TERRITORY IS EXPECTED TO BE ASKED

CONDITIONED ITALIAN ACCEPTANCE IS SAID TO BE IN MAKING

BY CHARLES H. GUPTILL
Associated Press Foreign Staff

ROME, March 5 — Italy will accept the League of Nations appeal for peace with Ethiopia, an excellent source said today, as a basis for discussion under certain conditions.

What the conditions would be was not disclosed exactly, but the principal one was declared to be that territory occupied by Italy in East Africa must be considered hers, and must not form any part of the peace negotiations.

Followed Ethiopian Approval

(This prediction of a conditioned Italian acceptance of the league conciliation committee's appeal for an end to hostilities, with a view to definite peace discussions within the framework of the league, followed an Addis Ababa announcement of approval of the proposal—without reservations).

Another Italian condition to final acceptance of the peace appeal was understood to be with reference to the league suggestion for an immediate cessation of hostilities.

Attitude Described

Italy's attitude toward this subject was described in two points:

1. It would not be possible to halt hostilities from one day to another, as though the war were a stage drama. Thus, a decision on this point probably would be left to Marshal Pietro Badogolio, commander-in-chief of the Fascist forces in East Africa.

2. A cessation of hostilities would permit Ethiopia to carry out what Italy contends is its usual policy of procrastination and deviation during negotiations, thus destroying the effect of Italy's recent heavy blows on the northern and southern fronts.

Still Studying Appeal

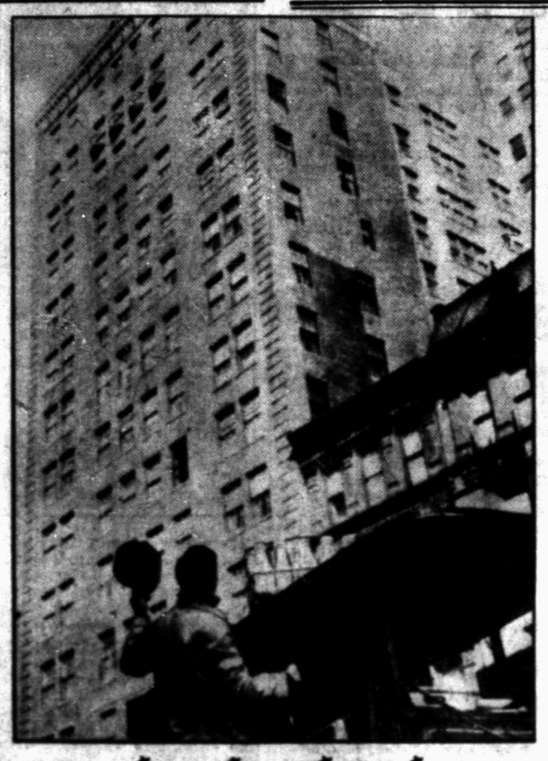

The authority who outlined these views pointed out, however, that Italy was still studying the peace

STRIKERS PREPARED

NEW YORK, March 5. (AP)—Shortly after Mayor LaGuardia appealed to realty interests to arbitrate the building service employes strike, James J. Bambrick, strike leader, today declared that he would "carry the fight to a finish."

Bambrick said he was prepared to issue strike calls for sections of the city as yet unaffected by the walk-out which began last Sunday.

disagreement. Mayor F. H. LaGuardia, who for three days has sought to arbitrate the strike, said that he felt his efforts were finished and laid the onus of the breakdown in negotiations squarely up to the building operators.

James J. Bambrick, local president of the building service employes union, previously had said that if an agreement was not reached by the conference he would give the order to "tear up the town."

Confer All Night

The mayor's announcement came at the end of an all-night conference at which city and federal officials had tried to end the strike which started with dramatic sud-

BRUTAL SLAYING BELIEVED SOLVED

DALLAS, Mar. 5. (AP)—The brutal slaying of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. German, both past 70, at their home near Athens Sept. 25, 1934, was believed solved today with the arrest of Elmer Pruitt, 22-year-old negro officers had trailed over half a dozen states.

The negro was arrested 30 minutes after he arrived here last night and signed a statement admitting that he beat the aged couple to death.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. German, their heads crushed with what officers said was an axe, were found at their home. Their safe which contained $300 had been torn from the wall and rifled.

Sheriff Jess Sweeten of Henderson county had sought the negro since the day after the slaying. He, M. L. Miller and E. C. McGuire of the Dallas district attorney's office and a railroad detective arrested Pruitt at the home of an uncle.

Sweeten said he trailed the negro to Chicago, over Illinois, Virginia and Oklahoma and from Kansas City to Tulsa and Dallas.

War Vet Recovers His Wooden Limb

WASHINGTON, Mar. 5. (AP)—By court decree, William C. LaSalle, one-legged war veteran, today recovered a wooden leg held by his former landlady as security for an unpaid bill of $25.

The ex-soldier said he didn't have the money but he needed the leg badly.

Home Owners Plan To Drill Oil Tests

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 5 (AP)—Two hundred and fifty owners of homes in one of Oklahoma City's best residential areas banded together last night to drill wells on their property adjoining a recently discovered oil pool near the state capitol.

The organization, the Home Owners Oil Corp., will be headed by Wirt Franklin.

The home owners hope to drill their own wells and produce them, thereby sharing in all of the production, rather than receiving one-eighth, the usual royalty. Franklin said that because of the unit being held intact that fewer wells would be needed to give all owners equitable returns.

Workers Greet King On Scotland Visit

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 5 (AP)—King Edward was cheered as "Good Old Teddy" by 2,000 workmen on the new liner, Queen Mary, today. The Scottish nickname for Edward was shouted as he completed an inspection tour of the partially completed ship.

The king remarked, "this is a ship built for utility," and expressed his desire to visit it again before the maiden voyage in May. His majesty was informed that the service speed of the liner will be 29 knots.

Thousands of, persons thronged the streets to see Edward on his first visit to Scotland as king.

BALLOT BOXES OPENING IS SCHEDULED

AGREEMENT ON COURT COMMISSION FAILS; TRIAL RESUMED

Open court action in the Oct. 3 municipal gas bonds election suit was ordered to begin at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon as plans for appointment of a commission to tabulate all illegal voters were altered today.

When attorneys for both sides failed to reach an agreement this morning on work to be done by the commission, and on instructions under which it would act, Judge Clark M. Mullican called the court session in order to resume trial.

To Record Votes

The same purpose for which a commission was agreed will be sought as the trial proceeds. Attorneys for both sides and Judge Mullican will be present as it was indicated, ballot boxes will be opened and a record made of only those votes cast by persons who have been ruled as ineligible to ballot in the Oct. 3 election—those who failed to render property for city taxation by April 30, 1935.

'Minimum Standards Of Performance' In Program Are Outlined By Wallace

BY JERRY GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 5 (AP)—"Criticisms and suggestion," were invited by Secretary Wallace in a statement to the nation's farmers read here today giving first notice of proposed requirement which they must meet to receive subsidy payments for soil conservation.

The statement, read simultaneously at regional meetings of farm leaders here and at Chicago, outlined these "minimum standards of performance":

1. The farmer must have in 1936 an acreage of soil-conserving crops equal to not less than a given per cent of the total acreage planted in soil-depleting crops. (Wallace estimated the nation has 300,000,000 acres of soil-depleting, or cash, crops, and 100,000,000 acres of soil-conserving crops.)

2. The farmer must have in 1936 an acreage of soil-depleting crops not in excess of a base determined for the individual farm.

3. The farmer must maintain in 1936 the number of acres formerly devoted to food and feed crops for consumption on his farm.

The secretary's statement said to participate in the new $500,000,000 soil conservation program, each farmer should have records of the normal acreage of all soil-depleting crops grown on his farm; the normal yield per acre of the major soil-depleting crops grown, and the acreage to be devoted to soil-conserving and soil-depleting uses in 1936.

The amount available for the farm program this year, the statement said, is $440,000,000, but additions may raise the total to $470,000,000. Deducting the amounts used

BROAD OUTLINE OF PROGRAM REVEALED

THIRTY MILLION ACRES TO BE REMOVED FROM CROP PRODUCTION

BY ROBERT M. YODER
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, March 5—Removal from production of approximately 30,000,000 acres of soil depleting crops and an increase of that amount in soil building crops was disclosed today by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace as the 1936 goal of the administration's soil conservation program.

A broad outline of the program was submitted by the secretary in a statement read simultaneously before regional conferences of agricultural leaders here and at Memphis, Tenn.

Will Be Ample Acreage

The removal, Wallace said, would reduce the soil depleting acreage from a yearly average of 300,000,000 acres to 270,000,000 acres in 1936. This, he said, would be ample at average yields to provide the nation a supply of food and fiber equal to domestic consumption in the 1920-1929 period.

Farm leaders here said the 270,000,000 acres left in the production of major crops would be approximately the same amount farmed last

Week By Week, Germany's Energy Is Concentrated On Military Expansion

REICH IS REBUILDING FORCES FOR RETURN AS WORLD POWER

BY MELVIN K. WHITELEATHER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

BERLIN, March 5 (AP)—Week by week Germany's energy is increasingly concentrated on preparing the nation's forces to fight for the fatherland.

With each new gun, airplane and warship, Nazi leaders believe they increase their world bargaining power so that colonies, revision of certain frontiers and other demands cannot long be denied them.

Hitler Unshackles Reich

Successful laying of the ground work for rebuilding the military machine is considered by experts to have been accomplished in the year that has passed since the Nazi dictator, Adolf Hitler, unshackled the reich from the Versailles treaty clauses which destroyed the old army. He suddenly declared on March 16, 1935, that he would no longer respect those clauses.

Alongside the speedy manufacture of guns and airplanes and the building of warships, the Nazi government through decrees is putting economics and finance at the service of rearmament. Simultaneously, the nation's man, woman and child power is being instructed in what to do in case of war. All phases of life, officials said, are being bound together to uphold the army.

Aviation Expansion Next

Land armaments are further along than are either the air or naval, but military men predict that coming months will see a spurt in aviation which they say will "probably startle a good many nations."

Combat squadrons, they believe, will begin to show themselves at various parts of Germany in rapid succession for plants have been

GENE HOWE, ORIGINATOR OF CUSTOM, SAYS IT HAS CAUSED DROP IN CITY'S DIVORCE RATE

("Today, by proclamation of Gov. James V. Allred, is "Mother-In-Law Day" in Texas. The first celebration honoring mothers-in-law was held in Amarillo two years ago after Gene Howe, of the Amarillo News and Globe, offended his mother-in-law, Mrs. W. F. Donald, by referring to her in his column as "the standing army." The event was repeated on a larger scale a year ago, and Governor Allred, a guest, was so impressed he decided to make the observance state-wide. Howe wrote the following story for the Associated Press).

Originator Of Mother-In-Law Day

AMARILLO, Mar. 5. (AP)—Out here on the plains of Texas we may still have dust instead of moisture in our clouds but our men have expanded their protecting sense of chivalry to include their mothers-in-law as well as their wives and children.

In Texas the family circle has been made complete and the result is that the divorce rate has slumped sharply in this city.

The man who was worst beaten up in a fist fight in Amarillo last year was a man who had made a coarse, uncouth remark about his own mother-in-law. A neighbor took it up and sent him to the hospital.

It's as dangerous in Texas to

SANTONE CLUB HELD UP

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 5 (AP)—Two armed men this morning held up the Metropolitan club in the downtown section and escaped with $1,190 after trussing Leon Voight, operator of the club, and Sam Phillips, his son-in-law, with wire. Speedy Marriage Of Couple Planned

PARIS, March 5 (AP)—Friends of the dashing Douglas Fairbanks, sr., American actor, and Lady Ashley, former English musical comedy actress, said today the couple was determined on a speedy marriage.

Fairbanks interviewed one French authority after another yesterday, his friends said, but the officials unanimously turned down his request that they waive provisions of the law to hasten a wedding.

Relief Conference Is Called By FDR

WASHINGTON, March 5. (AP)—A White House conference to consider the important question of new relief needs was summoned today by President Roosevelt.

U. S. TO BUY ALL CANADIAN SILVER

WASHINGTON, March 5. (AP)—Secretary Morgenthau said today his agreement to buy newly mined Canadian silver through the Bank of Canada was expected to absorb the dominion's entire output.

The production was estimated by treasury officials at about 16,000,000 ounces per year.

The secretary said it was "perfectly possible" that similar arrangements might be negotiated with South American silver producing countries.

This government now has an arrangement with Mexico to purchase that republic's entire output of the newly mined metal.

The buying is done in pursuance of the silver purchase act requirement that treasury stocks of the metal be built up to one-third those of gold or until the price reached $1.29 an ounce—the coinage value.

ALAMO SERVICE IS SCHEDULED

HISTORIC FORT'S FALL TO BE OBSERVED IN CEREMONIES

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 5.—Heroic fighters for Texas Independence will be commemorated tomorrow at San Antonio as flags of seven countries and 11 states will be presented on the 100th anniversary of the Fall of the Alamo.

Governor James V. Allred said today that Governor Hill McAlister of Tennessee would attend, with his adjutant general, J. H. Ballew, a native Texan, to personally present Tennessee's flag.

Dispatched By Plane

Governor George Earle of Pennsylvania dispatched by plane two members of his staff, Lt. Com. Joseph A. Cunningham and Maj. Wilson H. Stephens, to present that state's flag.

Other flags presented to the Daughters of the Republic, custodians of the Alamo, for preservation of the shrine, will be from Alabama, Connecticut, Georgia, Maine, Maryland, Missouri, New Hampshire, New York and Virginia.

All foreign countries represented by the hardy band of more than 180 men who died in the state's war for independence will present flags.

The countries are Denmark, Germany, Wales, Ireland, Scotland and England.

