Two New Invasions Mark Pacific Gains

Aussies Land On Borneo, Japs Are Trapped In Burma

By RAY CRONIN
Associated Press War Editor

THE Pacific war moved at lightning speed today with Allied military might being thrown against the Japanese in two new invasions while American forces registered important gains on widely separated island fronts.

Official reports recited these events:

Veteran Australian troops were on Borneo, one of Japan's richest conquest prizes.

British forces invaded the Rangoon sector of Burma and trapped a Japanese Army.

Push To Edge Of Davao

American doughboys pushed to the edge of Davao, strategic port city in the southeast Philippines.

Doughboys and Marines on bloody Okinawa slugged ahead against furious Japanese resistance.

U. S. Pacific fleet submarines bagged 21 more Japanese ships.

The invasion of Borneo by Australian troops and the drive of American troops on Davao City were reported in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique. The Borneo operation was reported previously by Australian and Japanese sources.

Terrific Naval Shelling

A veteran Aussie division — battle-hardened in New Guinea and the Middle East—struck near Lingkas, two miles east of the airport on Tarakan island, great oil shipping center immediately off Borneo's northeast coast. The amphibious forces landed after terrific shelling by American and Australian warships and aerial blastings. The pre-invasion naval bombardment lasted four days.

The beachhead was speedily established and the Aussies plunged inland toward the airport and Lingkas town. The Japanese failed to organize effective opposition on the beaches and there was no air or naval resistance.

General MacArthur said the invasion of this oil and rubber-rich territory "virtually severs the enemy's holdings in the south" and isolates his garrisons in that region.

Argentine Parley Plan Draws Fire

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, May 2. — Latin American desires to give Argentina an official post in the United Nations conference ran tonight into dead set opposition from the United States.

United States delegates, it was learned, have taken the stand that the South American neighbor, a late entry into the war, ought to prove she can be a "good neighbor" before she gets anything more than bare admission to the conference.

Soviet And Voting Formula

The U. S. stand became evident while Russia was throwing her support toward a voting formula which would prevent a bloc of 21 American republics (including Argentina) from swaying conference decisions.

The Big 3 leaders—Secretary of State Stettinius, Foreign Minister Eden of Britain and Soviet Commissar Molotov—met for an hour and three quarters today and it was reported that voting procedure was one of the problems before them.

And, while delegates listened to a last round of formal speeches in the Opera house before tackling the real work of cutting a pattern for a peaceful world, there were these additional developments:

1. Labor leaders from the United States, Britain, France and Russia asked formally that they be allowed to sit in on the conference as consultants.

French Plan For Islands

2. Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said France was agreeable to setting up a chain of internationally-controlled bases but that she won't put Indo-China or such of her Pacific islands as New Caledonia and Noumea under international guardianship.

On the question of bases, several members of the American delegation are insisting that key islands captured from Japan remain under tight United States control.

The only officer's job still vacant in the conference's working divisions is that of rapporteur for a commission which will consider a world court. Some South American countries want Argentina to have it.

Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov, who fought against letting Argentina into the conference at this time, probably will counter with a proposal that it be left open for Poland.

Some American delegates were as hesitant as the Russians to open the conference door to Argentina

War Nearing End Despite Doenitz' Cry

By ALEX SINGLETON
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 2.—The war in Europe moved toward a close tonight despite the "fight on" battle cry of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, new fuehrer of the Third Reich.

Hitler had been reported dead but his body not yet produced for the Allies; Berlin had fallen; a German Army of nearly 1,000,000 men had surrendered unconditionally in northern Italy and southwestern Austria; topflight Nazi commanders, including Field Marshal Karl Rudolf Gerdivon Rundstedt, were prisoners; what was left of Germany was in chaos; notorious Vichy figures such as Pierre Laval had fled to Spain, refused to leave, and were interned by the Spaniards.

Pledges Of Support

But Doenitz won pledges of support for continuing the war from commanders in Norway, Denmark and the southern section of the Eastern front as he seized control of Germany's military and diplomatic machinery.

A German officer captured by Canadian forces declared that Doenitz had ordered all German troops facing the Western Allies to cease fighting and withdraw to the east to oppose the Russians, but there was no confirmation of the report.

One of the new fuehrer's first acts, the Hamburg radio said, was to dismiss Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and replace the former champagne salesman with Count Ludwig Schwerin von Krosigk, former Rhodes scholar who served as finance minister throughout the Hitler regime and was a large factor in German preparations for launching and sustaining the war.

Plans Are In Doubt

Beyond Doenitz' belligerent statement upon assuming command, there was no definite indication whether he would swing to immediate peace or to continued resistance, but after his first day's reign as Hitler's successor there developed a strong belief in London that Germany's end would come through disintegration rather than by negotiation.

High quarters in London discounted the chance that even Doenitz' discipline could long prolong resistance in a Germany already torn to shreds, its party heirarchy apparently crumbled, its military machine beaten and bewildered, and its people hungry and disillusioned.

War Said Senseless

Marshal von Rundstedt, captured in Bavaria, told American Seventh Army officers it was senseless for Germany to continue the war. Lt. Gen. Kurt Dittmar, top-notch German military commentator who voluntarily surrendered to the Americans a week ago, repeated today his prediction that the European war would be over in a few days. Dittmar said it was "conceivable" that Doenitz had done away with Himmler before announcing himself as Hitler's successor.

Opinion in London was divided into two camps on the long-range results of Doenitz' unexpected ascendancy to No. 1 man of the Third Reich:

1. That the British-hating sub-

Germany Split Into Pockets, Bottom Falls From Redoubt

By ROBERT EUNSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Thursday, May 3—The vaunted Nazi southern redoubt vanished yesterday in a German surrender to Allied forces in Italy, but Gen. Eisenhower commanded his Western front armies to fight on south until the last ember of enemy resistance is snuffed out.

Simultaneously, the northern pocket was split into three segments by a British drive to the Baltic that overwhelmed the port of Luebeck—where Himmler tried to sue for peace—and by an American junction with the Russians on the Elbe 60 miles northwest of fallen Berlin.

A field dispatch declared the will to fight had gone out of the German armies of the north, and that the end of fighting might come in hours or at the most in days in the opinion of Allied commanders.

The abrupt capitulation by the German command in northern Italy and western Austria wiped out all the so-called Nazi "national redoubt" with the exception of one corner of Bavaria, and this was under assault by both the U. S. Third and Seventh armies.

Continue Mopping-Up

A supreme headquarters spokesman said Eisenhower's forces would keep right on mopping-up through Bavaria—which was not included in the German surrender—and the Austrian provinces of the Tyrol and Salzburg—which were surrendered and which formed the mountainous backbone of the redoubt.

German resistance in front of the British evaporated. The 11th Armored division captured Luebeck, which sealed off occupied Denmark from Germany, without opposition. Only a few divisions were believed still in Denmark.

The British roared north through a snarl of enemy transport and German troops clamoring to surrender. All their fight was gone.

Wismar Captured

Airborne forces to the east captured Wismar, only 29 miles from the Russians at Rostock.

(Blue network monitors heard BBC broadcasting what it said was a supreme headquarters message that the British were nearing Rostock.)

The U. S. 82nd Airborne division on the right flank marched unopposed southeast to Domitz, giving the Allies control of both sides of the Elbe for a distance of 50 miles east of Hamburg.

The French First Army on the Atlantic front accepted the surrender of the German garrison on Ile D'Oleron, opening the port of Bordeaux for food for hungry France.

Surrender In Italy Exposes Hideout

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, May 2 — The German and Italian Fascist armies of Col. Gen. Heinrich von Vietinghoff-Scheel in northern Italy and western Austria, numbering nearly 1,000,000 men, surrendered unconditionally today to the Allies, opening the way for an unhindered Allied march through an extensive part of the Nazi mountain redoubt within 10 miles of Berchtesgaden.

The surrender documents, ending the bloody twenty-month Italian campaign, were signed Sunday at the royal palace at Caserta, near Naples, and became effective at 12-noon (7 a. m., central war time) today.

Two German plenipotentiaries signed for Germany in the presence of American, British and Russian officers.

Approximately 20,000 square miles of German-held territory including all of northern Italy to the Isonzo river in the northeast and the Austrian provinces of Vorarlberg, Tyrol, Salzburg and parts of Carinthia and Styria were surrendered to the Allies.

The action not only uncovers the southern approaches to Germany but lops off the southwestern end of the so-called German "national redoubt" and turns the right flank of Col. Gen. von Lehr, commanding enemy troops in the Trieste area and northern Yugoslavia. New Zealand troops of the British Eighth Army and forces of Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Army already have joined 14 miles northwest of Trieste which has been occupied by the Yugoslavs.

Other Side Of World

Even before the official announcement was made public German radios were heard broadcasting the surrender order to the few Nazi troops still holding out in Italy or fleeing for their lives toward Austria. But even as the sirens screamed and jubilant celebrations were started a grim warning of the bitter fighting that still was ahead on the other side of the world was sounded by Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, commander of American forces in the Mediterranean, who said that not "until the last foe—Japan—is crushed" will "freedom loving men and women be able to enjoy lasting peace."

It was rumored in Rome tonight

Truman Sets Up Spending Slash

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP) — President Truman today recommended a 10 per cent slash in war spending and pledged further economies as the military situation improves.

The executive proposed a $7,365,000,000 cutback in shipbuilding and an $80,000,000 reduction in eight war agency budgets. In addition, he abolished the Office of Civilian Defense.

Mr. Truman said he was impelled by "favorable progress of the war." He sent his recommendations to Congress with the advice that all federal activities "will be continually reviewed to achieve economies where they will not interfere with the prosecution of the war."

Applies To 1946 Budget

The reductions would be applied to the 1946 budget, last submitted by Franklin D. Roosevelt. As it stands now, the budget calls for approximately $70,000,000,000 for war expenditures and $13,103,000,000 for normal functions.

The President was commended immediately by Senator Butler (R-Neb) "for taking the initial step in cutting expenditures which appear unnecessary."

Senator McKellar (D-Tenn), acting chairman of the Senate Appropriations committee said: "We'll do everything in the world

Goebbels And Krebs Also Among Slain

By ROMNEY WHEELER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Thursday, May 3. — Berlin, greatest city of the European continent, fell yesterday afternoon to the Russians, who quoted a high prisoner as declaring that Adolf Hitler had committed suicide along with Propaganda Minister Goebbels as the capital of the blood-drenched Nazi empire tumbled around them.

Also reported dead by his own hand was Hitler's new general staff chief, an infantry general named Krebs, as 70,000 German troops laid down their arms in the surrender which Hitler had said never would come.

12 Days Of Fighting

The Soviet triumph after 12 days of history's deadliest street fighting, was announced last night by Premier Stalin in an order of the day and in the Soviet communique broadcast from Moscow this morning.

The Soviet communique stated that among the captives taken was Dr. Hans Fritsche, Goebbels' chief deputy in the Nazi ministry of press and propaganda, and that Fritsche told his Russian interrogators that Hitler, Goebbels and General Krebs all had committed suicide.

Not a single additional detail was supplied by the communique, which carried the startling announcement deep in the body of its text.

Only Wednesday the Moscow radio had ridiculed the German account of Hitler's "Hero's death" in Berlin, saying it was "a Fascist trick" to give him a chance to escape underground.

Some Credence Indicated

Today, Moscow officially carried the suicide report, indicating that it was at least given some credence.

There was no word of a search for the bodies, but it was a certainty that the Russians literally would leave no stone unturned in all the junk-heap that is the German capital in an effort to verify that Hitler actually was dead and, if so, how he died.

For or against Fritsche's credibility as a witness, there was the fact that on the very day the Russians broke into Berlin—April 21 — he had broadcast the first report that Hitler and Goebbels were there and that Hitler per-

Truman 'Knows' Hitler Is Dead

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP) — President Truman declared today that he knows officially that Adolf Hitler is dead, and Moscow quoted a high Nazi official as stating that the fuehrer committed suicide.

