A SECTION OF THE LADIES' EXHIBIT AT THE WEST TEXAS FAIR

WEST TEXAS FAIR.

HEAVY RAIN SPOILT THE FIRST DAY, BUT THE BIG SHOW CAME BACK ALL RIGHT

Even a hoodoo has to pass when the West Texas Fair gets in swing. The first day of the fair was a wet one. Something like two inches of rain at intervals during the day made the big show rather gloomy for the time. But when such enthusiasm as the people of this section evince in regard to this institution gets to working even the rain hoodoo has to give way. Thursday morning the sun came up and looked around as if saying, "where is the cloud that has the nerve to try to mess up the West Texas Fair?" The clouds made their getaway, and the sun was king of the show. The ground dried up, and the people came to the fair. The Thursday crowd was a good one, but the big bunch came in to see the show Friday. By that time the ground was dry, there was neither dust nor mud to hinder the enjoyment of the day and the big crowds promenaded from hall to hall, looked at the livestock, and saw the horse races.

The agricultural exhibit this year exceeds anything of the kind ever seen here, and that is indeed saying something nice about it. Every department is above the usual standard of excellence.

Wednesday's train brought a big crowd from San Antonio, and on Thursday and Friday the performance was repeated. The bright weather of Thursday and Friday brought good crowds from Fredericksburg and other neighboring towns.

In spite of the very bad start the fair got, and serious handicap under which the management have worked, the entertainment was a most pronounced success.

In keeping with our usual custom a complete detailed account of the fair, together with the list of prize winners will be published next week.

FORDTRAN-BRUNNER

Geo. Fordtran and Miss Florence Brunner were quietly married at the Presbyterian manse on Saturday evening of last week. Rev. W. P. Dickey officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. A. P. Brunner of this city and is very popular in church and social circles. The groom has spent the greater part of his life in Kerrville, and numbers his friends by the score.

A very host of well wishers join in wishing the young people a long and happy life.

TWENTY MILLIONS EXPORT CREDIT IS ARRANGED

American Exporters Will Be Paid In Dollars in New York For Goods.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Announcement was made tonight by Brown Bros. & Co. that arrangements for a $20,000,000 French commercial export credit have been completed and the credit issued.

"The purpose of the credit," says the bankers in their announcement, "is to enable American exporters to be paid in dollars in the United States, eliminate any risk of exchange, thus facilitating our exports. It will also enable French buyers of American merchandise and other commodities who have found it difficult, owing to extraordinary conditions now prevailing, to obtain exchange with which to settle their accounts with American merchants."

"The credit is for a period of one year and is to be availed of by drafts at ninety days sight. Care has been taken to comply with the requirements of our banking laws relating to commercial acceptances. In addition to the responsibility of the French drawers of the bill, the credit is secured by a guarantee of the Banque of France, of payment at maturity in gold, if necessary. Collateral also is deposited in New York as additional protection of the credit."

"As the drafts come forward and are discounted in the open market an opportunity will be offered for the first time to American institutions and investors of buying commercial paper by firms and institutions in this country, which should discount at the finest rates. The appearance of such paper should go far toward creating a genuine open discount market without which the country can not expect to continue to play its part in the financing of our foreign trade."

Baptist Church.

Mr. Editor: I want to tell the people I am home from a fine meeting with the Baptist church at Medina, where we had twenty-two who professed faith in Jesus, and nineteen joined the church, and sixteen were baptised.

We will have the usual services at the Baptist church next Sunday at 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Feeling my people have had a good long rest I shall expect them to be on hand ready for hard work for the Master.

The recent storms and deaths of neighbors and friends have brought to some of us deep grief but these things should bring us nearer to that Friend that sticketh closer than a brother. Let's all get ready for a great fall campaign for Jesus.

NO OFFICIAL WORD IN ARABIC'S CASE RECEIVED BY U. S.

Course of This Country Will Be Shaped On Receipt Of Detailed Report.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Four days have passed since a German submarine sank the White Star liner Arabic with the loss of two American lives, and the American Government still is without the detailed and official information necessary to shape its course.

The only notable development today was a break in the official silence which has surrounded the White House. Secretary Tumulty, after conferring with President Wilson, issued this statement:

"As soon as all the facts regarding the Arabic are ascertained, our course of action will be determined."

Ambassador Page at London, who had forwarded by mail a detailed statement including some affidavits of American survivors, was instructed to send immediately a summary by cable.

While the situation was a waiting one, officials reflected the strain which grows hourly as no word comes from the German Government.

In the opinion of the state department officials it is not now incumbent upon the American Government to ask Germany for an excuse for the conduct of the submarine commander who sunk the Arabic.

It is assumed that unless Germany wishes to make an outright issue with the United States some explanation will be volunteered. Acting with that thought Ambassador Gerard was instructed today to report whether he had received a report from the German Government on the sinking of the Arabic. He was not, however, instructed to ask for one.

It is said the state department will not necessarily wait indefinitely on Germany. Several days more may pass before there is a definite development. Meanwhile President Wilson and his advisers are prepared to act as the situation may demand.

We are now closing out our stock of summer shoes at greatly reduced prices. Unusual bargains in shoes for every member of the family.

SERBIA MAKES CONCESSIONS: MAY SOLVE BALKAN TANGLE

Parties of Albania and Macedonia Freed To.

MILAN, Aug. 23.—One of the main difficulties in the way of a solution of the Balkan problem has been settled, according to an interview with Premier Pachitch of Serbia, published in the Corriere Della Serra. The Premier is quoted as saying that Serbia has given way to Italy regarding Albania.

In June, 1913, when the Balkan war ended, the European powers made Albania an independent kingdom with Prince William of Wied as King. The Prince, however, in May, 1914, fled the country.

Italy last fall occupied Avlona, on the Adriatic, while Montenegro occupied Scutari.

According to recent semi-official Serbian information it was stated that Serbia has accepted the conditions of the allies and would consent to the occupation of Macedonia by the allies in exchange for section of the Dalmatian coast and adjacent islands and a partition of Albania with Greece with the exception of Avlona, which was to remain Italian. The interview with Premier Pachitch indicates that the Serbian Government has granted further concessions regarding Albania to Italy.

BERLIN, Aug. 23.—The Overseas News Agency today gave out the following:

"Official reports from Sofia and Constantinople state that Turkey and Bulgaria have signed a new treaty, Turkey granting Bulgaria her desired direct railroad connection with the sea, and Bulgaria agreeing to observe a benevolent neutrality."

