On His Birthday

President Johnson presents a pen to Sen. Carl Hayden, D-Ariz., who celebrated his 88th birthday Saturday. The occasion was a White House ceremony in which the President signed a bill strengthening Federal programs to combat water pollution. Law Strengthened In Pollution Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, who usually says only kind things — even about Republicans — in his public speeches, lambasted Saturday industrial firms and cities that pollute rivers and lakes. The occasion was a White House ceremony at which Johnson signed a new law strengthening the federal role in fighting water pollution. He termed this measure a promising beginning but said "additional, bolder legislation will be needed in the years ahead."

DUMP GROUNDS
Declaring the "clear, fresh waters that were our national heritage have become dumping grounds for garbage and filth," Johnson said "no one has a right to use America's river and America's waterways, that belong to all the people, as a sewer."

Then, addressing several hundred Congress members and federal officials who witnessed the bill signing, Johnson launched into some specifics: "There is no excuse for a river flowing red with blood from slaughterhouses. There is no excuse for paper mills pouring tons of fulphuric acid into the lakes and streams. There is no excuse — and we should call a spade a spade — for chemical companies and refineries using our major rivers as pipelines for toxic wastes. There is no excuse for communities to use the people's rivers as a dump for raw sewage."

The legislation Johnson signed gives the federal government final authority over antipollution programs along streams that cross state lines. It also authorizes $150 million a year in federal grants to help states and communities build sewage treatment plants — an increase of $50 million annually.

"I believe," Johnson said, "that with your help and your cooperation water pollution is doomed in this century."

Johnson said the antipollution program will begin in Washington with the Potomac, which he described as "a river of decaying sewage and rotting algae."

A spokesman for one of the affected industries said the act "provides a new opportunity for a three-way, industrial-state-federal partnership to establish equitable and acceptable water-quality criteria."

Sukarno Orders Halt To Indonesian Fray

MAY LOSE AID Schoolman Has Not Been Advised

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's school administrator said Saturday the threat of holding back $30 million in federal school aid funds "for unknown, unstated reasons" will set back "an increase in opportunities for Chicago school children."

This was the comment of Benjamin C. Willis, superintendent of Chicago public schools, on a statement from the U.S. Office of Education that federal aid will be held back unless alleged discrimination is halted.

"This is an alarming and threatening kind of procedure," Willis said at a news conference. "My first knowledge of the threatened action of the Office of Education came yesterday afternoon."

"At no time — even now — have I received any indication of what the complaints are or what the probable non-compliance are."

Willis said so far as he knows, a team of three Office of Education investigators began their work on Aug. 26. He said he has not seen any of the three-man team since then, does not know whether any person on the Chicago school staff was ever contacted for information, or if the federal teams "spent any more time here."

He said that the Civil Rights Act specifically states that no "order refusing to grant federal assistance shall become effective" until the applicant has been advised to comply with regulations. The money cannot be withheld "until there is an express finding of non-compliance on the record," Willis said.

"I have not been advised wherein we do not comply," he added.

The Office of Education said Friday its preliminary investigation indicated some instances of failure in Chicago to comply with the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It said it believes that the "situation can be resolved satisfactorily."

No specific charges of discrimination in schools were made.

At the outset of the debate, Dr. Eugene S. Rifer of Van Buren, Ind., contended that the doctors feel let down by loss of the battle against Medicare. He contended "the profession has been enslaved by clever politicians."

A resolution introduced by Dr. John K. Glenn of Houston, Tex., asked the House to recommend that a boycott by individual physicians "is legal, ethical and desirable."

On July 1, 1966, Americans 65 and over will have hospital care under Social Security. Those who want it can have voluntary medical insurance under the Medicare law.

The policy-making body of the organization of 206,000 physicians received 43 resolutions and threw open its two-day sessions to debate. The Reference Committee planned to bring in a report Sunday for action by the 201 delegates.

The AMA president, Dr. James S. Appel of Lancaster, Pa., maintained that Medicare endangers the quality of health care for the elderly.

But, he added, the only statesman-like thing to do is to "try in the most effective way possible — to bring about regulations and other implementing actions that will mitigate the baneful effects."

Delegates gave Dr. Appel a standing ovation when he finished his speech — a possible augury of the position the House will take.

"We must prepare amendments to the law which will mitigate its harmful effects," Dr. Appel said, "and gradually mold it in the direction of eldercare (the insurance-based plan the AMA has advocated)."

Dr. Appel also said the AMA must carry a good public image into what he said may be a new battle — an effort to extend Medicare from the 18 million Americans over 65 to the 180 million under that age.

Under a union shop contract, an employee must join the union within a specified time after being hired in order to hold his job.

Repeal of Section 14B has been the AFL-CIO's prime legislative goal since the Taft-Hartley Law was passed in 1947.

Mansfield says only that "We will give it a good try." He estimates about 50 senators will vote for passage if the bill can be brought to a vote. But to cut off debate and force a vote, the bill's proponents must muster 67 votes if the full membership is present on a cloture roll call.

HOUSTON (AP)—Four Chambers of Commerce have been named winners of the Texas industrial week competition by the Texas Manufacturers Association.

Entries were grouped into four categories by population. Winners are Dumas (towns up to 10,000), Sherman (10,000 to 25,000), Orange (25,000 to 75,000) and Waco (over 75,000).

Red Patrol Clashes With Indian Outpost

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Indian troops exchanged shots Saturday with a 25-man Communist Chinese patrol in the bleak mountain frontier between Tibet and the Indian protectorate of Sikkim, Indian officials reported.

Peking's latest threatening gesture in the Himalayan area came amid serious new breaches in the Pakistan-India ceasefire and the possibility of a resumption of the war between them over Kashmir.

The Indian defense minister said the Chinese patrol crossed the Yakra Pass from Red-ruled Tibet this morning "and surrounded a three-man Indian observation post well within Indian territory."

"They opened fire on our post. The fire was returned," the defense minister said.

In Peking, the Chinese confirmed the incident, but charged that Indian troops intruded into Chinese territory.

A broadcast by the official New China News Agency said five Indian soldiers crossed the disputed line and "fired more than 200 rounds of bullets, wounding one Chinese soldier."

The broadcast said the Chinese fired back in self-defense.

The Chinese also accused the Indians of crossing into Tibet last Thursday and intimidating Chinese herdsmen with their weapons.

With new trouble reported with the Chinese and skirmishing in many areas along 1,500-mile western front between India and Pakistan, the prospects for peace on the subcontinent seemed bleaker than ever.

In words echoing his tough speeches before the three-week war with Pakistan, Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri spoke on his 61st birthday as if he expected a resumption of full-scale hostilities.

In Pakistan, President Mohammed Ayub Khan declared his country would not lower its guard.

Curtis Saddle was dead on arrival. His father died in the hospital at 7:15 Saturday morning. Both deaths were the result of bullet wounds, according to Grice and hospital doctors, who ruled separately on the deaths.

Witnesses

"The arrest of Scaggs was made on information received from witnesses to the shooting," Jay Banks, police chief, said Saturday.

Scaggs had been freed on bond set early Friday by Jess Slaughter, peace justice, after the Thursday wounding of Arthur Lockett, 408 N. Aylford, and Willie Roy English, 508 N. San Antonio, outside the Jazz Lounge. He had been jailed on assault with intent to commit murder charges filed by police.

English and Lockett told officers they had been wounded in the hands by a bullet fired from a pistol fired by Scaggs during a scuffle.

After the Friday night shootings, Scaggs was jailed on quickly-filed assault with intent to commit murder charges. The assault charges were dropped when it was learned that both Saddle men had died, and two murder charges were filed naming Scaggs Saturday morning.

Witnesses' reports to the police stated in part the shooting resulted from bad feelings engendered in two separate arguments between Scaggs and the Saddlers, first concerning a dice game, and a later one concerning a waitress at the lounge.

Both men were taken to the Claims Control Of 'Whole Army'

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Indonesia's President Sukarno came on the air early Sunday morning and ordered an immediate halt to the fighting that has ripped the coup-ravaged country.

It was the first time the 64-year-old president has been heard from since trouble broke out last Thursday in his South-east Asian nation. There had been serious concern over his fate.

Sukarno, in a Jakarta radio broadcast monitored in Kuala Lumpur, said he had ordered all Indonesian Army commanders to meet with him to investigate the situation.

MAJOR CLASH

Indonesian observers in Kuala Lumpur said Col. Suhernan's Diponegoro Division posed the threat of a major clash with the Siliwangi Division in Jakarta. They noted repeated Jakarta broadcasts by Maj. Gen. Sardini, a former commander of the Diponegoro Division denouncing the rebels who he said "besmirched the republic's name."

The broadcasts quoted Sardini as saying "many generals died" in the fighting. It said the army, navy and police were supporting the government.

Sukarno said the whole army is under his control and told the people to remain calm.

Sukarno said in his two and one-half minute broadcast he had appointed Maj. Gen. Brano Reksoatmodjo Atmodjo as temporary chief of the armed forces and Maj. Gen. Suharto as temporary Army chief of command of operations to restore order in the country.

NO MENTION
He made no mention of the fate of Gen. Abdul Harris Nasution, 46, the armed forces commander and defense minister. Available information in Kuala Lumpur indicated that Nasution had been shot and wounded during the early stages of the coup threat.

Indonesian observers here said after the broadcast they felt it significant that Sukarno did not immediately condemn the leaders of the abortive coup engineered by Lt. Col. Untung, commandant of Sukarno's personal bodyguard.

Untung's rebellion was believed to be a pro-Communist attempt to seize power. It was followed by fighting between government and rebel forces in Jakarta and other parts of Indonesia.

GOP Looks To N. Y. To Spark Comeback

WASHINGTON (AP)—One year after President Johnson carried Democrats to their greatest electoral landslide in nearly three decades, Republicans look to the Democratic bastion of New York City to spark a nationwide GOP comeback.

With Republicans facing uphill fights in the nation's only two contests for governor this year, in New Jersey and Virginia, Rep. John V. Lindsay's race for mayor of New York has become the main GOP hope for success.

FOE: BEAME

Lindsay is opposed by City Comptroller Abraham D. Beame, who won the Democratic nomination over the opposition of retiring Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Besides these three major contests, legislatures are being elected Nov. 2 in New York, New Jersey, Kentucky and Virginia. A special election will be held Nov. 23 to elect a reappointed Vermont Legislature.

A special congressional election in Ohio, various state constitutional and bond issues and mayoral contests in Detroit, New Haven, Pittsburgh, Houston, Buffalo and Cleveland complete the Nov. 2 off-year election calendar.

In New York Lindsay, 43, is bucking a 3-to-1 Democratic registration majority and an entrenched Democratic administration that has held City Hall for 20 years. Lindsay has demphasized his Republican connections and has picked up the support of the independent Liberal party, which frequently holds the balance of power in New York elections.

MULTI-PARTY TICKET

Lindsay has put together a multiparty ticket with state Liberal party Chairman Timothy Costello for City Council president and Milton Mollen, a Democrat who was Wagner's housing administrator, for comptroller.

Beame, 59, who broke with Wagner over fiscal issues, won a bitter primary fight over Council President Paul R. Screvane, Wagner's choice. Beame, a career city official, has substantial support from old-line Democratic organizations.

He has a strong running mate in Queens County Dist. Atty. Frank D. O'Connor, his choice for Council President and a possible Democratic candidate for governor next year. Beame's candidate for comptroller is former Judge Mario Procaccino.

The race is complicated by the presence of William F. Buckley Jr., publisher of National Review magazine, who is the Conservative party candidate for mayor. Lindsay's backers fear Buckley may drain off critical Republican votes.

DEMO OBJECTIVE
Democrats will be trying to hold control of the state's redistricted Legislature. Both parties concede the Democrats may hold the Assembly (89-62 Democratic now) with the Senate (32-25 Democratic) race considered a toss-up.

In the only statewide race, former GOP Sen. Kenneth B. Keating of Rochester is seeking a judgeship on the state Court of Appeals against Judge Owen McGovern, Democrat-Liberal from New York City.

NEW JERSEY
In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes is rated the favorite for a second term against GOP State Sen. Wayne Dumont Jr. Republicans now control the Assembly 32 to 23 and the Senate 14 to 6. The redistricted Senate will have 29 seats. Both races are rated toss-ups at present.

In traditionally Democratic Virginia, Democratic gubernatorial nominee Mills E. Godwin Jr., now lieutenant governor, is favored over Republican Linwood Holton to succeed Gov. Albertis Harrison Jr., who cannot succeed himself.

Republicans now hold 14 seats in the two-house, 140-seat Legislature and expect to pick up from two to five seats.

In Kentucky, all 100 House seats and 19 of the 38 Senate seats will be filled. The Democrats have 48 unopposed candidates for the two houses, the Republicans have eight.

Vermont's Legislature was redistricted by a three-judge federal court. Republicans are slight favorites to retain control. Primaries will be held Oct. 19 for the Nov. 23 election.

lature and expect to pick up from two to five seats.

Some Believe Joe Kilgore May Challenge Yarborough

AUSTIN (AP)—Joe Kilgore, liberal, labor-backed Sen. Ralph Yarborough for the Democratic nomination to the Senate. The animosity between Johnson and Yarborough had been smoothed over publicly after Kennedy's assassination, and Johnson personally intervened through Connally to keep Kilgore from taking on Yarborough.

Connally, with no love for Yarborough, resisted as did Kilgore. In the end Kilgore said bitterly he would not run for any office. Yarborough was re-elected.

Kilgore won't say whether he believes his decision was wise. "I try my best not to look back. There is just every reason for me not to look back from a personal standpoint," Kilgore said. "My 10 years in Congress I found very interesting, and I expect the future to be interesting."

He has seen Johnson occasionally but their relationship is not warm. Kilgore said the incident didn't make him gunshy about politics. "But I'm not one who has to hold public office to be happy."

DOOR OPEN
"I'm leaving the door open as to whether I might run again," he said. "I'm not actively engaged in running for anything and I have no plans."

He would re-enter politics only for a major office, such as senator or governor.

His law firm has a reputation as a political springboard. Recently Kilgore was named to two important committees: dealing with water, a pet Connally subject. Kilgore helped convince Congress on Padre Island as a National Seashore. His interest in water stems from representing a Valley whose economy is built around irrigation.

He is chairman of an advisory panel to help the Texas Water Commission develop a long-range water plan. He is one of five citizens on a House interim committee probing the problem of salt pollution of inland water supplies.

Opposition Amazingly Light For New Farm Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP)—On paper at least, it appears that foes of government crop control programs took a terrific beating on Johnson administration farm legislation now moving toward final approval.

The measure has been described by its sponsors as the biggest piece of farm legislation ever enacted. They talk, of course, in terms of the potential outlay of cash to farmers and the four-year duration of programs which the administration had hoped to be able to secure for only two years.

$20 BILLION
It is possible that the program may cost upwards of $15 billion to $20 billion over its lifetime.

Furthermore, the measure ran into surprisingly little opposition in either house of Congress. Even Republicans, usually opposed to federal farm controls, gave the bill relatively strong backing.

The fight against the bill was carried on almost single-handedly by the largest of the general farm organizations, the American Farm Bureau Federation. For years, the Farm Bureau has been trying to reduce government's role in the control of farm production and prices.

It contends farmers could do a better job of adjusting their operations to year-to-year changes in demands for their products if a free market system were allowed to determine prices.

ADVERSE EFFECT
The administration contends elimination of controls would throw agriculture into a depression which could adversely affect the whole economy.

Farm Bureau leaders certainly have not shown any signs of being downhearted about their failure to stop the new legislation.

Farm Bureau President Charles B. Shuman said in an interview he believes the administration will find in a year or so that the new farm legislation bears the seeds of its own defeat. He said he expects the costs to the Treasury to become so large that Congress may balk at providing the funds and that even the White House will seek alternatives.

The new program authorizes broad use of payments to growers of wheat, feed grains and cotton for holding down production. Given favorable weather in the years immediately ahead, technological progress in crop production could well do much, he said, in offsetting the restrictive aspects of the programs. Here, it would require increasing amounts of money to prevent excessive production.

Shuman said he doubts that the White House expects to operate under the new legislation for the full four years. He bases his view on the fact that President Johnson soon will create a new Food and Fiber Commission to study the farm problem with the idea of coming up with better answers for farm stabilization.

"PEACE FOOD"
The Farm Bureau leader said he would expect the administration to embark upon a broadened Food-for-Peace program designed to provide an outlet abroad for crops now being restricted if it were not for what he called "political considerations."

"The administration wants to keep alive the giant agriculture stabilization and conservation service," he said. "Should foreign outlets be increased enough to remove most of the farm controls, there would be little need for the thousands of farmer committees and other jobholders operating in all the agricultural counties of the country. They provide a strong political base for the party in power."

Shuman said the Farm Bureau has marked up a "very good record" in preventing establishment of rigid production control programs proposed since 1961. He cited congressional rejection of proposals advanced in 1962 by the late President John F. Kennedy which would have given the secretary of agriculture broad powers to all phases of farm production, set up mandatory controls over all phases of farm production, including livestock.

He also cited failure of the administration to get farmers to accept national marketing orders which would have permitted marketing controls over affected commodities. The Farm Bureau contributed to a producer referendum defeat, of a national order for turkeys and to administration abandonment of a similar order for potatoes.

SHIFT MEASURE
Shuman agreed that the administration has been able, in the case of some crops, to shift to so-called voluntary control measures when compulsory ones were defeated.

But the voluntary measures depend on a heavy outlay of government funds to pay farmers for limiting production. Shuman said he does not believe that taxpayers will put up for very long with the big cash outlays which he says will be involved. Farm Bureau leaders believe that once taxpayers rebel against the farm program costs, their solution to the farm problem will prevail.

Anyway, Shuman said his organization has no intention of easing up in its efforts to get government out of farming.

But the voluntary measures depend on a heavy outlay of government funds to pay farmers for limiting production. Shuman said he does not believe that taxpayers will put up for very long with the big cash outlays

Store Advertised As Worst Is Big Success

SRINAGAR, Kashmir (AP)—Bouncing along in a horse-drawn tonga, the visitor notes the signs on the tiny stalls—

Abdul Aziz the carpet seller, Samad Shah the houseboat agent, Ramsana Dubloo, sightseeing and hunting trips.

Then, a clearing and a three-story building emblazoned with a sign which momentarily stuns the tourist. It says "Subhana the worst, departmental store."

It's a trap and you know it, but it works. At the front door stand three men. Is it your imagination or are they really rubbing their hands with gusto?

Instinctively you give your wallet a comforting pat.

One member of the three-man welcoming committee identifies himself as M. Subhana Kachroo, five generations descended from the Subhana who started the store in 1840.

"Welcome," says Subhana. "We advertise ourselves as 'the worst' but before you leave here today you will agree that we are the best."

He kicks off his shoes and ducks under a curtain across the front door, pulling you with him. He leads you across a red carpet to an overstuffed couch.

"You will join me for tea, won't you?" he pleads. While you wait, Subhana explains:

"Throughout the years, Kashmir Valley had been a quiet summer retreat for a limited number of vacationers. Then during World War II, many soldiers, mostly Americans, came to Kashmir. They had plenty of money. They liked Kashmiri handicrafts."

"Soon everybody wanted to become an art merchant, carpet merchant, woodcarving merchant or what have you. Even peddlers and boatmen opened shops. And they were all 'the best.' An English friend of my father then suggested to him that he should become 'the worst.'"

Based on the per capita on which HCJC now is budgeted, the increase would mean upwards of $50,000 more in state aid. However, this will not materialize unless there should be a special session and some provision made for the state to participate in the unprecedented gain.

The head count at the college this year topped a thousand for the first time this year and ended at 1,026.

Howard County Junior College shows a final figure of 10,500 semester hours on which it will draw state per capita aid. This compares with 8,552 a year ago, or an increase of 22.8 per cent.

The full time equivalent is 700, or 130 more than for the autumn semester of 1964.

Actually there are another 24 fulltime equivalents (12 hours the equivalent of a fulltime student), because 314 hours could not be counted because they were being taken by individuals who had already earned 64 credits or who were taking more than 18 hours in one semester.

No Hoeing Necessary This Year

Photograph shows cotton, with no weeds, badly infested with weeds and Johnson grass and required extensive hoeing last year. No hoeing was done in 1965.

Grass Control Chemicals Make Farming Bit Easier

Sounds like somebody has started out to make cotton farming a lazy man's job.

Experiments with pre-emergence weed and grass control chemicals are showing that the hoeing is needed when the chemical is used correctly. The stuff will even control Johnson grass where it comes from seed, but not where roots have a start.

On top of that, one trial project shows that not even a cultivator need go into the field after the cotton is planted. A single row, not touched since planting, has about 25 per cent more fruit than cotton knifed twice, plowed twice and middles plowed five times.

BUGS, HAIL

If such cotton raising is possible, after research, most cotton farmers can go fishing or visiting after planting. About the only thing that can harm the crop then is bugs and hail.

Weaver Brown, who owns and farms 396 acres northwest of Big Spring, was one of two or three farmers treating a 10-inch-wide strip in the rows as seed are planted. The farm was badly infested with careless weeds and Johnson grass. There are no weeds in the strip treated.

Lee Tunnel of Farmers Home Administration, financing the operation of the farm, said Treflan, manufactured by Eli Lilly & Co. Agricultural Division, Elanco Products Co., was applied. Brown used one-fourth pint of the Treflan to six gallons of water to treat the rows. The chemical prevents seed from germinating, and Brown said last year's hoeing cost him from $7 to $8 per acre, whereas the treatment cost him about $2 per acre.

He rigged a tank, with pressure pump, on his tractor-planter, with nozzles set to spray a 10-inch strip behind the planted seed. Rotary tillers, behind the planter, mix the chemical and soil to about one inch deep.

CONTROLS GRASS

The chemical is made to control crabgrass and many other grasses and weeds. The manufacturer does not recommend using it on vegetables used for food, but it may be used where beans and peas and other seed are used for seed purposes only.

"The chemical has not been used extensively here," Tunnel said, "but will possibly become popular in the future. There may also be other manufacturers of a similar product, but we know about this one."

He said some type of pre-emergence or post-emergence treatment would be used on all Farmers Home Administration-financed cotton next year.

Brown is also the man who has the single row of cotton not touched since it was planted. The bolls on the stalks are well-matured and there are many more per stalk than on cultivated cotton. This row was also treated with Treflan.

