Slowdown In Economy To Hike Joblessness

WASHINGTON (AP)— Both housing construction and auto sales have fallen 42 percent below levels of a year ago in what many economists say is dramatic proof of an economic downturn destined to get worse in coming months.

They say the slowdown will register most dramatically in rising unemployment, which lags behind other signs of economic decline.

Robert Gough, a forecaster for Data Resources Inc., said Friday the unemployment rate -- which rose from 6.2 percent to 7 percent last month -- could reach 8.5 percent by next year. That could mean as many as 8.5 million people out of work.

Gough and Leon Taub, of Chase Econometrics Associates, predict the current slowdown will be the worst in the post World War II period, except for the last recession in 1973-75.

HOUSING

Home construction in April fell to an annual rate of 1,019-- 2.1 percent less than in March and 42 percent below the level recorded in April 1979, the Commerce Department said Friday.

The decline was less severe than the 22 percent plunge registered in March, but other signs indicate the worst is yet to come.

April's annual construction and permit rates were the worst since the spring of 1975, during the last recession. Actual housing starts last year came to 1.75 million, and in 1978, they exceeded 2 million.

HAPPY CHAMPS--Kyle Short, right, congratulates freshman Barry Davis after the substitute first baseman pounded a home run to aid Snyder to a 5-2 championship victory over Brownfield Friday. With the victory, Snyder can account for six District 3-3A championships during the 1979-80 school year, including baseball, volleyball, boys and girls basketball tennis and track. INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION

Industrial production slumped 1.9 percent in April, the largest drop since a 2.2 percent decline in February 1975. It follows dips of 0.7 percent in March and 0.2 percent in February, the Commerce Department said Friday.

AUTO SALES

Reports from the Big Three automakers this week showed that combined sales during the first 10 days of May were off 42.8 percent, compared with the same period last year.

RETAIL SALES

Sales at the nation's retail stores fell 1.2 percent in April, following a 2.3 percent plunge the month before. Since January, sales have declined 5.2 percent.

The last time retail sales fell for three consecutive months was during the last recession, in late 1974.

FACTORY ORDERS

New orders received by the nation's durable goods manufacturers slumped 3.2 percent in March. As orders decline, production falls and layoffs occur.

The same report showed that shipments of durable goods fell for the first time since November.

INVENTORIES

Manufacturing and trade inventories rose 0.6 percent in March, as sales by producers to wholesalers and retailers fell for the second month in a row.

More Apartments Due...

Snyder Area Escaping Brunt Of 'Recession'

Talk of a recession has been nothing more than that -- talk -- in the Snyder area, although some of the depressed factors are being felt in local development, especially in housing.

However, there are prospects now for some relief. Rogers and Rogers, developers of the Kingswood Estates apartment complex, have indicated to city officials that they plan to expand facilities there.

Plans for an additional 32 units are under study which will increase Kingswood estates to a total of 72 rental units.

Recent reports, indicate that, although single-family dwelling development has been virtually halted due to high mortgage interest rates, the biggest need here now is rental living units.

Chamber of Commerce personnel report that a big percentage of their calls still come from people hunting houses and apartments for rent.

This has been especially true as activity perks up in area oilfields. There has been a significant increase in drillings, and a corresponding demand for well servicing work. In some cases it already has resulted in an influx of workers from other areas.

For example, Joe Fowler, Halliburton Superintendent here, reported that his company brought in 15 families recently and their biggest problem was finding places for them to live.

"Most of these people are not able to make $400 to $500 per month house payments. They need to rent, at least for a while," Fowler said.

He said Halliburton expects to bring in 10 or 15 more families between now and Sept. 1. In all, the firm has increased its personnel here from 95 to 135 since last September and it expects to hit 150 by September of this year.

"Anything that can be done to help the housing situation here will be appreciated," said Fowler.

Although no "boom" situation is expected in oilfields, Fowler expects it to be steady on a high level.

"We are just trying to keep our heads above water," he said.

Reports are that drilling will continue at a steady pace in this area. The tempo has quickened significantly in Scurry, Borden and Kent Counties in recent months, and Chevron is expected to begin

Sales Tax Rebates Up Sharply Here

Snyder's one percent rebate for the period ending May 1 amounted to $38,235, compared to $15,970 for the same period a year ago, Bullock reported.

This ran the year's total to $211,614 compared to $158,069 for the same time last year. Although the figures for the last reporting period more than doubled those for the corresponding report in 1979, Bullock said actual gains may be deceptive, because methods of processing sales taxes have been changed. "We have been tinkering around with our processing system to improve it over the past few months, and as a result, fund allocations and rebates have shot up from time to time because of improved handling of tax accounts," said Bullock.

Still, there are solid gains over last year.

Figures for some area cities include the following, with the current rebate and the total for the year, in order: Levelland, $32,706 and $173,213; Sweetwater, $32,109 and $178,810; Lamesa, $30,780 and $158,517; Brownfield, $23,954 and $116,075; Monahans, $23,264 and $115,194; Pecos, $16,598 and $132,668; Post, $13,557 and $49,059; Colorado City, $11,977 and $51,455; Rotan, $2,678 and $17,710; Roscoe, $1,821 and $9,448; Roby, $790 and $4,362.

Lake Continues To Increase Supplies

There was more good news Saturday from Lake J.B. Thomas.

Inflow from Thursday's big rains had pushed the volume up to around 30,000 acre feet of water. This represented a gain of some 18,000 acre feet, and put the volume at 2½ times the amount the lake held prior to the Thursday rains.

The vertical gain was nearly 10 feet, pushing the elevation past the 2,221-foot mark.

The inflow from the Colorado River and Bull Creek had declined considerably.

Meanwhile, water from Thursday's flooding in Scurry County was expected to reach Lake E.V. Spence at Robert Lee late Saturday. The floodwaters crested at 13 feet over a diversion dam just north of Colorado City late Friday and the river was flowing some 200 feet wide at that point.

O.H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, estimated that Lake Spence would catch 13,000 to 14,000 acre feet and gain about three feet vertically.

The runoff from Deep Creek in Scurry County is expected to improve the quality of the Lake Spence water considerably. Ivie reported that the water flowing past Colorado City contained only 50 ppm chlorides.

The SDN Column

If you were around here in 1972, you have a lot of respect for Deep Creek. And newcomers here now probably have an idea of what we talk about when we speak of "the flood of '72."

It was on Sunday, Aug. 13, 1972, the dark clouds similar to those here Wednesday night and Thursday poured out their water supplies on a good portion of Scurry County. Most of it fell in areas that drain into Deep Creek. By mid-afternoon that day, the rains that had fallen while many people were in their church pews had expanded Deep Creek to the point that everything on its banks for a distance of some three our four blocks from the main channel was imperiled.

We shall never forget entering the SDN office late that afternoon and wading through water almost knee deep to survey the damage.

The flood of 1972 sparked some interest in flood control and by the following spring the possibility of a project through the Soil Convervation Service was being studied.

We well recall that one of the persons who came here to discuss such a proposal noted that if the community should decide to go through with it and all applications moved through the prescribed channels at maximum speed, we could have a flood control system on Deep Creek in about eight years.

That would have had it just about ready to go into operation this year. But not only is it not ready, it isn't even on the drawing board. So, if you are wondering why, with its past experience with floods, that there is no flood control system to protect Snyder and Scurry County land along Deep Creek, be assured that a lot of people spent a lot of hours trying, but it never got past second base. By the time the planning reached the stage for requesting construction funds, inflation had reared its ugly head to the point that the cost could not be justified for the amount of protection to be derived from the project. So, it was scrapped.

★ ★ ★

The past Thursday's high water mark never did reach the level of the 1972 crest, but it made some of us nervous. There are arguments as to whether the 1972 flood was larger than one in '39. This probably never will be settled, because the development of the terrain changed over the years. One irony of 1972 was that despite all of the water that roared through Snyder, Lake J.B. Thomas caught very little because the rains didn't extend very far to the west. This time, the big rain will be reflected in a good lake catch.

Ask Us

Q--Why would the Western Texas College give themselves a raise since it only puts them in a higher income bracket and they pay more income taxes to the federal government?

A--Nobody at WTC gave "themselves" a raise. The board, which draws no salary, raised salaries for the college personnel. Reasons cited were that salaries at WTC had dropped near the bottom among junior colleges in Texas and that inflation had eroded the buying power of the salaries so much that they were lagging behind.

For Third Year In A Row...

Mother Nature Dampens First Day Of Cloud-Seeding Season

The third time was charm for the kick-off of the High Plains Weather Modification Experiment (HIPLEX) in Big Spring Thursday. For the third consecutive year there was weather activity as scientists and officials gathered for a briefing on the two-month's project, and this time nature beat the weathermen to the punch.

Even as they assembled at the Big Spring Airport Thursday morning to check equipment, clarify assignments and scope of study, rain was falling, but none complained. Big Spring had an inch and a half, Lake J.B.Thomas five inches and at places near Snyder up to seven inches.

Through July 15, aircraft operated by the Colorado River Municipal Water District and for the National Center for Atmospheric Research will seed summer storm clouds to research further the enhancement of precipitation by this technique. NCAR has a Queen air craft equipped with instruments for measuring pressure, dewpoint, temperatures, cloud droplet size, precipitation droplet sizes, ice crystal density and size as well as avionics packages to pinpoint height and distance from the radar controls. These will be backed up by a staff checking wind direction and speed, temperatures, humidity aloft several times a day. Texas Tech scientists will correlate data against weather satellite images, and those from Texas A&M will project the date as a macroscale for the target area which is roughly the north Borden-Scurry and south Mitchell-Howard County lines between Big Spring and Sweetwater.

