today for murder warrants from Kansas City to serve on Richetti. Upon arrival here by plane, Purvis asked for immediate custody of Richetti, but Chief J. H. Fultz, his captor, refused to turn over the prisoner. Both Floyd and Richetti are wanted by the law as trigger-men in the Kansas City union station massacre of five men in June, 1933.

Many Want Him

Should Floyd be captured alive, a court fight over his custody was seen as a possibility as there is a murder indictment pending against him in Ohio.

Three years ago in April, Floyd and "Bully the Killer" Miller staged a spectacular gun battle in Bowling Green, O., fatally wounding Patrolman Ralph Gastner. Miller was killed, but Floyd escaped.

Floyd is also under sentence of 12 years in Ohio for a bank robbery.

LOST AND FOUND
MONROE CITY, Mo.—By forgetting he had $1,000, I. N. Wright of Los Angeles, Calif., made $2,728. Thirty-four years ago he deposited the $1,000 in a bank at Galesburg, Ill. Wright forgot about the account until recently when a statement of account reached him after being forwarded through several of his old addresses. The statement showed he had a balance of $3,728.

OMAHA, Neb.—Tom Murphy of the transient shelter, up for drunkenness, faced Judge Wheeler, a boyhood friend. "Thirty days this time," said Judge Wheeler.

RUTH BRYAN OWEN TALKS ON INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AS PARENTS OF STUDENTS HONORED

CANYON, Oct. 22.—Five thousand people packed the stadium of the West Texas State Teachers college Saturday to attend the final program of a two-day celebration of the 25th anniversary of the college's founding and to hear Ruth Bryan Owen, who had been secured to speak at this time as a mark of honor to the parents of present and past students of the institution.

Under cloudless skies, and with a flag-draped picture of the Great Commoner, William Jennings Bryan, behind her, Mrs. Owen swung immediately into her subject, which was in interpretation of the relations between the United States and other countries as she has seen them in her work as United States ambassador to Denmark.

Mrs. Owen said that other countries try to know the United States through three agencies, the newspaper accounts which are sent abroad, motion pictures and Americans living abroad. She declared, "I wish that agencies which send news abroad would send those things which will give people of other lands a proper idea of life in our country. We found by studying clippings that 75 per cent of the news sent abroad deals with crime. Is it any wonder that we are thought of as a lawless people?"

She then showed that moving pictures which at home are more fun, designed for relaxation of the tired, are misunderstood in far countries and taken to be real everyday life, giving people the impression that culture and refinement are unknown in our vast country.

Mrs. Bryan then told how the representatives in other lands try to create there typical American home life, so that through the friendly intercourse which develops between people who enjoy the same flowers and food and pictures and music can enable people of different nations to understand and love each other.

Mrs. Owen believes that through friendliness and honesty in all dealings, nations can at present and in the future come to feel that they are all neighborhoods of a small world, in which distance and time have been annihilated by modern inventions such as radio and airplanes.

In the great throng which listened to Mrs. Owen for an hour almost without moving there were hundreds who loved and admired her father. Many of these expressed the belief that she is carrying on her life and diplomatic work according to the ideals which William Jennings Bryan always enunciated.

The 25th anniversary program closed with a football game between the West Texas Buffaloes and the McMurry Indians.

Bobby Bass, Texas Christian university freshman, is a grandson of the first girl graduate of the university.

HAUPTMANN MAY BE TAKEN TO FORMER HOME OF LINDBERGH

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Oct. 22 (AP)—The state of New Jersey put its legal carpenters to work on the Lindbergh murder trial today, organizing the prosecution and setting a date for the arraignment of Bruno Richard Hauptmann.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz, chief of the prosecution, called his six assistants to a conference at Trenton, to assign them their tasks in construction of the case.

The attorney general will confer later today with Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, who will preside at the trial, and defense counsel James M. Pawcett, to set Friday or Saturday as the arraignment date. The trial itself is expected to start about the week of November 5.

With the preparations of the prosecution and defense unfolding, two possibilities arose:

1. That Hauptmann would be taken to the former Lindbergh home at Hopewell, N. J., for a reenactment of the kidnaping of Charles A. Lindbergh Jr., and the murder with which he is charged.

2. That John Hughes Curtis, the Norfolk boat builder convicted at Flemington in 1932 of obstructing the search for the Lindbergh kidnappers, would once more enter the case.

STRANGE MOTIVE SEEN IN BROADWAY SLAYING

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—Broadwayite was shot to death after he had failed to lure two secret emissaries of Cuba from their hotel room.

The killing occurred yesterday, but its motive still was a mystery today. Police refused to disclose their theory on the ground that they did not wish to become "involved in an international situation."

Joseph Lee, 42, described by the police as a racketeer, was the killer's victim. Captain Alberto Casanova of the Cuban navy and Dr. William Tapia, his companion and interpreter, were the two he could not get to accept an invitation to go on a party with "pretty girls."

FEED LOANS FOR BREEDING STOCK ARE MADE AVAILABLE

"Farmers and stockowners in the primary drought areas may now obtain feed loan allowances for purebred cows, heifers, or bulls acquired for breeding purposes since April 1, 1934," according to a statement today by Charles W. Sherrill, regional manager of the emergency crop and feed loan office, Farm Credit Administration, at Dallas. Previous feed loans were not made to purchase feed for stock acquired after April 1.

"The feed loans for recently acquired stock," Mr. Sherrill said, "will enable cattlemen in the drought areas to keep up their foundation herds." No advances will be made to purchase feed for newly acquired stock brought into drought areas from another state or for animals acquired from a person who did not own them prior to April 1. The total number of cattle including newly acquired stock, for which feed loan allowances are now available may not exceed the number owned on October 1, or the number which the applicant will own after culling his herd in accordance with requirements of the cattle purchase program.