"This demonstrates the definite failure of the efforts of the entente powers to revive the alliance of the Balkan states and induce them to join in war against Turkey."

Unofficial reports late in July stated that a convention had been signed on July 22 by which Turkey ceded to Bulgaria the Turkish portion of the Dodegatch railroad. The reports stated that the treaty left Bulgaria unpledged concerning her attitude in the war.

That Bulgaria had not been pledged has been the assumption under which negotiations have been conducted by the allies, looking to a satisfaction of her reported demands for territorial concessions from Serbia and Greece as the price of her entry into the war on the side of the allies.

It was reported in Sofia dispatches, Aug. 16, that Bulgaria had recalled from Constantinople a delegate who went there to negotiate with Turkey.

P. O. Lowrance of Mountain Home attended the fair Thursday.

BRITISH LINER DIOMED WAS SUNK AFTER BEING SHELLED

Made an Attempt to Get Away and Was Pursued Four Hours—Her Captain Was Killed.

QUEENSTOWN, Aug. 23.—The British steamer Diomed has been sunk by a German submarine. Her captain, quartermaster and steward were killed by shells fired by the submarine during the pursuit of four hours duration.

An officer of the Diomed, who landed here today with other survivors, said, two submarines, rigged with dummy funnels, were sighted and one of them subjected the Diomed to a heavy shell fire.

The liner attempted to escape, but surrendered after being pursued four hours. Two boats were lowered and 49 members of the crew got away. Shortly afterward one boat was swamped. Two Englishmen and five Chinese were drowned.

Survivors say that during the pursuit the Chinese firemen of the Diomed refused to continue stoking and the work was undertaken by deck hands.

The assistant quartermaster of the Diomed said another steamer was in sight at the time and apparently sinking.

The Diomed was a freighter of 4672 tons gross and was built in 1895. She was owned by the Ocean Steamship company of Liverpool.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Hughes and children were the guests for the fair of Mr. Hughes' sister, Mrs. F. L. Ford-tran.

MAY REDRAFT NOTE TO GO TO ENGLAND

Order Making Cotton Contraband May Change Its Order.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The new American note to Great Britain on Interferences with neutral trade probably will be redrafted because of the British order making cotton contraband. The note had been virtually completed.

While there is no intention to abandon the claims for payment for cotton seized prior to the British order, these cases now have a different status.

Cases under the contraband order must all go before the British prize courts, and there will be no informal negotiations, as there have been in connection with previous seizures.

The new American note, it is said, will lodge formal protest against the placing of cotton on the contraband list and a lengthy diplomatic exchange probably will follow. It is considered likely by some officials here that the dispute eventually will be settled by arbitration.

DISAPPEARANCES LEAD TO INQUIRY

Widely Known Ranch Owner Left El Paso Ten Days Ago. So An Attorney.

EL PASO, Tex., Aug. 24.—Friends of Mel Womor, a widely known ranch owner and cattle buyer of El Paso and Pearson, Chih., are anxious over his continued absence and are planning to visit the Juarez cemetery to exhume the unidentified body found about a week ago in the Rio Grande near the Mexico Northwestern bridge, and discover if possible, whether it was Womor's. George C. Carothers and others, including a local undertaker will visit the burying ground and attempt to identify the corpse.

Womor, who was a guest at the Sheldon Hotel, disappeared about August 15, after telling friends he was going to Guzman and Chihuahua to buy cattle. He did not appear at either of those points. Mrs. Womor is living at Pearson, Chih., and has not heard from her husband for ten days. Two or three days after his disappearance, an unidentified body was found in the Rio Grande with a bullet hole under the left arm. Juarez officials, who removed the corpse from the river, claimed they were unable to identify it, and did not know whether the dead man was a Mexican or an American.

Another disappearance which has puzzled El Pasoans is that of Lic. L. V. Castro, a City of Mexico lawyer, who has been missing ten days. He was a guest at the Sheldon and his belongings, worth several hundred dollars, still are in his room. The last known of him he was in Juarez. Mr. Castro's family resides in the City of Mexico and he was a business associate of the Madero family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mitchell of the divide were among those who attended the fair.

EUGENE T. BUTT, Secretary.

New York was treated to an interesting sight the other day when Sperry, in his stabilized flying boat, swooped across the bay and circled around a big harbor dredge.

To our people in the windows of our New York office, this performance had an interest aside from the spectacular. Sperry was using Texaco Motor Oil; the dredge was using Texaco Crater Compound, and to complete the circle, the very building in which our offices are situated gave another instance of Texaco service.

For in this carefully-run power plant, one of the largest isolated plants in New York City, Texaco Engine Oils lift the friction load and keep the big bearings cool.

Do you wonder we were impressed?

Here were Texaco Products used on land, and water; and in the air—used on the light, powerful engine of the aero—on the heavy Corliss engines and dynamos down here—and as a protection against wear and salt water on the cables of the dredge.

In each case we were able to meet the condition with a lubricant exactly suited to the purpose. We can do the same for you in engine room, mill, or machine shop, on tractor, or in harvester—wherever oil is needed. There is a Texas Company agent near you. Let him tell you which oil you need.

RIFLE SHOOTING FOR CITIZENS TO BE ENCOURAGED

SWISS SYSTEM DISCUSSED

Congress Expected to Provide General Plan of Range Making.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 22.—The National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice makes public the following:

It is expected that the army estimates, when submitted to the next Congress, will contain provisions for a general plan of range construction throughout the country as the preliminary steps toward the training of the male citizens of the country in military rifle shooting. High military authorities are in accord as to the necessity of such training for those who are available as volunteers and that any scheme for a reserve must provide also for the rifle training of its members.

Provision will probably be contained also for the proper supervision and training of rifle clubs and the issue to them of ammunition and target supplies. Congress at the last session authorized the chief of ordnance to issue free to rifle clubs the Krag rifles in storage at the arsenals as well as ammunition to be used with the same. This ammunition was left over from the Spanish-American War and it has deteriorated greatly. The supply will soon be exhausted, however, and provision must be made for the further manufacture of Krag ammunition at the Frankford Arsenal if the rifle club movement is to be encouraged.