NOT RECOMMENDED

The planting of grain sorghums following cotton treated with the chemical is not recommended, Tunnel said. We have seen this tried, but believe the manufacturer's directions should be followed.

Brown may well be the man who makes cotton farming a lazy man's job, since his weeds were controlled this year. A couple of rows, where the chemical ran out before he reached the end, have plenty of weeds.

DEAR ABBY

The Talk Will Die

DEAR ABBY: My husband's wife to dig into her purse to settle up a bill in a restaurant? That's my husband. Although everyone knows I work, I would just as soon preserve the illusion that my husband is the breadwinner of the family. It's not the money. I wouldn't mind giving him the money at home if he's "short" or forgot to cash a check, but I think it looks terrible for outsiders to see a woman paying for things when she's with a man. How do I put a stop to this? He laughingly calls me his—

"CASH REGISTER."

DEAR CASH: Get the finances straightened out at home and tell hubby that from now on the "Cash Register" is ringing up "NO SALE" in public.

DEAR ABBY: For the past year I've been riding to work and back with a man who works where I work. He is a lot older than me, married (so am I) and I assure you he means nothing to me but free transportation.

The other morning, on the way to work, this man said to me, "In case anyone asks you, you are PAYING for these rides because that's what I told my wife and I don't want a liar made out of me." Abby, I don't know his wife and can't imagine where I would ever meet her, but this bothered me. Sure, these rides save me a lot of money, and I appreciate them, but I don't like this set-up. The man has never gotten out of line, although he has asked some rather personal questions, but I always changed the subject. What should I do?

RIDING ALONG

DEAR RIDING: Find another mode of transportation. Money isn't everything. If you sleep

Police School Opens Next Session Monday

Policemen from Big Spring and surrounding cities will converge on Howard County Junior College Monday to begin the fourth session of the Southwest Academy for Law Enforcement, according to Jay Banks, police chief.

"This is a minimum standards course for either new or experienced officers," Banks said. "It offers the same training with experts as the Texas A&M course at College Station, with the addition of several hours of courses A&M does not offer, such as firearms training."

"We expect three of our policemen to take the course, four San Angelo policemen are enrolled," Banks continued, "and we have others coming from Brownfield, Pecos, Sweetwater, Snyder and Lamesa."

The academy is unique to West Texas, and was started here about a year ago to offer training comparable to that in other areas at less expense to police departments. A $50 fee is the only real expense for police departments sending officers, who will be able to eat at the HCJC cafeteria at minimal expense and stay in the Settles Hotel at low cost, Banks pointed out.

"Because of the newly-enacted Code of Criminal Procedure, there will be several hours of instruction devoted to it in addition to other law training," Banks said.

"We hope the academy will grow and become permanent—many experienced officers have never had real training in some aspects of law enforcement," Banks said. "And this West Texas academy has certain advantages—there are specialties which large municipal police forces need which we do not, so we exclude them and concentrate our course time on the things more applicable to our area."

Instructors, such as Wallace D. Beasley, coordinator of police training for the Texas A&M extension service; Dr. W. A. Hunt, HCJC president; Bill Eysen, corporation court judge; W. M. Landers, professor of the HCJC speech department; and Banks, donate their time and pay their own expenses to the academy.

The course will last from Oct. 4-29, and cover law enforcement from police history to riot control.

Some of the instruction offered in the Music Building classrooms, the HCJC gym, and a local pistol range includes courses in public relations; police tactics; rules of evidence; search and seizure; the constitutional provisions of arrest; narcotics, conditions, causes, effects and law; criminal law (including theft, burglary and robbery, murder and assault, among many others); court duty; the Texas liquor control act; traffic law; offensive and defensive tactics; firearms training; criminal investigation; interrogation; case preparation; automobile theft investigation; handling juveniles (police authority and court procedures); defensive driving; and other aspects of police work.

Of special law interest are courses in effective communication; firearm instruction by FBI area training officer L. L. Robertson; the courses in offensive and defensive tactics (involving "come-along" holds and other restraining methods) by Banks and Robertson; study of the crime scene, with instruction by Leo Hull, assistant police chief; and counterfeiting, with Forest Sorrels, Secret Service special agent from Dallas, as instructor.

The class day will begin at about 8:30 most mornings, and end usually about 5 p.m., but other days of the five-day-per-week session may not end for the training policemen until 9 p.m., Banks indicated. He stressed the academy is a tough course and is not easy for any of the participants. The officers are expected to take examinations and do well in them, as well as in the more physical aspects of the training, such as the restraining tactics, driving and shooting.

Medicare Aid Explained In New Leaflets

The Health Insurance Benefits, popularly called "Medicare," will become available to almost every one who will reach age 65 before 1968. Hospitalization provisions provide that after the patient pays a $40 "deductible," the rest of his hospital costs during the first 60 days of illness will be paid for him if he is in a participating hospital and the bill is based on reasonable costs.

For the next 30 days, he must pay or arrange for $10 per day of the costs himself. After 90 days of hospitalization during one spell of sickness, no further aid is available. However, after at least 60 days of not being hospitalized or in an extended care facility, he is again eligible for such benefits, after again paying the $40 deductible.

Medical provisions provide that, if he has properly signed up for this and is paying, or having paid for him, the $5 per month charge, 80 per cent of charges from a physician for his services at office, home, clinic or hospital can be paid each year, following his payment of the first $50 of such costs.

These two programs go into effect July 1, 1966. All beneficiaries of Social Security or railroad retirement are automatically insured for the hospitalization and will receive a special mailing of information on both coverages in early October. All others over age 65 should get in touch with a Social Security office (or state welfare office if receiving old-age assistance only) soon.

The medical benefits must be applied for between Sept. 1, 1965, and March 31, 1966 if age 65 is reached before Jan. 1, 1966. As persons reach age 65 in the future, they must apply within three months before or after their 65th birthday. Leaflets giving more details are available from the Social Security office.

Postal receipts for September 1965 are well ahead of receipts for the same month last year, Postmaster E. C. Boatler reported.

Receipts this past month hit $46,510.19. For the same month last year, the receipts were $39,209.76.

Receipts for the first nine months of this year compared with the same nine months last year are $16,000 ahead. For the first nine months of 1964, the receipts were $335,400.85. This year's figure is $340,474.30.

POST OFFICE TOTALS GAIN

Did you know that single vision contact lenses, when fitted by most practitioners, cost $150 or more? At TSO this is not true. The finest single vision contact lenses are fitted by TSO Doctors of Optometry for a fee of only $85 including a professional eye examination.

IMPOSSIBLE? Not at all — Famous TSO Contact Lenses are produced in our own laboratory, which greatly reduces our cost. Also, our fee is low because we serve so many patients in TSO offices throughout Texas — accepting only a reasonable profit from each contact lens fitting. These factors add up to a substantial savings for each patient. Most other practitioners must purchase their contact lenses from outside laboratories at a higher cost, thus they must charge a higher fee for fitting them.

WHAT ABOUT QUALITY? During the processing of contact lenses in our laboratory, the most advanced production techniques known are used. Continuous research and experience has greatly improved our lens design, and the edging, finishing and polishing processes used, thus assuring maximum possible wearing comfort and minimum possible adaptation time. TSO Doctors of Optometry have fitted over 50,000 patients with contact lenses. This vast experience provides a more precise fitting — therefore, greater comfort to the contact lens wearer. Nowhere can better made, more accurately fitted contact lenses be obtained, no matter how much they may cost.

WHAT DETERMINES THE COST? Actually, the cost of the very finest optical grade plastic, from which contact lenses are made, is very small. The principal cost factors are in the time of the professional contact lens specialist who examines your eyes, specifies the prescription and measurements of your lenses, and then fits them after they are made; in the cost of the skilled laboratory technicians who make the lenses; and in the investment in precision laboratory equipment and instruments that are used in processing the lenses. Fire Safety To Be Urged With Inspections, Talks National Fire Prevention Week starts today. As always, the date Oct. 9 is included, commemorating the great Chicago fire which made Mrs. Murphy, her cow and the lantern famous.

The emphasis this year is on poor smoking habits, and local firemen and Webb AFB fire fighters are giving demonstrations and lectures at local schools, attempting to give children knowledge of what starts fires.

Actually, the instructions and lecturing began last week with school programs. A. D. Meador, fire marshal, concentrated on the three prime causes of home fires — matches and smoking; electrical fires; and cooking and heating implements.

"We can't go into private residences and tell people what is wrong with fire safety in their homes," Meador said. "If they invite us, and that's what we hope people will do, this week and every other week in the year, we'll be more than happy to go to their homes and advise them of any hazards we find." The only places firemen can demand to enter are public buildings. There, they list hazards and order their removal. But most fires don't occur in public buildings. They occur at home.

"All our fire stations will have open house this week," Meador said. "Children who express an interest in seeing the equipment are welcome, and we hope teachers will bring classes to the stations."

Every year, Meador said, the "week" is declared and: "Speeches are made, fire equipment is on display, everyone is alerted to fire and fire prevention. The week passes and apathy sets in. A different national 'week' steps in to hold the spotlight. And so, while our interests shift, our homes continue to burn."

"Isn't it just good common sense for people to avail themselves of a service for which they have already paid cash? No one likes to throw his money away, he wants something for it. In this case, the fire department is willing to render him the service of home inspection which is due and available to him."

Early Poll Tax Payers Not Worried By Fee Question

M. A. Lilly, who lives on Rt. 1, holds Howard County's Poll Tax Receipt No. 1. He is an electrician and was an early bird Friday in getting his voting permit for 1965.

He was one of eight persons who showed up at the office of Mrs. Zarah LeFevre on the first day that poll tax receipts could be issued.

There were 32 exemption certificates issued on the same day. Older citizens were on hand in numbers to insure their voting privileges for the year ahead.

Mrs. LeFevre warned applicants for poll tax receipts that it could be, if the courts so held, they could lose their $1.75 fee. If a new system is ordered and a registration plan replaces the poll tax, the new fee might be much less.

Other early bird poll tax payers were: No. 2, J. W. Clawson, 603 E. 12th, a fireman; No. 3, Mrs. Stephanie Roll, 1200 Harding, and No. 4, N. E. Roll, her husband; No. 5, Alan D. Lowe, Rt. 1, who is in the U.S. Navy.

What does the college problem add up to?

To a national problem, unless we take steps to correct it promptly.

The colleges educate most of our leaders. But they are hampered by shortages—in classrooms, facilities and qualified teachers.

Some colleges predict that they soon may have to turn away qualified high school graduates.

This will hurt us because we urgently need leaders to make wise use of our resources, our manpower and our human skills.

It adds up to jobs and opportunities, and high living standards, for all of us.

This is everybody's concern—give to the college of your choice.

College is America's best friend

Builders Of Space Ships Call It 'Just Plain Fun'

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Early one morning next week an Air Force plane will leave St. Louis with a precious cargo — Gemini 7, the capsule that will take two U.S. astronauts on a record-breaking 14-day space jaunt.

It will be an important milestone for the 35,000 dedicated members of McDonnell Aircraft Corp.'s close-knit team. Their part in America's key Gemini space program will have passed the halfway point.

FIVE LEFT

Only five of the original 12 cone-shaped Gemini monsters will remain in the cavernous "clean room" at McDonnell, this nation's checking out point to space.

Astronauts Frank Borman and James A. Lovell will ride Gemini 7 about the first of the year. By the middle of 1966, McDonnell will finish building the last of the 12 Gemini capsules.

Then the men in the surgically clean white coats and caps will begin an even bigger job — Gemini B, the ship that will take men to and from a manned orbital laboratory in space.

Gemini 6, which will take Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford on a two-day trip late this month, already is at Cape Kennedy. It is to rendezvous with an Agena rocket, a key test in both the manned orbital laboratory and moon shot programs.

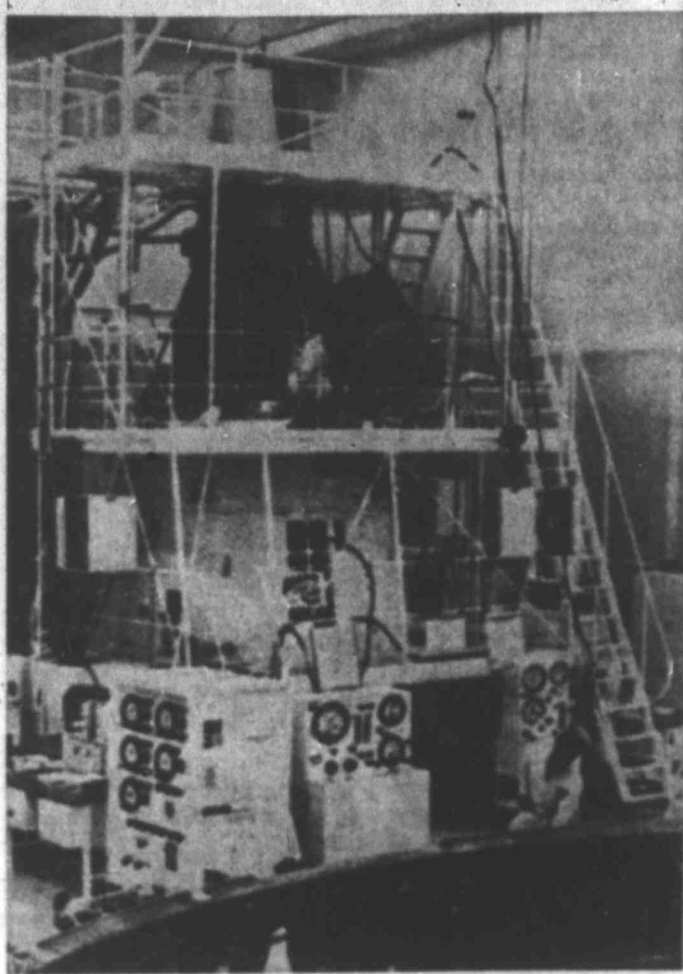

HEROICS

All these space heroics begin with miles of wire and sheets of titanium metal in McDonnell's St. Louis plant. It takes these men two years to build a spaceship, but from the air of excitement around the sprawling plant, you'd think they started on it this morning and expect to finish by quitting time.

"It's been a team operation from the beginning," says Walter F. Burke, McDonnell vice president in charge of space activities. "Everybody feels like he is part of whatever is going on. I've never seen morale any better. We haven't lost a minute from strikes since we've been in business."

This may be because building spaceships is just plain fun. "I'm working seven days a week, sometimes 10 hours a day," said Winnie Staton, the only woman regularly assigned to the "clean room," where finishing touches are put on the Gemini. "But I love it. I wouldn't do anything else."

When time comes for a space

Finishing Touches

The Gemini 7 spacecraft is encased in a three-tiered framework for finishing touches before it is sent to Cape Kennedy next week in preparation for a 14-day record-breaking space flight about the first of the year. (AP WIREPHOTO) shot, the 35,000 McDonnell employees gather around television sets in the plant. After the lift-off, the voice of James Smith, McDonnell, founder and president of the company, crackles badge like everyone else, often eats lunch with astronauts and welders in the company cafeteria.

When he walks through the plant, McDonnell gets a wave, a nod, a call of greeting.

NOT WORRIED

Unlike many Americans, the people who build the spacecrafts at McDonnell don't get worried when little things go wrong during a flight. When Gemini 5 had its fuel cell trouble, McDonnell engineers calmly told their bosses that the trouble wouldn't stop the mission, that everything would be okay.

In Gemini 6, the fuel cell has been replaced by batteries because it is a shorter flight. Gemini 7, to be delivered next week, will have the fuel cell with a backup system to prevent a recurrence of the trouble. Actually, the fuel cell itself worked better than expected. The trouble came when a heating device stalled, slowing the flow of oxygen into the fuel cell, where it combined with hydrogen to produce power.

After nine successful Mercury and Gemini flights, the McDonnell people are more enthused than ever about their role in the space program. Another 5,000 workers will join their force next year. The plant already is Missouri's biggest employer.

OTHER WORK

All the employees don't work on the spacecrafts. Many are involved in building Phantom jet fighters and reconnaissance planes used by the Air Force, Navy and Marines and Great Britain. With these planes, McDonnell workers also have a big interest in the war in Viet Nam, since Phantoms make up a large part of the carrier-based U.S. force.

McDonnell had a $325-million payroll last year, and it is climbing steadily. The 383-acre complex of 78 buildings adjoins the St. Louis Municipal Airport, where the Phantom jets streak in and out on test missions.

There are few days when you won't find an astronaut at McDonnell. They take simulated space rides in a huge vacuum chamber, check out the various capsule systems in the "clean room." McDonnell employees spend four months examining the 2,000 check points in each craft.

CLEAN ROOM

The clean room technique — with personnel always dressed in operating-room type garb — is employed to keep the most minute dust and lint particles out of the complicated systems in the spacecraft. Each ship has 10.5 miles of wiring. All this care is the reason for the confidence exuded by the men who make the spaceships. One technician, asked if he would like to ride in the ship he was building, replied: "Heck, yes. It's the safest form of travel."

REMINDER, NOT ALARM

If Webb AFB personnel, and residents in and around Webb Village, thought there was a six-alarm fire Saturday, they now know that it is Fire Prevention Week.

Accompanied by Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Cub Scouts, fire fighting equipment from Webb AFB paraded through Webb Village Saturday morning with sirens wailing. The procession was a reminder that this indeed is Fire Prevention Week.

Proposed Atomic Laboratory Sites

This map shows two sites proposed by the Dallas and Fort Worth Chambers of Commerce as locations for the $340-million National Accelerator Laboratory to be built by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. They are designated as site "J" and site "C" because of their alphabetical position in the list of 14 sites originally proposed in June. Both are within short distance of the location of the new Dallas-Fort Worth regional airport. (AP WIREPHOTO MAP)

Regional Airport Improves Chances

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — The new airport which will be one of the world's largest international airports. Spokesmen for the Chambers of Commerce said one site is 18 miles north of Arlington and Grand Prairie and the other is 13.7 miles east of Lewisville. The new airport would be built between Dallas and Fort Worth, just north of Fort Worth's Southwest Airport. The 200 billion electron volt (BEV) accelerator will be the largest of its kind in the world. Refinery Workers Warn Of Major Strike Thursday

DENVER (AP) — The president of the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union said Saturday that management has failed to offer proposals that would avoid a nationwide oil strike at midnight Thursday. The statement by A. F. Grospron followed two days of deliberations by the union's bargaining policy committee. Grospron said unless agreement is reached more than 40,000 union members will strike.

A strike would involve the largest numbers of men in the oil refineries on the West Coast, Gulf Coast, Great Lakes and East Coast, he said. Grospron said the committee took "a long look" at wage increase proposals by various oil companies.

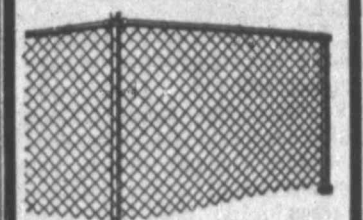

It concluded unanimously, he said, that "The oil industry is trying to chisel on us in at least three ways — on the amount of general wage increases, on the minimum increases for lower-paid people, and on the amount of time to elapse before wage adjustments."

Grospron said the union asked general increases of at least 5 percent with a minimum of 15

UF's Big Gifts To Begin Work

Another wave in the United Fund attack faces its H-hour Monday, when the big gifts division has an organization meeting with plans to complete its work in less than two weeks.

Marvin M. Miller, chairman of the division, has requested his workers to be at the UF office in the Permian Building at 8 a.m. Coffee and doughnuts will be served, and prospect cards will be selected.

The list of big gift prospects already has been contacted by mail, and Miller said a "spend" response was coming in. He said he felt the 18 volunteers should wind up their chore in a short time.

The big gifts division may be able to collect at least 40 per cent of the UF's goal of $99,964.86.

Working with Miller will be Jimmie Beale, Dr. R. B. G. Cowper, Horace Garrett, Ted O. Groeb, G. H. Hayward, Dr. J. E. Hogan, Dr. Fred Lutting, George McAllister, R. V. Middleton, Wendal Parks, Randall Polk, A. J. Prager, Champ Rainwater, Ike Robb, Robert Strippling, Adolph Swartz and R. W. Whipkey.

Church burned

PORT WORTH (AP) — A three-alarm fire levelled the Metropolitan Missionary Baptist (Negro) Church in Southeast Port Worth early Saturday.

Demands Up For District

Water demands continued an upward curve in September for the Colorado River Municipal Water District, reversing a downward demand during the first half of the year.

Deliveries during the month amounted to 1,011,923,972 gallons, an increase of 11.43 per cent over the 900,146,240 gallons delivered in September of 1964.

The increase was well balanced between member cities and the oil companies. The cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder took 693,449,800 gallons, or an increase of 10.90 per cent over the same month a year ago. The oil companies drew 318,474,172, which was up by 12.83 per cent.

September sales boosted the year's total to 8,912,579,170 gallons and reduced the deficit by two full percentage points. Through the first nine months the system was down only 4.68 per cent and there was good prospect that part or all of this would be erased by the year's end.

Odessa required 382,030,000 gallons during September, an increase of 13.07 per cent over the same month a year ago; Big Spring took 235,723,000, up by eight per cent; and Snyder drew 75,696,800, up 10.12 per cent.

Crawford Dies

A. W. Crawford, former resident of Big Spring, died early Saturday morning of a heart attack at Abilene. The body is being taken to Hope, Ark., where the Oak Crest Funeral Home will have charge of arrangements. Burial will be in Shover Springs Cemetery at 4 p.m. Monday. Mr. Crawford lived here in 1950-51. Survivors include a brother, Sam W. Crawford, who lived here until last year.

Enrollment Now At 7,774

Enrollment in Big Spring schools crept close to the expected 7,800 students when the total jumped to 7,774 last week. It was an increase of 43 over last Friday's report, and 130 over the 7,644 enrolled in the same week last year.

Enrollment at all schools, with the gain or loss in parenthesis, showed: Airport 509 (up 8), Bauer 538 (up 8), Boydston 469 (up 5), Cedar Crest 284 (down 2), College Heights 449 (up 1), Gay Hill 99 (up 3), Kentwood 102 (down 2), Lakeview 236 (up 29), March 685 (down 3), Washington 654 (down 1), Goliad Junior High 999 (up 1), Runnels Junior High 930 (down 6), Senior High 48, secondary loss was 10, and 1,360 (down 5), Special Education gain was five for the total of 7,774, or gain of 43.

New Instructor Joins Local Staff At Airport

By M. A. WEBB

The air around Howard County Airport was alive with aircraft Friday afternoon. Private and club airplanes, along with T-41A planes, and some Air Force helicopters were all over the place. The last apparently were headed for Webb Air Force Base.

