WHAT is believed by Lubbock men to be the only large agricultural velopment program under way at s time in the United States, is e sensational growth of new farm ds going into improvements on the South Plains of Texas. As far as is known here this is the only section of the nation where land never before in cultivation is being broken out into large acreages for farming purposes.

Beginning last fall there has been a steady in- of new people who bought rter section and labor tracts and, me instances, 80 acre tracts or o 40 acre irrigation tracts in the kwater valley draw area.

Suspect In Bank Holdup At Levelland Telephones To Establish Innocence

Charles Mead Reads Account In Paper And Offers To Appear And Give Himself Up

CHARLES MEAD, a suspect in the Levelland bank robbery, protested — by long distance telephone — his innocence in the case Saturday.

Sheriff Clarence W. Davis of Hockley county, of Levelland, said he received a telephone call early yesterday from a man who said he was Mead. The call came from Vernon.

"He told me he had had nothing to do with robbery of our bank, and that he would come here and give up," the sheriff said.

"I told him to call back at 11 o'clock, and I would tell him then whether we wanted him. He called back and I told him to come to Levelland to be viewed by witnesses of the robbery. He said he would be in Levelland Monday.

Both calls were collect.

Mead said he had read in an Amarillo newspaper about his being wanted for questioning in the robbery.

Two eyewitnesses of the bank robbery identified a picture of Mead, an ex-convict, as that of one of the bandits. A member of Lubbock police department protested when story of the identification was published, declaring the story hampered investigation of the suspect.

A man, whose picture was studied closely by Harry Mann and George

Hughes Warns That Political Strife Over Texas Must Halt If The State Is To Progress

Dallas Candidate Opens His Campaign For Governor With Address At McKinney; Gives His Platform

(By The Associated Press)

MCKINNEY, April 28. — Sharp criticism of political strife in the state was voiced by Maury Hughes today in an address here opening his campaign for governor.

"The bitter political strife that has existed between those who have recently served as governor of Texas has seriously affected the welfare of our people," the Dallas attorney charged. "This political bitterness has found its way into our legislative halls, and as a result there has been little cooperation between the legislature and the governor.

Must Be Remedied

"If Texas is to progress, this condition must be remedied. It is time for a new deal. The disputed question of whether Mr. Moody, Mr. Sterling or the Fergusons have served Texas well should not longer be the issue in Texas. Their records have been made and each speaks for itself. Each has been fully honored.

"If elected governor, the policies of my office will not be directed or influenced by any of these gentlemen. This is no time for a 'yes man' in the governor's chair. I am not concerned with the hatred or malice that has heretofore existed in Texas politics. I am looking forward—not backward."

Expresses His Views

Hughes, who recently resigned as chairman of the Democratic state executive committee, then expressed his views on the main issues, as he sees them, before citizens of the state today. It was his judgment, he said, that governmental machinery in Texas needs adjustment.

"There has been much talk periodically about law enforcement in Texas for the last twenty years, but nothing has been done to remedy the situation," he asserted. "If we are to curb banditry and lawlessness, there must be a drastic change in our law enforcement machinery. We must coordinate the various branches of law enforcement. After this is accomplished, judicial reform must follow, and then we must have a change in the system of granting pardons."

Favors State Force

Hughes said he favored establishment of a state police force and the consolidation of the ranger force with the state highway patrol. He described the present ranger force as ineffectual and a waste of money.

At the present time, he continued, our criminal procedure is full of

Besides Simmons, principal beneficiaries of the Hardins' philanthropics to date have been Abilene Christian college, Baylor university, Baylor college at Belton, Buckner orphan home, and churches and schools of Burkburnett and other cities.

Delegation Of Dallas Men At Meeting; Representatives Of 22 Towns On The Proposed Route Are Present

HIGHWAY enthusiasts of Dallas joined hands with the South Plains in the formation of a new organization at Hotel Lubbock last night to secure completion of a paved route from the New Mexico state line to Dallas and points eastward. The new association is to be known as the Dallas-Fort Worth-Guthrie-Lubbock Highway association.

Approximately 125 good roads boosters from towns along the route from Lubbock to Dallas and from Lubbock northwest and west to New Mexico attended the meeting.

To Supplement Work

The new association will supplement the work of the Fort Worth-Guthrie-Lubbock Highway unit and the State Highway 24 association in securing pavement of the unpaved sectors of the route.

Resolutions asking for designation by the State Highway department of Highway 24 and of Highway 199 between Olney and Jacksboro and the Dallas northwest route and its link between Rhome and Bridgeport as one of the cardinal routes to be paved by the time of Celebration of Texas Centennial in 1936 and requests for support by Texas senators and congressmen of the Cartwright bill allocating additional emergency employment relief funds for highway work were passed in the meeting. Resolutions also asked for allocation of both state and federal

Scientists To Gather In Lubbock; Noted Men Are To Appear Upon Program

Popular Lecture Program For Public Will Be Held; Yerkes Director Will Be Here

ANNUAL meeting of the southwestern division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the Texas Academy of Science will open at Texas Technological college Monday. The meeting will end Thursday.

Dr. R. A. Studhalter, a director of the association, said that the public has been invited to attend open sessions.

"It is a policy of the southwestern division to give a popular lecture program for the entertainment of the host city each year," Doctor Studhalter said.

"This popular meeting will be Monday night at the First Methodist church auditorium 8:30 o'clock when Dr. Otto Struve, director of Yerkes Observatory, University of Chicago and also the director of the new McDonald Observatory in the Davis mountains, near Alpine, will give an illustrated lecture on 'The Galaxy.' Dr. Struve is probably the most outstanding scientist to be here.

"Registration for the meetings will be open to the public and any one interested is cordially invited to register. Texas Tech students will register free; others will be asked to pay a dollar fee."

Six States In Membership

This is the first time the Southwestern division of the A. A. A. S. has met in Texas with the exception of a meeting in El Paso many years ago, Dr. Studhalter pointed out. Only that section of the state west of the Pecos river has memberships in the association. Other states include Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico and Chihuahua and Sonora, in Mexico.

"It is the first time the Texas Academy of Science has met in Lubbock," he said. "Many of the leading men in Texas interested in sciences will be here for the meeting."

Officers of the groups are:

Southwestern Division, A. A. A. S., Dr. Oliver C. Lester, professor of physics and dean of graduate school and former acting president, University of Colorado, president; Dr. F. E. E. Germann, chemistry department, University of Colorado, vice-president; Dr. Edwin F. Carpenter, associate at Steward Astronomical observatory, University of Arizona, Tucson, secretary.

Texas Ranger Kills Himself At Ft. Worth

Captain Harry T. Odneal Dead After Sending Bullet Into Body; Was Head Of Force In His District

(By The Associated Press)

FORT WORTH, April 28—Captain Harry T. Odneal, 45 head of the Texas ranger force in this district and peace officer for 26 years, took his life at his home here today.

He shot himself with an old, single-action revolver which he carried during his early days as a peace officer in the then lawless Big Bend country. Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at the First Baptist church in Sherman.

Granted Furlough

The ranger recently was granted a sixty day furlough because of ill health. He went into the bathroom of his home shortly after arising at 7 a. m., today and a few minutes later his wife heard a shot.

The career of Captain Odneal as a peace officer began in Grayson county, where he became a deputy sheriff at the age of 19. Later he ranched in Pecos county but soon returned to the law enforcement ranks as a deputy sheriff at Fort Stockton.

Was In Oil Field

As a ranger sergeant under Captain Monroe Fox he participated in the cleaning up of the Big Bend country. He was stationed in the Ranger oil field during the boom days.

In march, 1933, he was assigned to Fort Worth to succeed Tom Hickman as head of the rangers in this section. Ranger Leon Hanna will be in charge of the headquarters here until a permanent appointment is made by Governor Ferguson.

Captain Odneal is survived by his wife and three daughters, Misses Margaret, Vivian and Ada Odneal.

Suddenly the other children heard her cry out and disappear in some dense brush. They rushed home and notified their parents. The father of the girl rushed out in search of his daughter and found a mountain lion devouring the body.

Wheat Yield To Run High In Panhandle

Estimate Of 20,000,000 Bushels Placed On 1934 Crop By Association Head; Prospects Aided By Rains

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, April 28. — An estimate of 20,000,000 bushels was placed on the 1934 Panhandle wheat crop today by Frank Triplett, manager of the Texas Wheat Growers association.

The big wheat acreage in Swisher, Hale, Castro, Floyd, Crosby and Parmer counties gives promise of a yield of from 15 to 35 bushels an acre, with harvest time a little over two months away, Triplett said.

Aided By Rains

"Wheat is good from Canyon south" Triplett said. "It has come out wonderfully since recent rains. The crop in the northeast corner of the panhandle, which until recently was the best in this area, is needing rain now. The yield there probably will run from 12 to 20 bushels. The crop will be short west and northwest of Amarillo."

Additional moisture will be needed throughout the area to mature the crop, Triplett said.

Triplett, who recently toured the entire Panhandle-Plains region, said the soil was in excellent condition for row crop planting everywhere, except in the northwest corner of the Panhandle. Grazing conditions also are good except in Deaf Smith, Oldham, Hartley and Dallam counties, he said.

Loans Okayed For Industry

Legislation To Set Up Fund Of $280,000,000 In Federal Reserve Banks For Aid To Business Approved

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Legislation to set up a $280,000,000 fund in federal reserve banks for five-year loans to industry under limited terms was approved today by the senate banking committee.

In so doing, the committee turned down a measure which would give the Reconstruction Corporation broad power to make direct loans to private business up to the limit of funds available to that agency.

FDR Favors Bill

President Roosevelt and his financial advisors favored the bill approved, the author of which was Senator Glass (D-Va), but some senators privately expresed the view this plan would not provide the credit relief necessary and that the RFC measure also should be enacted to supplement the Glass bill.

Eugene Black, governor of the federal reserve board who attended the meeting, expressed approval of the committee's action on the Glass bill, which is a compromise with

Peace Officers Are Spurred By Fresh Clues Over Nation Last Night; Trigger Fingers Are Ready

Four Are Indicted

Ohio Governor And Daughter Being Closely Guarded As Rumors Of Kidnaping At The Hands Of Killer Heard

(By The Associated Press)

SPURRED by fresh clues, thousands of government agents and peace officers, stalked the nation's crime trail last night, trigger fingers ready.

Chief of the hunted was John Dillinger and his murderous henchmen—who shot their way to freedom a week ago in the Wisconsin wildlands, leaving two dead in their wake.

Four Are Indicted

Four persons were indicted at St. Paul for harboring the arch criminal; a Wisconsin deputy said he wounded George (Baby Face) Nelson, one of Dillinger's aides, after a speedy chase; an abandoned car was found, believed Nelson's get-away machine; and a dozen well-armed federal agents rushed to Fort Wayne, Ind., presumably because a Dillinger hideout was uncovered.

Other members of his band were reported "seen" in various places. Officers were convinced the gang had split up for safety.

Governor Under Guard

Gov. White of Ohio and his daughter, Mary, were under guard after reports that Dillinger sought to kidnap them with a view that their ransom would be freedom to his three pals in an Ohio prison. Two are under death sentences and the third imprisoned for life for the killing of a sheriff in freeing Dillinger last October.

Near the Mexican border, authorities conducted a search for the abductors of 6-year old June Robles, Tucson, Ariz., and the belief was expressed by some authorities, that Clyde Barrow, as elusive a desperado in the southwest as Dillinger in the midwest, may be one of the kidnapers.

That the solution of the $200,000 abduction of Edward G. Bremer, St. Paul banker, was near was fore-

Officers Again On Wild Chase

SAN ANGELO, April 28 (AP)—West Texas peace officers, who had flung posses out over virtually every road within a 100-mile radius of this city today when Clyde Barrow was reported seen near Ballinger, tonight checked up the affair as a wild goose chase that cost them hundreds of dollars.

Three San Angelo officers tonight interviewed Avery Frost, 25, rural mail carrier near Ballinger, who admitted reporting to Sheriff W. A. Holt of Runnels county that he had seen a couple answering the description of Barrow and his girl companion, Bonnie Parker, in a Plymouth coach out on the Maverick road as he was coming to town. Fifty-Six Men Of Byrd Antarctic Expedition Preparing For Four-Months Winter Night; Unseen Sun Dips Lower

(By The Associated Press)

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctic, April 25.—(Delayed) — Via Mackay Radio — Herre is this polar village by the Bay of Whales the 56 men of the second Byrd Antarctic expedition are making ready for the four-months winter night.

In the darkness of this morning the dogs were brought from their tunnels and sent to retrieve the last supplies. The aviators started building a new snow hangar. A machine shop was put together.

Every day the unseen sun dips lower and lower below the earth's rim. Night is claiming its empire in the south polar continent—but the many activities of a scientific expedition go on.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Bird himself is in a little shack more than 100 miles from here, alone with his scientific instruments.

Little America is a fascinating place, paradoxically modern and primitive at the same time.

It has a staff of men studying 15 branches of science—including the strength of the cosmic ray, the flight of meteors ,the thickness of the Antarctic ice sheet, and the microscopic life mysteriously persisting in the waters of the Bay of Whales, under conditions seemingly entirely unsuited to life.

The comforts of civilization are in strange contrast to the endless reaches of snow. There is a light plant, and wireless, tractors, airplanes, repair shops, hospitals for men and livestock, library and science hall, a dairy of three cows and a bull, a fully equipped meteorological station, two kittens, a mess hall seating 28 that can be converted into a theater.

Necessity has made this village self-contained. To the north lies the dark Ross sea,

Churchman, Freed Of Conspiracy Charges, Turns Back To Pro Battles

Cannon Turns Back To Fight Against Wets

Freed Of Conspiracy Charge, Methodist Church Bishop Again Takes Up The Banner Of Prohibition

BY JOSEPH H. SHORT

WASHINGTON, April 28. —(AP)— Bishop James Cannon, jr., freed of conspiracy charges arising from the wet-and-dry campaign of '28, turned anew today to his fight in behalf of prohibition.

The gray-haired leader of the Methodist Episcopal church, South now 69, went to the general conference of that church now in session at Jackson, Miss.

Feels "Far Better"

Before boarding his train, Cannon pledged himself again to the cause of prohibition. Despite the physical strain of a nearly three-weeks-long trial, which found emotions near the breaking point at its end, the bishop declared himself feeling "far better" than when the first rumbles of legal trouble started four years ago.

A jury found Cannon and Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of his headquarters committee, anti-Smith Democrats, "not guilty" yesterday of a charge of conspiring to conceal contributions made for defeating Alfred E. Smith, 1928 Democratic presidential nominee, in the south.

The acquittal ended forever any legal question of the manner in which the churchman used the more than $100,000 he received during and just after the campaign.

The indictment under which the bishop and his aide were tried was return by a District of Columbia grand jury some time before expiration of the three-year statute of limitations under the corrupt practices act. The time has now expired.

Returns To Work

Displaying more emotion than at any time during the trial, Cannon sat tensely forward on his court chair to hear the jury foreman pronounce him acquitted. Within an hour or two he was back at his desk, at work again.

Later he issued a press statement, saying:

"Political opponents have attacked me through the medium of two senate investigating committees. They also attacked me at the general conference of my church in 1930, and were quite prominent in the activities of those who brought charges which were investigated at Mount Vernon Place church, Washington, in 1931, and my character as a bishop of my church has been unchallenged from that date."

Miss Burroughs, who stood rigidly and stared at the jury foreman as he returned the verdict, had nothing to say.

The trial had its inception in charges made in 1930 by Representative Tinkham (R-Mass) before a senate committee that Cannon had reported only $17,000 of a $65,300 contribution by Edwin C. Jameson of New York.

The bishop now has a $500,000 suit pending against Tinkham in a Massachusetts court.

John J. (Boss) McLaughlin, one-time Illinois state political power, was held on bond in Chicago along with a former convict; McLaughlin's son, and two persons whose identity was guarded closely by federal agents. No charge was placed against the son.

