city had offered to let the siness phone rate go into until the case could be ed; the company wanted to put the $10 business phone rate into effect and offered to post bond assuring a refund of any overcharge to all subscribers. Since the two parties couldn't agree on their proposals, the status now is that the $5.50 business phone rate continues in effect, and the company is still under the restraining order preventing them from levying the higher rates.

Most of the hearing was devoted to an examination of company financial statements. County attorney W. C. Herndon, Jr., pointed out that the city had three sets of figures, the company had a set of figures in their pleadings in the case, plus a fifth set offered by the company after the hearings started, and that the information contained in the statements was different.

Company auditor E. C. Brink spent most of Saturday morning and all Saturday afternoon explaining the financial statements that the company had submitted.

The value of the company investment in Perryton came in for much discussion, since the determination of a "fair rate of return" on the investment depends upon how much the investment is.

Herndon and attorney Max Boyer asked many times how much was the original cost of the building and equipment. Ray F. Red, general commercial superintendent, and James H. Davis, district manager, both on the stand Friday, could give no figures.

J. T. Sims, general plant superintendent, said Saturday morning that the original cost of the plant was $345,323.68. The current value is $372,415.99, and the fair value is $352,157.64. The income in 1951 was $2,655.46, which made a return of .075 per cent, Sims said. The proposed $7 rate would give only a 2.42 per cent of return while the company would like to have seven per

Steel Livestock Building Ordered For Fair Use

A steel building for use as a livestock building for the North Plains Fair has been ordered by the commissioners court and it is planned to have the building completed by August 28, opening date of the fair.

The building, a 60 by 140 foot steel structure, was offered by the Star Manufacturing Co., with a low bid of $14,159. The county has agreed to go in with the North Plains Hereford Breeders Assn. and the North Plains Aberdeen-Angus Breeders Assn. in purchasing the building. It will be the property of the county.

The two livestock associations have pledged $6,000 each from their members and the county will furnish the remainder of the cost of the building.

In addition to serving as a show barn for the fair, the building is planned to be used for various livestock sales and shows throughout the year.

The exact location of the building has not been selected but it will be west or northwest of the Veterans Memorial Building at the county fair grounds.

The commissioners will meet Saturday to let the contract for the foundation of the building.

Perryton Stores To Close July 4

Friday, July 4, has been set as a date for general closing of local business houses by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and a Herald survey Wednesday indicates that practically all stores in town will observe the holiday. All of the lumber yards will be closed Friday and Saturday, and several other business houses will take a two-day holiday. There is a dance Thursday night, midget auto races Friday afternoon, plus the traditional fireworks for the holiday entertainment. Many local citizens will attend the Canadian rodeo, the Raton horce races, or have made plans to take short trips over the long week end.

Wheat Loan Rate $2.16

Final loan rate for Ochiltree county has been set at $2.16 per bushel, an increase of three cents a bushel over the preliminary rate announced in June, reports Elliott Lee, county PMA secretary.

Storage charges for wheat stored between June 10 and July 9 is 13 cents per bushel, making a net of $2.03 per bushel, above the current market price.

Lee said that his office had made 32 wheat loans Monday and that he expects to make many loans this year in view of the difference in the loan rate and current price of wheat.

Bill Craig Is Candidate for Representative

State Representative W. J. "Bill" Craig of Miami formally opened his campaign for reelection this week and has authorized the Herald to announce his candidacy for representative of the new 86th Legislative District, created out of the old 124th District. The 86th Legislative District is composed of Hutchinson, Hemphill, Lipscomb, Ochiltree and Roberts counties.

Craig, who is 36 years old, has served as state representative for three terms. He is married and the father of three young sons. He was born and reared in Miami and is a veteran of World War II, serving 4½ years in the Navy, part of the time spent on a mine sweeper in the Mediterranean and Atlantic.

In announcing his campaign for reelection, Craig said: "As your State Representative I have worked for and supported legislation which the majority of the people wanted which would be of greatest benefit to all. I have opposed those bills which I felt were against your interests. In voting these matters I have al-

Auto Races Set For July 4 at Fair Grounds

Plenty of excitement is promised at the midget auto races, to be held Friday afternoon, July 4, at the county fair grounds race track. The races begin at 2:30 p. m. There are seven events, with racers from several Kansas, Texas and Oklahoma cities entered.

Racing fans got their money's worth at the May 30 show, when they saw some fast races, a wreck and a near-riot on the track.

Included in the events scheduled for Friday are time trials, Australian Pursuit, slow car race, helmet dash, consolation, and main event. Special feature is the trophy race, which was won May 30 by Lyndon Balzer of Perryton.

Wheat Harvest Ends In Perryton Area With 2,500,000 Bushel Crop Estimated

Harvest Labor Office Closed On Wednesday

The Perryton area wound up the 1952 wheat harvest this week, with a total yield estimated at 2,500,000 bushels, considerably more wheat than was predicted several months ago. Practically all of the combines and trucks are out of the fields now, and many fields are plowed.

The harvest labor office, operated at the county fair grounds by the Texas Employment Commission, was closed Wednesday by manager Clifford Mills. He estimated that the office had placed 500 single laborers, 30 to 40 combine crews, plus miscellaneous jobs that were filled through the office during harvest.

The labor office was opened on June 16 and was operated by Charley Warner, Mills and Lester Gann.

Aldon Bell, Equity general manager, said that Equity elevators in Ochiltree county had received approximately 2,000,000 bushels of wheat this year, although some of this came from Beaver county. He estimated that 2,500,000 bushels were harvested in Ochiltree county. Other elevator men and county agent Delbert Timmons concur in this estimate.

Since the government loan rate is at present eight cents per bushel higher than the market value, practically all of the wheat is being stored. Very little wheat is being sold, with an estimated 98 per cent put under government loan.

Local Farmers Use Only Five Inches of Soil Instead of 30

Farmers of this area are using only the top five inches of soil when they should be using 30, declared Paul Haines, soil expert of the Extension Service, here Thursday afternoon to conduct a soil judging school. County agent Delbert Timmons was host for the meeting.

"The soil scientists of this country have done an excellent job of keeping people ignorant," Haines stated. It is imperative that the soil be put into condition and fully utilized if production of crops is to be maintained, he added.

The reason that farmers use only a small portion of the soil is because of the thick "hardpan" or "plow-pan" formed four or five inches under the surface by year of plowing at the same depth, using heavy machinery to help pack down the soil, Haines said. The problem at hand is how to get the roots of plants through the hard pan down to moisture, Haines pointed out.

In a demonstration on a field close to town, Haines showed how roots of wheat and even weeds failed to penetrate the hard pan. It took a shovel and a pickaxe to break through the dry hard pan, but underneath there was plenty of moisture.

The ideal method of putting the soil into condition is to break

MIGHTY DRY YEAR

Fourteen Inches in 12 Months

How much has it rained here in the past year? That question has been asked lately by many people who are sure that some sort of dry record has been set since June, 1951.

However, while the moisture has been below normal, Perryton has received 14.21 inches of moisture in the past year, according to the records of Judge Jack Allen. Since January 1, only 5.70 inches have fallen.

For the past four years, the Perryton area has had a dry fall and winter, with plenty of rain in the spring. This year, we had a dry fall and winter and a dry spring.

Wheat fields over the county are showing deep cracks where the dry weather has parched the earth and it will take plenty of rain to get the fields in shape for planting any sort of crop.

While the moisture in Perryton has totaled 14.21 inches during the year, much of this was attributed to local showers and the moisture has not been general. It has been reported that parts of the county, especially northwest of Perryton have had six inches of rain or less. The rain, by months, for the past year:

Rainmaking In West Texas Is Not New; Tried 50 Years Ago

MIDLAND (AP)—More than half a century ago the federal government sent a specialist to West Texas to try his hand at rainmaking.

He tried for about two weeks. Whether he taught West Texas anything about rain was not clear. But there was no question about this: he learned a lot about West Texas weather.

It was on Feb. 27, 1891, that U. S. Secretary of Agriculture J. M. Rusk commissioned R. G. Dyrenforth to conduct "experiments in the production of rainfall."