The Soviet official communique said that Dr. Hans Fritsche, first Nazi deputy for propaganda, had told the Russians in fallen Berlin that Hitler, Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels and the German general staff chief, Gen. Krebs, had died by their own hands.

Knows He Is Dead

At a news conference, President Truman was asked if "we know officially that Hitler is dead." He answered yes, and later explained that he had it on the best authority possible to obtain at this time.

How he died is not known here, the President continued. But he declared he was glad that both der fuehrer and Mussolini are out of the way.

They won't have to be put on trial, he said, but there are other war criminals who must be brought to justice.

To that end, he appointed Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson as this country's chief counsel for such prosecution in the European theater. Jackson already has gathered a staff together.

Jackson's Functions

The President said Justice Jackson will function in those cases of major war criminals whose misdeeds are not connected with any one specific locality. Others, who can be connected with a personal hand in specific crimes are to be tried by countries where the crimes

Counter-Proposal To Himmler Unanswered

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP) — Heinrich Himmler last week attempted to surrender Germany conditionally—that is to the Western powers only—but has given no reply to the British-American dictum that such a surrender must be made to Russia as well.

President Truman told his news conference today that no reply had been received from the Germans following refusal of the United States and Great Britain to accept the original Nazi offer to surrender "unconditionally" to them —but not Russia.

Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew earlier had made public a summary of the surrender offer.

Asked whether negotiatons had broken down, the President told reporters today he could not answer that.

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP) — Frank C. Walker has resigned as postmaster general and Robert E. Hannegan, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has been named to succeed him effective July 1.

President Truman announced Walker's resignation at a news conference and said he had accepted it grudgingly.

Gilkey Fine For Abusive Language Opens Police 'Kick Back' Campaign On Abuse

A. S. GILKEY, 52, of Lubbock, appeared before City Recorder Solon Lea Wednesday.

He had been arrested for drunkenness the day before, in 700-block Broadway, by three city patrolmen. They, and others in the police station where he was taken, said the peg-legged man who in other years had been charged here with drunkenness and with disturbance villified them, called them opprobrious names.

"Mr. Gilkey, you are charged with the offense of drunkenness," Lea said. "How do you wish to enter your plea?"

"Guilty," the prisoner said.

"Your fine will be $15," Lea said, and the prisoner started to walk away.

"You also are charged with the offense of use of violently abusive language toward an officer," Lee recited. "How do you wish to enter your plea?"

The man hesitated, then said he was "sorry" about what had prompted that charge, then:

"I'll plead guilty."

"Your fine will be $50," Lea said.

Thus was initiated what may turn into a legal recourse individual police may employ against what newsmen have recognized as a recent increase among those under arrest in name-calling and generally abusive language.

Gilkey was remanded to jail in lieu of fine. He had not satisfied the assessment late Wednesday.

Policeman Bill Lamb swore to the complaint. He and the other police officers said Gilkey explained he had employed an attorney; that he had paid the lawyer a fee; that he would not pay the city of Lubbock a cent; and that he "begged" the police to "hit me; you know what the city commission said . . ."

He referred to recent conferences of the city commission and police and insistence of the commission that utmost courtesy consistent with official duties in making arrests of law violators be practiced.

Policemen figuring in the Gilkey incident said the man's language was "of the sort the man on the street wouldn't think of taking."

There were expressions of several police patrolmen who were not concerned in the Gilkey arrest, evidencing their intention of following Lamb's precedent in charging persons who use abusive language when under arrest.

Recorder Lea could have fined Gilkey $100 for drunkenness and $100 for the abusive language charge—$200 rather than the $65 assessed.

Doenitz, Former Asylum Inmate, Backs Ruthless Warfare Methods

By W. R. HIGGINBOTHAM
United Press Staff Writer

LONDON, May 2. — Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, self-announced successor to Adolf Hitler as Nazi overlord of dying Germany, ended the last war as an inmate of a British insane asylum and emerged in this one with the fanatical credo "kill! kill! kill!"

Doenitz scuttled and abandoned the submarine he commanded during a battle in the Mediterranean in October, 1918. Then he surrendered to the British.

Taken to England, he was committed to the Manchester insane asylum. Some who knew him said he feigned insanity. But he later was repatriated to Germany as insane.

Ruthless Warfare

In this war, Doenitz sent his U-boat crews into battle with the cry:

"Kill! Kill! Kill! That is your duty to the fatherland and der fuehrer. Have no humanity in your labor. Humanity means weakness."

His record shows no signs of humanity and few of weakness. Most of his 53 years have been devoted to the art of killing. It was he who ordered U-boat crews to strafe the survivors of torpedoed ships as they tried to escape in lifeboats.

Doenitz is a Navy man who hates ships, and his whole life has been centered on means of sinking them. His ruthlessness brought him quick favor from Hitler, who raised him from commodore to grand admiral in four years.

Small And Mean

Doenitz is a small, mean man with a tight jaw and a close-set, shrewd eyes. He has close-cropped hair, a severe mouth, long nose, and over-hanging eyebrows.

Although he never was known particularly as an ardent Nazi, Doenitz has served their cause well. His last known public statement of prominence was on the occasion of the attempt on Hitler's life last July. Doenitz condemned the plotters as "a small clique of mad generals who would be ruthlessly destroyed."

Doenitz rated as one of the great German heroes of this war in the eyes of the German people because of the U-boat campaign against Allied shipping. Even when his submarines weren't doing very well, the Germans never knew that for the Nazi high command communique still told of one success after another for them.

The new Nazi master ultimately suffered defeat in his attempts to blockade Britain by cutting the lifelines across the Atlantic. But he came perilously close to success sometimes, and the battle against the U-boats was one of the toughest the Allies ever fought.

Doenitz invented the wolf-pack method of U-boat warfare, teaching his submarine skippers to travel in pairs or packs in their attacks against Allied convoys. He developed many new devices for submarines, including the long-range radio communication by which he directed their activities from his headquarters in France.

Doenitz was given charge of the German Navy's submarine service in 1935, when Germany's rearmament was still under cover. Under his supervision submarines were built in parts and packed in crates, ready to be assembled when the Versailles treaty finally was flouted openly.

Replaced Raeder in 1943

He became commander-in-chief of the German Navy in 1943, after a battle with the man he replaced, Grand Admiral Erich Raeder. Oddly enough, Doenitz protested against Gestapo and storm trooper activities at U-boat bases.

Doenitz also accused Raeder of falsifying the reports of Allied sinkings, a practice that did not noticeably cease when he took over.

Doenitz was born in the Baltic province of Mecklenberg in 1892, the son of an engineer. He entered the Navy as an ensign when he was 18.

It was Raeder, the man whose job he ultimately stole away, who persuaded Doenitz to remain in the Navy after the war. He became a U-boat group commander at 35, and reached the rank of captain in 1939. After a brief term as commodore he became a rear admiral the same year. He was made a grand admiral when he became commander-in-chief.

Doenitz has lost two sons in this war. The elder, Eklus, was killed when a British destroyer attacked a German motor torpedo boat in May, 1944. Peter, the younger, was an officer aboard one of his father's U-moats. He was killed in March of last year in the Atlantic.

Over Doentiz' desk at his headquarters in Kiel hung the picture of Admiral Tirpitz, German naval commander in the first World war and like himself a past master at sea war without rules. An inscription on the Tirpitz picture says "die tat is alles"—"the acting is everything."

Just before this war began a German submarine reportedly was detected in the English harbor of Portland. A British destroyer dropped depth charges, and the U-boat surfaced. The commander apologized for being out of bounds. The Admiralty later learned Doenitz also was aboard. He was hiding in the torpedo room.

Flying on one of the first Philippine-based fighter sweeps of northern Borneo was Lt. Walter A. Moeller of Muleshoe, Tex. Lt. Moeller flies with the 13th AAF fighter command's top ranking Sunsetters P-38 Lightning unit.

The three Sunsetters making the sweep met no Japanese aerial opposition on the long flight and shot up Jap shipping and land targets at will.

Near Sandakan on Borneo the three fighters strafed and damaged a large sailboat. Buildings along the shore, occupied by the Japanese, were strafed and damaged and a large station bus, loaded with supplies, was strafed and left in flames.

Near Tawao, also on northern Borneo, a black sedan was blown apart by Lt. Moeller and his flight mates.

"When I came in for my pass at the sedan," reported one of the Sunsetters, "the driver was just standing off to one side gawking at the proceedings. I guess he was so surprised at what was going on that he didn't know the score."

Notorious Convicts Face Federal Charge

HOUSTON, May 2 (AP) — T. N. (Pete) Norris and John F. Box, jr., notorious convicts who escaped from Retrieve state prison farm Feb. 27, will appear before Federal District Judge T. M. Kennerly here Friday to face federal indictments of robbery and interfering with a federal officer.

The federal charges grew out of the kidnaping of federal game warden Frank Clarkson of Houston and the theft of his car to facilitate the convicts' flight from the farm.

Four Houstonians, two of them Catholic priests, have been indicted by the Harris county grand jury for aiding Norris and Box to escape. The priests, Fathers Hugh Finnegan and Harond Seitters, allegedly provided the convicts with clothing to prevent their detection by pursuing lawmen.

Truman Statements On OPA Bring First Disharmony With Congress

WASHINGTON, May 2. (U.P) — Legislators agreed with President Truman today that price control must be extended for at least another year. But the glow was off the honeymoon.

For the first time in the 20-day-old administration there was disharmony between the White House and Capitol Hill. Mr. Truman brought it on by praising OPA and its chief, Chester Bowles.

Program Praised

The president in a statement yesterday termed the price control and stabilization program "one of the most remarkable achievements of the war." He said OPA had been "well-administered" by Bowles and added that "irresponsible criticism should not be permitted to break the confidence of the people in an essential wartime program."

Sen. Robert A. Taft, R., O., told reporters the president's "indiscriminate praise of the OPA has removed the possibility of a unanimous report" on the price control bill from the Senate banking committee, of which he is a member.

He added that he "certainly will join in a sweeping condemnation of many OPA practices which in my opinion are contrary to the law and have caused injustice and serious maladjustment of the supply of food and other products."

Sen. Hugh Butler, R., Neb., declared, "My report to the president is that we are winning this war because the government encouraged production of war materials and not because of the OPA's effort to hold down farm prices."

Wheeler Gives Statement

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., said he agreed that without price control there would have been runaway inflation but asserted that OPA has driven legitimate merchants out of business and created a black market in meat that in many cities is equal to the bootlegging in liquor just before the breakdown of prohibition.

Butler and Wheeler renewed their demand for a food "czar."

An olive branch was held out by a third outstanding Republican critic of OPA, who didn't want his name used, and who said he hadn't changed his mind but "Mr. Truman seems to want to cooperate with Congress so why not lay off?"

In the House, the immediate reaction to Mr. Truman's statement was less violent. Both banking committee chairmen Brent Spence, D., Ky., and Rep. Jesse Wolcott, R., Mich., its ranking Republican agreed that the price control act will have to be extended another year.

Wolcott made it clear however, that he was making no blanket endorsement of OPA policies.

HE'S PROBABLY RIGHT

LONDON, May 2 (AP) — Count Lutz Schwerin-Krosick, new Nazi foreign minister, declared tonight in a broadcast tirade against "Bolshevism" that Germany still faced "the heaviest trial of the war."

Former Hockley Agent Listed As One Of 20 Who Fed France

One of the "Twenty Who Fed a Nation," as listed in the May issue of Reader's Digest, is S. A. Debnam, former county agent of Hockley county and resident of Levelland and later of Dawson and Midland counties.

Debnam, now an Army captain, was one of five men who landed in France a few weeks after D-Day with the job of seeing that Paris and the nation were fed. "Five men and an automobile—and a nation to feed," the Reader's Digest article stated. "To any but these hardhearted Americans, the notion would have been preposterous. What railroads existed were b g used by the Army. The agents were also barred from the main highways and were told to forage for their own trucks and to enlist the local population for labor.