A quick shooting desert posse dealt sudden death to two escaped San Quentin convicts near Victorville, Calif. Two San Rafael policemen whom the pair had kidnaped had been released a few hours before.

Police guns which barked in a country cemetery near Gower, Mo. brought fatal wounds to Frank Wood, 41, after he had received a package of dummy extortion money which a note had directed be delivered to the grave yard.

Randol Eugene Norvell, a "lifer" who escaped from the southern Illinois penitentiary yesterday, was being hunted on both sides of the Mississippi river near Chester, Ill.

funds or either by the state highway department for the completion of this route at the earliest possible date.

Is Major Activity

Eight representatives from Dallas attended the meeting, speakers admitting that their city had possibly "been asleep at the job" of securing a route from Lubbock to Dallas but that the project had been announced as one of the major activities of the highway committee of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce for 1934.

"We're here tonight on a gospel of cooperation," W. W. Gibbard, chairman of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce Highway committee, declared. "We're for a connected system of highways throughout the state and we're for every lateral road that leads into the state system. The first major activity of our committee for this year is the extension of the northwest highway from Dallas onward and westward to Lubbock. And while we look on Lubbock as the control city, we look to the northwest, west and southwest routes from Lubbock just as important as the route to this fair city."

Col. J. W. Slaughter, former Dallas county commissioner and introduced as one of the pioneer highway workers of Dallas, was named as the Dallas director of the new association. He spoke briefly on the northwest route from Dallas, revealing that he had found on the records at Austin the right of way of a railroad planned in 1889 to run from Dallas northwest to Denver and that he believed now the building of a highway over the same route would be more valuable to commerce of today than the railroad would have been in those times when they were greatly needed.

Judge F. H. Alexander, former Dallas county judge, spoke briefly and pointed out that although Dallas county has a good system of paved roads, only 17 per cent of the roads were paid for by highway department funds. Judge Alexander cited the importance of location of highways and declared that directors of the new association should consider right of ways and the route location carefully.

Other Talks Made

T. M. Cullum, former committee chairman of the Dallas organization, also spoke briefly.

Other brief talks were made in the committee by Senator Arthur P. Duggan of Littlefield, County Judge Jim Claud of Dickens county, Percy Ralls of Ralls, J. L. Winder of Morton, R. L. White of King county, Guy Johnston, Jess Mitchell of Muleshoe, and others.

Mr. Johnston announced that one-fourteenth or $543,000 of the state funds for construction would be let for this area in Austin next Tuesday and that he hoped to get about that much more during the year.

B. Sherrod Presides

B. Sherrod, local merchant, presided over the meeting. A. B. Davis, manager of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, spoke briefly to the group, explaining the purpose of the meeting. Welcome to the visitors was extended by Durwood Bradley.

Col. Slaughter responded for the visitors.

Representatives were present from the following towns: Levelland, Morton, Littlefield, Dickens, Antelope, Crosbyton, Muleshoe, Olney, Jacksboro, Boyd, Idalou, Seymour, Paradise, Guthrie, Ralls, Bridgeport, Jermyn, Slaton, Benjamin, Meadow, Dallas and Lubbock.

A report that he had been cornered was denied by the prison warden.

Two women and a man faced a police lineup at New York, charged with abducting two 15-year-old girls. The girls were held as juvenile delinquents.

A man identified as Isidor (Zip) Careagno was shot to death in front of a Harlem store at New York. He was a former aide to Joey Rao, at one time accused of "bossing" the Welfare island prison where he was confined.

Armed guards were stationed at a Philadelphia hospital to prevent another gangland attempt to assassinate Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Fontaine, who was found, left for dead, in a gang hideout Thursday.

Six suspects were under arrest at Chicago in connection with the slaying of one man and critical woundnig of another in a tavern holdup.

A lone bandit invaded a bank at Joliet, Ill., cooly presented a sack which he ordered to be filled up, and drove away with $250.

tion since early in March, was completed Friday with delivery to the Simmons board of joint stock land bank notes drawing six per cent interest and first lien vendor notes drawing six to eight per cent. Conditions of the gift were that Mr. and Mrs. Hardin will retain interest at six per cent on the $250,000 during their lives, and that the money is to go to the university's permanent endownment fund and be used for no other purpose. First announcement of the gift was made to about 1,500 high school seniors of West Texas who spent the day on the Simmons campus, guests of the institution.

The Hardin gift will increase the university's permanent endowment fund to about $600,000. In addition it owns other assets reckoned to be worth $200,000 in land and notes, not including its plant—nine brick buildings on 40 acres of land—and equipment, valued at around one million dollars. There is no debt against the plant.

Texas Track Stars On Hand As Quarter-Milers Smash Drake Records

ACC Lads Are Leaders When Marks Tumble

UCLA Speedsters Gallop Off With Honors At Des Moines As Texas U. Relay Team Is Victor; Aggies Shine, Too

(By The Associated Press)

DES MOINES, Ia., April 28.—They waited eleven years for a quartet of quarter-milers to come along and break the one-mile relay record at the Drake Relay carnival.

Today it happened, when four fleet-footed youngsters from the University of California at Los Angeles, climaxed the silver anniversary of the Drake games by smashing the record hung up by the University of Iowa in 1923. The record was broken in the last race of the day to the excitement of 18,000 spectators, greatest crowd to witness the West's oldest athletic carnival since it was started 25 years ago.

Luvalle Is Star

The California quartette, composed of James Miller, Sinclair Lott, Ray Vejar and James Luvalle, clipped a full second off the mark hung up by the Hawkeyes, running the distance in 3:15.9. Luvalle, the I. C. A. A. A. A. 400-meter champion, ran as anchor man on the winning team, reeling off his quarter in 48.6.

The wind-up of the two day athletic carnival saw five records for the meet smashed and another tied, in addition to the world's shot put record shattered yesterday.

The finish also saw the remarkable come-back of Ralph Metcalfe, Marquette's negro sprinter, co-holder of the world's record for the 100-yard dash. Metcalfe, despite a bleeding muscle in his right leg, won the dash today for the third consecutive year, beating his field to the tape in 9.7.

The Marquette negro after winning the century ran as anchor man on Marquette's relay team and sprinted to win the 440-yard relay by a margin of two yards ahead of Eckert of Illinois.

The man mountain from the South, 275-pound Jack Torrance, failed in his efforts to smash his amazing mark of 55 feet 1 1-2 inches in the shot put, made in the preliminaries yesterday. This ponderous blande athlete from Louisiana State university, made six attempts to better his mark in the finals today.

Texans Win Honors

The crack Louisiana State team, holders of the National Collegiate championship, accounted for three of the five new records established in the two days of competition. Torrance won two events, the discus and the shot, setting a world's record in the latter event. Nathan Blair, also of Louisiana set a new meet record in the javelin, when he heaved the spear 209.21 feet in his final attempt.

Texas Ties Record

Texas' half mile relay team tied the Drake record of 1:26.6 which Michigan made in 1930.

In the 120-yard high hurdles, won by Allen, Oklahoma Baptist, Herring, Texas Aggies, was fourth.

In the discus throw, won by Torrance, Louisiana State, Irwin, Texas Aggies, was second, 146.88 feet.

One mile college relay first race: won by Abilene Christian (Nowell, Ward, Simmons, Green); second, DePauw; third Carleton; fourth, Coe. Time, 3.22.

High jump: Watkins, Abilene Christian; Philson, Drake and Stambach, Kansas, tied for first, six feet 3 3-4.

One mile University relay: won by University of California at Los Angeles; second, Texas; third, Ohio State; fourth, Iowa. Time, 3:15.9.

Local Team Will Play At Borger

Lubbock's only independent baseball club, the Ramblers, will play the Phillips 66 team of Borger there this afternoon.

Of five games played thus far this season, the Ramblers have won four. They lost at Roswell, 12-13, last week, after defeating the New Mexicans a day earlier, 10-8. Abernathy, Petersburg and Anton have been outscored by the Lubbock nine.

Probable starting lineup of the Ramblers today, as announced late Saturday by Hollis Payne, player-manager, is:

Tracy Watson, p; Payne, c; Hilliard, ss; Anderson, 2b; Thompson, 3b; Gaither, cf; Bill Davidson, lf; Bettes, 1b; Crews, rf.

Possessing a full schedule to June 17, the Ramblers seek games thereafter, preferably to be played in the other club's park, Payne said.

Pampa's Magnolia Petroleum company nicked the Borger Phillipians last Sunday, 4-5. The Pampa club is reputed to be strong.

AGGIE TRACKMEN WIN

COLLEGE STATION, April 28 (AP)—The Texas Aggie freshmen track team swamped the John Tarleton Junior college squad, 74 2-3 to 47 1-3. The Fish team captured ten first places. Hub Wilson of Groesbeck, freshman sprinter, was high point man with 11 1-4 markers.

Snortometer

by COLLIER PARRIS

Title Copyright 1933

(C. A. G. Batting For Parris)

DOWN in Marlin, Texas, in a clinic operated by a kinsman, lies a young fellow who during the past month has lived in a hell of pain.

Upon three different occasions in the past week he has been subjected to operations, necessitated by a long tussle with acute sinus trouble. Prior to that he had been treated for the disease over a period of several weeks.

But until the pain grew so terrible that he went, writhing and with tears streaming down his face, to his bed, that young fellow carried on with his job—day and night.

He is the young fellow who usually writes this column and who is the sport editor of this newspaper.

You've guessed his name, of course—Collier Parris.

Faithful to his job and to his numerous duties until he was forced by his editor and his doctors to desist, Collier Parris upheld the tradition of "no matter what happens, the paper must go to press."

And through his long siege at Marlin, through his pain and the attendant operations he was still faithful to the work that has been his now for nearly four years—so faithful, in fact, that his attending physician knew his condition was being aggravated by it.

Because Collier Parris was worried about the work others were doing during his absence and because, newspaperman-like he feared they would not do it as he does it, his Marlin doctor sent a message to the editor of The Avalanche-Journal asking him to lend a hand.

"Please advise Collier", the message read, "to stop worrying about his work. To do so will hasten, immeasureably, his recovery."

THE advice was immediately dispatched to the sickbed—not by letter, as requested, but by a telegram in which every one of his co-workers joined heartily.

"Stop worrying, you sap," the telegram was jocularly worded to stop, as nearly as possible, the worry. "We don't even know you're gone. Love and kisses."

The telegram, surely as everyone knows, didn't mean anything it said save that Collier was to stop fretting over his duties.

Underlying the joshing buzzed across the wires the word that those who work with him wish with all their might that his recovery will be rapid; that to him go their salutations for a newsman who has the spark never missing in the right kind of a convert to this crazy business of making deadlines.

Collier will be back on the job, no doubt, before too many days are gone and he'll get a rousing wecome when he returns to the battered desk and typewriter in the northeast corner of the newsroom.

He's earned it, together with added respect upon the part of the thousands who have been following his sports pages for years.

PROBABLY you noticed the other day where Enid Wilson, England's woman golf champ for the past three years, had been banned from the ranks of the amateurs.

Because she wrote a golf story for a London newspaper, Miss Wilson, one of the world's best players, was booted out of her position—a silly thing, indeed.

But if you'll stop to think of it, it's no sillier than many another amateur rule in use in this country.

Why a college football player should be disqualified from the grid because he plays professional baseball in the summer is hard to understand.

And why a tennis player, who is carted all over the world with his expenses paid and spending money to boot, can be called an amateur is also a puzzle, especially when he loses his 'amateur standing' because he writes an article on tennis for a slick-paper magazine.

SPORTSMEN need to cull their rules governing amateur competition and substitute some common-sense laws for the many nonsensical ones.

We have enough monkey-business in our state and federal statutes to go 'round and to render further foolish rulings unnecessary in the sports world.

Ain't it right?

Huffman Stays As Coach Here

Rejects Brownwood Offer To Retain Job As Westerners' Backfield Chief, Assistant To Chapman, Latter Learns

Lubbock High school Westerner backs will be coached again next fall by Berl Huffman, as they have been the last three seasons, it was determined Saturday.

In a telegram to Weldon Chapman, head coach here, Huffman said he would remain here.

Chosen This Month

Elected in mid-April as chief mentor at Brownwood High school, Huffman went to Brownwood, Friday, to learn the situation there. He telegraphed his decision from there Saturday.

Gene Taylor had resigned from the high school post to become coach at Daniel Baker college at Brownwood.

Climbed Title-Hill

As chief assistant to Chapman and backfield whip-cracker over the Westerners, Huffman was credited in development of the championship eleven of 1931 and those since. He coached at White Deer before coming here. In his varsity days, Huffman was an all-conference player at Trinity University.

GRINER HAS SURGERY

An injury Virgil Griner, Lubbock High school halfback, suffered in the first game of the 1933 season, that with the Big Spring Steers, led to removal of cartilage from his right knee Saturday at West Texas hospital.

Similar operations on other athletes here had proved successful, Weldon Chapman, Westerner head coach, said. Griner will be a senior next fall.

FILLIES WIN BOTH

LOUISVILLE, April 28 (AP)—Perhaps an augury that this is the year for a filly to win the Kentucky Derby, members of the so-called weaker sex won both feature races of the Churchill Downs inaugural program today. Charles T. Fischer's Esseff won the $2,500 Clark handicap, and F. A. Burton's Wise Daughter defeated six eligibles in the South Louisville purse for three-year-olds.

North Carolina faces losses from damage done wheat, oat and barley crops by the cold last winter.

Ball Tourney Is Scheduled

Lubbock County School Nines To Determine Championship This Week At Woodrow With Victor To Meet Hockleyans

Alignment of an annual Lubbock county interscholastic baseball tournament that will be conducted next Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Woodrow, 10 miles south of Lubbock, was announced Saturday by Harold A. Cooper, county athletic director.

Idalou, Shallowater and Woodrow had top-notch clubs last year. That plans were afoot for a district tourney was revealed by Cooper, who announced arrangements already had been made for winners of the Lubbock and Hockley county events to meet in a three-game series.

Idalou Defender

Pairings in the Lubbock county tourney, won last year by Idalou, which has possibly a stronger nine this season, are:

Thursday—3:30 p. m., Canyon vs. Acuff; 5 p. m. McClung vs. Woodrow.

Friday — 1:30 p. m., Liberty vs. County Line; 3 p. m., Idalou vs. Estacado; 4:30 p. m., Shallowater vs. Canyon-Acuff winner.

Calmes also has traded punches with mittmen near the top of the division.

Semi-final cuffing and spearing will be by Jim Perry of Fort Sumner, N. M., and Red Davis of Amarillo. They are 160-pounders. A return bout, between Barnie Bogan, 138, of Lubbock, and Kermit Wooldridge, 140, of Abernathy, will be the curtain-raiser.

(By The Associated Press)

DETROIT, April 28. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers strengthened their lead in the American league today, defeating the Cleveland Indians 4 to 1 before a crowd of 14,000.

Don Hill, Ex-Trojan, Grapples With Ugly Greek In Main Event Wednesday

Don Hill, slick-haired middleweight champion of the Pacific seaboard, will return to the local mat Wednesday night, wrestling poutermouthed Billy Hallas, of El Paso, for two out of three falls.

Hill, long-legged, smooth, and powerful, will be a favorite to take the squatty-bodied little Greek.

Veteran A Threat

However, Hallas, a clever veteran, who year after year makes the top rankings in the welterweight division, may spring a surprise.

Holding victories over Dorry Detton, Yaqui Joe, and other formidable tin-ears of this section, Hill is possibly the most scientific and technically polished mat artist to appear here. A former star athlete at the University of Southern California, Don had the advantage of some of the best coaching available.

Hill A Flyer

He is a licensed air pilot and is something of a race-track driver.

Pat Garrison, rangy Pampa grappler, meets Bill Cazzel of Amarillo, in a one-fall time-limit lightheavy brawl that is the semi-windup on the card.

