Two U.S. diplomats booted from Poland

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The government today ordered the expulsion of two U.S. diplomats accused of taking part in an illegal pro-Solidarity May Day parade, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said. The spokesman, Paul Smith, said the U.S. charge d'affaires in Warsaw, John Davis, had been summoned to the Foreign Ministry and notified of the expulsion order. PAP, the official news agency, identified the two Americans as William Harwood, first secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Warsaw, and David Hopper, consul at the Krakow consulate. PAP said they were among 15 people detained in Krakow during an illegal May Day workers' holiday march on Wednesday. A senior Polish official had charged that the two U.S. diplomats were part of an orchestrated U.S. effort to bolster domestic opponents of the government. The U.S. Embassy denied the allegation and lodged a protest with Poland charging that Krakow police pushed, struck and kicked one of the diplomats and detained both of them for 20 minutes although they identified themselves as U.S. officials. PAP's report said police released the two as soon as they were identified as American diplomats.

We're supposed to have separation of church and state in this country and every time the Supreme Court meets, the justices rule against religion in schools, in city, county and state governments. But if we're not suppose to have any kind of observance by tax supported institutions, how come they all close down every time a religious holiday comes up? How can you close down a government facility on Good Friday and not become involved in observance of a religious event? Seems to us that religion plays second fiddle to just another excuse for government workers to take another day off.

White says move no threat in next governor's race

Hance makes switch to GOP

By MICHAEL HOLMES Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) — Former Democratic congressman Kent Hance, returning to Texas today after telling a Washington news conference he has switched political parties, is no threat as a possible gubernatorial candidate, Gov. Mark White said.

"I think the problem he has to overcome first of all is the problem he stated very well — those people who switch parties run the danger of losing their old friends ... and then their new friends don't trust them," White said.

In Washington, Hance ended months of speculation about his political future by announcing: "I am a Republican." The announcement, attended by Sen. Phil Gramm, was welcomed by Gramm, who switched parties two years ago.

Calling Hance "the newest Republican" Gramm said, "I know you won't be the newest one for long." Hance did not commit himself to any political race, but did mention White, a Democrat. Several top Republican officials have urged Hance to run against White next year.

Hance said he talked with White on Wednesday and told the governor he was "leaning heavily towards making this decision." White had said that Hance had told him he was not switching parties.

"I think he may have been misreading me like he's been misreading the people of Texas for the past couple of years," Hance said.

White said history is against Hance if the new Republican chooses to run for governor.

"Texas is a very strongly Democratic state. It has been. We've had one Republican governor in 107 years. I think with any luck at all, we'll keep that record again," White said.

School board run-off Saturday

The balloting will be conducted in the old ball room at the Community Center. Voters should use the southwest door. Ballots can be taken to the curb for handicapped persons who are unable to walk inside.

A map showing the district boundaries has been published several times. Voters who are in doubt about their district can call the school business office or check at the polls to see if they are eligible to vote in District 1.

Coneway led the balloting in the first election with 92 votes; Marshall had 69, and Sammy Gonzales had 44.

Since none of the candidates had a majority of votes, the run-off election was called for the top two finishers.

District 1 is one of five single-member districts created about a year ago as the result of a suit filed against the school district. The suit claimed the at-large voting diluted the Hispanic vote. There are still two at-large districts for the seven-member board.

In the April 6 election, Bud Patterson won the District 3 seat on the school board. He received 319 votes (67.5 percent) and opponent Mary Parker polled 154 votes.

A run-off election for the District 1 seat of the Hereford School Board will be held Saturday in the Community Center, and voters will choose between Steve Coneway and Margaret Marshall.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Only registered voters who reside in the District 1 boundaries will be eligible to cast ballots. A total of 139 absentee ballots were cast, which would apparently indicate a good turnout for the election. Only 205 votes were cast in the regular April election.

From summit partners

Reagan wins backing

BONN, West Germany (AP) — President Reagan won his summit partners' backing today for arms control talks with the Soviet Union and a Reagan meeting with Soviet Mikhail Gorbachev to resolve "far-reaching differences between East and West."

A political statement issued by leaders of the seven major industrial democracies urged the Soviet Union to "conduct itself in a positive and constructive way so meaningful agreements can be reached" at the U.S.-Soviet arms control talks in Geneva.

The importance of the summit leaders' support for the U.S. negotiating position at Geneva was underscored by Secretary of State George P. Shultz. "A show of strength and the actuality of strength by our allies has always been an important factor in these negotiations, and continues to be so," he said today.

Welcoming the resumption of the Geneva talks, the summit leaders from the United States, Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan and Canada declared that "we are ready to conduct a dialogue at the highest level over the far-reaching differences between East and West."

Shultz said in an interview on NBC-TV's "Today" show from Bonn that a Reagan-Gorbachev meeting "is likely to take place one of these days," perhaps when the new Soviet leader travels to the United Nations in New York next fall.

Nevertheless, discord overshadowed the first formal session of the 11th annual economic summit, held in a small room in the Palais Schaumburg, the official residence of West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl. The initial meeting lasted 3 1/2 hours — a full hour longer than scheduled.

French President Francois Mitterrand reiterated his intention to oppose a U.S. and Japanese drive to set a target date for a new round of trade liberalization, unless there is a parallel to reform the international monetary system.

But the simmering controversy the plan by Reagan and Kohl to lay a wreath at a German military cemetery Sunday seemed to subside today with word that relatives of anti-Nazi war resisters would attend the ceremony. The four major U.S. television networks arranged to carry live broadcasts of the Bitburg ceremony.

