

Lions Club Gave $1,034 To Community Last Year

During the last eleven months, the Sonora Lions Club has given approximately $1,034 to welfare work, city betterment, community health, parks, relief funds, and aid to school children, according to G. A. Wynn, treasurer. Although the exact figure will not be released until the annual financial report is made next month, Mr. Wynn said that that sum represents all money spent outside of the normal club functions. It does not include the $400 generally necessary to finance the Wool Show and Auction Sale.

Of the money expected to be taken in from this year's show, 5 per cent will go to the Boy Scouts, the sum not to exceed $100, and 5 per cent will go to the Girl Scouts, the sum not to exceed $100. Seventy-five dollars per month, for not over 4 months, will go to a night watchman at the stock pens, 5 per cent, not to exceed $100 to the City Park board, and $400 toward the expenses of the Wool Show.

Money spent during the last eleven months was for varied causes. One hundred dollars was given to establish a boxing school for Sonora boys, a committee was sent to Corpus Christi to try to get an airport here, and there was much miscellaneous welfare work. For example, over 200 Christmas baskets were distributed, and a family stranded here was sent home. The Lions Club also sends flowers to the sick, hangs Christmas lights in town, and gives extra meals to undernourished school children. The Annual Wool Show and Auction Sale is the only solicitation made by the Lions each year, and has been designed to take care of as many charities and aid programs as possible.

A THOUGHT FOR POPPY DAY

The sale of poppies is something deep and urgent. It is not just another charity. Rather it is a debt we owe, a debt that can never be really paid. It is a debt to the families of veterans and it is a debt to the men who all year wind the stems and shape the petals to fashion the poppies. To them we reply on Poppy Day, "We have not forgotten."

POPPY DAY

As I was hurrying on my way Back to the cares of a busy day, At the crossing on a busy street Above the noise of rushing feet,

Highway Fatalities Show Increase

Austin, June 10.—Overshadowing the 34 per cent reduction in the number of Texas traffic fatalities recorded in March of this year over March, 1940, the month of April this year showed a disheartening increase of 24 per cent over April, 1940. Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., State Police director, pointed out today.

The number of deaths last month was 141, compared with the 114 the same month last year, showing an increase of 27 deaths.

However, the number of traffic fatalities for the first four months of this year as compared to the same period last year, shows 573 persons were killed in 1941 and 563 in 1940, for only a two per cent increase. The total fatal accidents for the first four months of this year over last year increased 9 per cent, for a total of 42. The greatest number of these accidents showing increases occurred in towns with populations under 2,500, and on the open highways. Fatal accidents in towns with populations under 2,500 increased 79 per cent, while fatal accidents on the open highways increased 20 per cent. Larger cities decreased their fatal accidents 2 per cent, and county roads showed a 23 per cent decrease in accidents where fatalities occurred.

Colonel Garrison attributed a large portion of the increase in fatal accidents to the wet and muddy conditions on highways and streets prevailing in Texas during most of April.

"Buy a poppy, sir?" a small voice said.

'Twas not lovely blossoms from a flower bed She held in her hand when I turned to see Who it was who spoke to me.

They were made of paper, these little flowers, They had busied the hands of men for hours; Of men, who once so strong and brave, Their lives, their all, for our nation gave. Yes, gave their lives in a broader sense, Though some still wait for recompense; Wait, yes, wait, while their fingers yield A reproduction of Flanders Field. Of a field in France where poppies blow O'er their comrades who died so long ago.

There is naught we can do for these broken men. Restore their health, we can't, but then—

The pennies we give for their poppies may Help to soothe their troubled way. "Sure I'll buy a poppy from you," I said, And thankfully wore the blossom red, Thankful that I that much could do.

I know that you are thankful too.

FAIRWAYS MOWED

All fairways on the Sonora Golf Course will be mowed by the end of the week, J. L. Nisbet, president, announced Wednesday.

HOME OWNERS FORUM

By ABNER GORDON

WHEN applying a new roof, leave the old shingles in place to provide additional insulation and structural strength.

Over-roofing results in fuel savings which often pay for the installation in a few years, while the double layer with the use of red cedar shingles, for instance, adds at least seven pounds per square foot to the strength of the roof section.

