Robertson, Klan candidate, to be held August 23.

The vote was practically all in tonight, according to officials of the Texas election bureau here. Little material change in the relative standing of the candidates was expected.

With complete returns from 222 out of the 252 counties of the state in and incomplete returns from 251 of that number, Mrs. Ferguson led Davidson 6,035 votes according to figures released by the Texas Election Bureau at 6:30 tonight.

The total vote accounted for was 692,943. The estimated total of the ballots cast in the primary a week ago was estimated at 700,000.

NELSON LANDS WITHOUT MATES

LOST COMPANIONS IN FOG AND REACHED ICELAND AT 4:40 SATURDAY

By United Press.

ABOARD THE U. S. S. RICHMOND, HOUSTON, BAY, Orkney Islands, Aug. 2.—(By wireless to U. S.)—Lt. Nelson and his mechanic, Lt. John Harding, Jr., flying on alone after losing track of their companions of the American World Flight Expedition in fogs over the North Atlantic, reached Hornsford, Iceland, safely at 4:40 p. m. Greenwich Mean Time today.

The distance from the Orkneys is 535 miles.

The other two army planes, piloted by Lts. Lowell Smith and Leigh Wade, circled back to the Orkneys after running into dense banks of fog 25 miles out of Houton Bay. They will attempt to go on tomorrow if the weather permits.

The American destroyers and cruisers acting as station ships for the flyers remained at their posts.

The three planes soared up from Houton Bay, Iceland—bound at 9:30 but ran into unexpected fog before they had been under way an hour. They became separated, but Smith and Wade later came together in a clear space and after a vain search for Nelson, came back to the Richmond flagship of the convoy.

The Billingsley laying off the Faroe Islands was the first to pick him up.

Nelson and Harding were sighted off Faroe at 12:00 p. m. Greenwich Mean Time, flying ahead, weather clear and favorable, the destroyer radioed at 1:30.

Meantime, the Kirkwall land radio station picked up a message indicating Nelson was returning to the Orkneys.

This caused considerable confusion until the Reid reported sighting the airmen well off the Orkney and on his way to Iceland at 2:40 Greenwich.

Meantime as Lt. Nelson headed west, passed over the U. S. Torpedo Boat Destroyer Billingsley, he dropped a message asking whether the vessel had sighted the other planes.

The Billingsley replied with blasts of its whistles in codes that they had not passed whereupon Nelson continued to Iceland.

SUIT SEEKING RECOVERY OF HUGE OIL RESERVE IN ELKS HILLS SECTION FILED IN DISTRICT COURT BY U. S. ATTORNEY

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 2.—Oil lands in the Elk Hill Naval petroleum reserve valued at more than $4,000,000 now leased to the Belridge Oil Company, will be returned to the government under the terms of a suit filed in United States district court here today by United States Attorney Burke.

The government seeks to recover 142.16 acres of land adjacent to a lease held by the Pan American Petroleum corporation headed by Edwin W. Doherty, which is already the subject of similar litigation.

The Belridge lease, according to the suit was granted by E. C. Finney, assistant secretary of the interior and under Albert B. Fall. The complaint charges that the lease was granted without advertising and competitive bidding which makes the transaction illegal.

Hearing on the request of United States Attorney Burke for the appointment of a receiver pending trial of the suit, will be held before Federal Judge MacCormick during the coming week. A temporary injunction to prevent the Belridge company from taking more oil from the property included in the lease is also asked in the suit.

LABOR VOTES TO GIVE SUPPORT TO LA FOLLETTE TO CONFERENCE

ACTION TAKEN WITHOUT DISSENT AFTER ALL DAY DISCUSSION

By United Press.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Aug. 2.—Labor will support La Follette.

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor this evening voted adoption of report giving official sanction and qualified endorsement to the independent candidate. The Council's action is a guide to the vote of organized labor, which are directed now to the support of Senator Robert M. La Follette in the coming presidential election.

The action was taken after an all day discussion among the eleven council members and the decision is understood to have been without dissent.

Details of the report were withheld until Sunday night by Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, and chairman of the council who declared facilities for issuing the contents so limited the report could not be made public until then.

The council made only a few minor changes in the wording of a report drawn by its non-partisan political campaign committee, also headed by Gompers.

The action of the council conforms to endorsements made in previous presidential campaigns, and does not bind the organization of three million organized laborers to any "third-party movement." It declares and La Follette and his policies represent—as against Coolidge and Davis—the ambitions of labor.

CANYON, Texas, Aug. 2.—The Santa Fe Railroad is this week laying auxiliary tracks in Canyon getting ready to begin construction on the new station. The contract for the station is to be let in Amarillo today, and construction must start within two weeks, and the building must be completed by the first of January.

It is reported that Santa Fe officials have decided to build and maintain a park surrounding the new station in Canyon, and the city has almost completed plans for a White Way to extend from the station to Fourth Avenue and east of the city limits.

This white way will be about a mile and a quarter long.

Fire fighting equipment was sent from here and from Ranger. The Caddo blaze was the third serious oil field fire in this vicinity within the last few weeks.

GERMANS WILLING ABIDE BY DAWES PROGRAM SETTLEMENT NEAR

By United Press.

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—The German government early today accepted an invitation from premier Ramsay MacDonald to send delegates to London to discuss machinery for giving effect to experts plan. The cabinet sat until a late hour discussing the lines that the German delegation, headed by Chancellor Marx will advocate at the reparations parity.

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Settlement of the tangled reparations questions through application of the program worked out in Paris by the committee of experts headed by Charles Dawes, of the United States seemed well on the way to achievement tonight.

A plenary session of the allied conference later today invited Germany to send delegates to the conference as soon as possible and it was expected Chancellor Marx and foreign minister Stresemann, representing the Reich's government will arrive in London not later than Tuesday.

The government already has announced its willingness to abide by the Dawes program and it appeared the conference has fairly clear sailing next week.

The invitation of the German government was received in the forenoon at Berlin at 9:55 to-night and preparations made for the departure of the German representatives as soon as possible.

Complete agreement on the questions between France and the other allies and the United States which locked three weeks away at the plenary session today after strenuous work by a group of the delegates led by Colonel James A. Long of the United States. The allies France made concessions.

The allies accepted the modified French formula on guarantees for investors in the proposed $200,000,000 loan to Germany and penalties to be inflicted on Germany in event she defaulted on her promises.

France on the other hand, agreed to the modified allied proposals for evacuation of the Ruhr and details of this program now are being worked out by special committees.

Prime Minister MacDonald presided at today's plenary meeting and expressed his delight at the success of the work.

The reports of the second and third committees were accepted and MacDonald then asked permission to send an invitation to Germany. This was granted and the big seven immediately drafted the text of the communication.

Reports here from New York that half the $200,000,000 reparations loan to be floated by international bankers for the German's will be offered in the United States, were received with interest and believed probably correct.

American bankers here believe the loan will carry satisfactory guarantees of payment as the agreement between the allies now stands.

It was admitted there are possibilities.

A young German, Czanz, was used by Haarman to lure his victims for him.

13 KILLED AND 33 INJURED IS TOLL FROM 20 CROSSING ACCIDENTS IN TWO MONTHS

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 2.—Thirteen persons were killed and thirty-three others injured in twenty accidents at railroad grade crossings in Texas during the months of April and May. This makes a total casualty list of forty-six, according to reports received by the railroad commission.

In April, the accidents numbered fourteen, resulting in the death of three and injuries to nineteen. Six accidents in May took a toll of ten death and fourteen injured.

Although a number of investigations have been received from chambers of commerce, state fair organizations and scattered party leaders, choice of the city has not yet been made. Kansas City, St. Louis and Des Moines are most prominently mentioned.

There will be no glittering generalities in the opening address according to Shaver. Taking advantage of the sentiment of unrest in the agrarian regions, Davis will discuss the ills of agriculture—and what his party proposes to do to relieve them. Although party organizations and the routine of preparation will go forward during the next few weeks, there will be no entrance into active campaigning until after the midwestern engagement, Shaver said.

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 2.—Allen Fisher who set a new world's record for continuous driving of an automobile was stopped here this afternoon after he had driven his car for 144 hours 33.5 minutes. Fisher had beaten the previous world's record by 19 hours and 39.5 minutes.

He was forced to stop the endurance contest when the doctor riding with him discovered that his heart was missing regular beats and declared that he further continuation was very dangerous to his life.

When the endurance test was ended, Fisher's chains that bound him to the car were unlocked and he was taken to a local hospital to enjoy the first sleep he had had since last Sunday.

FORMER RANGER SAYS HE LOANED MILLER PISTOL

SEARCH FOR MILLER FAILS MRS. HOBART RETURNED FOR QUESTIONING

By United Press.

AMARILLO, Tex., Aug. 2.—Another startling development in the E. W. Hobart murder mystery here occurred today when, after twelve hours of severe grilling by Sheriff Less Whitaker and J. B. Wheatley, Ranger Sergeant R. A. Starnes, former Amarillo policeman, made a signed statement in which he declared that E. T. Miller, local attorney charged with murder in connection with the case, asked him for a revolver July 14, the evening Hobart was shot down in a field on the edge of town.

Authorities immediately set out to search for Miller, who is free on bond, but no trace of him had been found tonight. Mrs. Ruth Hobart, widow of the slain Plainview man, was returned to Amarillo tonight from Plainview where she also was free on bond on a murder charge in connection with the case. Authorities say they intend merely to question her further.

In his statement, Starnes said Miller came to the farm on which he was working the evening of the slaying, and asked him if he had a gun. Starnes told the attorney he had none, but would try to get one for him, according to the statement.

Later in the evening, Starnes said, he procured a revolver from a filling station attendant and placed it under the seat of his car, along with several shells, after telling Miller where he would park the car.

Tuesday or Wednesday following the slaying, Starnes declared, he found the weapon under the seat of his car, but said he did not notice any shells there.

Starnes was released after he signed the statement.

ACTION OF BRYAN CHARACTERIZED AS BLUNDER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 2.—Gov. Bryan and other state officials who refuse to cooperate with the "roose" day program of President Coolidge are making a "blunder," Senator James A. Reed, Missouri declared here tonight.

The pretense is that if we make preparations to defend our borders from mattock, we will thereby create a just for blood and go about making trouble in the limit of absurdity, Reed said.

"The purpose of the defense program is to develop the best possible plan for mobilization of our resources, so that nations will hesitate to attack us."

"The program may be full of errors, but I prefer to accept judgment of General Pershing, that of Gov. Bryan."

E. LEE BROWN MAY RECOVER FROM INJURIES SUSTAINED IN THE CAR WRECK AT LITTLEFIELD FRIDAY A. M.

E. L. McKenzie, agent for the Magnolia Petroleum Company of varillo, who together with E. L. Brown, local Magnolia agent was seriously injured when the car in which they were riding turned over near Littlefield, will recover, according to statements made at the West Texas Hospital just before noon Saturday following a thorough examination.

X-Ray examinations of the men showed that two of McKenzie's ribs were broken while three others were fractured and dislocated. He is suffering from minor body injuries but unless unexpected complications arise will be able to be out of the sanitarium within ten days or two weeks, according to the attending physicians.

Mr. Brown is not so fortunate and his recovery is not yet certain, but physicians are hopeful that his condition will not prove fatal and declare he has a fighting chance for recovery. Together with body bruises and a broken arm, the forepart of his skull was fractured. This will not, however, prove fatal, though he will lose consciousness at times for several days, according to the physician. The danger in his case lies in the fact that his chest was badly bruised and his lung condition prior to the accident was not altogether favorable, and now complications are feared and every effort is being made to counteract them.

ATTEN PREDICTS HIGHER PRICES FOR GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—High corn prices will continue indefinitely and prices will go to even higher levels with certain benefits to farmers of the middle west, James A. Patten, "Wheat King" and market expert of the United Press today.