It was probably the first U. S. government expreiment in rainmaking. Dyrenforth conducted his experiments in Andrews County north of Midland, near El Paso and later near San Diego in South Texas.

Dyrenforth believed the explosion of a gas-filled balloon might create rain. Senator C. B. Farwell of Illinois won appropriations of $2,000 and $7,000 for rainmaking studies. Dyrenforth was put to work as special agent.

Nelson Morris, Chicago, offered "the freedom of his large ranch in the dry region of Texas, "plus food and lodging, Dyrenforth said in his eventual report to Congress, Dyrenforth accepted.

When he arrived at Midland, after considerable difficulty in assembling this company and supplies, Diyrenforth had a premonition that nature had dealt him one from the bottom of the deck.

"The ranch, known as the 'C' Ranch, is near Midland, a station on the Texas & Pacific railroad, and embraces several thousand acres, but the ranch house, located in the south central portion of the Llano Estacado in Andrews County, is 23 miles from Midland, much farther than I had been led to believe," Dyrenforth wrote.

There had been a deficiency of rain for several years in the region and the past 18 months had been severely dry, he was informed. Small wonder that the journey to the ranch "made a strongly negative impression" upon Dyrenforth. His report gave an accurate description of West Texas drought in the summer.

"Though we started early in the morning, the sun shone fiercely. There was not a fleck of a cloud visible anywhere in the sky. The ground was dry with an appearance of alkali. There was a strong dry wind from the south which seemed greedily to take up any moisture that might be present," he recalled.

He had studiously avoided conducting experiments in a wet climate. Now he feared he had gone to the other extreme.

Four wagons hauled equipment to the site. Two large wooden tanks were ordered built in Midland to contain hydrogen and oxygen, which were to be generated on the site. On Aug. 9 the first charges of "racka-rock" were touched off in a trial run.

"On the morning of the next day, Aug. 10, a very heavy rain fell, coming from the northeast and extending west and southeast," he recited. "The rain continued for about two hours, causing water to run in the draws and the plains to be drenched."

Dyrenforth was elated, but later he wrote it off to chance when he learned that Abilene had showers the same day. He found it was common knowledge along the T & P that frequently it rained in Abilene and Big Spring but not in Midland.

He waited impatiently for more favorable conditions. Cumulus clouds, moving toward the site were often, at low altitude, seen to vanish as they approached. It was like vapor passing over a hot stove, Dyrenforth observed.

With arrival of his meteorologist, George E. Curtis, Dyrenforth was ready to get down to serious business. But he had troubles. High winds queered oxygen generating efforts, and the hydrogen tanks took a long time to soak gas-tight. Gradually, enough gas was accumulated for an attempt.

The omnipresent winds damaged balloons. Big kites were sent aloft, but "they were soon broken in body or broke their strings." An Aug. 12, a few kites were put up successfully with half a pound of dynamite attached. The charge was detonated by means of wires to the ground. A 30-mile wind blew up clouds, but no rains.

Guns were deployed in a semi-circle from the house and cannonading continued for several days, along with periodical blasts from the kites. The agent tried exploding dynamite in prairie dog holes but this shook the earth and not the atmosphere.

On Aug. 16 inflation of a 10-foot balloon was begun but operations were tediously slow. It was three hours after a mid-afternoon shower that the big bag rose rapidly, reversed its course. About two miles away and at a mile altitude, it exploded.

"It was not accompanied by any precipitation, nor was there any fall immediately thereafter. At 8 o'clock heavy rain clouds formed in the west-southwest and rain fell heavily, but not at the ranch house."

Dyrenforth hoped to ascertain the relation, if any, of static electricity to precipitation. Since there was a heavy electrical display, he sent up an "electric kite" with bands of tinfoil connecting to wires which carried such a charge to the earth that "it produced a spark half an inch in the sulphuric acid condensers."

The evening of Aug. 17 saw constant firing maintained. One blast at 8 p. m. was followed by a spatter of rain. Disappointedly, Dyrenforth found next morning it did not even show in the gauge. Some rain came the next day. Then came two days of clear skies in which it was useless to fire. Moreover, most of Dyrenforth's assistants were ill from failure to heed his warning against drinking gyp water.

Aug. 20 brought more clouds and more firing, and some sprinkles. Explosives were detonated from kites, mesquite bushes and guns, but with no significant results. Two days later there was a morning fog but no rain. Oxygen equipment was shifted to an adobe hut and by Aug. 25, Dyrenforth was ready for the "grand test."

Several balloons broke away in the high winds, but a few were fired in this climaxing experiment.

But at 11 p. m. that day it was "as dry as I ever observed it."

Next morning an early thunder storm blew up and drenched the north half of the ranch. Little fell at the ranch house, but "after each explosion, the quantity of rainfall increased."

This was the last day of the experiment. Dyrenforth returned to Washington. The equipment was sent to El Paso where rain-thirsty citizens had raised a fund for the expedition. Later, with R. J. Kieberg doing most of the financing, experiments were conducted at San Diego, Texas.

While not jubilant with results, Dyrenforth concluded that during periods of drouth when "conditions favored rainfall without there being actual rain, precipitation may be caused by concussion." But more than what he found out about rain making, Dyrenforth appeared to have learned about West Texas weather.

Aborigines Escape Polio

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Australian aborigines apparently have "some racial factor which gives them immunity to poliomyelitis," Commonwealth Director-General of Health, Dr. Arthur J. Metcalfe, says.

No aborigine has been affected in the polio epidemic now raging in Central Australia or in the epidemic of a few months ago at Darwin although there are hundreds of aborigines in the area. Dr. Metcalfe says no research has yet been done on the cause of the immunity.

Human Parcel Post Abolished in Britain

By ALVIN STEINKOPF

(AP) Newsfeatures

LONDON—It's no longer possible in Britain for a man to make a package of himself and be sent home by parcel post.

The post office has announced that it is discontinuing a little-known service—the delivery of human beings by mail.

Not many realized it, but it has been possible for a person to walk into a post office, buy a lot of stamps, and have himself dispatched to some destination in the United Kingdom. If equipped with a special delivery stamp the mailman had to escort him right to his doorstep and ring twice.

"The service, unfortunately, has had to be discontinued," David Gammans, assistant postmaster general, reported to Parliament recently.

Not Many Use Service

Not many made use of the curious service, but a number of persons lost in strange places have found it helpful. The last man known to have mailed himself used the postal service to outwit the British army.

On a visit in 1940 to the island of Guernsey in the English Channel the man found, when he set out for home, that soldiers had taken all the places in the only boat. The soldiers' orders said they had priority over all other passengers. But the resourceful gentleman knew the regulations, and was aware that under the circumstances mail had priority over soldiers. So he attached stamps to himself and the post office had to put him aboard.

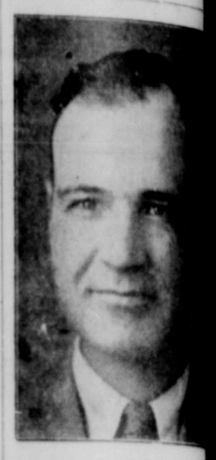

The whole thing started in 1907 when a woman sent a baby across Britain by post. She was criticized, but postal regulations permitted the sending of living creatures.

Then some school boys mailed themselves home for vacations, and a political agitator once mailed himself to the late Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain. The prime minister was not amused, and took refuge in another regulation saying that he wasn't obliged to accept a package just because the post office had sent it to him.

Canada Shipment Barred

But the real headache came when a man wanting to emigrate asked to be sent to Canada [illegible] parcel post. The appropriate number of stamps for an [illegible] grant of his heft was cheaper than a steamship ticket. The post office got out of accepting the package by discovering that the service covered only the British Isles.

No One Injured In Monday Wreck

No one was injured, but considerable damage was done to a 1950 Packard driven by Mrs. Juanita James of Darrouzett in an accident which occurred Monday morning about 2½ miles east of Perryton.

State highway patrolman Bob Loving, who investigated the accident, said that Mrs. James attempted to pass a wheat truck driven by Henry Yauck of Gage, Okla., and that Yauck attempted a left turn at the same time. Both vehicles were going west on highway 117 and the Packard smashed into the rear of the truck.

