New Evidence To Convict Suspect Found By State

WOOD IS MATCHED BY EXPERTS TO PLACE GERMAN ON SPOT

(By The Associated Press)

FLEMINGTON, N. J., Dec. 10.—Two pieces of wood, one a rung in the Lindbergh kidnap ladder, the other taken from Bruno Richard Hauptmann's home, were joined by state experts today—and found to fit perfectly.

In the report of Arthur Kohler, wood expert, officials saw proof of Hunterdon County Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck, jr's assertion that the state has found "important new evidence" which will "definitely tie Hauptmann to the electric chair."

With Other Evidence

The stick of wood from Hauptmann's Bronx home reposes beside the ladder in the state's gallery of evidence to be produced for exhibit when Hauptmann goes on trial January 2 for the Lindbergh kidnap-killing.

Frederick A Pope, associate counsel, refused to believe the report of Kohler's findings.

"If this were true, it would have been disclosed months ago," Pope said. "I do not believe it is true because I am satisfied that Hauptmann had nothing to do with the kidnaping."

Kohler associated with the U. S. forestry service laboratory at Madison, Wis., examined the kidnap ladder minutely for months before linking it to Hauptmann's home.

Find Another Piece

One ladder rung differed in grain and substance from every other piece of wood in the ladder, Kohler found. It is a flat piece of wood about a foot long, three inches wide and less than one inch thick.

Investigators, studying a trap door leading to the attic from the ceiling of a second floor room in Hauptmann's house, found another piece of the same size nailed against the side of the aperture, apparently to support the top end of a ladder.

Kohler matched this against the rung from the kidnap ladder and concluded that originally they had been part of the same stick. He held the roughly sawed edges together, he reported, and found that they fitted.

The trial of the former Cleveland chemistry worker who turned ship's steward was resumed with Mrs. Wyeth Doak likely to be among the witnesses called by the prosecution.

DEATH MYSTERY GROWS

LEADERS OVER NATION ARE GATHERING

PRESIDENT WRITES A SPEECH TO OFFER AT OPENING

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—President Roosevelt assumed today the leadership in the nation's drive against the underworld.

As more than 750 persons seized in a "big push" against the narcotics evil awaited hearings from coast to coast, the president wrote a speech on the crime situation for tonight's opening of Attorney General Cummings' crime conference.

Hundreds Present

Five hundred delegates—including some of the foremost criminologists, judges, lawyers, socialogists and officials—are here for the four-day meeting. The aim will be a closely-knit national program to make the country more law-abiding.

Many suggestions were heard, including:

1. H. J. Anslinger, chief of the treasury's narcotic bureau, said the week-end raids in which the government seized peddlers, addicts, equipment and automobiles, showed the need for more drastic laws against the evil. At present, the treasury acts under its taxing powers.

May Chart Drive

2. The conference may chart a drive against shady lawyers. Cummings is said to believe more drastic use of prosecution and disbarment is one answer. Mayer C. Goldman, New York lawyer, suggested that private counsel in criminal cases be abolished and that a system of state defense lawyers be established.

3 Treasury officials would like to have their police authority against bootlegging broadened.

4 A national criminological institute has been projected. This would be a clearing house for information and possibly a school for training peace officers.

Hurley To Call Session

Patrick J Hurley, former secretary of war, will call tonight's gathering to order as chairman of the reception committee. Cummings and Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of state, will precede Mr. Roosevelt as speakers.

The government announced late yesterday that arrests in the narcotics raids totaled 587 men and 178 women. There are indications that a second foray may follow swiftly.

Anslinger said the raids showed peddlers are finding it harder to get dope. Much of the stuff seized was adulterated.

Nitro Blast Fatal For Man; Is Blown To Bits

WOMAN BLOWN OUT OF BED HALF MILE AWAY; BREAKS A LEG WHILE RUNNING FROM HOME

(By The Associated Press)

PAMPA, Dec. 10—The explosion of 200 quarts of nitroglycerin today killed Charlie Price and blew his truck to bits.

Price, an independent oil well "shooter," had just reached the foot of a small hill when the blast occurred. Parts of the truck were strewn over an area of 500 feet in diameter and a hole five feet deep was blown in the ground.

Mrs. C. N. Suttle, living on an oil lease half a mile away, was blown out of bed and, in excitedly running from her house, fell and broke her leg.

An engine house at an oil well 450 feet away was blown down and machinery was damaged.

Price, about 49, was to have joined P. A. Riley, Pampa nitro expert, in shooting a well this morning.

Oil Poured Upon Troubled Waters

NATIONAL HONOR OF HUNGARY IS NOT HELD TO LIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

GENEVA, Dec. 10.—Nicolas Titulescu, foreign minister of Rumania, poured oil in the troubled waters of Hungarian-Yugoslav relations today by telling the League of Nations council that Yugoslavia's appeal against Hungary in no way questioned the national honor of Hungary.

Since Titulescu is a recognized leader in the little entente of Yugoslavia, Rumania and Czechoslovakia, his words were regarded as in the nature of an official olive branch.

Hope For Agreement

The statesmen present in the council chamber were hopeful that Hungary would follow Yugoslavia's lead in accepting a league plan for settlement of the dispute between Yugoslavia and Hungary.

Then France introduced the draft of a treaty providing for the creation of an international criminal court for the repression of terrorism. It would be permanent and would consist of five members.

The new League plan was described as a compromise prepared in such a form that statesmen had every hope Hungary would accept it.

Probe Is Invited

It was reported to involve an invitation to Hungary to conduct a rigid investigation of the murder of King Alexander of Yugoslavia at Marseille and to punish anyone found guilty of connection with the crime.

This proposal was first made by Pierre Laval, French foreign minister, in a speech to the council of the League of Nations.

Provisions of the plan have been

PRESIDENT CALLS UPON FARMERS FOR CONTINUED SUPPORT IN COMING YEAR

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—President Roosevelt in a telephone talk today to the American Farm Bureau Federation noted a billion dollar increase in farm income this year and warned that production must be continued on a basis of actual demands.

Mr. Roosevelt spoke from his desk in the White House to the federation meeting in Nashville, Tenn. He said:

"My friends of the Farm Bureau:

"You and I know that the year now ending has been one of significant accomplishment for agriculture. Despite the worst drouth of record, farm income is running about a billion dollars above last year.

"All of us would like to see an even larger increase in 1935, but we know that this can not come unless, in the first place, industrial production increases sufficiently to expand the market for farm products; unless in the second place, more of our export trade is paid for by increased imports; and unless, in the third place, agriculture con-

FOUR BILLION PASSED OUT FOR YEAR

RELIEF IN MANIFOLD FORMS HAS TAKEN BIGGEST SLICE

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.—Uncle Sam approaches this Christmastide with the knowledge that since the first of the year he has passed out more than four and a quarter billion dollars in his gigantic emergency drive to assist business, the farmer and the needy.

Treasury figures show that $4,348,947,418 was advanced from January 1 to December 1 to care for the needy and bolster private and public enterprise. Of this sum, the government expects to get back less than one-ifiifth.

Outside General Outlay

These expenditures, designated as "emergency" were outside the regular yearly outlay, classed as "general expenditures," for normal government operations.

Total expenditures for all purposes amounted to $7,361,815,007, compared with $4,385,397,974 for the same period last year.

Emergency expenditures for the 11 months of 1933 were $1,489,562,210, but treasury officials say this does not afford a basis of comparison with 1934 because last year many emergency expenditures were made from money available for general purposes and therefore did not appear in the records as emergency spending.

Relief Biggest Slice

Relief in manifold forms has taken $1,948,179,269, the largest slice of the treasury's 1934 spending. In this category are not only direct payments for feeding and clothing the needy but allotments for aiding agriculture, and the distressed home owner and for insuring bank depositors.

