LUBBOCK IS AN IMPORTANT POINT ON AUTO HIGHWAYS

GOOD ROADS AND MAP MANAGER MET WITH BUSINESS MEN IN LUBBOCK MONDAY AFTERNOON

URGES OPENING OF ROUTE DIRECTLY EAST

This Connection Would Bring Thousands of People This Way—Junior Chamber of Commerce is Active on Good Roads and Better Highways—Back Them Up.

"Lubbock holds a very vital position in the tourist trade of the State and South West," said Mr. Locke, owner, compiler and manager of the Locke Good Roads Maps that have been accepted as the standard authority on Good Roads throughout the West, South and East below the Mason and Dixon Line.

In issuing his Road Maps in book form a division is made between the Western States of California, Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico and the Western half of Texas and the rest of the south including Florida, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Tennessee and eastern Texas. These are issued in two separate books and a third book, known as the Ocean to Ocean book covers all of these states combined into one big book. As a result of this division Lubbock and Lubbock Highways are shown in all three of his books.

"You have six cardinal outlets from your city that go somewhere and that is a most remarkable exception. Lots of towns and cities have as many as six highways, some of them designated by the State as Highways, leading out of the town, but they do not go anywhere."

"The importance and value of cardinal highways passing through your city can scarcely be estimated and this value is growing each year. The season just closing saw more tourist travel than was ever recorded in the world before. The coming season will surpass the past season by twenty-five per cent at least. There is one little town in New Mexico that recorded more than 17,500 cars passing thru on their way East or West. With an average of five people in the car you can see that that volume of traffic thru your town means—not so much for what they will spend while there—albeit that has been estimated to average more than $5 per car—but from the point of the advertising you will get out of such a volume of people passing thru—particularly if you take the trouble to make a good impression upon these travelers with your Tourist Parks, Good Roads and Friendly Spirit, and interest in their welfare."

"Not in a critical or unkind spirit but as a constructive suggestion to your businessmen, the Chamber of Commerce and to citizens of the County—your roads are far below the par established by other counties in this state of relative importance with your own. As a matter of fact your roads are far below the average set by many counties in the state of nothing like your apparent prosperity and wealth."

"I have personally mapped every road of any importance in the Southwest within the past two years and have been thru Lubbock not less than four times a year for the past twelve years and not one of the six highways that lead out of the city are kept in the condition that they should be kept upon the basis of their importance. That is particularly true of the two Highways toward the South and East. The Highway toward the town and Slaton is particularly bad in view of the heavy traffic that it carries. And that is a Highway that can never be kept in good condition until it is hard surfaced. It is worked, possibly more than any other stretch of the same length in the county and is seldom, if ever in a good condition. The same is more or less true of the Highway toward Tahoka and Big Spring that is carrying a heavy volume of the North and South traffic."

All of the Highways throughout this section need to be more definitely marked and with just a simple marking as possible. The competition that is going to develop between these two Coast Lines—the one thru Tahoka, Big Spring and San Angelo and the other thru Slaton, Post City, Sweetwater and South to San Angelo—should improve both of these roads throughout their entire length and that is greatly needed. Both of these Highways in this County and through their sections for there is a large volume of travel over both of them and they offer a very satisfactory option for any tourists that do not want to retravel the same road two times."

"There is a great demand for an East and West Highway directly between Fort Worth and the Plains and agitation has already been started by bringing such a Highway out the paved Highway to Albany, through Stamford, Spur, Crosbyton, Lubbock and West to Roswell—thereby opening the most direct route West out of Fort Worth to the Plains and after passing Lubbock allowing the tourist to branch either North into Colorado, due West into New Mexico, Arizona and into California or take the South Route via El Paso, Arizona and California."

"Close attention to these matters, that comfort and satisfaction of the tourist will result in great good for your city as many cities are finding as a result of their efforts along these lines."

Lubbock does a lot of things—and then gets credit for a lot of things that she does not do. During the Fair there was a Highway meeting called in this city by the State President of the Canada-Plains-Gulf Highway, who lives in Tulsa. The Secretary of that Highway Association sent all notices, gave out all the publicity and arranged in detail for that meeting from his office in Tulsa. Lubbock was chosen as the meeting place of the Association at a previous meeting held in Amarillo.

The date arrived and more than 200 delegates were here from the State line in North Texas, Amarillo, Plainview, as far south as San Antonio. But the largest proportion of those present were from Tahoka, Lamesa, Big Spring and San Angelo. The meeting was to decide the route of the Canada-Plains-Gulf Highway south of Lubbock—and naturally with such a majority in the convention the Highway went via Tahoka, Lamesa and Big Spring.

Mr. Jennings, representing the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce dropped into a Highway meeting in Snyder Friday, uninvited, just in time to hear a speaker lay all of the blame of that meeting, their action and the routing of the Highway upon Lubbock. Mr. Jennings explained to that meeting our position in this matter which is as follows:

"Lubbock always wants as many Highway connections as possible to be held in this city. They want as many Highways passing through this city as is possible. After they get through the city it is immaterial to the citizens of Lubbock just which route they take other than that they serve a real need of the touring public."

There were less than a dozen Lubbock men in the Convention and they did not have a vote in the matter. They are glad the Canada-Plains-Gulf Highway passed thru Lubbock and are glad that it is going some where after it passes through—but it did not and does not make any difference to Lubbock whether such a Highway goes through Slaton, Post, Snyder and Sweetwater or whether it goes thru Tahoka, Lamesa, Big Spring and San Angelo. It is six of the one and half a dozen of the other as far as this city is concerned.