One of two planes furnished by CRMWD has a physics package similar to the Queenair, but it will fly at a different altitude. CRMWD also will monitor 81 recording rain gauges on a 10-kilometer spacing and 25 on a five-kilometer spacing in the Lake J.B. Thomas area, also 82 "fence-post gauges." Operations will be directed by John Girdzus, CRMWD meteorologist.

CRMWD has its own weather modification experiment, now in its 10th year, which will continue to Nov. 15. For the period May 15-July 15 it coordinates its program with the U.S. Department of

More Hostages Scattered

By The Associated Press

The Iranian militants today announced they had scattered two more groups of American hostages to cities outside Tehran in their continuing effort to thwart a possible new U.S. rescue attempt.

The militants, who seized the 50 Americans at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran 196-days-ago, said groups of captives were sent to Ghazvin and Zanjan, the 16th and 17th cities chosen as prisons for the hostages since the abortive U.S. hostage rescue on April 25.

In a statement broadcast by Tehran Radio, the militants said the hostages were being sent to the cities, 90 and 155 miles northwest of Tehran respectively, so that residents there can "remember the days that you were captives" of the United States.

Refugee Flow Speeded Up

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)-Cuban authorities are responding to President Carter's call for an end to the "Freedom Flotilla" by loading refugee boats faster than ever, and called for an island-wide show of anti-American sentiment Saturday.

Nuke Planned In Cuba

MIAMI (AP)-Cuba and the Soviet Union have signed an agreement to build a facility in Cuba for investigating peaceful uses of nuclear power on the island nation, Havana radio reported.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami Friday, said the facility would examine the application of nuclear power in medicine, agriculture and other fields.

Reaves Guest On Television Show

A weight control plan formulated by Dr. Joe Reaves of Snyder will be featured on a portion of Sylvia's Chalet seen locally on KTXS television in five sessions starting Wednesday.

Reaves will be the guest of another Snyderite, Pat Dennis, who is now a regular on Sylvia's Chalet. The program is scheduled between 9-10 a.m. each weekday and Mrs. Dennis usually has the time slot between 9:30 or 9:45 and 10. She has been involved with a weight control program known as Hope for Tomorrow for several years and will present information on that program.

"The entire personality is involved in lifetime weight control," Reaves states. "A person must conquer overeating in the mind, or it will not be conquered at all.

"No one is going to stay on a particular diet all of his or her life, and statistics indicate that 90 percent of America's dieters gain excess weight back after getting off the diet."

The program which Reaves has formulated is based on his training in the field of psychology. He has conducted seminars, workshops and group sessions on lifetime weight control for a number of years.

The guest appearances by Reaves are scheduled May 21-23 and May 26-27. Reaves is associate professor of psychology at Western Texas College.

4 Biology Courses Set For Summer

Four biology courses will be offered for summer students at Western Texas College in classes beginning May 29.

Biology 145 and 146 will be offered for beginning students, with Biology 241 and 242 for more advanced students.

Students may enroll for both 145 and 146. These courses will be team taught by Dr. Shelby Hillis and Mike Otto.

Students may also enroll for 241 and 242. These courses will be taught by Joe Carter.

Persons interested in these courses may check the class schedule for the meeting times for lectures and labs.

Registration for all summer classes at WTC will be held May 28. Day and evening classes are on a nine-week schedule.

Energy Seminar Set By TESCO

An Energy Management Action Seminar has been scheduled at Western Texas College June 3-July 1 under the sponsorship of Texas Electric Service Co.

This course is prepared by experts in the field of building energy usage to provide an enrollee with limited technical training the techniques and methods for retrofitting energy systems in existing industrial, commercial and instutional buildings.

The emphasis is on practical approaches which can result in significant increases in energy efficiency throughout all systems and for all forms of energy.

The basic course is designed for five two and a half hour units with homework assignments for each unit based upon actual energy operations of the registrant's own building or buildings.

Course attendees receive instruction on how to complete an energy audit using their own buildings as a course project. They are then shown how to analyze the audit and determine low-cost efficiency moves which can be instituted by their own firms internally.

The seminar at WTC will meet from 1:30-4 p.m. on five consecutive Tuesdays. The registration fee is $55 per person, which includes textbooks.

Further information about the seminar may be obtained by contacting Phil Fortune at Texas Electric Service Co. or the office of Adult Education at WTC.

The Statuto of Piedmont - the only constitution to survive the Italian War of Independence - was granted in 1848 by Charles Albert, king of Savoy and Sardinia. The first parliament to govern Italy based on the Piedmont constitution was in 1861. The parliament was approved by Victor Emmanuel II. Albert's son, who sought to unify Italy by breaking away from Austrian colonialism.

Psychology Course Set

Psychology 231, a course required for many college students, will be offered in evening classes at Western Texas College this summer.

Classes will meet from 6-10:10 p.m. on Mondays with Dr. Joe Reaves as instructor. Students for all summer classes are to register on May 28, with classes beginning May 29.

In-class projects, discussions, demonstrations and audio-visual presentations make the extended class periods pass rapidly for most students, Reaves said. Areas covered include the function of the mind, learning and memory, the senses, child development, adjustment, and abnormal behavorior. Persons wishing further information may contact Reaves.

"GOD THE FATHER"
By R. Virgil Mott,
Director of Music,
Trinity United Methodist Church

Do you believe that there is one God, and this is the heart of your faith? We believe by believing in His existence. We cannot define God, but this does not mean that we must remain ignorant concerning his nature or character.

God made man for himself and wants man to know and understand him as much as this is humanly possible. All we can know about God is what He has revealed, but this is all we need to know. We should want to know as much as we can. Isa. 45:22.

God is personal. This means that He is not merely a force or a principle. He is a person. He has the attributes of personality.

In fact we are persons because we are a little bit like him. In the scriptures we read concerning Him: "But the Lord is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king," Jer. 10:10.

He may be thought of as a king, a person, but this does not exhaust our idea of Him. He may be talked to as a person. He is grieved as a person. He loves as a person. Different from other persons, God is eternal.

He said to Moses: "I am that I am," Ex. 3:14. How well do you know God the Father? Bear in mind: He is consistent in both His nature and His character. Through the prophet Malachi He said: "I am the Lord, I change not," Mal. 3:6.

Housing Changes For Ag Workers

Ann Carman, Manager with Texas Employment Commission in Sweetwater, said agricultural employers should be aware of changes in housing regulations for agriculture workers.

On March 4, the Employment and Training Administration (ETA) published in the Federal Register, final regulations concerning housing standards for agricultural workers. These new regulations are designed primarily to generally phase out ETA's housing standards, which have been renumbered from 20 CFR 620 to 20 CRF 654, and replace them with OSHA's regulations at 20 CFR 1910.140. However, growers who have constructed and are using housing built to comply with ETA standards may continue to have such housing inspected according ETA standards provided that: (1) The housing was constructed or under construction prior to April 3, 1980, or (2) a contract for construction of the housing was entered into prior to March 4.

The March 4 regulations require an employer to file a written application for a permanent structural variance from specific ETA standards with local offices of the Texas Employment Commission for transmittal through channels to the Regional Administrator on or before June 2, 1980. After that date, ETA will no longer accept applications for variances from its standards.

Mrs. Carman emphasized that this will apply to all agricultural employers who provide housing for workers which requires approval and inspection by the State Health Department. Any inquiries concerning this variance can be had by calling TEC in Sweetwater, 235-8418, or visit the office at 114 W. Broadway.

Equine Clinic Set In June

A five-day Equine Reproduction Management Clinic is scheduled June 9-13 at Western Texas College.

Dr. Daryl Atkins, who founded Equine Breeders International with a group of associates, will be instructor for the 40-hour course. Atkins was an instructor in animal reproduction at Texas A&M before leaving to begin Equine Breeders International.

The clinic covers all phases of equine reproduction, with about half the time in classroom lectures and the remainder in lab work.

Persons who would like details about the clinic may contact Kent Mills, Farm & Ranch Management instructor at WTC, at the college or at his residence.

Fees for the clinic are $300 per person, which includes all materials. Persons wishing to preregister are to send a non-refundable $100 deposit to Jerry Baird, Director of Adult Vocational Education, at WTC by June 2.

School Blast Fatal To One

EMORY (AP)-An explosion killed a 15-year-old boy and destroyed an old abandoned school building in this small East Texas town Friday.

Michael Wayne Graham of Emory was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Mickey Cooper.

Cooper said two 6-year-old boys who had been with Graham in the Emory High School gymnasium told him that Graham left the gym and went into a small side room.

"They said he had a cigarette lighter with him, but we don't know anything about that," Cooper said. "They told me they heard a loud explosion and a ball of fire came out the door. That's when they ran."

Fifteen Graduate In Hermleigh Ceremonies

"You can make a difference," Dr. Joe Ramey told the 15 seniors graduating in commencement exercises at Hermleigh Friday night.

Dr. Ramey, a Hermleigh resident, is an educator and has been associated with the Federal Bureau of Indian Affairs.

"After high school you may not find people as willing to help or as agreeable as the adults you have been accustomed to but if your work habits are good and your attitude is positive you can succeed in your chosen endeavor."

He pointed to their parents and grandparents. "These are the people whose generation wiped out diseases, such as small pox and polio; defeated the Nazis; shortened the work week by one third. They created a world which allowed you to become the smartest, healthiest and best looking young people ever.

"But there were things they did not accomplish. They did not find a cure for cancer, or find an alternative to war, or find a solution to the energy crisis. These are the areas where your generation can make a contribution.

"You can make a difference," he told them. "Will you? Try."

Jimmy (Chip) Roemisch, valedictorian, told the standing-room-only crowd of being grateful to live in a country where young people are allowed to get all the education they desire.