The next highest sum was $1,326,298,632 for public works. This included loans and grants to states and municipalities, loans to railroads, funds for setting up subsistence homesteads, building highways and carrying on such projects as the Tennessee valley development and Boulder canyon dam.

For industrial recovery, $1,074,469,517 was set aside. This included credit to banks, industries and railroads.

Purchase Of Cattle Starts In Lubbock

Purchase of 3,000 head of cattle for the federal government through a resumption of buying, started this morning, according to P. T. Montfort, county agent.

Last week the county was alloted 3,000 head under the new program. This is in addition to a 500 head allotment made several weeks ago. Total purchases for the county, with completion of the new allotment, is expected to approach 16,000, as 12,400 were bought in the first program.

A veterinarian and an appraiser will work throughout the campaign in the county.

SYMPATHY FOR A STRANGER LEADS TO JAIL ESCAPE

ELLENSBURG, Wash., Dec. 10 (AP)—Sympathy of Deputy Sheriff Gus Lindeman for a stranger with a rag-bandaged hand led to a jail delivery and the kidnaping of a motorist which placed police on the move throughout the state today.

Pleading that he required medical attention for an injury, the stranger induced Lindeman to admit him to jail.

Once inside he tossed off the rags, produced a pistol and forced the deputy to release Martin Hogan, who was awaiting sentence on conviction of wounding a druggist in a holdup.

Hogan and the gunman abducted Clarence Farrel, theater manager, in his motor car to expedite their escape.

AUTO DRIVERS ARE WARNED

PEDESTRIANS RECEIVE WARNING ALSO; TO "TIGHTEN UP"

Motorists and pedestrians alike must be more cautious and law abiding, Chief of Police H. L. (Bud) Johnston warned this morning.

Unless an appreciable decline in traffic law violations becomes evident quickly, his department will "tighten up," the police chief said.

Should Obey Rules

Drivers evidently do not realize, he reflected, that they frequently are culpable in accidents resulting in injuries or death.

With drivers and persons afoot alike frequently ignoring stoplines and lights, the police chief pointed out that motorists should obey them to avoid striking another car or a person, and the pedestrian for his own safety's sake.

Will "Pour It On"

"The city won't need the money but we're going to have to pour it on them if they don't respect the laws," said the police chief. Something must be done to "make them (the offenders) think."

Intoxicated driving has ascended in number and offenders hereafter probably will be transferred directly to county authorities to await felony complaints, the police chief said.

He asked that parents instruct their children to obey traffic signals and that college students stop walking in the streets.

SECOND YOUTH FOUND SHOT AT TULSA

SIDNEY BORN SHOOTS HIMSELF; WITNESS IN GORRELL CASE

(By The Associated Press)

TULSA, Dec. 10.—The sudden death of young Sidney Born—police call it suicide—has plunged the "Gorrell case" into new and deeper mystery.

The youth was found dead yesterday under the steering wheel of his father's automobile, a bullet through his head and his father's pistol lying in his lap.

Admits Driving Car

Born, who was 19 years old, had previously told police that he had driven young Phillip Kennamer, also, 19, to the place where Kennamer and John Gorrell met and where Gorrell was shot and killed by Kennamer.

Kennamer, who admitted the shooting and claimed he fired in self defense, is held in jail on a murder charge. He is the son of a federal judge.

Born was found shot yesterday less than 15 minutes after he had tried unsuccessfully to reach young Kennamer by telephone. Calling from a drug store pay station, Born asked the jailer to let Kennamer come to the phone. The jailer refused.

Declared A Suicide

"Oh, hell," Born was heard to say as he hung up.

The place where Born was found shot to death was about a mile from the spot where Gorrell, young dentistry student, was killed.

"It's suicide," declared Sergt. Henry B. Maddux, in charge of the investigation of the Gorrell slaying.

"My son would never have done such a thing," asserted Prof. Sidney Born, prominent engineer and member of the University of Tulsa faculty. "He was too level headed."

"Isn't that awful?" exclaimed young Kennamer.

Time Is Short

Maddux pointed out from the time young Born left the drug store, where his end of the telephone conversation with Schultz was overheard by Fred Adams, an employe, and Paul Fowler, the drug

IS THIS TOO GOOD FOR YOUR COUGH?

Creomulsion may be a better help than you need. It combines seven helps in one. It is made for quick relief, for safety.

Mild coughs often yield to lesser helps. No one can tell. No one knows which factor will do most for any certain cough. So careful people, more and more, are using Creomulsion for any cough that starts.

The cost is a little more than a single help. But your druggist is authorized to guarantee it, so it costs nothing if it fails to bring you quick relief. Coughs are danger signals. For safety's sake, deal with them in the best way known. (adv.)

They have appeared in 15 concerts at Carnegie Hall, New York, and before kings, queens, emperors, sultans and all ranks of nobility throughout the entire world. The chorus now making a trans-continental tour of the country, recently returned from a series of appearances in Japan and China.

A balalaiki orchestra is carried by the organization and fiery Slavic dances given by lithe Russian men and girls supplement the program. All the dances are done in characteristic costumes.

Director of the chorus is Agreneva Slaviansky, one of the few internationally recognized women conductors. Accompanist is Mlle. Mara Slaviansky, daughter of the conductor. Another member of the chorus is Ivan Butenko basso. The chorus has been in existence for almost 80 years and for 47 years Butenko has been a member.

REPORT IS MADE ON PLANE WRECK

A federal inspector found no fault in the aircraft in which three young men plunged to death Sunday, Oct. 7, near Brownfield, W. C. Breedlove, municipal airport manager here said today.

Neither the plane nor the pilot, Manuel Kelm, 24, of Littlefield, was licensed.

H. W. Delany of Dallas, an inspector for the bureau of aeronautics of the United States department of commerce, inspected the wrecked ship last mid-week, Breedlove said.

The plane had a commercial license before Kelm bought it.

The motor evidently stalled when he attempted to climb too steeply and unseasoned as he was, he immediately attempted to raise the nose of the ship, instead of regaining part of the lost speed on a downward glide before trying to lift the nose, it was said.

Offerings were generally light, but after the initial demand had been supplied prices eased slightly under realizing and some sellings of May which traders regarded as against operations in producers' pool cotton. This amounted to only a few thousand bales, however, with the market quiet and steady at the end of the first half hour.

Liverpool cables reported a featureless market.

The market was very quiet later and prices moved within a range of 5 or 6 points. At midday March was holding around 12.54, with active months generally about net unchanged to 1 point higher. Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 10. (AP)—The stock market acted a little tired today and leading issues were inclined to move cautiously.

At the same time few shares were subjected to undue pressure and scattered specialties again exemplified the selectivity of operations by pushing into higher ground. Trading was dull in the early hours, Washington was being watched closely for stimulating news which was expected to appear momentarily.

Grains at Chicago were a bit under water. The anticipated expansion of imports was a factor in the pit dealings. Cotton was barely steady. Bonds were narrow and quiet, as were most leading foreign exchanges.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Dec. 10 (AP)—Grain prices underwent early setbacks today, influenced by arrivals of feed wheat from Canada. The outlook also was that the United States wheat visible supply total today would not decrease nearly as much as of this time last year.

Opening 1-8 to 3-8 lower, May 1 C2 3-4 to 7-8, wheat afterward showed an additional decline. Corn started 1-2 off to 1-8 up, May 89 5-8 to 3-4, and subsequently receded all around.