But the Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce stands ready to mark in fact and most effectively any highway that passes through the county in any direction, regardless of where it comes from or goes to. They will mark the Canada-Plains-Gulf Highway over which ever route the President and Secretary of that Association instructs them to mark it. They will mark any other Highway passing through this county in any direction in a like manner—upon the authorized instruction of its President or Manager.

We are glad that this competition over these routes has developed. It will mean better Highways and better markings each way. The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Highway Department does not direct tourist over any one road in preference to another. They simply keep the facts and figures on hand, together with maps and charts and after giving the tourists the facts let them decide which way they want to go. Either of these roads are good ones. The direct road through Scurry county is possibly the best piece of road in West Texas. The roads through the other counties on both highways are everything from pretty rotten to very good—depending upon the county and it is simply up to the citizenship of the various towns along the way to see that their roads are brought up to standard and in this way attract the traffic through their cities that they are entitled to enjoy.

Here's to Better Highways through the South Plains.

West Texas Exhibits Win $1000 at Waco

Last year South and Central Texas did not compete and West Texas was awarded first prize by default, but both entered this year on a challenge of West Texas.

Sweetwater High School Building Burned Last Friday Night—School Will Continue in Other Quarters

The Sweetwater High School Building was almost totally destroyed by fire Friday night at 7 o'clock.

The fire originated from defective wiring in the opinion of fire chief, Dan Childress who was on the ground immediately after the fire alarm was sounded. The blaze was first discovered in the southeast room which is occupied by the school laboratory and soon worked its way through the attic from the second floor, and was soon almost beyond control. But our fire boys battled bravely and heroically and not only controlled the fire to such an extent that the first floor and basement was saved, together with all books of students and handsome library, but also saved the immense walls of brick, and they appear today in good condition and will be utilized in rebuilding the hand-some structure. The basement and first floor and furnishings were thoroughly soaked with water, but are in good condition as to fire damage. The fire company had the big pumps working for five hours to their full capacity and pumped 2000 gallons of water per minute upon the spectacular blaze. Several of the firemen were cut pretty severely with flying glass from up stairs windows.

The big blaze could be seen for miles and the telephone operator on duty at the long distance board was kept busy answering calls as to what was burning. Practically the entire

REAL ESTATE BOARD TO HAVE BANQUET THURSDAY P. M.

At a meeting of the advisory board of the Lubbock County Real Estate Board Monday afternoon, it was unanimously decided to have a general meeting of the real estate farm loan men and abstractors for the purpose of discussing plans and purposes for the coming year.

A committee was appointed to arrange for a banquet for Thursday night.

The Avalanche learns that the effort of this committee have been very successful and that the banquet will be attended by practically every real estate and farm loan man as well as the abstractors.

It is also learned that a very interesting program has been arranged with good speakers, and everyone is looking forward to a good entertainment and a very profitable business discussion, looking toward greater efforts on the part of these men for the upbuilding of Lubbock and Lubbock county during the coming year.

Charged With the Sale of Whisky Gave $1000 Bond

The case against Geo. Richting and Dick Dewitt, charged with having in their possession, and unlawfully disposing of whisky, which they were caught with last Saturday, was tried in Justice Court and placed under $1000.00 bond each to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The testimony of a few witnesses who testified in the case proved conclusively that the whisky was bought, the purchaser giving his check for one quart. It was also proven that in a search of one of their rooms, a gallon or more was found, also a small quantity of the stuff was found in the car in which they were driving.

One of the party claimed he had it in his room for his own use, but sold was loaned to his partner who carried it off and sold it for eight dollars. This may mean a bad deal for the seller.

Dr. R. B. Hutchins, who was operated on Tuesday of this week at the Lubbock Sanitarium for appendicitis is resting well at this time.

W. B. Hendricks of Ropesville, attended to business in Lubbock Monday.

Prisoner Shot by Amarillo Officer Wednesday Eve.

"I don't guess I'll go," D. P. Thomson, of Hartley, is alleged to have said as R. G. (Denver Bob) Sullinger, special F. W. & D. agent was starting to take him out of a taxicab at 1:00 o'clock last night to put him in the county jail, an ethen he drew a .45 caliber pistol and leveled it at the officer. Sullinger claims. Sullinger was too quick and jerked out his own revolver and shot Thomson three times rather than take the risk of losing his own life, he said.—Amarillo News.

Later D. P. Thomson, who was alleged to have been shot three times at 10 o'clock Monday night by R. G. Sullinger, special agent for the Fort Worth and Denver Railway, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon at St. Anthony's Sanitarium. He was 20 years of age.—Amarillo News.

LUBBOCK BUSINESS COLLEGE NOW IN NEW QUARTERS

The Lubbock Business College this week moved into their new quarters in the building South of the Avalanche on Avenue I. They are occupying the second story of the Panhandle Construction Company building. They are well situated here, and will be better prepared to carry on their work in the future than they have ever been.

The Lubbock Business College was established about a year ago, and has enjoyed a very good patronage during the time they have been in business in Lubbock, and have turned out quite a number of graduates, and have a splendid class at this time.

They teach all the branches of commercial business. This college is making splendid progress and being located in Lubbock the central city of the plains, it will no doubt develop into one of the leading institutions of the kind in the state.

E. C. Priest, formerly of Lubbock, is visiting with friends and relatives in Lubbock this week.

Elks Enjoy a Hallowe'en Ball Monday Evening

The Elks of Lubbock and the South Plains Section celebrated Hallowe'en with one of the most delightful and charming dances of the season Monday night at their new home on Avenue L. More than a hundred guests were present from the city and many of the adjoining towns.