Tim Stahl, salutatorian, warned his classmates that it might be a rocky road to success but he believed it would be worth the effort.

Tragedy Hits Church Group

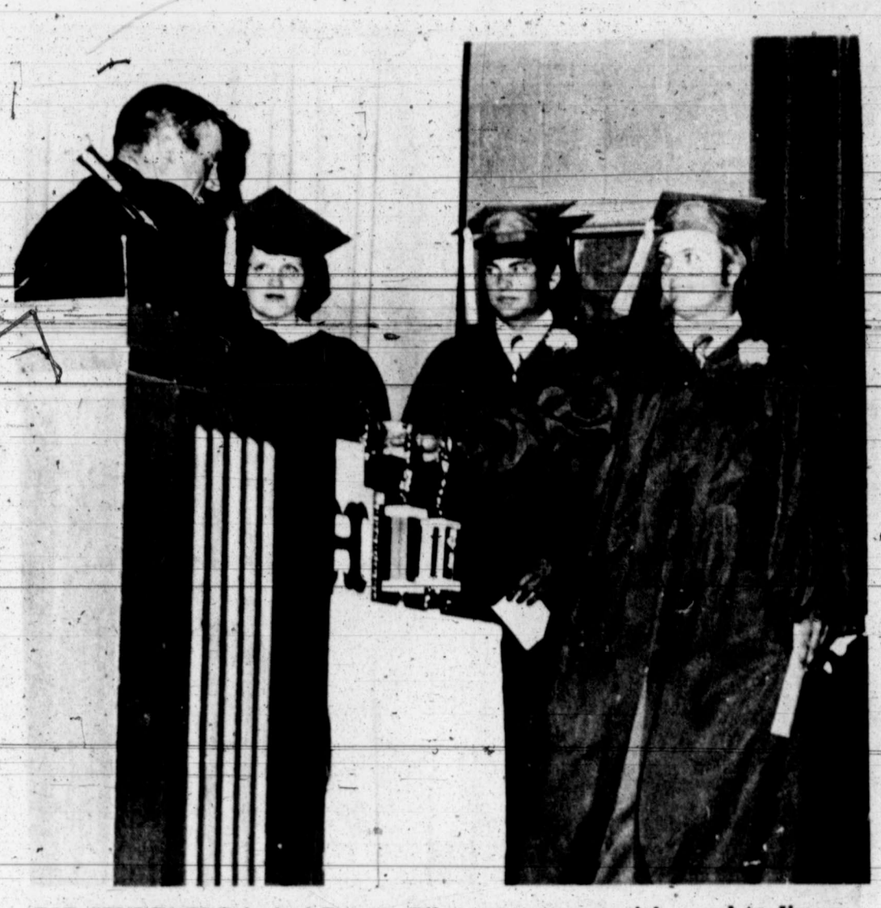

BUENA VISTA, Colo. (AP)-A backpacking expedition in the Rocky Mountains turned into tragedy for a Texas church group when one young woman broke her leg and another died suddenly of natural causes.

Authorities said Betty Bailey, 22, of Abilene died early Friday, apparently of some type of respiratory problem.

The group of about 30 members of the Hillcrest Church of Christ in Abilene, Texas, had returned to Buena Vista on Thursday after five days of backpacking on Mount Harvard. One member - Sarah Sullivan, 19 - had broken her leg on the mountain Wednesday.

Officials said Ms. Bailey, a student at Abilene Christian University, went to bed Thursday night in a trailer behind a church. Her roommate woke early Friday morning to find her gasping, and she died despite efforts to revive her.

Sheriff's officers said all members of the group underwent physicials prior to the backpacking trip and all were declared fit.

Man Sentenced For Raping Nun

TULSA, Okla. (AP)-A Tulsa County jury sentenced a 24-year-old man to 1,700 years in prison Friday after taking 10 minutes to find him guilty of beating and raping a nun, then tossing her into a fire.

Robert Eugene King of Tulsa heard the sentencing without apparent emotion, although District Attorney S.M. Fallis Jr. said it was the jury's intention "that this man should never be out of that penitentiary again."

Fat Musicians In Rock Group

DALLAS (AP)-Rock Group Blimp rolled onto the music scene last week, but the musicians already have made it big - to the tune of 1,476 pounds.

Lead guitarist Pat Rider weighs 325 pounds, Rhythm guitarist Cory Hubbard weighs 350; keyboardist Walt Newton, 286; vocalist Tony Cobra, 235, and drummer Bryan Pitney, 280.

They were brought together by a newspaper ad - placed by Dallas Realtor Judy Drake and her mother, Edie Lewis - searching for overweight musicians.

The two women, after reading there are 80 million overweight Americans, decided to evangelize about excessive weight via a band of fat musicians who would pledge to bring their weights down to normal limits within a year.

"To qualify for the band, we each had to be at least 70 pounds overweight," Newton said. "By the end of the year, we have to achieve normal weight levels or at least make some progress. And we already have a maintenance program planned for keeping the weight off."

Newton said Blimp members follow standard reduced-calorie diets, adding he is attending a behavior modification class to learn how to combat the urge to overeat.

Water and Power Resources HIPLEX research which has its southern anchor at Big Spring and its northern anchor at Miles City, Mont.

When the HIPLEX effort began on June 1, 1978, conditions appeared ideal for seeding, but they faded in late afternoon. Nevertheless, conditions did permit a full-scale operational effort. At the May 22, 1979 kick-off, there were seedable clouds for another operational attempt. Thursday, however, rain fell before the weather modifiers could go into action for the 1980 project.

Among the dozen and a half scientists and officials on hand for the initial briefing were:

U.S. Department of Water and Power Resources -- William Harrison, Denver, Colo.

National Center for Atmospheric Research -- Ed Brown, Boulder, Colo., plus a pilot and technician.

Texas Department of Water Resources -- John Carr, chief of the department's weather modification and technology division; Robert Riggio, head of the weather modification unit; Bill Alexander and Tom Larkin, meteorologists, all of Austin.

Texas A&M University -- Dr. James R. Scoggins, director, and Dr. Alex Long, cloud physicist.

CRMWD--O.H. Ivie, general manager, John Cirdzus, meteorologist, also two pilots, two rain gauge network monitors, and one technician.

Mexico Hikes Price Of Oil

MEXICO CITY (AP)-Mexico has raised the price of its export oil $1.50 a barrel, just a day after Saudi Arabia announced a $2 increase in its price.

The Saudi increase means Americans will pay at least a penny a gallon more for gasoline and home heating fuel. How much the Mexican increase will add was not immediately known.

The Mexico state oil monopoly, Pemex, said the rise from $32 to $33.50 took effect Thursday and applied to the lighter Isthmus variety. The price of the heavier Maya type was unchanged at $28 a barrel.

Pemex skipped the March 31 deadline it set for raising prices because of pricing confusion within the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries, but decided to go ahead after the announcement Wednesday that the Saudi price went from $26 to $28 retroactive to April 1.

While the Saudis, the world's biggest oil exporter, belong to OPEC, Mexico refuses to join the cartel and keeps out of the spot market where crude is auctioned to the highest bidder.

POPPY DAY PROCLAMATION-Mayor Milton Ham signs a proclamation setting aside Friday, May 23 as Buddy Poppy Day in Snyder. The poppies are sold by members and friends of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, (V.F.W.) and the proceeds are used for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans. Pictured with the mayor are Mrs. Margie Ellis of the V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliary and this year's Buddy Poppy Girl, Lori Lyn Nail, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Nail. (SDN Staff Photo)

Next Friday Announced Buddy Poppy Day Here

Next Friday is Buddy Poppy Day in Snyder, announces Commander Dale Swigert of the Veterans of Foreign Wars (V.F.W.) Post 231. Mayor Milton Ham has signed a proclamation urging the citizens to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies.

The poppies are assembled by disabled veterans and proceeds are used for their benefit, said Swigert.

"More than half of the net proceeds received from the sale of Buddy Poppies remains here in our own community to meet the calls from needy veterans and their dependents," he said. "The post maintains a relief fund into which is placed all net profits from the sale."

As in previous years these symbolic flowers of Flanders Field will be sold on the streets by a group of volunteer members of the V.F.W. Post and members of its Ladies Auxiliary.

"Most of the money that we collect in this sale will remain right here in our own community, to help finance the relief and welfare work which we have undertaken in behalf of our own veterans in need, and their dependents," he explained.

The balance of the proceeds of the annual Buddy Poppy sale is used to help maintain the nationwide rehabilitation service of our organization, he said.

HEALTH TIP from DEAN

A body is like a machine, or is it? If you give you car dirt instead of oil, it won't run very far - neither will it run well on the wrong kind of gasoline (nutrition). However, if you use your car often, it will wear out. If you don't use your legs they will go to pieces. The machine is wrecked by use; the human body by disuse.

GRASSHOPPER SURVEY

According to the grasshopper survey conducted last week in Scurry County there is good news and bad news. R.E. Yeary and David Stephens with the USDA Animal, Plant, Health Inspection Service, and Bill Jany, county entomologist, made the survey. Some areas of the county are relatively free of grasshopper nymphs; but other areas may run as high as 18 - 20 grasshopper nymphs per square yard.

The area just west of Camp Springs counted 18 - 20 nymphs per square yard. This number divided by 3 (survival factor) would indicate a heavy population of adult hoppers (6 - 8 per square yard considered heavy). North of Camp Springs the count ran 8 - 10 per square yard.

The range area from Lloyd Mountain to the Hudd Community were 5 - 6 on down to 0 - 2. Most of the range area north, northwest, and west of Snyder showed 3 - 4 nymphs per square yard. The survey was conducted on rangeland to determine the infestation of the range grasshopper.