The same spacing, side lap and nailing suffices for over roofing as commonly practiced on regular solid deck installations, even though the original shingles were nailed to "single lat" or strips.

Saw off the old shingles just below the second course butts and trim those at the gables so that the weathered edges will not be visible. Replace these denuded areas with one inch boards flush with eave or gable, so that the new shingles will have a strong, firm base for border overlaps.

Valleys should be partially lined with timber strips nailed down before placing new flashings, while extra long zinc clad nails are essential to penetrate the old roof and at the same time assure firm anchorage with the sheathing or strip base beneath.

Due to freedom from checking and warping, combined with their light weight and unsurpassed durability, certrgrade red cedar shingles are widely recommended for this work.

Q.—Does aluminum make the best primer for overcoating with white lead paint?

A.—Best painting practice questions the application of an oil vehicle paint such as pure white lead over a varnish vehicle primer such as aluminum, because paint films of varying elasticity and wearing properties do not make the most effective combination. To be on the safe side, apply a white lead priming coat under body and finish coats of white lead paint.

"Names make news."

When praised for his generosity in accepting an invitation to speak, District Judge Bascom Gist of Tyler replied: "There are two classes of people—those that make speeches and those that listen to them. I would rather make a speech than have to listen to one."

One of the most faithful readers of this column each week is former District Judge Ralph Yarborough of Austin. Recently, he told me, "Your column two weeks ago was the best you've ever written." To which your columnist replied, "Thanks very much; by the way, all the things in that particular column were clipped from other papers and credited to them; I didn't write a line of it." And then you should have seen the judge turn a delicate shade of pink and try to explain away his remark.

A young man (according to a story I hear) stepped out of a taxicab in front of a hotel in Lubbock and remarked to the driver, "I'll have to get a check cashed; I'll be right back; my name is Marvin Brown and I'm the district attorney from Fort Worth." The taxi-driver drawled, "Yeah, and my name is Thomas E. Dewey and I'm the district from New York and I'll just go along with you." The fare grinned and they went in together and the hotel cashier cashed the check because the chap really was District Attorney Marvin Brown.

Few years back, your columnist wrote a book, "Were You In Ranger?" and because Amon Carter had made it possible for me to eat regularly during the depression by providing me with a job on the news staff, the first copy off the press was presented to him. Recently when my newest "Oil Boom" came out, the publisher of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram received a book with this inscription, "The No. 1 copy off the press is presented to the No. 1 Texan."

An Oklahoma editor published two pictures, one of a dilapidated house and the other of an eroded field, and invited his readers to take part in a "You Write the Story" contest. Here is the prize-winning letter, written by an Indian:

Both pictures show white man crazy. Make big teepees. Plow hill. Water wash, wind blow soil. Grass gone, land gone, door gone, window gone, whole place gone to Buck gone, Squaw too. Papoose gone. No pig, no corn, no cow

Inspect "Texan"

The Hub Hale home, which was recently completed, was open last week for public inspection, and was chosen by Wm. Cameron Lumber Co. at the "Texan" model home. Wood Furniture Store provided the furniture throughout the home.

One enters into the living room, which was furnished in Ranch Oak, upholstered in maroon and royal blue plaid: The desk on which the visitors registered, was of matching material and the chair had a white leatherette seat. The rug was in harmonizing colors and a coffee table completed the furnishing of the living room.

On the left, is the hall entrance and from the hall one may enter into the bath of either of the two bed rooms.

The front bed room is papered in pink and the furniture was white pinavera. A white bedspread with a pastel floral design was used to emphasize the femininity of the room. The other bed room is papered in blue with a diagonal floral design of white. The bedroom suite was maple and on the bed was a spread with famous ranch brands decorating it.

The bath room was done in a blue and yellow color theme. Large closets, in both bed rooms and one in the hall will provide storage space for the Hale family.

Entrances to the kitchen are from the bed room or a double slide door from the living room. The color scheme of this essential room is red and white. All cabinets room is red and white. All cabinets are done in white and the wall paper has a very small design of red.

Venetian blinds, modern light fixtures and a shower in the garage helps to make this one of the most livable homes in Sonora.

