

It's Another $50 Million Year!

Not that it's getting to be old hat, but Lamb County farmers have just chalked up another $50 million year in their production of cotton and grain.

Gross value of the 1962 cotton crop in Lamb County has been estimated at $34.5 million and the county's feed grain crops put another $16 million in the till.

Almost one-fourth of the huge total came from the territory which the Olton community calls its own.

The final figures aren't in—but last year's cotton crop in Lamb County is already past the 228,000-bale mark and figures to hit close to 230,000 bales of 500-pound size when all's said and done.

That will top the previous county record of 1961 by about 5,000 bales. Farmers produced 223,990 bales of cotton in 1961, along with a big grain crop, pushing 1961's gross values past the $50,000,000 mark.

The method for figuring gross value on cotton is simple: Multiply each bale time $150 and that will pretty well catch it. The total comes to a dazzling estimate of better than $34 million.

Of the county production, seven gins in the immediate Olton area turned out a total of 50,373 bales. That figure includes Olton Co-Op, Farmers Gin, Smith Gin, Straw Gin, Thompson Gin, Circle Gin and Hart Camp Co-Op.

The same seven gins baled a whopping total of 52,500 last year, the record year for this immediate area.

Although most other areas of the county showed gains in 1962, the Olton area was held back by damaging hail at some top-producing spots. Most of the rest of the county came through in fine shape—weatherwise.

It was likely that the 1961 record for Olton would have gone by the boards had nature not taken its toll in this area.

Figures for the 1962 Lamb County cotton and grain crops were supplied by County Agent Bill Kimbrough and ASC office manager L.D. Aten at Littlefield.

"The grades on cotton were fully as good as last year," Aten said. "Over the county as a whole, we had a lot less acreage hailed out this past year than the previous year."

This year's crop of cotton was actually harvested from about 198,000 acres, making the yield, county-wide, come to almost 1.2 bales per acre.

The yield in the Olton area, which has about 40,000 acres in cotton, was slightly better than the county average. It figured about 1 1/4 bales per acre, on 50,000 bales.

While the $50 million figure on cotton and grain in 1962 may not reflect an exact picture of the farmers' net income, it nevertheless shows that the actual "cash income" for county farmers remained at the same record level of 1961.

In a county which depends almost entirely on agriculture for its livelihood, this means prosperity not only for farmers, but for downtown merchants, wage earners and the entire populace.

Cotton acreage will be down in 1963, County Agent Kimbrough pointed out. The allotment for this year is 184,894 acres, not counting transfer acres. County farmers should pick up some additional acreage released from other areas, he noted.

"Even with allotments down," Kimbrough said, "our cotton production probably will remain at a high level, because our farmers are improving their production each year through better operations."

Kimbrough supplied this background for the previous 10 years on allotments and production:

Lamb County Cotton Production
YEAR	ACREAGE	PRODUCTION
1952	336,000	192,000
1953	360,083	178,000
1954	214,457	184,000
1955	203,165	131,500

1958	200,326	186,300
1959	197,000	182,400
1960	203,561	185,000

Children Pulled From Fiery House

A tragedy was averted narrowly here Tuesday when a farm worker's home went up in flames with eight small children inside the house.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Barnett and all contents of the frame structure were said to be a total loss after the fire Tuesday morning about 10 a.m.

Barnett is employed by Mrs. Bill Bearden. The three-room house occupied by the Barnett family was just to the rear of the Bearden home, two miles west of Olton on the north side of the Highway.

Barnett and his wife were not at home at the time of the fire. All eight children were inside the house, supposedly in bed.

Mrs. Bearden said one of the children came to her house and told her that their home was on fire.

She said she rushed out into the yard and saw that smoke was pouring out of the windows and the house "had started to fall down."

Another of the children was attempting to get her six brothers and sisters out of the house.

Mrs. Bearden ran into the burning house and picked up 8-month old twins, carried them outside, laid them on the ground and ran back inside to get others.

She said the children did not want to leave the house. She added that she thought this might have been because the parents had told them to remain in their beds while they were gone.

"I saw one little boy, about two and a half years old with his hair burning," Mrs. Bearden said. "I put dirt on his head and put the fire out. His hands were also burned."

Another child, a little girl about five years old, was slightly burned.

The fire was thought to have originated from a heater in the home.

Scott To Speak At C-C Banquet

"I'm an Oklahoma Territorian—transplanted to Texas early," explains D. E. Scott, Wellington, who is scheduled to speak here next Thursday at the sixth annual Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture banquet.

Scott is perhaps best known for his Crossroads Report column which appears in 12 newspapers. In this area, it is carried in newspapers in Amarillo, Plainview, Abilene and Midland. The columnist has had about 20 years in the newspaper business and about the same length of time in the farm machinery business.

He has served as Chamber of Commerce president for two terms in Wellington, spent 17 years on school boards, is a Mason, a veteran of World War II and is active in Boy Scout work.

Scott is now engaged in the operation of an advertising service for the promotion of home-town trade. More than 950 towns and communities have used this service.

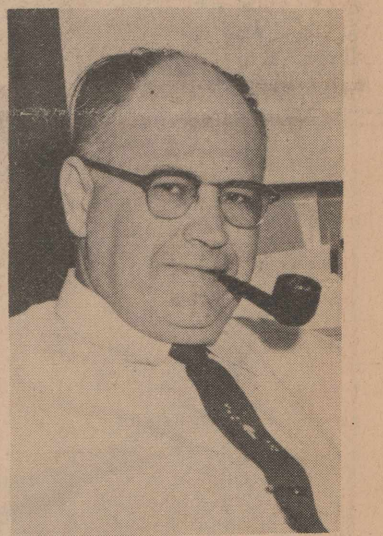

The banquet is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. Tickets, selling for $2 each, are now on sale. They may be purchased from any CC-A member.

Melvin McReynolds, manager of the CC-A, urged this week that members contact him concerning tickets which they have.