Corn prices jumped from 2 3/4 to 4 3/4 cents per bushel during today's trading and all deliveries for the first time this year at levels above the dollar mark. September corn closed at 1.14 1/2 up 2 3/4; December 1.04, up 1/4 3/4 May 1.04 1/4, up 1/4 3/4.

Traders are just beginning to realize that there is a short corn crop, and the prices are bound by the laws of the market to advance Patten explained.

"It is true, of course, that with a short crop the farmers don't have as much corn to sell and their profit is not so big despite the high price per bushel, but what about their hogs. They're getting much higher prices for their hogs, aren't they?"

With high corn prices, farmers are not raising as many hogs, the livestock experts point out, and therefore there is an acute hog shortage throughout the country.

Higher prices, they say are certain to continue.

"Any intelligent man," Patten

said "understands that all this talk of political propaganda affecting the grain markets, is bunk. Nothing but the simple laws of supply and demand affect the markets."

The advance in corn prices which was easily the feature of today's grain trade and attracted crowds away from the wheat pit, was largely induced by B. W. Snow—Bartlett—Frazier crop report. Snow predicted a total yield this year of only 2,622,000,000 bushels as against 3,046,387,000 bushels harvested last year.

Snow's report, made public over night, resulted in a stampede to buy corn from the very opening of the market today and the rally continued throughout the short Saturday session. As news of the sharp advance in prices here was wired out to country dealers, cash corn was poured upon the market in greater volume than at any time this season. The heavy cash offerings, however, could not check upward in the pits. Actual receipts today were posted at 610,000 bushels compared with 1,081,000 bushels on the corresponding day last year.

Attorney General Keeling, and assistant Attorney General, Goodwin, passed through Lubbock this week enroute to Yellow Stone National Park and California, and were favorably impressed with Lubbock and its rapid growth.

Judge Goodwin and family visited in the home of T. W. Sawyer while here, the eldest son of Judge Goodwin having married the eldest daughter of T. W. Sawyer in 1918, and the two mothers met this week for the first time. These State officials were traveling in two six cylinder cars, well equipped, and no doubt will reach California on schedule time.

218 STUDEBAKERS SET THE WORLD RECORD IN TOTAL MILEAGE

What is believed to be a world's record in motor car endurance has been achieved by 218 owner driven Studebaker automobiles in piling up a total of 26,724,420 miles in every day service, according to an announcement today by Cullum Bros., local Studebaker dealers.

"After an extensive investigation among motorists," said Mr. Cullum, "we find that American motor cars today cannot be equalled for service through a long period of years."

Cars Average 122,589 Miles

"For instance, records show that 218 Studebaker Big-Six passenger cars, all in regular every-day service, have traveled a total of 26,724,420 miles, and are still going strong. These records have never been equalled, so far as I can learn."

"Popular belief fixes the life of the average motor car at six years. At 6,000 miles a year—the average yearly mileage—this would be only 36,000 miles. And yet these 218 Studebakers today show an average mileage of 122,589 miles each. On the basis of the usual estimate, these cars have averaged twenty-two years of customary service in five years. And are still on active duty daily."

"One 1919 Big-Six has traveled 500,000 miles according to sworn statements. It went 400,000 miles in daily service on a newspaper route, winter and summer, after its original owner had driven it nearly 100,000 miles, and recently was driven across the continent. We have placed it in the Studebaker National Museum at South Bend, where exhibits of America's development in transportation are on display."

"Prominent Baptist from all over the State of Texas will appear on the programs."

PROSPERITY TIDE RISING IN EUROPE

By J. W. T. MASON

(Written for United Press)

Enlarging foreign demand for American products, with increasing prosperity for the United States, are beginning to appear as a permanent factor in Europe's recovery. The numerous loans which have been floated in Europe since the war and continue to be floated, largely in the American market, are showing productive returns which promise to exert continuously powerful influence in setting the world to rights.

Full tide of prosperity in Europe has not yet set in, but it is commencing; and its accumulation of momentum is inevitable, as long as there are no upsets by imperialistic statesmanship. The promise is being held out that the European chancelleries intend to move continuously toward settlements of outstanding problems, simply by gradual forgetfulness of mutual antagonisms, as far as public opinion will sustain such a course.

Positive constructive policies by the trans-Atlantic diplomats at their ever-recurring conferences, are impracticable. But, European prosperity doesn't depend on definite assistance from temporary statesmen. If only the statesmen let the people reasonably alone, in making their own informal peace conditions, the people will find the way through increasingly cordial commercial intercourse.

This is the mood which is now prevalent throughout Europe, and it is justified by the fact that the Europeans are beginning to stabilize their standards of living at a higher point than before the war. The impasse between Germany and France and the confusion caused by the Ruhr misunderstandings, have not resulted in decreased prosperity either for France or Germany. Especially have the Germans been able to make progress, despite the cruelties of the statesmanship both in Berlin and Paris. Germany is nearly re-establishing a gold standard of currency, and maintaining it by the high productivity of her people.

Austria's Recovery Helps. All

The Austrian return to prosperity and the constant progress economically of Czechoslovakia, are having much influence upon the general recovery of self-confidence throughout continental Europe in general. The movement toward economic rehabilitation in Hungary is not progressing as rapidly as elsewhere, largely because there is a general reluctance to advance adequate loans to the Buda Pest government. There is less assurance of stability in the Hungarian administration than anywhere else in south-eastern Europe. This is due to the fact that Hungary was dismembered after the war, and the people are still sullen and resentful, and considered themselves, as indeed they are, surrounded by enemies who have taken their territory. Loans to the present Hungarian government might be repudiated if a revolution were to bring about a change in power.

Decision impetus to Europe's full recovery of prosperity is more likely to come from Russia than any other source. The delay in recuperation of Russia's purchasing power is the only major disquieting factor in the economic situation. Russian commissioners who have been trying to negotiate a loan in London, have not been successful because they have not been in a position to offer security acceptable to bankers. If the obstacles to successful financial rehabilitation of Russia were overcome, Europe would probably react with an immediacy that would spread in all directions.

But, for such a movement to take place, Russian loans would have to be negotiated on a sound business basis, justifying the assumption that the money would be used productively. The bankers want not only a guarantee of repayment; but they wish to feel assured that whatever loans may be made will actually contribute to general recovery of Europe. Obstacles in the way of this accomplishment will surely be overcome eventually by negotiation; and then Europe will begin to get rich quick.

MOTOPOWER GASOLINE

Does what Ordinary Gasoline can not Do!

A Fair Test Will Convince You

Try it! Give Motopower Gasoline a ten gallon test in your car. After a hundred miles or so you'll find your car acting like new. You'll find its heart beating steadier and stronger. You'll find it starts easier, picks up right now, ties into every hill with new pep and power.

Motor Car Owners—by tens of thousands—have tested and approved Motopower the wonderful new gasoline! Skeptical at first, they've proved to themselves beyond all doubt that Motopower actually increases mileage, dissolves carbon, makes a smooth-running motor and adds more power. Be fair to yourself and your motor. Make a fair test of Motopower. Be convinced by actual test! The only way.

Stops Carbon Knocks Forever

The Bane of the Motorist—the carbon knock—now a thing of the past. Motopower does it! Go up the steepest hill where the pulling's hard. No carbon knocks when this new motor fuel is on the job. Power, speed, full compression, a sweet-singing motor, that responds to the slightest touch—all these are yours when your tank's filled with MOTOPOWER.

Free Demonstration For Three Days

For Three Days, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday we will hold a free demonstration of MOTOPOWER GASOLINE. Drive into one of the stations listed below and let us remove the carbon free of charge. Let us demonstrate how Motopower will stop and prevent carbonknocks. Demonstrations will be held as follows:

TWO MEN.

There live in every town
 as like as nuts of brown;
 wears a smile, the other a frown,
 one looks up and the other one down.

The one that looks up is a merry chap
 With a hearty hello and a friendly slap.
 While his neighbor, Grouch, across the way,
 Has seldom a friendly word to say.

The things they see are just the same,
 But the one will praise, the other one blame,
 One will rush for one had flowers grand,
 The other but thorns that prick his hand.

It happens to rain why Grouch will say,
 "It's a beastly, nasty, stormy day!"
 While Smiles will laugh while the drops come down,
 "Will lay the dust on the way to town."

They work side by side, and when night comes along,
 one starts for his home with a snatch of a song;

Happy in knowing his day's work is through;
 Though only thinks of the chores yet to do.
 And thus through life they go along,
 Grouch with a grunt, Smiles with a song;
 One always happy, the other blue;
 One now, dear friend, which one are you?

SCHOOLS WILL GET FIRST PERCAPITA
 APPORTIONMENT IN SEPTEMBER.

According to a statement sent out by Superintendent Marrs, the schools of Texas will receive an apportionment of the percapita school money some time in September, which is a record breaker for the state. Superintendent Marrs states that this is the first time in the history of the state that a payment has ever been sent out before the first month of the year. The state board this year fixed the apportionment at $14.00 which is fifty cents more than last year, and they will begin the payment at that date. This will mean that Lubbock schools will receive some time in September a sum of about $40,000 for the year about $40,000. This is the first part of the running expenses of the Lubbock Independent School District. But even with the schools here will have to take care of a number of pupils who will draw no appropriation whatever, not having transferred within the district. It seems that there should certainly be a method of transfer worked out whereby pupils could be paid for where they are taught. Lubbock has for many years past been compelled under state laws to teach several hundred children and not receive any pay from the state for these extra teachers have had to be employed out of the care of the job, and strictly at the expense of the local district. In the Eastern counties where people are coming from they have a very low cost of the expenses of the school and sometimes, for every negro in the country down south, and some of them several times,
 the apportionment is drawn by the schools,
 but they are not half of them ever see inside of a building.

THE "NEWCOMER."

Recently there appeared an article in the Spectator's Magazine, under the head of "Give Welcome to Your Community," a most interesting story of a young man who thought he was not appropriate in his little town where he was raised;
 he took up stakes and moved to a larger city,
 but there, too, they did not "take him in."
 He made them do so. This article closes with a lot of fine suggestions as to how a man can become a part of a community, and we feel that the author, as well as the author of the story, will be glad to see our reproducing the clinching argument to "Newcomers."

When happens that the new man in a locality is on probation, as it were. At first, people look at him askance and say, "Who is he?" "Where did he come from?" He can scarcely expect to win out for there are a good many covering that field already.

But if the man goes right ahead and identifies himself cheerfully and modestly with the best interests of his new home, he will make more progress in a period of months than some hardshells have made in so many years.

It is a truism that one gets out of any thing the that same thing. One of the penalties of lack of use exact benefits in proportion to what is put into
 it. One of the rewards of using and doing is gain.

When we are public-spirited in the right sense,
 we cultivate the spirit of unselfishness, and this in itself disarms the suspicion which often exists in the mind of the public as to the man who has something special to do.

Be public-spirited. Take an interest in the community of which you are a part. And when the time comes, there will be plenty to pay the eloquent but simple tribute. He did what he could.

DISBANDING.

We have noticed during the past few days that klansmen at various points are disbanding. We believe that the best thing in the history of the United States would be for both the Klan and anti-klan to disband and get back to citizenship that will not forever be stirring up strife and grief. Both are in politics, and when it gets to that we are of the opinion that they are doing a detriment to the community. In the recent Democratic primary the issue was conspicuous by reason of certain so called tickets, and it went into the ballot box, many people voting a strict ticket according to their information concerning the two organizations, and for that reason we are in the tangle that we are in the Governor's race. The Klan possibly voted more as a unit than did the anti klan or else there were a great many more of them, and as a result we have Robertson as the leading candidate for the office of Governor. Personally we know very little of him but from some sources we gain the information that he is not a strong man he is not an influential man, that he is not what would be called a capable man for the job, and is not the kind of man that Texas needs for a chief executive, yet the vote on this issue will put him where those who cannot support Ferguson must support him in self defense hence we will likely have Robertson for Governor for two years at least, unless both Ferguson and he are dislodged from their positions by reason of issues that have arisen since the primary, namely that Mrs.
 Ferguson could not serve if elected and Robertson on account of not having filed his expense account at the proper time. We do not know whether either of these charges amount to a hill of Mexican beans in a drouth, but they are being talked.