Registering during the week were:

Watson-Percifull Rites Held
In Christoval Church Sunday

Miss Blanche Alberta Percifull, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Percifull at Christoval, and Keener Beggs Watson were married Sunday in the Christoval Baptist Church in a double ring, candlelight ceremony.

The ceremony was read by the Rev. B. B. Hestir, minister of the Carlsbad Presbyterian Church.

Miss Percifull was given in marriage by her father and wore a wedding gown of French mouseline de soie over an under dress of white slipper satin. The gown was made on princess lines with pin tucks and had graduated pleated ruffles over the shoulders extending to the hem line. Tiny covered buttons extended from the back of the neck to the waistline and the full length sleeves, which came to a point over the hands, were fastened with covered buttons. The veil which hung from a coronet of Chantilly lace and pearls was also of mouseline de soie and Chantilly lace with pleated frills. The bride wore a three-strand necklace of pearls and for "something old" her mother's gold wedding bracelet. Her flowers were gardenias and stephanotis.

Attending her as maid of honor was her sister, Miss Malvana Percifull, who wore a frock of blue mouseline and a matching shoulder length veil. She carried pink carnations. The bridesmaids, Miss Mary Frances McDade, Miss Mary Miss Avis Holland, Christoval, and Miss Nelda Clark of San Angelo wore viennese style marquisette with matching veils and carried delphiniums. The dresses were made on the long torso lines with bouffant skirts which were trimmed with pin tucks and tiny ruffles.

The best man was Dawson Cooper of Gatesville. Ushers were W. D. Eates of San Angelo, Jack L. White of San Angelo and C. L. McMillan of Christoval.

The members of the bridal party stood before an improvised altar of woodwardia fern and tall baskets of white gladioli. The background was a panel of blue drapery. The bridal scene was lit with graduated candelabra.

Music was played by Mrs. F.P. Brazier off Range, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Preston C. Lightfoot of Sonora sang "Because" and "I Promise You." During the ceremony, "Clir de Lune" was played, and Mrs. Brazier played the wedding march from "Lohengrin" and the Mendelssohn recessional.

The couple left after the wedding for a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M., and Denver, Colorado. For her going-away costume the bride wore a dusty rose ensemble of seventh heaven crepe and a corsage of gardenias with white accessories. Upon their return, the couple will live at 112 N. Milton, San Angelo.

Mrs. Watson is a former student of Hardin-Simmons University, and the University of Texas, and is a graduate of Daniel Baker College. Mr. Watson is a former student of Daniel Baker and University of Texas, and is manager of the plumbing and heating department of Sears, Roebuck & Co., San Angelo. The bride has taught in the Sonora schools for the past three years.

"Come and get three balls for a dime" will be Dolly Carson's chant tonight.

My Week by Eleanor Roosevelt

Out-of-Doors Days

Our two days in the country were, on the whole, very peaceful and I think we accomplished a good deal. I was outdoors all one morning looking at trees and planning where to put in shrubs and plants, both at the President's cottage and my own. By noon it began to rain really hard and so, at two-thirty, I did not regret delivering a speech indoors at Vassar college to a group of girls.

I saw a good many of my neighbors and read a good many things which I have been carrying around in my brief case for some time. I was back in New York city by five o'clock the next day and went to the meeting of the Men's Faculty club at Columbia university.

It seemed rather presumptuous to address people on a subject as large as: "What Is Really Happening in the United States Today." Many of whom knew much more about this subject than I possibly could. I realized, however, that what I had to say was merely a preface to an open discussion.

It proved to be a very interesting evening, more profitable to me probably than to those who listened to me start it off! President and Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler were kind enough to come to supper and I enjoyed seeing them very much.

I took the night train back to Washington.

GRADUATES

One afternoon, I received a group of winners in an essay contest from Lancaster County, Pa. They were such bright looking young people and evidently were enjoying their trip to Washington. Then we gave the annual tea for the graduating classes of the various schools. I think the group should be congratulated, for they came past me more rapidly than any other group that has ever been here.

