"Justice for All"

Prisoner Thanks City Residents, Sheriff

Sheriff John Rainey and the people of Collingsworth County have received a letter of appreciation from an inmate of the Texas Prison System for the treatment he received here.

The letter was from George Perkins who went on record as the first man to escape from Collingsworth County's new maximum security jail. It was written from Snyder, where he was taken to face charges.

The letter read: Wellington Leader, Wellington, Texas Dear Sir

I would like to express my gratitude to the fine people of Collingsworth County for helping me salvage my life. As most of you know, I am a prisoner from the Texas Prison System, being tried in Wellington for jail break and burglary.

The help and guidance I received from John Rainey and the people of Collingsworth County has helped me obtain a respect for the law and the rights of others that I did not know before. My thanks to you people of Collingsworth County for showing that justice means all not one.

Yours truly, George Perkins.

Perkins received a two-year sentence in 100th District Court for his jail break in December 1964, to run concurrently with a 6-year sentence from Hall County. The year he remained in jail here will count as credit on his sentence.

Fire Damages Park Building

Fire which broke out about 4 a.m. Sunday, Feb. 20 damaged the roof and interior of the rock building on the east side of Ellison Park, Police Chief Donald Nunneley reported.

An investigation of the cause of the fire is under way, he said, adding that he believed it was accidentally set.

Fire burned through the roof near the southeast corner and there was damage to tables and benches and other equipment, property of the city, that was stored there.

Two fire units and a large part of the fire department worked for a considerable length of time to put out the blaze.

Chief Nunneley said that the building had been left unlocked in recent months and was used only for storage. Tables and benches for park use were among the items which were damaged.

Meet Set Feb. 25 to Explain Medicare

A public meeting concerning Medicare will be held Friday, Feb. 25 at 2 p.m. in the county courtroom. This is sponsored by the Extension Service agents, Sam Helmers and Miss Loleta Kees, in co-operation with the Amarillo Social Security office.

The speaker will be Curtis Watts, field representative from the Amarillo Social Security district office, who will explain Medicare and answer any questions the audience may have concerning this change in the Social Security law.

The 1965 amendments to the Social Security Act provide hospital and voluntary supplemental medical insurance for persons 65 years of age and older.

"The reason for the urgency of this meeting is that a March 31, 1966 deadline is approaching for applying for supplemental medical insurance. This deadline applies to those who were age 65 on or before Jan. 1, 1966," Helmers said.

"Whether you want to apply or not, you should become familiar with the protection provided by this latest change in the Social Security law," he continued.

Comedy Ball Team To Meet Ex-Players

One of the most amusing and amazing basketball contingents in existence today is the California Cuties, an off-shoot of the famed softball aggregation that appears on diamonds over the nation and in foreign lands attired in ladies garments to the delight of audiences everywhere.

The cage squad, formed some five years ago, does much the same thing — except for the fact that they appear on the basketball court instead, in such things as dresses, feathered hats, silk stockings and a bit of lipstick here and there.

Lest the outward appearance fool you, however, the Cuties are a top-notch group of athletes and the basketball team is every bit as good on the court as the softball nine is on the diamond. Their worst record is one of the best.

Lennon Supt. Candidate

T. E. Lennon this week authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for superintendent of Collingsworth County schools, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary.

March Draft Quota Biggest Since 1953

AUSTIN.—State draft boards are scheduled to forward 5,515 young men for preinduction mental and physical examinations in March, Col. Morris S. Schwartz, state Selective Service director, announced Tuesday.

This compares with a scheduled 8,640 being forwarded in February.

The March induction quota, 1,570, previously announced, is the biggest monthly draft quota received for the armed forces in Texas since June 1953.

The March induction quota of 1,570 compares with a February call of 1,372.

Local board quotas for induction and preinduction examination in March already have been figured and sent to the state's 137 local boards.

* Men as young as 18 years and 11 months may be ordered to fill the March call for examination.

No man can be ordered for induction unless he has reached his 19th birthday, except as a volunteer.

The March quota for induction will be filled with single and childless married men 19 through 25 years old.

No married men with children, or an expected child, will be selected to fill the March call, if information about the children, or unborn child, has been furnished the draft board.

The Selective Service regulations demand that an unborn child be certified by a physician.

Impact of Heredity and Environment Under Study

COLLEGE STATION. — Is heredity or environment the major factor in influencing one's personality traits?

Mothers declare — and researchers agree — that there is a sex difference in the origin of personality qualities, says Mrs. Patsy Yates, Texas A&M University Extension family life specialist.

Studies indicate that a girl's personality is primarily a product of heredity, while a boy's traits tend to be shaped more by the environment of his early years.

Thus, the atmosphere of the home is a potent factor in a child's mental development.

Texas cities.

Former Governor Price Daniel is the state-wide chairman for Texas CLASP 1966.

There are about 10 UT graduates living in Wellington and many are serving as CLASP volunteers.

Boys show more intellectual growth when they get along well with their mothers, according to a long-time study of children.

Girls, on the other hand, tend to reach their maximum in mental ability when their fathers are openly friendly and affectionate toward the mother in the home.

"Many parents erroneously believe they can wait until the child is old enough to understand to create a desirable atmosphere. Much of the intellectual growth comes before six years of age — and it may be too late to foster this growth when the child understands what is happening," Mrs. Yates explains.

When a child exhibits certain traits, adults treat him in a certain way, which may intensify these traits. These facts tend to bear out the statement that heredity may establish a ceiling for a person's development — physical, emotional or mental — and environment will determine how nearly that person reaches his potential. "The greater the variety of experiences provided by the parents, the more opportunity each child will have to reach his potential," says Mrs. Yates.