BEN SMITH BACK TO THE PLAINS.

They just simply will come back to the Plains.
 Ben Smith who recently sold out at Lockney—the Beacon, one of the best weekly newspapers on the plains, sold out and left the plains—went to Snyder, and for the past year has been giving the people
 of that part of the country a dandy good newspaper, and has had a very good patronage, if the appearance of the paper is to be used as a guide, but after living on the plains for a number of years, Ben just simply couldn't be satisfied under the caprock, and this week he announces the sale of the Scurry County Times-Signal, and states that he will take care of newspaper investments elsewhere. We understand that he will at once take charge of the Radiogram, the youngest newspaper in Slaton, and will be on the job there in the next few weeks. Ben is a good newspaper man, and will no doubt improve the Radiogram in many ways. He has experience and ability and we are sure that he will make the Radiogram heard through the loud speaker department, and while he will no doubt encounter a lot of scotch for awhile; he may be able to overcome it and get a good clear ringing tone out of the critter after all. We welcome you back, Ben, and wish you success.

IDEAL FOR A NATIONAL PARK.

The bill introduced in the last session of Congress to make a national Park of the Great Smoky Mountains failed of consideration, temporarily at least, but the proposition is one to commend itself to those who know something of the region named.
 Though of great height, these mountains of the Southern Appalachians are green-clothed to their tops with dense forest of the greatest variety of timber, are the almost undisturbed home of deer, bear, trout and bass, and in season are gay, with rhododendron and azalea blooms. In the Great Smokies there are 18 peaks ranging in height from 6000 to 6,680 feet. Clingman's Dome, the highest, is only 31 feet lower than Mount Mitchell in the Asheville district of North Carolina, the highest mountain east of the Rockies. Most of the other peaks, with such little known names as Richland Balsam, Water Rock Knob, Cold Spring Knob, Lone
 Bald, and Rough Butt Bald, are higher than Mount Washington in New Hampshire.

The inhabitants and scenery of this most remote section of the Southern Appalachians have perhaps been best described in the romances of Charles Egbert Craddock (Miss Murphree). As a wild region ideal for exploring, camping, hunting and fishing, the Great Smokies offer more than any other section of the Eastern States. But in no great while these virgin forests rich in hardwoods will be despoiled unless Congress should intervene to save them for a national park.

ACTIVE NONOGENARIANS.

Dr. Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard, still a vigorous writer and otherwise a man of affairs at 90, is not the only marvel of his sort.
 Another remarkable case is that of Ezra Meeker, of the State of Washington, who at the age of 94 announces his candidacy for the legislature of that commonwealth. Mr. Meeker is a distinguished survivor of the pioneer period of the West. In the Missouri river to Oregon with an ox team, and 1850's he crossed the plains and mountains from no doubt he could have furnished material which the makers of "The Covered Wagon" movie spectacle failed to collect. In 1906-7 he repeated the trip over the Oregon trail, coming East instead of going West, and in his ox team he finally drove down Broadway, New York City. He was then 77 years old. Nearly 20 years later he now runs for the legislature of Washington State with a view to support the Naches Pass highway project. Amazing old man!

THE FOLLY OF ARGUMENTS AND FIGHTING.

During the recent election, we are sorry to say four men were killed as a direct result of the balloting and the issues that entered into the voting.
 We see nothing but folly in such things, and there is nothing but a great waste of precious time when men stand on the street corner and argue about things that nine times out of ten they know little or nothing about and those engaged in the argument are no nearer together in their views when they quit than they were when they commenced.

Killing one over the difference of opinion about an election is certainly about the smallest thing that a person could become enraged over, and we believe if there is any difference at all the fellow that kills on that account has committed a much greater crime than if he killed for any other reason.

Keep your head fellows and save your good disposition. Keep out of arguments if you haven't sense enough to keep your shirt on and your pocket knife or pistol in your pocket.

FALLS, August 1.—The Santa Fe Railroad Company is making extenshipments expected this fall. Half mile of new passing track is com-

 which adds considerably to the trackage already here. A large steam shovel together with the dirt train has been working several days fitting in the yards and leveling a location for an addition of 45 feet

THE BURIED TALENT

He buried his talent under the ground,
 Though the Master had bade him
 use it;
 In lines he carefully wrapped it round
 For he feared to injure or lose it.

Too much he dreaded the Master's scorn
 Should it be lost, or His sorrow
 If he should find the bright talent worn;
 So he buried it there for tomorrow.

He knew that men pay for their joys with pain,
 With grief for their days of pleasure;
 But not for the good which his soul
 might gain
 Would he venture the Master's treasure.

The joy of having he wished to know,
 But never the hurt of losing;
 And he sought to escape such a bitter woe
 By the offer of joy refusing.

"No child, no child!" was his feeble cry,
 "No child at my side to waken,
 I should cherish his love; but oh,
 how I Should suffer if he were taken!"

So he buried his talent under the earth,
 Though the Master had bade him
 use it,
 Forgetting that nothing there is of worth
 But some day a man must lose
 it.

LAMESA SCHEDULED FOR EXHIBITION HERE TODAY

Skipper Sled and his local amateur gang of ball chasers has another walloping in store for the boys from Lamesa. It was said by the skipper last night in commenting on the status quo of the exhibition which is to take place this afternoon at the Merrill park, with the two above mentioned scheduled for combat.

The skipper was very insistent in his plea that a repetition of last Sunday's disappointment, when Tahoka called just before scheduled time for play, saying that they could not come, would not be the case this afternoon, and from the general appearance of things, this exhibition is going to be one worth while.

The local boys are playing so far this season, with a record well up around the thousand percent notch, having taken all comers and goers, and all this has been "on the spur of the moment," and without practice.

Lamesa also carries about the same record, and the store of surplus energy of both the local and visiting lads, will see an opportunity to expend for the benefit of baseball lovers.

Sled asserts that practically the same line up that has featured in wins formerly will be used this afternoon, with Terry probably carrying the burden of mound duty.

The game will be called at 3:45.

EX-SOLDIER DIES WHILE ENROUTE TO MARRY

By United Press
SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Aug. 2.—Rescued from insanity and crime by an operation performed on his head, Antoni Wroblewski, world war veteran enjoyed less than 48 hours of his new found freedom when death, mocking the miracle of science, overtook him Friday while on a Santa Fe train he had been separated a year.

He died as the train neared Kingman, Ariz., apparently from heart disease.

Wednesday, Wroblewski was released of burglar charges in Oakland after alienists testified a mental "kink" which the operation had removed, had made him irresponsible.

LEADERS WORRIED OVER LACK OF SUFFRAGE

By United Press
WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Campaign managers of the political parties and of the independent movement are scratching their heads this year to devise means of hurrying the polls in November the so-called stay-at-home vote.

Fifty percent of the people in the country who are qualified to vote are not voting, it has been learned from comparing census figures with ballot totals. This stay-at-home vote, if it went to the polls could elect any candidate it chose.

Campaign managers do not expect to rouse all of this vote, or even a majority of it, but every vote from the ranks of those who have not been voting is a gain, and because of the peculiar situation, this year, owing to the addition of another political party, strong efforts are being made to wake the non-voters up to their responsibility to the Department of Agriculture at Washington will be a tremendous advantage to agriculture and industry and means not only a great saving of time, but a shortening of the period between the receipt of the reports and the date of their release at Washington.

WILL PROSECUTE DEFACTORS OF THE HIGHWAYS IN KANSAS

By International News Service
TOPEKA, Kas., Aug. 2.—Activities of campaign managers of political candidates in placing political signs on a new hard surface highway between Abilene and Junction City, has caused the state highway department to declare war on all persons who deface highways with advertising signs.

State highway engineer Tillison has announced that when county commissioners do not stop this practice their counties will be denied federal aid. Also the state highway engineer has asked that the attorney general give a ruling as to what action can be taken against those who deface the public highways.

When asked by a fellow passenger why, after spending millions of dollars in advertising he did not stop and add the money thus saved to his profit, Mr. Wrigley, of chewing gum fame, said, "We are traveling west at sixty miles an hour. Where would we be tomorrow at this time if we took the engine off the train?"

Eight and one-half per cent of the landowners in fifteen corn and wheat producing states in the upper Mississippi Valley lost their farms in 1923. The average price of plow land fell from $70 an acre in 1917 to $22 in 1923.

Robbed hair has ruined the hair-net industry in China. With the cutting of the queues after the revolution of 1911 there was placed on the market in China enormous quantities of human hair which led to the development of the hair-net industry.

Donald MacMillan, Arctic explorer on the schooner Bowdoin, has left his winter quarters and reached a point 137 miles south of Ellsmere land on his return to the United States. According to London papers, developments in Greece point to the restoration of a monarchy, and the exiled King George, now in England, is quoted as saying it will only be a matter of a short time before he is recalled to Athens. It is reported in Ottawa, Canada, that a syndicate headed by Charles M. Schwab will buy the $31,000,000 properties of the British-American Nickel Company, which recently went into liquidation. Mrs. Laura H. Fleischmann, wife of the multi-millionaire "great king" of Cincinnati, O., and New York, has secured a Paris divorce. It is reported she will wed Jay O'Brien, divorced husband of Alice Starkey, theatrical, and of Irene Fenwick, actress.

JACKRABBITS A MENACE TO CROPS THROUGHOUT SOUTHPLAINS

There never has been a time when the people, especially farmers, need help and encouragement more than they do now to help them overcome the damage done by the rabbits. In the past, conditions were different from what they are today. We had coyotes, skunks, and badgers to any nothing for the eagles and hawks, all of which helped to suppress the increase of rabbits. Now we have killed out these pestiferous animals for the price of their skins. The hawks and eagles have failed to entertain the sorts. We all know that coyotes, skunks and badgers are a detriment to the poultry industry still they were a great help in keeping down the rabbit increase all over the county. We believe the situation is a tough one and the sooner we go to work to do something the better for everyone for whatever is injurious to the farming industry is injurious to the town and country generally, as the farmers are the backbone of the country. The farmer is at a great disadvantage in trying to combat with the rabbit for in many instances he is surrounded by large tracts of pasture land he does not own and as fast as he kills off the rabbits on his premises, more come in from the adjoining pasture to continue their destructive work. The ranchman does not realize what it costs him each year to support this host of rabbits. They are working while he sleeps and both winter and summer. He rides over his range and wonders why he has no more grass on it. We are sure if he could see all the grass the rabbits consume in one season stacked up in one place he would see that something must be done and something done at once. The farmer cannot accomplish very much working alone. His efforts would be fruitless where there is so much range all about him. Every one who is familiar with the propagation of rabbits know that they are capable of increasing ten to one each year, and this dry spring weather is congenial to the increase. Now unless steps are taken to stop their increase, in a few years, we shall have no grass and cannot raise crops of any kind especially fruit and vegetables. If one-tenth of all growing vegetation is consumed by rabbits, what will it be five years hence, if nothing is done. The question is, what shall we do? Nothing but a united effort by all concerned will ever overcome these pests, and it is nothing but right that every land owner do his part in this warfare that is so important to the development of our country. We concede that one-tenth of all growing crops are destroyed by the rabbits then the grasshoppers come in for a share, some places dry weather injures crops and perhaps other difficulties to overcome it is not surprising that farmers get discouraged even tho they are living in the best and most healthful country in the world. But all the difficulties can be overcome if we will work together with determination. Perhaps a scalp law would be a good beginning to get the situation in hand. Say a bounty of ten cents kept up for a few years, and with the united efforts of our growing population we could soon exterminate the pests. Some may not have the money to pay that bounty, which no doubt is very true, but how can we ever expect to have more unless we do something to overcome this loss. We do not believe that men with grass would pasture rabbits for fifty cents per year. If this is anything like a fair price, why would he not be willing to pay ten cents per head for scalps and stop the increase. The money paid out for these scalps would be returned to the people who were assessed and remain in the county. If anyone did not feel able to pay that premium let him go to work, kill enough rabbits to make back his money. There are so many ways in which they can be destroyed and with very little expense to it. An energetic boy and a good dog (grey hound) is one very effective way. There is a good poison mixture that is fine, and nothing is better than a rabbit drive. But perhaps a better plan would be to tax the land—place a small assessment on land all over this western country and have it set aside for the destruction of rabbits. We believe the people interested should instruct their representative in the Legislature to bring this situation before our law making body and do it at an early date.