Mourning regulations incident to the recent death of King George V prevented a British official from participating in the ceremony. A Union Jack flag was sent with an appropriate message, however.

SHAW SAYS NO WORLD WAR IN OFFING AS MAJOR POWERS ARE AFRAID OF EACH OTHER; HITS DISARMAMENT PARLEYS

(By The Associated Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—George Bernard Shaw says there will be no world war in the near future because major powers are afraid of each other.

"Disarmament conferences are utter rubbish," the 79-year-old Irish playwright said. "They are held merely to keep the public amused. No nation is going to disarm. They sit around a table and say:

"'If I shoot you with a 14-inch gun will you throw away your 16-inch guns.'

"It's impossible to guess where the next great war will break out because it probably won't break out at all. War has changed so that the old gentlemen who send out young men to fight for them are no longer safe. Airplanes can bomb them as well as the soldiers."

Nations keep on building greater armies and navies, he told interviewers here yesterday, "because they want to build up a few profits for those who are engaged in the business of equipping armaments.

"It keeps the taxpayers and the professional pacifists feeling busy."

He was quite confident that he is "the most popular man in America."

"I have no grudge against America," he admitted, "I've got a lot of money out of America in my time. But now, I'm sorry to say, America is getting some out of me."

Mr. and Mrs. Shaw left a British liner here last night for the Grand Canyon, "what is it?" asked Shaw, "a building?"

They will return to Los Angeles Sunday to continue their trip around the world.

Good Speech Caps Beauty Efforts Says Ellen Couch, Dramatic Coach

Ellen Claire Couch, secretary of the N. J. Association of Teachers of Speech, regards correct pronunciation as an important beauty factor.

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff

"Nature decided what kind of voice you have and there isn't much you can do about it," says Ellen Claire Couch, dramatic coach at Centenary Junior college and secretary of the New Jersey Association of Teachers of Speech.

"Soprana, mezzo or contralto—you were born with your individual voice and to attempt to change its quality and natural timbre is a mistake indeed. You are likely to injure your speaking apparatus disastrously and permanently.

"A good many girls think that the rule about speaking softly means to speak in low, throaty tones. It doesn't. A high soprano voice can be as soft and well modulated as a normally low one.

"No woman should try to force her voice below its natural pitch. She may think this produces an interesting result, but her listeners think only that she is hoarse and that her vocal chords give out rasping, grating tones whenever she opens her mouth.

"On the other hand," attractive, blue-eyed Miss Couch continued, "good speech is entirely up to the individual. Even education is no guarantee of correct and pleasant diction. It is the personal duty of every person to learn how to pronounce words correctly and to realize that success often is more dependent upon the personality as revealed through pleasant voice quality and unaffected speech than on many things often considered paramount.

"For instance, every girl at the party may have her hair fixed exactly like yours. A dozen girls may be wearing white gowns very much like your own. There may be a marked similarity in cosmetic makeup. However, one thing no other woman at the party possibly can have is a voice just like yours. Our voices and our speech are our very own. We should guard, improve and treasure them."

Miss Couch tries to eliminate the prevalent inferiority complex about American diction in her classrooms. She believes that one doesn't have to be British in order to know how to pronounce words charmingly. There is a correct way and a wrong way to pronounce each word in the English language. Every woman who cares about the appearance she makes should learn the right way.

Fifty Are Guests For Monthly Tea

About fifty women attended a St. Patrick's Day tea given at Seaman hall Wednesday afternoon by the Faculty Women's club at Texas Technological college.

THE DOCTORS ARE RIGHT

Women should take only liquid laxatives

Many believe any laxative they might take only makes constipation worse. And that isn't true.

Do what doctors do to relieve this condition. Doctors use liquid laxatives, and keep reducing the dose until the bowels need no help at all.

A cleansing dose today; a smaller quantity tomorrow; less each time, until bowels need no help at all.

Reduced dosage is the secret of aiding Nature in restoring regularity. You must use a little less laxative each time, and that's why your laxative should be in liquid form. A liquid dose can be regulated to the drop.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara — both natural laxatives that form no habit even with children. Syrup Pepsin is the nicest tasting, nicest acting laxative you ever tried.

HOPES REVIVED IN WHEAT SECTION FOR CROP THIS YEAR; FIELDS GREENING UP

(By The Associated Press)

GARDEN CITY, Kans., Mar. 4—Greening wheat fields in the southwest bread basket revived hopes of farmers today for a 1936 wheat crop.

In southwestern Kansas, normally heart of the winter wheat belt but last year center of the dust bowl, farmers reported wheat, earlier believed dead, was pushing through the dust-covered fields.

The consensus was that the wheat had an excellent chance to survive and with timely spring rains would produce at least half a crop.

Tom B. Armstrong, Kansas state grain inspector, said after a trip over the state, that 75 per cent of the wheat has survived the cold winter and 50 per cent was in good condition.

The crop is well rooted and in condition to shoot upward if favored by rains, he said. Farther south in west Oklahoma, crop authorities said there would be no revival there until rain fell. In the Panhandle many fields have blown and the loss is estimated at 50 per cent.

Pageant On Texas History Presented

A pageant representing the past ten decades of Texas history will be presented at the assembly hour at Senior High school this afternoon. One hundred high school students will take part. E. J. Lowrey, history instructor, is in charge of the program.

The pageant portrays the trials of a young history instructor who is at a loss to know how he can make history a living subject to his students. He falls asleep and each of the decades since Texas' independence was gained in 1836 comes to his rescue to tell him of many vivid experiences.

Thirty students will represent the ten decades, wearing special costumes for each. The Senior High band, under the direction of H. A. Anderson, will furnish appropriate music for each decade.

Trans-Pacific airplanes are inspected by California to guard against introduction of malaria-bearing mosquitoes.

INSTITUTE TO END TONIGHT

CROWD OF 300 HEARS DALLAS MAN TALK LAST NIGHT

Lectures tonight by Henry W. Stanley, director of the trade extension division of Dallas Chamber of Commerce, will conclude a two-night Merchants institute here.

An estimated audience of 300 persons last night heard Stanley speak on business outlook and on retail selling. His audience was singularly attentive.

Tonight's lectures, on "Turnover, the Pulse of Profit," and "Advertising in the Lubbock Retail Market," will be conducted with the first at the 7:30 o'clock at Hilton hotel ballroom.

Business, now 72 per cent normal as compared with 57 per cent last year and 40 per cent in 1930, has a healthful prospect, the speaker said. He explained that continued progress will be built, according to indications, upon credit inflation, rising commodity prices, increased farm produce receipts, and through aggressive advertising and sales campaigns.

Politics Is Discounted

The general election does not offer possible business brakes, the speaker pointed out, saying economic laws are not regulated by legislation and that "economics has less to do with politics than politicians will admit" and, further, that the tendency for politicians to "get on economic issues and try to ride them through" is all too common.

The director infused into his lecture a vein of humor that several times had his audience laughing.

Humor Not Excluded

"It is rumored a depression has been 'hoovering' over the country the last few years," he said. He showed a chart to exemplify the dipping of values and said Mr. Hoover termed the slump "just a minor recession of major activity."

Cycles that brought depressions were explained.

Interesting historical evolution of business agencies was woven into the address, and a maze of figures compiled by business authorities illustrated categorical treatment.

Necessity for understanding and pleasing women in retail sales was impressed. Women, he said, own 41 per cent of the wealth of this nation, do 85 per cent of retail buying, buy 65 per cent of men's wear, and 99 per cent of groceries. This has its influence on styling and designing, he showed, and is approaching a stage of "near-dictatorship."

The audience was informed that attention, interest, creation of desire and buying action are the principal steps in sale making, and that the arch of business is constructed of production, distribution, finance, and accounting, with salesmanship forming the keystone holding it.

Personal Inventories Urged

Personal inventory of mental power and physical well being should be taken often by those in the retail business, he urged.

In a slogan contest at a recess period between lectures, the audience filled out blanks which today will be graded. Awards will be made by Dallas concerns.

FFA BANQUET IS HELD LAST NIGHT

A father-son banquet, sponsored by the Future Farmers of America chapter at Junior High school, was attended by 57 persons at the school last night. Courses were prepared and served by the home economics department, under the direction of Miss Ilse Wolf, teacher.

Principal speaker was Dr. J. O. Ellsworth, head of the agricultural economics department of Texas Technological college, who discussed relations of father to son.

Brief Talks Made

Brief talks were made by Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture at Tech; O. T. Ryan, vocational agriculture supervisor of the area; Ray Chappelle, teacher-trainer in the agricultural division at Tech; K. E. Oberholtzer, superintendent of Lubbock public schools; Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment sub-station; Carroll Thompson, principal of Junior High school, and Vaughn Wilson of Southwest Ward, who discussed benefits of an evening school being conducted there.

Howard Green played an accordion number; Glenn Lattimore discussed "What FFA Is"; Truva McSpadden spoke on "Lubbock County and Its Agriculture"; C. S. Gaddis talked on "What George Washington Did For American Agriculture," "Why Farmers Often Fail" was explained by O. J. Davis, and "The Farmer's Creed" was discussed by Lyonal B. Lindsey.

R. L. Burdette, vocational agriculture teacher in the Lubbock schools, was in general charge, and Charles Smith, president of the local FFA, was toastmaster.

Enough water to meet the daily needs of a city of 50,000 people will be piped into the Texas Centennial Exposition opening in Dallas June 6.

CAGE TOURNEY IS TO OPEN TOMORROW

EIGHT TEAMS ARE TO BATTLE IT OUT FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Mar. 5.—Eight teams, representing an original field of 1,500 entries, will enter tournament play tomorrow for the state basketball championship of the University of Texas Interscholastic league.

Only one of the eight teams, Taft of San Patricio county, participated in last year's tournament, while three of the teams were virtually unknown and were in the championship flight for the first time. They were Carey of Childress county, Crews of Runnels county and Cushing of Nacogdoches county.

Others In Tourneys

The other four teams, Dallas Tech, Jeff Davis of Houston, El Paso and Austin each have participated in several tournaments.

A new champion was inevitable. Denton, 1935 titleholders, was eliminated in the regional tournament by Waco, 13 to 11. Waco fell in the finals before Dallas Tech, 19 to 10.

Carey, Crews and Cushing scored impressive victories to win the regional titles. Carey defeated Pampa, 32 to 26; Crews downed Forsan, 43 to 24, and Cushing triumphed over Gober, 30 to 23.

Austin Easy Winner

Austin went into the championship round by virtue of its easy victory over Del Rio, 40 to 20. Jeff Davis defeated Colmesneil, 35 to 22, Taft trimmed Laferia, 37 to 33, and El Paso nosed out Fort Stockton, 29 to 27, in other regional championship games.

The tournament will get under way at 2 p. m. with Cushing playing Taft. Carey will play Dallas Tech at 3:15 p. m., Crews will match goals with Jeff Davis at 7 p. m. and Austin will tackle El Paso at 8:15 p. m.

The semi-finals will open at 10:15 a. m. Saturday with the second game scheduled for 11:30 a. m. The championship game will be played at 8:15 p. m. and will be preceded by a consolation game between the losing semi-finalists.

Huffman Praises Team

Coach Huffman had no criticism for his team's work this year. On the other hand, he praised the record of his young and inexperienced team, saying that it played over its head numerous times to win as many games as it did.

Coach Aubrey Butts submitted the names of eight freshman cagers who were approved for letters by the athletic council. They are Elmer Tarbox of Higgins, Noel Thompson of Lubbock, Lloyd Talliaferro of Plainview, Herbert Currie of Westbrook, Holland Cheaney of Santa Anna, Winston Brummett of Lubbock, R. S. Mossley of Rochelle, and Dayton McWhorter of Lubbock.

Clarence Doser Is Hollywood Leader

HOLLYWOOD, Fla., Mar. 5. (AP)—With Clarence Doser of Rochester, N. Y., slightly ahead at the halfway mark, a select field of professionals today entered the final 36 holes of the $2,500 Hollywood Open golf tournament.

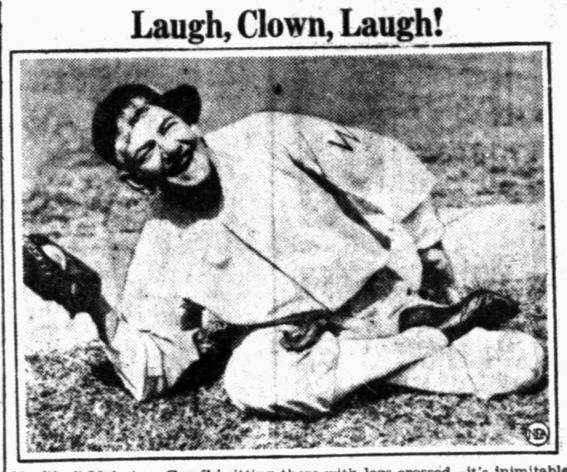

Doser, little known along the bigtime circuit, yesterday shot his second successive subpar score, a 67, to add to his previous 68 for a total of 135.

His performance shoved him a notch ahead of Tony Penna of Pensacola, Fla., the first day's leader, and four others.

PLAINVIEW IS HOST today, Friday and Saturday to the Texas Amateur Athletic union's basketball tournament for girls. Thirty teams have entered, representing nearly every section of the state.

Ropesville won the championship last year and went on to Wichita, Kansas, for the national tournament. Ropesville, however, is not among the favored few this time. Plainview itself hopes to emerge with the championship, and Coach Billy McClure's team has a fine chance of doing it.

There are few high school girls teams in the state with a record like Plainview's for this season, or with a team as tall and well balanced. It is undefeated in 30-odd games to date, and has proven its superiority over nearly all standout teams of this section. It will take a team from some other sector, no doubt, to eliminate Plainview.

The bouquet to Plainview for attracting this state tournament.