Garrison appeared here several months ago, disposing of Gorilla Pogi, of Argentina, in straight falls. Promoter Sled Allen is lining up a fast preliminary event.

Matadors Take Easy Win Over Alpine Eleven

Clark And McElroy Push Ball Across Final Stripe While 4,000 Homecomers, On Hand For Game, Are Doleful

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

ALPINE, Tex., Apr. 28. — With 4,000 home-coming fans looked on, Texas Technological college Matador spring gridsters, playing unwraps, took the Sul Ross Taechy college eleven into camp here today by a score of 12-0.

It was a poor dedication ceremony for Lobo fans, gathered for the first time in their new stadium. Early in the first quarter, Adrian Clark, from Denison, grabbed a punt in midfield and raced through the Sul Ross lads and over the final stripe. Again in the fourth quarter Tech 'poured it on,' with George Winters, Dallas freshman back, and Woodrow Wilson, junior from Mississippi, lugging the leather. They were pulled up at the 2-yard line from where D. M. McElroy, Dallas back, plunged the ball across.

Tech Speed Noted

Although the lines were even matched as to weight the Matadors showed their superiority over the Lobos all afternoon. A shifty, heavier backfield from the Lubbock school easily made up the 12-point difference.

Nelson and Bickford, Sul Ross backs, found the Tech defense for numerous gains, however, while Robinson, Godwin and Carll were the mainstays of the local line.

The lineups:

Twelve Thousand Fans Gather To See Inaugural; Pay-Off On Long Shot Gives Throng A Thrill At Dallas

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, April 28.—An estimated crowd of 12,000 persons saw the inaugural races today at the new Texas State fair race track. The Fair park handicap, $1,500 added, was won by Clarify, owned by W. C. Srtoube of Corsicana.

It was "Corsicana Day" and several hundred citizens of that city cheered their hometown horse who raced in his best form, kept close to the rail under a confident ride by J. Pollard, and had good speed and something to spare at the finish. Clarify was the post favorite and was easily the best in the one mile run.

In the second feature race, the Baker Hotel handicap with a $1,000 purse, Rubio, T. C. Worden's speedy entry, won with Jack Westrope up.

Mishaps Are Marring

Mishaps marred the opening day. In the second race, Peter Ruff, owned by A. J. Williams, broke an ankle on the first turn and was destroyed. In the seventh race, Lahor, T. C. Worden's valuable horse, broke his leg and was destroyed. Lahor and Pillnita were neck and neck in the mile and one eighth race when Lahor broke down. Jack Westrope pulled him up and he was destroyed on the track, removing from the Fair park stables one of the best racers on Southwestern tracks.

The daily double with Overshoes in the first and Benares in the third paid $2 straight mutuel holders $84.40. Overshoes was the first payoff long shot. With R. Creese up, Overshoes galloped home to reward his backers with $25.10, $11.70 and $5.70. The highest money horse was Stuart Plaid in the third race who paid $42.50 to run second and $20.80 to show.

It was officially announced that $97,980 was the total wagered through the pari-mutuel windows today.

King Victor Declares Nation Wants Peace But Will Increase Military As Best Guarantee Against War

BY ANDRUE BERDING

ROME, April 28 (AP)—King Victor Emmanuel declared today that while Italy ardently desires peace, she will increase the strength of her military in the conviction that is the first guarantee of peace.

The king was cheered roundly as he made the declaration in opening the 29th parliament since Italy became a united kingdom in 1860.

"Arms Best Guarantee"

"We sincerely and ardently desire for Italy and Europe the longest possible period of peace," the king said, "but the best guarantee of this peace is the efficiency of our armed forces.

"My government will augment and perfect this efficiency, which rests on three points—officers, materials and unity of preparation."

Joining in the enthusiastic cheering were senators and deputies—including Premier Mussolini and Guglielmo Marconi, members of the Italian cabinet and Crown Prince Umberto.

Elaborating on his "three points of preparation," King Victor said Italy's officers must have solid professional preparations and be animated by the fervor of youth which he said is a characteristic of the Fascist age.

War materials, he went on, must be renewed.

The king reviewed the Italian situation, beginning:

"Italy has given the world an example of disciplined economic forces having started in 1926, only three years before the crisis which eventually resulted in other nations following her lead."

The king said the Italian government would continue to follow "a policy of specific collaboration with all people, particularly neighboring states, and with those upon whom the development and future of western civilization will depend.

His majesty referred to the development of Italy's colonies which he said now have been completely pacified.

Speaking of financial matters, the king said the most pressing problem is that of balancing the budget, adding:

"To a balanced budget is bound the fate of public and private demands."

The chamber of deputies was gorgeously decorated with palms. The king was in full-dress general's uniform, Crown Prince Humbert beside him in like attire, and Mussolini had on the full-dress of a prime minister.

Black-Eyed Girl Cries For The Life Of Her Lover, Nation's No. 1 Bandit

Black-Eyed

EVELYN FRECHETTE

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 28 (AP) — Crying for the life of her lover marked for death on sight, Evelyn Frechette, black eyed girl of part Indian blood sat in her sombre cell today, pleading for "justice" for herself and John Dillinger.

Told that the nation's countless officers of the law grimly waited with guns cocked for even a glimpse of the phantom gunman, Miss Frechette sobbed:

"He cannot be as bad as they say he is, for I myself know that anybody who has been as kind and true to me during the year that I have known him, cannot be guilty of the things that they accuse him of."

John Dillinger, rated as the nation's hardest outlaw, is just a plain sweetheart to this girl, just a few years out of a government Indian school.

"He is my man," she said confidently. "If I could be with him now I know that I would be in his arms. And just as soon as I can convince them that I have done nothing wrong and am free, I will flee to him; regardless of where he may be."

Miami, Fla., police recovered a stolen automobile recently in exactly one minute.

Roberishaw overthrew first after two were out in the eleventh and allowed Ogrowdowski to continue to second, from where he scored on Christensen's Texas leaguer to left. Moses of Galveston and Kalbitz of Houston hit home runs.

Frog Bats Impotent Before Texas Pitching Of Bennett

AUSTIN, April 28. (AP) — Young Bill Bennett, sophomore left hander, pitched the University of Texas to an 8-to-1 victory over Texas Christian university here today.

Big Slim Kinzy, who yesterday pitched his mates to a 4-to-3 victory over the Steers, hit a home run off Bennett in the second. Buster Baebel crashed into the cliff in center field, chasing the Frog's long fly, and was knocked out. Kinzy racing home before the ball could be retrieved. Baebel received a severe head wound and was carried from the field by his team mates.

Farm Program Is Developing

Land Never Before Put Into Cultivation Being Broken Up In Large Acreages For Farming Purposes

much more available, also has been sold. The Dick Slaughter lands and the Alexander lands also are of fair size in this county, with some land owned by I. C. Enochs being sold. Other sales of smaller tracts by other large land owners have been reported. The total is believed to represent between 300 and 400 farms, mostly quarter section tracts, for a total of between 50,000 and 75,000 acres.

Bailey county development also has been large. The I. C. Enochs land sold represents five or six leagues and between 120 and 130 farms in the south part of the county, extending down into Cochran county. Maple Wilson, of Lubbock, has sold a league and has another league ready. The Howard lands consist of two leagues, or 50 tracts and the Newsom lands representing two or three leagues or more. Besides these tracts, which total around 225 to 250 tracts and 50,000 acres, in the north part of the county is some new land being sold. Irrigation tracts generally run 40 acres to the sale, although a few quarter sections have been sold. Ten or fifteen or more of these irrigation tracts have been sold and the development work begun.

Ellwood Firm Busy

Most of the Hockley county development has been the sale of Ellwood lands. Approximately 200 quarter sections or labors have been sold by this concern in Hockley county, with other large interests, including the Yellowhouse Land company, selling at least 100 more tracts. The acreage is expected to exceed 50,000 for this county. A striking factor is that nearly every sale represented the construction of substantial residences, barns and windmill and fencing.

Lynn county is seeing 40 to 50 tracts changing hands on the Green and Lumsden tract in northwest Lynn. Besides this land, a number of quarter section farms have been cut out of larger farms and a new set of improvements added and raw land put under the plow.

In Terry county several tracts are being broken up. The famous L-7 ranch is having a 2,500 to 3,000 acre portion cut into smaller farms; three sections on the Carruth ranch west of Meadow is going in as are several thousand acres on the Green and Lumsden ranch. The old Fisher ranch near Meadow is also seeing development begun and Jess Smith, among others, is plowing under 400 acres of sod.

Lubbock Is Developing

Lubbock county likewise is having some development, probably 20 to 30 tracts of raw lands going under the plow. Most of this is believed to represent additional quarter sections added to farms already in cultivation.

In Dawson county there is also some development. In the northwestern section, near Welch, a new development has brought a few farmers in for additional sod land. Scattered over the entire county are quarter sections being placed in cultivation.

One Abernathy real estate man with 35 farms under his control said he would add 700 acres or more of raw land to cultivation on three places. Some other raw land is being broken out also, he added. There may be a dozen or more new farm units being added this season in Hale county alone.

Improvement Added

Garza, Floyd and Crosby counties likewise seem to have a number of new farms. For the most part these are instances of where on a large farm the owner added an improvement of a house, barn, mill, tank, etc., and plowed under a pasture or sod land.

From counties east of Lubbock renters who did not close a deal with their landlords have come to the section west of here to buy land. Likewise some large landlords have bought new lands in the west. L. H. Abel, of Crosbyton, and Con Parrish, of Ralls, are reported having purchased a thousand or more acres each in Hockley county. On the Abel tract 400 acres will be raw land broken out.

Many real estate men, such as W. P. Soash, R. J. Murray, Guion Gregg, L. D. Casey, Claude Hurlbut and others of Lubbock; I. C. Enochs and R. T. Badger of Littlefield; A. P. Stone and R. L. Brown of Muleshoe; representatives of the Slaughter interests and others, report substantial sales. The consensus is that the development since mid-summer of 1933 has been greater than all years back to 1928 or 1929 and that this season should see as large an increase as any year in the history of the South Plains.

Improvements Are Good

On the greater portion of the places sold and being developed this year, improvements are fairly substantial. A house can be built for around $1,000 or less it is claimed by some; on other places the entire improvements will average that much as only the bare necessity of shelter is being taken care of at this time.

The money spent has gone to lumbermen, painters, carpenters, building supply men, well drillers, day laborers and farm hands. Large sums also have been spent for furniture, stoves, farm implements, bed clothing and other household necessities, by these newcomers, not to mention the gas and oil purchased for car and tractor operation.

Nearly every real estate man in Lubbock and the other towns in the new section, outside of the firms handling tracts, have profited by the sale of a few, at least, of raw land farms.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 28.—Stock market spirits were again unresponsive to grain rallies today. Until the last few minutes trading was too dull to warrant attention, but a selling flurry blew in just before the close and the slight downward drift evident earlier became more pronounced. Transfers totaled 563,630 shares.

Motor stocks were under some pressure throughout the morning and final quotations for Chrysler, Hudson, Nash and General Motors represented losses ranging from major fractions to more than a point. Steels also yielded especially in the final downturn, and rails were similarly affected. Some utilities resisted. In general losses were largely fractional, the average net change being a decline of eight-tenths point.

It was hard to find new market influences. No doubt the imminence of open debate in congress on the regulatory bills was borne in mind by the speculative community which has had little inkling as to how the full membership of house and senate feels about the bills that now come to the floor. Until they are disposed of, it is possible traders will continue cautious.

Silver joined wheat on the advance, but other commodities were mixed. Grains have had the benefit of weather unfavorable to crop prospects, also, liquidation of May contracts, which has been unusually heavy, is virtually completed.

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 28.—(AP)—Cotton was fairly active in today's short session and prices after advancing in the early trading on fair trade buying and less favorable weather in the belt lost the gain in the late trading on reported active selling in the northern market. The close was steady 2 points net up to 1 down.

The opening was steady with Liverpool about as due. First trades showed gains of 5 to 8 points.

Late in the second hour prices eased off with New York July dropped to 11.07 October to 11.22 and December to 11.33, down 12 to 13 points from the highs. After a final rally of 1 to 3 points, July closed at 11.10, net unchanged, October at 11.23 or 1 point net down and December at 11.36 or 2 point net up.

Port receipts 17,311, for season 7,120,183, last season 7,942,593. Exports 2,808, for season 6,364,735, last season 6,443,600. Port stock 3,025,500, last year 4,203,822. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 102,309, last year 135,729. Spot sales at southern markets 3,747, last year 8,460.

Cleanup Plans Being Stressed

Spring house cleaning, spring yard cleaning, and spring painting, and repair time is here.

The week, May 6 to 12 inclusive has been officially designated as cleanup and paintup week, however the chamber of commerce committee, headed by Walter G. Alderson is anxious that everybody get busy this week and clean-up their residences, business buildings and other property before the regular inspections begin during cleanup week.

Four loving cups have been won by Lubbock for having the best campaign in Texas for the years 1930, 1931, 1932 and 1933 and the committee has made plans to make the 1934 campaign more comprehensive than any of the previous ones.

The fire prevention committee of the chamber of commerce and the city fire prevention board will cooperate in staging the campaign this year, this committee and board paying particular attention to eliminating fire hazards, and in urging precaution in connection with the extra fire hazards in burning trash and in handling paint materials.

KANSAS CITY REPORT

KANSAS CITY, April 28. (AP)—Another sharp advance in fed steers with weight was the feature of the trade in cattle during the past week. All grades of medium weight and weighty steers sold unevenly 25 to as much as 1.00 higher around the circuit. Steers scaling under 1100 lbs. of quality at most points were quoted strong to 25 up, but in-between grades of light weights at several key markets moved slowly, mostly at unchanged prices. Fed heifer and mixed yearlings were in fairly liberal supply and cleared at strong to 25 higher rates, heavy heifers selling to the best advantage. Fleshy feeders in sympathy with the advance in slaughter steers show the most advance. Choice weighty beeves scored 8.60 at Chicago, a new top since November, 1932.

Aggregate receipts of hogs at eleven markets this week totaled 446,000, against 386,509 the same period a week ago and 490,239 the corresponding week a year ago. Trade has been fairly active, although prices show a decline for the week of around 10-25.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, April 28. (AP)—With other grains in fairly good demand, improvement was reported here at the week-end in the demand for wheat.

The grain price committee of the Fort Worth grain and cotton exchange quoted the following prices:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: wheat No. 1 hard 79 3-4@83 1-4. Barley No. 2 nominally 52@53; No. 3 nominally 51@1.02; No. 3 milo nominally 98@1.00. No. 2 kafir nominally 90@92; No. 3 kafir nominally 88@90.

Delivered Texas common points or group three—corn No. 2 white 64 1-2@65; No. 2 yellow 61@61 1-2. Oats No. 2 red 39@40; No. 3 red 38@39.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO April 28. (AP)—Wheat swept swiftly upward 2 cents a bushel today on broad buying that accompanied widespread drought damage reports from the northwest and southwest as well.

Active speculative competition for limited offerings of wheat took place, and most of the maximum gain was held despite much realizing of profits and notwithstanding downturns of securities. Advices from sections of the Red river valley, North Dakota, said 40 to 50 per cent of spring wheat had been blown out of the ground, or else covered with dust to such a depth that re-seeding would be imperative.

Wheat closed strong 1 3-8 to 1 7-8 above yesterday's finish, corn 1-4 to 1 cent up, oats 1-4 to 3-8 advanced, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20 cents.

Bank Suspect

J. Cotton, the eyewitnesses, was arrested Friday afternoon by police and still was held last night. A Lubbock man, frequently arrested in liquor cases, was questioned yesterday afternoon by the district attorney's office and later released.

Sheriff Davis said he immediately notified Sheriff Jim Cook of Muleshoe about the call from Mead, who is wanted in Bailey county in connection with a car theft case. No report of Mead's arrest had been received here last night.

