City responds to golf questions

In a meeting just 35 minutes long Monday night, Hereford City Commissioners took care of two items of business and responded to questions about operation of the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Mayor Tom LeGate also read a letter of resignation from City Secretary Bonna Duke, who has worked for the city for 24 years. Her resignation is effective at the end of February.

Marcy Hughes raised questions about the operation of the golf course in light of the termination of the contract of golf professional Brent Warner, who has also operated the pro shop.

City Manager Chester Nolen announced earlier this month that operation of the golf course would change with the termination. In the future, the pro would be a fulltime city employee, responsible for operation of course and pro shop.

Mrs. Hughes asked if the city planned to buy the golf carts and merchandise stocked by Warner who has held the concession for the pro shop. She also questioned the propriety of the city operating a retail business.

"Why should the city get in the retail business? I don't think the city should be a retailer," said Mrs. Hughes.

Nolen said the city expects to look at proposals that prospective pros might offer, adding that the decision for the city to take over the pro shop could be changed.

Mrs. Hughes suggested that it would be unfair for the city to be in the retail business, with no rent or utility overhead.

Mayor LeGate said there seemed to be some unfairness, also, for the pro shop operator to pay no rent or utilities, as has been the case in the past.

"We're looking at the way it will work best, for this community," said the mayor.

During the business meeting, the commission approved specifications for bids for purchase of three pickups budgeted for the year.

Christmas tree is lit

County Judge Tom Simons, left, was the master of ceremonies for the Christmas tree lighting ceremony held Saturday night at the Deaf Smith County Courthouse. A large group was on hand to sing carols, see the lights on the tree and courthouse, and visit with Santa.

Dirks wins contest

Darrel Dirks of Hereford missed just two games to win the Hereford Brand Football contest last week.

Dirks will win $25 in Hereford Bucks for his effort.

Earning second place and $15 in Hereford Bucks was Jim Crosson. Crosson missed just three games and was closest on the tie-breaker.

Winning third place, and $10 in Hereford Bucks, was Joani Guyer of Amarillo. Guyer missed three games but was a little further off on the tie-breaker.

Another 19 entrants missed only four games last week.

This is the last week before next week's grand prize game. All persons who have placed first, second or third during the first 12 weeks will be in the running for cash prizes of $100 for first, $50 for second and $25 for third place. The regular contest, with weekly prizes of $25, $15 and $10 in Hereford Bucks, will also be held next week.

Also at stake each week is a $500 cash prize for anyone who correctly guesses the winners in the 25 regular games and the winner of the tie-breaker game.

Entry forms and games are in today's edition of the Hereford Brand.

Freed hostages: others may soon be released

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) - Former captives Thomas Sutherland and Terry Waite began their treks home today as officials waited for Lebanese kidnappers to keep their pledge to free the three remaining American hostages.

Waite, a Briton, said after he and Sutherland were released in Beirut that all three Americans could be released by month's end.

Sutherland, 60, carried a similar message to the Rhein-Main Air Force base outside Frankfurt, Germany, early today.

"In about a couple of weeks, all of the Americans will be freed, hopefully," Sutherland said.

"It feels awfully good to be here," said Sutherland, dean of agriculture at the American University of Beirut, who was kidnapped June 9, 1985.

While Sutherland rested in a U.S. Air Force hospital in Wiesbaden, Germany, after his pre-dawn arrival from Syria, his wife, Jean, and a daughter, Kit, flew to Frankfurt. Another daughter, Joan, was arriving later today.

Before being driven to the Wiesbaden hospital, Jean and Kit Sutherland had a joyful meeting at the Frankfurt airport.

Asked what she would say to him, Kit Sutherland, 31, a research associate at Colorado State University, thought and then uttered an Arabic phrase. It means, "Hello, how are you, praise God," she said, recalling that her father had often used the expression.

Waite - an Anglican church envoy abducted Jan. 20, 1987, while on a mission to seek hostage releases - flew home to Britain after a "comfortable" overnight rest at a Royal Air Force hospital in Cyprus, a spokesman for the British military said.

In Damascus on Monday, Waite said one of the kidnappers predicted Americans Alann Steen and Joseph Cicippio would be released "we hope within the next five days." Waite added that the man told him Terry Anderson, the longest-held hostage, would be freed by the end of November.

Waite, wearing a watch given to him by kidnappers, said one of the captors apologized and said they realized "holding hostages achieves no useful, constructive purpose."

Both Sutherland and Waite said they were kept in the same windowless room with Anderson, 44, chief Middle East correspondent of The Associated Press, who was kidnapped March 16, 1985.

"Without Terry Anderson, I couldn't have made it for 6 1/2 years," Sutherland said Monday.

Anderson's sister, Peggy Say, was pleased Anderson helped others "endure and survive."

"I know that there are thousands of Americans ... that have been praying and that are optimistic and that are hoping with me that we will share our Thanksgiving turkey with Terry Anderson," Say said from her home in Cadiz, Ky.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar - who has led recent efforts to free the hostages - said he believes all Western captives may be freed by Christmas.

Six hostages have been freed this year - the most in any year since the first Westerner was seized nine years ago.

Under U.N. mediation, recent hostage releases have been part of a broad exchange involving freedom for Arab prisoners held by Israel and an accounting of Israeli fighters missing in Lebanon.