When the new law went into effect the organization of these clubs was put in the hands of the National Rifle Association of America, which had already done considerable work in the promotion of rifle training among the citizens of the country, and the War Department since that time has equipped 167 clubs with 1,016 rifles and issued to them for practice 634,580 rounds of ammunition. In addition to this, there have been 916 rifles and 470 carbines, besides 86,840 cartridges issued to school cadet corps, the same law having authorized such issue.

Rifle training of citizens in this country had become almost an unknown factor up to about ten years ago, when the National Rifle Association of America began a serious propaganda for a revival of the sport, having in view the benefit which would be derived from the standpoint of national defense. The association appealed to prominent men of the land for co-operation and received very material assistance from ex-Presidents Roosevelt and Taft, ex-Senator Root, ex-Secretary of the Navy Meyer, Colonel Robert M. Thompson, ex-Secretaries of War Dickinson and Wright, Robert Bacon, Seth Low, Herbert S. Hadley, John R. Drexel, George Westinghouse, Judge E. H. Geary and many other prominent men of the country. In view of the present almost universal demand for a better state of preparation for aid to expand its work, especially among the schools and colleges, its plans include a modified Swiss system of rifle training for the young men of the country.

There has been considerable discussion in the newspapers regarding the Swiss system of training for national defense and some of our foremost military writers have advocated the adoption of this system, overlooking the fact that the conditions in the United States are far different from those in the little old republic among the Alps.

In Switzerland, every male from 16 years of age to 45 is issued an army rifle, ammunition, and equipment which he takes to his home, and keeps subject to a call from his country to report to the colors. Can you imagine for a minute how such a law would work out in this country? What a great boon it would be to the U. S. W. and similar trouble-making organizations composed of men of foreign birth who cannot understand our system of domestic government. Furthermore, the fundamental principle of the Swiss system of rifle training and every male in the republic, unless disqualified by disability, must fire his prescribed number of cartridges every year. This shooting is principally done on Sunday. Even if we had range available in this country, nowhere except in the liberal-minded West would the men be allowed to engage in rifle shooting on Sunday, although golf, baseball and such sports are allowed full sway.

No; the Swiss system would never work in this free Republic.

Nationalism, mixed in hand with patriotism is not calculated to such an extent in the United States as it is in the countries of Europe. When men born in this country, drawing a livelihood or engaged in business here, will band themselves together in opposition to volunteering to defend their firesides, it becomes necessary to go slow in issuing rifles promiscuously.

No doubt, however, a modified Swiss system could be very effectively put into operation. With the 10,000,000 available young men in this country to select from there is no reason why rifle clubs should not be organized with select members. The National Rifle Association of America has demonstrated what can be done with very little funds available for the work along such lines. It has under its jurisdiction nearly 500 clubs now with an estimated membership of about 25,000. Inspection, supervision and training with proper governmental support, these 500 clubs could be increased to 5,000 with at least 300,000 members, and in time this easily could be increased to 1,000,000. We then would be getting all the benefits of the best features of the Swiss system without running any danger from the free issue of rifles. Before this should be done, however, the way should be paved for the successful carrying out of the scheme by the building of rifle ranges by the Government throughout the country where rifle club members could shoot. This is another feature of the Swiss system which we might well pattern after. In that country nearly every canton, which might for comparison sake be called a miniature State, has a fine, large, well equipped range, and in addition there are thousands of rifle clubs which have their own ranges.

Rifle shooting as a sport will never be popular like baseball, as it lacks the element of the spectacular, but it can be made interesting by competitions—inter-club, interstate and National. Such competitions as the National matches do more than anything else to popularize the game. At Jacksonville, Fla., during October every state in the Union but Pennsylvania, Maryland, South Dakota, California and Virginia will be represented by their picked sharpshooters.

GALVESTON EAST REPAIRING DAMAGE

Big Section of Water Main Gone Gulf Coast Pathers In Water.

GALVESTON, Tex., Aug. 22.—Although still without water and electric power, which is dependent on it, Galveston today made further strides toward the recovery of its crippled churches and no business was transacted by merchants, but work of cleaning up was carried further without halt.

Engineers reported today that divers discovered ninety-six feet of the submerged water main across the bay to be missing in one section, probably the result of a barge having been blown across it during the storm.

So far there has been no suffering for water in the city, but the inconvenience is great. The gulf is calm and blue again, however, and was dotted with bathers this afternoon.

The finding of one more body on the beach of Galveston Island and reports received from Bolivar Peninsula that thirty-eight are known to be dead in that section, with four missing, are the latest additions to the casualty list in this vicinity. The identified dead at High Island on Bolivar Peninsula are as follows:

W. Jackson, Beaumont; Bennie Roberts, Beaumont; Elam Albritton, Jossie Albritton, Emma Albritton, Frank Kirkland, Miss Mary Baker. Others are unidentified.

Dunsley's Survivors Told of Torpedoing of Steamer.

LIVERPOOL, August 22.—According to survivors of the steamer Dunsley, torpedoed by a German submarine just before the White Star liner Arabic was sunk, the underwater craft hid behind the Dunsley's, unsunk hull to lay in wait for the larger vessel. The survivors declare they had been ordered off their ship and were in lifeboats when the submarine came and concealed herself from the approaching Arabic.

It is stated that when the liner came close enough to make an attack possible, the submarine submerged, went around the Dunsley's stern and launched the fatal torpedo. They say that the German boat which came up along side the Dunsley bore no number.

No previous definite statement as to the fate of the Dunsley has come through from London. It was announced that she had been torpedoed, but it is not known whether she succeeded in reaching port with her passengers.

DANGER IN FACE POWDER

Some preparations of face powder are the cause of inflammation of the eyes. This form of inflammation occurs from obvious reasons—almost exclusively in women. They will complain that the vision is blurred; that they cannot read or sew for any length of time; that the lids burn or itch, sometimes intolerably, and that rubbing the lids only aggravates the itching. The reason for this is that many of these toilet powders, commonly known as "rice powder" or "Poudre de Riz" contain, in addition to the rice powder, other ingredients which irritate the delicate membranes of the eye. Sixteen samples of so-called rice powders were recently analyzed, and of this number only two six contained any rice at all. Women consisted entirely of rice; and only who are accustomed to using face powder should be careful to select only those preparations which are known to be pure, and free from harmful substitutes. In applying powder to the face, it is much safer to use a cloth and rub the powder on the skin, rather than to apply it with a puff, as by the latter method the powder is

Since toilet articles do not come under the federal and state food and drug acts, they can easily be adulterated. The Land of By-and-by.