The shipman will rest in Reykjavik and then jump 500 miles to Angmagssal Greenland, flying across that island to Ivigtut 500 miles and then Indian Harbor, Labrador, 575 miles. The flight from Indian Harbor to the United States is scheduled as follows: Indian Harbor to Cartright Harbor, Labrador, 40 miles. To Hawkes Bay N. F. 290 miles. To Pictou Harbor, N. S. 420 miles. To Boston, Mass 520 miles. The flight has been held up in the Gray inlet of the Orkneys near the Famous Scapa Flow for two days by foggy weather.

Preparations for the start were made at daybreak, the planes tuned up and the airman breakfasted at 8 a. m. radio messages came in from the torpedo boat destroyers Blingely and Reid which had been stationed along the lonely route to Iceland, reporting clear and favorable weather.

Lt. Smith decided to take off at once but delays held up the take off until 9:30.

Smith's plane was heavily laden with benzine and oil and refused to take the air. He circled and re-circled the bay behind his impatient companions finally after an hour he got off by trailing in the wave of the two companions planes

TROOPS ORDERED TO DISARM MEMBERS ALL FACTIONS

By United News.
BOSTON, Aug. 2.—Massachusetts will not tolerate armed warfare between any factions.
With this terse announcement,
Brig. Gen. Alfred F. Foote, commissioner of public safety, has in-sued a sweeping order to state troopers to disarm everyone who attends a meeting of the Ku Klux Klan, regardless of whether or not he has a permit to carry the weapon.
The drastic order, applicable alike to klansmen, and all opposed to the hooded order, followed a meeting of state troop commanders at the state house to work out a course of procedure in case of repetition of outbreaks of violence similar to those at Lancaster and Haverhill during the past week.
"I have pointed out that we cannot forbid the Klan from lawful assembly, but we can and will prevent any and all assemblages of men bearing arms, whether those arms consist of firearms or other weapons," General Foote said.
Meanwhile, the situation appears to have developed into an endurance contest between state authorities on the one hand and Klan organizers on the other.
Determined at all cost to prevent further violence and bloodshed, state troopers are prepared to descend upon all Klan groups and enforce the disarming order of General Foote. At the same time according to reports reaching state troop headquarters, several monster Klan meetings are already in the making.
It was understood that one of the largest conclaves ever held in New England with hundreds of klansmen from Maine, and New Hampshire in attendance was scheduled for Friday night at Berlin. More than a score of state troopers were dispatched to the scene, but at a late hour there was no confirmation of the meeting being held.

Other meetings were said to have been scheduled for Swampscott,
Saturday night.

Disarming Order Enforced
SHREWSBURY, Mass., Aug. 2.—
Making good their announcement that they would disarm all persons at all K. K. K. gatherings in the state, a patrol of three state troopers, under command of Captain George A. Parker, late Friday night swooped down upon a Klansman in progress on a farm near here, arrested two on a charge of carrying dangerous weapons—seized a number of pistols, clubs, and blackjacks from persons who appeared to be anti-klansmen. The state troopers took command of a situation that bore all the earmarks of a riot in the making.

TULSA MARKS THE COM- PLETION OF WATER PLANT

International News Service.
TULSA, Oklahoma, Aug. 2.— Tulsa will mark the completion of its seven million dollar water supply project, bringing water from the hills at Spavinaw, by a spectacular program in which it is planned to include a night parade of airplanes, a show of pyrotechnies from the sky and emblazoning in mile high letters above the city
the triumphant sign "Spavinaw Water."
At least six weeks more of hard work, it is estimated, remains before the completion of the system, and the date of the celebration will be set so as not to interfere with the Petroleum Exposition.
The Springfield Republican says Candidate Davis' sojourn in New England is receiving "as much attention as if he were president," and refers to an article in the Boston Transcript which speaks of his "Ischekato" address as "White House potential." Naturally Mr.
Davis would prefer a "White House actual."

KANSAS MAY GET AIR MAIL SERVICE

By International News Service.
KANSAS CITY, Kas., Aug. 2.—
Efforts of the Kansas City chapter of the National Aeronautic association to obtain air mail for Kansas City are beginning to show results.
Howard F. Wehrle, president of the organization, announced this week that only a suitable landing field remains to be procured. This, he said, must be done by the city or the Chamber of Commerce.
One of two courses is open in the selection of a field for the postoffice air mail base. Either a new field must be selected or the use of Richards Field may be rented from the Air Terminal association,
it was stated.
Officials of the Air Terminal association announced the rental of Richards Field, if leased to the city or the Chamber of Commerce, probably would cost approximately $2,500 a year.

Other airplane activities at the field would not cease if the air mail used the field.
A request has been sent to Col.
Paul Henderson, second assistant postmaster general at Washington requesting that Luther E. Bell, traffic manager for the air mail division, be sent here for a meeting with Kansas City and St. Joseph business men and Chamber of Commerce officials.

Peggy Hopkins Joyce, internationally known stage "heartbreaker," has left her fourth husband, Count Costa Morner, of Swedish nobility but now manufacturing tooth paste in Chicago, and has instructed her attorneys to sue for a separation on the grounds of non support. She has instructed his attorneys to sue for an annulment. She says she will never marry again.

SECOND ALIENIST IN TRIAL SLAYERS OF FRANKS TO TAKE STAND MONDAY; TO GIVE OTHER "SCIENTIFIC" REASONS IN KILLING

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Another bizarre addition to the already fantastic structure of the "childhood phantasy" defense will be built next week by Clarence Darrow, chief defense attorney in the Leopold and Loeb murder hearing.

Dr. Wm. Haly, Boston alienist, will take the stand Monday at the hearing before chief justice John R. Caverly, to tell of his findings in the examination of Nathan Leopold Jr., and Richard J. Loeb. Like Dr. William A. White, Washington alienist who presented a series of startling pictures on the workings of "split personality" and "childhood dreams", Dr. Healy will approach Leopold and Loeb from the psychometric standpoint—the measuring of the intel-

Healy proposed to show the abnormalities of the slayers, indicated by their actions before the killing of Robert Franks and the influence exerted on their childhood life on their later years. He expects to show the growth of criminalistic tendencies the re-creation of their criminal ca- the perpetration of what he would be "the perfect baffling solution."

Crowe Challenges White
Today's short session was devoted to a battle of wits between states attorney Crowe and the defense. Crowe attempted to drive Dr. White from the line of "functional diseases of mind," into the realm of legal insanity. Dr. White successfully beat the attack. Tenaciously he held the line of the split personality—emotion failed to keep step with intellectual development. The slayers, the emotions remained child-like, while the intellect was adult.

He took another line of attack and attempted to show the slayers the emotion of "Solitude." This question was based on alleged statement by Loeb that safety vault, and then appoint a commission of scientists to attempt to communicate with him after death. If successful, communication was established, Leopold said he would try to solve the riddles from the spirit world. Likewise, Loeb plans to write a book on his individualistic philosophy in the time intervening between sentence and execution if the death sentence is imposed, Dr. White said. Crowe finished his cross-examination of Dr. White today and paved the way for Dr. Healy's appearance Monday.

Darrow also announced that he had decided to keep the slayers from the stand.

"What else could they say on the stand," he asked. "They have told all they can tell."

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 2.—Leopold expects to be hanged was the startling disclosure of a letter he had written for his cell today. Leopold says he does not believe in any hereafter and would attempt "to piece the veil" between this life and anything they meet after death. He said in a letter that he would likely hang, but was very much unconcerned about it. In the mean time many more alienists are being placed on the stand by the defense. His remarkable document said: "When my summons comes I shall not go as a quarry slave at night to his dungeon, but rather with unfaltering trust approach my grave as one wrapped in draperies of his couch lies down to pleasant dreams."

ALLIES INVITE GERMAN HEADS TO CONFERENCE

bilites of trouble in next week's negotiations as the Germans probably will endeavor to do the best they can for themselves and may submit counter proposals to the allied program which will cause trouble.

The allies however, apparently are determined to stick to the Dawes recommendations and as long as they do this it is believed the Germans will be forced to yield.

COLOGNE, Aug. 2.—Secretary of State Hughes arrived here at 10 o'clock tonight and was greeted by representatives of the American embassy of Berlin and the American consulate here as well as a representative of the German government. ENROLLMENT WILL BE LARGE AT CANYON COLLEGE

CANYON, Texas, Aug. 2.—Indications at West Texas State Teachers College are that the fall enrollment will be much heavier than that of any preceding year. All of the rooms in both of the dormitories which accommodate more than two hundred girls have already been reserved for the fall session and the office of the Registrar, Mr. D. A. Shirley, is being daily flooded with inquiries concerning the work to be offered during the next session. The West Texas State Teachers College offers four full years of College work in Agriculture, Mathematics, English, History, Sociology, Latin, French, Spanish, Art, and Music, along with its special courses in Education. The enrollment for the College during the past year has been somewhat over two thousand and three hundred students, and the college authorities believe that when the doors are opened the 24th of September there will be one thousand and students in Canyon ready to begin work.

THREE ESCAPED PRISONERS ARE RECAPTURED

PARIS, Texas, Aug. 2.—Word was received here today of the capture of three of the nine prisoners, who escaped from the jail at this place early last Thursday by overpowering the jailer. They were caught near Sawyer, Oklahoma. They were Jesse Smith, Tom Sales, Bill Estes and were all held on a charge of robbery. Six others, including two negroes, convicted of murder are still at large.

JULY MONTH OF BLOODSHED IN SAN ANTONIO

SAN ANTONIO, Aug. 2.—July was a month of bloodshed in San Antonio, according to police records which reveal upon investigation, that more violent deaths has occurred during that month than the entire previous six months put together. There were eight murders, three suicides and countless cutting and shooting scrapes. The police blame the heat for the extra amount of crime.

U. S. CRUISER IS NOW ENROUTE TO PERSIA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—The United States cruiser, Trenton, now at Naples, will proceed to Persia at once to receive the body of Major Robert Imbrie, who was slain by a mob and bring it back to this country, it was announced today. America has notified Persia that she would have to stand all cost of the trip.

No wonder the passenger business on the railroads is light. People who have invested in automobiles—and fully half of the homes in America are now provided with cars—are apt to buy gas instead of railroad tickets when they take their trips.

Ordinary glass windows keep out the heating and stimulating ultra-violet rays of sunshine, but panes made of quartz would let them thru. Dr. Edward R. Early Days on The Plains

By J. J. DILLARD

When I was a small boy, about the age of ten years, I formed the habit of reading the weekly county paper. I recall the first one I read. It was known as the Montague Northwest and was published at the town of Montague, the county seat of Montague county and was edited by a lady by the name of Myra Judd. Among the many features of the paper was the local items contributed by school teachers and others from the various communities in the county. I conceived the idea that I would like to see something in print from my community. Acting on the impulse I wrote a dozen or more of the recent happenings in my neighborhood, recording the deaths, marriages and visits, and to my surprise, the editor published them under my non-descriptive of "Jones Valley Kid." This pleased me very much and I continued the contributions weekly for a year or more, discontinuing same when I went away for a time to school.