Since early in July, when the emergency feed loans were first made available, more than 52,000 of such loans and supplemental advances have been made, totaling over $2,900,000. The loans are disbursed from the drought relief appropriation approved June 19, 1934. Applications may be made to the local crop and feed loan committee in the applicant's county. The Dallas office serves the states of Texas, Arizona, and New Mexico.

About New York

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Baseball is a business and more so in New York than anywhere else. Everybody knows the Babe Ruth to become a big league manager, now that his days as a regular are over, but not many people know he could have been manager of the Cincinnati Reds this year if Colonel Ruppert had been willing to let him leave the American league.

For a while it looked as if Frank Navin, who owns the Detroit Tigers, wanted the Babe to manage his club. At the time he was trying to decide between Ruth and Mickey

CHURCHES

Central Baptist Church

Contrary to the common conception of some, St. Paul did not teach that it was necessary for one to become a fanatic, fool, or pessimist, in order to be a Christian. Rather he followed the program of his master who taught: "That ye might have life and HAVE IT MORE ABUNDANTLY." Paul was a great scholar, philosopher, and metaphysician. When the hour of death found this brave man, he was in the prison yard of Nero writing love letters. In fact the praetorian guards, who were to behead him, stood by, axe in hand, while he penned the words: "Whatever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, THINK ON THESE THINGS."

Dr. E. H. McGaha, pastor of the Central Baptist church, is speaking on this text each evening this week at 7:30. Mr. McGaha will include his series of lectures with four talks on the "Baptism of the Holy Spirit."

The public is invited to participate in these services. The nursery is being kept open for the benefit of those with small children.

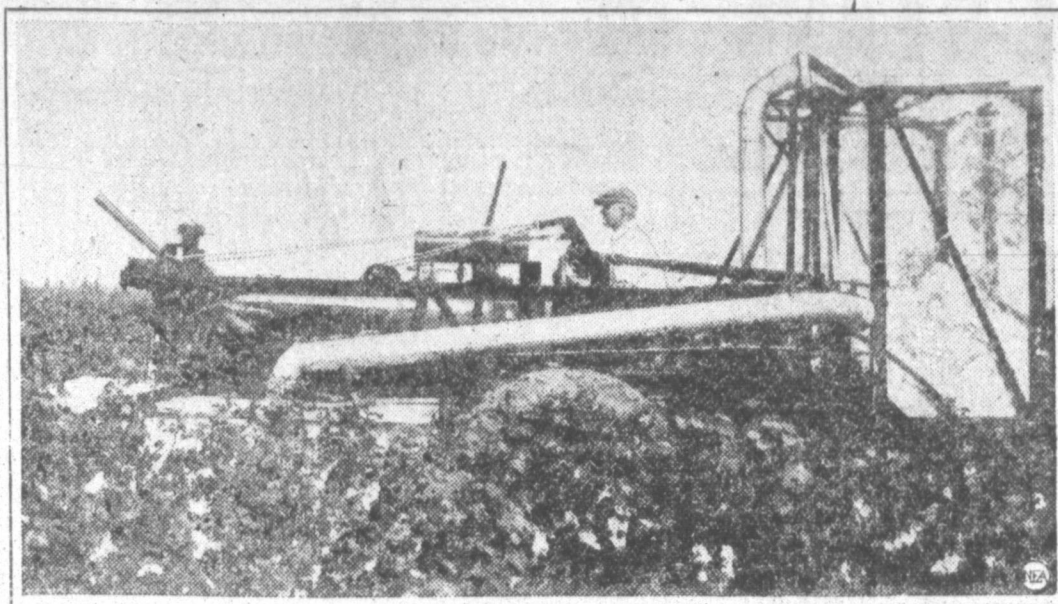

U. S. Engineer Has Gone to Missouri

H. W. Olmsted, construction engineer in charge of the erection of Pampa's new postoffice, left this morning for Hannibal, Mo., where he will be in charge of an extension and repair project at the Hannibal postoffice. Mrs. Olmsted and two children left yesterday to visit friends in Okmulgee, Okla.

Mr. and Mrs. Olmsted and family arrived in Pampa from Okmulgee on May 8, 1933 and have made their home here since that time. Mr. Olmsted remained in Pampa while final changes and some repair work was being done on the local office. He made several inspections of buildings and sites in Texas and Colorado on trips from his Pampa headquarters.

Fred Shafner, Miss Rose Shafner, and Mrs. L. M. Williams spent Sunday in Palo Duro canyon.

First Successful Cotton Picker, Inventors Claim

Inventors have tried and failed for nearly a century to perfect a mechanical cotton picker, but John and Mack Rust, of Lake Providence, La., declare that the machine shown here in a Blytheville, Ark., field, is the answer to the search. It will pick an acre of cotton an hour, doing the work of 100 laborers, say the brothers. A rapidly rotating smooth steel spindle, moistened as it enters the boll, twists out the cotton without use of hooks or claws and leaves it undamaged, assert the inventors.

"DUSTING THE COVERS" OF TEXAS HISTORY FOR CENTENNIAL EVENT

INDIANS ARE REPORTED

Cast on a small island on the Gulf of Texas, Cabeza de Vaca and his companions, weak from the lack of food and water, were almost without hope. Lope de Oviedo, who had "more strength and was stouter than any of the rest" climbed a tree to scout the country. He reported Indians not far away. The travel-worn Spaniards knew then that death would surely be the result of their plight. But they were mistaken.