Shultz, defending Reagan's plans, said the purpose of the widely criticized wreath-laying at Bitburg, where 49 Nazi SS soldiers are buried, is "to recognize the past, to grapple with it and at the same time to say something about the future."

Seven-period day set for HHS

To more easily comply with state rules regarding graduation requirements, the Hereford Schools board of trustees Thursday night voted to adopt a seven-period day with options of what time to start classes. The new schedule will be in operation next year so that next year's sophomores may start obtaining the credits needed for graduation in the honors program.

All busses would arrive at 8 a.m., but students may opt to begin class at 9 a.m. and go an extra period at the end of the day. According to what time a class day begins, a student may leave at either 2:35 or 3:35 in the afternoon if he is on a six period schedule. He may also choose to take seven classes.

The board also voted to accept a bid by White Prutzman Construction Co. for renovations at Aikman and Shirley schools. The bid was for $289,500.

Discussion on changing the board meeting time led to a motion to move the time to 6 p.m. on the second Tuesday of each month. Several parents had recommended that the time be changed to make it more convenient for the public. Previous meetings had been at 5 p.m. It was also mentioned that a time limit be considered.

The agenda may also be changed to allow time for general comments to be heard at the last of the meetings.

A bid was awarded to A&S Steel

Buildings of Amarillo to build a metal building near the current fieldhouse for miscellaneous activities.

The bid was over $62,000. Trustee Jo Garcia voted against the bid, saying that she would like to see the money used elsewhere.

Unemployment drops in Texas

WASHINGTON (AP) — The April unemployment rate in Texas was 6.6 percent, reflecting a decrease in the jobless rate from the previous month and from the same period a year ago in the state, government officials said today.

A strong economy in the state kept the number of unemployed Texans well below the 7.3 percent jobless rate nationwide, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

The state's seasonally adjusted April figure compared with 7.1 percent in March, and 6.7 percent in April 1984, said Martha Duff, a bureau economist.

Budget needs 'something different'

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the Reagan-endorsed 1986 budget package in pieces, Republican leaders are vowing to "try something different" to reduce federal deficits by at least $50 billion next year.

"I hope the president will understand," Senate Majority Leader Robert Dole, R-Kan., said as the GOP-controlled chamber Thursday night temporarily turned from spending cuts and voted 79-17 to recommend a minimum income tax on both corporations and individuals.

In the past, Reagan has opposed all efforts to raise taxes, challenging Congress to "make my day" by sending him a tax-increase bill he could veto.

However, the measure approved by the Senate was a non-binding resolution that would do nothing to reduce the $200 billion federal deficit.

The vote on the "sense of the Senate" tax resolution came as the Senate continued to dismantle the administration-backed budget. On a 51-48 roll call, the Senate voted to slice the administration's military buildup by $17.7 billion over the next three years. It came a day after the chamber rejected another major part of the plan negotiated by the White House and Senate leaders, scuttling proposed limits on Social Security cost-of-living increases.

"We have made our best effort," Dole said following the defense vote. "Now we may have to try something different."

Satellite dish missing from roof

A satellite dish was discovered stolen Thursday from a rooftop at Hereford Grain, 100 South Main. Police said the culprits left behind the tools used to dismantle the dish, which was valued at $1,200.

Police also responded to reports of a runaway and a lost child, both of whom returned home.

A convenience store was burglarized and a large rock thrown in the window; an undetermined amount of beer was stolen.

Police made two arrests for public intoxication, with one person also charged with shoplifting two packs of cigarettes from a grocery store.

Pro-life groups endorse compromised bill

AUSTIN (AP) — The director of an anti-abortion group says a bill to ban abortions in the final three months of pregnancy has such strong support in the Legislature that only "radical" feminists can stop it by putting pressure on legislative leaders.

Life Price of the Texas Coalition for Life told a news conference Thursday the "pro-life movement" is endorsing a scaled-down version of an abortion bill because it is the only version that can pass. "It has now become apparent to us that the only measure that has a chance of passing both the House and Senate is a ban on third-trimester abortions," said Price.

He said Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby had told "a representative of our organization that this was the only provision of the omnibus bill that he could accept." Price also said Sen. John Sharp, D-Victoria, "has told us that this is the only part for which he can get the required 21 votes for consideration."

Price said the compromise bill has "such overwhelming support" that if it doesn't reach the floor "the reason can only be traced back up to the top, and the reason for the top holding up on it can only be traced back to the radical feminist TARAL and NOW that seem to have a stranglehold on the Democratic leadership in this state."

"I think people in this state will see a rejection of a compromise like this as extremely radical, and ... there can only be one reason why this would be rejected — that is that the feminists just raise so much Cain — maybe not publicly but behind the scenes — and put the squeeze on the speaker and the lieutenant governor that it just doesn't fly," Price said.

Pam Fridrich of the Texas Abortion Rights Action League (TARAL) said, "That's a ridiculous statement. ... It sounds like name-calling to me. I doubt the leadership appreciates the inference that someone controls the leadership like that. Nobody's radical that I'm working with."

The 33-page anti-abortion bill that stalled in the Legislature would outlaw abortions in the final three

White hopes prison settlement near

AUSTIN (AP) — A settlement may be near in the multimillion-dollar, 12-year-old reform lawsuit against Texas prisons, Gov. Mark White says.