The large hall room was artistically decorated in the accepted colors of Spooks and Spoodlings with black and yellow with red lantern shades on all of the lights. Gooblin Caps, Paper Bonnets, and other novelties were worn by all guests, both men and women alike. Confetti, serpentine streamers, blow-up balloons, quakers and pop balls added to the festive appearance of the scene and lent an atmosphere to the music and party that broken down what little dignity there might have been held in reserve by any of those present.

Some of the older members of the lodge were out for the first time this year and after a half hour with the bunch it was impossible to tell who was the youngest—the young old men or the old young men.

The Elk Lodge holds regular dances for its membership twice each month with the special dance features thru the year of which this was the first special. Plans are already under way for a big masquerade dance for Thanksgiving and it is promised that it will be the biggest feature of the year. More than 250 guests are expected for the Thanksgiving dance. "Home Sweet Home" at twelve o'clock sharp found every member of the Hallowe'en party on the floor—tired, but happy and satisfied.

WILL PREACH AT NEW HOPE, WOODROW AND SLIDE

F. R. Pickens will fill his regular appointment Saturday night at 7:30, and Sunday at 11 a. m. Woodrow Sunday 3 p. m. Slide Sunday night 7:30. Brother Pickens preached at Canyon last Sunday and reported a fine day. He said "we had a fine day at Canyon; had services at 11 a. m. and went to Bro. Sides for dinner. My! My! fresh pork, sausage, and a variety of other good things, Sunday School in the afternoon and had a nice crowd. We didn't take time to count them, but they said the crowd was 100. I thought then, that I wanted to see them all here, so we announced services at 7:30 p. m. and had the best attendance I ever saw. To end our stay in Canyon community we spent the night with Bro. Burgess, which is also another fine place to go. We will be in the New Hope community next Sunday."

CORRECTION MADE IN REPORTING SALE OF RESIDENCE

In last Tuesday's issue of the Avalanche, we made mention of the purchase of the J. Colby Thomas home by Sam S. Denman of the firm of Briggs & Denman. By slight omission we left the impression that Jno. M. Denman, Asst. Cashier of the Lubbock State Bank was a member of the firm, when we should have said Sam S. Denman was a cousin of our fellowtownsman, Jno. M. Denman. We have found that—mistakes will happen in the best regulated families.

MRS. S. E. FIELDS DIED LAST MONDAY AFTERNOON

Mrs. Effie Fields, wife of S. E. Fields, died Monday and was buried at the Lubbock cemetery, Tuesday. Mrs. Fields was 20 years old and leaves a husband and three step-children. She has been an invalid for some time, having come to the plains country from Oklahoma, first of October, to see if the change would do her good, but came too late. The body was prepared for burial by E. C. Simmons Undertaking Co.

JUSTICE COURT WILL CONVENE TOMORROW

Justice Court will convene tomorrow in its regular monthly turn. Several cases on the civil docket will be taken up and disposed of during this setting.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephens and wife, and Gilbert Cline and mother of Purdon, are here this week, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Wood and we understand they are so well pleased with the new home in the future.

Mr. W. L. Barnes is in Arkansas on business.

According to information received here, a very serious wreck occurred on the Santa Fe, near Snyder this morning, early, when a freight train was wrecked, piling in a heap by the side of the track. The cause of the wreck has not been learned yet, but from all accounts it is one of the worst that possible has ever happened on this road, on any of its west Texas lines, and the damage will be heavy, as the cars were loaded with merchandise, etc.

Reports have it that a number of men were on the train, stealing a ride, two of the number were taken from the wreckage with severe injuries, principally broken bones, and they reported that four other men were on the train and as nothing had been seen of them since the wreck it is feared that they are crushed in the wreckage, and it may be several hours before they are discovered as it will require hard work for some time to clear the wreckage, though it is expected that trains will be able to pass. As we go to press this afternoon (Thursday) it is expected that trains will be operating through not later than Friday morning.

A wrecking train and crew went out on the road, in any of its west end and everything possible will be done to clear up the road at the earliest possible date.

BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS DOING FINE WORK

On Tuesday afternoon, the T. E. L. class of the First Baptist church, met in class county and social hour, with Mrs. J. R. Jenkins, of 1012 17th street. After disposing of the old business, plans for the future work was outlined. The work of the class is steadily growing, reaching out in many different channels. Through the generosity of Mrs. Eva Knight, a plot of ground was given to the church, on which a neat little house was erected, to be a "home" for widowed mothers. We wish to thank each one, that so willingly aided us with their generous donations and help, in putting up the house, and wish you to feel you too have a share in the Masters work. After all business was disposed of, delicious refreshments were served to the following: Mrs. Haynes, Hall, Mitchell, Barclay, Barnett, Jenkins, Mills, Barcum, Morris, Rayburn, Rogers, Holland, Wall, Overman, Moore. The class met in October with Mrs. G. L. Mills, 1630 10th street and all were indebted to her and the co-hostess for a delightful afternoon.

Texas Team Leads in the Livestock Judging in Ga.

Prof. R. C. Mowrey, has sent the following wire here from Macon, Ga. "Texas clean up leader North Carolina 302 points, Henry Droad, first, Raymond Schumaker, second, Herbert Bryan, fourth, as individuals win practically all individual prizes including two watches very proud of the boys, expect to be home Monday morning."

