Union Schedules Clear Fork Test In Gaines Area

Union Oil Company of California spotted location for an 8,000-foot rotary wildcat in the Brown-Glorieta pool of Northwest Gaines County.

The destination is expected to carry the project through the Clear Fork.

It will be drilled as No. 1-B E. H. Jones, 660 feet from south and west lines of section 21, block A-7, PSL survey. That puts it one location southwest of Anderson-Prichard Oil Corporation No. 1 E. H. Jones, discovery well of the Brown-Glorieta field. It was completed through perforations at 6,030-6,090 in seven-inch casing. The opener was drilled to 7,850 feet in dry Clear Fork.

Location for Union No. 1-B Jones is 23 miles northwest of Seminole.

Test Of New Pay In Strawn Is Delayed At Mitchell Opener

Union Sulphur & Oil Corporation No. 1 E. E. Erwin, which flowed oil at the estimated rate of 10 to 15 barrels per hour from the top of the Strawn reef at 7,535-65 feet is still trying to run a drillstem test on 19 feet of new pay at 7,565-84 feet.

Operator went in the hole late Wednesday to test that interval. Circulation was lost before the investigation could be run.

New mud was mixed and pumped in. Circulation was regained.

Will Try Again

A test was to be undertaken Thursday. The zone to be tested had shown oil and gas saturation in five feet and nine inches of reef lime which was recovered on a core.

Only six feet of material was recovered in coring the 19 feet of new section. Three inches of it was shale.

This wildcat is 17 miles northwest of Colorado City and 1,980 feet from west and 703.6 feet from south lines of section 1, block 25, H&TC survey.

NOS&LA Will Meet In Dallas To Make Plans For Yearbook

A meeting of the officers, directors and district representatives of the National Oil Scouts and Landmen's Association will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Baker Hotel in Dallas.

The meeting has been called by the president of the association, Lea Stedman with The Pure Oil Company in Tyler, to lay plans for the publication of "Oil and Gas Development in the United States and Canada, Yearbook 1952-Review of 1951."

This annual publication is compiled by the 30 district oil scouts associations and covers all oil producing states and provinces with details of oil exploration during the past year.

Mitchell Dry Hole To Be Re-entered And Investigated

A dry hole in Central-South Mitchell County is to be re-entered, cleaned out and tested.

The exploration will be A. Seibel and C. Stein, both of Houston No. 1 Ellwood estate. It is 17 miles south of Colorado City and 1,980 feet from northeast and southeast lines of section 46, block 16, SPRR survey.

Drilled In 1941

It was originally drilled in 1941 by Humble Oil & Refining Company as its No. 1 Ellwood estate. The prospector went to a total depth of 8,902 feet in the Ellenburger and was abandoned without developing any shows of production.

Seibel and Stein are reported to be planning to clean the old hole out to 5,800 feet, which is in the Pennsylvanian, and test it above that point.

Cree Gets Oil Flow From Fry Section In Runnels Project

George B. Cree No. 1 C. E. McWilliams, Northeast Runnels County wildcat, four miles south of Crews flowed oil from the lower Fry formation in a drillstem test at 3,652-62 feet to indicate a discovery.

The tester was open 70 minutes. Gas surfaced in four minutes and oil came to the top in 60 minutes. There was no estimate on the amount of oil the project flowed during the 10 minutes before the tool was closed.

Final recovery was 646 feet of oil. Open flowing bottom hole pres-

Oil Industry Eyes Growing Strike Threat

DENVER—(AP)—Possibility of a strike of a large portion of the oil industry loomed Thursday.

The CIO Oil Workers International Union announced a strike vote is being prepared in support of the union's demands for a $2-a-day general wage increase.

A union spokesman said the strike would have "a very substantial effect on the nation's oil industry." He estimated about 50,000 persons would be involved, many of them employed in refineries.

O. A. Knight, union president, issued a statement declaring:

"For four and a half months we have tried to negotiate an increase but we have met only with arrogant refusal on the part of the companies to even talk seriously about a substantial raise."

The boost would amount to about a 12 per cent general hike. The average wage in the industry now is $2.10 an hour.

Knight said about 300 of the union's more than 600 bargaining units have been requested to take strike votes and prepare to strike.

Walkout Could Idle 15,000 Oil Workers In Jefferson County

BEAUMONT —(AP)— A strike threatened by the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) could affect as many as 15,000 workers in Jefferson County.

The OWIU-CIO members are employed at eight petroleum and petrochemical plants. The union is asking a 25-cent hourly pay boost.

Three other plants with no-strike clauses in their OWIU contracts probably would not be affected, according to J. Elro Brown of Beaumont, a district representative of the union.

Texas Company oil workers in Port Arthur will vote on the strike call Thursday night. Workers at Gulf and Atlantic refineries are scheduled to vote Monday and Tuesday. Magnolia Petroleum Company workers in Beaumont have set no date but may set one soon.

Pure Oil Company employes at Nederland and B. F. Goodrich chemical workers in Port Neches already have approved strike calls. Two other Port Neches plants—U. S. Rubber and The Texas Company asphalt plant—have not acted.

Stockmen Worry As Long Texas Drouth Continues Unchecked

By The Associated Press

Rising temperatures and cloudless, dust-flecked skies Thursday reminded Texans it was a long time between rains.

The months-long drouth, broken only by occasional drizzles and showers, continued unchecked with no relief in sight. A county farm agents meeting in San Angelo called it the most vicious since 1886.

Temperatures dropped as low as 19 degrees at Dalhart early Thursday, while the high minimum was 44 at Galveston. Wednesday's readings were mostly in the sixties in Texas, with the high a mild 72 at Brownsville. The low maximum was 54 at Amarillo.

Skies were to turn partly cloudy and moderate northerly winds were to become variable Friday, the Weather Bureau said, but no rain was foreseen.

Traces Of Sand

Traces of blowing sand were reported in West Texas Wednesday, but were not regarded as serious or widespread by the Weather Bureau. "Just another sign of thirsty soil on the plains," a spokesman said.

Faced with high feed bills, West Texans had cut many herds to essential breeding animals only. Raising livestock feed in the dry, powdery earth is impossible. Except on irrigated land, the last two crops have been flops in the Edwards Plateau region.

A. B. Ford, San Saba, in the "Heart of Texas" region where sheep and cattle once were abundant, said wells and springs never known to go dry are drying up.

Stockmen agreed cattle left are in good shape but that if Spring rains do not come, and soon, that . . . "Well, it's gonna be tough."

It was the same story all over rain-thirsty Texas.

Truce Teams Again Chalk Up Progress

MUNSAN, KOREA —(AP)—Reds and Allies each gave ground Thursday and narrowed the gap on troop rotation and the future of displaced civilians.

But negotiators remained as far apart as ever on key issues blocking a Korean armistice.

Allied negotiators abandoned demands that the Communists trade displaced civilians for UN-held war prisoners.

The UN reiterated, however, that all prisoners must have the right to choose whether they want to be repatriated and that impartial teams must interview civilians to determine whether they want to live in North or South Korea.

Reds Give Ground

An official UN spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, told newsmen before the transcript of the negotiations was available that the demand for civilian interviews also was dropped. The record shows this was not the case.

In an adjoining tent the Communists gave ground in the dispute over troop rotation during an armistice. The Allies said they would talk about the Communists' definition of coastal waters and consider dropping two demands relating to troop dispositions during a truce.

The UN Command continued its study of a Red proposal that a high-level political conference be held within 90 days after an armistice is signed to consider all Asian problems looking toward peace in Korea.

Details Are Studied For Attempt To Get More Rain For Area

LAMESA—A committee representing seven counties in West Texas was working out details this week for an attempt to increase rain in this area and break one of the longest drouths in recent years.

The committee went to work after 400 farmers and businessmen earlier this week voted at a meeting here to proceed with negotiations with the famed Dr. I. P. Krick of Colorado.

Ford Hubbard, representing Dr. Krick, told the group his organization could not "make" rain but could only attempt to increase rainfall when conditions are right.

The work costs five cents an acre for 1,000,000 acres or one cent an acre for 5,000,000 acres or more.

Present for the meeting were representatives of Howard, Martin, Borden, Dawson, Gaines, Terry and Lynn counties.

Others interested in joining the project can get further information from the Dawson County Farm Bureau at Lamesa.

Educators Endorse Proposal To Divert Tidelands Revenues

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A proposal to use oil revenues from off-shore coastal areas for a federal aid-to-education program Thursday received the endorsement of a college president and a prominent newsman.

Dr. Robert L. Stearnes, University of Colorado president, and Dr. Benjamin Fine, New York Times education editor, were among the first of a score of witnesses called by a Senate Interior Committee to testify on the controversial Tidelands issue expected to be taken up by the Senate next week.

They expressed hope Senator Hill (D-Ala) will be successful when he offers an aid-to-education amendment to the pending Tidelands control resolution.

The measure gives the secretary of Interior tentative control of the disputed territory until a final settlement is reached. It also puts federal revenues from the Tidelands in escrow until a permanent solution is found.

Federal Control

The Interior Committee already has reported out a resolution sponsored by its chairman, Senator O'Mahoney (D-Wyo).

The bill and the Hill amendment are alike in that they would give the federal government control of the submerged lands from the coastline to the edge of the continental shelf, and would give the states 37 1/2 per cent of the revenues from oil and gas development from the coastline out for three miles from their own respective shorelines.

The difference is that, instead of impounding the federal money, Hill proposes that immediately and in the future it would be allocated to the states for primary, secondary and high educational purposes.

Senators who publicly have endorsed the Hill proposal include: Douglas (D-Ill), Morse (R-Ore), Benton (D-Conn), Tobey (R-NH), Kefauver (D-Tenn), Neely (D-WVa), Sparkman (D-Ala), Humphrey (D-Minn), Hennings (D-Mo) and Chavez (D-NM).

Woman Reports Winnie Ruth Judd Seen In Las Cruces

LAS CRUCES, N. M. —(AP)— Winnie Ruth Judd was reported to have been seen in Las Cruces Thursday by a woman who said she once worked with the Arizona fugitive as a nurse.

The woman gave her name only as Mrs. MacDonald.

She said she saw Mrs. Judd, trunk murderess who escaped last Saturday from the Arizona State Hospital for the Insane, and a male companion in a late model automobile with Missouri license plates.

Mrs. MacDonald said she is "positive" the woman in the car was Mrs. Judd and she immediately notified sheriff's deputies.

State police set up road blocks at Anthony, 26 miles south, and alerted El Paso, Texas, police.

Mississippi Gambling Resorts Close Again

BILOXI, MISS. —(AP)— Gambling on the Mississippi Gold Coast is closed down again.

Operators reopened last month after a shutdown that came just before a Senate committee investigation. They began closing down again Monday night. Thursday it was complete.

Grady The Cow Leads Busy Life Since Plunge Into Silo

YUKON, OKLA. —(AP)— Grady the cow hasn't lost any time since her historic plunge into a silo on owner Bill Mach's farm three years ago.

She's had three calves—one a year—and seems destined to have quite a large family before the end of her days. And the family is pretty well balanced—two sons and a daughter.

Grady is seven years old now and has taken on a few pounds but she hasn't lost her glamour. Mach says the curious continue to visit the ranch to see Grady.

On Feb. 22, 1949—Washington's birthday—was an eventful day in Grady's life. Her first calf was born dead. Her sadness turned into frenzied flight. She bolted the barn and stomped headlong toward the silo. How she dived through the 17x25 1/2-inch opening still is a mystery.

The news of her entrapment flashed across the news wires of the nation on Friday. Soon the whole world was wondering how Grady was going to get out of her predicament.

On February 26, a simple maneuver of grease, sleeping shots and a lot of push and pull sent Grady squeezing through the small opening and back into the barnyard.

Eisenhower Forces Step Up Campaign

By The Associated Press

Eisenhower-for-President forces are stepping up their fight to win a political beachhead for the general.

There were these developments for several states and Washington:

1. Seven speakers from Congress and elsewhere will begin moving into New Hampshire next week to boom Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for that state's 14 delegates to the GOP Presidential Nominating Convention.

2. Gov. John Lodge of Connecticut publicly came out for Eisenhower and announced he is going on a speaking tour of Florida, Mississippi and Louisiana.

Pressure For Return

3. Louisiana Eisenhower backers, feuding with sponsors of Senator Taft of Ohio, are seeking to force the GOP State Central Committee to certify the returns of the January 15 primary, in which Eisenhower supporters won the majority of seats.

4. In Washington, evidence mounted that the general's supporters are building up pressure for him to return home and help get the bandwagon rolling.

5. Eisenhower still has a five to three edge over Taft in Oklahoma, but Taft picked up two more delegates to the GOP National Convention Wednesday in the struggle for Oklahoma's 16 representatives. Gen. Douglas MacArthur has one, one still is uncommitteed, and six more are to be elected.

Senator Brewster (R-Maine), however, wasn't too impressed with all the "I like Ike" activity. He predicted that if present political trends continue, Taft will have the GOP nomination "sewed up" within a few weeks.

Senator Kerr (D-Okla), a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination if President Truman doesn't run, said MacArthur is supporting Taft in an effort to prevent the Republicans from nominating Eisenhower.

William S. Clark, 83, Dies Early Thursday

William Steven Clark, 83, a resident of Midland County for almost half a century, died at his home five miles southeast of Midland at 7 a.m. Thursday.

Known as "Uncle Steve," Clark had lived in Midland County 48 years.

Born Jan. 17, 1869, in Wilson County, Texas, Clark moved to Midland from there in 1904 and has farmed in the southeast section of the county since 1911.

He was married to Julia Coates on March 11, 1906, in Midland.

Survivors include the widow of Midland; a brother, Florey Clark of West Columbia, Texas; five sisters, Mrs. Sarah Hollowood of San Antonio, Mrs. Dora West and Mrs. Eunice West of West Columbia, Mrs. Lottie May of Gonzales, and Mrs. Mary West of Midland.

Funeral services tentatively have been set Saturday but are incomplete pending arrival of relatives.

Interment will be in Fairview Memorial Cemetery.

City To Purchase 20 New Vehicles

The City of Midland will receive bids Friday for 20 new vehicles ranging from three-wheel motorcycles to a two-ton truck.

The three three-wheel motorcycles are for the police department.

The other vehicles include six half-ton trucks, five three-quarter ton trucks, one dump truck, two one-and-a-half-ton trucks, one two ton truck and two sedans.

The sedans include a bright red one for the fire department and one for City Manager W. H. Oswalt.

Coronation Rites To Be Held Friday

LONDON—(AP)—Young Queen Elizabeth II returned to her homeland Thursday to ascend the throne and inter King George VI.

The 25-year-old queen of the United Kingdom and the dominions overseas reached London airport at 4:19 p.m. (10:19 a.m. CST) after a flight from Nairobi, Kenya. It was exactly a week since she left London, as Princess Elizabeth, to make a round-the-world tour of five months.

A plain oak coffin was being prepared for the remains of her father, King George VI. The funeral will be held next week.

The four-engined transport carrying the royal party set down at 4:19 p.m. after a 4,000 mile, one-stop flight. Prime Minister Winston Churchill headed the official delegation on hand to welcome the new queen. The skies were gray.

The royal family was represented by the duke and duchess of Gloucester, aunt and uncle of the queen. Another uncle, the duke of Windsor, is sailing home from New York to attend the funeral.

The scene at the airport was a cheerless one, in the gathering gloom of the early English twilight. Prime Minister Churchill had appealed to the public in advance to stay away from the airport and respect the queen's grief.

Formal Proclamation

Elizabeth stepped out of the plane at 4:33 p.m. It was arranged that she go to Clarence House, her residence as princess, and then to Buckingham Palace to take the oath to uphold the Constitution, before the Privy Council.

Friday she formally will be proclaimed queen—the first woman to rule Britain in 51 years.

Six cars stood by at the airport to take the royal party and its luggage to the heart of London. Policemen were posted along the 15-mile route from the airport to Central London to speed the motor convoy.

Churchilll bowed deeply and shook hands with the queen as she stepped from the plane, closely followed by her husband, the duke of Edinburgh.

Elizabeth wore a black hat and coat. The duke, in a dark overcoat, was hatless.

Five minutes after they left the plane the queen and the duke drove away toward London.

A thin line of spectators standing outside the airport saw the procession pull away.

Soldiers Snap Salute

A group of soldiers snapped a salute at the royal car as it passed. The queen, unsmiling, waved back.

At the Sandringham royal estate, where her father died peacefully in his sleep Wednesday morning, silent, sorrowing carpenters sawed, hammered and fitted the king's coffin from a great oak tree, felled months ago on the estate where he was born and died.

The body of the monarch, dead at 56 after years of strain and illness, is expected to lie in state three

It's Queen's English Now For Britons

LONDON —(AP)— Britons will speak the Queen's English during the reign of Elizabeth II. The change from king to queen as sovereign means many other twists in familiar phrases and monograms.

The 250 king's counsel now are queen's counsel. For two of them this has a familiar ring. They served under Queen Victoria.

It will be the queen's bench in law courts. Criminals will turn queen's evidence. Travelers will ride on queen's highways. A military officer will take a queen's commission.

New stamps and new coins will bear the queen's likeness. Outside post offices new monograms will go up with E. R. (Elizabeth Regina) instead of G. R. (George Rex).

Single Throne Will Mark Queen's Reign

LONDON —(AP)— One of the two thrones which have remained side by side in the House of Lords throughout the reign of King George VI was removed Thursday. A single throne will symbolize the reign of Queen Elizabeth II.

The duke of Edinburgh, who is expected to be created prince consort when Queen Elizabeth wills it, will occupy a small gilt chair on one of the lower steps at the opening of a Parliament.

British Services Salute Late King

LONDON —(AP)— At noon Thursday, British warships and Army posts throughout the world started firing at minute intervals 56 rounds —one for each year of the life of King George VI.

Mourning commands to the three British services ordered half-staffed ensigns, draped trumpets, drums and colors, and black arm bands for all officers.

INDIAN GOVERNMENT SETS MOURNING PERIOD

NEW DELHI, INDIA. —(AP)— The government of India declared an 11-day mourning period for King George VI, starting Thursday.

A bank holiday and a half-day holiday for government employes also was ordered for the day of the monarch's funeral.

Midland Rotarians Pick Richard Brooks For Club President

Richard S. Brooks, attorney, was named president of the Midland Rotary Club for 1952-53 at its annual officer election meeting Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer. He will succeed Dr. J. O. Shannon in the office.

Other officers-elect are J. P. Carson, Sr., vice president; the Rev. W. R. Mann, secretary-treasurer, and Carroll Thomas, the Rev. Luther Kirk, Bob Lewis and Billy Yeatts, directors. They will take office July 1.

Brooks and Carson were named delegates to the Rotary International convention to be held in Mexico City this Summer. Dr. Shannon and Mr. Mann were named alternates.

A classification talk on "Glass," was given by Cecil C. Smith, manager of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company here, as a program feature. He was introduced by J. D. Bechtol, program chairman.

Smith said glass is a true servant of the people, and was conceived in the very beginning of time in connection with the creation of light and sight. He traced the development of the glass industry from its beginning in Egypt about 1500 B.C., until the present time.

The two methods of glass manufacture—pot and furnace—were described by the speaker, who also told of the various kinds and uses of glass.

Secretary Inherits Half Of Wealthy Spinster's Estate

NEW YORK —(AP)— The late Anne Morgan, said to have been one of the richest women in the world, willed almost half of her estate to her secretary.

The will of the late J. Pierpont Morgan's spinster daughter was filed for probate Wednesday in Surrogate's Court. Miss Morgan died January 29 at the age of 78 at her Mt. Kisco, N. Y., estate.