"Marble Menace"

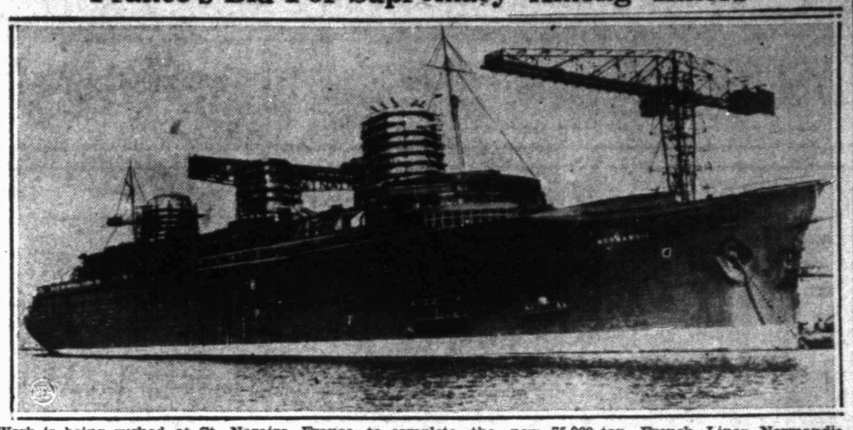

Is Aphrodite of Samos, classical sculpture by some unknown ancient Greek, a marble menace to public morals? The Rockefeller Center public relations officials said yes, and banned pictures of the statue from the announcement cases of the big New York skyscraper. However, if you have the price you can see the statue itself in the Fine Arts Exposition housed in the building.

Ultra-Liberals To Seek Party Leader

ST. PAUL, Dec. 10. (AP)—The leaders of ultra-liberals are looking today to the time when, they say, a third party president will sit in the White House and effect a co-operative commonwealth.

"We believe capitalism has failed," said Howard Y. Williams, national organizer for the farmer-labor party. "Third parties are under way in half a dozen states and will be in others soon. We shall have a national third party to elect a president that will set up the cooperative commonwealth."

France's Bid For Supremacy Among Liners

Work is being rushed at St. Nazaire, France, to complete the new 75,000-ton French Liner Normandie, which will be the largest ship aflost until its British rival, the Queen Mary, takes to the high seas. How nearly ready for its maiden voyage the Normandie is can be judged from this picture, just arrived in America. Dangling overside is the scaffolding on which workers ready the hull for its final coat of glistening paint. Even the huge stacks seem to have reached their topmost height.

Too Much Money

HUTCHINSON, Kas. — The school board is financially embarrassed and is going to be compelled to plead with the bankers—to accept money, not to loan it.

It seems that when the December tax distribution is made, the board will have $173,000 more than may be deposited legally in the banks unless the banks post more security.

Home For Xmas

SIMCOE, Ontario — Joseph Jackson Culver, believed dead for thirteen years, will spend Christmas with his wife and son.

In old clothes and with little money, Culver disappeared December 13, 1921, and nothing was heard of him until his wife received a letter from him this week from Calgary, Alta., where the Culvers once lived.

Frozen Assets

ST. LOUIS—When icy blasts froze tight the engine of his truck, Bill Jones, a negro, built a fire under it to thaw it out. Firemen saved the wheels and axles.

Better Late

ST. LOUIS—A homing pigeon, back in the loft of Tony Horak, has established some sort of a record for endurance.

Two years and two months after it left Little Rock, Ark., for St. Louis in a 300-mile cup race—ordinarily an eight-hour flight—the pigeon landed here. Thirty-four others in the race, which began in a severe electrical storm, have never been sighted.

The Reinforcements

TITUSVILLE, Pa.—It's no use trying to scare a bear all by yourself. Ask Sam Reynolds.

Sam stood on a log looking for deer. A bear crashed out of the brush and on toward Sam.

"I yelled and waved my arms and screetched, but he came right on," was Reynolds' story.

The yells brought three companions, however, and the reinforcements seemed to make bruin change his mind. He ambled peacefully back into the brush.

Pocketless Police

BOSTON — Boston police will not stand with their hands in their overcoat pockets this winter—they have no pockets.

Some of the force received new coats, sans pockets. The others got the old coats back again, with the pockets sewed up.

Maddux declined to advance his theory of the motive, but expressed his positive opinion that it was closely linked with the Gorrell case. Born told officers a week ago that he was accosted downtown by Kennamer Thanksgiving night and drove him to his fatal meeting with Gorrell.

Others Are Alarmed

That many of the other associates of Born, Gorrell and Kennamer, were alarmed was obvious.

Ted Bath and Robert Thomas, prospective state witnesses, both told authorities they needed the protection of firearms. Neither however, disclosed whom they feared.

Bath appeared at police station last night with a pistol and announced he would linger here no longer, but get back to Longview, Texas, where he has a job in a refinery. Young Thomas, who is no relation to Wade Thomas, the beer parlor operator who was held for a week for investigation, sought vainly from both city and county officials to obtain authority to carry a weapon.

County Attorney Holly Anderson said Bath told him that Gorrell, the son of a Tulsa physician, and young Kennamer had tried to get him to join them in robbery ventures.

Tells Of Killing

Young Thomas told Anderson that a few minutes after Gorrell was shot to death with his own pistol by Kennamer, the latter accosted him at a small cafe formerly owned by Wade Thomas and told in detail of the killing.

Born was described by his boy friend as a nervous, high strung type mentally, and "one of the cleanest of the bunch."

Maddux admitted that his death complicated considerably the already strange tangle that has involved so many wealthy Tulsa families.

The head of one of these, H. F. Wilcox, sr., an oil operator, was expected to tell authorities today whether he knew anything of a purported $20,000 extortion plot aimed at him through the threat of kidnaping of his 18-year-old daughter, Virginia.

accepted by the Yugoslav foreign minister, who is being pressed hard by his government to get concrete action in Yugoslavia's complaint against Hungary.

Would Deal Direct

The minister told leaders of the major European powers he preferred to withdraw the matter from the hands of the league and deal directly with Hungary rather than accept a mere "platonic" condemnation of terrorism.

"Our moderation has mistakenly been conceived to be weakness," he asserted.

The cessation of deportations of Hungarians from Yugoslavia has helped relax a situation which was so serious that Laval told a colleague "this conflict should be settled and must be settled to maintain the peace of Europe."

Mike Pardoned To Return To Naples

STILLWATER, Minn., Dec. 10 (AP)—More than 22 years ago when "Mike" Gentilcore entered the penitentiary to begin serving a life term for murder, his sweetheart in Italy sent him the word: "Keep hope. I shall wait for you."

Today "Mike" stands pardoned. He awaits only the arrangement of a passport and other details. Then he will sail for Naples and the "Marie" who since May, 1912, has kept hope and waited, as she promised she would.

"Mike" was sentenced for killing a man who had stolen money "Mike" had saved, looking toward his return to "Marie." He is now 47 years old.

YOUNG FATHER IS JAILED

YOUTH CHARGED WITH THREATENING HIS FATHER-IN-LAW

FORT WORTH, Dec. 10. (AP)—Henry Burt Mullins, who with his wife, both 14, are the youngest parents on record in Fort Worth, was placed in the Tarrant county jail Saturday night. His three weeks old baby, who weighed five and one-half pounds when born, was with her mother in a new home near Haltom City.

In a complaint filed by Assistant District Attorney Bill Parker, Mullins was charged with threatening to take the life of J. R. Noah, his father-in-law.

Actions Protested

Carrying the infant in her arms, Mrs. Mullins appeared at the district attorney's office with Mrs. Noah to protest against Mullins' actions. But the complaint, Parker said, was filed by Mrs. Noah. Officers were sent out to arrest the young father. As they entered an address on east Belknap street they met him as he was concealing a .32 caliber pistol in his shirt.

At the district attorney's office Mullins admitted he had the gun, that he had bought it from a pawnshop during the day and that he had it to defend himself. Tears streamed down his cheeks as he declared he had tried his best to make a living "and do right by my wife and baby."

Mullins said that he had bullets for a 22 caliber pistol in his pockets when arrested.