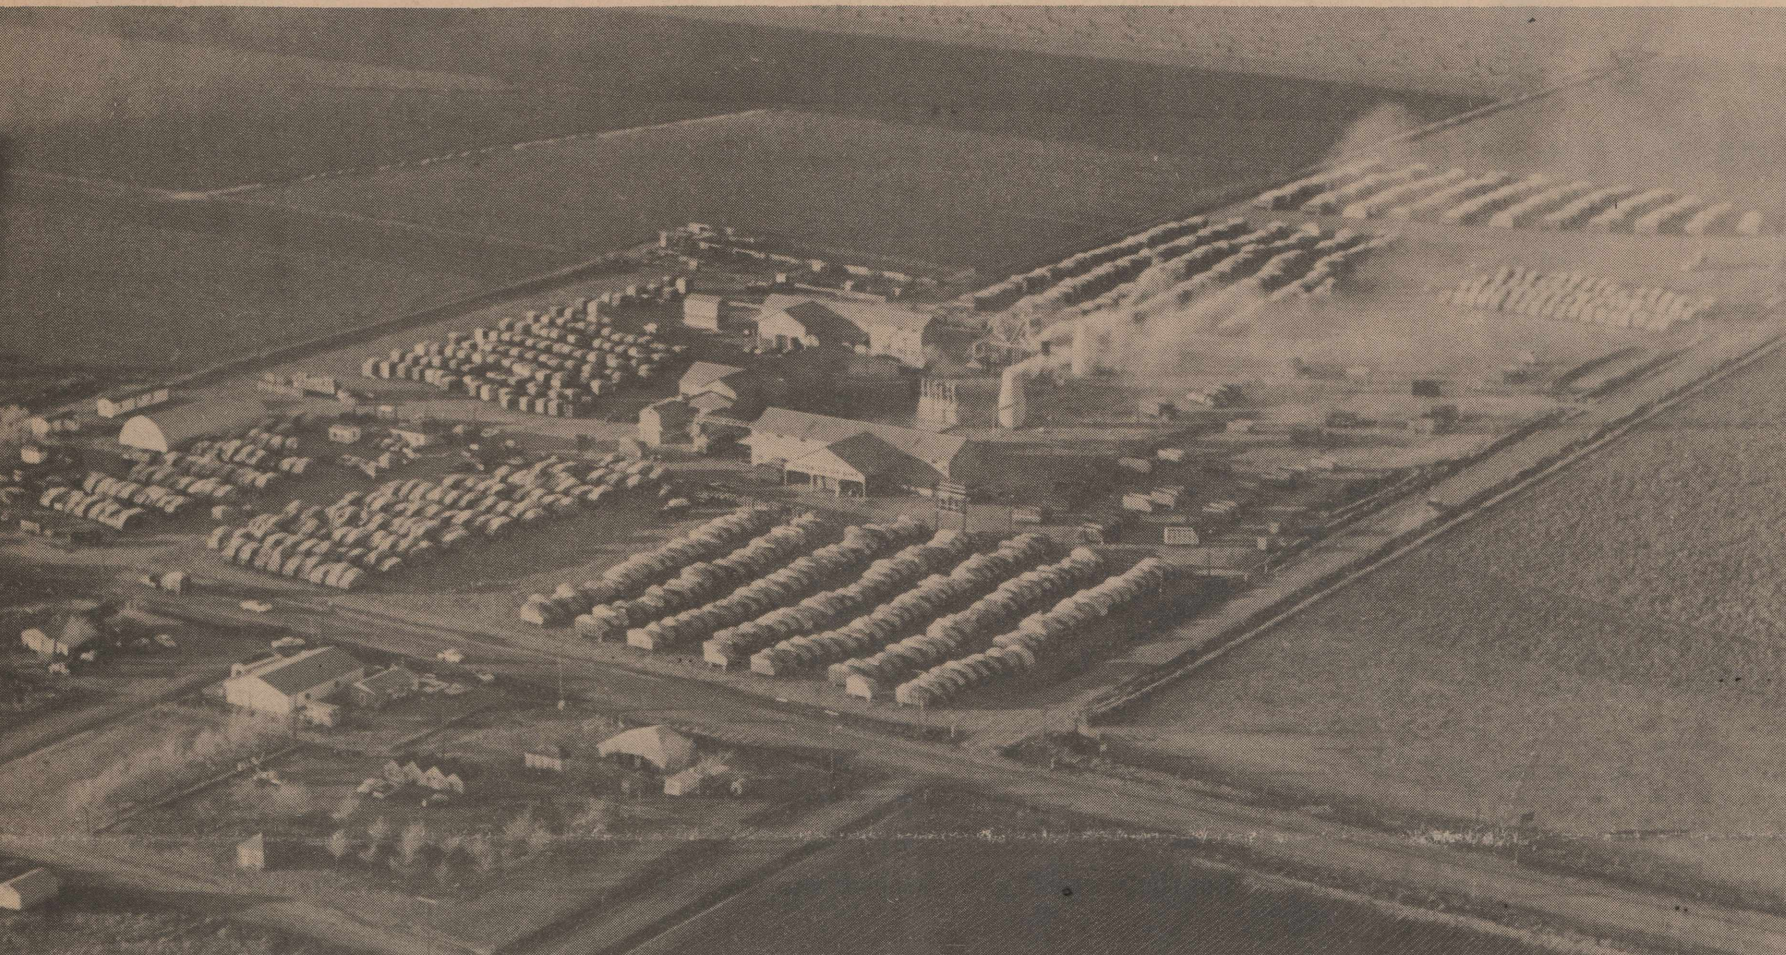

McReynolds said he wanted either the tickets or the money by this Friday in order to offer any extra tickets for sale.

George Caddell will serve as master of ceremonies at the banquet. He will introduce Scott. One highlight of the banquet will be the announcement of the citizen of the year. The award will be presented by Dan Gregory.

George Redinger, president of the CC-A, will introduce officers and directors.

THE OLTON AREA'S booming cotton harvest of 1962 was typified by this aerial photo of one of seven gins in the area. Here, thousands of bales of cotton awaited ginning during the mid-December rush. Olton area farmers produced more than 50,000 bales for the second year in a row, a fourth of the county crop.

Draw Project Is Looking Up

"I think that the court will be favorable."

County Commissioner A. J. Spain commented this week on the Running Water Draw Watershed project.

The project, which would place a series of 10 to 12 flood prevention dams along the watershed, was endorsed this week by the City of Olton.

It is expected that the project will be brought before the commissioners court in the near future. The court will be asked to co-sponsor the operation. Work is now underway to secure easements from farmers.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said recently that the U.S. Department of Agriculture was "ready to go ahead" with public recreational developments in watershed projects as authorized by the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962.