The document stipulated that half the residuary estate go to Daisy F. Rogers, secretary who also had been employed by Miss Morgan's mother. Miss Rogers also was named an executor.

The remainder of the estate went to other employes, charitable organizations and the mayor of Bierancourt, France, where Miss Morgan maintained a magnificent home.

Former PMA Aide Posts $1,500 Bond On Fraud Charges

DALLAS —(AP)— Former Production and Marketing Administration aide Jack Cowart posted a $1,500 temporary bond before a U. S. commissioner here Wednesday following his Tuesday indictment on charges of defrauding the government.

Cowart appeared at the commissioners office, he said, after reading of the indictment in the newspapers. He declined to make a statement.

Commissioner W. Madden Hill said the bond was set until a warrant for Cowart's arrest is received. He was indicted by a federal grand jury at Newport News, Va., Tuesday. Hearing on an indictment bond will be held in Dallas February 14.

The indictment charged him with receiving $1,734 from a Tyler firm which had a claim against a Department of Agriculture agency.

The charge said Cowart allegedly collected money for services rendered for the Agriculture Department for the Tyler firm.

"I had to bleach it for a movie and I was quoted as saying I'm staying a blonde for keeps. Let's face it. If a good role comes up I'll dye my hair purple, if necessary."

Buddy Baer, complaining that his six feet, six and a half is a career handicap:

"Stewart Granger, Jeff Chandler and a lot of others are only a couple of inches shorter than I am. But time after time I lose roles because the leading man vetoes me. I guess I make 'em look like midgets."

It Takes A Cool Actor

Tom Tully, after playing the father of Marilyn Monroe:

"If you can play scenes with that gorgeous doll and still concentrate on a paternal approach, then you've REALLY ACTED."

Diana Lynn, about television:

"It used to be that you only climbed half the ladder if you didn't face the Hollywood cameras. Now, thanks to TV, there are new stars as recognizable as our top movie queens, and many of them have no desire to sign film studio contracts."

Arthur Kennedy, on claiming Hollywood's worst-dressed man title:

"Bob Mitchum has TWO pairs of pants."

Virginia Mayo, talking about her lack of college education in "She's Working Her Way Through College":

"The famous women through the ages attained their positions by turning heads, not pages."

Bob Hope, about the races at Santa Anita:

"I saw Jane Russell waiting at the finish line one afternoon. It was the first time that a horse ever won by a jockey's eyeballs."

Director George Cukor, on Hollywood's feminine temperament: "Most of the supposedly difficult women stars check their unreasonable moods at the sound stage door. Any actress worthy of the name knows she isn't going to bluff or overawe her director."

Spike Jones, about television: "They tell me that in one night my TV show plays to as many people as I would face in seven seasons of touring the country or a one-night-stand operation. What a monster!"

Hildegarde Neff, on waiting three years for a film break in Hollywood: "It was good for me—the disappointment. I was a star in Europe but I learned not to take things for granted. I realized that a career depends on luck and that your past achievements don't carry you."

Will Rogers, Jr., about playing his father in "The Will Rogers Story": "I guess everybody thinks my Dad's only costume was levis and a crushed felt hat. They're due for a surprise. As a wild west show entertainer he wore costumes as extravagant as Milton Berle's. One of them was a red velvet suit."

Joan Crawford, on the over-emphasized importance of mink coat.: "I won't say that a mink isn't a nice thing to have around the house. But as I once said to someone who asked me if I thought a mink coat was important: 'Only if it's cold outside.'"

The word "clock" really signifies bell.

SOCIETY

20 Midland Scouts To Be Recognized At Anniversary Fete

Twenty Midland Boy Scouts and Explorers will receive recognition at 8 p.m. Friday during a Scout program celebrating the forty-second anniversary of Scouting in America.

To be held in the junior high school auditorium, all Cubs, Scouts, Explorers, and their families are invited to join in the observance, which will coincide with similar programs throughout America.

Troop 152, under the leadership of O. F. Hendrick, will conduct the opening ceremony, followed by an orientation by J. B. Elder, district advancement chairman.

The Rev. Clyde Lindsley, district chairman, will lead the entire group in a re-dedication to the Scout Oath at 8:15 p.m., after which Col. John Perkins will conduct the awarding of second class, first class, star, and life ranks to Scouts and Explorers who have qualified.

The presentations will be made by J. B. Elder, Perry Pickett, W. H. Crenshaw and Leonard Howell.

Eight Scouts will receive merit badge awards which lead to further advancements in the ranks of Scouting. Mel Orman will make the presentation.

A film depicting the Boy Scouts, Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimmaron, N. M., will be shown by G. N. Hughes, Scoutmaster of Troop 53 at Terminal.

The public is urged to join the Scouts in this event.

Eisenhower Special Is New York-Bound

FORT WORTH—(AP)—An M-K-T special train, loaded with Republicans and some Democrats, was enroute to New York and an "Ike-for-President" rally Thursday.

The train, which left Fort Worth at 5:45 p.m. Wednesday, is due in New York City at 8 a.m. Friday. Some 182 Texans, including the 45-member Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band from Abilene, were aboard.

The group is scheduled to leave New York Sunday morning.

Suit Story For Spring Is Softness

The suit with soft lines and controlled skirt fullness is favored for spring in the collection of designer Adele Simpson. Dressmaker suit (left) is in black-and-white checked worsted. Double-breasted jacket is completely lined, has narrow belt at back. Trim is black silk braid. Flared skirt has two slash pockets with braid trim. Smoke gray sheer wool (right) makes suit with curved jacket that's lined in gray polka-dot silk surah. Lining matches separate, short-sleeved blouse. Jacket has rolled lapels; skirt has wide knife pleats and slash pocket at one side.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — Softness is the look that characterizes the suit for Spring, 1952. It's a softness in fabrics, in detailing, in sleeves and in wide, full skirts that are either gored or pleated.

The waistline for this suit is small, neat and curved. With it, there's a new kind of sleeve, one that's crescent in shape, curving to gradual fulness outside the elbow. It's not an extreme sleeve but it looks different and is an aid in giving softness to even the most conservative suit.

The wide and pleated skirt provides nautral balance for the tiny waistline. The crinoline, a holdover from last season, gives these skirts added fullness. There are all-around stitch-pleated skirts, some with massed back fulness, others with pin tucking. A few have side fullness over an arched hipline. The gored skirt sometimes has a front-controlled fullness.

But the slim skirt has not disappeared entirely from the Spring scene. It's present in many suits but is used with jackets that are distinctly feminine in cut.

White pique touches, soft bows, dickey fronts in gleaming white all round out a theme of softness.

Gray carries on into Spring for suits, but it's a gray that's lightened by white, whether in checks, stripes or weaves. Blues are strong, with the classic navy gone lighter and brighter than in the past. White and natural streaked with black are important in suitings and so are the beiges. These beiges range from pale tones to warm, sandy colors.

Sheer worsteds, soft flannels, featherweight tweeds, and silky gabardines help to give Spring's suits their new, dressy look.

Rigid Investigation Required

The nation's airlines have an overall safety record which stands up well with any other form of public transport.

So there is no need, in the light of recent air crashes, to make spectacular cry for an exhaustive inquiry into all phases of air safety.

But in two of these mishaps, both in the New York area, there appeared to be certain elements of a pattern.

The American Airlines' plane which crashed in Elizabeth, N. J., and the Northeast Airlines' craft which plunged into the East River each were making touchy approaches to metropolitan airports under adverse weather conditions.

In each instance, the circumstances surrounding the crash were sufficiently puzzling as to call into question some government regulations governing bad-weather landings.

And it also would seem in order to conduct more than routine investigation of the effectiveness of radio and radar landing aids.

• • •

The Northeast plane, coming into LaGuardia Field on Long Island, was employing neither of the established landing aids—the radio beam which is supposed to keep a ship on course and on the proper glide path, or the radar-controlled approach directed by voice from the airport tower.

But it was being monitored by the airport radar-scope and was receiving advisory reports on its position. Everything seemed to be satisfactory when the plane suddenly disappeared from the radar screen.

It was at this point it punged into the water, a scant distance from the field.

The story was much the same over Elizabeth. The American Airlines' craft was being monitored by radar, and also was using the radio beam called Instrument Landing System.

The tower advised the pilot he was to the left of course, but gradually the ship was brought back on course. Then suddenly it veered sharply to the right and went off the screen.

Moments afterward it struck buildings in the city's heart.

• • •

The fact that other planes employing these electronic aids landed safely at Newark airport before and after this crash suggests the devices were not at fault. But aviation authorities acknowledge that accidental interference with these aids has occurred, and the possibility of their temporary failure cannot yet be ruled out.

If inquiry should establish that inferences with their effective operation is fairly frequent, then federal regulations may have to be revised to insure greater safety in bad-weather approaches.

As it is, the CAA allows landings when visibility is three-quarters of a mile and the ceiling at 300 feet. This is not too much margin when the briefest slip may spell disaster.

In the end the blame in each instance may fall on failure of an engine or some other part of the plane itself.

But in these days of one and a half to three-minute headway in landings and take-offs at our biggest airports, we must leave no doubt that operations under adverse conditions are governed with the most extreme care.

Crime's '400'?

For the second time in the last few months an auto-theft ring devoted exclusively to Cadillacs has been apprehended in New York City.

One can't help wondering whether this reflects increasing hazards in their "trade." Perhaps the risks have grown so great that only cars with a high profit markup are worth grabbing.

There's another intriguing question: Does a man who steals nothing but Cadillacs occupy a higher rung in the social hierarchy of the underworld than the fellow who makes off with the cheaper varieties?

In view of the possibilities for higher reward that go with the steeper markup, the chances are that he does. But as he now is discovering, his social distinction—if any—ends abruptly at the prison gate.

Where he inevitably winds up, it doesn't matter whether you steal Cadillacs or worn-out jeeps.

Anyone who claims to have no bad habits is just too good to be true.

A beauty expert says the proper care of the eyebrows is very tricky. And takes a lot of pluck.

The world seems worse because we never hear about the bad things that don't happen.

A Texas rancher uses a plane to round up stray cattle. We hope he isn't headin' for the last crack-up!

A judge says that any smart girl can get the man she wants. And the man some other girl wants, if she's even smarter.

Almost Any Dark Night Now

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: In my last interview with Harold Ickes he still was fighting; Just a few days before he died, Ickes hoped to bring new leadership to Democratic Party; Ickes anticipated Nazi struggle by withholding helium from Hitler.

WASHINGTON — It was very quiet at Headwaters Farm in Maryland during the last days Harold Ickes was alive. He lay in a huge bed looking out at rows of pine trees he had planted many years before, and a rose garden that looked wan and discouraged under the Winter sky.

A herd of white-faced Herefords tried to pull the last remnants of lespedeza from a brown pasture beyond the garden, quite unconcerned about the sick man in the bedroom above. But the two Ickes children, whom I used to see whooping after Indians in cowboy costume, were quiet now, and tiptoed with worried faces about the house.

Ickes looked tired and worn. Pain had racked his 77-year-old body for three months now. Even Christmas was spent in bed.

"I'll be 78 in March," he mused, "and I'd like to live to see one more election. It's going to be an improtant one—vitally important. Some tremendous forces are stirring in this country—and in the Democratic Party.

"I'd like to talk to some of the men who have got to lead this country—Adlai Stevenson is one. And I'd like to talk to Kefauver. We've had too much leadership in the hands of one man. We've got to have new men, young men, new leaders. I wish I could help them."

I had known Ickes about twenty years and this was the first time he ever had insinuated that he was no longer the young and bouncing secretary of the Interior, fresh out the Midwest, who stepped on toes, sassed back at senators, made the steel companies wince and the oil barons tremble.

Vista Of The Past

He lay thinking for a moment, and I looked out the window at the rows of pine trees he had planted many years ago. It reminded me of his crusade for reforestation and took me back, years back, to the dark depression days of 1933 when there had been soup kitchens and breadlines and when Ickes was put in charge of what was then the biggest government spending program in history and had built schools, libraries, bridges.

Some people cussed him then because he wanted every contract scrutinized with a microscope. But there were no five percenters then. In fact, if Ickes heard of anyone getting a commision, he blasted him all over the front pages.

Then there were Ickes' battles inside the Cabinet to prepare against Hitler. He had stood almost alone against Cordell Hull and almost every other Cabinet colleague in refusing to sell helium to Germany. In fact, as Roosevelt went the rounds of the Cabinet and Ickes found himself supported only by Morgenthau, he had flared up with an ultimatum that as secretary of the Interior he controlled helium and he was not going to sell it to Hitler period.

Roosevelt laughed and let him have his way.

And there was scrap iron to Japan.

But he was still fighting. Even near death's door he still was fighting.

"Yes, this nation faces some great problems and the Democratic Party is facing some great realignments," Ickes resumed. "I should like to be in this fight. It may be my last one but I hope to get well soon and get in it."

Then, a little wearily, he added: "I haven't told this to anyone else, Drew, but I'm afraid it will be my last battle."

As I drove home—past the discouraged rose garden, past the browsing white-faced Herefords, past the pine trees that Ickes had planted—I thought of a great warrior for human liberties and public honesty, who, although he still refused to quit, already had fought his last battle. I knew that I should never see Harold Ickes alive again.

Ickes joined with Morgenthau and Henry Wallace in trying to stop scrap-iron shipments two years before Pearl Harbor, but Hull overruled them. Later, when Ickes became petroleum administration, he gleefully took things into his own hands and cut off oil to Japan.

Cussing The Curmudgeon

And how the public cussed him when he rationed gasoline! A Senate committee claimed there was ample gasoline, but Ickes said no, and Ickes had his way. Afterward, with Nazi U-boats sinking American tankers as if they were dynamiting bass in a fishpond, the public realized the old curmudgeon was right.

It took them long to realize he was right about the money Jesse Jones poured into Canada to build an aluminum plant. Not until last month when Winstn Churchill came to Washington and traded us some of the Canadian aluminum produced with our own wartime RFC funds, did the public realize how right Ickes was about investing in aluminum plants in a country where we could not control the output.

A lot of memories came crowding back as I sat by the old man's bedside looking out at the pine trees he had planted, looking back over the vista of the past . . . How sore Jesse Jones was when I broke that Canadian aluminum story! . . . How Roosevelt had called Ickes to the White House and bawled him out for leaking to me! How Ickes had told the President: "Drew mentioned my name in the story, so obviously he didn't get it from me. A newspaperman always omits the name of his source."

Last Battle

Then there was his final battle against Ed Pauley's nomination as undersecretary of the Navy. Ickes had seen Pauley as the symbol of the oil companies and their attempt to get hold of the national domain. He knew Pauley had passed the hat among the oil barons to nominate and elect Truman. And he saw, as he expressed it, "A cloud no bigger than a man's hand"—a cloud of corruption creeping over Washington.

He was so right. He had won the battle to defeat Pauley, but in doing so, he had lost his place in the Cabinet.

Council-Manager Plan Is Popular

NEW YORK—(AP)—Seventy-three communities and counties adopted the council-manager form of government in 1951, the National Municipal League has announced.

The plan was in effect or soon-to-be in 1,078 places. Largest city to adopt the plan last year was San Antonio, Texas, where the voters approved it by a 2-to-1 majority.

Two states have permitted their cities to adopt the council-manager plan, the league reported. Rhode Island did so by a constitutional amendment and Illinois by an enabling act of the state Legislature.

NO CHANCE FOR ERROR

NEW YORK—(AP)—L. W. Churchill, farmer near Westmoreland, N. H., hunters report, made doubly sure this season that his cows would not be mistaken for a deer or some other wild animal. He painted "C-O-W" in large letters on their sides.

Q—How did the late Mrs. Elizabeth Meriwether Gilmer explain her selection of a pen name?

A—For a nom de plume, Mrs. Gilmer chose Dorothy Dix because "Dorothy" sounded sensible and coined "Dix" from the name of a family servant, Dick, whose wife called him Mr. Dicks.

• • •

Q—What are today's most popular cuts for diamonds?

A—The Brilliant, a round stone, the Emerald cut, a rectangular stone, and the Marquise, an oval with pointed ends. All three cuts have 58 facets.

• • •

Q—What is the origin of the story of Betsy Ross and the American flag?

A—The Betsy Ross story was first related in 1870 by William J. Canby, a grandson of Betsy's, in a paper presented before the Historical Society of Pennsylvania. He said he was told the story by his grandmother when she was an old woman and he a boy of 11.

• • •

Q—Can any one sign an act of Congress for the President?

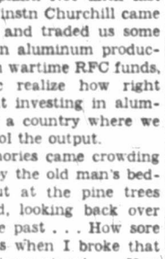

A—The President alone can sign an act of Congress, but ways have been devised of relieving him of the heavy duty of signing messages of routine orders and other papers.

• • •

Q—Is cattle raising an important industry among the American Indians?

A—American Indians own about 400,000 cattle and make $30 million a year from the sale of livestock and livestock products.

An old lady was taking her first taxicab ride. The driver would signal for a turn or a stop at a main intersection, thrusting his hand out the window. This happened four or five times, then the old lady tapped him on the shoulder and said, "keep both hands on that steering wheel; it don't look like rain to me if it starts, I'll tell you."

Many of the nation's bridge experts are beginning a long weekend today by playing in the first session of the Life Masters Pair Championship in New York. The weekend will close with the Life Masters Individual Championship.

An Individual contest is a very trying experience to most experts. You play a few hands with a partner, then change partners. Altogether, you have to adapt yourself to 50 or 60 other partners, each time agreeing in a few seconds to the methods you will use for about two hands.

The Individual is usually won by a great player, but he needs more than great skill for his victory. He must also have a calm easy-going temperament, and he must be able to get along with 50 or 60 prima donnas. Sounds like a cinch, doesn't it?

Opening lead—♠ Q

Sidney Silodor, of Philadelphia, was the miracle man who won last year's Individual Championship. Today's hand shows an example of his skill.

West opened the queen of spades, and the suit was continued until Silodor ruffed the third round. He laid down the ace of hearts and discovered the bad news about the trump suit.

Sidney saw that he could afford to lose only one more trick—to the ace of diamonds. He would have to get to dummy once for a trump finesse and twice more for diamond finesses. This meant that he would need three entries to dummy.

Silodor therefore led a low club from his hand and blithely finessed dummy's ten. When that remarkable finesse held, he returned the ten of hearts from dummy. East covered with the queen, and declarer won and drew a third trump.

Now he left the last trump out in order to turn his attention to the diamonds. He entered dummy with the queen of clubs and returned a diamond to finesse the ten. When allowed to hold this trick he entered dummy again with the ace of clubs and finessed the jack of diamonds.

West could take the ace of diamonds, but could do nothing to defeat the contract. He actually led another diamond, whereupon Silodor won with the king and at last could draw the last trump.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Heart	1 Spade	Pass	Pass

You, South, hold: Spade 2, Hearts A-K-J-9-4-2, Diamonds K-8-5-3, Clubs K-7. What do you do?

A—Bid two hearts. With very little help from partner you can expect to make two or three hearts—perhaps even a game. The chance that you can make a good part score or even a game is greater than the risk that you will push the opponents into a makeable game.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spade 2, Hearts A-K-J-9-4, Diamonds K-8-5-3, Clubs A-J-7. What do you bid?

Pentagon Backs Vinson Plan For Volunteer UMT Unit

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Universal Military Training plans have taken a new tack with House Armed Services Chairman Carl Vinson's plan for a voluntary UMT of 60,000 men. If approved, it would start this Fall.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service director, and Mrs. Anna M. Rosenberg, assistant Defense secretary in charge of manpower problems, had presented other plans for getting UMT started.

