Family Fight in GOP Under Way

Mishap Thwarts Mars Try

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The United States, thwarted by a freak mishap in its first attempt to explore Mars, today readied another Mariner probe for the same picture-taking mission.

Mariner 3 died late Thursday night, about nine hours after launch, despite the last-ditch efforts of a team of scientists to revive the complex, 565-pound spacecraft.

The ships twin, Mariner 4, sits atop another Atlas-Agena rocket ready for launch expected within two weeks.

The ill-fated probe, designed to take 22 pictures of mysterious Mars and help lead the way for future space ship landings, now is speeding into orbit around the sun to become a lifeless space derelict.

Project chief Jack N. James early today blamed Mariner's failure on a protective cover that apparently hung up on the space craft instead of being thrown clear during early stages of flight.

He explained that the cover, which shields the delicate Mariner during launch, prevented the ship's vital solar panel from unfolding to recharge its overstrained battery with energy from the sun.

As a result, the battery failed and Mariner's radio fell silent.

James said the positive cause of the trouble would not be determined for several days until volumes of data radioed back from Mariner are anaylzed.

He said engineers would begin at once preparing to launch Mariner 4 the last space craft in the $112 million, two-shot Mars program.

Strikes at Nine Ford Auto Plants Called by UAW

26,000 Workers Involved in Walkouts Starting This Morning

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers Union called crippling local strikes at nine Ford Motor Co. plants around the country today. More than 6,000 workers were involved in the walkouts that began at 10 a.m. EST.

The walkouts occurred despite a national agreement between the company and union nearly a month ago. Plants involved were located at Sterling Township (Detroit), Ypsilanti and Wayne, Mich.; Sheffield, Ala.; St. Louis; Chicago Heights; Louisville; Dallas and Buffalo, N.Y.

Shortly before the strike deadline, the UAW came to agreement at a key stamping plant at Bedford, Ohio. But stamping plants at Chicago Heights and Buffalo were the key operations and the shutdown of either of them would eventually have a drastic effect on Ford's production capabilities.

A Ford spokesman said the Cleveland engine unit would be allowed to work without a contract.

Ken Bannon, UAW Ford Department head, said: "There are nine plants with unresolved issues. I assume they are now walking out."

1,400 AT DALLAS INCLUDED IN STRIKE

DALLAS (UPI)— About 1,400 Ford Motor Co. workers went on strike at the Dallas assembly plant today over local issues. The plant produces 290 cars and 100 trucks a day in a 10-hour shift.

The issues, according to a Ford spokesman, included seniority, assignment of overtime, "restriction of management rights to manage the business efficiently" and paid relief time for certain groups of employes.

Howard Sullivan, manager of the Dallas plant, said he hopes agreement will be reached shortly on unresolved issues. There have been previous discussions between union and management.

"We have always had excellent labor relations and strikes have been few and far between since the plant was opened here in 1925," Sullivan said.

The payroll to hourly-paid employes at the plant is more than $1 million a month. Since the start of 1965 model production, the plant has worked 10 hours a day, Monday through Friday, and eight hours a day Saturday.

Cars and trucks the plant produces are shipped to about 200 dealers in Texas and adjoining states.

Little Old Lady Capitalizes on Firemen's Fumbles

FORT WORTH (UPI) — Elderly lady 2, firemen 0.

That's the score so far in the battle for footballs at a Fort Worth South Side fire station.

Firemen at the station like to play catch during their off moments. However, two overthrown footballs landed in the 80-year-old woman's yard near the station and she scampered into her home with them, fending off firemen with a broomstick.

A package arrived from Dallas yesterday and inside was a kicking tee, a new football, and a note that read:

"This replaces your old one. My dad was a fireman too, and I know you need this."

The note was signed Ed Miller.

The firemen are taking better care of their new football. They had better.

"She watches us like a hawk," one fireman said. "She just leans on that broomstick waiting for the ball to get away from us."

Nixon, Rocky In Tiff

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The GOP found itself in a chair-throwing family fight today over the blame for Tuesday's election disaster and ways to rebuild or remodel the Republican party.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon asked for a cooling-off period while he threw crockery at New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller. And while praising Sen. Barry M. Goldwtaer, he said the defeated presidential nominee should try to lead the party only if the Arizona senator's views represent a consensus of Republican thinking.

Rockefeller called Nixon "peevish" and said the Goldwater candidcay had divided the party and carried hundreds of Republicans down to defeat.

Speaking more gently, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower said the GOP had been hurt but not wrecked. He said the GOP must rid itself of the "false image" that it was the party "for the rich and privileged."

Broad Views

Eisenhower said the next Republican presidential candidate "must represent a broad spectrum of political thinking" but he suggested no names.

Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania also spoke of the GOP image and said it must be changed to show that it is not an exclusive organization. He thought various groups of party leaders should meet and discuss what course the party should take.

These and other comments came from Republican leaders after Goldwater's statement Wednesday that he had no intention of withdrawing from politics or pulling out of his fight for conservatism.

In their search for a scapegoat, GOP critics of the Goldwater campaign were asking for the retirement of Goldwater's party chairman, Dean Burch, and John Grenier, executive director in national headquarters.

One well-informed Republican source said the clamor for Burch's scalp was coming from state legislators and members of Congress in normally safe districts who were buried in the Democratic landslide this week.

Names Thrown Out

Many names were being advanced for the party chairmanship, including Nixon. Gov. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma suggested Nixon, several governors and Ray C. Bliss, Ohio party chairman who has refused the job many times.

Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho nominated Gov. John Anderson of Kansas.

Two other Republicans reported under discussion were Rep. Robert Taft Jr., who lost a cliff-hanger contest for an Ohio Senate seat, and former Rpe. Walter Judd of Minnesota.

Republican party rules provide no machinery for ousting Burch but he would be in a hopeless position if the GOP National Committee should approve a motion of "no confidence" in him at its next meeting.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., who was reelected this week in a photo finish, faced a similar move as party chairman in 1949. He won a 54 to 50 vote of confidence but resigned a few months later.

Salinger Heads List For High Radio Job

Radio and Television Daily, a broadcasting industry publication reported in it's Thursday edition that Pierre Salinger heads a list of names being considered for the $75,000 a year post as president of the National Association of Broadcasters.

Walter Rogers, 18th District Congressman, of Pampa, also has been considered as a top contender for the job.

Sources close to Rogers say that the broadcasting industry feels that Rogers could better serve the industry by remaining in the House as chairman of the powerful subcommittee on communications.

It was believed that if Rogers had been defeated for re-election, his name would have elevated to the top of the list of prospective presidents.

Since Rogers won re-election it is believed the radio-television industry will want him to remain in the House.

Salinger came into consideration, the publication said, after he lost his Democratic bid for election to the U.S. Senate from California in Tuesday's polling.

"Pierre Salinger's name has been catapulated to the list of 15 candidates for the presidency of the National Association of Broadcaster," the publication said.

The opening for president of the NAB was created by the resignation of Leroy Collins to accept the appointment as head of the civil rights commission.

Rogers became popular with the broadcasting industry for his work as communication subcommittee chairman.

Oregon Election Saves Lives of Three Condemned

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—A woman and two men who lived for years in the shadow of Oregon's gas chamber were released from death row today.

Oregon voted Tuesday to abolish capital punishment and make life imprisonment the maximum penalty for first degree murder.

However, Jeannace June Freeman, 22; Larry West Shipley, 23, and Herbert Floyd Mitchell, 43, could have been executed anyway. The three—the only Oregon prisoners awaiting death in the gas chamber—were exempted from the provisions of the abolition referendum.

But within 48 hours after it passed, Gov. Mark Hatfield ordered the three sentences commuted to life "in view of the expression of the people of Oregon in their vote abolishing capital punishment."

Miss Freeman was condemned to die for the 1961 slaying of a 6-year-old boy. Mitchell for the 1962 shooting of a man who was sitting in a theater with Mitchell's estranged wife, and Shipley for the 1961 slaying of his 16-year-old girl friend.

Women Candidates Have Good Average

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nineteen women ran for Congress last Tuesday. Ten were elected.

Among the GOP casualties in the Democratic sweep was veteran Congresswoman Katharine St. George of New York, whose nine-term career was ended by Democrat John G. Dow.

Of the 10 women who were elected, nine were incumbents—five Democrats and four Republicans. The new face is that of Patsy Takemoto Mink of Hawaii, the first woman of Oriental ancestry to serve in Congress.

The pretty Democrat is well known in Hawaii for her work in the legislature when the state still was a territory.

Republican veterans who won re-election were Reps. Frances P. Bolton of Ohio, Charlotte T. Reid of Illinois, Catharine May of Washington and Florence P. Dwyer of New Jersey.

Democratic incumbents re-elected were Reps. Leonor Sullivan of Missouri, Edna Kelly of New York, Edith Green of Oregon, Julia Butler Hansen of Washington, and Martha Griffiths of Michigan. All except Mrs. Reid defeated male opponents. Mrs. Reid was opposed by a woman, Poppy X. Mitchell.

There were three close races in which women lost. In Pennsylvania, Sen. Hugh Scott narrowly survived the Democratic landslide to defeat his Democratic opponent, Genevieve Blatt, the state's internal affairs secretary.

In Michigan, Sen. Philip A. Hart, Democrat, retained his seat in a contest with Mrs. Elly Peterson, a former member of the Republican National Committee.

In Ohio, lawyer Frances McGovern, a Johnson Democrat, lost a congressional race to incumbent Republican William Ayres. Both President and Mrs. Johnson campaigned in Ohio for Miss McGovern, a former state representative.

Ground Party Starts Trek To Wreckage

KIM, Colo. (UPI)—A ground party was to begin forcing its way today toward the spot where a plane crashed and burned on a rugged mesa in southeastern Colorado.

It was believed to be the plane carrying three Dallas soft drink company executives, a Chicago businessman, and their Dallas pilot, that disappeared last Tuesday.

The burned wreckage of a twin-engine plane was spotted by a search plane late Thurs-

Wintry Chill Hits Pampa

Pampans are getting the first real taste of winter as the mercury plunged into the high 20s and low 30s and light rain, drizzle and fog dampened the Panhandle.

However, brighter skies were promised as the forecast predicted a warming trend over the weekend.

Pampa's rainfall total for the past two days has amounted to .35 of an inch.

Pampa barely missed seeing the first snow of the season Wednesday and yesterday when "flurries" were reported as near as Amarillo and Dalhart.

The fog dropped visibility so low yesterday that all flights were cancelled at Amarillo Air Terminal.

In a five-day forecast, the U. S. Weather Bureau said Texas will be 4 to 8 degrees above normal with little precipitation.

The local forecast called for decreasing cloudiness today and becoming fair tomorrow. Low tonight mid 30s, high Saturday upper 60s. Winds variable at 5-15 m.p.h.

Tax Officials to Attend Meeting

Two officials from the Pampa city tax department will attend the 25th annual conference of the Texas Association of Assessing Officers Monday and Tuesday in Abilene.