"Each of 15 other farmers in uniform was to take over a designated area as soon as the troops overran it. These men, whose knowledge of French was meager, were left to tackle a stupefied and often suspicious country. They had nothing to work with in the beginning except their ability to convince people that they came unselfishly for the good of France."

The story went on to tell of "Sticky Steve Debnam of Texas," who was sent to Coutances and enlisted work of the people in erecting a tower so that power for flour mills and creameries could be resumed. He said he would get the coal to provide power, if the tower was built, and he did. Others in the group worked as Debnam did and "France, thanks to their help, has been fed," the article stated.

Leader of the group was Lt. Col. Bruce W. McDaniel, former operator of 31 associations of orange growers in California and a director in the National Cooperative council. The Reader's Digest article was condensed from one in the Farm Journal, by George Kent.

In tribute to Debnam, a poster bearing his name is to be carried in the May pageant to be presented in Levelland Friday night. According to information from Levelland, Debnam plans to stay in Germany after the war and his family is to join him there. "Soil conservation will be his main work," according to the Levelland announcement. Debnam's wife and children are to attend the pageant in Levelland.

Provisions For Vets Outlined

Some of the requirements of Title 5 of the Readjustment Allowance act have been outlined by H. W. Richardson, of the Texas Unemployment Compensation commission, which has been designated to administer the phase of the act referring to unemployment or supplementing small incomes of veterans.

"The law sets up very specifically that for one to be eligible to draw benefits, he must be able and available for work at the time of filing his application and initial claim," it was announced. "The law sets forth for one who is totally unemployed or part time employed, that he may receive $20 a week provided he has served 90 days since Sept. 16, 1940, or has been discharged because of a disability incurred while in service for a period less than 90 days. The law is specific in that the discharge must be other than dishonorable. The law goes further and states that after one has filed his application and initial claim and he is overtaken by illness or accident while this claim series is in effect, that the veteran will receive compensation while disabled, if he contacts the representative of the commission so as to file his claims."

Refer To Weekly Pay

Those requirements refer to the person paid on weekly basis.

A full time self-employed veteran also may draw compensation and that type claim is filed on monthly basis and the Veterans administration pays up to a maximum of $100 a month. The veteran must have a discharge other than dishonorable and make a report on his income and expense of operating business. The claim must be filed by the 20th of the month following that for which claim is filed. "This type of claim takes care of the small business man, farmer or any other type of veteran whose income is small," Richardson announced.

Veterans may see Richardson at 1207 Thirteenth.

Over Thousand Nazi Vehicles Destroyed

LONDON, May 2 (AP)—RAF warplanes destroyed or damaged 1,207 German vehicles on the jammed roads between Berlin and Luebeck yesterday and today. Pilots reported huge concentrations of Nazi transport fleeing northwestward from the Russians.

The 932 German vehicles knocked out yesterday gave the RAF its biggest day since the Falais Gap massacre last summer.

LESS OOMPAH ON THE MOUNTAIN
? YES ☐ NO ☐

Any man's chestful of mountain air—compared to his chestful at ground level—cannot blare out as much of an oompah. For mountain air is thinned, but up in the Rockies—or on the plains—or anywhere else right now—it's this air of Spring that's really important! It warns of danger to your car, crying for the real thorough safety of a Springtime change to Conoco Nth motor oil—a change that will OIL-PLATE your engine's insides!

Patented Conoco Nth oil includes an added life-saver—an extra ingredient. This product of long costly research adds little to price, but it bonds protective lubricant to metals direct, in the form of OIL-PLATING—an extra that goes even beyond Conoco Nth oil's great liquid film to curb grinding wear!

Another great quality of OIL-PLATING is its resistance to acids. These are always part of combustion, but they can't freely corrode OIL-PLATED parts. Save those parts to save oil and gasoline—to conserve power and battery life—to fight carbon and sludge. It pays to remember that what you want is Conoco Nth motor oil—today. Continental Oil Company

CONGRATULATIONS

ENDORSEMENT of Mrs. H. F. Godeke as candidate for treasurer of Texas Federation of Women's clubs by the delegate body attending the seventh district one-day meeting in Amarillo Tuesday will please the majority of women in this district and those over the state who have had the privilege of working with the energetic, capable Lubbock woman. She is at the top of our list of club women.

Everything that Mrs. J. W. Walker said of Mrs. Godeke in presenting her nomination the other day was true. She has the qualifications and the experience and if she is elected, and we see no reason why she won't be, she will serve with distinction and we will be proud of her all the way down the line.

SO far as we can recall this will be the first time that a Lubbock woman had held an office in the TFWC. At present Mrs. Godeke is one of the appointed board members; Mrs. R. E. Cox of Fort Worth being the other one. A number of women in our town have served as state chairmen but they have not been officers.

As one who has watched honors and offices of various descriptions being conferred on Mrs. Godeke through the years, we'd like to say that she is that rarity—a person who rarely ever seeks the office. We have found her to be hard working, self effacing, humorous and loyal. What more could you want in a leader.

One of our great disillusions on becoming of age was to discover that some of the cartoons that show club women to be sinister creatures, crouching in a gorilla manner to strike blows, had some foundation for truth. No three-year-old begging for a chocolate ice cream cone has staged more amusing tantrums than certain club women during conventions right here in Lubbock. Have you seen a woman so angry her face resembled a dish of beets? We have. Did you know that because of disappointment over not getting the space they thought their stories warranted has caused some women to put us on their black lists? We did. And did you know there are others who cry for credit, credit, credit until those words ring in your ears and you wish you would never have to write another story as long as you live? We did.

Mrs. Godeke named us her press and publicity chairman during her term as seventh district president several years ago and through her we learned that those women we described above are really in the minority. For one who flies off in a rage there are ten who remain serene and who if they become indignant, however righteously, keep still about it. For one who wants to show off there are a dozen others who would rather never wear a new frock than to be guilty of pretentiousness. And for those who ask for credit, there are many more who, when complimented on a triumph, state the truth, "I helped but Mrs. X. originated and really ran the show."

Already club women have been powerful factors in the political and economic life of our country and the sun is just rising on their day. With such women as Mrs. Godeke as their leaders, who can foretell what their future will be?

OVERSEAS WEDDINGS

ONE of the constant rumors seems to be that American servicemen are forgetting the girls back home and marrying the girls overseas.

As a matter of fact, wedding bells haven't pealed as often as they could have. Only one out of every 250 men takes the solemn vows over there. Considering that more than 7,500,000 men are overseas the percentage of four-tenths of one percentage isn't worth worrying about.

Scout Workers Plan Dinner For Tonight

Girl Scout workers are to meet tonight for a dinner meeting at 7:30 o'clock in the ball room of Hilton hotel. Mrs. Joe Arrington is to be mistress of ceremony, Rev. H. G. Guy will be the speaker. Leaders, co-leaders, council members, council committee members and advisory board members will attend.

At an election on Wednesday morning at the Little House the following officers were selected to serve for the leaders clubs for the coming year: president, intermediate leaders club, Mrs. C. C. Perryman; vice-president, Mrs. S. E. Gillispie; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. J. S. Hollingsworth; president, Brownie Leaders club, Mrs. Seth Bertram; vice-president, Mrs. Frank Ohnemus; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Glynn Hudgens. Mesdames C. R. Cagle, J. A. Hodges, C. H. A business and social meeting was held by First Baptist Alathean class in the home of Mrs. Barney Alford, 2101 Twenty-seventh, Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Eva Watkins presiding.

Mrs. John Thompson gave a devotional and recited several poems, Miss Ann Pendley gave a reading, Mrs. Cora Davis led a prayer and Mrs. Robert Abernathy was in charge of the social hour.

Refreshments were served by Group 1 to Mesdames Eula Draper, Fred Rogers, A. L. Harris, M. H. Day, W. L. Morris, Ben Noell, L. Vannoy, L. W. Tarkington, J. E. Reid, Dale Draper and a guest, Mrs. W. L. Renfro.

Lubbock Woman Is Officer Nominee

At the meeting of the Seventh district of Texas Federation of Women's clubs Tuesday in Amarillo, Mrs. H. F. Godeke was endorsed as candidate for treasurer of the state organization. Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview nominated Mrs. Godeke at the morning board meeting and before the convention in the afternoon.

Since Mrs. Godeke was "drafted," so to speak, her recommendation by the board and endorsement by the delegate body preceded her presentation as a delegate by her local club, Twentieth Century, and this matter will be attended to at a called meeting of that club in the near future.

Mrs. Florence Johnson Scott of Rio Grande City is unopposed to date as candidate for the TFWC presidency and Mrs. Howard Hodge of Midland is unopposed as candidate for first vice president.

It is likely officers will be elected by mail, Miss Ethel Foster of Sterling City, incumbent president, said. Individual clubs are being asked to elect delegates immediately in order that ballots may be mailed to them if the state convention is not held. Unless ODT regulations governing conventions are lifted, it is likely the state convention, planned for this month, will be called off.

Elect District Officers

At Tuesday's session in Amarillo which was termed an "open meeting," three officers were elected uncontested. They were Mrs. Raymond W. Harrah, Pampa, president; Mrs. D. L. C. Kinard, Memphis, first vice president; Mrs. L. E. Slade, Sudan, second vice president. They were voted by voice since ballots were not printed due to the war emergency.

Mrs. Scott spoke on postwar education trends and Miss Foster told of war programs and projects advised by the General Federation for state and district federations at the sessions.

A luncheon was served at the church. Mrs. Wesley Izzard of Amarillo retired as president.

Mrs. Godeke is past president of the district as is Mrs. Walker who nominated her as state treasurer. Another coincidence is that Mrs. Walker is past treasurer of the TFWC.

Government Policies Blamed For Meat Shortage And Black Market

By HOWARD FLIEGER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 2 — A House food committee today blamed government policies for the growing meat shortage and black markets, and warned of an approaching crisis in eggs and sugar.

It placed before the administration a nine-point revision of controls—including a top priority for food production through 1947—and urged:

"There must be action now. The price line is weakening."

Confer With Truman

The food committee headed by Rep. Anderson (D-NM) conferred with President Truman over the recommendations of its 7,000-word report—product of a six-weeks investigation—but members said he indicated no reaction. Yesterday the President issued a statement praising OPA's entire price control program.

Although the committee made no direct denunciation of any single government agency, it traced the meat shortages and black markets to OPA's price and enforcement policies, to the War Food administration's revisions of production orders and other government programs.

Recommendations

To cure the food crisis it recommended:

1. A subsidy for cattle feeders to put more weight on beef for market.

2. A boost in the hog market price to 13.50 a hundredweight.

3. A coordinated food program all the way from producer to consumer, linking production quotas, prices, distribution and rationing in one set-up.

4. A top priority for food production, with arrangements for adequate farm machinery and manpower, and an increase of storage facilities so that surpluses can be stock-piled against future shortages.

5. Separate ration points for meat and rigid black market controls at the source.

Increased Production

The other recommendations dealt with demands for increased production of poultry, eggs and sugar to ward off approaching shortages which the committee said will reach their peak by late summer.

The committee regarded the situation in eggs and sugar so serious that it announces separate investigations for those items, both to be started soon. It recommended special inducements to poultry and sugar producers to increase their output.

The report didn't say whether the inducements should be in the form of direct price increases or subsidies.

Major Cherry, Pilot During Rickenbacker Saga, Visiting Here

In Lubbock Wednesday night was Major William T. Cherry, war hero and a leading actor in one of the most dramatic air-sea sagas of all time. He was the pilot of the plane which was forced down in the Pacific and which carried Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, greatest flying ace of World war 1.

Maj. Cherry, his wife and his father, W. T. Cherry of Quail, Tex., near Wellington, were registered at Camp-O-Tel, at 2311 Nineteenth.

It was reported that Maj. Cherry spent Wednesday on a tour of farms in the Lubbock vicinity. Reporters did not attempt to interview the famous flier last night because of the reported illness of his wife.