But White opposes releasing prisoners early to solve overcrowding problems.

"We've done what we think's right. We've done what we think is fair. I think you'll find that the court will respond accordingly," White said Thursday.

"Maybe we're getting closer to it. I've been trying to do that for several years," the governor told his weekly news conference.

Earlier this week, state Board of Corrections Chairman Robert Gunn said an informal settlement could be coming within a week. If a settlement isn't reached, there could be a lengthy retrial of the question of overcrowding in Texas prisons, officials have said.

The last such trial ended in 1979, resulting in U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice's ordering hundreds of reforms in the operation of Texas prisons to improve treatment of inmates and ease overcrowding.

The court-ordered reforms have cost taxpayers millions of dollars for facilities, guards and other changes.

White said he hadn't seen details of the proposed settlement, but said he is convinced the state now is spending sufficient money on the prisons to satisfy any authority.

Billion-dollar merger announced

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Natural Gas Corp. and InterNorth Inc. announced the two companies have merged, forming what could be the first border-to-border, coast-to-coast pipeline system in the United States.

The new system would be the nation's second-largest gas pipeline operation, next to Houston-based Tenneco Inc.

The two companies said Thursday a subsidiary of Omaha, Neb.-based InterNorth would begin a cash tender offer of $70 per share for all outstanding common shares of Houston Natural Gas, to be followed by a merger at the same price.

The total price for the merger was estimated at about $2.3 billion.

The merger also gives InterNorth an option to buy 5.9 million shares of Houston Natural Gas at $70 a share and an option to buy two-thirds of the stock of certain Houston Natural Gas' Texas intrastate pipeline subsidiaries, including Houston Pipe Line Co., for $867 million.

The merger, approved by directors of both companies, was announced Thursday by Sam F. Segnar, 57, chairman and chief executive officer of InterNorth, and Kenneth L. Lay, 42, chairman and chief executive officer of Houston Natural Gas Co.

The combined company will operate under the name HNG InterNorth upon completion of the merger. Segnar will serve as chairman and chief executive officer, and Lay will be president and chief operating officer.

Computer will pick Saturn site

DETROIT (AP) — A computer will make the initial decision on where General Motors Corp. should build its coveted Saturn Corp. manufacturing complex, a GM official says.

The automaker already has fed data into the computer from local communities and states competing for the automaker's high-tech carmaking project, said Alexander A. Cunningham, GM executive vice president for North American operations.

"It's a highly complex computer model which contains in it all the upfront and ongoing costs associated with a new plant development," Cunningham said. "There's everything from local taxes, inbound and outbound freight, the cost of getting material in and out, electricity costs, availability of labor — all of these things are plugged into the computer."

If the computer selects more than one area as appropriate for the plant, Cunningham said GM officials will render the final decision.

"Then you look at the more subjective things such as relationships to the community, the availability of higher educational establishments for training, all of those things which are a little more subjective, you can't hang dollars and cents on them," he said.

Cunningham said preliminary computer data should be compiled "pretty soon," and then will be submitted to the corporation's executive committee and board of directors.

Hall confirmation awaits Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate recessed for the night before confirming the U.S. District judgeship appointment of U.S. Rep. Sam B. Hall Jr., a Democrat nominated by Republican Sen. Phil Gramm.

The nomination won unanimous approval by the Senate Judiciary Committee earlier Thursday. Routine business, such as such confirmations, was scheduled for this morning before the Senate resumed debate on the budget.

Hall, 61, of Marshall, was elected to Congress in 1976. He and Gramm served together in the House where they were fellow members of the Conservative Democratic Forum — also known as the "Boll Weevils" — before Gramm switched to the Republican party.

Hall said he planned to deliver his letter of resignation from his House seat to Speaker Thomas P. "Tip" O'Neill on May 23 or May 27, then return to Marshall to be sworn in at the state district court on May 28. He said he hoped to assume his new duties by mid- or late June.

Gov. Mark White will set a date for a special election to fill the vacant congressional seat.

Sergeant hurt in Berlin blast

BERLIN (AP) — A U.S. Army sergeant's car exploded as he turned the ignition key before dawn today, officials said.

About the same time, a bomb went off at a French computer firm in Cologne, and police suspected left-wing terrorists protesting the seven-nation economic summit attended by President Reagan in Bonn.

Sgt. Raoul Rodriguez was hospitalized with light injuries in the Berlin explosion, said Erika Weise, a spokeswoman for the U.S. diplomatic mission in Berlin.

The explosion occurred at 4:30 a.m. in an American housing area of West Berlin. The sergeant's car was very badly damaged, and other cars nearby were lightly damaged, Ms. Weise said.

The U.S. forces radio network AFN warned all American troops to check their cars before starting them.

In Cologne, the bomb went off at a French firm that repairs computers for the West German army, causing considerable damage but injuring no one, police said.

The bomb went off at 4:06 a.m. at the "Telekommunikation Radio, Elektroniques und Telefoniques" office on the south side of Cologne, police said.

The explosion caused an estimated $10,000 in damage, Cologne police spokesman Alfons Selt said.

Jury studies Collazo case

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — The case of State Rep. Frank Collazo, a five-term lawmaker who is accused of bribery, was in the hands of a jury today.

A seven-man, five-woman jury in Jefferson County deliberated about five hours Thursday before adjourning for the night.

Collazo, 53, D-Port Arthur, is accused of soliciting business partnerships in return for his influence as a legislator.