Later when I had grown to manhood and was teaching school in West Texas, I was a contributor to various papers, some having a state circulation and others only locally.

From the moment that I saw my first contribution in print I had a desire to some day, when I reached manhood, to own and publish a newspaper of my own.

When I came to Lubbock, J. Winford Hunt was publishing a Texas Press-Press Leader, which suspended publication in arch 1899. From that date until May, 1900, Lubbock did not have a paper. The old desire to own a paper was renewed and I began to make investigations relative to the price of a small plant. I had prices from one or two companies, quoting prices on a 14 by 22 1-2 Gordon job press, with a limited amount of type and other fixtures and equipment to publish a paper. I remember that one day in March in 1900, that I was crossing over the court yard fence on the west side of the courthouse. I met Thad Tubbs. We took a seat on the steps and discussed county politics and the prospects of the many candidates for county office. Their arguments were so convincing that I suggested the need of a county paper. I informed him of my information relative to price, etc.

He informed me that he also had thought about establishing a county paper and that he had made inquiry about price. He produced a letter he had received from the Kelsey Press company, Meridian, Conn., in which they proposed to furnish a press, sufficient type, cases and other equipment together with a stock of print and blank stationery to publish a paper and do job printing for the sum of one hundred seventy-five dollars.

I informed him that I did not have that much money. He suggested that we order it; that we instruct them to ship same to Amarillo, shippers order, sending bill of lading with draft attached to the First National bank of Amarillo, and that when we received notice from the railroad company that it had arrived at the depot, that we would call at bank and pay draft and accept the printing plant. We decided we had fully six weeks time in which to secure the money. About the fifteenth of April, 1900, we received notice that the complete plant was on hand at Amarillo, with approximately twenty dollars freight charges due. Shortly after receiving the notice, Thad informed me that he had the necessary amount of cash to pay the draft and freight; that if I would furnish the brains he would furnish the money and the equipment, and I replied that I had no brains, but that I had about twenty-nine tons of bald thoughts that I would unload on the public, and for that reason would accept his offer. Within a day or less time, Thad was on his way to Amarillo, with a two horse wagon to secure the plant. In the short time of ten days he arrived one Monday night after dark, with the plant, and early next morning it was installed in a room in my law office on lot 6, block 104, where the Security State Bank and Trust Company building now stands. The first copy of The Avalanche was published in a room ten by fourteen feet.

The first copy was printed on May 5, 1900, on a plant that cost one hundred and ninety-five dollars and ninety-five cents, which included the price of the machinery, stock of blank stationery, together with freight charges. Thad came through Hale Center and a friend of his asked him what he was loaded with and he replied "a printing plant." The friend asked where he expected to print his paper and he replied "at Lubbock." He inquired what a years subscription would be worth and he replied that it would not be worth a d—n, but that we expected to charge one dollar per year for it, and his friend threw a dollar to him and said, "send the rag for one year." This was the first money received and only cash in advance subscriber the Avalanche had at the date the first paper was printed.

We decided to call the paper "The Avalanche" at the time we ordered it shipped and had the name raised solid. Our reasons for calling it the Avalanche was that we did not intend to tell any one of our intentions, and that we would surprise the citizens by the appearance of the paper on the streets among the mesquite brush, burros, cattle and horses, with a population of twenty-five souls and thirteen houses, which included the court house, the old jail, the Nicot Hotel, now the Broadway and a large livery barn which stood where the new bricks which are nearing completion on the south east one-fourth of block 134.

The first printer was Tom Smith of Lockport, Texas, who now resides in Phoenix, Ariz. Tom was on hand several days before the plant arrived. Immediately upon its arrival we uncrated it and lost no time in getting ready to print the first issue. The first run we printed forty copies. We found to our horror that we did not have enough type and would have to pull type from the old, thus each page had to be printed separately.

At that date, we had only two mercantile establishments, one hotel, one blacksmith shop. We set ads for these four enterprises without consulting them, not even mentioning it to them in any manner, so that we could carry out our plan of making it true to its name "The Avalanche."

I stated above the issue was finally off the press and we proudly and boastfully delivered them to the four business houses, yelling at the top of our voice, "The Avalanche, the only paper published in Lubbock county and farther away from a railroad than any paper published on the earth."

This was a surprise indeed and every one who was presented with a copy subscribed. All who had free ads contracted for space. However, when we asked for a permit to enter the paper in the post office, we were refused and we had to submit a copy with the necessary evidence required by the post office department at Washington for entry as second class matter before we could send it through the mail, except by paying first class mail rates of two cents per copy.

My idea was to get a circulation and then the advertisers would get results. The advertisers received results from the very beginning and until this day, it has more and better advertising than any paper of its size in the United States.

Will write more about the Avalanche and its experience in next issue.

LIEUTENANT NELSON IS NOW NEARING ICELAND

HUDSON BAY, Aug. 2—Lieutenant Erick Nelson, American round the world flier, who became separated from his companions was reported by U. S. destroyer Deid to be within a hundred and fifty miles of the Iceland coast this afternoon. At the start this morning his two flying companions returned to Kirkwall when a heavy fog settled down over them, but Nelson continued. He has apparently fought his way safely through.

Flight Commander Smith and Lieutenant Wade, both returned when they said they were unable to get above the fog at three thousand feet. They said they last saw Nelson when he was headed downward, apparently trying to get below the fog. Fear prevails today that Nelson has probably not been able to make the safe landing, as the trip is something over five hundred miles. Radio dispatches from the Reid this afternoon in a way dispelled the fear and there is mute hope that he may have made the landing. Nelson is a Scandinavian, but has been in America fifteen years. He is very familiar with the northern seas.

J. H. BURROUGHS TO FURNISH FAIR EXHIBITS

J. H. Burroughs, prominent Lubbock county farmer and a member of the state board of directors of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association, was here Saturday from his home in the Carlisle community.

Mr. Burroughs brought a number of fine plants from his orchard to Lubbock to be exhibited at the Panhandle and South Plains Fair in October, and said that his orchard contained enough of the lucious fruit to meet the family needs for a number of months if properly preserved.

Mr. Burroughs stated that he has two hundred acres of cotton which neighbors had told him will produce one half bale per acre, but that he will be satisfied with seventy-five bales from the tract.

His feed crop is good, the early plantings being well matured at this time while the late crops are still making some growth despite the dry weather.

Mr. Burroughs will furnish quite a number of exhibits for the Panhandle and South Plains Fair.

Patents Granted To Texas Folks

COMPILED BY MUNN & CO., PATENT ATTORNEYS.

CARL M. HOEREGOTT, county of Brazoria, of Ivin, has been granted a patent on a cultivator sweep. The invention provides a cultivator, and its shank, of novel formation, can be conveniently and effectively manufactured from a single piece of sheet metal and will be strong and durable. This sweep proper and the shank are so formed that the blades are effective for cutting the roots under the surface of the soil and for loosening and stirring the ground. The shank is so formed as to make the construction rigid and substantial with a minimum resistance of the draft. The structure in its entirety is devoid of obstructions on which roots, trash or dirt can accumulate.

LON F. COX, of Mertens, Hill county, has been granted a patent on a FASTENER FOR BOLTS OF CLOTH, RIBBON, AND THE LIKE. This invention relates to a means of clamping the free ends of ribbon or cloth on a bolt, its object being to provide a removable means to be used in application over the ends of ribbon or cloth without damage to the fabric, and to render the use of pins for holding the end of the cloth on the bolt unnecessary. By the use of these means, waste of material is eliminated. The device is quickly removable and much time is saved in handling ribbon and cloth. The invention comprises a steel band, the ends of which are bent downward to clamp the sides of the bolt.

HUGH FOLEY, County of Hardin of Sour Lake, has been granted a patent on a VALVE SEAT REMOVING MECHANISM. The invention relates especially to valve pullers used with pumps for holding oils. Hitherto the operation of such pump of engine it has been found necessary to remove the valve operating parts for regrinding and other repairs, and considerable difficulty has been found in removal due to the tendency of the parts to stick. Mr. Foley's invention provides an improved means for removing the valves quickly and conveniently. An improved removing tool is provided which is capable of being readily inserted into the engine for cooperating with the valve parts, and by means of which a uniform pressure can be applied to the parts for removal.

MARLINE DALZELL, of Houston, has been granted a patent on a protector for bobbed hair. Her invention is a protecting means to prevent disarrangement of the hair, and is especially adapted for use when the wearer is lying down or at night. She has found that the ordinary cap or bandana sometimes for this purpose is either ineffective to prevent disarrangement of the hair or it is so uncomfortable to the user as to be "objectionable." Miss Dalzell describing her invention, "It is an object of my invention to provide a simple and original device for protecting the hair in use, which may be easily and cheaply manufactured; and of which will be easily applied and comfortable to the wearer."

OLD W. FLETCHER of Houston, has been granted a patent on an IMPROVED WELL PACKER of special design for closing the space between the ends of casing in well. The invention provides a device for lowering the casing and into the well and for expanding the packer before the insert is withdrawn from the well. Fletcher's invention is an improvement over a patent he obtained. The improvement covers a device of a setting mandrel on the end of the pipe by means of which the casing is lowered into the well. This mandrel has a lowered surface for the attachment of a packer and an enlarged surface above the packer for which the packer may be expanded.

FLETCHER has assigned his patent to the Hughes Tool Company.

MITTEL, of Sonora, has been granted a patent on an improved valve for liquid troughs, water receptacles. The invention provides a float valve carrying a supply pipe of a receptacle, operable by the rise and fall of the liquid. Suitable means is provided for automatically cutting off the flow of the liquid when the float is displaced or moved.

D. HERRING, De Witt, has been granted a patent on a Thread Cutter for automatic looms. The invention provides a thread cutting device in such relation to the loom that the cutter proper will operate along the selvage of the cloth between the extending edges of the cloth forming the cloth. The cutting attachment is operated by the movement of the cloth through the loom, thus eliminating the necessity of providing auxiliary operating machines.

HERRING has assigned one-half of his patent to John W. Herring.

AL KINSEY, of Longfellow, has been granted a patent on a Pipe Clamp for use in installing pipes in wells. The invention provides a means to effect accurate positioning of the pipe in the well and to eliminate the possibility of the pipe slipping while being deposited in the well cavity. It provides means also which adapts itself to the size of the pipe in order to grip and retain the pipe, so to release it and permit movement when desired.

KINSEY has assigned one-half of his patent to O. E. Schupack of Anderson, Texas.

SIDNEY E. SEGURA, of Houston, has been granted a patent on a Shock Absorber for automobiles. His invention absorbs the shock due to rebound movement of the automobile body, as well as the shocks resulting from the downward movement. His arrangement absorbs the downward shocks by cushions disposed over an oscillatory member, and absorbs the rebound shocks by cushions below this member. This arrangement he finds absorbs the shocks more uniformly than the existing methods.

cabling occupants of the vehicle with greater comfort and ease.

Mr. Segura has assigned his patent to Crown Shock Absorber Company.

IMPROVED METHODS OF JUDGING INSANITY

By United News.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Aug. 2.—Recommending a revision of the present method of judging insanity, complete abolition of "quackery" within the ranks of the Texas medical profession, and drafting legislation for presentation at the next legislature to halt alleged dissension and agitation in the State Board of Health were the outstanding decisions reached by the State Medical Association's executive committee in session here.