With Mrs. James were her children, Sandra and Marshall.

Damage to the car was estimated at $200. The truck was not damaged, Loving said.

Many single-celled animals which reproduce by division are virtually immortal because the substance of the parent individual is preserved when it divides to produce two individuals.

Local Scouts Sell Fireworks

Boy Scouts of Troop 55 have been selling fireworks for July 4 since June 20 and Scoutmaster Harry Stumpf reminds all customers that only one Scout fireworks stand is in Perryton and it is located on North Main.

Money raised through the sale of fireworks will be used to send troop representatives to Camp Ki-O-Wah next summer.

War Explosives Kill Children

ROME (AP)—The Italian Society for the Prevention of Accidents estimates some 1,400 children aged 5 to 12 are killed each year by the aerial bombs, hand grenades, artillery and mortar shells, and mines left over from the last war. Another 7,000 annually are injured.

The more than 58,000 post-war casualties among children since the Italian campaign ended in May, 1945, surpasses the total U. S. casualties in four ways—Revolutionary War (12,172); War of 1812 (6,765); Mexican War (16,399) and Spanish-American War (9,530).

Crop Insurance Payments More Than Premiums

Payments to Ochiltree county farmers under the government crop insurance program amounted to over $100,000 this year, while the premiums collected amounted to only $88,714, according to county PMA secretary Elliott Lee.

Since the county had a reserve of $174,000 from previous crop insurance programs, it has been able to meet all payments, Lee said.

All of the premiums and reserve came from county farmers, and no money was put up by the government, Lee emphasized. Under the government program, the wheat farmer is guaranteed 4.9 bushel of wheat per acre and in the event of a complete loss, the farmer can collect $8.45 per acre.

There were 22 complete losses and 92 partial losses reported.

Applications for insuring the 1953 crop are being taken, but wheat sown in maize stubble will not be insured this year, Lee said.

Game and Fish Meeting Set Here July 11

Public meetings of the Texas Game and Fish Commission have been scheduled in the Texas Panhandle, beginning July 7 at Canadian, when landowners, hunters and fishermen will have an opportunity to discuss hunting and fishing regulations with representatives of the Game Department.

Woody Pond, District Game Warden of Canadian, was in Perryton Monday, making arrangements for the meeting here, scheduled for Friday, July 11 at 8 p. m. at the courthouse. Pond said that state game biologist DeArmond will be present at the meeting.

Other meetings are: Miami, July 9; Lipscomb, July 10; Spearman, July 12.

Under a law which went into effect Sept. 1, 1950, the Texas Game and Fish Commission is instructed and empowered to prescribe the open seasons, bag limits, and the means and methods of taking game and fish surpluses in the 28 county area of the Panhandle including Motley and Cottle counties and all counties north.

All interested persons are urged to attend the meetings for their county, which will be in the county courthouse at 8 p. m.

Reports Theft of Watch, Billfold

Henry Helfenbein reported the theft of a watch, billfold and several other articles from his farm home east of Perryton Monday morning and told Sheriff Ray Phagan that he suspected two boys he had working for him during harvest.

Helfenbein told the sheriff that he discovered the missing articles shortly after the boys left Monday morning. He traced them to Booker, but lost track of them there.

Boomerangs which come back to the thrower are said to be mostly toys and seldom used for hunting by the aborigines of Australia.

Officials Study Sheep

HELENA, Mont. (AP)—A one-year study of the habits of bighorn mountain sheep is being conducted by the Montana Fish and Game Department and the University of Montana.

The study is being conducted on Wildhorse Island, in the middle of Northwestern Montana's Flathead Lake. A survey last summer determined 30 adult bighorns and 11 lambs were living on the island.

For a long time, each 10 years has seen about two million more dairy cattle in the United States.

U.S. railroads carried fewer passengers in 1933 than they did in 1951.

Postal Receipts Continue to Rise First Six Months

Postal receipts reflected a gain for the second quarter of 1952, although the month of June saw a decrease from 1951, according to postmaster Irvin Hergert. For the first six months, postal receipts show a 13 per cent increase, which will elevate the Perryton office from second class to first class status by the end of the year.

Total receipts for the second quarter of the year were $9,646.58, compared with $8,761.20 for the same period in 1951.

Money order sales were $49,553.82 this year compared with $38,860.68 last year. Total receipts for the first six months were $20,150.59 compared with $17,535.15 a year ago.

Increased postal rates since the first of the year are responsible for much of the increased receipts, Hergert said, although business at the stamp window picked up considerably through harvest. Considerably more harvest business was done this year than last, he said.

PERSONAL

B. L. ROGERS

Older voters will recognize this picture, used 20 years ago. Voters of 10 counties elected him State Representative two times. The second election for this important office was won on his record as 'The Man Who Kept His Promise!'

Because of his retirement and extended absence, younger voters may not know that he came here in 1918 and was ranching 'til the railroad came. Then he established the "Service Store" at Farnsworth.

Retirement did not agree with him, and he asks the voters for the part-time job of Commissioner. If elected, he would be able to give more time to this job than if he had other business interests. Those not familiar with his record are requested to ask any of the older residents.

B. L. Rogers was Scoutmaster of a Boy Scout troop in the early days of Scouting; a 'Minute Man' speaker in Liberty Bond drives during the first world war. (No radio in those days.)

He is a member of the V. F. W. and First Christian Church and for several years held office in the Washington State Grange.

B. L. Rogers is a business man of long experience; with personal acquaintances with many state officials including members of the State highway department and the Texas State Parks board.

B. L. Rogers will make you a valuable Commissioner.

Deluxe Speed Chasing

BUFFALO (AP)—Two policemen have added some deluxe features in their drive to crack down on speedsters—and at their own expense too.

First they added a white spotlight to their 1950 police car. It throws a stabbing beam 50 feet and helps pick up license numbers on speedsters. Next came a red spotlight.

"That's a honey," said Patrolman Jack Williamson. "We used to flash our small hand flashlight but half the time speeders ignored us. Now we throw the strong red light through the speeders back window. It stops 'em most of the time." They also added a first aid kit and long rope for emergencies.

Recently Williamson and his partner, Patrolman Earl Peacock, hauled in 22 speedsters in a single day.

Germany Has Egg-Fever

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—West Germany is enjoying a touch of egg-fever.

It's the incubated egg-cure which helped them to get rid of their troubles, they say. Millions of incubated eggs are being eaten these days.

The simple formula is: Eat 1 egg daily—incubated nine days—and do this for one month. The theory is that some particles in the egg embryo—called trephones—effect a renewal of the human cellular system and rejuvenate the patient. These trephones are said to be most effective after nine days of incubation.

Miss Darlene Payne of Amarillo visited in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Payne and family, over the week end.

up the hard pan with deep chiseling and then put deep rooted legumes on the land about every four years to keep the soil porus and ready to take moisture, Haines declared.

Tests have shown, Haines said that land with a thick hard pan under the surface takes moisture at the rate of .2 inch per hour and the moisture goes down only about five inches. On land that has the hard pan broken up, moisture penetrates at the rate of 9 inches per hour and goes down to 40 inches.

A visit was made to a field owned by Alton Witt, about five miles northwest of Perryton, that was being deep chiseled by a custom outfit owned by Bill Wilson Earth Moving. The land was being chiseled 14 to 16 inches deep and Haines said this was the best job of deep chiseling he had ever seen.

"That land will hold all the water you can put on it," he said. When the farmer gets his land in condition where the water that falls on it penetrates instead of running down the ditches, he will note an increase in production, Haines pointed out. The soil in this area is rich and contains everything necessary to grow crops, except that the farm land is sealed off a few inches under the surface by the hard pan, according to Haines.

He said that experiments with the new synthetic chemicals, introduced this year, which make tight soil porous, work wonders for the soil. In fact, he said "When they get these chemicals on a commercial basis, where a farmer can afford to use them, there will be some of us soil scientists looking for another job."

Police Chief Quits

Rolland Shearer, city police chief for the past three years, has resigned, effective July 1. He has not announced any future plans.