But the surprise release of Waite and Sutherland was apparently not accompanied by any Israeli prisoner releases, and suggested that Middle Eastern power brokers may be increasing pressure to end the hostage crisis.

A final resolution, however, may require additional concessions from Israel. One of the kidnappers' key demands is the release of Shiite cleric Sheik Abdul-Karim Obeid, who was abducted in 1989. Israel has given no indication that Obeid's release was imminent and says it still needs information on missing servicemen.

Besides the three remaining American hostages, at least four other Westerners are still unaccounted for in Lebanon - two Germans, an Italian and Briton.

Waite said a captor could give him "no further positive information" about missing Germans Heinrich Struebig and Thomas Kempner, kidnapped May 16, 1989.

Neither Waite nor Sutherland mentioned 72-year-old Italian businessman Alberto Molinari, who is believed dead. Briton Alec Collett, who is still missing, is also believed to have died in captivity.

Feds okay congressional maps

WASHINGTON (AP) - Texas Republicans are expressing dismay over Justice Department approval of the state's congressional plan but say they will press forward with their legal challenge to the map.

"Since the state-passed plan walked, talked and quacked like a gerrymander, I, along with many other Texans, expected the Justice Department to call it a gerrymander," Rep. Lamar Smith, R-San Antonio, said Monday.

But, he added, "It is not over. It looks like the rest will be left to the courts."

Late Monday, the Justice Department endorsed the congressional and state Senate redistricting plans, and also approved a state Board of Education map that had stirred little controversy.

In letters to Texas Secretary of State John Hannah, Assistant U.S. Attorney General John R. Dunne said the department approved the congressional and Senate plans solely on the basis of compliance with the Voting Rights Act.

"While we are pre-clearing this plan under Section 5 (of the Voting Rights Act), the extraordinarily convoluted nature of some districts compels me to disclaim any implication that our pre-clearance establishes that the proposed plan is otherwise lawful or constitutional," Dunne wrote.

Texas GOP Chairman Fred Meyer, along with other Republicans who were confident the plans would be rejected, said the fight is not over. The GOP has filed suit in federal court in Austin to overthrow the plans, saying they treat minorities and Republicans unfairly.

"The Justice Department clearly feels like it is kissing a pig by approving the Texas congressional and Senate plans," Meyer said. "The Justice Department letter goes out of its way to explain that the scope of its pre-clearance is very limited and does not address many other major legal

DSGH joins with GASO

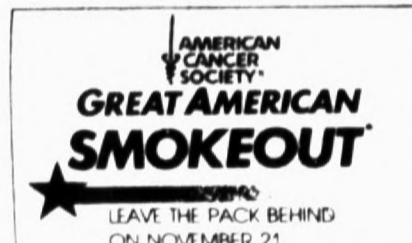

Deaf Smith General Hospital is urging all Hereford and area residents to join the Great American Smokeout Nov. 21, and the American Cancer Society lists two good reasons: Tobacco is the single greatest cause of premature death in the United States, and lung cancer is the number one cause of death from cancer.

"The Smokeout is a good-natured effort by the Cancer Society to encourage smokers to give up their cigarettes for one day," said DSGH administrator Ron Rives. "If smokers see they can quit for 24 hours, they may quit forever."

Rives said the Joint Commission on Accreditation for healthcare organizations has mandated that all hospitals will be smoke-free by Jan. 1, 1992 if the hospital is to remain accredited. "We're very proud of our accreditation and are taking steps to implement that policy," Rives said.

Rives has appointed a committee of department managers to re-write the hospital's smoking policies. The policy will affect employees, patients, medical staff and the community, Rives added.

To make the transition smoother, Lubbock Methodist Hospital will offer Smoke Stoppers, a smoking cessation program. The program is tentatively scheduled for the first part of January.

The Smokeout, observed each year on the third Thursday of November, is in its 15th year. Non-smokers are urged to adopt smokers during the Smokeout, giving them gum, healthy snacks and encouragement during the day.

According to ACS, more than 18 million smokers participated in 1990. About half stayed off cigarettes for the full 24 hours, and almost 5 million were not smoking 1 to 3 days later.

To quit permanently, smokers need support from family, friends and co-workers. The ACS offers the following tips for staying off cigarettes during the Smokeout:

- * Throw out all cigarettes; clean out all ashtrays and put them away; discard matches and give your lighter to someone to hide.
- * Keep busy. Hold a pencil or pen. Chew on carrot sticks or a sucker.
- * Change habits connected with smoking. Leave the dinner table soon after eating to avoid the desire to light up. When answering the phone, reach for gum rather than a cigarette.

Smokers who want to quit can also call the American Cancer Society's toll-free information line (1-800-ACS-2345) to receive 31 days of tips. A brochure, "How to Stay Quit Over the Holidays," is also available.

The Society estimates there will be 161,000 new cases of lung cancer this year. It estimates that tobacco use will cause 434,000 deaths this year alone.

issues which are the foundation of the Republican Party's federal lawsuit against the plans."

A Republican who battled the congressional plan was dejected by its approval.

"Tonight's just a real disappointment because we presented clear alternatives to what the Legislature had done," said Rep. Joe Barton, R-Ennis. "It would have enhanced minority participation substantially and also protected rural Texas, and they chose not to recommend one of the alternatives."