Some Indians who had watched the strange white men saw their situation and "sat down with us and all began to weep out of compassion for our misfortune, and for more than half an hour they wept so loudly and sincerely that they could be heard far away," De Vaca says in his journal.

The friendly Indians took the half-frozen men (it was now November) and gave them food. Then they sent scouts along the trail to the village to build fires every hundred yards or so. At each fire the exhausted Spaniards were warmed and half carried by the strong arms of the Indians, they reached the village where a huge fire already was prepared for them. When all the white men were comfortable, their rescuers spent the rest of the night dancing and weeping around the fire.

The "Isle of Ill Fate" was to hold its name for Cabeza de Vaca, for he and Lope de Oviedo were to be of the 15 who survived until spring. Six years of virtual slavery for Cabeza and Lope were to pass before they were to meet their friends again.

Money Policy of Government Hit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—A charge that the democratic party had used the "great powers of government" to put the peoples' debts within its control was made today before the American Bankers association convention.

John G. Brown, counsel of the Montana Bankers' association, made the assertion in a speech questioning the statesmanship of President Roosevelt, accusing United States senators of sharp practice, and calling the Frazier-Lemke farm mortgage act a destroyer of fundamental rights.

Other bankers criticized and praised the administration. President Francis Marion Law, in an interview, said he "did not think the president has it in for the bankers or the bankers for the president."

Frank P. Bennett, editor of the United States Investor of Boston, said current theories for a central reserve bank were derived from "among those who think our present system is not docile enough when the treasury speaks."

Are We Going To Let "STRIPPING PLANTS" Rob Pampa Of These Vital Local Industries?

In The Photographs

Below: Danciger Refinery at Pampa. Top Oval: A few of Pampa's oil well supply stores. Lower Oval: A portion of the extensive Cabot carbon black industry near Pampa. Bottom photograph: Phillips' Gray County Plant, near Lefors.

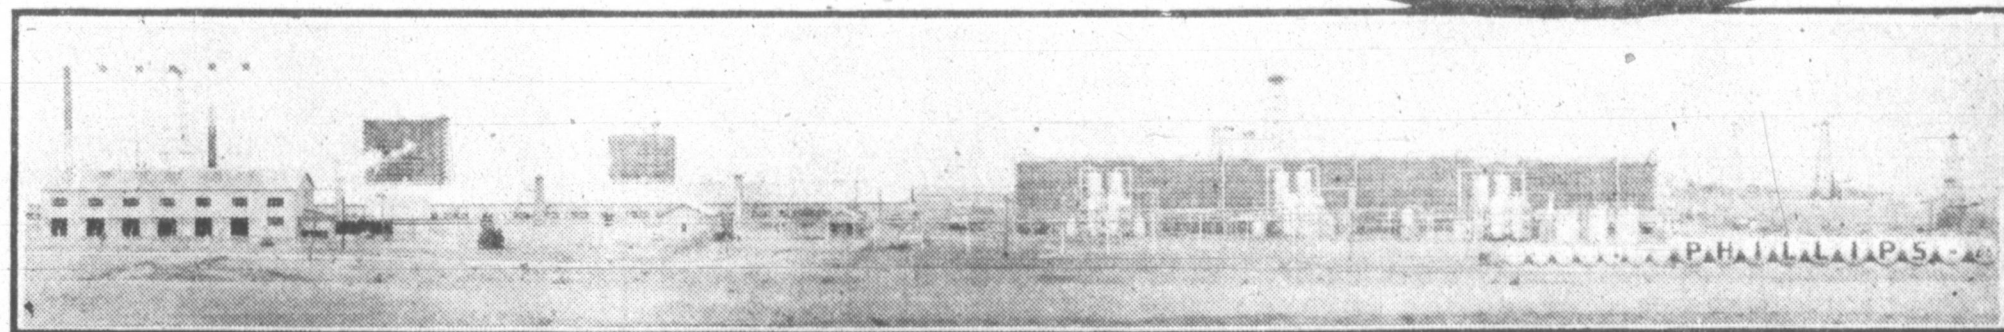

THE industries of Pampa and Gray county . . . ten carbon black plants, six casinghead gasoline plants, 891 oil wells, 160 gas wells, numerous oil well supply stores and a long array of related companies . . . are built entirely around gas and oil production. If the gas and oil wells stop producing, these vital industries will be destroyed.

Oil wells in this field can produce only so long as the gas pressure is sufficient to force the crude oil through the formations to the well bores. Already the gas pressure is down from 430 to 200 pounds pressure per square inch in many parts of the field.

THE GAS PRESSURE IS GOING DOWN QUICKER ON OIL AND GAS LEASES NEAR STRIPPING PLANTS THAN ANYWHERE ELSE IN THE FIELD. This decline in pressure is caused by stripping plants. The more gas they use, the faster the pressure goes down. Oil and gas leases adjacent to these plants are BECOMING WORTHLESS because of this rapid lowering of gas pressure.

These "stripping plants" are cheap to build and operate, and require few employees. They can and do discard 97 per cent of the gas they strip; and get less than one cent's worth of gasoline from every 1,000 cubic feet of gas blown to air. Its pressure for use in oil production has been forever lost.

This tremendous waste is made possible by a law of the last Texas Legislature, the consequence of which were unforeseen at the time, whereby stripping plants are permitted to waste into the air each day a volume of our valuable natural gas equal to the domestic consumption of the ENTIRE UNITED STATES. This colossal destruction is fittingly named, "Texas' Greatest Crime!"