RULE MEETINGS are over, the rules outlined for another season. Still pouring in, however, are suggestions for new regulations. Now comes a proposal by Henry (Hank) Iba, who coaches Oklahoma A. & M. college basketball teams, that cage games should be lengthened.

Firmly convicted that basketball fans are being short-changed, Iba declares: "Games are too short. What other athletic event, or what amusement, for that matter, gives the customers just 40 minutes of action?

"We ought to lengthen basketball games either to two 25-minute halves or four 15-minute quarters. We'd all be drawing from 5,000 to 18,000 fans for basketball within 10 years if we have the fieldhouses to accommodate them and give the customers their money's worth."

Considering the disfavor which will meet his suggestion by coaches who don't believe players can go at top speed for more than 40 minutes, Iba contends: "I say none of the players go even 40 minutes at top speed. Lengthen the game and you'll open it up to more players, increase scoring and attract greater crowds."

Iba's voice means something in national collegiate basketball circles. He is considered one of the foremost coaches of the sport. He plans to submit his proposal formally at the April convention of the national basketball coaches association. Maybe it's a good idea.

Phog Allen, well known coach of basketball at Kansas, is still campaigning for his 12-foot goals. He started agitation for elevated goals more than a year ago, tried it out in his own gymnasium against other Big Six teams. He believes the day will come, and not late, when cagers will shoot at baskets 12 feet from the floor.

Allen's idea, of course, is to make the game more adaptable to short and stocky athletes, take the premium off tree-top tall players, eliminate part of the handicap under which shorter players labor. By elevating the baskets he believes the game will be improved more than somewhat.

"The only reason baskets are just 10 feet high now," insists Allen, "is because that was the height of the balcony edge at Springfield where Dr. Naismith nailed his peach baskets. If that balcony had been higher, goals would be higher now. But they have never been raised or lowered since basketball was invented."

Goals 12 feet high would eliminate most of the "laying up" or "tipping in" of shots. Players then would have to shoot at the basket every time. Advantages of tall players would be cut considerably. We'd like to see the idea gain impetus, at least enough for a season's trial.

There must be something to it, else Dr. Allen would become discouraged and give up. Were his teams ever on the losing side, there might be another excuse for his suggestion, but he consistently wins. Big Six cage titles for Kansas are about as monotonous as baseball championships for Uncle Billy Disch and his Longhorns. Allen has been selected to direct basketball in the Olympics this year, first time the games have included the court sport.

And speaking of the Olympics, guess we better observe the Associated Press' warning and get set for the Berlin trip. The wire carries this "note to sports editors:"

"Applications for working press accommodations at the Olympic games in Berlin August 1-16 must be in the hands of the American Olympic committee not later than April 15.

"Applications must state the name of correspondents to be assigned, give essential information as to what coverage they will provide, etc., and be forwarded to Frederick W. Rubien, secretary of the A. O. C., 233 Broadway, New York City.

"Press accommodations will be limited (ah, here's the bee in the biscuit) to ten per cent of the number of active participants in the Olympics. As the United States expects to send approximately 400 athletes, the working press limit will be 40. A press committee will examine all applications and advise as to their disposition."

Anybody want to come along with us? Surely we can rate at least two of those 40 ducats, seein' as how so many Olympic athletes hail from here.

Van Ryn Says He'll Play With Allison Again This Season

NEW YORK, March 5. (AP)—It may be a case of the wish fathering the thought. But Johnny Van Ryn expects to play doubles in tennis with Wilmer Allison again this year.

"And that goes for the Davis cup, too," said the Philadelphia veteran.

The U. S. Lawn Tennis association's cup committee will have the final say insofar as the international team is concerned. There is a feeling in some quarters that Allison should not be taxed again with the task of playing both singles and doubles.

Thrives On Competition

"The theory that it's too much physically to expect of Wilmer is wrong," said Johnny. "He thrives on competition and after all there is a day of rest between his first singles match and the doubles match.

"Whatever happens Wilmer and I will play together next summer even if we aren't chosen for the Davis cup doubles assignment. I have no thought of teaming up with anyone else."

Van Ryn is playing in the current National indoor championship at the seventh regiment armory here with Gregory Mangin and there has been some gossip the pair may make a bid for the cup berth.

The men's and women's doubles competitions, which held forth yesterday, will be at a standstill today to make room for the singles quarter finals in both divisions.

SAILOR BESTS BOZINIS IN MAT ROW

CROWD TURNS FORMER JEERS INTO CHEERS FOR ARKANSAS GOB

It "just isn't being done" at many places, but there has to be a first time for everything, and last night was the first time a wrestling crowd here vigorously saluted and cheered Sailor Moran, the growling ex-gob from Arkansas.

Nick Bozinis was the heavy villain of the cast last night, and he got his just desserts—a whipping or at least a pinning by Sailor Moran, who usually plays the heavy role. But they yelled for Nick's blood and demanded mercy for Moran as the Greek industriously plied his trade, carried the fight and fouled consistently after winning the first fall.

And Moran, strangely enough, "took it." In a way, he had to take it—there wasn't anything else to do, at the time. Bozinis rushed him, tackled him, choked him, once got a toe hold that was just about the most tortuous thing in its line seen here. Moran survived that, came up to reverse the hold, but lost the fall, the first one. It lasted 23 min., and was full of wrestling. Not much rough stuff on either side. Hard, rugged rassling, surprising enough. Nick won it with a cruel body twist, coming out of a split. But the toehold, lasting nearly 5 minutes, weakened the sailor-man.

The Worm Turns

Bozinis started choking tactics in the second fall, doing it with his elbow. He was broken away several times, and Moran recovered finally to fly into his tormentor, rocked him with an upper-cut which he didn't pull, poured on a tough arm-scissors and all but tore the limb off before Bozinis could give up and Referee Don Carver could separate them. It was over in 17 minutes.

The third fall started like the second, only Moran didn't stand for as much of it. He bumped Bozinis with a flying tackle, tried another, missed and hit the referee. They tangled up, Bozinis on top, but Moran rolled over, smothered Nick's shoulders and it was over in 4 minutes.

The main event produced the wrestling on last night's program, but the preliminary and semi-final almost stole the show so far as action and alley-fighting were concerned.

"Pal Of Yours, Dory?"

The patrons were handed a surprise package when Allen introduced Hy Sharman, the Salt Lake City man, supposedly one of Dory Detton's early tutors. Detton, who recommended Sharman to promoters of this section, more than likely wouldn't have recognized his erstwhile home town sparring partner. This Mr. Sharman turned out to be an A-1 villain, making himself 100 per cent unpopular from the moment he laid aside his gorgeous dressing robe.

Not a bad-looking fellow, with plenty of leg muscles, Sharman became a new Big Bad William to local fans in his treatment of Luis de la Torre, flashy Spaniard. But Sharman knows what it's all about. He did some clever work, slamming, leg-locking and the like, while mixing in a hundred or so quick punches, choke-holds, and the like. Sharman won the match, scheduled for 30 minutes, in 18 minutes, with a Japanese crab hold, quickly and expertly applied. He appears to be quite a veteran in the art of rough and tumble wrestling, is somewhat of a showman, and capable of taking care of himself in the clinches.

Haddock, Estes Draw

The prelim was no less active and fast, with Dale Haddock and Balk Estes doing the honors. It took them 20 minutes, and the fuss isn't settled yet. Haddock was at his best, or worst, and he played unusually rough. Estes exchanged blows with him. They kicked and pawed each other, flung each other overside, demonstrated some whirlwind action.

Sharman, however, was the expert at tossing his opponent overboard. He did it twice—by grasping la Torre's thick hair, flinging him quickly and forcefully to one side. Three times la Torre went out, once removing a ringside patron. He's fast and tough, mean and daring, this shaggy-haired Utahan.

MAJOR MANAGERS

by Morris

JOE McCARTHY

Joe McCarthy, rotund manager of the Yankees, climbed the major league ladder as a brain-truster after a dozen years in the minors with no big-time experience . . . As an infielder McCarthy played at Toledo, Indianapolis, Wilkes-Barre (where he was manager at 25, in 1913), Buffalo and Louisville . . . Light batting kept him out of the majors, but the Cubs took him on after his master-minding as manager nailed the pennant to the Louisville mast in 1921 and '25. . . . The Cubs dropped him in September, 1930, and he joined Ruppert, Ruth & Company as successor to Bob Shawkey, with many happy consequences, financial and otherwise. . . . McCarthy is 48 years old and a great believer in young talent from the minors. . . . As a collegian he played outfield for Niagara university. . . . He retired as a player in 1920.

ROOKIE OUTFIELDERS CATCH EYES OF IVORY FANCIERS; MORE NEWCOMERS HAVE CHANCE NOW THAN IN YEARS

BY ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Rookie outfielders have caught the eyes of ivory fanciers to an unusual extent at this year's major league baseball roundup in the south and far west, Allowing a percentage off for early enthusiasm or first impressions, the fact remains that more newcomers have a chance to scale the ramparts this spring than in many a silvery moon.

Joe Di Maggio, the sensational Yankee recruit from the West coast, seems destined to start the coming American league campaign as a regular. The young Italian-American will have a big burden of ballyhoo to carry around but he seems to have unusual poise as well as all-around ability.

Carry No Guarantees

Di Maggio's coast league batting record of .398, along with a number of other juicy minor league marks compiled by rookie stars, carry no guarantees but they can be discounted and still look good. Oscar Eckhardt, who hit .399 in the same league as Di Maggio may land a job with Brooklyn while George Puccinelli, top batsman of the International league at .359 last season, is already a fixture in the cleanup spot for the Athletics.

Wilson (Dee) Miles, speedy slugger from Chattanooga, is slated for regular duty in the Washington outfield. There's a wide open race for outfield jobs on the Chicago White Sox, with Mike Kreevich, a .345 hitter last year in the American association, showing considerable "early foot" for the benefit of railbirds.

To Convert Infielders

Mickey Cochrane, boss of the World Champion Tigers, has decided to convert two rookie infielders into outfielders. One of them, Rudy York, a Texas league product, has shown sufficient ability already to warrant predictions he will stay in the big show this year, at least for relief work. York came up as a first baseman. The other prospect is Chet Laabs, who hit .384 with Fort Wayne (Ind.).

SPRING TRAINING CAMP NOTES

(By The Associated Press)

MAY PROVE VALUABLE

PENSACOLA, Fla.—Dick Coffman, the American league castoff, may prove a valuable addition to the Giants' pitching staff. When Bill Terry signed him up he admitted it was merely that he was willing to take a chance but this spring Coffman has been working hard, is in fine condition and has shown enough that the Giants' coaches believe he will stick.

TO GET CONTRACT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Frank Crosetti, one of the Yankees' dollar a year men, probably will be offered a regular contract before he has spent much more time in camp. In his first drill Crosetti stepped around a lively pace and gave every indication that he had fully recovered from the leg injury that put him out of action last season.

RIVALRY SEEN

CLEARWATER, Fla.—Casey Stengel hasn't had much trouble getting his pitchers into condition but he is expected to have some heavy thinking to do when the infielders report today. Advance information is that Vince Sherlock may give Jimmy Jordan some real competition for the second base job and Ben Geraghty may be a serious rival for Lonnie Frey at short.

GLOATS OVER STAFF

AVALON, Calif.—With Walter Stephenson showing exceptional improvement, Manager Charley Grimm of the Cubs is almost gloating over his catching staff. Gabby Hartnett, the National league's most valuable player last year, heads the list with Ken O'Dea and Stephenson, whose temperament almost cost him his job last season, fighting for the other job.

TO HAVE COMPETITION

PASADENA, Calif.—If and when Zeke Bonura, the holdout White Sox first baseman, comes to terms, he is likely to have plenty of competition for his job. Mule Haas and Rip Radcliff, outfielders, and Manager Jimmy Dykes have been drilling at the position and all have shown they can handle it if necessary.

BRINGS BROTHER ALONG

SAN ANTONIO—Although the Waners are not present, the Pirates have a brother act in camp. Big Jim Weaver, the pitcher, brought his 20-year-old brother Myron up from Fulton, Ky., for a tryout. Myron has been doing some good sand lot hurling.

BERGER TO REPORT

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Wally Berger, the Bees' leading holdout, wired he would be on hand Friday but President Bob Quinn issued an ultimatum he was not to get a uniform until he signed the contract originially offered. "I still insist he is the highest paid outfielder in the league and he is being given a fair deal," Quinn said.

Southwest Cage Race Ends Tonight

COLLEGE STATION, March 5. (AP)—The Southwest conference basketball chase will end here tonight when the University of Texas, seeking a tie for second place, meets the Texas Aggies.

The Longhorn cagers, in the pennant race until cuffed about by Arkansas in a pair of games last week, need the victory to end the season in a tie with Rice institute for second place—three full games behind the Porkers.

An Aggie win would give them only four victories in twelve starts.

The freshmen teams will battle in the curtain-raiser. The Steer yearlings recently kicked the Aggie fish, 53-19.

In the conference's semi-windup last night at Dallas, Texas Christian surprised all with a 33 to 29 victory over Southern Methodist. Byron Saam, erstwhile radio announcer, refused to sign off and bothered the Mustang forwards all evening from his guard post.

The Froggies opened the season with a win over the Mustangs and ended it the same way. Cowan and Walls, led by Saam, accounted for 12 and 10 points, respectively.

SLATON LEADS IN ANTON'S TOURNEY

INDEPENDENT PLAYERS ARE STAGING CAGE CHAMPIONSHIP

ANTON, March 5 (Special)—One of the strongest pre-tournament favorites, the Slaton Oil Mill team, advanced through another round of play in the Anton tournament for independent basketball teams last night with a 38 to 19 victory over the Sudan Independents.

Jim Neely, Slaton coach, former star at Hardin-Simmons university, led the Slaton Oilers with 13 points and a lot of fine floor work. Wilson Gilmore of the Oilers, former Texas Tech star, was an important factor in Slaton's victory with his fine floor work and passing game.