USDA was authorized to help create, enlarge, or improve bodies of water within watershed projects to provide for a full range of water-based sports and to assist in developing re-

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE OLTON ENTERPRISE

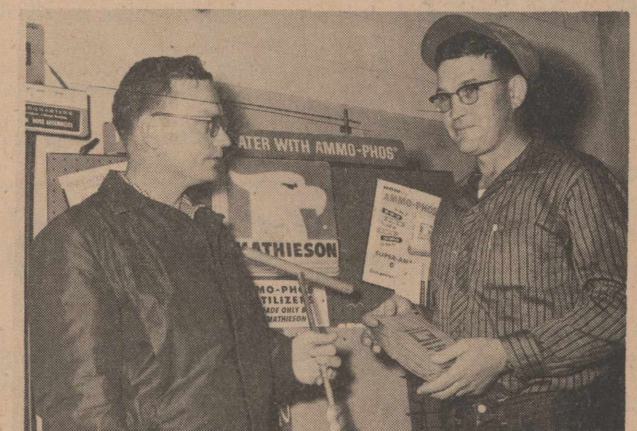

Your crops are "bottle feeders"

If they weren't, there would be no need to chemically compound the plant foods in Mathieson AMMO-PHOS fertilizers to make them so highly water soluble...so easily digested by "non-chewing" plants.

Yes, mechanical mixing is easier, but chemical compounding gives you the best complete fertilizer, because water-solubility does MAKE THE DIFFERENCE.... in higher yields....in reduced production costs....in more profitable farming.

Your best bet to make your farm pay off in handsome yields is to soil test, then use the desired analysis of WATER-SOLUBLE AMMO-PHOS for FULL GROW POWER.

So why use inefficient fertilizers with lower percentages of usable, water soluble nutrients when you can use efficient AMMO-PHOS..... more efficient because all of its elements are usable and readily available to sprouting or growing plants.

MATHIESON representative Jack Hickman and Olton Farmer Bill Walden talk over the advantages of soil testing before applying AMMO-PHOS.

Care Urged In Back-Combing Hair Styles

The young ladies nowadays—and sometimes their mothers, too—are showing up at the office, at school or at a party with a variety of elaborate new hair styles that the men often find somewhat baffling.

Most of the new puffed up hairdos depend on roughing, back-combing or teasing the hair to give added body to the newest style. Some other names for these techniques are rattling and lacing.

Today's Health, the magazine of the American Medical Association, reports that roughing or back-combing does not damage the hair if it is done properly and if the hair is in good condition; that is, if it is naturally lustrous and the fibers are strong and springy.

However, these operations should be carried out gently and not too frequently. This will avoid roughening of the hair fiber's surface and undue tangling, especially on dry, brittle or easy-to-break hair.

These operations tend to tangle the hair quite badly. Tangled hair is difficult to comb, and somewhat greater than normal fiber breakage may occur unless care is exercised.

And when milady tires of the puffed up hair-do and decides to return to normal, begin combing at the ends and then gradually progress toward the scalp to remove the tangles by gentle combing. Actually, brushing is more effective than combing for removing the tangles and is easier on the hair.

If your teen-age daughter turns up one day with what the parents believe is an absurd hair-do, or a dye-job in unnatural colors, don't worry about it. The new hair that grows out from the roots will still be daughter's own normal hair and the new style will go away with time.

STATE CAPITAL

Highlights
AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.--Serving as Governor of Texas should be a snap for John Connally.

Any man who can wage a rigorous, 12 months campaign for Governor, such as he has done, reorganize the state government, plan and participate in all the ceremonies he has been through since his election and inauguration, and assume all the allied responsibilities related thereto--should find the task of being governor a cinch.

It seemed like half of Texas was in Austin to see the first mass turnover in state government since Jimmy Allred took over from "Ma" Ferguson in 1935.

Man of the hour was, of course, John Connally! Bus loads of people, both from his old hometown of Floresville and his latest hometown of Fort Worth, came to Austin for the festivities that surrounded his inauguration as governor.

Most of them were here by inauguration eve when nearly 5,000 people packed Austin's Municipal Auditorium for the Democrat's "Victory Dinner," rated as the biggest seated dinner in the state's history. It was sponsored by the State Democratic Executive Committee. At $25 a plate, it netted the party $100,000 and put it on its feet, well-helled.

Inauguration Day led off with an Interdenominational prayer breakfast and the dignity of the day carried over to the high-noon swearing-in ceremony in front of the State Capitol.

Some 5,000 people clustered on the capitol lawn as Governor Connally and Lieutenant Governor Preston Smith solemnly took their oaths of office from Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert of the State Supreme Court.

Both Connally and Smith expressed a sincerity of purpose and a real desire to work with the 58th Legislature in pushing progress for the state....while holding down spending.

Throughout Inaugural Day, Texas' two top men kept popping up in unexpected places--arriving early for ceremonies and dropping in at events related to the inauguration. They shook every extended hand and signed as many autographs as time allowed.

At seven in the evening they took their places, alongside their wives, in a Capitol rotunda receiving line and shook thousands more hands with unrelenting enthusiasm.

When Governor Connally presented his plan for progress to a joint meeting of Senate and House members, on the following day, he was met with applause that many legislators felt never had been equaled.

Majority of the legislators said that they felt they could support him "most of the way." All praised his "tremendous grasp of state government," and said if there were differences between the governor and the legislature, such differences

Wade Mills Chosen Among Top Texas SCD Supervisors

Wade Mills, a 47-year-old Castro County farmer who "never lost sight of the fact that the soil upon which we live is our most valuable resource," has been named one of the five most outstanding soil conservation district supervisors in Texas.

Mills, who farms five miles north of Hart, was given a large silver tray in recognition of his conservation work last Friday in Lubbock at the annual meeting of the Association of SCD's in Texas.

The award was made by Texas Bank and Trust Co. of Dallas. Mills' name was entered in the competition by First State Bank of Dimmitt. Edd McLeroy served as chairman of the selection committee.

Selected as the outstanding supervisor of Running Water Soil Conservation District in November, Mills became one of 182 candidates for the top honors in Texas. There are 910 local SCD supervisors in the 182 SCD's in the state.

The award recognized Mills' work in three ways: as an SCD supervisor in promotion of soil and water conservation; for work in the field of agriculture and community affairs; and for the soil and water conservation program on his own farm.

A native of Castro County, Mills grew up on his parent's farm just two miles east of where he now lives. He was married in 1937 and he and his wife have two daughters, both of whom are married and away from home.