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says people who sing their own praises always get the tune too high.

A feller in the bank was using one of those pens attached to a chain. "How come we trust banks with our money, but they can't trust us with their pens?" he asked a bystander.

If you plan to attend the Fun Breakfast Thursday morning, be sure to call the chamber office. They need a head count to make sure there is enough food. The annual holiday Fun Breakfast will be sponsored by Southwester Bell Telephone.

Another holiday event is the Festival of Trees program starting Thursday at Hereford Senior Citizen Center. Check the schedule of events and try to attend some of the functions!

Despite the weather, Hereford's Holiday Happening was a big success for local merchants here Saturday and Sunday. Many shoppers have already made good comments about the efforts of Hereford merchants to sponsor such an event.

One lady called us and had this to say: "I think it was great. I work and it gave me an opportunity to shop the stores at a leisurely pace, and I enjoyed the friendly atmosphere and seeing my friends as I was shopping. I wish they'd do it again!"

Many of the stores had refreshments and special door prizes, and shoppers seemed to enjoy the festive atmosphere of the special shopping promotion. And, of course, many of them signed up for the chance at one of two $250 cash awards presented as part of the promotion.

Hats off to all the merchants who participated in the event! Now let's give them all the encouragement and business we can as they continue to hold a Holiday Happening for Hereford and area shoppers.

The perception that Christmas shopping was starting much earlier this year was not a sign of middle-age time creep, after all, writes Jim Hudson in the Perryton Herald.

"Thumbing through my calendar, I noticed that Thanksgiving this year falls on Nov. 28, in the last week of the month, while Christmas is still on the 25th of December. Unlike past years, there are only 26 days between Thanksgiving and Christmas!"

He noted, also, that stores in the big city started Christmas sales even earlier and local stores had to compete. At least we waited until after Halloween here in Hereford!

I have a new-found admiration for President Andrew Jackson after reading this item:

In 1836, President Jackson not only had the U.S. out of debt for the first time, but had a surplus of $37.4 million in the national treasury. In 1837 he turned over the White House to Martin Van Buren. By 1840, the U.S. owed 21 cents per capita, and the nation has not been out of debt since.

CORRECTION

In a cutline accompanying the photograph of Edna Schulte's tree for the Festival of Trees at the Hereford Senior Center, it said that Mrs. Schulte had prepared 20 handcrafted eggs for ornaments for the tree.

The cutline should have said 250 eggs were handmade, not 20. Mrs. Schulte, in total manhours, spent 125 hours making the eggs.

The Brand regrets the error.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Shaken by last week's stock market plunge, lawmakers are searching for a way to back away from an effort to cap credit card interest rates.

House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., who had said last week the House likely would act on credit card legislation, said Monday, "I don't think we should rush forward without considering all the possible ramifications."

The House Banking subcommittee on consumer affairs, scheduled to act on a rate cap Monday, canceled its meeting with no new date set.

In the Senate, which last week attached a cap to pending banking legislation, Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas said he was talking with other senators about subsequent amendments to dilute the cap.

The legislators were reacting to a deluge of lobbying and publicity by the banking industry, which blamed the cap proposal for helping cause Friday's 120-point plunge in the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks.

On Monday, the market regained a quarter of the loss.

Lenders said a rate cap would force them to limit cards to only their most creditworthy customers, depriving up to 60 million Americans of their cards and sending the economy into a tailspin. That prospect spooked the market, they said.

The credit card debate was occurring as both chambers of Congress struggled to pass banking legislation rescuing the nearly insolvent Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., which protects the nation's 110 million bank depositors.

The House Banking Committee planned today to consider a bill toughening bank regulation and expanding the taxpayer-backed borrowing authority of the FDIC by $70 billion.

Two previous versions, which also contained Bush administration proposals giving banks broad new business opportunities, were rejected by the House on Nov. 4 and Nov. 14.

The Banking Committee chairman, Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Texas, said he would block any amendments to the stripped-down bill in hope of getting it enacted before Congress recesses next week.

His panel also planned to take up a measure doubling the taxpayer appropriation for the savings and loan bailout to $160 billion from the current $80 billion.

Sen. Donald W. Riegle Jr., D-Mich., chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, said he hoped the Senate would wrap up its work on the banking bill by late today.

However, banking trade groups are lobbying to kill the bill unless the credit card provision, sponsored by Sen. Alfonse D'Amato, R-N.Y., is removed or diluted.

The amendment would link credit card interest to the rate charged by the Internal Revenue Service on overdue taxes. The formula, if in place now, would put a 14 percent ceiling on rates. They currently average 19 percent.

Dole, who voted for the cap last week, said bankers were engaging in "scare tactics," but he conceded there was probably "some truth" in their warnings.

He said he was hoping to come up with a way that would "put a little heat on the banks to take a look at their practices" without imposing a government-required rate ceiling.

Lottery director speculation grows

HARRISBURG (AP) - By Wednesday, Texans will know if it's lottery luck or just a coincidence that Pennsylvania Lottery Director James Scroggins has resigned.

His resignation, announced Monday, comes the same week Texas Comptroller John Sharp is scheduled to name the leader of the newly approved Lone Star State lottery. Voters approved establishing a Texas lottery in the Nov. 5 election.