Tax Assessor - Collector Aubrey Jones and Deputy Assessor-Collector Bill Wagoner will leave tomorrow in time to attend pre-convention committee meetings Saturday night and Sunday.

The general conference gets under way at 9 a.m. Monday. Jones will be moderator of one of the workshop sessions on Monday.

Delegates and their wives will attend a barbecue at 7 p.m. Monday and the annual T.A.A.O. banquet will wind up the conference at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

63 HOURS INSIDE CRATE

Athlete Ships Self Home Collect

LONDON (UPI) — A disconsolate Australian javelin thrower who failed to make his country's Olympic team shipped himself home collect via air freight in a wooden box, according to a London newspaper.

The Sun said that Reg Spiers, 22, spent 63 hours strapped inside a homemade crate five feet long, two feet wide, and three feet high for the trip of approximately 12,000 miles from London to Perth, Australia.

Piers had failed to qualify for the Australian team in the recent Tokyo Olympic Games. "I lost my wallet and my last 50 pounds ($140) in London," the paper quoted him as saying.

"Then the idea of the box came to me." He shipped the crate collect to Perth, and then hitchhiked the remaining 1,350 miles to his wife and daughter and their home in Adelaide.

(In Sydney, a newspaper quoted Spiers, now home, as saying, "I know this sounds ridiculous, but I was enjoying the flight in a way. I thought of the passengers above me and wondered if they were as comfortable."

Surprised At Arrival

(He was quoted as saying he walked into his home on the day before his wedding anniversary. "Boy, were they surprised," Spiers said. "They thought I was still in London."

(His wife Catherine reportedly said, "I don't want to talk about the way Reg got home... but I know we are sure glad to see him.")

Spiers told the Sun he went to the British Overseas Airways Corp. (BOAC) and told them he had a crate containing plastic emulsion to be sent to Perth. He was booked out on a flight for Oct. 18.

"The crate was big enough to allow me to sit up with my legs stretched out, but tight enough to prevent my being tossed around inside," Spiers said. "I also devised a system to open the box from inside.

"On Oct. 17, I climbed inside the box and secured myself," he said. "I had a small suitcase which I strapped to the roof within reach, and another suitcase at my side. I had some blankets to sit on and a pillow for my head."

Friends carried the box to the airport.

The plane arrived in Perth, via Bombay, on Oct. 20. Spiers waited until dockers put the crate in a shed, then clambered out and headed for Adelaide.

Some Anxious Moments

(He was quoted in Sydney as saying he had an anxious moment in Bombay, when the crate was taken from the jet plane by a forkhft and left in the boiling sun for a short period before being transferred to another plane.

("It was so hot I had to peel off my shirt," he said. "I had no idea why I'd been taken out and thought I might be loaded off there for a few days.

("In that heat I thought I could last a day inside that crate, at the most.")

Customs officials in Perth found the crate in a shed. Inside it was the pillow, a men's magazine, and the remains of a carton of beer cans.

A back door of the shed had been forced from within. An official said, "the matter now is in the hands of commonwealth authorities."

An official of Air India said the crate had been addressed to a shoe company in Perth under the name of a firm in Surrey, Britain. It was not known who had been presented with the bill for the flight.

Dear Abby....

Check the Facts on Those Frequent Office Parties

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The letter about the office hay ride party prompted this comment because, for the past ten years, that is what I have been arguing with my husband about. He works for a big company and almost every other weekend they have a party for someone who is being married, transferred, retired, or for any other reason they can think up. Husbands and wives are not invited. I've heard my husband and some of his co - workers talk about what goes on at these parties, and believe me, I don't like it. There is drinking and dancing, and the young unmarried girls fall all over the married men. My husband always has the money for these office parties, but just let me ask him for a few dollars for something the kids or I need, and he doesn't have it. He claims he has to go to these parties. I say, like heck he does. When the company stopped the annual Christmas party, and gave each employee a turkey instead, I was so happy. Why does the management permit these other parties to go on? It only causes hard feelings between the employes and their families.

NOT INVITED

DEAR NOT: If you will investigate, you'll probably find that the management has nothing to do with these parties. They are organized by the employes (usually one or two with unsatisfied drives). Management bends over backwards to encourage family unity and to discourage the kind of togetherness outside the office that you describe. And only those who want to participate do so.

DEAR ABBY: Every night I am awakened by the voice of a strange woman giving my husband French lessons. This is done via a tape recorder, a timer and a speaker which is placed under his pillow. The lessons last approximately one half-hour while my 200 - pounder slumbers. It would not be so bad if I were not awakened during the night by other sounds. The baby needs changing, or wants his bottle, or has an occasional nightmare. Please tell me, Abby, am I unreasonable to object to having a French lesson at 2 a.m.?

MOTHER OF SEVEN AND TIRED

DEAR MOTHER: Non!

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I had a birthday party for my twin sons, who were five years old. We sent one invitation to each child and signed it John and Jack. Each child who attended the twins' party brought two gifts — one for each twin. Now each of my twins has received an invitation to attend the birthday party of one of the boys who attended theirs. Do you think this was a hint that the little boy expects two gifts? One from each twin? Thank you.

PUZZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: When twins give one gift "from the twins" it is usually twice as expensive as one gift would have been. I dont know whether individual invitations were sent as a "hint" that two gifts were expected, but if you have any such suspicions, put your mind at ease and send two gifts.

RUTH MILLETT

"Don't you think the high school education of girls should substitute lots of training in home economics" a mother writes, "for all those unnecessary courses that the youngsters have to take? When my daughter graduates next year, what good will the math and chemistry and Latin do her? She should be learning how to run a home."

This seems to make sense until you stop to realize that the girls are going to live in a man's world, too. A great many of them are going to have to compete with men for the jobs they get and hold.

It's all very fine for Sally Smith to graduate from high school with a knowledge of how to cook, run a home and look after children.

That is, it's fine if Sally happens to get a husband while she's still just a girl and manages to hang onto him—separated by neither death nor divorce — for the rest of her days. And if, of course, her husband is able to make a living for her and any children they may bring into the world.

But those are an awful lot of "ifs." Suppose Sally doesn't find a husband or that she finds one she can't hang onto? Or suppose her husband finds he can't support a family without her help?

Then what is Sally going to do with her "feminized" education — walk into an employer's office and tell him what good pies she can make and how much she knows about "family oriented cultural subjects?"

No, the woman who is prepared for nothing but homemaking today faces a mighty insecure future.

Just as more and more women are coming to find it necessary to play two roles in life, paid worker and homemaker, so it becomes more and more necessary to educate girls both for a "man's world" and for a "woman's world."

Her school training will enable her to compete successfully for a business job. She should be learning her homemaking at home.

Stripes and Slacks and Madras by the Stacks Make up Boys Spring Fashions

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — What are little boys made of made of — in spring fashions? Stripes and slacks and madras by the stacks, that's what little boys are made of.

The boys' apparel manufacturers' association spotted these trends in its annual presentation of spring clothes, ranging from tailored suits to swimwear, for the five-year-olds and on up to early teens.

The association, a show in which 250 manufacturers were represented, said several other trends were on the way for the industry which does a $9 billion dollar business yearly.

White slacks, the favorite shade, showed with every sort of topping. And for smaller boys, the knickers were revived in corduroy.

Madras continued a favorite fabric for the coming season, newly done in patchwork quilt patterns. Madras went into jackets, into shorts and swimsuits. Madras stretch showed throughout the collection.

An up-and-coming fabric was velour, both stretch and terry surfaced, used largely for boys' shirts, but occasionally for swim trunks.

Stripes showed for cotton shirtings in dress-up suits and in bold, contrasting colors for swim trunks and "muscle" shirts. The muscle shirts are casuals, completely sleeveless and collarless and worn on the outside of trunks.

Some of the stripes for casual wear were two and three inches wide, as in one long muscle shirt; in a John L. Sullivan set of trunks (longer than standard swimwear); and in red and white striped trunks held up with red suspenders, the industry's answer to Rudi Gernreich's topless bathing suit for women.

"In" for spring is dressing like the experts in the sports world. The industry called these "competition clothes" and said small boys could get both color, insignia and style of their favorite sport — be it boating, skiing, baseball or golf. Copied from the boating set, for instance, were red sailcloth parkas with white trim and navy twills with clear white "v" insets at the front.

One major trend in sportswear is what the industry termed the "wet look." These are slick, shiny surfaces given foul weather gear ranging from jackets to regulation length coats.

In suits, the eton jacket maintains its popularity. And in colors, clothes have the no-color look of linen but go on to show in vibrant blues, yellows, oranges, burgundies and rust, with the always popular black mixed in.

Manners Make Friends

A visitor may worry about what clothes to bring for a weekend. Suggest what will be needed.

Taxpayer May Save On Unusual Income

Taxpayers who had an unusually large income in 1964 will find that taxes on their higher earnings may be reduced considerably by the new income averaging provision, according to Richard V. White, administrative officer in the Pampa Internal Revenue Office.

This provision of the 1964 tax law treats the qualified extra income of one year as if it had been earned over a five - year period. Since tax rates are progressive, this means a lower tax rate for the higher year's earnings.

The income averaging provision should be particularly helpful to persons with sharply fluctuating incomes, according to White. He said salesmen, entertainers, writers, professional athletes and many business and professional people may be able to realize important tax savings by using this income averaging provision.

The provision covers most types of income. It includes salaries, commissions, business income, dividends, and interest, among others.

White said that income averaging can be used by a U. S. citizen or resident who is over 25 and who has not been a full-time student during four of his taxable years beginning after he attained age 21. It can be used by taxpayers under 25 if they have furnished at least one-half their support in all four years prior to the year averaging is desired.

To qualify for averaging, income in the current year must be at least one third greater than the average income earned during the last four years. This excess must also exceed $3,000.

Under income averaging, income in excess of 133 1-3 per cent of the average earned during the previous four years, will be taxed in an amount equal to five times the tax payable on the first one-fifth of the excess.

This procedure results in about the same amount of relief as an actual spreading of excess income over a five-year period.

White estimated that the averaging provision will save taxpayers about $40 million a year.

Instructions for figuring tax liability under income averaging will be contained in the instruction booklet accompanying 1040 tax forms as well as in the new edition of "Your Federal Income Tax" and "Tax Guide for Small Business."

Firemen were called to a Pampa residence at 10:25 p.m. to administer oxygen when a Pampa housewife fainted.

DALLAS (UPI) — A prisoner in the Dallas city jail had a brainstorm for revenge when his estranged wife refused to talk to him on the telephone Thursday.

He called the fire department and reported her house on fire. The firemen answered the alarm all right. Then the jailbird learned the hard way that outgoing calls at the jail are recorded.

The tape was played back and he now has another charge facing him - making a false fire report.

Pampa Teenagers Arrested by Borger Police

Five Pampa teenagers and one 21-year-old Pampa woman, arrested late last night by Borger police, faced charges today ranging from minor in possession to carrying prohibited weapons.