A co-operator with the Running Water SCD since 1946, Mills has served 6 1/2 years on the SCD board, two of them as chairman. His attendance mark for meetings is above 98 per cent.

In addition to his interest in the SCD's projects, Mills carries out a complete conservation program of his own.

On his farm, he has about 450 acres of cropland, 150 acres of irrigated pasture, 500 acres of native grassland on the land he owns, and 160 acres of cropland that he rents. He has completed a basic conservation plan on all of this acreage.

His farmland is planted to a rotation of wheat, grain sorghum and to help maintain the fertility of his soil.

Another phase of his farming is the management of residues. He has been outspoken through the years against the burning of residues from crops.

As Mills puts it: "you can't be taking out all the time." He manages his crop residues with sweeps, shredders and discs, making sure no soil leaves his farm either by wind or water erosion, and no water from rain, from snow, or irrigation.

One of the standing parts of his water conservation program is the use of water from a Playa Lake on his home farm.

Utilizing a lake pump, portable pipe and a little extra work, Mills was able to put a six-inch application of water on 400 acres during the summer of 1960.

This system was also used to irrigate 20 acres utilizing the tailwater from a 35-acre field on his neighbor's farm.

"I think it kind of burned him up to see me use this tailwater after it ran into the lake. Anyhow, he cut down on the tailwater to the point I had to turn on a well," Mills grinned.

His cattle and hogs also play a part in his operation.

WADE MILLS

Aside from his work in conservation, he is a director of the Castro County Farm Bureau, Grain Sorghum Producers Association, Irrigation Gas User Association and is chairman of the Castro County 4-Point Soil Fertility Program. He has been instrumental in the work done to initiate a watershed project on Running Water Draw.

Sugar Beet Plant Scheduled Six Weeks To Start Construction Now Honor Roll Announced

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Holly Sugar Corporation announced today it will immediately begin construction of an $18 million beet sugar processing plant at Hereford to be completed Sept. 1, 1964.

The new factory to be named the "Merrill E. Shoup" plant, is to be erected on a 1,700-acre site located two miles west of Hereford on property, purchase rights to which Holly acquired several months ago. The announcement of the name of the new plant came from Dennis O'Rourke, president of Holly Sugar Corporation.

The new plant is designed to process 4,000 tons of sugar beets per day, initially; but capacity can readily be increased to 6,000 tons when warranted.

The H. K. Ferguson Company, a subsidiary of Morrison-Knudsen Construction Co., and specialist in this type of industrial building, has been retained by Holly as general contractor on the Merrill E. Shoup mill.

"Design and engineering work, preliminary to actual construction, has been in progress for several months and is now far enough advanced for us to begin building at once," it was stated by Merrill E. Shoup, chairman of the board, and president O'Rourke.

Holly engineers, who will supervise construction and installation of specialized machinery and equipment, estimated that from 400 to 500 construction workers will be employed at the Texas site at the peak of the job.

"The new Hereford factory will be the first plant of its kind in the great Southwest," the Company officials stated, "and we are confident that this is the beginning of a new era in agriculture and industry in that region."

The sugar company spokesmen said that initial production at the new plant is expected to be in the range of 120,000,000 pounds of sugar annually.

"It is our intention, however, that production will be increased to a level in excess of 200,000,000 pounds within a relatively few years," Messrs. Shoup and O'Rourke added.

As the only such facility in the Southwest, the Holly plant will be an important source of sugar serving consumers in Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma. Sugar will be available in an assortment of types and consumer-size packages and in bulk and liquid forms for industrial users.

The Holly officers explained that, while the application filed with the Department of Agriculture asked for the acreage equivalent of 65,000 tons of sugar, the Department committed the acreage equivalent of 50,000 tons, plus approximately 3,600 tons acreage equivalent current production by growers who ship their beets out of the state for processing.

"Since the Department stated in its Decision on our application that it was committing 50,000 tons equivalent 'at this time,' and since it is clear that the Secretary of Agriculture has the power under the law to commit the full 65,000 tons equivalent, we believe there is excellent reason to expect that the present commitment will be enlarged," Messrs. Shoup and O'Rourke said. "Holly Sugar, and the farmers in the West Texas-eastern New Mexico area to be served, fully intend to press a still pending application for this increase in the commitment."

At the moment, Holly spokesmen said, the acreage guarantee is largely academic since there are no controls on sugar beet plantings.

"There is little reason to expect controls for several years in the future," Messrs. Shoup and O'Rourke pointed out.

"World sugar production currently is less than world demand, and while supplies in the United States are adequate, demand is expanding rapidly and sugar inventories are low. There are to be no acreage controls in sugar beets in 1963, and it is thought that this will be the case for some time in the future."

In addition to the sugar-making facilities, Holly will establish a feed lot adjacent to the plant capable of handling 10,000 head of cattle per year.

"The by-products of the plant dried beet pulp and molasses—are excellent livestock feeds," company spokesmen said.

EQUAL RIGHTS--The perennial battle for women's equal rights will hit the limelight in the Texas Senate early in the 58th Legislative session.

Senate constitutional amendments committee set public hearing for 7 p.m., January 30, on a proposal to give women equal legal rights. Proposed constitutional amendment was submitted by Sens. W. T. Moore of Bryan and Bill Patman of Ganado.

VOTE AGE TARGET--Rep. V.E. "Red" Berry of San Antonio wants the minimum voting age in Texas lowered to 18 years. Berry has filed a bill which would propose a constitutional amendment allowing the Legislature to make the change.

Present law requires voters to be 21 years of age.

COST CUTTING BILL--A bill to create a commission to study ways to cut costs of Texas government is on file in the House of Representatives.

Rep. R. H. Cory of Victoria said his bill would create a "little Hoover" commission composed of 12 members. Three members would come from the House, three from the Senate, and six would be appointed by Governor Connally, who also has recommended formation of the commission.

PGG Predicts Increase In Plains Bonus Acres

LUBBOCK—As a result of a complete overhauling of zones by the Texas Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service State Committee, the High Plains has a good possibility of receiving a sizable increase in bonus acres in 1963 through release and re-apportionment on the basis of past records. Area cotton authorities have estimated that the "bonus" could be 100,000 or more acres for distribution within the 23 counties served by the PGG. This would help offset the 244,983 acres lost this year in the base allotments as they now stand.