Maj. Cherry was awarded the British Flying cross recently for outstanding service in Burma. He was commended for his work in commanding a squadron of glider-towing aircraft in major air-borne operations in that jungle-ridden country. The award was made at the British embassy in Washington.

The Rickenbacker plane was forced down on a flight from Oahu in the Hawaiian islands in late 1942. Capt. Rickenbacker was on a tour of inspection of Army Air force installations in the Pacific. Cherry, who held the rank of captain at the time, was the first of the survivors to be rescued. He had clung to a raft alone for three weeks. He helped direct the search for Capt. Rickenbacker and other members of the party.

Brother Held In Jackson Attack

Condition of A. W. Jackson, 67, late Wednesday afternoon apparently was satisfactory, his physicians said.

Jackson was rushed to the hospital by Sheriff Grady Harrist shortly before 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, and a brother, 77-year-old Harrison G. Jackson, was arrested, after A. W. Jackson had been badly beaten.

The physician said A. W. Jackson had suffered head bruises, a laceration near one eye, contusions of the chest and a state of shock. There were no fractures. Jackson, of 1702 Texas, a resident of Lubbock approximately 30 years and owner of much valuable business and rent property, was admitted for treatment after x-ray examination.

Officials said the assault was at 2005 Broadway, the old "Friend" property recently purchased by A. W. Jackson. Harrison G. Jackson was living at that address.

Harrison G. Jackson, officials were informed, had been paroled last fall to A. W. Jackson, after having served approximately 10 years in San Quentin prison on an Oakland, Calif., murder conviction. Family members said he was "high tempered," and that he was carrying a peace officer's commission when the shooting took place.

A. W. Jackson told officials he had been "keeping my brother up. I had just taken him a $40 check. He hit me with a shovel."

Charlie Street and Bill Lamb, police patrolmen who made the arrest, said they had been informed that H. R. Butler of 1924 Thirteenth "pulled Harrison G. Jackson off his brother." The older man was said to have been "holding the shovel" and A. W. Jackson was "down on the driveway at rear of 2005 Broadway."

The older man had billfolds of both men when arrested. In his was $629 in currency, in his brother's $137 and four or five checks, one of them for $7,500. He also had the $40 check, for work at 2005 Broadway.

Officials indicated they would hold the older brother until the condition of A. W. Jackson is determined by a more complete diagnosis, and that they might ask California to revoke his parole.

Officials were informed that Harrison G. Jackson had at various times been a school teacher, a deputy sheriff and a nightwatchman. His father had been a sheriff. When lodged in jail, he told the sheriff's department he had been a "minister" 52 years.

What has war done to America's soul? Will boys trained to hate and kill become rational citizens? Are Black Markets, increased use of liquor, juvenile delinquency straws in the wind—or should we judge by things like the growing realization of the need for racial equality, more rights for labor, a genuine interest in world co-operation? Tonight's session of America's Town Meeting promises to be one of the liveliest radio hours of your life. State Meet Opens Today At Austin

AUSTIN, May 2. (AP)—Thomas Jefferson's Mustangs edged into the favorite's spot today for the Texas schoolboy track and field championship—a repeat performance in which their chief competitors again will be their San Antonio city rivals, the Brackenridge Eagles.

Two weeks ago Brackenridge was tops in every book but injuries have dimmed the Eagle chances. With such stellar performers as Tom Watts, defending state champion in the low hurdles; Mack White, another hurdle star, and Art Sweet, efficient shot putter, nursing hurts and with Jim Bodiford, sprint ace, also ailing, it now appears Jefferson should come through for the second year in a row.

Three hundred and fifty-two athletes will be here tomorrow for the preliminaries opening at 9:15 a. m.

Only one record appears in great danger. August Erfurth, Brackenridge high hurdler—one of the best in the nation—is in prime condition and aiming at the 14.1 record set in 1941 by Archie Jones of Longview. He already has equalled this mark.

Other record possibilities are Desmond Kidd of Austin in the quarter-mile, and the Thomas Jefferson mile relay team. They have been close to the state marks of 49 seconds and 3:25.2 respectively.

Favorite in tennis, preliminaries of which start at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, is Dick Savitt of El Paso High, who is ranked among the top ten junior players of the nation. Last year Savitt lost only to Ed Ray of Taft, who was state runner-up. Neither Champion Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo nor Ray are back this year. Chief contenders are Harmon Craswell of Lufkin football and basketball all-state fame and Pryse Metcalfe of Franklin.

The only defending champion returning is Ed Chew of El Paso, who teamed with Bobby Goldfarb to win the doubles title in 1944. This year he will play with Frank Borger.

Diamonds Crowded At Wichita Falls

By HARRY HEINECKE
Wichita Falls Sports Editor

WICHITA FALLS, May 2. (Special) — Any distressed diamonds for sale? Baseball diamonds?

A "cradle to the grave" baseball and softball program was launched here this week. Lines forming late in the afternoon are not for cigarettes. Ball players are looking for places to roost.

At the latest count there were 70 softball clubs and 17 baseball teams playing regular schedules. Several other aggregations are trying to edge into the competition.

Old timers, thirsty for baseball since Texas League memories, are cheered by the kid teams seeing action here for the first time since the '30's.

Fifteen baseball—and we mean hard ball—clubs are playing in the new city recreational program sponsored by Wichita Falls, D. L. Ligon, Hardin Junior college, who draws a regular salary, is director.

Five teams are playing in the City League for men players. Six clubs are entered in the American League for youngsters 14 years and younger. The National League for boys 15-17 has four clubs.

In addition, the American Legion is sponsoring for the first time a club to enter the national competition. George Blackerby, bowling alley operator who played with the Chicago White Sox, Waco in the Texas League and Montreal in the International League, is coach. Neeley R. Vaught, former Texas League umpire, is manager. The Legion squad will be picked from city league teams.

Sheppard Field has an eight-team league and plays every night at Spudder Park, old Texas League stamping ground. The army team plays every Sunday afternoon and throws in doubleheaders Tuesday and Thursday nights. Civilians are charged but soldiers get in free.

The traffic jam is something on the softball calendar. The YMCA leagues have 62 clubs with four divisions; girls, boys 14 and under, boys 15 to 17 and men over 17. Marvin Robertson, well-known amateur player, is director of the softball and Thurmon "Tugboat" Jones, Wichita Falls High school coach, is summer athletic director.

Eight clubs are playing softball under Ligon's city program. All are men's clubs, sponsored by commercial organizations.

Only four diamonds are available for the army of ball players.

All baseball games are seven innings. Men's games are played Sunday afternoons. Kid games are played every day except Wednesday at 5 p. m.

Softball play starts at 6:30 p. m. and continues far into the night.

Brackets Drawn For Ping Pong Tourney

Brackets have been drawn for the city wide ping pong tournament, sponsored by the City Recreation department, and pairings named for the start of tournament play, it was announced by Stumpy Hamilton.

Ten boys in the boys singles moved into the second round on byes, while two girls reached the semi-finals in girls singles by byes. Eight teams square off in the boys doubles and two in the girls doubles, and two in mixed doubles.

Three games shall constitute a match in the preliminaries, and five in the finals. Each player is responsible for contacting his opponent, and arranging for time to play the match. The winner of each match is responsible for reporting the outcome of each match by calling the corral, 7551, or the city recreation department, 9346.

Two Quick Finals

Leslie Pinkston and Melba Pinkston will play David Hester and Jackie Lewis for the mixed doubles championship.

Sarah McDonald and Dorothy Summer will play Frances Guinn and Imo Jean Cox for the girls doubles title.

In the girls singles, Dorothy Summer drew a bye, and will play the winner of the Melba Pinkston and Frances Guinn match in the upper semi-final match. Sarah McDonald drew a bye, and will play the winner of the Jackie Lewis and Imo Jean Cox match in the lower semi-final.

Boys Doubles

The upper bracket in the boys doubles will pair Doug Galey and Charles Walden against Frank Porter and Gene Hardey, and Edgar Holcomb and Charles Gregg against David Hester and Vernon Bradley. In the lower bracket, the pairings will send Milton Butler and Jim Lowrey against Jerry LeMond and Bob Click, and Herbert Nelson and Elmer Reed against Leslie Pinkston and Phil Bennett.

In the boys singles, two second round pairings were completed by the drawings of byes. They pair Phillip Griner and Gene Hardey and Leslie Pinkston and Doug Galey.

Other byes were drawn by Gordon Parkhill, jr., Phil Bennett, Herbert Nelson, Bob Galey, Frank Porter and Jerry LeMond.

Parkhill plays the winner of the Ned Griner and Charles Walden match. Bennett plays the winner of the Charles Gregg and Dalton Hamilton match. Nelson plays the winner of the Jim Lowrey and David Hester match. Galey plays the winner of the Edgar Holcomb and R. J. Matheny match. Porter plays the winner of the Horace Smith and Elmer Reed match. LeMond plays the winner of the Lewis Hawkins and Milton Butler match.

His mother, Mrs. Anna Hannegan, and a sister, Mrs. Alice Gorman, are residents of Lufkin, Tex.

Pirates Divide Pair With Cards

PITTSBURGH, May 2. (AP)—After dropping the first game of a double header 4-2, the Pittsburgh Pirates broke out in the other with a smashing seven-run sixth inning to defeat the St. Louis Cardinals 11-1 before 6,159 fans.

In the first game, southpaw Harry Brecheen held the Buccos to seven hits while the Cardinals nicked Rip Sewell for 12 in eight innings.

In the nightcap, the Bucs jumped on Blix Donnelly in the sixth to score seven runs on five hits. The Pirates garnered 13 hits off four Card hurlers while Max Butcher, winning his second game, allowed only seven.

TRIBE NOSES BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, May 2. (AP)—A run in the 13th inning brought victory to the Cleveland Indians over the American League Champion St. Louis Browns, 2 to 1, tonight to sadden the hearts of 12,487 St. Louis fans who sat through three and a half hours of baseball in 42 degree weather.

Allie Reynolds, big fast ball artist, went all the way for Cleveland and thoroughly deserved his hard-earned victory. Reynolds was faced with three men on and none out in the 12th, only to pull out without a run.

Cleveland's winning run was made off Bob Muncrief who went to the mound for the Browns in the 13th after Nelson Potter, the starter, had retired for a pinch hitter.

Cowhand Star Hurt In Wednesday Drill

The injury jinx stalked into the football camp at Chapman field again Wednesday afternoon, putting the finger this time on a promising member of the Cowhand squad, Jackie Davis.

Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs Leroy Davis, 2008 Avenue W, injured his back Wednesday afternoon when tackled after breaking through the line during a workout with Coach Curtis Barrett's Cowhands.

Barrett took the player to West Texas Hospital, where doctors said they did not think the injury would prove serious, but the injured player remained in the hospital last night and x-rays will be taken of the injury today to determine the extent of them.

Another Cowhand star injured several days ago, Charles Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wright, 1911-A 22nd. street, has recovered from his injuries, but will not return to spring practice, but plans to rejoin the squad this fall.

Wright suffered a slight concussion which resulted in a brief loss of memory, his mother reported, but the injury responded nicely to treatment.

Kentucky Derby Not To Be Run This Year

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 2. (AP) Because of the war and the government ban on horse racing, the Kentucky Derby will not be run here next Saturday as originally scheduled but there is plenty of activity at historic Churchill Downs.

There are hundreds of horses at the track and among them are most of the three-year-olds expected to race for the $75,000 added purse, the gold trophy and the wreath of roses when the 71st running of the thoroughbred classic is held.

Navy Cuts Pitching Strength Of Texas

AUSTIN, May 2. (AP)—Already badly weakened by the loss of their ace southpaw, Henry Culp, the Southwest Conference leading Texas Longhorns suffered another jolt today when it was learned that another member of their depleted pitching staff had become ineligible.

Big Sam Lay, a Navy V-12 trainee, is being restricted by the Navy because of low grades. He will be permitted to pitch only on Saturdays—and Texas has only one conference game on Saturday. Culp left last week to play with Memphis.