ACT NOW! You can help stop this gigantic wastage! Your representatives in the State Legislature would like to know your views. So communicate immediately with your state Senator, Hon. C. C. Small, Amarillo, Tex., and with your State Representative. (The names and addresses of the State Representatives in the Panhandle are: Hon. H. K. Stanfield, Amarillo, Tex.; Hon. B. L. Rogers, Farnsworth, Tex.; Hon. A. B. Tarwater, Plainview, Tex.; Hon. Eugene Worley, Shamrock, Tex.) Ask that immediate legislative steps be taken to stop this colossal destruction! And also write us today for additional facts!

ROAD RUNNERS DEFEAT ALL-STARS IN WILD GAME HERE ON SUNDAY

GREAT FIELD WORK SAVES PAMPA TEAM

'LITTLE POISON' WANER DEMONSTRATES HIS SKILL

Cy Blanton and the major and minor league All Stars fell before the Pampa Road Runners in a field day game at Road Runner park yesterday afternoon. When the barrage of base hits, wild pitches, and walks had cleared away, the Road Runners were on the long end of a 14 to 12 score.

The professional stars outthrew the Road Runners 22 to 15 but the Pampa nine scored in every inning but the eighth to stay in the lead. Great fielding saved the Road Runners, who completed three snappy double plays, and missed two others by inches.

Lloyd "Little Poison" Waner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, and Hayes, who led the batters in the American Association last season, were the big hitters, collecting four each. Grover Seltz and his big bat went to work for the Road Runners to get two doubles and a triple, and a walk on five times at bat. Johnnie McMahon took Hubbell's first pitch in the seventh and lifted it over the left centerfield fence. Brickell and McMahon led the scoring with three runs each.

Lee Daney started on the mound for the Road Runners and pitched effective ball until the fourth, when he started to wobble. Daney pitched until the seventh when he was relieved by Bill Hardin, who was nipped for six runs before he retired the side. A fast double play got him out of his difficulty. The Road Runners also got Waner on a double play in the eighth, something that has been accomplished few times because of his speed. Waner hit to Cox, who made a clean play, pegged to second, and got back to the bag ahead of Waner.

Cy Blanton was wild, making five wild pitches during his sojourn on the mound. The Pirate pitcher allowed 12 hits and 13 runs before being relieved by Hubbell.

Leader of G.O.P. Counter-Attack

The man behind the rising chorus of protests by Republican speakers against administration policies is Henry P. Fletcher, shown above in a new characteristic portrait. Fletcher as chairman of the Republican National Committee is director of G. O. P. comeback efforts, now centered on the congressional elections of November.

spending of hundreds of thousands of dollars could be snuffed out by a few dry holes. But the major oil company executives appear to be going forward with supreme confidence. While few wells will be started in this county this year, next spring is likely to be active. However, this field—if it is a field—is certainly to be developed with unusual good order.

When the highest prices in West Texas history are paid for leases in advance of drilling, something is sure to be afoot. And, answering that question in your minds, here is data on the Andrews county wells:

The newest Humble prospect is about three-quarters of a mile north of the company's discovery producers, and in section 6, block A-19, public school land, shut down at 4,238 feet with casing set and cemented at 4,221 feet. Operators are calling top of gray lime at 4,200 feet, which is some lower than the discovery well, which was drilled at 4,472 feet and completed for initial production of 350 barrels per day flowing through quarter-inch tubing choke.

The south offset to Humble's discovery producer in Andrews county, the company's No. 1 J. S. Means, 1,980 feet from the north and 860 feet from the east line, section 2, block A-35, public school land, is drilling ahead below 3,030 feet after killing shallow gas from the Yates sand with 2,700 sacks of cement run between 20 and 100-inch casing.

Humble is using rotary tools all the way and has the biggest equipment we've ever seen. Around the tests, mild-eyed cattle graze on spare grass and small shiny, and red sand lies in wind-blown ridges.

MISCELLANY: Seminole's school has 11 teachers and a football team. We saw pecans growing 3 inches long—we swear it. Seminole boasts a golf course and membership in the Cat's Claw league.

Rock pressure in this area is about 1,400 pounds, though gas volume is small. Seminole is getting ready to incorporate—"in case."

Two drilling permits have been asked for tests inside the town-site. Rumor has it that the next well drilled in the county may be near Seagraves.

Open field blocking and tackling, passing and punting will be the major work of the Harvesters football squad this week as it prepares for its longest trip of the season until possible moving out of the district. The Harvesters play in El Paso Saturday afternoon against the Bowie high school, one of the strongest teams in that section of the state.

With the exception of a few bruises, the Harvesters came thru their game with the Trinidad Miners Friday night in good condition. The team worked nicely after getting the timing down in the last half. Harvesters substitutes gave a brilliant exhibition while in the game and should see a lot of play in future games. The second string boys entered the game without weakening the offense or defense.

Only one scrimmage will be in order this week and it will probably be called Wednesday afternoon. The team will leave early Friday morning for El Paso. Method of transportation has not been definitely decided. The game is scheduled to start at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Bowie was doped the strongest club in El Paso until Saturday, when El Paso high won a surprising 13 to 7 victory over the Bowie lads.

First comparative dope on the strength of Pampa and Amarillo touchdown advance over the Harvesters, arrived at thusly: Pampa lost 18 to 0 to capital Hill of Oklahoma City, Capital Hill defeated Norman, Okla., 20 to 0, the same score by which the Amarillo Sandies defeated Norman Friday night. Amarillo could have won by a larger score but substitutes played much of the game.