Charged with minor in possession were David L. Hale, 17; Richard E. Spradley, 17 and two 16-year-old youths.

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor was Mary R. Baker, 21, of Pampa.

The five were arrested by Borger police shortly before midnight.

Audience Applauds Little Theater Play

An appreciative and receptive opening night audience applauded the current production of "Doctor's Orders," Pampa Little Theater's current play. Other performances will be given Friday through Tuesday. Curtain time is 8 p.m. each night except for the Sunday Matinee which starts at 2:30 p.m.

Comedy abounds in the play, with hilarious episodes between the Madden's, Sisters Agatha and Letty and Cousin Adolf; the scene between Letty and the psychiatrist, Dr. Reynolds; and Maimie Collins, the cook and housekeeper, will put the audience in stitches every time she

The plot of the play centers around a theft at the Madden Department Store and the visit of Letty Madden to a psychiatrist, who advises her to get rid of her inhibitions. Letty takes him at his word and follows his orders in her own words "to the letter." How she goes about it makes for delightful entertainment for theatergoers.

All seats are reserved, and reservations should be phoned in to MO 9-9051 after 6:30 p.m. The play is staged at Holy Souls School at 600 W. Browning.

Dean Burch Will Stay in GOP Post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dean Burch said today that he would remain as chairman of the Republican National Committee as long as the party wants him.

In a statement, Burch said he would call a meeting of the national committee after the first of the year for a discussion of questions of interest to the party—including his chairmanship.

Burch has come under strong attack since the overwhelming defeat of Republican presidential candidate Barry M. Goldwater Tuesday. Several leading Republicans have demanded that Burch resign.

In saying he would stay on, at least until the committee meeting, Burch called also for "a consensus — ideological, financial and organizational — which represents all elements of our party."

day scattered on a ledge of the 500-foot Mesa de Mayam.

There was no sign of life.

Local sheriff's officers, soldiers from Fort Carson and Civil Air Patrol searchers camped near the foot of the mesa Thursday night and prepared to head for the wreckage today.

Civil Air Patrol units in four states — Colorado, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Texas—took part in the search for the plane, which left Denver Tuesday on a flight to Lubbock, Tex.

Aboard the twin-engine Beechcraft were its pilot, J.A. Willness, Ernest Marman, 38, executive vice president of the Dr Pepper Co., Max McNeil, 45, western area sales manager for Dr Pepper, Mac Green, 37, head of Dr Pepper's fountain sales division, all of Dallas, Tex., and Gregg Sherry, 36, of Chicago, account executive with the Grant Advertising Co.

A woman civil Air Patrol pilot, Jean Farrell, spotted the burned wreckage about 25 miles southeast of Kim near the New Mexico border "where you could travel for 60 miles without seeing a house."

THREE TRAINS DERAILED

PARIS (UPI) — Two passenger trains and a freight train jumped the tracks Wednesday in a rail yard pileup at Acheres 15 miles northeast of Paris.

Four trainmen were killed and four railways workers and two passengers were injured.

Synthetic quinine was produced from coal-tar products for the first time in 1944.

Causes Sought in Two Plane Crashes

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (UPI)—Air Force officials today tried to piece together a giant jigsaw puzzle made up of the charred remains of a KC-97 Stratotanker which crashed and killed all five crewmen.

Air Police with vicious German shepherd dogs stood guard throughout the night over the deep rut the plane cut Thursday through the Pease Air Force Base golf course and a section of a heavily travelled highway.

The Air Force identified the dead as:

—Capt. Louis Thompson, 33, of Vernon, Conn., the pilot.

—Capt. Michael P. Valayian, 27, of Jersey City, N.J., copilot.

—1st Lt. Larry C. Dennis, 25, of Richmond, Va., the navigator.

CLOVIS, N.M. (UPI)—An Air Force board of inquiry today is trying to determine the cause of the crash of an F-100 fighter bomber Thursday that took the life of a 31-year-old pilot.

Capt. Harvey W. Houzenga of the 524th Tactical Air Command fighter squadron at Cannon Air Force Base near Clovis was killed in the crash. The plane fell to earth eight miles north of Clovis in east-central New Mexico.

A witness to the crash said it appeared the plane hit the ground, shot back into the air and exploded about 50 to 100 feet above the ground. The witness said Houzenga apparently did not have a chance to parachute from the plane.

Describing the explosion, the observer said "It was like a big ball of fire. It lit everything up. It was just like a bomb... pieces flew for hundreds of yards like shrapnel."

Houzenga lived at Cannon Air Base with his wife, Gisela, and their one-year-old daughter. Mrs. Houzenga is expecting another child.

Houzenga is a native of Fulton, Ill.

Woman Driver Acts Promptly, But Wrongly

A Pampa bus driver got more than he bargained for yesterday when he honked his horn for a woman driver to move her car.

The driver said he pulled up to Woodrow Wilson School and noticed a woman parked in the bus parking spot. He said he honked the horn one time for her to move.

She moved all right, but in the wrong direction.

The driver said she put the car in reverse and backed into the bus.

No damage was done to either vehicle.

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Ralph J. Cordiner, Republican national finance committee chairman, has quit his post, the first member of the Goldwater-Miller team to leave in the wake of the massive Democratic victory.

Cordiner's resignation was not unexpected. A spokesman for the Republican National Committee said Thursday that Cordiner agreed to stay on the job only through the election.

His resignation was effective Nov. 3, election day, the spokesman said.

Changes Sought In Voting Rules

DALLAS (UPI) —Texas must change its voting rules, Tom Ellis, the Dallas county clerk, said Thursday.

Ellis said, "I think it unfair to deny a person the right to vote in the presidential race simply because he has not lived in the state one year or the county six months."

U.S. Dist. Atty. Barefoot Sanders said he has received protests about the rules.

He said the thieves broke into the locked room and tore the vending machine off the wall.

The incident occurred between 7:30 last night, when the station closed, and 5:30 this morning, when it opened for business.

$72.50 in Change Stolen at Laundry

Approximately $72.50 in change was taken during the night when thieves stole the telephone from the 24-Hour Laundry, 706 E. Frederic.

Police said the phone was torn from the wall sometime between 10:30 last night and 8:30 this morning and apparently carted off in a car.

The phone was discovered missing this morning by Mrs. B. F. Hess, an employe of the laundry.

Auxiliary Plans Buddy Poppy Sale

Pampa Auxiliary to post No. 1657 VFW will conduct its annual Buddy Poppy sale Saturday and Wednesday, Nov. 11, Veterans Day. Members of the Auxiliary and Post will assist in the sales.

The VFW has conducted an annual nationwide "Buddy Poppy Sale" since May 1924. It is now a tradition, setting a time of remembrance, a time to remind ourselves and the public of the obligation we owe our departed comrades and their dependents, our symbolic way of saying "We have not forgotten." Our motto "honor the Dead by Helping the Living."

The Buddy Poppy is made by the disabled veterans and are purchased from the Dept. of Texas VFW at Austin.

By the revenue from the poppy sale each year, the VFW is able to maintain the National rehabilitation program, the VFW National Home located at Eaton Rapids, Mich., home for orphans and widows of members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, hospital aid to the Veterans Administration Hospital at Amarillo, welfare and aid to the needy veterans and families locally.

Eye Bank Parley Ends at Chicago

At a meeting of the Eye Bank Assn. of America (EBAA) held in the Palmer House in Chicago enough Eye banks in the U.S. and Canada were qualified to be elected to the Association, thereby causing a redistricting of the eye banks.

The Hi - Plains Eye Bank, Inc., was put in the South Central District, with other eye banks of Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado and possibly Kansas. Previously The Hi-Plains Eye Bank Inc. was in the Midwest District, which reached from Houston to Rochester, Minn.

Joe Tooley, delegate from Texas, made the motion for the redistricting in as much as the distance involved kept too many Eye banks from attending the conferences.

The conferences in Chicago was by far the most fruitful of all the conferences because of the heavy attendance of eligible delegates.

The EBAA is composed of 49 Eye Banks throughout the United States and Canada and banks had their delegates in Chicago for the conference.

Ted Hunter of the Iowa Lions Eye Bank was elected president.

Omar Hermsmeger of Amarillo was elected to the board.

Tooley was appointed chairman of the South Central division committee.

Moral Decay Question Subject to Definitions

By LOUIS CASSELS
United Press International

Have America's moral standards gone to pot?

Sweeping judgments on a nation's morals are always subject to two hazards. First, they are unfair to individuals who live by their own ethical codes, regardless of what others are doing. Second, people do not agree what constitutes immoral conduct.

To some, immorality primarily means sexual misbehavior. Others have a broader definition, which includes lying, cheating or theft. Still others believe the most immoral thing you can do is to hate, scorn or mistreat a fellow human being.

Whatever criterion you choose to apply, you can adduce evidence that immorality is currently widespread in American society.

Those who are primarily concerned about licentiousness can point to such things as the sharp increase in veneral disease rates among teen-agers; the steady rise in illegitimate births; the high divorce rate; and the testimony of pastors, high school principals and college deans about the casual attitude of many young people toward premarital sex relations.

Face Erotic Stimulants

To Prof. Harvey Cox, a distinguished moral theologian, the root of the problem is that young people today are growing up in a "sex-saturated society" in which they are "constantly bombarded through clothing styles, entertainment, advertising and courtship mores with perhaps the most skillfully contrived array of erotic stimulants ever amassed."

In other words, there's no point in wringing your hands over sexual immorality unless you're prepared to do something about the aphrodisiacal culture—the sexy books, dirty movies, titillating television shows and leg-art advertising—which promotes it.

But that won't be easy to do. Prof. Cox says. There is money to be made—big money—in the exploitation of sex. And billion-dollar industries can be remarkably insensitive to outcries about what they're doing to moral standards.

Those to whom "immoral" is a synonym for "dishonest" also can find plenty to brood about in contemporary American life. The well attested prevalence of petty fraud in income tax returns, the well-nigh universal custom of filching office supplies for personal use at home, the large percentage of students who readily acknowledge (on anonymous questionnaires) that they cheat on examinations whenever possible: All point to a general laxity in observance of the Commandments against lying and stealing.

No Longer Shocked

Most disturbing, perhaps, is the evidence that many people no longer are horrified or outraged when they learn that a Billie Sol Estes has parlayed non-existent fertilizer tanks into a business empire, or that a Bobby Baker has amassed a "fortune" while serving in a modest-salary job as Senate secretary. There seem to be millions of Americans who simply take for granted that people will get away with all they can—and who respond to "scandals" with a collective shrug.

And what of those who feel that mistreating your fellow man is the ultimate immorality? They can hardly contemplate the American scene with optimism. They see evidence of continuing racial injustice and hatred—by no means confined to one section of the country. They also see a widespread callousness toward human suffering which manifests itself in many different ways—from senseless crimes of violence at one extreme to a polite indifference toward the plight of the poor at the other.

What can be done to raise moral standards? The question is an old one—as old as the Bible. The Bible's answer is that repentance, like charity, begins at home.