No successor has been named, according to city manager J. B. Whigham. Several applications are being considered.

Mello-Airs Will Play Tonight

The Mello-Airs, modern dance orchestra from Pampa, will play at the Veterans Memorial Building tonight for a holiday dance sponsored by the Perryton Jaycees. The dance begins at 9 p. m.

The Mello-Airs are widely known throughout the Panhandle and have played for dances in most cities in the area. This is their first visit to Perryton.

They have a number of novelty acts, colored lighting and a big catalogue of danceable tunes.

Paderewski, the pianist, played his first American concert on Nov. 7, 1891.

Church League Play-Off Will Open Monday

The bracket has been drawn for the Church League play-off, which begins Monday night at the local ball park. The top four teams in each division of the league will contest for the title in the first round of summer play, announces Glynn Braden, league director.

Another playoff will be held at the end of the second half of the league and a final champion will be determined in August.

Admission to the play-off games on Monday, Tuesday and Friday will be 50 cents.

In the Peewee division, the Christian and Balko teams meet at 6:30 p. m. Monday; followed by the Methodist and Baptist teams Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. Winners of these two games will meet at 6:30 p. m. Friday.

In the Intermediate division, the Balko and Methodist teams meet Monday night; the Booker and Baptist teams meet Tuesday night; and the winners will meet Friday night.

The Christian church team, with five wins and no losses, is in the lead for the Peewees, while Booker has an undefeated record in the Intermediate division with four wins and no losses.

June Water Bill Is Highest In Town History

Total billing for the current city water bills was $7,700, the highest in city history, according to city manager J. B. Whigham. The high total reflects the tremendous amount of water used by city residents during a hot, dry month of June.

Approximately 26,000,000 gallons of water were used during the month, with consumption reaching 2,000,000 gallons a day for the last week in June.

At present, the three city wells are pumping at full capacity, and the city will have plenty of water, unless mechanical trouble develops in one of the wells, Whigham said. If one of the wells goes out, and can't be put back in operation within a very short time, the city will be short of water, he added.

Belgians Like U. S. Films

BRUSSELS (AP)—Some 76 per cent of the films shown in Belgium during the first nine months of 1951 were of American origin, recent statistics have revealed.

On a total of 35,959 showings during this period, the United States recorded 42,464. France came second with 14½ per cent and Great Britain was third with 4 per cent.

"I was the author of a bill creating the Veterans Land Board and worked for the increase in funds for this Board to make loans to veterans. I supported those bills improving our State Hospitals and Special Schools and our prison system. I supported bills which would improve and better the living conditions and economic development of our State and people. I also supported those bills outlawing the slot machines, punch boards, and policy and lottery games.

"As your State Representative, I opposed unnecessary spending and tried to reduce appropriations where ever I believed it could be done without impairing the service rendered.

"I am opposed to the Sales Tax, and will continue to oppose it in any form. I am opposed to any new taxes upon the people of Texas and believe that our State can provide the necessary state services without additional taxes.

"In times like these everyone must give careful consideration to the candidates before them. I feel that I can stand on my record made during the past three terms and respectfully solicit your vote.

Parking Meter Unlike Wife

cent, he added.

Herndon and Boyer continually stressed the fact that although the Perryton exchange serves Spearman, Booker and Darrouzett, company figures failed to show that a proportionate part of the cost of the equipment was allocated to the other towns.

Company attorney Wayne Woodruff, in opening the hearing Friday morning, said that the current $5.50 rate was not a legal rate since it had never been set by ordinance. Later, general commercial superintendent Ray F. Red said that although the $5.50 rate was "discussed" at a meeting with the city council in 1947, and put into effect in 1950 when the dial phones were installed, the company didn't consider this a binding rate schedule.

City councilman Dean McCutcheon, and former mayor, testified Friday that the company wouldn't furnish verified figures of their costs and investment, so the council proceeded to compare Perryton rates with other Texas towns of similar size and with similar service. The $7 rate for business phones was arrived at by comparison with other rates and by using the percentage of the Perryton plant operations to the company system as a whole, and getting a comparative rate of return on the local investment, he added.

District phone company manager James H. Davis was given a hard time on the witness stand by city attorneys. Although questioning brought out that Davis was the company representative who had met with the council with the company financial data, yet he could not explain details of the financial statements. Finally, upon questioning by Herndon, Davis admitted that he didn't know how he arrived at the conclusion that rates offered by the city were unfair and unjust, except that company figures showed a 2.43 per cent return on the investment.

Company attorney Woodruff objected to this line of questioning put to Davis, stating that Davis was not required to know anything about the financial data, and that the company had witnesses that could answer all questions.

Other witnesses called were Otis Burk, who testified that the raise in rates would work a hardship on the prescription department service at the Burk drug store; M. M. Cudd, city clerk, who testified as to the correctness of a copy of the original telephone franchise ordinance in 1921 granted to the Ochiltree Telephone Co.; Sam Hergert, who testified as a former city councilman, the agreement between the city and company in 1947 when the dial system was planned, and county judge Howard Slaughter, who testified that the county might have to take out some telephones under the new rates, since the budget that was set up could not stand much additional expense.

cal and world wide work of missions in 1943 was $13,000; total gifts in 1951 was $50,000.

The highest year of contributions was in 1947, when the congregation gave $69,669.35. During the tenure of Rev. Curtis, the church averaged giving approximately $50,000 each year and total gifts during the nine years was $437,685.42. Gifts to missions during this time was $126,374.00.

During this Associational year, the missions gifts total $15,674, and the First Baptist church of Perryton has given more to missions than approximately 3,204 of the 3,237 Baptist churches in Texas, ranking 26th in this field of giving.

Church property in 1943 was valued at $30,000 and today after having built a new educational building and $20,000 pastor's home, remodeling the educational directors home and remodeling the church auditorium, the church property and equipment is valued at $220,000.

During this time, Rev. Curtis baptized 509 persons and with other additions brought 1,080 persons into the church.

He has served on the Executive State Baptist Board for the past several years and is at the present time a member of the executive committee of the state board. He was on the program last year at the State Brotherhood convention in Houston.

Rev. and Mrs. Curtis have two sons, Lt. Billy P. Curtis stationed with the U. S. Air Force at Greenville, Miss., and 12-year-old Lynn Gale Curtis.

Rev. Curtis will begin his ministry with the Central Baptist church of Pampa on July 13.

No successor has been chosen by the local congregation.

No Police Chief

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP)—Under a new deal this Southern Illinois city of 8,000 has only policemen—no chief. Their boss is the police commissioner who receives no more than his regular councilman's pay. He figured it would save the city $9,000 a year.

Building Permits Total Only $3,000

Only two building permits were recorded in June, both of them for residential remodeling. Total enostruction last month, as reflected by the permits, was $3,000.

Permits were issued to E. B. Gyger, $500, remodeling; and J. W. Richardson, $2,500, remodeling.

RECOMMENDED BY THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Seven-year-old Karen Blecha enacts 1952 polio precautions recommended by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. When polio is around, the National Foundation cautions parents to watch for these signs: headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, tenderness and stiffness of neck and back. If polio is diagnosed, call your local chapter of the March of Dimes for advice and assistance, including needed financial help.

One of the glories of human nature is willingness to undergo much privation and to endure much pain for the sake of others. In Japan there lives a man who illustrates this attitude in superlative degree.

Toychiko Kagawa was born in 1888. His father was a politician of cabinet rank and his mother was a concubine. He became an orphan at four and had an unhappy childhood. He was sent away to school and came in contact with Christian missionaries. He joined the church and later entered college and theological seminary. He contracted tuberculosis and was told that he had only a year to live. Deciding to make the most of the few remaining months, he moved into a shack in the slums of Kobe. There he was to spend more than fourteen years in a ministry of compassion.

At that time the slums of Japanese cities were indescribably horrible places in which to live. Sanitary conditions were vile. Privacy was impossible. Crime and prostitution were rampant. Life was cheap.