A law which went into effect in 1960 permits farmers to release unplanted cotton acres to their country ASC committees and retain "history" for future allotments on their own farms. The county committee then re-distributes the released acres to farmers who have made application and who farm within the county in which the acres were released. If enough requests for additional acres have not been filled in the county office to absorb all the acres released within the county, the excess acres go to the state committee to be re-distributed in other counties within the zone in which the acreage was freed.

Since the state received its allotment based on the history of the individual farms within the state, when farmers follow this practice of releasing unplanted acres he retains history for the state as well as his own farm. Conversely, if farmers simply do not plant their full allotments and refuse to release the un-planted acres, both the individuals and the state lose history for allotments in future years. Since cotton is the state's top cash crop, these losses adversely affect the economy of the entire state.

Up to this year Texas was divided into five zones for purpose of release and re-apportionment, and this, to some extent, restricted the free flow of unused cotton acres over the state. Under the new arrangement there are only two zones. The High Plains is included in Zone II which covers, approximately, the north two-thirds of the state.

A survey of the acres now included in Zone II shows that in 1962 there were 182,173 acres released to the state ASC for re-apportionment within the present zone boundaries. Since the High Plains is always on the demand side, requesting more acres, and released acres come from other acres within ATTENTION, freshmen, sophomores and juniors. If you have it in for some senior, now is your chance of a lifetime. The senior girls will be sold Friday at the slave sale and the boys will be sold on Monday. So save up your money and buy your favorite (or should it be your 'unfavorite') senior and make them do anything you want them to. (Well, almost anything.) Sure hope nobody has it in for us!

EVERYONE really had a load of clothes to take to school Thursday. All the organizations, clubs and officers had to have a different suit for each picture. It looked kinda like we had just decided to move in for a while.

TUESDAY was the day for counseling in OHS and Mrs. Campbell really gave the senior girls a scare when she said she had some bad news for us. We just knew that our trip had been cancelled or that we didn't have enough money to go. It turned out to be even worse. The senior girls have to be sold first.

THE GUESS WHO for this week is a sophomore girl who is very cute. She is in the band, is very quiet and also smart. Wonder who she would be?

A STUDENT SECTION will be present at all the rest of the home games. We certainly would sit together and cheer the teams. Having a student section will help everyone to yell together and will help solve some of the booing problem.

CAN YOU IMAGINE. . . a week without a blue Monday? The wind not blowing? Sharon Brigrance being ugly? Janice Moses stuck-up? Jan George not being cute? Barry Prestridge, playing a flute? R.G. Arrington not being funny?

ROSES TO the hard-working basketball teams. Radishes to the boozers.

THE FTA CLUB is selling

"Thank You" notes that have a picture of OHS on the front. Anyone wishing to buy some may contact any member of the FTA. And all you members, let's get out and sell!

THE HOMEMAKING COTTAGE requests magazines, old or new, for this semester. Anything dealing with homes, food or clothes will be appreciated. Could you contribute?

THOSE WHO MISSED the girl's ballgame with Dimmitt and Muleshoe really missed some good games. We were amazed and happy over the outcome with Dimmitt but when they scored six points in the last 24 seconds of the Muleshoe game, we flipped, swung from the rafters and screamed. Very good girls.

CONGRATULATIONS to Ronnie, Sam and Charlie for being Best Beau candidates. Just think, one of you shall wear a crown. We have three beaus but only one crown. Anyone for bribes?

NO BALLGAME this Friday night. Guess everyone can stay home and catch up on the week's lessons. There's chemistry, English and English.

OUR GUESS WHO last week was J. Curtis Hall. Did anyone guess it to be he?

Work Is Key Says Teacher

BY BOBBYE TOLLETT

"Emerson once said, 'A man is or will become what he thinks about. If you wish to be rich, you will be rich, but you must work. If you think about nothing you will become nothing! My advice to all is Believe and Succeed; Work and look for things.'"

Miss Gayle Scott has done both of her years of teaching in Olton High School. She graduated from West Texas State in Canyon. She teaches home economics II, III, IV.

When asked what her ambition in life was, she replied that she hoped to obtain her master's degree in home economics. Her secret ambition is to learn to fly a plane and win the Powder Puff Derby.

"Each student should study to cultivate their abilities and develop skills. Each student should be made to feel that he is an important member of the class," she said.

"I think that home economics is a must for every girl because a student gets a real close-up view of some of the necessary preparation for her future home," added Miss Scott. She said that teachers should teach a student to make the best use of whatever opportunities they have and that each student should strive to emphasize democracy through cooperative planning and working together in the classroom.

"I believe that a teacher has the ability to make a student interested or disinterested by her own interest and enthusiasm," she added.

In life, Miss Scott believes that each individual should always strive to put God first, and to remember that nothing is impossible if you really want it, but you must work to obtain your goal.

Fillies Split Two Games, Mustangs Defeated Twice

It was another one of those weeks for the Olton Fillies and Mustangs.

The Fillies split a pair of games and the Ponies fell in both of theirs.

The girls won a heart-stopping 52-50 victory over Muleshoe here last Friday night, then dropped a tough one to Morton Tuesday night, 50-42.

Coach Robert Nickerson's Mustangs put on one of their best efforts of the season against Muleshoe, but fell, 67-53. The Ponies dropped their game to Morton by 61-35.

Both teams take the night off Friday night, then resume action next Tuesday night when they play host to Friona.

The Filly record is now 16-9 for the year and 2-3 in district play. The Ponies are winless in district competition.

Gayle Nicholas led Filly scorers in both games, racking up 34 against Muleshoe and 27 against Morton. But it was a last second basket by Cheryl Poteet that won the game over Muleshoe. Miss Poteet had 11 against Muleshoe and six against Morton. Tommy Witten scored seven against Muleshoe and nine against Morton.

Gladys Thomas and Maxine Schaefer had seven rebounds each and Deanna Farrar got six in the Morton game.

George Jones canned 16 against Muleshoe and Jerry Smoot got 9 against Morton to lead Mustang scorers. Jones hit eight against Morton, while Ronnie Parsons chipped in 12 against Muleshoe. Joe Priest picked up nine points in the Muleshoe contest.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of my Father, who passed away Jan. 5.

Of One Who Lived Valiantly He who lived valiantly has passed, why should we grieve, why should it break our hearts like this, if we believe?

Surely he lives more valiantly than ever before. Freed as he is, to move without the weights he bore; freed for the sweet adventures of heavenly days.

