Texas Diphtheria Cases Reported

Four cases of Diphtheria all in one family from San Juan in the lower Rio Grande Valley have been confirmed by the State Department of Health in Austin.

Dr. M.S. Dickerson, State Epidemiologist reports that the cases are three female ages 5, 7 and 9 and one male age 2. Death has occurred in the 2 year old boy. The three surviving patients are presently hospitalized in McAllen.

This brings a total of 5 cases so far reported by the State Health Department in 1974. One case was reported in Bexar County during the second week in February. This compares with two cases reported during the same week in 1973.

Fuel Hints Told Farmers

"The essential thing a farmer must do to help assure himself adequate fuel for agricultural production is tell his distributor how much he needs. Unless a local distributor or dealer knows what his farm customer requires," said Robert F. Spreen, State Executive Director of the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, "that distributor can not take the necessary steps to get enough needed fuel for them."

Informing the distributor becomes even more important if a farmer intends to increase his acreage considerably, or if he wants to expand dairy, poultry, or other farm operations. Local dealers will need this information to request additional fuel from their suppliers.

Spreen said, "Agricultural producers who are all to receive priority allocations, will be required to certify to an ongoing fuel conservation program on their operations. USDA, in cooperation with the Federal Energy Office and the Environmental Protection Agency, has developed a conservation leaflet. This leaflet, scheduled to be available in early March, includes an energy management certification that there is an ongoing conservation program and that priority fuel will be used for 'agricultural production'."

HARVEY FLOYD ANNOUNCES CANDIDACY AS STATE REPRESENTATIVE

As Democratic candidate for State Representative of the 74th District seeking your support, you are probably asking yourself, "Who is Harvey Floyd and how can he serve me?"

I am a businessman, a family man, and a 14-year resident of your district who is faced with the same type of situations you face and who understands your needs and concerns.

As you hear my proposal, I ask that you think of it as a joint proposal — yours and mine — and to think of this election in a personal way which will allow us to better conditions.

Primary among our problems is inflation, which affects us all. There is an existing need in Texas for additional revenue to meet the demands of inflated prices. I believe our proposal can sufficiently increase state revenue and at the same time avoid a state income tax and increased state property taxes on property, etc.

Crude oil produced in the United States is priced at approximately $4.50 a barrel. Texas taxes crude oil on a basis of about $3.71 per barrel. State tax on oil is 4.6 per cent at the well plus a 3-16c per barrel pipeline tax giving a total of under 20c per barrel state revenue from oil.

Texas collected approximately $210 million from this source in the fiscal year ended August 31. Revision of the state's taxation program of crude oil would greatly increase this revenue source.

An even more urgent need is revision of the state program taxing natural gas. Texas collected $125 million in taxes in the latest fiscal year on $1.8 billion paid for natural gas produced in Texas. Much of this gas goes to other states where it serves as cheap fuel.

Natural gas in Texas is taxed at 7.4 per cent of its wellhead value. Many contracts were made, and are still in force, which sell gas at price ceilings imposed by the Federal Power Commission with a base tax on Texas-produced gas at 16c per thousand cubic feet. Current market value is 75c per thousand or more. A consumer buying gas at 16c per thousand pays state tax of 1.2c while the buyer of 75c gas pays 5.6c tax.

This present percentage system of taxation is unfair to the buyer paying high prices and favors those who pay the least for gas at the well. With action from the state and cooperation from the Federal Power Commission in changing from a percentage tax to a flat-rate of taxing natural gas, the taxing system would be equalized and would create an untapped source of state revenue.

The above proposal is but one I have to suggest. If elected, I pledge to serve you on the district level as your needs from the local level are communicated to me from you. By working together, I believe I can represent you well. I solicit your support and influence in the upcoming election.

Irene Keating Writes

Spring will be here soon. I've been so thrilled to see the crocus up and blooming and the other early spring bulbs are coming up. This is always my time of year when the new growth starts.

With constantly rising cost of living more and more women are seeking ways to earn money. The days of one bread winner in the family are disappearing. Many women who aren't working would be if there were jobs available. Beware of being caught in the earn at home plan. This isn't always a legitimate job. Here are some guidelines to follow in this type of job offer.

Before investing money in an earn-at-home job plan, check it out thoroughly. Some companies are just trying to sell something- not actually hire someone to do work. For example, some sell useless instructions, money-making kits or pamphlets on "home work ideas." A legitimate firm, on the other hand, usually won't ask for fees or payment for these.

Be suspicious of ads offering huge profits - and those selling materials, kits, instructions or equipment at high prices. Also, shy away from testimonials and ads claiming that no experience is necessary. When considering an offer, read the fine print. Learn whether or not a worker will receive regular payment for work and determine the salary. In addition, ask the firm to supply names of other persons who worked for them or bought what they're selling. Then contact these persons about their experience.

If possible, check the firm's reliability through the Better Business Bureau. On discovering a fraud report facts to the local postmaster or Better Business Bureau.

Here's good news to mothers with children who prefer "faded" clothing. Watch for corduroy jeans to give denim some relief in the youth clothes market. Until recently, denim was the only fabric providing a worn-out look after a few washings. Now, specially-processed corduroy also achieves that look. This new process causes a worn look at seams and points of wear, rather than fading uniformly. Although the major change takes place after the first washing, color stabilizes after the fifth washing.

Available for Spring '74 retailing, manufacturers may sell jeans pre-washed or with hang tags explaining changes that will result from washing.