Each individual appears to be a composite picture of all that has gone before and hints of what is to come. Many elements and events go into making each individual what he is today and will be tomorrow, the specialist adds.

Hurricanes have taken more than 5,500 lives in the U.S. in the past 50 years. The worst year was 1928 when 1,836 persons died in hurricanes.

Mrs. Robert Carter

Connie Null, Robert Carter Mary in Church Ceremony Sun. Evening

Fundamental Baptist Church in Wellington was the setting for the wedding of Miss Connie Sue Null and Robert Carter of Canyon at six o'clock Sunday evening, February 20. The bride's grandfather, the Rev. J. E. Young, who is pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Null of 1209 Graham Street, Wellington, while the bridegroom, who formerly lived here, is the son of Mrs. C. W. Patrick of San Angelo and Richard Carter of Spearman.

Candelabras holding lighted tapers decorated the altar area and single candles, each tied with a purple satin bow, lighted the bridal aisle.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Karen Richardson, organist, and Raymond Horton, Jr., vocalist. Mr. Null gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's formal wedding gown was of peau de soie, designed with a fitted bodice, scooped neckline and tapered long sleeves. Deep pleats extended down the front of the skirt, Galoon lace accented the front of the skirt and extended in a band around the edge. Fullness at the skirt back extended into a chapel length train.

A circlet of peau de soie and lace accented with seed pearls held her tiered veil, which fell to shoulder length. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids and forget-me-nots, tied with satin howerers.

Miss Rebecca Carter of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor and Mrs. Arthur Jones of Duncan, Okla., was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Marguerite Bottoms of Amarillo, Miss Jo Ann Secik of Tulsa and Miss Rita Marchbanks of Shamrock. They wore identical street-length dresses of purple slipper satin. The fitted bodices had scooped necklines and long tapered sleeves, while deep pleats gave fullness to the skirts. Their veils were attached to a bow of matching satin and each carried a long-stemmed white rose.

Richard Carter of San Angelo was the best man and the groomsmen were Butch White of Amarillo, Ralph Cabe and Ronny Blackmore of Canyon. Ushering were Richard Green, Tom Marshall, Jim Brinkley and Bobby Dorn of Canyon.

Candles were lighted by Peggie Young and David Null of Wellington, cousin and brother of the bride. Later a reception was given in the club room of the Farm Bureau building to honor the couple. Members of the house party were Mrs. Dwayne Poet of Memphis, Mrs. Charles Whitten of Childress and Miss Tanya Horton of Wellington. Miss Sandra Young and Miss Patricia Young, cousins of the bride, registered the guests. As the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride wore a yellow coat dress with matching smocked pillbox hat. Her other accessories were taupe and her corsage was an orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter will be at home at 1907 10th Avenue, Canyon.

The bride was graduated from Wellington high school and attended Western Republic IBM College in Amarillo. She was elected an honorary mem-

TO BRING BEAUTY TO A HOME
Julia Spurlock, Panhandle homemaker and author, was the guest speaker at a meeting of the 1924 Study Club and Domestic Science Club Thursday, Feb. 17, describing how antiques may be refinished and restored. At top, Mrs. Spurlock holds an arrangement of flowers—also beautified in the refinishing. The other pictures read down. Mrs. Moreman left, and Mrs. Don Beck examine this handsome antique chair, whose beauty was enhanced in the restoring. Next, Mrs. Velman Warlick examines picture frame, now done in tones of ivory. Pictured at bottom, Mrs. Troy Gene Thomason examines a painted canister, which once held a popular brand of tobacco.

Secrets of Restoring, Refinishing Furniture Shared in Meeting Here

Homemakers — with emphasis on home — had an afternoon of delight Thursday, February 17 with Julia Spurlock as she shared with them her secrets for restoring and refinishing antiques and for making things of beauty from items that are generally discarded.

Mrs. Spurlock, wife of a Panhandle rancher, was the guest speaker at the joint meeting of the Domestic Science Club and the 1924 Study Club. Held in the Bura Handley Community Center, the meeting was open to the public and attended by visitors from Clarendon, Shamrock and Childress. Mrs. Bob Goforth and Mrs. Deskins Wells were hostesses.

She was the house guest of Mrs. Goforth. The two are friends from childhood. An author of note, she incorporated in her talk much information from her book, "Pass Thy Hand for the Finishing Touch," recognized as authoritative in its field.

"The craze for antiques is absurd," said Mrs. Spurlock first off. "The whole process is so absurd that you can't tell if you're being japed, and now even the japes are japed."

"You don't know when you have antiques except by their heritage," she continued, "but if you see something you want, get it," she advised.

The refinishing of antique or "old" furniture was described in considerable detail, as was the refinishing of picture frames, especially those with elaborate carving, decoupage gilding with paint or gold leaf.

Take a hint from nature in selecting colors for the home, said the visitor, who reminded that green forests have accents of red flowers and purple and orange combine in canyon walls.

Mrs. Spurlock brought items of furniture, picture frames, and accent pieces of her own for the group to see.

Book Review Entertains Club

Mrs. Bernice Welch was hostess to the Belles Lettres Club Tuesday evening, February 15. Also the program chairman, she reviewed the book "Hotel" by Arthur Hailey.

With character sketches she brought alive those who peopled the book, from Warren Trent, owner of the St. Gregory Hotel, and Christine Francis, his vivacious assistant shadowed by personal tragedy, through a list of guests that ranged from the lovable to the despicable, from the ambitious to the arrogant, and the humble who were the conscience of the hotel to those who would stoop to blackmail.