Kagawa found an abandoned hut six by six which was shunned because it was thought to be tenanted by the ghost of a murdered man. To this tiny abode he would bring derelicts of the streets. He shared his mat on the first night with a victim of contagious itch. He took in drunkards, gamblers, murderers. He visited the sick, comforted the sorrowing, taught the children. Later he organized a settlement house, founded cooperative societies, promoted the organization of labor unions. He became the foremost evangelist of the land and a widely read author.

His health has been wretched. He can barely see to get about. He has been stricken with plague, cholera, smallpox, dysentery, typhus. His body bears the marks of his ministry of mercy.

Zoo Population Rising

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—The parade of new baby animals has started at the zoo.

Zoo keeper John Trawicki is taking care of a pair of baby lambs and watching over several bird eggs. He's hoping for newcomers in the monkey and the lion families too.

His pride and joy at present are two month-old twin foxes, Winkie and Blinkie. "I'm feeding them milk, bread and dog food so they won't get wild," he said.

A while back there were four young coyotes but they didn't fare so well. The mother ate them, he said.

Mrs. D. L. White and her daughter, Mrs. Cecil Saunders, both of Tulsa were in Perryton last week looking after Mrs. White's farming interests.

About 16 to 20 percent of U.S. production goes into capital goods.

A KILLER ONLY YOU CAN STOP!

Matches are a wonderful friend to man, but a match whose flame has not been completely put out is as dangerous a killer as you have ever seen. This simple piece of wood, if misused, can leave you without your family or without your home . . . yes and even without your job. It might even leave you dead!

Be careful with fire. It's a good friend if used correctly.

The willingness and ability to overcome evil belongs to everyone who realizes his spiritual relationship to God. This is the theme of the Lesson-Sermon on the subject "God" to be read in Christian Science churches this Sunday. The Golden Text reads, "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God" (Revelation 21:3).

The protection assured by an understanding of the following statements from Psalms may be demonstrated by all: "The Lord is on my side; I will not fear: what can man do unto me? The Lord is my strength and song, and is become my salvation" (118:6,14). The Discoverer of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy, in these words challenges the acceptance of evil as power: "If thought is startled at the strong claim of Science for the supremacy of God, or Truth, and doubts the supremacy of good, ought we not, contrariwise, to be astounded at the vigorous claims of evil and doubt them, and no longer think it natural to love sin and unnatural to forsake it —no longer imagine evil to be ever-present and good absent? There is divine authority for believing in the superiority of spiritual power over material resistance" (pp. 130, 134).

Catholic School Ends June 29

A two-weeks vacation school at Immaculate Conception parish closed with first Communion on Sunday, June 29. The High Mass was celebrated by Father B. J. Binversie with the children and several members of the parish making up the choir. First Communicants were Susan Patton, Billy McCormick, Joan Reiswig, and Ellen Jacobsen. Billy McCormick and Susan Patton were baptized before Mass.

The older children were taught by Sister Jerome while the younger children and first Communicants were taught by Sister Hildegarde. Both are Missionary Sisters of Our Lady of Victory from Lubbock. Saturday evening the children presented a program to parents and visitors. Following the entertainment, the crowd enjoyed a picnic at the county park.

The following children were enrolled in Sister Jerome's class: Donald Brillhart, Lanny Madden, Barker Chunn, Barbara, Edwin, Mary and Carol Bremmer, Jimmy Reiswig, Danny and Judy Pletcher, David Trimmell, Kathryn Hurter, Janice Schuster, Jan Jacobsen, Elaine Lawton, Susan Patton, and Louise Dragoun.

SAIGON, Indo-China (AP)—Thousands of Vietnamese farmers in remote, unelectrified villages soon will be listening to international and local radio broadcasts.

The American Mutual Security Administration is donating 400 community listening sets. These sets are powered by a small gasoline generator which makes it possible for villagers to operate without electricity.

The total enrollment was 1,400 children.

WE HOLD THESE TRUTHS TO BE SELF-EVIDENT, THAT ALL MEN ARE CREATED EQUAL, THAT THEY ARE ENDOWED BY THEIR CREATOR WITH CERTAIN INALIENABLE RIGHTS, AMONG THESE ARE LIFE, LIBERTY AND THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS, THAT TO SECURE THESE RIGHTS GOVERNMENTS ARE INSTITUTED AMONG MEN. WE . . . SOLEMNLY PUBLISH AND DECLARE, THAT THESE COLONIES ARE AND OF RIGHT OUGHT TO BE FREE AND INDEPENDENT STATES . . . AND FOR THE SUPPORT OF THIS DECLARATION, WITH A FIRM RELIANCE ON THE PROTECTION OF DIVINE PROVIDENCE, WE MUTUALLY PLEDGE OUR LIVES, OUR FORTUNES AND OUR SACRED HONOR.

It's time to celebrate! It's time to rededicate yourself to God and Country! It's Independence Day! The Spirit of 1776 still lives. The right to freedom of worship must prevail. It is the Fourth of July!

The influence of Washington, the "Father of Our Country," is felt in every forward step America takes. The Flag, the Stars and Stripes, waves over a loyal and sacrificing people. The Eagle for strength and elevation of thought and purpose is affixed on our coin to show our exclusive right. All this reminds us that a Free People had to learn to be a united people. Out of the many came one nation . . . E Pluribus Unum.

The great Document above, The Declaration of Independence, was adopted on that memorable day. This noble experiment of government, "of the people, by the people, for the people," guarantees every citizen of our country "certain inalienable rights . . . Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness." We have no ambition for conquest and military glory. We want no loot. But we mean to have our freedom and independence, whatever the cost. This is Independence Day!

purpose of such an amends to insure employment in where there is a surplus of labor. The effect of the amendment would be to penalize the American taxpayer and take away from him millions of dollars in taxes that could otherwise be saved. It would also promote inflation. One of the prime causes of inflation is excessive government spending.

Therefore when the government pays more for an article, as it would under the Potter amendment, than the same article could be purchased under competitive bid contracts, the result is simply excessive spending and fuel on inflationary fires. The amendment is also discriminatory in that it would favor thickly populated areas and penalize the South, the Southwest and a great portion of the West. Such an amendment would also favor big industry and discriminate against small industry and small manufacturing plants and contractors.

The manufacturing concerns in such designated areas can effectively control business growing out of government contracts, and the ones who get hurt are the small manufacturing plants in districts such as ours, as well as the laboring people in those districts and the American taxpayers. Mr. Lanham (D), Georgia, introduced a substitute amendment which would in effect prohibit such practices. The House voted on the Lanham amendment first, and the vote was tied 114 to 114.

This meant that the Lanham amendment was defeated because the proposed amendment must receive more yea votes than nay votes in order to pass, and a tie vote does not meet those requirements. However, the Potter amendment also failed by a margin of approximately twenty votes. We of the South and Southwest had hoped that the Lanham amendment would pass as it would have fixed a policy and would have sharply curtailed the practice that is going on now. We were happy that the Potter amendment failed and hope that this is an indication that such practices will stop.

One manufacturing concern in the Middle West, and I presume others, sent out a form letter to all of its salesmen advising the salesmen to keep a sharp lookout for all possible contracts because this manufacturing concern was located in one of these surplus labor areas. The letter outlined the greater benefits accruing to the manufacturing concern by being so located, and instructed the salesmen that their Washington office could bring the proper pressure to bear in Washinton to obtain contracts at higher prices than under competitive bidding.

It was a strange coalition that voted against the Lanham amendment and for the Potter amendment. The coalition was made up of conservative republicans from the Middle West and East along with big city republicans and democrats who have followed New Deal philosophies. The ones responsible for defeating the Potter amendment were the members of Congress from the South, the Southwest and the West. If we can stop these practices in government spending, we can save the taxpayers millions of dollars and help in the fight against inflation.

HIDDEN BALL PLAN ON TIDELANDS NIPPED IN THE BUD: A plan was afoot between the Secretary of the Interior and the President to by-pass Congress and seize the tidelands in the event of the veto of the Holland bill was sustained by Congress. Under the present situation the Executive Department has no authority to lease the tidelands. Even if the Senate should uphold the President's veto of the Holland bill, the Executive Department still would not have power to traffic in these lands.