The First National bank of Levelland was robbed Wednesday of about $1,100 by four unmasked men, who escaped in a Ford V-8 automobile.

loopholes that deter the proper enforcement of the law.

"I am for changing the system of granting pardons and paroles in Texas," he said, "and I am for the adoption of the system followed by the federal government. Under this system, the poorest and hublest convict receives the same consideration as the richest and most powerful. Mercy is shown to the deserving, but no vicious criminal or gangster is ever turned loose on society. Clemency is granted solely on the merit of each case and never on account of political pull."

Turns To Taxation

Hughes then turned to taxation, about which he said there were complaints in Texas of unequal distribution. He said the cost of government must be reduced and that the ad valorem tax could be cut in half. He said he was against a general sales tax but favored a registration tax on notes, bonds and certificates of indebtedness.

"On account of the increasing income tax levied by the federal government, I am against a state income tax," he said. "I am against the issuance of any more state bonds for a period of at least four years."

Would Reduce Taxes

"I am for reducing automobile registration fees. The maximum registration fee for a pleasure car should not exceed five dollars.

"I am intensely interested in the public school system of Texas. In the 6,000 common school districts and the 1,100 independent districts in the state, we have 1,600,000 school children. Many of them receive schooling only five months of the year and are taught by teachers who receive less than $500 per annum. . . . Every child is entitled to at least seven months schooling a year and the full nine-month term, if possible. Our school teachers should receive a decent and livable wage."

Hughes said he approved of old age pensions and liberal appropriations for eleemosynary institutions. He said he believes in collective bargaining for labor, with the short working day and living wages.

Favors Submission

Regarding the liquor question, he said he was for submitting to the people the decision as to whether Texas shall be wet or dry.

"I am for an effective highway commission, and for dividing the state into four highway districts; one for North, South, East and West Texas, respectively," he declared.

Hughes pointed out that the government in Texas is more closely allied with the federal government than at any time in the history of the state and that the governor of Texas must work harmoniously with the president and vice president, if Texas is to share equally with other states in the "new deal."

the reserve board's original plan for the creation of 12 credit banks.

Take Part Of Risk

Under the Glass bill the loans would be made through banks or other credit agencies, with the latter taking 20 per cent of the hisk, except in extracrdinary circumstances when loans could be made direct.

The surplus of the federal reserve banks would be available for the loans. This is now $139,299,557, but it would be doubled by the treasury paying to the banks what they have paid out for stock in the federal Deposit Insurance corporation.

LAWTON, Okla., April 28. (AP)—Alice Stanis, 12, daughter of Capt. R. A. D. Stanis, U. S. A., was killed and Virginia Scot Dotsom, 10, was injured in an auto-truck collision here today. Capt. Stanis is in station at Fort Sill.

immense and ice-armored, through which the strongest fleet in the world could not blast its way.

Buildings put up lately are superimposed in a way upon the first underground village. Drifts have already mounted to the roofs of the new shacks. A man emerging from these catacombs sees gaunt out-lines of masts, antenna, skis, and roofs—in a blizzard he sees nothing at all above ground, except the rushing white gloom.

Within everything is snug and cosy. The men live in the old administration building, mess hall, and library. The new building fsom rthe heart of Little America.

Old Time Political Boss Dubbed As The "Brains" Of Kidnaping Gang

Facing Trial At St. Paul

John J. McLaughlin Protests Whirl Of Events Which Puts Him Behind Prison Bars In Lieu Of Bond

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—An old time political boss, John J. McLaughlin was dubbed by the government today as the "brains" of the $200,000 Bremer kidnaping plot and with his own accuser was put away for trial at St. Paul while federal agents hunted his treasure boxes for the Bremer ransom.

"I think they're dreaming," said the 66-year old prisoner, protesting the whirl of events that put him behind federal bars in $100,000 bond.

Believe Son Has Keys

"Ridiculous!" he explained when told that his son, Jack, 17, had been seized on the floor of the board of trade. Department of justice men said they were convinced McLaughlin and his accomplices still held most of the $200,000 collected from Edward Bremer after his abduction Jan. 17, and they believed the son had the keys to his safety deposit boxes.

Jack, an employe of a grain company, was held without charge, and federal operatives who took him in were reported to have discovered a sheaf of papers secreted in the lining of his hat.

Others In Custody

Two others, their identities closely guarded by federal agents, were taken into custody late today in the same case.

The man who sent the officers after McLaughlin was William E. Vidler, a gambler, in whose pockets agents found $2,665 of the $5 and $10 Bremer ransom bills. He, too, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Edwin K. Walker and put away under the prohibitive $100,000 bond for a removal hearing May 7, when witnesses from St. Paul must appear against both men. Two others, named as John Doe and Richard Roe in the warrant with McLaughlin, were hunted.

McLaughlin Is Brains

"We have information," said Prosecutor Leo J. Hassenauer, "that McLaughlin was the 'brains' of the kidnaping plot, even if he himself did not personally participate in the kidnaping. We believe that he may still have in his possession the unfound portion of the ransom."

The warrants specifically charged conspiracy to possess portions of the ransom, offenses in violation of the "Lindbergh" federal kidnaping act.

McLaughlin was already under $25,000 bond on federal indictment charging him with a part in the $250,000 Chicago mail robbery of Dec. 6, 1932, when Edward Bremer, the St. Paul banker, was snatched last Jan. 17 by kidnapers who nabbed him in his own car as he stopped for a traffic light. Bremer was a captive 23 days before the ransom was collected and the band turned him loose near Rochester, Minn.

Vidler, as he left for the jail, gave a vehement denial that he was aware of the money had was ransom.

Three Charged In Strike Kidnaping

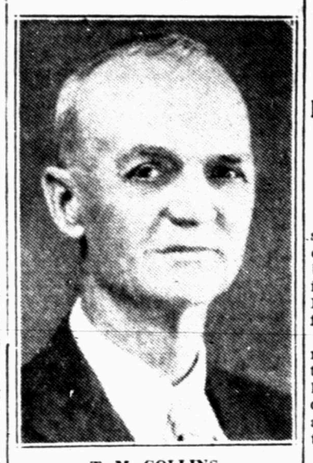

WICHITA, Kas., April 28. (AP)—Three men were charged with kidnaping here as an outgrowth of the strike of 125 union printers in the city's two newspaper plants.

The warrants were issued on complaint of Harold Dellaporte, a strike breaker who said four men seized him Monday night, took him "for a ride" and struck him on the head with a hammer. Those accused were Ivan G. Wilson, Harold Vandersliee and Burr W. Juvenal.

Both the Wichita Beacon and the Wichita Eagle provided lunches of sandwiches and coffee for workers they employed to take the strikers' places. Police guarded the entrances to both plants.

The printers walked out Saturday demanding a minimum wage of 82 cents an hour, the amount specified, they contend, in the graphic arts code.

T. M. Collins Has Statement

Lubbock Man Makes Formal Announcement Of His Candidacy For Commissioner Of Precinct 1

T. M. Collins of 911 Fourteenth street, who last week announced his candidacy for commissioner of Lubbock county, precinct 1, Saturday issued a statement on his candidacy. He has been a resident of Lubbock for the past nine years.

Mr. Collins has been dealing directly with the public for the last twenty-five years, and feels that he knows enough about the likes and dislikes of masses of people to attempt to give the majority what they want.

Mr. Collins made the following statement: "I am basing my entire campaign for commissioner, Lubbock county, precinct No. 1, on seven letters—namely, service. And if the people of precinct No. 1 see their way clear to elect me to this office, I assure them that I will put the duties of the office first, will devote all of the time necessary to the transacting of the commissioners duties, and will make any other business secondary. In other words, I will not have an assistant to perform these duties of the office, but will perform them myself. Also, I have been a straight Democrat all of my life, and have never voted against the party."

Mr. Collins also stated that he has sent his children through the Lubbock schools, that Lubbock was his home, and he intended to stay here, naturally having the interest of Lubbock and Lubbock county at heart. And that he would appreciate the vote and influence of the voters of Lubbock county, Precinct No. 1.

Armed Officers Guarding Woman

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 (AP)—Armed officers guarded the Delaware county hospital today against gangland's attempts to finish a job—the assassination of Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Fontaine.

"It's no use to save me," the young woman told police. "They'll get me anyway. They'd even come in here and do it."

The police believe she "knows too much" about silk truck hi-jacking operations.

She was not told about what police believed was the latest attempt on her life, however, and grew calm for the first time since she was found Thursday in the gang's hideout—left for dead.

A man wearing a purple shirt walked into the hospital yesterday, asking to "make an inspection." Officers guarding Mrs. Fontaine were warned, and the man fled.

Authorities said she disclosed the identities of two men and a woman who brought her to the upper Darby hide-out from Washington, naming associates of George Phillips, her gangster friend who was slain April 12 by Washington police.

Slayer Is Sane, Physician Avers

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 28. (AP)—Dr. D. W. Griffin, superintendent of the state hospital for the insane, said today that John A. Cane, confessed executioner of his family of four, is shamming insanity.

"He is, in our judgment, a malingerer," said Dr. Griffin, who with other members of the Norman hospital staff had been observing Cane's actions for a month.

Despite the report, Cane's attorney, J. L. Gowdy, said the question of his client's sanity was "by no means settled."

Cane was returned to the jail here Friday. His murder trial probably will be expedited, authorities said. Gowdy, however, will first seek a sanity hearing.

Mrs. Cane was a former resident of Wichita Falls, Tex.

Miss Earline Heath Will Return To Hollywood, Seek Future Film Career

Dancer Has Part In Four Musical Shows Of Year

BY MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

IT'S not how you look or what you can do that gets you a chance in the movies—it's who you know.

That, in the opinion of Miss Earline Heath, Lubbock's most recent bid for recognition in the mecca of make-believe, is the secret of crashing the gilded gates of Hollywood.

Miss Heath, 19, pretty, and—in the parlance of the college boys—"stacked-up," is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Heath, after nine months of free lance work in some of the larger motion picture companies.

In Musical Shows

Among recent pictures in which Miss Heath has appeared as a dancer are "Stand Up and Cheer", "Murder at the Vanities", "George White's Scandals" and "Sitting Pretty". And, paradoxically enough in view of her statement about "who you know", she had no pull. She got her chance by a "break".

As she tells it:

"My only experience in dramatic work when I arrived in Hollywood last summer was six months with a stock company in Denver, Colo. Tiring of stenographic work I had studied dancing in Dallas, appearing at night clubs and theaters, before going to Colorado to live with an aunt.

"I had only a faint notion of getting in the movies because I had been warned of the difficulty. Shortly after I arrived I learned of a city-wide bathing beauty contest and entered, although I had never been in a beauty contest in my life. To my surprise, I won first place, being named "Miss Ocean Park." Shortly afterwards I was entered in a state contest, receiving second place. Producers are always going face-hunting and at the second contest a director from Paramount studio took my name and address. In two weeks I received a call from the studio and, passing the screen test, was in dancing scenes in "Sitting Pretty", starring Ginger Rogers and Jack Oakie."

Once you play a part, obtaining others is not so difficult because your name and address and qualifications are on file, Miss Heath said. She saw many recruits re-

They Come Into The Spotlight Through Health Week

The first week in May is observed nationally as Child Health week. In many cities regular examinations are given, making "prevention" the byword of the week. The secret of sound and robust health begins in the cradle. It is only "by making each little body strong, by means of an educational campaign to run persistently on through the years" that the rising generation can be emancipated from illness and disease.

Baby's Health Is Most Vital

Mrs. Olive Roberts Barton In Writing On National Child Health Week Stresses Need Of Prevention As Byword

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

ALL over the land on the first of May there will be held special meetings of groups interested in the promotion of child health, because fortunately we do not indorse the theory of the survival of the fittest, allowing the weak to die so that the stronger thread may be transmitted to posterity—but rather that all be made fit.

As Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur expressed it well at the White House Conference in 1930, "We cannot stop for a moment to argue with those who would dodge the responsibility of care for established human life," he said. "It is the supreme gift to us humans and we must preserve it at all times. The wretched frame of a little body may have in it the brain and spirit of a Caesar, a Cicero, a Keats, a Washington, a Steinnetz, a Shelley, or a Stevenson. It is not for us to foretell the potentialities of a baby."

For The Future

This is true. We are trying to canonize health, but not by elimination. We are trying to build a race for the future, and a heritage of good bodies, but not through the death of the unfit. By making each little body strong, by means of an educational campaign to run persistently on through the

First Lady Revels On Scenery Of Historic Alexandria

IF you come to Washington, be sure and bring an automobile if you have one, preferably a small car with the top down so that you can enjoy the scenery to the fullest, and then allow yourself some days in which to journey whither you will.

A two or three day trip will take you to many historically interesting places. I am going to tell you about a few. Perhaps these articles will add to your pleasure or make you begin to plan a visit in the future.

MRS. F.D. ROOSEVELT

The country around the capital city is, of course, much associated with the Father of Our Country. If you take what is known as the New Memorial Drive along the Potomac, you will, in about twenty minutes find yourself in historic Alexandria. George Washington was closely identified with this old city which is, of course, far older than the capital. Here you still see many charming old houses, some of them restored. Old things which were once there have been brought back, and much of the flavor of the life of colonial days is brought home to us if we spend a few hours touring the old streets. First on your right as you come down Main Street you will see an old churchyard, and by circling the block you will come to the entrance to the church where the buses to or from Mount Vernon stop. This old church is the one in which Washington worshipped, and later Robert E. Lee was an attendant at its services. Historic Christ Church has some of the old-fashioned square pews and some of the original woodwork and in the churchyard outside are many interesting grave stones.

Leaving the church you turn to the right at the corner and go down toward the water to the Carlyle House. This has been restored and fitted with furnishings of the original period. Braddock used this house as his headquarters during the French and Indian War and from that time on many important historical meetings were held in its rooms. In Washington's time he and his associates frequently met there.

Gadsby's Tavern was another meeting place of the time. Up to 1794 it was known as the City Tavern. It has just recently been restored and furnished with a very remarkable collection of colonial furniture that was brought from near Charlottesville, Virginia. This was a very popular meeting place for the elite of the day; Washingtons, Lees, Fairfaxes, Masons, Randolphs and others gathered here.

We must remember that the taverns of those days were frequently the scenes of very important political meetings, for these men lived many miles apart and at certain seasons the roads were very bad, so on their journeys on horseback, or in coaches or gigs, they would put up at these taverns for the night and friends from miles around would drive in for a meeting. I cannot think of any of our well known restaurants of today which will compete in future history with some of the old taverns of colonial and revolutionary days. I know of a few which have been the resorts of interesting and artistic people and which keep a certain atmosphere even in these days when the idea of using a hotel dining room or restaurant for any serious meeting would seem to be out of the question. You must also remember that tavern keepers in the olden days were personages, and frequently leaders of thought because they saw so many of the important people and knew so much more than their neighbors. They acted truly as hosts, and

From The Woman's Angle

BY MARGARET TURNER
Avalanche-Journal Woman's Editor

JOYS of Maytime in former days included a Maypole dance and the hanging of baskets of flowers on neighborhood doors. The child who has not hung a bunch of flowers on the front door of the house across the lawn and ran away before being discovered has missed a lot of the joys of spring.

We don't know why this has never been customary in this section. Perhaps because there are not many flowers blooming on some years but this spring there are roses and tulips and a number of perennials in bloom. A bough of black locust blooms is fragrant. The first of May is the time for the surprise visit and if you are crabby you may expect to find a cabbage head.

WE CAN ONLY SHRIEK

THIS is a mild cry of protest against the high pitch of the official state and national songs of our beloved country. If you can reach F you aren't interested but if you can't, which is more likely, perhaps you'll join us in our protest.

At various times within the last few months I have attended conventions for club and church women, men's luncheon club meetings and student convocations where these songs were on the program for audience singing. On each occasion the songs were woefully botched before they were ended.