Through the reviewer's account of the inner workings of the great hotel, the story revealed that everything must move ahead or die.

Mrs. Coy Vaughan presided at the business session, in which members voted to send a contribution toward the gift for the state federation president. Mrs. Hurshel Tyler read the collect.

Those attending were Mrs. Dick Richards, Mrs. Tyler, Mrs. Bob Hightower, Mrs. Jim Wood, Mrs. Howard Riggs, Mrs. A. B. Clark, Mrs. L. M. Bartlett, Mrs. Joe Thompson, Mrs. F. A. Hatch, Mrs. E. F. TYLER.—A snake, a black widow spider, a stinging scorpion or even a wasp make poor bed fellows, and a sleeping bag or a hunting cabin shrink quickly when shared with one of these undesirables.

Lights, Paving for Airport Vital for Industrial Growth

One of the city's major needs for 1966, and one which the City Council has under consideration, is paved runways and lights for Marlan Airpark. Much more than many think, this project is tied in with the very future of Wellington and Collingsworth County.

There is considerable more air traffic at the field than is generally realized, some of it local some transient. The idea of lights for night operation and a paved strip for all-weather flying is not a recent one. Civic groups have worked on it several years. It is future use we should look to, however.

The City Council has the proposal before it and indications are that all members are favorably disposed. Right now, the council is looking around to see what other towns have and what Wellington can do. The members want to look before they take any steps, Mayor Hiram Cudd says. Outside sources "guesstimate" that if the city pays the whole bill for the improvements the investment will be considerable.

Meanwhile, every man who talks to Chamber of Commerce or the city or private individuals about industrial development for Wellington stresses the need for adequate transportation facilities in general and air transportation specifically.

International Health

Faster means of travel, more and more citizens with money to travel abroad, and the reporting of the appearance of diseases from other parts of the world, is causing the men of medicine in our growing nation to take a new look at international health control measures.

In Iowa City, physicians were recently concerned because they saw two cases of leprosy, two of salmonellosis, one of shigellosis, two of amebiasis, two of hookworm. Some of their colleagues have reported cases of trachoma and schistosomiasis, according to T. R. Van Dellen writing in the Chicago Tribune.

Traveling to out-of-the-way places has great appeal, but methods of sanitation vary from one nation to another, and boards of health in the United States can do little about the diseases that prevail in the tropics and many parts of the world.

Measures to protect our citizens are receiving more attention.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

Report is that our Agriculture Secretary Freeman visiting in Viet Nam found that country's Secretary of Agriculture has been drafted into the army and was busy cleaning latrines.

My farmologist neighbor says maybe the South Viet government has got some program whereby men get shifted around to jobs they are fitted for.

But he says, even if we had this type of plan in Washington, it's doubtful that Mr. Freeman could expect a similar promotion unless a scientific test could prove that he knows more about cleaning latrines than he does about agriculture.

Joyful tidings has been in the papers that our stockpile of whooping cranes is growing and we have now got 44 of these birds, up from 42 last year.

My unfit survivor neighbor is mighty happy to know the Powers That Be are determined that no species of life will be allowed to become extinct, whether it is whooping cranes or communists.

But he is wondering if the federal anti-extinction task forces will go into action with publicity flying when the number of surviving Conservatives gets below 40.

My psychojerk neighbor says he expects Congress will soon be commanded to pass a law regarding the new pill he has read about, so it can be used to further the Great Society.

He says the report is that giving a rat one of these pills makes the animal extra smart and a two-pill dose makes it extra dumb.

And he figures a law would be socially desirable that required all citizens to take one of these pills a day to smart us up while working to pay our taxes, and two pills a day to dumb us down just before elections.

The news says if inflation keeps on escalating, Washington will come to the aid of people struggling with the high cost of living by raising their taxes.

Of course, a citizen has got to dig very high economics to understand how getting more withheld from his paycheck will help him pay his grocery bill.

My mental lapsed neighbor says he reckons if the Poto-mac Pooh-Bahs wanted to save a man from hanging, they would start by cutting his throat.

State Capital NEWS

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN.—While the Legislature in special session on voter registration grabbed the headlines, far-reaching developments were afoot in the field of higher education last week.

Coordinating Board for Texas Colleges and Universities recommended a whopping increase of nearly $160,000,000 in appropriations for its state institutions during the coming biennium.

That would bring the total 1967-68 spending level to $429,100,000 for the tax-supported college-university system, including $52,800,000 for public junior colleges.

Board also concluded that "primary responsibility" for doctoral degree programs should be restricted to four schools: The University of Texas, Texas A&M University, the Texas Technological College and the University of Houston. Doctoral programs at other institutions will be terminated by Sept. 1, 1968.

Exceptions were allowed for North Texas State University and Texas Woman's University at Denton, which will be allowed to continue higher degree programs now under way, pending further study. Consideration will be given to Arlington State College's offering joint doctoral degrees in the Fort Worth-Dallas area with the two Denton institutions.

Law school training, said the board, should in the future be limited to the University of Texas, University of Houston and Texas Tech, and existing medical schools should continue under UT jurisdiction.

A preliminary report on the role and scope of junior colleges recommended that these institutions should provide a full two-year college transfer program at the freshman and sophomore levels, plus technical, vocational, adult and continuing education programs.

Seven state schools were placed on a priority list to share $7,097,742 in federal matching funds released thru the U.S. Office of Education to be used for undergraduate building projects.

Funds will go to Stephen F. Austin State College, Sam Houston State College, Southwest Texas State College, Texas Technological University, Lamar State College of Technology, Southwestern Assemblies of God College and the University of Houston.