A spokesman for Sharp in Texas confirmed that Scroggins - with his 20 plus years experience in the lottery industry - is among 40 to 50 candidates from across the nation considered top contenders for the job.

Sharp personally interviewed Scroggins for the $90,000-a-year post, according to spokesman Andy Welch.

"I can't comment about anything specifically," Welch said. But he said Scroggins contacted Texas officials to inform them that his resignation takes effect Nov. 29.

"Mr. Scroggins performed well in his job and he decided, I suspect, to move on to other ventures. I do not know what they might be," said Conrad W. Stauffer, deputy executive director for the Pennsylvania lottery.

"We have been interviewing people for the position of lottery director from all over the country," said Welch from his Austin, Tex., office. "We hope to have that person on board by Dec. 1."

Texas plans to begin selling tickets in July for an estimated $1.2 billion in retail sales in the first 14 months, retaining $461 million as net profit, Welch said. Profits will go directly into the general fund budget.

Pennsylvania's lottery profits totaled about $614.48 million last year to benefit senior citizens.

Henry Cisneros' wife cancels divorce suit

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - A divorce action filed by Mary Alice Cisneros against former Mayor Henry Cisneros has been unexpectedly dropped, lawyers for the estranged couple say.

Seagal Wheatley, the former mayor's lawyer, said Monday's action caught him by surprise.

"He is willing to work with Mary Alice to address the family's problems, as he has always had as a top priority trying to keep the family together, particularly with the extenuating circumstances they have," Wheatley said, speaking for Cisneros.

"He did not file the divorce, but now that it has been dropped, hopefully it will create some environment (in which) to address the family situation," Wheatley said.

Wheatley said Cisneros, 44, hopes to be able to resolve the problems in private.

"We're trying not to discuss the private aspects," he said.

The divorce suit was filed Oct. 18, seeking to dissolve their marriage of 21 years. Mrs. Cisneros asked for custody and support for their two children, Mercedes and John Paul.

In October 1988, while still mayor, Cisneros publicly admitted he was in love with Linda Medlar, a former campaign aide. Both Cisneros and Ms. Medlar, who now lives in Lubbock, say they are no longer involved romantically.

Cisneros, then considered a rising star in Democratic Party circles, declined to seek re-election in 1989 and left the mayor's office to devote full time to Cisneros Asset Management Co., an investment firm.

Herd spikers' title quest halted by Dumas

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Lady Whitefaces volleyball team was stopped short of its goal of a state championship once again by the Dumas Demonettes when the Herd was defeated 12-15, 15-10, 15-10 in Saturday's Region I-4A finals in Amarillo.

The Demonettes, now 33-2 with both losses coming to Hereford, earned yet another trip to the state tournament in Austin, where they have won the state 4A title the last three years.

The Herd finishes with a 26-5 record.

The match, played before a standing room only crowd in the Amarillo High School Activity Center, was a marathon which lasted more than an hour and a half and included an incredible 95 sideouts, according to Hereford coach Brenda Reeh, as neither team would let the other keep momentum for long.

The drama was heightened by the presence of so many seniors on the floor. The Dumas seniors were going for their fourth consecutive state championship, while the Hereford seniors were facing their last chance after challenging last year.

The Demonettes jumped out to a 4-1 lead in the first game, but Hereford came roaring back on the arm of Shantel Cornelius and had a 6-1 run to lead 7-5. Cornelius had six kills during the run, part of an amazing 30 for her in the match.

From that point, both teams slowly scored one point at a time between the many sideouts, with Hereford maintaining a one- to three-point lead until Dumas caught up at 10-10. Cornelius had a quick kill to regain the lead, and another one after a Dumas hitting error, and Hereford led 13-10.

The Demonettes kept coming back, getting to 13-12, but Cornelius' kill got Hereford a sideout. Kyanne Lindley stuffed Dumas' Kisika Cariker for the 14th point, then dropped a dink shot over the net to end the game.

"It felt pretty good," Lindley said. "I saw that hole and just dinked it over their hands."

In the second game, Dumas led 3-2 when Hereford went on a run. Teresa Baker served for five points during the run, and she started it off with a soft ace. Cornelius and Erin Bullard combined on a stuff block, Dumas had two consecutive hitting errors, and Cornelius beat Dumas' Stephani Clement to a ball which was up for grabs along the net. After that kill made the score 7-3 for Hereford, Dumas coach Jack Wilson called an early timeout.

Clement broke Baker's serve with a kill, but followed that up by hitting the ball out on her next try. Cornelius came back with a kill off of Clement's block for another point, and Kara Sandoval's ace made it 9-3.

That's when Dumas's defense stemmed the tide. The Demonettes' defense allowed only one more point while their offense slowly, one at a time, got 12 points.

"I don't think we ever let up," Reeh said. "I think it was a creeping process by Dumas: they'd get a point, then we'd get a sideout, but we wouldn't get a point. I think Dumas made some great defensive saves that kept them in the game. A few of the mistakes they made at the beginning, they eliminated. We just would not get the job done scoring when we had the serve."

Dumas' Wilson said his players are not afraid of big leads.