Lubbock's stock took another hike Friday night when the Westerners fought a 7 to 7 battle with the highly touted Abilene Eagles. Morris White, the former White Deer boy, was the star of the Lubbock attack with his ball totting, punting, and passing.

Borger fell before Panhandle's class B team 19 to 7 Friday night in a hard fought game. Borger's team has been terribly weakened by the loss of a halfback and a lineman, both out for the season with broken bones.

Minus two regulars, injured when a bus overturned, Plainview's Bulldogs fell before the Childress Bobcats 19 to 0 Friday night. Morris Plainview boys were out and bruised, but not seriously injured.

Only one conference game will be played in District 1 this week, when the Amarillo Sandies invade Borger Friday night. Amarillo should win by about any score desired.

Sweetwater's Mustangs will invade Lubbock for a hard fought battle Friday.

Quanah's Indians will go to Plainview for the other game in the district Saturday afternoon.

Texas Polo Ace Amazes Observers

FORT WORTH, Oct. 22. (AP)—North Texas polo enthusiasts were still talking about Cecil Smith today after the 10-goal Texas cowboy displayed his wares in an exhibition game at El Ranchito club.

Smith tallied five goals and started numerous thrilling plays. He bounded one through in the first period, two in the second, one in the third and then relaxed until the final chucker when he scored another as the rainbows descended. El Ranchito, 13-7.

Smith played brilliantly, shooting at the uprights from all angles. He teamed with Charles Stanley, Aubrey Floyd and Roy Barry. The El Ranchito team was composed of A. B. Wharton, Cecil Childers, George Robbins, Clarence Starke and George Oliver.

Austin Breaks Course Record

Austin was playing with Del Love, club professional, and F. D. Breedlove when he set the new record. The youngster, not yet 20 years old, has been shooting phenomenal golf for four years.

Austin's card showed:

DISARMING OF AMERICA SEEN AS DANGEROUS

UNIVERSITY DEAN SAYS PEACE BASED ON STRENGTH

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 22. (AP)—Thomas H. Healy, assistant dean of Georgetown University's school for foreign service, told the American Legion today that a disarmed United States would be a menace to the peace of the world.

He declared that the surest way to prevent aggressive action by other nations is to be armed in advance.

Healy spoke for national defense in an address at the opening day's session here of the legion's 16th annual convention.

After reviewing the opposition to national defense—"a strange lot of fellows"—Healy said, "every sane person would be delighted if war could be abolished and armaments reduced or even eliminated."

"Unfortunately," he continued, "even the most optimistic person now admits that little real progress has been made toward abolishing war and that armaments are rapidly increasing rather than decreasing."

"It is generally admitted that rarely any of the grave problems causing dangerous international friction have been solved, and that the existing situation is so critical that it would not take much to light the fuse of war in a number of parts of the globe."

Healy declared:

"The thesis that America could disarm overnight is so ridiculous that it is amazing that otherwise intelligent persons hold it. . . . It is astounding how quickly the grim lessons of 1917 can be forgotten!"

"The prime reason why we are compelled to pay more for our national defense than other nations is that we have not resorted to compulsory military defense, where the military forces are paid practically nothing for their work."

PROS SMASH AMATEURS FOR ANOTHER TIME

LELAND HAMMAN DOES WELL IN SINGLES, HOWEVER

HOUSTON, Oct. 22. (AP)—Members of the Texas Professional Golfers association team swept aside their amateur opponents yesterday to win the second annual Texas cup matches over the Houston Country club links, 13½ points to 2½ points.

The 12 sharp-shooters of the professional clan won five of the six double matches to take a commanding lead in the morning round in spite of several rounds of excellent golf by the amateurs, the pros won eight and tied one in the ten single matches.

Jake Burke, Houston River Oaks Country club pro, shot the lowest round in the morning when he riddled the par 35-37-71 layout in 69 strokes.

The only point gained by the amateurs in the doubles was by Lonnie Wendland and Lorraine Young of San Antonio who shot sub-par golf to beat the pro combination of Francis McGonagill and Dudley Bell.

Leland Hamman of Paris, Trans-Mississippi champion, won a point for the amateurs in the singles when he shot even par to beat Jimmy Demaret of Galveston, 3 and 2. Demaret is the Texas G. P. A. champion.

TEXAS AGGIES FIRST, TECH IS NEXT IN EVENT

Sheriff's officers brought three persons to Pampa yesterday following their indictment by the 31st district grand jury. They appeared before Judge W. E. Ewing this morning and their cases were set for trial next Monday. Judge Ewing appointed defense attorneys in each case.

Clyde Lewis, alias Albert Hamon, and Selma M. Smith were brought from the Potter county jail in Amarillo, where they had been transferred before Judge W. E. Ewing. Grand jury indictments charging theft, and also theft and burglary, were reported last week. Indictments were in connection with the theft of an automobile in McLean and the burglary of the W. M. Kretz home on the Harrah lease, where a radio and other items were stolen.

Oris Bowers was returned from Wheeler where he had been arrested on an indictment by the grand jury. He is charged with theft and burglary in connection with the entry and theft of articles from a house on the Mrs. Osborne farm near Pampa.

Wrath of Arizona homesteaders was vented on the three notables who hang here in effigy in the desert 16 miles from Phoenix, after the government had revoked the $18,912,000 loan for the Verde dam construction which would have brought water to their parched lands. Secretary of Interior Ickes, Congresswoman Isabella Greenway, and Gov. B. B. Moeur were blamed by the farmers for the decision and the effigies were burned after hanging from the crane scaffold.