This group did check some turnrows for the presence of the jumbo grasshopper. Some relatively high numbers of the jumbos were found and cotton producers should be aware of this potential problem. If cotton producers will check turn rows and fence rows for the small jumbo hoppers, it may be necessary to apply control measures along the turn rows when the jumbos are very small to prevent damage to a cotton crop later on in the year.

CHECK PLANTS CLOSELY

Soon after the first rush of growth in the spring, various problems in the form of insects and disease begin to appear in lawns, gardens and flowers. A good prevention program is by far the best approach to a healthy lawn and garden.

Plants in good growing condition are less likely to be affected by problems. Applying a complete fertilizer, such as 12-12-12, early in the year to flower beds and garden areas will insure adequate nutrients. The amount of fertilizer will vary according to the analysis. A good thumb rule would be to apply enough of fertilizer to supply one pound of the actual nutrients per 1000 square feet. Thus eight pounds of a fertilizer such as 12-12-12 would be equal to approximately one pound of each nutrient to the area.

Providing adequate fertilizer does not insure trouble free plants. Proper watering, tilling and mowing must also be done.

Sanitation or clean up of last years dead twigs and leaves eliminates another source of problems. Many disease causing organisms can overwinter in debris and when moisture and temperatures are correct, these organisms can activate and infect plants.

Disease and insect infestations that develop can best be controlled early, so close and regular checking of plants is needed.

Dear Abby

Daughter Follows The Master's Voice

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1980 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: We feel so helpless. We have lost our daughter to some kind of religious cult. She became interested in this new way of life when she was a sophomore in college. She then dropped out of school in her senior year to become a follower.

The head of this cult (or "The Master," as he is called) is a manipulative old man, about 70, who has taken in about 20 young people (all over 18) to "serve" him. Our daughter did not say exactly how they serve him, but it's considered a religious ritual — a cleansing of all past sins, and total dedication to The Master. He finds jobs for his followers, who in turn hand over their earnings, and he supposedly supports them. It is so foul and weird we get sick when we think that our once intelligent, bright daughter could ever fall for something so evil and sick.

We have visited our daughter and begged her to come home, but she has been completely brainwashed, insisting that she is happy with her life and wants to stay there. She is 23 now, and this thing is tearing us apart. Please, please help us.

HEARTBROKEN PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: There is no way you can remove your daughter from her surroundings against her wishes. As an adult, her right to remain where she is is guaranteed under the law.

Because so many young of college age have been victims of such "religious" groups, I am devoting my entire column to this widespread problem.

I received a letter from the Rev. Peter D. Haynes, the Episcopal chaplain at the University of California, Berkeley. In addressing this problem, he enclosed a brochure put out by the University Religious Council, whose members include those of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths. It has been distributed to students as a warning.

I want to share it with my readers:

LEARN TO BE A QUESTIONER:

When you feel alone, lonely and totally overwhelmed by a decision you need to make and find yourself wishing that someone would just TELL you what to do — when you feel like the world used to make sense, but now everything is falling apart,

YOU'RE VULNERABLE!

When you're hurting (or even when you're not): Beware of people with magical answers or solutions who are excessively or inappropriately friendly. There are no instant friendships!

Beware of groups that pressure you into joining them. No one knows what is right for you except you.

Beware of groups that recruit you through guilt. Guilt produced by others is rarely a productive emotion.

Beware of invitations to isolated weekend workshops having vague goals. There is no reason to be vague unless there is something to hide.

You should know that the two basic principles of mind control ("brainwashing") are:

(1) If you can get a person to behave the way you want, you can get that person to believe the way you want.

(2) Sudden, drastic changes in environment lead to heightened suggestibility and to drastic changes in attitudes and beliefs.

Don't be foolish. Protect yourself! Don't go away for a weekend or longer with a stranger or group, unless:

You know the name of the sponsoring group. You are thoroughly familiar with its beliefs and affiliations and goals. You know what will be expected of you. You know that you will be free and able to leave at any time.

So, if you ever feel overwhelmed, lonely, confused or in need of friends or direction, reach out to someone you trust: a friend, a teacher, a parent, counselor, a crisis hotline, a member of the clergy, a member of the Campus Ministry. Or, if you know someone who has these feelings, urge that person to reach out to someone he can really trust.

P.S. In cases where young people have already joined a religious group anywhere in the U.S. and loved ones are unable to locate them or reach them by phone or letter; or if parents have visited them and found them unwilling (or afraid) to leave, write to: The Rev. Peter D. Haynes; 2311 Bowditch St.; Berkeley, Calif. 94704. You will be told whom to contact in your community. And since this is a nonprofit organization, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a reply.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Causes of impotence

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — We have two old medical guides, both of which say that elderly men can be treated for impotence by giving them testosterone. My family doctor says that such treatments are of no real benefit but are only psychological. I'm certain I have no psychological hangups in this area but I am wondering who to believe. Whatever has caused my problem has not curbed my desire — only my ability to perform.

I'm 63 years of age and in good health except for being a little overweight. Can you tell me whether my books or the doctor is correct and perhaps you have a leaflet dealing with this subject?

DEAR READER — Your family doctor is correct. There are rare exceptions of individuals who are low in male hormone and benefit from hormone replacements. But in the vast majority of cases, impotence is caused by some other factor. Very recent studies have shown that there is very little decline in testosterone production in men after age 30. There is an earlier decline from the latter teens through the 20s and then it levels off after 30.

Some men do benefit from taking testosterone even though they have normal hormone levels. In this instance, it's just the old confidence game. The confidence reaction also explains why some men regain their capacity with such exotic treatments as ground up rhinoceros horns and extracts from the barks of special trees.

There is a decrease in sexual desire in males with progressive age. But on the basis of recent studies this appears to be unrelated to any change in hormone levels. It may be related to basic rhythm patterns established in the brain. Or it could be related to the social concept that older people aren't interested in sex — which is wrong. And it can also be associated with lack of opportunity.

In any case, impotence is a symptom and not a diagnosis. It can be caused in rare cases by a decreased hormone production but more often it's associated with psychological factors or can be caused by disorders that affect the nerve fibers which control the mechanics of erection. A good example here is a person who has undergone surgery that's severed nerves in that area, or a man who has diabetes. Some problems are caused by poor circulation. Also certain medicines can cause inability to achieve an erection.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 3-12, Impotence, which will give you more detailed information on its causes and what can be done about it. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

There have been a lot of advances in the understanding of impotence and its treatment over the last few years. I think anyone with such a problem should see a urologist for a complete examination. There are a number of devices that have been developed which can be used in selected cases. Your doctor will be able to discuss these with you if they should be indicated in your case.

Secretary Shortage Predicted By '85

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—With the Department of Labor predicting for 1985 a nationwide shortage of 25,000 secretaries, "Personnel Journal" in a current article suggests these ideas for increasing the supply:

Hiring men, who at present represent 1 percent of the profession; higher pay; higher status, to increase pride in work; clear job descriptions; flexitime and job sharing; development of in-house training programs.

About 8 million junk cars are recycled for their steel in the United States each year.

Wild West Show Set At Justiceburg

The Miller Bros., ranchers of Borden, Scurry and Garza Counties, and Bobby Estes, rodeo producer and showman of Callahan County, have obtained some of the nation's top talent for their Memorial Day Weekend wild west and American Heritage Show.

Billed as the Lone Star Wild West and American Heritage Show, performances are set for 2 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, May 24-25, at Justiceburg.

Among the top talent scheduled to perform are Jesse Knight, world champion Indian bronc rider and recent winner of the Houston Stock Show Rodeo and currently sitting in seventh place for the world's championship; Howard Hunter, Kyle, S.D.; Jack Himes, Pueblo, Colo; gold record holder country and western singer, Johnny Seay, of Cleburne; J.W. Stoker, champion trick rider and roper of Weatherford; Louie Thurman of Burleson, high school horse act, Brahma bull and mule act performer.

The wild west show will include a buffalo stampede with 40 buffalo, a longhorn cattle drive, Mexican mariachi band, bucking horses, bucking longhorn bulls and steers, a stage-coach hold up, Indian dancers, trick riding and trick roping, clown acts, country and western singing and a buffalo barbecue.

Since rodeos were derived from early day wild west shows, the promoters hope to recall the glamor and exhibition quality of the old time wild west. In the wild west show, the only competition is between the man and the animal.

Justiceburg is located on U.S. Highway 84, 30 miles north of Snyder and 15 miles southeast of Post.

Admission price for the show is $4 per person per day, with children under 12 admitted free.

BILL MARQUARDT

University Honors TESCO President

Texas Electric President Bill Marquardt has been named one of six University of Texas graduates to receive the College of Engineering Distinguished Graduate Award this year.

Marquardt was selected to receive the honor of "Distinguished Graduate of the College of Engineering for 1980" by the Engineering Foundation Advisory Council. The honor is the highest recognition the College of Engineering can award an alumnus.

Marquardt began his career with Texas Electric in 1941 as a junior engineer, after graduation from the university with a bachelor of science degree.

He is a registered professional engineer in Texas and a senior member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

Marquardt is past chairman of the Electric Reliability Council of Texas and is a trustee of the National Electric Reliability Council. He is also director of the Edison Electric Institute, and president of the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation.

An 1830 Templeton Reid $5 gold piece -- the first privately minted gold coin made in the United States -- was recently sold at auction for $200,000 to an Atlanta numismatic firm.

Wealth Of Solons Varies Sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) - Rep. Tom Loeffler, a Republican from Hunt, Texas, figures he netted $1,171 from the sale of livestock and ranch equipment last year.

Rep. Phil Gramm, a freshman Democrat from College Station, Texas, earned $18,500 last year from the Canadian Ministry of Natural Resources from a consulting contract he carried out before coming to Washington.