Although the past week has shown comparatively little transient airplanes coming in, a lot of local and cross country flying was being done. However the Confederate Air Force B-26 was gone from the airport, leaving a big hold on the ramp.

around the terminal hangar is the shop of Big Spring Aero Repair, operated by O. D. Landrum. One can walk into the hangar and see airplanes being repaired, painted or cleaned, most any time. In the shop itself, where a lot of precision work has to be done, one can also see "O.D." with tools in his hand, or an engine part being worked over or replaced. It is one of the vital services for aircraft, including minor repairs, oil changes, 100-hour checks, or major overhauls.

And Howard Loyd has improved the scenery in his office in the terminal building. He has employed Miss Carol Zeman, recently of New York, as an instructor. The young lady has been coming to this area of the country for several years on vacation and says she believes she will like living and working here. She has been flying for about 3 1/2 years, and holds an instructor's license. One of her first jobs here was a dual cross country with Ellis Dyer Thursday.

Two solo cross country flights were chalked up last Saturday when Don Loyd, Howard's son, and Fay Reed, took off alone.

Winston Harper, chief pilot for Cosden, wrote in the Sept. 24 issue of Cosden Copper, that Cosden's pilots and aircraft will be recognized, at the National Business Aircraft Association Convention in Los Angeles Oct. 13, for continuing meritorious safety. The pilots have flown the Cosden craft for more than 2.2 million consecutive miles during the past 11 years without an accident or injury to passengers. Supervisor of Aviation, W. K. (Bill) Edwards Jr., will receive a certificate for having accumulated over 910,000 miles, and Harper will receive an award for over 650,000 miles.

The company has two planes, an eight-passenger, four-engine DeHavilland Heron, and a Cessna 172.

Incidentally the pilots will be flying a big DC-3 for a time while the Heron is getting a major overhaul job in Dallas.

Big Spring Flying Club members using the two airplanes during the week were: Colt-Granbery (2); Cessna Skyhawk—Carol Zeman, Brock (cross country), Neefe (cross country), Stewart (3), Bettie.

Howard County Club members up were: Colt—Garner, Dyer (1 and cross country), Rainwater (2), Massingill, White, Daves (2), Russell; Cherokee 180—White, Dyer, D. Long (2-day cross country), Dodson (4-day cross country).

Some area pilots may want to fly down to Crystal City Nov. 13 (rain date Nov. 20) to take part in activities at an Acrobatic Flight Day and Professional Air Show at the Municipal airport.

There is plenty of air space for practice and a large tie-down area (but take your own ropes and stakes), food and drinks available at the concessions stand, but no tower or unicom. Papa Tiger Frank Price and his Tiger Cubs will put on the show.

It's being sponsored by the Crystal City Athletic Booster Club, and amateur participants should contact Warren Wagner in Crystal City.

Prairie Flower Is Being Moved

TYLER (AP) — The bones of Prairie Flower, daughter of an Indian chief and a famed white mother, are being moved to Oklahoma for reburial in a family plot at Ft. Sill.

She died in 1863 and was buried at a lonely spot near here in East Texas.

Prairie Flower was the daughter of Cynthia Ann Parker, a white girl kidnapped and raised by raiding Comanches. One of her brothers, Chief Quanah Parker, eventually brought peace between his tribe and the white man.

Terrorists Plant Bombs In Saigon

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two bomb explosions in Saigon Saturday killed 11 Vietnamese and wounded 42 persons, including three U.S. servicemen.

The blasts, attributed to Viet Cong terrorists, came six hours and two miles apart.

The spray of deadly metal was the greatest since Viet Cong agents hit the national police headquarters with explosives and machine guns Aug. 16. Those raiders killed six policemen and wounded 15.

COLLISION

Ahead, the collision of two U.S. Air Force A1E Skyraiders on a combat reconnaissance mission about 250 miles north-east of Saigon killed three Americans — the pilots and news photographer Bernard Kolberg, 38, of the Albany (N.Y.) Times-Union.

Kolberg was on leave from his newspaper and was working on an assignment for The Associated Press.

In the Da Nang air base area farther north, it was announced U.S. Marine patrols fatally shot seven Viet Cong in a series of engagements. A spokesman said three were killed by a patrol in the Marble Mountain area only two miles east of Da Nang.

BOOBY TRAP

The Marines were reported to have suffered no losses in these actions, but incurred what were called light casualties from encounters with a guerrilla mine and a booby trap four miles southeast of the town.

The Saigon explosions came at noon and about dusk.

The first roared at the base of a steel utility pole near the Cong Hoa National Stadium, a training center for Vietnamese police officers. Police said nine persons — four Vietnamese children and five police officers — were killed. Thirty-two Vietnamese were wounded.

Experts believed the device was a Claymore type mine, which can be aimed to fire steel pellets like a shotgun.

The second device was an explosive carried in a small taxi, apparently under the rear seat. It went off in front of a Saigon theater, near four American military installations, killing two Vietnamese and wounding 10 persons. One of the dead was believed to be the cab driver.

SUPERFICIAL

Three U.S. servicemen were among the wounded. The injuries of all three, who were not identified, were superficial. They were treated at the U.S. Navy Hospital, 100 yards away, and released.

In addition to the hospital, three military U.S. military billets are in the area. Some of their windows were reported shattered, but nobody was injured there.

U.S. military police at the scene said the blast apparently was premature, for the taxi was in the middle of the street at the time. Sabotage agents using motor vehicles as carriers ordinarily try to park them beside potential targets.

One of the wounded Vietnamese was detained on suspicion he was a Viet Cong involved in the operation.

Rich Heiress Needs Welfare

DALLAS (AP) — A 41-year-old Dallas woman who is the heiress of a $428,609 estate has applied for help from Dallas County welfare.

The woman, Billie Goff, is the step-daughter of building contractor E. B. Goff who died last May.

He left his entire estate, assessed by the court at $428,609, to Miss Goff. But the estate has been tied up in probate since his death and the state law makes no provisions for the court to supply a living income from the estate for step-daughters.

Miss Goff is paralyzed on one side of her body and is unable to speak. This disability prevents her from getting work.

She was down to 35 cents and only enough food for three or four days on Thursday. She continues to live in a plushy $30,000 home.

Court officials said there were several notes, income tax and other items against the estate and these have to be settled before Miss Goff can receive any of the money.

300 Marchers Are Arrested

NATCHEZ, Miss. (AP) — Police arrested some 300 Negroes and a few whites Saturday when they ignored a court order and attempted to march to City Hall. The marchers, led by NAACP state field secretary Charles Evers, left the Beulah Baptist Church singing freedom songs and proceeded about half a block before they came to a police barricade.

Kubitschek Vows To Return To Brazil After Election

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) — Former President Juscelino Kubitschek tossed a political bombshell from 5,700 miles away Saturday on the eve of critical gubernatorial elections in 11 states.

Kubitschek sent word from his self-imposed exile in Paris he would return to Brazil Monday regardless of the showing of the candidates of his Social Democratic Party (PSD). His announcement indicated he was sure of a personal vote of confidence from the Brazilian electorate in the performance of his party's candidates.

"No matter what happens, I will leave tomorrow night for Brazil," Kubitschek said in Paris. "I will arrive in Rio de Janeiro Monday — after the elections, so they won't be able to say I influenced them."

Despite the disclaimer of any political intent in his election eve announcement, Kubitschek's statement gave the Social Democrats a dramatic rallying point only hours before the vote.

Kubitschek left the country after the overthrow of leftist President Joao Goulart last year. He is on a list of persons wanted for questioning by a military investigation commission of President Humberto Castello Branco's government.

By returning, Kubitschek risks possible arrest. He commented: "I return because I believe the democratization process of the regime has started. I am nevertheless ready for any eventuality, including my arrest. It is up to the authorities of my country to now prove their sincerity in saying they are democratic."

Kubitschek was president from 1956 to 1961.

Shower dampened parts of the southeast quarter of Texas Saturday as a vast bank of overcast covered much of the state.

Only the country west of the Pecos and the northern Panhandle were clear. The rains fell south of a line from College Station to Waco to San Angelo.

All the state was cool, with most temperatures in the 60s. Cloudy and cool weather was forecast for the state Sunday, except for the northern Panhandle and extreme Southwest Texas. Those areas were promised fair and warmer weather, until late in the day.

Then a cold front, moving down across Nebraska, was expected to move into the Texas Panhandle after noon Sunday, lowering temperatures.

Rain during the night was expected to spread northward, and also into the South Plains.

Mexico May Get Produce Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Charles Cruziger of the Vegetable Growers Association of America says American vegetable production may shift to Mexico.

Legislation in Congress to fix minimum wage rates for farm workers could well bring this about, he said in a news letter to members of his organization.

"A land survey in Mexico conducted this year indicates 3.5 to 4 million acres of prime agricultural land is available along with adequate water, labor and transportation," he wrote.

The fields are Bourland, Concho Bluff, Cowden, Mac Boring, Moose, Hence, Lawson, Nores, Sonny B, Jordan, Yarbrough & Allen, Tom Roberts, Embarras, Wheeler, South Fasken, Headlee, South Cowden, Addis, Circle Bar, G & W, York, Goldsmith, Harper, Penwell, Moss, Block 11, Martin, Pool, Ratliff, North Cowden, Double H, Barrow, Ector, Donnelly, Slater, TXL, Metz, Wrather, Edwards and Mosswell.

Production Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — American meat production during eight months of 1965 total 20,663,000 pounds, a decline of 3 per cent from a year earlier.

All of the reduction was in pork, lamb and mutton. Beef production leading at nearly 12 billion pounds, was up 1 per cent.

Chancellor Curtis Collins enjoined both the NAACP and the Ku Klux Klan Thursday from any action which might increase racial tensions in the Mississippi River town.

The state Highway Patrol confirmed that some KKK members had come into Natchez during the night.

Sgt. Pope Moved To Lackland AFB

Sgt. Calvin Pope, 331st FIS at Webb AFB, who was injured in Houston Sept. 8 when a F-104 airplane's wheel-well doors malfunctioned, has been transferred from Houston to Lackland AFB for therapy and recuperation, according to his wife.

He is in good condition, Mrs. Pope said Saturday. Pope is assistant line chief for the 331st's William Tell FIS maintenance section. The 331st had been in Houston for over-water firing practice when the accident happened. The mishap occurred on the ground when Pope was servicing the airplane.

The Pops live at 184-A Fairchild.

Cubans Scrub Out Industrial Minister

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Cuba's Communist party scrubbed former Industrial Minister Ernesto Guevara from the party hierarchy Saturday.

The Argentine-born, guerrilla war expert was not included in a 100-member Central Committee named by the party's National Directorate. The committee will direct the party's activities throughout this island nation.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro will head the committee's two major agencies—an eight-member political bureau and six-member secretariat.

Guevara disappeared early in the spring.

Castro, in a speech Tuesday night, said he would read in a few days "a document from Comrade Ernesto Guevara which explains his absence during these months."

The crowd in Revolutionary Plaza cheered the mention of Guevara's name.

Castro scheduled a speech for Sunday night when he promised to tell what had happened to Guevara. The occasion will be the formal induction of the Central Committee members.

Guevara and Castro reportedly disagreed on the development of Cuba's Communist party, economic matters and the degree of cooperation with Russia and Red China.

Experienced observers here said the only other reason for Guevara's exclusion from Central Committee membership, if he is not in disfavor with Castro, is that he is dead.

Shrimpers Settle Claims

CORPUS CHRISTI (AP) — Two shrimp boat captains who saved the foundering luxury cruiser Vida Lee in the Gulf of Mexico in August have reported they settled their claims with an insurance company for $2,250 each.

The craft's owner, Dr. Edwin Conner, also owner of the Parkview General Hospital in Corpus Christi, said the $80,000 Vida Lee was being restored at a nearby Ingleside dry dock at a cost of $28,999 plus $6,000 for each engine.

Mrs. Conner was among eight adults and two children who reached shore without injury after the Vida Lee began sinking the night of Aug. 21 several miles off Port Mansfield.

The shrimpers are Fred Crouch of San Antonio, skipper of the Scotsman, and Doyle Persinger of Brownsville, master of the Rose Marie. They towed the listing Vida Lee safely to port and pumped water from it.

Crouch once claimed two-thirds ownership of the crippled vessel, citing maritime laws.

Brushes Off GOP Takeover

DALLAS (AP) — Robert Welch brushed aside Saturday charges that his John Birch Society had attempted to take over the Republican Party and said he would neither advocate nor endorse a third party movement.

"We have been accused of everything," he told a news conference prior to being honored at a $25-a-plate testimonial dinner. "Now it's petty larceny—stealing the Republican Party."

Welch said he would not advocate nor endorse a third party movement by conservatives because "that would be getting into politics."

"I have no desire for or against a third party," he said. He said that the function of the John Birch Society is "educational only."

Welch was in Dallas for the opening of a new regional office and library. He said Dallas was selected as the site for the office because the city offers an excellent shipping point for printed materials.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A 2-year-old family feud claimed two more lives in a brief, violent gun battle outside a bar.

Police Det. Raymond Beck said Bruno Santana, 57, was leaving the bar last Sunday when a car containing three men drove up.

Twenty-seven-year-old Frederico Gonzalez was sitting in the middle of the front seat.

Beck said Santana pulled a chrome-plated .25-caliber automatic and began firing through the windshield. The driver rolled out of the front seat with a .410 gauge shotgun and fired one blast at Santana, who died instantly, Beck said.

Gonzalez died with three wounds in the neck. Two bullets penetrated the same spot.

Beck said the feud started Dec. 1, 1963, when Gonzalez was accused of killing Santana's 22-year-old son, Marlin.

Since then, at least one other person has been killed and a string of assault charges have been filed by both sides of the two families, migrant farm laborers who work from Texas east to Ohio and then south to Florida.

Gregorio Gonzalez, 22, was killed last March in Miami.

Frederico Gonzalez will be buried in Ramondville, Tex., his widow said.

Meal Costs Go Up, Check Collections High

Due to a lower prison population, the price-per-meal for feeding Howard County prisoners in September was a little higher than the average price which Sheriff A. N. Standard had been able to maintain through the first eight months of the year. The per meal cost was about 18 cents.

There were only 67 prisoners in the jail in September. The grocery bill ran $198.01, and there were 1,066 meals served. The nine months figures show the jail has entertained 631 prisoners and spent $2,694 feeding them. It is estimated the cost per day for feeding prisoners has run about 43 cents. The prisoners are fed two full meals and what the sheriff terms a "half" meal at night. The per meal average for the first two thirds of the year has been about 17 cents.

The worthless check department had a particularly busy month in September, the sheriff said.

One item which boosted the collections to an unprecedented high was the repayment of a large number of large checks by one individual.

There were 334 checks turned into the office for processing during September. The department reported that 274 bad checks were paid off during the month. This is 74 per cent of the total and the collections hit an all time high of $7,262.74. Of this total, $6,169.44 was paid into the deputies in the office. The balance was paid directly to the merchants who had cashed the checks.

In September, 1964, total collections were $3,251.68 and for the same month in 1963, collections were $2,921.44.

The total collections credited to the department since its inception now stand at $146,497.10.

Seventeen warrants were issued in county court for bad checks during September and two felony warrants signed.

Four Bound Over, Three Freed In Truancy Cases

Four persons were bound over for a later trial on truancy charges, three had cases dismissed against them, and four had a decision yet to come. This was the result of a lengthy, tedious and at times heated examining trial Friday in county court on truancy charges against 11 parents and guardians of children who have not enrolled in school.

When court recessed at 5 p.m. Friday, only half of the proceedings had been finished. Posting $100 bonds and bound over for later trial were Enrique Garcia, Gertudez Rodriguez, and Esperanza Lujan. Juan Robles, who waived proceedings, also posted $100 bond.

Abraham Espinosa, who was shown not to be the proper guardian of children in question, and Guerrero Lopez and Decidero Hernandez, whose contention of improper notification was upheld, had cases dismissed by the County Judge Lee Porter.

Judge Porter said he could not get back to the matter before Thursday. He ordered the defendants whose cases have not been handled to be back at that time.

The cases developed as a part of the protest Northside residents have been registering against the closing of Kate Morrison School. Parents of a number of children objected to their attending Lakeview as ordered. Since the school term opened and the period when truancy could be charged began, many of the original boycotters have given in and enrolled their children.

TAX QUESTIONS

Interest Figured Until Tax Paid

These questions and answers on federal tax matters are provided by the Big Spring office of the Internal Revenue Service and answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q. I'm still being charged interest on last year's tax bill. I thought that when I agreed to the audit adjustments and I signed the waiver agreement that interest charges would be stopped. Isn't that right?

A. Not quite. After the waiver is signed, the Revenue Service has 30 days in which to issue a bill. If it does not act within that time, interest is suspended on the additional tax due from a date 30 days after the waiver is filed until the date the bill is issued. After the bill is issued, the taxpayer has 10 days within which to make payment without the further accrual of interest. If payment is not made within the 10-day period, additional interest accrues from the date of the bill to the date of payment.

Q. I run a small truck farm. Do I have to pay the highway use tax on my trucks?

A. You will have to pay the tax on any truck required to be registered for highway use and coming within one of the taxable categories which you use to take produce to market, carry seed and fertilizer, or otherwise operate on the public roads. Farm tractors and other equipment which do not normally operate on the roads are not subject to tax. For further details see IRS Publication No. 349, "Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Truck Tractors, and Buses," which can be obtained from your local IRS office.

Q. I couldn't find a copy of the form 1040-ES, "Declaration of Estimated Income Tax," at the local post office where I usually get tax forms. How can I get a copy?

A. Copies of this form along with the 1965 tax rates and tables are available at any local Internal Revenue Service office. Ask for Publication No. 463.

Q. A civic association is being formed in the new development I recently moved into. We've been talking about fund-raising events to give us the money we need to do some landscaping and put in more recreational facilities. How can we avoid paying taxes on this money?

A. The rules and procedures an organization should follow to obtain tax exempt status are described in IRS Document No. 5551, "How to Apply for Exemption for Your Organization." The publication is written in non-technical terms and is available at no charge from our local offices.

Q. I am organizing a corporate business and will use a fiscal year rather than a calendar year. What are my due dates for excise and withholding tax returns and the like?

A. A taxpayer using a fiscal year must observe the same due dates as the calendar year taxpayer for all returns except income tax returns and estimated income tax returns. Excise returns, Social Security and withholding tax deposits and returns all must be made by the deadlines established for calendar year taxpayers.

The "Tax Calendar and Check List for 1965," Document No. 5046, lists the due dates for returns filed by fiscal and calendar year taxpayers. This publication is free from the District Director's office.

Dodgers Clinch National Pennant Behind Koufax

Sandy Allows Only 4 Hits

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Los Angeles clinched the National League pennant in typical Dodger fashion Saturday, defeating Milwaukee 3-1 behind the four-hit pitching of Sandy Koufax and a two-run, fifth-inning rally built on one hit.

The victory, their 14th in the last 15 games, climaxed a 17-day comeback that brought the Dodgers from 4½ games behind San Francisco to their third pennant in seven years and their seventh in the last 14.

The Dodgers now face the American League champion Minnesota Twins in the World Series starting Wednesday at Minnesota.

Koufax, working for the clincher with only two days rest instead of his usual three, gained his 26th victory against eight defeats. He went into the game with shutouts in his last five victories but was tagged for a leadoff home run by Gene Oliver in the fourth inning.

The brilliant 29-year-old left-hander, who was battered by the Braves only 10 days ago, struck out 13, raising his major league record total to 382 for the season.

Oliver's homer offset a run the Dodgers scored without a hit in the first inning. Jim Gilliam walked, stole second, continued to third when catcher Oliver fired the ball into center field and raced across on Tony Cline's wild pitch.

Cline, now 24-11, started the fifth by walking Lou Johnson, and Jim Lefebvre followed with a single past third baseman Mike de la Hoz that sent Johnson to third.

Wes Parker then grounded to first baseman Joe Torre, who fired to the plate. But Johnson headed back to third, and Oliver whipped the ball to de la Hoz. Johnson slid back into the base safely, and the Braves argued to no avail that he was out.

With the bases loaded, Cline walked Roseboro, forcing in the tie-breaking run. The Braves' ace right-hander then went to three balls and no strikes against Koufax, and Manager Bobby Bragan called in Ken Johnson.

Johnson's first pitch was a ball, and the Dodgers had another run.

Bears Lose Tilt And Star Passer

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Florida State cashed in on a 49-yard pass play late in the fourth quarter to beat the stubborn Bears of Baylor 9-7 Saturday night.

With 5:16 left, quarterback Ed Pritchett caught speedy flankerback T. K. Weatherall open and he went all the way.

Baylor's star passer, Terry Southall, was knocked out of the game and possibly most of the rest of the season when he suffered a broken left ankle early in the first quarter.

Baylor scored its only touchdown without him on an 82-yard drive, right after Florida State kicked a 31-yard field goal in the first quarter.

Southall was smothered by three Seminole linemen on Baylor's fourth play from scrimmage.

Second string quarterback Roger Marshall led the Bears to a touchdown the first time he got his hands on the ball. The Bears went 82 yards on an 82-yard drive, right after Florida State kicked a 31-yard field goal in the first quarter.

Richard DeFee, Baylor's 170-pound halfback who can do 100 yards in 9.7 seconds, covered 39 yards in three plays during the first period drive.

FSU got its first three points after a drive that stalled on the Baylor 21. Sophomore Pete Roberts was called in and kicked one that barely made it through the crossbars.

Penalties, fumbles, interceptions and hard-charging defensive linemen stalled all other drives.

Baylor lost its last chance to go ahead following Florida State's fourth quarter touchdown when a field goal attempt from the 21-yard line by Bob Purvis went wide of the mark.

Leaky Longhorns Drub Hoosiers

AUSTIN (AP) — Top-ranked Texas' vaunted defense leaked for two Indiana touchdowns Saturday night, but the Longhorns cranked up four scoring drives to whip the Hoosiers 27-12 in an intercollegiate game.

Texas, a three-touchdown favorite, held only a 7-6 lead midway of the second quarter, but rallied for two tallies in that period and another in the third quarter, pushing its record to 5-0.

All the Longhorn score were on long marches, moving 66 yards on their shortest drive.

Indiana, which had trouble in its first two games cranking up its offense, scored on touchdown passes of 7 and 62 yards from Frank Stavroff to split end Bill Malinchak, who wears soccer shoes and no belt so he will carry less weight.