The key prosecution witness was Chester Slay, a Beaumont shipyard owner and former state representative who last year lost a water pollution lawsuit brought by the state.

Slay testified during the trial that Collazo sought an interest in two of Slay's companies in exchange for offering to influence the Texas Water Quality Board and the state Department of Water Resources.

Collazo was indicted by March 21 on a single charge of bribery, a second-degree felony.

Two Senators have much in common

WASHINGTON (AP) — For years, scholars have been saying that the members of the United States Senate are 100 individualists, fiercely independent. So how come the senators from Massachusetts are so much alike?

The question arises from the current issue of Washington Dossier magazine, which is devoted to likes, dislikes, habits and aspirations of the senators.

From the article one can learn that Sen. Mark Hatfield dunks peanut-butter-and-bacon sandwiches in buttermilk, that Sen. Jesse Helms' favorite movies are "Patton" and "The Sound of Music" and that Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan of New York loves any journalist.

1,000 people return home in Childress

CHILDRESS, Texas (AP) — About 1,000 people evacuated after a derailed tank car spewed clouds of hydrogen peroxide are back in their homes today, officials say.

The residents were evacuated shortly after six cars of a Burlington Northern train derailed at 1 a.m. CDT Thursday in this Northwest Texas agricultural community of 6,000 people.

Emergency crews released pressure on the tank car that had ruptured and released the non-toxic but irritating chemical, and residents were allowed to return to their homes at 9:45 a.m., police said.

The cloud dissipated after drifting over southeast Childress, a Childress County sheriff's spokeswoman said.

Authorities said at least one elementary school was closed for the day.

Three actresses to testify on plight of U.S. farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three actresses who played distressed farm wives are being brought to Capitol Hill by House Democrats in an attempt to revive interest in the farm crisis — and the early reviews are mixed.

Jessica Lange, Sissy Spacek and Jane Fonda are scheduled to testify Monday before the Democratic Party's House farm task force on the emotional toll of the financial stress experienced by farm families, something akin to their roles in the movies "Country," "The River" and "The Dollmaker," respectively.

But the session already was provoking some unease on Capitol Hill over the public relations impact of having wealthy actresses represent farmers who are going broke, and whether a publicity stunt might trivialize the very real problems of farmers.

Rep. Tony Coelho, a California Democrat who used his show-business connections to help arrange Monday's events, said, however, that the actresses had every right to testify before Congress on the farm crisis.

"They probably have a better understanding of the problems of agriculture than the actor in the White House," Coelho said. "These people are serious about their concerns. As a result of playing this role, they become knowledgeable and have a sense of feeling... There is no direct politics involved here."

But other than Coelho, few would claim more than passing knowledge of the actresses' schedules for Monday, which were to include their testimony, a private meeting with representatives of farm groups and a closed luncheon with House members.

The Agriculture Committee distanced itself from the plans, saying although the session is being held in its hearing room, it did not have the panel's official sanction.

HANCE

Hance came within 1,400 votes of being the Democratic nominee against Gramm in 1984. Since then, he has been heavily courted by top Republicans.

Hance for weeks had said a party change wasn't "in the cards." He recently told several fellow Democrats, including state party chairman Bob Slagle, that he wasn't planning to "change parties or wives."

Gov. Mark White said he talked with Hance by telephone on Wednesday and that Hance said he intended to remain a Democrat.

"Yesterday, he said he wasn't going to do it. I don't know what he's going to do today," White said Thursday. "He's said (in the past) he hadn't planned to switch. That's what I'd heard, and that's what he confirmed yesterday."

Gramm, himself a former "boll weevil" Democrat, has been a prime mover in the GOP's efforts to convince Democrats to change parties. He has attended news conferences in Texas where local elected Democratic officials announced their switches to the Republican Party.

months of pregnancy, forbid the use of public money for abortions and require parental consent for pregnant minors. A later version, according to Ms. Fridrich, would allow an "aggrieved person" to get a court injunction to block an abortion, and a second provision would require a doctor to certify abortions as "necessary."

Price said Thursday the new proposal had been reduced to three pages, and other than banning late pregnancies would only require that a second doctor be present to "take charge of the baby if there's a live birth."

He said the proposal is almost identical to a "pro-life" bill approved almost unanimously in Arkansas two months ago.

"It passed their House 90-0 and their Senate 30-2. I predict the results will be the same here," he said. "We believe that we have a version of the bill that will finally end the drought of anti-abortion laws in this state."

Ms. Fridrich said TARAL would oppose the new proposal. She said it includes "doubletalk," appears unconstitutionally vague and shifts a burden of proof to the physician that the abortion is needed.

"I don't know what problem this legislation serves. I don't anyone who does trimester abortions," she said.

Price said, "I think there will be an awful lot of discouraged conservative Democrats in this Legislature if this bill doesn't pass — I don't

A House Democratic Caucus staff member said the caucus had little to do with arrangements. And Peggy Connolly, a spokeswoman for Coelho's Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, said "It did not start with our committee. We're just helping."

A Republican Agriculture Committee member, Rep. Pat Roberts, R-Kan., questioned the need for such a session and said he feared it might be "counterproductive."

"Apparently we're going to play 'Hollywood Squares' in the Agriculture Committee," Roberts said.

Some Republican officials have urged Hance to become the party's nominee for governor, but sources said they didn't expect Hance to announce his candidacy at today's news conference.