Legislature Warms Up

Some state lawmakers warmed up for bigger battles ahead during their February special session, while others said a fond farewell to the state capitol.

Plenty of familiar faces will be found in both houses in the regular session next year, despite effects of legislative redistricting.

Forty-nine incumbent representatives have no opponents in the Democratic primary. Incumbents are running against each other in four House races. There will be new faces in the House, too, for there are no incumbents running in 48 districts.

Fourteen incumbent senators face no Democratic opposition. Five sets of senators are paired off against each other, insuring a total of 19 oldtimers in the 31-member body next year.

Oil Allowable Up Again

Texas oil production for the month of March may be at the highest level since May 1959, due to an increase in the allowable for the sixth straight month.

Railroad Commission set the figure at 33.2 percent of capacity. Market demand factor was highest granted since the percentage formula was adopted on Jan. 1, 1963.

Production ceiling for next month is 3,100,000 barrels daily. Commission set 32.7 percent as production pattern for February.

Teachers Seek Raise

Texas State Teachers Association plans to ask the next Legislature to bring the salary of teachers up to the national average.

That would mean a boost of $556 to reach the $6,506 average mark. A $553 hike last year cost $101,000,000.

TSTA notes Texas teachers now rank 29th in the nation paywise.

Teachers' legislative goals for 1967 also include five days a year authorized sick leave and retirement system improvements.

New Insurance Rate Hike

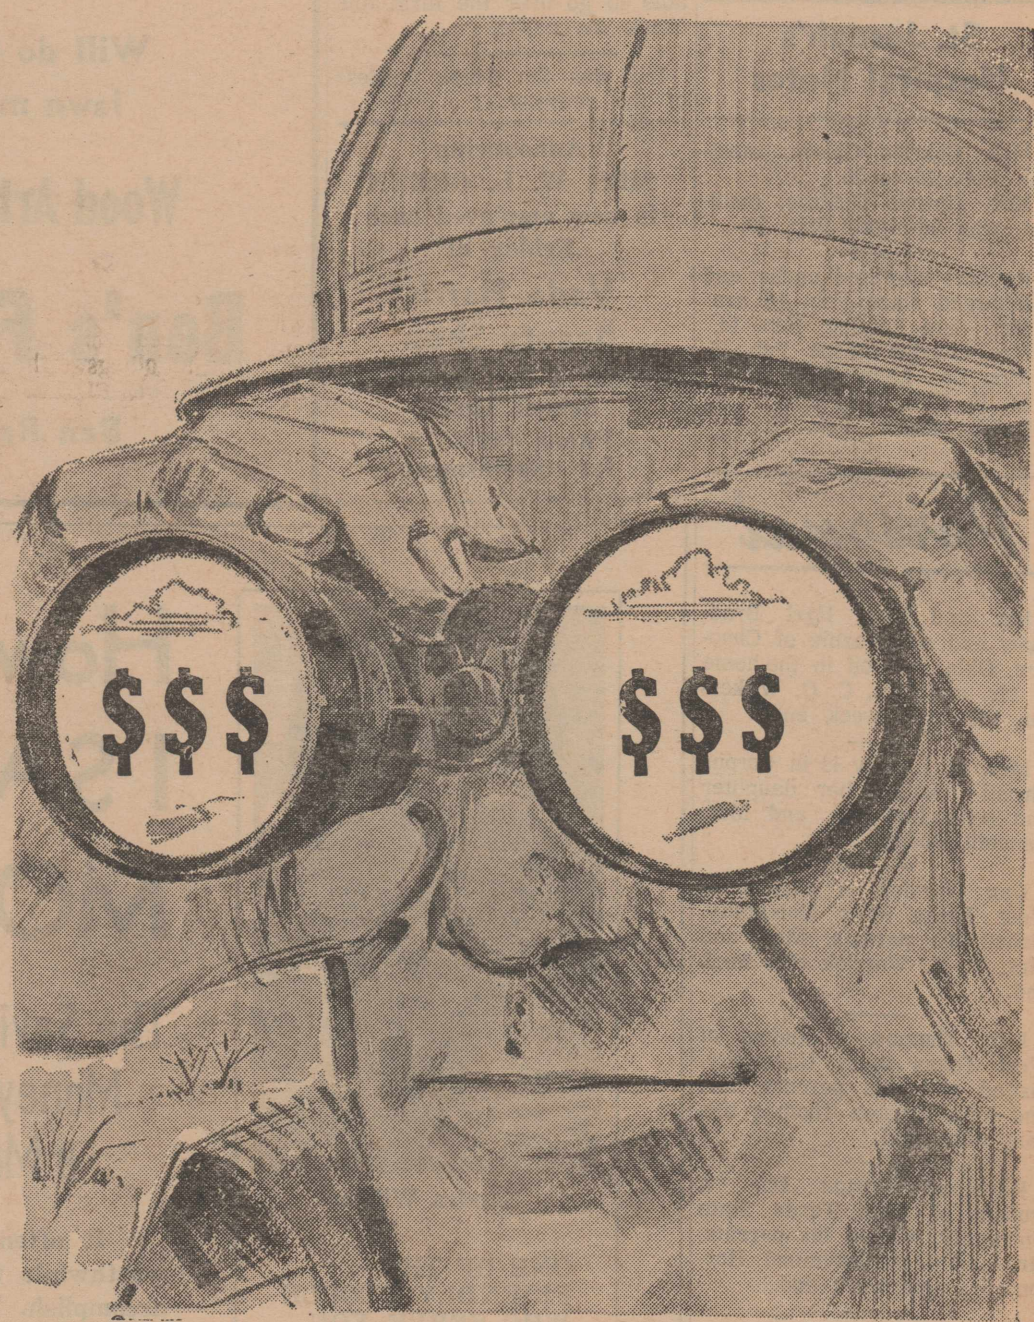

State Board of Insurance held public hearing on new rates in some areas for fire and allied lines coverage. Effective date will be June 1.