There is a land, as I've heard tell, where nothing's over done; the people who therein do dwell, no work have yet begun. "Tomorrow" is the watchword there, and "pretty soon" the cry—the name of this unpleasant land?—the Land of By-and-by.

Procrastination there is king; he rules with a high hand, but makes no laws or anything to benefit the land. The lessons they are never learned—no use to question why; the chores are left unfinished in the Land of By-and-by.

And if YOU put things off and say you'll do them pretty soon, and shirk your tasks from day to day, perhaps some afternoon, they'll take YOU off to this bad land—no friend will heed your cry—and there is no tomorrow in the Land of By-and-by.

Great Promise

This country has recently gone through one of the severest seasons of business depression in modern times. The blow has been felt by almost every business in the country. We are assured at this time that the storm has spent its force, and that a brighter business outlook is dawning throughout the nation. This is very gratifying to all interests. In this particular section of the country there is great promise that local conditions will be better within a few months than they have been in many years. Stock of all kinds are in a flourishing condition. The product of the ranches and farms is a good price, and such an outlook for a large yield of farm produce of every kind has not been known in the Hill Country in recent years. Therefore, there is great promise of good business in every line. There is promise that the farmers and ranchmen of this section will be prosperous, and on their prosperity rests the general prosperity of the country when all is said. With the dawning of better times building will begin, as building and improvement is always the barometer of business. We wish to call your attention to the fact that "The Old House" is still in the lumber business, and is awaiting your orders for anything you may require in that line. No matter how large or how small the quantity, we will give it prompt attention. The door is always open and you are welcome.

"Memento Mori."

The early Christian philosophers frequently used the Latin phrase "memento mori," meaning by that to warn sinners of the approach of death. The world moves on; Latin becomes a dead language, ragtime dominates our amusements and physicians of the body tell us to forget the admonitions of former spiritual advisers and "Remember life." What is death, they ask, except the end of things in which everyone else is more concerned than ourselves, even though we are the principle actor therein? Dr. Woods Hutchinson, president-elect of the American Academy of Medicine, says that overeating is the chief trouble of the American people. He warns us to remember the correct way to live is to be temperate in all things, especially in eating, driving home the fact that "it doesn't matter in the least how fast we dig our own graves, so long as we do not fall into them too previously." All of which brings us to the fact, physicians are continually showing that American people die before their time because they are intemperate—not in drinking, as the prohibitionists would have us believe, but in overworking and overeating and overliving. But, go into a restaurant and watch people overeat. Note the fat panaches, the hanging jaws, the dead eyes, the gouty walks of those you pass, and you will not be astonished at the physicians' statements. Temperance is moderate indulgence. It is just as bad morally and physically to overeat as it is to overdrink. In our fight for temperance in drinking, we must not overlook that other greater evil—over-eating. Remember life!

Former Oklahoman Shot on San Antonio Street.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Aug. 22.—E. G. Milliken, formerly a well known Oklahoma City real estate dealer, was shot and instantly killed here this morning during an altercation with E. L. Bennett, traveling salesman for the Simmons Hardware company of St. Louis. Milliken and Bennett at one time were business associates and close friends.

Milliken was on the sidewalk in front of a hotel when shot. He staggered into a nearby saloon where he died five minutes later without having said a word. He was shot twice one bullet entering the heart.

Immediately after the shooting Bennett phoned police headquarters and asked that an officer take him into custody. Bennett was released on a nominal bond of $1,000.

Inflamed Hoofs and Candy.

Bentonite is a kind of clay which has a variety of uses. It is employed to give body and weight to paper, in the preparation of a dressing for inflamed hoofs of horses, as a constituent of antiphlogistine, a proprietary remedial dressing, and as an adulterant of candles and drugs. It has notable powers of absorption, taking up about seven times its own volume of water. It absorbs twice as much glycerine as can be absorbed by diatomaceous earth, and for this reason has been suggested as a substitute for that material in the manufacture of dynamite.

Haitians Plan War on America.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—Reliable reports that Haitian rebels have been organizing an army to attack the American forces on the island are responsible for plans now being made to reinforce Rear Admiral Caperton's marines and blue-jackets.

The marine artillery battalion at Annapolis, comprising 350 men and twelve 3-inch field pieces, will be embarked on the armored cruiser Tennessee and sent to southern waters this week to await developments at some place where Admiral Caperton can land them in a few hours.

Admiral Caperton today reported quiet at Cape Haitien and Port au Prince. The Haitian troops near Cape Haitien still refuse to disarm. There are a dozen Haitian ports at which it may be necessary to land men.

Germany Verges Upon Bankruptcy.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 23.—At the secret conference of cabinet ministers, political leaders and influential writers, called by the German imperial chancellor before the reassembling of the Reichstag last Thursday to discuss the political situation, the Telegraf says, Karl Helfferich, secretary of the treasury, explained that the new German war loan would completely exhaust the empire's financial resources and that the increase in exchequer bonds would cause bankruptcy. Therefore, Dr. Helfferich argued, it was needful to prepare for an honorable peace. Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, according to the same report, declared that the difficulties of the empire were increasing and advised his hearers to use their influence to soften down bellicose inclinations in the Reichstag and the country, and carefully to prepare peace proposals which would be acceptable to the four members of the entente.

On Advantage of Slow Marketing ton of 1915 will bring less than that of 1914 unless we make sufficient preparation to hold it until conditions change.

The banks of the cotton growing states, with the aid of our regional reserve system, are abundantly able to finance the crop. They have money to do so. But the aid of the banks is absolutely dependent on the cooperation of the grower, the landlord and the merchant—in fact—all who have a pecuniary interest in the crop. These combined interests own the cotton. If they fail to command a fair price the failure must be charged to lack of intelligent co-operation.

The essential instrumentality for successfully marketing our cotton crop at all times, is an adequate and efficient system of warehouses. Through the activities of the Texas Cotton Conference the banks of Texas were induced through their association, to undertake a campaign for the construction of sufficient warehouses to meet our needs. The work is being pushed with energy and intelligence. It looks as though sufficient warehouses may be provided. But unless these warehouses are utilized the plan will fail and it is probable they will not be utilized without organization and a general campaign of education as to the importance of holding the crop by using their warehouses.

The people should know that the banks cannot loan on cotton except upon receipts issued by warehouses organized and operated under our permanent warehouse and marketing law. This law has been fully criticized and there are many warehouses not yet organized under it.