White said he didn't discuss a possible gubernatorial bid with Hance during their phone call.

"I didn't ask if he was going to run against me. I would think that certainly he would have better judgment than that," White said.

"I just wanted to see if he was going to be continuing in his support of me as he had in the past and said before he would. He said he had no plans to switch," the governor added.

Asked about the switch, state GOP spokesman Byron Nelson said he didn't know Hance's plans.

However, Nelson said, if Hance does become a Republican, "It could be the biggest event in the Republicanizing of the state of Texas."

Nelson said Hance's background could lead many other conservative Democrats, particularly in West Texas, to change parties as well.

mean pass — if it doesn't get an up or down vote. We're not asking the leadership to guarantee us that we'll win. We just think it deserves a vote."

Ms. Fridrich responded, "I think they just want to encourage the same groups to come back next time and pass more stringent legislation. To represent it as anything else is not honest."

"To paint it as innocent isn't right. The big picture is they want to make it impossible to get an abortion."

Ann Landers

Too much medicine being taken

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column is probably the greatest single educational tool in the world. I hope that on behalf of the public you will rap the knuckles of a great many physicians and pharmacists.

As a senior nursing student, I have heard time and time again, "My doctor didn't tell me the side effects of my medicines." Not only do people not know the side effects, they don't know what other drugs and foods to avoid while taking a medication, and other relevant information.

Sure, they should ask their physician or pharmacist, but most people are too intimidated, too sick or unaware that they should ask.

Please remind physicians and pharmacists of the importance of taking the time to educate consumers when giving them prescriptions. Thank you.—SOON-TO-BE-RN very little, or nothing at all.

Since many patients (and drugstore customers) are reluctant to ask questions for fear of appearing ignorant, it is the responsibility of the physician and the pharmacist to explain what the medicine is supposed to do, side effects that may occur, and encourage them to phone if they suspect they are in trouble.

People should be warned against drinking alcohol (beer IS alcohol), smoking pot or using recreational drugs while taking medication. Also, they should inquire whether it is safe to drive a car or operate machinery. One's vision, sense of timing and depth perception are often impaired by medication. Be aware!

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 20 and single. My boyfriend, "Bob," is 29, divorced and has two kids.

Last week I heard from three people that Bob might be the father of another little girl. I am sick about it because Bob never mentioned this. When I told him what I had heard he admitted it was possible. Bob has never seen the child nor does he want to. I found this surprising because he is very sweet and generous to his little daughters.

I've heard several people say there is a definite question as to whether the two girls are his. Bob's ex-wife was the type who slept with everybody. The kids don't look like him at all. When I asked him to get some blood tests, he refused.

I am so confused because I love Bob and he loves me. If someday we marry and have children, I don't think it is fair that he should pay child support for the next 10 years for children that may not be his. He says I'm selfish and maybe I am, but I am only trying to look into the future, and what I see ahead is a lot of trouble. I told him I didn't want to have anything more to do with him. But I know he won't stay away from me. I love him so much but I don't know what to do. — CHAMBERSBURG, PA.

DEAR PA.: Get some counseling before you make any definite decisions about marriage. If you ignore reason and follow your heart you're sure to regret it. You need the emotional support that comes with knowing you have the ability to separate fantasy from reality. At the moment you sound extremely confused.

It's not always easy to recognize love, especially the first time around. Acquaint yourself with the guidelines. Read Ann Landers' booklet, "Love or Sex and How to Tell the Difference." For a copy, mail 50 cents and a long, self-addressed envelope with your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

Banana mask

DEAR POLLY — Do you have a recipe for a beauty cream for dry skin? — MRS. B.K.

DEAR MRS. B.K. — Try this banana mask to moisturize and soothe dry skin. You can use it every day, if you like.

Mash a very ripe banana with two teaspoons olive oil. Spread the mixture on your skin and leave it for 15 minutes, then rinse it off thoroughly.

I'm sending you a copy of my newsletter "The Home Beauty Spa," which has other formulas for skin treatments and other homemade cosmetics, including aloe vera salves, oatmeal facials, hair treatments, bubble bath and more. Others who would like this issue should send $1 for each copy to POLLY'S POINTERS, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1216, Cincinnati, OH 45201. Be sure to include the title. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — To make an inexpensive spray starch, I mix three tablespoons dry starch in cold water, then put that in a spray bottle. I refrigerate it to keep it from souring until needed again.

To keep meringue from weeping, I combine two tablespoons cornstarch, two tablespoons sugar and one-half cup water, cook until clear, then cool. I add this mixture to the egg whites while beating them.

If you don't have a shallow pan or cookie sheet on which to bake cookies or biscuits, turn a cake or pie pan upside down and bake them on the bottom of the pan. — BERTHA

DEAR POLLY — Add a diced cooked carrot to meat loaf to keep the loaf moist.

Dieters actually need beef

"Many dieters deny themselves beef when they might be better off including it in their meals," says Texas A&M Agricultural extension specialist Marilyn Haggard.

"People who eat meat have a better balanced diet," according to Texas Tech Thornton Professor Rodney L. Preston. "Per calorie consumed, beef provides more of the required nutrients than any of the other food groups."

The university scientist pointed out that an average serving of meat supplies only 10 percent of the calories required, but provides 59 percent of the required vitamin B12, 45 percent of the protein or essential amino acids, 34 percent of the zinc, 32 percent of the iron, 22 percent of the thiamine, 21 percent of the riboflavin, 20 percent of the phosphorous, and 16 percent of the vitamin B6.