Jesus put it quite succinctly:

"Why do you look at the speck of sawdust in your brother's eye, with never a thought for the great plank in your own? You hypocrite! First take the plank out of your own eye, and then yuo will see clearly to take the speck out of your brother's."

Texas Baptists Approve Budget Of $12 Million

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI) — The Baptist General Convention of Texas has approved a $12 million budget. It was the first time since 1933 that the budget did not set a record.

Dr. T. A. Patterson, executive secretary of the convention, said the budget was "kept in line" because of the deficit between mission gifts and spending.

Two-thirds of the budget will be spent in Texas.

Rep. Woodson Arms, pastor of the First Baptist Church of El Paso delivered the annual sermon.

Arms said, "in a world of chaos, it is comforting to know that one's faith is centered in Christ, who does not change in a time of chaos."

The convention concludes today.

Sermon Topic Set At First Christian

The sermon topic Sunday at the First Christian Church to be given by Rev. Ford A. Ellis will be "How Foolish One Can Be." The scripture is: Matthew 25: 1-13.

Dr. Roy McClung, President of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, will be guest speaker for both worship services Sunday in the First Baptist Church.

Dr. McClung was pastor of the First Baptist Church, Plainview for a number of years and is a challenging speaker. The Church Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Lonnie Richardson, will sing "The Lord My Shepherd Is" by Warren Angell for the special music at the 11 oclock service, and Miss Eloise Lane, organist, will play "Solace" by Peace for the offertory.

At the 5 o'clock evening worship Mrs. Gordon Bayless will sing a contralto solo and Mis Lane will play "In His Peace Abiding" by Ritter for the organ offertory.

The regular Wednesday night activities will be as usual except that the budget for 1965 will be presented for adoption by the church at the Mid-Week Service time at 6:30 p.m.

CROP FUNDS — Don Evans, right, Key Club representative for Christian Rural Overseas Program, this week presented a cashier's check for $756, which was collected by youth of Pampa, to T. J. Veale, president of the local CROP board. The funds were collected in a door to door campaign during a CROP Halloween youth project. The money will be used for people in the free countries of the world who are in need of food, clothing and medical aid.

'Share Our Substance' Is Thanksgiving Theme

NEW YORK, N. Y. (Spl) — Protestant congregations throughout the United States will be asked to contribute $1,073,850 during the Thanksgiving season to finance the annual "Share Our Substance" program through which millions of needy persons overseas receive life sustaining food.

Church World Service, the overseas agency for the National Council of Churches of Christ, announced that during 1965 approximately one third billion pounds of foodstuffs donated from U. S. Government stocks, and valued at $18,000,000, in addition to 5,000,000 pounds donated by the Christian Rural Overseas Program (CROP), will be sent to areas of acute need in many parts of the world. Church World Service conducts programs of relief and rehabilitation in 42 counties in Africa, Asia, the Near East, Latin America and Europe.

The big Protestant agency works closely with the Division of Inter-Church Aid, Refugee and World Service, its counterpart branch of the World Council of Churches with headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland.

Kinds of foods shipped to the needy are principally wheat, flour, bulgar (a wheat compound processed to withstand spoilage), beans, cheese, butter, cornmeal, powdered milk and cooking oil.

In many of the countries where U. S. foods are distributed, the programs have progressed from direct emergency feeding to "food for work projects. In these undertakings, recipients build roads, replant ravaged forest lands or do other forms of constructive labor to help raise the economic level of their lives and their nations.

Protestants Give Record Total In Contributions

NEW YORK (UPI) — Members of 41 U.S. Protestant sects contributed a record total of $2.85 billion to their churches in 1963, the National Council of Churches announced today.

The council said 1963 church giving exceeded the 1962 total by $58.9 million. About 18.5 per cent went to home and foreign missions, the rest going to congregational operations and other local items.

Nineteen U.S. denominations reported spending $241.4 million on new buildings last year.

The churchs which topped the list for individual giving were the Reformed Church of America at $117.58 a member and the Presbyterian Church in the U.S. at $109.46 a member.

Six Canadian churches reporting to the council said members gave $127.8 million of which $100 million was for congregational expenses. The 1962 totals were $123.2 million and $96 million respectively.

Wall Street Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Bache & Co. feels that the initial impact of the elections will be followed by a period of calm perspective and the prime consideration of the investor will be the programs to be undertaken by the administration.

Bache expects that investors and traders who have been sitting on the sidelines will re-enter the market, resulting in a rise in stock prices.

Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone, Inc. continues to hold that there are enough favorably situated components in the Dow-Jones industrial average to lift it over the 900 level and perhaps higher before an important top is reached at a later date.

President Johnson and Vice President-elect Hubert H. Humphrey are on their own now in command of a vast mixed-uniform army ranging from Henry Ford I's high fashion tailoring to Walter P. Reuther's simple working clothes.

Marching in the Johnson-Humphrey army are most voting Negroes, most racial and other splinter groups and members of labor unions of all kinds except perhaps Jimmy Hoffa's teamsters. Also in the line of march are tens of thousands of Republicans, including some GOP fat cats.

The Johnson-Humphrey problem will be how to keep the varying elements of their army in step with each other. Another Johnson-Humphrey problem will be keeping themselves in step with each other.

The political love-affair between Texas' favorite son and the sweetheart of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) is a very recent thing. LBJ dangled Humphrey on the hook of hope for weeks before the Democratic National Convention. When Johnson finally picked him for vee, he explained:

Picked "Best Man"

"I picked Humphrey because in my judgment, and after checking with leaders all over the country, I was convinced that he would be the best man to be president if anything happened to me."

That statement was an all-out endorsement of the platform of ADA of which Humphrey has been a principal architect. There probably are many thousands of persons who voted for Johnson this week who hope and believe that deep in his heart the President is no ADA-er but, on the contrary, more of a conservative man.

When LJB sought the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960, Humphrey's fellow founder of ADA, Joseph L. Rauh Jr. of Washington, D.C., denounced Johnson in this sharp language:

"He is a conservative, anti-civil-rights, gas-and oil-senator. He has supported all of the major anti-labor legislation enacted during the past two decades —and bragged about it." After Johnson's nomination for vice president, Rauh, still speaking for ADA, said:

"The nomination may prove to be a disaster in November, but more important in my opinion, is that it throws doubt on the sincerity of the entire party in adopting that wonderful platform."

A GOOD MAN LOST AND A BAD MAN SAVED

Jesus spoke a parable concerning these two men as follows: "And he spoke this parable unto certain which trusted in themselves, that they were righteous and despised others: two men went up into the temple to pray: the one a Pharisee; and the other a Publican. The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himself, God, I thank thee that I am not as other men are, extortioners, unjust, adulterers, or even as this Publican. I fast twice in the week, I give tithes of all that I possess. And the Publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes unto heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, God be merciful to me a sinner. I tell you, this man went down to his house justified rather than the other: for every one that exalteth himself shall be abased; and he that humbleth himself shall be exalted. Luke 18: 9-14.

A GOOD MAN LOST

Let us consider for a few moments some of the good qualities of the Pharisee.

1. He had some of the earmarks of a deeply religious person. One gets the impression that he attended church regularly.
2. He was an honest man and just in his dealings with his fellowmen.
3. In his personal life he was not a man with roving eyes and wandering feet, but he lived a good moral life.
4. He engaged in the religious devotion of fasting twice a week.
5. When it came to supporting religious work, he was not a penny pincher, but faithfully gave a tenth of his income.

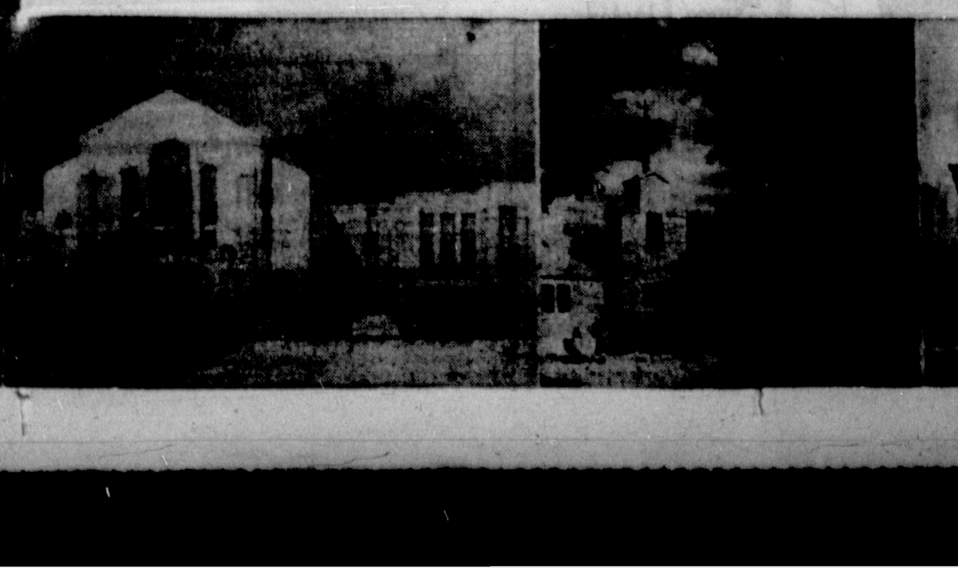
By any man's standard, the Pharisee was a good man, a fine Citizen. but to brag about his own goodness. He had no sense of need of the savings

He was trying to save himself by his good life and his good works. He was self righteous and felt sufficient. He didn't go to church to worship God but to brag about his own goodness. He had no sense of need of the saving grace of God.

A BAD MAN SAVED

The Publican was a self confessed sinner. He was humble and penitent. He knew that his only hope for salvation was in the love and grace of God. He confessed his sins to God, asking for mercy. Jesus said he went to his house a justified man.

Jesus said, "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." Mark 2.17. "For the Son of man is come to seek and save that which was lost." Luke 19:10.



Shocks Rack Up T-Raiders, 20-6

By JEFF COHANE
News Sports Editor

Big Bull Heiskell smashed for three touchdowns last night as a Pampa Shocker makeshift backfield of two fullbacks, two halfbacks and two quarterbacks set up a stunning 20-6 victory over the Tascosa Raiders.

Playing in rain-soaked, mud-soaked, fog-filled Harvester Stadium, the two teams soon became 22 indistinguishable masses of mud, but the performances of Heiskell, Smiley Budd and Smisson Goodlett stood out despite the weather.

With the rain restricting passes to almost rare appearance, the two big fullbacks alternated tearing the Raiders apart up the middle, while Larry Stevens alternated with Bruce Ginn and Monk McDonald to gobble up wide yardage along with Goodlett on keepers.

Despite the biggest offensive surge in a long time for the Little Green, once again it was a mammoth defensive performance by the Shocker line that made the difference, led by Billy Scribner, Beatle Lewis, Heiskell, Big Daddy Cary, Gary Hyatt and Robbie Robinson, with Ginn and Monk McDonald in the defensive secondary.