But the Pentagon now has decided to back the Vinson plan.

There are three principal reasons.

First, the Vinson plan could be started without additional cost, that is, within the presently planned $51,000,000,000 defense budget.

Second, it would not affect present draft quotas from men 18 1/2 to 26 years of age. Only 18-year-olds would volunteer for the six-month UMT training.

Third, this small beginning would permit the Department of Defense to build up UMT gradually, gaining necessary experience as it went along.

Opposition to the whole idea of UMT remains pretty much what it always has been. Church groups are against it, and they constitute the most effective opposition. Labor union and farm organization leaders are against it.

Educational leaders are against it for a variety of reasons. Some want the job done as part of the regular educational system.

Others are opposed to any peacetime interruption in the educational process. But an American Council of Education meeting in Washington was unable to agree on any stand to take against pending UMT plans.

Not Political Issue

All the veterans' organizations and patriotic societies are for UMT.

And it is not a political issue, except as individual candidates have taken stands for or against it. Both Republican and Democratic leaders have supported UMT many years.

Public opinion polls show majorities favor the UMT idea. It is not expected to be debated widely during the coming presidential and congressional campaigns.

The whole question now is how to meet military requirements from available manpower resources, while at the same time a new long range national defense plan is put into operation.

Coupled with the UMT legislation is a new military reserve bill which also must be enacted to make UMT fully effective.

It may take six or seven years to get UMT in full operation. By 1960, every qualified young man would be required to serve his six months in UMT. He then would go into the reserves for seven and a half years, to age 26.

When these UMT reserves are built up to necessary strength, it is believed the size of the regular peace-time military establishment can be reduced.

Military budgets then can be cut proportionately. That is the long range objective.

Military leaders may be over-optimistic in their estimates that they will be able to take these UMT graduates and whip them into combat divisions within three to six months after an emergency call-up of the reserves.

But this is the target which military leaders are shooting at.

Costs of training each UMT man for six months are estimated at $2,700. Since the armed services now spend about $11,000 per man per year, savings would be considerable.

Of course, if the six-months' training was found to be inadequate, legislation might be introduced to lengthen the period. This "foot in the door" approach is what bothers many UMT critics.

Buildup Must Be Gradual

It is impossible to start UMT at full strength this year or for several years to come. There aren't enough young men reaching age 18 to fill UMT and also meet draft requirements for a three and a half million man armed force.

Two-year service for more than a million 1950 draftees expires this year. They have to be replaced by new drafts or volunteers.

Selective Service Administration estimates the number of boys reaching 18 this year at 1,108,000, an average of 90,000 a month.

From a third to a half of this number is rejected for physical disability or for occupational and educational deferments.

The number of boys reaching 18 this year is lower than normally would be expected because of the low birth rate in the depression year 1934.

The number reaching 18 will increase by 20,000 to 50,000 a year until 1958, when it is expected to reach 1,500,000. These will be the boys who were born in 1940.

So They Say

Most of our workers demand as necessities goods and services which under the last Republican administration, 20 years ago, were considered luxuries.
—Michael Calvin, undersecretary of Labor.

• • •

We shouldn't expect him (Gen. Douglas MacArthur) to embroil himself in a political campaign. If we want him, it's up to the people to demand him.
—John Chapple, leader of the "Fighters for MacArthur."

• • •

Keep your blood pressure down (and) put on a layer of rhinoceros hide (if you want to run for president).
—Rep. Clare Hoffman to Gov. Earl Warren of California.

It would be better if American girls shined a little. They look like parchment sometimes.

XXXII

AT 9:10, Peter shut the door of Mr. Starr's office behind him, walked slowly back to his department. He hadn't said a word. A denial would have been a waste of breath. From beginning to end he could see Starr's point of view. It was logical, irrefutable and entirely moral according to the mores of business.

Mr. Starr had given it to him straight. "Dr. Surinov," he had said, "late yesterday I was interviewed in your behalf by a young man whose credentials were in order. He was a federal investigator. He advised me that you were being considered for a government-subsidized research job at Angels Hospital. He asked me questions about you . . . I answered them freely. You've done a good job here, we had nothing to complain of. But I confess that I was annoyed that you had not been sufficiently straightforward to advise me that you were contemplating leaving our laboratories. I saw fit to phone Angels Hospital for further information as to when the project would get under way. I spoke to the superintendent, Mr. Cota, who told me in no uncertain terms of the shady circumstances under which you were asked to leave the hospital. I regret that I did not check into that at the time you came here. I thought you left the hospital job for this one because of the salary increase. Mr. Cota made it clear that there was no research project planned at Angels for which your services would be accepted. I assume therefore that the federal man used that as an excuse to protect your position here until their investigation of you was concluded.

"We have a lot of government contracts at this time, as you know. Frankly, Dr. Surinov, I am not willing to sit out the period during which you are proved safe or unsafe by the FBI. If you put yourself in my place, you will understand that I must act conservatively in a way that best protects our company. You can stop on the way out at the bookkeeping department for your check which will include an extra month's salary in lieu of notice."

• • •

WHEN Peter reached his desk, he found the message—Jennet Logan called. He sat on the metal stool, absently played with the piece of paper on which her name was written. There was no point in calling her now. He had no job, he wasn't even sure he had a future, at least not one he could ask her to share.

He looked down the alley of the room where eight white-gowned, white-capped technicians sat at the counters filling assembly lines of bottles with gloved hands. "I'm just a nurse to a bunch of milk bottles," he had groused to Walter Pelletier not long ago. He was glad to be relieved, however forcibly, from the tedium of the work, wondered why he had stuck it out this long—probably because it was as good a place as any to come and brood about Jennet. Highly paid brooding it had been, too. But it was not pleasant to be fired even from a dull job, and worse still was the sense of being hunted. He felt it in his belly again, the sick tight belly-fear of the pack, of the posse, of men against one.

Question was—who was hunting him? Government—subsidized research project—hogwash. If there'd been such a thing afoot, Pelletier would have told him about it. Still, the FBI was not apt to invent excuses to protect a man's job while he was in the process of being cleared. Also, the FBI was the smell, not the cheese. Was Cota the cheese? First blackmail, now persecution. Why?

He had put so little of himself into this room, there was little to take out. A slide-rule, a Geiger counter, a fountain pen, a film badge. He took them with him to the locker-room where he changed back into his street clothes. He picked up his check at the bookkeeper's office on his way out. He drove his car out of the parking lot, turned west to the hospital. He was a car and a few thousand dollars ahead of the last witch-hunt.

• • •

PETER was not surprised that Cota refused to receive him. Word came via the secretary that he was "tied up" and unable to see Peter except by appointment. Peter pushed past the girl, flung open the door of the superintendent's office.

Maxwell Cota was standing at the window, his back to the door, when Peter charged in. Cota wheeled at the sound, his face darkening with sudden blood, and he scurried up the step behind his desk, his hand under the center panel. Thus apropped, he ordered shrilly, "Stay where you are, Surinov—if you know what's good for you!"

"I came," Peter said evenly, without slackening his advance, "to ask you a few questions, Mr. Cota, and I don't care if you have your hand on a howitzer." He reached across the desk and raised Cota from the floor by the lapels. Then he saw the black arm-band on Cota's limp-swinging sleeve, and he remembered Pelletier's mentioning the death of Cota's crippled sister. Abashed by the jarring version of Cota as bereaved brother instead of hostile superintendent, Peter released his grip.

He backed away, sat down on the rim of the lounge chair and crossed his arms on his chest. Cota, relieved of his fear of violence, rested his weight on the edge of the high, carved banquet chair.

'ROOM SERVICE'—Bill Adam and Bill Craddock are members of the cast for the play "Room Service," to open at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the City-County Auditorium. Adam plays the part of Joseph Gribble and Craddock will portray Harry Binion.

'Room Service' To Open Thursday

"Room Service," a comedy poking fun at all types of people and institutions, will open at 8:30 p.m. Thursday in the City-County Auditorium. Performances also will be given Friday and Saturday nights.

The play is being presented by the Community Theater, under the direction of Art Cole.

The play was written by John Murray and Allen Boretz. It concerns Gordon Miller and his troupe of 20 actors and helpers who are trying to produce a play, "Godspeed." Their headquarters is in a Broadway hotel of dubious decor run by Miller's brother-in-law.

Walter Beardsley will play the part of Gordon Miller, producer of the play, "Godspeed." Other parts will be played by Bill Adam as Joseph Gribble, manager of the White Way Hotel; Bill Craddock, Harry Binion, director of the play; Claude Neely, Faker Englund, assistant to the producer; Helen Burton, Christine Marlowe, an actress with a die-cut prettiness.

Jim Fanning as Leo Davis, author of the play; Hilda Manney, Betty Clayton, a sweet and simple secretary; Ed Ricketts, Gregory Wagner, director of the hotel; Newton Page, Simon Jenkins, financial backer of the play; Bruce Shade, Timothy Hogarth, collector for an agency.

Bill Cumberland, Dr. Glass, hotel doctor; Dom DeVito, bank messenger; Lee Flood, Senator Blake, owner of the White Way Hotel; George Belvin, Sasha Smirnoff, an unemployed actor working as a waiter.

The box office will be open to the public Thursday and Friday at Tallorfine.

LIBYA, former keystone of Italy's African colonies, is the world's newest sovereign nation—and one of its poorest and most backward. Post-war Libya was born under UN sponsorship on Dec. 24, 1951, with a Western-style parliament and constitution, and a Moslem king—Idris I of Senussi, former ruler of Cyrenaica. A land about one-third the size of the United States, Libya is made up of three provinces—Tripolitania, Cyrenaica and the Fezzan—with a population of less than 2,000,000, mostly Arabs. The three territories are divided by wide wastes of desert and by distrust among their rival Arab leaders. Their peoples are wretchedly poor and uneducated. Per capita income is about $30 a year, the way of life primitive. Libya's importance lies in its strategic location in the turbulent Middle East. Its position on the Mediterranean coast has made it a prize of empire-builders from Caesars to Mussolini. In World War II, when Montgomery's and Rommel's tanks rumbled back and forth across the desert, it gained the nickname, "world's longest battlefield." As the first nation spawned solely by the UN, Libya is watched over with anxious eyes by the Western world. To give it a fighting chance, and to keep its strategic military bases on our side, the U. S. and the UN will send about $10,000,000 worth of aid to Libya this year.

Republican Ward Leader, Foe Of Hoodlum Element, Dies In Gangland Ambush

CHICAGO —(AP)— A Republican ward official, described as a vigorous foe of the so-called hoodlum element seeking domination of some of the city's wards, was slain in gangland style Wednesday night.

Seven shotgun blasts, apparently fired by two gunmen from an automobile, felled Charles Gross, 56, acting Republican committeeman of the 31st Ward.

The ambush occurred in the Humboldt Park district, as Gross reached a darkened section of the street in front of a church near North and Kedzie Avenues.

Gross, who lived a few blocks from the scene of the shooting, was shot down after he alighted from his car and walked towards North Avenue. He was struck by 25 pellets, all of a large size, on the right side of his neck, on his right arm and on his face. Police found seven 12-gauge shotgun shells on the pavement near his body.

His crumped body was found on the sidewalk by guardsmen on duty at the Illinois National Guard's Northwest Armory, across the street from where Gross was slain. Guardsmen carried him into the Armory's first aid room, where he was pronounced dead.

Political spokesmen speculated openly that the slaying stemmed from a steadily strengthening hoodlum encroachment into the ward's politics. They reported similar gangland invasion in several of the city's 50 wards.

Gross' widow, Ethel, was quoted by police as saying, "I was afraid of this," when told her husband had been slain. Police said she refused to say more but they said she apparently referred to recent trouble in the ward.

Gross, owner of a soft drink company, took over as ward committeeman last June and was a candidate for election in the April 8 primary. His opponent, James Mesi, expressed surprise when told of the killing.

"We were good friends," Mesi said. "This puts me in an awful spot."

Circuit Judge Daniel Roberts, a former GOP committeeman of the 31st Ward, hinted bluntly that the killing could be traced to the hoodlum activities in the ward.

"I will say right now that the time has come when the Republican Party has got to clean its house and clean itself up," Roberts said.

Cemetery Yields Moonshine Still

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. —(AP)— Birmingham police officers, acting on a tip, checked a suspicious looking grave in a Birmingham cemetery and resurrected a 55-gallon moonshine still.

Officers J. W. Morris and F. C. Garrett said Wednesday an oil burner for use with the still was connected to an oil tank buried beneath another grave.

The officers said the still was all ready to begin turning out spirits when they found it.

Water Reservoir Levels Still Drop

AUSTIN — (AP) — Nine major Texas reservoirs hold 13 per cent less water than they did a year ago, the State Water Board reported Thursday.

From January 1 to the end of the month, there was a two per cent shrinkage. Sharp drops were reported on Trinity River or tributary reservoirs and on Possum Kingdom Reservoir, Brazos River.

Ground water levels reached new lows and stream flow was below normal as rainfall continued short. The nine major reservoirs were only 41 per cent full at the end of January.

Discovery Of New Comet Announced

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Discovery of a new comet in the Constellation Virgo was announced Wednesday night by the National Geographic Society.

It first was seen on a photographic plate exposed on Palomar Mountain, California, the night of January 30. Its light was captured by the 48-inch Schmidt telescope operated by Robert Harrington, California Institute of Technology astronomer.

The new heavenly wanderer is the fifth discovered in the last two years by the National Geographic Society-Palomar Observatory sky survey.

Elizabeth—

or four days in the gray, 16th Century Sandringham Church, where he worshipped every Sunday he was in residence here at his favorite country retreat.

One of Elizabeth's first and most saddening duties is to make arrangements for her father's funeral.

After lying in state at Sandringham and in London, he will be interred from St. George's Chapel at Winsor Castle.

Already, the dutiful Elizabeth was queen—from the moment of her father's death.

She became so in her vacation lodge in Kenya Colony, far away in East Africa, where she had paused early in what was to have been a five-month round-the-world tour.

Historic Precedents

But her formal proclamation as the new sovereign, Elizabeth II, must follow.

The proclamation, written from historic precedents by the Privy Council—hundreds of royal advisors, and representatives of commonwealth countries, and the lord mayor and aldermen of the ancient square-mile City of London, will be read first Friday by the garter king of arms, Sir George Bellew.

Clad in medieval uniform, he will read from the balcony of St. James Palace, built by Henry VIII, father of the first Queen Elizabeth.

The proclamation was published in all morning newspapers Thursday and will be repeated simultaneously with Sir George's reading at Temple Bar, ancient Fleet Street gateway to the old City of London, from the steps of the Royal Exchange in the financial district, and at shire halls and guildhalls throughout the country.

It also will be read throughout the commonwealth and empire.

As it is read, flags at half staff in mourning for the dead sovereign will be hauled to their mastheads at the words "God save the queen." They will fly six hours in honor of the new ruler, then be lowered again to half staff until after her father's funeral.

Accession Declaration

Churchill appealed to the people Wednesday night to stay away from London Airport and let the sorrowing woman arrive quietly.

"Her majesty should be met only by those whose official positions make it appropriate for them to be present at the airport," he said.

With these appropriate officials, Elizabeth will drive to Buckingham Palace, and, acting upon her prime minister's advice, will call another meeting of the Privy Council.

Before the council, in her clear, high voice she will make the historic accession declaration. It includes these words:

"I do solemnly and sincerely, in the presence of God, profess, testify and declare that I am a faithful Protestant and that I will, according to the true intent of the enactments which secure Protestant enactments to the best of my powers, according to law."

Accession to the throne must come first, before the new queen's homage to her dead father and comfort to her widowed mother.

Prime Minister Churchill was to address the grieving nation at 9 p.m. (3 p.m. CST) Thursday.

All major networks in the United States arranged to broadcast his speech, either direct or by re-broadcast.

Australia Pledges Loyalty To Elizabeth

CANBERRA, AUSTRALIA —(AP)— Prime Minister Robert Gordon Menzies Thursday pledged Australia would help make Queen Elizabeth's reign "as rich and kind and good and memorable as that of her illustrious father."

Moving the House of Representatives for a motion of condolence on the king's death, Menzies said:

"God bless the memory of a good king. We are shocked and sad at his death, but we shall all remain the better for his life. xxx"

Royal Will To Remain Secret For All Time

LONDON —(AP)— The will of King George VI will stay secret for all time. Royal wills are outside the jurisdiction of all British courts and legal authorities. The king's last testament will not be published.

Bequests are made to the king's ministers, staff and servants. But they will be told to keep silent about them. Distribution of the remainder of his estate will remain a family secret.

New Anthrax Cases Reported In Panhandle

AMARILLO —(AP)— At least three new cases of anthrax have been reported in the Panhandle recently.

Sources of the disease, state officials say, has not been located.

The cases reported were at Happy, Claude and Perryton.

Vet Takes Mexican Buddy's Name To Fulfill Death Pact

WICHITA FALLS —(AP)— A pact that had its beginning on Okinawa and was climaxed in Korea was sealed Wednesday in 30th District Court.

A slight, black-haired, dark-eyed Air Force veteran had a request.

He wanted to change his name.

John Donning Graham, 21, told this story to Judge Arthur Tipps:

His father was long dead and his mother remarried. He joined the Air Force in Indiana and was shipped to Okinawa where he made a real buddy—a young airman from Old Mexico.

Orders came and the buddy was shipped to Korea, but not before he made Graham an offer.

Belong To Family

The young Mexican told him "If anything happens to me, I want you to take my name. You will belong to my family then."

His buddy was killed, Graham recited quietly, and last September he was returned to the United States. He went to Sheppard Air Force Base and was discharged as a corporal.

And now, before making another move, he said:

"I want to take his name. I want to change mine to his."

Judge Tipps signed a piece of paper.

Smilingly, Juan Rodriguez Estrada walked out of the courthouse alone.

WATCH OUT! — The Newschart above, based on data from the National Safety Council, shows causes and breakdown of accidental deaths in the U. S. for 1950 and 1951. The automobile remained the No. 1 killer as traffic deaths amounted to 37,500, the highest toll in a decade.

Anti-Communists Get Another Name

ROME—(AP)—Five years after the big split in the party, the main force of the anti-Communists have just adopted their third name.

The group originally adopted the name "Italian Socialist Labor Party." The initials by which the party became known here "PSLI." The Italian pronunciation of "PSLI" was close to "Piselli," Italian for "little peas." This was the popular name given the first group.

A year ago the PSLI and another anti-Communist Socialist splinter group, joined forces. The newly formed party was named "Socialist Party—Italian Section of Socialist International." Now the first annual congress of the party has adopted a new name—"Italian Socialist Democrat Party."

When Seeing Double Is Indeed Pleasure

WUERZBURG, GERMANY—(AP)—Patients at the U. S. Army's 10th Field Hospital here never complain when they see double—it's a pleasure.

Marjorie and Natalie Hall of Melrose, Mass., are responsible. The two young second lieutenants are identical twins in the Army Nurse Corps.

"We joined the Army last year," says Natalie—she said she was Natalie—"and finished our training at Camp Chaffee, Ark. The Army has kept us together. We have the same duty hours and share a double room."

American Jet Pilot Damages Two MIG's; Ground Front Quiet

SEOUL, KOREA. —(AP)— An American Sabre jet pilot damaged two Red MIG jets in a three-minute battle high over snow-swept North Korea Thursday.

Lt. William C. Shofner of Wayne, Okla., riddled the two MIG's in a fight in volving 17 Sabres and 30 Red jets.