Hutchinson of Sudan led his side with 7 points.

The Littlefield CCC team, considered strong, lost to the determined efforts of Spade's cagers. The score was 31 to 13 as Fowler led his mates to victory with 11 points.

Clausen's Pharmacy of Anton and Shallowater played a fast, close game, the Shallowater team winning, 26 to 21. With several of the county championship high school players on the team, Shallowater pulled away toward the last, led by Middlebrook, guard, who made 8 points.

Levelland won by default from Ropesville, which lost a Tuesday night game and did not return for further play.

Tonight's schedule, starting at 8 o'clock, puts the Shallowater and Pettit teams together in the first game. Anton Independents and Levelland play at 9 o'clock, with the Texas Tech freshmen and the Slaton Oilers meeting at 10 o'clock.

Semi-finals and the final game will be played Friday night.

First round pairings:

Ropesville, defending Texas champion, drew a bye.

Plainview and Childress; Hartley and Celeste; Briscoe and Jayton; Union Hill and Howard; Indian Gap and Happy; Panhandle and Liberty; Channing and Abernathy; Morton Valley, bye; Emory and Dumont; Plainview B and Cranfills Gap; Dimmitt and Klondike; Rockdale and Shallowater; McLean and Muleshoe; Meadow and Idalou; Allison and Winnsboro.

Junior Colleges To Play For Cage Title

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 5. (AP)—Each of the four district winners, under a temporary schedule drawn yesterday subject to approval of the various coaches, will play three games in the state junior college basketball tournament here Friday and Saturday.

Wayland junior college of Plainview and Jacksonville junior college play the first game Friday evening, and will be followed by a contest between Westmoorland, San Antonio district champion, and Victoria junior college.

Saturday morning Wayland and Victoria play the first game and Westmoorland and Jacksonville meet in the second. In the final round Saturday night Jacksonville plays Victoria in the first contest and Westmoorland challenges Wayland.

Athletic Shakeup Demanded By Paper

PITTSBURGH, March 5. (AP)—Dr. Robert Ernest Doherty, Carnegie Tech's new president, came to pay his first visit today, arriving just after a demand for an athletic shakeup by the Tartan, student paper.

The purpose of Dr. Doherty's visit was to meet the faculty and outline his presidential policies and whether he would take cognizance of the athletic situation was undetermined.

The Tartan in an editorial asked the removal of Football Coach Howard Harpster, who was a star on the great Skibo team of 1928. It also demanded athletics be taken "out of big business" and given back to the students. There have been reports Harpster might be replaced since Tech completed a mediocre 1935 season.

Sam Bass, noted outlaw, is buried at Round Rock, Texas. Centennial visitors who visit the grave of this famous outlaw will read this inscription on his tombstone: "A brave man reposes in Death here. Why was he not true."

BEAUMONT EXPORTERS ALMOST BRAND NEW ENTRY IN FORTHCOMING SEASON

BY VIN BURKE
Sports Editor, The Beaumont Enterprise

BEAUMONT, March 5. (AP)—The Beaumont Exporters, who reached the final round in the Texas league race last year only to be defeated by Oklahoma City for the title, will present an almost brand new entry in the forthcoming campaign, with the 1935 standbys having been graduated either to the majors, which is to say Detroit, or the American association.

In a few random spots some of last season's lesser lights will appear but on the whole Rube Stuart's current color bearers will be strangers to Alvin Gardner's circuit. Indeed, the Beaumont club promises now to include more youth and inexperience than perhaps any team ever to represent this city, and during a year too when the Centennial furore would seem to have stepped up the general excellence of Texas league baseball to an almost unprecedented degree.

Became A Fixed Rule

But going into the race against higher-sounding competition has become a fixed rule locally, and a rule, incidentally, that frequently has worked to Beaumont's advantage.

Manager Dutch Lorbeer will have First Baseman George Archie, Second Baseman Benny McCoy, Outfielders Roy Cullenbine and Morris Jones, Catcher George Tebbetts and Pitchers George Gill, Frank Cook, Guy Fletcher and Herman Ware, all of the 1935 club but most of them preserves, to rely upon.

Stars Are Gone

Gone are Rudy York, Al Vincent, Roy Pfleger and Don Ross, last year's infield; and Buddy Bates and Hugh Shelley of the outfield. Steve Larkin, Red Phillips and Joe Hare, the big three of the pitching staff, also will be missing.

There are lots of possibilities among the replacements. Cecil (Dynamite) Dunn, leading slugger of the Evangeline league, will be moved in from the outfield to compete with Archie at first base. McCoy and Frank Croucher, the latter a graduate of the Springfield Three-Eye-club, will battle for second base while Sigmund Gryska of Davenport and Lindsay (Red) Brown of Springfield loom as leading candidates for shortstop. Filling Don Ross' shoes at third will be up to Mark Christman of the West Dixie, or Conrad Flippin, Evangeline league star.

Should Give Bat Power

Jones and Cullenbine should give the outfield more than ordinary batting power and the other outfield candidates, Emile DeJonghe (pronounced DeYoung) and Dan Pavlovic are the most promising on paper.

Of the pitching candidates, in addition to Gill, Cook, Ware and Fletcher, a trio from Charleston—Lloyd Dietz, George Coffman and Leo Twardy—may have Texas league possibilities, as well as Dot Pitman, William Subry, John Johnson, Jim Bratton and Joe Roxbury, all from loops of lower classification.

Probably Manager Lorbeer will again do part of the backstopping, with most of the work falling to aggressive little George Tebbetts. Morris Hancken from Alexandria and Fred Neisler from Springfield are other candidates.

PAGEANT ON WATER

A water pageant, commemorating the arrival in Corpus Christi bay of Alonzo Alvares de Pineda in 1519, will feature the Centennial year celebration to be held in the Texas port city of Corpus Christi on June 10, 11, 12 and 13. Corpus Christi has become, within the last few years, one of the fastest growing Southern ports.

Vancouver county, B. C., has decided to register all bicycles in an effort to stop theft of the vehicles.

A MESSAGE TO THEATRE-GOERS!!

So incredible, so outrageous, so damning are the dramatic facts presented in "THE PRISONER OF SHARK ISLAND" that the Management prefers to go on record prior to its advent with the following statement:

"THE PRISONER OF SHARK ISLAND" is authentic, based on actual events which constituted a stain on this nation's honor and a monstrous blot on the name of justice!

The prison "where brutes were masters and sharks were guards" existed on American soil exactly as portrayed in the picture. To be condemned there for "life" was an ironic sentence to slow death!

That an innocent man suffered the torments of the damned on the bit of white hell known as shark Island can be best attested by the foreword to the film which we are privileged to quote:

"The years have at last removed the shadow which rested upon the name of Dr. Samuel Alexander Mudd of Maryland and the nation which once condemned him now acknowledges the injustice it visited on one of the most unselfish and courageous men in American history."

Patty Is Annoyed By 'Erratic Golf'

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 5. (AP)—Patty Berg is annoyed by what she calls "erratic golf," but the Minneapolis star is still blasting away toward the finals of the Florida east coast women's tournament.

Patty and Mrs. Maureen Orcutt Crews, last year's champion, are favored as opponents in the finals. Each has a victory at the other's expense in earlier tournaments.

New Soluble Bullet Reported Invented

MINNEAPOLIS, March 5. (AP)—Two University of Minnesota scientists have announced they had evolved a new soluhe bullet, designed to end lead poisoning in ducks and other waterfowls.

The form of lead poisoning they seek to end is not to be confused with that peppered into the fowl by duck hunters. It results from the bird's eating lead shot which has accumulated on the bottoms of lakes and ponds.

Dr. R. G. Green and Prof. Ralph Dowdell said the lead absorbed in that manner by ducks frequently caused a paralysis which is fatal in from two weeks to three months, reducing the wild fowl population considerably.

Cod liver oil is now being used frequently to make hens lay more eggs.

Where Mighty Bridges are Spanning Romantic San Francisco Bay

Before 1936 is over, the two greatest bridge-building jobs ever attempted will be finished and San Francisco Bay will be crossed by two great spans—the Golden Gate and San Francisco - Oakland Bay bridges. These striking pictures show how the work is progressing on these spectacular jobs.

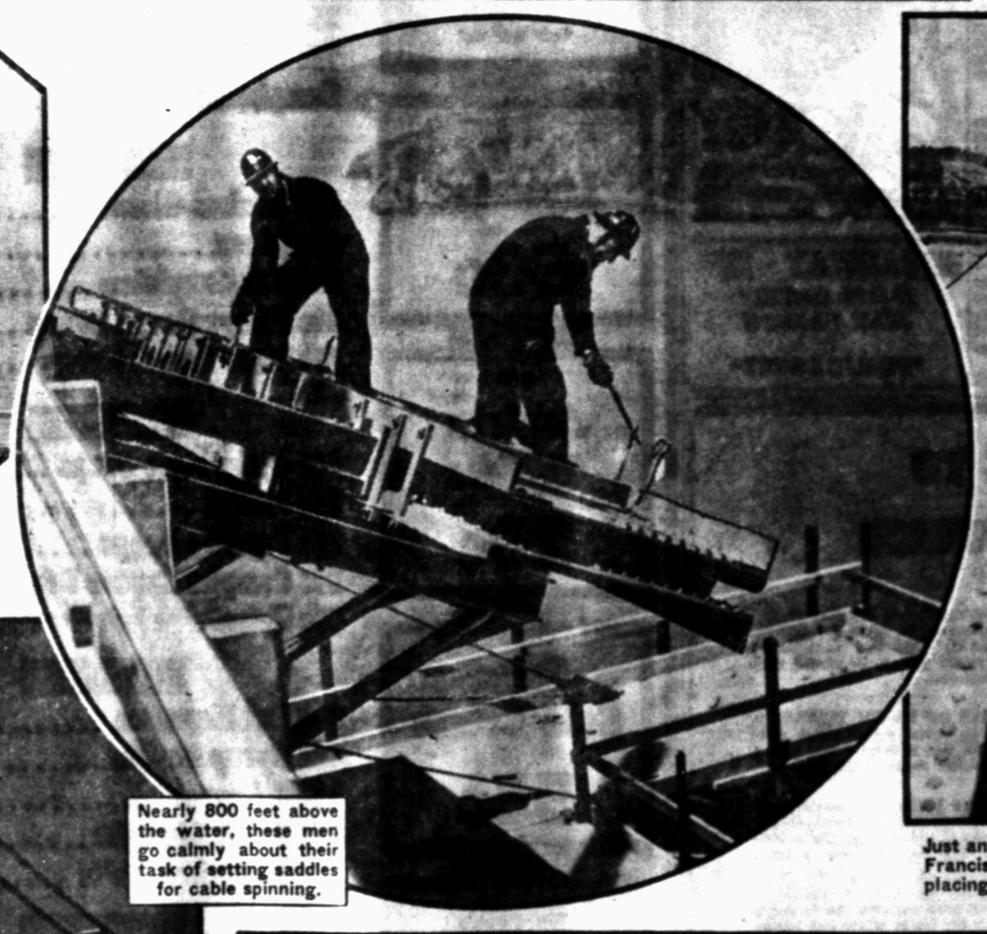

There are scenic rewards—as well as spine-tingling risks—for these workers 500 feet up on a pier of the Oakland Bay bridge, with San Francisco in the background.

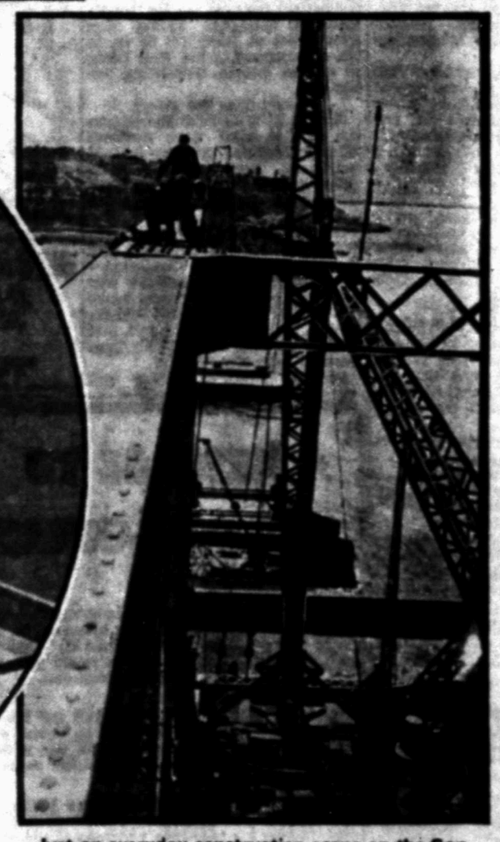

This map shows where the two immense bridges cross the bay to give San Francisco connection with the mainland to the north and east.