Lighntened, to go exploring down the glory ways. What must those first hours to be him, who loved earth so?

How swift, how very swift and glad his feet must go. He who lived valiantly has passed, who should we grieve? Why should we break our hearts like this, if we believe?

His daughter, Mary Virginia Daffron.

"These developments will help meet the growing demand for new outdoor recreational facilities, and at the same time broaden the scope and local benefits of watershed projects," Secretary Freeman said.

The recreational facilities would lure outsiders to the area, and would provide the type recreation that industrialists seek for their employees in searching for new plant sites, Soil Conservation Service officials explained. On nearby land, private landowners could develop supporting recreational facilities, such as weekend or summer guest cottages, hunting preserves, and ski slopes.

The development would bring town and country interests closer together, and thereby promote soil and water conservation activities which protect and improve farm and ranch lands, according to SCS. This, in turn, would contribute to an improved agricultural economy.

"The Department is ready to help local watershed sponsors develop these recreational areas," Secretary Freeman pointed out.

Funds are available under USDA's regular $60.6 million watershed appropriation for fiscal year 1963. Construction could begin on the first of these projects early in 1963.

USDA was authorized to bear up to 50 percent of the cost of (1) land, easements and rights-of-way, (2) construction, and (3) minimum basic facilities needed for public access to and use of the recreational area. This cost-sharing and technical help would be provided through the Soil Conservation Service, which has leadership for USDA's watershed program.

Land bordering the water could be developed for picnicking, camping, hunting, or other outdoor uses. SCS would provide local sponsors with funds to cover up to half the land costs, and also would help local sponsors pay for the land inundated for recreational purposes.

Minimum basic facilities which could be cost-shared include: (1) boat docks and ramps, (2) beach development, (3) picnic tables and fireplaces, (4) parking lots, (5) public water supply, (6) sanitary facilities, including toilets and garbage disposal, (7) power facilities, (8) plantings and other shoreline or area improvements, (9) roads and trails, and (10) other similar or related facilities needed for public health, safety, access to, and use of the recreational area.

Local sponsors could charge an admission fee to meet their annual operating and maintenance costs. Watershed residents also would derive other benefits from the development.

"There has been a dramatic increase in the Nation's need for additional recreation areas during the past decade," Secretary Freeman said.

"City dwellers and suburbanites are seeking the outdoors as never before. At present, some 62 million acres of privately-owned land are being used for recreation. Estimates are that by 1980 we will need 85 million acres for this purpose. Watershed projects can go a long way in helping fulfill this need."

Drinking Cup For Dog

Quail and coon hunters in Texas often run into long spells of dry, hot weather that makes it necessary to take along water for the dogs.