The Sabre jets were flying escort for Allied fighter bombers which took to the skies as snow clouds cleared during the afternoon. Pilots reported cutting Red rail lines at 7- points and destroying or damaging 12 supply buildings.

British Fire Salutes

Light snow fell all along the battle line.

UN raiding parties hit the Reds west of Chorwon, onetime anchor of the Communists' Iron Triangle. One unit fought two sharp, 25-minute battles in the sonw before returning to its own lines. The other reached its objective on high ground without trouble and returned while snow still was falling.

Red infantrymen made three small early morning probes of UN positions in the center and extreme east of the battle front, but pulled back under fire.

British Commonwealth troops, mourning the death of King George VI, fired a 101-gun salute to the dead monarch and a 21-gun salute to the new queen, Elizabeth II.

A blackout on identification of Allied units at the front was lifted to allow correspondents to report that the British division was in the line of battle when news of the king's death was received.

The division's exact location, however, was kept secret.

New Mexico Man Low Bidder For Sewer Line Work

A New Mexico contractor was apparent low bidder Wednesday afternoon for the job of installing six miles of new sewer lines in the west section of Midland.

The bid of P. R. Burns of Las Cruces, N. M., in the sum of $66,355 will be submitted Thursday afternoon to the City Council for acceptance.

Roger Smith of Waco was second low with a bid of $71,155.

The city will furnish the pipe and the engineering with the total cost of the project estimated at $90,877.

The new line will serve parts of Crestview, Bauman Heights and Gardens additions.

American Bomber Crashes In Japan

TOKYO — (AP) — An American B-29 crashed late Thursday five miles north of Yokota Air Base near Tokyo, the Air Force announced Thursday.

The Japanese Kyodo News Agency said the plane's bomb load exploded, destroying 10 houses and killing one Japanese in the village of Kaneko, 40 miles west of the heart of Tokyo.

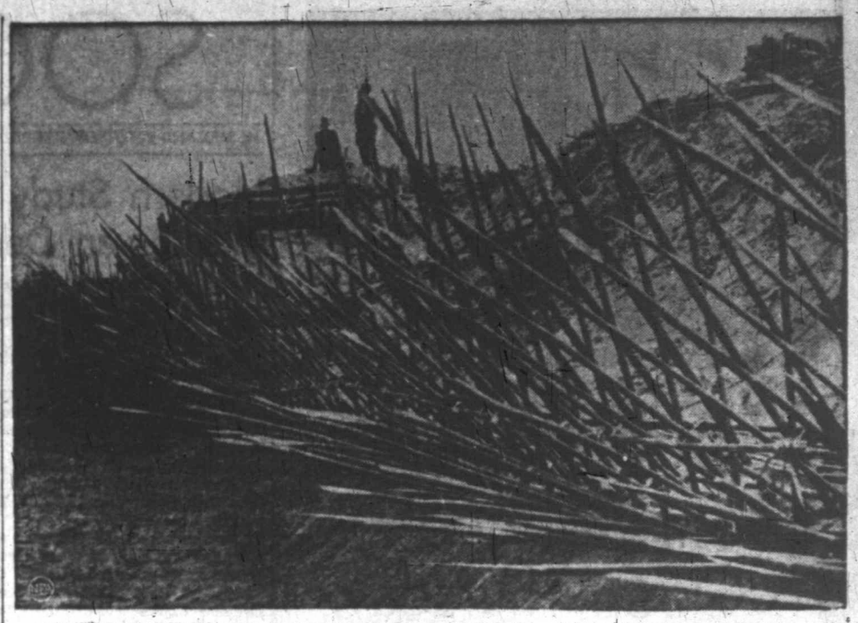

There was no word on the fate of the crew. B-29's normally carry from 11 to 14 men.

A blinding snow was falling at the time of the crash, 11:05 p.m.

Senator Defends Payment To Hungary

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Hunt (D-Wyo) Thursday said the U. S. decided to pay Communist Hungary $120,000 for the release of four American airmen "because there was no telling what might happen" to them.

"The life of any one of those men was worth a great deal more than $120,000," Hunt said. "It seems to me we got out pretty nicely and handled this in on orderly manner."

BAMBOO CURTAIN—This impressive "wall of death," formed by pointed spears of bamboo, guards a French army post near Hao-Binh, Indo-China, against night attack by Communist guerrillas. A specialty of the Red Viet Minh forces is to strike at night on army posts and villages and disappear into the hills or jungles before dawn.

SAGA OF SINKING BATHTUB—

Truman Recounts Home-Remodeling Troubles To White House Newsmen

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman is getting pretty tired of delays in the rebuilding of the White House.

He wants to move madam and the baby (that's Mrs. Truman and Margaret) back into the mansion the first week in April.

The President's impatience was reflected Wednesday when he took White House newsmen on a 45-minute tour of the residential section, from which the Trumans moved shortly after his 1948 election victory.

He cited two examples of why the family had to take refuge in the Blair House, across the street on Pennsylvania Avenue.

He stamped his foot sharply on the floor of the sitting room of Margaret's suite.

This will hold, he said. He recalled that one of the legs of Margaret's piano had broken through the floor in 1948, narrowly missing a drop into the family dining room below.

On another occasion, the President recalled with a grin, he was bathing when the tub in his own bathroom began to sink beneath him.

If it had dropped, he said, it would have fallen (with him in it) into the room below, where Mrs. Truman often entertained guests.

He said he kidded the madam about what she would have done if she had been entertaining the Daughters of the American Revolution and he had suddenly appeared through the ceiling in a bathtub.

Strenuous Tour

Mrs. Truman didn't think it too funny, he said, and told him he wouldn't have enjoyed the experience any more than she would.

It would have been a state entrance, he commented.

It was an exciting, if somewhat strenuous tour for the reporters, who had difficulty keeping up with the President's old Army pace of 120 steps a minute.

The President laughed over the popular belief that Abraham Lincoln slept in the Lincoln Bedroom.

Actually, he said, Lincoln used the room as a study and he slept, at one time or another, in practically every other room on the second floor.

Truman's decision to take the newsmen on a tour of the reconstruction, which is costing around $5,500,000, came as a surprise to them.

Meeting them outside the office of Presidential Secretary Joseph Short he told them he bet they never had such a high-powered guide before.

He took them into virtually every room on the ground, first and second floors. The third floor was boarded up, he explained.

King George Slept Here

He climbed over planks and debris to point out sights of interest. He talked like a man who had put every board in place himself.

This, he said, is the Rose Room. The Rose Room Suite was the one Queen Elizabeth used when she visited the Franklin D. Roosevelts several years ago.

Truman recalled that King George VI, her husband, who died Wednesday, occupied a siute across the hall and that they exchanged messages through their doormen.

Each of the bedrooms not only has a fireplace, but a wall safe for overnight guests to keep valuables in.

The President showed the new office for the dentist—he called it the tooth carpenter's place—and said if the reporters didn't behave he'd send them in for a major operation.

The house will be completed, the President said, about the first week in April. He said this was his hope, at least, that he had to keep a shotgun after the builders all the time.

Gas Company Begins Task Of Moving Its Warehouse, Plant

The West Texas Gas Company Thursday began the job of moving its warehouse yard from the 1700 block of West Illinois Street to a new site in the southwest section of the city.

The move is being made in accordance with an agreement with the City Council, which several months ago granted an increase in gas rates in Midland.

District Manager R. W. Lewis said the entire plant and warehouse will be moved by March 1, the agreed deadline.

On Five-Acre Tract

The new plant will be located on a five-acre tract on the Cotton Flat road, about 550 feet south of West South Front Street, adjoining the new Texas Electric Service Company warehouse.

The present warehouse building and garage will be moved to the new site and a new 50x100 steel warehouse building will be constructed.

The residence on the present site will also be moved to another location.

After March 1, there will be only a small regulator station at the site of the present plant.

The property, Lewis said, eventually will be sold.

Cancer Victim Who Received Million Valentines Hopes For More This Year

ATLANTA —(AP)— A frail little girl with cancer who won hearts around the world last year when she asked for a valentine is stronger now and hopes she can help others this February 14.

A year ago, 13-year-old Jacquelyn Marre, confined to bed or a wheel chair and given only three months to live, wistfully hoped she "could be someone's valentine."

Through the marvels of modern communication and the unpredictable wonder of human kindness, the wish was answered in staggering fashion from the far corners of the earth.

About a million and a half pieces of mail flooded the modest Marre home, literally causing the floors to sag. The waste paper alone netted school drives several hundred dollars.

More than 500 boxes of candy and other gifts poured in. Opening of letters has gone on and on but still an estimated 50,000 envelopes remain sealed.

The candy and boxes were sent to orphans' homes and children's hospitals. Jackie, who now can walk, observed, in her gentle, halting way:

"I'm so glad I got the candy and valentines because I could share them. I enjoy them more that way."

Her father, Arthur Marre (pronounced Marie), a physiotherapist, remarked, "This child is the most unselfish person I ever knew."

It was a year ago the world heard about Jackie. Her parents had noticed when she was almost 11 that something was wrong. Doctors' diagnoses: cancer. After the second of three major brain operations, they termed it incurable.

Two years ago, Jackie was unconscious on Valentine Day and too sick to know when the next Christmas came. That's why last year, when her parents brought her home from a hospital, Valentine Day was so important.

She asked for a valentine, and her life hasn't been the same since. Sailors at sea made her their pin-up girl; firemen, Girl Scout troops, businessmen, children and a general responded.

Money was returned with a request that it be given to cancer funds.

Many have continued writing and 600 sent Christmas cards.

Mrs. Marre, who has three younger children, tries to answer as many of the letters as she can.

Jackie has read that doctors last year gave her only three months to live but says with a smile, "I'm feeling fine. I fooled them."

Will the postman ring again this Valentine Day? Jackie hopes so, because she knows a lot of "really unfortunate" children with whom she'd like to share her valentines.

Ladies-in-waiting are Patty Johnson, Dorothy Woolf, Jo Ann Fisher, Rose Ann Vickers, Charlene Ellison, Saundra Russell and Pat Sullivan. Bobby Russell and Carolyn Van Meter, prince and princess, were chosen as the most handsome couple. Crown bearers will be Sarah Jane Russell and Truman Tomlinson. Train bearers will be Judy Simmons, Dixie Hendricks, Larry Chaney and David Hanley.

The program will include ballet numbers, acrobatics, tap dances, square dances, a piano duet and a saxophone solo.

Veep In Hospital For Eye Surgery

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Vice President Barkley is in Naval Hospital at nearby Bethesda, Md., for a possible eye operation.

The 74-year-old vice president's general health was reported excellent by a medical duty officer after he entered the hospital late Wednesday.

Barkley told reporters about his planned surgery last Monday to head off, he said, any rumors he is seriously ill. He expects to be hospitalized for a week or 10 days because he had "a little obstruction to the vision of the right eye."

Mobilization To Last, Says USCC Leader

Government Starts Prosecution Of 15 California Commies

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— The government buckled down Thursday to the business of trying to prove the American Communist Party is dedicated to violence as the first witness took the stand against 15 California party leaders.

The initial witness, possibly an undercover agent, was expected to lay the keystone of the prosecution's three-week presentation supporting the charges that the party leaders conspired to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by force and violence.

U. S. Attorney Walter S. Binns declined to disclose the identity of his lead-off man, but said: "I think he'll be on the stand quite a while."

The prosecution also had 30 exhibits ready to present in evidence, with 597 items to follow later.

The defense — spearheaded by State Party Leader William Schneiderman, who is defending himself — concentrated in its opening arguments Wednesday on the thesis that the defendants always had been practicing Communists openly and legally. They never had been conspiratorial, nor made attempts to hide their identities or true purposes, the jury was told.

Legal Tempers Flare

Said Scheiderman: "We taught our members that socialism is feasible only when people are ready to accept it. A people's front coalition government, obtained by majority vote, is our immediate goal."

Social chance, not overthrow of the government, is the party's credo, Schneiderman and three attorneys representing 10 other defendants agreed. Arguments on behalf of the remaining five defendants will be made after the government's testimony.

Legal tempers flared when Leo Branton, Jr., one of the defense battery, used the phrases "witch-hunting grand jury" and "sophisticated stool-pigeons" in referring to the government's case. When prosecutors objected, Branton withdrew his remarks and restated them.

Later, Federal Judge William C. Mathes admonished another defense attorney, Ben Margolis, to tone down the word "lie" to "willful falsehood" in referring to the prosecution's charges.

Hiccuper Receives New Flood Of Mail

LOS ANGELES —(AP)— Hiccuper Jack O'Leary has received 1,132 letters from well wishers as a result of an Associated Press story January 29 which said he was down to 78 pounds.

O'Leary has lost 57 pounds since he started hiccuping at the rate of at least once a second June 13, 1948.

Prior to the latest avalance of mail to reach their home at Los Angeles, Jack had received more than 20,000 letters, mostly suggested cures.

None has worked. More than 200 doctors have failed to stop the hiccuping.

Mrs. Margaret O'Leary, Jack's mother, said an anymous New York doctor may be able to help her son. She is attempting to raise funds to take him east.

Hearing Scheduled On Texas-New Mexico Truck License Pact

SANTA FE, N. M.—(AP)—A public hearing has been scheduled February 25 on the New Mexico-Texas pact by which both states exempt the other's trucks from taxes.

New Mexico tax and highway officials say their state is losing $146,000 to $300,000 a year because Texas trucks outnumber New Mexico trucks.

The pact was negotiated in 1948.

Under it, New Mexico commercial vehicles have been allowed to operate on Texas highways without buying a Texas license or paying a milage tax. Texas truckers operate similarly in New Mexico.

Spectators Doused At Ship Launching

BAY CITY, MICH. —(AP)— The 664-foot freighter Charles L. Hutchinson was launched here Wednesday with a splash that added a bit of extra drama to the ceremony.

The ship slid off the ways at the Defoe Shipyards and kicked up a five-foot wave that drenched 50 spectators and tossed two children into the water. A woman running from the wave sprained an ankle.

A crowd of 5,000 lined the Saginaw River banks to watch the launching.

When the ship hit the water, it set up a wave 300 feet wide that spread across the river. The wave cracked a 14-inch crust of ice on which 25 youngsters were standing near the shore. Two of them fell into the river. A policeman pulled them out.

Barstow News

BARSTOW — Raymond C. Talley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alva Talley, has been recommended for promotion to the grade of sergeant in the U. S. Army. He is stationed in Germany, with the 109th Infantry, 28th Division. Sergeant Talley has been in 28 states, on three oceans and in two foreign countries since he entered the armed forces about a year ago.

Pfc. Lyman Daughhetee of New Orleans, La., is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Daughhetee, here. He was accompanied from Alpine by his brother, Lawrence, who is a student at Sul Ross College.

Three Barstow ranchers, Robert Miller, Irby Dyer, Sr., and W. L. Fuller, attended the livestock auction sale in Midland last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill D. McMahon are expected back in Barstow this week from a trip to Arkansas.

Mrs. Jim Miller has returned to her home here from Asheville, N. C., where she had been visiting a daughter since Christmas.

UN Warns Press Against Fraternizing With Enemy At Armistice Talk Scene

TOKYO —(AP)— Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's public information officer Thursday said some UN Command news correspondents are abusing their privileges in covering the armistice talks at Panmunjom by "fraternization, and trafficking with the enemy."

In a memorandum to correspondents, Col. George Patrick Welch, public information officer, said:

"It has, therefore, become necessary to request all UNC correspondents entering the Panmunjom neutral area for the purpose of covering the armistice talks to conduct themselves in such a manner so as to avoid any suggestion that military security is being placed in possible jeopardy or that traffic is being held with the enemy."

Queried about the memorandum, Welch said:

"This is a request and not an order. However, to avoid any suggestion of traffic with the enemy certainly implies that no article of any kind will pass between our correspondents and the enemy."

Welch's memorandum:

"The UNC has viewed with growing apprehension the practices of certain UNC correspondents of excessive social consorting including drinking of alcoholic beverages with Communist 'journalistis'—this as differentiated from required professional contacts.

Unguarded Conversations

"Unguarded conversations during such unnecessary social sessions might well jeopardize the security of military forces. It is a basic policy to afford all UNC correspondents complete access to and freedom of movement through UNC positions and installations. Any portion of such a wealth of military knowledge, were it to be divulged inadvertently to the enemy, could endanger the lives of many of our men.

"Certain UNC correspondents have entered into surreptitious and personal arrangements with the enemy to deliver modern camera equipment into the prisoner of war camps where our soldiers are being held, to receive photographs taken in Communist prison camps and to receive recordings for radio broadcast of UNC prisoners of war interviews made in Communist prison camps."

Precautionary Measures

Welch said:

"This request is intended in no way to restrict the greatest possible latitude which has been given to UNC correspondents so long as their actions or conduct are not deterimental or hazardous to the UNC or to the success of the current armistice negotiations.

"Neither is this request intended to impugn the loyalty or integrity of any UNC correspondent or news gathering organization.

"Any such implication would be without foundation and in complete contradiction to the spirit in which these precautionary measures are being taken."

The memorandum said, "General headquarters is well aware and appreciative of the fact that many correspondents accredited to the United Nations Command view with deep concern the problems of ethics and public responsibility involved in these dealings and contacts with the enemy.

"Their views are fully shared by this headquarters."

Welch contended fraternization and trafficking with the enemy "could have serious adverse effects on the conduct of the current negotiations and might well imperil the security of UNC forces. Military personnel are strictly prohibited from such practices."

Two Drivers Shot As Violence Flares In Truckers' Strike

BIRMINGHAM, ALA. —(AP)— Two striking truck drivers were shot by a non-union trucking company employe Wednesday in the first major violence reported in a 10-state strike of AFL drivers.

Police quoted A. A. Germann, 31-year-old employe of the Maxwell Truck Lines, as saying he fired twice into a crowd of men after two cars had forced his truck into the curb on a Northside street.

No charge was filed against Germann.

James Alvin Cook, Jr., 26, was struck in the abdomen and wounded seriously. Jack Litaker, 38, was hit on a finger. Both are drivers for the Jack Cole Trucking Company, idled by the strike.

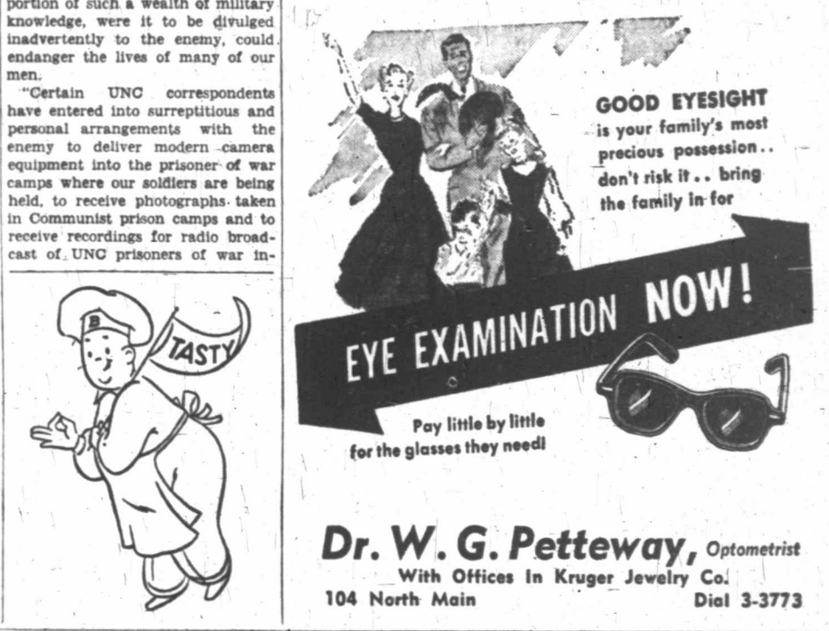

Police Lt. Jamie Moore said Germann told him he fired when about a dozen men sought to pull him from the truck. He said the crowd already had yanked a companion, Hobson Martin, from the vehicle and ripped a sleeve from his own coat.