Statewide averages indicate a 4.4 percent increase in rates for fire, largely attributable to higher claims in 1964 and 1965.

Extended coverage experience on statewide average reflects a slight reduction — .2 percent.

Homeowners policy experience shows 2.7 percent boost is likely.

Why is it that when a couple thinks they're made for each other, she usually starts making alterations?

Tower Says Texas Students Will Be Penalized 13 Million By Order

Senator John Tower charged today that the Administration's "amazing and unreasonable" proposal to curtail "impacted areas" education aid funds would mean losses to 240 Texas school districts of a total of $13,915,181.

"Some 25,000 Texas students would suffer," Tower said, "if this cut goes into effect. Scores of school superintendents have expressed to me their view that vast damage will be done to our state's educational system unless this proposal is withdrawn by the Administration."

"I, for one, cannot understand the sense of priorities which resulted in this plan to curtail aid to elementary and secondary schools. Last year Congress extended the 'impacted areas' law for two years, and school districts planned their budgets in good faith expecting the promised aid to be forthcoming. It would be betrayal to abandon these districts now."

"Two years ago I introduced a bill to make the 'impacted areas' law a five-year project. It was my intention then to remove the program from election-year politics. I certainly wish the five-year plan had been accepted."

"Now I'm going to do everything possible to reverse this unwise Administration attack on education. And I will seek not a further year-to-year extension of the program, but a permanent 'impacted areas' program. It appears that only in this way can school districts be protected to any degree against federal vacillation that has marked this program."

"This 'impacted areas' program has been a successful means of placing federal funds into education because it leaves in the hands of local officials all school operations and policy. Under the program, the Federal government contributes to local districts—in lieu of taxes on federal property—funds to cover part of the costs imposed on those districts near Federal installations because they are charged with educating many children from Federally-connected families—children who would not otherwise be in the area."

"If this program operates the way the Administration now proposes, the 240 affected Texas school districts would get $8,444,291. As the program was set up by Congress last year, those same districts would receive $22,359,472."

"There is plenty of waste in the current federal budget. There are places savings can be made. But we should NOT cut corners on our children's educations. And a federal government that professes so much concern for education (although it also unwisely proposes now to end the Land-Grant College system and to cut National Defense Education Act loans) should not scrap good, co-operative state-federal-local education programs just so it can put the money in new, untried and totally federally-controlled programs."

Dodson Masonic Lodge Has Past Masters Night

By Mrs. A. V. Lowrie

Dodsonville Lodge No. 1255 AF & AM held Past Masters' and Ladies' Night Saturday, February 19 at 7 p.m. at the Dodson Masonic Hall.

All past masters of Dodsonville Lodge who were present, and all visiting past masters were introduced.

Six Past District Deputies of Districts No. 96, 52, 95 and 98 were introduced. Visiting this Past Masters meeting were members and guests of Wellington, Dodson, Quail, Memphis, Childress, Tulia, and O'Donnell.

The informative guest speaker of the evening was Henry Teubel, Past Master of Tulia Lodge No. 733. He stressed the indifference which is destroying the principles of the people. He expressed that it was extremely foolish that there is a teaching that "God is dead," because natural laws prove this

Texans Aid Vital Harvest Sift

AUSTIN—Information vital to wildlife management is pouring into Texas Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters at the lowest possible postage rates to make the mails.

It is the annual postal card poll of 8,000 Southeast Texas sportsmen to determine what happened during the recent harvest and to help plan for the future.

The Department uses the approximately one-tenth of the responses to the mailing list, based on hunting licenses, issued, to prepare a reliable picture of the results.

Already, informative data is arriving, reflecting the luck of the fellow who drew a blank is stupid teaching. He commented about the decay of morality in the United States and the whole world. He also stressed the danger of Communism, and gave the reassuring remark that "the return to God was the answer to the problems of humanity."

At the close of the program refreshments were served to about 50 members and guests.

all the way around on up to those who did very well, like the man who bagged 200 doves and 60 geese and the one who got his three deer plus fifty doves.

The technicians blend the days and hours spent hunting each species into the final conclusive appraisal of the overall harvest.

A Beaumont hunter reported a varied bag, including two squirrels, 34 doves, 19 ducks and one goose. A Jasper man bagged two squirrels, four quail and no deer, although he spent 100 hours, over 20 days in quest of venison.

Plaintively they reported the bad with the good. Like the patient hunter who stated he saw "a number of deer, shot at one buck and missed."

Comment included a suggestion to ban "dogs running deer for five years" (allowed in a limited East Texas area) and another proposal to permit use of dogs because "the timber is too thick to see the deer."

One hunter recommended more game wardens. Another wrote thanks "for letting me help you out." And a nice man

Genes Important in Cotton Breeds

COLLEGE STATION. — All forms of life are decided and influenced by genes, the sub-microscopic determiners of heredity carried in the chromosomes of every living organism—whether it's a bird, a grasshopper, or a cotton plant. Cotton plants are being bombarded with radiation, x-rays, and gamma rays by Texas A&M University scientists to bring about chromosome abnormalities and changes.

Cotton plants carry 26 pairs of chromosomes, each influencing a number of traits, from fiber strength to leaf shape. The A&M scientists are trying to identify these 26 chromosomes and learn what genes are carried on each.