Rep. Ron Paul, a Republican from Lake Jackson, Texas, says his holdings in a Putt Putt Golf Course are worth between $5,000 and $15,000.

And Rep. Charles Wilson, a Democrat from Lufkin, Texas, sold his interest in a swank Washington nightclub for a figure between $15,000 and $50,000.

Those are among the tidbits to be gleaned from congressmen's financial disclosure statements released Friday.

The reports indicate that Rep. Jack Brooks of Beaumont and Rep. Jim Collins of Dallas apparently are the wealthiest members of the Texas delegation.

The precise figures cannot be calculated because the forms allow congressmen to place their holdings within a set of ranges -- from $15,001 to $50,000 for example. The top category is $250,000 or above.

Brooks, whose wealth became an issue in a surprisingly tight Democratic primary victory earlier this month, reported holdings between $1.6 million and $2.8 million.

He listed his liabilities between $480,000 and $1.3 million.

Brooks included among his holdings stock worth more than $250,000 in three companies -- the First of Groves Corp. of Groves, Texas; the First National Bank of Silsbee, Texas; and the First of Groves Life Insurance Co. of Beaumont.

Collins, a conservative Republican who represents affluent north Dallas and its suburbs, placed his holdings between $5.5 million and $11.2 million.

He attached to a long list of blue-chip stocks and other properties the claim that none of his stocks or bonds are in the areas seemingly closest to his legislative interests.

Collins said he does not hold stocks or bonds in banks or savings and loan companies; insurance companies; utilities; oil companies; airlines, railroad or bus companies; radio, television or cable companies; municipalities or governments; newspapers; shipping companies or hospital management companies.

As his only liability, Collins listed a land mortgage worth between $15,000 and $50,000.

At the other extreme, Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez of San Antonio said his only income came from his congressional salary. Congressmen currently earn $62,500 a year.

"I have no other sources of income, property, tangible or intangible, corporeal or incorporeal, or hereditaments," Gonzales wrote in the portion reserved for a listing of outside income.

"Neither does my spouse or any relative to 10th degree of consanguinity. I am -- as I have always -- consecrated full time to the discharge of my duties as the elected representative of the 20th District," the longtime Democratic congressman added.

Rep. Martin Frost, a freshman Democrat from Dallas, was one of several Texas congressmen who placed specific figures on their holdings.

He valued the assets for himself and his wife as $186,187.55, including $10,000 in home furnishings and personal effects. Frost listed liabilities at $131,984.48, placing his net worth at $54,203.07.

In addition to Collins and Brooks, at least five other Texas congressmen in the 24-member delegation declared holdings that could be calculated to be worth possibly more than $1 million.

Rep. Sam Hall, a Democrat from Marshall, listed assets between $995,000 and $2.2 million with liabilities between $35,000 and $115,000.

Rep. Kent Hance, a Lubbock Democrat, said his holdings are worth between $560,000 and $1 million with liabilities between $20,000 and $65,000; and Rep. Jim Mattox, a Democrat from Dallas, listed assets between $1 million and $2.2 million with liabilities between $845,000 and $1.6 million.

Paul, a doctor, declared his assets to be worth between $710,000 and $1.7 million with liabilities between $200,000 and $615,000; and Rep. Ray Roberts, a McKinney Democrat, valued his holdings between $820,000 and $1.4 million with liabilities between $30,000 and $100,000.

68,000 Have Comments On Conservation

More than 68,000 individuals and organizations have provided written comments on the Resources Conservation Act to the Response Analysis Center in Athens, Ga., Erwin Pavlik, district conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service at Snyder, said this week.

The written responses are in addition to statements made at public meetings held in Texas during the 60-day public review period of the draft RCA documents which ended March 28, Pavlik said.

All responses are to be analyzed by sometime in early May. After all comments have been studied by USDA officials, a recommended soil and water conservation program will be developed and presented to the public for review this summer.

Cubs Battle Tough, Win Second, But...

BROWNFIELD—Brownfield's Cubs, thwarted for the past three years on the diamond, almost made a dream come true here Friday - but not quite.

The Cubs, down in the best-of-three playoff series 1-0, rallied to win Game Two and force a final contest between the two teams before Snyder edged out a 5-2 Game Three, championship victory.

"I've got a lot of respect for Brownfield," said Snyder Coach Albert Lewis. "They have a good ball club. They played us extremely tough."

Brownfield held the edge in taking Game Two by a 5-1 score as one of the area's top all-around ballplayers, Jimmy Martinez, allowed Snyder only five hits. The Cubs showed strong defense, especially in the shortstop position, manned by Bill House.

"He is what brings Brownfield together," said Lewis after the game. "There were two real good shortstops out there today (Friday). Paul (Gafford) did a good job for us, too."

House made some nifty stops, then executed accurate throws to keep the Tigers from putting anything together in Game Two.

Snyder did score first in the game after Bobby Degrate walked and later came in on a Toby Neves single.

Brownfield zapped four runs in the first inning, however, ignited when Stacy Terrell rapped a single and Jimmy Martinez followed with a double. Kelly Reid later walked and Raul Gonzales connected on a double.

William Robinson, who went for the first six innings atop the hill, was charged with the loss. To his credit, he allowed only two hits after that first inning. Mike Roemisch came in to relieve in the sixth.

Jim Smith got Brownfield's final run as he opened the fifth with a single, took second on a passed ball and later scored off of a Terrell basehit.

Snyder got an opportunity to do some damage in the seventh inning as Gafford walked and Bryan Vincent followed with a double off of relief pitcher Reid. Brownfield coach Randy Rozean immediately stuck Martinez back on the mound and the Tiger chances began to unravel.

Ricky Gambol flew out to centerfield and Gafford was thrown out when he darted to home on a passed ball.

The ump's call brought groans and verbal lashes from the Tiger bench and coaches, but to no avail.

SO CLOSE--Snyder chances of wrapping up a quick 3-3A baseball title diminished with this play in the seventh inning of Game Two when Tiger shortshop Paul Gafford was called out at home. The photo above does not reveal whether the runner was safe or not, but does indicate the umpire was in poor position to make the call. Brownfield pitcher Jimmy Martinez is making the tag. Snyder lost the game, 5-1, but took Game Three in the series, 5-2, to win the loop title. (SDN STAFF PHOTO by Bill McClellan).

...Tigers Rebound To Take Series In Game Three

Snyder Claims 3-3A Baseball Title!

By BILL MCCLELLAN

BROWNFIELD—Snyder High School won District 3-3A baseball championships in 1977, 78 and 79, but Coach Albert Lewis says, "This one has got to be the sweetest of them all."

Snyder's Tigers, at one time 4-9 on the season, blasted Brownfield for three first-inning runs in the final game of their best-of-three playoff series here Friday, then hung on to win a fourth consecutive diamond crown, 5-2.

"You know, at the start of the season there weren't too many people expecting Snyder to be here, but I felt like we had a chance," said Coach Lewis after the game. "We worked hard, especially this last half (of district play). Sometimes when we'd leave workouts, a few of the kids would stay in the cage and take extra (batting) practice. Our defense has improved considerably, too," he added.

The Tigers, who had won Game One by a 10-3 score last Tuesday, suffered through a 5-1 defeat in Game Two here before pulling together for the crucial, district-winning victory.

It marked Snyder's sixth 3-3A title of the 1979-80 year - its 11th in the past two seasons. Snyder had already chalked trophies in volleyball, girls and boys basketball, tennis and boys track.

Snyder got all the runs it needed in the first inning of the second game, beginning as Kyle Short drew a walk and Pete (Sam) Willis followed with a double. Toby Neves rapped a single to score both runners, and moments later, Mike Roemisch tripled the Tiger catcher across home plate also.

It was a lead which Snyder never lost behind solid team fielding and tough pitching by junior hurler Tony Degrate.

"He was superb out there," said Lewis. "He was in pain, but he stayed in there. We had to have him and he knew it. He did a terrific job."

Degrate picked up the victory for a 6-1 district pitching record, 7-4 for the season. He scattered six hits and fanned 12 batters in the seven-inning tilt.

After taking the Cubs 1-2-3 in the bottom half of the stanza, Snyder added one more run. Bryan Vincent reached first base on a free trip, took second on a steal, and waltzed home on a Ricky Gambol single. Gambol led the Tiger hitting for the game, going two-of-three with an RBI.

Brownfield trimmed the margin to 4-1 in the bottom of the second. DH Raul Gonzales walked and Raymond Gibson and Mark Dobson singled to load the bases with no outs. Gonazles started to steal home on one occasion, but an an alert Neves chased him back towards third. The Snyder catcher whipped the ball to baseman Short who appeared to make the tag, but officials called the runner safe.

The decision brought a wave of emotions from the Tiger dugout and protests by Lewis and assistant Coach Jim Mavroulis got nowhere. Tiger first baseman Willis was ejected from the game during the verbal battles and was replaced by freshman Barry Davis.

Later in the inning Gonzales did steal home on a passed ball, but it was all the damage Brownfield was able to muster.

The Cubs got their second and final run in the third inning as pitcher-outfielder Jimmy Martinez opened with a double and later scored on an error.

Martinez, who chalked the win in Game Two, pitched for two and two-thirds innings in the second game after starter-loser Kelly Reid gave up the three runs to Snyder. Jim Smith hurled the final three.

Brownfield managed only three baserunners after the third inning and only one of those got past the first sack. In fact, Degrate allowed only one hit -- a seventh inning single -- in the last four innings.

Snyder's fifth run was a solo homer by sub first-sacker Davis, who drilled a shot over the left-field fence, for a 5-2 lead.