"I was just trying to protect myself," said the youth. He asked about the welfare of his wife and baby.

Relatives of the young father said Saturday night they will be prepared to make his bond at once.

Sherman Is Chosen For Kiwanis Meet

FORT WORTH, Dec. 10. (AP)—Delegates to the annual meeting of the Texas-Oklahoma district, Kiwanis International, met here today to lay plans for the International convention to be held at San Antonio May 19-23, 1935.

New officers of the district met yesterday and urged an enlarged membership and aggressive programs for the 1935 programs for the 1935 program. Joe Naylor of San Antonio, was chosen governor.

Sherman was selected for the convention site in October, 1935.

SIX FLEE JAIL

JONESBORO, Ga., Dec. 10 (AP)—Six convicts, cutting through iron bars with saws which Sheriff L. T. Lawrence said he believed were smuggled in by visitors, fled the Clayton county jail here last night.

THERE will be a great ball game played here next Saturday. Amarillo and Big Spring will fight it out on the Tech grid and there will be a big bunch on hand for the affair.

Personally, The Plainsman thinks the Sandies will romp off with the long end of the score but of course, that remains to be seen.

* * *

But regardless of who wins the game, Lubbock is bound to get plenty of good out of the mix.

At least one special train will come from Amarillo—and maybe two.

Probably Big Spring will run a special and, of course, both towns will send gobs of folks in their own cars or in buses.

The Plainsman wouldn't be surprised to see from three to five thousand visitors here.

* * *

IT'S a funny thing but both Big Spring and Amarillo wanted to play the game in Lubbock.

Representatives of both towns acted like they'd rather play here than at home.

Big Spring was trying to dodge that Butler field jinx and Blair Cherry, the Amarillo coach, didn't want to take a chance with the change of altitude below the caprock.

* * *

Representatives of Texas Tech, the public schools system and the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce put the deal over last night and a lot of extra business will result for the hotels, restaurants, filling stations, etc.

It is by keeping heads up all the time and taking advantage of every opportunity that Lubbock holds its distinct leadership.

DOUGLAS 'BEN' MEADOR, editor of the Matador Tribune comments on the way people look at their watches yet still never know what time it is.

Do you doubt it?

* * *

Representatives of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, have been holding a survey on "watch lookers" and among other things they have discovered that the average man looks at his watch 37 times a day and the time registers on his brain but 16 times.

That sounds like a lot of hokum but it's true, just the same.

NOT long ago The Plainsman made the crack that he couldn't see any reason for chefs putting parsley on a steak plate and that to him it was just so much 'garbage.'

That drew a reply, as follows:

"Dear Plainsman: Parsley with your steak is just as useful as the picture at the top of your column.

"E. A. Ellis, Cook.

"Lubbock hotel."

* * *

That one really has The Plainsman stopped.

Ever since receiving Cook Ellis' letter your humble servant has been trying to figure out just what good that picture does.

Still, you can't have a column without a heading, even if it doesn't contribute anything.

Maybe The Plainsman and Cook Ellis had better arbitrate the matter, letting one keep the parsley and the other the column picture!

"I'd like to buy a petticoat."

"Yes, madam," said that dignitary, "period and masquerade costumes are on the third floor!"

* * *

IF advance indications mean anything, this year's Christmas shopping season is going to be the best Lubbock has ever seen.

Want to know why?

It's because the kiddies want more presents than usual.

* * *

That's no joke.

Santa Claus letters are sweeping the whole Avalanche-Journal office and they're coming from every nook and corner of the South Plains.

Kids whose folks told them last year and year before that "times were hard and there won't be much Christmas" have heard so much about recovery and improved conditions that they've taken it seriously!

The Avalanche-Journal never before has had so many Santa Claus letters this early in the year.

The Santa Claus Season

First Of Year May See Switch Of Producers, A Wealthy Man's Venture Into Movies And Merger Of Mighty Firms

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 10—Something resembling a volcanic eruption is due to take place in the heart of the movie colony almost any day.

Today finds Hollywood seething with rumors about executive changes and studio amalgamations. At the moment it's difficult to say just how many of these reports are true. All have been denied.

But where there is so much smoke, there must be at least a tiny blaze. So look for the new year to usher in some rather drastic changes.

One of the most persistent bits of inside information is that B. P. Schulberg, who has been producing independently for Paramount for the last two years, is going to quit the movie racket to produce plays on Broadway.

Schulberg's present contract expires Dec. 31, but he declines to make any statement regarding his future plans until that time.

In case he does leave—and his present silence indicates such a move is probable—Walter Wanger probably will move into his bungalow on the Paramount lot. Already releasing through Paramount, such a move on Wanger's part simply would mean that he would work on the home lot and make eight, instead of four, pictures a year.

However, you can bet that he will insist upon retaining an absolutely free hand in producing his films.

* * *

With Whitney's Millions

Considerable talk also is centering around David O. Selznick whenever any of the film crowd meet for cocktails. In fact, Dave is about the only one in Hollywood not discussing his future plans.

It is said that, when he completes his M-G-M contract in February, he will join forces with Jock Whitney, multi-millionaire sportsman, who is ready to toss $10,000,000 into the movie whirlpool to establish himself as a film producer.

Selznick, who has learned much in two years under the tutelage of his father-in-law, Louis B. Mayer, would make a good partner for Whitney.

Another rumor concerns amalgamation of Warner Brothers and RKO. This report, circulated first about six months ago, has been revived and now is being discussed in considerably louder tones than before.

Executives in both studios have personally assured me that there is no fire behind the smoke. But in Hollywood denials always are most emphatic just before an event takes place. That goes for everything—whether an amalgamation or a divorce.

* * *

Bottleneck House

True democracy certainly is being practiced by Douglass Montgomery these days. Even the groceryman enters his home by the front door—although not exactly by invitation.

Doug, whom you probably will remember for his performance in "Little Man, What Now" decided a short time ago that he wanted a house up in the foothills where he could live in seclusion among his early American antiques.

After several weeks of searching, he finally found a house to his liking.

The fact that the owner had painted a marine landscape on the front of it and decorated the interior in gold and scarlet didn't bother the actor. Those things could be remedied with a few cans of paint.

So he rented the place and moved in—only to find that there was no back door!

* * *

Hollywood Gossip

That very common substance known as soap suddenly has become quite important in Hollywood. Studio technicians who are making model sets for the next Cecil B. DeMille spectacle, "The Crusades," use soap figures to represent players. Wonder if the clean-up campaign could by any chance be responsible?

* * *

Gary Cooper has brought down a great many ducks during his long hunting career, but last week-end was the first time he ever shot one with a history behind it. The actor bagged a male Sprigg bearing an aluminum tag numbered 34-500895. The bird evedently was one of those released yearly by the United States Biological Survey for the purpose of tracing their migratory habits. Gary sent a report to government officials.

* * *

With 4-year-old Jimmy Fay in the leading role, Monogram is starting production on "Million Dollar Baby," a burlesque on kid movie stars. And won't the Monogram execs be surprised if, when the picture is finished, they discover that they, too, have a wonder child!

* * *

Movieland still has some appreciation of good music. The other day Gilbert Roland, only man in Hollywood to own a complete set of Caruso phonograph records, was offered $30 for one record—and turned it down flat!

* * *

For the first time in the history of pictures an underwater acetylene torch is being used by Jack Holt and Edmund Lowe as deep sea divers in "The Depths Below." The torch has a compressed air attachment which blows the water away, forming a six inch bubble around the flame.

* * *

Incidentally, Erle Kenton, director of "The Depths Below," told me an amusing story about this film. For the last several years, Kenton has made a practice of offering his father, an old-time vaudeville actor, a bit in each of his pictures, just to give him something to do. Yesterday a bit cropped up, so he called his dad.