"We hope this work may lead to greater production in breeding plants of agronomic value, especially cotton," say the scientist. A still more revolutionary effect is being sought. Scientists know it is easy to alter chromosomes with radiation. They hope some day man may be able to alter certain chromosomes through radiation to give desired beneficial results to further aid the farmer in his future challenges to feed and clothe the world.

MORE OPPORTUNITIES FOR REDS

"With all due respect to J. Edgar Hoover, the internal Communist threat in the United States is virtually nonexistent."

—From a New York Times editorial, Nov. 16, 1965.

The Times editors, to reach a conclusion, surely must not read all their "news that's fit to print."

Experts now studying the Communist political line, sabotage methods, and infiltration techniques have never tried to leave us with the impression that the Reds lack imagination. As long as it works today or tomorrow, nothing is too subtle, too cruel, too unsophisticated, too difficult, too devious or too obvious for the Communists to undertake.

From bugging embassies to pretensions about Cuban missiles, to mention two historic deceptions, the Reds will miss no opportunities to deceive us and to penetrate our defenses.

Activities within the nation will continue to be just as deceptive, whether they occur above ground or underground.

But the Nov. 15 decision of the U.S. Supreme Court, the latest of many favoring the Communists, will give what amounts to a clear field to U.S. Reds for all kinds of political activity.

Gus Hall, national party leader, jubilantly promised the party would become more active.

They have infiltrated non-Communist peace groups while at the same time setting up some of their own.

They have latched onto almost all kinds of drives, picketings and demonstrations in the civil rights field.

They have successfully infiltrated leading socialist organizations. The Students for a Democratic Society, a "youth" organization working for social revolution that would include scrapping capitalism, finds campus Communists and their W.E.B. DuBois Clubs entirely compatible with them.

Mr. Hoover, in his most recent annual report, has cited the actions of Communists as they have moved into the open, giving their special attention to "slashing attacks on American foreign policy."

Militant splinter groups of the party have inflamed tension and incited rioters, Mr. Hoover said. The Soviet Union, he added, continues its espionage and intelligence gathering activities through its official establishments, its illegal agents and the United Nations. Cuban Communist infiltration continues in this country and in Puerto Rico, he said.

Labor columnist Victor Riesel, who ought to know if anybody does, has recently described in some detail the Communist plans to infiltrate U.S. industrial areas first with propaganda and then (who knows how soon?) with action that could include sabotage.

The National Council of Soviet-American Friendship, Inc., he writes, is going to re-educate the American workingmen and get them into the "struggle for peace." Its mass meetings, he explains, will feature intriguing speakers from the Russian embassy and will be co-ordinated with youth and campus campaigns stressing proletarian harmony. All this while the embassy spews stuff about "massacres" in Vietnam and "moral degradation" of capitalism.

Victor Riesel is not the only American who is aware that "Communists have been colonizing crucial industries for decades." Yet the New York Times was not impressed, even after the great blackout of the Northeastern power network on Nov. 9.

But the Buffalo Evening News said editorially:

"If a simple break in a circuit can spread this massive blackout . . . what could a tiny band of superskilled saboteurs or a couple of well-placed nuclear bombs accomplish?"

It is not enough, Riesel comments, to be told that Communists in the U.S. are inconsequential because there are only 10,000 of them.

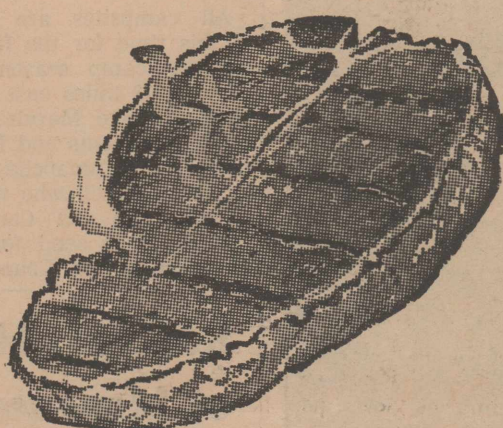

This point about the blackout was certainly not lost by the Communists, who have been having their secret meetings and planning conferences as usual.

Further, it was not pessimism, nor fear nor even fanciful imagination, that caused many Americans to wonder: what if some Communist agent should jam another little electronic relay at some strategic moment in the future?

It was realistic common sense. It's the fellow who pooh-poos the Communist scare and then goes out to fight the anti-Communists who lives in a dream world.

The winter months are the worst for fire losses. Although other factors are involved this is mainly the result of heating hazards.

Odom Heads Boy Scout Council

By David S. Agnew
Comanche District Scout Executive

The Adobe Walls Council, Boy Scouts of America, with headquarters in Pampa, on Monday, Feb. 21 welcomed a new Scout Executive, Steven Odom.

Odom replaced John Brewer who resigned Jan. 6 to join the staff of the Indian Nations Council at Tulsa, Okla.

"Steve," as Odom is known, comes to the Adobe Walls Council from the position of field director of the Sam Houston Area Council with area headquarters at Houston.

A graduate of Rice University, Odom is married and the father of two girls. He has been a professional Boy Scouter since 1952, serving the full time in the Houston council. As Scout Executive, Odom will be responsible for Scouting in the 12 counties in Texas and three in the Oklahoma Panhandle that make up the Adobe Walls Council.

Odom joins the Council in probably the beginning of the busiest time of the year.

With the completion of Boy Scout Week, spring and summer activities will be priorities on the Scouting calendar.

Perhaps the largest individual item on our Comanche District calendar is the annual Spring Camporee, which will be held Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23. In this event, Boy Scouts and Explorers assemble and set up unit camps, displaying the various techniques and equipment they have developed.