Although it was impossible to distinguish mud-covered tacklers in the second half, the first half plainly showed Scribner playing the finest game of his career, as he was in on nine tackles in the opening half, followed by Heiskell with six and Lewis with five, Cary and Hyatt with four apiece.

The game started on a typical note as Lewis smashed in to set the ballcarrier for a two-yard loss on the opening play from scrimmage. Tascosa punted to the Shock 39 and two plays later, the Bull blasted up the middle from the 38, out to the left in the clear and outran everything in sight to the goal line. McDonald ran right for the conversion and it was 8-0 with 9:04 left in the first period.

Soon after, Goodlett, Heiskell and McDonald moved the ball to the Tascosa 30, but the first of a long night of penalties stopped the drive and the Raiders held on their 35. Three plays later, Don Howe passed from his 38 to end Ron Redus, who took the ball on the Pampa 40, shook off a tackler and ran for a touchdown with 3:21 left. Lewis plowed under a conversion run.

Late in the frame, roughing the kicker against the Raiders gave Pampa a first down on the visitors' 40. Heiskell went to the 15 in two smashes, Goodlett to the 12 and Ginn to the six as the quarter ended.

On the first play, Heiskell went between Cary and Tunafish Keyser for the touchdown and a 14-6 lead.

A pair of good runs by Budd sparked the Shocks to a first down on the Tascosa 14 late in the period, but a pair of penalties set the drive all the way back to the 38, and the Raiders recovered a fumble to kill the threat.

The third quarter was nothing but fumbles and penalties as the wet ball became almost completely unmanageable. A penalty and a fumble gave the Raiders two chances deep in Pampaland, but a fourth down stopper by Heiskell and another by Lewis killed both threats. Again a penalty following a fumble gave the Raiders the ball on the Shock 17, but Lewis and Heiskell combined to lead the defense and take the ball on downs as the period ended.

Pampa then moved from their 12 in nine plays, four by the Bull, two good gainers by Budd and nice pickups by Ginn, Stevens and Goodlett down to the Raider 27. Heiskell promptly went up the middle and over Tascosans for a touchdown with 7:13 left in the game.

Late in the period the Shocks threatened again as they drove from their 28. Goodlett grabbed off two long runs up the middle behind David Smith, Jack Williamson and Billy Scribner and Heiskell moved it to the 36 behind Gary Butler.

The Shockers put in the second unit and Al Gomez grabbed five yards and Johnny Baker ran twice to the 17. A penalty slowed the drive and Tascosa recovered a fumble to prevent another touchdown.

ONE MAN'S GAIN—This is how Jimmy Brown looked as he headed toward the 10,000-yard barrier.

Johnnies, PJH 8th In Standoff

By RONNIE OLER
News Sports Reporter

Rain, fog, mud and tough defenses combined to keep the Pampa Reapers and the Lee Johnny Rebs bottled up in their own territory most of the game, but both 8th grade squads came out for one touchdown apiece and an 8-8 tie here yesterday, while time ran out on threats at the end of the first half and of the game.

It was mostly a battle of short punts as the mud slowed runners and kept passing to minimum, but fleet backs Phil Long and Ken Noel of Pampa and Len Mills of the Johnnies threatened to break away throughout the contest.

The Lee team was unable to move with the kickoff and punted out to the Reaper 45. Noel and Long then moved the ball down steadily to the Johnny 10, where Long broke over the left side and cut right to the goal line. Joe Roth ran the conversion.

Late in the quarter, Mills took a punt back 20 yards to midfield. Carrying through a hole in the left side of the line, Mills cracked four straight times to the Reaper 10 before time ran out.

The Reapers were forced to punt in turn with the second-half kickoff, and Lee took the ball on the 30. On the second play from scrimmage, Mike Cooper broke loose for 38 yards to the Pampa 32. Mills and Jim Parrish carried to the 14 and Parrish spun to the two. Mills went up the middle for the touchdown and repeated for the tying conversion.

Neither team could move past the enemy 40 until the final seconds, when Noel battled a Rebel end for a desperation pass and came down with it deep in Reb territory, only to have time run out on the threat.

SWC Roundup

By ED FITE
UPI Sports Writer

The Rice Owls, who twice in the past seven years have soured the perfect record of a Southwest Conference rival, try to pull off the trick again Saturday when they hit the road to tackle the league-leading Arkansas Razorbacks.

The Rice-Arkansas clash at Fayetteville is one of two crucial tilts involving conference championship contenders, the other being the Texas-Baylor game at Waco.

Southern Methodist and the Texas Aggies stage a cellar battle at Dallas in the only other all-league game, while Texas Christian takes the week off.

Arkansas, ranked fourth in the nation and boasting an eight-game winning streak that matches the best ever by a Razorback team, will be a one-touchdown favorite to win before a Dad's Day standing-room only crowd of 33,000.

Texas by Nine

Texas, the nation's seventh-ranked outfit and needing to win its remaining games while hoping for an Arkansas stumble if it is to even share in a fourth straight title, rates a nine-point choice over Baylor.

SMU is favored by six points over the winless Aggies, while oddsmakers declined to quote any point spread on Tech, which ranks as almost a prohibitive favorite over West Texas.

The Owls can recall a 1957 game when they polished off then No. 1-ranked Texas A&M 7-6 and also 1962 when they held No. 1-ranked Texas to a 14-14 tie.

Arkansas has had only one unbeaten season in its history and that was back in 1909 when the Hogs also had their other 8-game streak.

Best Loop Record

The Razorbacks sport a 7-0 season record and are 4-0 in the league race, compared to 6-1 and 3-1 for Texas and 2-3-1 and 11-1 for Rice, which is the only other team with even an outside chance of copping the title. Arkansas would have to lose two and Texas one more, while Rice swept its last four games for the Owls to take it.

Rice's defense has been exceptionally stingy all season and in three games at home has lost two and tied one without yielding a touchdown. The opposition has done it with field goals, a specialty in which Arkansas boasts the league's best in Tom McKnelly.

Lee Rebels Win Duel Over Reapers, 20-6

By JEFF COHANE

Dense fog obscured the field at the beginning and gathering darkness blacked out play at the end, but the Lee Rebels ran in the rain through the second half of the contest for a 20-6 victory over the Pampa Reapers yesterday at Harvester Stadium.

Conditions were at their worst for viewing and for playing the game, but the running of Dickie Henley and the field generalship of Steve Summers sparked the mud-soaked, rain-spattered Rebels to offset the one-man gang offensive performance of Danny Stokes.

Although Henley was the running standout for the Rebels, he got plenty of support from David Schaub, Mike Burnett, Jim Bonnell and Summers, while speedy Stokes was the whole offensive show for the Reapers. Stokes carried over 75 per cent of the time for the Reapers, threatening throughout until he started wearing down in the fourth quarter despite Johnny Carlos' help.

A powerhouse Lee defense made the difference, with Wendell Watson, Carl Lang and Jim Cornutt the standouts, plus Junior Jenkins in the secondary. Topping the Reaper defense were Phillip Kidd and Allen Lindsey, with Larry Elledge doing the bulk of the offensive blocking.

Summers, Burnett and Schaub moved the ball to the Pampa 22 to open the game, but Mike Tyler stopped the runner on fourth down and the Reapers held on their 19. Pampa drove back across midfield, but Summers knocked down a fourth down pass. Two plays later, Stokes swept right from his 47, eluded a tackler and fled for a touchdown. Kidd plowed Don Cauthorn on the conversion attempt.

Al Gomez ran the kick back 14 yards to the 42 and the Rebels started to roll, with Henley and Lonzo Gomez doing the bulk of the carrying on a 10-play drive. Big gainers were a 10-yard scamper by Stokes and a key fourth-down keeper by Carlos on the Reb 25. Stokes promptly smashed over left guard to the one-foot line and Carlos kept up the middle for the touchdown. Carlos ran behind Barney Beesley for the conversion and an 8-6 Reaper lead.

The lead lasted until a big Rebel break late in the third quarter. A bad snap for a Reaper punt, the kick was blocked by Burnett and recovered by Lang on the Pampa 11. It took Lee four plays to score with Bonnell carrying the last two times, going over from inside the one for the touchdown. Henley ran the conversion.

Early in the fourth quarter, Pampa failed on a fourth down gamble on their 42 and Lee marched again. Henley did the bulk of the running, with his last play a 13-yard scat all over the field to the one. Summers kept up the middle for the touchdown. Jerry Jones stopped Henley on the conversion try.

Stokes made one final threat as he broke from his 12 into the clear, but Lang and Watson, who made a tremendous second effort, caught him from behind on the 44 and Lee held on downs to close out the game.

FORD FACES OPERATION

NEW YORK (UPI) — New York Yankee southpaw ace Whitey Ford, 17-game winner in the American League in 1964 and a one-game loser in the World Series, will travel to Houston, Tex., to have his ailing left arm operated on.

The operation will take place at St. Luke's Hospital next Monday and will be performed by Dr. Denton Cooley of Houston and Dr. Martin Schulman of Great Neck, N.Y.

Techsans, Buffaloes In Finale

LUBBOCK — It's only a neighborhood match — West Texas State and Texas Tech — but look at the national statistical leaders competing in Jones Stadium here at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

West Texas State, whose last visit was successfully propelled by Pistol Pete Pedro, brings another scooter in Tony Waters. The junior from Iowa Park shows the speed that made him high school sprint champion with his punt returning—fourth in the nation. His 94-yarder helped upset San Jose 18-7 last week.

Texas Tech has a pair ranking high nationally. Halfback Donny Anderson of Stinnett is fifth in rushing, and Teddy Roberts, Gulfport, Miss., safety, ranks eighth in interception returns.

Both the Buffaloes and the Red Raiders are enjoying good seasons. Coach Joe Kerbel's West Texans, 4-3, have won four of their last five contests.

Texas Tech, under Coach J. T. King, can assure the school its first winning season since 1955 with a victory, is now 4-2-1. Last week the Red Raiders fought Rice to a 6-6 draw in a game regionally televised from Houston.

Although Texas Tech holds a 19-7 edge in the rivalry begun in 1925, the schools' first year, West Texas State has broken even in the six games played since Tech joined the Southwest Conference. Both played in the Border Conference, and West Texas is now independent.

A crowd of 12,000 is expected.

Sandies-Pampa Set-to Tonight

The Pampa Harvesters go into their most crucial game of the season tonight minus one of their starting ends and several of their top linemen.

Terrible Terry Criss, Pampa's big right end, will not be available for duty tonight due to a badly turned right ankle. Taking his place will be one of the best-looking sophomore prospects the Big Green has had in some years, 6-2 James Matney, just moved up from the Shockers, where he was the leading pass receiver.

Coach Otis Holladay admitted that Big Matt had been moved up in hopes he could be the glue-fingered receiver the Harvesters have looked for in vain all year. "We threw more last week than we ever had. Our passers, Phil Smith and Larry Daniels, were hitting their targets well and our split ends were getting clear, but they just weren't holding onto the ball. We feel like the passing game can work well for us, and we'll run the split end some more tonight, weather permitting but we have to find more receivers who can catch the ball."