The secret plan that was afoot was a plan to use an old 1949 surplus property law under which GSA Administrator Larson had signed an order in April delegating authority to Secretary of Interior Chapman to dispose of oil and gas on the continental shelf. The Secretary of the Interior had gone so far as to submit the plan to oil company representatives and testified that these representatives had told him that they would be satisfied with such plan and would accept leases thereunder.

All of this information and the tactics and scheming indulged in had been kept from the Congress until Senator Holland made some charges on the Senate Floor on July 9th. After these charges had been made, the entire picture began to unfold and the opposition built up so strong and so fast that the Secretary of the Interior advised the Senate Judiciary Committee last Thursday that he and the President had abandoned the design to use this old law. It is getting to the place up here that you can't even take a night's sleep without wondering what will happen while your back is turned.

Pattison Rites Held Tuesday

Funeral services for William H. Pattison of Spearman were held Tuesday afternoon in the First Christian church of Spearman. Pattison, 40, died Saturday morning in a Wichita, Kansas Hospital.

He had been a resident of Spearman for seven years, where he owned and operated the Pattison Motor Supply Co. He was reared in the Gray community and attended the Perryton schools, living in this area most of his life.

In Spearman, he was president of the Lions Club, a director and past president of the Chamber of Commerce, a member of the First Christian church and the Masonic Lodge.

Rev. Clifford Parker and Rev. Bill Masters officiated at the final rites. Pallbearers were Virgil Floyd, Ed Hutton, John R. Collard, Ned Turner, Ray Phelps, Johnnie Close, Homer Beck, Freeman Barkley, Clifford Beck and Pete Fisher.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Helen Pattison; two daughters, Phyllis and Katherine; a son, Pat Harvey; two brothers, D. Pattison, Wichita and Wayne Pattison, Spearman; and one sister, Arlean Pattison, Pullman, Wash.

It's getting to be a rare day when you see a real, genuine bargain advertised. In these days of planned economy everything seems to be included in the plans except economy.

But we have here an honest-to-Pete bargain to tell you about. It's a bargain because it's much more useful than it once was, and costs much less than it used to.

It's the television set.

In 1948 our 10-inch screen set cost $6.25 per square inch of picture. Today, our 20-inch set costs only about $1.37 per square inch, and gives you a much finer picture almost four times the size.

So, you see, with all the forces of inflation, a counterforce has been quietly at work. Research and engineering are steadily plugging along—improving products—making them do more, cost less, and last longer.

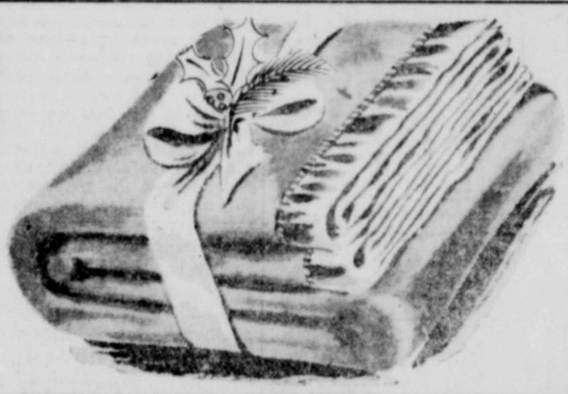

At least, that's the way it is at General Electric.

Sure, it's smart to look at the price tag. But it's also smart to look beyond . . . to the performance of the product and the name of the maker. The best possible products at the lowest possible prices—that's G.E.'s idea of good business.

See You On the Fifth!

Where are you going to be July 5?

At home? At work? On vacation?

Are you real sure? What makes you so certain you may not be one of the hundreds of people who will start out on a Fourth of July holiday trip—and won't come back?

Not a pleasant thought, is it? You may even be a little provok- be that we've brought it up.

Well, that's all right with us. For the more provoked you get, the more you may think about this Fourth of July traffic toll that annually makes a massacre out of a holiday that ought to be for pleasure and patriotism, not for tragedy.

You think it couldn't be you?

That's what the 360 people thought who were killed over the Memorial Day holiday just a month ago. That's what the 8,936 people thought who died in holiday traffic in the last six years.

Yes, that's right—8,936 people killed in holiday traffic in the last six years! Almost three times as many as were killed at Pearl Harbor. Half as many as have died for America on the battlefields of Korea.

How many of these 8,936 people thought when they started out during the holiday that they would never come back? Not one!

This one was just driving around the block to get a morning paper. This one was taking his family to visit friends in Peoria. This one was merely crossing the street. Not one of them was purposely going out to get killed—NOT ONE!

So, you see, it could be you.

But here's the bright spot in the picture: it doesn't have to be you!

The National Safety Council, which has the grim responsibility for estimating these holiday tolls in advance, says you can make its estimates look silly by merely using a little extra caution, common sense and courtesy to offset the extra holiday traffic hazards. The Council says the toll could be cut in half, or even by two thirds, if you and I would make up our minds that, by golly, we aren't going to be one of those holiday traffic statistics.

It's just that simple. Instead of saying, "It couldn't be me," just say, "It won't be me!" Then act accordingly.

That's all there is to it.

Happy Fourth of July! See you on the Fifth!

From the SIDELINE
with HAROLD HUDSON

There's nothing wrong with this country that a three inch rain wouldn't cure, but if it doesn't rain pretty quick, it will take a four inch rain to do the job. Things would have been simplified if we had received a two inch rain a few weeks ago. The longer it goes dry, the more rain we'll need, that's for sure. There are some of the biggest, deepest dry-weather cracks in the fields that we have ever seen. It will take plenty of water to fill these.

We read the other day that there's one thing sure about the weather on the plains—it takes wind to make weather. The southwest wind is hard on the nerves, especially when it is kicking up dust with the temperature at the 100 degree mark. But the wind has to move about a half million cubic miles of dry air before we have any hope for moisture. And while it is moving the dry air, there is going to be some top soil moving with it.

Several people offered to wager us recently that there hasn't been six inches of rain here during the past twelve months, and now we wish we had had a little nerve and made us some money. Using Judge Jack Allen's official figures, it appears that 14.21 inches of rain have fallen since last June. Most of this has been in the form of showers, and we can't remember a general, soaking rain since June, 1951.

We are fortunate here in Perryton to have plenty of water, with no rationing of any kind contemplated. However, even with lots of city water poured on lawns and shrubs, it seems that things just don't do as well as they do with a little assistance from nature's rainwater. Must be minerals or vitamins or something in the natural kind. This dry weather has boosted consumption of city water to record figures and many a home owner will take a deep breath when he gets his water bill this month.

We sat in on the two-day telephone hearing at the courthouse, along with several spectators and a number of witnesses. The district courtroom is not air-conditioned and things got pretty dull when attorneys for both sides dug into the financial statements of the telephone company. Tempers were pretty even in spite of the hot courtroom and no one got mad except the lawyers and of course a good lawyer has to do a little acting now and then.

When district manager Jim Davis of the company was on the stand, it became obvious what a handicap the city council was under in deciding upon a fair telephone rate. While Davis was sent by his company to present the various financial statements to the council, he couldn't explain the various items at all. On the witness stand, he was excused by his attorney, who said that Davis wasn't qualified to interpret these financial statements and that was the reason the company auditor was present as a witness.

However, the company auditor wasn't present at the council meetings, therefore the council was just as much in the dark regarding the company financial statements as was district manager Davis. This worked a hardship on the council. Because each set of figures presented by the company was different, and no one was present to explain the difference, the council was of course left much in the dark.

Company auditor E. C. Brink was on the stand Saturday afternoon and stated that Darrouzett had 86 telephones served by the company. Attorney Max Boyer slipped out of the court room and came back with a current telephone book which listed 142 telephones at Darrouzett. After a brief pause and consulting some notes, Brink said the extra 62 phones were owned by other people and not the company. However, the company collects the revenue from them.

We sympathize with Judge Jack Allen in hearing a case of this kind. Having to wade through hours of dry testimony and being called upon to render a fair decision seems to us to be a pretty hard proposition.

Chesterfield has launched a king-size cigarette, identical in everything but length with the standard Chesterfield. The company is lauded in Tide, the advertising journal, for making a shrewd move. Seems that Camels, Luckies, Chesterfields and Philip Morris are all afraid king-size Pall Mall is moving up on them and the others are expected to put out a kingsize smoke in the future.