A quartet of the Big Ten Conference team's backs also slashed the Texas defense for 144 yards, more than double what the Longhorns allowed in their first two games.

FIRST BLOOD
Harris ripped for four yards, behind blocks by Kristynik and Stockton, for a touchdown on Texas' first series with the ball.

Stockton was evicted from the game when he got into a scuffle with Indiana's Eickstead, also taken out, on the conversion play.

Indiana stunned Texas in the third quarter when Stavroff rushed and almost tackled, clipped a high pass which Malinchak hauled in over his shoulder and outraced Jim Helms for a 62-yard touchdown. The Hoosiers took only 3 plays and 1:18 to get the tally. A pass for a two-point conversion failed.

Texas moved for 257 yards on the ground and 108 on passes, compared to Indiana's totals of 144 yards rushing and 147 yards passing.

The Longhorns, stalled by vicious defensive play by Indiana's end Alan Voorhis and safety John Durkott, struck up the middle for most of its yardage. Besides Harris' long jaunt, fullback Charles Owens raced 40 yards but was caught from behind.

Michigan State Stops Illinois

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State, frustrated in the early part of the game and hampered by bad breaks in the first half, roared back for two touchdowns in the final quarter and stopped Illinois 22-12 in the Big Ten football opener for both schools Saturday.

Giants Stay Alive - Almost

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — For a fleeting moment the San Francisco Giants maintained their slim chance of tying for the National League pennant Saturday, edging Cincinnati 3-2 as Willie Mays and Jim Hart rapped key hits in a three-run, sixth-inning uprising.

It went for naught as the Dodgers came on later to beat Milwaukee 3-1 and win a World Series birth.

The Dodgers and Braves were tied 1-1 in the fifth inning. Giants' starter Ron Herbel and Cincinnati's Jim O'Toole, who was working on a one-hitter, were locked in a scoreless tie until the sixth inning when Tito Fuentes got things started for the Giants by drawing a leadoff walk.

Willie McCovey then pushed Fuentes to second base with a sacrifice and with Mays at bat, the Reds held a lengthy conference at the mound. It was decided to pitch to Mays, who promptly drilled a single to left center that brought Fuentes home. Hart followed with a triple to right field and scored what turned out to be the decisive run on a sacrifice fly by Jesus Alou.

Duke Buries Rice, 41-21

HOUSTON (AP) — Scotty Glacken bombed Rice University with four touchdowns passes in the first half Saturday night as the Duke Blue Devils crushed the Owls, 41-21, in intercollegiate football.

Duke was favored by only three points to protect its undefeated record but Glacken's pass settled the issue quickly. The Blue Devils held a 20-0 lead before Rice got its offense under way. Even then Duke held its own as the teams scored four back-to-back second period touchdowns in just five minutes and 18 seconds.

Glacken completed 9 of 13 passes for 254 yards and the four touchdowns enabled him to tie the Duke and South Atlantic Conference records he set in 1963 against Clemson for the most scoring passes in a single game.

Duke held a 34-14 halftime lead and Glacken, who hit seven of eight passes for 221 yards the first two periods, played only briefly the second half. Reserves dominated the Duke lineup the final 30 minutes but the Red Devils turned a Rice fumble into a 43-yard touchdown drive in the third period, Page Wilson scoring from the one.

Tech Finally Emerges On Top After Frantic Finale

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — All-America Donny Anderson grabbed a lateral and ran 42 yards Saturday night as Texas Tech beat Texas A&M in as wild a final three minutes as was ever played in football.

Texas Tech went ahead of the Aggies with 2:44 left in the game. The Aggies went ahead at 1:38 and then Tech came back with one minute and seven seconds on the clock to win 20-16. Excitement left the crowd of 43,000 limp.

The play that broke the Aggies back started with Tom Wilson passing over the middle to Jerry Shipley on the Aggie 42.

Shipley and Anderson crossed each other's paths and Shipley tossed the ball in a short shovel. The All-America scattered to his left and crossed the goal line. The play covered 49 yards.

A&M went ahead in the first half 10-0 and it appeared Tech still was stunned by the 33-7 loss to Texas last week.

But Mike Linart took a pitch-out for one yard to score and put Tech ahead 13-10 in the fourth quarter.

A little more than one minute later, Harry Ledbetter cranked off a pass to Jim Stabler, who was alone, and Stabler trotted over for an Aggie counter score.

It was a 40-loss with a minute and 38 seconds remaining. Anderson made Tech's first touchdown, receiving an eight-yard toss from Wilson.

The Aggies ground out 57 yards in 13 plays for their first touchdown, with Ledbetter passing to Lloyd Curington for 3 yards for the final distance.

The Aggies beat their way 55 yards in 10 plays in the second quarter but could get no closer than the 5 and Glynn Lindsey kicked a field goal.

The Aggies were sharp throughout the first two quarters, leading in ground and aerial yardage against the sluggish Red Raiders.

but Tech's revival in the final quarter gave each team an identical 79 yards rushing. Tech swamped the Aggies 238 to 190 in the air.

THEY CALL IT FOOTBALL

MORGANTOWN W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia's Allen McCune outdueled Pitt's Kenny Lucas Saturday as the Mountaineers defeated the Panthers 63-48 in a fantastic scoring battle that broke all offensive records in their 60-year football rivalry.

McCune was near perfect as he threw five touchdown passes and ran for another score.

West Virginia nearly ran the Panthers out of the stadium in the early stages of the first half, building up a 21-0 lead before Lucas unlimbered his throwing arm.

Lucas, one of the nation's leading college passers, brought the Panthers back for three second quarter touchdowns as they went into the dressing room trailing 28-20 at halftime.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Wayne Edmunds raced 13 yards for a touchdown with 1:03 to play and led Colgate to a 7-0 victory over Yale Saturday afternoon when both teams had put on a terrific defensive show.

Irish Revive In Late Rally

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Safety Nick Rassas suddenly switched from goat to hero, racing 92 and 72 yards for touchdowns to give embattled Notre Dame a 35-7 victory over Northwestern in the Irish home football opener Saturday.

With inspired Northwestern ahead 7-6 late in the third quarter, Rassas seemingly handed the Wildcats another scoring chance when he fumbled a punt and Northwestern recovered on Notre Dame's 20.

But three plays later, the 185-pound senior intercepted a Wildcat pass on the Irish eight and raced 92 yards behind a bevy of blockers for a touchdown.

Then, in Notre Dame's runaway final quarter, Rassas completely demoralized Northwestern by streaking 72 yards through the entire Wildcat team for his second touchdown. Notre Dame 35-7 Northwestern 0-7

Hughes Is Making Good

The relocation expense could amount to $500,000, all of which will be underwritten by the Atlanta people. . . . Bordeaux, France, 1869. . . . There's a story making rounds that Howard Payne College likely will drop football after this year, unless the Yellow Jackets emerge with a winning record — and the outlook looks bleak.

Probably you weren't aware of the fact that Roy Thurston, now superintendent of schools at Garden City, was head coach at Snyder High School during the latter part of World War II.

Of the experience, Thurston modestly says, "I was no coach. I just filled in, because they didn't have anyone else." . . . Thurston, whose 1944 Snyder club won two, lost six and tied one, has also coached on the junior high level in Big Spring and had coaching tenures at New Home and Patton Springs, San Angelo and Lake View. . . . He was succeeded at Snyder by Tommy Beene. . . . The defeat suffered by Snyder at the hands of Big Spring last week was the Tigers' 22nd under coach Horrace Bostick, compared to 22 wins over a going-on-five year period. . . . Contrary to some talk making the rounds here, all those 81 boys out for football on the seventh grade level at Runnels Junior High will have all their eligibility remaining. . . . Claud Tucker, the Yearlings' ninth grade back, will be able to play his senior year, contrary to a previous report. . . . It's his team-mate, Jesse Brown, who can't play as a senior because he'll be too old by one day. . . . Garden City Rolls, 34-6

GARDEN CITY — The hometown Bearcats rolled for 204 yards and five scores Friday night, blasting the Whitharrel Panthers at will, winding up on top of a lopsided 34-6 victory.

Vernon Newsom passed to Riley Chandler for 18 yards to open the scoring, and sophomore quarterback Ronnie Hirt lobbed one to Chandler for the two extra points. The Panthers got in the act but once, in the first stanza, when Johnny Timpson punched across the Bearcat 1 yard line for six points.

After that, it was all Bearcat action. Newsom ran for 7 yards and a tally late in the first period, and early in the second intercepted a pass, and ran it 40 yards for another chalk mark. In the third period Gary Vaughn ran 18 yards for sixes and Hirt threw to Gary Robinson for two more points. The final score came on a one-yard plunge by Hirt.

Special praise from the coach came for John Wyckoff, defensive halfback who intercepted a Panther pass to stop a threatening drive; and Mike Hoch, defensive linebacker who recovered three Panther fumbles. Coach Jack Woodley played his entire bench in the uneven contest, and said Hirt showed to advantage in the game. The win was the fourth for the Bearcats. The Panthers lost their fourth in a row.

COLORADO CITY — Surprising punch and dogged goal line stands earned Colorado City's Wolves a stunning 12-7 upset over the Haskell Indians in a 5-AA opener here Friday.

Hardly had the 2,000 shivering fans adjusted to the biting, dusty north wind before Colorado City had its first score. They added to it in the second and then repulsed Haskell's offense during the last half.

Colorado City jarred sophomore quarterback Tim Everett from the ball after the opening kickoff and recovered on the 30. It took 10 plays to get the score when Wayne Snowden, senior quarterback, rolled right and end. His kick for extra point was wide.

An interception by Ronnie Lamb almost gave the Wolves another score. David Way, who was leading gainer with 79 yards in 22 tries, joined with Donnie Higginbotham to carry to the one-foot line with only 15 seconds to go. It was fourth down, but Higginbotham rose to the occasion to bull his way over.

Bobby Watson, veteran quarterback, rallied the Indians in the last half. He engineered a 49-yard drive to the one-yard line but was out of bounds on the fourth down try. The Wolves, however, were gallant — they fumbled the ball back on the 10, and Thornton Gilmore romped for the score from there. Bill Perry added the point.

Once more Haskell threatened, but with 1:42 left, the Wolves rose up and stalled the last Haskell drive on the 19.

Loraine First Score Fires Stanton To 50-12 Runaway

LORLAINE — Loraine's Bulldogs scored their first points of the year Friday night, and they proved to be the pebble that started a Stanton landslide which buried the hapless Bulldogs, 50-12, in a frenetic Class A contest.

Loraine scored first when Dink Polson, the Buffaloes' fine halfback, fumbled the kickoff on his own 40. Bulldog quarterback Kenneth Brame carried over from the 2 yard line after a seven-play march upon the surprised Buffs. The try for extra points fizzled.

Evidently that angered Polson, for the fast back carried seven consecutive plays after the kickoff, breaking off-tackle for 48 yards and the score on the seventh carry. Quarterback Buddy Shanks passed to Roy Powell for two points to put Stanton ahead — permanently, as it turned out. The Loraine score came with 9:45 left in the first period, the Stanton score came with 5:10 left.

Loraine moved for a first down on its own 43. Then a bit of trickery that would have pleased Darrell Royal fouled up the Bulldog drive. Brame handed off to Stanley Hackfeld, who dropped back awaiting a receiver, but Buff end Bobby Holland came charging through, grabbed the ball from Hackfeld and kept going until 40 yards later he was across the goal with the beginning of the landslide. The score came with 2:35 remaining in the first half. Shanks lobbed the ball to Polson for the two points.

It got worse. Polson — who played like a puppy dog with a dose of High Life, garnered an astounding 247 yards offense, 96 of it as a pass receiver — moved for a first and goal at the Loraine 10 moments later. At the opening of the second period Shanks scored from the four. Shanks passed to Mike Hall with 11:45 remaining for the extra gravy. Score: 24-6.

Loraine, still trying, moved to the Stanton 25, mostly on hand-offs from Brame to Randy Britton, but ran out of downs. Then Shanks and his riled-up Buffs, who knew by now they had their first win of the season wrapped up, moved from their own 25 to the Loraine 32. From this point Shanks passed to Roy Powell for another score with 3:20 left in the first half. The kick missed.

First shot out of the next Loraine cannon was another blank. Brame passed toward Hackfeld, who missed, but Polson did not, and rammed 45 yards with the theft for another tally with 2:45 remaining. Kick again missed. Score: 36-6.

Loraine then came up with a beauty. Forced to punt, Hackfeld booted 48 yards, Shanks fumbled on his own six, and the Bulldogs recovered. Two plays later, Randy Britton went over for the Bulldogs' last score of the night. There was 1:25 on the halftime clock. Brame's pass to Mike McDaniel missed.

With 11:34 minutes remaining in the third, Polson broke tackle for 52 yards and another score. The kick missed. The two teams, Stanton's reserves being used for most of the last half, traded kicks until with 16 seconds left in the game, the first string came in and Shanks fired a seven-yard pass to Holland for the final score. He passed to Polson for the two extra points.

It was nearly 56-12. A Brame to Britton pass was picked off by a lineman whose number wasn't listed on the roster and the Buff rolled to the Bulldog 2 as the gun sounded.

Loraine is now 0-4, Stanton is 1-3.

Sands Upends Old Rival By Defeating Gail, 20-8

GAIL — The Sands Mustangs definitely established themselves as one of the teams to beat in District 3-B eight man football, by defeating the Borden County Coyotes of Gail, an old rival, 20-8, in both teams conference opener.

Sands is now undefeated in four games and seems to get stronger with every outing. Coach Eddie Gill credited the entire team with a fine performance.

Gail took an 8-0 lead early in the first quarter when Don Nunally, halfback, skirted around right end and raced 45 yards for the TD. David Lansford added the extra points on an end run.

Seconds later the game was tied up.

Sands started its next series of downs on its own 20. On the first play from scrimmage, Ricky Kemp, behind the block of Robert Bagwell, Dennis Wells, and John Calvio, shot through the line and out ran the secondary on a play that covered 60 yards. Kemp ran the extra points to tie the game at eight all.

SECOND SCORE

Alfonso Calvio capped a 63 yard drive by the Mustangs by going the last yard on an end run. J. Calvio's PAT kick was no good. The big play in this particular drive was a 23 yard pass play from quarterback Glynn Harrell to end Oren Lancaster. This play moved the ball to the Coyote seven.

Gail could not mount a drive in the second quarter, so Sands — nursed a 14-8 lead at halftime.

Sands added an insurance tally late in the third period of play. Harrell dropped back and hit Jesse Cavazos with a beautiful — ss. Cavazos gathered it in at the 30 and raced across the goal line untouched. The play covered 55 yards and ended the scoring for the night. J. Calvio's PAT kick was blocked.

The Coyotes made one serious threat late in the fourth quarter as they drove down to the Sands 10. The Mustang defense responded and took over on downs. The Sands offense then simply ran out the clock.

Dawson comes to Ackerly next Saturday night to meet Sands in the latter teams Homecoming. Sands will be trying to hold onto its share of first place in the district standings.

Lamesa Upsets M'Hans, 14-9

LAMESA — The Lamesa Tornados shook off a bad opening kickoff break to punch out its first win of the season Friday, upsetting Monahans 14-9.

This gives Lamesa a 1-3 record, Monahans 2-2.

Lamesa fumbled on the opening play but Monahans had to settle for a field goal from the 10. This stirred up the tornado winds, with Lamesa blowing back on a 70-yard drive. Bob Wiggins tossed to end Gary Mayfield for the last 11 yards.

Monahans recaptured the lead in the third when Gregg Short rammed over from the four after Monahans had eaten up 10:14 minutes in the drive.

It made no difference, for Lamesa buckled down in the final round on a 46-yard push. Fullback Louis Jenkins barreled over from the one with the winning score. Ken Flaniken kicked both conversions for Lamesa.

COAHOMA — Ringmaster Spike Dykes stabled his fleet horses after leisurely building up a first half lead and the reserves more than held their own in the final two periods as Coahoma opened its District 6-A football season with a whopping 44-0 victory over Roby here Friday night.

Like a parachute jumper who aims for a circle, Dykes could have named the score in advance and come close to it had he not shown a compassion for the invading Lions.

STAY ON GROUND
The Bulldogs, in the process of winning their fourth straight game, built up a 35-0 lead before the half. Coahoma was content to stay on the ground — the Big Red took to the air only three times and then, from all indications, only to "keep its hand in."

Quarterback Marshall Williams, fast emerging as one of the most talented navigators in West Texas, got Coahoma's first score with a 4-20 to go in the opening period when he faked a handoff and rolled out for 79 yards.

Williams benefitted from a couple of fifty blocks along the way and left the defense a shambles on a fine run. The drive went 80 yards in just two plays, after which end Mike Mosley booted the PAT to make it 7-0.

With 1:02 to go in the first period, Tough Tony Butler — the fullback with clout and a penchant for using it — got Coahoma's second touchdown on a nine-yard bolt up the middle. That particular march steamed 48 yards in five plays. Williams proceeded to pass to Howard Gregory for the two extra points and Coahoma led, 15-0. It developed Roby was merely headed into the eye of the storm. With 1:15 gone in the second, Williams sought out Bobby Pherrigo on a 23-yard pass play that resulted in a third Coahoma TD. The drive covered 51 paces and required only two plays. Johnny Gibson setting up the score with a dazzling cake — walk from his own 49 down to the Lions' 23. Butler boomed across for the two extra points and Coahoma's lead mounted to 23.

The spotlight again shifted to Butler a short time later when he slithered through the line and set sail for the goal 88 yards away. His blockers performed like Moses at the Red Sea and Tony knew when to go into full throttle. A would-be tackler trailed Butler down to about the Rotan 20 but turned to try and out-muscle some of Butler's convoy rather than him and Tony breezed on in unimpeded. Chuck Pherrigo ran across the two extra points and Coahoma's lead mounted to 31-0.

OGLESBY IN RUN
Coahoma got on the scoreboard again in the last few minutes of the second quarter when quarterback Wayne Oglesby pulled out and footed it 14 yards to the Happy Hunting grounds at the end of a 46-yard surge that he himself engineered.

Butler proceeded to drop kick the extra point and the Bulldogs' advantage mounted to 38-0.

Reserve halfback Eddie Torres, whose open-field running delights the spectators, got Coahoma's final tally on a five-yard dash through right tackle, with 2:15 left in Round Three. The sprint climaxed a 73-

Bulldogs Bruise Roby

Johnny Gibson (48) cuts loose on a 25-yard run to climax a 51-yard drive that ended two plays later in a Coahoma score. This was typical of the Coahoma's 44-0 victory in its first conference game. Terry Neepner (68) tries vainly to come up as Mike Mosley (84) puts a block to Gil Cherry, the Roby defender. Below, Cherry again has absorbed a devastating block as Terry Denton (22) cuts back for another Coahoma gain. (Photos by Ken Good) yard offensive pieced together almost exclusively by reserves. The Bulldogs needed only seven plays to get the score.

Before the final whistle, Dykes was afforded an opportunity of looking at all his personnel under fire and some of the younger boys responded to the challenge like a hungry bass goes after a worm.

Bills Lean Heavily On Veteran J. Kemp

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

The major difference between Jack Kemp and Joe Namath is $399,900.

While the New York Jets acquired Namath for $400,000, the Buffalo Bills paid only $100 for Kemp, who suddenly has emerged as the No. 1 quarterback in the American Football League.

SHARED DUTIES

Only last year Kemp was forced to share the Bills' signal-calling duties with his relief pitcher, Daryle Lamonica. But the 30-year-old Kemp again will be in charge as Buffalo seeks to maintain the AFL's only unblemished record in Sunday's game against Oakland.

The Bills-Raiders game at Buffalo highlights a four-game Sunday schedule that also includes Houston at San Diego, Boston at Kansas City and New York at Denver.

In what has to be one of the biggest bargains in pro football history, the Bills grabbed Kemp in 1962 for $100 after San Diego Coach Sid Gillman apparently had placed his No. 1 quarterback on the waiver list in a move designed to get him onto the inactive roster.

LEADING FORCE

Kemp had been a leading force as the Chargers won the Western Division title in 1961 but broke a middle finger on his passing hand back in 1962. John Hadl was out with a cracked ribs, so Gillman's only move was to try and activate Dick Wood from his taxi squad. Gillman then put Kemp on waivers. The Bills didn't wait, immediately claiming the former Occidental star.

Kemp, however, matured slowly and not until the final games of the 1964 season when he led the Bills to the league championship did he seem to put everything together. But now he's No. 1 in the league with 61 completions in 126 attempts for 852 yards and three touchdowns.

Willie West, a former teammate of Kemp's at Buffalo who now is with the Jets as a defensive back, summed up Kemp's transition after Buffalo defeated New York 33-21 last week.

"Jack always had the intelligence and the ability," said West. "Now he has married the two. And he's a great quarterback."

HURT HOUSTON

Kemp will be leading the Bills against an Oakland team that last week put the first blemish on Houston's record, beating the Oilers 21-17. Tom Flores returned at quarterback for the Raiders, who may finally have started to put their offense into high gear.

The Oilers, meanwhile, tackle the Chargers, who were held to a 10-10 tie last week by a Kansas City team that handcuffed the Hadl to Lance Alworth passing combination.

Houston is getting solid performances from running back Ode Burrell but the Chargers have the stronger ground game with Paul Lowe and rookie Gene Foster still holding Keith Lincoln's job. If Hadl can reassert San Diego's passing game, the Chargers will be tough.

Boston still has not won and Babe Parilli still has not been able to get the Patriots' passing attack rolling. Parilli, the league's all-star quarterback last season, has hit on only .344 per cent of his passes.

Len Dawson, the Chiefs' quarterback, finally seems to have gotten himself unbound after a slow start, and the Chiefs proved particularly strong on defense last week.

The Bronco-Jets game figures to be a two-pointed battle with Denver quarterback Mickey Slaughter and running back Cookie Gilchrist second in their departments in the league statistics while Namath and running back Matt Snell rank third in each.

CLEVELAND, PACKERS FAVORED

Teams Eye Comeback

By JACK HAND

Associated Press Sports Writer

Cleveland and Baltimore attempt to come back from disappointing defeats Sunday in key National Football League games and St. Louis' high-powered passing game will bump up against Dallas' stubborn defense in the lone Monday night special at St. Louis.

The defending champion Browns (1-1) are favored to get back in stride at Philadelphia (1-1) and the Colts (1-1) are the choice over the unbeaten San Francisco 49ers (2-0) at Baltimore.