"We've been down so many times --eight or nine times by that kind of deficit," Wilson said. "Our team has the supreme confidence that we can win any game, anytime, from anywhere on the court."

"That's an attitude all great teams should have," Reeh said. "There's never a lead that's too big on Dumas."

The third game was close until the very end. The latest lead Hereford held was at 4-3 after a pair of kills by Lindley. Soon after that Dumas' Kirah Cowley and Taylor-Ann Harbert had consecutive kills for a 5-4 Dumas lead.

The two teams went back and forth for much of the rest of the game, with Dumas keeping the lead by one or two points (Cornelius' stuff of Clement's hit tied it briefly at 8-8). The Demonettes' biggest lead came when they scored the final three points quickly for the win.

Brek Binder finished second in kills for the Herd with nine, while Lindley had six, Jennifer Hicks had four and Lori Sanders had two.

From the service line, the Herd was led by Baker with 13 points on 18 good serves. Binder had 11 points on 18 good serves, and Sandoval added five points on eight good serves.

The marathon match was conducive to racking up big numbers in several statistical categories. Hereford had quite a few digs, with Binder and Lindley digging 15 shots each and Sanders following with 11, Baker and Cornelius with nine and Hicks with seven.

While the Demonettes and their fans celebrated on the floor, Reeh and the Hereford players stayed in the lockerroom for some time. Reeh said it was an emotional lockerroom.

"If they hadn't put so much into it the last few years, they wouldn't have gone so far," Reeh said after coming out. "It's good that it hurts so bad. That may sound dumb, but you've got to care about something a lot for it to hurt so bad."

On Monday, after two days to reflect, Hereford's seven seniors were still sad and frustrated.

"(We felt) like we were cheated, that we were the ones that were supposed to be there (at the state tournament)," Hicks said.

"We wanted it to be our turn," Binder said. "It's like 'They've had their chance. Why can't it be our turn.'"

The players had reason to believe that maybe it was their turn. They had most of the players back from the 1990 squad which tied Dumas for the District I-4A title and took the Demonettes to three games in the regional finals. Though Dumas also returned most of its players from 1990, Hereford players said several times this season that their goal was nothing less than the state championship.

"The possibility for a state title was much better (this year)," Sanders said, explaining why the feeling after this year's final loss was worse than after last year's final loss.

"It was way different because it was our last year and it felt like a sure thing," Cornelius said. Despite the presence of Dumas in their own district, Cornelius felt a title was a sure thing "because when you believe in yourself and your teammates, you also believe you're unstoppable and there are no limits to your success."

"It's just frustrating: working as hard as Dumas did but not being able to experience the reward of the state tournament," Cornelius said. She mentioned aspects of such a trip, probably the way she dreamed about it, particularly winning the title and "coming back home and everybody going crazy."

Two other seniors said that though

Intensity in Amarillo

Hereford's Shantel Cornelius grimaces as she powers the ball toward Dumas blockers Stephani Clement (left) and Taylor-Ann Harbert. Waiting for the possible block are Lady Whitefaces Erin Bullard (near the blockers) and Brek Binder (behind Cornelius). Dumas won the Region I-4A finals match 12-15, 15-10, 15-10 in Amarillo. Hereford's season ends with a record of 26-5.

they wouldn't have that feeling themselves, some other class in the deep Hereford volleyball program might eventually bring home the big trophy.

"The only consolation," Baker said, "is knowing that our success will make the dreams of the younger athletes more tangible."

Added Cassie Brooks: "The dream is still alive for the Herd volleyball program."

Lady cagers scrimmage Vega

Hereford's girls' basketball team met Vega in scrimmage Saturday in Hereford in preparation for the Lady Whitefaces season opener tonight (5 p.m.) against Brownfield at South Plains College in Levelland.

Coach Dickie Faught said the teams played five quarters against Vega, with Hereford winning one and losing another on a last-second shot.

"Our press and defense made progress, but our offense and rebounding need some work," Faught said, adding that Vega's several starters who approach six feet tall made rebounding tough.

"The kids played real hard," he said. "If they do that all year, we'll do all right."

Thurman Thomas of the Buffalo Bills averaged 104.4 yards rushing per game at Oklahoma State.

Bills capitalize on turnovers; blast Dolphins

MIAMI (AP) - The Miami Dolphins thought they had a chance to win, and the Buffalo Bills took it away.

Buffalo recovered three fumbles, intercepted Dan Marino twice, turned the turnovers into 17 points and beat the Dolphins 41-27 Monday night.

The Bills, who went into the game with the second-worst giveaway-takeaway ratio in the AFC, committed no turnovers themselves.

"In the first eight games we were pretty pitiful as far as turnovers," quarterback Jim Kelly said. "The last couple of games we've started to realize what we have to do. We have to take the ball away and not give it away."

Buffalo's offense wasn't even needed following the first turnover. Blitzing linebacker Corneilus Bennett forced a fumble by Marino, recovered and scored on a 6-yard return.

"I always try to set the tempo of the game by making a big play," Bennett said, "and the last few weeks I've been able to do that."

Buffalo improved to 10-1, best in the AFC and four games ahead of the second-place New York Jets in the Eastern Division. Miami fell to 5-6.

"You have to play almost perfect football to beat the Bills the way they're playing right now," Marino said, "and we're not doing that."