"Sorry, son, but you'll have to get along without me," said the elder Kenton. "I already have a call for another picture."

* * *

Harriet de Busman, who was "Miss Kansas City" this year, had sold her return ticket and was down to her last 50-cent piece when Monogram signed her for a role in "Ladies Must Dress."

* * *

Stepin Fetchit has the best role of his entire career in Will Rogers' new picture, "The County Chairman." And he'll speak so that you can understand him. The colored actor now wants to make a picture in England, just to be in style.

WAR TALK VS. BUSINESS RECOVERY

In spite of the turmoil in Europe, there appears to be a consistent improvement in business conditions in most of the great commercial and industrial nations.

A summary, published by the United States Department of Commerce and recently received by The Journal, makes this encouraging statement, gleaned from reports sent the federal bureau by its many European representatives:

"Developments in the United Kingdom are of an encouraging nature with respect to domestic trading and foreign trade shows a very small gain. In spite of German efforts to prevent price increases, the wholesale index rose during October. The improving trend in Swedish business is maintained with unemployment at lowest level since October, 1931. Conditions in Norway were fairly satisfactory in the third quarter of the year, slightly further improvement being registered. The tendency for business in Greece to improve slowly continues. Austrian foreign trade during September was larger in value than last year and for nine months the adverse balance has been reduced."

How the governments of these countries can believe that these improvements can be hastened or even maintained while suspicion and strutting and prating of war are permitted to excite the minds of the people, it is difficult to understand. Even a minimum of common sense would seem to dictate branding as a public enemy any so-called statesman who discussed the possibility of war.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

Dutcher

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10—If you can take your eyes away from the New Deal fireworks a moment, let's take our hats off to Dr. Charles Armstrong.

Armstrong is one of those government scientists. You seldom hear about those fellows, though some make tremendous contributions to scientific knowledge and public welfare. As a group, they usually get it in the neck when an economy wave comes along.

The only time you ever hear of Armstrong is when he is laid low with some dangerous disease. He spends his life monkeying with death in the laboratory of the United States Public Health Service.

This time it's probably encephalitis—"sleeping sickness." His health service comrades, studying his symptoms in the hospital as they work to save his life, aren't sure.

Armstrong was one of the crew rushed to St. Louis a little more than a year ago when the disease broke out there. Ever since, he has been working with the organs of encephalitis victims—and with rats and mice—in an attempt to isolate the germ to the point where it might be tamed.

So it could hardly be anything else. But the other USPHS physicians, some of whom also have contracted dread diseases before they conquered them, are puzzled by a rash on Armstrong's body which they never knew to accompany "sleeping sickness."

They speculate as to whether this may be some new form of it and, though expecting Armstrong to survive, pray that the after-effects won't unfit him for continuance of his work. He is 48 years old.

* * *

Beat Parrot Fever

Last time, it was psittacosis—"parrot fever." You may remember how scared everybody was in 1929.

Many died. Armstrong worked with flocks of parrots, shooting germs into them. In a bedlam of squawking, scratching death, he discovered the parrot fever virus.

His assistant caught the disease and died. Armstrong and nine others in the laboratory nearly died. Just in time, they were treated with serum made from a convalescent patient's blood—and it worked.

Armstrong and other convalescent patients were bled for more serum. That, along with Armstrong's subsequent achievements, licked parrot fever in the United States. Two years ago, when Mrs. Borah caught parrot fever in Idaho, they bled Armstrong again and rushed the serum by airplane to save her.

Now they're bleeding Armstrong again and shooting his blood into rats in the effort to learn what's the matter with him.

Just Wise Old Trout

Secretary Ickes has a new description for himself. After he and Housing Administrator Moffett had been spanked by Uncle Roosevelt for what seemed like a public row between them over housing, Ickes censured correspondents for sensationalizing his "philosophizing."

"You didn't call it that last week," somebody said.

"I'm calling it that now!" Ickes snapped back.

Then someone asked a leading question and Ickes grinned.

"I'm too old to bite on that one. I'm just a speckled trout."

* * *

Fie, Fie Harold

"Honest Harold," who insisted on keeping graft out of PWA, is considered the grimmest foe of the lobbyists. But he was a star guest the other night at a tea party at the home of J. Bruce Kremer, the handsomest, suavest, and perhaps the most successful lobbyist in town. The party was given for Mrs. Willmarth Ickes, the secretary's daughter-in-law.

Not long ago Ickes was telling certain PWA employes they'd better stop letting themselves be entertained by persons seeking favors from PWA.

Lush Time For Lobbyists

Reports that Father Coughlin would spend much of this winter lobbying on Capitol Hill for his Social Justice Union, for which he expects to recruit 5,000,000 members, appear to be the bunk.

He advises your correspondent that he will be here very little.

Nevertheless, every other indication points to the next session of Congress as the biggest season for lobbyists this town has ever seen. And that's saying plenty!

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE
With the Journal

BEGIN HERE TODAY

When CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, is found dead DAN BLEEKER, publisher, employs SIDNEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder. Morden had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, following the arrest of an imposter claiming to be Cathay and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

The day following Morden's death Cathay dies of poisoning.

Griff learns Morden had visited the apartment of ALICE LORTON, pretty and unemployed. He confronts Alice with KENNETH BOONE, accuses the pair of killing Morden, and they are arrested.

MRS. BLANCHE MALONE, for whom MRS. CATHAY and CARL RACINE, detective in her employ, have been searching, is located but refuses to talk.

Griff and Bleeker go to the hotel where Mary Briggs, now known as Stella Mockley, is staying. They find CHARLES FISHER, Cathay's lawyer there. The girl tells them the man who impersonated Cathay was PETE MALONE and that he frequently telephoned FRANK BLISS, Cathay's chauffeur.

Fisher leaves to question Mrs. Malone and Griff and Bleeker go to the office of EDWARD SHILLINGBY, killed on the night of the impostor's arrest. Shillingby's secretary tells them the man who hired Shillingby to shadow "CINCINNATI RED" LAMPSON, gangster, was Cathay.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

* * *

CHAPTER XLI

As the two men climbed into the taxicab Bleeker poured forth eager questions which, for the most part, the criminologist answered in short, terse sentences.

"What was Cathay's interest in Lampson?"

"I doubt if he had any."

"Why was he poisoned then?"

"He took the dose of poison deliberately," the criminologist remarked.

"Why?"

"So that he would have an alibi."

"An alibi for what?"

"Why, for his whereabouts when Morden was murdered."

"He knew, then, that Morden was to be murdered?"

"Yes."

"But why did he take poison to give himself an alibi?"

"He wanted to be ill in bed. He got an overdose of the drug he took."

"You mean it was administered to him purposely?"

"Yes."

"By whom?"

"That," Griff said, "remains to be determined."

"What are your plans?"

"We are going to try to prevent another murder."

"Mrs. Malone?"

"No."

"Oh, you mean the chauffeur?"

"No."

"Who then?"

"The young woman, Stella Mockley."

"Why should she be murdered?"

"Because she is too dangerous a witness to leave at large."

"But she has already told her story in the presence of witnesses. Whatever damage she could do has already been done."

SPORTOGRAPH
by COLLIER PARRIS

(Title Copyright 1933)

AT THIS writing, it seems likely that Amarillo and Big Spring High schools will romp over the turf of Tech Field Saturday afternoon in a state quarterfinal football game.

If that's the case, then Lubbock citizens should plan to turn out in numbers. There'll be a lot of people here from Big Spring and Amarillo, probably a couple of special trains, and Lubbock should make it a point to protect its reputation as a great host city.