Prof. Mowrey is instructor in the Animal Husbandry Department of the Lubbock High School, and was chosen by the A. & M. College as a coach for the Texas team which was sent to compete with sixteen other states in the Livestock Judging contest at Macon, Ga. The team selected to go to Macon in this contest was composed of Henry Droad Penelope; Raymond Schumaker, Sealy; Herbert Bryan Granger.

Prof. Mowrey is considered one of the best Animal Husbandry men in the South, and on this account was selected as coach for this team, having specialized in this work and being strictly on to the job, which is very conclusively proven by the splendid results obtained in this contest. During his absence in this work, Prof. J. Horace Kraft has been carrying on his work in the Lubbock schools, and has proven a very affable gentleman, and has kept things moving along in the school here most admirably.

As stated in the message above, Mr. Mowrey will return to his duties here Monday, and Mr. Kraft will return to College Station, where he is one of the instructors.

Dr. Kraft of the A. & M. College of Texas, M. M. Dupre, Supt. of City Schools and E. R. Haynes, County Supt. of Schools went to New Mexico, Terry Co. last Tuesday night to speak to these people in the interest of, commencing some school districts and to be in the independent school district. A large crowd was present, and all expressed themselves as highly pleased with the speeches made.

Press of the State Recognizes the Importance of County Agents And Urges Many More of Them

The following interesting article was published in the editorial column of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram of August 30th and should be read by all persons concerned in the agricultural interests of Texas:

It has come to our notice that in three or four counties in Texas the County Commissioners Court has discontinued support of the county farm demonstration work. The reason given in each case is that the times call for retrenchment, in most, if not all of these cases, local support has been provided through private agencies and the work will go on, so that there will be no actual loss in the progress of the work. But the action of these county commissioners indicates that there is a useful lack of appreciation of the real situation at present and of the real significance of the farm demonstration work.

The plain truth is that there is no public work going forward at present that is so important as that of the county farm demonstration agents. This is not so obvious for the reason that the results are, for the most part, intangible and difficult to appraise, but that they are considerable and of a permanent character there can be not the slightest doubt. The difficulty is that the work that needs doing most, the directing of a county into the proper agricultural channels, will require years for accomplishment, and this must be achieved in the face of great difficulties even under the most favorable conditions.

The average man does not appreciate what is happening in Texas. The immense reduction in cotton acreage has been due to a temporary condition, to be sure, but it is none the less a part of a real crisis in agriculture in the South, and especially in Texas. We are at the cross-roads. If we attempt in the near future to return to a one-crop system, or to increase the production of cotton to anything like normal, we are doomed to discover that we have gone in the wrong direction. The reduction of cotton acreage this year was forced, and in most instances does not represent the adoption of a real program of diversification. In many instances farmers have been compelled to make the best of things in a fashion that is not in keeping with intelligent diversification. In most instances, and we say that deliberately, there is no comprehensive plan among the people of the county as to what can be produced profitably and what the best program would be. The need in these cases is intelligent study of the possibilities of the county, and a soil and agricultural survey of the county and the working out of a comprehensive program. It is here that the county agent comes in. No more survey conducted in a single session can yield the information and contribute toward a real program what a competent farm demonstration agent can gather and contribute in the course of his work from year to year, and the first step that any county should take toward going ahead agriculturally is to employ a competent farm demonstration agent.

It is because the real demand of the times is to drive ahead in this respect instead of to retrench on the few dollars it would cost, that the action of these county commissioners is discouraging. It is the counties that drive ahead now and revise their agricultural programs now that are going to enjoy continued progress. There will be no miracles to be sure. Farm demonstration agents are not magicians. But for the money expended they will return in the course of a few years bigger dividends than any other agency upon which a county may expend money. It is this that needs to be driven home at this time. Let every man who appreciates this fact talk it in season and out of season in his own community. What we need is more counties making an intelligent effort to direct their agricultural activities and that means that we need more counties with farm demonstration agents, not less of them.

Seminole to Have A Cotton Gin for The 1922 Crop

In an effort toward having a cotton gin erected and in running shape before, or in time to handle next year's cotton crop at Seminole, the Seminole Chamber of Commerce has placed at each of the business houses a blank for the farmers in this vicinity to look over, and if possible sign. They have in view two or three parties who contemplate putting in a gin at Seminole, provided it is an assured fact that sufficient acreage will be planted to make an investment along this line worth while. Although only a few farmers have been approached on this subject, they are responding in a way that shows that Gaines will give more attention to the growing of cotton, and on such a scale as has never before been in the past. The above mentioned blanks are for those who intend to plant cotton the coming year, and also states the amount each farmer expects to plant. It will be no trouble to have a gin here if enough cotton is planted. And all who planted cotton in Gaines county this year have been well paid, and are making preparations for a larger acreage the coming year.

Rev. W. H. Terry, formerly presiding elder of this district, was here Wednesday and Thursday looking after land interests north of town. The Conference this year made him Conference Field Sunday School Secretary, and his headquarters will probably be at Plainview or Lubbock the coming year.

The committee has already awarded the contract for the construction of Units 1 and 2 which involve an expenditure of $500,000.

The Legislature made an appropriation of $1,500,000 for the construction of the hospital, but it is not anticipated that all of this money is to be used at the present time. The committee consists of Dr. M. M. Carrick, State health officer; S. B. Cowell, chairman of the State Board of Control, and Dr. J. B. McKnight, superintendent of the State Tubercular Sanitarium at Carlsbad, Phelps & Dowse of San Antonio are the architects.

BEEF CATTLE ARE A BIG BENEFIT ON FARM

The use of beef cattle in connection with general farming throughout the Corn Belt, says the United States Department of Agriculture, offers the following advantages:

It is possible to make greater use of dry roughages produced on the farm, as beef cattle consume larger quantities of these feeds than any other class of live stock.