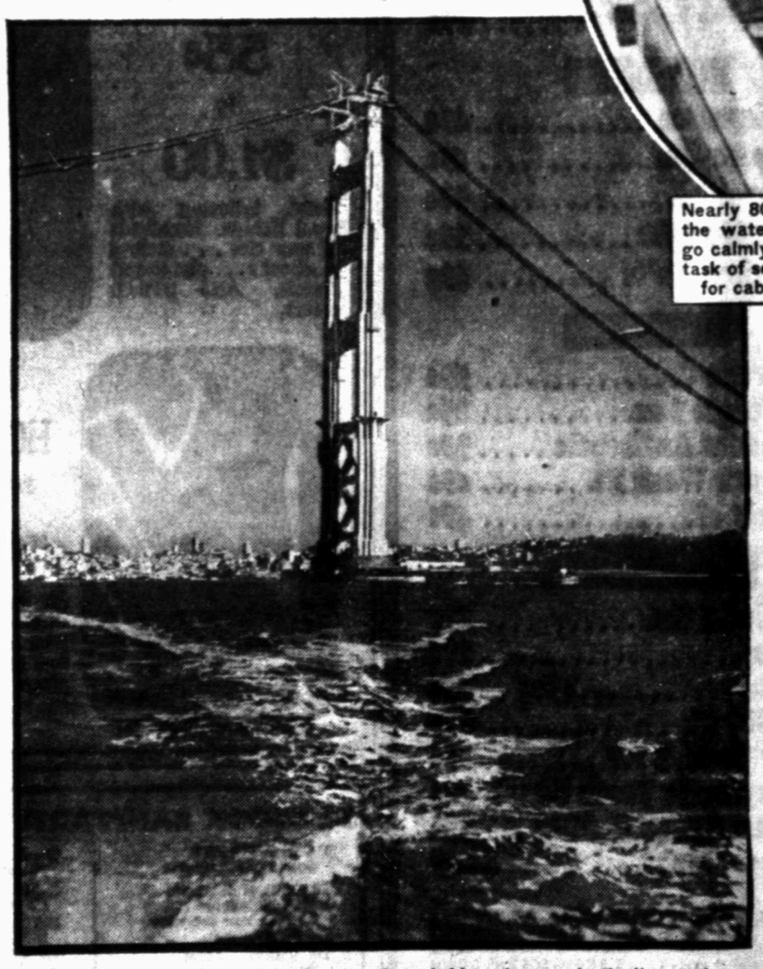

This bridge builder appears very nonchalant as he takes a look across the bay from his precarious position on one of the massive towers of the Golden Gate bridge.

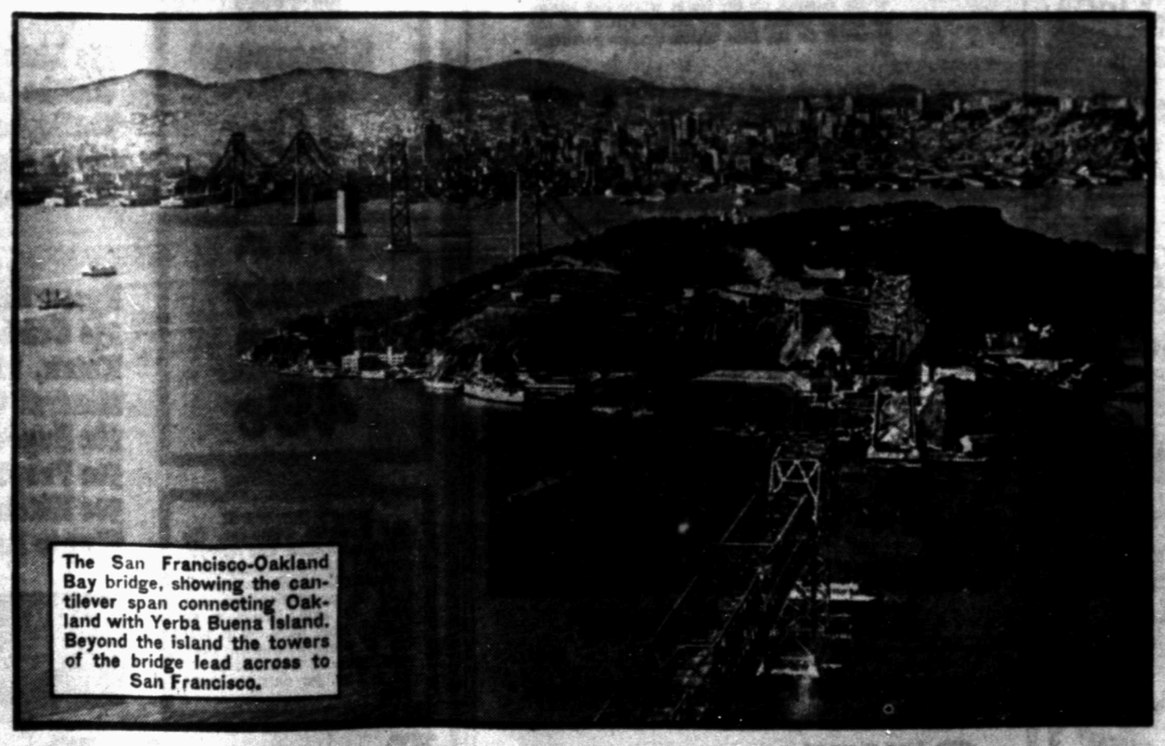

Nearly 800 feet above the water, these men go calmly about their task of setting saddles for cable spinning.

Just an everyday construction scene on the San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge, with workers placing sections on one of the bridge columns.

One of the large towers of the Golden Gate bridge rises majestically at the entrance to the bay to dominate the San Francisco skyline.

The San Francisco-Oakland Bay bridge, showing the cantilever span connecting Oakland with Yerba Buena Island. Beyond the island the towers of the bridge lead across to San Francisco.

CO-OP UNIT IS MOVED HERE

REESTABLISHMENT OF OFFICE HERE MADE BY ASSOCIATION

Reestablishment of the old Northwest Texas Cotton Growers association, with headquarters in Lubbock, was approved at a meeting of the West Texas Cotton Growers association in Abilene Wednesday, according to dispatches from that city. Board members of the Abilene group unanimously approved the plan.

Members of the South Plains section of the board were to be in attendance at Abilene. A year ago the Abilene group took over the local group.

The American Cotton Growers association of New Orleans is the parent group of both coops. For a year the Lubbock group had autonomy, with headquarters here and the late N. H. Payne as manager. The old A. C. G. A. had granted autonomy to South Texas and other groups several years before but had declined this right to the South Plains group, in spite of the fact that it was the largest of its kind in the state.

Details of the reestablishment will probably not be known for several days.

RECORD SALE OF STAMPS REPORTED

GONZALES, March 5 (AP)—Final figures on the opening day sale of Texas Centennial stamps here Monday were announced today by Robert B. Fellers, official of the stamp division of the postoffice department.

"One million and twenty thousand Centennial stamps were sold here on the first day," Fellers said, "and 319,150 covers were serviced.

"This breaks all existing records for first day sales, the nearest approach being 208,000 in a first day sale in Hartford, Conn.

"Taking into consideration that this is the first special issue stamp to commemorate a Texas event, the response was very gratifying."

plaintiffs counsel Tuesday said they were ready to introduce a motion for opening the boxes.

The plan is expected to expedite trial of the case, brought by eight Lubbock citizens against Mayor Ross Edwards and City commissioners. Trial started Monday in 99th district court.

GERMANY ARMS

equipped and plans laid through the last year which now ought to begin bearing fruit.

Air armaments, experts said, lagged behind the building of guns and rifles because Germany was completely disarmed in the air and General Hermann Goering the "father" of the new air force, had to begin almost from scratch. Now that period is over and the machine is beginning to work so smoothly that the general is turning over the direction to subordinates.

Open Lips "Verboten"

How many squadrons Goering intends to build is unknown as is the greater part of the whole rearmament program. Open lips are "verboten" and that means indiscretions may be treated as treason.

On land, twenty-four of the thirty-six contemplated divisions have been completed as far as the public knows. The great arms factories are turning out necessary equipment for conscripts who have been called to the colors under Hitler's decree of a year ago, to serve one year.

Old Men Serve

Developing as a "backstop" to the army is an "ersatz reserve" about which little is known. It is composed of men too old to be conscripted into military service—men between 23 and 40. They are being given eight weeks of training in camps.

On the sea, more than half of the twenty-eight U-boats provided for in the 1935 program are completed while work on two 26,000-ton ships, two cruisers of 10,000 tons and 16 destroyers is being pushed.

Trained Methodically

Military men say this new war machine is being speedily but not "hastily" built and that quality enters into consideration. Officers are being trained methodically in old style German manner instead of hurriedly being put through schools and placed in commands. Old officers, who will disappear when the new crop is ready, have been drafted and given temporary commissions to train the first classes of recruits.

The absence of haste in the training of officers, foreign military experts assert, is one indication that the army heads do not expect to be called upon to fight for some time to come.

Lack of raw materials limits rearmament progress but Hitler has ordered all paths cleared so that every possible means of obtaining foreign materials may be used for the army.

The biggest development of 1936 is expected to be the drafting—by persuasion or law—of the nation's boys from 10 to 18 years into organizations which will teach them how to rough it in the open and be ready for military service later. Girls of like ages also are to receive training in Red Cross work and air raid protection.

Th University of California has students from 26 foreign countries.

appeal, pending its final answer.

While Premier Mussolini's government still studied its formal reply to the proposal, dispatched last Tuesday, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs Fulvio Suvich and the Austrian Prince Ernst Von Starhemberg surveyed the relations of their two nations, and the European situation as it affected them, in a one-hour conference.

These conversations formed a prelude to a conference this afternoon between the Austrian vice-chancellor and Il Duce.

Every effort was being made by the Austrians and Italians alike to lend to Von Starhemberg's visit the simple aspect of an inspection of Italy's Fascist blackshirt militia.

for soil maintenance payments and for administrative expenses, $350,000,000 would remain for distribution as "soil-improvement" payments.

Several officials indicated that for 1936, in drafting the details of the program for the cotton country, the AAA may use as a "soil-depleting" base, the number of acres of cash crops planted during the period 1931-1935.

One county association and one county control committee will be used throughout the country, it was said, to administer the program.

licitor General Stanley Reed. He gave no reason.

"Let them be dismissed," said Chief Justice Hughes. The entire proceeding occupied only a few seconds.

After he left the courtroom Reed told news men the dismissal was asked because "the cases have become moot since all the available money has been spent otherwise."

Earlier PWA officials had said the litigation would have little practical effect, even if the government lost in the Supreme court, unless more money should be appropriated.

Cotton Market

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Mar. 5. (AP)—Cotton opened quiet but steady here today 2 to 8 points above the previous close. The better tone was attributed to improved cables.

March showed the largest gain in the opening and was 8 points net higher at 1.05. The rest of the list from May to Jan. was up 2 to 4 points.

The market ruled steady throughout the forenoon and at noon prices were 3 to 9 points above yesterday's close.

Indicating better demand for spot cotton and ready taking of offerings bythe government pool, March advanced a point over the opening to 11.06, or 9 points net higher.

May reached 10.66 in the early trading on short covering and eased off around noon to 10.64 on hedge selling.

The new crop months showed a firmer tendency with gains of from 3 to 7 points, probably influenced by Secretary Wallace's general outline of the farm aid for the new crop.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 5 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 to 5 points advance on higher Liverpool cables and trade and spot house buying. March 11.18; May 10.68; July 10.36; Oct. 10.03; Dec. 10.04; Jan. 10.07-B. B—Bid.

The market still seemed to be awaiting developments in connection with the marketing of government financed cotton and trading was very quiet, particularly in the new crop positions.

Offerings were with March selling at 11.17 and Oct. at 10.05, or about 2 to 5 points net higher at the end of the first hour.

Liverpool cables said hedging was taken by the continued small trade demand and continental buying.

The market remained quiet later. Prices worked up slightly on a small demand from the trade coupled with a little covering in the early new crop positions. May sold up to 10.71 and was ruling around 10.69 at mid-day when the general market was about 2 to 6 points net higher.

Stock Market

WALL STREET REPORT

NEW YORK, March 5. (AP)—Strength of carrier and specialty stocks was the principal bullish influence in today's market.

There was a little profit taking in a few of the steels, motors, utilities and mines, but selling apparently was not of an urgent character.

Up to the approach of the fourth hour the volume of transactions was considerably under the of Wednesday.

Share gainers of 1 to around 3 points included Union Pacific, Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Case, International Harvester, Deere, and Marshall Field.

Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, U. S. Smelting, Western Union, North American, Cerro De Pasco and a number of others were off fractions to a point. The oils were slightly improved.

U. S. government securities and rail bonds edged higher.

MOTHER-IN-LAW

make a remark about a mother-in-law as about a mother.

Amarillo will not have a celebration this year but mother-in-law day will be observed quietly and earnestly in nearly every home in this city. Scores of luncheons and dinners will be held throughout the city but there will be no parade or public gathering.

Will Rogers had planned to be here this year for a two-day instead of a one-day jollification, but upon his passing the mothers-in-law did not have the heart to carry on.

Besides, there is a feeling among the mothers-in-law that their purpose has been accomplished. No mother-in-law jokes are reprinted and few are retold in this community, and there is less domestic discord in this city than in any place in the country.

Honor Instead Of Ridicule

The move to honor instead of ridicule the backbone of our American family life has brought about a most cruel custom that has survived the horrors of the medieval ages has been our willingness to over-eulogize our mothers and to belittle our mothers-in-law. An angel of a woman does not become a shrew and a busy-body, or a devil in skirts and a home wrecker simply because she has a daughter or son who marries.

Our mothers-in-law on an average are far more useful than the fathers-in-law. The greatest asset a young couple can have is a mother-in-law. The only thing better would be two mothers-in-law. Statistics will show that where there is one or more mothers-in-law on the job a young married couple has a far better chance of sticking it out.

For every mother-in-law who has broken up a home there are a hundred who have held homes together.

The reason for the drop in the divorce rate in Amarillo is that when it became respectable for mothers-in-law, to be seen in the front room and to have some say in family affairs, their influence for good results in happier homes and better behaved children.

It is a positive fact that the divorce rate in Amarillo has dropped 20 per cent since the movement was inaugurated.

What the whole world needs are more mothers-in-law instead of less.

CANDIDATES IN STATE FIGHTS

GOVERNORS' OFFICES IN VARIOUS STATES ARE TO BE CONTESTED

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, March 5—A host of candidates today crowded the political roads leading to state governors' mansions.

Thirteen Democrats want the job Gov. David Sholtz of Florida must relinquish under the law. Eight Republicans seek the post held by Democratic Gov. Henry Horner in Illinois.