In my humble opinion it is a wise piece of constructive legislation. As we proceed to put it into practice some defects may develop. But the salient features are not only good but absolutely necessary if cotton is to take its place in our financial system as gilt-edge collateral.

In order to intelligently and safely lend on cotton the lender must be assured of these facts: that the cotton is safe from fire and weather waste, and will be forthcoming if the debtor fails. That it has not been false packed, and that the receipt states with approximate correctness the grade, weight and condition of cotton. The law meets all these conditions.

financial resources and that the increase in exchequer bonds would declared that he fully agreed with the chancellor, and added that only those not fully informed on the situation could hope for the possibility of complete Russian defeat. Despite these declarations the story concludes, the meeting refused to adopt a resolution advocating a mediation in the Reichstag, whereupon the chancellor declared that if a majority in the Reichstag should show an irreconcilably chauvinistic attitude, he would be obliged to resign as he could not accept responsibility for Germany's disaster.

MAKING A BOGIE

The People of Houston and Galveston are apparently trying to make the world believe that they started the big West Indian hurricane. Now that it had done its mischief they seem to feel that the balance of the world is going to censure them for it. That is all a mistake. No one believes that those towns could bring on such a storm. The fact is, the people of those two excellent cities are about to make themselves ridiculous. The storm was one of the vagaries of nature, or an act of providence, according to the view point. Galveston is no more to blame for this than San Francisco was to blame for the earthquake that wrecked the city and shocked the world.

Galveston, in particular should be thankful that the storm was no worse, and that the sea wall held and saved the lives of thousands of people. The truth about the Galveston storm cannot hurt the city half so much as the implied turpitude of the people who try to conceal it will damage the public confidence.

It has been demonstrated that a man can roll his eyes in the hope of grafting off the sentiments of people until he really believes he is sincere.

If the San Antonio Light is really having the influence that it claims in army matters, it is about time for the people of that city to begin preparing a medal.

TROOPS AT FORT SAM HOUSTON

San Antonio is tremendously worked up over the probable re-occupation of her great military post by the whole or part of the Second Division of the army that was stationed at Texas City until routed by an enemy no army can stand against, the West Indian hurricane.

As a military camp Texas City has passed into history. The wrecking of the camp was so complete that no sane man could suggest its reconstruction. It would be an inexcusable waste of the public funds.

The continued anarchy in Mexico, with obdurate and stupid leaders of contending factions and many points of contact and friction with the United States makes it highly improbable that the troops will be returned to their stations in the north and, therefore, it is easy to guess that a great military post, equipped to house and care for 3,000 soldiers, which is sufficiently near the Mexican border to be in striking distance, will not be overlooked in the distribution of the soldiers driven out of Texas City by the storm.

The little politicians of San Antonio who always play the game—never on the level—who care little for the defense of the border and merely want their supporters to have the benefit of increased trade, are haggling and quarreling about the influence that may return the soldiers to that city.

Their indirect minds never seem to grasp the fact that the authorities at Washington are straight and patriotic and that troops are stationed here or there as the exigencies of the service require and not for the purpose of helping some politicians. That is the view of men who never see straight.

James Prentice and N. H. Skaggs of Junction attended the fair in Kerrville this week.

25 AT MEXICO CITY STARVE EVERY DAY

This is Given As a Conservative Average Number of Deaths There.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 23.—Deaths by starvation continue in this city, and conservative estimates place them at 25 a day.

A visit to the various hospitals by a representative of the American Red Cross disclosed that for the first three days of August 20 deaths from starvation were recorded. This number did not include the many who died in the streets from lack of food. Yesterday six death certificates attributed starvation as the cause. During the month of July 1855 tributed starvation as the cause. deaths were registered in Mexico City. According to Charles J. O'Connor of the American Red Cross, 8 per cent of the deaths were due to starvation.

As many deaths from starvation are not properly authenticated, it is believed that an average of 25 daily from this cause is a conservative figure. The military authorities learned of investigations by Red Cross workers and ordered that hospital or cemetery officials shall not make public any statistics in the future.

Efforts here to relieve distress have been of little or no effect. School teachers, government employees and even employees of the Beneficencia Publica, which corresponds somewhat to the Central Charity organizations of American cities, were among those who have made applications to the Red Cross for assistance.

Such supplies as were brought in by General Gonzales when Carranza forces occupied the capital on August 2 are nearly exhausted. The situation is such that only large supplies of provisions from outside the capital can remedy conditions.

A comparison of prices during July this year, shows the following increases: Corn, 2400 per cent; beans, 2200; rice, 1420; sugar, 940, and flour 900. The increase in price of corn, the only absolutely essential staple for the Mexican people, has rendered its procurement by the poor impossible, and many cases have been discovered of entire families who have been compelled to subsist on herbs.

State Board Acts to Check Disease Along the Coast.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 23.—State quarantine will be maintained at Galveston as it has always been in force. This was decided upon by the State Board of Health in session here today. The board discussed the subject thoroughly, and was unanimous in its decision to maintain the quarantine.

The board agreed that every precaution should be taken to prevent a spread of disease in the storm swept area. Reports were made by Assistant State Health Officer Linthecum, who returned from the coast today, that hundreds of carcasses of stock and cattle were strewn along the coast and that prompt action was required to prevent an epidemic of disease.

Several carloads of lime, donated by lime dealers and transferred free of charge by railroads, are now en route to the storm sections. It will be distributed at various points. Dr. Linthecum said all city and county boards of health on the coast were co-operating with the State Board, and that he looked for rapid improvements in the situation from a health standpoint.

A ruling was made by the board that all employees of the Health Department were not to be required to work over eight hours a day.

In the interest of public health the board will gather data from all cities and towns in the State relative to the water supply, garbage and sewerage disposal, and requests have been made for co-operation in carrying out the provision of the act of the last Legislature to prevent the pollution of water courses or other public bodies of water of the State. This law becomes effective January 1, 1917. The board suggests that every municipality polluting a public stream or waterway should take immediate steps to prevent such pollution.

The members of the board attend-

Battle of Riga Lasted Two Days.

PETROGRAD, Aug. 23.—The recent naval battle in the Gulf of Riga is described as follows in a statement from navy headquarters:

If Any Drug Store Keeps It, WE DO

W. H. Rawson & Son,

Kerrville, Texas.