Loss of these two men leaves Texas with only two regular pitchers, Dave Philley and James Erwin, but Coach Blair Cherry has converted catcher Whitey Bell and first baseman Billy Cox into pitchers and hopes that Texas hitting can pull the Steers through. Bell and Cox both pitched for the first time today as Texas lost to the San Marcos Army Navigators, 11-9.

Jester Gives Support To Oil Organization

AUSTIN, May 2 (AP)—Railroad Commissioner Beauford H. Jester today commended the reorganization of the long-dormant Independent Petroleum Association of Texas.

In a letter to Harold Byrd, president, Jester pledged his cooperation and that of the commission in the association's effort to obtain an increase in the price of crude oil.

Germany Split, But Battles On

architect of the Ardennes breakthrough, and two other field marshals.

Others Are Named

The other two were Field Marshal Hugo Sperrle, former commander of German Air forces on the Western front and accused of directing the London blitz, and Field Marshal Maximilian von Weichs, commander of German armies in the Balkans.

The U. S. Third and Seventh armies raced 20 to 30 miles through cracking enemy lines, and virtually completed the subjugation of Bavaria, with the Third Army 16 miles from the great Austrian stronghold of Linz and possibly 40 miles from a junction with the Russian southern Army.

In the final hours of a dying Reich, the Seventh Army flushed the biggest military captive taken yet — Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, most skilled Junkers general of his age and architect of the Ardennes breakthrough, the last German bid for victory in the west.

Drive Near Innsbruck

Restless Seventh Army tank columns deep in the Alps were only eight miles northwest of Innsbruck, control point for all east-west lines through the redoubt, and in a 30-mile sweep south of Munich reached the Inn river 45 miles west of Berchtesgaden.

The Third Army to the east closed up to the Inn river on a 40-mile front, was on the river opposite Hitler's birthplace of Braunau, Austria. At that point it was 45 miles north of Berchtesgaden and 33 from Salzburg.

The British Second Army and American airborne units assigned to it cut loose from the Elbe bridgehead in gains of as much as 50 miles that quickly overwhelmed the Baltic port of Luebeck.

It was at Luebeck that Washington revealed today Himmler had met a Swedish emissary April 24 to try to arrange a surrender deal, and had declared Germany was beaten and Hitler dying.

Denmark Sealed Off

The fall of Luebeck sealed off Denmark and cut off an escape route through which the Germans were fleeing the Red armies.

Thirty miles to the east, the British Sixth Airborne division seized Wismar, 29 miles from Russians who slashed along the Baltic coast and captured Rostock.

Yet another pocket was formed when the U. S. Ninth Army prowling the east bank of the Elbe river joined up with the Russians for a second time at the hamlet of Baelow, six miles southeast of Wittenberge.

While the 333rd regiment of the 84th Infantry division met the Russian Allies here, Germans caught in this pocket fled from the battle of Berlin in terror, swimming across the Elbe to the American lines. Five German planes landed on Ninth Army airfields and their pilots surrendered.

Resistance Shattered

On the front of the Western Allies in the north, all German resistance appeared shattered, and Lt. Gen. Miles C. Dempsey's British Army lashed out in all directions, reaching for the remaining north German ports.

While the Eleventh Armored division speared into Luebeck, other British forces struck north of Hamburg toward Denmark.

West of Hamburg and south of the Elbe, the British captured Bremervorde, 23 miles east of the North Sea port of Bremerhaven.

Farther west, the Canadian First Army in advances up to nine miles reached Grosander, 18 miles southwest of Wilhelmshaven, Nazi U-boat base.

The German surrender to the Allied armies in Italy bared the whole south flank of what remains of the Nazis' so-called "national redoubt," and ceded such Seventh and Third Army objectives as Innsbruck and Salzburg, bastions in the Alpine retreat.

No Sign Of Quitting

Dispatches from the field gave no hint, however, that the Germans were quitting the fight although they told of swift advances, sometimes through negligible resistance.

To the southwest, American troops fighting through Austria's Alps entered Seefeld, only eight miles northwest of Innsbruck, where some of the most important political prisoners formerly held at Dachau were last reported held.

Near Main Highway

There they were only four miles from the main highway and railway running east and west through the redoubt and were held up more by bomb craters in the highway than by German resistance.

It was the 36th division which on entering the health resort of Bad Tolz, 25 miles south of Munich, captured von Rudstedt as he was finishing his evening meal.

Von Rundstedt said he last saw Hitler alive March 12.

The 70-year-old marshal had been reported in retirement since his breakthrough failed, and it was believed that Hitler relieved him after that costly venture came to grief.

Von Rundstedt was commander in the west at the time of the Allied invasion, later was relieved when he quarreled with Field Marshal Erwin Rommel over tactics, and turned up again as the head of the armies of the west when Germany lost the battle of France.

Destroyed Soviet Army

He was best known for his destruction of a Russian Army under Marshal Budenny during 1941, when his double envelopment of the Red Army in the northern Ukraine was considered the best example of this classic maneuver until Gen. Eisenhower topped it in the Ruhr.

Near the border of Austria, Prince Albert and Princess Marie of Bavaria were found at a hunting lodge in Amer forest and with their retinue were put in protective custody.

Supreme headquarters told how the German armies of the west disintegrated during fateful April, when more than 1,500,000 prisoners were taken, including 150 generals and admirals.

STOCKS IRREGULARLY LOWER

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Stocks closed irregularly lower in quiet dealings today after extreme losses of more than a point in steels, motors and rails were pared to only fractional declines in late trading.

Wall street received calmly news that German troops in Italy had surrendered unconditionally, the feeling being that the development already had been discounted marketwise by earlier indications of the capitulation.

Transfers totaled 1,140,000 shares against 1,530,000 the preceding day.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was down .1 of a point at 64.7 of 922 issues appearing, 444 declined, 278 advanced and 200 were unchanged.

Losers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Union Carbide, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio and Southern Pacific.

Standard Gas and Electric $4, $6 and $7 preferreds rose 1⅛ to 5 points, respectively. Other gainers included Sears Roebuck, J. I. Case, Caterpillar, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, General Electric, Santa Fe and Standard Oil (NJ). Lehigh Valley, up 1½ points, touched a new yearly peak.

Bonds were mixed.

NEW YORK FUTURES

NEW YORK, May 2 (AP)—Hesitancy over the war developments in Europe and the fate of the cotton purchase program as a parity support measure, combined to restrict trading in the cotton futures market today. Prices moved in a narrow range of 40 cents a bale to close at or near the best levels of the day with gains of 10 to 25 cents a bale.

Mill buying against new textile awards provided the principal support. Commission houses were inclined to take profit with further hedging against loan equities in evidence. Liquidation of the May contract in anticipation of final trading day May 16 picked up, with open contracts at the close Tuesday amounting to 84,300 bales. The government weekly weather report was generally unfavorable on conditions in the cotton belt.

ers, Horace Puckett, in France, and Basil Puckett of Post.

Pfc. Howard W. Gandy, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Gandy of Star Route 4, Lamesa, was wounded in action in Germany April 6 while with an Infantry division. He arrived overseas in February and since that time has been stationed in England, France, Belgium, and Germany. His wife and son, Gene, make their home in the Higginbotham community near Lamesa.

Pfc. Leroy Richardson, son of Mrs. M. Richardson of 3617 Ave. W, was wounded in action with the Infantry on Luzon March 22 when a shell fell into a foxhole in which he and two other boys were sheltered. Shrapnel filled his back and legs and he was evacuated by plane to a hospital out of the combat zone. Pfc. Richardson went into the Army as soon as he graduated from Lubbock High school in 1943 and has been overseas 16 months. Three other brothers in the service are Sgt. Mansel Richardson, in China, S/Sgt. Ralph Richardson, in Germany and S 2/c Edward Richardson in Virginia.

Capt. Jack M. Webster, son of Mrs. Margaret E. Webster of 2020 Seventeenth and A. B. Webster of Route 1, was wounded April 5 in street fighting action against the enemy in Germany. He was with the Rainbow division of the Seventh army, and is now in a hospital in England after being shot in the leg. A brother, also of Lubbock, is C. A. Webster, 2214 Twenty-seventh.

World Conference

because of her past connections with the Axis. Now they want to see how far the Argentine government will go in putting internal and external affairs on a democratic basis before letting it acquire a position of importance in conference councils.

The labor leaders sent a letter to Stettinius, chairman of the American delegation, voicing a belief that "the 60 million workers we represent must be given a voice in the determination of the historic issues which your conference is called upon to decide." They asked him to pass it along to Molotov, Eden and Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong.

It was signed by Sidney Hillman of the CIO, Sir Walter Citrine of the British Trade Union congress, Louis Saillant of the French Confederation of Labor and M. Tarasev of the Russian Trade Union council.

Voting Problem

The conference-vote problem shapes up this way:

Forty-six nations have ballots now, and those of Argentina, White Russia and Ukrainia soon will bring the figure up to 49.

Several delegations besides the Russians, it was learned, are concerned over the fact that the United States and the 20 Latin American nations, by voting solidly, could swing the balance of power on any issue requiring a two-thirds vote.

In fact, with Liberia and the Philippines added, they could come close to controlling a majority vote. Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov referred directly to the inter-American bloc when he was defeated on delaying admission of Argentina to the conference.

Truman Will Support Stabilization Plans

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP)—White House support of wage and other stabilization controls was reiterated today by President Truman.

Asked at his news conference if he has any new views on labor demands for an upward revision of the little steel formula, the President said his position was unchanged.

Berlin Captured, Hitler Suicides

sonally was directing the defense.

An old-time Nazi and long-time chief of the propaganda ministry's radio section, Fritsche might be considered as one of the last men on earth to say that Hitler died an ignominious suicide rather than the heroic Siegfried of the Hamburg radio announcements.

Builds Up To Climax

Stalin's order was his third of the day. He had built up to the climactic fall of Berlin with orders announcing the death or capture of the German Ninth Army southeast of Berlin, and the capture of Germany's last important Baltic port, Rostock, in a 44-mile drive by the Second White Russian Army.

For the conquest of Berlin his proclamation called for the top Moscow victory salute of 24 salvos from 324 cannon in tribute to the armies that took Berlin: The First White Russian and First Ukrainian.

Those armies, commanded by Marshal G. K. Zhukov and Ivan S. Konev, had jumped across the Oder 16 days previous, and on April 21 fought into Berlin. They encircled the sprawling city, which already had been wrecked by American and British bombers, and tore the remains to bits in some of the bitterest big-scale street fighting of all time.

Once Mighty Capital

Thus fell the once-mighty capital which Stalin described as "the center of German imperialism and heart of German aggression," and which Hitler had proclaimed as the seat of his "thousand-year Riech" empire — the empire that in less than six years died as it had been born, in blood and suffering.

The greatest city to fall in battle in the history of warfare, Berlin lay a 341-square mile monument to the death of millions and to the diseased ambition of one man: Adolf Hitler.

How many persons died there will never be known with accuracy, but before the war that greatest of continental cities had a population of 4,335,000, and only Monday night the Russians announced that the fanatical Nazi defenders were killing many of the civilians with their fire.

Furious Defense

The fury of that defense was everything that Hitler had said it would be, and even Wednesday afternoon his dwindling cohorts had contended via the Hamburg radio that resistance in Berlin was "not yet broken," even while admitting that the garrison had been ripped into isolated pockets.

Two hours after the broadcast of Stalin's announcement that Berlin had fallen, the Hamburg radio said "the defenders in the Berlin government quarter still are holding out. Fiercest fighting still is raging around the Wilhelmstrasse areas, where the Russians were able to effect further breaches. They are attacking both from the northeast and the south in ceaseless waves with huge masses of men and material."

The Hamburg broadcast might signify refusal of Admiral Karl Doenitz' forces to admit the loss of Berlin, or might denote that in the last chaotic hours the Berlin garrison had failed to report to Hamburg.

70,000 Prisoners Taken

That garrison surrendered at 3 p. m., European time, according to Stalin's announcement, and by 9 p. m. 70,000 men had been numbered as prisoners.