UNION NOW

At dinner that night, Mr. Clarence Streit talked to us a little about his lectures on his plan "Union Now." After dinner, Mr. Theodore Dreier showed us some of his slides of Black Mountain college, near Asheville, N. C. This is a most unique educational experiment, where the students and faculty are not only building their own buildings, but really are attempting to demonstrate democratic procedure in an educational institution.

Then the movie, "Men of Boys Town," was shown and made a tremendous impression on everybody. I had to leave for a time to broadcast for the Federal Employees' council, but could tell on my return what a moving story it is.

COMMON SENSE

There is an editorial in Common Sense for this month, which I think will do a valuable service in stimulating thought and argument. It is entitled "Whose Sacrifice?" I am going to quote one thought here: "Sacrifice is indeed called for. But it is the sacrifice of the old methods of unplanned, competitive, monopoly profit-seeking business, and not the sacrifice of the bread and butter of the poor."

That is a large statement with which many people will agree wholeheartedly. The difference always arises as to how we shall achieve the ends which almost anyone will concede are desirable. The editorial makes some valuable suggestions. Some of the statements are open to argument. But, after all, the value of anything which is written lies largely in its challenge to further thought and study. I hope a great many people after reading this month's Common Sense, will do some constructive thinking.

CONGRESSIONAL WIVES

I had a very pleasant luncheon one day during the week with the wives of the members of the Seventy-third congress, who came to Washington in 1933 when we did. Then I received some 200 members of the Daughters of Patriots and Founders at the White House. After that I took the plane to New York city.

I spoke at the dinner given by the New York city board of education to hear the conclusions of months of hard work and innumerable reports, made by groups of doctors and educators on the care and education of handicapped children. It is a study made in New York city, but of value to the whole country.

Changes have come about in medical care, more knowledge is now at hand and certain new techniques must be developed in order to give handicapped children the best possible opportunity for education and future usefulness in life. I hope many people will read this report, since we have, I believe, some 6,000,000 handicapped children in the country.

FRIENDS OF CHILDREN

The next noon I spoke on a broadcast which is being inaugurated by the Friends of Children Incorporated. Once a week they will broadcast an American play for children. It will go by shortwave not only to British children, but to other children throughout the world. Up to this time, the Friends of Children, Inc., have been sending boxes of clothes to children in England, but they felt that there was need for a message which would interest the children themselves and tie them closer to children in this country.

Imported Softball Pitchers

Friendship ceases when these two crack hurlers toss for rival teams on the softball field. Both are members of the league-leading WTU team in Abilene. At left: Billy Wood. Right: Curly Hays.

An old rivalry will be renewed Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock when Sonora softball fans will have an opportunity to see teams guided by Sam Allison and Ralph Crowe battle it out to determine who won a disputed game of two years ago.

Each squad will have the services of two topnotch softball pitchers.

They are Curly Hays and Billy Wood—members of the championship West Texas Utilities employee team in Abilene, who have consented to do the hurling chores for the grudge fight.

Proceeds of the game will go to British War Relief funds.

Hays and Wood will alternate after four innings of the seven-inning affair, each pitching first for one team and switching to the other after four frames.

Both hurlers are considered tops in this part of the country.

Hays, 24-year-old member of the WTU traffic department, has a record of pitching 13 no-hit games during his 11 years in softball—two of which were lost through errors. He is a San Angelo high school graduate and a former star grid player at Tulsa University where he received all-America mention along with his degree. He once pitched four nine-inning games in a single day to win the state softball title for San Angelo. In 1939 he pitched a double-header victory over a national champion Cincinnati team.

Wood is 21 years old, an Eastland high school graduate and a two-year Hardin-Simmons University student. He is working his way up with the West Texas Utilities at present, member of a crew in Abilene with duties as a meterman. He has been playing softball four years and has a record of four no-hit, no-run games, two during the current 1941 season. He has played in two national tournaments. His record shows that he has never been beaten in any of the five games he has pitched in state tournaments. He was named all-state pitcher in 1940.

Both Hays and Wood are terrific hitters. Wood, at present, is leading the fast league Abilene circuit as a clouter.

"We are glad these boys can be here," said Bill Gilmore, WTU local manager in Sonora. "They'll provide some real entertainment and they'll be pitching as hard for one team as the other. They will add color and excitement to the athletic part of the Jubilee program."