Taking Criss' place at defensive halfback will be Kyle Vann, reserve quarterback.

Also still on the injured list is Myron Scribner with a bruised hip. Larry Leonard will again replace Scribner.

"We feel like the kids ae ready," summed up Otis. "This is a traditional . . . and more traditional than anything else . . . anything can happen and past records are meaningless.

"We feel like we have the offense to move on them, and if we can stop quarterback Ben Hankins, we can do a lot toward stopping the Sandies.

"As far as the report that the Sandies intend to run the score up as high as they can on us . . . they've been trying to do that all season and I haven't noticed them breaking any scoreboards or tallying in three digits yet. They tried to run up a score on us the last three years and I haven't noticed them being very successful at it."

McLean Still In 2A Race

MCLEAN — The McLean Tigers still have a slim chance to tie for district 2-A honors and a long - shot chance to win, and as long as they have that chance, their last two foes will be in for trouble, including this week's opponent, Wellington.

The Tigers have lost only one loop game, a 12 -6 squeaker to undefeated White Deer. W D, heavy favorites to win this week, can lose one of their last two games and still represent the district, but if they lost one while McLean won the last two, would share the district crown, while if they lost both, McLean could still win.

"The odds are against us, but as long as we have a chance, the kids will be in there," said McLean coach Fred Hedgecoke. "Our morale is good and I think we'll be ready for Wellington.'

Hedgecoke pointed out that Wellington is not going to do anything but fight the argument all the way. "They're big, strong and real capable," opined the tall Tiger boss. "They're the same type as White Deer. Good size, good speed, hard to beat. . .and they have one of the best quarterbacks around in Wayne Barton."

Hedgecoke was proud of the convincing victory over Clarendon last week, led by all - state candidate Dangerous Dickie Crockett, who rolled up 244 yards rushing and four touchdowns. Crockett's yardage may be a single - game record for McLean, while his 1268 total in eight games leaves him a cinch to break the season and career totals for the Bengals.

"That Clarendon is tough. I don't know how many boys they lose, but if it's not too many they're going to be great next year. Jeff Walker has done a fine job with them, I guarantee you it's fine.

GEORGE GREEN
both ways

"The game could have gone either way for quite a while. We had tremendous play from Dickie, the Fuller brothers, Eddie Jay and the rest of the regulars, but I was especially pleased with the performance of George Green both on offense and defense, and Robert McCabe on defense."

Wellington will have almost as big an incentive to win tonight as the Skyrockets, defending champions, would be glad to be a spoiler for anyone else. The Tigers however, have a mission . . . even a piece of the 2-A title would look good.

ND, Bucks Seek Title

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

For both Notre Dame and Ohio State, the motive is revenge and the goal is the national championship.

The top-ranked Irish and second ranked Buckeyes confront two of their 1963 tormentors — Pittsburgh and Penn State, respectively—Saturday in games which could restore some dignity to a disappointing Eastern college football season.

Pitt pinned a 27-7 defeat on Notre Dame last year on the way to a 9-1 record and third place in the final national ratings, while State surprised Woody Hayes' Bucks, 10-7. In 1963 both teams contributed heavily to one of the finest Eastern seasons in years, one in which the Eastern independents rolled up a remarkable record against intersectional opponents.

But Eastern fortunes have done a complete about face this season with the result that four of the East's so-called "big five", including Pitt and Penn State, currently are saddled with losing records.

The Southeastern and Big Eight Conference leads both go up for grabs this weekend. Third-ranked Alabama, 7-0 for the season and 6-0 in the SEC, tangles with unbeaten but once-tied Louisiana State (No. 9), in Birmingham, and fifth-ranked Nebraska (7-0) meets Big Eight co-leader Kansas at Lawrence.

Fourth-ranked Arkansas (7-0), Southwest Conference leader, tries to hold its position against disappointing Rice at Fayetteville, while runnerup Texas (No. 7) meets Baylor at Waco.

Purdue, tied for the 10th spot nationally with Florida, can clear a big obstacle in its bid for its first Rose Bowl trip by whipping erratic Michigan State.

Another Rose Bowl hopeful, eighth-ranked Michigan (5-1), can remain in the running by beating a suddenly vulnerable Illinois team, which smashed Washington in the 1964 New Year's Day classic.

Sixth-ranked Georgia Tech, the only independent other than Notre Dame to be ranked in the top 10, risks its unbeaten record against a tenacious Tennessee team, and Florida meets Georgia in Jacksonville in other key Southern contests.

Front-Runners Seek To Pad AFL Leads

By United Press International

The fight for survival in the American Football League settles down to a divisional affair this weekend as front-runners in each section seek expansion of their leads.

The Western race already is down to wto teams and the Eastern battle could be opened or closed as Houston plays at Boston Friday night and the unbeaten Buffalo Bills invade New York Sunday.

The two Western games, both on Sunday, have Oakland at Kansas City and San Diego at Denver.

The oddsmakers rule Boston a six-point favorite, Buffalo a five-point choice, Kansas City a six-point pick and San Diego a 13-point favorite for the ninth-round of games.

The Patriots face a stiff test in their Friday night game at Boston's Fenway Park with the last place Oilers. Houston coach Sammy Baugh, whose squad won only two of its first eight while experiencing an epidemic of injuries, believed his rookies are ready to come through after being forced into regular action on a sink-or-swim basis.

At the same time, Patriot coach Mike Holovak saw his vital cornerman forces virtually wiped out by injury in an upset loss to New York last weekend. Holovak predicted that only miraculous recoveries on the part of three players could give him a regular line-up with which to meet the Houston challenge.

In any event, Boston's chances of overhauling perfect - record Buffalo depended upon the outcome of the Bills' visit to New York's Shea Stadium. Buffalo owns what is in effect a three-game bulge over both Boston and New York going into the weekend from a two - game margin in the loss column plus another in the tie column.

In the West, San Diego carries a 5-2-1 slate into the game with Denver, which has won only one of eight starts. The Kansas City Chiefs still have a reasonable shot at overhauling the Chargers and need only a victory over Oakland to keep the pace.

Boston's chief problem against the Oilers is the aerial threat posed by Houston quarterback George Blanda. He fired a record 68 passes against Buffalo last week and pass defense has not been one of Boston's strong points.

At New York Sunday, Buffalo's Cookie Gilchrist will attempt to knock off another challenger to his ground-gaining superiority in the person of Jet fullback Matt Snell. Gilchrist jammed rookie Houston fullback Sid Blanks deeper into third place in the rushing race in their head-to-head combat last weekend while Snell fell from brief league leadership into second place, some 67 yards behind Gilchrist in one less game.

Tangled Web In Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (UPI)— The tangled web surrounding the baseball romance between the Braves and Atlanta, Ga., began to unfold Thursday in U.S. District Court as the first round in a legal battle to keep the club in Milwaukee got underway.

Braves President John McHale, under questioning by Federal Judge Robert Tehan and Milwaukee County corporation counsel Richard P. Russell, denied a "deal" had been made prior to Sept. 14 to shift the National League team to Atlanta, Ga. He said the "finance committee" of the club's board of directors agreed on Oct. 19 to recommend the move.

Tascosa Big Favorite Over Caprock 'Horns

By United Press International

There are only two games matching undefeated teams on this week end's Texas schoolboy football schedule, but the list may undergo considerable reducing exercises anyway.

There are 27 perfect record survivors in all four "A" divisions and another eight which are unbeaten but tied.

In Class AA, seventh -ranked Crane and ninth-ranked Alpine collide in one showdown of perfect record teams. In Class A, perfect record Bremond faces unbeaten but twice- tied Rosebud.

The unbeaten and untied teams include Amarillo Tascosa, Dallas Hillcrest, Galena Park High and Victoria in AAAA; Dumas, Andrews, Vidor and Clear Creek in AAA; Phillips, Iowa Park, Denver City, Alpine, Crane, Dublin, Rockwall, Atlanta, Gladewater, Canton, Taylor, Palacios, Hondo and Randolph Field in AA, and Coahoma, Clifton, Bremond, Hull-Daisetta and Three Rivers in A.

Unbeaten but tied are San Marcos, Gonzales and Weslaco in AAA; Sinton in AA, and Rosebud, Academy, Somerset and Woodsboro in A.

Could Spell Trouble

Both Galena Park and Hillcrest could be in for trouble in AAAA in crucial district games against Pasadena High and Dallas Samuell, but Victoria is idle and Tascosa plays weak Amarillo Caprock.

Weslco seems the most likely candidate for demise in AAA in its game against Pharr-San Juan-Alamo, while Clear Creek could stumble over La Porte. But, Dumas plays Tulia, Andrews faces Pecos, Vidor meets West Orange, San Marcos plays New Braunfels and Gonzales plays Cuero in games which should easily go their way.

None of AA's select list appears in danger. Several of them can clinch playoff berths by winning — Phillips against Sanford- Fritch, Iowa Park against Electra, Denver City against Morton, Dublin against Cisco and Palacios against Vanderbilt.

Seeks 22nd Victory

Defending AA champion Rockwall goes after its 22nd consecutive victory against Wilmer - Hutchins, Gladewater meets Gilmer, Hondo plays Del Rio San Felipe, Randolph Field meets San Antonio. Cole and Sinton plays Refugio. Atlanta and Taylor are idle.

In Class A, Coahoma, Academy, Three Rivers and Woodsboro all appear in danger of losing their status. Coahoma plays once - beaten Lexington, Three Rivers plays once-beaten, once- tied George West and Woodsboro plays once - beaten Ingleside.

Clifton should survive against Glen Rose, and Somerset against Comfort, while top-ranked Hull- Daisetta probably will keep up its terrific 54.6-point scoring pace against West Hardin.

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP O' TEXAS

TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces, can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that freedom is a gift from God and not a political grant from government. Freedom is neither license nor anarchy. It is control and sovereignty of oneself no more, no less. It is thus consistent with the Human relations Commandments, the Golden Rule and the Declaration of Independence.

Less of This Kind of Unity, Please

A Washington columnist, reports that a TV producer challenged a program aired over his network when it identified Pierre Salinger as a bachelor.

The producer happened to know Pierre, his wife and kids. Those who had put the program together, however, were consulted. They voted that Pierre was, indeed, a bachelor, and the producer found he was expected to bow to superior numbers.

There was a lot of talk about the need for unity during the election campaign. Its all right to be unified when correct, of course. But there are too many matters in which there is room for legitimate controversy to make unity a sensible policy in general.

At the risk of seeming to be spoilsports, we must mention that a great many matters of national concern are not working out very well at present, and it would therefore be foolish to unify behind the policies which we know to be producing poor results, simply because most people are ignorant of the facts about them.

Workable programs do not arise out of some national consensus. They originate in the minds of men or groups of men. The nation's part, usually, is merely to let them be tried. So every idea, good or bad, is a minority one at the outset, and many of the programs which we are asked to support and finance are largely unknown to the general public in any detail.