The finale came in the innermost heart of the city, in the government district that had been Hitler's pride, and in the pillboxes and underground fortifications of the once-attractive Tiergarten.

The Russians announced details of the last day of the German capital, which by one day missed falling on the traditionally Soviet May day holiday.

But during the days of seige and isolation, both they and the Germans had told of a gigantic, never-waning conflict that raged in the air, on the rooftop, in houses and in the streets, and in cellars and the extensive subway tunnels — a conflict that progressed yard by yard as Nazi fanatics shot any person who ever mentioned the words "surrender" or "retreat."

Fought Across Continent

Yet surrender they did at last, to Red Army men who had fought across a continent, 1,560 miles from the ruins of Stalingrad since the Nazi tide reached the flood at that Volga city in January, 1943.

Whatever feebly flickering hopes the ragged, hollow-eyed survivors of Berlin may have had of miraculous last-minute salvation were snuffed out when Stalin announced the destruction of the German Ninth Army, which had been encircled for a week southeast of Berlin and had tried in vain to break back into the capital.

Then came the strategically important but less dramatic advance of the Second White Russians along the Baltic coast, taking Rostock and seven other towns.

This placed the Russians but 29 miles from the British who took the Baltic ports of Luebeck and Wismar in a sparkling airborne coup.

One Strip Remains

Remaining to the Germans north of the ashes of Berlin was only a twisting, virtually indefensible strip on the Mecklenburg plain about 30 miles wide and steadily narrowing.

The Russian march west from Stralsund and northwest from Demmin swept up Waremuende, seven miles north of Rostock; Ribnitz, Marlow and Bodden, east of Rostock; and Teterow and Laage, on the main road southeast of Rostock.

A wide and solid linkup of the Eastern and Western Allies all the way north to the Baltic appeared imminent.

Far to the south, other Soviet armies were swinging westward through Czecholslovakia towards Prague in a converging drive toward the Western Allies which would shred yet another developing pocket of Nazi resistance.

Truman Refers Japs To Victory In Italy

WASHINGTON, May 2 (AP) — President Truman today proclaimed the unconditional surrender of German forces in Italy as "a part of the general triumph we are expectantly awaiting on the whole continent of Europe."

"Only folly and chaos can now delay the general capitulation of the everywhere defeated German armies," the president said in a statement which also warned Japan to "understand the meaning of these events."

Mr. Truman sent congratulatory messages to Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander and Gen. Mark Clark, leaders of the Allied armies, whose victory toppled the last southern barriers to the Nazis' Bavarian mountain stronghold and the Austrian panhandle.

The State department also hailed the German collapse in Italy as "greatly reducing the possibility of prolonged resistance" in Austria and southern Germany. Acting Secretary Joseph C. Grew added in a statement that "Italy, which has been fighting the common enemy since 1943, is now rid of the German yoke and soon will be a nation united in fact as well as in purpose under the democratic government of free Italy."

Surrender In Italy

that Gen. von Vietinghoff would surrender himself and his staff to Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean, tomorrow.

Terms As Imposed

Field Marshal Alexander in an order of the day to Allied troops said that "today you stand as victors of the Italian campaign. You have won a victory which has ended in the complete and utter rout of the German armed forces in the Mediterranean."

The following terms were imposed:

1. Unconditional surrender by Gen. von Vietinghoff's command of all land, sea and air forces to Field Marshal Alexander.

2. Cessation of all hostilities on land, sea and in the air by enemy forces at 12 noon (7 a. m., central war time).

3. Immediate immobilization and disarmament of enemy forces.

4. Obligation on the part of the German commander-in-chief to carry out any further orders issued by Field Marshal Alexander.

5. Disobedience of the orders or failure to comply with them will be dealt with in accordance with the accepted laws and usages of war.

Subject To General Surrender

"The instrument of surrender stipulates that it is independent of, without prejudice to, and will be superseded by any general instrument of surrender imposed by or on behalf of the United Nations and applicable to Germany and the German Army forces as a whole," the Allied announcement stated.

The surrender documents were signed in duplicate in English and German in the immense royal palace at Caserta by two German representatives and Lt. Gen. W. D. Morgan, chief of staff at Allied headquarters.

One of the German representatives signed for Gen. von Vietinghoff and the other on behalf of Obergruppenfuehrer Karl Wolff, supreme commander of the SS and police and German general plenipotentiary of the wehrmacht in Italy.

Negotiated For Days

The documents were signed in the presence of a group of Allied officers, including Russians, and six members of the Allied press and radio. Secret negotiations had been held for several days preceding the actual signing.

After signing the documents the two German plenipotentiaries were returned by plane to Gen. von Vietinghoff's headquarters high in the Alps.

The entire ceremony took just 20 minutes but the negotiations had been lengthy. More than a month ago the Germans expressed willingness to come to some sort of agreement but would not accept unconditional surrender as demanded by the Allies.

Needed Rain Falls In Parts Of Area

Farmers took heart Wednesday night at threatening clouds that expelled rain in several areas.

A brief shower hit Lubbock about 9:45 o'clock and light rain fell at intervals until midnight. Similar precipitation was reported from Slaton.

The Santa Fe dispatcher's office at Slaton said at 10:30 o'clock that Plainview and Littlefield had reported rain and that skies were cloudy from Canyon to Lubbock and from Clovis to Sweetwater.

The weather forecast for today called for partly cloudy and warmer weather.

War Nearing End

marine chief meant what he said when he declared Germany would fight on, that he plans to continue the war from Norway and Denmark with a force built around Navy men and fanatics.

Face-Saving Peace

2. That Doenitz, never prominent for political activity, will attempt to obtain a face-saving peace with armistice conditions short of abject, unconditional surrender—perhaps in return for delivery of Hitler's body and surrender of some of the more notorious Nazis, including Himmler, Goering and Goebbels.

In the midst of unconfirmed, unofficial reports of negotiations to free Norway and Denmark, Gen. Franz Boehme, German commander-in-chief in Norway, called on his troops to fight on, saying that "we must continue to mount guard in the north, unbroken, proud and faithful."

Col. Gen. George Lindemann, commander of the German forces in Denmark, denied in a Danish broadcast that a surrender or evacuation was planned there, asserting "we are prepared to fight and die." Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoener, German commander-in-chief on the southern sector of the Russian front, broadcast over the Prague radio an order of the day calling upon his soldiers to "fight on for freedom" under Doenitz.

Significance In Shakeup

But simultaneously, some saw significance in Doenitz' initial diplomatic shakeup, sacking von Ribbentrop and replacing him with von Krosigk, a long-time Hitler supporter but generally regarded as conservative with a Junker background.

In his first public statement, von Krosigk said over the Hamburg radio tonight that Germany still faced the "heaviest trial of the war." Warning of the dangers of a third world war, he reasserted the German claim it was fighting to "save Europe from Bolshevism" and predicted failure for the San Francisco conference.

Most London observers took the view, however, that in a world where nerves have been numbed and emotions drained by a swift succession of historic events in recent days—Hitler's death, Himmler's maneuvering, Mussolini's end, Petain's surrender, Laval's flight—the only safe conclusion was that anything could happen.

Adolf Known Dead

were committed.

Mr. Truman said he hopes an international military tribunal is set up as soon as possible for the prosecutions.

He said he did not know whether Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who proclaimed himself successor to der fuehrer, is on the list. Those who are, he said, will not find haven in any neutral country.

Several Developments

The President electrified his jammed conference with the Hitler announcement. It was the climax to a day of international developments which included:

1—Disclosure by Mr. Truman early in the day that German forces in Italy and parts of Austria had surrendered unconditionally. He warned Japan "to understand the meaning of these events."

2—Announcement that the President's hurried trip to the War department's Pentagon building the afternoon of April 25 was to consider an offer from Heinrich Himmler to surrender to the United States and Britain, but not to Russia. Mr. Truman and Prime Minister Churchill talked it over, apparently by radio telephone, told Marshal Stalin they were rejecting it and the Soviet leader agreed.

Talked With Stalin

The President told reporters he had been in communication with Marshal Stalin. Though he did not elaborate, he apparently meant that the subject of the communication was the Himmler offer. Details of that came from acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew.

After his appointment as prosecuting attorney for the U. S. was announced, Justice Jackson issued a statement disclosing that his staff has been working on the war guilt cases for some time.

"An impressive amount of original and authentic evidence is now in Allied possession and more is being obtained daily in the European theaters of action," Jackson said.

"There will be no delay on the part of the United States, and we think undue delay is itself failure."

He said he is convinced that a way can be found, despite obstacles, to "bring a just judgment to those who have heretofore thought it safe to wage aggressive and ruthless war."

NO LABOR SURPLUS

HOUSTON, May 2 (AP)—Although employment in the 144 reporting war industries of the Houston-Baytown district is now down to 79,320, compared with a peak of 102,000 in October, 1943, there is no surplus of unemployed labor here, Pat S. Tillman, area director of the Houston War Manpower commission, said today.

News Briefs

Sgt. C. R. Smith of Stephenville, Tex., nephew of George P. Kuykendall, Lubbock automobile man, Wednesday was reported killed in action in the European theater, Kuykendall was informed. Sgt. Smith several years ago spent a summer at the Kuykendall home, 2201 Sixteenth. He was assigned to a B-26.

gained six miles to the western edge of Davao, their main objective on Mindanao.

American fliers from Philippine bases struck Formosan airdromes and other targets on that island and sank eight freighters in the China sea.

On Okinawa, American soldiers advanced 1,400 yards to a hill position one mile from Yonabaru town and its airfield. They were led by tanks and flame throwers. Marines and doughboys on the center of the line and the right flank launched an attack and pushed forward slowly.

American submarines have destroyed 21 additional Japanese vessels, including two combatant ships, the Navy department reported. This raised the sub's war total to 1,119 Japanese ships sunk.

Vice Adm. Charles A. Lockwood, jr., commander of Yank underseas fighters in the Pacific, said the subs alone have sunk 4,000,000 tons, or about half of Japan's merchant fleet.

Some 30,000 Japanese troops in southern Burma were virtually doomed as British paratroops, followed by amphibious forces from warships landed at the mouth of the Rangoon river 20 miles south of the big port city. Thus the sea lane of escape was sealed. Earlier British and Indian armored forces operating northward had cut the main road and rail escape routes eastward to Thailand.

Paratroops first landed in the area Tuesday, Burma time. The next day strong amphibious forces hit on both sides of the river's mouth. Censorship veiled details of the operation.

The last official report on the British and Indian armored columns smashing southward placed them only 36 miles from Rangoon.

Allied Southeast Asia headquarters disclosed that prior to the landings Britain's East Indies fleet bombarded Japanese airfields on Car Icobar island, in the Bay of Bengal, for two days while land-based and carrier aircraft struck heavily throughout the Rangoon area.

to help the President reduce expenditures."

Mr. Truman specifically urged repeal of an appropriation of $3,100,000,000 and $4,265,000,000 in contract authorizations for the maritime commission.

OCD Quits June 30

He directed that OCD go out of business June 30 and its budget request of $369,000 be rescinded.

Here are the specific additional cuts proposed: OWI—$12,100,000, WPB — $8,894,000, Censorship — $4,800,000, ODT—$3,300,000, Petroleum Administration for War—$345,000, Federal Security agency — $43,710,400, War Manpower commission—$9,339,900, Office of Scientific Research — $13,200,000, TOTAL—$95,689,300.

There was one increase suggested, $15,000,000 to the FSA for increased state aid to old age assistance programs. This brought the overall slash to $80,689,300.

About Veterans' Care

Probe Thus Far Is Reassuring

A PUBLIC deeply conscious of its debt to the nation's fighting men will welcome Rep. John Rankin's assurance that so far no member of the House Veterans committee, which has been investigating veterans' hospitals, has discovered anything to substantiate charges that patients in these institutions have been the victims of "shocking mistreatment."