Grady Haynes of Memphis, district camping chairman and camporee chairman, announced his committee is planning several surprises for the Scouts in the form of competitive events and activities in which Scouting units from the district—Wheeler, Collingsworth, Hall and Donley counties—will compete.

All campsites are reserved at this time for the five weeks summer camp season at Camp Kiawah, 13 miles east of Canadian on Lake Marvin.

All Boy Scouts and Explorers from the Comanche District and the Council who would like positions on the Camp Staff are urged to send for an application to the Council office

Ranchers Hear of Management

Twenty-four Collingsworth ranchers and stock farmers attended the beef cattle breeders meeting Friday, Feb. 18 to hear a discussion of cattle management and breeding problems.

The speakers were Dr. Dixon Hubbard, Extension Service livestock specialist from Lubbock and Dr. Bob Jones, Childress veterinarian.

The two discussed nutrition and breeding management and how the two are tied together, also calving problems.

Dollars and cents figures were presented to show the correlation between higher calf crops and higher weaning weights, according to Sam Helmers, county agent, who was in charge of the meeting.

The Comanche District executive committee will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday, Feb. 28 at the mission hall of the Episcopal Church in Shamrock, starting at 7:30 p. m.

Wellington representatives are due to attend and several important items are on the agenda, according to Melvin Jennings of Memphis, district chairman.

Twenty-five Report for Track Workouts at Wellington High

Twenty-five Wellington high athletes reported to Coaches Don Beck and Raymond Kauffman to begin track workouts Wednesday, Feb. 16. Sixteen of these were members of last year's team.

"We have a real fine bunch of kids, but we don't know much about their ability yet," Coach Beck said after two days work with the boys. "We have a little more speed than in the past, but we won't have as much experienced depth."

"We are stronger than last year by a good bit, and Coach Kauffman and I feel they are possible contenders for the district championship."

The Wellington team is scheduled to participate in five track meets, beginning with the Iowa Park meet March 5. Another date is tentative, and there is one other tentative date. All meets will be on Saturday.

The track meets will be:
Iowa Park, March 5.
Shamrock, March 12.
Hale Center, March 19.

Eyes of Texas Focus on Mar. 2

The Eyes of Texas Exes in Childress and surrounding cities will focus on the annual Texas Independence Day celebration on March 2 at the Ranchhouse Restaurant in Childress at 7 p.m.

The Childress club is sponsoring the dinner meeting, which will feature Robert F. Schenck as the speaker and slides of the Forty Acres to bring those attending up to date on the new Alumni Center and recent additions to the UT campus. Door "Sur-prizes" with an Orange flavor will be awarded and officers for the coming year are to be elected.

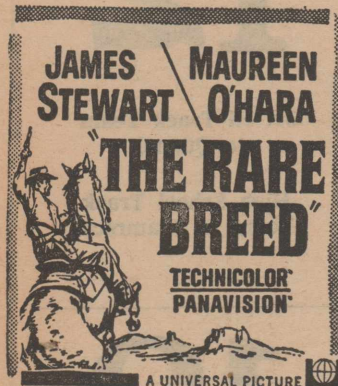

All former students and friends of The University of Texas from this area are welcome to attend, even though they are not members of the Ex-Students' Association.

Tickets may be purchased by contacting LaNoal Castleberry, 801 Ave. G, NW, Childress.

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Marine Private Edgar S. Hale III, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Hale, Jr., of Wellington has graduated from Marine recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif.

During his eight weeks of intensified training under veteran noncommissioned officer Drill Instructors, he learned small arms marksmanship, Bayonet fighting and methods of self-protection. He also received instruction in military drill, history and traditions of the Marine Corps and other academic subjects.

He is currently undergoing individual combat and basic specialist training at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

AMARILLO. — Airman 3/C Kenneth N. Blake, son of John W. Blake, Jr., of Shamrock, has been graduated at Amarillo AFB from the training course for U.S. Air Force supply inventory specialists. Airman Harper is a hydraulics specialist.

He has written his wife, Alona, that it is sandy and hot. He is not in an area under fire, but he can't get his mail regularly. Letters which he writes home come through on schedule, Mrs. Harper said.

In the Air Force a year and a half, Airman Harper attended technical school at Chanute Air Force Base, Illinois, and before going to Viet Nam he was stationed at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif.

His wife, the former Alona Sain, and their two-months-old son, Lloyd Edwin, are staying with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Sain.

Perryton, March 26.

Kress, April 2.

Tentative plans are to run in the meet at Memphis April 9.

The district track meet is slated for Thursday, April 14 at McLean. All the regional qualifiers — first and second place winners at district — will run in a practice meet at Olton April 18.

The regional meet will be at Lubbock Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23, and winners of that event will participate in the state meet at Austin during the first week of May.

The Iowa Park meet is generally considered the toughest meet in the area, but Perryton will be a close second.

There are four categories in which the boys are participating, which are hurdlers, distance men, sprinters and weight men.

Boys who play football and who are not participating in track also are running and lifting weights to get ready for the next season.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

Our future state senator, Grady Hazlewood is on the front line in passing a registration bill to tide the state over until the Supreme Court acts on the poll tax issue. I say future state senator advisedly because the redistricting bill has placed our county in the senatorial district he represents and he has no opponent on either the Democratic or Republican tickets. Barring death or disaster, he is certain to be our next state senator and we might as well start getting better acquainted with him. He was a loyal friend of this county when he represented us in other years and today he is much more powerful due to seniority and experience. Only one man outranks him in years in the senate and none outrank him in adroitness, astuteness or sincerity.