Green Bay (2-0) is expected to march along to its third straight in its home opener at the expense of the Chicago Bears, (0-2). Minnesota, (0-2), is favored to get going at Los Angeles, (1-1), and Detroit, (2-0), is a one-touchdown choice over Washington, (0-2), at Detroit. New York, (1-1), at Pittsburgh, (0-2), in the other Sunday contest is regarded an even game.

The Cardinals, (1-1), who bombed the Browns 49-13 last week with Charley Johnson's six touchdown passes' face a serious challenge at home Monday night when they take on Dallas

(2-0), which has given up only one TD.

Frank Ryan, Cleveland quarterback, came out of the St. Louis game with a bruised arch and his status has been doubtful. Linebacker Vince Costello has a bruised knee but Galen Eiss is expected back at his linebacker job.

The Eagles will be without their punter-place kicker Sam Baker, who is injured. Dave Lloyd will handle the field goal work and King Hill the punting. Jim Brown vs. Tim Brown is the order of the day.

Johnny Unitas came up with a sore right shoulder early in the week and Lenny Lyles has bruised ribs but is expected to play for Baltimore. The 49ers have linebacker Ed Beard and flanker Dale Messer on the questionable list. It will be John Brodie's passing against that tough Colt rush line.

The Packers were battered by the Colts last week and Bart Starr, Paul Hornung, Boyd Dowler and Jim Taylor have been doubtful factors all week. Nobody knows how much Vince Lombardi can expect from them against the Bears who get linebacker Larry Morris back from retirement.

Minnesota is aching for a win after those two defeats and is healthy and raring to go against the Rams, who have defensive men Rosey Grier and Lamar Lundy on the doubtful list. It will be interesting to see how Terry Baker, the hero of last Sunday's victory, fares against the Vikings.

Detroit is rolling in high gear after two victories behind Milt Plum and will pull out all the stops to keep rolling at Washington. The Redskins expect to have Charley Taylor back in harness which should give their sagging offense a big boost. Pat Richter also will be ready to resume punting.

Pittsburgh's battered Steelers, still without John Henry Johnson, have lost Red Mack and Lee Fulkens for at least two games. New York, a winner for the first time last week on Andy Stynchula's three field goals, counts on Earl Morrall's passes and Tucker Frederickson's running to give it the edge. Steve Thurlow, Dave O'Brien and Pete Case all are question marks.

Dallas comes up to a big game at St. Louis with quarterback Don Meredith sub par due to a sore back. The Cards will be without receiver Billy Campbell for two weeks due to a pulled muscle but Sonny Randle is ready to catch and Johnson is primed to pitch. Both the Cowboys and Cards are proud of their ability to get the passer.

Blacken the Fish — Better the Day for Fishing

Montgomery Is PP&K Official

Jimmy Montgomery, lab technician at Malone and Hogan clinic, has been named Competition Director for the Big Spring Punt, Pass and Kick competition, it was announced by Bob Brock, vice president of Shasta Ford Sales, sponsor of the program here.

Co-sponsor is the Optimists Club.

Montgomery is coach of the American Little League Pirates here during the summer.

Boys eight through 13 can register without charge at Shasta anytime between now and next Saturday.

The entries will compete against boys their own age in punting, pass and place kicking distance and accuracy. The competition will be held in the old stadium at Tenth and State streets next Saturday.

Montgomery said that he felt that all boys who entered the competition would have a lot of fun. Many prizes and trophies are at stake in this competition.

District and area winners win trips to NFL games and 12 finalists qualify for trips to the NFL Play-off Bowl game. No special equipment is needed for entries, it has been emphasized.

Upon registration, the boys receive a booklet of PP&K tips written by Minnesota Vikings' punter Bobby Walden, Cleveland's star quarterback, Frank Ryan, and place-kicker Jim Bakken of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Each participant will also receive a PP&K tie-label pin.

Points will be awarded for each foot of distance the ball travels on the fly. Points will be subtracted for each foot the ball lands to the left or right of a center line.

Winning 8-, 9- and 10-year-old boys will receive NFL-type warm-up jackets. Each second place winner will receive a sturdy football helmet. Third place winners will be awarded regulation size PP&K footballs. Winning 11-, 12- and 13-year-old boys will receive gold, silver and bronze trophies. A total of 18 awards will be presented.

Scores of the local winners will be compared with other winners to determine the six best scores in each of 362 Ford Zones, or 2,172 zone winners. Next stop for these zone winners will be competitions in each of the 37 Ford Districts where 222 District champions will receive trophies. All 222 district champions will attend an NFL game (with their fathers) to compete for area champions. All area champions will travel to division events at two NFL cities to compete for 12 division championships.

The finalists, six from the NFL eastern division and six from the NFL western division, will get to go (with both of their parents) on a "Tour of Champions" to Washington, D.C. Following that, the 12 finalists and their parents will travel to the annual NFL Play-off Bowl game at which they will compete for national PP&K championships.

Palmer Leads American Team In Cup Matches

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — Arnold Palmer, fighting a prolonged slump but still a feared competitor, leads a heavily favored United States team against the British this week in the 18th Ryder Cup professional golf matches.

This year's competition in the biennial series will be played next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Royal Birkdale course, a rugged seaside layout of 7,073 yards.

Palmer, once the world's predominant golfer but now playing in the shadow of young Jack Nicklaus, is familiar with Royal Birkdale. He won the British Open here in 1962 and played in the same tournament here this year, as did Tony Lema.

Others on the American team, which has Byron Nelson as non-playing captain, are: PGA champion Dave Marr, Julius Boros, Billy Casper, Ken Venturi, Gene Littler, Tommy Jacobs, Don January and Johnny Pott. Mike Souchak is the alternate.

Making the Ryder Cup team is a high point in prestige for U.S. pros, who are chosen on the basis of performance by the PGA. Nicklaus still is considered an apprentice as far as cup play is concerned and was ineligible for the squad.

Harry Weetman, long-time Ryder Cup competitor, is non-playing captain of this year's British team. His players are Bernard Hunt, Christy O'Connor, Peter Allis, Neil Coles, Peter Butler, Lionel Platts, Jimmy Martin, George Will, Dave Thomas and Jimmy Hitchcock. With virtually the same U.S.-British line-up, the Americans won the last time 23 points to 9, at Atlanta in 1963. That gave the United States a 12-3 lead in the series which was started in 1927 by Samuel Ryder, a wealthy British seed merchant.

"United, there is little we cannot do..."

HERBERT HOOVER "The true hope of progress is in the spiritual field, and these are the helpful actions in the world and the worthwhile things in the community. The Community Chest stands for this spiritual growth. It occupies a position that must constantly be built stronger if we would build the spiritual side of American life..."

CALVIN COOLIDGE Among the first Presidents to endorse the United Way of voluntary support of community health, welfare and recreation services while in office. He said: "I'm glad to give. The Community Chest is a fine idea."

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT "Care of the aged, service to demoralized families, hospitalization of the needy sick, home nursing, settlements, guidance of youth, care of the children without a chance—these and hundreds of other services are in the hands of your local welfare organization... they must not be forgotten..."

LYNDON B. JOHNSON "One of our enduring American traditions has been the voluntary contribution of time and money to strengthen our country's many communities. Nowhere else in the world do people give so generously toward this end. Millions of Americans perform both a public service and an act of human compassion by their participation in and generosity to their United Fund or Community Chest. In doing so, they express a common desire to help their community assist the young and old, the sick and distressed."

HARRY S. TRUMAN "The Community Chest gives us a chance to make sure our help will really count. When we give to the Chest, we can be sure that we are helping our neighbors and our neighborhood in the right way. And when we do that, we are making our country a better place to live in for ourselves and our children."

JOHN F. KENNEDY "I hope that you will join in this great national effort, this great national crusade through the United Way, and give. It will make your community a happier place; it will make you a happier person, and in the real sense your community is your country. It will make our country a finer place in which to live. United, there is little we cannot do..."

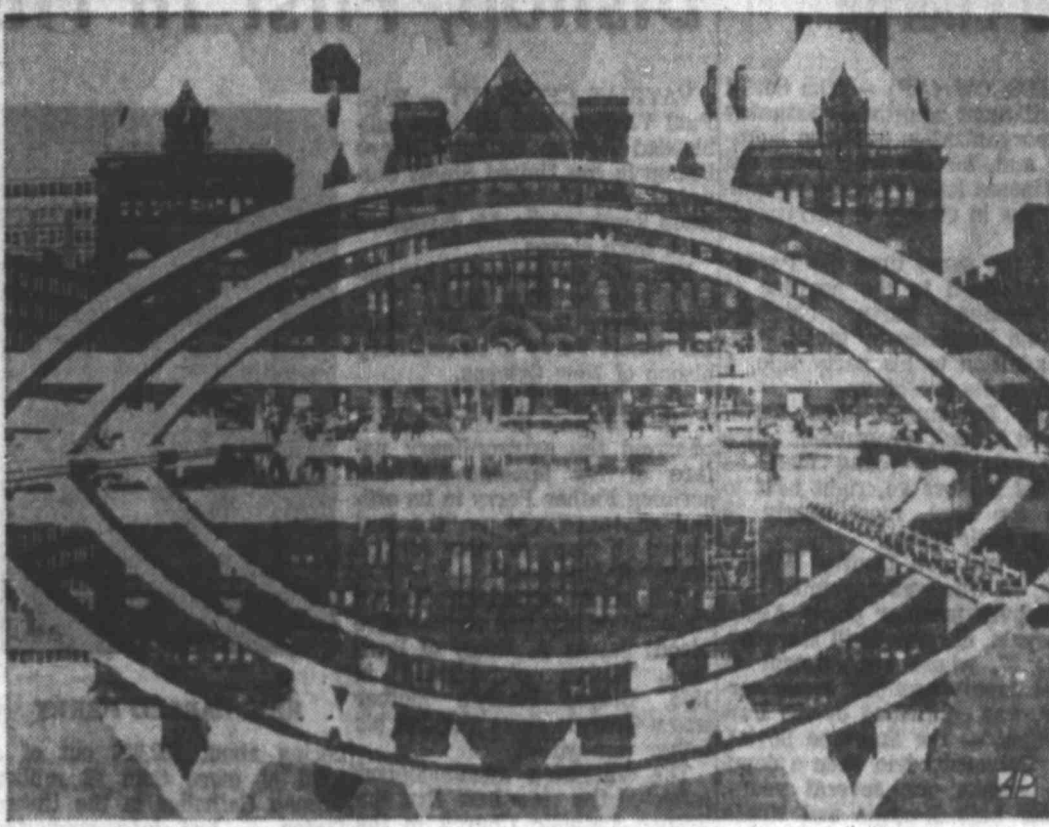

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER "We can't possibly know about all our neighbors in need. Somebody must show us the way to help them. This is the purpose of the United Community Campaigns of America. Right now these United Campaigns are getting under way in over two thousand communities across the land. They provide us with a splendid opportunity to express the traditional neighborly concern of America."

Lots Of Activities For Pope's Visit

NEW YORK (AP) — Attention of statesmen and plain people centered Saturday on a unique move — Pope Paul VI's impending flight to America.

Noted figures of governments and churches converged here for the event Monday, as did a tide of common folk, and the news disseminators.

DETAIL CONCERN
The Pope is to detail his concern for peace before the United Nations, which has announced that seven heads of government, two vice chairmen of council of ministers and 51 foreign ministers will be here.

Signs of changing Roman Catholic Church approaches were seen in the unprecedented mission.

Leaders both of major religious bodies and the U. S. government have welcomed the Pope's coming.

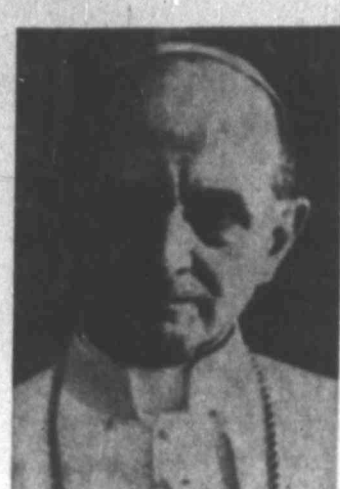

Some instances of old rancors showed up.

"Ginny sic — stay home!" someone painted on a U.N. Secretariat fence, and police hastily scrubbed it off.

BANNERS
Hospital banners went up about town in papal yellow and white; greeting signs blossomed in store windows, and an inter-church ecumenical procession was planned Sunday in Brooklyn.

Protestant, Orthodox and Jewish representatives are to meet with the Pope. So is President Johnson, who comes here Sunday from Washington, D.C., and will hear the Pope's talk to the U.N. General Assembly.

The church's worldwide corps

POPE PAUL

of bishops, assembled at the Vatican Ecumenical Council in Rome, were to join in a special Mass of prayer Monday for the Pope. Other Christians, great and humble, offered similar petitions.

— It will be the first trip to the Western Hemisphere by a reigning Pope.

LONGEST TRIP
It will be the longest trip in history — 4,280 miles each way, a total of 8,560 miles — exceeding his 2,904-mile round trip to the Holy Land and 1,090-mile flight to India last year.

— It will be the first papal visit outside Italy to a predominantly Christian land in 151 years, and it comes among hints of even wider travels soon, perhaps across the Iron Curtain into Poland.

His trip here brings him into the richest heterogeneous civilization on earth — the melting pot of the new world, with its population stemming from many races and cultures.

Even his scheduled meeting with President Johnson at the Waldorf-Astoria Towers was arranged in connection with a presidential consultation with the U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, Arthur J. Goldberg.

MANY DUE
In addition to regular U.N. delegates, numerous other statesmen are due here for the occasion.

Among them are Ireland's Prime Minister Sean F. Le Mass; Australia's Foreign Affairs Secretary Carl H. Bobbeler, and U. S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk is to be among the party that greets the Pope when he descends from an Alitalia Airline DC-8, a four-engine jet, at John F. Kennedy Airport at 9:30 a.m. (EDT) on Monday.

Others in the official greeting party will include Thant, New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, New York Mayor Robert F. Wagner and Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York.

A mixed gathering of Christians and Jews — Methodists, Presbyterians, Lutherans, Episcopalians, Eastern Orthodox and others — meet the Pope at Holy Name Church at 6:04 p.m. After his remarks, spokesmen of the various groups will respond.

Twenty-five minutes later, he returns to Cardinal Spellman's residence for dinner, leaving there at 8 p.m. for Yankee Stadium to lead worship for a gathering of 90,000 in the stadium, and for thousands more outside.

GIANT SERVICE
A church spokesman has described the Pope's service here as a "universal appeal to God for world peace." There will be prayers in each of the five official U.N. languages.

Major broadcasting networks have scheduled virtually day-long televising of the visit, with commercials deleted or minimized. More than 3,000 news and other communications personnel swarmed here from this country and abroad.

Schoolmen Need To Be Instructed
AUSTIN (AP) — Several members of the State Board of Education suggested Saturday that local school districts need some one to lay out, clear and simple, what federal aid programs are available to the districts.

"Some of the local boys don't even know what's available," said Doyle Corley of New Boston.

Corley said some of the federal school programs are so complicated that local districts cannot unravel them for their uses.

"I know I'm utterly confused about some of the programs," said Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo.

The board approved the addition of six new positions to the Texas migrant school project staff. The six will work with the two current employees in a new migrant and preschool section of the division of compensatory education.

Soviets To Put Engineers In Charge

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Parliament approved Saturday a reorganization of Soviet industry and, for the most part, put engineers rather than party politicians in charge of carrying it out.

At the same time the Parliament added to the prestige of Communist party — chairman Leonid Brezhnev by giving him, in addition to his party title, a post on its presidium.

The Parliament then established in high government office two relatively young men, as Soviet leaders go, right next to the top men, most nearly 15 years their senior.

The two are Dmitry Polyansky, 47, who was appointed first deputy premier under Alexei Kosygin, 61, and Kirill Mazurov, also 47, whose appointment as first deputy premier, made earlier, was confirmed by the Parliament — the Supreme Soviet.

Polyansky had been a deputy premier for several years, under both Kosygin and Nikita Khrushchev. For a potential Soviet leader, Polyansky had a lucky birthday, the day of the Bolshevik Revolution, Nov. 7, 1917.

The appointments put these two men, both members of the party presidium, high up the ladder that leads toward the top jobs.

Another one of the younger men, Alexander Shelepin, also 47, is a deputy premier and has long been considered one of the foremost of the "next crop" of government leaders. Of late he has been little in the news, but has powerful assignments.

Both Brezhnev and Kosygin came through the past week's meetings of the party Central Committee and the Parliament with flying colors, apparently setting aside rumors that persisted that some sort of revision of the hierarchy would be set in motion.

Both were chosen by the Central Committee to make the main speeches at the big party congress to be held next March, and both played the leading roles in the Central Committee plenum itself.

Tahoe Land Sale Scrubbed
RENO (AP) — A federal court order has formally ended an attempt by five men to buy 23,450 acres of Lake Tahoe land—much of it wanted by the state for a park — from financier George Whittell.

U. S. Dist. Judge Bruce Thompson ruled Friday the five, led by Joseph O'Neill of Midland, Tex., had acquired no interest in the Whittell property.

He said Whittell was to return $250,000 option money he had accepted as part of the purchase price, originally announced as $30 million.

O'Neill and his four partners had sought $100,000 more in damages and a court order that Whittell go through with the sale.

The court decision clarifies the state's plans to buy 12,000 acres, some of it Whittell property, for a state park at Lake Tahoe, Gov. Grant Sawyer said.

Negro Named New Orleans Bishop, First In History

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI appointed the first full-blooded Roman Catholic Negro bishop in the United States Saturday, and assigned him to the Deep South where his forebears once were slaves.

Virtually on the eve of his historic trip to New York, Pope Paul named the Very Rev. Harold Robert Perry to be auxiliary bishop of New Orleans.

EMPHASIS
The Vatican's press office emphasized the extraordinary nature of the appointment, describing Father Perry in its official announcement as "the first Negro bishop in the United States of America."

One other American Roman Catholic bishop had some Negro blood: James A. Healy of Portland, Maine, consecrated in 1875. Bishop Healy's mother was a Georgia slave girl, but his father was white.

The Vatican's announcement reflected the view here that the Roman Catholic Church in the United States finally had in its hierarchy an unquestioned representative of the American Negroes.

REV. HAROLD PERRY
being about 800,000 out of a total of more than 42 million Roman Catholics in the United States — had long requested such an appointment.

NEWS CONFERENCE
Rev. Perry, who will be 49 a week from Saturday, attended a special news conference at which his appointment by Pope Paul was announced by two American archbishops, John Patrick Cody of Chicago and Philip Hannan of New Orleans.

Then, to give added emphasis to the appointment, Perry went with Archbishops Cody and Hannan to a special luncheon given in honor of the Negro prelate by Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, Vatican secretary of state and one of Pope Paul's closest collaborators.

NO DIFFERENCE
There was astonishment, shock, prayerful gratitude, outrage — almost any emotion except indifference.

Immediate speculation centered on whether the Pope's move in appointment of the Very Rev. Harold R. Perry to the post will soothe or rattle the racial situation, relatively quiet here since the uproar over school desegregation in 1961.

Reaction was along predictable lines in most cases. Segregationists professed outrage, church spokesmen said they were surprised but pleased, Negro leaders beamed.

One of the fiery segregationists, Mrs. B. J. Galliot, cried that the appointment "is one of the reasons God will destroy the Vatican."

EXCOMMUNICATED
Mrs. Galliot was excommunicated from the Church because she refused to drop a fight against school desegregation. She heads a group called Save Our Nation.

A Negro leader, A.M. Trudeau Jr., Louisiana president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was overjoyed.

"He is eminently qualified for the position, of that I have no qualms or doubts," said Trudeau.

"It won't necessarily help or hinder the civil rights cause," he added. "Civil rights is not a religious issue. But the state membership of the NAACP — be they Presbyterian, Baptist, Methodist or any other religious persuasion — will be as proud of this as we are."

WORTH
The executive secretary of the Greater New Orleans Federation of Churches, the Rev. George Wilson, said the appointment shows that Christianity is more important than racial or cultural background.

Policemen Go Back To Work
TERRELL (AP) — Nine policemen who quit in a dispute over money returned to work Saturday after their former salaries.

The men quit the 14-man force Thursday after demanding pay raises. They returned to work with no promise of a pay increase.

Bike Stolen
Dean Chapman, 2303 Carl, told officers Friday a tricycle was stolen sometime before stolen from a Webb parking lot dark Friday from his yard.

Racer Abandons Car After Chase
A local patrolman discovered a drag-race between two cars and chased one of the cars involved until the driver stopped and abandoned it at the dead end of West Fifth Friday night.

The abandoned car was towed to the police station. Early Saturday R. D. Rowles, Webb AFB, told officers his car had been stolen from a Webb parking lot.

Smith Rites Planned Today
Last rites for John C. Smith, 74, Howard County resident for three score years, will be held at 2 p.m. today in the Nalley-Pickles Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. R. F. Polk, First Baptist pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park with graveside rites by Masonic Lodge 598.

Mr. Smith died early Friday of injuries received Wednesday when a tractor ran over him while he worked alone on his farm north of here. He managed to get in his car and drive home.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. John C. Smith; a daughter, Mrs. R. W. Hurn; two brothers, A. G. Smith, Luther, and Norvin Smith, Lubbock; a sister, Mrs. Akin Simpson Sr.; and two grandchildren.

Paulbearers will be W. L. Wilson Jr., Joe Pickle, Willie D. Lovelace, W. D. Caldwell, Lawrence Anderson, W. C. Blankenship, Merrill Creighton, and Mark Wentz.

Revised State Laws Call For New Trial Rules

MIDLAND (AP) — A Dallas editor told judges Saturday Texas news media will have to agree on new trial rules to meet demands of newly revised criminal laws.

Felix R. McKnight, executive vice president and editor of the Dallas Times Herald said this while presiding over a panel discussion of pre-trial and trial news coverage problems. The panel was the final item on the program of the conference of the State Bar's judicial section.

The panel divided into three opponents of any bans on pre-trial news coverage and one advocate of such restrictions.

Speaking against what McKnight termed "pre-trial secrecy" were panelists Thomas H. Thompson, editor of the Amarillo Globe-Times; Eddie Barker, news director of KRLD-TV in Dallas; and Dallas Asst. Dist. Atty. Jim Bowie.

Houston lawyer Clyde Woody contended the right of freedom of the press "does not give the right to a commercial expose of what goes on in the courtroom" and that "the news media is not any more entitled to listen to a confession in a church."