Beef and other meats are nutrient-dense foods that provide relatively large amounts of essential nutrients in relation to the total calories they contain. Inclusion of meat in the daily intake makes a well-balanced diet easy to achieve, while those who, for one reason or another, do not eat meat, must pay much more rigid attention to their diets in order to achieve a healthful balance.

Dear School Board Voters!

It really is disturbing that, after all the other problems that Texas Rural Legal Aid had created here, there is now a problem with it trying to control our schools by getting their people on the school board. The attempt isn't as bad as it started out to be, since the TRLA secretary withdrew from the race in her district.

We wonder how many people understand that Margaret Marshall, who is now in the run-off election against Steve Coneway, is the wife of Randall Marshall, local leader of TRLA. She is very intelligent and capable and friendly, but she is absolutely in favor of what TRLA has been doing here. With her kind of political thinking, if she is elected there will be no line drawn between the Jesus Moya - Legal Aid activities and what Mrs. Marshall sees as the job of the schools.

We believe that, at best, there would be more risky and unproven teaching methods, with more far-out "pilot programs" being accepted here for experimenting on our children. And we believe, at worst, there would be even more prejudice, tension, and lack of discipline as school officials are intimidated into allowing the bullying and terrorism by the rough kids, for fear of a lawsuit. Either way, it could only worsen the educational system here for Blacks, Whites, Asians, and Hispanics.

The TRLA forces have already driven away many old and new jobs from Deaf Smith County, which were most needed by the families of students who are having the hardest time in school. Let's not make things even worse by putting into the classroom those ideas and practices promoted by TRLA.

Scientist studies sperm production

Family planning for horses—it's a big business in the multi-million-dollar livestock industry. And what we know about horse reproductive cycles may point the way to understanding fertility problems in men. Larry Johnson, PhD, assistant professor of Cell Biology at The University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas, is conducting a study of sperm generation in horses.

"We are interested in sperm production in mammals in general, using stallions as a model," says Johnson. "Stallions, like humans, produce sperm continuously during the year. Stallions produce at a higher rate in the breeding season than at other times, but horses are different from other seasonal breeders in that they don't stop producing outside of their season. We are trying to understand which testicular and hormonal factors are changing in the yearly sperm-producing cycle that would contribute to seasonal changes in sperm production rates."

This seasonal modulation, says Johnson, may parallel age-related changes in man's fertility. And understanding this modulation in stallions may affect the way horse breeding is managed.

Specifically, the study focuses on the changing numbers of three types of cell: mature sperm cells, "germ cells" from which sperm cells grow, and "support cells" that foster this growth. In the horse, high relative proportions of germ cells and support cells precede the seasonal increases in production of mature sperm. "We looked at specimens taken every month throughout the annual reproductive cycle of the stallions," Johnson says. "We evaluated the sperm production process at different developmental stages all along the way to try to figure out which components changed first in the cycle."

"Specifically, we have found that two types of support cell, Sertoli cells and Leydig cells, increase in number during the breeding season when sperm production rates are highest. The Sertoli cells provide an environment for development of the immature germ cells, and changes in their numbers parallel changes in sperm production rates. Leydig cells produce the male sex hormone, testosterone, but, unlike the Sertoli cells, the Leydig cells increase in number a month before the seasonally increased sperm production rate rises."

But the production of viable sperm is a two-stage process: even during periods of high germ-cell production, a high rate of germ-cell degeneration can mean low fertility. "This degeneration of germ cells," Johnson says, "is a particularly important factor, but not much is known about the process. Some degeneration is a normal phenomenon, but it can reduce daily sperm production in man or beast by as much as 75 percent. In horses, we have found—much to our surprise—that the degeneration rate increases during the breeding season. But during the season the number of germ cells is sufficiently elevated to override this higher degeneration rate and bring about an elevated production of sperm."

Understanding these processes will help map the mechanisms in the reproductive system that control fertility. "We want to know, first of all," says Johnson, "what factors change when. That may show us which factors have a causative effect, and controlling that cause may be the aim of future research. It may show the way to increasing sperm production in men with low sperm counts or to reducing male fertility as a means of birth control."

"But of course," Johnson cautions, "this study is just a first step. Any future research, especially research on human fertility problems, will have to be based on a clear understanding of the sperm-production process. It's that basic schedule that we're after."

Help Your Heart

WE'RE FIGHTING FOR YOUR LIFE

It's possible to eat more but weigh less, if you exercise. That's what Dr. Peter Wood, professor of medicine (research) at Stanford University, said at a recent American Heart Association symposium. "Physically active people tend to eat more, maybe several hundred calories more per day than sedentary people, and yet they weigh less in the process, he said."

Dr. Wood and his colleagues have studied Stanford faculty wives who play at least 10 hours of singles tennis per week, and compared them with sedentary faculty wives of similar ages. "The sedentary women were considerably more overweight than the tennis players," he said. "When we had both groups record what they were eating, there was a large difference in the recorded intake of calories. The tennis players were definitely not dieting but were lean, while the sedentary women were eating very modestly yet were relatively overweight."

The Stanford University researchers also have studied 14 sedentary men who agreed to gradually build up their exercise level until they were running 13 miles per week. The scientists followed their progress as they maintained that exercise level for two years. "Even though their food intake increased, their body fat decreased," he said. "The amount of fat they lost was rather nicely related to how much running they achieved. So becoming active tends to make people lean."