Beef cattle can be used profitably on rough land unsuitable for crop production.

Beef cattle use the total production of grain and roughages of the average farm, without the purchase of other feeds, more efficiently than any other class of live stock.

Beef cattle on the farm favor a well-balanced distribution of labor throughout the year. They require very little attention during the summer and fall, when crops need attention, and during winter and early spring, when there is little field work to be done, farmers can utilize their time to advantage by caring for the breeding herd, wintering the stockers and feeders, or fattening some steers.

PARENTS AS EDUCATORS

The Outgoing and Homecoming of The Child.

By Nella Gardner White.

Did you ever watch pigeons circling about the pigeon house, and listen to their cooing before they settled down for the night? The flying in and out of the pigeons suggests "the glad outgoing,—sweet homecoming" of childhood, around the mother's knee. Froebel recognized in this scene a symbol of life, a lesson for us, as mothers, which we cannot study too faithfully. The "outgoing" and the "homecoming" there is a world of meaning in each word. Do you send your child out each day, to school or to play, happily, trustingly, lovingly? Is he glad to go, but gladder still to return? What sort of a homecoming does he have? Aren't we, Mothers, too apt to make that homecoming full of scoldings for tardiness, or nagging over table-departments, or rushing the children off to be so we can have the evening to ourselves? Those things seem of small importance, but would not it be of more lasting value to us and to our children if, instead, we made of that homecoming a happy summary of the day's affairs?

There is no child who is not glad to tell what he has been doing all day. If he has been at school there are often little difficulties, little vexations that the teacher has not had time to satisfactorily explain or to Mother may make it all clear and smooth out. A word or two from right. And if he has been at play there will be so many things to tell. It is while out at play that the child becomes acquainted with the fascinating realm of out-of-doors. Flowers, birds, trees, bees and butterflies—he may become closer acquainted with them all through the retelling of his experiences among them. Wouldn't he be more interested in insect life if he knew the life history of the butterfly or of the ant with its almost human arrangement of home and work? Wouldn't he find more satisfaction in the fields if he knew that there were weeds that ate bugs and some that lived on other plants, the selfish folks? And wouldn't you like to have him form the habit of telling you things that he goes on telling them, even after he passes out of childhood? Wouldn't you like to be the one he always comes back to for understanding and intelligent enlargement of his small ideas?

And isn't it in this deep, abiding faith in Mother and Father, and in the intimate comradeship with the outside world, that the faith in the Infinite is born? Perhaps, in childhood, the connection between the Creator of the Universe and a whitening, goldenhearted daisy may not be overly clear, but if the connection is made at all, if the child sees the manifestation of the Divine in all the forces of nature, it will not be such a far cry of discovering such manifestations in his own soul. Then, as you help him to weave his daily experiences into a happy whole at the day's end, so may his larger experience fashion themselves into a life pattern that he will not be ashamed to show to himself or his Creator at the "twilight hour" of life.

KANSAS CATTLE MEN BUYS CANYON STEERS

Canyon, Oct. 25.—Campbell and McElroy, cattlemen of this city, have sold 800 head of steers and heifer calves to Pat Skinner of Medicine Lodge, Kansas, at $20 a head.

These calves are said to be from one of the best herds in the county as this firm has been breeding up its herd for years and use only registered Hereford bulls. Mr. Skinner has purchased several thousand head of cattle in the Panhandle this fall and states he does not believe there are better cattle anywhere than the native Panhandle cattle.

Frederick, Okla.—"I have used Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines for at least 40 years. I am 59 years old at the present time, and I think Dr. Pierce's Anuric Kidney Tablets saved my life. Prairie Fires May Do Great Damage To Cattle Range

The dry range conditions caused two prairie fires near Hereford this week which destroyed several sections of grass. The first fire occurred Tuesday on the Charles Donald ranch twenty miles northwest. Mr. Donald lost between four and five sections of grass before the blaze was squelched. Wednesday morning another prairie fire started just west of Umlinger. Between two and three sections were lost here. It is believed the latter fire was caused by sparks from the railroad.—Hereford Brand.
Very great damage is sometimes done on the plains by prairie fires, and while there are not so many big ranches, and the range may not be covered with such a heavy coat of grass, as was the case in years gone by, still there is yet great danger of heavy damage by prairie fires, and there should be protection for the farm homes, and the feed yards throughout the country. Much real damage might be done should a stock farmer lose his grass, all his feed and possibly the farm residence by fire which is entirely possible. A little precaution in preparing fire guards might be advisable.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTY AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

WHAT CAUSES DEAD SPOTS IN THE FIELD AND THE REMEDY BY AGRICULTURAL CHEMIST

(G. S. Fraps, Chemist Texas Experiment Station)

On some farms in Texas, spots are found varying in size from a few feet in diameter to several acres, on which plants will hardly grow at all. These spots are found in almost all parts of this State. Some have been reported to us from near the Louisiana line, and others from Western part of the State. These spots have no connection whatever with cotton root rot.

These spots also sometimes show a tendency to grow larger. A representative spot of this kind was recently described as occurring in Hill County. Four years ago this spot covered only a few square feet, but now it occupies a 4 acres. Cotton will hardly grow. The spot is in a low place, and the ground seems salty.