Litaker denied to reporters that Germann was roughed up before the shooting.

About 10,000 AFL drivers quit work Friday in support of demands for a wage increase.

Cherrapunji, India, has had 1,605.05 inches of rain in two years.

Midland Fighters Cop Four

Knockout Wins To LeRoy Reeves, Don Stringer In Angelo

By LARRY KING
Reporter-Telegram Sports Editor

SAN ANGELO — Don Stringer, LeRoy Reeves, Don Evans and Bill Leonard were the Midland victors here Wednesday night as the Midland Optimist boxing team took four of seven matches in the San Angelo regional Golden Gloves tournament, one without lifting a glove.

Leonard, a husky light-heavyweight who was booked for the main event against Angelo's Red Cain, won by default when Cain declined to fight just minutes before the bout was to get underway.

Stringer, 126-pound Midland C team football player, won almost as easily, although his opponent did appear. Stringer danced out at the opening bell to meet San Angelo's Sherrell Rochester, 122 pounds, flicked him twice with a left, then brought up a vicious right-hand uppercut to the jaw. Down went Rochester for the count, the time being 0:26 seconds of the first round.

The hard-hitting Stringer is a brother of Burton Stringer, who won the state TAAF lightweight title under Midland colors in 1945.

LeRoy Reeves, Midland's classy little 84 pounder, took a TKO over San Angelo's Joe Font.

Reeves, who had suffered his only loss to Font six weeks ago, but who had decisioned the Angelo boy in Odessa, wasted no time in giving his foe a good working over.

The little pepper-pot Reeves, smooth and classy, had a slight edge after the first round, carrying the fight to the reluctant Font, who clinched and ducked in a futile effort to get away from the hammering fists of little LeRoy.

In the second round, Reeves worked on Font's body nicely, got in some head punches and won going away. Font failed to answer the bell for the third round, with Reeves being awarded a TKO.

Tough Don Evans, 131-pound Midlander, won a good scrap from Roy Shelton, 133, Lake View. The first round was about even. Evans took round two by a good margin, exhibiting a rapier-like left which Shelton ran into with amazing regularity. Round three was very lively, with both boys landing nicely. The decision for the Midland kid was unanimous.

In a rough and tumble fight in which finesse was sacrificed for hitting power, Emil Cardenas, 155, San Angelo, took a split nod from Jay Schlichting, 148, Midland.

Both boys landed well, getting in solid blows in all rounds. Schlichting's best round was the second, when he got to his foe for several measured punches. Cardenas came back stronger to cop the final and deciding round in this crowd-pleaser.

Wallace Defeated

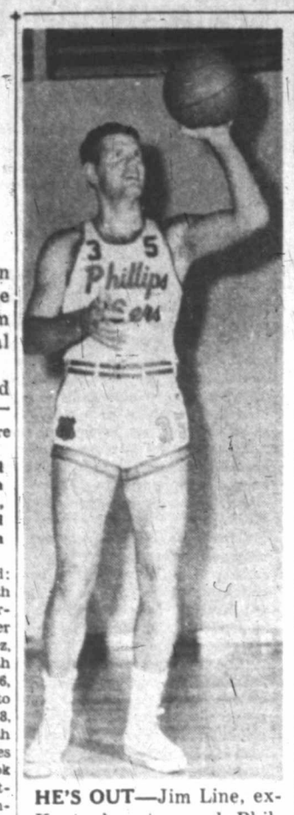

Harold Wallace, 148, Midland, became the first Midland boy of the year to fail to go the distance when he fell before classy A1 Cardenas. Wallace was game enough, but took the short end of round one and was getting a severe drubbing in the second canto when Referee Red Worley wisely called a halt and announced the Concho fighter the winner by a TKO.

Robert Whiteaker, 145, Midland, lost a decision to H. A. Carter, 144, San Angelo, with very little action being displayed. Whiteaker played a waiting game with the San Angelo boy, who also disdained action. Except for a brief exchange early in the fourth round, it was a slow affair. Carter got the decision by virtue of coming out best in this one blow-exchange.

Midland fighters skip action Thursday night, but return to the wars here again Friday night in the final matches. Boys from Midland who haven't fought yet include Charles Crites and Fred Bilbo, middleweights; Chili Reeves, Odessa Open champ who is to fight an exhibition Friday night and, actually, Leonard, in spite of the fact he technically was a winner here Wednesday.

Only Midland, San Angelo and Lake View fighters participated in the 15-bout opening night card, but mittmen from Andrews and other cities are to join the fun Thursday night.

Other first-night results included: Kid Casanova drubbed Kenneth Font in a junior bout; Johnny Terreca took Henry Font, in another junior bout; Michael Rodriquez, 121, decisioned Joe Perez, 122, both San Angelo boys; Paul Romea, 136, used a hard over-hand right to completely chill Travis Carter, 138, in 1:28 of the first round, again both boys from San Angelo; Marques Guerrerro, 125, San Angelo, took Johnny Rondo, 126, SA, in a split-nod; Daniel Rogas, 116, San Angelo, took Joe Delgado, 119, San Angelo, in a honey of a fight and Paul (Chico) Romero, 136, decisioned tough, "Cowboy" Red McClellan, 135, San Angelo, in a roughie.

HE'S OUT—Jim Line, ex-Kentucky star and Phillips 66 player, won't perform here February 14 with Phillips against Artesia, N. M. Line, an ex-Midland resident, was expected to play here, but an announcement from Bartlesville, Okla., Thursday said Line is working in Kansas and will not show for the local contest.

Field Wide Open In El Paso Golf Meet

EL PASO —(AP)— They started playing for keeps Thursday in the $10,000 El Paso Open and the field never was wider open.

Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis, Tenn., dentist-golfer who is one of the leading money winners, observed: "anybody can win this one."

The El Paso Country Club course measures just 6,315 yards—but there are some stiff hazards, like trees lining narrow fairways and greens with bare places in them for lack of moisture. Middlecoff played around it Wednesday in the pro-amateur and said he quit counting when he reached 78 strokes.

It's about time for Middlecoff to win one. He hasn't bagged a first place this year as yet.

Jimmie Demaret, Ojai, Calif., Jim Ferrier, San Francisco; Johnny Palmer, Badin, N. C.; Johnny Revolta, Evanston, Ill., and several others were mentioned as quite likely to go good on this course.

And then there's Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N. Y., one of the famed Turnesa golfing brothers, who did a five-under-par 66 in the pro-amateur Wednesday. Turnesa was jubilant over his round.

In the pro-amateur, the most unusual happening was an after-dark finish by Bill Ogden, Chicago, who shot a hole-in-one on the 125-yard No. 12. Ogden was guided in by his amateur partner, Charlie Butler, El Paso.

Missed Putt

He missed a 30-foot putt on the 18th green that would have given him a tie with Turnesa. His 67 tied him for second place among the low scorers for the day and earned him $58.33. Turnesa won $250.

Six others—Jerry Robinson, San Antonio, Texas; Lionel Hebert, Verona, Pa.; Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.; Herman Coelho, Honolulu, and Shelley Mayfield, Cedarhurst, L. I., —also had 67's.

A team of Jay Herbert, Long Island, N. Y., brother of Lionel, and Frank Halla, El Paso amateur, won the best ball competition with a 60. Herbert received $150.

KING'S ROW by LARRY KING

Thanks to Tri - Service Drilling Company and Canyon Trucking Company, we'll be getting 'up' in the world this Summer.

Tri-Service and Canyon are to build us a big press box atop Indian Park, with construction to start soon. If it fits the specifications of our design, the box will seat eight in the press side and six in the radio side; have a glass pane separating the radio and press gentry and perch on the part of Indian Park's roof which looks directly down on homeplate.

The public address system and official scorer also will be in the lofty confines of the new hangout. Too, it affords us "protection" from the wolves who howl at the official scoring during Midland baseball games.

Red Cain, the San Angelo light-heavy belter, took one look at Midland's Bill Leonard Wednesday night in the Concho city and said: "Nossir, I ain't a-going to fight him."

Cain's reluctance can be understood. He saw Leonard pound the daylights out of a San Angelo boxer about six weeks ago, and then too Cain tangled with a Midland fighter once before and came off second best. Billy Medart gave him a good beating in the Odessa middleweight finals a year ago.

The Leonard-Cain fight was to have been the main event on the program.

Basketball Stars Pour In Points

NEW YORK —(AP)— Scoring 20 points in a college basketball game used to be considered a feat.

Nowadays standout players generally are expected to score more than that. Otherwise it is said they "were held" in check.

Ernie Beck, Pennsylvanian; Mark Workman, West Virginia; Chuck Grigsby, Dayton; Jack Molinas, Columbia; Lou Murgo, Brown; Frank Ramsey, Kentucky; Jim Tucker, Duquesne, and Jim Beachtold, Eastern Kentucky all were in the outstanding category Wednesday night.

Beck set a new Eastern Intercollegiate individual game mark of 45 points as the Quakers whipped Harvard, 82-48.

Workman got 35 points as West Virginia drubbed North Carolina, 80-65.

Ramsey helped Kentucky, the nation's No. 1 ranked team, crush Mississippi, 81-61, with 28 points. Duquesne remained in the unbeaten class, beating Niagara, 64-49, as Tucker came through with 24 points.

Grigsby helped Dayton make it 10 in a row. He tallied 29 points as the Flyers nipped Louisville, 72-71. Molinas got 27 as Columbia licked Brown, 95-75.

Baechtold sank 27 points as Eastern Kentucky downed Tenn Tech, 63-52.

Texas Christian tied Texas for the lead in the Southwest Conference by beating Texas A&M, 52-41, and California opened a Hawaiian tour by whipping Hawaii, 72-46.

Once-beaten Penn State made it 12 straight by taking Rutgers, 66-52, and Seton Hall, also only beaten once, whipped Fordham, 60-41.

In Southern Conference tilts, George Washington dumped The Citadel 73-64, and Virginia Tech beat Richmond, 60-54. In the SEC, Mississippi State downed Florida, 72-58 and Georgia whipped Georgia Tech, 72-64.

Wisconsin, of the Big Ten, had tough going against Butler, but came through, 62-60.

Navy beat Pitt, 54-44, as Sophomore John Clune scored 12 points to set an all-time Naval Academy scoring record for one season of 339.

Bill Hannon's 21 points helped Army defeat Swartmore, 56-46.

Mel Abbiati, member of the New Hampshire freshman hockey team, is the son of a former Wildcat football captain—Furio Abbiati.

Pat Garner Wins In Fem Tournament

PALM BEACH, FLA. —(AP)— A match between the medalist, Grace DeMoss, Corvallis, Ore., and Kathy McKinnon, Lake Worth, Fla., highlighted Thursday's second round in the Palm Beach Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss DeMoss eliminated Mrs. G. W. Labisky, Columbus Ohio, 7 and 6, in the opening round. Miss McKinnon took a 6 and 5 decision over Jane Nelson of Indianapolis.

Two 18-hole rounds Thursday will reduce the field to the semifinals.

All first-round matches except one went true to the form established in qualifying play. A mild upset was the victory of Betty Knoedler, Pittsburg over Helen Hampton, Signal Mountain, Tenn., 1-up on the nineteenth. Miss Hampton qualified with 82, Miss Knoedler with 87.

Defending Champion Polly Riley, Fort Worth, scored a 3 and 2 victory over Mrs. George Wilcox, Miami.

Pat Garner, Midland, Texas, defeated Maurine Riley, McKeesport, Pa., easily, 5 and 4.

JayCees Now Have Chance To Get In City Cage Playoff

Things were in a pretty mess in the Midland JayCee Independent Basketball League after happenings Wednesday night.

Western Plastic Company failed to show for a game against the JayCees, and had to forfeit, 2 to 0.

Meanwhile, Phillips Petroleum Company was getting its derailed basketball express back on schedule with a 69 to 53 pounding of Borden's.

The result left the JayCees with three wins for the season (two of them via the forfeit route) and Borden's with four wins.

And, here's the catch: The JayCees have defeated but one team on the court this year—Shell. And the JayCees tangle with Shell again at 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Should the JayCees again win—and Shell hasn't won one in nine tries—then Borden's and the JayCee team will be tied. All of which will mean the JayCees and Borden's would tangle in a one-game playoff for fourth place Saturday night as the first round of the city tourney gets underway.

By winning, Shell could send the playoffs on to its regular schedule, with Rotary, Phillips, Western Plastic and Borden's participating.

Kenny Jastro hit nine of 15 set shots, including five straight, to lead Phillips by Borden's Wednesday night, 69-53. Jastro scored 18 points.

Roy Price tallied 23 for Borden's to be high for the game, but his percentage wasn't so accurate as Jastro's.

Don Jones scored 14 and Everette Thrall 11 for the winners.

Phillips led all the way. It was 18-7 at the quarter, 39-18 at halftime and 50-32 at the end of three quarters.

Texas Tech Will Not Change Policy On Negro Players

LUBBOCK —(AP)— Texas Tech has made no indication it will change a policy of not allowing negroes and whites to oppose one another in athletic contests at Lubbock.

Tech officials said they had no official word from the University of Arizona. The Arizona school said Wednesday it would make no future commitments to send athletic teams to Lubbock "so long as Texas Tech refuses negroes the right to participate."

Athletic Director Dewitt Weaver of Tech, and Dr. J. William Davis, chairman of the college athletic council, said they would have no comment until they saw the official notice from Arizona.

But President D. M. Wiggins in a statement said:

"Neither the board of directors, nor the administrative officials of Texas Technological college has received any official notice from University of Arizona officials concerning any change in previous contractural policies.

No Attempt Made

"Tech Technological College has not attempted in the past, nor does it attempt now, to set policies for the University of Arizona.

"The board of directors of Texas Technological College continues to be the sole policy-making body of the institution."

Both Texas Tech and Arizona are member of the Border Conference. In the past 15 years, Texas Tech teams have taken part in games in which negroes have played on opposing teams, but not in Lubbock.

Arizona will carry out its present commitments with Tech, including a basketball game at Lubbock February 15. The schools have signed for a football game at Tucson this year and have agreed on an open date game at Lubbock in 1953.

Managers Embroiled In Match-Making Heavyweight Fuss

MIAMI, FLA. —(AP)— The great debate between Promoter Jim Norris and Jersey Joe Walcott's manager continued Thursday with the date, site and opponent of the heavyweight champ's next fight still indefinite.

Norris, president of the International Boxing Club which holds exclusive rights to Jersey Joe's services, reported progress Wednesday night after a fourth session with Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager.

"We're certainly no further apart," said Norris. "I think we have reached some mutual grounds in our negotiations.

"As far as I'm concerned a Walcott-Ezzard Charles match is the only possibility. And the Charles people feel the same way. After all we have a contract for a return bout. We didn't mention Rocky Marciano's name at all.

Bocchicchio wants permission to bypass Charles and fight Marciano, the unbeaten slugger from Brockton, Mass. The Charles camp is holding firm to its demands for fulfillment of the return bout contract signed last year before Charles was knocked out by Jersey Joe in Pittsburgh.

It was understood Bocchicchio's latest proposition amounted to a $100,000 guarantee to Charles from a proposed Marciano-Walcott gate.

If Charles would agree to step aside, Bocchicchio's plan also would assure Charles of a 30-30 percentage split with the winner in June.

However, Charles isn't buying, according to Norris.

"In the meantime, Marciano continues his campaign with a Philadelphia bout against the veteran Lee Savold next Wednesday.

It all adds up a busy Summer in the heavyweight division. Whether it turns out to be Walcott-Charles, Walcott-Marciano or even Walcott-Harry Matthews in Las Vegas remains to be seen. Bocchicchio still insists he has a $250,000 offer to take on Matthews.

Bulldogs Tangle With Plainview

Still smarting under a 54-34 trouncing at the hands of Big Spring Tuesday night, Midland High School's basketball team goes into action at 8 p.m. Thursday in a game with the Plainview Bulldogs.

The game—second on a card which begins with B teams meeting at 6:30 p.m.—will be played in the Midland High School gym.

Midland, which has three conference wins and likewise three losses, already owns a 50 to 39 win over Plainview, a team which has copped but one of five loop games. For the season, Midland has won seven, lost 11 and Plainview has posted a 9-13 mark.

The Plainview Bulldogs have defeated Hereford, 40-25 and 54-48; Littlefield B, 57-17; Olton, 45-42; Littlefield, 44-42; Tulia, 37-31 and 43-36; Snyder, 48-40, and Vernon, 45-43.

Villemain, Hairston Fight To Draw In Bruising Battle

DETROIT—(AP)—"We wuz robbed" noises spurted out of both camps Thursday following a crowd-rousing middleweight battle between Robert Villemain of France and Eugene (Silent) Hairston of the Bronx Wednesday night.

Neither side liked the draw decision.

But most of the shrieking crowd of 7,859 didn't seem to mind the officials calling the 10-round scrap all even. Rarely had two fighters smashed each other so continually and viciously in a Detroit ring.

Both Villemain, 164 1/2 pounds, and Hairston, 160 3/4, wanted the decision since the International Boxing Club had indicated the winner of this fight would get a shot at Champion Sugar Ray Robinson. So the draw nettled both men.

Is Same Story

"My boy, he won," insisted unhappy Manager Jean Bretonnel in Villemain's dressing room. It was the same story—with Harriston getting the plaudits—in Hairston's quarters.

Hairston, a deaf-mute, appeared in charge in the early rounds. But suddenly the bull-like rushes and windmill punches of the stocky Frenchman caught up with him in the fourth round.

But Villemain lacked the blasts needed to overpower his free-wheeling opponent. Hairston continued to bore in and trade blows and the crowd loved it, even if there wasn't a single knockdown in the fight.

Rookie Outfielders Plentiful

CHICAGO —(AP)— A few of baseball's flowers that bloom in the Spring also may blossom in American League outfields this Summer.

The big league pace is fast for rookie outfielders, but the junior circuit has a flock whose minor league records indicate they'll make a good try to stick.

Take the St. Louis Browns.

New Manager Rogers Hornsby will have an outfield battle among newcomers that should resemble an Easter egg hunt.

Pride and joy of Hornsby is Jim Rivera, the Pacific Coast League batting champion from Seattle, who last season batted .352. He also led the league in runs, 135, hits, 231, and doubles, 40.

The Browns also have highly-touted Frank Saucier, Bob Nieman, Earl Rapp and Tom Wright. In 1950, Saucier hit .343 for San Antonio and was supposed to strike terror into the hearts of American League pitching last season but was a holdout.

Nieman hit two successive homers in his first two times at bat for the Browns late last season and knocked a .324 average for Tulsa and Oklahoma City. Rapp is a .322 hitter from Oakland. Wright had Boston Red Sox seasoning and comes from Louisville with a .282 mark.

The Red Sox have an outfield prospect in Jim Piersall with so much talent Manager Lou Boudreau may even try to get him in the lineup at shortstop.

17 Games

Last year, Piersall played 17 games for Louisville, batting .310, and then transferred to Birmingham where he fashioned a .346 mark in 121 games. Veteran big leaguers say they've seldom seen a rookie do so many things well.

The championship Yankees may be concerned mainly with the scrap between Jack Jensen and Mickey Mantle for Joe Di Maggio's centerfield job. But they're bound to pay some heed, too, to Bob Cerv and Archie Wilson. Cerv was runner-up in American Association hitting with .344 for Kansas City.