Physically active individuals also are known to have a lower risk of heart disease. Active people may receive some protection from both their leanness and from their muscular contractions during exercise, he continued. "Several groups of researchers are doing studies right now that should show which of these two effects is most beneficial."

Dr. Wood emphasizes that he is not recommending an increased calorie intake for individuals who are overweight and don't plan to exercise. But for the millions of Americans who have joined the "exercise explosion" that began in the 1960s, eating more calories, especially in the form of carbohydrates, won't stop them from staying lean, he concludes.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The Sunday morning services will be held at 10:30 a.m. instead of the usual morning worship service at 11 a.m. "Down by the Creek Bank," a musical program, will be presented by the preschool to fourth grade age children of the church.

The church School for Christian Living will be hosting a "Return to Happy Days Party" beginning at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Fellowship Hall.

Tyler's heroics lead Pistons to 125-117 win over Celtics

By HARRY ATKINS

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons, who had been all but given up for dead, find themselves with new hope after getting the kiss of life from Terry Tyler.

Tyler, who specializes in fourth-quarter heroics, came through again Thursday night, scoring 16 of his 18 points in the final period to lift Detroit to a 125-117 National Basketball Association victory over the turnover-prone Boston Celtics.

The victory left the Celtics with a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal series with Game 4 scheduled for Sunday in Joe Louis Arena. In the only other game, Denver beat Utah 131-123 in overtime to take a 2-0 edge in their Western Conference series.

"It's one game, but it's one that we had to get," Detroit Coach Chuck Daly said. "I thought that the guys played hard. We just keep working to get the game at hand."

Detroit won the game with a strong second half. The game was tied 62-62 at intermission and the Celtics held a commanding 31-19 rebounding edge. It was another story in the final two quarters, however, as the Pistons took control of the boards, 27-19.

The Celtics also hurt themselves with an uncharacteristic 23 turnovers which resulted in 20 Detroit points.

"We dug our own grave," Boston Coach K.C. Jones moaned.

Dennis Johnson was high for Boston with 27 points and Larry Bird added 25.

Nuggets 131, Jazz 123
Guard Lafayette Lever scored six of his 22 points in overtime and center Wayne Cooper hit a pair of long range jump shots early in the extra session to lead Denver.

Utah, which will host Games 3 and 4 Saturday and Sunday, had tied the game at 119-119 on a pair of free throws by Thurl Bailey after leading by as many as seven points twice in the fourth period. But the Jazz, who went cold in the final seven minutes, fell behind in overtime and never got back in the game.

Afterward, Utah Coach Frank Layden gave his team a dressing down in the locker room.

"In this age of the very high-paid athlete, people are sometimes afraid to point things out to them that they failed at," Layden said.

"I'm not afraid to talk to my players about areas in which they failed. I think they all have to earn their money. I believe in the fact that each individual has personal responsibilities.

"We're down 2-0 and now we have to go back to Utah and shrink this series to a three-game series tied at 2-2."

While Utah was suffering from turnovers and missed shots, Lever sank four free throws in the closing minute to secure the victory.

Top Three In Men's B Singles

The participants who placed in the men's class B singles division in the racquetball tournament played recently at the YMCA were Jerry Koenig, left, consolation; Bill

Former SMU player Bobby Leach

Cowboys sign free agent

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys have signed former Southern Methodist wide receiver Bobby "Miracle Man" Leach to a free-agent contract.

Several all-Southwest Conference players went unclaimed by anyone in Tuesday's National Football League draft, and were left wondering why. In the 5-11, 170-pound Leach, the Cowboys signed someone who not only didn't make all-conference, he never even broke into the starting lineup at SMU.

Leach got his nickname during the 1982 season, when he caught only six passes, but several of them were game-winners. His most famous play was a 91-yard kickoff return in the final seconds that turned a 27-27 tie with Texas Tech into a dramatic 34-27 victory en route to SMU's 11-0-1 season.

He also turned a deflected pass into a 79-yard touchdown in SMU's win over Texas and made a key catch to set up the game's only touchdown in the Mustangs' 7-3 Cotton Bowl victory over Pittsburgh.

"His past performance of making big plays makes him an excellent prospect," said Dallas Cowboys director of player personnel Gil Brandt.

"I think he has a chance to make our team and inject some big play potential we haven't seemed to have had lately. He can be real exciting," Brandt said Thursday morning, minutes after signing Leach.

Leach had been considering going to Denver or San Diego.

Two other Mustangs, offensive lineman Andrew Campbell and linebacker Anthony Beverley, were studying offers from several NFL teams on Thursday, but were puzzled why they weren't drafted.

Campbell, a 6-5, 270-pound guard, made all-SWC twice for a Southern Methodist University team that was ranked high nationally both seasons.

"It's a cut, a rip, more than anything else," Campbell, a four-year letterman from Highland Park, said about not being drafted.

"I'm afraid the public will think I'm an overrated player," Campbell told The Dallas Morning News. "I don't think the guys I played against will think that, but the fans might."

Campbell was not invited to the scouting combine camp in January in Arizona, officials said.

"I knew over the last few weeks my stock had gone down," Campbell said. "But I didn't have any indication why. My agent (Joe Courrege) doesn't know why either."

"When I didn't get invited to the combine, I knew there might be a problem," he said. "I talked to scouts and general managers, and they said it would not make any difference, but I think it did. It hurt my exposure."