A wide range of issues was also disclosed in a survey of the campaigns to nominate and elect the chief executives of 34 states.

Charges "Bossism"

Gov. Horner has levelled charges of "bossism" at Mayor Edward J. Kelly of Chicago, head of the Democratic organization which dropped him to support Dr. Herman E. Bundesen in the April primary. Horner is campaigning for another term.

Elsewhere, old age pensions, proposals to exempt homesteads from taxation and promises of economy shape up as favorite issues.

Townsend Plan Issue

Dr. F. E. Townsend's $200 a month pension plan figures in the electioneering in Texas, Ohio, Arizona, Washington, Idaho and Maine.

The liquor question has entered the scene in Arkansas and Nebraska. A Tennessee candidate proposes a referendum on whether beverages stronger than five per cent beer shall be legalized. One of two Republicans out for Gov. Alf M. Landon's position in Kansas offers 3.2 beer in his platform.

To Test Strength

Nonpartisan leaguers, comprising a powerful Republican faction in North Dakota, are engaged in a test of strength in rival conventions at Bismarck with the comeback efforts of former Governor William Langer the core of the controversy.

In March, Minnesota Farmer-Laborites will settle their differences over who should succeed Gov. Floyd B. Olson, who has directed his ambitions toward a seat in the U. S. senate.

Out To Defeat Davey

Lieut. Gov. Harold G. Mosier is out to defeat Martin L. Davey, the Democratic governor of Ohio. The survivor apparently will meet Attorney General John W. Bricker, G. O. P. champion.

Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York claims "powerful interests" are interfering with his anti-crime program. State finances form another possible issue.

Wisconsin field generals maneuver once more for a long-planned coup—a coalition of Republicans and Democrats to beat the Progressives and Gov. Phillip LaFollette.

Among the novelty numbers is Dr. Ralph W. McDonald's plan for financing his campaign for nomination by North Carolina Democrats. He sells "McDonald for governor bonds" at $1 each to his supporters.

LABOR TROUBLES

BOSTON—The strike of 4,000 ladies garment workers entered its second week with no settlement sighted.

EL PASO—The Central Labor union voted a general boycott against the El Paso Electric Light Co. to aid striking electrical workers.

AKRON, O.—Charging a "lockout" had been effected, the Union Match Workers Federal Labor union stationed pickets at the Palmer Match Co., employing more than 450. More than 14,000 remained idle in the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. strike.

SAN PEDRO, Calif.—The liner California prepared to sail after the 274 crew members agreed to abandon their three-day strike.

NEWBURGH, N. Y.—Striking teamsters halted trucks at entrances to the city to support their efforts to gain wage increases. The dispute is in its fifth day.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia.—A seniority disagreement caused the walkout of two departments of the Wilson & Co. packing plant.

FARM GOAL

year under the AAA crop reduction program. Similarly, the 30,000,000 acres to be devoted to legumes and similar crops approximates the number of acres retired last year.

Crops Classified

A classification of crops into two divisions—soil building and soil exhausting—has been worked out and will be submitted to the two meetings, Wallace said.

A two-point system of conservation payments was proposed, the secretary said.

First, a moderate payment would be made for each acre, up to a maximum, planted to soil conserving crops.

Would Pay Larger

Second, a larger soil improvement payment per acre would be made for land shifted from soil depleting crops to soil conserving crops, with the provision that this payment be made only up to a specified percentage.

The actual amounts which could be paid farmers per acre would vary according to the productivity of the soil, said Wallace. In the south it would vary according to the soil depleting crop from which diversion was made.

Farmers renting for cash would receive the entire payment. In the case of farms occupied by share tenants or share croppers, the proposal was for the division of payments between landlords and those actually occupying the land.

Every dandelion has hundreds of flowers; the large blossom-like head is made up of many small flowers, each of which produces one seed.

The prince is 60 years old.

BARGAIN RATES

Delinquent Tax Payers Can Get Discounts

DALLAS, March 5 (AP)—Bargain rates ranging from 20 cents to 75 cents on the dollar for delinquent Electra tax payers are included in temporary reorganization plans for the bankrupt city approved by Judge W. H. Atwell in United States district court.

By purchasing special coupons from a creditors' committee, past due taxes may be paid on the following basis: 1929, 20 cents on the dollar, 1930 and 1931, 30 cents; 1932, 40 cents, and 1933, 75 cents.

The plan must be approved by at least 75 per cent of the creditors who have claims in excess of $1,000,000 and will remain in effect only 60 days after which a permanent plan, not yet agreed on, will be put into effect.

STATE FILES SUIT ON OIL COMPANY

AUSTIN, March 5. (AP)—The attorney general has sued the Chief Refining, inc., and Bill Gary, operator of the Gary Reclamation plant, for approximately $290,000 penalties for alleged violation of proration laws.

Temporary injunctions were granted in district court restraining the concerns from disobeying certain proration laws. The plants are located in the Gladewater area.

The state's petition alleged a conspiracy existed to obtain illegal oil by releasing and capturing it along a railroad right-of-way. W. J. (Dick) Holt, assistant, said it was the first court action designed to stop a practice of capturing fugitive oil from creeks in pick-up stations.

Holt said the suit followed a pronouncement by an appellate court recently that while the railroad commission would not compel tender applicants to show the source of the crude, proof of collusion between well owners and capturers of fugitive oil would constitute a legal defense against suits seeking injunctive relief to move such crude.

Dr. Cook Gets One Answer To His Plea For Recognition

CHICAGO, March 5 (AP)—Dr. Frederick A. Cook got one answer to his recent request for re-consideration of his claim to discovery of the North Pole in 1908.

It was a check for $75, repayment of a loan the explorer made to Wray Richards, of Longview, Tex., thirteen years ago.

The check came in a registered letter addressed: "Dr. Frederick A. Cook, explorer, Chicago, Ill. Attention: Postmaster—If not in directory may locate through Boy Scouts."

Cook said he had forgotten all about the loan which Wray said was made while he was one of Cook's employes in the Texas oil fields. The Texan explained he would have paid the $75 back before but he didn't know Cook's address until he saw a story of renewal of the North Polar claim in a San Antonio newspaper.

BUCKALEW'S JURY SELECTED TODAY

Jury to hear the case of Y. D. Buckalew, charged by indictment with murder, was chosen in 72nd district court this morning.

Members are: Bert Hastings, T. A. Gale, E. R. Slater, K. T. Thomas, I. F. Kennedy, Sid Taylor, J. F. Smith, J. R. Robbins, Newton Stokes, W. A. Baldridge, W. W. Watson, Toy F. Rogers.

Bledsoe, Crenshaw & Dupree of Lubbock and Caswell S. Neal of Carlsbad, N. M., are defense attorneys. The prosecution is being conducted by District Attorney Daniel A. Blair and Burton S. Burks, assistant.

The first witness offered by the state was Mrs. Alice Cooksey, a sister of James Moffett, one of two persons killed in an automobile accident on the Shallowater highway. She testified that an automobile from which the burned bodies of Moffett and Mrs. V. H. Milligan were taken was a car which she owned and which her brother had borrowed.

The indictment alleges that Buckalew while intoxicated was driver of an automobile which collided with that in which Moffett and Mrs. Milligan were riding.

The mishap occurred the night of Jan. 28. Buckalew, at liberty under $5,000 bond, and Mrs. Buckalew were sworn with other witnesses before the testimony was opened.

denness last Sunday and in ever-widening waves spread over the city.

While the strike continued in full force today, District Attorney William C. Dodge sought to question Bambrick and George Scalise, international vice-president. Subpoenas were issued for them last night.

Wants Questions Answered

Dodge wanted the union leaders to answer questions concerning the violent parade on fashionable Park Avenue that followed Bambrick's remarks and charges made by the newly organized Tenants' Defense league that Bambrick had conspired to "incite to riot."

According to police reports there have been more than 600 instances of violence and disorder and 90 arrests since the strike started without warning last Sunday morning.

Arrested At Sweetwater

Turntine was arrested in Sweetwater, Texas, a warrant for his return here being issued after reports were received that he assertedly said he was willing to "tell what he knew."

Naval intelligence agents have joined with other federal authorities, it was said, in tracing the theft of what were reported to be secret orders for the 1934 fleet maneuvers, giving naval movements 90 days in advance. A search was made, it was said, for a foreigner supposed to have purchased the information, but agents found he had sailed across the Pacific some time ago.

PERHAPS you don't know it, but Lubbock has a reputation of being cocky. We have it in other sections of West Texas as well as "down state".

Well, what of it?

It is true, perhaps, that the meek will inherit the earth—but it won't come about until the go-getters are through with it.

Communities, like people, can be cocky in two different ways.

In being so they can be pleasant or unpleasant.

The Plainsman hopes that if Lubbock is cocky, that we're pleasant about it.

IF we are pleasant about it, this column can see no reason why Lubbock shouldn't be nonchalantly confident.

The city as a whole has come through the economic debacle thus far with flying colors and probably has been less injured and has had less downright suffering than any other city of its size in the whole country.

It is an acknowledged fact that we are luckily sitting here in the middle of the most promising country on the face of the United States map and that our future is bright, indeed.

So why shouldn't we be cocky as long as we're not disagreeable about it?

For the same reason there was no Nobel peace prize last year, there is no Olympic award for lifting a public debt.

PROBABLY you have heard that Dr. C. B. Qualia, head of Tech's department of foreign language, may not be with us when school opens next September. Charlie, as his intimates call him, possibly will go to the University of Kansas, at Lawrence, to take a much better job at an appreciable increase in stipend.

Loss of the doctor and his charming wife, whom he married after a romance which started in war-time France, would be felt here.

Bad as it would be to lose Doctor Qualia—although everyone would be glad to see him rise in his profession—that's not all of Tech's hard luck.

We stand a good chance of losing two more men who are considering better offers elsewhere.

Thus a niggardly legislative appropriation reacts not only to the detriment of Texas Tech but to the detriment of the whole state. It takes money to keep professors happy, just as it takes money to satisfy everybody else.

That Man on Avenue Q says the high cost of living is sometimes confused with the cost of high living.

IF men were like women there never would have been a depression—or there would have been such a big one that we never would have gotten out of it unless we divided up the money equally and chose up sides again!

When a man hasn't anything else to do he goes to sleep, shoots craps, plays golf or otherwise disports himself until his idle time is gone and, it's time to get back to work.

When a woman hasn't anything else to do, she goes window shopping, and when she window shops awhile she starts store visiting, and when she gets to store visiting she starts buying things whether she needs 'em or not!

A kid standing in front of a candy store window with a nickel in his pockets hasn't got a thing on a woman with nothing to do!

Whatever money she has, her husband has—or she thinks he has or can get ahold of—burns her pocketbook just like the kid's nickel burns his fingers.

She craves action—and she gets it!

NEXT time you're in your favorite restaurant or drug store pick up a paper napkin, lay it across your fingers and start exploring just under the edge of the table. If you don't find a pound of gum stuck around under there it's some establishment!

If it's an average size table in an average establishment it will have all the way from a dozen to two dozen hunks of gum stuck around under it.

Some of the hunks are so thick that they're bound to be stuck onto other hunks.

A wise restauranteur will have his porter periodically scrape the gum off'n his tables if he wants to make a hit with his more observing and fastidious customers.

Of course the serious music lovers will hoot at this but The Plainsman is of the opinion that Ethel Merman, stage and screen star, is just about 99.44 percent right in her statement:

"I make $2,500 per week. I never had a singing lesson in my life. People who study music think more about their diaphrams than they do about their songs!"

Further than that, too many educated musicians pronounce the words of their songs like they've got a mouthful of mush.

Now let the brickbats fly!

ED Hambright tells a story about a terrible scourge of mosquitos over in East Texas where he used to live.

He and his cousin, says Ed, noticed from a pasture one day that a great cloud of the insects had flown over the barnyard, so they rushed up to the barn to see that the 'skeeters' didn't injure two fine mules they had.

"We ran up there as fast as we could", Ed claims, "but we were too late. Time we got there the mules were gone and those 'skeeters' were playing horse shoes!"

"Unknown" Actress Has World Record For Appearances In Films; Studio Has Had Bit Player In All Films Since 1917

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 5.—The person who has appeared in more motion pictures than anybody else in the world is Miss Sarah Schwartz.

That's no gag. Miss Schwartz is an actress, and a contract player at that, though her name never has been in lights on a theater marquee. Come July 19, 1936, she will have been in Hollywood 19 years and will have appeared in every picture made by Universal Studios in that time. No other performer, however brilliant a star, can approach such a record of activity.

There's a story behind it, of course:

Fire started in a cutting room one day in 1917, and the crew came out of there like people fleeing from Hades. Miss Schwartz happened to be on hand. She heard there were some valuable reels in the room, so she went in and got them. She was severely burned.

Carl Laemmle heard about it and announced that she would have a job so long as there was a Universal Studio. And so she has.

For years she was classified as an extra, but on call for every picture whether or not they really needed her type. All those separate jobs entailed a lot of futile bookkeeping, so they gave her a contract.

Grew Up On Stage

The years have built false legends around Sarah. Most of Hollywood believes she originally was a cutting room employe, that she has no talent, and that she works only in mob scenes. Fact is she never was anything but an actress from the time when, a little girl, she went on the stage in Denver. She stil plays in Yiddish drama on the stage hereabout.

"When I got in the business here," recalled Miss Schwartz, "Irving Thalberg was an office boy in the New York office, King Vidor was working in the cutting room for $30 a week, and Mother Laemmle used to ask me to keep an eye on Junior (now a producer) to see that he didn't climb around the sets and hurt himself.

Have You Heard Her?

"Mostly I've done bits, sometimes just high-class atmosphere, and I've had some really good parts.

I got screen credit in "The Bride of Frankenstein.' I do dialects. They've used my arms and legs and hands. I scream.