These spots are indeed usually salty in character, and are caused by salts, including ordinary table salt, being present in them in such amounts as to injure plants, or to kill them. The salt is brought into the soil dissolved in water, the water evaporates from the soil, and leaves the salt behind. As water continually flows towards this spot and evaporates, the salt accumulates and the spot becomes larger. The water does not flow on the surface, but through the soil toward the spot. It carries the salt out of the soil through which it flows. These spots are usually poorly drained.

The remedy for these spots is underdrainage. A drainage ditch should be dug down through the center of the spot, so that the water that falls on the land will pass through the soil into the drainage ditch, carrying with it the salts in the soil, which are usually termed alkali. The drain may be left open or a tile may be put in, or a wooden drain made of old lumber, or even brush. A drainage ditch of this kind is especially recommended when there is a tendency for the spot to become larger. By draining away the water, the salts will also be drained away and the spot will become smaller when the rainfall washes the salt out.

There is nothing can be added to the soil to remove the alkali, or render it harmless. The only thing that can be done is to wash the alkali out in drainage water.

Kill the Crop Pests During the Winter Months

"The new kafir or sorghum worm is not a new arrival in the United States," according to Dr. Leonard Haseman of the Missouri College of Agriculture. "It was described and named as long ago as 1881 when it attracted some attention in Alabama. However, as a serious scourge of kafir and related crops, it came into prominence only in the past two months. It seems to prefer the unripe grain of kafir, sorghum and allied crops.

"Where most abundant this pest has destroyed 100 per cent of the grain crop, and some counties report a loss reaching 70 per cent for the whole county. Kafir is being pushed as an important grain crop for the Ozark counties of the state, but if this worm continues to be so destructive in the years to come it will greatly discourage this movement.

"The pest this year developed one brood during August and September and the offspring of that brood are now arriving at the full-grown stage. From recent breeding experiments being carried on at the Missouri Experiment Station it seems likely that the pest is preparing to pass the winter as the full-grown larva or pupa in a cocoon behind the leaf sheaths and elsewhere on kafir, sorghum, corn and similar crops. If it does this, the farmer has an excellent opportunity to reach the pest in the winter by using up all fodder and other materials in which it may be found during the winter.

"This, with the late fall plowing of all infested fields, that can safely be plowed, with the view of turning under all over-wintering stages of the worm, should go far toward the control of the pest. The caterpillar is sluggish and at this season seems to be present mostly as immature, or full-grown worms. It is not likely, therefore, to get far from the infested crop or field before winter. Those who have had trouble with the pest should keep this in mind and try to eliminate it as completely as possible before spring.

Poultry culling is now an established practice in Lincoln County, according to the home demonstration agent, Claire L. Montgomery. Of 107 persons attending recent culling demonstrations at Okete, Moscow Mills and Elsherry, 68 accepted coaching and stated they would cull their own flocks.

Hens Watched, Work Better.
By culling her hens each fall and keeping a record of their work the year round Miss Haring, leader of the poultry project of the farm bureau in Saline County, has boosted production in her plant without increasing the payroll. In twelve months, following her first culling, 110 hens laid 9,776 eggs for Miss Haring; and, during the second year 110 hens laid 10,944 eggs.

No Loafers in Her Flock.
Though she once laughed at the idea of looking a hen over to tell whether she was a layer or a loafer, a farm woman in Butler County now culls her flock twice a year and says that she knows it pays. She has saved enough feed by this practice, so she told Anne Sillers, home demonstration agent, to pay her farm bureau membership for many years.

Mrs. J. C. Baucon, one of the teachers at Acuff, and who has been spending a short time at Mineral Wells, passed through Lubbock Monday on her way to Acuff to resume her school duties.

Gen. Wingate could not tell the living voice from its RE-CREATION by the NEW EDISON

If you are thinking phonograph for Christmas, give serious thought to General Wingate's letter.

It suggests, doesn't it, that Mr. Edison has made his phonograph a new kind of instrument,—something infinitely finer and more desirable than the ordinary phonograph or talking-machine.

The New Edison has created the new standards by which people judge phonographs and talking-machines today.

To discover those new standards, you must

Hear the marvelous NEW EDISON

You will discover a phonograph that actually gives all the beauties of the original music. You will find an instrumentality that actually brings all the power of the original music to soothe, refresh, and encourage mind and body.

These wonderful results are possible, because the New Edison RE-CREATES music so perfectly that RE-CREATED performance can not be told from original performance. The New Edison is the only phonograph which sustains this test,—the test of direct comparison. This fact alone sets the New Edison apart.