Marian Gordon

by JEANNE BOWMAN

SYNOPSIS: Marian Gordon, reporter for the Morning Dispatch, has suppressed two damaging revelations about Silver Gordon, so that Cliff Gordon, the husband Silver just has divorced, may have a chance for life. Cliff had shot himself when he heard of the divorce. Now Silver is making a play for Cliff. She has a chance to show him the true Silver—not grief-stricken as she had pretended to be but easily gambling in a Reno casino.

Chapter 14. SACRIFICE

Marian stood before the casino mirror, apparently trying to weave a soft strand of hair into the fold of its way. The other girl in the mirror stared back at her with accusing eyes.

The other girl had no decision to make. It showed in the firm line of her lips, the steady gaze of violet-blue eyes. She had made her decision in the log cabin the previous night. She had decided to follow herself. She had protected Cliff Gordon from Silver.

She turned from the mirror. It was too late now to revoke that act. Simply because Silver had recognized Cliff's charm was no reason for her to change. Besides, Cliff Gordon wasn't yet out of danger and he had the right to an unhampered fight. An angry Silver couldn't be handled. She drove now to a queer little shack on a hill overlooking the lights of the town, sat on benches before a rough boarded table and listened to boys in cowboy garb sing songs of the range.

Hamlin seemed preoccupied. Marian subdued, only Lon remained cheerful.

"By the way, Casad," Hamlin ventured at length, "did you see Mrs. Gordon off on the train?"

Marian looked up quickly. Hamlin had been protecting her. He hadn't known but that Lon knew she was staying in town. He had been trying to give Marian this evening without competition. She listened eagerly to Lon's answer.

"Yes and no," he returned. "She asked me to leave her at the Mountaineer hotel and said she had a little business to attend to and would have a friend take her to the train. Poor girl," he added. "I surely felt for her. She curled up in the car seat and sort of whimpered. From what she said that husband of hers must have been a jealous, weak sort."

"No," countered Hamlin. "I don't think so. Silver is attractive. She demands the admiration of every man she meets and no husband likes to share his wife's company too much. As to his weakness, I believe he was more impulsive than weak. A lot of us would do such things on the spur of the moment if the tools were handy."

"I don't know about that," Lon countered. "I've got too much curiosity myself. She surely was out of the shooting."

Hamlin smiled his crooked smile. "I hope you offered her the proper comfort," he said.

"She did not," Hamlin said. "I wasn't much of a comforter. I was pretty tired and I had other things; important things on my mind."

"I thought you might drive her on down to Oakland," Hamlin continued. "Be easier on her, of course, than the train."

"She suggested it," Lon admitted. "But I told her I was afraid I'd go to sleep at the wheel and ditch us. She offered to wait until I rested, but I didn't want anyone wangling in on that trip because I was taking her, so I told her I probably wouldn't leave before noon."

Still a Circus, Price Says of Political Show

BY BYRON PRICE.
(Chief of Bureau, The Associated Press, Washington.)

It is an old figure of speech to refer to politics as a three-ring circus, but the description is so appropriate that it does not grow tiresome with repetition.

Look at the political situation today. Was there ever a circus better equipped with what it takes to thrill and amuse the public—better supplied with living specimens of the wild and woolly, freaks of nature, magicians and soothsayers, tight-rope walkers and tumblers, bathhouse artists, clowns and camp followers?

Under the political big top there are grim-visaged statesmen who look for all the world like lions in their native state, but turn out to be only toothless matinee performers when the ring-master cracks the whip.

There are men as wild as any who ever came from Borneo, men as pious as the public—men as agile as antelopes, men as well-schooled as the best trained seal, men as funny to intelligent folk as any slapstick artist who ever lived.

The writer of this dispatch names no names, but the reader will be able to.

"Gigantic Mystery Act."

The stupendous special feature of the 1934 bill is a gigantic mystery act, performed in duplicate.

As the campaign progresses the contrasts and outright contradictions present within each of the two major party organizations become plainer and plainer.

Here names can be named, because the principals themselves proudly display their party labels. On the democratic side, there are, among others, Carter Glass, Upton Sinclair, Theodore Bilbo. On the republican side are Herbert Hoover, William E. Borah, Fiorelli LaGuardia.

The great mystery is, what holds them together?

And especially, what holds them together when both party groups are suspended in mid-air, whirling around at a terrific rate, and themselves uncertain where they will land and what the outcome of the act really will be?

It is a question no layman would undertake to answer.

Republicans Also Far Apart.

The tremendous spread of opinion in the democratic party, now once more enlarged to bring into the fold the "epic" in California, has been treated in detail heretofore in these columns.

That republicans are at least as far apart as democrats in their outlook on the present situation is demonstrated by two recent events.

The Maryland republican state convention adopted a platform denouncing Governor Ritchie for not having cooperated more closely with the Roosevelt administration which was, at least by inference, thus defended against alleged disloyalty on the part of the democrats of Maryland.

Nothing more surprising could be conceived, it is the action of republican headquarters in Washington a few days later. It issued a pamphlet denouncing the president for a charge of attempting to destroy the democratic party, and at least by inference, defending that party against alleged disloyalty on the part of the administration.

Coolidge Words Recalled.

The late Mr. Coolidge, in his posthumous article in the Saturday Evening Post, predicted the republican party would survive its 1932 defeat by making itself a party of "useful" criticism.

But those words were written nearly two years ago. Much has happened since. Surely no one then could foresee that republican criticism in 1934 would include a point debate among republicans as to what constitutes democratic loyalty.