"Screaming is one of the things I do in 'Show Boat.' Remember 'The Murders in the Rue Morgue'? Remember when the ape was about to attack Sydney Fox, and she screamed? That was me screaming. *"A New York reviewer said, 'Only an actress possessed of Miss Fox's emotional ability could scream with such feeling'—or something like that. It gave me a laugh, me being just a ham.

"What gave me the biggest laugh was 'Nagana.' That was a picture Ernest Laemmle directed, and I didn't appear in it. He went around boasting about being the only Universal director who ever made a picture without Sarah Schwartz in it. They had to break it to him gently that I was the voice that did all the Swahili dialect in the picture. He felt awful."

Model For Hollywood

Miss Schwartz is unmarried. "I've been too busy screaming to get married," said Miss Schwartz. "You can say, too, that Miss Schwartz doesn't smoke and never had a drink in her life. That is something, for 19 years in Hollywood!

"Maybe I could say something nice for the papers about Uncle Carl (Laemmle). I would lay down my life for Uncle Carl. I lost my mother three years ago and Uncle Carl gave me $100 and paid my fare clear to Houston and back.

"Let's see—I wish I could think of something nice to say about Uncle Carl . . ."

LEGAL JOKERS AND RED TAPE

Down at Ft. Worth, every resident over the age of 3 knows about Top O'Hill terrace, the once famous gambling house which finally was put out of business by a ranger raid after an earlier unsuccessful raid resulted in statewide repercussions.

In court in Ft. Worth Tuesday, Judge Bruce Young ordered destruction of about $7,000 worth of equipment taken from the place and Arthur Lee Moore, attorney for Fred Browning, operator of the gambling house, trotted out a statute which provides that before equipment can be destroyed it must be proven that it is gambling equipment.

Faced with a threat of a suit in keeping with the statute, Judge Young remarked, and rightly so, "In my opinion the legislator who drew up that statute should be sent to the asylum without a hearing". The jurist felt the situation was ludicrous.

The average layman would be surprised at the number of similar jokers in our laws.

He would be surprised how much red tape must be unwound and unknotted before the basic law can ever begin to take its course.

Some of these days there will be a much needed revision of state and national statutes to the end that justice can be served.

Until that time, and until we get rid of idiotic laws plastered upon the bewildered citizenship, we'll continue to rock along, neatly tied in legal red tape and facing a legal joker at every turn.

Dutcher's News And Views OF WASHINGTON

(Copyright, 1936 NEA Service, Inc.)

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, March 5—Congress and the administration have repudiated the theory that scarcity of food is essential or desirable in a program to provide fair incomes for farmers.

That's the important meaning of the so-called "consumer protection" amendment to the new farm relief-soil conservation legislation.

Best available studies have shown that even in prosperous 1929 about 75 per cent of city families couldn't afford a diet adequate for health and that national consumption of food was about 40 per cent below the amount which would be required for a universal "moderate" diet.

The "consumer amendment" will not improve that state of affairs. But it guarantees that the farm administration, in the reduction of crop surpluses incident to its new soil program, will not reduce food supplies below the normal level of consumption. The original legislation carried no standards for such guarantee.

City Members Lead Fight

Two urban members of congress, Senator Robert Wagner of New York and Representative John W. McCormack of Boston, led the fight for the amendment. Wagner introduced one into the senate which was defeated by a 2 to 1 vote and it was evident that many senators didn't know what it was all about.

The McCormack amendment subsequently received endorsement of the administration and of Chairman Marvin Jones of the House Agriculture committee. It passed House and senate conferees on the bill subsequently agreed to retain it.

That McCormack amendment says that the wide powers granted to the secretary of agriculture "shall not be used to discourage the production of supplies of foods and fibers sufficient to maintain normal domestic consumption as determined by the secretary from the records of domestic human consumption in the years 1920 to 1929, inclusive, taking into consideration increased population, quantities of any commodity that were forced into domestic consumption by decline in exports during such period, current trends in domestic consumption and exports of particular commodities, and the quantities of substitutes available for domestic consumption within any general class of food commodities."

Food Figures Vary Little

Average food consumption per capita for the 10-year period mentioned was about 1450 pounds. This figures hasn't varied greatly. It was 1422 pounds for the 1920-24 period, 1474 pounds for the 1925-29, and 1454 for 1930-33.

The principle established by the amendment is no new one, but until now it has appeared that the leaders of farm organizations—including some who might be perfectly willing to create artificial and unprecedented scarcities to boost prices high — would be able to block attempts to enact it into legislation.

Dr. Calvin B. Hoover, as consumers' counsel for AAA, first espoused the principle and the fight for it was continued by his successor, Donald E. Montgomery.

Secretary Wallace himself came out for it last year and an attempt was made to get it into the last session's AAA amendments — unsuccessfully, thanks to farm leaders.

Feared Political Effect

President Ed O'Neal of the American Farm Bureau federation attacked the Wagner amendment on the eve of the senate vote and farm-state senators supported him almost unanimously.

But the administration's desire for consumer protection was reinforced by growing realization that successive defeats of the Wagner and McCormack amendments might be bad political medicine and could be used as effective Republican propaganda in cities.

Thanks to AAA and the drouth, retail food prices have advanced 25 per cent since 1933 and although farmers are better off, many city consumers have felt the pinch and reacted bitterly.

The McCormack amendment also contains a provision reminiscent of the old AAA parity price goal which was inserted to square things with the farmers.

This directs the secretary, as rapidly as he deems practicable and in the public interest, to reestablish at the 1910-14 level the ratio between the purchasing power of the average income per person on farms to the purchasing power of the average income per person in the non-farm population.

More than $5,135,000 has been awarded since inauguration of the Nobel prizes, which are given to leading men and women for services to literature, science, and international peace.

CRUISE TO NOWHERE

by Deck Morgan

BEGIN HERE TODAY

JANE WESTON loses her job when the magazine where she works as typist suspends publication. In place of the salary due her, she accepts a ticket for a three weeks' ocean cruise.

Jane, who has long dreamed of such a trip, is thrilled. Though she has no money and no prospects of a job on her return, she determines to forget all this and, for three weeks, enjoy herself.

As the ship sails down the bay she sees a handsome young man and recognizes him as the same one she had encountered the day before outside the steamship company office. He tells her he is from California, has recently been skiing at Lake Placid.

Jane decides to conceal the fact that she is merely an unemployed typist.

NOW GO ON WIT HTH ESTORY

CHAPTER IV

Three times Jane and the blond young man circled the promenade deck of the S. S. Oceanic. They talked about trivial things like the current movies and dance tunes until they decided to explore the cruise ship.

They passed the Florentine room where people were already having gayly-colored drinks. They entered the lavish Pompeian Room where people were splashing about in the bluish water of the pool. As they looked on, he said: "Your name is Jane Weston. You wouldn't tell me, but I saw it on the deckchair reserved for you. I'm Dirk Strom, and I'm going to have the steward reserve my chair next to yours for the voyage. Do you mind?"

Jane was secretly glad, because after a few moments of his awkward self-revelation she trusted him implicitly. No man with an eye as clear as his could mean any harm to her.

But she said, with reserve, shaking a finger at him: "You work too fast, Dirk Strom. But I guess it's all right." Then she laughed, for she couldn't bear to see the sudden hurt look in his eyes. "Now that we've met, let's go up to the lounge and see that gorgeous dancing salon. Oh, I've looked forward to this cruise!"

"You do dance?" he said eagerly.

Her answer was like a joyous cry. "Dance!"

"Tonight?" he said eagerly. "Will you go to the dance with me tonight?"

A cautous little voice inside Jane pronounced solemnly: "Jane, you've met a strange man on board a ship. It seems harmless enough, but watch your step. He'll think you're only a pick-up!"

She gave Dirk her best smile, and though she would have liked to go to the ball with him more than anything else in the world just now, she replied: "No, I'm going to get some rest tonight. I'm a little tired. Tense. I came on this cruise—just like that. Getting things ready has worn me out. But perhaps—tomorrow night."

He looked genuinely hurt. "I'm sorry," he said. "I only thought, dancing, I could get to know you better, find out all those things one wants to know."

She smiled her best, for she couldn't see him hurt. "All right, ask me. What do you want to know?"

Dirk laughed, whole-heartedly. "Oh, what you do in that crazy place, the city. It gives me the jumps. I'm used to the wide, open spaces. Who you are, what things you like, what your ambition is—"

"But that takes time," she said gaily. "You can't pry out all the secrets of a girl's soul in a single seance. For a starter I'll tell you just one thing. My ambition is to have a good time and enjoy life—on this cruise. After that, well—" She smiled. "You haven't told me what you do, besides spend a lot of time skiing at Lake Placid. But I don't care. I'll be me. And you be you, for the present. For myself I'm interested in the stage—"

This audacity left Jane gasping. She wondered whether she should not have told him the truth, that she was a typist without a job. But a rich young man might not be interested in a mere typist.

She looked about her to see if anybody had heard her. Standing close to her was a youngish man with dazzling sleek black hair which receded from a pale forehead. He had an unwholesome, shifty glance. His ceaselessly roving eyes took her in, from the top of her head to her toes, as she talked. He seemed to be interested in her remark.

"Oh, you're an actress!" Dirk said, and he naively looked at her more closely again. (Jane thought—with a great deal more interest.) He grinned. "You have the looks for one. If your hair was redder you'd look like Myrna Loy. She's my favorite star. She could have me anytime," he added facetiously.

Jane saw the dark man watching her closely, and she took Dirk's arm to move away from the swimming pool. "I don't like that man," she said, low.

"There are a lot of strange types on board," Dirk put in. "I've been watching them since we sailed. But I suppose a big cruise ship is like the city—you've got to take 'em—all kinds. But from this minute on, you've somebody to look after you. If any of them annoy you, just let me know."

Jane smiled, and let her glance rove covertly over his broad shoulders and arms. He was a powerful creature.

They walked on. Jane was still a little in awe before the luxuries afforded by this floating palace of the seas. It was just like the motion pictures she had seen, only not quite so barbaric and splendrous. They were in the gilded elevator, packed with laughing people, when a voice boomed out behind them.

Jane looked around and saw a man, almost bald, with cheeks like fat jowls. He was smiling, and trying to wiggle through the mass of them.

"Mr. Strom," he said, panting in the crush.

"Snowshoes!" Dirk exclaimed at the sight of him, and all the people laughed.

"Sh-h-h-h!" he cautioned, turning beet-red even on the top of his head, which was like a polished billiard ball. The mass swallowed him up again when the contents of the elevator were disgorged at Deck A. But once he had extricated himself from the crowd he pounced on Dirk again. They stood in the foyer of the great lounge.

"Say, you eagle that flies with skis for wings, what are you doing on the high seas?"

"Snowshoes! Defender of the right. The law himself," Dirk said, introducing him to Jane. "This is Snowshoes Blake, a house detective! Going to look after the loose morals on this ship?"

Snowshoes looked about him cautiously and put a finger to his lips. "I'm on my first vacation," he said. "In 20 years. The house dick in a hotel just goes on peeping. But it doesn't look as if I picked the right place for a vacation. In my 20 years of sending them to the pen I never saw a worse lot than is on board this ship."

Dirk laughed and pounded him on the back. "Same old story, Snowshoes. To you the world's just

Beware The Cough From a common cold That Hangs On

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Creomulsion not only contains the soothing elements common to many remedies; such as, Syrup of White Pine Compound with Tar, fluid extract of Licorice Root, fluid extract of Wild Cherry and Menthol, but also has fluid extract of Ipecac for its powerful phlegm loosening effect, fluid extract of Cascara for its mild laxative effect and, most important of all, Beechwood Creosote is perfectly blended with all of these to reach the source of the trouble from the inside. Creomulsion can be taken frequently and continuously by adults and children with remarkable results.

Thousands of doctors use Creomulsion in their own families as well as in their practice knowing how Creomulsion aids nature to soothe the inflamed membranes and heal the irritated tissues as the germ-laden phlegm is loosened and expelled. Druggists also know the effectiveness of Beechwood Creosote and they rank Creomulsion top for coughs because you get a real dose of Creosote in Creomulsion, emulsified so that it is palatable, digestible and potent for going to the very seat of the trouble.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs, chest colds and bronchial irritations and especially those stubborn ones that start with a common cold and hang on for dreadful days and nights thereafter. Even if other remedies have failed, your druggist is authorized to guarantee Creomulsion and to refund every cent of your money if you are not satisfied with results from the very first bottle. Don't worry through another sleepless night—phone or go get a bottle of Creomulsion right now. (Adv.)

Birdmen Fly To Aid Of Birds

Aerial bomb target practice was resorted to to save the life of wild fowl facing starvation because snow and ice covered natural feeding grounds in northern New Jersey. National Guard pilots flew over game habitats and dropped bags of feed much as they would bombs in wartime. Shown loading a plane at Newark are, left to right, Game Commissioner Harry Armstrong, Dr. Phil Goetenberg, of the Consolidated Sportsmen of New Jersey; George C. Warren, president of the Game Commission, and Game Warden Roy Williams.

a great big meat pie of crime."

The detective's eyes roved over the great lounge where men sat smoking and talking. "I can feel the hair rising on the back of my neck," he said. "Like a dog when he smells prowlers in the night. Well, if there ain't Dutch Lenz, the old badger artist. Everything from extortion to blackmail. Wonder what's his game now?"

He nodded his head toward the bar, where a heavy-set man with bristly cropped hair stood talking to the bartender.

Snowshoes clucked like a quarrelsome old hen. "It looks like a new gang war in New York has sent the rats all scuttling to this ship. Excuse me. I'm on my way to my stateroom to lock up my winter clothes and a can of sardines. There may be a bread line on this ship before we get back to New York."

Dirk laughed. "You don't want to frighten Miss Weston."