The Bills mounted scoring drives of 83, 65, 72 and 89 yards. Thurman Thomas rushed for 135 yards in 23 carries and scored twice. Kelly threw for three touchdowns, including two to Andre Reed.

The 41 points were the most scored by Buffalo against Miami in a regular-season game since their first meeting in 1966, won by the Bills 58-24. The Bills beat the Dolphins 44-34 in the playoffs last January.

Buffalo is accustomed to production from its offense, ranked No. 1 in the NFL. Big plays by the Bills' defense, ranked third-worst, have been much less frequent.

The first and biggest turnover came when a blitzing Bennett beat tackle Mark Dennis to the outside, knocked the ball from Marino's cocked right hand, fell on the fumble, stood up and dashed into the end zone. That gave Buffalo the lead for good at 17-10 midway in the second quarter.

"I had my mind made up no matter how many guys blocked me that I was going to get in there and get a sack," Bennett said. "But I didn't know I was going to cause a fumble and recover it and score a touchdown."

With such lopsided turnover figures, Miami coach Don Shula said, "there's just no way you're going to win a game against a team with that kind of talent."

Kelly completed 20 of 28 passes for 185 yards and touchdowns covering 5 and 23 yards to Reed and 10 yards to Thomas.

"I told the guys we had to keep going," Kelly said, "because I knew even with a 21-point lead, when you're playing against a guy like Marino, he can still catch you."

Thomas topped the 100 mark in rushing for the seventh time this season and passed the 1,000-yard rushing mark for the third consecutive season. Kenneth Davis added 98 yards rushing on 25 carries.

Aside from the turnovers, Miami moved the ball enough to stay with the Bills. Marino completed 23 of 42 passes for 326 yards and two touchdowns, and Sammie Smith rushed for 64 yards and his first score of the season.

Davis contributes in debut

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - It took longer than expected to get Dale Davis into an Indiana Pacers uniform. The Pacers are feeling the wait was worthwhile after his NBA debut.

The 6-foot-11 forward from Clemson ended his holdout Monday, and the three-time Atlantic Coast Conference rebounding leader made an immediate impression on his new teammates in a 118-101 victory over the Detroit Pistons.

Davis didn't score, but he had two blocks and five rebounds in 13 minutes of the only NBA game played Monday night.

"It's been a long wait for me and I'm very excited. It got frustrating at times, but you deal with it," Davis said.

"I thought his defense for his first game deserves respect. He was a presence on the floor and I think he'll get respect quickly," said Indiana coach Bob Hill.

"We needed some help with the boards and that's what he's supposed to be best at," said Rik Smits, who scored 13 of his 26 points in the third quarter and made a three-point play that put the Pacers ahead to stay while igniting a 25-9 second-half spurt.

With the score tied 69-69, Smits hit a 10-footer despite being fouled by Bill Laimbeer, and the free throw gave Indiana a 72-69 edge with 5:41 left in the third quarter. Smits, who has scored in double figures in all 11 games this season, had two more baskets as Indiana pulled away to an 87-75 advantage after three quarters.

Detroit, which dropped its fourth game in five starts, drew no closer than nine points in the final period.

"Smits had a good game, he was hot, unstoppable on the post," said

Isiah Thomas, who led the Pistons with 27 points.

Detroit, which got 19 rebounds from Dennis Rodman, closed to 87-78 on a three-point play by Thomas with 11:16 left in the game. But Indiana, which lost six of its previous seven games, scored the next seven points and went on to lead by as many as 21.

To make room on their roster for Davis, the Pacers released forward Mike Sanders, who played for Phoenix, Cleveland and Indiana in his nine-year career. Sanders had averaged 2.7 points in a reserve role in Indiana's first 10 games.

"You're always sorry to see a teammate cut," said Indiana guard Micheal Williams, who had 22 points and 14 assists, his fourth double-double of the season. "But, it's encouraging what he did tonight."

Tech looks for win in Dome

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) - For Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes, the Houston Astrodome's nickname "House of Pain" couldn't be more apt.

Texas Tech has not beaten the University of Houston in the Astrodome since the Cougars joined the Southwest Conference in 1976.

The Red Raiders, who play at Houston Nov. 30, are 0-6-1 against the Cougars and even dropped a 27-24 decision to Nebraska in the Astrodome in the 1976 Bluebonnet Bowl.

"That place hasn't been too friendly," Dykes said. "We'll have to figure some way to unlock that jinx."

Dykes said Houston, which plays at TCU this week, is on the rise with a healthy David Klingler.

Klingler came off the bench with bruised ribs and a groin pull to throw five touchdowns and lead the Cougars to a 41-21 victory over Rice Saturday.

"There have been weeks when Klingler didn't play very well and Houston didn't play very well," Dykes said. "But he is back and when he's healthy, watch out."

The Red Raiders, who are idle this week, played their best game of the season Saturday in a 31-24 upset of Baylor, which accepted a bid Sunday to play in the Copper Bowl.

Tech's recent victories over SMU, Rice, Arkansas and Baylor have given the Raiders a glimmer of hope for a berth in the Independence Bowl.

Arkansas would need to lose to Rice this week, and the Raiders would have to beat Houston for consideration from Independence Bowl officials.