CLEAR BREATHING

TOLL OF 16 LIVES IS TAKEN BY VICIOUS PACIFIC COAST STORM

SHIPPING LOSS VERY HEAVY IN SEATTLE AREA

MANY PASSENGERS OF STRICKEN BOATS ARE SAVED

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 22 (AP)—An October storm lashing at the coast of Washington and Oregon left at least 16 dead today and a huge shipping and property loss in its wake.

The gales, which reached a recorded velocity of 83 miles an hour, had subsided, but two flooded cities, damage shipping, wrecked buildings, power and communication line tangles, debris-strewn areas—and the death list—remained.

Striking with fury shortly after daylight yesterday, the storm swept over this region all day, subsiding only after midnight.

The waters of high tide flooded the business sections and a large part of the residential sections of both Grays Harbor cities, Aberdeen and Hoquiam.

With six feet of water at South Aberdeen, residents were either rescued by police in small boats, or remained marooned until the water fell. More than half the houses in Hoquiam were flooded.

Small Ships Sunk.
At the height of the gale, the steamship Floridian sent out SOS messages from the mouth of the Columbia, the trans-Pacific liner, President Madison, swerved from its mooring here to crush against two other vessels and sink the small steamer, Harvester, and the Tacoma-Seaside boat, Virginia V, was wrecked at Olalla, her 30 passengers being saved with difficulty.

Tugs were busy today trying to pull the President Madison free, but it was wedged tightly. Damage to the four ships involved has not been estimated.

The coast guard cutter, Haida, was racing out of the sound to go to the Floridian, which later, however, fought its way to safety off shore.

When it came upon the sinking Purse Seiner Agnes, two men were sighted dead in the water as the Haida approached, and a third, exhausted, let go of the rescue ship's line and was lost. Two others had previously been lost, and two were saved.

The Death List.
The known dead: Captain Bernard Thomas and four members of the crew of the small Purse Seiner Agnes, which sank off Port Townsend. Besides the captain, those lost were Leonard Torget, Leonard Berg, Ed Peterson, and Howard Anderson, all of Seattle.

Mrs. and Mrs. Carl Christiansen, each 45, Tacoma.
Mr. and Mrs. John Dybal, operators of a fish trap at the mouth of Skagit river.
R. M. Johnson, Portland, guest at a Billingham hotel.
Elmer Lee, 30, Bremerton.
Chris Paetow, 25, Portland.
Jun Yook Tung, killed when a side of the Alki hotel here collapsed.

John Reno, Seattle, Wilder Larson, Bellingham, and an unidentified man, drowned.

AIR RACE

petting to remain for hours in Athens but they left at 2:16 p. m. last night for Aleppo, Syria.

The Britishers, David and K. G. Stodart, well up in the handicap race, reached Baghdad from Aleppo at 5:05 a. m. E. S. T.

The Molsons lost their way after leaving Karachi, India, and were forced to land at Zedopus to get their location. They then continued to Allahabad only to drop out of the race. They were leaders until yesterday.

Six entrants were dropped out, including Francis Marion Law and Wesley Smith of the United States who were forced down at Bucharest.

Charles J. Melrose arrived at Nicosia, Cyprus, at 1:30 a. m. and left 15 minutes later. "I am well up on my handicap," the Australian said.

Neil's Stack and S. L. Turner of England, who dropped out of the race because of motor trouble at Marseille, arrived at Rome, they are continuing to Australia.

J. D. Hewitt and C. E. Key of New Zealand left Baghdad at 2:32 a. m. for Karachi, India.

Squadron Leader Malcolm McGregor and Henry Walker of New Zealand, who arrived at Jask, Persia, at an early hour, left for Karachi almost immediately.

Flying officer C. G. Davies and Lieutenant Commander C. N. Hill, British entrants in the handicap race, departed from Athens and Harold D. Gilman of England left Rome for Athens.

Raymond Parer and Geoffrey E. Hemsworth of New Guinea, who left Paris last, developed further engine trouble today and dropped out of the race at Le Bourget, France. He returned there after starting for Athens.

Bankers Await President's Talk
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—A pledge that "bankers will put their shoulders to the wheel" to hasten recovery was given today as the American Bankers association convention opened on a note of optimism.

President Francis Marion Law, in an interview before the gathering convened, said "There has been a very marked improvement in the banking situation." He said 2,250 banks have joined the association since the last convention, bringing the membership to 11,751. This reflected an improvement in banking, he said, since many of the 2,250 were former members who withdrew as an economy measure.

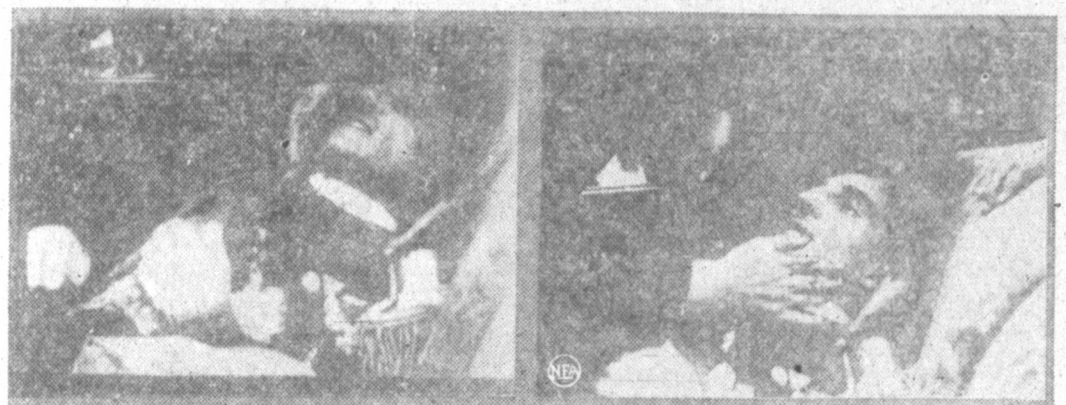

The convention, expected to attract 4,000 bankers, waiting eagerly for President Roosevelt's address on Wednesday night. There is much speculation as to whether it will contain hints of future policy on expenditures and monetary matters.