Club women in Texas have been asked to memorize the state song, "Texas, Our Texas", and sing it at club meetings. Many of them simply cannot reach those high notes. There is no use to go into the matter of the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner." Who has not heard it murdered time and again? The college hymn at Texas Tech college is in such a high key that many students hum it after a few notes or simply stand silent when it is played.

This is not meant in criticism of the song writers but is merely a suggestion that the songs be transposed in lower keys or written so that they may be sung by the majority as intended by those who adopted them for public use.

THEY LIFT THE BAN

WHEN Katharine Cornell and company present Rudolph Besier's "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" and George Barnard Shaw's "Candida" in Richmond, Va., Monday and Tuesday it will break the nearly three-year dramafast writes Fairfax Nisbet, dramatic critic of the Dallas Journal. When the city leased the Acca Mosque in Richmond for civic purposes there was written into the by-laws a clause which forbade the showing of motion pictures, vaudeville and drama, though by a curious inadvertency opera, musical companies, revues and burlesques were allowed to appear.

It was due to the interest of insistent Richmond citizens that the ban was lifted to permit Miss Cornell to bring spoken drama back to the city. A record-breaking deluge of orders for tickets has followed front-page announcement that the plays are to be staged.

A NATION'S TRIBUTE

A reproduction of Whistler's famous "Portrait of My Mother" is on a new stamp commemorating Mothers Day, which is to go on sale in Lubbock after May 1. The stamp is about the size of a special delivery stamp and is the same color of a three-cent stamp, John R. Green, superintendent of mails, says. In Gothic type on the stamp are the words "In Memory and In Honor Of the Mothers of America."

Someone wrote a poem once about the hardest battle that ever was fought being fought by the mothers of men. It seems to us to be particularly fitting that a stamp should pay tribute to those silent fighters.

Baby's Health

years the work will be done.

Health for children consists of prevention and cure.

It is no longer thought that when a child has some high-powered germ disease, he gets over it when his convalescence is ended. Do not be alarmed—in most cases he does. But many vague and elusive troubles in adolescence and middle life are fast being pinned down to earlier illness, and the time is approaching when tests will be made to prove that a child carries no "Old Man of the Sea" with him, or in him, to devil his later years, even after he is pronounced well.

There is much sympathy for the sick child and it is a grand and glorious thing there is, because where there is sympathy there is help.

Someday we shall have, I hope, and soon, regular examining stations where all children will have to go at least once a year for a thorough check-up; and if they are carrying in their blood streams or intestine any trace of "uncured illness" it will be traced down and eliminated from their bodies entirely.

So far this line of experimenting has not reached perfection, but the time is coming. Then shall we really be emancipated.

Young Actress

jected during her residence in Hollywood.

"Producers who select girls for the dancing scenes gather a large number of girls for the first thinning out process," Miss Heath said.

Many Are Rejected

"The girls wear bathing suits so that their legs may be seen. The producer goes down the line, asking one to step forward and rejecting a half dozen others. Those retained are the ones who 'register'. Perhaps others are prettier and possess better figures, but somehow they don't get across, and no one stops to find the reason."

Miss Heath said the mecca for stars on Friday nights is the Hollywood stadium, where they go to see prize fights and each other. Shortly after the beauty contests she was invited as an honor guest and was introduced. She sat in a box with Mae West, whom she described as "a lovely person and not at all as her pictures portray her," Cary Grant and Virginia Cherrill.

Resembles Miss Colbert

Miss Heath is well porportioned. Much dancing has made her firm and she does not appear to weigh the 125 pounds that she claims. She looks like recent pictures of Claudette Colbert. Her light brown hair is worn in a short, curled bob with bangs. Her eyes are hazel and her even teeth show very white when her brilliantly rouged lips part in a quick smile. Her complexion is without blemish.

The nails of her well-shaped hands are lacquered with scarlet. Her favorite costume is white flannel slacks and a white sweater, embroidered with an anchor, and white beach sandals. That apparel is widely worn in Hollywood she said. She is friendly and natural and has a keen sense of humor. She will be twenty in May.

The visitor laughed at recalling a recent news reel that showed chorus girls supervised in their eating, exercising and sleeping. That is not true she said. "They do not care what you eat or how much sleep you get; it's up to you, and if you can't fill the bill there are always others to take your place."

Not What They Seem

Hours at the studio are long and tiresome, Miss Heath said. "Scenes that follow one another in rapid succession on the screen are sometimes hours apart in being "shot". It takes three and four hours to get ready for one scene and sometimes 10 or 12 hours will elapse before the girls are called again. Some of the dances are rehearsed for a week. In "Sitting Pretty" the girls worked for a month before the fan dance suited the producer.

George White selected Miss Heath to be in his "Scandals". About 3,00 girls aspired for places, she said.

Miss Heath had an "atmosphere" part in Fox's new musical extravaganza, "Stand Up and Cheer." Earl Carroll selected her for a part in Paramount's production of the current New York hit, "Murder at the Vanities." She had a small part and closeups in the MGM picture, "Per House", and the Paramount picture "She Made Her Bed."

Returns In June

When she returns to California in June, Miss Heath will be accompanied by her mother and her father, Jarrell, a senior at Lubbock High school. She plans to do dramatic work in a community playhouse, possibly the one managed by Mrs. Lela Rogers, mother of Ginger Rogers. Stage experience is almost imperative if one gets to act in the movies, Miss Heath said, indicating that her dancing days are over by choice.

Film stars are not as glamorous to those who work with them on the lots as they are to an adoring public, Miss Heath said, "When I began working I was thrilled because I knew I would see the stars, but the glamour soon faded."

Miss Heath said actors were either "good sports" or "lousy". At cocktail parties they talk shop, meet newcomers and drink, she said. At such parties Miss Heath met Jean Harlow, Bing Crosby, John Boles and Clark Gable. One day she ate lunch at the home of Will Rogers.

though you paid for your entertainment there was much pleasure you did not pay for which was provided by the cordiality and conviviality of the hosts. If you are a Free Mason you will certainly not want to miss the Masonic Lodge in Alexandria. George Washington was its first Master and there you will find many interesting relics.

I assure you, your time in Alexandria will have been well spent.

British Author Finds American Minds Stimulating

Phyllis Bentley Has Gone Home After Extensive Tour

BY MARY MARGARET McBRIDE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, April 28. —The American cosmetic urge varies astonishingly from Coast to Coast, declared Phyllis Bentley, British author, returning from a lecture tour that took her hurtling over 7,000 miles of the United States.

"In Boston, I noticed scarcely anybody wearing make-up," Miss Bentley, whose latest best-seller is "A Modern Tragedy," related with the enthusiasm of the explorer.

"In New York I had observed that nearly everybody wore a little rouge and lipstick, and as one progressed toward the Middle West, the display on females from nine to 90 became ever richer and more vivid, coming to a climax, I should say, somewhere in Nebraska where school girls use so much that if they were in English schools, they might be sent to wash their faces before being admitted to the class room."

FINDS OUR MINDS AND CLIMATE ELECTRIC

That was only one of the observations made by the gently astute Miss Bentley who crossed the ocean to see for herself what this much-discussed America was all about and spent four months looking us over. She was slightly at a loss to explain some of the things she found and will now go back to her native Yorkshire to sort out and meditate upon her impressions. However, she will positively not write a book about them, she promises!

One fact at least she is sure of right now—that everything here is electric, from minds to air.

"Why, I could hardly get undressed in the cold months—my clothes clung and tingled so," she confided. "It's very bracing, though, that climate. In Yorkshire, I always have colds in winter but I've never had one here—not even when I fell into six feet of icy water in my publisher's Connecticut pond!

"American minds are electric, too, taking on new ideas much more quickly than English ones. Though perhaps," she added thoughtfully, "that isn't so odd since for three hundred years you have been breeding for the enterprising type of human in much the same way that a g r a y-hound fancier breeds his beasts for speed.

SPEAKING OUR MIND A "DELIGHTFUL HABIT"

"One result of this process is shown in your delightful habit of speaking your mind on all occasions. It figures, also, I suppose, in your many divorces and in the way your young people get engaged three or four times before they settle down to marriage.

"I like your phrase, 'the sky's the limit.' It expresses you. Literally you have no limits, no inhibitions. When you want to do a thing, you do it. You have five pleasures to our one, and I never get over my amazement at the offhandness with which you will drive sixty or seventy miles just to spend a few hours dining and dancing in a new place.

"If I were to pick a typical Americanism, though, I think it would be 'Let's go!' That so completely reveals your restless, move-on spirit. Another phrase that seems to be always in the air is 'You can't do (or say) that to me!' You young Americans can't bear to be thwarted. We older English have grown used to it!"

HER IMPRESSIONS EAST AND WEST

Miss Bentley picked California's climate, Boston's social atmosphere, the kindliness of Middle Westerners and the way none of us seems to worry (oh, don't we, Miss Bentley?) as items she grew fondest of in her journeyings. She was also pleased to find Chicago in the thick of a blizzard the day she got there.

"It seemed so natural, since in all motion pictures we see in England, Chicago is invariably undergoing a driving snowstorm," she explained.

Four months is almost enough at any one time of the so-stimulating American air, complexion and energy, Miss Bentley thinks. She is glad to be going back to the peace of her Yorkshire moors and hills. For her writing, she requires quiet and does her best work facing a blank wall. As soon as she can finish a new novel, however (the scene of which will be Yorkshire as usual), she is coming back. For cosmetics and all, we fascinate her!

Perilous Perch

Lookout Is Six Feet From Pit

MINERAL, Cal., April 28 (AP) —Being a hermit is a passion as well as a profession with John Gransbury, lookout fire observer on Brokeoff mountain in Lassen National Park.

During the summer months he lives in a cabin six feet from the rim of a 1,200-ft. deep extinct volcanic crater and surveys the surrounding landscape for fires.

When the summer task is finished he moves to a little closed up resort known as Viola, to become caretaker, and is snowed in all winter.

When the wind blows, sometimes at a terrific rate, there is always the possibility of the little single-room cabin's being blown off into space.

Gransberry has held down the lookout job since 1924. He has hundreds of thousands of acres of valuable timber land, dotted with farms, ranches and small towns, under his surveillance.

TO REMOVE SPOTS

To remove oil or grease spots, cover with powdered chalk, let the chalk remain for an hour or so, then brush off. For candle grease—scrape off with a blunt instrument. Place a piece of blotting paper or soft brown paper over the spot and iron gently with a warm iron, moving the paper so as to carry off the grease. Do not have the iron very hot. And do not use much pressure or the grease will sink down instead of coming out.

For Treasurer

Rex Waller, above, of Trinity county, has announced his candidacy for the office of state treasurer, subject to the action of the voters in the Democratic primaries this summer. He was assistant state tax commissioner during the administration of Gov. Pat Neff and also served as assistant comptroller of Houston and comptroller of Weslaco. He served more recently as city manager of the tri-cities, Goose Creek, Pelly and Baytown.

"Rollator Refrigeration A FAMILY DELIGHT THAT COSTS DAD nothing"

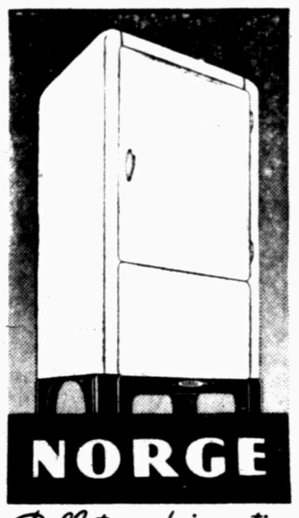

...and this NORGE Rollator, after running constantly for the equivalent of 29 YEARS in your home is still a fine cold-making mechanism...

Hour after hour, day after day, week in and week out, this Norge Rollator Cold-making Mechanism carries on in a special testing room at the Norge factory. It has rested but once a year since 1926. On that one day each year, the "Marathon" Rollator is stopped, taken apart, examined, reassembled, started again. And to date it has shown no sign of wear. There is actually a slight increase in efficiency, and it costs less to operate than when it started its long run.

This regular stock Rollator has run for the equivalent of twenty-nine years in your home.

Think of it! Think of buying a refrigerator today that would be faithfully continuing its work of chilling food and freezing ice in 1963!

And even that isn't all. The Rollator Cold-making Mechanism in the Norge you buy today is actually improved over the one which has been undergoing this rigid test since 1926!

Let Norge save for you—and surprise Dad with the difference in the bills. To be convinced, just see the Norge before you buy.

THE ROLLATOR—There is a vital exclusive advantage in Rollator Refrigeration. A roller rolls and there's ice. That's all there is to the simple operation of the exclusive Norge Rollator cooling mechanism.

South Plains Farmers Start Planting 1934 Crop; Await Cotton Plans

One-Fourth Of Crops Planted In Many Areas

Farmers Signed In Reduction Of Cotton Acreage Awaiting Figures; Feed Crops Are Being Planted First

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

PLANTING of crops for 1934 harvest has been started in Lubbock and the 17th other counties of the South Plains and the first of May will see the work well underway. This in spite of the fact that many farmers who have signed cotton reduction contracts have not begun planting of that crop.

Reports from various sections indicate from 10 to 25 per cent of the total crop acreage had been planted up to late April. The southern sector has the larger acreage planted.

Awaiting Allotment Figures

Most farmers, P. T. Montfort, county agent, explained, have not started planting cotton, because of the probable reduction in acreages to be leased to the secretary of agriculture. While the total amount covered by the contracts was slightly over 84,000 acres to be withdrawn, present indications are the acreage will exceed 79,500.

Feed crops are being planted first. The general plan is to plant half of the expected acreage for feed, then plant all the cotton and return and finish the feed acreage. This enables farmers to have two chances to make a feed crop, having an early crop and a late crop. If moisture is not sufficient for both plantings to "make", it is probable one or the other will make a crop.

Sudan Acreage Larger

Sudan has been planted, probably in larger acreages this year than before. Much of that planted has come up to a fair stand. Moisture is needed to bring it along further and also more warm weather.

Many farmers who are leasing cotton acreages to the government are at a loss as to what to plant in place of that crop. Under their lease they are limited to feed crops not to be marketed either as grain or through livestock. Those who do not have sufficient feed acreage on their farm to supply their needs, may harvest the crop of feed. But, if the balance of acreage on the farm aside from cotton is sufficient to meet normal needs of livestock, the leased land cannot be planted to feed.

Urge Soil Building

Planting of soil building crops, to be plowed under before harvest and thus supply humus to the soil, is being urged by government authorities and county agents. Cotton is the most destructive crop to soil, taking more out of the soil than it puts back.

Agricultural leaders, including Dean A. H. Leidigh and others of Texas Tech faculty, Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station here and R. E. Dickson at Spur, and others have urged for years a rebuilding of cotton soil through addition of humus and by crop rotation. This year cowpeas, soybeans and other crops are being planted.

Dawson Fourth Through

Dawson county, Joe Williams, county agent, reports, has finished about 25 per cent of its planting work. Farmers are saving out 60,000 acres from the cotton acreage.

Planting is just starting in Lamb county and also Bailey. The work has had a good start in Terry, Gaines, Lynn, Crosby and Garza counties.

County Agent P. T. Montfort estimates 15 per cent of the Lubbock county planting job has been completed. This week will see more activity.

Reports indicate some sections of the territory do not have quite enough moisture to bring up the crops, owing to drying winds of the past several weeks, or not enough moisture having fallen. Soil is reported in first class condition, in spite of the lack of sub-soil moisture.