We note, however, that of the cigarette leaders, Pall Mall is running a long fifth, selling 32 billion cigarettes last year, compared with 103.2 billion for leader Camel, for example. We can't see the leaders getting too worried about the king-size jobs.

Saw the Blue Sox play twice this week and both games were well attended. Interest in baseball continues to grow and it appears that the new ball park will prove to be an excellent investment. The Sox have a good ball club, but this league is a fast one and they can't be expected to win 'em all.

The Walsh team that won over the Sox, 5-2 Sunday had four Knott brothers that were sensational. The pitcher, catcher, first baseman and third basemen were Knotts and that's about all they needed to win the game.

Glamor Gals Invade Italy

ROME (AP)—Glamor girls from many nations are invading the Italian motion picture industry.

Foreign film players find little difficulty in getting screen work, since there are few labor restrictions in the Italian film industry. Knowledge of the Italian language is not important in making films here since the final sound track is dubbed in by Italian-speaking actors.

Because the United States recently amended its income tax laws, which no longer require citizens living abroad for 18 months or more to file income tax statements, American film players have more take-home pay by working for less money in Italy.

Misses Valda Jean Davis, Janes Clark and Peggy Blanton, accompanied by Mrs. Mark Hamilton, are attending a Band Music festival at Lenders this week.

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher comes up with one of his laziest ideas this week.)

Dear editar:

For some time now I've had a rain gauge out here on Wolf Creek, since Christmas, in fact, when I happened to be in the Equity with a regular customer and slipped me out a rain gauge when the customer was getting the glad hand treatment, and it's a handy gadget, but there's one thing wrong with it.

After each rain, what few rains there have been, that is, you have to go out there and empty it, and a man with the problems of the world on his mind and already three years behind with his plowin ain't got time to do it.

What I want to know is why don't the government hire Rural Rain Gauge Emptiers, give each one a regular route, and take this burden off us farmers? You might say it's a small job, emptyin a rain gauge, any farmer ought to do it, but after you consider all the other things he has to do, it adds up. A man can go just so far and no further.

They said down at the Equity that they gave one to another farmer once and after a rain one time he was in the place and they asked him how much it measured and he said three inches, when everybody knew it hadn't rained near that much.

"Did you empty it after the previous rain?" he was asked, and he said naw, he didn't know he was supposed to.

Well, I got sense enough to know I'm supposed to empty the thing, but I also got sense enough to know I'll make better crops if I keep the weeds and grass out, just as I've got sense enough to know if I do the latter I'll have to work harder. Thinkin is a great thing but sometimes it just leads you in a circle and you get right back where you started from.

But back to these rain gauge emptiers. A lot of people say times are so good it's a hard proposition to find anybody who wants to work these days, but I've never seen a job remain unfilled very long if it had two drawin cards: good pay and little effort. I will be glad to help work up a route through this area for a

For top Grasshopper Kill at lowest cost per acre

YOU MUST USE aldrin

Here's Exactly Why:

Just two ounces of aldrin per acre give more than 90% kill within one day . . . for even the worst infestation. And aldrin keeps killing hoppers that arrive up to five days after aldrin-izing. No other insecticide gives such fast control at such low cost.

Since even a light infestation—6 hoppers per sq. yard—can reduce range grass by 50%, aldrin's hopper-killing power is essential to maximum beef production on range.

Make sure you get aldrin . . . America's No. 1 grasshopper killer.

Vegetables will bank the sides of the "field," and triangular panels at each side will reveal color photographs of Panhandle scenes.

The Story Book will be one of the 1952 fair's most spectacular exhibits. It will include colorful animated dioramas devoted to each of the 12 extension districts, plus displays telling of the work of Four-H clubbers and Negro Extension workers. Many of the "show window" type displays include live animals, growing plants, sound effects and clever mechanical figures.

A mammoth central exhibit will feature a huge map of Texas which shows the various soil areas of the state. The map is portrayed in phosphorescent paints that will glow dramatically when pinpointed by hidden spotlights. Bluebonnets, wheat, rice, sorghum and cotton will represent West Texas, and roses and pine trees will lend an East Texas flavor.

One of the many surprises of the 1952 Story Book will be the tiny "Tommy Texas" character, hovering above the central exhibit in a miniature helicopter. At intervals, "Tommy" will briefly tell the interesting story of Texas' two-billion-dollar agricultural empire.

Swindling Spree Ends

CALCUTTA (AP) — Red-faced Calcutta school officials have ended the 12-year spree of a swindler who talked his way into $4,200 nobody missed.

At least the pilfered cash went unnoticed for years while the 35-year-old man skipped from job to job in the local educational system. The smart-looking Hindu, who speaks excellent, fluent English, kept a step ahead of suspicion, until May.

He didn't even have the high school, college or post-graduate degrees he flaunted — forged — before school officials and actually never reached eighth grade.

He always showed keen interest in "administrative" work in schools, "that kept him near the cash box," one police officer commented.

Seventh Inning Stretch Goes Back to 1886

How did the seventh-inning stretch originate in baseball? It's not of any great consequence and the world will go on without the answer, but for those who deal in "how it began" it's an intriguing question.

Even the baseball powers do not know exactly.

Commissioner Ford Frick's office says the generally accepted origin is that the late President Howard Taft, while attending a big league game, got up to stretch his legs in the seventh inning. Everybody else followed suit.

Dave Grote, manager of the National League service bureau, gives two versions.

1. During a game between Providence and Boston in 1884—or 1886—for some unknown reason, the fans decided to rise and stretch at that particular point of the contest. The newspapers commented on it and it grew to be a habit in Providence and was picked up from there.

2. A newspaper clipping says the seventh-inning stretch originated during a game in Pittsburgh (the year not mentioned) when President Taft decided to take a stretch. The clipping says: "Thinking the chief executive was about to leave the ball park, the fans stood out of respect. Then, when it was discovered that Taft was only stretching, baseball fans took up the idea and since that time it has been customary for the spectators to rise and stretch before the home team goes to bat in the seventh inning." Btu this clipping said other accounts differed as to the origin of the stretch.

That's as close as can be gotten on why you rise and take a stretch in the middle of the seventh inning. But, like the Texas Leaguer and other terms and customs in baseball, it just goes on and on without anybody knowing the origin. For that matter, nobody worries much about it.

Wants Eastern Congressmen to Attend Sessions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas members of Congress, along with other distant members, have a bone to pick with Eastern colleagues—over their absenteeism.

Some two-thirds of the 435 members of the House live in a few hours' traveling time from Washington by train or automobile. Airlines fly to Philadelphia in 48 minutes and New York in 72 minutes.

This has resulted in what is known as the "Tuesday-Thursday" club of legislators who go home for long week ends and are actually here for business only the three middle days of the week. All don't do it every week, but enough of them are absent with such frequency that the work of the House is slowed considerably.

Rep. W. R. (Bob) Poage of Waco says: "They inevitably tend to stay home over Monday, and sometimes Tuesday. As the session wears on, this practice gets worse. When we do finally get to the measures which have accumulated, we act on them without sufficient deliberation.

"The result is that those of us who live a distance from Washington are put to a great disadvantage. We, too, feel that we should be able to get home, but we can't do so over a week end."

Poage says many Eastern members supplement their congressional salaries by practicing law or engaging in other business while home on extended week ends.

When the United States Military Academy first opened in 1802 it had 12 cadets.

James Stewart Is 'Carbine Williams' In True Story

James Stewart has a gripping role as "Carbine Williams," the new picture which comes to the Ellis Theatre on Tuesday-Thursday, July 8-10, portraying the life story of a convict who designed a gun that shaped history.

Prison is not usually considered the ideal place in which to invent a gun, nor do prison wardens usually allow their charges to engage in such questionable activity. Nonetheless, that is exactly what happens when Marsh Williams is accused of murder and is forced to serve eight years in prison. Unbroken by servitude with a brutal chain gang, Marsh eventually wins the support of Captain Peoples, warden of the Caledonia Work Camp, and is instrumental in the invention of the U. S. 30-mi. carbine developed by Winchester, the first carbine to be adopted by the U. S. Army in forty years and the rifle which General Douglas MacArthur declared one of the strongest contributing factors to the American victory in the Pacific.