Unless Big Spring has improved considerably, it's a foregone conclusion that the Sandies will win the ball game, no matter where it is played. But Big Spring has improved. A team just can't go on winning district and bi-district championships in Texas high school competition, unless it has something. The biggest thing Big Spring has is Coach Obie Bristow, and he's big enough, physically and mentally, to share some of his bigness with his ball players.

DOPING the state schoolboy race from here on out is just about as hard as figuring it out up to this time, maybe harder. Of the teams left, Corsicana, Amarillo, Greenville and Masonic Home appear to be the strongest, possibly in that order. If we had to name the ultimate winner, it probably would be Corsicana, which would indicate that Corsicana will defeat Greenville this week.

Amarillo's Sandies are not to be left out of the considering. Give the Sandies all their games, except the Big Spring tilt, on Butler Field, and we'd take them all the way through. But some of the schools will not agree to playing at Amarillo. The Sandies, on the other hand, have been unable to carry on through on other fields. Recollections of the Tyler game and the Masonic Home game, barriers to Amarillo's title hopes in the recent past, tend to make one feel that the Sandies can go so far and no farther.

Off their own stomping grounds, the Sandies may not go so well. For that reason, it is well that they may play Big Spring, their next foe, away from home. Sooner or later they must leave Amarillo, if they keep winning, so they might as well get used to playing on strange fields.

HENRY FRNKA, former Lubbock mentor, now coach of the Greenville Lions, was in town Saturday night and most of Sunday. On the face of it, Henry seems kinda optimistic, but he does not talk that way.

"I just like to get around and see 'em all," he explained. "We have scouted Corsicana until we know them about as well as we know our own boys, and I've seen nearly all of the other quarterfinalists play. This was my first time to see Amarillo. Blair Cherry has another great ball club up there. He's going to give somebody trouble."

Frnka is plainly worried about Corsicana.

"They are not such large boys, just about the same size and weight as ours, but they are a coach's dream so far as fight and tenacity are concerned. They are the kind of boys you could hem up in a corner and beat over the heads with clubs only to have them fight back at you as long as they're on their feet. They're great scrappers. We'll have plenty of trouble with them. I doubt if we can beat them. If we do, we will have cleared a big costacle."

Frnka gave Greenville a state championship last year with just about the kind of club he says Corsicana is this year. Small boys, the backfield star weighing around 135 pounds, but plenty tough and with plenty of what it takes. If they win again this year, Greenville probably will make Henry mayor of the town. They gave him an automobile two years ago for winning the district championship. What'll they give you this year, Henry?

"They'll give me h— if I don't win," he says. "I don't expect any presents; they've been good enough to me already. But I've got to keep on keeping on."

The greatest upset of the schoolboy race, thinks Frnka, not Corsicana's victory over the title-pointed Temple team, but Port Arthur's defeat in District 14 by Beaumont. That surprises all of us, come to think of it, since Port Arthur is in a class by itself so far as eligibility rules are concerned. Boys can play through the twelfth grade there, whereas there are only eleven grades in other schools. Beaumont, in turn, was defeated by Jeff Davis of Houston in its bi-district contest Saturday

SHAMROCK AND LAMESA SET

GOLDEN TORNADO WILL FACE STERN BATTLE NEXT FRIDAY

(Special To The Journal)

LAMESA, Dec. 10—Last year the Golden Tornadoes won the regional championship but the game wasn't at Lamesa. This year the Tornadoes go into the regional finals for the second consecutive time and the crucial contest will be played at Lamesa Friday afternoon, kickoff at 2:30 o'clock.

Coach F. T. McCollum's club has again advanced to the finals but if they repeat as champions it will be in spite of the efforts of a menacing band of Shamrock High Irishmen who have advanced through district and bi-district with a record of no ties and no defeats.

They Spill Hereford

The Irish last week spilled the Hereford Whitefaces, 33 to 7 and they are reckoned to be about the sternest competition the high-scoring Tornado has faced in two seasons.

The Lamesa team's path has not been particularly rocky this autumn. They've swirled aside everything in their way with a blast of touchdowns. In district competition Lamesa relinquished only 20 points while tearing through the enemy for 325. Since then they've scored 71 points or 11 touchdowns and have had their end zones penetrated for 27 points.

PLAYERS SET OUT TO BLAST DUTRA

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 10. (AP)—Swinging into the second round of the battle half of the field of 300 golfers set out today to overtake the par-busting 70 posted by Olin Dutra, national open champion, to take a two-stroke lead at the end of the first 18 holes of the $12,500 Biltmore open.

The bronzed pro's 34-36 topped by two strokes the 72 of Leonard Schmutte of Findlay, Ohio, Henry Jans of Midland Park, N. J., and Joe Belfore of Detroit, who tied for second place.

Dutra is competing in the first division of the tournament, composed of those players who finished in the first 60 and ties in the last P. G. A. competition and the low 30's and ties in the national open. Schmutte, Jans and Belfore represent the second division, made up of those pros who seldom or never take part in major tournaments. Amateurs compose a third division, headed by Frank Sitz of Gadsden, Ala., with a 37-39—76.

Virtually out of the picture are Walter Hagen of Detroit, Mich., and Henry Cluci of Clushing, L. I., with 79.

TO BEAUTIFY HIGHWAYS

McLEAN, Dec. 10. (AP)—The McLean Lions club has voted to sponsor a highway beautification project, following an address to the club by J. E. Gaston, special foreman, landscape division of the state highway department.

Formal entrances to the city are planned on federal highway 66, as federal relief projects, with the Lions club furnishing the trees and necessary funds.

CURTAIN DOWN ON SEASON IN TEXAS

TWO GAMES ARE WON BY TEXAS TEAMS ON SATURDAY

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Finis was written across the 1934 Southwest conference football season Saturday when conference teams won two of the three intersectional games played.

At Fort Worth, Texas Christian beat Santa Clara, 9 to 7, when Taldon Manton kicked a 17-yard field goal in the fourth period. Southern Methodist traveled to St. Louis where Bob Wilson tossed a 14-yard pass to Louis Smith to beat Washington university, 7 to 0. At San Antonio, Texas A. and M. lost, 26 to 13, to Michigan State.

Successful Campaign

It was the most successful of any Southwest conference campaign. Coach Jimmy Kitt's Rice institute Owls won the conference title with 5 victories and 1 defeat. The Owls dropped a 7 to 2 game to Texas Christian. It was Rice's first football championship.

At the start of the season critics picked Texas, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist and Arkansas as outstanding. Rice was hardly noticed, but the Owls started and finished with one of the country's best teams.

Jimmy Kitts was the surprise coach. A former Athens high school basketball and football mentor, Jimmy was signed to coach Rice basketball but last summer he succeeded Jack Meagher as football coach. A wonderful handler of boys, Jimmy soon had the Owls clicking once the conference race started. Their straight season record of 9 wins 1 defeat and 1 tie netted them sixth place on the Associated Press poll of the nation's best teams.

Win Major Games

The conference gained desired national recognition by winning major intersectional games. Rice beat Purdue, 14 to 0; Creighton, 47 to 13, and held Louisiana State, 9 to 9. Texas whipped Notre Dame, 7 to 6, and Oklahoma university, 19 to 0. Southern Methodist defeated Fordham, 26 to 13; played 14 to 14 tie with Louisiana State; beat Oklahoma A. and M., 41 to 0, and closed shop by trimming Washington. Texas Christian beat Tulsa, 14 to 12; Loyola of New Orleans, 12 to 0 and finished Saturday by beating Santa Clara, the team that played a 7 to 7 game against Stanford university.

These important intersectional victories established the 1934 Southwest conference teams among the strongest and best coached in the United States.

Two Are Chosen

For the first time two conference players were picked on the All-American team of the Associated Press. They were Darrell Lester, 215 pound Texas Christian center, and Bill Wallace, 185 pound Rice halfback.