Branding the present method of judging the insane by jury trials was declared to be little short of barbarous by the physicians who recommended that a state sanity commission be appointed to pass on all cases of mental derangement.

Creation of legislation for severe prosecution of quack doctors was resolved upon, ridding Texas of the undesirable element that figured so prominently in recent exposures in Missouri and other states.

The doctors would revise the present law effecting the state board of health in such a manner that members would be enlisted for six years with expirations every two years of two members, thereby leaving six experienced members always on the board.

The physicians pointed to the fact that four state health officers had been appointed under Governor Neff's reign because of dissatisfaction within the board and it was this situation of constant bickering that must be eliminated before proper results can be forthcoming.

GOOD TREATISE ON CROSSING R. R. TRACKS

International News Service.

PARSONS, Kas., Aug. 2.—U. Moore, dispatcher of the M. K. & T. railroad and one of the leaders in the safety movement in the Parsons district, submits the following as a good treatise on Safety First, for those who try to cross the track ahead of the oncoming train.

"In the days succeeding the Centaur, when horses, mules and asses were used as the propelling power of vehicles to transport human beings, gates were used to stop travelers on the highways when a railroad train approached. The horses, mules and asses, seeing the gate across the road, stopped to let the train go by, in safety to themselves and to the passengers and crews.

"In the progress of mankind, motor vehicles were produced and then the ass, instead of drawing the buggy, climbed into the front seat of the new fangled car and became the driver of the flivver. Since that time, he has usually been unable to see the gate at a railroad crossing and, even if he did glimpse it, it was his delight to run it down in trying to beat the oncoming train.

"Moral: Keep the ass in front of the car."

RAGLAND MOTOR COMPANY

THE PASSING DAY

By WILL H. MAYES, Department of Journalism, University of Texas

Two hundred and thirty-five members of the Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Shelby county were in Austin recently for a day and two nights. They were making a thousand mile itinerary of Texas and stopped to get acquainted with the capital of their state. Many of them had never been out of their home county in East Texas before starting on this trip. Most of them earned the money with which to pay the incidental expenses of the fifteen day automobile trip, and most of the food used was grown and canned by the boys and girls. The girls made the clothing they wore.

As an educational tour nothing quite like it of note so helpful has ever been undertaken before. These youngsters are of an age when investigation, discovery, is like to be the keenest interest in their lives. Nothing that comes within their sight escapes them; nothing that was said to them was unheard; everything will be remembered. Not only will they know and love their state, better, but they will talk about it to the people back home. Shelby county will hereafter feel that it is in Texas, rather than on the border between Louisiana and Texas. The girls and boys will fire the people at home with their enthusiasm, and pride in Texas will be intensified.

The trip provided for a four day stay at the A. and M. College to be spent in an intensive study of farm and home problems and in meeting prize-winning boys and girls from all over Texas. What a wonderful opportunity. There, several thousand of Texas brightest young country people will learn from each other something of what the boys and girls throughout the state are doing. The competition for honors will be great, but the rivalry will put the contestants on their metal.

The Shelby county contingent, themselves local prize winners, will be fired with an ambition to excel in whatever they do, and the ambition, once thoroughly aroused, seldom dies.

A feature of the trip that attracted much attention was that at each place where the party camped for the night, it served a feast of Shelby county products grown and canned by the girls and boys making the tour. No Texan ever ate a better dinner of nourishing, wholesome, body-building food. It illustrated that East Texas can feed itself with the best food and at slight expense, even through long seasons of drought or flood.

All East Texas people need to do is to grow a sufficient variety of easily grown food products, can them, and live in luxury. The soil does its part; the seasons are favorable; it is only up to the people to be reasonably thrifty and energetic.

But the lesson should be worth more to West Texas than to the eastern part of the State. West Texas has periods of drought in which but little food-stuff is raised. With sufficient regular rainfall so much is grown that a large part of it is wasted. There is no county in all that great section of the state in which enough food could be canned to tide over a drought of several years' duration. But aside from that, it must be nice to go to one's very own pantry at any time of the year and get cans of fresh vegetables and fruits of all kinds, and beef and spring chicken as good as that fresh from the market house. The time will come when most Texas farmers will have on hand at all times at least a year's supply of canned food.

In almost every county of Texas barbecues and picnics have been held this month attended by thousands to hear political speeches and empty promises. Even small communities have spent hundreds of dollars in such gatherings. It is good to get the people together even in political meetings, but if one half of the energy spent in political gatherings could be devoted to community improvements, Texas would soon become a most wonderful state. If the people would only take that interest in affairs for their own improvement that they take for advancing the political interests of candidates for office, Texas development would be magical. Let it be hoped that some day Texas citizens may come to regard other things as of at least equal importance with politics.

Race Disturbance Over Black In White Section

By International News Service.
FORT WORTH, Aug. 2.—Hiram Evans today denied reports of irregularities aboard his train near the Texas-Louisiana border said to have been about the appearance of his negro servant in the white section. While railroad officials are investigating rumors of disturbance which threatened to throw the negro from the train. GIRL QUOTED SCRIPTURE IN HER SCHOOL CLASS RECITAL

By International News Service.
PARSONS, Kas., Aug. 2.—The following is credited to a 4-year-old prodigy of a Parsons resident: "The superintendent of the Sunday School had been having her little tots learn a verse of scripture for each Sunday. One verse learned was: 'He causeth the sun to rise.' He causeth the sun to rise. He causeth the wind to blow."

The class was reviewing the verses they had learned.

"Now children," asked the superintendent, "who can tell me the little verse about the rain?"

A little hand shot up. "All right May, you may tell us," she said.

May stood up and began as follows: "It ain't gonna rain no more, it ain't gonna rain no more."

Twenty guests leaped from rooms. The loss was estimated at fifty thousand dollars. The origin of the fire was unknown.

ARMIES OF BLISTER BEETLES INVADE McPHERSON KANSAS

By International News Service.
McPHERSON, Kas., Aug. 2.—"Pounding out" blister beetles is one of the favorite sports of McPheron citizens these days. The blister beetle has descended in "armies" on the gardens here, and twenty-four hour visitation on any one patch means almost total destruction of all plant life. The poison sprays commonly used in killing off insect pests, seemingly have no effect on this particular type, so the "pounding out" process is being used. This is done by pounding on the ground with a wide board on one side of an infested patch. The beetles seem to dislike the sound and they travel away from it, and if the pounding is continued long enough the entire "army" can be routed.

Winning the World

for Economical Transportation

ON WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY, February 22, 1923, the Chevrolet Motor Company Made and Shipped its millionth car, being one of the three manufacturers in all the world to attain such a total production.

This striking proof of the satisfaction given to the American public by our product is the more impressive when it is realized that Chevrolet is not the lowest-priced automobile made, but is the lowest priced quality automobile.

It proves that the wisest, most experienced motoring public in the world—the American people—appreciate and want quality more than price.

The Chevrolet policy is to insure quality first—then set the price as low as great volume production and sales will permit. The correctness of this policy is shown by the fact that in 1922 Chevrolet sales jumped from seventh place to second, and in the latter part of the year in numerous parts of the United States to first place.

IN economy of operation Chevrolet is unsurpassed. Its engineering design and construction have kept pace with progress, and overcome the difficulties due to the present low-grade motor fuels now in use.

In comfort and beauty it leads in the low-priced field. This is particularly true of closed cars, which have highest-grade bodies designed and built for comfort in all weathers, handsomely appointed and instantly convertible from weather-proof condition to open, cool comfort.

Having the world's largest manufacturing capacity for high-grade closed cars, we are able to offer the utmost per dollar of value in this rapidly growing market.

No matter what car you own or think of owning, it will surely pay you to see Chevrolet first.

Six-Wheel Motor Coach Promises Vast Highway Transportation Development

Charles M. Schwab, who sees wonderful future for highway transportation.

Industrial Leader Confident New Type of Construction Will Revolutionize Use of Highways as Complement to Steam and Electric Lines.

ANNOUNCEMENT that Charles M. Schwab has entered the automotive industry, in the field of large capacity passenger coaches and freight trucks, has attracted wide attention in automobile and transportation circles.

Development of a type of vehicle of sufficient capacity to permit economical and profitable operation, and at the same time to reduce road impact to a minimum, has been the real problem of highway transportation, according to Mr. Schwab. With a considerable amount of passenger and freight traffic available and a vast mileage of improved highways ready for use, the problem of a thoroughly satisfactory vehicle has been for several years squarely up to automobile engineers and manufacturers. A six-wheel, pneumatic-tired vehicle, driving and braking on four rear wheels which are assembled as a unit, is Mr. Schwab's answer to the challenge.

Remarkable Impact Reduction
The new vehicle, in actual tests conducted by the United States Bureau of Roads, was demonstrated to have a road impact only one-fourth that of solid-tired four-wheel vehicles of like capacity in general use. The manner in which the load is distributed among the six pneumatic tired wheels explains this enormous decrease in impact, as well as the corresponding increase in comfort and efficiency of the vehicle. Tires 32x6 inches are used on all six wheels.

Steam and electric railway mileage in the United States for several years has been showing a steady decrease. Coincident with this condition, freight and passenger traffic are showing consistent increases in volume.

Solution of Problem
With intelligent use of highway transportation offering the only solution of the problem, Mr. Schwab was attracted to the motor coach and truck industry.

In the past it has been the practice of builders of motor buses generally to adapt truck design to purposes of passenger transportation. The six-wheel bus is a complete departure from all precedent, embodying a number of features absolutely new in this type of vehicle.

Experience of Railroads
"When railroads first used four-wheel trucks under their cars, two-wheel trucks became forever obsolete," says Mr. Schwab. "The new type of six-wheel construction will, in my opinion, accomplish the same thing for heavy duty highway motor vehicles.

"I do not regard the motor bus and heavy duty motor truck as competitors of the rail lines, except in segregated instances. It is thoroughly practical for rail lines to use highway transportation systems as feeders. It costs nearly $90,000 per mile to build and equip rail lines today. That precludes new construction except in highly profitable territory, because the gross revenue required for rail operation today is four times what it was ten or twelve years ago. Highway transportation steps into this breach, however, provides the transportation demanded and gives flexibility which cannot be obtained in any other way.

Street Railway Situation

"Street railways are up against the same problem as the steam rail lines. Extensions for the development of new urban territory and often for interurban traffic are no longer practical, and the bus must be depended upon to do the job.

"With nearly 2,000,000 miles of highways in the United States, as compared with about 250,000 miles of steam railroads and 60,000 miles of electric railways, the vast opportunity that has awaited the right type of highway vehicle is obvious. The new type of vehicle is being produced by the Six Wheel Company of Philadelphia. Mr. Schwab is chairman of the board of directors of the company.

MANY AUTO DRIVERS ARE BROUGHT TO COURT FOR DRUNKENNESS

International News Service.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 2.—Within the regime of Ira S. Gardner, as judge of the South Side court, more than fifty drivers of motor cars have been ordered to refrain from driving any car, including their own, for periods of thirty days. Such sentences have come from flagrant violations of various traffic ordinances.

However, it is one thing to create such an order as observed to the letter would require a corps of men to do nothing but watch those forbidden to drive cars.

Judge Gardner declared this week that in the first ten cases of drivers thus ordered, each one was checked by men who daily reported to the judge. Judge Gardner said those upon whom the ban had fallen were found to be obeying the order in each instance.

HIGHWAY THROUGH HOCKLEY AND LAMB COUNTIES IS A CREDIT TO THE HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT OF TEXAS

Many Lubbock people who to Amherst Friday to attend picnic were impressed with the condition of Highway No. 7 through Hockley and Lamb counties.

The highway was put in fine condition by the highway department's working out of the office Division Engineer Baker of Lubbock and as sufficient rainfall has received through that section the road was built to the satisfaction of them to maintain the highway according to highway regulations.