INJURED TEACHER DIES
BEAUMONT, Oct. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Orpha Broussard, 51, school teacher here, died today of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Oct. 13, in which her husband was killed.

History in the Making—A Monarch Dies Violently

Peter Kalemien, his pistol empty after killing King Alexander, became a victim of the Marcellies mob. You see, left, an avenger's fist raised high to strike him down. . . . The news reel camera also pictures the rough treatment accorded the youth in the cap, suspected of being the killer's accomplice.

While the mob howled its fury, King Alexander lay in the royal car, mortally wounded. He is shown, left, grimacing and struggling against the pain. . . . Mercifully, the end came quickly. Right, one of the king's retainers carries his cheek tenderly as his torn body relaxes when death claims him.

Bankers Await President's Talk
WASHINGTON, Oct. 22 (AP)—A pledge that "bankers will put their shoulders to the wheel" to hasten recovery was given today as the American Bankers association convention opened on a note of optimism.

President Francis Marion Law, in an interview before the gathering convened, said "There has been a very marked improvement in the banking situation." He said 2,250 banks have joined the association since the last convention, bringing the membership to 11,751. This reflected an improvement in banking, he said, since many of the 2,250 were former members who withdrew as an economy measure.

The convention, expected to attract 4,000 bankers, waiting eagerly for President Roosevelt's address on Wednesday night. There is much speculation as to whether it will contain hints of future policy on expenditures and monetary matters.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, Oct. 22 (AP)—The stock market moved up moderately in the early dealings today, but later yielded most of its gains under profit-taking. A few specialties, including merchandising issues, attracted modest followers, although none was especially active. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 525,000 shares.

GRAINS LOSE HIKE
CHICAGO, Oct. 22 (AP)—Despite 2,381,000 bushels decrease of the United States wheat visible supply total, grain prices late today more than lost an early advance.

Weakness which developed in the corn market had considerable bearing on wheat. A lack of sustained aggressive support became apparent toward the last in both grains, and proved to be an incentive to speculative selling.

Wheat closed easy at the same as Saturday's finish to 1/2 lower, May 97 1/2-3/4, corn 5 1/2-1/4 off, May 77 1/2-3/4, oats unchanged to 1/4 up, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to 7 cents gain.

COTTON IS QUIET
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 22 (AP)—Cotton opened today quiet but steady. Liverpool cables came in about as due and the first trades here showed one point gain on December and unchanged for March. These two months were the only active positions at the start.

As the stock market opened somewhat firmer, December improved 3 points after the call to 12 3/4 and March, which had lost a point right after the call, improved two points shortly after the call to 12 1/2, making the level 1 1/4 to 4 points above Saturday's close.

The market appeared to be maintaining a waiting attitude with traders watching the final effects of the 12-cent loan to producers.

PERMANENCY IS NOW STRESSED IN CENTENNIAL

LESS FOR PAGEANTS IS TO BE SOUGHT BY CITIES

AUSTIN, Oct. 22 (AP)—Houston and San Antonio delegations today told the senate Centennial subcommittee they desired funds for permanent improvements on historical sites rather than for pageants.

Plans of the two cities differed from a tentative plan unofficially advanced by the subcommittee to effect saving by eliminating appropriations for permanent improvements and restricting funds to pageants.

Houston's chief request, presented by C. R. Wharton, attorney and historian, was for a museum memorial costing $500,000 on San Jacinto battle field a few miles from the city. The item was included by Centennial planners in the $8,072,174 appropriation bill. Total appropriations in the bill for Houston would aggregate $704,900, including the museum item for $150,000 for a pageant.

San Antonio spokesmen, directed by Morris Stern, counseled the senators "there can be no Centennial without the Alamo and San Jacinto," and asked for approximately $500,000 for permanent improvements at the Alamo, Brackenridge Park and other historical spots in that vicinity. Centennial commissions proposed $75,000 for a pageant in San Antonio and $500,000 for improvements.

Completion of the old San Antonio road, which previously was designated by the legislature as a state highway, was urged by Phil Sanders in behalf of Nacogdoches as a fitting commemoration of Texas' Centennial.

90th Division Is To Convene Soon

Plans have been completed for the annual reunion of the famous 90th division which will meet in Fort Worth Saturday, Sunday, and Monday, Nov. 10, 11, and 12, and renew experiences of the World war.

Reports from Texas and Oklahoma, the two states from which the division secured the majority of its personnel assure the local general arrangements committee that a record breaking attendance will be secured.

The Blackstone hotel has been selected as general headquarters, registration taking place there Saturday from 10 a. m. until 8 p. m., leaving the day open for individual and organization gatherings, with a picture show, a dance and party that night at the recreation hall. The annual memorial service will be held Sunday morning at the First Christian church with the pastor, Dr. L. D. Anderson in charge, and Judge Frank P. Culver Jr., a former battery commander in the division delivering a tribute to the departed comrades of the 90th.

At 6 o'clock of the same evening, the annual reunion banquet will be held, followed at 9 o'clock by the business session and election of officers. Registration will also be held all day Sunday to allow late comers to participate in the various meetings and entertainments.