Must we allow a concept of unity to prevent criticism of policies in Viet Nam and elsewhere which obviously are unavailing? Are we to condone a farm program that hurts the taxpayers while failing to accomplish its avowed objectives? Are we to applaud a Post Office which keeps cutting the service and raising the rates? Are we to condone an urban renewal program which has been demonstrated to help those who need no help at the expense of our poorest citizens?

Unity should not go that far. We unite as Americans in time of crisis, but we must continue to dispute, as Americans, matters which must not be glossed over merely for the appearance of harmony.

Again Our Own Cold War

The enemy is once again at our gates.

He annually costs the nation $5 billion in lost wages, lost production and medical expenses. He is responsible for over 150 million man days lost from our work force every year. He laughs at the futile efforts of our best scientific brains to defeat him as he inflicts suffering on more than 20 million people on any given winter day.

Old King Cold is back, warns the American Medical Association, adding the somewhat distressing information that the number of viruses producing the symptoms we lump under the term "cold" possibly number as many as 100.

This is why current cold vaccines, effective against only a few viruses, are of little value. In fact, there is no treatment, drug or regimen that cures "colds." We can treat only for the relief of symptoms and the prevention of complications.

Inclement weather, dampness and chills don't cause colds themselves but could be triggering factors. More important is humidity, for hot, dry air inside houses makes the respiratory tact more vulnerable to invasion by cold viruses.

Since colds are spread by personal contact, sensible hygienic measures for the cold sufferer are mandatory: Covering coughs and sneezes, frequent hand washing, separate drinking glass and other personal items, minimum contact with others.

Since we can't lick him — at least not yet — about all we can do is make Old King Cold's winter occupation as pleasant as possible. And if he does get to you, cheer up.

You'll hab pleddy of compaddy.

New Cry of 'Hi Ho, Silver!'

The next time anyone offers you "a penny for your thoughts," take him up — but fast.

Unless, of course, you can get him to up the price to a nickel or a dime or — if you are a real heavy thinker — to a quarter.

It isn't the principle of the thing. It's the money. Specifically, it's the coin.

The current coin shortage in this country is for real. And economists say it's going to get worse before it gets better.

The government is working frantically to relieve the shortage: But meanwhile—

—The New Jersey Turnpike Authority pulled a switch by taking up a collection from the churches, exchanging paper currency for coins dropped in the basket at church services.

—The Pennsylvania Turnpike didn't go to church, but it did go to the restaurants along the turnpike and buy up coin tips the waitresses had received.

—The Mackinac Straits Bridge people in Michigan are rueing the day they set the toll fee at $3.75. That quarter change they have to make so often is a bigger headache every day.

—Vending machines — blamed in part for the coin shortage —are themselves feeling the pinch and more and more frequently are flashing the little green light that says "use exact change."

Any day now a businessman may walk up to a panhandler and say, "Brother, can you spare a dime?"

'Can't Happen to Me'

Medical People have found that one of the biggest obstacles to getting people to take preventive health measures is the apparently natural feeling that It can't happen to me."

And the more serious the disease and the greater the belief that it is incurable, the stronger this feeling seems to be.

This was the most important fact to come out of an 18-month survey recently concluded by the University of Michigan School of Public Health.

In the study, 1,500 adults across the country, selected as a typical cross - section, were asked about their attitudes to three diseases of varying severity: tooth decay, tuberculosis and cancer.

In each case, the majority felt that other people were more likely to contract the diseases than they themselves. But with the most serious of the three, the thought of contracting cancer would seem to be . . . so painful that almost a third of the people. . .could not admit it at all."

With such an attitude, it is no surprise that 90 per cent of the interviewees had not had a cancer test during the previous 10 years.

The researchers recommend that health educators place less emphasis on the seriousness of cancer and TB and start stressing science's growing ability to detect and cure these diseases in their early stages, even before any symptoms are evident.

The despondent old man emerged from his club and climbed stiffly into his limousine.

Chauffeur — Where to, sir?

Pull Up A Chair

By Frank J. Markey

Just to show you how this nation and its productivity is growing, 750 billion kilowatt hours of electricity were generated in 1960, but the Federal Government estimates we'll need double that amount by 1970. One of the new sources will be something you probably never heard about — a plasma thermocouple. Its' a device, not yet practical on a big scale, in which a current flow is created by a difference in temperature at the junction of two dissimilar metals. The principle has been understood for more than 100 years, but scientists are just beginning to make it work. Its potential is limitless.

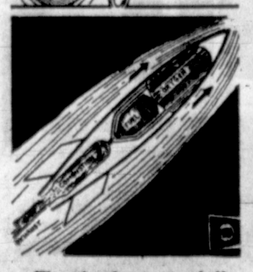
Today's smile: We liked the one about the government worker in Washington on his coffee break, who suddenly looked at the clock and discovered it was almost noon. He said to his companions: "I must get back to my office or I'll be late for my lunch hour."

Canberra, capital of Australia, was planned by a Chicago native, Walter B. Griffin, who was engaged as a landscape architect to design a city for the 900 square miles of territory the Sussies had selected as the site for their government center. Like Major L'Enfant in Washington, he did a marvelous job. Incidentally, more than 1 million persons, including some Americans, have settled in Australia since World War II. It's the only place we know that gives a government bonus for every child born there.

Thoughts while shaving: We learned during a visit to Atlantic City, N. J., that it costs $200,000 a year to keep the famed boardwalk in shape. Carpenters work on it throughout the year. . .An ornithologist tells us birds aren't necessarily happy when they sing, but they warble to let others know they have staked a claim in certain territory. They also chirp while mating. . . Until now the record of the legendary cow that jumped over the moon is relatively safe, but it might fall in the not too distant future when space travel becomes a reality. The first step in that direction happened recently when the University of New Hampshire shipped a gift cow to Munich, Germany, via Pan Am clipper. It's the first time a cow flew over the Atlantic, and at last reports it was munching contentedly in Munich. . . The first Presidental convention to admit women delegates was held by the Progressive "Bull Moose" Party at Chicago in 1912 when Teddy Roosevelt bolted the Republicans because they nominated Taft. However, a woman, Mrs. Victoria C. Woodhull, was actually nominated for President by the Equal Rights Party in 1872. Unfortunately, the gals didn't have a vote that year so the suffragette candidate didn't get anywhere. . .Incidentally, the title "Progressive Party" has been used by third - party movements three times in U. S. political history without success. Teddy Roosevelt was the 1912 nominee; then Sen. Robert LaFollette ran a poor third in 1924; and Henry Wallace, erstwhile Vice President, was picked as a Progressive in 1948 by dissident Democrats who didn't want Truman. . . . The New York DAILY NEWS headlined a story about Brigitte Bardot: "BB's Seawalls vs. See Alls; Natives Want To Eye Nature's Wonders." Well, a little ogling never hurt anyone.

Country Editor speaking: "The folks back home are the ones who wonder how you ever got as far as you have."

matter of fact



The development of the rocket can be traced to 13th century China, a land noted in ancient times for its fireworks displays. When the Mongols laid siege to the city of Kai-feng Fu, capital of Honan province, the Chinese defenders used weapons that were described as "arrows of flying fire." Later in the same century rockets appeared in Europe.

Beneficiaries of U. S. Foreign Aid Lay Out $11 Million Annually in Lobbying, Propaganda

ROBERT ALLEN

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — Scores of beneficiaries of the U. S. foreign aid program are spending more than $11 million annually for propaganda, lobbying and other activities in this country.

These operations are carried on mainly by Americans, foremost among them onetime high government officials, including the Cabinet, Congress and major agencies.

Prominent among them are Covington & Burling, big Washington law firm of which former Secretary of State Dean Acheson is a senior partner; David Lilienthal, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission; Charles Brown, one-time Missouri congressman; Charles Patrick Clark, member of President Truman's investigating staff when he was in the Senate, and who has staged costly birthday parties for him for a number of years.

In the past year 419 paid agents representing 118 foreign countries registered with the Justice Department under the Foreign Agents Registration Act.

Of these 87 were new registrations; 33 representing governments, business and other interests in Latin America — 11 alone from the Dominican Republic which got some $30 million in various U.S. aid.

These are highlights of a Justice Department report on the administration of the Registration Act, which has been under fire in Congress on two principal grounds: Lax enforcement of the law, and glaring loopholes and weaknesses in this statute enacted in 1938.

In the recent Congress, Senator J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, sought unavailingly to tighten up the Act.

After a lengthy inquiry of foreign agents and lobbyists, that produced headline disclosures, he introduced legislation to strengthen the 26-year - old registration law. This measure won speedy and overwhelming Senate approval, but was "left hanging on the vine" in the House. That chamber failed to act on it before adjourning.

WHO THEY ARE AND WHAT THEY'RE SPENDING — During the year, 16,000 pieces of foreign propaganda were filed with the Registration Section, as required by law.

The Justice Department made a study of this mass of propaganda. But beyond brief, generalized descriptions of the type and nature of the material put out by the sponsoring countries, the department's report carefully avoids any judgment of it. Only comment of significance is the following:

"Many foreign countries continue to rely upon American public relations concerns and consultants for advice and guidance on the propaganda material to be circulated to the American public. This is reflected in the large number of public relations firms, consultants, and advisers registered under the Act.

Biggest spenders for these and other purposes covered by the law are listed in the report as follows:

Britain	$1,378,661
France	1,321,206
South Korea	459,267
West Germany	287,681
Portugal	205,912
Netherlands	204,561
Arab Information Center	186,049
South Africa	155,284
Australia	144,235
United Arab Republic	118,141
India	112,980
Katanga	90,600
Nationalist China	75,413
Ghana	73,036
Russia (Intourist)	45,817
Yugoslavia	41,129

WHO'S GETTING IT — Former Secretary Dean Acheson's law firm is recorded as one of the biggest foreign agents in the Justice Department's report.

The firm registered as representing 12 governments and private interests from whom it received $280,381. Largest single amounts were $161,251 from the Venezuelna government, and $72,598 from Cambodia.

Former Representative Charles Brown, D-Mo., was paid $25,000 by an Australian sugar refining company.

Other individuals and firms listed in the report as receiving large retainers are:

Batton, Barton, Durstine & Osborn, leading New York advertising agency—from France and Latin American coffee interests — $345,176; Charles Von Loewenfeldt, Inc., San Francisco, as agent for Japanese, Italian, French and other interests — $344,662; Gardner Advertising Co., N. Y., representing Italian interests — $802,181; Geyer, Morey & Ballard, Inc., N. Y., as agents for a number of foreign interests, among them Finnish, Irish, Japanese, Norwegian and Turkish — $1,445,887.

Pritchard Wood, Inc., N. Y., representing Greek, British and Kenya interests — $214,127; Ruder & Finn, Inc., N. Y., agent for the Israel government, Argentina, Morocco and Japan — $183,976; Samuel E. Stavisky & Associates, Wash., representing "international" coffee interests —whose "agreement" was voted down by the Senate in the closing days of the recent session — $146,735.