The highway department is doing splendid work in the district of more than twenty miles that make up this division. All the county commissioners with that division co-operating in it will be but a few miles from every direction of light and properly maintained road, that will save the wear and tear of thousands of dollars to the state of this section of the highway.

A local man who is familiar with the condition of the roadway through Hockley and Lamb counties, realizes that it was built by the highway department engineers, heartily favoring being given the heartiest cooperation of the commissioners of Lubbock county in order to put the highway in as good condition as to be found elsewhere. Progressive citizens of this district realize that good roads, schools and good churches go hand in hand in the development of a community and inducing to the class of men and women who will better serve West and they are keen for any tendency to improve either of these assets.

TEXAS UNIVERSITY BOARD OF REGENTS ASK FOR PLANS

AUSTIN, Aug. 2.—At its recent meeting held here the Board of Regents of the University of Texas adopted the policy recommended by the building committee of the faculty of that institution in regard to having plans for proposed new buildings given a more thorough consideration than has been the practice in the past. With this purpose in view the University architect, Herbert H. Green of Dallas, was authorized to prepare preliminary plans for an addition that may be built later on to the present Library Building, and also to take similar action in regard to the proposed new Chemistry Building. The actual erection of these improvements is probably some time off, but it is admitted that everything be in readiness for them when the time arrives for the work to be started, it is explained. It was also recommended by the faculty building committee that the heads of the departments directly concerned in the proposed new buildings be sent to other educational institutions of the country to make investigation of buildings devoted to their respective lines of work. The Regents agreed to this, and E. W. Winkler, University librarian, will be sent to visit library buildings of other colleges for the purpose of gathering the best ideas that enter into their construction. The Board of Regents confirmed a number of new appointments to faculty positions, as follows: H. Ernest Conklin, M. A., to be instructor in English; Fred M. Ballard, graduate of the University of Oklahoma, to be instructor in geology; H. Gordon Damon, B. S., Vanderbilt University, to be tutor in geology; Miss Harriet Tilden, B.

S. Iowa State University, to be instructor in home economics; Paul J. Thompson, promoted from adjunct professor to associate professor of journalism; W. O. Moore to be instructor in public speaking; Dr. H. S. Vandiver of Cornell University, to be adjunct professor in mathematics for a year to take the place of Dr. Paul M. Hatcher, who is absent on leave; John A. King, B. S. in mechanical engineering, to be instructor in mechanical engineering to succeed E. M. Jones, resigned; B. F. Treat, B. S. in mechanical engineering, University of Kansas, to be instructor in mechanical engineering, to succeed J. T. Straight, resigned; Mrs. Florence Curtis, graduate of Sergeant School of Physical Education, to be instructor in physical training for women; Dabney E. Petty, to be geologist in the bureau of economic geology, to take the place of T. L. Bailey, who will be on leave next year.

Hints From a House-Wife's Kitchen Diary

Cooking—Art and Science

A WHOLE VEGETABLE DINNER ON A SINGLE PLATTER

Vegetable salads are a very appetizing and beautiful dish and should be served a few times a week during the summer months while fresh vegetables are available.

Most housewives know that these salads can be served most attractively and make a tremendous appeal to the members of the family who come home tired out after work on a hot day.

The objection raised is that a salad of this kind should be made up of three or four vegetables and that the cooking of these vegetables requires a few flames burning on the stove for at least an hour, making the kitchen unbearable.

Here is a suggestion for a salad of four vegetables which can all be boiled together, leaving the kitchen cool and comfortable and saving considerable fuel.

Scrape and cut up some young carrots, prepare some string beans in about two inch lengths, and shell some fresh lima beans and peas. Place all in an enameled ware saucepan, cover with cold water and add salt. When finished, pour into an enameled ware colander to drain and cool. If enameled ware is used there will be no danger of the vegetables becoming discolored.

Cover a platter with lettuce leaves and place the heart in the center. When the vegetables are cooled, distribute them on top of the lettuce. If you have any cold left over potatoes, these can be diced and added to the salad. Garnish with a few sliced hard-boiled eggs, celery, radishes and olives. This will make an elaborate-looking but simply prepared meal.

A SCIENTIFIC CUP OF COFFEE

If we told the truth, we could all own up to numerous cups of unpalatable coffee that we have had in our own homes or at the homes of friends where we know that the best of coffee is used. There are two facts that are particularly distasteful—the bitter kind and the too finely ground—almost pulverized—which leaves a sediment on one's tongue and a choky feeling in one's throat.

But at last the scientists have found the secret of making good coffee. In a report entitled "Scientific Coffee Research," recently issued by Samuel C. Prescott, Professor in the Department of Biology and Public Health in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, many facts of interest are revealed.

Professor Prescott maintains that the blend of coffee has very little bearing on the flavor produced—that coffee of low commercial grade, if freshly roasted and ground and properly prepared, is better than high-grade coffee when it is stale and badly prepared. He also points out that the utensils employed are of the utmost importance. Metal containers should never be used, says the report, because the action of coffee infusion on metals is pronounced, and bitter, stringy or metallic tastes may be produced. Enameled ware, with its vitreous, porcelain surface, has no influence on the taste of coffee.

Remove the scales by scraping with a dull knife from the tail and split the fish down the belly. Clean, wipe and dry and rub with salt inside and out. Dredge with flour, season with a little black or cayenne pepper. Place the fish with the inside upward in a well-buttered enameled ware baking pan and put a piece of butter about the size of an egg on top of the fish. Place in a hot oven without water. As soon as it begins to brown pour a half cupful of hot water into the pan and hasten repeatedly every ten minutes afterwards. Bake until tender and serve with a sauce made of chopped parsley and onions mixed with salt, vinegar and oil.

New potatoes boiled with their jackets on and fresh asparagus with drawn butter would add the finishing touches for a nice meal.

BAKED FISH WITH PARSLEY SAUCE

Fish makes a nice light supper very much appreciated in warm weather. And bluenish, weakfish and fresh mackerel offer a variety at this season. It is especially nice baked and an agreeable change in the usual routine of roast, broil, fry and boil. Another advantage is that it requires such a short time to cook, and although many housewives realize this they are averse to baking fish because they have experienced some trouble in removing it from the baking pan to a platter. This difficulty can be overcome by using an enameled ware baking pan. No transferring will be necessary—the fish can be garnished with lemon and watercress and served in the china-like pan in which it is baked.

AT THE CHURCHES

First Christian Church
Cor. 16th St. and Ave. J.
Mr. Man, your wife and children can't answer "present" for you in Sunday School and church nor in heaven. Christ says to you: Come, stay, hear, go, tell, do. The church has something for you, larger than business, more attractive than social life. Come and see. Besides the man who rests and worships on Sunday is far better qualified to do his best work on Monday.

Our Bible School meets at 9:45 a. m. At 1:00 p. m. the pastor will have for his sermon the theme: "Humanity Seeks for God." At 8:30 p. m. he will speak on the subject: "Casting Shadows Along Life's Highway." You will be interested in the great themes, and extend to you a personal and cordial invitation to all services.

For best results the coffee should be freshly ground. Surprising as it will be to most, Professor Prescott says that the coffee should be more than two minutes in water of from 185 to 202 degrees Fahrenheit. At these temperatures most of the caffeine will be dissolved. Says Professor Prescott, the flavoring oils will not be boiled away, and the bitter and woody taste will not be developed as much as by a half-hour exposure. Presumably, the coffee boiled for one minute is markedly more bitter than that which has been infused at a little below the boiling point.

BEEF—APPEALING AND SOFT

Many inexperienced housewives serve tenderloin, cutless beef, sirloin because they do not know how to prepare them. They cut the leaves off too close to the meat or test them too often with a fork while boiling. One method is as hard as the other and so is too difficult.

To get the best results, first cut off the leaves about three inches from the root—no other trimming is necessary. Scrub the beef very well, put them in an enameled ware saucepan, cover with cold water, and add salt. Use enameled ware to be sure that they will keep their bright red color, because this does not affect the acids in vegetables. Let them boil for thirty minutes before testing them. When they are good and tender, cover with the water and cool them. Cut a quarter of an inch slice and then a few lumps of butter between the layers.

INTERESTING RECIPES

There is no reason why the kitchen should become a furnace during the hot weather if some care is taken to choose dishes which can be prepared without cooking. There are many cold dishes which are extremely palatable in this season.

People do not need much hot food in warm weather, and indeed, the members of your family will feel better if they eat sparingly of those foods which heat up the body.

For this reason dates are an excellent summer food. They supply energy and nutriment without creating heat. The Arabs in Mesopotamia live for weeks at a time on dates and milk and find it an excellent warm weather diet.

Below are some good recipes for date dishes which can be prepared without any cooking.

Date Salad Sandwiches
1-2 cup chopped dates, 1-4 cup chopped walnut meats, 1-4 cup chopped celery, mayonnaise.
Mix the dates, walnut meats and celery and moisten well with mayonnaise. Spread on buttered slices of bread and place a crisp lettuce leaf in each sandwich.

Date and Pear Salad
For this dates, stoned and sliced, 1 cup fresh-keeping coconut, 2 large apples, chopped, 2 cups canned pears, chopped, cream mayonnaise dressing, crisp lettuce leaves.
Line salad plates with lettuce leaves. Mix dates with fresh-keeping coconut, add pears and apples, fill into plates, top with dressing and a sprinkling of fresh-keeping coconut.

Cream Cheese and Pineapple Sandwiches
2 packages cream cheese. Slices of buttered bread, 1 cup chopped pineapple, fresh or canned.
Chop the pineapple fine and drain off the juice. Spread half the slices of bread thinly with the cheese, sprinkle with the chopped pineapple, cover with the remaining slices of bread and press the sandwiches firmly together. Cut into thin strips for serving.
Cost of making: 60c. Makes 2 1-2 dozen sandwiches.

Fruit Punch
1 cup sugar, 1 cup boiling water,

LIBRARIAN REPORT SHOWS THAT SPLENDID WORK IS BEING DONE: IS A VALUABLE INSTITUTION

No institution in Lubbock has stood out more prominently as a factor for the proper development of the mental capacities of our boys and girls as has the Lubbock Public Library to which is attributed the lack of slovenly, idle boys and girls on the streets here as compared to the number to be found on the streets of other towns of Lubbock's size.

From one to two hundred of the large store of the library's books are issued each day in the week excepting Saturday when from five to six hundred are issued.

Despite the fact that every effort has been made to stock the library with the class of books that are most needed and which are in demand in this section, the librarian reports that there is a noticeable demand for books of poetry and of history which far exceeds the supply of these works.

Twenty-five local boys make an average of getting one book each day, which occupies their time and they are not to be found on the streets loafing, as would be the custom but for the fact that they have a wealth of reading material at hand and are induced to read the class of books the librarian thinks best for them.

Many newboys who work on the streets several hours each day have found that the Lubbock Public Library affords them ideal advantages for good reading when their work has been done. As a usual thing these boys are tired of body and a few minutes reading is enjoyed by them. Many of them could not be supplied with good reading material but for the library, and in this field alone that institution is rendering a service that is worthy of the highest regard of those interested in the future of our country and which is commendation enough for the money and effort put into the making of the library by its liberal supporters.

The library is also doing some good work by lending books to prisoners in the county jail.

It is hard to estimate the value of the Lubbock Public Library to Lubbock and to say the least it is worth tenfold its cost to the people whose liberality has made it possible.

The following report is submitted by Mrs. J. J. Snodgrass, librarian, for the month of July:

Number of books in library 2551.
Number of books donated 16.
Number of books bought 27.
Number of memberships 1112.
Number of letters written 33.

Amount received on memberships $31.50; amount received on fines $9.67; amount received on donations $4.00, total $45.17.

Amount paid out for books $36, amount paid out for incidentals $4.70, total $40.70.