"(The Independence Bowl officials) told me they weren't in any hurry to make a decision," Dykes said. "So as far as the bowl picture, there is a very, very, very slim chance."

"But first we have to beat Houston at the Astrodome, where we have never won before, so let's not jump the gun."

Texas Tech coach Spike Dykes says the Red Raiders' upset of Baylor typifies his team's entire season.

"We didn't start out very good (against the Bears), in fact, we looked kind of shaky," Dykes said Monday.

"But we hung in there. Our defense got a couple of turnovers and then we got cranked up offensively and played outstanding."

The loss knocked the Bears from No. 20 out of The AP Top 25.

Dykes still is mystified by his team's 1-4 start and the Red Raiders' subsequent turnaround, in which they've won four of five.

"You rethink it and wonder if 'I would've, could've, should've,' but once the game is over it's over," Dykes said. "There was nothing at the beginning of the season that you could really put your finger on."

"We had fire and we had powder but we just didn't have any fuse," Dykes said. "We couldn't get the fire to the powder and when you don't do that it's always a mystery."

Brains Plus Brawn
GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) - Brains and brawn are a potent mixture in college football and student politics.

Defensive lineman Brad Culpepper of the University of Florida was elected student-body vice-president. His off-the-field jobs will include a number of duties, including oversight of the student government's 16 cabinet positions.

The stalwart Culpepper is a three-time member of the Southeastern Conference's all-academic football team.

Good Memories
SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) - Race fans with good memories may have been among those who profited by Jim Dandy's upset victory in the 1930 Travers Stakes at Saratoga at odds of 100-1.

Jim Dandy skimmed swiftly over a muddy track to humble the champion Gallant Fox and contender Whichone, in addition to Sun Falcon.

One year before on a similar muddy strip, Jim Dandy had won a prestigious race for 2-year-olds, the Grand Union Hotel Stakes.

Alpha Iota Mu holds bake sale

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 25 years old and have grown up reading your column. I want to thank you for your relentless admonition to get counseling. It took me a long time to get the courage to talk to a mental health professional, but because you kept hammering away, I did it.

I am a pedophile. I know the subject of pedophilia is gross, but this sickness needs to be understood. Ever since I was a child, I have had sexual thoughts about children. I always knew this was wrong but I couldn't help it.

From the age of 12 to 17, I molested several neighborhood kids. I quit when I turned 18 because I knew I'd be in serious legal trouble if I were caught. I finally decided I had to put myself in therapy before something terrible happened. There were times when I came pretty close.

My counselor works with the sex offenders program in this state. He has been helping me to grow up and place my anger where it belongs. I have been in therapy for 18 months and see a lot of changes in the way I think and behave. I now choose to avoid putting myself into situations where I might be tempted.

I urge anyone who has these feelings to listen to me. You have a sickness. Getting well requires a tremendous amount of counseling and constant vigilance. You cannot do it on your own. Get help before you ruin some lives and screw up your own.—Any City, Any State

DEAR A.C., A.S.: Thanks for a letter that only a person with the problem could have written. Take my word for it, you connected with a lot of child molesters today, and I thank you. People need to know this is a sickness and if not treated it can and does ruin lives.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband worked in his father's small business for 15 years. "Hal's" salary was very small but he didn't complain because his father told him repeatedly that he would inherit the business.

Two years ago, when I became pregnant with our second child, Hal suggested he and his dad form a partnership because we had very little money and no health insurance. His father explained that there were sizable tax advantages to the business if things were left as is.

Last year my father-in-law died suddenly of a heart attack. While grieving for this man whom we loved, we were shocked to learn that his will did not specify what was to happen to the business. Now my husband's brother wants "his share" although he never worked there. Over the years this brother had been given significant sums of cash in lieu of any stake in the business, but this was never written down. Now that he is being divorced, he needs "settlement money" and insists he has a legal right to half of his father's estate.

An attorney has told us that he is on solid ground. He says a lawsuit would be costly and we would probably lose.

Ann, print this. Warn your readers to get everything in writing and clear it with a lawyer or they might end up like us.—Broke and Heartsick.

DEAR FRIENDS: Your letter says it far better than I could. Thanks for an excellent example of what can happen when one assumes that everyone is fair and honorable. More family relationships are ruined over dividing estates than any single factor. Benjamin Franklin said it best: "You never know what a man is like until you share an inheritance with him."

When planning a wedding, who pays for what? Who stands where? "The Ann Landers Guides for Brides" has all the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

Put all your business risks in one package.

A single package of business insurance gives you more than convenience. It also assures you that your buildings, contents and liability exposures are fully covered and that you're not paying extra for duplicate coverage from separate sources.

Our independent agency often recommends the Business Account Program from the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several we represent. One reason is the broad coverage which is provided automatically by this program. And there's never a doubt about who's responsible for your coverage when a claim occurs.

Let us help provide you with a package policy specially designed for your business.

Garden club visits historical house

The Bud to Blossom Garden Club met Thursday at the Hudspeth House in Canyon, Texas.

Club members were given a tour of the 35 room house. Following the tour they were served lunch in the dining room, the Georgia O' Keeffe Room. O'Keeffe had been a frequent visitor to the home when she was a faculty member at West Texas State University.