Julius Klein, Chicago, agent for the West German State of Hesse, and private West German interests — $177,265; James C. Seix Company, Inc., N. Y., representing the government of India and Spanish interests — $171,259; Howard Chase Associates, Inc., N. Y., agent for the government of Curacao, the island government of Bonaire, and the government of the Windward Isles — $166,423; Charles Kramer, N. Y., representing the Liberian government — $108,428.

Bennett Associates, Inc., N.Y., agent for British and Greek interests — $125,108; Allen, Murden, Nystrom & Armstrong, Inc., N. Y., representing nine governments and private interests, among them Nigeria, Chili, Liberia, Sweden, Japan and Mexico — $208,120; Joseph Edwards, N. Y., for the Dominican Republic — $27,000; Fred Rosen Associates, Inc., N. Y., for the Italian government — $43,725.

Hank Meyer Associates, Miami Beach, Fla., for the Island of Aruba — $41,933; Milburn McCarty Associates, N. Y., for the Congo (Central) government — $87,996; Arthur Quinn, Wash., for interests in Ecuador and Barbados — $34,500; David Cobb, Wash., for Poland and Czechoslovakia — $23,462; Irving Davidson, Wash., agent for the governments of Nicaragua, Ecuador, Indonesia, and private interests in Panama — $90,408.

Delson & Gordon, N. Y., representing the governments of Indonesia, Burma, Ghana, Liberia and Austria. (Indonesia is waging undeclared war on Burma.) — $56,742; Heyward Associates, Inc., N. Y., for Portugal — $33,177; Hill & Knowlton, Inc., N. Y., for the government of Saudi Arabia, Liberia and Belgian interests — $44,656.

Selvage & Lee, N. Y., for Portuguese interests — $232,312; Wesley Associates, Inc., N. Y., for the governments of Mexico, Dominican Republic, Barbados, Panama and the Netherlands — $386,328; Ernest Schein, Wash., agent for Colombian sugar interests — $32,308.

Question Box

(We invite questions on economics and the proper functions of government which will not injure anyone.)

Question: "What do the socialists mean by the term labor faker?"

Answer: We have never heard the term 'labor faker' as far as we can remember. We also do not know what someone else means by a particular term unless he defines the term.

We suggest to our questioner that when he hears the term used, he ask the user what he means.

This is an example of using words which are not reduced to mathematical language. Much of our trouble comes from lack of communication.

People cannot communicate without agreed meanings of words. The well-being of mankind is not helped by using terms which have no meaning, such as "labor faker" or "unfair to organized labor," neither of which has any meaning.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Special Session Looms On Medi-Care and OAP

By SAM CAMPBELL

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., — If each of 100 businessmen believes in one per cent socialism, and if each gets what he wishes, the mathematical result will not be one per cent socialism, but rather some figure between one per cent and one hundred per cent.

This being the case, it is a safe forecast that the United States is doomed to plunge deeper into state ownership during the foreseeable future.

I am able to venture this forecast for I am writing to you from the El Mirador Hotel in Palm Springs where 250 of the leading businessmen in California are gathered to exchange ideas on how to make the country more productive of both jobs and profits.

All that I have talked to conceive of themselves as great free enterprisers, but all alike profess a need for some degree of government interference, control and ownership. The problem with such a mixed doctrine is that no two of them could agree exactly on just which one per cent of the economy the government ought to occupy. One wishes one thing and another wishes something else. The socialist politician is only too eager to give both what they ask for.

Net result: each businessman socializes the other. And the amazing thing is that these people who are top engineers, top accountants, financial wizards, who deal in multi - million sums daily, can't perceive a simple problem in percentages. For some time, I have been convinced that it is not accurate to pin the socialist tail on the union boss. From conversations I have had, I think most of them are aware that they come off with greater concessions when they can bludgeon a private business into submission than when they must negotiate with City Hall or Sacramento or Washington, D.C.

No — as I see things this bright morning in Palm Springs — it is the businessman who is bringing the productive machinery of this country into the hand of the bureaucracy. And frankly, I do not perceive of an influence or means of persuasion that can stop him.

The present gathering is called a management conference. It is conducted by the Merchants & Manufacturers Association (M&M). Those attending are trying to figure out a way to make the country richer and they are discussing a wide variety of techniques which, taken individually, make a lot of sense.

But when you place the suggested techniques in the context of what the businessman believes, you quickly see that one wheel is spinning in one direction and the other wheel is spinning in the opposite direction. For what made this country productive in the first place is the simple idea that a man is entitled to keep what he is able to earn.

As long as that incentive was high, men strained brain and muscle to build something for themselves, and by that I mean each for himself and his family. Growth of the bureaucracy with growth of state ownership raises the government payroll and raises taxes, but the same proportion lowering incentive.

As the workingman is robbed of his incentive to produce, it is a mathematical certainty that at some point he will cease to do so.

National Outlook

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

Consumer Spending Trends

It is a common observation, and a correct one, that ever since World WAR II American consumers have been spending an increasing proportion of their incomes on services, and a declining proportion on goods. It is widely assumed that this is an inbuilt trend which is bound to continue in the future.

Some economists have gone further, and concluded that consumers have no very great desire for more goods and are therefore increasingly turning to services as a way of spending their rising incomes. This raises the spectre of what will happen when people also run out of desires for more services. Will economic growth eventually slow down because consumers don't want more of anything — either goods or services?

Surprising Stability

In a recent speech Assistant Secretary of Commerce Holton calls into question the whole basis for these assumptions and fears.

It is true, he points out that the fraction of total consumption spending going for services has risen since 1947 — from 31 per cent in that year to 41 per cent in 1963.

However, the explanation lies not in an unprecedentedly high share spent on services in 1963 —but in an abnormally low share going for that purpose in 1947. If the comparison is carried back to 1929 the fact emerges that the proportions spent on goods and on services have remained unchanged. In both 1929 and 1963, 59 per cent of consumer spending went for goods and 41 per cent for services. The stability of the breakdown is surprising since per capita incomes, even after allowance is made for the change in the purchasing power of the dollar, doubled over the interval.

As time goes on the price of services tends to rise relative to the price of goods. But this cuts two ways. We have to pay more for the services we do buy. We are also given an incentive to buy goods which serve as a substitute for the services.

Cross Currents

The automatic washing machine takes the place of the laundress and frozen foods take the place of the kitchen maid. The television set (a good) takes the place of a trip to the movies (a service).

All sorts of cross currents have been at work affecting the mix of consumer spending. Since 1929 an increasing proportion of after - tax income has been spent for physician's services, about the same proportion for dentists, and a smaller proportion for burial and funeral expenses. Much more, relatively, is spent for interest on personal debt and much less on shoe cleaning and repair. Surprisingly, a smaller part of after - tax income now goes for foreign travel than was the case in 1929.

Apparently over the past 35 years things have pretty well balanced out and the two broad categories—"goods" and "services" — have taken unchanged fractions of our family incomes. There is no evidence here that we are getting fed up with either goods or services or that consumers are likely to change radically the way they divide their spending between the two.

The Almanac

Today is Friday Nov. 6, the 311th day of 1964 with 55 to follow.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning stars are Jupiter, Mars and Venus.

The evening stars are Jupiter and Saturn.

American band leader John Philip Sousa was born on this day in 1854.

On this day in history:

In 1860, Abraham Lincoln was elected president of the United States.

In 1869, the first formal intercollegiate football game was played between Princeton and Rutgers at New Brunswick, New Jersey.

In 1900, William McKinley was elected president.

In 1953, U. S. Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownel charged former President Harry Truman had named Dexter White to head the International Monetary Fund knowing he was "a Russian spy."

A thought for the day: Abraham Lincoln said: "There is no grievance that is a fit object of redress by mob law."

REAL TROUBLE—

His horse went dead and his mule went lame,
And he lost six cows in a poker game;
Then a hurricane came on a summer day
And blew the house where he lived away;
And an earthquake came when that was gone
And swallowed the land that the house stood on;
Then the tax collector he came round,
And charged him up with a hole in the ground.

Barry Praises Press, Criticizes News Columnists

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Defeated presidential candidate Barry Goldwater Wednesday praised the "working press" for its coverage of his campaign but attacked columnists in all media and said they should "frankly hang thir heads in shame."

The Arizona senator appeared rested when he appeared to tell of a congratulatory telegram he had sent the victorious President Lyndon Johnson.

But at a question and answer session when asked if he thought defeat was due to treatment by the press, Goldwater said:

"No, not the working press. I think you have been fair. I realize you have your own prejudices . . . some believe what I say. . .some don't."

But Goldwater said that "attempts by the columnists, that end of the press, on television, radio and the papers hurt." He said he never had seen or heard in his life such "vitriolic, unbased attacks on one man. . .

Pioneer Declares Quarter Dividend

AMARILLO (Spl) — Directors of Pioneer Natural Gas Company, at a meeting held today, declared a quarterly dividend of 16 cents per share on the outstanding common stock, payable December 3, 1964 to stockholders of record on Nov. 20, 1964. The dividend will be payable on the common stock after the two-for-one stock split, which was effective Oct. 30, 1964, and represents an increase of 10 per cent over the previous quarterly dividend.

C. I. Wall, president, stated that the consolidated net income for the first nine months of 1964 amounted to $6,504,087, or $1.81 per share compared to $4,981,625, or $1.39 per share, before the Special Item, for the comparable period of 1963, based on 3,586,514 shares outstanding at the end of each respective period. Restated to give effect to the stock split, the earnings per share were 91 cents and 69 cents respectively.

Foreign Commentary

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Once more the feeling is that French President Charles de Gaulle is up to something. The question is, what?

A spate of rumors in Paris suggest that De Gaulle is about ready to pull out of the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance (NATO) and the six-nation Common Market, either or both.

Washington dispatches say that the United States expects a major crisis to erupt at about the time of the NATO ministerial council meeting in Paris on Dec. 15.

The speculations and rumors all boil down to the same thing, namely, that:

De Gaulle is more than ever convinced that Britain is not ready for political union with the continent and that there is an Anglo-American conspiracy to retain sway over Western Europe.

De Gaulle is disappointed at the results of the French-German accord signed two years ago and irritated by West German refusal to lower grain prices according to the Common Market schedule.

De Gaulle continues to oppose the U.S.—proposed mixed-manned nuclear surface fleet for NATO as inimical to the interests of a united and independent Europe.

And, finally, that now is the time to settle these and related issues once and for all.

Militarily, thre eseems agreement that De Gaulle could withdraw his 27 air squadrons and his two under - strength army divisions from NATO without greatly weakening the organization. It would, however, deny French bases and communications to NATO.

There is doubt that De Gaulle seriously contemplates withdrawal from the Common Market which has helped to boom French industry although not yet solving the problem of French agricultural surpluses.

And if, as the French continue to insist, De Gaulle really does seek increased European economic and political unity, he scarcely could abandon the one vehicle set up to accomplish it.

Problems For Erhard

The De Gaulle pressure vastly increases the problems of West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard.

The oldest of the 31 bridges crossing the Seine in Paris is called "Pont Neuf," or New Bridge.