As I pointed out early in January when I did not know whether he would have an opponent or not, Senator Hazlewood is not only an attorney; he is a farmer and dairyman and knows the problems of agricultural communities such as our quite well. He is the sort of man any of us can talk to at any time and it is comforting to know that his devotion is to his state and nation as well as to his district.

People seem interested in my recent trip to the Texas Medical Center in Houston; so I am glad to tell them that everything seems o.k. The trip was perfect even if I did get a bill from the motel for a steak and dish of ice cream that I never ordered and which was sent to a room other than mine. Flying from Houston to Dallas, I was on one of those monstrous jets whose four other stops would be Chicago, New York, London and Hamburg. It gave me the wanderlust just to be on the same plane with people who were going to such distant places.

Next month I will take my everloving wife (who has become a tiny bit cross since we have been repairing the house) to Oklahoma City for her annual checkup with the ear specialist. Bank tellers are cautioned to be sure to give me five- and ten-dollar bills and no twenties when I get the money for the trip. It seems that a flood of counterfeit $20 bills have hit Oklahoma City and the merchants as well as the police are on the alert. It seems that it is easier to cash a check than it is to change a $20 bill in the capital of our neighboring state.

Local people who went to Amarillo last week to see Pat Starr, the granddaughter of our own revered Paul Starr, in the National Shakespeare Company's production of "As You Like It" say that her performance was superb and some of those who attended are well qualified to judge the artistry of an actress. Besides playing the dual role of Phebe-Celia in Amarillo, she also plays the role of Lady Macbeth in "Macbeth" and Ophelia in "Hamlet." It takes real histrionic ability and training to play in the Comedies of Shakespeare such as Phebe in "As You Like It"; but it takes far more than that to play Lady Macbeth or Ophelia in the tragedies of the greatest playwright who ever used the English language to probe into the mind and soul of man.

Pat Starr has gone a long way since her babyhood in Wellington and her high school days in Amarillo; but she came by a lot of her acting ability by blood inheritance. In his younger days Paul Starr could charm an audience with his reason and his soft voice as well as any eloquent orator you ever heard.

Last week Thomas Thompson of the Amarillo Globe-Times published an item in his column about Col. Babe Godfrey being in Amarillo in behalf of the Chapel Fund Drive of New Mexico Military Institute. This is not his correct title at all. It is Col. L. T. Godfrey. His first name is Lola, for he was named for his mother who died at the time of his birth.

When he lived in Wellington, Col. Godfrey was known first as Lola and then as Bill and he considered my Mother as much more his mother than he did any of his sisters such as Eva or June or his half sisters Kate or May. He loved his brother Lee and respected his half-brother Kinney. It was Lee Godfrey and Polly O'Neil who got Bill off to NMMI to start his fabulous athletic career. He lettered in five sports at NMMI and then went on to Louisiana State University where he lettered in either three or four sports, and he was the captain of so many of these teams that I hesitate to enumerate them without looking up some kind of a record.

Perhaps some of you young people or newcomers might like to know why I know so much about Col. Godfrey. It is a simple tale of boyhood. The Godfrey farm and the Wells farm lay side by side on the east side of Wellington. The land is still separated from the town by Highway 83 which runs from Mexico to Canada. Somewhere near the location of the Whiteway Cafe, Bill Godfrey and I built a dugout and we lined it with the skins of animals, wolves, skunks, and rabbits. We had 22 rifles, some knives and a sort of stove on which we cooked impossible indigestible food and after a time we invited Luther Sullivan and Dutch Higgins and some others to join the wild frontier and we had a snug lit-

By Banquet Speaker

Value of Decisions Stressed for Band

The decisions they make in school each day will affect their future, just as decisions made 100 years ago have affected the kind of schools they attend today, members of the Wellington high school band, their parents and other guests were told at the annual band banquet Saturday evening, Feb. 19.

The speaker was Otto Barker, an Electra school administrator and former superintendent of James Larson, WHS band director.

"In your lifetime, the Supreme Court has decided to integrate our schools so we will have more equal education," Mr. Barker said. "Your parents decided to put in a band program so that every child through music can preserve part of our heritage."

Mr. Barker reminded the group that music shapes their life and their personality, and that as members of the band, they will have music for the rest of their lives.

"It wasn't easy getting where you are," he said as he recalled their practice in the August heat. "But somewhere you and Mr. Larson decided to be a winner—to pay the price it takes."

Entertainment was a group of piano numbers by King Bowen, introduced as "a band booster if there ever was one." Bowen has five children who have been or are members of the Wellington band.

Mrs. Milford Harris introduced the seniors, recalling that in this group were the ones who in the fourth grade came home and proudly announced they were going to be in "a tonette band," without realizing the instruments they were so delighted with were whistles.

She introduced her son, Bryant Harris, and Jackie Barton, Sandra Carter, Kathy Davis, John Barjenbruch, and Cleland Stallings.

Paul Guthrie was master of ceremonies, the Rev. Allen B. Earnest gave the invocation and Boyd Derryberry welcomed the guests. Bryant Harris responded.

Check the lineup for such names as these: Rebound Ruby, originator of the Cuties format and still playing in every game at the ripe old age of (shall we say 39 to be safe); Bouncing Beulah, a 38-inch midget whose dribbling antics and cast-off shots amaze all who see her play; Dinah Sore, a diminutive 6-foot, 8-inch center; Leaping Lena, a forward at 6-foot 5 inches in height; and a host of other stars in similar characters.

In addition to the regulation game, the Cuties will also perform a pre-game show and entertain at halftime with musical and novelty numbers to keep the audience in stitches.

The game is being sponsored by the Wellington Classroom Teachers Association. A very nominal admission fee will be charged.