Wilson, the International League's most valuable player, hit .316 in 151 games for Buffalo. He had the most RBI's, 112; most total bases, 328; most hits, 191; and 28 homers to share honors in that department.

Midland Near Top On Population Basis For Air Passengers

Midland Air Terminal ranked second in Texas during 1950 in the number of persons per 1,000 population who boarded commercial airline planes, the Civil Aeronautics Administration reported Thursday.

A report just released by the CAA shows that for every 1,000 persons in the Midland-Odessa area, 613.1 boarded a commercial airline plane during the year.

On the basis of this figure, Midland Air Terminal ranked second only to Dallas, which had a figure of 724.3 passengers per 1,000 population.

Closest to Midland, in third place, was Amarillo with 474.8 passengers.

On the basis of enplaning passengers per 1950 population, Midland Air Terminal also ranked twenty-first in the United States.

The report by the CAA, released here by Jack Spratt Robson of Abilene, CAA airport engineer, also showed some other interesting figures concerning commercial aviation in Midland.

The Air Terminal ranked eighth in the state in number of aircraft departures, with 5,802 reported during the year. The airport here was exceeded only by Dallas, Houston, Fort Worth, San Antonio, San Angelo, Amarillo and Austin.

During 1950, the CAA reported, 31,419 passengers boarded planes for an average trip of 436 miles. An average of 5.4 passengers boarded each plane leaving.

Midland Minister To Assist In Survey

The Rev. G. C. Becker, pastor of the Grace Lutheran Church here, has been asked to take part in a nation-wide survey on "family life" being conducted during the month of February.

The first of its kind to be attempted by any church body, the Lutheran Family Life survey will cover 10,000 homes in the United States and Canada and is part of a $25,000 family research project of the Board for Parish Education of The Lutheran-Church Missouri Synod.

By means of a group-administered questionnaire, the survey will attempt to discover what influence Lutheran beliefs and practices have on the stability and happiness of family life in America.

Martin Named Head Of Universal Mills

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of Universal Mills, Fort Worth, V. I. Martin was elected president to succeed the late Gaylord J. Stone. Mrs. Gaylord Stone was elected vice president and Leon Stewart was named secretary. Martin has been associated with Universal Mills the last 22 years. For the last two years he has been executive vice president and assistant general manager.

Martin has been active in Fort Worth civic affairs. He is a past president of the Rotary Club, a member of the Executives Club and the Knife and Fork Club. He is a Shriner and a member of the Church of Christ.

Murder Charge Filed In Carpenter's Death

WACO—(AP)—A charge of murder has been lodged against Tommy Porter, 46, Waco carpenter, in the death of another carpenter.

Walter William Bradley, 57, died Tuesday night of injuries received in a fall down hotel stairs.

Assistant District Attorney Burney Walker, who filed the murder charge, said Porter claimed the fall was accidental.

18 Persons Rescued From Disabled Ship

PANAMA —(AP)— Two women and 16 men stranded aboard the disabled Colombian schooner Gloria for a week were rescued Wednesday night after week-long searching by U. S. Air Force planes and U. S. Navy patrol boats.

The 87-foot boat was dismasted and stripped of its rudder by a storm January 30. It ran out of fuel, food and water.

FIVE MORE CZECHS EXECUTED FOR SPYING

LONDON —(AP)— Five more Czech nationals convicted of spying for the U. S. have been executed in Prague, Moscow radio said Thursday.

Their deaths brought to more than 130 the announced executions on such charges in Communist countries since October.

Midlander Who Died In Building Accident On Tax Refund List

DALLAS —(AP)— Following is a list of persons due tax refund checks of $50 or more from the Bureau of Internal Revenue in Dallas.

The unofficial list is prepared by the Dallas Morning News.

Names listed Thursday are for tax refunds for 1948. The Associated Press next will carry names listed for 1949 refunds.

Midlanders listed include Thurman P. and Edna Crowson, Leon and Elda Gordon, Frank H. Rohe and Fred L. Rogosch.

A Frederick L. Rogosch was killed in a fall from atop the Permian Building March 23, 1949. Rogosch, a stone mason, died instantly after he was knocked from a scaffold by a winch which was pulled from its mooring. He fell six stories to the sidewalk on West Texas Street. The body was sent East for interment.

Odessans listed include Sam and Frances Kropp, Hiram Melton, Arthur and Dorothy Piping.

J. W. Avary Rites Held At Barstow

BARSTOW — Funeral services for J. W. Avary, 55, pioneer Barstow resident, were held here Monday afternoon. Interment was in the Barstow Cemetery.

Avary died early Sunday at his home here following a lengthy illness.

Survivors include two brothers, G. Q. Avary of Barstow and Corbett Avary of Monahans; and four sisters, Mrs. Lillian King and Mrs. Ida Swann of Barstow, and Mrs. Iva Hayes and Mrs. Annie Garrett of San Diego, Calif.

Services Held For Payton Anderson

Funeral services for Payton Walter Anderson, 54, an independent oil operator, were to be held at 3 p.m. Thursday in the Trinity Episcopal Church, with the Rev. Robert J. Snell, rector, officiating.

Honorary pall bearers for the service included Ed Parkoney, Sid Cross, Jack Wood, Ralph Barron, Dr. Doyle Patton, Art Yeager, Clyde Miller, Jim Daugherty, Neville Penrose, M. L. McGee, Clem Barnes and G. M. Heinzelman.

Interment was to be in Resthaven Memorial Cemetery.

Obie Bristow Seeks Seat In Legislature

SOFT WATER SERVICE

All The SOFT WATER
You Need Always On Tap!
Soft water does a better household cleaning job. Makes cleaning easy and thrifty to do, because you save on both soap and effort! Soft water makes a good cook an even better one! Vegetables stay tender, retain their garden-fresh flavors and appetizing colors. And you'll actually need less grounds to make coffee and tea! And there's no film or curd to dull the razor and make it pull. No more clogged pipes with Culligan Softened water—fewer plumbing bills. Your water heating costs will be considerably lower, too.

Four Mississippi Trumanites To Face Trial February 14

JACKSON, MISS. —(AP)— Four pro-Truman Democrats charged with selling federal jobs in Mississippi are scheduled to go on trial on February 14.

U. S. District Judge Allen Cox set the trial date Wednesday after dismissing indictments charging five pro-Trumanites with perjury growing out of the jobs sales investigation.

A special grand jury returned 23 indictments against 12 persons charging all 12 with conspiring to sell federal jobs, six with actually selling jobs, and five with perjury for allegedly lying to the committee under oath.

Ten conspiracy indictments were thrown out, all five of the perjury indictments were overturned and two of the indictments charging actual job sales were dismissed.

Two other conspiracy defendants pleaded guilty. Only four indictments remain.

Defendants still under indictment for peddling federal patronage are Forest Jackson, attorney for the pro-Truman state committee; Curtis Rogers, secretary of the committee, and Curtis Beasley and Dewey McLeod, committee organizers.

Those freed of perjury charges by Wednesday's ruling included Jackson, Rogers, Brashier, Wilkinson and Henry Debrow, a pro-Truman faction member.

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log—

sure was between 105 and 240 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure after 20 minutes was 1,350 pounds.

Another drillstem test was run at 3,692-3,701 feet. The tool was open 25 minutes. Recovery was 50 feet of slightly gas and water cut drilling mud.

The prospector is making more hole. Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 2, A. Loysoa survey. It is one and one-half miles northeast of the Clayton-Gardner sand field.

Runnels Gets Three New Wildcat Tries

Locations for three wildcats in Runnels County have been staked for immediate drilling.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 G. W. Poe is to be a 6,000-foot exploration in Northwest Runnels. It is 1,400 feet from south and west lines of section 71, CT survey.

That makes it one and three-quarters miles northwest of the West Winters-Canyon field and three miles east of Wilmeth.

Near Ballinger

D. C. Tankersley and Oscar E. Irwin No. 1 Wesley Wood is to be a 4,600-foot prospector in Central Runnels, four and one-half miles north of Ballinger.

It is spotted 1,120 feet from northeast and northwest lines of the William Dunn survey No. 530 1/2, abstract 125.

Jay Simmons, Ethel Mae Murray and Murray Petroleum Company No. 1-B Williams is to be a 4,600-foot project in extreme Northeast Runnels.

South Of Lawn

It is four and one-half miles south of Lawn, which is in Southeast Taylor County.

The drillsite will be 1,865 feet from south and 2,003 feet from east lines of block 2, L. D. Counts survey. It is one-half of a mile west of the nearest producer on the north side of the Cree-Sykes field.

Cosden To Deepen SW Kent Wildcat

Cosden Petroleum Corporation No. 2 W. G. Williams, et al, shallow Southwest Kent County wildcat which was originally slated to drill to 2,100 feet to explore the San Andres-Permian reached that level without logging any shows of possible production.

Operator then decided to abandon the project—but changed the plans and has now filed an amended application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting a permit to carry the venture on down to a possible bottom of 2,750 feet.

Should Test Clear Fork

If it goes to that depth is should test the Clear Fork of the Permian.

Location is 330 feet from south and west lines of the southeast quarter of section 60, block 5, H&TC survey. It is three miles southwest of Polar and a twin to Cosden's No. 1 Williams, an 8,055-foot Ellenburger failure. That deep exploration had some signs of possible production in the Permian limes.

Wildcat Is To Be Dug Central Tom Green

Sun Oil Company, Perkins-Prothro Company and Howard B. Green No. 5 Mark B. Pulliam is to be a 6,000-foot wildcat in Central Tom Green County, two and one-quarter miles west of the city limits of San Angelo.

It is to be 1,980 feet from north and east lines of survey 4, J. W. Hammack grantee, abstract 7986. Drilling will be started immediately.

Near Pulliam Field

It is one and one-half miles northeast of Sun and associates No. 3 Pulliam, a producer from the Palo Pinto lime in the Pulliam field which has wells making oil from the Palo Pinto and also from the Strawn.

Sun and others No. 6 Claude Linthicum, south outpost to the Pulliam field has been plugged and abandoned at total depth of 5,565 feet in barren Strawn lime.

NW Stonewall Test Has Been Abandoned

General Crude Oil Company No. 1 Claude E. Green, Northwest Stonewall County wildcat, two miles northwest of Swenson has been abandoned and plugged.

It drilled to a total depth of 6,741 feet in barren Ellenburger. That formation made salty, sulphur water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Top of the Ellenburger was at 6,640 feet.

New York City's subway and elevated lines carry nearly 2,000,000,000 passengers annually.

Wants No Brass In His Household

DETROIT. —(AP)— His wife became a second lieutenant and "tossed her rank around," complains Cpl. William J. Thompson.

He asked for a divorce Wednesday. He expects to be sent to Korea soon.

The wife, now at Fort Lee, Va., has not filed an answer.

Thompson said when he met his wife in Germany a year and a half ago she was just a sergeant "and everything was fine."

But by the time they were married January 2, Ruth had been promoted to lieutenant. The Corporal said: "Everything was changed. She said she didn't love me any more."

"She said she intended to make a career in the Army," Thompson said. "I don't want an Army brass hat for a wife."

Crane Lamb Show Scheduled Saturday

CRANE — Forty-eight lambs will be shown by fifteen 4-H Club members in Crane's second annual lamb show scheduled Saturday in downtown Crane. The event is sponsored by the Crane County Sheriff's Posse.

Judging will begin at 10 a.m. Saturday. It will be done by W. M. Day, Upton County agent. An auction sale is scheduled in the afternoon.

The winning lambs will be entered in the Odessa and El Paso stock shows.

Club members expected to enter lambs in Saturday's show include Roy, Jack and George Dameron, Johnny Hightower, Jimmie Brock, Johnny Burrow, Howard Hunter, Hawley Van Court, Jim Hollis, Jim and Jerry Swift, Herb Curry, Bennie Earp and James and Bob Brunson.

Aggressive Police Postpone Bookie's Retirement Plans

NORRISTOWN, PA.— (AP) —Because Norristown police were two weeks ahead of the U. S. government, Gordon Ettlinger has to postpone his "retirement" six months. And he'll have to spend the time in jail at that.

Before pleading guilty to bookmaking charges Wednesday, Ettlinger told Judge E. Arnold Forrest, "I intended to retire last November 1, when the new federal gambling law was effective. But the police were a little too fast for me."

He was arrested October 16. In addition to a six-month prison sentence he was fined $100.

Fort Hood Housing Project Will Honor Late General Walker

FORT HOOD—(AP)—A $4,470,000 housing project named after Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, Texas Army leader who was killed in Korea, will be dedicated Saturday.

Walker, former Ghost Corps leader in World War II and commanding officer of the Eighth Service Command in Dallas, was killed in a jeep accident in Korea. He was commanding general of the Eighth Army at the time.

The housing project, for military personnel, will be called "Walker Village."

Mrs. Walker and her son, Capt. Sam S. Walker, will attend the ground-breaking and dedication ceremonies.

EYE INJURY TREATED

Johnnie Krachla, 801 North Lane Street, Wednesday was given emergency treatment at Midland Memorial Hospital after he was struck in both eyes by chemical mud from a pressure valve.

Southwest Carriers File Unfair Practice Charges With NLRB

DALLAS —(AP)— The Southwest Operators Association has filed unfair labor practice charges against the AFL Teamsters Union, claiming it had not bargained in good faith in a strike idling 8,000 truck line workers in the Southwest.

The association acted Wednesday night for strikebound motor carriers after negotiations at Memphis, Tenn., broke down.

Association Attorney Carl Phinney said the charge was filed with the regional National Labor Relations Board in Fort Worth. Phinney said the union refused to compromise on the wage issue.

The attorney said none of the association member lines whose workers have returned to their jobs actually signed contracts with the union, only agreeing to sign whatever settlement is reached between the union and the truckers association.

Some trucks with ammunition and airplane parts remained tied up Thursday as the strike kept 17 lines idle in the Southwest.

One line said it had 35 trailers at its docks that had not been unloaded. One contained airplane parts for a Fort Worth plant. The same line said it had a load of ammunition enroute to the west coast tied up at Muskogee, Okla., and other government shipments at El Paso and Oklahoma City.

Dock workers, who belong to the same union, have refused to cross picket lines to unload the shipments or to transfer them to other trucks.

A union official listed the following lines as having settled on the teamsters' terms:

Viking Express, Luper Transportation Company, Yellow Transit, Brown Express, Roadway Express, Riss, Santa Fe, Frisco and Consolidated Forwarding.

Injunction Sought In Memphis Court

MEMPHIS, TENN. —(AP)— The chief negotiator for carriers involved in the 10-state AFL truck drivers strike has gone to court to keep any of them from signing union contracts.

A. E. Green, Sr., Kingsport, Tenn., said a hearing will be held Thursday on a plea for a temporary injunction to keep Southeastern firms from "yielding to pressure from the AFL Teamsters Union."

Green, chairman of the carriers' negotiating committee, said he has power of attorney regarding contracts and must be given 10 days notice before it can be withdrawn.

Morrow Demands Greater Southern Voice Within Party

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Democratic National Committeeman Wright Morrow of Texas has voiced a desire for a greater Southern voice in party policies.

In an interview Wednesday night, Morrow said, "The Democratic Party relies heavily on the South, but gives little consideration to its views when platforms are drafted at national conventions."

The Houston man proposed that planks be adopted strongly advocating the State's Rights principle as an approach to civil rights and Tidelands questions.

Morrow is a supporter of Senator Russell, Georgia, for president. He has been conferring with other Democratic leaders here.

Methodists Honor Student Life Leader

DALLAS—(AP)—About 200 Texas laymen and ministers honored Dr. Glenn Flinn, state director of the Texas Methodist Movement, at a luncheon Wednesday.

Dr. Flinn, 74, will retire May 1. He will be succeeded by the Rev. Sterling F. Wheeler, San Antonio.

Texan Held In $10,000 Bail On Kidnap Charges

ANTLERS, OKLA. —(AP)— John Burke French, Jr., 42, Denison, Texas, was in jail at Hugo Thursday after arraignment here on federal kidnaping charges.

French was identified by a Durant physician, Dr. Leroy Engles, as the gunman who last November kidnaped the doctor, forced him to give him an injection of narcotics and robbed him.

FBI agent Leo Uselding, Durant, filed kidnaping charges and French was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner E. E. Dudley.

Dudley set French's bond at $10,000 and he was taken to Hugo to await transfer to Muskogee for federal grand jury action.

Bryan County Sheriff Bill Barker said French was arrested Wednesday after a wild, 100-mile-an-hour chase by highway police. He was caught only after his car ran into a ditch near Caddo after two police bullets struck it.

Patrolman Luzon Smith said the chase started when French's auto passed him north of Durant and spurted ahead on U. S. Highway 69. Smith radioed for help when he couldn't catch the speeding car.

Trooper Floyd Brown and Garland Peek joined the chase, fired three times and forced French into a ditch when he attempted a sharp turn. He was caught 30 minutes later after fleeing into Caddo on foot.

Dr. Engles was kidnaped when he answered a night call to meet a man at a house in Durant, where—when he arrived—he was forced back into his auto and ordered to dirve north of Durant.

There the physician was forced to give the abductor a "shot" of narcotics. Then the armed man forced Dr. Engles to drive to Denison, where Dr. Engles was robbed before the man left afoot.

Midlanders Will Attend Glasscock County Stock Show

Plans for the parficipation of Midland individuals and business firms in the annual Glasscock County Livestock Show at Garden City Friday were developed at a meeting of the Trade Territory Relations Committee of the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday afternoon.

The event at Garden City will open with the judging of calves and lambs at 10 a.m., with a free barbecue to be served at noon. An auction sale is scheduled Friday afternoon in the school gymnasium.

Members of the Midland committee voted to contact Midland business firms to interest them in sending representatives to the Garden City show and in purchasing livestock at the auction sale.

Midland hatbands will be furnished those from here attending the area function.

Strong support long has been given the Glasscock County Livestock Show by Midland residents.

Big Boom Grows In Little Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, NEWFOUNDLAND —(NEA)—Out of Russian and German prison camps has come a young man who promises to become an important figure in the North American economy. He is Dr. Alfred Arthur Valdmanis, a minister in the former Latvian Republic, who is now director-general of economic development in the Canadian province of Newfoundland.

With the backing of a progressive Newfoundland government, headed by Premier Joseph R. Smallwood, Valdmanis is beginning to develop the island's natural resources. He is attracting labor and capital to utilize the vast timber resources, fisheries, and untold mineral wealth of the island of Newfoundland and the mainland area of Labrador. The boom is underway.

Newfoundland covers about 42,000 square miles of area, about the size of the state of Tennessee. It has thousands of miles of bleak coastline, and icebergs are in view much of the year. There are some Alfred Valdmanis: He found more than in Latvia.

350,000 people on the island, scattered in small fishing villages along the coast, with few roads connecting them, and only one railway line crossing the island.

On the Canadian mainland, Newfoundland has jurisdiction over Labrador, an area of 120,000 square miles, about half the size of Texas. In Labrador there are only some 5,000 people, mostly Indians and Eskimos. But there are vast mineral deposits, waterpower resources and virgin stands of timber.

Becomes Province

Since Newfoundland became a province of Canada in 1949, industrial development has boomed. The biggest single development, already planned before the 1949 union, is the $200,000,000 iron ore development in Labrador and adjoining Quebec province. This development is jointly financed by Canadian mining interests and U. S. steel interests.

Valdmanis recommended more industries. He and the premier toured Europe and the U. S. and successfully interested industrialists and financiers.