That edge was threatened slightly in the seventh when Lorenzo Barraza opened with a single. Smith went down on a fielder's choice for the first out, but next up Bill House walked to put the tying run at the plate. Cub catcher Stacy Terrell struck out however, and Snyder shortstop Paul Gafford got the final out when he scooped up a rocking Martinez grounder and hurled it to Davis.

Snyder, 15-12-1, will play either Weatherford or Graham of District 4-3A next week in bi-district action. Local coaches and school officials were to meet with the opposing champs Saturday in Graham where the Wildcats were hosting Weatherford in a best-of-three series.

Grand Prix Slated For Sunday Go; Qualify Saturday

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP)—Final qualifying runs for Sunday's Monaco Grand Prix had 27 drivers battling for 20 grid positions Saturday with the starting order a key to final honors.

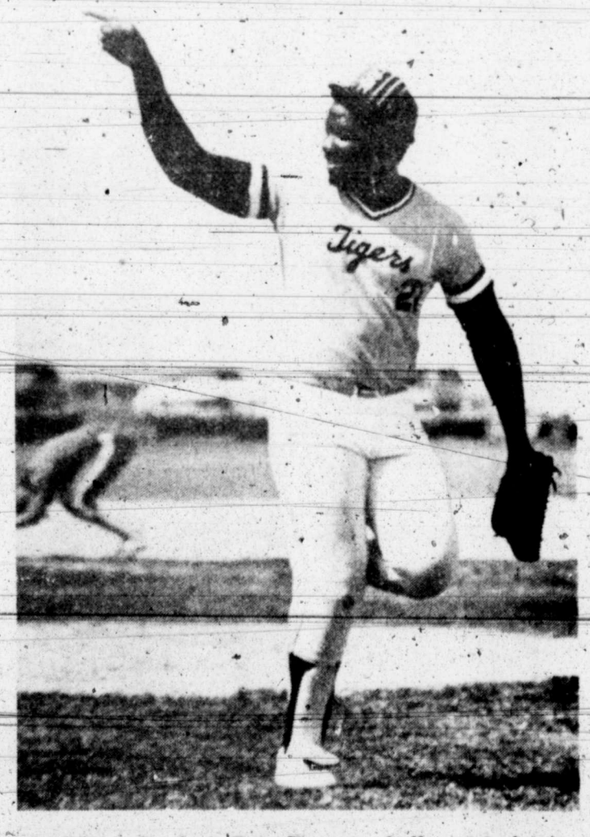

The drivers had one hour around the twisting, switchback circuit on the streets of the Riviera principality, and rain again threatened to add to the problems on one of the most difficult tracks in the 16-round world championship series.

Overtaking is nearly impossible on the tight track and the winner seems likely to come from among the top four runners, with the next two outsiders.

Slightly behind, on the staggered 1-by-1 grid, came Canada's feisty Gilles Villeneuve in a Ferrari, followed by Australian Alan Jones, currently second in the championship this year, in his Williams just ahead of teammate Carlos Reutemann of Argentina.

The top six were filled out by the second Ferrari of South African Jody Scheckter, now a Monaco resident who won here last year and in 1977, and Brazil's Nelson Piquet, who took the Long Beach, Calif., Grand Prix this year flag to flag.

GOTCHA--Snyder's Tony Degrate chalks a 5-2 victory and lets Brownfield's Cubs know it Friday. In the background, a Cub player beats the ground out of frustration. It was Brownfield's best-season showing in a number of years. The Cubs set several school records and finished with an admirable 21-6 record. Snyder goes on to compete in bi-district play. Johnson Leads Effort...

Lakers Win NBA Crown

PHILADELPHIA (AP)- The Man was 3,000 miles away, nursing a sprained ankle in Los Angeles, but the Lakers still found the Magic touch they needed to win the National Basketball Association championship.

"Kareem Abdul-Jabbar is the Man on this team," said Lakers rookie Earvin "Magic" Johnson. "He wasn't able to be here, so I knew I had to take over."

And take over he did, just as he took over last winter in leading Michigan State to the NCAA championship.

With the 7-foot-2 Abdul-Jabbar nursing a sprained ankle in Los Angeles, Johnson took over center stage and shone in the spotlight. He scored a career-high 42 points, grabbed 15 rebounds and handed out 7 assists to lead the Lakers to a 123-107 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers Friday night and a 4-2 win in the best-of-seven championship series.

"Magic played like Houdini out there tonight," said Lakers Coach Paul Westhead. "He was Mr. Opportunity himself."

It was an opportunity Johnson relished.

"I love pressure," said the 6-foot-8 Johnson, a babe in the NBA redwoods at the tender age of 21. "Without Kareem, I knew I had to score, run things and get the job done. I'm glad I was in this situation. I think I proved a few things."

The Sixers came out flat and the Lakers reeled off the first seven points. Los Angeles led 32-29 after the first quarter, fell behind by as many as eight but climbed back to a 60-60 halftime tie.

Then the Sixers came out flat once again, and this time the Lakers scored 14 straight - six by foward Jamaal Wilkes, whose 37-point night was overshadowed by Johnson's heroics, and four each by Johnson and Michael Cooper. The Sixers, led by Julius Erving, closed the gap to two on four occssions during the final period but could never pull even.

Instead, it was the Lakers who pulled away.

"It was too much for us to come back," said Cunningham. "When we got close, Wilkes and Johnson beat us."

Amazingly, the Lakers outrebounded the Sixers 52-36, nullifying Philadelphia's inside game and forcing the Sixers to shoot from the perimeter. As a result, they outscored Philadelphia 33-13 from the foul line.

"They had everyone under the basket and we had to go to a perimeter game," said Erving. "We lost patience and discipline. They beat us in every phase of the game. They anticipated our strategy, took away our inside game and took us out of our rhythm."

"Rebounding was the difference in the whole series," said Johnson. "We controled the board and played good defense. And we had to keep offensive pressure on them. We had to push it up quickly, go in and keep coming."

Johnson made sure the Lakers did just that with a performance that earned him the series' Most Valuable Player award by a 4-3 vote over Abdul-Jabbar. But Johnson's play came as no surprise to Westhead.

"I knew E.J. was going to be there," said Westhead, who a year ago coached at LaSalle College, went to the Lakers as an assistant last summer and became head coach when Jack McKinney was hurt in a bicycle accident early in the season. "I didn't know about the rest, but I knew that whenever we need it, he'd give it to us."

Talks Continue, Going Nowhere

NEW YORK (AP)—With time running out on a strike deadline, negotiators in the major league baseball contract dispute are moving farther apart instead of closer to an agreement.

That's the view of federal mediator Kenneth Moffett after the talks turned decidedly gloomy Friday.

"There was no agreement on anything," said Moffett. "It seemed there was a good deal of animosity between the parties on the number one issue, compensation. We're running out of time and I'm concerned. Given the present mood of the parties and the pace of the negotiations, we're liable to find ourselves running out of time."

The players have set a strike deadline of midnight, May 22, vowing to stop playing if a contract is not reached by that time. According to Marvin Miller, executive director of their union, nothing was accomplished Friday other than using up another day's time en route to the deadline.

"I am very pessimistic," said Miller. "We wasted another day. Each additional waste of time ... well, they're just playing games with us."

At a morning session, management representatives rejected a player association suggestion that the troublesome compensation issue be placed on hold for two years, provided agreement can be reached on other sections of the contract. Then, later in the day, the owners' negotiators asked for a second meeting. At that time, they read a statement, offering to maintain, through April 1981, all facets of the basic agreement that expired last Dec. 31.

"They have been trying anything possible to con the players into continuing to work under a 1976 agreement while they collect 1980 prices," he snapped. "That's a great proposal, isn't it?"

There were 10 triple plays made in the American League in 1979, a big-league record.

Olympic Shorts

WASHINGTON (AP)- President Carter told Lord Killanin, International Olympic Committee president, that the United States had not changed its position on boycotting the Summer Games in Moscow.

After the White House meeting, Killanin said, "I asked him if there was any chance of allowing the American athletes to go to the Games, and he said on that he was firm." Carter called in January for the boycott of the Games to protest the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

WASHINGTON (AP)- The Carter administration told the Lake Placid, N.Y., Olympic Organizing Committee that no more federal funds will be used to pay off the debts incurred by the Winter Games.

Kenny, Medrano Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Debra Ann Kenney and Joe Angel Medrano exchanged double ring wedding vows before an arch adorned with greenery accented with baby's breath and and blue bows which were flanked with baskets of white roses and blue carnations tied with blue bows. The May 1, 3 p.m. wedding was held in the Union Community Center. Dan Callaway, justice of peace, officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E.H. Kenny and Mr. and Mrs. Cayetano Medrano.

Escorted and presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of polyester organza, fully lined in acetate taffeta. Her sweetheart neckline was trimmed in lace. The empire bodice featured bishop sleeves with wide lace cuffs. Her three-tiered, lace trimmed skirt fell into a chapel length train. The bride's fingertip veil of nylon netting was trimmed in matching lace.

She carried a cascading bouquet of blue and white carnations and white roses.

In keeping with tradition, the bride wore a tiger's eye pendant necklace for something old; something new was her wedding dress; something borrowed was diamond earrings; and something blue was her garter.

MR. AND MRS. JOE MEDRANO
(Craft Studio Photo)

Debbie Blevins of Odessa, sister-in-law of the bride, and Vickie Chandler were Bridesmaids. They wore dresses fashioned like the matron-of-honor's and carried similar bouquets.

Abel Munoz was best man. He was attired in a baby blue tuxedo with dark blue trim and a light blue ruffled shirt. Groomsmen were Billy Blevins of Odessa and David Kenney, brother of the bride. They were dressed like the best man.