Donations were made by the following: Miss Ruth Horn, $4.00; Miss Leona Gould eleven books; Mrs. Von Rosenberg, one book and Mrs. H. L. Dickerson, five books.

WOMEN ENTER COURT OVER CUSTODY OF CHILD

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Patsy McCarthy, 21 months old, lay in the corner of a courtroom, her chubby hands vainly for the child's mother, Saturday afternoon, when she was the principal character in the modern production of a drama that made its initial bow back in the days before King Solomon said his wisdom for a bevy of beautiful women.

Two "mothers" were pleading with a stern faced judge for "Patsy" who had spent the night in the custody of a third, Patsy's real mother, Mrs. Alma McCarthy, had given her away to Mrs. John J. Burnett, about a year ago and like a real mother, wanted her back. Mr. Burnett had come to love "Patsy" so much that she decided to fight to hold her.

Mrs. McCarthy, an attractive young woman, 24 years old, told quite simply the story of the romance that began nearly three years ago in a Michigan college which resulted in the birth of "Patsy" and culminated Thursday when she married the child's father.

"Patsy" according to her mother was born in the county hospital and three weeks after her birth, was turned over to the Burnetts who said they would care for her for $6 weekly. Indignantly she denied she had ever offered to let the Burnetts adopt her child.

"I want to see her every week," she asserted. "She is my child and I will never give up my claim."

When Mrs. McCarthy filed a writ of habeas corpus, the judge turned Patsy over to a third guardian to keep until he reached his decision.

COUNTY SCHOOL NOTES

The beginning of a new session of school is nearing its now very day and we must get prepared for the stupendous task. Out yonder in the rural school are two thousand living souls looking to the adult population of this county to provide facilities for free education that these two thousand children may have that opportunity spoken of in the convention halls all over the land, namely, the right that every child in America is entitled to free schooling, until he is grown.

These rural boys and girls are alive to the fact that this is a day of opportunities. That this is an era of growth, and development, the like of which America has never realized before. They know that the child who comes to the years of accountability handicapped along educational lines is certainly at a disadvantage compared with a boy who is trained. And we mean, by being trained, is to be able to turn his hand to some task and say here is something which I am proficient, and therefore I can make good. How many times, an opportunity has presented itself to a fellow in a mature age or in middle life and the man or woman could not accept because the educational side of the man along that line had been neglected.

Socialist Candidate for Governor.

REV. NORMAN THOMAS.

The Rev. Norman Thomas, former assistant pastor of the exclusive Brick Presbyterian Church, Fifth avenue, New York City, has been nominated by the Socialist Party as a candidate for Governor of the State of New York. He was once a newsboy for President Harding's Marion O. Star. Now he is working for the benefit of immigrants to New York and writing editorial for labor newspapers.

But today is the day that we have been looking forward to. The time has come when our own Lubbock will have a master college at her very door. Shall we neglect so great an opportunity to care for the children of the farms? No surely not, when the rural people are alive to the fact that everyone recognizes is the main stay and backbone of the South Plains. Then we must keep our rural schools up to the standard of the best and then make them better. We must have teachers in our rural schools who know rural life, an dwho are in sympathy with the farmers and their problems. We need more men and women who are not afraid of real manual work. Too long has the stigma been on the school teacher, that he was lazy and was fit for nothing but school teaching. The belief is prevalent that the thing for teachers to do is to prove to the general public that as much energy and industry is bundled up in their bodies as in other folks. I am proud to say that we have many just such teachers employed in our rural schools. I can show you in five minutes, a man with half of his degree procured, contracted for one of our schools, and yet he has worked consistently on the Lubbock State Bank building for two months. All praise to the man who has ambition. That fellow has won my heart. He is a man in every sense of the word. Another rural principal is hauling sand on the street, and another is digging on the sewer line. These people own cars, and some of them have city property. Of just such material are we proud to have our teachers. They will teach our children to be not afraid of honest toil. We have the precedent of kings for this. Once a king, or Czar of all the Russians, Peter the Great, worked two long years in Germany and England as a common laborer that he might get first hand information of the reforms and progress of the West and carry it home to his people. He returned and initiated the greatest era of progress and uplift Russia had ever known. We need people who are not afraid of soiling their hands, and here's to that great mass of people who admire honest toil. May they live happily. Many of our rural principals are helping the farmers with their crops and no less than four have crops of their own, in the community.

The great question of when to begin our term, is on us. Some of the schools will open August 4, and teach until cotton opens. Then a suspension for picking. That is bad. But it is worse in some other ways and the man is yet to be found who can say with authority what is best and when will give the most good to the most children. We are working hard on the problem.

The county board of education meets Saturday, August 2, and anyone having school matters to discuss is welcomed. The rural people have school troubles all their own, and they desire earnestly that the citizens of Lubbock county lend assistance in solving them. Teachers' examinations will be held at the courthouse August 15 and 16.

AVIATOR KILLED IN ATTEMPT AID FUNERAL

By United News.
RENO, Nev., Aug. 2.—Wm. F. Blanchfield, veteran flyer of the World War and western division of the transcontinental United States Airmail route was dashed to death late Friday afternoon when the plane in which he was attempting to hover over the grave of Samuel J. Gerrans, an airmail mechanic, in order to drop flowers, suddenly went into a nose dive, turned over several times, and burst into flames as it struck the corner of the residence of A. B. McKinley burning it to the ground with all its contents.

Burned to a crisp the body of the aviator was taken from the ruins shortly after the horrifying accident occurred. The control of the machine was gripped tightly in his hands—mute evidence that he was fighting to get control of the machine to the last.

The accident occurred at Mountain View Cemetery, just north of the city. In a high wind, he was seen to soar over Reno, flying unusually low as it was at an hour when air mail ships were not in the air. Circling above the cemetery, seemingly but little above the tree tops, he was striving for a position over the grave when something happened and the great ship dashed towards the ground, turned over several times and then dropped straight down crashing into the roof of the house.

An explosion followed by flames caused several of the little group of mourners at the grave of the mechanic to faint. The others were quick to realize that death had come to the pilot who was to pay an unusual tribute to a fellow worker in the ranks.

Blanchfield had been with the airmail service since it was inaugurated. During the world war he was a pilot in the American army and prior to that was in the British air service.

Blanchfield was a bachelor, about 30 year old, and made his home in Reno.

WHEAT IS ROMATIC—LITTLE GRAIN CAUSES WAR; MAKES MILLIONAIRES AND HELPS TO ELECT PRESIDENTS

By United Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.—Millions of bushels of hordae have been harvested and are now on their way to market. In fact the United States leads the world in the production of this crop. Yet there was none of it when Columbus announced that he was taking a first mortgage on the new world in the name of Isabella. You find this crop in some form on your table at every meal.

Baltimore was once the leading point of export in America because of the American Nature Association, but things have changed since then, for hordae, otherwise wheat is now grown in forty-three states. News bulletins tell an anxious world the wheat crop conditions. Millions are won and lost by gamblers in the wheat market. Political parties claim candidates can be elected if the price of wheat goes up. Historians have pointed out that wheat, or the need of it, has caused wars.

In 1923 the wheat output of the or English wheat, Flint, Durum or els, while in 1850 it was only one hundred million bushels. In 1919 production jumped to 367,979,000 bushels, due to the call of war.

The Grass Family
Wheat belongs to the grass family. Its family name is hordae, and if the system of the genealogy books were followed, four main branches would be found—common wheat, Egyptian composed of cellulose. Next is a Macaroni wheat and Dwarf wheat. The family tree would show many offshoots from each of these groups: wheats with interesting names like Turkey Red, Blue Stem, Scotch Fife, Golden Chaff and Bearded Winter Fife; red wheats and white wheats; winter wheats and Spring wheats; hard wheats and soft wheats.

In varying climates and in different soils, through experiment, and through crossing and mixing, myriads of wheats have developed. The kernel wears an overcoat composed of cellulose. Next is a coat, and then a vest composed of bran. The shirt of gluten cells. Then comes the wheat kernel itself, with tiny indentations at the bottom where the germ of the new plant is stored. In different kinds of wheats the relative sizes of these coverings and the kernel vary, deciding the wheat's value and use.

We have Spring wheats and Winter wheats. Climate and soil have much to do with whether a winter or spring crop, or both, can be grown, and so far as variety goes, it is the farmer's task to find which gives the best results on his land. Preparation is the same, the soil being loosened from three to eight inches deep with plow or harrow, the modern descendants of the bent stick or wooden plow of early days.

Wheat Eats Nitrogen.
The wheat eats nitrogen from the soil. Spring wheat is particularly hungry for this. The weight and size of the kernel determines the flour yield. Flour made from hard wheat is the chief bread flour. That which is milled from soft wheat is best for crackers, cake and pastry. Durum flour makes a sticky dough fitted for the making of macaroni, into which more than 100,000,000 bushels of the output of the United States goes. Graham flour is made from the whole grain ground into powder, while whole wheat flour, not as coarse as graham, is made from grinding what is left after the bran layers are removed.

Flour is the chief product of the wheat field, but the straw is used for fodder, for bedding or for plowing into the field as fertilizer. It is also used in the manufacture of hats, doormats and paper.

But nature makes man work to save his wheat. How many know a black stem rust of grain, annually taking a toll of some fifty million dollars' worth of potential food products in the north central states, is a disease which can be cured?

In the plant world the "germ" or a disease is sometimes known as a "spore." Like the typhoid germ, the black stem rust spore breeds in certain places. Instead of choosing filth for its birthplace, however, its early days are spent on the leaves of the beautiful, common barberry bush, known to many attractive lawns and gardens, and when it leaves the barberry it romps through the fields on the wings of the summer breeze.

A Dangerous Barberry
The common barberry is the dangerous barberry; the Japanese, the harmless. The common barberry is a tall, erect, spiny bush, often as much as ten or twelve feet high. The leaves are green or purple and have saw-tooth edges. A complete story of wheat is not only the story of the pioneers and their covered wagons, but a story of the world. As frontiers were flung westward, wheat followed the tide of settlement. Today it grows in the soil of forty-three states. It creates economic and agricultural problems with which legislators, economists and business men as well as the farmer must grapple.

FIRST BIG COTTON CROP IN KANSAS DOING FINE

By International News Service

PARSONS, Kans., Aug. 2.—Lahette county's first big cotton crop, estimated at nearly 200 acres, is reported in fine shape, with the plants nearly to bloom.

A cotton variety test is being conducted in conjunction with the Kansas State Agricultural college near Owsago and nearly 33 varieties are being grown this year. Cotton has been grown several years in this county but never in any large quantity.

Too many who catch on to things quickly let go the same way.

C. G. Salter was here Friday from his home at Roswell, New Mexico.

LITTLEFIELD, Aug. 2.—T. W. Barns, a merchant from Amarillo, is having a two story building erected on Hhells Avenue here, and will put in a large stock of general merchandise.

The Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. have purchased an additional half block adjoining their yard on the south, and are doubling the size of their lumber yard. Immense sheds are being built.

A Greek candy kitchen, modern in every way, is being put in now. New residences continue to be built, and prospective land buyers are simply pouring in looking the Littlefield country over, and buying farm homes.

Calculated optimism has its uses in the game of politics, but to claim even the solid South for Coolidge rather overdoes it.

CITIZEN TRAINING CAMP CONTINGENTS ARRIVING

International News Service

LEAVENWORTH, Kas. Aug. 2.—The first contingent of citizens who will attend the annual citizens military training camp, which opened yesterday here have arrived. 2000 youths are expected to be present at the school this year.

It is now stated that some of the friends of the federal child labor amendment agree with its opponents that the 18-year limit is too high. They ought to have spoken up before the states were invited to ratify a preposterous and permanent ruling forbidding gainful labor to "children" of 18 years.

When a man turns green with envy he is ripe for trouble.