The panel was asked by Dist. Judge Truman Roberts of Hamilton what changes newsmen contemplate to meet a change in Texas criminal laws which will become effective Jan. 1.

The change allows jurors in most felony cases, who now cannot leave the courthouse during the trial, to go home between court sessions.

"We're aware of the new laws," McKnight replied. "We're thinking in terms of confining ourselves to a report of the proceedings of the court that day only."

McKnight said the several state associations of news editors have discussed "a set of suggested directives, sent to all newspapers and radio and television stations receiving news from news services, which would set out ground rules. Number one on that list is a suggestion not to report proceedings which occur in the absence of juries."

Thompson added: "All the papers realize we'll have a new ball game" when the revised criminal code takes effect next year.

McKnight said he had no answer to the problem posed by Dist. Judge Glenn Lewis of Abilene, who said: "I'm sure we wouldn't need any regulations for you, and we wouldn't need robbery laws for the people in this room."

"But we do need laws for people who aren't responsible. Your paper may not publish these things, but the fact that most papers will abide by the rules is not going to be any solace to the person in the penitentiary whose rights were violated by a newsman."

The board approved the addition of six new positions to the Texas migrant school project staff. The six will work with the two current employees in a new migrant and preschool section of the division of compensatory education.

Same old bug — till you step on it.

Look at the 1966 Volkswagen in our showroom and you'll notice the hubcaps are flattened (to help you keep from flattening them on high curbs).

Everything else on the outside is right where it was in '65.

Inside it's another story. The 1966 Volkswagen presents 23 improvements.

To notice the most significant change takes a test drive. Volkswagen engine power has been increased 20%.

The '66 may look like the same old bug. But you just come in and step on it.

'Betsy' Whacks Oil For 7.1 Million-Barrel Loss

HOUSTON (AP) — Hurricane Betsy was the third destructive tropical storm to strike South Louisiana's fabulous onshore and offshore oil installations since 1957.

All three — Audrey, Hilda and Betsy — were of the 100-year variety and a prominent oceanographer believes several more such storms can be expected to threaten the area during the next few decades.

Dr. Randolph Blumberg, an oceanographic engineering consultant for a major offshore oil operator and for Project Mobile, says the oil industry needs to become even more cognizant of the total hurricane menace.

Blumberg recalls that a forecast made 10 years ago called for an increase in severe Gulf of Mexico hurricane probability, with a corresponding decrease in smaller storms, but was supported only by climatological data.

"However, the record of the past five years falls in line with the nearly doubling in severe Gulf hurricane frequency anticipated 10 years ago," he said. "It is reasonable to expect severe hurricanes to move into the Gulf of Mexico from the Atlantic or Caribbean on an average of once every two years, with a tendency to group together much as Hilda and Betsy have done."

"Storms like these may be expected to affect the Louisiana coast several times during a decade until the 21st century." Blumberg's views were published this weekend by World Oil Magazine with a survey of damage to oil installations when Betsy struck the Louisiana coast Sept. 10.

The magazine said Betsy's winds and tides were exceeded by those of Hurricane Carla in 1961 but Betsy was the biggest in terms of monetary loss.

Carla also was of the 100-year variety but moved inland along the mid-Texas coast. It caused negligible damage to the Louisiana installations compared with Audrey in 1957, Hilda in 1964 and Betsy.

Final estimates will not be available for weeks but Betsy's damage is expected to exceed the $100 million estimate made on Hilda's rampage of last October.

Blumberg indicates "100-year storm" has become rather meaningless. This is the term applied to the frequency with which the most severe hurricanes will hit a specific area.

10 YEARS APART
"Audrey, Hilda and Betsy were classified as 100-year hurricanes," he said. "Yet they slammed into South Louisiana within a period of 10 years."

"If they were once-in-100-year storms, the area should be free of severe hurricanes for several centuries. This, to be sure, is wishful thinking." Blumberg believes the most significant lesson possibly to be learned by the oil industry from Betsy is that hurricanes are not strictly an offshore problem.

World Oil said gas and oil fields in the bays and marshes, inland bases, and marine transportation took a much greater beating from Betsy than from Hilda.

Industry sources estimated Betsy cut Louisiana's oil production in September by 7,100,000 barrels and only 2,400,000 of the loss could be made up in October.

"Frequently companies have recognized the necessity for adequate design of offshore installations while designing coastal installations for only moderate wind forces and no waves or tides," Blumberg said. "The hurricane is no respecter of tidal boundaries."

J. E. R. SHEELER
Sheeler Ends 30 Years With Shell

J. E. R. Sheeler, division production manager for Shell Oil Company's Western Division, will complete 30 years of service Oct. 8.

Sheeler, a graduate of Louisiana State University with a B.S. degree in petroleum engineering, joined Shell in 1935 in Louisiana. He served as a junior exploitation engineer and district exploitation engineer before going on a military leave of absence in 1942. After his return he became senior exploitation engineer in 1946 and was promoted to area exploitation engineer in 1949 for the New Orleans area. He was transferred to Midland area in 1952 as division exploitation engineer and promoted to division production manager the following year. Sheeler was named division production manager for the former Abilene division in May, 1960.

Rotary Count In Decline

On the Friday survey of rotary drilling units operating in the Permian Basin Empire, Reed Roller Bit Co. listed 189 rigs, five fewer than the 194 carried one week ago and six more than the 183 on the comparable survey in 1964.

Confirmers Well Slated

Texaco Inc. No. 1-W Randle will be drilled as a southwest offset to a recently completed triple discovery in Dawson County, about five miles west of Lamesa.

The confirmation attempt for the No. 1 United Presbyterian Church, recent opener of the Gin (Spraberry, Mississippian, Fusselman) field, is 660 from south and west lines of section 8-37-30, T&P survey.

The opener is located 1,980 from south and east lines of the same section and is the only well in the three pay field. It made 648 barrel potential from Spraberry perforations between 8,018-68 feet; 231 barrels from Mississippian perforations between 11,383-403 feet; and 85 barrels from Fusselman perforations between 11,790-96 feet.

Test Completed

Stallworth Oil and Gas Co. No. 5 Chalk has been re-completed in the Howard Glasscock field, making 46 barrels of 29 gravity oil and no water on potential pump. The gas oil ratio was nil, operator fraced with 34,000 gallons and 85,000 pounds. From derrick floor elevation of 2,673 feet, the total depth is 2,433 feet, the seven inch casing is set at 2,451 feet, and perforations are between 1,568-625 feet. Drillsite is 330 from north and 990 from east lines of section 140, block 29, W&NW survey.

Dry Cotton Turns Out Best Sample

Color, leaf, and preparation are considered in determining the grade of American upland cotton, according to B. B. Manly Jr. at the U.S.D.A. cotton classing office in Abilene.

Color is usually the most important grade factor of Abilene Classing Area cotton, especially since gin equipment used today is very effective in removing leaf and other foreign matter from staple cotton.

Grade assigned a sample is based on a comparison of the sample with the official standards, and is the lower of the three factors, except when two factors are two standards (two grades) higher than the third. Then the grade assigned is raised one grade. It can not be raised more than one grade.

Cotton harvested damp, from rain or dew, does not have much chance to gin out clean and smooth because it does not release dirt and trash as easily as dry cotton. The same is true of green cotton.

Too much drying is as bad as too little. When cotton is harvested wet from dew, part of the load may be wet, and other parts harvested later in the day completely dry. If enough heat is applied to dry the wet cotton or cracked green bolls, the dry cotton may be scorched. Scorching cotton may change it from white to light spotted or light spotted to spotted.

Manly said classing gained momentum last week with 4,407 samples classed through September 29, 1965. The season total, 8,739, remained considerably lower than 40,885 samples at the corresponding date last year. About 440 bales were received from Howard, Martin, Midland, and Glasscock counties last week.

Grades and percentages were: middling 55; strict low middling, 4; strict middling light spotted, 5; and middling light spotted, 36.

Staple lengths were: 7 per cent 29-32; 23 per cent 15-16, 2 per cent 31-32, 7 per cent 1-inch, 10-B Big Spring (Texas) Herald, Sun., Oct. 3, 1965

2 per cent 1 1-32, 4 per cent 1 1-16, 5 per cent 1 3-32, and 50 per cent 1 1/4.
Mike readings were very good with more than 99 per cent of the samples going above 3.5.
Pressley readings for the area were average to strong; 13 per cent went 75-79, 31 per cent was 80-84, 50 per cent 85-89, and 6 per cent 90-94.

Largest Oil Exposition Building To Be Ready

TULSA — The largest exposition building all under one roof, being constructed for the May 12-21, 1966 International Petroleum Exposition in Tulsa, Okla., is now 60 per cent complete, according to Martin C. Dwyer, show manager.

The new 10 1/2-acre structure replaces eight former oil show buildings. A huge cable-suspension roof makes interior posts and pillars unnecessary and practically all displays will be in unobstructed viewing areas.

The building will be large enough to accommodate seven football fields, with room to spare, W. K. Warren, Tulsa, IPE president, says.

Exhibit space in the building, which will be enclosed and be equipped with gigantic doors to permit entry of the largest machinery and industrial displays, is now 91 per cent sold.

Work on the heavy-duty concrete floor began in April and was completed in July, eight days ahead of schedule. Steel work has been under way four weeks and will be completed in November.

The steel contractors say the building will use 4,275 tons of steel in its framework and roof.

Of this, 3,500 tons are structural steel, 625 tons represent 5,000 roof-deck squares and 150 tons of cables will hold the roof in place.

Four Locations Listed Saturday

The Snyder pool in Howard County gained a location, and three others in the Turner-Gregory (Clear Fork) field of Mitchell County were listed Saturday.

The Howard prospect is American Petrofina No. 10-B M. O. O'Daniel, seven miles southeast of Coahoma slated for a 3,000 foot bottom. Location is 330 from south lines and 990 from east lines of section 29-30-1s, T&P survey.

The Mitchell tests will check the zone at 3,300 feet about six miles west of Westbrook by R. S. Anderson. No. 5-38 Morrison is 467 from north and west lines of section 38, block 29, township 1-north, T&P survey. No. 6-35 is 467 from south and west lines of section 35; No. 7-35 is 1,320 from south and west lines of the section.

Aspects Of Nation's Fuel Supply To Be Discussed

DALLAS — Major emphasis will be given different aspects of the nation's fuel supply by speakers at the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association's 46th annual meeting in Fort Worth, Oct. 18-20, James L. Sewell, president, has announced.

In addition to the addresses, leaders in the state's oil and gas industry — which accounts for about 27 per cent of the country's energy supply — will see a Texas premiere showing of a new industry film, "Time to Live!" The film portrays the contribution that vast energy supplies have made to contemporary life in America.

A top figure in both the automobile and coal industry, George H. Love of Pittsburgh, will make one of the principal addresses on the morning of Oct. 20. Love is chairman of the board of both Chrysler Corporation and Consolidation Coal Company. Joining him on the panel that day will be Dr. Charles F. Jones, Houston, president of Humble Oil & Refining Co., who will discuss meeting the needs of a rising economy. At the Oct. 19 morning session, Commissioner James T. Ramey of the Atomic Energy Commission, Washington, D. C., will give oil men an insight into that phase of the nation's energy sources.

W. A. Landreth, independent producer, heads up the committee of fellow Fort Worth oil men who are serving as hosts for the association, which was founded there 46 years ago.

The gathering of approximately 800 executives from independent and major company ranks of the industry will follow this pattern:

Monday, Oct. 18 — Committee meetings and a reception honoring Association President Sewell, who is closing out two years' service in the post;

Tuesday — General session from 9:30 to noon; annual afternoon golf tournament at Shady Oaks Country Club; luncheon and style show for the ladies at noon; annual membership dinner-dance Tuesday evening;

Wednesday — General session from 9:30 a.m. to noon, which will include election of officers and presentation of awards to two outstanding industry men for distinguished service to the Texas petroleum industry.

The story of square dancing has its beginning in the fields of England and ballrooms of France. A genealogical chart, showing the ancestry of American Square Dancing, would begin about 1450 about the time the Morris (or Maypole) Dance was popular in England and the French aristocracy was developing court dances.

The square dance, as we know it today, is a combination of the polka, waltz, cotillon, minuet, ballet, jig, reel, rounds and quadrille.

The American Square Dance has become a recreational art, and in West Texas, more than ever, young and old are joining in the dance.

In Big Spring, there are currently four square dance groups. The Big Spring Squares were organized in 1960, and their caller is Joe Connally. The officer slate includes Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Hubbard Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Yater, Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McWilliams and Mr. and Mrs. James Cook.

The Huff and Puffers are headed by Harold Kapp, Howard Voss and Mrs. Patsy Jones. With Al Mallory as their caller, they were organized about a year ago. The teenage club, the Mates and Dates, has an officer slate composed of Neil Henry, Jimmy Henry, Terry Jenkins and Virginia Jenkins. The Howard County Hoedowners had their beginning about three years ago and do not elect officers.

Staff Judge Speaks To Secretaries

Maj. John D. Blagg Jr., staff judge advocate from Webb AFB, was the guest speaker at the Monday evening dinner meeting of the Howard County Legal Secretaries Association at the Spanish Main Restaurant.

Maj. Blagg, an Air Force attorney for 13 years, broke down the different phases of law handled by his branch of the service and told how the law affects the Armed Forces. Nautical Theme Used For Auxiliary Luncheon

A nautical theme was carried out at the Tuesday luncheon of the Relief Society Auxiliary of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

Couple Marries Saturday Evening

The Rev. Robert F. Polk, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiated Saturday evening at 8 p.m. for the double ring ceremony uniting Mrs. Charlene Kee and Wayne Gerald Tyson.

The wedding rites were performed in the pastor's study at 2810 Coronado.

The bride wore an olive green knit suit with matching shoes and other accessories. Her attendants were her daughter, Karen Kee, a student at the University of Texas and her son, John Kee, a student at Fort Worth.

The couple will be at home at 1710 Purdue St.

Twenty-four members and guests met at the church for the combination luncheon and business meeting.

The room was decorated with simulated portholes and a large ship's wheel. The guests entered the room by way of a gang plank which was decked with blue and gold streamers.

Table decorations carried out the seagoing theme by being centered with a globe of the world. The officers and teachers were identified by white sailor collars trimmed with blue and gold braid.

Elton D. Wallace, president of the Big Spring branch of the church, was guest of honor. New officers are Mrs. Max H. Nelson, president; Mrs. Guy F. Casey and Mrs. Robert Houghton, counselors; and Mrs. Paul Beckstrand, secretary.

Teachers for the coming year are Mrs. Ray Menges, Mrs. Elton D. Wallace, Mrs. Farrell Smith, Mrs. Paul Shannon and Mrs. Sidney Wiley. Other representatives are Mrs. Carroll J. Brown and Mrs. Lillie Hendricks.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Here it is October and a great many of us are caught with those July clothes in temperatures that closely resemble November. September was a bedfellow as far as knowing what to prepare for in the clothing department. One day was hotter than summer time and others brayed of fall. Of course we can always stay home in the morning and go out in the sunshine in the afternoon.

Friends are interested in the condition of MRS. RAY BEDFORD who underwent surgery on her hip at Gaston Avenue Hospital in Dallas Wednesday. She is progressing as the doctor's expected but is in much pain according to her daughter, MRS. LESLIE DAW, who with Mr. Bedford, is with her. Mrs. Bedford will be at the hospital at least three weeks. Her address is Room 233, Gaston Ave. Hospital, 3505 Gaston Ave., Dallas.

MR. and MRS. RUDOLPH PACHALL left Saturday by train for Sacramento, Calif., where they will spend two weeks with their daughter and her family.

We'll miss seeing MRS. CHARLES FANNIN at Anthony's store where she has worked in the hat department for many years. She has taken an office job at Goodyear.

MR. and MRS. A. A. PORTER have returned from Durango, Colo., where they visited their longtime friends, MR. and MRS. MILLER HARRIS.

At the B&W dinner during the week MRS. RUBY BILLINGS was happily celebrating her birthday among some of her best friends. She was attractively attired in a soft green silk suit and wore a beautiful orchid corsage. It's just a thought but I thought if I wanted some organization to be behind a pet project, I'd like to know this group of women was backing it.

The LARSEN LLOYDS have been in Austin where he attended sessions of a banking school.

MRS. HOUSTON PARKER will return the fore part of the week from Lubbock where she is visiting her daughters, MRS. R. W. CLEMENT and MRS. MARTHA HETHCOAT. During her stay there Mrs. Parker planned to attend the county fair and also see a performance of Holiday on Ice.

The ways and means committee selected as money raising projects the sale of a cleaning solution, sponsorship of a "donkey" baseball game, and the renting of pillows at sports events of the Forsan schools.

Some of the trips the band members will take include a solo and ensemble contests at Midland and at Lamesa. They will also enter a concert and sight reading contest in April at McCombs.

Who's Afraid Of Fashion?

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—After a half century of letting women be first in fashion, men—or some of them anyway—are shucking this foolish chivalry. They're not style leaders yet, but they are fast moving up.

Tired of letting all the ladies have the good things, they are buying fur coats not for pretty girls in the chorus, but for themselves. Or they order a "he" coat at least with a mink lining. Pale pastel shirts with polka dots and flowers, ruffled and lace-cuffed shirts for evening, corduroy slacks in violent colors, velvet jackets, sweet smelling toilet articles—even earrings are a part of the wardrobes belonging to the manliest of men.

The suggestion that men could be less than men for appreciating the finer things of what was hitherto thought to be feminine fashion has ebbed away. For men without doubts of their own virility never worry about being labeled sissies.

Party Held Thursday

FORSAN (SC) — Mrs. Mary Archer who has recently moved here from Seagraves, was honored Thursday evening with a housewarming. Mrs. Archer is the mother of Mrs. Bob Wash.

Attending the annual Odessa barbecue for employees of Amara Oil Company were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffith, Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Stroud and Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Whetsel.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Griffith's Saturday evening guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harmon and Robbie, Cross Plains. They are former residents.

Mrs. Bill Rees Presents Talk

WESTBROOK (SC) — The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church met at the church Monday afternoon. Mrs. S. M. Bean gave the devotion; and the program, taken from the Methodist Woman and World Outlook, was presented by Mrs. John Hawkins and Mrs. Bill Rees.

Mink Means Inside Status

At left, young actor and model Tony Carlyle shows off the mink lining in his winter overcoat, and at right, a fashion-conscious young man shows a leather suit, designed by Craft of Canada, that fits like a glove.

first to use leather as dresses and suits. Now leather suits for men are available, too.

Mix-and-match sportswear is a favorite of the thrifty woman because she can stretch her wardrobe by interchanging coordinated skirts and jackets. Now men's suits have extra slacks and jackets that may be switched for a change in the same way.

This year's fabric vogue in women's apparel is corduroy, thick or thin waled and in a variety of colors. This year men of all ages, not only the collegiate crowd, are cottoning to corduroy slacks and jackets in wild hues.

The cosmetics industry reports the largest sale of men's cologne in history. Today, men buy toupees with the unabashedness of women buying wigs.

Worn by men on formal occasions are brocade dinner jackets, or evening vests, some twinkling with jeweled buttons, and rivaling the opulence of the lady in their company.

Men aren't wearing necklaces yet, but they are buying earrings in singles. They attach them to only one ear, pirate style.

These men aren't sissies. They are rugged individualists.

Dick Lanes Tour Mountain Area

Dr. and Mrs. Dick Lane, 1727 Yale, returned Friday from a two-week vacation. They toured Arkansas and spent several days at Gatlinburg, Tenn., in the Smoky Mountains.

Family Sees San Angelo Relatives

WESTBROOK (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. George Dawson visited his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dawson, in San Angelo recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scroggins had as their guests her mother, Mrs. W. L. Carnahan, Plains, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baker and daughter, Loyce; Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Seymore and daughter, Stacy, all of Merkel; and Mrs. H. L. Motes and son, Mike, of the Gay Hill community.

Mrs. Vance Armstrong and son, Thomas, Jai, N. M., were guests in the W. A. Bell home. They attended funeral services for Bell's aunt, Mrs. J. M. Hollowell, in Sand Springs.

Mrs. Leroy Gressett is a patient in Root Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Ena Parsons, Abilene, was a guest in the Herman Parsons home last week. She also visited in Lorraine with her sister, Mrs. Clifford Hestand, who is ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Henderson visited their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Laverne (Snuffy) Sullivan, in Odessa recently.

HINTS FROM HELOISE

Kerosene Is Ideal For Wood Cleaner

Dear Gals:

Everybody has been writing over the past months and asking me how they should wash woodwork.

Heavens to Betsy—there are 50 million cleaners on the market!

Each of us is different and kinds of wood and paints on the woodwork brought out our homes.

But here's how I have done it for years: Don't faint! It's kerosene again! Yeah!

Put about a gallon of warm water in a plastic waste basket (or something!) and add a half cup of kerosene (bought at 20 to 25 cents a gallon... real cheap, I'd say).

The kerosene will FLOAT on top of that warm water. Dip an old wash rag or piece of bath towel in this, wring it out and rub away... WOW, what a clean job you have in a jiffy.

I have been told by painters that this cannot hurt woodwork that is painted with ENAMEL. In fact, they say it helps preserve it. Now why didn't they tell us THIS years ago?

Anyway, this does NOT have to be rinsed, and leaves a glossy coat on the woodwork and doors (specially where hand prints are left).

This is especially good on window sills that are painted with enamel.

It's also wonderful on painted metal cabinets in your kitchen. Wow, does it take off that greasy stuff!

Remember, don't try to use this with a sponge. Just use that old wash rag, towel, or piece of your husband's discarded T-shirt. Works like magic.

It's fabulous. Less effort, no paint taken off and leaves a glorious shiny film.

So, gals, next time you drive into a filling station, buy some kerosene. You don't have to buy a whole gallon, but I bet you will go back soon and buy it by the gallon! Imagine finding something that works and is so cheap! ... Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When your little kiddies are bathed and we put on their sleepers (with feet in them), they always like to run around the house for an hour or so before they are tucked into bed.

To avoid having the soles of the feet become soiled, I put a pair of daddy's dark stretch socks over their footies!

When it comes tuck-in-time, the socks are removed.

Sure saves pre-spotting sleepers on wash day. ... Helen Carlson

Dear Heloise:

I save the little plastic caps from various bottles and cans of cleaning products and use them as thumbtacks. There are various sizes of caps to fit various sizes of "thumb" fingers.