Pre-nuptial music, "Love Story," "I won't Last a Day Without You" and "Come Saturday Morning," were played by pianist Shannon Browning.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the community center. Registering guests was Rita Medrano.

The bride's table held a three tiered cake decorated with sculptured baby blue carnations and topped with wedding bells A miniature bride and groom was featured on the second layer. Serving were Mary and Rene Medrano.

The couple are at home at Pitts Trailer Park.

I lost 52½ pounds!
. . . in just 14 weeks, and went from a size 18 to a trim 9/10.
Marjorie Belshaw tells how Diet Center has changed her life.
"I first decided to try the Diet Center. Program because of extremely high blood pressure and cholesterol levels. I had heard that Diet Center featured rapid weight loss through sound nutrition, but soon discovered that this was only part of the story. Not only did I lose all that excess weight, but I learned how to keep it off for good! My blood pressure and other weight related problems are gone and I feel like a million dollars. My husband was so impressed with my progress that he decided to join me. He lost 30 pounds in the first three weeks and went on to lose a total of 70 pounds. If you have a weight problem, believe me, the Diet Center Program works!"
Marjorie's story is typical of thousands of men and women all across the United States and Canada who have learned to control their weight by taking control of their eating habits. Call your local Diet Center counselor today for a brief, no obligation explanation of this remarkable program.

Weak jump overcalls work

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

Back in 1931 young Oswald Jacoby invented a bid that he used with deadly effect in the Culbertson-Lenz mnatch.

It was the weak jump overcall. His reasoning was that it was silly to advertise defensive strength with something like S- K Q 10 9 6 5 H - x x D- x x C- x x x or even a slightly better hand when your right-hand opponent opened one of a suit in front of you. But it was even more silly to bury your head in the sand like an ostrich and stay out of the bidding.

He would make a jump overcall of two spades. This crowded the bidding, upset the opponents' line of communications and when not vulnerable might lead to a cheap sacrifice against a game or slam.

Of course, you need a little more if vulnerable, but the principle is the same.

Today nearly every expert uses this bid and it works. Not always, but far more often than it fails. Of course, on most occasions it doesn't change the result at all. But when it does, the gains come far more often than the losses.

It also has a corollary since your partner knows when you make a simple overcall that you have some values and may even have a very good hand.

Here are some samples of jump overcalls.

1. S- A Q J 9 8 7 H - x x D- x x C- x x x. Bid two spades vulnerable, or not. This hand cries out for some preemptive action.

2. S- x H- K Q J 10 x x D- x x x C- x x x. Pass over opponent's one spade; jump over one of a minor suit unless vulnerable against non-vulnerable.

3. S- A x H- x x D- x x C- Q J 10 9 x x x. Jump to three clubs if not vulnerable.

Seminole Couple Marry In Double Ring Rites

SEMINOLE—Miss Dianna Dee Underwood became the bride of Mark Daniel Wright at 7 p.m. April 19 in the sanctuary of South Seminole Baptist Church. The Rev. Bob Cameron of Millsap officiated at the double ring rites.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvil Underwood of Seminole, formerly of Snyder. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Wright of Roscoe.

The couple stood before an altar lighted by a pair of seven-branched candelabra holding white wedding tapers. Greenery and baby's breath were entwined in the wrought iron stands and a matching pair of cathedral baskets trimmed with blue ribbon and filled with yellow gladioli flanked the setting. A unity candle in a ring of blue silk daisies and greenery was placed to the right of the altar and pews were marked by blue satin bows.

Don Hicks, pianist, played a selection of wedding music and the traditional wedding march. He and Terri Warlick sang "Evergreen", "The Wedding Song", "The Lord's Prayer" and "We've Only Just Begun."

MRS. MARK DANIEL WRIGHT

The bride was escorted by her father. She wore a formal white wedding gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace. Lace appliques encrusted with pearls overlaid the empire bodice and lace applique traced details on the full A-line skirt that extended from a deep hem ruffle into a chapel length train. The sheer bishop sleeves were marked by lace applique and ended in deep lace cuffs. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow silk roses and blue daisies tied with streamers of antique Venise lace.

LaDonna Underwood was her sister's maid of honor and another sister, Terry Webb of Snyder, was matron of honor. Charla Scott of Canyon was bridesmaid. They wore identical floor length gowns of blue organza that were styled with a cascade of ruffles on the back of the skirts. Double self ruffles outlined the V-necklines and fell over their shoulders to form brief sleeves. They carried single long-stemmed yellow silk roses.

Jimmy Wright of Roscoe was his brother's best man and groomsmen were Randall Bankhead and Ivan Krecji, both of Roscoe. Ushers were Scott Fullwood, Brad Thompson and Raymond Reyes, all of Roscoe.

Lighting the candles was Greg Wright, nephew of the bridegroom and flower girl was his niece, Niki Wright.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception honoring the couple was held in the fellowship hall of the church. They were assisted in receiving by their parents and members of the wedding party.

The bride's table was laid with an heirloom crocheted cloth over yellow. The centerpiece was a nine-branched table candelabrum holding blue tapers and entwined with blue and yellow roses and baby's breath. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with yellow roses and tiny blue forget-me-nots and topped by wedding bells.

The groom's table held the traditional dark cake which was accented by chocolate sculptured roses. It was covered by beige lace-edged linen and centered by a candle ring of beige and brown silk flowers around four brown candles of varied height.

Serving at the bride's table were Cheryl Willis of Canyon and Deanna Cathey. At the groom's table his sister, Maxie Cain, and sister-in-law, Cherry Wright, both of Roscoe presided. Others in the houseparty included Jody Hornbeck of Houston, Geraldine McPherson, Joan Tate and Becky Wall, all of Snyder, Marilyn Sales and Delorious Scott.

Kim McPherson of Snyder attended at the wedding registry in the church entry. Guests were recorded from Snyder, Roscoe, Hobbs, N.M., San Angelo, Houston, Odessa, Kermit, Millsap and Canyon, and Seminole.

The couple are at home in Seminole after their wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M.

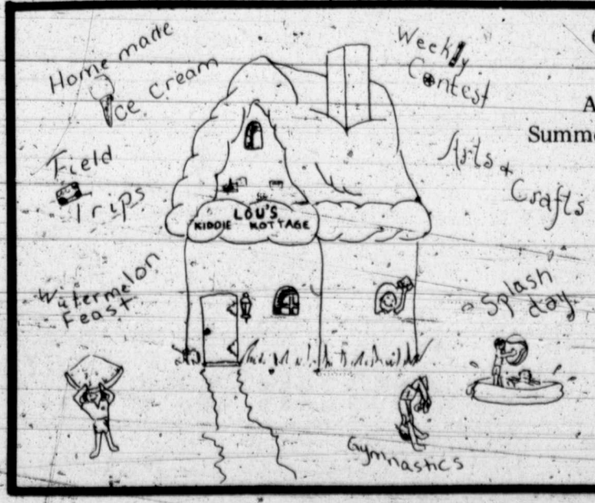

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Seminole High School. The bridegroom, who farms in Gaines and Nolan Counties, is a graduate of Highland High School.

Water-Repellent Sheds Light Rain

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—A water-repellent coat looks like any other cloth garment but is chemically treated with a water-resistant finish, and sheds water in a light to moderate rainfall. But to stand up in a downpour a waterproof garment is needed, advises Charon Hinchey, Extension clothing specialist at Oklahoma State University.

When shopping for a waterproof garment, she suggests looking for tightly sealed seams, a good-size hood, large pockets and strong snaps or clasps. To test, stretch a piece of the fabric across the mouth; if air comes through when you inhale, the garment is not 100 percent waterproof, she says.

TO MARRY-Mr. and Mrs. William H. Smith of Ponca City, Okla., announce the engagement of their daughter, Vonna Gayle, to Benny Joe Stout, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stout of Maryland, Okla. SAVE TIME IN HOMESEWING:

Saving time in homesewing means saving dollars, because personal time is valuable.

Consider your current sewing habits. Then streamline as many as possible. Here are some ideas:

Spend a few minutes organizing -- and save hours.

Know where your sewing supplies are, and keep them in a convenient place to save motions.

If possible, arrange a permanent sewing area to save time getting out and putting away supplies. An ideal area would include space for the sewing machine, pressing equipment and a comfortable-height cutting surface.

Buy frequently used supplies in quantity -- including interfacing and elastic.

Dovetail as many tasks as possible. For example, preshrink fabric in advance with routine laundry.

Buy easy-to-sew fabrics. These are generally firm, non-raveling, don't stretch excessively, are not bulky and don't require matching. Designs smaller than ½-inch (6 mm) do not need matching.

Select an easy-to-sew pattern, too. They're labeled as easy-to-sew -- and they suggest appropriate fabrics, have only a few pattern pieces and recommend easy-to-understand, simple techniques.

Examples of simple techniques are using fusibles, minimizing handwork, doing machine-made buttonholes or using centered zippers.

In addition, read the guidesheet before you sew to save time.

Finally, remember that most homesewers find after they've made a garment once, future garments by the same pattern are faster and easier to sew.

TO WED-Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Sandefur Jr. of Hermleigh announce the engagement of their daughter, Denise Lucile of Arlington, to Clark Earl Compton, also of Arlington. He is the son of Mrs. Margaret Brown of Cincinnati, Ohio, and T.J. Compton of Edmond, Okla. A June 21 wedding has been planned at the United Methodist Church of Hermleigh.

Senior Citizens Choir To Perform

American Association of Retired Persons Chapter 2063 will meet Monday at 2 p.m. in the Senior Center.

The Senior Citizens Sunshine Choir will present the program. All members are urged to attend.

1 Pet In Every Other Household

NEW YORK (AP)—Approximately 55 percent of the nation's households support at least one pet, with many having more than one, the Pet Information Bureau estimates.