Thirteen 4-H Clubs For Boys Start Work In Lubbock County

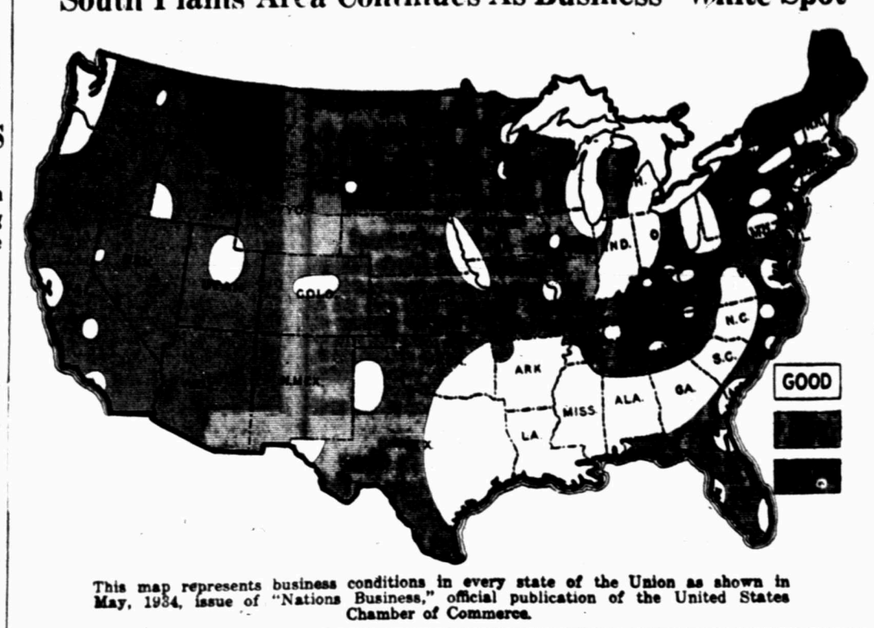

Thirteen 4-H clubs for boys have been started in the county this year, according to R. N. McClain, assistant county agent and club leader.

Several more will probably be formed within a few weeks. Members will select their projects for the year's work. Clubs are generally formed in a school district and meetings are held at the school houses.

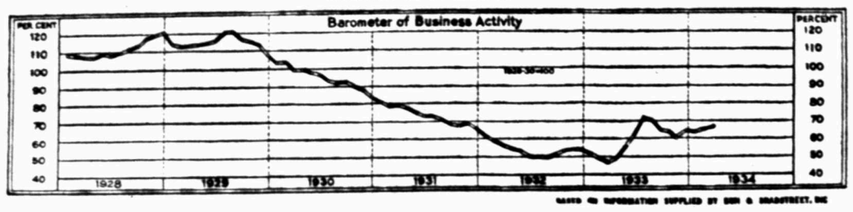

Following are the clubs now formed: Acuff, Becton, Canyon, County line, Foster, Grovesville, Hardy, Idalou, Liberty, Monroe, McClung, Shallowater, Union.

When its police department came into being more than 100 years ago, London was the most criminal place in the world; there was, on an estimate, one criminal for every 22 of the population in 1828.

South Plains Area Continues As Business "White Spot"

This map represents business conditions in every state of the Union as shown in May, 1934, issue of "Nations Business," official publication of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Better feeling in livestock markets helps the Great Plains area. Drouth may give spring wheat a poor start in the old Northwest. Wage advances widen some white industrial areas. High tobacco prices are still a spur to trade in the eastern South.

BUSINESS buoyancy was pronounced in the first two weeks of March; retrogression appeared in the third; then there was a great surge forward. Talk of a strike in the automobile industry was mainly responsible for the let down. With the strike threat averted and wage advances announced in that trade, in steel manufacturing and in soft coal mining, higher prices for autos and finished steel followed.

The feature of the month was the outburst of retail trade based on the early Easter. The month's operations shone by comparison with a year ago. Such percentages of gain have not been witnessed since the war.

Farm prices were 50 per cent, and farm buying power 25 per cent, ahead of last year. Mail order trade gained 50 to perhaps 75 per cent, over March, 1933. Department store sales in some cities were estimated as 35 per cent above last year and gains of 10 to 30 per cent in chain store sales were predicted.

Stock sales sagged off as did the price averages. Bonds shows a slight gain but dealings were restricted.

Lamb Farmers Told They Must Reduce Acreage 43,000 Acres

LITTLEFIELD, Apr. 28 (Special) Lamb county farmers must reduce their cotton acreage 43,000 acres before they can benefit from the 1934-35 acreage reduction program, D. A. Adams, county agent, told a group of between 400 and 500 farmers in a meeting here.

Acreage of 191,000 for a five-year basis was claimed by farmers in 1,822 contracts signed by farmers. The state board of cotton review set the five-year basis at 148,000 acres. At the same time the contracts estimated 37,000,000 pounds of lint under the contracts while the board placed its allowable at 25,000,000 pounds, a reduction of 12,000,000 pounds.

The lint yield per acre, Mr. Adam said, was 213 pounds per acre.

Period For Application Of Emergency Crop Loans Extended Through May 15

DALLAS, April 28. (Special) — The period during which applications for emergency crop loans may be accepted has been extended through May 15, according to announcement by Charles W. Sherrill, regional manager of the Southwestern Emergency Crop Loan office of Dallas, serving the state of Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona. Emergency crop loans are available to farmers for crop production purposes who cannot obtain such a loan elsewhere. The maximum amount available to any one farmer is $250 and the minimum is $10, according to the regulations. Cooperation with the Agricultural adjustment Administration and the Production Credit Association is given by all borrowers receiving aid from the Emergency Crop Loan Office.

Applications received through April 26 were 32,000. Last year the Dallas office complete 65,000 loans to farmers in the three states. The average loan for 1934 amounts to $73. A higher average was reported last year. The collections reported by The Dallas office of 1933 loans amounts to more than 85 per cent of a total of more than $5,050,040.50 loaned.

Made On Sound Basis

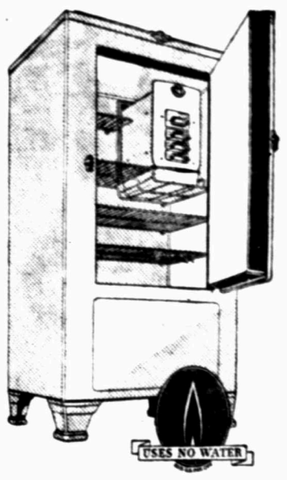

With a smaller number of loans closed and a lower average amount applied for in the applications received to date, there is evidence that emergency crop loans are being made on a sounder basis and that farm conditions are improving in the region served by the Dallas office, Mr. Sherrill pointed out.

"The Dallas regional office has enabled thousands of borrowers without resources sufficient to obtain credit elsewhere to become bank customers. No loan is denied a worthy farmer who needs financial aid and cannot get it from any other source for lack of adequate security."

"The Dallas Emergency Crop Loan office holds the record for economical operation and has been commended for its sympathetic understanding of agricultural administration of emergency crop loans."

World Recovery Program Is Mapped At Rome Agricultural Conference

American Plan Is Adopted By Farm Institute

Institute Would Study World Agricultural Conditions And Work With Economic Section Of League

By ANDRUE BERDING

ROME, April 28. (AP)—Worldwide planning which would enable nations to determine the future that best suited to them economically, the new work decided upon by the International Institute of Agriculture here.

The American delegate, Dr. Henry Charles Taylor, of Des Moines, Ia., officially credited with having made the suggestions on which the survey will be based.

The institute will study world agricultural conditions and work with the economic section of the League Nations in surveying world industrial conditions so as to suggest the changes in the economic structures of different nations necessary to bring commercial revival.

Price Spreads Found

Realizing that government action, for better or for worse, has come to occupy a dominant position in international trade, the institute will publish monthly the principal decisions taken by governments on prices, tariffs, bounties and monopolies relating to agriculture.

It also will publish an annual resume of governmental changes in commercial policy.

The institute intends, moreover, to publish prices at which farm products sell in different countries. This will reveal it was said, an amazing and uneconomical diversity.

It would show, for instance, that in December, 1933, the wholesale price of butter was $15.75 a hundred-weight in London, $46 in Berlin and Belgium, and $57.75 in Paris. It would disclose that the wholesale price of wheat in Italy and Germany at that time was three times the world parity, and that in France it was 3.5 times.

Buying Power Sought

Dr. Taylor and other delegates said that this is an uneconomic condition, and that countries which cannot produce certain products at lower prices than indicated by these enormous differences should cease trying to do so, import them from the countries that produce them cheaply, and endeavor to produce more products that can be made or grown economically.

The result would be, it was said, a higher standard of living because people would be able to buy more articles more cheaply. An increased rhythm of commercial exchange also was predicted.

The institute does not intend to go into political aspects, such as the desire of some countries to make themselves self-sufficient agriculturally in anticipation of war.

It will go so far, however, as to suggest treaties whereby two or more nations will agree to discourage high-cost production in certain cases, in exchange for arrangements by other nations to purchase the products which they make cheaply.

Taylor Outlines Plan

The International Institute of Agriculture based its decision on the following suggestion which originated with Dr. Taylor:

"Today, instead of leaving farmers free to plan their farming, governments are telling them what and how much to produce.

"Furthermore, international commerce is no longer free but hindered at every frontier by obstacles incomparably greater than those of 30 years ago and the commerce that does exist is based upon quotas.

Sees Counterfoil System

"Under these conditions the statistics of production and distribution which are being disseminated, provide only a part of the material needed in international planning.

"Careful studies should be made of the conditions of production in each country of each world staple, with a view to determining the comparative advantage of producing specific agricultural products in specific parts of the world.

"Properly formulated documentations would give the basis for treaties providing for quotas which would result in the production of more of a given product in the regions where the advantages are greater, there always being a counterpart of the one crop in one country in some other crop or industrial product in another country."

Indian Says He Has Pipe Used In Washington's Peace Treaty

HOLDENVILLE, Okla., April 28.—(AP)—An Indian tomahawk, fashioned into a peace pipe and supposedly used at the signing of a peace treaty between George Washington and the Indians in 1777 is owned by Wade Killcrease, 77-year-old Indian who lives in a log cabin near Sasakwa.

Through an interpreter, the aged Indian said he believed the tomahawk-pipe, handed down to him through 23 generations, was the last symbol of the treaty between the Colonists and red men. The council was held near the city of Washington and a monument now commemorates the scene.

County Club Boys Expected To Continue Feeding Work

As many 4-H club boys in Lubbock county are expected to feed calves for the fifth annual Lubbock Quality Meat show next March as fed for the fourth show this year, according to R. N. McClain, assistant county agent and club leader.

"I have written to all of the boys who fed last year, and others I thought were interested, asking them if they plan to feed again," he said. "We probably will begin feeding about the last of May.

"There should be as many boys feeding this year as last. I have made several trips to look at calves and have secured some."

Last year the Lubbock Kiwanis club financed a large number of boys who fed calves. While it has not been announced, it is believed the club will continue its work this year.

Medicine stains on silver should be rubbed with methylated spirit. Afterwards, wash in warm, soapy water.

"Methodist Oak" Felled; Was Used As Asbury's Pulpit In '83

MARION, S. C., April 28. —(AP)—Marion's famous "Methodist Oak," under which Bishop Francis Asbury held religious services while visiting America in 1783, stands no longer.

Rot had reduced it to a shell and workmen felled it the other day.

Historians say the tree had reached full growth when the bishop stopped here on his tour to spread the doctrine of Methodism.

Pioneer settlers flocked in great numbers to hear him. There was not a house in the settlement big enough to hold them, so Asbury chose a pulpit under the oak.

FARM INCOME UP

FARGO, N. D. (AP)—Despite a 20 per cent drop in production, North Dakota farmers expect to realize $15,000,000 more for their crop for the season July 1, 1933, to July 1, 1934, says Dr. H. H. Walster, director of the North Dakota Agricultural college extension service. He says part of the additional revenue will accrue from wheat benefit payments.

Credit Where It Is Due

DR. Robert A. Millikan, the great scientist, is quoted in this week's "Time Magazine" as saying of gas station attendants, "they have improved the manners and the courtesy and the consideration of the American public more than all the colleges in the country."

Where Doctor Millikan made the statement we cannot say. But he might well have added, at the same time, the hard-working waitresses, restaurant cashiers and others to the list.

It is well known in Lubbock, where we make quite an effort to impress visitors well, that the man at the gasoline pump, the waitress at his hotel or cafe, the barber who gives him his morning shave and the cashier, where he buys his cigarets and pays for his meal, can make or break the city's name.

Happily, in Lubbock at least, they have been making the city's reputation for hospitality as well as for progress. Happily, too, they have been making its name known for courtesy which, as everyone knows, is more uncommon than common.

Doctor Millikan, in different words, has reiterated the old saying that those who meet the public, no matter in what capacity, can do more for or against a community than all the tycoons, hidden away in walnut offices, can ever do.

To the learned scientist, The Avalanche-Journal's congratulations for noting the fact and for spreading it.

To those in Lubbock who have done and are doing such a splendid job of 'selling the city to visitors', more power to your elbow!

TELLING TOKYO

Russia doesn't find it hard to find an answer to Japan's protest against the Soviet's action in introducing the European system of "armored borders" in the Far East. The Japanese position was given in an interview by Japan's foreign minister, Koki Hirota, who deplored the fortifying of the Siberian border.

The obvious retort was given by Pravda, reflecting, no doubt, the official view.

"Certainly," commented the Moscow paper, "we know that undefended borders are more comfortable for those intending to cross them, but the U. S. S. R. does not propose to leave its far eastern borders undefended or give this satisfaction to Mr. Hirota or those inspiring him."

It might have reminded the Japanese official, with equal force, of what happened to China with its defenseless borders.

SAVED FROM SCRAP PILE

That a more noble end than the scrap heap awaits the navy dirigible, Los Angeles will be good news to Americans generally. Even an inanimate thing such as an airship that has given good service seems to deserve a better fate, at the end of its active service, than to be broken up and disposed of as junk.

The Los Angeles is the first American-owned Zeppelin. It was obtained from Germany as part settlement of the United States' reparations claims, and was delivered to this country in October of 1924. It has been of valuable service to the American navy as a training ship for dirigible crews and as a source of study for American dirigible builders.

The old airship—old at 10 years—was condemned several months ago by the navy department as being no longer airworthy. The usual fate of condemned naval craft is the junk pile. Pressure was brought to bear upon the department, however, to find a more fitting end for the Los Angeles. Experts went to work and evolved a plan whereby she would continue to render valuable service, although not in the air.

It was proposed that a number of tests be made on her designed to promote the development of better lighter-than-air craft. The suggestions were accepted by the department, and plans now are being made for the tests.

"If the ship is evenutally destroyed in the carrying out of these tests," say naval authorities, "she has at least served a noble purpose in the betterment of lighter-than-air craft in her old age."

THE PRACTICAL VALUE OF WORSHIP

"Forgive us our debts as we forgive." Mathew 6:12.

In worship we are striving to bring our thinking and our acting in line with the will of God. Thus worship, whether it be personal or group, has practical value because it is related to the life we are now living.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

THE other day a little note appeared in the papers to the effect that President Roosevelt was studying blueprints for an enlargement of the White House Executive offices. The volume of executive business, it was explained, had begun to bulge the office walls of the staff's present quarters.

Now, for just one reason, it will be amusing to stand by and note whether the contemplated additions are made—

In the past few weeks the President's mail has slumped decidedly.

Steady increases have been made to White House personnel ever since Inauguration day. Latterly the clerks have been so crowded that extra space in the State department had to be taken over.

A record-breaking deluge of "fan" letters made necessary the additional help. Mail from well-wishers, job-hunters and panacea brewers literally swamped the regular staff. Every time the President went on the radio receipt of letters and telegrams swelled to a new all-time high. Thousands have come in daily and the weekly average is far above that of any previous administration.

But it would seem the folks have started saving their three-cent stamps. The White House isn't advertising the fact but the mail has fallen way off. Where a clerk once picked up a batch of a hundred letters to classify he now finds a mere handful before him.

Does this indicate that the President's tremendous personal popularity is waning? Or are the people as a whole satisfied with the way things progress? Have they ceased writing in their approbation only because they are better acquainted with the New Deal?

Some of the Democratic party's keenest political students would like to know the answer.