Campbell said his agent told him five NFL teams had made offers for him, with the best coming from Detroit and the Los Angeles Raiders. Arkansas guard Marcus Elliott

Texas Christian safety Byron Linwood each made first-team all-SWC last year, but were passed up Tuesday.

But Beverley is "95 percent sure" of signing with Seattle, said his agent, Lloyd Bloom of New York.

Officials said Beverley did not report to SMU spring training and scouts did not know that the 6-2, 215-pound linebacker was available until it was too late for full evaluation.

Texas linebacker Tony Edwards and Baylor guard Joel Barrett were not drafted.

NFL officials said Linwood's 4.8 second time in the 40 was too slow, even though he was instrumental in helping TCU to the Bluebonnet Bowl, the school's first bowl appearance since 1959.

"Linwood was a good college player, but he has a speed deficiency," one NFL executive said. "Lyle Blackwood (Miami) runs about 4.9, I know, but he is so smart he can get away with it."

"It will be hard for Linwood to survive until he gets that experience," the executive said.

Scouts said Elliott, at 6-2, cannot hold more weight on his frame than his 260 pounds last season.

A's rally in ninth to beat Brewers 5-4

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It was a tough loss, and therefore an easy one for Milwaukee Brewers Manager George Bamberger to second-guess.

"There couldn't be a worse way to lose," he said after the Oakland A's put together four consecutive two-out hits in the bottom of the ninth off Rollie Fingers and Ray Searage for a dramatic 5-4 victory Thursday that snapped a seven-game losing streak.

Bamberger admitted he might have made a mistake when he lifted Fingers, the major league's all-time save leader, after the relief ace had given up a two-out single to Bruce Bochte.

"In the middle of the year, I might not have taken Rollie out," Bamberger said. "Right now, I wish I'd have left him in."

In other American League games, the Boston Red Sox defeated the Seattle Mariners 2-1, and the California Angels beat the Toronto Blue Jays 3-2. There were no National League games scheduled Thursday.

The Brewers had taken a 3-0 lead in the top of the first inning on an RBI double by Cecil Cooper and run-scoring groundouts by Robin Yount and Ted Simmons. But the A's came back in the bottom of the first on a two-run homer by Dave Kingman, his fifth.

The Brewers made it 4-2 in the fourth on an RBI single by Jim Gantner. The A's got that run back in the fifth on Griffin's run-scoring grounder.

"There was a lot of excitement out there," Hill said. "It was like a World Series game. We needed something like this after losing so much."

Bamberger, of course, couldn't feel anything but sick.

"A game like that," he said, "could put a man in his grave."

Red Sox 2, Mariners 1

Al Nipper and two relievers combined on a five-hitter and Rich Gedman cracked a solo homer to lead Boston over Seattle.

Nipper, 1-1, held the Mariners scoreless until they punched across a run on Phil Bradley's sacrifice fly in the eighth inning. Bob Ojeda and Bob Stanley finished up, with Stanley recording his fourth save as the Red Sox snapped a five-game losing streak.

Gedman, the Boston catcher, lined a homer off Seattle starter Mike Moore, 2-3, in the second inning for his second homer of the season. The Red Sox scored their eventual winning run in the fourth inning on an RBI single by Jackie Gutierrez.

"Everybody knows this team isn't hitting up to its potential," said Red Sox Manager John McNamara. "But we got a two-run lead and made it stand up. And that's a start."

The Red Sox came into Seattle hitting only .195 on the road. They had seven hits off Moore in the first 3 1/3 innings.

Angels 3, Blue Jays 2

Juan Beniquez' pinch single with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning capped a two-run rally that boosted California over Toronto.

With the Blue Jays leading 2-1, Ruppert Jones led off with a single and took second on a sacrifice by Doug DeCinces. Reggie Jackson then walked, and Rob Wilfong singled to score Jones with the tying run.

Reliever Jim Acker took over for Dave Stieb, 1-3, and retired Jerry Narron on a fly ball before Beniquez singled sharply to center to score Jackson with the winning run.

Men's Novice Champion

John Dominguez, left, won the men's novice division in the first annual racquetball tournament played at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA. Pictured with him is Lloyd Ames of Hereford Cablevision.

Men's B Doubles Winners

Dr. Gerald Payne, left, and Bill Keenan won the men's class B doubles title at the recent racquetball tournament played at the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA.

LABELS

I am running for the H.I.S.D. school board because I am concerned about the education that is provided to all our children. As a professional educator and a mother of two children, I am concerned that the education we offer the children of Hereford be the best that it can be. Our school board needs educators making decisions about the quality of teaching and learning in this district. As long as we are not meeting the needs of every student we cannot be satisfied with our efforts. I believe that our children must be treated as individuals and allowed to progress according to their abilities rather than according to calendars and standardized groups.

I think my background makes me uniquely qualified to serve on the board. I have a master's degree in education with 8 years of classroom teaching experience and am currently teaching at West Texas State University. As more and more changes come from the state, it will become increasingly important to have board members who have a thorough knowledge of the educational process and some first hand experience in what goes on in a classroom. I have the skills and experience necessary to help lead the board in that direction.

This election should be about qualifications and level-headed concern for the best education we can provide our children. It should not be about labels, rumors, gossip or distortions.

As you consider the issues and qualifications of the candidates, I ask that you vote for me this Saturday, May 4, at the Community Center. Together we can ensure that the board makes sound educational decisions.

Sincerely,

Margaret J. Marshall