Across From St. Charles Hotel

"The German fleet on August 16 renewed, with large forces, its attacks on our positions at the entrance to the Gulf of Riga. Our ships during the 16th and 17th repulsed the attacks of the enemy, whose secret preparations for entering the gulf had been favored singularly by misty weather.

"Taking advantage of a thick fog, hostile forces of considerable size entered the gulf on the 18th and our vessels retired without losing touch with him.

"On the 19th and 20th the enemy reconnoitered in different directions at the same time keeping up a fight with our ships, in which their torpedo boat flotilla suffered material losses. On our side we lost the gunboat Sivuch, which perished gloriously in an unequal fight with an enemy cruiser. The Sivuch, enveloped in flames, continued to reply, shot for shot, until she sank, having previously sunk two enemy torpedo boats.

"In view of the losses suffered and the fruitfulness of his efforts, the enemy appears to have evacuated the Gulf of Riga on the 21st.

"Between the 16th and 21st two enemy cruisers and no fewer than eight torpedo boats were either sunk or placed hors du combat. Simultaneously our gallant allies succeeded in torpedoing in the Baltic one of the most powerful dreadnoughts of the German fleet."

The foregoing contains no reference to the loss of the Russian gunboat Koreets, which was said, in an official German statement Saturday, to have been sunk, as well as the Sivuch.

GULF COAST LINE ALTERED BY STORM

Corpus Pass Closed and Mustang And Padre Island Brought Together.

BEEVILLE, Tex., Aug. 25.—The West Indian Hurricane that swept the Gulf coast of Texas last week has changed the geographical aspect of a most important portion of the water of the Gulf of Mexico and tributary waters.

Corpus pass is a thing of the past. The storm filled in this passageway and has joined together Mustang Island and Padre Island. It has made a straight seashore line from the furthest end of Mustang Island all the way to Point Isabel, and it is now possible for an automobile to drive along the shore from Port Aransas to Point Isabel.

This news was brought to Beeville this morning by a fishing party composed of Judge J. C. Beasley, J. R. Beasley, Prof. W. E. Maddera, A. Wolschlaeger and J. F. McCall. This party was the first to venture in Gulf waters for fishing since the storm.

Heretofore Corpus Pass has been used by boats to pass between the islands of Mustang and Padre to put in at Corpus Christi, but according to the Beeville fishing party, it has been completely closed and it is impossible to ascertain just where the mouth of the pass was, so completely did the storm straighten the shore line.

OUR PUBLIC FORUM

On The Warehouse Law

The Warehouse system of Texas which the farmers' Union has been advocating for years is managed by a board of supervisors composed of the Governor, the Commissioner of Agriculture and the Commissioner of Insurance and Banking. Mr. F. C. Weinert and Mr. Peter Radford have charge of the management. Mr. Weinert in discussing the law said in part:

"The law is the greatest piece of constructive legislation that has been placed upon the statute books of Texas for more than a generation for the reason that it will affect materially and beneficially, when in full operation, every citizen of the State.

The law gives a broad and consummate opportunity for farmers in every community to co-operate in the sale of their products and to aid each other in financing their crops and receiving the real market price in the primary markets, eliminating the large discount that is now suffered by producers in the primary markets; because they have neither a standard of grade nor a chance to market their products except on a peddling basis. There is but one remedy for the producer and that is co-operation in the marketing of his own products.

All gins are charged with a public use and every ginner is required under bond to take from each bale of cotton as it is ginned, three fair, true and correct samples. Each bale must be wrapped so as to completely cover it leaving none of the cotton exposed, the baling to be of such fibre and texture that all the markings thereon will, under ordinary conditions, remain intact and visible. Each bale must be given its consecutive number which number must be placed on one side thereof, and immediately under this number must be the B. C. or bonded license number.

Warehouses must, under bond, grade or classify each bale of cotton offered for storage, giving a receipt showing among other things, the elevation above sea level of the warehouse and that the warehouse company guarantees the weight, class and grade within approximate limits at the time of the weighing of such receipt, and at the elevation of the place where the particular warehouse is located. The receipt must also contain a description of the bale, the date of storage, and that cotton will be delivered to the bearer, a specified person, or to a specified person or his order, as the party storing may desire.

In addition to the foregoing each receipt must have a blank form on the back thereof to be filled in and signed by the owner showing whether the cotton is free from encumbrances or liens of any kind. If there is a lien of any kind at the time of storage the amount must be clearly set out, and it is made the duty of the warehouseman issuing the receipt to have this blank filled in and signed by the owner before a negotiable receipt can be issued."

THINK THIS OVER NOW:

You know you will enjoy it while you are here;
You know you will regret to see your friends

Frank's Death Ride and Details of His Execution Made Public.

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 22.—The first substantiated story of all that transpired on the death ride of Leo M. Frank from Milledgeville to Marietta, between midnight and dawn last Tuesday morning, became available to the Associated Press this morning.

The recital did not come through second or third hands, but in a manner which seemingly placed its authenticity beyond all question. The narrator, however, will not be a witness before the Cobb County grand jury, which, September 1, will be assembled to undertake a thorough investigation of the lynching of the man alleged to have been the slayer of Mary Phagan.

It also became known today that Governor Nathan Harris during the past few days has received several anonymous threatening letters purporting to warn him not to go "too far" in his investigation of the lynching. The Governor is not inclined to take the letters at all seriously, but looks upon them as the outcome of the disturbed sentiment of the moment.

"The inside story" of the events which preceded the finding of Frank's lifeless body swaying from the limb of the biggest oak tree in the vicinity of "Bill" Froy's gin cleared up many phases of the tragic incidents which have heretofore been veiled in mystery.

Frank did not confess. He twice was asked if he had anything to say, but on each occasion replied, "No." Asked pointedly if he killed the Phagan girl, he is said to have made no reply whatever.

No attempt was made to force a confession. Frank's statement just prior to his death that he loved his wife and mother better than he did his life came unexpectedly and without questioning.

Frank was not maltreated in any way prior to the actual lynching. Stories that he may have met violent death before being hanged are without foundation.

Frank walked a distance of two hundred yards from the automobile to the death tree without a faltering step; without a sign or semblance of protest. Fearing that perhaps his body might never reach his relatives he asked that the wedding ring he wore be delivered to a newspaper man who would be turned over to his wife. This wish was carried out.

Frank was told from the start that he was to be "executed" as the courts had directed that he be and every effort was made by the so-called "vigilance committee" to see that as they termed the lynching, was carried out in an orderly manner.