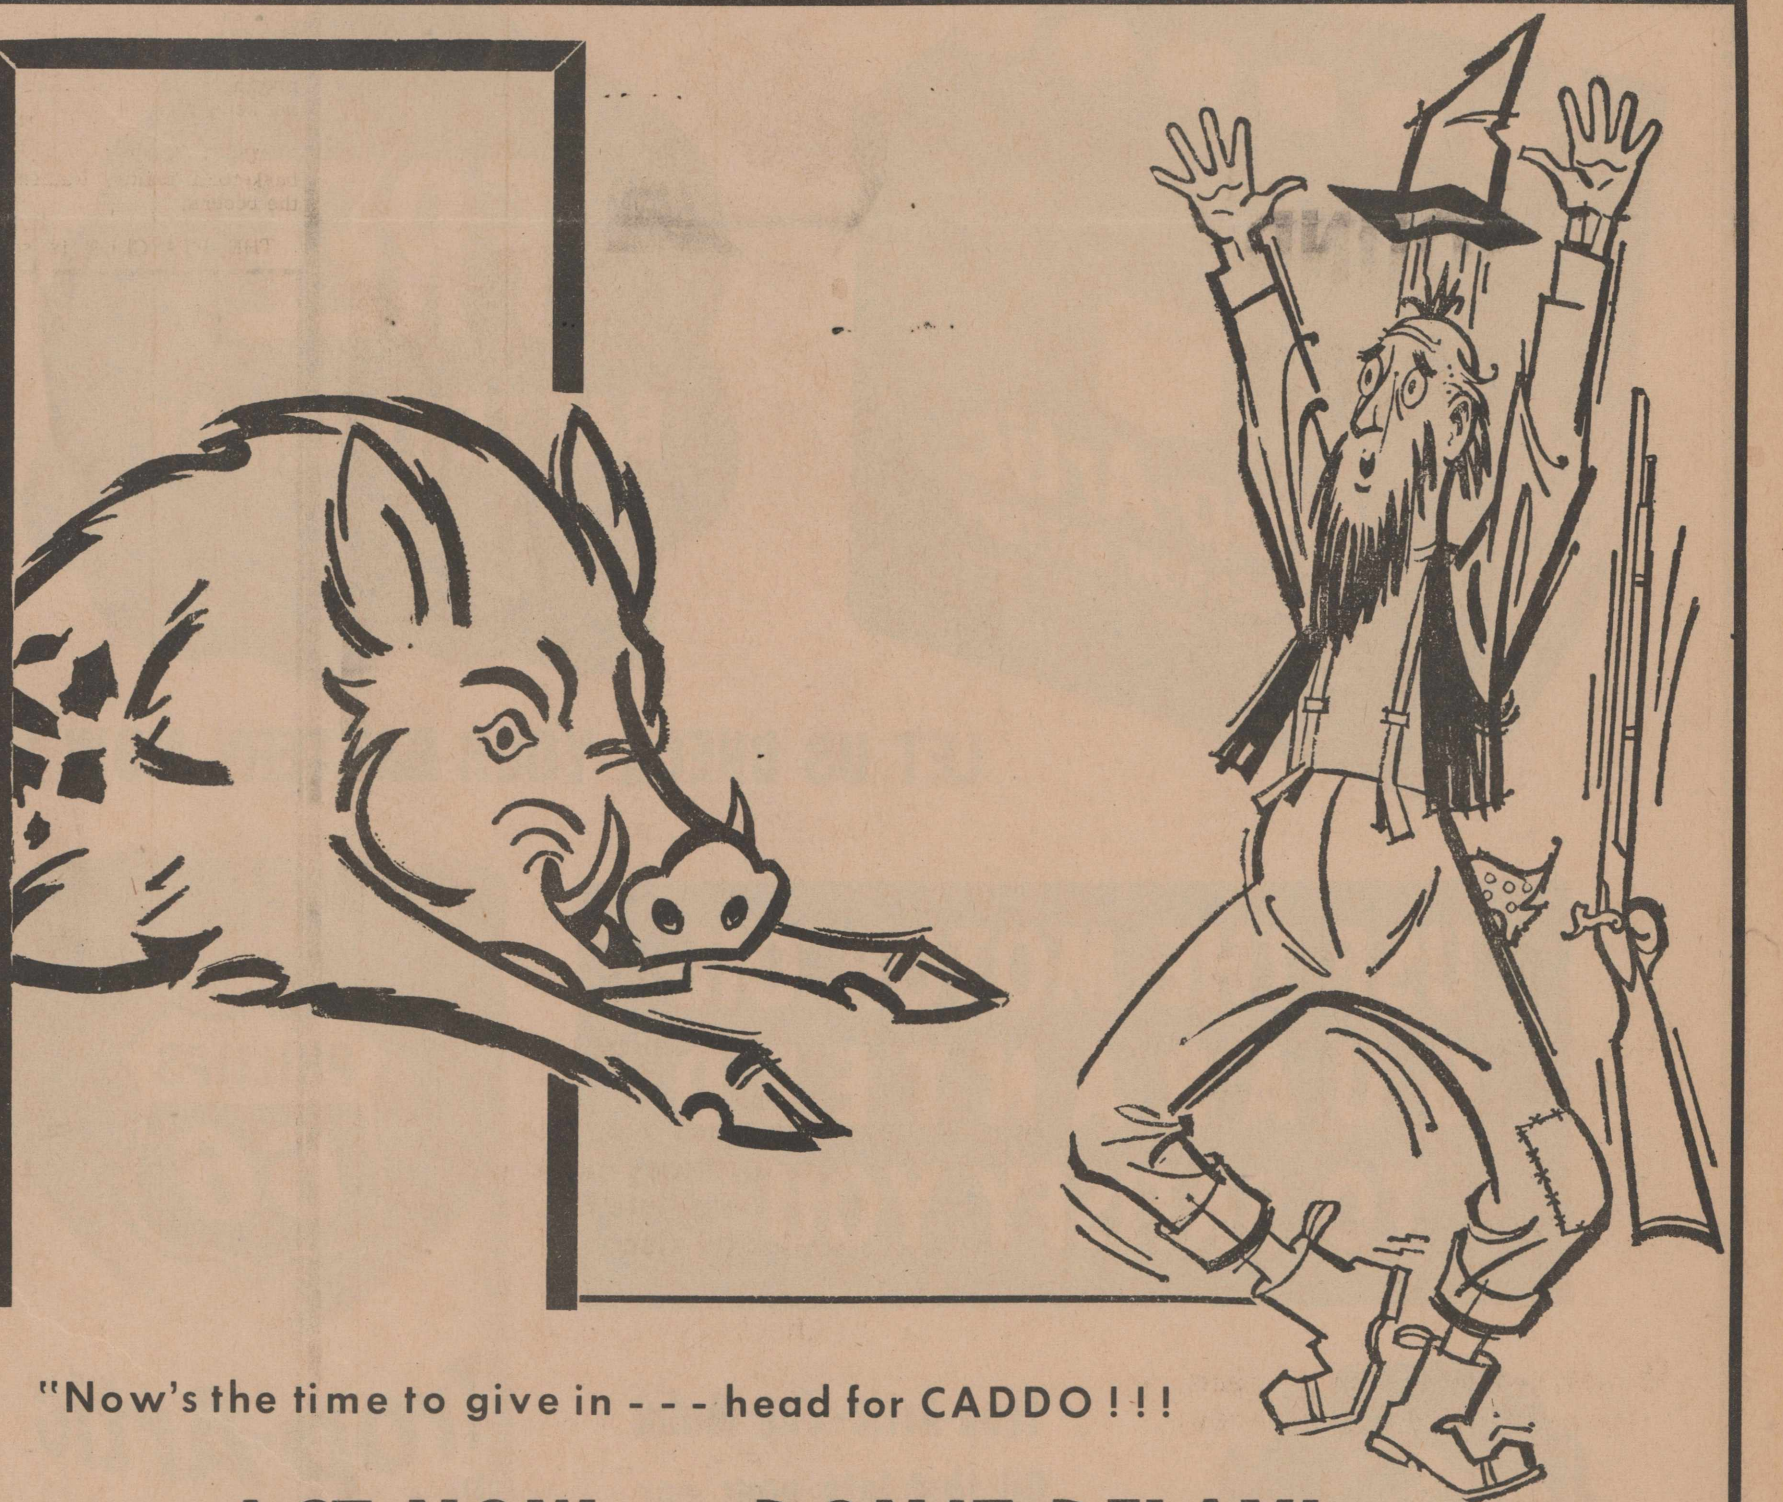

Remember to also carry with you some heavy aluminum foil to quickly shape up a drinking vessel for the pooch when he gets thirsty.

Horse racing is at least 3,000 years old.

Tracing Fallen Game

Much game is lost due to high weeds and other rough terrain. To lessen this trouble, when you shoot a bird, squirrel, etc., mark a 2-foot line with your boot at once, pointing toward the spot where the game fell.

Do this each time you down your game and you won't have to go after each kill as it falls. You can finish your shooting, then pick up your game at your leisure.

PPCA Reports Record Year

PLAINVIEW--Special-A new record high in loan volume in 1962 was established by the Plainview Production Credit Association, according to a year-end report by the agricultural financing institution released this week.

The Plainview association, the nation's largest, had a total loan volume of $39,886,126 in the past calendar year, an increase of $2,600,000 over the 1961 total of $37,282,876, announced Noel Woodley, general manager of the home-owned and operated association. The 1961 total was the nation's highest loan volume among nearly 500 Production Credit Associations.

"We made a bumper crop in 1962 and collections are good," Woodley declared. "We anticipate a larger need for credit during 1963, due to increased cost of production and farm equipment, as well as an increase in the cost of land."

Woodley said it is still too early to forecast the general agricultural outlook in the association's eight-county area for the coming year. "The 1962 crop is not yet completed. We have had very little moisture to date, but wheat prospects look good at this time."