James Stewart brings the characterization of Marsh Williams to life in a masterful piece of acting which traces the career of this rugged individualist from his youth, when he joined the Navy rather than work on his father's North Carolina cotton farm; his return to marry his childhood sweetheart, Maggie; his subsequent involvement with the operation of illicit "moonshine whiskey" stills, and the battle with the Revenue men in which a man is murdered and the guilt pinned on Marsh. The scenes of his prison life and his relationship with Warden Peoples and the suspense-packed episodes in which he proves that the revolutionary rifle which he has made will work are unfolded with a gripping dramatic intensity, in which Stewart again reveals himself to be one of the finest actors on the American screen.

Clarendon Rodeo To Open Today

CLARENDON, (Special)—Over two thousand dollars in Rodeo prize money, a handsome handmade saddle and shop made cowboy boots is proving very attractive to the rodeo performers of the amature circuit and surrounding ranches as can already be judged by the entries that have been received for the big three day celebration to be held in Clarendon on July 3rd, 4th and 5th.

Sixteen beeves will be served in the free barbeque on the courthouse lawn at 11:30 on the morning of the Fourth. Free barbeque and rodeos are traditional with the Clarendon celebrations and this year is no exception. H. M. "Flip" Breedlove, Donley County Agent is in charge of the barbequing which will be served with all the trimmings.

Other attractions are the dances each night at the American Legion Hall with Emmett Allen and his Sunset Ramblers, the Old Settlers get-together and the matched horse races on the afternoon of the fifth.

Riding Trails Sought

LA CANADA, Calif. (AP)—Many Southern California horsemen, led by Harold Beere, an insurance executive, are working to establish a riding and hiking trail from Oregon to Mexico.

They admit the long trail is still in the dream stage but are actively campaigning for 450 miles of bridle paths in Los Angeles County.

Beere appeared before the California Riding and Hiking Trails advisory committee recently to seek appropriations to build watering troughs on state bridle paths.

In announcing the relaxation, the official press said the restrictions went into effect after the war for "general security."

Veterans Forum

Q. I am a World War I veteran drawing Civil Service retirement pay. Must I include this money in figuring out whether my total yearly income is below the ceiling for getting a pension for a total nonservice-connected disability?

A. Civil Service retirement payments count as income only until you have received the full amount you have contributed under the program. After that, the retirement payments are not considered, in computing income for pension purposes.

Q. Are there any cases in which a GI loan guarantee can be restored to a veteran's credit?

A. Yes, under the following conditions: If the property is destroyed by fire or other natural hazard; if it has been taken over for public use by the Federal or local government, or if it must be disposed of because of other compelling reasons such as change of employment or illness, not the fault of the veteran. VA, however, must be free from liability on the original loan.

Q. I've been training under the GI Bill, and I had to interrupt my training to enter a hospital. I expect to be hospitalized for a long time. Is there any limit on the length of such an interruption, which is beyond my control, under VA's post-cut-off-date regulations?

A. No. There is no limit on the length of an interruption beyond your control. You will be permitted to resume training within a reasonable time after you leave the hospital.

No Allotment For Wheat Next Year

WASHINGTON — Wheat farmers planning next year's plantings won't be restricted by federal acreage allotments and marketing quotas.

Although wheat production this year has been so large that the Agriculture Department probably could clamp down on next year's crop, Secretary Charles F. Brannan announced Thursday that he won't use his statutory powers and that farmers will have a free rein.

The "national emergency," Brannan said, requires sufficient production to meet "unpredictable situations" at home and to fill the ever-great demands of foreign nations.

But next month, when official goals for the 1953 wheat crop will be set, the department will let farmers know just what it thinks is "sufficient production." Indications are that it will set a goal somewhat smaller than the actual 1952 crop, which is expected to be near-record in size. Indirectly, therefore the department will encourage wheat farmers to control themselves.

There won't be any direct controls, Brannan said, in view of the national emergency and the need to maintain reserve supplies of wheat sufficiently large to meet unpredictable situations which may develop during a continuation of the emergency."

In a pinch, Brannan said a backlog of wheat can be substituted for other grains in short supply. He said that during World War II about 275 million bushels of wheat were used industrially, principally for making synthetic rubber. When field crops were short, he said one billion more bushels than usual went for livestock feeding.

Blue Sox Win Over Hooker

The Blue Sox squeezed out a 7-6 win over the Hooker Cardinals Saturday night in a Tri-State League game, with pitcher Bob Dear holding the talented visitors to nine well-scattered hits.

Hooker forged to a 2-1 lead in the sixth inning of the tight, well-played game, but the Sox went ahead, 3-2 in their half of the sixth.

A big eighth inning put the Sox out front, 7-3, but Hooker gave the locals quite a scare in the ninth when they brought in three runs before the third out was made.

Tex Flanagan, star Hooker pitcher, was relieved in the eighth by Hamilton, although Flanagan had given up only five hits at that time.

Feature of the game was a home run over the center field fence by first baseman Dan Faries with Clyde Israel aboard.

Bob Dear, winning pitcher, struck out ten men and walked four.

Walsh Wallops Blue Sox, 5-2

The visiting Walsh, Colo., team broke up a tie game in the seventh inning and went home with a 5-2 decision over the Blue Sox Sunday afternoon at the local park.

The game was tied, 2-2, until the seventh, when Dillon, Godfrey and Cook scored the winning three runs. The Sox filled the bases in the ninth, but tight fielding choked off any run for the locals.

Walsh brought four Knott brothers who provided most of the margin of victory. They had R. Knott pitching, G. Knott catching, J. Knott on first base and L. Knott on third.

R. Knott gave up six hits, while Dan Faries of the Sox gave up only seven.

SPORTS AFIELD

By Ted Kesting

The sportsman about to buy a binocular is faced with some tough questions: How much should I pay? What power should I get? Do I want a binocular, monocular, telescope or spotting scope? What do I look for? Now I am not an expert on optics, but here is an attempt to answer some of these questions.

The first confusing thing is the wide range in prices. You'll find two binoculars apparently identical but one will be marked at $49.50 and the other at $180. But you can also buy a watch for $10 or $100. The price is decided by: 1. Where they were made. 2. What workmanship and material went into their making. 3. What they will do for you.

Good binoculars are made in Europe, particularly Germany and France, in the U. S. and in Japan. And poor binoculars are also made in Germany, France, the U. S. and Japan. Workmanship and materials are the determining factor. The grinding of lenses is an art; cheap lenses and poor prisms mean an inferior binocular, no matter how it resembles a good one externally.

When it comes to coated lenses versus uncoated ones, I throw in the sponge. I have been assured by optical authorities that it absolutely does nothing to achieve the effect desired and I have been assured by optical authorities that it absolutely does improve the transmission of light to the eye. You take your choice.

Some binoculars focus with a wheel in the center of the frame and some with individual focusing devices on the eyepieces. Briefly, the center focus is easier and quicker, but the individual eye focus will last longer and possibly give sharper definition.

In choosing power, pay attention only to the 7X or whatever it might be and not to the second numeral which refers to the diameter of the objectice lens in millimeters and only indicates its light-gathering capacity. Newcomers to optics often make the mistake of buying the strongest glasses they can get, such as an 18X50, then wishing they hadn't. There is a use for such high-powered glasses, but it does not lie in the general outdoor field.

According to Bill Wolf, well known outdoor writer, the average sportsman probably will find his most useful binoculars are the standard 7X35, the wide-angle 7X, 35 or the 7X50. The last is the best of all for night work or when the light is dim.

HOME RUN HITTER—Dan Faries, left, Blue Sox pitcher and first baseman, is given a hand by [illegible] mates Saturday night after parking one over the fence with Clyde Israel on base to help the Sox [illegible] 7-6 win over the Hooker Cardinals. Other Sox in the picture are Lynn Hulsey, Dudley Hargrove, Gibson and Bob Dear.