Members of the "vigilance committee" are said to resent any intimations that Frank was maltreated while in their custody. They assert he was given exactly the same consideration usually given a condemned man on the day of his execution. The rough handling of the body after it was cut down is a matter concerning which the members of the "committee" feel they are not responsible for.

The members of the vigilance committee felt they had a "sacred duty" to perform in carrying out the mandate of the courts of the State and of the United States. There was no mob spirit, no demonstration and there is said to have been no idea of hanging Frank in the public square at Marietta or in the cemetery where Mary Phagan lies buried. There was, however, a determination that the execution should take place in Cobb County, inasmuch as all the members of the committee are said to be residents of Cobb County, the reason for this is obvious.

Automobiles were required to transport the committee from Milledgeville to Marietta. Only four returned, including the car in which Frank rode. All of the machines were small cars of a popular make. These cars were specially selected because of the difficulty in identifying them. No car of conspicuous color or design was wanted. There were probably twenty-five men in the "vigilance party."

Studying Hidden Waters.

Most of the people on the farms and in the villages and smaller cities of the United States obtain their domestic water supplies from underground sources. Ground waters are also extensively used throughout the country for live-stock, railroad, and other industrial supplies and for irrigation. The United States Geological Survey early recognized the great importance of the ground waters and the numerous complex problems relating to their development for human use. Hence for many years it has carried on investigations and surveys of these waters. Much more work has been done in certain States than in others, but every State has received some attention, the policy being to reach every section of the country but to do most of the work where it will be of the greatest practical value to the people. As a result of these investigations the Geological Survey has published nearly 150 reports dealing with ground waters, and others are on the press or in preparation. There are still large areas that have not been investigated or that have been covered only by rapid reconnaissance, but it is planned to continue the work from year to year until the entire country has been covered by a detailed ground-water survey.

The published reports differ widely in character on account of the great differences in the geologic occurrence of the underground waters and in the uses for which they are developed in different parts of the country. Moreover, some reports give the results of intensive studies on rapid examinations of large areas of small areas, while others are based in so far as is practicable, these reports give, for every locality that is covered, the depths, character, and yields of the underlying waterbeds, the height to which the water from each bed will rise in wells and the prospects of obtaining flows, the quality of the water in each bed for domestic, industrial, or irrigation use, the best methods of sinking wells, the cost of wells and of pumping, the depth below which drilling should not be carried, the precautions that should be taken to prevent pollution, and the total quantity that can safely be pumped. On account of the difficulties involved this information is of course never so complete or so definite as would be desirable, even after the most careful investigations have been made.

GOOD ROADS.

Hon. H. E. Hildebrand of San Antonio addressed the citizens of Center Point on "Good Roads" Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Crotty Hall. Mr. Hildebrand's talk was highly interesting, pointing out the value of good roads and how roads in this section could be put in excellent condition at a minimum cost. He also outlined the Mountain Loop road out of San Antonio.

It is reported that Mr. Hildebrand, in company with a Government Highway Engineer, will return to Center Point Monday and go over the roads in this vicinity.

An election has been ordered September 15th, for a $15,000 bond issue in this precinct. Every public-spirited citizen should favor the good roads movement.

Let's all talk it up.

Center Point News.

Bravo! "Let's all talk it up!" Let the Hill Country become a thorough demonstration of the good roads propaganda in the southwest. The excellent roads in Kerr County have demonstrated their value this summer. Let's have more of them and better ones.

more than half as large as it is now. It is said that the other game animals in the preserve, including the elk and antelope, also are increasing, due to the protection afforded, not only against hunters, but against wolves, wild cats, and other predatory animals, which committed serious depredations from the establishment of the preserve in 1905 until measures were taken to stop them. In protecting the game from predatory animals, the wardens and forest officers are also promoting the interests of local stockmen, who graze several thousand head of cattle on certain allotted areas within the preserve.

For Their Neighbors.

The hardest housekeeping in the world is the housekeeping that people do for their neighbors. Half the troubles we have are caused by worrying about what people think. What difference does it make what they think anyway? No one can live his own life and two or three other people's lives besides. What's the use of setting up housekeeping on the roof or on the outside walls for the benefit of the neighbors? You would rightly be judged insane if you insisted anything of the kind, and that is practically what half the people do. They can't do this because the neighbors would talk and they can't do that because the neighbors wonder if they could not afford to do something else. They may not say it in so many words, but they mean it, and it is simply a great big vacuum in some of our natures where moral courage ought to be. Half the sting of poverty or small means is not that one keeps home for himself and not for his neighbors.

The Peanut Has Arrived.

A bulletin published by the University of Texas on "The Uses of the Peanut on the Home Table" is as rich in food for thought as the peanut is rich in food for the body.

"The peanut is not a nut," the writer, Miss Jessie P. Rich of the School of Domestic Economy of the University, declares. "We have too often thought of the peanut as a part of the circus or street parade, and have been misled by the latter half of its name and used it as we would use nuts," she says.

But for all that the peanut is a pea, and belongs to the same family as the common pea or bean. True, its flavor is similar to that of a nut, and whence comes the term "nut" applied to it? But no one who reads what the aforesaid interesting bulletin has to say about it will doubt its high food value.

In justifying the classification as above given it is stated that 25.8 per cent of the peanut is protein, or tissue-building food, compared to 21 and 25.3 per cent, respectively, of protein for the dried pea and dried bean, while the peanut's fuel value amounts to 2500 calories of heat (which may be transformed into energy) compared to 1611 calories for the dried pea and 1565 calories for the dried bean per pound.

Moreover, we learn that 16 cents worth of peanuts have a food value equal to 62 cents worth of steak, 24 cents worth of milk, 20 cents worth of cheese, 18 cents worth of potatoes, and 9 cents worth of beans. These figures reveal an important fact to the hungry world, which since the price of meat has broken the altitude record, has been looking for a substitute for meat. The peanut, when it comes into its own, will go far towards solving this vexing problem.

The best thing about the bulletin quoted is it not only tells what to do, but it also tells how to do it, as well as being a list of the recipes given, the very names of which will make a hungry man's mouth water.

This list of recipes includes Peanut Butter, Nut Bread, peanut biscuits, peanut huns, peanut milk toast white sauce, peanut sandwiches, peanut soup, baked peanuts, peanut turnips, peanuts and rice, potatoes and peanuts, peanut loaf, brown sauce, peanut chops, peanut cake, peanut cookies and peanut candy.