In passing, however, here are the observations of an American correspondent just returned from a long siege in Europe. This man reached Washington a few days ago after a swing clear around the country. He's firmly convinced that the man on the street is every bit as strong for Mr. Roosevelt as he was a year ago.

PRIMARIES: Much ado is being made at present about what may or may not happen to congressmen this fall who voted against veterans' legislation.

So far there's been only one test. An analysis of that—the Illinois primaries would indicate nobody's being slapped down either way.

Eighteen Democrats and seven Republicans sought to retain their seats. Frank Reid, Republican, elected not to run again and one seat was vacant.

All won renomination except Representative-at-Large Martin Brennan, Democrat, and Rep. James Simpson, jr., Republican.

Brennan voted to sustain President Roosevelt's veto of the supply bill which restored veterans' payments. But this hardly entered into his defeat. He was beaten by Mike Igoe, Democratic boss of the state, who apparently decided he wanted a fling at Washington life himself.

Simpson, who failed to vote at all on the veterans' issue, lost a close decision to Ralph Church after Secretary of Interior Ickes had attacked him publicly as a silver-spoon play boy.

A complete count of the Illinois delegation's veto vote follows: 14 to override; 4 to sustain; 8 not voting.

Speaker Rainey, one of the four, didn't have to vote because of his position. He chose to record himself on the President's side. He was renominated by the biggest primary majority he ever received.

Leo Kocialkowski and Adolph J. Sabath were the other two Democrats who voted against the veterans but managed to retain the esteem of their constituencies.

GENDER: Madame Secretary of Labor Perkins, even at a slight treasury outlay, had better get new forms for her department.

When a Labor Department clerk applies for leave he must fill out a form which begins:

"The Secretary of Labor, Dear sir:"

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE railroads have sold the government a bill of goods. They have successfully registered the idea that you can't crowbar higher wages from the industry without prying it over the cliff of financial disruption. Railroad Coordinator Eastman helped with the sales talk more than appeared on the surface—and he's supposed to know his stuff. That's why the President has asked the rail unions to ride along on the status quo for another six months.

New Yorkers interested in railroads are grateful for the stay but claim there's a joker in the deck—what happens when the six months are up? Assuming that labor plays along, they doubt that the roads can achieve any miracle of recovery in that short span sufficient to swing the additional pay load demanded by the unions. And if they don't the administration is in a strategic position to step in and force reorganization of capital structures for the workers' benefit.

TRYOUT: Local insiders contend this is a phase of a broad New Deal plan to give private enterprise full leeway a while longer to work out its destinies and take over its share of the employment-purchasing power burden voluntarily. If—having had its opportunity—it can't or won't, it will be the government's cue to say: "You had your chance—o n your own terms—and muffed it. Since you can't run your business to meet your social and economic responsibilities, we'll run it for you."

This angle gets a lot of attention in the private conversation of informed New Yorkers. It's believed in high quarters that current concessions to capital (on labor policy, security regulation, NRA, etc.) are in the nature of a final tryout of private initiative as a constructive social force—with a definite turn to the left in sight if it doesn't measure up to administration standards.

LABOR: The main question in conservative minds is whether labor may not unwittingly boost the conservative cause.

The knowing in New York are fearful that the Railway Brotherhoods—under the fiery leadership of A. F. Whitney—may mean business. The Brotherhoods sincerely feel they are the real forgotten men. They want their wages restored and the strike threat is by no means hollow.

But if they had flouted the President's request for a six-month truce on wage controversies they'll be playing into management's hands. In that case they would have forfeited all claim to official sympathy and practically compelled the government to side against them. Keen observers point out that naturally the administration couldn't tip its hand in advance so the unions did well to plan for the future rather than for the present.

Strange as it seems quite a few conservatives are hoping that Mr. Whitney and his associates will continue in their recent aggressive strain. They see in this the best hope of upsetting the long range idea of allowing the "individualists" to convict themselves of incompetence!

TAMMANY: All this flag-waving about Tammany reforms to win back the Democrats who bolted at the last city election hands political insiders a laugh. Boss Curry wasn't evicted because of the laxity and corruption exposed by the Seabury investigation. He was thrown out for the simple reason that he lost an election. The Tiger hasn't changed its stripes—all it wants is to be led back to the gravy.

Of course there will be gestures designed to recapture the allegiance of independent Democrats. At least one or two of the members of the new steering committee will be of a type to be paraded in public. Farley will help with Federal patronage. The Recovery party boys will mostly string along. But there are signs that a strong faction of the local Democracy—with the pro-Fusion Knickerbocker Democrats as a nucleus—will remain adamant to Tamany overtures.

F. Scott Fitzgerald Rings Changes Again Of Lost Generation In "Tender Is The Night;" Assortment Of Books Offered Readers In New List Of Publications Announced This Week

"TENDER IS THE NIGHT," by F. Scott Fitzgerald; (Scribner's, N. Y.)

IN "Tender Is the Night," F. Scott Fitzgerald rings the changes once more on the Lost Generation—the luckless Americans who were left rudderless and starless, not so much by the war itself as by the developments which accompanied and followed the war.

He tells the story of a young psychiatrist, Dr. Diver, son of a Buffalo clergyman, who lives in Europe and who manages to miss what seemed certain to become a great and distinguished career.

The immediate cause of this failure is his marriage to the daughter of a Chicago merchant prince. She has pots of money and he has none; little by little he slips into the role of rich woman's husband.

Great Career Slides

The great career that he had begun slides, slowly but surely, out of his grasp. His disintegration, almost imperceptible at first, gradually accelerates; in the end he loses both home and position, wanders back to America, and drifts steadily down the ladder to the bottom rungs.

And yet his marriage is only the surface cause of his downfall. At bottom he fails because he represents a society which carries with it the seeds of failure.

He is part of a circle of well-to-do and cultured folk; yet this circle rings softly with morbid and perverse undertones, its members are people who have got irretrievably lost, the world has moved out from under them and they can never catch up with it.

Novel In A New Manner

"FINNLEY WREN," by Philip Wylie; (Farrar and Rinehart, N. Y.)

"FINNLEY WREN," by Philip Wylie, is subtitled "a novel in a new manner," and it certainly is all that. An odd mixture of stream-of-consciousness, moving picture cutbacks, and straightforward narrative, it is one of the most unusual novels of the year.

Unfortunately, its substance is not quite as new as its form.

It raises once more the bitter and despairing cry of a disillusioned generation. In it are gathered all the stock figures from the cynical and sophisticated novels of the post-war era; the talkative and arty drinkers who can spend hours telling you what is wrong with the world, and especially what is wrong with America, but who never have the glimmering of an idea what to do about it.

Yet perhaps it isn't quite fair to classify "Finnley Wren" in just that way. For while Mr. Wylie raises this old cry, he also pokes fun at it. He presents the viewpoint of sophisticated disillusion, and then satirizes those who hold that viewpoint.

He is, as you might say, disillusioned with disillusion. And he tells about it with a biting humor and a fertile and robust imagination.

All this he hangs on a rather slender thread of story. Finnley Wren, young advertising executive, goes to a rowdy week-end house party, tells the story of his life, straightens out the marital tangle of two perfect strangers — amid a general atmosphere of drunkenness and lechery.

The book, as you may have guessed, is strictly for those who like "advanced" modern fare.

Above is a pen portrait of F. Scott Fitzgerald, popular young novelist, who has just turned out "Tender Is The Night". Fitzgerald also has a series of articles written in collaboration with his wife in the May issue of Esquire, depicting the jazz age in hotels from Peoria to Naples.

Other-Worldness

"SEVEN GOTHIC TALES," by Isak Dinesen; (Smith and Haas, N. Y.)

IF FOR no other reason than their other-worldness, Isak Dinesen's "Seven Gothic Tales" deserve reading.

Because in these days of concentration upon every-day problems in literature, one can pick up a book on every shelf that calls a spade a spade in earthly language. But it is seldom that an author not only gilds the spade but successfully calls it a piece of parlor furniture.

Somewhat Mysterious

Dinesen apparently is a Dane, although the publisher has made him a somewhat mysterious figure, quite in keeping with the book itself. The stories are extensions of the German romantic style, with flavors added from half a dozen other styles. They are like nothing else of recent years.

He tells of an old chevalier, who recalls the one successful love of his life—and ends contemplating a skull that he believes is that of the girl. He also tells of four amazing characters marooned by rising flood waters in a Danish barnloft, who spend the night telling their stories—and what stories.

He tells of a perverse young officer who attempts to save himself from disgrace by marriage—and ends by turning a "nun" into a monkey, and vice versa. In fact, Dinesen is a new and flavorful author for those who do not depend altogether on the slick paper magazines for literary sustenance.

Building Her Up

"QUEEN VICTORIA AND HER MINISTERS," by Sir John Marriott; (Dutton, N. Y.)

IF Queen Victoria were alive, Broadway would express what is taking place in England as a "build up."

One can scarcely turn around without knocking down a new book having to do with the Queen, her era, or her aids. A few days ago we had the Queen's correspondence with Gladstone, elaborately commenented upon by Philip Guedalla. Today we have "Queen Victoria and Her Ministers" by Sir John Marriott.

Good Approach

Sir John's approach is a particularly good one, and his purpose is both clearly stated and religiously held to. He intends to show the reader the Victorian era as reflected in Victoria's dealings with her ministers, and to make it clear that Victoria herself was one of the most valuable rulers England has had. The argument is keen—but the verdict is the reader's, after all.

Particularly in the chapters having to do with Gladstone is Sir John's book revealing. The letters which to a certain extent expound the relationship are of course invaluable, but they do not always mean literally what they say. The Queen was not so foolish as to put in black and white all that she thought about Gladstone, even though she was caustic at times.

Strikes Balance

The same was even more true of Gladstone, who often concealed behind the most humble protestations projects quite counter to the tenor of their expression. Sir John has struck a balance, to the best of his ability, and his book is the better for it.

His treatment of the entire list of Victorian ministers is that of the historian rather than the biographer. He has done much to put the period into proper perspective with its own landmarks; even more important, he has tried to relate his principals to the British empire at large, and as far as possible in so short a work, to the world. His statement of the value of the English crown is particularly absorbing.

Side Glances —By George Clark

The Foreign Situation

Far East Occupies Center Of Interest; Trade Is Watched

Far East

EUROPEAN observers report a a gradual change of tune in the Soviet attitude toward Japan. Official circles no longer talk of selling the Chinese Eastern Railway or abandoning Vladivostok in case of a Japanese attack. "We're ready to fight for every inch" and "Let them try" are the slogans.

The reason is celar. The Far Eastern Army will soon be self-supporting and its communication lines to Western Russia are nearing completion. 100,000 laborers from the OGPU prison camps have been working on it for over a year. The double tracking of the trans-Siberian road is almost finished. A similar project is under way on the line skirting the Manchurian border, and the rails on the west Russian connecting roads have been reinforced for heavy traffic.

Expansions Have Come

All startegic regions have been cleared of unreliable population and settled with patriotic Russians made zealous by tax-exemptions, subsidies, free seed and cattle. Their farms have prospered, giving the army much needed grain, meat and dairy reserves. Coal fields are being developed, large oil fuel supplies have been brought in, and the extensive deposits around Kemorovo have made possible the erection of an independent chemical factory for poison gas.

The Far Eastern army numbers approximately 150,000 men and with 50 large caliber and 500 field guns, 500 light mortars, 400 light tanks, 5000 machine guns and 400 planes (figures approximate). With open communications to the rear, where stands the huge main Russian army of over a million men and with domestic supplies near at hand, this force is very formidable—and the Japanese know it. Every month of peace brings Russia more motorization, better rail facilities, and an increasing Ruusianization of the frontiers.

Called Breathing Space

Moscow insiders call the present situation a breathing space and say it will last just as long as Japan lets it. Tokyo is watching these Russian proceedings, knowing that every completed work makes an attack more difficult. There seems to be no danger at present, but public opinion in both countries is being kept near the boiling point—just in case Japan's militaristic leaders get full political power again.

The Soviet press recently launched a sensational accusation against Great Britain for planning a "great Tibetan empire" to be ruled by an autonomous British Moslem prince. Rumors have been flying thick and fast regarding Anglo - Japanese agreements as well as rivalry for swiping those parts of Chinese Turkestan bordering on the USSR.

English Hold Firm Grip

The truth is less sensational. With the coming of Japanese agents prospecting for new markets and spheres of influence, the English confidential men have doubled their effort to keep a firm grip—with presents and intrigues. The Soviets take such things very seriously and have sent men, planes, tanks and guns to the border just to show they're around.

Litvinoff's speech on the occasion of renewing the peace pact with Lithuania, Latvia and Esthonia came as a surprise. The Russian diplomat condemned rearmament, nationalism and revisionism, saying that Russia would keep her hands to herself—if permitted. That was a quiet hint to German and Polish aims in Lithuania.

Japan

A LAW is under way giving the government wide authority for reprisal measures against English anti-Jap tariff maneuvers. Since the breakdown of the recent conference Tokyo has suggested another palaver at a later date, just to show good will and readiness to talk. But insiders call the chance of an agreement very slim and are getting ready for a trade battle royal.

Diplomatic circles have it that at the next naval disarmament conference Japan will ask England to scrap the naval base at Singapore. Tokyo will claim that this station gives the English fleet an unjustified strangle hold, and will use England's refusal as an excuse to dicker for a higher ratio.

Vienna To Be Center

Plans are being made to use Vienna as a center for Japanese exports to Germany, Central Europe and the Balkans. Tokyo is getting ready a big drive and feels that of all the centrally located countries, Austria would have the least objection to being headquarters. Further details soon.

A large international syndicate is reported to be planning a Chinese loan. Tokyo used a press dispatch to that effect as an excuse to announce that the Japanese government would tolerate a loan to China only if the money were used for "constructive purposes" and if Japan took part.

Insiders say that this warning was directed against England's plans of bolstering Chinese resistance.

Board Of Control Set Up

Numerous complaints of the quality of Japanese exports have caused the Tokyo authorities to set up a board of control which will check all outgoing goods. The board will also watch distribution and regulate according to diplomatic relations.

A big pencil dumping push is being mapped out for the U. S. A. by this board. It may be only a coincidence that this business is largely in the hands of bitterly anti-Nazi leaders in America.

England

THE Gold Mines Excess Profits Duty Act of 1933 brought the British Exchequer an attractive income in that year of high gold prices. A 52 per cent tax on profits of 17 companies, netted 10,225,000 pounds as compared to 3,500,000 pounds for 1932. A convenient law for the government —passed at a convenient time.

On April 19 the Association of British Chambers of Commerce had its annual meeting. Japanese competition and a petition to the government for action was the main business. The press helped along with a broadside of sensational articles on the progress of Japanese trading.

India Complains

India complains that her whole loin-cloth market in Singapore has been lifted—an important item, as Singapore supplies the Malay States and Archipelago. In this center alone Lancashire cotton piece goods have come down from 85 to 25 million yards a year in four years, while the Japanese product has gone up from 37 to 99 million yards.

London insiders expect a reprisal war.

The English government is making propaganda for an extensive Empire marketing scheme that's up its sleeve. If the Canadian Natural Products Marketing Bill, providing control for the majority of producers of the sale of their commodities, goes through similar measures will appear in Australia and elsewhere. Producers' representatives from all parts will then be brought together in London and Empire production and sale put under one roof.

"The Empire, a single independent unit" is the watchword.

A new type of passenger airplane has been perfected in Great Britain which carries 16 people at a net cost of 2 cents per passenger-mile—135 m.p.h. cruising speed. Stream-lining does it.

Sweden

THE authorities have decided to burn the diary of Ivar Kreuger, the match king, although fantastic sums were offered by American and English newspaper men for publication rights. Under strong diplomatic pressure the Swedish Commission is doing away with the potential starter of a dozen major scandals, according to insiders.