They are really great for pressing in thumb tacks, to put over your fingers when grating foods (prevents chopped fingers and nails) and lots of things. ... Lucille Marshall

Dear Heloise:

This little tip on frosting I thought was very tasty. If any of your readers have ever tasted peanut butter cups, they will know what a treat this is.

When making chocolate frosting, I add about a tablespoon of peanut butter. This not only tastes yummy but gives the frosting a creamy consistency. ... Teenage Cook & Fan

Mrs. Spencer gave a brief history of the skit entitled, "A Child Is Born," and introduced members of the cast, who were Lt. and Mrs. John D. Arnold, Louis Loveless, Mrs. Jack Meek-er Clark Frayser, Norman Spencer Jr., and Marshall Cockrell.

The luncheon tables were covered with yellow linen clothes and were centered with large arrangements of autumn flowers.

WHO WILL RIDE HERD ON THEM?

Law Provides Probation For Misdemeanors

By SAM BLACKBURN

Check the criminal docket of any county court, and you find a huge backlog of cases where defendants are charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. The defendants will have posted $500 bonds and are counting on the congested dockets to keep their cases from coming up for trial for months to come.

In Howard County, the same rule applies. There are 24 DWI cases, for example, on a docket which Dee Jon Davis, county attorney, and County Judge Lee Porter hope to get off the ground this month.

WHY ARE DEFENDANTS so prone to enter not guilty pleas in DWI charges?

The prime reason is a provision of the law which stipulates they are to be deprived of their drivers license for at least six months, if they are convicted of the charge.

There is a second provision that a conviction for DWI carries an automatic jail sentence of not less than three days. It is debatable, however, if this feature of the law is held in as much awe as the deprivation of a drivers license. The way things work out, a man arrested while in a drunk condition in his car usually gets put in jail until he has sobered up. By the time he arranges bail, the best part of two days are absorbed so the upshot is that the three day jail sentence he may draw on a plea of guilty very often means nothing—his jail record shows three days served.

So it is not the prospect of being jailed that shakes him up so much as the graver crisis precipitated by the loss of his precious drivers license. Since operation of a motor car is so important to the average American—indeed, many jobs depend to no minor degree on the employee's ability as a driver—loss of a license for six months to a year is a critical matter.

THE LEGISLATURE, at its last session, seems to have opened a way for the tipsy driver to plead guilty to a DWI count and still save his drivers license.

It's all in the new state law which provides probation for misdemeanor convictions—a privilege heretofore restricted to felony cases first offenders.

The new law stipulates that a person charged with a misdemeanor—DWI, aggravated assault, packing a pistol, et cetera—can be granted probation by the judge on being convicted.

TAKE A MAN charged with DWI. He has no previous convictions against him. He pleads guilty to the charge. At the same time, he asks for probation. (It is interpreted that our man must not have any sort of conviction even in corporation court of more serious nature than a simple traffic violation.) The judge, fundamentally, has little alternative than to grant probation to such a defendant. The law specifies if a client asks for probation and is denied it, he has the right to demand a jury trial on the issue of probation. It is expected most of the judges will make generous use of probation.

Now comes the joker:

A case where probation is granted is not a "completed" conviction. In other words, until the defendant, given a probation sentence for a stated number of months or years (it can be as much as two years) is still under the eye of the court until that time has expired. The case is still open. Hence, a driver cannot be deprived of his driver's license unless he violates his probation and his case is "closed."

If our client lives out the life of his probation with a clean record, that's it. No entry is made against him for conviction under the terms which would take away his drivers license. If he doesn't live up to his probation, of course he can be hauled back before the judge, the original conviction enforced, and the original sentence imposed—including taking up his drivers license.

NOW COMES another question:

It is assumed Judge Porter will be making frequent use of the probation provision set up by the legislature—who will ride herd on the probationers?

In 118th District Court, John Dibrell is the probation officer for clients who are convicted as first offenders of felonies and their sentences probated by Judge Ralph Caton. The law, under which Dibrell was appointed as probation officer, recommends he not be required to supervise more than 75 probationers at any one time. Last week, Dibrell had 80 cases in his files. He has had as many as 82.

TECHNICALLY, it is doubtful if the high authorities would look with much favor on Dibrell taking on the county probation cases as extra work, even if he agreed to do so. Even if his compensation was increased, it is debatable if he could have time to take care of the increased case load.

County court officials are inclined to think the county probationers will pose little difficulty for a probation officer. They say that most of the fellows likely to be given probation are millrun citizens who just happened to get off on a wrong foot.

THIS WILL HAVE to be evaluated as time passes and the system is tried out.

Meantime, consider our DWI client again. Under the present law, if John Doe is picked up driving a car while in his cups and is convicted in district court, he is listed as such on the court records. If he forgets—a year, two years or five years later—gets boozed up again and gets caught, he is eligible for a new rap—DWI second offense, a felony.

Now, under the new law, what happens? John Doe gets picked up for his first simple DWI offense. He pleads guilty, let us say, and asks for and gets probation. He lives out the time and terms of his probation. When this has been accomplished, John is cleared. No conviction smears his record.

Let's say John forgets, again. A few months or a year after his probation has expired, he gets bottled up and is caught in his car. A new DWI case is filed. He is convicted.

WHAT IS THIS case as it applies to John Doe's record?

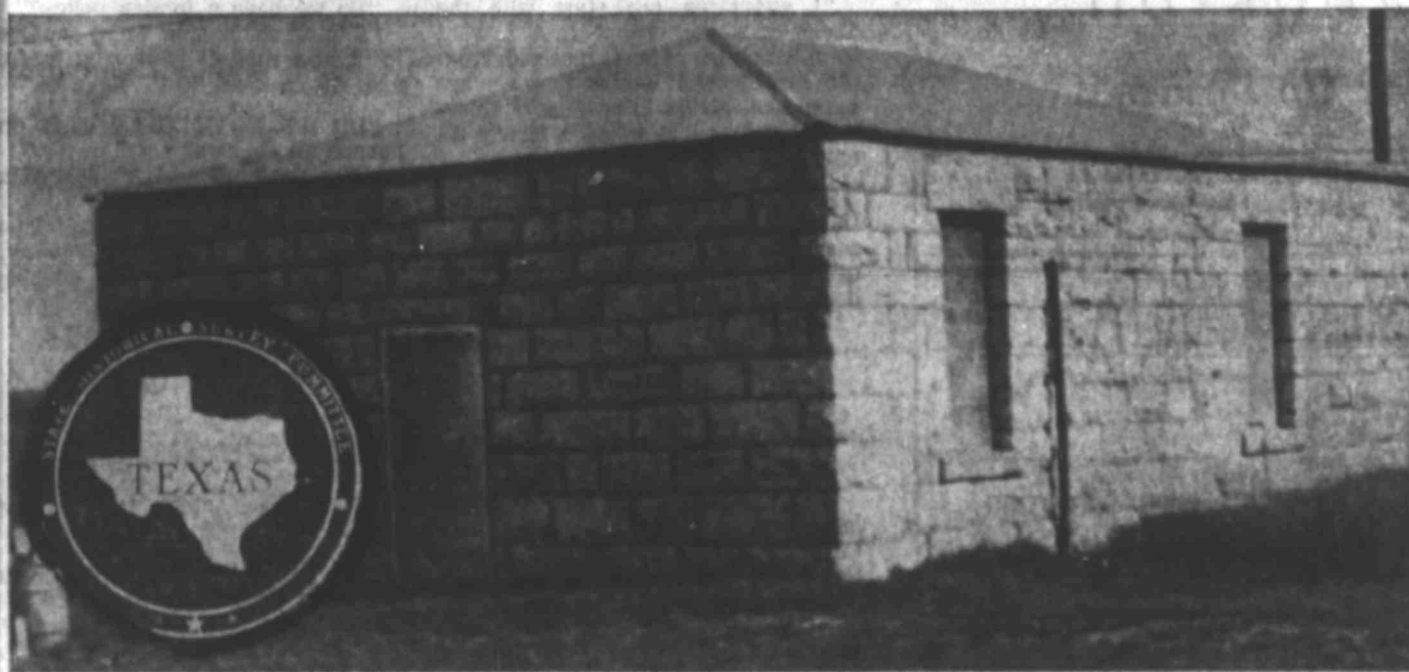

Why, it is his first conviction, of course. Result: before he can be hauled upstairs to the district court, he has to be caught driving a car again while in a potted condition. So, officers point out, John now has three shots at driving while intoxicated before he can be slapped with a felony conviction.

In Dallas courts, there have been 336 misdemeanor defendants who have applied for and been granted probation since the law became effective Sept. 1. A lot of these are DWI cases—identical with the 24 which Judge Porter and Dee Jon Davis will call up next Wednesday.

How many of this lot will ask for probation?

IT'S A FAIR GAMBLE most of the offenders will certainly do so. It is also a fair gamble that a lot of the other defendants in other misdemeanor cases on the 70 case docket will do likewise.

Who's gonna ride herd on 'em?

70-YEAR-OLD JAIL MARKED WITH MEDALLION
Fancy state marker shown in inset

Borden County Jail Gets State Historic Medallion

GAIL—Gail and Borden County are very peaceable parts of Texas. Not too often is Sheriff Norman Sneed required to lock anyone in the Borden County Jail.

However, on those rare occasions when a malefactor is placed in the bastille, he should know two things:

1) That he is a prisoner in a recognized historic relic of this great state; and 2) that there's not much use in his trying to break out—his prison is about as near breakproof as a jail can be.

MEDALLION

If this hypothetical prisoner took the trouble to look when he was marched to his cell, he might have noticed a medallion adorning the front door. This medallion was recently attached to the jail door by Tom Ben Sheppard, secretary of the Texas Historical Society, and it recognizes the jail as an historic structure.

If our mythical prisoner has any bent for history, it may console him to know that the sturdy steel-bound cell in which he reposes will soon be 70 years old—making it one of the oldest county jails in this part of the state still in use.

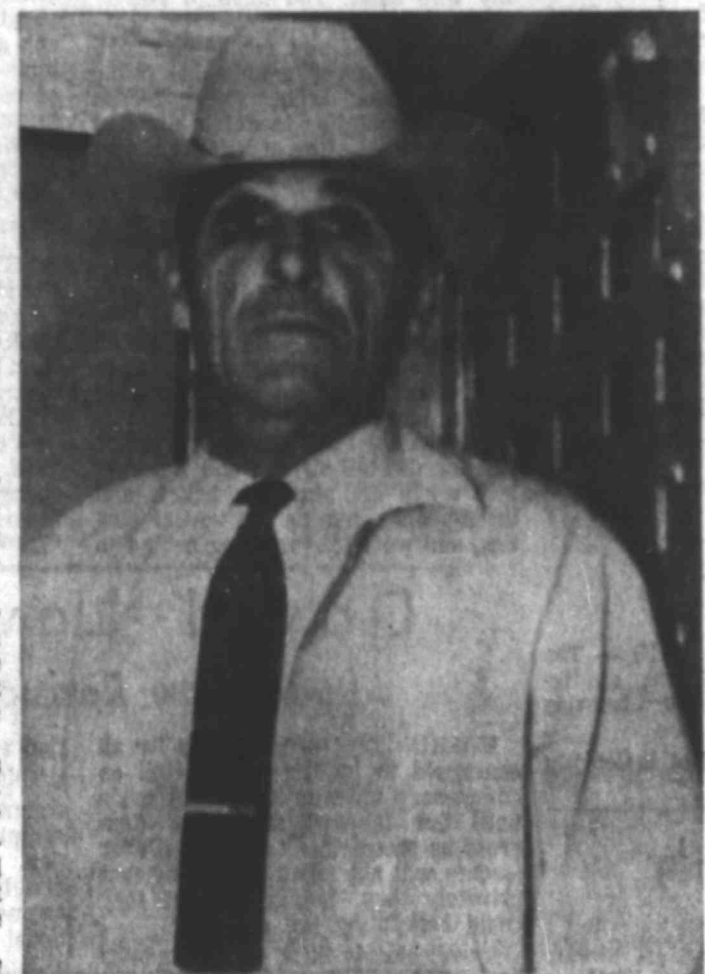

The late Sid Reeder, sheriff of Borden County from 1937 until his untimely death a few years ago, had dug deeply into the history of the jail under his supervision.

He unearthed the old records of the county commissioners who contracted for the building to be constructed.

IN 1891

He pointed out that the county was organized in 1891 from a part of Old Bexar territory. The area then was rugged and rough. Gail was a sizeable cowtown. Business establishments encircled the courthouse square. For example, along the north side there were two saloons, a two story hotel building, a drug store and a number of other business establishments.

Apparently the county practiced the policy of other young counties just then being carved out of this part of West Texas. They "boarded" their prisoners in county jails where such facilities had been provided.

SID REEDER
Late sheriff by cell door

This was not the best way to do things. It was quite a trip from Gail to Colorado City or to Snyder. You went by horseback or in a wagon and roads were more or less so-called as a courtesy rather than as an actuality.

BUILD JAILS

This impelled the Borden County commissioners of 1896 to decide to build their county jail. On May 12, 1896, four county bonds were issued—three for $1,000 each and one for $1,500. Life of these bonds was 40 years. Interest rate was six per cent. (Reeder said the bonds were paid off far ahead of maturity and none survived the 40 year life assigned.)

Diebold Safe and Lock Co. of Canton, O., was given the contract. The jail, built of hand-hewn native stone, is rigged with two case-hardened steel cages. Reeder said it is about as break-proof as a jail can be.

"If you lock a man in the cages and lock the front door," he often said, "you can go on about your business. Your prisoner will be there when you get back."

There was one jail break, however, that was quasi-successful. Reeder used to tell of it, definitely to his own embarrassment. Three men were locked in the jail, but not inside the cages. These miscreants cut a hole in the ceiling, climbed over the wall into the receiving room, and out into the entry. The front door, Reeder said, had not been properly locked.

DOGS HELPED
"They weren't out long," the pioneer sheriff used to say, "if got some dogs from Big Spring and we had 'em cornered in the hills over there in just a few hours. They were then put in those cages and the cage doors, the jail door and the outside door locked. They stayed where we put 'em."

Gail's courthouse is not as old as the jail. It dates back to 1939. Recently, the county commissioners have given the old jail a bit of face lifting. A retaining wall has been erected along the east side of the square. The new medallion, which Sheppard attached to the weathered old door, gleams brightly.

The jail, even if it is an historic spot, is still a functional building. It is still Borden County's official jail.

As Sheriff Reeder used to say, "It's a good jail, and it will last Borden County a long time to come."

Army Band To Give Concert
The Sixty-second Army Band, from Fort Bliss in El Paso, will make its first appearance in many years in Big Spring Thursday, at 7:30 p.m., in Howard County Junior College Auditorium.

Chief Warrant Officer Herbert J. Bilharts, director of the band, was stationed at Webb Air Force Base as band director several years ago, and is remembered for his concerts during that tour here.

The 28-man band is now on a 10-concert tour of this area. It is based at the U. S. Army Air Defense Center at Fort Bliss. Other concerts will be at Pecos, Kermit, Odessa, Stanton, Lamesa, Monahans and Grandfalls.

The coming tour follows a recent series of 13 performances, including eight concerts at the New Mexico State Fair. It will also include a performance at Webb Air Force Base.

In addition to its regular schedule of duties at the U. S. Army Air Defense Center, the band has been in heavy demand for fairs, parades, and schools in the West Texas and New Mexico area.

A Devotional For The Day

"We hear them telling in our own tongues the great things God has done." (Acts 2:11, NEB)
PRAYER: O Savior and Lord of the world, we pray that our fellowship may have oneness with Thee and with one another. We pray in Thy name, desiring Thy joy within us in full measure. Amen.

All They Ask Is A Chance

October has become accepted as "Employ the Handicapped" month, although it hardly seems necessary to refresh in the public mind the importance of drawing these people into the productive work force.

Study after study has shown that handicapped persons, working within their recognized limitations, are more dependable, have less mishaps, and on the show are substantially more productive.

People can be matched to jobs so that disabilities disappear or are effectively minimized.
Those with handicaps obviously did not ask them, but they do bear them — often with great spirit and inspiration. They do ask, however, an opportunity to show what they can do.

We can testify from experience that some of the most devoted, dedicated and loyal employees we have had are those who have sustained physical impairments of one degree or another.

We believe that you will find this true in your business if you have an opportunity to use the services of a handicapped person. This may well be part of the answer to your personnel problems.

Have Pride In City And Self

Don't use the war on poverty as a crutch for not doing your fair share in support of the United Fund.

"It would be a great tragedy if the Economic Opportunity program were interpreted by anyone as a substitute for local initiative by volunteer citizens or as a reason for not to continue support of United Fund," declared Sargeant Shriver, director of the OEO.

The two fields are different. Public assistance is not directed in the areas which United Fund work supports. In fact, the law prohibits the use of E.O. funds that would replace any existing resources such as those of the United Fund.

We face just as great a challenge as ever in taking care of our own programs for youth training, community welfare, service aid, and other such activities. These are not poverty programs but they are plus programs which any community worth its salt will do its best to provide for its own.

We hope that all of us have a high degree of community pride. Even if short on that, we hope we have our personal pride which impels us not to be a freeloader on others.

World Traffic In Armament

WASHINGTON — Argentina, teetering for months in a state of economic and political jitter, has just agreed to buy 50 jet attack planes, the A4B, from the Douglas Aircraft Co. at a cost of about $250,000 each.

This deal says a lot about the competition to sell advanced weapons in underdeveloped countries struggling to overcome grave economic handicaps.

SECRETARY OF Defense Robert S. McNamara reacts indignantly to reports of Pentagon arms salesmen persuading the governments of these countries to buy American weapons. Not so, he says. The American objective is to hold down arms budgets in underdeveloped countries to a minimum.

But British, French, German and Italian arms merchants are pushing their wares in Latin America, the Middle East and Africa. The goal of the United States in instance after instance is to sell cheaper and sell less. The theory is that in this way military budgets in the underdeveloped countries can be restrained. If it were not for American competition acting as a brake there would be no limit on the use of all too scarce foreign exchange for the arms buildup.

THE ARGENTINE deal is cited as an example of how this works. The French were pushing their Mirage jet plane which has, according to American specialists, a rock bottom price of $600,000. Fifty Mirages would have cost Argentina more than twice as much as 50 A4Bs and, therefore, at least $15 million has been saved for the needs pressing so hard on a government beset with many troubles.

THE A4B is an early version of the Skyhawk which was designed for the close support of ground troops. It is capable of carrying either nuclear or conventional weapons. While American pilots may speak with something less than respect of the A4B, which will replace British Gloucester Meteors, it is for the Argentine Air Force an advanced weapon.

That means that in order to maintain 50 A4Bs, highly trained technicians, scarce in all underdeveloped countries, will be taken from productive enterprise. McNamara readily concedes that this is one reason the introduction of advanced weapons into poor countries can only work to hinder economic progress. But to say that no arms should be sold, he contends, is like arguing against sin.

AN IRONIC COMMENTARY on the aggressive arms' merchants who are everywhere is that much of what they are pushing their own governments refer to contentiously as junk. In short they are unloading, for a price, obsolete weapons.

Ten years ago the British sold Argentina an aircraft carrier. The planes were obsolete. This was after the sale of a similar carrier to Brazil had stimulated national rivalry and suspicion. The British sold two cruisers to Peru for $5 million each. Because there was not enough trained personnel for both, the crew operated first one and then the other.

WITH THE furious pace of arms research and development among the big powers, weapons become obsolete at an ever more rapid rate. This means ever mounting costs and it means, too, ever increasing pressure on the arms' merchants to unload some of the cost on underdeveloped countries happy for the time being with second or third rate arms that are still part of the jet age.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

George Cobb, a student at Springfield, Ohio, South High, is being acclaimed as a hero in his hometown. And he should be praised, for he demonstrated a courageous leadership.

George Cobb is a Negro. His best friend and teammate, also a Negro, was stabbed fatally while trying to break up a fight between a Negro and a white. Police are holding his alleged assailant, a white student, on a murder charge.

When Negro students left school, they congregated without urging or direction at a nearby YMCA. Murmurs of attempts to get revenge by destruction against the school were heard.

George Cobb stepped upon the platform and told the tense crowd of teenagers that destruction would accomplish nothing but the injury of the innocent, including their parents, who would be burdened with the fines and damages caused by any vandalism. His brief words were calm and made sense. When the restless youngsters thought over what he had said, they decided to go home.

It is easy to drive a mob to the path of hate; it is hard to lead individuals to the path of reason.

Those who can accomplish the latter must combine cool-headed rationality with courage. This is a rare combination. Despite his youth, George Cobb seems to have it. No wonder his parents, his school and his hometown are proud of him.

Brakes On

NEW DELHI (AP)—It's been a bit jerky on the Northern Railway system at times in the past 12 months. Officials say emergency brake chains on moving trains were pulled 25,772 times, mostly by "fun-loving students."

Quest For Money May Up Dividends

The kindly matron, who is the central character in Franklin Folger's cartoon panel, "The Girls," will get her wish this Christmas. She pleads with her investment adviser: "I want to invest in the company that throws the picnic every year for stockholders."

However, the wish won't come amid bees, flowers, ants and poison ivy. It will be cash-increased and extra dividends, coupled perhaps with stock splits. It's inevitable, prosperity being as raucous as it is.

Wall Street is already effecting in anticipation. Stocks have been pushing upward on extremely high trading volume. Wall Streeters rarely wait patiently for the foreseeable.

The promise is in the dividend lag. Corporate earnings after taxes have been pushed 40 per cent above the 1962 level and are now running at an annual rate of $44 billion—an all-time high. Dividends likewise have climbed to a new plateau—at more than $3 billion annually. But they've gone up only 20 per cent since 1962. They're due to catch up.

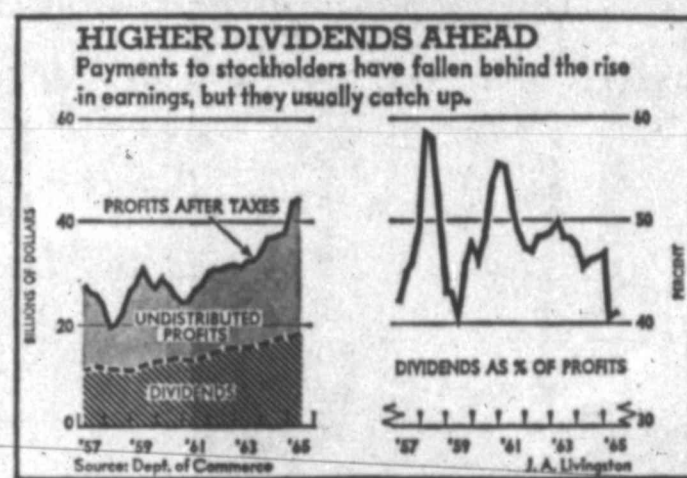

Usually, American industry pays out 60 per cent of earnings and puts 40 per cent back into the business. Today it's the other way round (see chart). This flaunts tradition.