Bohn Hilliard, University of Texas halfback, was voted the most valuable player to his team and will receive the annual Houston Post trophy.

Robert Wilson, elusive Southern Methodist halfback, paced Southwest conference scorers with 8 touchdowns for 48 points.

Against non-conference opposition Southwest teams finished with 22 wins, 4 ties and 8 defeats for a percentage of .733. Conference teams piled up 581 points against non-conference adversaries' 253.

Final conference standing:

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
Rice	5	1	0	.833
Texas	4	1	1	.750
Southern Methodist	3	2	1	.583
Texas Christian	3	3	0	.500
Arkansas	2	3	1	.417
Texas A. and M.	1	4	1	.250
Baylor	1	5	0	.167

Final full season standing

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
Rice	9	1	1	.900
Southern Methodist	8	2	2	.800
Texas	8	2	1	.800
Texas Christian	8	4	0	.667
Arkansas	4	4	2	.500
Baylor	3	7	0	.300
Texas A. and M.	2	7	2	.222

(The games count half game won and half game lost in conference race.)

Closing shop on a splendid year of achievements, the conference coaching situation offers only one doubtful status. Coach Ray Morrison of Southern Methodist has received an offer from Vanderbilt and has it under consideration.

Coaches who appear certain of retaining their jobs are Fred Thomsen of Arkansas, Jack Chevigny at Texas, Jimmy Kitts at Rice, Homer Norton at Texas A. and M., L. R. Meyer at Texas Christian, and Morley Jennings at Baylor.

NEW YORK GIANTS CONQUER CHICAGO BEARS TO RULE PROFESSIONAL WORLD

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—The New York Giants today ruled the professional football world, conquerors of the Chicago Bears in one of the most amazing recoveries ever made in the history of the gridiron to win the National league championship. The score was 30 to 13.

Completely out of the ball game with the exception of three points contributed by Ken Strong's 38-yard placement field goal, trailing by 10 to 3 as the result of Bronko Nagurski's two-yard plunge for a touchdown and Jack Manders' 18-yard field goal, the Giants came out for the second half shod in rubber-soled, canvas-topped basketball shoes.

Battle Is Altered

These shoes were obtained at the suggestion of end Ray Flaherty, the Giants' captain, while the New Yorkers were being pushed around in the first half on the frozen polo grounds turf before 48,000 spectators.

Flaherty, who formerly coached Gonzaga, had previous experience with frozen turf, and the change from leather cleats to rubber soles altered the complexion of the battle quickly. The rubber-soled shoes gave the Giant ball-carriers, Strong and Ed Danowski, security of foot. Besides the backfield men, Flaherty and the other Giant wingman, Ike Frankian, also changed to the basketball shoes.

Boots Field Goal

While the Giants were getting accustomed to their new bootery, Manders, former Minnesota place-kicking specialist, booted a 23-yard field goal to increase Chicago's lead to 13 to 3.

The final quarter was only a few minutes old when Danowski, whipped a long forward to Frankian for a touchdown.

A few plays later Strong swept Chicago's right end for 42 yards and a touchdown. After another interval, Strong shattered the Bears' The Bears tried to pull loose ends together, but it was in vain, for Danowski, tore around left end, nine yards for the final touchdown.

Nagurski, the bogey-man of pro football, weighing 236 pounds, was unstoppable for two-thirds of the game but he was forced to withdraw then with a painful shoulder injury.

13—And Lucky!

An honor most coveted by the country's younger riders—the silver trophy emblematic of the Good Hands Championship — is shown here in the possession of 13-year-old, red-haired Walton Perry Davis, jr., of Locust Valley, L. I. He was adjudged best in an exclusive group composed of the country's cleverest juvenile riders competing at the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden, New York.

LUBBOCK GETS CHAMP GAME SATURDAY

GOLDEN SANDIES AND BIG SPRING ARE TO BATTLE IN CITY

(By The Associated Press)

Quarter-finals in the Texas interscholastic league bi-district championship football race are scheduled this week-end. Dates and sites follow:

Friday: Corsicana, district 12, vs. Greenville, district 9, at Greenville.

Houston, Jeff Davis, district 13, vs. Corpus Christi, district 16, at Corpus Christi.

Saturday:

Dallas Highland Park, district 6, vs. Fort Worth Masonic Home, district 7, at Fort Worth.

Amarillo district 1, vs. Big Spring, district 3, at Lubbock.

Champs Get Together

Outstanding will be the Corsicana and Greenville battle. It will bring together state champions of the last two years. Corsicana won the 1932 title by beating Masonic Home. Greenville won last year by beating Dallas Tech. Both clubs boast versatile power and deception. Both are undefeated this season. Due to playing the game at Greenville, the Lions are slight favorites. Last week Corsicana smothered Athens, 26 to 13, and Greenville toyed with Longview, 47 to 6.

Amarillo and Big Spring officials decided last night to play at Lubbock. The Amarillo Golden Sandies preserved their undefeated Butler field tradition Saturday by beating Ranger, 19 to 14. Big Spring polished off El Paso, 19 to 7. The Sandies face a stiff fight but are favorites.

Masons Are Favored

Fort Worth Masonic Home entertains Dallas Highland Park at Fort Worth. Masonic Home is an overwhelming favorite. The Fort Worth lads won their first round game by crushing Dallas Tech, 32 to 0. Highland Park survived by beating the Vernon Lions, 12 to 7. Masonic Home, after getting a substantial lead, played third stringers against Tech while Highland Park had a difficult time beating Vernon.

The Houston Jeff Davis and Corpus Christi game will furnish South Texas a semi-finalist standard bearer. Corpus Christi nosed out San Antonio Thomas Jefferson, 10 to 9, to survive the first round. Jeff Davis stopped Beaumont, 27 to 8.

While class A teams are staging quarter-final battles, the class B championship will be determined Friday at Wichita Falls between Crowell and Plano. This will be a region 2 championship scrap. Crowell boasts one of the best high school players in the state in Dick Todd, who probably has scored more touchdowns than any other Texas football player.

DORY DETTON TO RETURN TO CITY

Dory Detton, idol of the wrestling clients for many months, returns to the Lubbock mat this week for physical combat with fearsome-looking "Rough-house" Costello, strong-armed Boston Spanish man.

In the main event Sailor (ho-hum) Watkins will probably meet his Waterloo. For Watkins' opponent is jabbing, brilliant Bobby Burns who should play Sailor-Wailor like a harp. The Sailor brings out the savage in his audiences and all the customers Wednesday night will be barking for his downfall.

Match Fizzles

The "perfect couple" failed to live in perfect bliss, so Mrs. Winifred Flint Berry, above, Chicago corn syrup heiress, has sued for divorce from "Gil" Berry, ex-Illinois University football star. BEAUTIFICATION WORK ON

McKINNEY, Dec. 10. (AP)—A beautification program is in progress at Anna, in North Collin county, as its citizens prepare for a fitting observance of the Texas Centennial.

At a mass meeting held there, plans were made for establishing a city park, beautifying the highway at that place and also to complete numerous other civic projects.

HEAVY BATTERS WITH GOOD PITCHERS ARE NOW IN DEMAND

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 (AP)—Seeking batters who can hit .340 and pitchers good for 20 victories, club owners and managers of the National and American leagues were gathering today to buy, sell and trade, incidentally to attend the annual major league meetings.

There's not a club in either league that won't trade but the Chicago Cubs, Boston Red Sox, St. Louis Browns, and possibly the Pittsburgh Pirates and New York Giants seem most likely to be active.

Cubs Are Active

Since the last campaign closed the Cubs have obtained Tex Carleton from the Cardinals and Larry French and Freddy Lindstrom from the Pirates and disposed of Pat Malone, Guy Bush, Jim Weaver and Babe Herman, among others. They're not ready to call it quits yet, seeking another starting pitcher, perhaps Fred Frankhouse of the Boston Braves or Curt Davis of the Phillies.