Germany

INTERNATIONAL banking circles fear that German payments on foreign private loans will shortly be completely stopped and a full moratorium substituted for the present partial one. The debts involved amount to two and a half billion dollars.

The representatives of the five private creditor nations— U.S.A., Great Britain, Switzerland, Holland and Sweden—have formed a solid front and refuse to accept Schacht's excuse that the Reichsbank has neither gold nor currency with which to pay even a reduced interest rate. "That your fault, not ours," they say.

The German note coverage has sunk to 6.5 per cent, however, and there's no balance of improvement for the time being. Schacht will ask short terms. "No soap," says the representatives. Long-term credit and a default, or inflation hangs from the representatives. Long-term cerdits and a default, or inflation hangs from the coming Berlin conference. Experts prophesy the former.

News that Anson Weeks and his famous Mark Hopkins hotel orchestra will play two engagements in Lubbock on Tuesday, May 8, has been received by Lubbock and South Plains music lovers with great anticipation for the events.

Weeks, who led the first Lucky Strike radio band with Walter Winchell as announcer, will appear at the Senior High school auditorium in a concert and after that, at Sled Allen's Auditorium in a dance program.

Has Wide Reputation

One of the outstanding maestros of the nation, Weeks brings to Lubbock, under the sponsorship of the Avalanche-Journal, a 16-piece band and numerous specialty performers, including Bob Crosby, brother of the famous 'Bing,' Frankie Saputo and others.

Watch the papers for announcements of starting time for both the concert and the dance and for price listings of both.

It was Winchell who coined the phrase, "Let's go dancin' with Anson," when Weeks was playing on the Lucky Strike program. The orchestra became famous first in San Francisco where, for six years, it was featured at the Mark Hopkins' hotel. At present, Weeks is playing at the Club Forrest in New Orleans, where he will be followed by Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians. After about three weeks in the larger cities of the Southwest and Middle West, he will open a summer-long engagement at the Aragon club in Chicago, replacing Wayne King.

Far East Occupies Center Of Interest; Trade Is Watched

ports had it, but by the absence of several rails which had been removed. Not able to keep the story quiet the government will blame the Nazis—but this time they're really not directly responsible.

A strong anti-semitic tendency in Catholic government circles is making itself felt in Vienna. Nothing is said or done officially, but government jobs are gradually being cleared of so-called "undesirable elements." Jewish doctors and journalists in state employ, judges and teachers are being displaced by Catholic colleagues. The "Heimwehr" is fighting for a law expatriating all Eastern Jews who immigrated since 1910, but as yet been unable to overcome Dollfuss's resistance. We'll hear more of this.

No more coeducation in Austria. The Church calls it immoral and "provocative."

France

THE French change of tune on German rearmaments came as a surprise to international diplomatic circles. France, under pressure of Great Britain and Italy, is willing to talk all of a sudden.

This doesn't mean so much as certain European dispatches indicated. France sees that Germany is going to rearm. Anyway, with or without consent, she knows that Hitler's financial troubles will make it difficult, and wants to stall with good grace. Henderson and the League will probably bring about a dicker and a high-sounding treaty meaning nothing in reality. You can bet that France, whether officially or unofficially, will stay five jumps ahead of Germany in strength.

The famous hundred million gold Guilder loan through Holland has been causing all sorts of repercussions. London refused to have anything to do with it officially because France did not turn directly to England for help.

Though revolutionary talk and excitement seem to have calmed down for the moment, insiders point to the recent disturbances among postal employees as an indication and prophecy that more than Gallic volubility will be forthcoming presently from Socialist and Communist quarters.

Insiders report that the Communists are arming feverishly. A red agent has just taken an option on 12 million francs worth of guns from a Swiss company, 14,000 rifles have come in from the big international arms-smuggling concern in Liege, and more are under way. The Paris police are puzzled at not having been able to trace any large depots. It seems however that the weapons are immediately distributed as they arrive and carefully hidden by the individual reds.

Switzerland

FREEDOM of the press is on the wane even in Switzerland. The criticism of foreign governments by the unmuzzled Fascist and Red Swiss press has brought so many complaints to the foreign office that the government decided to establish censorship. The whole press, including the conservative papers, is howling. But it won't do any good. The Swiss government is convinced that it's not a good idea to run a free country these days.

THE SON OF TARZAN, No. 79

By Edgar Rice Burroug

"There ain't no white gal here," said Malbihn. Korak took a threatening step toward the Swede, who shrank from the anger in the ape-man's face. "Tell me the truth!" he demanded. "Spare me," whined Malbihn, "and I'll tell you all I know. She escaped from me—across the river. It was only the reward I wanted anyway. She has passed as the Sheik's daughter since childhood, but she ain't his no more than I am. Kill me and you will never know the secret."

Malbihn chuckled to himself as he saw Korak's surprise. "Only the old Sheik and me knows where she came from and he won't tell." Malbihn was uneasy; the ugly little eyes of the elephant watching him made him nervous. Korak went into the tent to assure himself that the girl was not there. As he disappeared, Tantor took a step nearer the Swede. He advanced his snake-like trunk toward the fellow, who shrank still deeper into the hammock.

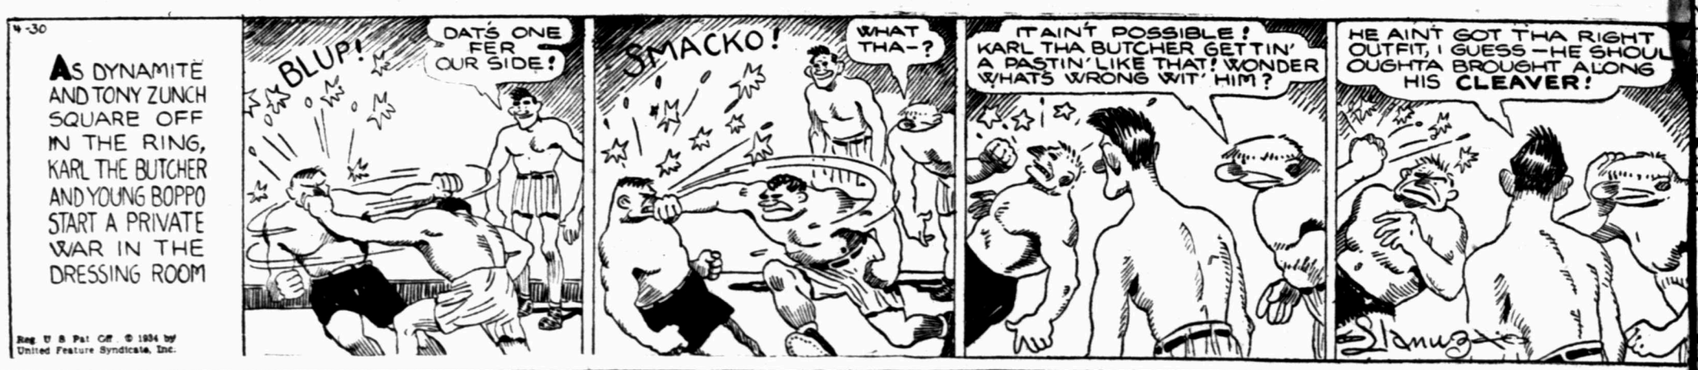

Tantor uttered a low, rumbling sound as he felt and smelled back and forth. His little eyes blazed. At last he had found the creature who had killed his mate long years before! Tantor, the elephant, never forgets or forgives! Malbihn saw the towering rage above him and shrieked for help. Before Korak could stop the enraged elephant, its trunk encircled his victim and then hammock, canopy and man were swung high above Tantor's head.

Trumpeting and roaring, he hurled the entangled mass over the thorn wall, out into the jungle. Korak gazed sorrowful at the tragedy. He had no love for the Swede, but he would have saved him because of the secret he possessed. Tantor, again docile as a kitten, at Korak's bidding hoisted the Killer aloft. From their hiding places the Swede's men saw the strange white warrior mounted on the head of his charger disappear into the jungle.

apan's Name Changed Officially To "Nippon"; Long Agitation Is Awarded

By GLENN BABB

OKYO, April 28. (AP)—After all e centuries this island empire wearied of hearing itself called an" by the rest of the world.

hat name was born of an Itali- mispronunciation of the Chi- rendering of two ideographs by h islands and mainland alike gnate the "Land of the Rising " enceforth, by official fiat, the e of the empire is Nippon.

Savants Favor Change

ng agitation for the change fin- reached an apex in parliament n both major parties of the se of representatives adopted lutions favoring it. Thereupon as referred to "the committee investigation of the national uage" which functions in the istry of education.

he savants brought in an unani- s verdict for "Nippon."

n order for its adoption then sent to all branches of the gov- ment, particularly to the foreign istry where use of the English pan" or French "Japon" has n customary in correspondence n occidental governments.

Nippon" is the way the Japan- —pardon, Nipponese —pronounce ideographs meaning "sun" and gin." A free translation is rn of the Sun," or, by only a nt transition, "Land of the Ris- Sun."

'Twas Marco Polo's Fault

apan" reached the Occident turies before any European had ed Nippon. Marco Polo the Venetian learned of this faraway strange land and race when he visited Kambaluc (Peking), capital of the great Mongol Emperor of China, Kublai Khan, in 1275. There he heard of an island nation of dwarfs lying toward the east, the rising sun.

The Chinese pronounciation was something like "zhihr-pun," to which the Chinese added "kuo," meaning "country." To Marco Polo's Italian ears this sounded like Zipangu, the name he took back to Europe.

With the last syllable omitted transition from Zipan to the French Japon and the English Japan was easy. So when America's Commodore Matthew C. Perry crossed the Pacific 80 years ago to open this country to the commerce of the world, the name which began as "Nippon" came back as "Japan" after a six-century journey around the globe.

High Praise Given Rix In WTCC Work

High praise for the "splendid work" done by J. A. Rix, Lubbock business man who has helped raise membership funds for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce over the South Plains, was given by D. A. Bandeen, Stamford, at Lamesa.

"There are only two or three towns on the South Plains that have not finished their membership drives," Mr. Bandeen said. "There are more towns in this section with 100 per cent memberships in our organization than ever before.

"Mr. Rix was our director of this work and we appreciate the splendid work he has done. It has meant a great deal to this section and to the organization."

Before the convention in San Angelo next month, Mr. Bandeen said, the entire South Plains area will have completed its drive for members with better than a 100 per cent quota. He said the financial condition of the organization was better than before.

Northwest Texas Meeting Of Agricultural Workers Planned

(By Staff Correspondent)

HALE CENTER, April 28.—Plans are being started by officials of the Texas Agricultural Workers association for a Northwest Texas meeting in Plainview, probably some time late in May, according to Mrs. M. S. Hudson, of this community, a vice-president. The organization is the successor of the old Texas Farm Bureau federation, with which other agricultural workers combined.

"We have not set the date, but it will be some time in May," Mrs. Hudson said. "President H. G. Lucas of Brownwood, will probably come here. We look for some other well known speakers."

J. T. Elms, Littlefield, is a director-at-large and W. H. Hames, Crosbyton, is district director for this section.

E. L. Corbin, Dallas, is secretary. There are a group of districts over the state comprising the organization, which was perfecetd at Sweetwater about a year ago.

Grade 'A' Frosh
Athletic Youth Is Bright Student

OXFORD, O., April 28. (AP)—Robert Mautz, freshman at Miami university, has been going to shool 12 years.

But Robert is different from most students—he has never received a grade in any subject lower than an "A."

Also, college math bores him—it's too easy.

His accomplishments in high school won him a four-year scholarship at Miami, but Mautz is far from being a "grind."

He earned his high school letter in basketball and football, and was active in tennis and swimming. He was business manager of the high school paper, and played the male lead in the senior class play.

And he continued to get "A's" just the same.

He's maintained the same pace in Miami's school of business administration, getting "A's", but finding ample time also to win places on the freshman football and basketball squads.

Mautz hails from Marion, O.

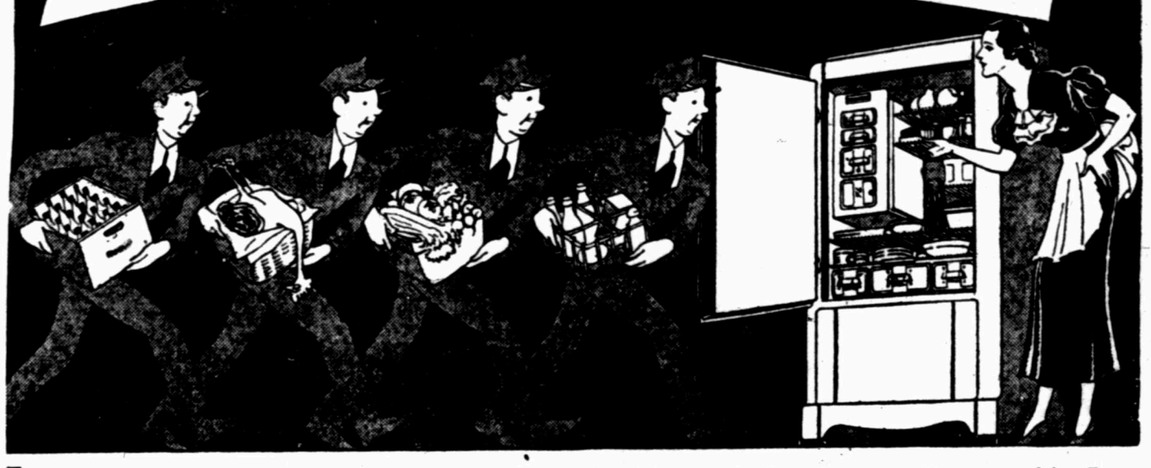

War Against Porcupines Nets 9,239 'Baskets' In Colorado

DENVER, April 28. (AP)—The porcupine, a laughable sort of creature, brings no smiles to Uncle Sam's foresters with his habit of gnawing the boles of saplings. Hence the satisfaction with which M. W. Thompson, assistant regional forester, reported the extermination of 9,239 of the quilled animals in Colorado last year.

In Wyoming 1,766 were killed in 1933 and in South Dakota 1,611. Hunters employed by the United States biological survey killed some, and CCC workers accounted for the rest.

Stockmen detest the porcupine because its quills often pierce the flanks of cattle, work beneath the hide and cause infection.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

by WILLIAM FERGUSON

The EAGLE

HAS STOOD AS A SYMBOL OF POWER AND FEARLESSNESS AS FAR BACK AS HISTORY CAN BE TRACED!

ITS LIKENESS HAS ADORNED THE SHIELDS AND COATS OF ARMS OF NATIONS THROUGHOUT THE WORLD.

THERE ARE RECORDS OF EAGLES THAT HAVE LIVED TO BE MORE THAN 100 YEARS OLD! MATES ARE TAKEN FOR LIFE, AND ONLY IN CASE OF DEATH IS A NEW MATE CHOSEN.

THE BALD EAGLE IS THE NATIONAL BIRD OF THE UNITED STATES! IT BUILDS ONE NEST AND ADDS TO IT EACH YEAR.. STICKS SIX FEET IN LENGTH MAY BE USED AS BUILDING MATERIAL, AND THE NESTS SOMETIMES WEIGH A TON OR MORE.

BALD EAGLES PREFER CATCHING FISH IN THE AIR TO CATCHING THEM IN WATER! THEY WAIT UNTIL AN OSPREY HAS MADE A CATCH, AND THEN MAKE HIM DROP IT IN MID-AIR ... WHEREUPON, THEY SNATCH IT IN THEIR TALONS AND FLY AWAY.

The HARPY EAGLE, OF CENTRAL AND SOUTH AMERICA, IS THE MOST POWERFUL AND FEROCIOUS OF ALL EAGLES. IT FEEDS ON CALVES, FAWNS, FOXES, PIGS, AND MONKEYS.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN HAD NO USE FOR EAGLES! HAD HE HAD HIS WAY, THE TURKEY WOULD HAVE BEEN THE NATIONAL BIRD OF THE UNITED STATES.