Snowshoes pulled a news clipping out of his pocket. "You see that." They looked, and saw the beautiful likeness of Nora Lane, the celebrated actress. "Nora Lane is on board, and it got out to the papers yesterday. She's been in the headlines for a week now. That second husband of her ought to be horsewhipped. They say she had bruises on her arms and face before she escaped from that Hudson river castle he owns. She's come on this cruise to rest her nerves, and I'll bet one-third the people have come on board with Nora Lane in mind. There are just two things that attract mobs now—a Big Name and a collection of jewels. Miss Lane is both of them. She owns the Kokinor diamond, and takes it around with her in a necklace."

Shaking his head Snowshoes went down the passageway toward his stateroom. Dirk had turned to conduct Jane into the lounge when she squeezed his arm suddenly. "That sleek black-haired man has been following us. He's watching us now. Let's go out on deck."

Dirk said, "Snowshoes will have given you the jitters. Don't mind him."

It was growing dark outside on Deck A. They walked down the long polished boards until Dirk suddenly said: "There is my suite—AA."

She looked at the door of this outside suite, with its penthouse air, and said, wrinkling her nose at him: "You snob! I'll feel like a galley slave down in Deck C. You wouldn't be the Danish sardine prince by any chance? Or do they grow sardines in the west where you come from? No, only lumber and gold dust," she went on, laughing.

He said, "My rooms are so large I feel lost in them. Come on in, and let me tell you about me. It's time

TIME EXTENDED ON NYA PROJECTS

Time in which projects will be carried on by the National Youth administration for youths of families on relief is being extended from March 15 to June 30, said Calvin Hazlewood, NYA district representative.

Projects already approved may be extended and other projects approved.

All projects approved could not have been completed by March 15, because of insufficient youth labor, Hazlewood said.

According to the last report received from Lyndon B. Johnson, state NYA director, this district ranks third in the state in the percentage of eligible youths employed. Seventy-eight per cent of eligible youths in the district, which is composed of 15 counties, are working. Records last Saturday showed that 354 boys and 97 girls have been employed in the present program by the NYA and 77 boys and 58 girls by the WPA.

The NYA state program calls for four types of projects: youth community development and recreational leadership; rural youth development; public service; and research.

Shortage Of Seed Corn Is Predicted

DES MOINES, Iowa, Mar. 5 (AP)—Midwest agronomists said today the Corn Belt faced a shortage of igh quality seed corn unparalleled in years, as farmers planned their 1936 plantings, scarcely two months away.

The agricultural experts termed the situation serious in Iowa, Illinois and Minnesota, with good seed scarce in Wisconsin, Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and South Dakota.

They warned, however, against "panic buying," asserting the solution of the problem lay in locating and distributing the seed from abundant areas to deficient ones at fair prices. They advised farmers to test seed now even though tests were run in the fall.

Older Boys' Session Given Postponement

BEAUMONT, Mar. 5 (AP)—Acting State Y. M. C. A. Secretary Grover C. Good has postponed until April a state older boys' conference to have been held here Mar. 6, 7 and 8, after he conferred with local officials.

The action was taken because of the influenza epidemic which has closed all schools in the county. Dates set for the conference were April 17, 18 and 19.

Amarillo Is To Honor Thompson

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP) — E. O. Thompson, chairman of the railroad commission, will be honored with a home-coming dinner at Amarillo next Monday, Col. Thompson was mayor of Amarillo and active in its civic affairs before his election as railroad commissioner.

Listens To Surf

It oughtn't be long now before Libby Holman, widow of the late Smith Reynolds, does another Broadway comeback — but this time the torch singer who rose to fame singing "Moanin' Low" will only have to come back from Palm Beach, Fla., not retirement. She's shown strolling on the beach in a costume that's far different from the slinky gowns she wears on the stage.

Paper Plant To Be Built At Houston

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP)—The Champion Paper & Fibre company of Ohio has obtained a permit to do business in Texas. It planned to erect a large paper pulp manufacturing plant at Houston.

W. A. Vinson of Houston, attorney for the company, said the plant, to be erected on a 161-acre tract at Pasadena on the Houston ship channel, would have a capacity of 160 tons of pulp every 24 hours.

East Texas pine timber obtained in Liberty, Hardin, Newton, Jasper, Tyler and San Augustine counties would be used. Products would be placed on barges for transportation to the company's plant at Cincinnati via the ship channel, intercoastal canal, and Mississippi and Ohio rivers.

PAROLE GRANTED H. F. STRIBLING

AUSTIN, March 5 (AP) — H. F. Stribling, who aided officers break an alleged counterfeit tax stamp racket, has received a general parole from a two-year sentence for issuing and circulating counterfeit cigaret tax stamps.

Stribling was convicted in Travis county in April, 1935.

District Judge J. D. Moore, before whom he was tried, in recommending clemency said "at the time of his trial I was informed that Stribling had tried to assist the state of Texas in solving the counterfeit stamp racket existing here several years ago."

Governor Allred said he was informed Stribling "rendered valuable assistance" to the comptroller, enforcer of the cigaret tax act.

Stribling was paroled to Sheriff Burl Wheeler of Abilene.

Governor Allred also granted five other general paroles and revoked another.

Paroles included: Frank Morris, Refugio county, theft, two years (previously furloughed); Jack Buster, Gregg county, forgery, three years (previously furloughed); James Starnes, Walker, Polk and Victoria counties, burglary and theft, three years; and Charlie Turner, Navarro county, theft and burglary, two years.

Foundling Baby Is Awarded By Court

LUFKIN, March 5 (AP)—The controversy over who should adopt "Baby Virginia Dell," foundling left in a hospital yard here a week ago, was settled Tuesday when Judge Carmen E. Brazil awarded custody of the infant to Mr. and Mrs. Maurice White.

The Whites — one of four couples seeking to adopt the baby—were given the baby at the close of a hearing for her adoption. The new "parents" said they would keep "Virginia Dell" as her given name. White is a theater manager.

Two nurses who found the baby in a pasteboard box, swathed in a blanket, had given her the name. They were Miss Virginia Birchfield and Miss Maudie Dell Birchfield.

DEVELOPMENT OF VITAMIN D IN A NEW FORM IS CLAIMED BY ILLINI WOMAN

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Mar. 5—Development of a new form of vitamin D, the bone growth control factor in nature, is claimed at the University of Illinois medical school.

The discovery was reported by Dr. Millicent L. Hathaway as proof that the vitamin action was not limited to one substance but was common to several.

Treated Artificially

Dr. Hathaway said she produced the new vitamin form artificially by treating heated, purified cholesterol with ultra violet rays.

Spectographic studies showed a slight difference in the molecular structure of the new substance as compared with the most common source of artificial vitamin D, viosterol, Dr. Hathaway asserted.

Is Chemical Form

Whereas vitamin D occurs in nature in cod liver oil and animal fats, cholesterol is a chemical form of alcohol found in plants and animals.

Dr. Hathaway said she established the efficacy of the new form by feeding baby chicks diet of the related alcohols, cholesterol and ergosterol.

It required a half milligram of irridiated crude cholesterol to cure the chicks of rickets.

"On the basis of our study we conclude that a new form of vitamin D has been formed . . . which corresponds . . . to the vitamin D of cod liver oil for chicks," Dr. Hathaway said.

"I'll see you tomorrow in your deckchair. You can't get away from me, you know. Our chairs are tied together."

They turned and walked back down the deck. He left her at the elevator. Jane went to her own room confident that she had done what was proper. She couldn't let him think she was too eager to know him. Or too easy to be known.

and press against my heart until it actually felt as if I could not stand it any longer. The suffering endured made me lose all desire for food and I was growing worse everyday. My nerves were always bothering me too. I was badly constipated and my kidneys would not allow me a full nights rest. I was up at all hours of the night, sleep was broken and I actually felt as if my entire system was wearing-out. I did not know what to do next as medicine after medicine repeatedly failed to help me, then after hearing so much praise for this new Gly-Cas I decided it was at least worthy of a trial."

"I have had a remarkable improvement in my case in such a short time," he continued. "My stomach is now functioning well, indigestion, gas and bloating have all been eliminated, all those pains in my stomach have vanished and I am now able to eat the foods I wish and enjoy my meals. Even my nerves have been quieted, bowels regulated, and my strength and energy has been restored. I enjoy life as others in good health. No wonder so many people are praising Gly-Cas—it is one medicine that is deserving."

IDENTITY OF DERELICT SHIP LOCKED IN ARCTIC ICE PUZZLE TO ALASKANS

(By The Associated Press)

BARROW, Alaska March 5—The identity of a derelict ship locked in the Arctic ice far off shore from Point Barrow puzzled both natives and whites today but some of them believed she might be one of seven staunch whalers which sailed out into the northern seas 50 years ago and never returned.

The vessel, a two-masted schooner, was first sighted a week ago. Eskimos attempted to reach it but failed. Among them was Claire Oakpeha, who ran 15 miles across the Arctic tundra to Barrow last summer with the news of the Will Rogers-Wiley Post tragedy.

Not The Baychimo

Observers at first believed the derelict was the ill-fated fur trading ship Baychimo, which was abandoned four years ago after being trapped in the ice. Campeha and Bill Solomon, another native, insisted however it was not the Baychimo.

Charles D. Brower, veteran whaler, said there was only a bare possibility that it might be one of the old-time oak built ships, famous for their ability to resist the Arctic ice packs.

Has Been 50 Years

"It's 50 years since the seven great whaling ships floated out into the unknown fast in the ice, with a hundred or more men aboard," said Brower. Also in 1898 a number of whalers was crushed or abandoned in the ice.

"It is hardly possible that one of those ships could have survived until now, but strange things have happened in the ice pack."

A notable example of oaken ship endurance against the ice pack is the old coast guard cutter Bear. For 52 years she sailed from San Francisco bay to the Arctic and return.

AVERITT OIL TEST IS IN ANHYDRITE

(Special To The Journal)

SEMINOLE, March 5—Logging the lime at 4,040-60 feet, drilling in the No. 1 Averitt of W. T. Walsh and Harry Adams had progressed to 4,140 feet in anhydrite, last report here said.

Drillers are not certain that this is the top of the brown lime, it was said today. If it is the top then it is higher than in the Wahlenmaier and York & Harper No. 1 Jones, as well as in the Humble No. 1 J. S. Means, discovery well in northern Andrews.

Meantime, the Jones test, 17 miles northwest of here, was last reported as having passed 5,165 feet. Under the present contract the driller, C. J. (Red) Davidson, has less than 35 feet to go. It is still in the hard lime and drilling is slow.

The Jones test, on the Dr. E. H. Jones ranch, is 660 feet out of the southwest corner of section 414, block G, C. C. S. D. & R. G. N. G. Ry. survey.

The Averitt test is 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 228, Block G. W. T. Ry. survey.

Using a principle of physiology, Dr. A. Gauducheau of Paris, injects sauces and seasoning directly into the blood streams of chickens. He says this aids the flavoring to penetrate the meat, and that none is necessary in cooking the fowl.

Yearbook Is To Be Published In County

Lubbock county rural schools are to publish an annual, a committee decided Wednesday afternoon in the office of County Superintendent Joseph R. Griggs. The annual will consist of approximately 150 pages. Each school will be allowed as many pages as it has teachers, plus two.

In the annual will be represented all county schools except for Lubbock and Slaton. Another meeting will be conducted Monday, when printers will be asked to attend. A committee, in the meantime, will visit printers and seek publishing cost estimates.

In attendance were: W. E. McConnell, chairman, of New Deal, Miss Anna Summers of Shallowater, B. M. Keese of Frenship, Miss Thelma Dumas of Roosevelt, Mrs. C. Z. Fine of Posey, and Supt. Griggs.

A LIGHT SMOKE

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

All kinds of people choose Luckies, each for reasons of his own. But everyone agrees that Luckies are A Light Smoke of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco. It is a rather surprising fact that the leaves of the same tobacco plant may vary far more than the leaves from plants of quite different types. Chemical analysis shows that the top leaves contain excess alkalies which tend to give a harsh, alkaline taste. The bottom leaves tend to acidity in the smoke. It is only the center leaves which approach in nature the most palatable, acid-alkaline balance. In Lucky Strike Cigarettes, the center leaves are used.

Luckies are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

BRIGHT SPOTS

A Billiard Tip

ST. LOUIS—Allen Hall, St. Louis three-cushion billiard star, tells this story on himself:

"In a small billiard room in Rhode Island where I was on exhibition, a sign on the wall read, 'Watch Your Hats and Coats.'

"Directly under this was another sign, 'Allen Hall plays here tonight.'

It's His Story

WALLA WALLA, Wash.—Lew Kinman says he's seen 'em do it, and after all there was a lot of water.

Highwater from melting snow, he said, forced the jack rabbits of the lowlands hereabouts to climb sagebrush to escape drowning.

All In The Firm

McALESTER, Okla.—The law firm of McSherry and Monk has the Pittsburgh county political situation in hand.

John Monk is Democratic county chairman. Frank McSherry, his partner, is county chairman of the Republicans.

Too Convincing

CONWAY, S. C.—Porter Plyer was such a good witness for Melvin Owens that he went to jail himself.

Plyer testified "that was my whisky, and I was driving that car of Melvin's that the officers saw."

His testimony failed to save Owens, however, from conviction on a liquor violation charge . . . . Plyer was held for trial on a similar charge.

A Misnomer

BALTIMORE, Md.—"Slow as a crab" is a misnomer in the opinion of Dr. Reginald V. Truitt, professor of agriculture at the University of Maryland.

"Crab No. 600" of 5,000 released to test migratory habits, flapped flippers 90 miles in Chesapeake bay in three days.

Dr. Truitt admitted, however, that "Crab No. 600"; was an exception. Most of them preferred to play in their own back yard, or thereabouts.