After the lunch, club members held their regular club meeting with Phyllis Brown, president, presiding. Plans were made to attend the "Festival of Trees" at the Amarillo Garden Center in December and to decorated the halls of Westgate Nursing Home on December 3.

Mildred Fuhrmann reported on the Northern Zone meeting held Nov. 6 at the Amarillo Garden Center. Members attended a workshop on parliamentary procedure and a program entitled "Fruits and Vegetables for Holiday Tables," which was presented by Wynon Mayes, Randall County Extension Agent. Ursalee Jacobsen, Brown, Patricia Robinson, Naomie Hare and Fuhrmann attended the workshops.

Those attending the Hudspeth House included: Joanne Blackwell, Pauline Mandina, Hare, Fuhrmann and Brown.

TIPS ON— HOW TO WRITE A CLASSIFIED AD THAT SELLS

REFRIGERATOR/FREEZER, General Electric, 19 cu. ft., three years old, gold, automatic ice maker, automatic defrost, like-new condition. $400 or best offer! Moving, must sell immediately. Call Saturday between 8AM and 9PM. 000-0000

1. Use a KEYWORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what it is you have to sell.
2. Make your description CLEAR and FACTUAL. State the year, make, model, color, size, and tell what condition the item is. Also state the special features.
3. State the PRICE. Successful Classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances for results.
4. If there's a genuine sense of URGENCY, say so. The words, "We're Moving" or "Must Sell Fast" suggests that readers respond immediately.
5. Include your PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 6 PM" or "Before 11 AM".

If you need assistance ask one of our friendly AD-VISORS to help you word your ad.

Quilt auction discussed by study club

The Nouvelle Ami Study Club met for the November program on Nov. 14 in the home of Laurie Paetzold. For the program, members continued quilting on a quilt to be raffled off at the Dec. 14 craft show at the Community Center.

During the business meeting, it was decided to adopt a family for Christmas and to make pumpkin rolls for sale. Plans for the Christmas party were also finalized.

It was announced that anyone interested in purchasing tickets for the quilt raffle or purchasing pumpkin rolls for the holidays should contact a club member.

Members present included: Paetzold, Shawnay Sparkman, Leah Lee, Mary Rose, Cookie Taylor, Jeannie Noggler, Lynette Butler, Charlotte Collier, Emily Christie, Kim Rogers, Tonya Setliff, Stephanie Ogle, Kim Wilcox, Missy Wilcox and Emily Knight. Krista Farrel was the guest.

HSB serves hot drinks

Sharon Hernandez, left, of Hereford State Bank pours hot chocolate for her husband, David, and for LaJean and Joe Henry on Saturday night. The chocolate kept everyone warm at the Christmas tree lighting ceremony held across the street at the courthouse.

Club plans to donate food basket

Plans were made for a Christmas Basket for a needy family by the Lone Star Study Club. The club met in the home of Birdene Huff recently.

Mildred Fuhrman and Betty Jo Carlson are responsible for the selection of a family.

Audine Dettmann reviewed the book "Papa My Father" in which Felipi describes the life of an Italian family in America and the lessons taught by the father.

Wilma Goetsch and Huff served refreshments to Carlson, Oneita Davidson, Margaret Ann Durham, Fuhrman, Byrdie Fellers, Naomie Hare, Ursalee Jacobsen, Retta Ramp, Rieley Stevensen, Marjorie Thomas, Quintna Waits, Gladys Willoughby, and Winnie Wiseman.

The next meeting will be Dec. 10 for a musical Christmas program. Grace Tinnin will be hostess.

NEW YORK (AP) - Tennis star Chris Evert has won six U.S. Opens, seven French Opens, three Wimbledon and two Australian Opens. But having a baby was the greatest prize of all.

"The great high of winning Wimbledon lasts for about a week. You do go down in the record books, but you don't have anything tangible to hold on to," the new mother said in the latest issue of People magazine.

"But having a baby - there just isn't any comparison."

After a difficult pregnancy and prolonged labor - doctors had to perform an emergency Caesarean - Evert, 36, gave birth to Alexander James on Oct. 12.

Evert is married to 38-year-old Andy Mills, a former skier.

Hints from Heloise

SCHOOL PICTURES

Dear Heloise: When I was getting ready to move, I came across a box of mementos from my high-school days. Of course, I couldn't resist the urge to sit and look at all the old friends I hadn't seen in so many years.

I was reading some of the comments in my yearbook and laughing when my children came to see what was keeping me. I began to tell them about some of the great adventures "Shorty" and I had in high school and was going to show them her picture in the yearbook when I drew a total blank. I couldn't for the life of me remember her real name or find her picture.

I spent the rest of the week trying to remember her name. (You know how it is when you can't quite remember and it's right on the tip of your tongue!)

Might I suggest that when you sign a yearbook or write on the back of a photo that you put a first and last name as well as a nickname. — "Freckles," Omaha, Neb.

So true! Years later there may be several Judys or Bobs in your life. — Heloise

DONATE TOWELS

Dear Heloise: Please tell your readers to forget about giving their old towels to veterinarians. I give all my old towels, sheets and rugs to the local animal shelter. They desperately need these items along with your donations. — Rita Lombard, Columbia, Md.

I'm thrilled you offered another alternative for old towels and sheets. I'm sure the animal shelters across the country will be thanking you. — Heloise