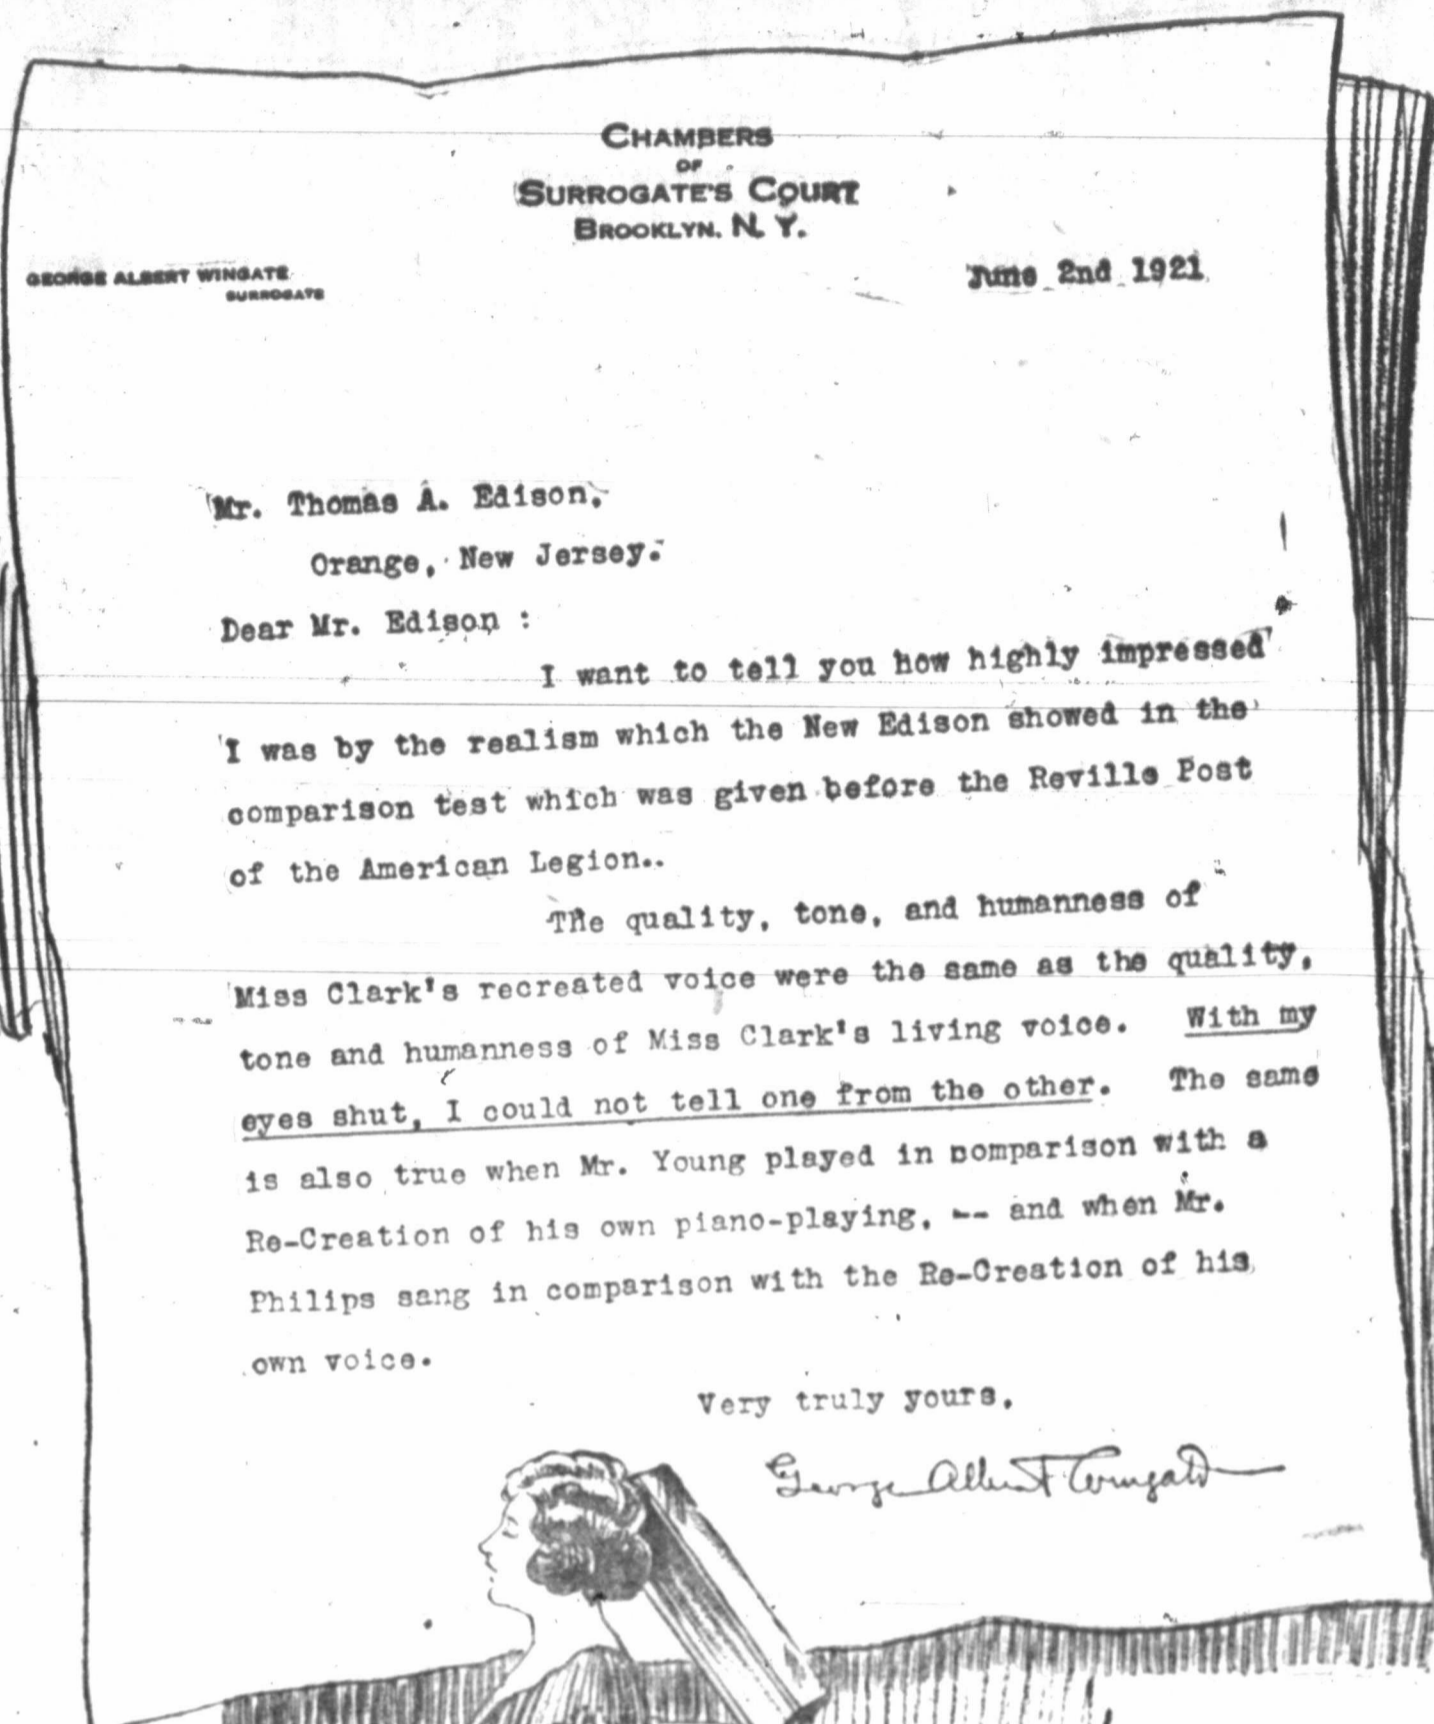

Christmas Concerts

We are now giving special Christmas concerts, to help Christmas shoppers make comparisons, and to reveal to them the new home-music which the New Edison brings. You are cordially invited. Come any time.

Mr. Thomas A. Edison,
Orange, New Jersey.
Dear Mr. Edison :

I want to tell you how highly impressed I was by the realism which the New Edison showed in the comparison test which was given before the Reville Post of the American Legion.

The quality, tone, and humanness of Miss Clark's recreated voice were the same as the quality, tone and humanness of Miss Clark's living voice. With my eyes shut, I could not tell one from the other. The same is also true when Mr. Young played in comparison with a Re-Creation of his own piano-playing, -- and when Mr. Phillips sang in comparison with the Re-Creation of his own voice.

Very truly yours,

George Albert Wingate

The test General Wingate heard

IN the insert is General Wingate, who commanded the 52nd Field Artillery during the war. The audience, of which he was a part, heard Miss Helen Clark sing in comparison with the RE-CREATION of her voice by the New Edison on May 25th, 1921, in the 2nd Field Artillery Armory, Brooklyn.

Gen. Wingate wrote Mr. Edison, "With my eyes shut, I could not tell one from the other."

Do not think the remarkable New Edison is beyond you. It isn't.

Marvin Jones Flays Republican Cong. Longworth

Congressman Marvin Jones took Hon. Nicholas Longworth to task today for his attitude on the Muscle Shoals project.

During the War the Government established a nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals on the Tennessee River to manufacture nitrate for making explosives for war purposes. After the war the engineers recognizing the value of the tremendous water power and of the established plants urged that dams could be completed at a small expense and fertilizer manufactured for use on the farms, the claim being made that in this way fertilizer could be sold to the farmers at one-half the present cost. Mr. Longworth and others from manufacturing districts strenuously opposed the completion of the project.

The entire project was about to be abandoned when Henry Ford offered to take the whole system off the hands of the Government and to operate it in the interest of agriculture.

"For years," said the Texas Member, "Mr. Longworth has been fighting the entire project and picturing it as public waste and extravagance. The Government has spent some $90,000,000 there.