Mr. Rankin's statement was in the nature of a preliminary summary of the reports returned to him so far, and apparently some members of the committee have yet to inform him of their findings. But the picture to date encourages the belief that it will not be changed substantially when all its details have been touched in.

Mr. Rankin, Mississippi Democrat, says that while some cases have been found where improvements are needed, veterans generally are receiving "fine treatment and handling" in their hospitals. That is the direct antithesis of the view taken by Representative Philbin, Massachusetts Democrat, who recently declared that "a scandal exists" in the treatment of wounded veterans.

Lest there be any doubt about the facts, either in the public mind or in the minds of those whose sons or husbands are or may be under care in these hospitals, the committee plans to hold hearings at which its members will give full accounts of what they learned from personal visits. This testimony should clear up the matter for good and all.

Perhaps it was not a bad thing that the charges, though they have been proved exaggerated, were made at this time. The result will be to reassure all concerned that this obligation is being conscientiously discharged and that any shortcomings will be corrected.

How About The Customers?

A SURVEY of world air route plans indicates that the nations are bestirring themselves as greatly to establish air lines as they were 400 years ago to win colonies in the New World. If all the blueprinted airlines become realities, the skies will be so full of planes that collisions will be a common feature of air travel.

Both Britain and America have well developed plans for lines that will include nearly every country. The British make no secret of their conviction that they must be supreme in air transportation as they have been for centuries in ocean transportation. American routes and equipment already have a long head start, especially in the Western Hemisphere and the Pacific. Russia's plans undoubtedly are far-reaching.

Every small nation is similarly ambitious for air renown. Liberia proposes to coyer Africa and span the Atlantic to America. The Portuguese want lines across Malaya, Thailand, Indo-China, the Philippines, Japan and Korea. Eventually China expects to project scheduled flights to the East Indies, Australia, Europe, Africa, South America, West Indies, the United States and Canada.

If every nation is to cover the world with its airlines, the question is raised, where will all the lines find enough passengers to stave off bankruptcy?

Another Boon To Motorists

A WET spring will present fewer handicaps for motorists when a new chemical developed during the war becomes available to the public. This product, called P1B, is of secret composition. Motors to which it has been applied will run under water. It will be possible to drive automobiles through floods and the heaviest storms without stalling the power plant.

One of the tests made with P1B was to stall a running automobile motor by turning a hose on it. After application of the chemical the motor started immediately and could not be stalled by another drenching. Electric motors treated with P1B also will run under water, is is asserted.

Applied with brush or spraygun, the material remains effective for six months. All trucks, jeeps and marine motors going to the Pacific are now being treated with it.

Among its important postwar uses will be treatment of batteries, farm machinery, tractors, pumps, oil burners and marine motors. As P1B is a rust inhibitor, farm machinery can now stand out in the weather undamaged without eliciting remarks concerning the carelessness of the owner.

First thought among Avalanche readers will be "why should we worry about what excessively wet weather does to automobiles. That never affects us."

But the fact remains that occasional floods in this area do ruin many automobiles, the last, about five years ago, having been a corker in this respect.

The One Minute Sermon

The fear of a king is as the roaring of a lion; whoso provoketh him to anger sinneth against his own soul.

It is an honour for a man to cease from strife: but every fool will be meddling.—Proverbs 20:2-3.

THE AWAKENING

The tour! The Grand Tour! Vienna, Berlin, Antwerp, London, Budapest, Milan, Rome, Florence, Madrid! He played to audiences that packed theaters, opera houses, salons. Crowds stood for hours in long queues in the rain, snow, sleet to purchase tickets. There was no satisfying the crowds. They cried for more, and always for more. Frederic played his great works, the Military Polonaise, the Ballades, the Barcarolle, the B Flat Scherzo, among others. His success was beyond even the dreams of Louis Pleyel. But the strain of the tour showed on Frederic.

—"When you walk out on the stage and see all those people in front of you, looking up at you, you must not cry or run away. Hold your head up, firm. Fritzchen, show me exactly how you are going to hold your head up." When he had answered, "I will hold it like this, Mamma." She had smiled at him. "Yes. Firm. And always, no matter what happens, hold your head up."

He held it up, even though at times he had to be carried onto the stage, he was so weak.

But the audiences roared, and they paid their money to see him and to hear him, and that's all that mattered.

One critic called him "the boldest and proudest poetic spirit of the times!"

—Exhaustion! He fought it off. He would finish the tour. His chest—the tightness—if it would only go away. He tried to cough it away.

—If only the tightness—

The Salle Pleyel, Paris.

—The Polonaise! The great Polonaise! The final chords—and the tour would then be ended. If only his strength would carry him to the end.

—His fingers danced on the keys.

The audience roared. And Jozef Elsner sat proudly in a box between a smiling Louis Pleyel and a smiling Kalkbrenner.

The great room was packed and a thousand voices cried "Bravo! Bravo!"

Frederic, exhausted, rose to acknowledge for the last time the applause. He tried bravely to smile. He tried to wave.

He fell. He threw up his arms. He coughed. He coughed—blood!

Jozef Elsner screamed. "Frederic!"

But his voice was lost in the tumult.

A few persons were admitted to the room where Frederic lay in bed, wracked by a cough.

Mlle. Konstancja tiptoed to the bedside.

He looked at her. "The Professor—?"

"—Yes, Frederic. He will be here."

Louis Pleyel was there and Franz Liszt was there and so was the critic Kalkbrenner.

Only Jozef Elsner was not there.

Frederic moved his lips. They made no sound. Mlle. Gladkowska leaned close to hear what they were trying to say.

"Frederic, a little louder."

He summoned greater effort.

"The piano. I would like to hear it. Would Franz play for me?"

"—Yes. Of course, Frederic."

Mlle. Gladkowska crossed the room.

Jozef Elsner had been searching the city for George Sand. He found her at last in the studio of Eugene Delacroix, where she was sitting for her portrait.

The painter noticed Elsner in the doorway. He addressed Madame Sand. "Shall we pause for a moment?"

"—Not necessary, Eugene. I am not tired."

Jozef Elsner walked to the dais on which she was seated. "Frederic has asked for you, Madame. He is dying."

George held her pose. Her voice was impersonal. "Are you satisfied, Monsieur?"

Jozef Elsner worked his jaw.

"—Do you know anything, Monsieur, that can replace a life as great as his?"

Jozef Elsner put his hand to his jaw. He nodded. "Will you come to see him, Madame?"

George lost her pose for just a second. "I think not, Monsieur."

"—Only to see him, Madame?"

"Frederic is mistaken to want me. Good day, Monsieur." She had resumed her pose. "Continue, Eugene. I am sorry for the interruption."

Jozef Elsner worked his hat on his head. He walked to the door. He looked back but their eyes never met again.

Sh—Liszt is playing.

Sh—Chopin is dying.

Frederic looked into the great, warm, misty eyes of Jozef Elsner.

"—She is ill, Frederic. Nothing else could have kept her away." He smiled faintly. His hand felt the hand of Jozef Elsner. Their faces were very close together.

"—You hear me, Professor?"

"—Eh?" Jozef Elsner put his ear to Frederic's mouth.

"It's like going home," Frederic whispered.

"—Home. That's right. We're home, Frederic. Yes, Frederic — close your eyes. It's been a long trip—and we're tired — both of us—"

Frederic's eyes closed heavily.

"—But Paris, Frederic — Paris was wonderful—wasn't it? Well —what did I tell you? Eh?"

Frederic never opened his eyes.

Housing Units Given To Sherman, Denison

DALLAS, May 2. (AP)—Sherman and Denison, Tex., have been awarded 175 housing units, Joseph P. Tufts, regional representative of the National Housing administration, has announced.

They will have a sales price ceiling of $6,000 per unit, and will have a rental ceiling of $50 monthly.

Also approved were 55 H-2 units for the Mission, McAllen, Edinburg, Weslaco and Mercedes section, with a sales price ceiling of $6,500 per unit and $55 monthly rental ceiling.

Fifty H-2 units were approved for Temple. They have a sales price of $7,500 and $65 monthly rental ceiling.

Tufts said the H-2 type is housing of a type to alleviate general shortage and occupancy is not restricted.

Dr. Rainey Visits Washington Officials

WASHINGTON, May 2. (AP) — Dr. Homer P. Rainey, ousted president of the University of Texas, said here yesterday "the new board (of regents) is not a bit better than the other."

He said "there are several chapters yet to be written" on the question of academic freedom at the university.

"They are carrying on the same tactics, and I don't expect a thing better of them," he said.

Dr. Rainey is returning to Texas after an eastern tour. He visited the office of Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) and talked with Dr. Ralph E. Himstead, general secretary of the American Association of University Professors which had criticized Rainey's removal.

Dr. Rainey repeated statements he made in New York that the university case would be an issue in the Texas gubernatorial race.

McNutt To Study Job Situation For Vets

DALLAS, May 2. (U.P.) — Enlargement of facilities for finding jobs in Texas and the Southwest for returning war veterans will be studied in Dallas on May 25 by Paul V. McNutt, national chairman of the War Manpower commission, it was announced today.

WMC officials said McNutt will confer here with regional WMC heads, industrialists and business and labor leaders.

The problems of reconversion also will be studied at the Dallas conference.

McNutt is no stranger to Texas. He trained near San Antonio during the last war and married a San Antonio girl, Miss Kathleen Timolst in April, 1918 while a major in the Army.

James A Garfield, 20th president of the United States, was shot in a Washington railway station while on his way to attend the commencement exercises at Williams College.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

ALBERT Einstein, 66-year-old scientist, has just been named Professor Emeritus of the Faculty of the Institute of Advanced Study at Princeton University.

That means that he has been relieved of his official duties, and will now be able to give as much time as he wants to his present undertaking, the study of "the theory of bi-vector field and other fields the structural elements of which depend upon two space-time points."

I haven't the slightest idea of what that means, nor do I have the slightest idea of what relativity is all about.

BRANDEIS

And to be perfectly truthful, do you know any more about it than I do?

Yet we both know that Professor Einstein is one of the most famous men in the world and has received more honors than most of us.

There is hardly a child in America who hasn't a clear picture of him in his mind — that bushy hair, that little mustache, that shy look and walk.

One of the country's great psychiatrists, Dr. George Hyslop, was asked the other day by a layman to explain "double consciousness."

"Well, to explain it simply," he said, "double consciousness we may say is due to a supposed inhibition of the amoeboid movements in the pseudopodic protoplasmic prolangations of the neurospongium."

Just as simple as that!

Well, after all, we would probably honor Professor Einstein less and pay Dr. Hyslop smaller fees if we did understand all the mysterious terms and principles which they use as easily as the carpenter uses his T-square or the plumber his wrench.

THE OTHER day a woman wrote to me and asked: "How can you sit down and write a column every day in the week? What is the mystery? What do you have to know to be able to do it?"

Whereupon I replied:

"How can you stand up and cook three meals a day every day in the week? How can you make a delicious hash out of some old corned beef or a succulent soup out of a lot of odds-and-ends? What is the mystery? What do you have to know to be able to do it?"

I am going to show this to my wife when it is finished.

And do you know what she is going to say?

"I wonder whether you'll make me a Professor Emeritus of housekeeping when I get to Einstein's age."

Japs Well "Holed-In"

Vast Area Strongly Fortified

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

HITLER'S Bavarian retreat amounts to hardly more than a penthouse by comparison with the redoubt the Japs have built for a possible last-ditch stand in North China, Manchuria and Korea. Hirohito's haven in the wastes and forests of northern Asia may be less romantic than Berchtesgaden, but it is far more formidable.

By withdrawing only army-navy personnel, the "imperial family," technicians and industrial managers to this vast area, which equals in size the territory lying between the Great Divide and the Pacific coast, the enemy might hold out for an indefinite period.

TUCKER

These lands have been closed to foreigners since the "Manchurian Incident" in 1937, which led to their conquest by the Land of the Rising Sun, although Korea was gobbled more than 40 years ago. But Army-Navy Intelligence, State and Commerce attaches and other agencies have pieced together information about this possible battlefield.