Since he joined the government there has been built a $3,500,000 cement plant and there is a $4,000,000 textile mill near St. John's, to be in operation next Spring. A Swiss company has decided to build a $5,000,000 heavy machinery plant and other plans call for a fur processing factory, a leather tannery and a leather goods factory.

A birch mill has been built by the government and will utilize the vast birch forests in Newfoundland and Labrador to make veneers, plywood, doors and flooring. Planned for an early start are a marine oil hardening plant for the fish industry, a shoe factory, two chemical plants using by-products of the fisheries to make fertilizers and other chemicals, and a factory to make hollow cement bricks.

Locate Finds

Canadian mining companies have gone into the island and have located important finds of copper and copper-zinc deposits which lead to possible new mines on both the east and west coasts of the island. And prospectors are busy tracing possible oil, asbestos, vanadium and gold outcroppings. Discussions are underway with a German firm to develop coal fields.

Probably the largest development, even topping the iron ore development already underway in Labrador, is the signing of exclusive rights in timber, mineral and hydro-electric power resources to a company financed by American and Canadian capitalists. This undertaking, involving 24,000 square miles, is just beginning to get into motion.

A Swiss company has been formed to cut 200,000 cords of wood annually in two Labrador timber concessions totalling 1400 square miles. This will mean entire camps set up in uninhabited wilderness, thousands of men brought in and the Newfoundland government will receive $1,000,000 annually in royalty on the cordwood.

Likes His Job

Valdmanis is finding his job to his liking. Now 43, he was minister of economics of Latvia in 1938. After the Russians seized military bases in the country he resigned as a government minister, headed the electric trusts, banking and trade associations, import and export corporations. He was thrown into a prison camp in 1941 by the Russians as a political prisoner, and when the Germans drove the Russians out of Latvia they left Valdmanis in the prison camp.

He was released in 1945, joined the British and American military headquarters as a civil affairs adviser, for a time was with the International Refugee Organization in Switzerland, and then came to Canada on a scholarship. He taught political economy at Carleton College, Ottawa, was an adviser to the Canadian government's trade department, and from Ottawa moved to Newfoundland, as Premier Smallwood's right-hand man.

Since then Valdmanis has used his knowledge of economics and industrial development in northeastern Europe to diversify Newfoundland's economy, where he found similar natural resources, only more of them, than in his native land. He is also helping to bring in Europeans to swell Newfoundland's population and develop its natural resources for the benefit of the entire province.

THE BEST INVESTMENT FOR YOUR ADVERTISING DOLLAR

FIRST WITH THE NEWS — MIDLAND, TEXAS, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 7, 1952 — SECTION TWO

MONSOON HITS RAILROAD

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYA —(AP)—Rail service between here and Singapore was disrupted for 10 days recently when monsoon floods washed away large sections of the single track. All told, the Malayan Railway said, about two miles of track was either washed away or put badly out of alignment.

CATTLE FROM BALI

SINGAPORE—Bali, it seems, has something more to offer the world than beautiful women. Malaya's federal government has announced the importation of 10 head of Balinese cattle—two bulls and eight heifers. It says the animals are suited for either beef or draught purposes.

RED UNDERCOVER STUFF

MOSCOW —(AP)— Russian factories are going to turn out a lot more underwear, socks and stockings in 1952. Three times more stockings and socks are going to be manufactured. Rayon hosiery will be increased 150 per cent and artificial silk underwear 40 per cent.

AMERICAN COMPLAINTS

VANCOUVER, B. C. —(AP)— The Vancouver Tourist Association faithfully noted down suggestions and complaints by American visitors for study at its annual meeting. "City far too smoky" headed the list. Other visitors wanted to know "Where are the Indians."

Rubber Dealers Fear Unemployment

PENANG, MALAYA—(AP)—Rubber dealers here fear that widespread unemployment will result from Indonesia's banning of the export of some grades of rubber to Malaya.

Many factories in Penang, as well as in other cities of the Federation and Singapore, are devoted almost entirely to the reprocessing of crude rubber brought in from Indonesia.

Bible, Plasma And Tape Save Soldier

LONG BEACH, CALIF.— (AP) — Army Sgt. Roger E. Haag, 21, believes he owes his life to a Bible, five pints of blood plasma and a tape recording.

Haag was wounded in the chest while attacking a Communist-held ridge in Korea. A Bible he had in his breast pocket turned much of the shrapnel from his heart and kept his severe wounds from being fatal.

Hospitalized in Japan, the sergeant was kept alive by plasma. But nurses reported the youth seemed morose, wouldn't take medicine and spoke to no one.

As a last resort a tape recording of his parents' voices was flown to his bedside. As he listened through earphones, a smile spread over his face. Worried nurses told him later they knew then the biggest part of their battle was over.

TRUMAN'S MAN?—Despite silence on the part of both parties, speculation continued in Washington and Springfield that Illinois Gov. Adlai Stevenson, above, will receive President Truman's nod as the Democratic presidential nominee. Stevenson confirmed only that he and the President have discussed primary elections, stressing that he is a candidate for reelection as governor.

STANTON'S DELEGATION—Representing Stanton and the Martin County Chamber of Commerce at the Tuesday night banquet of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, left to right, were: S. W. Wheeler, Hila Weathers, John H. Pinkston, Mrs. James McMorries and County Judge Mc Morries. Wheeler is vice president of the Martin County C. of C., Mrs. Weathers is manager, and Pinkston is treasurer.

Group Will Learn How To Heckle

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYA —(AP) —Rent-payers in this federation capital, determined that they shall be heard on municipal matters, are going to be taught how to heckle.

Paul A. Krisman, chairman of the Selangor Rentpayers Association, said his group would support but one candidate in forthcoming city elections. "But," he said, "we are going to heckle plenty. I shall instruct members how to heckle myself."

ANIMAL-LIKE TENNIS BALL

MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA—(AP) —A motorist nearly ran over a young platypus 40 miles from Melbourne. He though it was a tennis ball on the road. At the last minute he stopped and picked up the strange little creature. It is now in Melbourne Zoo.

Through all the sand flying through the city as if it owned the place, we barely can see it is just about time for those famous Midland sand storms. But regardless of the sand we are at your service to tell you of the latest happenings.

Starting off this week's column will be the basketball game of last Friday in the Midland gym. The boys on the victorious "A" squad were Roy Kimsey, who was the high point man with 12 points for the Bulldogs, Bobby Culpepper, Corky Moss, John Van Buskirk, Bob Johnson, Bill Mims, Harold Paden, Jesse Hatfield and Robert Keisling. The "B" team lost its game, 40 to 27. Those playing for Midland were John Crowley, who was the high point man for the Bulldogs with seven points, Bill Crenshaw, Jerry Ypcham, Jim Hammett, Milton Jones, Jim Bauman, Tom Dyer, "Rusty" Rutledge and Joe McKnight.

Pep Band Plays

During the time outs Friday night the MHS Pep Band struck up tunes. Those in the band are Nathan Tinkle, Bob St. Clair, Harry Hinkle, Lydia Sellers, Claudine Hamner, Ellis Long, Betty Needham, Larry Watts, Basil Weaver, Sue Michener, Ann Bess Doyle, Jimmy McClatchy, Janice Michener, Edwin Patterson, Ronald Pope, Jimmy Smith, Horace Greenstreet, Bill Aldrich, Alan Harris, Ann Arick, Jack Cichener, Bill Fannin, Larry Lindsley and Jerry Shipman. Mr. Mills directed the band.

Have all of you noticed a fancy new, yellow, hard top automobile parked around the Center lately? Well it is Clinton Noble's. He got it about three weeks ago from his parents.

We were wrong about the picture show last week and we are very sorry about that, but we have one this week for sure The name of it is "Murder in the Blue Room."

The Valentine formal is scheduled Saturday, starting at 8:30 p.m. Look for a very attractive centerpiece for the floor—not the table. When you get there you will know just what we are talking about. Dean Baker and his orchestra will furnish the dance music.

While speaking of dances, last Friday night the dance at the center was just about the best yet. At first every one did the Hokey-Pokey and then "Myrt" taught us the Shag, which also is a very popular dance around the Y.C.

The volleyball teams are just about ready to go, so if you aren't on a team and you like to play ball, you still have a few days left to sign up for a team. There will be a Boys' League and a Girls' League.

The football boys are sporting their new jackets. They are very pretty, especially since they have the district champion emblem on the left sleeve.

The volleyball team at school also has started up. The squad played in a tournament last week and won consolation. We hear the team is good.

It seems this is the year for sports at MHS.

Successful Concert

The Midland High School Band Concert was held Tuesday night and Phillip McFadden and Jackie Mathews were the soloists. Many out of city visitors attended the concert. Some of the cities represented were Odessa, Andrews, Big Spring, Kermit and Lamesa.

The Snack Bar has added something different for a change. It is selling hamburgers and bar-b-que sandwiches at lunch and in the afternoon.

The MHS A Cappella Choir is preparing for its annual operetta, "Ermine."

Now the ping-pong tournaments are waiting on the trophies. We understand they are on the way.

The pool tournaments depend on the cover for the pool table, and it too, is on its way. Both the tournaments will get under way real soon, so be sure to sign up.

Ronnie McFadden is home on leave from the Navy. He is stationed at San Francisco.

While speaking of the McFaddens, Phillip, the younger brother, has left with Mr. Mills to attend the All-State Band Clinic. As we told you about three months ago, Phil was selected as the drummer from this region.

Sincere sympathy goes to Dianne Anderson and her family on the death of her father early Tuesday.

That is all for this week, but we will be back. Good-bye.

New Drinking Water Plant Is Planned

LOS ANGELES, CALIF. —(AP) — An inventor of a practical process of converting sea water into drinking water and the Refinite Company have almost completed negotiations for building a "pilot model" plant.

Company officials said inventor Peter Jones, of Los Angeles, will build the portable plant at Refinite Company's home office, in Omaha, Neb. Jones explained he has successfully produced a "barometric" or natural vacuum which makes the boiling and purifying of salt water more economical.

School days are never over for us!

Long ago we learned that folks like to shop in stores that serve them well. So we're always studying ways to keep our service the very best. This means constant training for all of us.

New members of the Safeway family receive basic training before they start to work in our stores. Then the real course begins. It takes continual study and practice to maintain the up-to-date knowledge and skills needed to give you fine service. Regular training for all Safeway men and women meets this need.

But there's more to Safeway service than the fact that our people are well-trained. Most important is our sincere desire to make each shopping trip pleasant for you. You'll see this in the friendliness and courtesy of the men and women who serve you in our stores.

Enjoy the finest in food service. Shop Safeway.

These Suits Can Lead Double Life

Budget-priced and beautiful, these maternity suits for fall can extend a wardrobe. Black Watch plaid jacket for daytime (left) with velveteen trim is worn with velveteen skirt that can also team up with silver lame jacket (right) for dressy occasions. Suit in charcoal ottoman (center) can be worn both day and evening by a mere change of dickeys. Dickey that comes with suit is pale pink ottoman studded with pearls and rhinestones. Suit has a narrow self-belt that makes it completely wearable after the baby's arrival.

NEW YORK — Looking pretty while she's waiting for the stork is not just a womanly whim. It's a pleasant duty. Going about in shapeless dresses, her hair hooked behnid either ear with a bobby pin, is one way for a woman to get through the waiting time. But it isn't the way most attractive to her family and friends.

Surprisingly, fashions that make up a maternity wardrobe with a real flair are budget-priced. And as Stork Styles design suits, they are planned to be interchangeable.

A black velveteen skirt, for instance, may be worn either with a silver lime jacket or a jacket in Black Watch plaid. Thus, two jackets plus one skirt make a wardrobe for both daytime and evening during the waiting days.

The jacket in silve lame has a cardigan neckline with standup collar and big patch pockets that have sparkling button trim. Its daytime counterpart, in the plaid, has black velveteen notched collar and cuffs, self-buttons and slanting, slit pockets.

Rounding out this trio, there's a dressy suit in charcoal ottoman that could see both daytime and evening wear by a mere switch of dickeys. The concealing middy top can be worn loose or belted. The dickey that comes with the suit is a soft pink ottoman studded with pearls and rhinestones. The three-quarter length sleeves may be worn pushed up; have smoothfitting cuffs that close with jeweled buttons.

Baptist Minister Makes Own Violin

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A pastor, unable to afford a violin that matched his young daughter's talent, made his own and thereby a hobby was born.

The Rev. Clarence R. Ferguson, a Baptist minister here, started to read up on violins about the time he gave his 7-year-old daughter, Mary Alice, a half-sized violin. She made her first public appearance four months later. In four years she won a five-state contest.

The pastor made his first violin in 1940 from scraps from a lumber yard. It was on this violin his daughter, at 15, played a Bach concerto with a symphony orchestra.

Mr. Ferguson's violins are now made of imported wood in the Stradivarius pattern. It takes him two weeks of steady work to make a violin, exclusive of the finish. He is now working on his eighth instrument.

COLD YEAR

SASKATOON, SASK.—(AP)— Now that it's over, weather records compiled at the University of Saskatchewan show 1951 was the coldest year here since 1900. The average temperature for the year was 39 degrees.

SWEET SWIMMERS—Florence Schmitt is shown on the board about to dive into her new job as coach of the undefeated swimming team of the Penn Hall Girls Preparatory School in Chambersburg, Pa. Next time you make a white sauce for a creamed chicken dish use one cup of chicken stock and one cup of milk instead of the two cups of milk usually required for a medium sauce. In preparing the chicken stock be sure to flavor it with a bay leaf, pepper-corns, a whole clove, sliced onion, celery tops, and a small sliced carrot, as well as with salt.

Self-Made Man Can Make Failures Of Children

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mr. Brown is a self-made man. He will tell you he came up "the hard way" and that his children are failures because they came up the soft way.

"Came too easy," says Mr. Brown to account for the son who flunked at college. "Had too much too young," he says about the daughter with the third divorce.

Mr. Brown is talking about fur coats, private schools, and roadsters. While it is quite true that Dolly and Jim had too many of these, too young, it is not true that they came "too easy." They cost Dolly and Jim the biggest price in the world—their self-esteem.

They paid out a piece of it every time they were told how lucky they were to receive a new possession, a new privilege.

Every time they accepted the new car, the new coat from the father who said, "I tell you, nobody ever gave me breaks like you get! No, sir, I had to hustle for myself. Why, when I was your age, I was earning my own keep and saving money, instead of spending it! You don't know how soft you've got it, you two."

They were too young to know what was being done to them. They just went on taking, guiltily, resentfully. With each new favor, their self-contempt increased so that they took satisfaction in abusing the advantages that were begrudged to them.

Their fatal attraction for failure derived from the fear that they did not deserve success. Their conviction that they were unworthy people drove them to do unworthy things.

What compelled Mr. Brown to afflict his children in this way? Jealousy of them. Mr. Brown, who seems so proud of coming up the "hard way," is actually pretty angry at the circumstances which forced him to do so. His jealousy of his children is his undigested anger at his own defrauded youth.

Now this is an understandable human emotion. If we have come to believe that our own parents gave us bad breaks, there is no compulsion on us to pretend that we believe they gave us fine ones.

The thing to do is acknowledge our resentment, use it to gain a better understanding of ourselves, a deeper respect for our own honesty and courage—and so dispose of it.

To hold on to our angers over our own parents' treatment of us is injurious to our children. Like Mr. Brown, we may react to these unadmitted angers by overindulging Jim and Dolly as we wish we had been indulged—and then, like Mr. Brown, begrudge what we give because we did not enjoy such advantages.

This is awfully unwholesome for Dolly and Jim, since they cannot feel gratitude toward such a confused person. Without giving gratitude in return for what they receive from their parent, they become frustrated, self-contemptuous children.

It's sad that Mr. Brown has been so busy boasting how he's come up the hard way that he has never taken time to ask himself, "Why do I feel this need to make my children feel inferior to me?"

He might have seen how his anger at the past had bred secret envy of his girl and boy. He might have told them about the past and the anger in a way that would have brought his son and daughter close in compassion and new understanding.

Instead of his defrauded youth being his life's liability, it might have become its greatest asset in the freedom of self-knowledge and his children's new devotion and respect. But unhappily, Mr. Brown has never asked himself this question. He finds it easier to blame the roadsters and the fur coats for his troubles.

Common Mistakes We Make In Dealing With Others

It doesn't matter how much you know, if you don't know how to get along with others without making these mistakes:

Telling your friends unpleasant facts "for their own good."

Never being impressed by anyone else's story. The way you show you aren't, is by such remarks as: "If you think that's something, wait until you hear what happened to me!" Or, "I still think my story about such-and-such is the best I ever heard."

Always having to have the last word in an argument.

Always seeing the flaws in what the other person has, and delighting in pointing them out.

Building yourself up by tearing other people down.

Always giving advice—but never asking for it.

Always wanting to do the talking instead of being willing to listen quietly and attentively to the other person.

Putting the other person in his place and enjoying his discomfiture.

Do You Make These Mistakes?

Expecting the worst instead of the best from other people.

Never being willing to admit a mistake.

Always being too busy for the small kindnesses that smooth the way of others.

Having feelings that are easily hurt.

Never wanting to assume responsibility.

Never wanting to accept another's help.

Never wanting to share credit.

Always being eager to blame someone else for your own failure.

Tiny Hat Designs Top Soft Natural Curls

These first hats of Spring are welcome as the first flowers. They are the designs of Erik Braagaard and his co-designer, Adolfo Sardinas. Pink confection (upper left) is made up of small chrysanthemums that top the head like a single flower. Little calot (lower left) is white woven organdy blossoming with white dandelions made of clipped feathers. Suit hat (above) is red, white and blue woven straw. Wide, shallow, natural leghorn hat (upper right), is swathed in black chiffon. Braided black-and-beige straw (lower right) is profile hat.

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK—The first hats of Spring are decidedly small. And among these tiny hats, the sailor is foremost. There are wide sailers, of course, but the trend is to narrow brims in order to achieve proper balance for the incresingly popular poodle cut.

Ready-to-wear fashions, as well as hair styles, have strong influence on Spring's bonnets. One of the most significant is the Gibson Girl sleeve, which naturally calls for the sailor. For the Gibson Girl silhouette, the wide-brimmed sailor in a 1952 version looks right. There are two schools of thought on the wearing of this sailor: one for a slight tilt and one for the level look.

The forward and upward tilt, as seen in the rocker, is stressed in these small hats. Sometimes, just the front brim tilts up but, again, both front and back brims get this treatment. The rocker silhouette also appears in little pillboxes and toques.

Tiny bretons have narrow brims peaked at either side of the center in many versions. Often this peaked effect is achieved through trim but it's also accomplished in some hats by the handling of the brim itself.

The poodle cut, because of its prominence for Spring, gets many flat little discs meant for wear just with it. It also gets shallow toques and tiny boaters.

Colors, naturally, tie in with the most important of the Spring colors in ready-to-wear. This means combinations of beige-and-white, bland browns, all-black hats in shiny straws, delicate pinks, and combinations of navy-and-white, pink-and-white.

Straw, in some version, is always foremost for Spring. This year, however, straw is stressed for interest in itself. It' shiny, with a starched look, or it's soft, almost like fabric. It frequently appears in combination with multicolor to create an interesting surface.

To soften light, or to blur a view that is just average, hang sheer or opaque glas curtains over the window.

Italian Exports Show 10 Per Cent Decline

ROME —(AP)— Italy's exports of fruits and vegetables in 1951 dropped about 10 per cent below the totals of the previous year, according to preliminary reports.

Up to Nov. 30, 109,260 carloads of fruits and vegetables were exported. In 1950 the total was 125,273 carloads.