MONEY COST RISES

Such less-than-generous payments to stockholders can be explained by the scramble for money. Depreciation reserves have not been adequate to pay for new equipment. So corporations have borrowed heavily at commercial banks, where loans and discounts now exceed $188 billion, nearly 15 per cent more than at this time a year ago.

Moreover, in the seven months from January through July, corporations floated $3 billion in bonds, nearly a third more than in the corresponding period of last year.

This urgent demand has forced up the price of money. Interest rates on high-grade corporate bonds have risen from 4.375 per cent a year ago to 4.55 per cent today. U.S. Treasury 90-day bills yield 4.1 per cent against 3.85 per cent a year ago. Commercial banks are bidding 4 1/2 per cent and even 4 3/4 per cent for time deposits—deposits of 90 days or more—in order to meet the loan requirements of customers.

Yields on long-term corporate bonds today are more than 50 per cent higher than on common stocks. Even short-term money brings a better return than the 2.85 per cent available on the industrial stocks in the Standard & Poor's average. But these differences may be narrowed by this fall—unless rising stock prices outrun higher dividend declarations.

HABIT IS HABIT

Though corporations are pressed for funds, habit, after all, is habit. Directors are likely to move toward the rule-of-thumb standard of $3 out of $5 for shareholders. And so, Franklin Folger's matron will be able to "buy" her own picnic.

But this calls for a word of warning. Earnings have advanced so rapidly from 1961 through 1964, helped along by income tax reductions, that they may well be up against a ceiling—especially since costs are rising. Therefore, increased dividends will reflect the past rather than the present.

TURNAROUND IN JULY

Besides, the pace of industrial activity is bound to diminish. Steel production is slowing down because of the heavy inventories piled up in anticipation of a strike. And some drop-off in inventories, in general, is possible.

Further, the boom in plant and equipment outlays will, in time, result in some overcapacity and perhaps force price cuts, which will put pressure on profits.

One favorable, but perhaps misleading statistic has just been released. Marriages shot up in July to 166,000, as compared with 152,000 in July, 1964. However, this is not a definite indication that the slowdown during the first six months of this year was a false alarm.

During July, the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended an increase in U.S. forces in South Viet Nam. This probably hastened "draft deferment" marriages, and the rush to the altar probably continued until August 26.

On that day President Johnson signed an executive order doing away with preferential treatment of newly married, childless husbands, 19 to 26. Therefore, the September marriage figures will be a significant business indicator—an indicator of how much of a plus or minus marriages will be in creating demand for new homes, furnishings, etc.

Biliary Cirrhosis Of Liver Is Uncommon

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: What is the difference between Biliary cirrhosis and alcoholic cirrhosis?

When one doctor recommends moderate activity with two hours of bed rest in the morning and two in the afternoon, and another recommends complete bed rest except for three hours a day, how does a patient decide which advice to follow?

Also will you please explain the significance of a total bilirubin reading of 10.1, 5, and 2.6?

—M.R.

Biliary cirrhosis of the liver is not common. It features enlargement of liver and spleen, and long-standing jaundice (or yellowing of the skin) which, however, can be variable.

It usually affects younger persons, and is thought to result from some toxic factor or infection of the bile ducts.

The other type of cirrhosis (which I do NOT call alcoholic, because alcohol may not be involved at all) is much more common and tends to occur in older people. True, alcohol can be a prominent factor, but not in all cases.

Anyway, in this latter type, the liver is small rather than large; jaundice is slight; there are other technical distinguishing factors.

A great deal of rest is a fundamental necessity for biliary cirrhosis. One doctor tells you that you can stay up three hours a day. The other tells you to go back to bed four hours a day. Assuming that you go to bed early and get up late, so you have a lot of rest at night, the difference in the two instructions is only a matter of degree.

If you are going to have two doctors, you should let them know it, so they can resolve the matter. In any event, the amount of bed rest would vary in accordance with how you respond. One doctor decides to start with more rest and perhaps reduce it; the other starts with a little less with the idea of perhaps increasing it. Unless the doctors know which advice you are following, it leaves them in the dark as to just how to proceed in your case.

As to the bilirubin readings, look back to the first paragraph of my reply to you. Notice that the jaundice can be variable. It varies with the amount of yellow pigment which is lodging in your blood, skin and other tissues instead of being normally discharged by your system.

The bilirubin reading is a chemical measurement of the amount of this pigment in the blood and hence a more exact determination of the degree of jaundice than merely trying to gauge "how yellow you are" by sight.

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald requesting the booklet, "How to Deal with Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 20 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

A Real Kitchen Cabinet

In English government it is customary for the opposition party to form a "shadow cabinet" whose members correspond to the members of the actual cabinet of the party in power. This seems like an excellent plan because someone who is "out" is always prepared to go "in." Also everyone must stay "in" the know or else be "out."

Perhaps it would be wise for the United States to adopt such a policy. Except that, in keeping with the President's wishes to have more women in top government jobs, the U.S. shadow cabinet would be housewives. For the first time in the history of democratic government, a real, honest-to-goodness Kitchen Cabinet.

IMAGINE THAT such a cabinet exists. Imagine further that a meeting is in progress and Her Honor, the Attorney General of the United States of America speaks:

"All right now, girls. Let's get the meeting started. We have lots of things to discuss today—world problems and stuff like that. Where's the Secretary of State? We can't begin without her. It was her turn to bring the coffee pot." Secretary of Defense: "I brought the cookies. I made chocolate chip this time. But I used margarine instead of butter and I cut down on the nuts and the chocolate chips to half a cup instead of a cup. I figure I saved 7 1/2 cents on the batch."

"Thank you, Roberta. That's really very good, but has anyone talked to the Secretary of State today?"

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE: "I called Deanna this morning to see what she was going to wear to the meeting and she mentioned something about a revolution some place or other. She told me where but I forgot."

"I guess we can start with the Treasurer's report but first I want to mention a note I received from the President. It seems that we are overdrawn at the International Monetary Fund and he's just a teensy bit annoyed."

SECRETARY OF the Treasury: "Well, I don't know about that. It seems to me that we're not actually overdrawn. We're underdeposited. And besides, I went over the check book with my husband and he only found one error of a billion or two. I don't see why everyone has to go get so upset over every little thing!"

"Now, the Secretary of the Interior would like to give a special report."

"OH! IT IS MY turn already? Just a minute. I know I have it right here someplace. Yes, here it is. You girls will be so proud of me! I found a way to save some money on the new drapes for the East Room. Instead of having them custom made, we can each take home a panel or two and run up a straight hem and then all we have to do is borrow a ladder and get a couple of men to put them up. Hubert said he would help."

"That's wonderful, dear, but I don't think you understand. The Secretary of the Interior does not mean of Interior Decorating."

"It doesn't?"

"No, it doesn't."

"WILL SOMEONE please give the Secretary of the Interior a hankie? Please don't cry, dear. None of us is perfect. We all make mistakes. Why I remember the time the Secretary of Labor went to the hospital to find out how long it took the average woman to have a baby."

Secretary of Labor: "I remember that. I was so embarrassed! And I wasted so much time I should have been using to study the milk shortage. But we all have to learn."

IS THERE any more new business? I have to leave early to take my riding lesson. The last time I went to the ranch I felt like a fool."

Secretary of Defense: "I think we really should talk about the international situation and our foreign policy and all those important things."

"Do we have a foreign policy?"

"I think so. I think we're supposed to discuss what is happening in Asia and Africa and South America."

"DO WE HAVE TO? I can't pronounce all those names."

"Why don't we just let everything go until the next meeting?"

"That's a good idea. I don't know what to do about anything anyway."

Those Expensive Invitations

WASHINGTON—President Johnson has been so pleased with the way Congress has been passing his legislation lately that he has made a great ceremony out of the signing of the bills. Not only are congressmen and senators and the press invited to bill-signing ceremonies, but telegrams are sent out all over the country asking interested citizens to come to Washington to see a bill signed.

I met a friend of mine from California the other day who had been invited to the White House for just such an occasion and he seemed rather sad. I asked him what the trouble was.

"I WAS MINDING my own business," he said, "when I got this telegram from the White House telling me I was invited to watch the President sign the mass pedestrian bill. I wasn't going to pay any attention to it, but my wife said, 'You have to go.'"

"I said, 'Why?'"

"Because if you don't," she said, "he'll think you're against his policy in Viet Nam. Arthur Miller turned down his invitation to watch him sign the arts bill because of Viet Nam, and Miller's been getting criticized for it ever since."

"WHY CAN'T I wire the President and tell him I support his policy in Viet Nam, but I don't like his mass pedestrian bill?"

"Because when you get invited to the White House you have to go. You don't want to be known as another Robert Lowell."

"So she went out and bought a $500 suit for the bill signing and I bought $400 worth of airplane tickets and three people gave us bon voyage parties, and we left everything behind to come to Washington for this great event."

"WE WERE TOLD to report to the Northwest Gate where about 100 people were waiting with telegrams in their hands. All of the wives had on new $500 suits and all the husbands were muttering about being away from their offices."

Finally they took us into the garden where there must have been 300 newspapermen and 50 newsmen cameras and we all stood around talking about what a fine Arthur Miller was and how nice it was for the President to invite us to watch him sign a bill.

"THEN THE President walked out, but I didn't get a chance to see him because all the photographers were around him taking pictures of him shaking hands with congressmen and senators. He made a short speech about the wonders of mass pedestrianism and then he went over to a small table and signed the bill with a bunch of pens which he gave away to the press."

"What happened next?"

"They took us back out the Northwest Gate and the guard thanked us for coming."

"IT SOUNDS pretty moving to me," I said.

"You know something," he said. "I think Arthur Miller was using Viet Nam as an excuse. He was just trying to save himself a thousand bucks."

"Did you tell this to your wife?"

"Yeah, but she said I was a sorehead. She said, 'You didn't like the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace either.'"

Labor Law Revision Ahead?

WASHINGTON — It's better for all concerned to let the pending bill on compulsory unionization be put aside until the January session of Congress as seems likely now. The labor leaders will not admit it publicly, but privately they, too, know that they could benefit by the delay.

A wait of only three or four months before the subject can be taken up in the new Congress is not a serious delay. In fact, both sides are going to need the time to prepare for one of the most significant battles in legislative history. For it is probable that this highly controversial bill is going to be the principal issue in the next session of Congress and perhaps in the congressional campaign itself.

THE CONTROVERSY is widening. It will not be confined solely to whether the 19 states which have right-to-work laws are to be permitted to retain them. A counter effort now will be made to ban compulsory unionization in all the 50 states. There is believed to be a narrow majority in Congress at present in favor of repealing Section 14-B of the Taft-Hartley Act, which permits the states to decide for themselves whether they wish to allow compulsory unionization. If the section is repealed, it will mean that no state can hereafter enact or keep in force a law on this subject, and all must obey a nationwide prohibition ordered by Congress.

WHILE THE majority in favor of such a repeal at present is narrow, the defenders of the principal of individual freedom to join or not to join a union are convinced that the American people have not yet learned the basic facts about the issue and that there has been much misconception about what is actually involved. This has prompted opponents of compulsory unionization to seek a complete overhaul of all labor legislation. There is, for example, much dissatisfaction on the part of management with the rulings of the National Labor Relations Board.

BUT THERE ARE other problems in labor-management relations which are bound to come under review. Such questions as how far the power to strike shall be carried and to what extent unions may be made liable for damage incurred through "wildcat" strikes are likely to produce several amendments to the proposed repeal of Section 14-B.

AT PRESENT, labor unions, like corporations, are forbidden to contribute "anything of value" to candidates in federal elections. But in view of the stretching of federal power in the recent voting-rights law, there would seem to be no question about the power of Congress to prohibit campaign contributions not only in federal but in state, city and county elections.

THE LAWS on the statute books are rather strict about the activities of corporations, but here, too, there is need for reform, because some businesses allow one or more executives to spend company time working in political campaigns. This, of course, is also a form of contribution that can be defined as "anything of value."

The whole subject needs further study, and the labor laws certainly are ripe for revision, for it has been a long time since these problems have been tackled by Congress. (Copyright, 1965, New York Herald Tribune, Inc.)

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Once this vine was just a seedling, struggling to survive. Now look at it! Each year it grows stronger and yields a greater harvest.

The Christian faith has grown and flourished like the vine. From the seeds of the early church, Christianity continues to spread its joyful message to people everywhere.

World-wide Communion Sunday is a day for Christians of every creed to meet in spirit at the Lord's Table. This annual event makes us deeply aware of our brotherhood within the Church whose truths we share.

Come and take part in this special service. Your prayers, and those of all Christians, will combine to strengthen the roots of God's vine throughout the world.

Forsan FHA Initiates Fourteen Freshmen

By JODY DODD
FORSAN — Monday evening, Sept. 27, the FHA held its initiation service in the high school cafeteria. Twelve freshmen girls became new members. Sheryl Kirkpatrick, president, called the meeting to order and began the service. Each officer presented one of the purposes of the organization to help new members understand FHA.

FHA officers from Bronte, Robert Lee, Garden City, and Sterling City were present and presented a variety of programs to approximately 100 girls. Two Bronte girls sang selections from Walt Disney's production, "Mary Poppins." Garden City's officers showed the group "how not to" and "how to" hold an FHA meeting.

The qualities of an FHA'er and a Christian were compared in the skit presented by the girls from Robert Lee. Jeanie McDonald, Area II president and president of the Sterling City FHA chapter, gave a report on the national convention held in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, this past year. From Forsan, a group consisting of Sara Findley, Wanda Albertson, Brenda Cleavenger, Karen Lawson, Nancy Anderson and Jody Dodd sang three folk songs. Accompanying them on the ukulele was Deryl Ann Dunagan.

Susan Gastin narrated a skit entitled "One Little Candle." Leah Johnson sang the song "One Little Candle" during the skit. Nancy Anderson and Brenda Cleavenger sang "Beyond the Sunset." Accompanying them on the organ was Marsha Kirkpatrick.

'THE GLORY GUYS'
Tom Tryon swings at Harve Presnell

Indians, Cavalry Battle On Screen

A tale of cavalry vs. Indian on the American plains during the '70s, told from the Indian's point of view and treated with understanding and sympathy, comes to the Ritz Theatre Thursday in "The Glory Guys," starring Tom Tryon, Harve Presnell and Santa Berge. There are hundreds of Indians, cavalrymen, horses and frontier characters in this story which also co-stars James Caan, Andrew Duggan, Slim Pickens, Peter Breck, Jeanne Cooper and Michael Anderson Jr. "The Glory Guys" was filmed in Panavision in Color by DeLuxe from an original screenplay by Sam Peckinpah and was directed by Arnold Laven. The music was composed and conducted by Riz Ortolani. The film's action parallels in many ways General Custer's battle with the Sioux at Little Big Horn. "Glory Guys" does not pretend to show what happened on that occasion, for this film is primarily fiction-action-romance.

This action is seen for the most part in the film through the eyes of Tom Tryon as a captain of cavalry in the regiment commanded by Andrew Duggan as General McCabe, and McCabe comes out as a victim of ambition and miscalculation.

Composer-Conductor Ortolani, who wrote and conducted the music for "The Glory Guys," is famed for his musical score for the recent "Mondo Cane" and its hit tune "More." He also provided the music for the recent "The Seventh Dawn."

Camera work for "The Glory Guys," which covered several acres of fighting cavalrymen and Indians at times, was in the charge of James Wong Howe, holder of two Academy Awards for previous work on large-scale productions.

Joan Crawford Stars In State Mystery Thriller

Oscar-winner Joan Crawford marks her 80th film during 40 years in pictures with her role in the suspense thriller "I Saw What You Did!" which opens Friday at the State Theatre.

As one of the columnists wrote: "Joan came to Holly- wood in 1925 as Lucille Lesue, and she looks sharper now with her sleek figure and chic groom- ing than she did then. . . . There isn't a woman in pictures today who can equal Joan's record."

Between Miss Crawford's first-found fame in such care- free tales of the jazz age as "Our Dancing Daughters" and the taut terror of her latest role in "I Saw What You Did!" her list of memorable portrayals is as impressive for its wide vari- ety as for its length.

She was acclaimed as the garish Sadie Thompson of "Rain," won the Academy Award as the too-trusting moth- er in "Mildred Pierce," and was hailed for her perform- ance in "What Ever Happened To Baby Jane?" played almost entirely in a wheel-chair. In "I Saw What You Did!"

Wine Was Wine

NEW YORK (AP) — Stage drinking is usually limited to consumption of colored water but "All in Good Time" added a touch of quaffing realism. The Broadway production of the comedy about life in an English provincial town included sipping of port wine by actors whenever stipulated in the script. The note of authenticity, however, didn't strengthen the play's box office appeal. It closed after 44 performances.

Fewer Attend

NEW YORK (AP) — Producers report a decline in demand for some opening night tickets along Broadway.

The falloff, especially notice- able among nonmusical offer- ings, is blamed by George Ban- al, head of the Association of Theatrical Press Agents and Managers, on over-enthusiastic advertising and early curtain time at premieres.

Joan Crawford portrays an ar- dent widow whose more than neighborly relationship with the man next door (John Ireland) leads to a night of terror.

It is an intense, unusual and for even an actress of her proven versatility, a challenging role, despite the fact that some of the less famed players have more footage in the film than Miss Crawford.

In this connection, the Acad- emy Award winner observes: "It's not how many scenes you have—it's the role that mat- ters."

Swiss Mark Three Events With Issues

By SYD KRONISH

Two anniversaries and a special sports event are hailed by Switzerland with the is- suance of three new stamps. One stamp honors CEPT (Conference of European Postal and Telecommunications). The 50 cen- times light blue, dark blue and green depicts a twig with three leaves and fruit. It was designed by Icelandic artist Hoedur Karlsson. A set of two stamp commemorates the centenary of the ITU (International Telecom- munication Union). The 10 c blue, yellow, gray and red bears a symbolic drawing of commu- nications. The 30 c orange, gray and red also has a sym- bolic illustration. The third stamp pays philatelic tribute to the world figure skating championships to be held in Davos, Switzerland, next Feb. 22-27. The design features a pair in graceful skating man- euver. The 5 c is green, blue and gray.

Great Britain has issued a new 6 pence stamp honoring the Commonwealth Arts Festival. The illustration shows three dancing figures from the fam- ous Trinidad Shrove Monday Carnival. Colors are orange and black. A 1 shilling 6 pence in the same series depicts folk dancing by Les Feux Follets, a Canadian dance group. Colors are mauve and black. The Dor- othy Wilding portrait of Queen Elizabeth is in the upper right corner of each stamp and "Com- monwealth Arts Festival" is at the extreme left.

A little late arriving on the philatelic scene is a set of stamps from Uruguay commemorating the XVIII Olympiad held last year. The regular val- ues are as follows: 20 centavos football, 40 c basketball, 80 c cycling, 1 P swimming. The air- mails are: 1 P boxing, 1.50P track, 2 P fencing, 2.40P row- ing, 3 P rifle shooting. A souve- nir sheet for the occasion was also issued. Each stamp also shows the 5-ring Olympic sym- bol.

Italy has issued a new 30 lire stamp marking the opening of the new 72 mile Mont Blanc Tunnel between Italy and France. A stamp honoring the same event was recently issued by France. The Italian stamp depicts a modernistic Alpine scene with mountains pierced by a tunnel. The two halves are labeled "Francia" and "Italia."

When the National Arts and Antiques Festival opens in New York's Madison Square Garden on Nov. 13 it will feature an exhibit of famous art on stamps. Called "Artifilella" it is the collection of Charles Gordon, a commercial airlines pilot whose hobby is art on postage stamps. The adhesives come from 22 na- tions. Famous artists include Da Vinci, Stuart, Michelangelo, Rubens, Goya, El Greco, Matis- se, Whistler and others.

Midland Rock Show Slated

The Midland Rock Show will be held Oct. 23-24 in the Na- tional Guard Armory on North Lamesa road, according to Jack Darden, chairman. The annual show, sponsored by the Mid- land Gem and Mineral Society, will display all phases of the rockhound hobby.

Mrs. A. B. Parkhurst has ar- ranged for several special ex- hibits.

A working demonstration under the direction of Charles McCamey will show rock saw- ing with a diamond charged saw blade, tumbling, faceting, cutting and polishing cabochons. Visitors to the show will have the opportunity to see rough rock-agate, Jasper, petrified wood, etc. — transformed into gems.

Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Keathley will supervise and narrate the fluorescent exhibit of rocks, min- erals and oil specimens.

A FATHER'S INFLUENCE

"When the time came for my daughter to select a col- lege, she came directly to me and asked my opinion. I made a careful study of catalogs, talked with gradu- ates, deans of admission, and other parents, and came up with a list of several in- stitutions, any one of which seemed to me suitable. She was very grateful.

"Thank you Dad," she said, 'for going to all that work.'"

Shortly afterward she chose a college not on my list, because a friend was going there."

From "Going Around in Academic Circles," new book by Richard Armour.

Still brighter things are ahead for the Howard County Junior College choir. Membership has exactly doubled over last autumn, and the choir now has 42 taking part. Among the new participants are a number of real fine voices, reported Gary Ebensberger, director and head of the music department. Harlan Thornton of the language department is back as accompanist. First appearance of the choir will be in the HCJC auditorium on the evening of Oct. 22 (Friday) when a program is given for the 12th District of Federated Music Clubs meeting in Big Spring. The Sui Ross and the Odessa College choir also will appear on the program. Date for the traditional Christmas program has been pegged for Dec. 13, reported Ebensberger.

Another treat shaping from the music department, Ebensberger reported, will be a piano concert at 4 p.m. on Oct. 31 (a Sunday) at the auditorium by Joe Shafer, new instructor in instrumental music. His wife, Sandra, also an accomplished pianist, will join him in the concert.

First presentation of the season for the Midland - Odessa symphony and chorale will be at Lee High auditorium at 8 p.m. with John Browning, pianist, as the guest soloist.