The Russians, who may soon renew the 1904-1905 war they waged on Tokyo in these eastern provinces, have kept a watchful eye on Japan's military modernization of this border country. Moscow has always anticipated a clash with her ancient foe in these remote regions, and a widely held belief in Washington is that the date for the belated showdown may not be far distant. There were frequent encounters between the Reds and the Nips in these stretches before they signed the 1941 nonaggression pact that Stalin has denounced.

Soviet participation, now that Nazidom has crumbled, would help to shorten what otherwise might be a prolonged and desperate struggle.

RESOURCES: Japan developed and industrialized the enormous natural resources of these three countries solely for military purposes. First, as a buffer against invading Russians, but since 1941 and even before as a source of supply for a war against the United States and a prospective retiring ground.

Her people have refused to colonize these harsh, thunderstormy and forbidding lands, so different from their dreamy, toylike paradise of parks, pagodas and ponds. The deeply tribal Japanese will not settle in these barren wastes, despite subsidies for emigrants.

Although the population of Korea, Manchuria and north China is estimated at about 250,000,000, it is doubtful whether there are more than 5,000,000 "children of the emperor" in the whole area. In addition to the soldiery there are industrial pioneers drafted as engineering, railroad and construction experts.

The great rivers which traverse the forests and flat lands have been utilized for the development of some of the world's largest hydroelectric plants. Railroads, highways and waterways rivaling Hitler's famous system in western Germany have been built with military strategy and necessities in mind; the commercial traffic does not justify them. The gauges, locomotives and other rolling stock have been standardized to prevent any delay or interruption in the movement of materiel and troops.

METALS: The integration of this region's industries with Japan's war economy has been deliberate and complete. Hardly any consumers' goods are manufactured for local markets, as the enslaved natives are made to import necessities from Tokyo at excessively high prices.

Chemicals, iron and steel, light metals, airplane lumber, cement and textile factories have been erected, especially in Korea and Manchuria. Save where manufacturing conditions call for concentration, these plants are small and scattered, presenting a difficult target for enemy bombers.

The earth abounds in a variety of metals, among them shale for production of synthetic gasoline, coal, iron, copper, lead, zinc, graphite, mica, gold, silver etc. Many are low-grade ores, but they are susceptible of intensive and expensive treatment. And money has been no object in these warlike preparations.

GRAFT: The Mitsui, Mitsubishi and Noguchi interests have financed most of these projects. In return, they receive government aid in the form of hidden subsidies and graft contracts at home. On several occasions the Mitsuis' profits on naval construction have caused cabinet scandals and shake-ups. Native labor is starved and underpaid, thus keeping down the largest item of cost.

Food of all kinds is available—plenty for the comparatively small number of essential Japs who would be permitted to migrate in a final stand against the Americans, British, Chinese and possibly the Russians.

Fish swarm the rivers and coastal waters. Fields produce rice, soybeans, millet, barley, corn, wheat, opium, tobacco, peanut, hemp, etc. Manchuria is the finest hunting ground for big and small game in all Asia, from bears to chipmunks. Its rare species of pheasant and rebchik were popular prewar dishes in the exclusive night clubs of London and New York.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

WPB is holding a series of meetings this week with industry advisory groups to outline what enterprises may resume civilian production.

Happy days are not here again—yet, but we can see the first streaks of dawn. However, New York executives warn that we are about to enter another period of excitement and confusion on the home front.

Expect one day to be informed that Washington has flashed the green light to a certain line, and a few days later that the order has been countermanded. Promises of plenty will be made for special commodities but shoppers will find them scarcer than usual. One week the military will appear liberal, the next it will crack down.

This backing and filling may be pinned on muddling methods. But the accusation will not be fair in every case. Our industrial machine is so integrated that a cutback here or a tightening there will throw dozens of seemingly unrelated lines out of focus.

LEMAN

Thus a change in Pacific requirements—forced by an unforeseeable battle emergency—might raise hob with carefully prepared reconversion plans.

Officials, managements and labor want to start the peace wheels humming. Go-ahead signals will be flashed to many firms; then a new war demand may block the path.

For example, one branch of the WPB hints that restrictions on building construction will be partially lifted soon. Undoubtedly certain badly needed repairs will be permitted. But anyone who thinks he can order a new house put up is likely to be disappointed.

He will be told by another WPA agency that controls must be retained over forest products until after Japan is defeated. Lumber will continue to be tight.

Chrome pigments for civilian paint will be scarce for two reasons—manpower shortage and the need for chrome in military alloys. In Europe troops are billeted in houses or wooden barracks; in the Far East they will live in tents. Fifty per cent of the output of yellow iron oxide used in paints must be diverted to the making of tents. So must large quantities of textiles which otherwise would be available for clothing.

This sort of thing will happen again and again despite the prophecies of abundance. Even when factories operate, the distribution system may not be quickly effective.

SLASHES: Reconversion has begun. At present most of the Army-Navy cutbacks are on schedules fixed for the coming months rather than the current level of production; the slash in aircraft is an exception.

Cancellations have been made of blueprints for additional construction, such as tank plants that could not have been completed or put to work before the end of the year.

Rowdy Russia Serves Purpose At Conference

Molotov's Fights "In The Open"

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO.—Russia, the untamable rowdy, with no nice diplomatic manners, is serving a very useful purpose at this United Nations conference. —

In her crude and blunt fashion she has helped to drag diplomacy out of the closet, out of the carefully guarded private conference room, and has pitched it out into the public hall where it can be talked about, as far a cry as that is from what happens in her country.

STOKES

Veterans of international conferences were amazed at the spectacle of the public debate here over admission of Argentina to this conference. Russia provoked it. She insisted on airing in public her opposition to Argentina which, aside from intrinsic merits, was part of her strategy to get Poland seated here. Credit must go, too, to the American and British leaders here for co-operating in this public debate, which was one of the most hopeful signs at the conference.

"Healthy For Future"

Russia lost. She was outvoted. Her strategy was to postpone the Argentine issue for a few days. That would have put the Latin-American country, one of our satellites, in the same waiting status as Poland and would have given her a card in her unceasing campaign to get Poland, her satellite, admitted. She could have played one against the other. But Argentina was seated.

Russia fought the issue all the way through to the end.

And, in so doing, she provided a very exciting day and a very striking contrast to the usual formalities of international conference. Ordinarily everything is settled in the back room. At open sessions you only get formal ratification, cut and dried. It would have been helpful if people all over the world could have sat in the galleries at the War Memorial building here and listened to that public debate started by Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov and participated in by representatives of several nations.

It was most healthy for the future.

MR. MOLOTOV seems to be learning a thing or two—and quick—here in San Francisco, here in the atmosphere of American free speech and an American free press which, locally, seems to publish his picture more than anyone else, and recites his coming and goings with such abandon as is not possible in his own country.

After he had fought in vain against Argentina's admission in the secret sessions of both the Executive Committee of Fourteen and the Steering committee comprising the heads of all delegations, he did what the American politician often does. He called a press conference, his second since he's been here. And it was announced to the newspaper correspondents by "Mike" MacDermott, press chief of our own State department.

Mr. Molotov was frank. He wanted to talk about Argentina. He read statements denouncing the Fascist regime there from both the late President Roosevelt and former Secretary of State Hull, issued only so recently as last Autumn. He considered those "very authoritative." This with a grin. He need not add any Russian comments.

Case Strongly Stated

Perhaps Argentina had changed since. Perhaps the Americans knew more about that than did he. Perhaps. Then, if so, why not give Russia an opportunity to get the facts? He spoke of Poland and her sacrifices and suffering in the war. Argentina finally declared war on the Axis powers only recently.

It was a strong case, persuasively put.

He re-stated it later in the public session of the conference.

BRITISH Foreign Minister Eden sat calmly by in his chair on the rostrum, the presiding officer, as the debate went on before him. Great Britain has her orbit of lesser dependencies and powers, and we have our in Latin America, and this had all been arranged between the two, this business of seating Argentina, in the fashion of old-fashioned diplomacy. And so, of course, does Russia have her orbit.

This is a hang-over from the old days, which is a discouraging side of this conference. But it is relieved somewhat by such things as the free-for-all debate over Argentina. For in that way the truth gets out, or some of it, and maybe the people will catch on in time.

Postal Receipts Here Continue To Increase

Figures showing postal receipts for the month of April released by Amos H. Howard, Lubbock postmaster, show that receipts at the local office continue to show an increase over 1944.

Receipts for the month of April this year totaled $34,507.77, an increase of 6.4 per cent over the same month last year when the total was $32,245.51.

An increase of 15 per cent was shown in receipts for the first four months of 1945 over the corresponding period in 1944. The 1945 total is $151,717.05 as compared with $128,897.95 in 1944.

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Dixon Finds Ivan Enthusiastic And Proud That He's A Russian

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

IN RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED GERMANY—In keeping with a tradition that anyone who has lived in Russia ten days is entitled to write a book, the following dissertation on "What is the Soviet Soldier Really Like?" is based on an hour spent inside the Russian lines in Germany.

The Russian soldier is an enthusiastic, demonstrative sort of GI. This was borne out when they saw us coming and fired machine guns and mortar salutes in honor of the impending junction.

Kenneth Dixon

Debunkers naturally will point out that these salutes kept us pinned down for some time due to the unfortunate fact that they were aimed in our direction. However, that didn't surprise doughboy veterans who have learned long since that even in the American Army any maneuver involving more than two soldiers is bound to get fouled up somewhere.

Stolid And Unhurried

But let us continue. On the other hand the Russian soldier is phlegmatic, stolid and unhurried. On our arrival we said, "Hiya Tovarich. Glad to make your acquaintance. How long have you been here?"

"Four days, Tovarich," replied a sergeant from Kiev calmly. (Naturally, all this was conducted through an interpreter).

"Four days!" we exploded. "Why didn't you come to meet us?"

"We knew you'd get here, Tovarich," said the Soviet sergeant simply, thus demonstrating a realistic appreciation of American fighting ability—or else a subtle sense of humor.

He's Cocky, Yet Quiet

The Russian soldier is extremely cocky in a quiet sort of way which makes it obvious he believes there is only one Army in the world—his own. This was plainly exhibited in a confident attitude, a subdued surprise over the achievements of this particular unit of American soldiers. Over their faces was written as plain as if they had said it, "these guys are almost as good as us."

Now we come to the human qualities of the average Russian. He is stern, even hardhearted, when it comes to dealing with the conquered Germans. If this were not apparent any other way there would be no doubt of it after one look at towns taken by the Russians. Two we passed through in their territory today were completely empty. Every German had fled, bag and baggage. Had those towns been taken by Americans hundreds of the civilian population would have been hanging around hoping for handouts.

Some Find Him Different

Still there was an American sergeant who swore that Russian soldiers were giving part of their food to dispossessed personnel — escaped political prisoners and the like—and otherwise fraternizing with them in a way forbidden to U. S. doughboys.

But at least you know now what the Russian soldier really is like—unless like some of us you think he is made up of too many types of people and like the American GI is too much of an individual to fit any foolish generalities.

Matinee For Aid Of Clothing Drive Set

A special children's matinee with admission in exchange for two and a half pounds of usable discarded clothing for the United National Clothing collection will be presented Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Palace theater, F. A. Kleinschmidt, chairman of the collection announced.

Featured at the matinee will be "The Man from Music Mountain" with Roy Rogers and at least three cartoons. The show will last from 9:30 until 11:30 o'clock, and will be the final part of the clothing collection here. The drive, which was to have ended May 1, was continued here until Saturday.

A total of 169 pounds of clothing was contributed by the Protestant Mexican church in the Mexican quarter of which Rev. Pedro Diaz is pastor. Good substantial clothing for the people of devastated war areas is continuing to come in, and drive workers are pleased with the amount collected, which they expect to exceed 50,000 pounds.

All clothing turned in during the rest of the week should be taken to the headquarters for the collection at Lubbock Auto company warehouse, 809 Texas Ave.