Import restriction in West Germany and Britain due to foreign exchange difficulties was one of the factors in the decrease, the financial newspaper, "24 Ore," reported. Another was the increased competition for these same two markets from Spain, France, French North Africa and Holland. A third factor was Italy's poor peach and apricot crops.

Daddy Ringtail

By Wesley Davis

Daddy Ringtail And Playing Policeman

The rain and the ice and snow had fallen, but now the ice and snow were melting. Everywhere was "drip, drip, drip."

Water dropped from the roof of Daddy Ringtail's monkey house. Water dripped from every rock and tree and bush in the Great Forest. Water dripped and trickled, gurgled and splashed, crashed and roared in the Whispering River.

The Whispering River was not whispering any more. It roared indeed, and hissed and splashed. It was much too full of a mighty flood of water, rushing and roaring on down to the sea.

None of the animals or animal-people of the Great Forest were in any danger. They wouldn't be going out on the river in a boat. They wisely had built their homes away from the waters of a flooding river. But there was one danger. The danger was a narrow little bridge where animal-people sometimes walked to cross the river.

The bridge was in great danger of being washed away by the mighty waters that beat upon it. A beaver-people risked his life to examine the bridge just beneath the water and find out. And now Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, was standing guard at the end of the bridge to warn anyone who might try to cross. Yes, and the animal-people had found a policeman's cap for him to wear upon his head, except the cap was much too big. It covered up his ears and eyes.

And so Daddy Ringtail could not see the someone walking now up toward the bridge to cross it. But Daddy Ringtail could hear the someone's footsteps, whoever the someone was. Then, when the someone was closer, Daddy Ringtail could see the someone's legs and feet about to step on the bridge.

"Halt! Stop! Who!" said Daddy Ringtail. "The bridge is not safe to cross, it isn't."

The someone stopped to hear the words. "Thank you," said the someone. He turned around and walked away and never argued at all that the bridge might really be safe to cross after all.

The someone was a good citizen. He had heard the voice from under the policeman's cap say that the bridge was not safe to cross, and so he hadn't tried to cross. Every good citizen listens well to a voice from under a policeman's cap, and a very good thing it is. A few minutes later the bridge crashed and crumbled and fell and was gone down the river. Happy day!

RFE Chills Red Temperature In Hungary

Freedom propaganda with insight is easy for RFE, since programs are produced by Iron Curtain refugees who know what they're talking about. Here Desso Albrecht, editor; Gyula Dessewffy, head of Hungarian desk, and Sandor Maral, Hungary's greatest living author, confer on a program to be aimed back home.

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Communist-controlled Budapest radio used to broadcast the daily temperature to Hugarians. It doesn't any more.

A sexy-looking Czech temptress called Comrade Absolonova used to turn on the charm to get young men in Bratislava to become informers for the Czech secret police. She doesn't any more.

Ana Pauker, the Romanian Communist leader, used to hop up to Paris and buy expensive Jacques Fath hats. She probably won't do it any more.

And the two spying Codr brothers of Dacice, Czechoslavakia, have been beaten so much lately they must feel like gongs.

These apparently unrelated happenings behind the Iron Curtain in Eastern Europe actually have one thing in common. They were brought about by an organization called Radio Free Europe.

• • •

RFE's main job is to tell the people of Eastern Europe those things which their Russian overlords would like most to keep from them. The incidents just related are typical of how RFE operates.

The Budapest radio gave the temperature so listeners could know whether it was cold enough to turn on the heat in their homes. Because of the coal shortage in Hungary, the people are not allowed to have heat in their homes at any time if the temperature is 50 or more. And if it's below 50 they can have heat only between 11 a.m. and 9 p.m.

But the Budapest radio fudged a little. It would say the temperature was in the 50's when actually it was in the 40's.

So, since weather data is one thing that slips freely through the Iron Curtain, RFE told the Hungarian people every day what their temperature really was. The Budapest radio knew when it was licked, and pretty soon stopped broadcasting the temperature altegether.

Dangerous Agent

After RFE told the people of Bratislava, Czechoslavakia, that Comrade Absolonova was a "dangerous agent," the Comrade was seen around Bratislava no more.

It probably didn't help Ana Pauker's stock any when RFE told the poverty-haunted Romanians that the Communist leader had recently gone on a Paris hat-buying spree—Jacques Fath hats at that.

RFE blew the whistle on the Codr brothers of Dacice, Czechoslavakia. It said the brothers were informers and spies and had caused many non-Communists to be arrested. Following the warning, the brothers were beaten up several times.

How does RFE get its information? In the first place, almost everyone on its production and writing staff is a refugee from one of the Eastern European countries behind the curtain. Broadcasts beamed to Hungary, for instance, are written and produced by Hungarians who have recently slipped out of their country. They know what they're talking about.

In Steady Flow

Further information is gotten from other refugees interviewed by the RFE staff. Letters, either with no signature or with one that conceals the writer's identity, arrive at RFE headquarters in a steady flow from behind the curtain.

They contain much useful information. RFE also subscribes to the Free European Press Service, which has its own ways of getting news through the curtain.

RFE began operating July 4, 1950, from a small station near Frankfort, Germany. It now has five transmitters in Europe, each beamed at a particular Eastern European country. The most powerful is the 135,000-watt, medium-wave station at Munich. RFE says it's the strongest medium-wave station in the world. Russia has one about as strong.

RFE is supported by contributions from millions of Americans to its sister organization, the Crusade for Freedom. The Crusade is headed by Gen. Lucius D. Clay, former U. S. military governor of Germany. Both RFE and Crusade are under the National Committee for a Free Europe, the president of which is C. D. Jackson, publisher and World War II government propagandist.

As a private organization, unhampered by the restrictions of government policy, RFE provides Americans with a direct means of battling Communism abroad. As one RFE official says: "The busier we can keep the Bolsheviks in their own backyards, the less chance of their starting trouble anywhere else.

RFE officials believe it doesn't overlap or compete with the State Department's Voice of America. One non-RFE expert in the radio field put the relationship between the two this way: "The Voice presents America in the best possible light, while Radio Free Europe's job is to reveal the Communist regimes in the worst possible light."

How well is RFE succeeding in its job? The Commies have hinted that if the U. S. State Department would put RFE out of business, they would release Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis, whom they jailed in Czechoslavakia on espionage charges.

The Commies have threatened all RFE's German personnel with death by hanging when Russia "liberates" Western Europe. The Czech Communist government even issued an official note of protest to our Government demanding that RFE be taken off the air.

And the Commie radio and press are spending a steadily increasing amount of time these days trying to counteract RFE's damaging work. Which makes RFE very happy. "We know we've got them worried," one RFE official says. "And we're going to keep them worried."

Music as well as news is broadcast from RFE's station in Munich to given Hungarians native songs the Communists have banned. This is a trio of exiles; woman at right remains anonymous to protect relatives still behind the Iron Curtain.

Leg Ambassadors Sought In Germany

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—(AP)—A high intelligence rating, shapely legs and good looks are the essential requirements for a new kind of German diplomat who soon will tour foreign countries.

The selection program is underway in 20 big cities to choose "Germany's most charming stock wearers" who are to represent a leading Wuerttemberg hosiery company as roving "leg-ambassadors."

It's the same firm which discovered last year, after surveying 50,000 hausfraus and frauleins, that German women average bigger feet, thicker calves and fatter thighs than before the war.

Keep the water in the bottom part of a double boiler almost, but not quite boiling, when you are making custards. Too high heat is likely to make your custard lumpy.

New Electric Bills To Have 'New Look'

Your next electric service bill will have a new look, R. L. Miller, Texas Electric Service Company manager, has announced.

"The new bill form is a postcard, as in the past," Miller said, "but it is easier to read and is more attractive and neater. The card is printed in blue and red, and is prepared on the newest type billing machine to assure the geratest possible accuracy.

"The number of customers we serve has increased greatly in recent years and our new billing system will enable us to handle the greater volume of accounts more efficiently and economically. This change in the form of the electric service bill is only one of the many improvements we continually are making to keep electric service dependable and economical, and to keep pace with the growth of our community."

National Tensions Affect Children

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A group of educators has found that children are more seriously affected by international and national tensions than most people realize.

In a 260-page year book, the Association of Supervision and Curriculum Development says:

"What are signs of the anxiety of our age?

"International tensions; the armaments race; fear of unimaginable destruction; the disturbing rise of inflation; understaffed and overcrowded schools; organized attacks upon public education; pressures and adjustments within our own society.

"These and other stresses play upon boys and girls, upon youth and adults."

The association, which is a department of the National Education Association, adds:

"Each generation has its fond memories of the way it was reared, forgetting much, cherishing what is remembered. Most people want the same kind of experiences for their children that they had when they were young, plus much more."

Monks were the timekeepers of the Middle Ages.

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures

A puzzler to many parents is what to do about daughter's partying. It intrigues teen-agers, also, judging from the mail which boils down to . . . why can't I stay out later . . . why do Mom and Pop hang around the house when the gang comes to dance . . . why am I the only one in our crowd who must bring a boy home to meet the family before we go out on a date?

Sometimes young people will not agree to Mom's terms unless Susie's mother or Jane's mother comes through with the same rules. The idea that misery loves company is not the answer to this feeling—a girl does not like the idea of being the only one to leave the party early, or the only one in the crowd who must conform to a particular rule.

This might have been one of the reasons why five Hartford, Conn., parent councils drew up a party code which would apply to their offspring—a wonderful idea to solve the "why does it have to be me" query from their darling daughters. Here is the code which might prove helpful to other parents with similar problems. Teen-agers will appreciate it, too, when the rules apply to all their friends:

1. Insist that your boy or girl go to no party to which he or she is not invited and insist that no one be allowed to your party who is not invited.

(Often a smoothie will suggest crashing a party and the other kids go along because they don't like to be "different.")

2. Have no parties at your house unless you are there. The parent council feels strongly that every party of teen-agers should be adequately chaperoned.

(Smart chaperones will not haunt you; they will keep the party going in a fun vein but will prove good stoppers if things get out of hand.)

3. Impress upon your son or daughter that when he or she is driving someone in a car, he or she is responsible for the person's safety.

(This speaks for itself, if you'll glance over statistics on teen-age automobile accidents. One girl who was injured in a crash which killed four other teen-agers testified that the boy driver had been drinking and crashed on purpose to teach the other drivers a lesson.)

4. Think of this: Do you, as a parent, have the right to serve intoxicating drinks to someone else's children? If you do serve them or have alcoholic beverages available, then you as an aduit are responsible.

(Lots of young people who are forbidden to have wine or other alcoholic drinks in their own homes will be offered them in the home of a more broad-minded mother. They are likely to become dissatisfied with their own family regulations.)

5. The parent council disapproves of parties running into the small hours of the morning. Please insist that your boy or girl telephone you if he or she is to be out later than agreed.

(If you get in the habit of leaving a party in the wee hours, you'll get into the habit, also, of arriving later and later. It's only a question of time when you'll be going to a party when you should be getting home.)

6. We feel that our boys should ask the parents of their girls what time the girls are expected home and comply with the parents' wishes. They should also advise the parents where they are going.

(A boy will have more respect for you if you make a point of stressing that you must be home at the time set by your parents. And, as has been said before, if he complains about having to get you home early don't see him again.)

American Heart Association Improves Outlook For Cardiacs

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

The very name "heart disease" strikes terror in the minds of those who hear it. This is unfortunate for several reasons, among them being the fact that fright and worry is of no use whatever.

Heart disease is merely a general label which covers a lot of different kinds of disorders of the heart, some of which can be effectively treated, and many of which can be rendered far less menacing by appropriate management.

It is appropriate at this time, while the American Heart Association is conducting its annual Heart Fund campaign for $8,000,000, to speak of some of the progress which already has been made.

It's also appropriate to mention the hopeful outlook for still further advances which the research made possible by your dollars offers for the future.

Among the important causes of heart disease is rheumatic fever. If rheumatic fever can be eliminated, or better measures of prevention and treatment discovered, one of the major causes of heart disease will be conquered.

Already, information has been obtained by our research workers which appears to indicate that we are on the verge of great developments along this line.

Another form of heart disease which formerly was common was that due to the disease, syphilis. Here progress has been slow, but remarkable and preventive measures eventually may eliminate this form of heart disease altogether.

Even in the forms of heart disease associated with aging such as coronary thrombosis, angina pectoris, or high blood pressure, methods of management have shown great improvement, and it is virtually certain that more will be forthcoming.

Cardiacs Find Employment

Another phase of the heart disease problem which deserves emphasis is the changed attitude which has taken place in recent years towards the employment of those who are physically handicapped by some form of heart trouble.

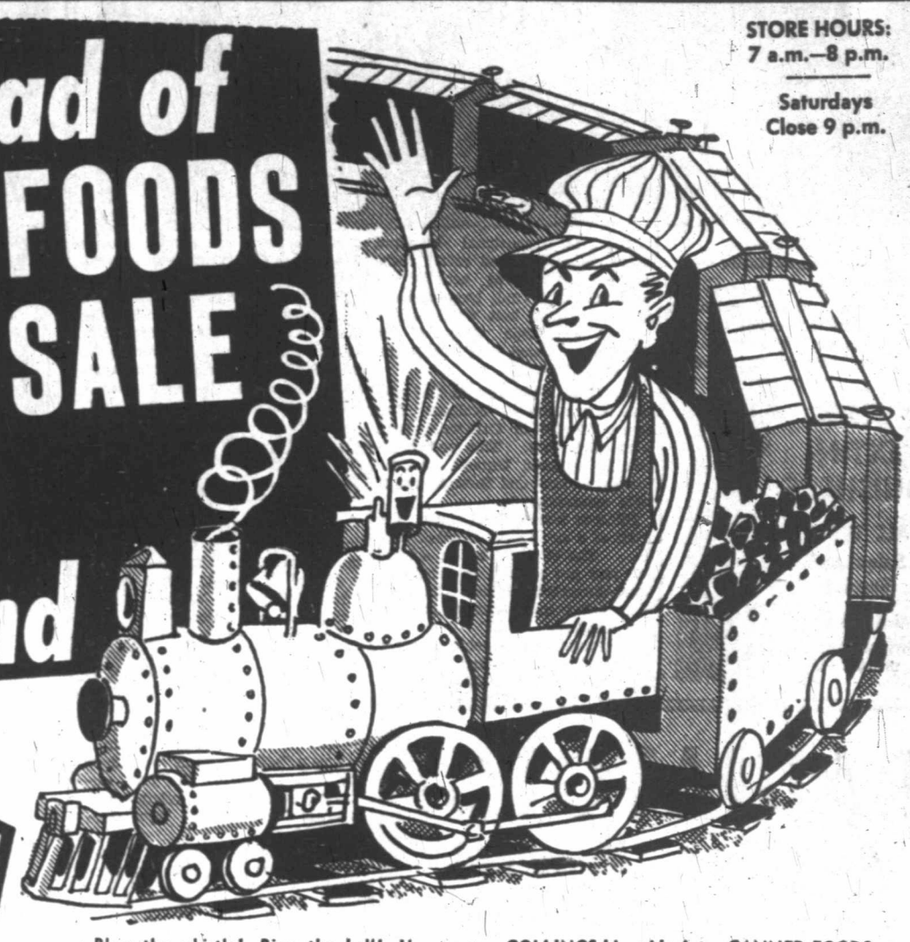

Enormous numbers of people who formerly would have been placed on the shelf now are usefully and satisfactorily employed in industry and in other worthwhile activities.

Providing the work is adjusted to the physical condition, this is an advance of the first importance.

Much of the improvement in the outlook for the patient with heart disease is due to the scientific work and leadership of the American Heart Association and its members.

Summer Fashions Feature Two-Piece Collections

By GAILE DUGAS
NEA Woman's Editor

NEW YORK — The separate skirt has a strong hold on fashion. In current resort collections, surface decoration is stressed and the variety in these decorations is great.

The three-dimensional applique, braid embroidery and raised ruchings all are used as accents for circle skirts. And, because these full skirts look best when they're teamed with tops designed for them, coordinated tops and stoles are also offered.

Separates, as shown in the current collections of designer Juli Lynne Sharlot of California, have a one-piece look. This smooth effect is achieved through careful fittings of tops and through use of wide cummerbunds.

Hibiscus bloom (left) down the front of a circle skirt in black poplin. The blossoms are in colored felt and are layered to achieve a three-dimensional effect. The felt is repeated in a narrow strip at the hemline.

A cummerbund cinches in the waist. The halter top is neatly fitted and deeply slashed. There's a stole to cover bare shoulders when need arises and it, too, blooms with colored hibiscus.

Pink poplin (right) is cut into a circle skirt that has two big bouquets of three - dimensional felt violets appliqued at hip and hemline. Both skirt and matching stole are bordered in the felt. Camisole top has a stand-out petal cuff.

Freedom Train Barriers Erected

HOF, GERMANY —(AP)— Czech border guards have tightened precautions to forestall any attempt at a second "freedom train" escape through the Iron Curtain, West German border police report.

The Czechs have fastened steel bars to the rails from Asch, Czechoslovakia, to the Bavarian border to derail any unauthorized train on this stretch, the Germans reported.

German police said that only trusted Czech railway personnel possess a "safety wrench" to remove the bars permitting the few authorized passenger and freight trains to cross the border to West Germany.

The Czechs also are reported busy digging ditches and erecting electrically charged fences which will discharge automatic flashes at a touch. Czech border guards then machine gun the area systematically.

Never use a dust cloth but once without washing it. Soiled rags tucked away in corners and cupboards are fire hazards.

Homework Brings Out Training Of Character

AP Newsfeatures

Whether or not you believe in homework for junior, if such work is a school requirement the child should be helped to adjust himself to meet it successfully.

The child who is doing poorly in school, says the National Kindergarten Association, does so because of failure to study properly. All too often, he can be observed to pick up his arithmetic, sail right in and do well for a while. Then he comes to a problem that is evidently not so easy. He makes one or two attempts to solve it, and finally tosses the book aside in favor of his speller.

This, too, he is quite happy about for a time. He shuts his eyes in concentration and recites his words. Several appear to be stumbling blocks. Again and again he glances at his list and finds he is making slight mistakes in them. Instead of mastering the words he puts away his spelling book. Maybe he deludes himself with the belief he'll come back to it later.

He goes on to "study" geography. Here he becomes completely muddled over the rivers in Africa and may not even take the trouble to try tracing them on the map. He may excuse himself by saying they're too hard to bother with, so long as he knows something about the River Nile.

By the time his bedtime rolls around he has finished nothing.

Junior's like a soldier who quits under fire, comments the Association. Directly something difficult comes along he gives up—a very serious fault. Parents must be on the lookout to check study habits of this kind, the experts say, or junior will not amount to very much.

Parent's Responsibility

It is up to the parent to gently must firmly insist that junior finish one subject before starting another. It doesn't pay to scold. Rather try to make a game out of homework. One mother, who knew her son was interested in stories about giants made use of this and caused her son to think of a puzzling problem as a giant to be overthrown. Every time he accomplished something he was tempted to lay aside he was overjoyed to think he had felled another giant. Today, if he is ever inclined to follow the line of least resistance and just let things go, he thinks of those giants.

In the larger sense, says the Association, this means more than merely striving for high marks. It means character formation.

And the job cannot be made the responsibility of the teachers alone. Without the self-sacrificing cooperation of the parents the schools can do but little. Junior must be set on the right path with his homework and soon definite improvement will been seen.

HOTEL LANDMARK GOES

PINCHER CREEK. —(AP)— A land mark in this Southern Alberta town since 1889, the Arlington Hotel has been torn down. The hotel, built of hand-made bricks made on a district farm, was known for many years simply as "The Brick Hotel."