Rogers Hornsby of the St. Louis Browns is ready to trade anyone on his club except Buck Newsom and Jack Knott, and Bill Terry of the Giants, with Dick Bartell of the Phillies already snared, feels much the same way about most of his hired hands.

Pirates Might Listen

The Pirates might listen to overtures for either Lloyd or Paul Waner; Brooklyn, reports says, might be willing to part with Sam Leslie and Tony Cuccinello. Joe Cronin, new manager of the Boston Red Sox, will have Tom Yawkey's bankroll behind him should he decide he'd like to have a new infielder or two, says Buddy Myer of the Washington Senators.

On the purely executive side of the meetings, the National league will install Ford Frick into the presidency vacated by John Arnold Heydler and then will decide whether or not Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston club, shall be permitted to operate a dog-racing plant in Braves field. The magnates appeared to be pretty well lined up against any dog racing-baseball combination but Fuchs may get around that by running the dogs in Braves field while the Braves play all their home games in Fenway park, home of the Red Sox.

FINAL RECORD APPROVED

PECOS, Dec. 10. (AP)—The legal division of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation has approved the final record relating to purchase of approximately $250,000 in outstanding bonds of the Reeves County Water district at Balmorhea. The purchase by the government will save the district a great sum in lower interest rates.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE

Griff shrugged his shoulders. "I would," he said, "much prefer to concentrate on that which is to happen, rather than to talk about that which has happened. Knowing so much, it is possible to anticipate that which is to happen if we concentrate. It is difficult to concentrate when one is talking or listening."

Bleeker stared for a moment at the criminologist, seemed on the point of making some retort, then dropped back to the cushions of the cab and remained silent until the cab had taken a position in front of the hotel where they had located Stella Mockley.

"You've got your gun? The one that I gave you?" Griff asked.

Bleeker nodded. "Do we wait here?" he asked.

"Yes."

The men were silent for fully 15 minutes. Then Bleeker said, "But it's been proven that Cincinnati Red had a gray Cadillac coupe with a dented left rear fender."

"Exactly," Griff said.

"Then it must have been Lampson or one of his men who killed Shillingby."

Griff shrugged his shoulders.

"I am very sorry," he said, "but I would much prefer to think. We can talk later."

"But," Bleeker said, "I feel that you owe me. . . ."

He broke off as Griff suddenly shot out his left hand and gripped the publisher's knee. Bleeker followed the direction of the criminologist's eyes. Stella Mockley was just leaving the hotel, stepping into a taxicab which came forward in response to a signal from the doorman.

"Did you know that was going to happen?" asked Bleeker.

"I surmised it," Griff said.

He leaned forward and addressed the cab driver in a low tone. "Follow that other cab," he said, "but first let me get up in the front of the cab with you."

"What's the idea?" asked the cab driver.

"Never mind the idea," Griff told him. "It's important that you follow instructions. I want to be up here where I can see what's going on."

He climbed into the front of the cab. Bleeker leaned forward and said authoritatively, "It's all right. I'm Bleeker, one of the publishers of The Blade. This man is a detective."

"Okay by me," the cab driver said. "Just so I get the meter."

"You get twice the amount of the meter," Bleeker said. "But don't lose that other cab."

They swung out into traffic, moving at a reasonable rate of speed. The cab ahead turned to a side street and made time. The driver shortened the space between them. The cab turned once more to the left and ran along a residential thoroughfare which was almost devoid of traffic.

Bleeker leaned forward and tapped on the glass.

"This is the same street where Shillingsby was murdered," he said.

Griff nodded.

• • •

A car swung around a side street behind them.

"Pull into the curb as though we were stopping," Griff told the driver. "Let that car behind us get ahead."

The car pulled in to the curb. The other cab ran on ahead. Griff got out and stood by the side of the cab, his head bent forward, his right hand in his trouser pocket, as though reaching for change.

The other car slid smoothly by with constantly accelerated speed. It was a gray Cadillac coupe with a dented left rear fender.

"Quick!" Griff shouted, springing to the running board of the taxicab. "Go after that car. Give it everything you've got."

He reached to the shoulder holster which was suspended under his left arm-pit and pulled out a heavy caliber automatic. Bleeker excitedly tugged the gun which the criminologist had given him from his hip pocket.

The cab went swiftly through the gears and into quick acceleration. The big Cadillac ahead was still gaining, overhauling the first cab in which the girl rode.

"Faster!" shouted Griff.

"I'm giving her all she's got," the driver said.

The cab was built for quick acceleration in traffic and, momentarily, it increased its speed, at first holding its own with the Cadillac, then creeping up on it just as the Cadillac was creeping up on the first cab.

"Step on it!" the criminologist implored frantically. "He's got too big a lead."

The cab driver said nothing.

Griff, standing with one foot on the running board, clinging to the rod of the windshield support with his left hand, held the heavy caliber automatic in his right.

The gray Cadillac drew abreast of the first taxicab. It swerved in to the right until its right running board was crowding against the running board of the cab. The lone figure in the driver's seat shifted its position.

"Look out!" yelled Griff.

The first cab slowed. Flame spat from the side of the gray Cadillac. Griff pressed the trigger of his weapon. The automatic crashed out three shots. The taxicab in which Stella Mockley was riding was braked to a sudden stop. The gray Cadillac swept on, wobbling slightly. There were two more flashes of fire from the Cadillac, two more thundering shots from the criminologist's automatic. The Cadillac swerved sharply, climbed a curb, crossed a sidewalk, crashed through shrubbery, swung drunkenly back to the street, slammed against a lighting fixture and went over on its side with a crash.

Griff swung from the running board with the grace of a brakeman jumping from a moving railroad coach. He was just abreast of the first taxicab.

• • •

As the criminologist's feet touched the pavement, the cab in which he had been riding swayed and swerved as the driver applied the brakes. Bleeker tugged with the catch on the cab door. The driver of the Mockley cab pushed his hands high in the air, staring at the glinting reflection of light on Griff's gun with wide eyes and sagging jaw. His face showed white and pasty.

"Are you hurt?" Griff shouted to Stella Mockley.

She seemed as one in a daze. For a moment she didn't answer, then her hand fumbled with the door catch. Griff jerked the door open.

"He hit me once," she said. "I don't think it's serious."

Griff inspected the streaming blood. "Just through the upper shoulder," he said. "We'll get you to a hospital. You'll be all right."

She pitched forward in a faint, into the arms of the criminologist. Griff carried her across to the taxicab, put her in the rear seat.

"Stop beside that Cadillac," he said, and jumped to the running board.

The cab moved slowly forward. "Listen, boss," said the cab driver, "I don't know what this is all about, but. . . ."

They came abreast of the Cadillac. Griff jumped to the pavement. Bleeker was behind him. A figure lay twisted under the steering wheel of the wrecked Cadillac. Griff produced a flashlight. The beam struck the calm features. It needed but a glance to see that the man was quite dead.

"Good heavens!" Bleeker exclaimed. "It's Charles Fisher—the lawyer!"

Griff's voice was quick with impatience. "Who the hell did you think it was?" he asked.

There was the sound of a siren as a police radio car came roaring down the avenue.

"Around that corner and to a hospital," Griff told the cab driver, "and make it snappy."

Turkish Army Will Get An Education

ANKARA, Dec. 10 (AP)—The introduction of the Latin alphabet has made it possible to educate the Turkish army.

In 1924 not more than 10,000 men in service could read or write. Today the figure has risen to above 50,000 among the 200,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen.

All recruits are taught to read and write when conscripted and also given instruction in hygiene while agricultural experts train them so that when their service is completed they can work the soil.