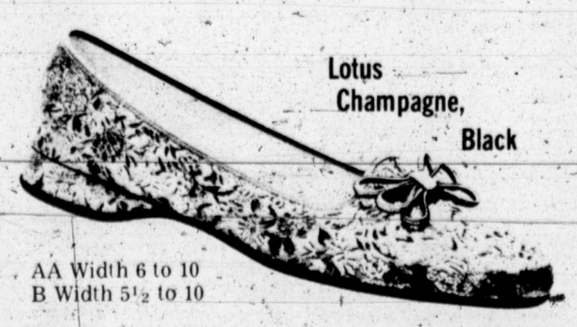

Dogs and cats continue as the nation's favorite pets, with sales of dog and cat products having increased almost 200 percent in the past 10 years.

Birds, fish and small animals such as hamsters and gerbils have greatly increased in popularity during recent years, the bureau notes in large part because of smaller living quarters.

Coal-mine fires can last for decades and cost millions of dollars to control. More than 250 known fires are burning in abandoned deep mines and on refuse banks throughout the United States -- most of them in the mining states of Montana, Colorado and Pennsylvania.

life's ups and downs

The fact that life's events do not march along like soldiers on parade, but come in waves or cycles, must strike everybody who gives thought to the subject. Growth and development generally are accompanied by thrusts and pauses.

The process goes forward for a time. Then comes a slowing down, and what seems an actual reverse of movement. Life has rhythm.

Recognition of this phenomenon should help prevent the discouragement and melancholy which at times overcomes those who see an interruption in their progress.

Every good cause, every institution - yes, every individual - is subject to this law of cyclical or rhythmic development. We speak of things growing "by leaps and bounds," but between these sudden spurts there are static periods.

So in the world of nature. Plants have their seasons of growth, and rest from growth. These moments of pause are not wasted, nor are they signs of weakness or death. They are preludes to increased power and activity.

People who never made allowance for this law of nature and of human nature are inclined to let the slightest check to their progress bring with it a sapping of courage.

This is not warranted. The athlete warms up that he may be ready for the contest. The engine idles that it may be prepared to deliver power. The fields lie fallow that they may be ready for the sower. And man sleeps that he may wake refreshed.

Frequently a setback is but preparation for enlarged capacity, greater progress. It becomes necessary at times to let go our hold to take a firmer grip.

good demonstration

What's in a demonstration?

Usually these days a headache for authorities, inconvenience for the public and sometimes violence. Not, however, in the case of a demonstration that involved much of the population of Amsterdam the other day.

The Dutch were turned on by the presence of 350 Canadian visitors.

The latter were anything but troublemakers. They were veterans of units that had liberated the city in 1945, returning for the 35th anniversary of the event.

It wasn't supposed to be a big public deal, the anniversary itself being overshadowed by the coronation the week before of Queen Beatrix (an event that provoked demonstrations leading to riots).

But much of Amsterdam did what came naturally and took to the streets to welcome the Canadians, deluging them with tulips as they had a generation and a half earlier.

It was a spontaneous recollection of a historic shared triumph and a reaffirmation of the sense of solidarity among free peoples that dates from it.

There ought to be more of that going around.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Ribbet, ribbet."

A couple of years ago, Snyder was in dire need of a good rain. We were visiting with Truett Bryan at Snyder Motor Co. about the county's need for moisture and that resulted in a friendly wager.

We told him that advertising pays, so he agreed to run a full page ad asking for a three-inch rain. We'd guarantee results, so if it didn't rain Snyder Motor Co. wouldn't have to pay for the ad.

It did rain, and Truett cheerfully paid for the price of the ad.

Just last Tuesday, we again were talking to Truett about the drought. We again suggested advertising as a solution, and we had tentatively agreed to run the ad today (Sunday).

As you might expect, Thursday morning, as water was rising near our front door, Truett called to cancel the ad. "Just look what talking about advertising does," we pointed out.

There were many good things about the much-needed moisture. It's like money in the bank in view of cotton planting season. It also will help fill some thirsty lakes in the area.

Civil defense and law enforcement officials did a super job during the storm, and the radio station deserves commendations for helping keep folks abreast of the problems caused by the rising waters.

Although it looked doubtful at times, we were able to get a newspaper out. Water crept in our back door but never reached the press room. In 1972, the newspaper had about four feet of water inside, resulting in severe damage to several costly pieces of equipment.

We were lucky this time, and our great staff got a paper out in addition to placing important things up high to avoid expected water.

Again, the radio station helped us out by letting our readers know we would be slightly late. Our carriers did a great job, although there were some isolated areas that couldn't be reached.

Also, commendations to photographers John Dunnam and Bill McClellan for some graphic photos under some trying circumstances.

There's a lot to be said for losing your temper — it's finding it again that causes all the trouble.

Something good happened at the Academy Awards ceremony last month that should not go unnoted.

Justin Henry, the eight-year-old who was nominated for his performance as the custodee in "Kramer vs. Kramer," didn't get the award for the best supporting actor.

I was holding my breath until the results were announced. Can you imagine what the entertainment industry would do to an adorable little boy who peaked at age eight?

First, a book publisher, knowing the value of stars who write books, would publish Justin's memoirs. He would go on book tour ... making hot chocolate with Dinah, singing with Mike, telling his favorite riddle to Merv, and revealing to Donahue how he really felt about legalizing junk food.

A movie would ensue in which he would be played by Gary Coleman.

Rumors would fly. He would be linked romantically with every child starlet in Hollywood and the National Enquirer would run a picture of him dancing until 10 o'clock at night with an older woman ... Kristy McNichol.

His agent would talk him into doing a "centerfold," assuring him it would be "fun." Out of that would come a poster, followed by a T-shirt.

He would drop out of grade school, rationalizing, "I can make a statement through my films."

For awhile, he would be "hot." He'd be the first on the Carson show and would leave immediately pleading, "My mother won't let me out after dark." (Even when he guest-hosted, the show would run only 30 minutes.)

He would be tapped for the center square on Hollywood Squares and mentioned as a possible younger replacement for Ron Ely on the Miss America pageant.

He would become irritable with the pressure and fire his agent for passing him a piece of sugarless gum in front of his friends.

He's want to run away from home, but would be thwarted when he realized he wasn't old enough to drive a car or cross the street alone. His reputation as "difficult to handle" would spread and he'd get the news from Rona one morning. "Justin Suffers Cuteness Burnout."

Justin Henry was spared the nightmare. For the moment. I'll remember him in that big seat, bathed in innocence, and never really knowing how wonderfully talented he really is. Maybe it's best that way.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The view has dawned on many in this conspiracy-minded town that the aborted mission to rescue the 53 Americans held hostage in Tehran was only part of a much larger operation designed to "stabilize" Iran.

Many politicians, military experts and intelligence specialists refuse to believe that 90 commandos in full uniform, flying helicopters clearly identified with U.S. markings, were supposed to land smack in the middle of one of the world's most densely populated cities, fight their way through 120 or so heavily armed fanatics and a maze of booby traps, and lift the hostages with few, if any, casualties.

None of these conspiracy theorists -- including Miles Copeland, the former CIA political-action chief who helped draft an "unofficial" rescue plan for the government -- is even remotely satisfied with the official explanation of the mission's purpose. All say there must have been a lot more to it.

Military planners, for example, insist that the ratio of attackers to defenders should normally be at least 4 to 1. That means that at least 480 troops would be required to storm an embassy defended by 120 terrorists.

That only 90 U.S. soldiers were to be used, say my sources, merely proves there was more to the mission than we are being told. Copeland suggests the existence of undisclosed factors that would have allowed such a small force to accomplish its goals -- such as the presence among the embassy terrorists of "moles" who, upon a given signal, were to switch sides and join the attack.

Surprise is crucial to operations in decidedly hostile territory, say the military and intelligence people. That would require the attackers to at least appear to be Iranians so as to blend into the environment until the last minute.

Moreover, Copeland insists that such operations "require actual control over many elements of the environment -- for example, water, food, electricity, fuel, communications (telephone and radio), even air going into the embassy compound."

Copeland adds that "there would have to be a certain amount of control over facilities of the city and even of the country at large -- such as, for example, those means by which the police and security forces would receive and act on any alarm signals the attackers might set off."

Even under less-than-ideal conditions, he says, auxiliaries of the attackers would have to be able not only to jam the government's unit-to-unit communications but actually to feed "disinformation" into them, thus sending people chasing off in a lot of wrong directions.

There seems to be universal agreement here that much indigenous participation is required for such operations. So much, in fact, that the operatives have to be indigenous. That means Iranians -- not Americans -- actually doing the attacking. And it means undercover operatives among the terrorists holding the embassy.

But where would these Iranians come from?

"By simple inference," says Copeland, "we can almost know certain things positively. We know, for example, that some leaders of the Iranian government have aims which they believe to be constructive and which are not inconsistent with our own once the hostage problem has been resolved to our satisfaction. We also know that some of them, at least indirectly, have been in touch with our government, secretly or not so secretly.

"We also know there are one or more 'moles' among the non-Iranian elements of the students. And we know that many of the students, including the bona fide Iranians, have motivations which make them eminently susceptible to the kinds of inducements which could be offered them. (Inducements, as used here, is a euphemism for bribery.)

"We know there are tribes, elements in the Iranian army and air force, and in the civilian 'middle Iran' that are prepared to act provided they see sufficient no-strings-attached support from the outside. To act in a purely Iranian operation in which we support them, not the other way around."

That the whole truth of the Iranian mission has not been told seems obvious. That the whole truth may never be told is possible. That we may not want to reveal the whole truth is certain. For what the experts here are talking about sounds very much like a coup and that's how the United States got into the whole mess in the first place.