The Plainview Production Credit Association, owned and operated in its entirety by 1,483 farmer and rancher stockholders, has assets totaling $23,902,651 and capital, surplus, unapplied earnings and provisions for bad debt losses of $4,575,007. The association provides short and intermediate term agricultural credit in Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Farmer and Swisher counties.

Since its organization in January of 1934, the association has provided more than $246,799,000 in agricultural credit. Loan funds are received through the sale of bonds on the nation's commercial money market.

Offices are operated in Plainview, Muleshoe, Littlefield, Floydada, Dimmitt, Tulia, Silvertown, Olton and Friona.

Bohner Defeats Anton Teams

In recent games Bohner defeated Anton's boys and girls. The boys' score was 63 to 26. The girls' score was 59-4. For the Demons, E. L. Carter scored 25 points to lead the Demons in victory. George R. Thomas and Benny E. Harris made 12 points each. Joseph A. Springer made 11 points. The Demons made 38 percent of their free throws.

Helen Ruth Nash led the Demonettes with 35 points. She has an average of 22 points per game. Carolyn Porch made 16 points. Mary Helen Mack and Joyce M. Sanders made 7 and 2 points respectively. In winning by a wide margin of 59-4, the first string guards, Christ Laverne Clayton, Alvice Mae Carter and Dorothy Marie Becks held the Anton girls to one field goal and two free tosses.

In games played against Floydada, the Demons won by the slim margin of 55-53. Previously, Floydada had defeated the Demons in three games. George R. Thomas, Benny, "Big Ben", Harris, and E. L. "Sneaky Pete", Carter made 15 points a piece for scoring honors. Clarence Becks led the team in rebounding. The Demons shot 50 percent at the free throw line.

The Demonettes led the Floydada Hornettes for three quarters, but they were downed by Floydada in the fourth quarter by a score of 44-29. Bohner's fleet-footed Helen Ruth Nash was held to 17 points as Joyce Sims of Floydada rolled up 13 buckets for 26 points.

Monday night the Demons lost to Plainview 52-43. E. L. Carter led the Demons with 14 points. George Ray Thomas was held to only 7 points.

The Demonettes edged the Plainview girls 34 to 31 in a closely played contest. Carolyn Porch won high scoring honors in this contest with 16 points. Helen Nash ran a close second with 14.

Thursday night Bohner will play Brownfield in Olton. Brownfield has one of the strongest girl's team in this area.

Newspapers Name 'Hoss' As Texan Of The Year

Bill Turner, publisher of The Olton Enterprise, will attend the Texas Press Association meeting this weekend in San Antonio, when Dan Blocker will be presented the association's 1963 "Texan-Of-The-Year" award. Announcement of his selection has been made by George Baker, president of the newspaper association and publisher of the Fort Stockton Pioneer.

The presentation to Dan Blocker, 300-pound co-star of the NBC-TV show Bonanza, will be made at TPA's Mid-Winter Meeting at the El Tropicano Hotel in San Antonio on Saturday evening, Jan. 26.

Blocker, known on TV as Hoss Cartwright, was born in Bowie County, Texas, Dec. 10, 1929. He grew up in the Texas Panhandle and received his education in Texas.

Weighing 14 pounds at birth, he pulled the scales to 105 pounds by the time he entered grade school. He became known among his friends as "The Big N". At age 10 he worked alongside grown men at grain elevators and could whip any of the local toughs, regardless of their age.

Despite his extraordinary strength, Dan Blocker had other ideas than pushing his weight around as a strong man. When 12 years old he enrolled in the Texas Military Institute in San Antonio. At that time he weighed 200 pounds and stood six feet tall.

From the military institute he went to Hardin-Simmons University at Abilene for a semester, then to Sul Ross State College at Alpine, on a football scholarship, to major in physical education.

He changed his major to drama before he was graduated in 1950.

From Alpine he went to Boston for summer stock. Then, as did most young men of his time, Dan Blocker received greetings from The President and went overseas for a whirl at Korea.

When he finished his army hitch, he came home with the stripes of a first sergeant, to further impress Dolphie Parker, his college sweetheart. They were married Aug. 25, 1952. They now have four children, twin girls and two boys.

Blocker returned to Sul Ross shortly after his marriage to work on his master's degree. He left classes for one year to teach in the high school at Sonora. Upon receiving his Master's degree in drama and English, he taught school at Carlsbad, N.M.

In 1956, he went to Los Angeles for graduate work at UCLA. Almost immediately he was chosen for a feature role in a Gunsmoke episode, where he made more money in four days than in a month of teaching.

Since that time his rise to stardom has been rapid. He has played in many significant TV roles and today has top billing with Bonanza.

The Texas Press Association on behalf of its 76 member dailies and 432 weeklies, has presented "Top Texan" awards on two previous occasions. In 1961 the honor went to Paul Richards of baseball fame, a native of Waxahachie, who at the time was manager of the top-ranking Baltimore Orioles. Last year the "Texan of the Year" award went to Van Cliburn, world renowned pianist from Kilgore.

Selection of the "Texan of the Year" is made from nominations by Texas editors and publishers. Nominees must be well known Texans, outside the field of politics, now residing beyond the borders of the state, but bringing fame to the state by outstanding accomplishments in their chosen fields of endeavor.

Mayor's Proclamation

WHEREAS, under the laws of the State of Texas, all citizens desiring to vote in elections held in the year 1963 must qualify by paying the poll tax or obtaining a certificate of exemption from the poll tax by January 31, 1963; and

WHEREAS, it is the patriotic duty of every citizen to participate in the processes of self-government by meeting his obligations to his government and preparing himself to vote; and

WHEREAS, our right to vote is the most basic of our constitutional freedoms, secured in battle by our forefathers and defended in every generation by brave men willing to shed their blood to protect this right, which is the cornerstone of our liberties and is now under attack by a ruthless communistic society which has never permitted free elections; and

WHEREAS, the widest possible participation in elections is a proud sign of civic health and of a citizenry dedicated to the defense and the exercise of our American way of life.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, as Mayor of the City of Olton do hereby proclaim the week January 24 to January 31, 1963 as and urge that all our citizens who are eligible to vote proceed promptly to pay their poll taxes or obtain their certificates of exemption in order that they may be qualified to vote. A people that does not exercise its rights stands in danger of losing them. I hope, therefore, that every eligible citizen of the City of Olton will be qualified voter and will cast his vote in 1963.

Major T. James Jr.
Mayor, City of Olton