Raffale on Wichita National Forest

Now Number Sixty-two

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 23.—The government's herd of buffalo on the Wichita National Forest, in Oklahoma, which is also a federal game preserve, has been increased by the arrival of ten calves, according to a report received by the Forest Service from the supervisor in charge. The herd, which now comprises sixty-two specimens of the almost extinct bison, is in good condition, says the supervisor, and promises to continue increasing at a rapid rate.

Eight of the calves are females, bringing the number of heifers and cows up to thirty. The bulls number thirty-two and have been placed by themselves in a pasture which has just been fenced in for them.

Three years ago the buffalo herd on the Wichita Forest was little CHILD BADLY BURNED.

Seguin Girl Picked Up Charged With.

SEGUN, Tex., Aug. 18.—Dorothy Donegan, the small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Donegan, was quite painfully burned on her hand yesterday when she took hold of an electric light wire that had been blown down during the high wind. Under the presence of mind of Lennie Sheppard, a colored delivery man who happened to be passing at that time, serious injury would probably have resulted. He knocked the wire from the little girl's hand with a stick.

Kidney weakness becomes dangerous if neglected. Use a time-tried kidney remedy—Doan's Kidney Pills. Hosts of people testify to their merit. Read a Kerrville case:

Mrs. J. S. Burkett, Main Street, Kerrville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are a most worthy medicine and I am sure that they will give relief from any ordinary case of kidney complaint if used properly. I had been annoyed by the kidney secretions and suffered from a dull, grinding pain in my back, just over my kidneys. I used Doan's Kidney Pills as directed and they soon removed the troubles."

Danger of Gin Mixed Cotton Seed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Few cotton growers realize that when they take back seed from an ordinary gin to use in planting the next crop, the extent to which their seed may be mixed with the seed of the cotton ginned just previous to their lot. Yet this matter is of vital importance to all cotton raisers who wish to grow a uniform variety of cotton. As every student of cotton breeding knows, even a few seeds of another variety in a cotton field may through cross fertilization cause interbreeding and deterioration in a large number of plants. Instead of getting only a few seeds from a neighbor's lot of cotton, however, actual investigations by specialists of the Department of Agriculture show that in certain cases a lot of seed will contain as much as 14 to 16 per cent of seed left in the gin boxes from the cotton ginned just before. In the cases investigated not only has there been a large percentage of seed from the variety ginned just previously, but it is found that some seeds may remain from the second bale preceding. It follows, therefore, that a grower may readily mix one or two other varieties with his special kind of seed.

Where a grower is particular about his seed, he can readily minimize the mixing by quick, simple and inexpensive measures in which the average grower will be glad to cooperate. The following precautions, which seem to be entirely practicable and which, in fact, are now exercised in some localities, are strongly recommended in Department Bulletin No. 288, Custom Ginning As a Factor in Cotton Seed Deterioration, soon to be issued.

The patron should accompany to the gin the lot of seed cotton from which he expects to save seed for planting, and he should aid the ginner in seeing that everything possible is done to prevent mixing.

He should see that the flues, feeders, and cleaners are cleaned thoroughly as their construction will permit before he allows the seed cotton to enter them.

The roll should be dropped from the roll box and the box should be thoroughly cleaned. The dropping of the roll is an operation with which all ginnermen are familiar. The construction of the gins is such that the roll can be dropped and the box in a very few minutes. Some improved gins are arranged so that the roll box may be emptied without stopping the gin, thereby further simplifying the operation.

Having cleaned the machinery up to and including the roll box, the next step is to prevent the seed of the variety to be ginned from falling into the conveyor. It is impracticable to clean the conveyor satisfactorily, and therefore it should not be used when planting seed is obtained. By adjusting the position of the apron of each gin the seed can be made to fall upon the floor in front of the instead of into the conveyor. From here it can be sacked easily.

The floors about the gins should to the extent that no seeds are left lying around to cause mixing. Canvases spread upon the floor to receive the seed from the gins is often used.

Such precautions require time in which to carry them out effectively, and time spent in this manner naturally reduces somewhat the amount of ginning that otherwise could be done in a day. On this point the ginner may find cause to base objection to such procedure, but it should be possible to meet the objection by fully compensating him for the extra time consumed. The expense of special ginning in some sections may be reduced by arranging to have it done on specified days or at the close of the season, when time is more available. In any event, the amount of money that may be required to secure the ginner's cooperation in the maintenance of pure seed is almost negligible in view of the favorable effect such precautions will have upon the farmer's crops in succeeding years.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This is a remedy that every family should be provided with, and especially during the summer months. Think of the pain and suffering that must be endured when medicine must be sent for or before relief can be obtained. This remedy is thoroughly reliable. Ask anyone who has used it. Obtainable everywhere.

Find no Trace of Stefansson Party.

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 23.—The United States coast guard cutter Bear, which carried the mails to Point Barrow, the most northerly point in Alaska, returned to Nome today and reported that no word of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the explorer, and his two companions had been received. Belief is growing that all three have perished.

Stefansson, accompanied by Ole Anderson and Storker Storkerson, left Martin Point, west of the mouth of the Mackenzie River, April 7 of last year, going north over the ice in the hope of finding new land and expecting in the event that their quest failed, to turn east and reach Banksland. The Mackenzie River opened with a rush in the spring of 1914 and poured out a torrent of water that washed away the ice connecting Banksland with the land ice further east.

The Bear reported that nothing further had been heard of the gasoline schooner New Jersey, heretofore reported missing. The New Jersey left Nome last fall under command of Captain Bartlett on the Stefansson ship, Karluk. Wreckage from the New Jersey came ashore at Cape Thomson, Alaska.

POPULATION OF NEWPORT, ARK. MAROONED IN THREE HOUSES

Food and Water Supplies Are Practically Exhausted and Swift Current Prevents Rescue.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 23.—Practically the entire population of Newport, Ark., a town of about 5000 people, is marooned in two hotels and the court house of that city, according to telephone advices here.

Food and water supplies are practically exhausted there and the entire town is covered with from five to twelve feet of water.

Two boys were drowned near Newport today. This brings the total death list in the White river flood up to eight. Calls for help to prevent further drownings were tonight coming from river points below Newport. It was impossible to send a steamer because of the strong current.

In the rich oil trough bottoms many families were rescued after they had spent a day and night on roofs of their homes. These refugees