"One would think that the gentleman from Ohio would jump at a chance to rid the Government of the whole proposition. But all of a sudden when the manufacturer of the 'Flivers,' Henry Ford, offers to pay the Government a total of $214,000,000, Mr. Longworth becomes dumb. The outburst of oratory has not occurred; the flaming patriot has not spoken; the eloquent tongue has been silent; Oh, Consistency, thy name is not Nicholas!

"What is the reason for the sudden cooling of the ardor of all these gentlemen? Can it be that the clause in Mr. Ford's offer that he guarantees to sell fertilizer at a net profit of not more than eight percent frighten the other manufacturers, and that his offer to turn it over to the Government in the event of war as a powder plant scare the munition makers?

"There are those in the Congress who balk at any legislation which has for its primary purpose the furthering of the interests of agriculture."

Citation by Publication THE STATE OF TEXAS

To the Sheriff or any Constable of Lubbock County, Texas, Greeting:

You Are Herby Commanded to summon Marie McKinley, by making publication of this Citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your County, if there be a newspaper published therein, but if not, then in any newspaper published in the Seventy-second Judicial District; but if there be no newspaper published in said Judicial District, then in a newspaper published in the nearest District to said seventy-second Judicial District, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Lubbock County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Lubbock, Texas, on the second Monday in December, A. D. 1921, the same being the 12th day of December, A. D. 1921, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 6th day of January, A. D. 1921, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 1410, wherein H. B. McKinley, Jr., is Plaintiff, and Marie McKinley, is Defendant, and said petition alleging that plaintiff has been an actual bona fide inhabitant of Texas, more than twelve months and a resident of Lubbock county more than six months prior to filing his petition herein. That he was lawfully married to defendant on the 9th day of April 1920, and lived together as husband and wife until the 10th day of April 1920, when defendant left plaintiff to return to her former home in Hill county, Texas, for the purpose as she told this plaintiff of getting her personal effects and thereafter returning to plaintiff in Lubbock, Texas.

That soon after defendant left this plaintiff to return to her former home, she notified plaintiff that she did not intend to return to him, and thereupon, plaintiff started an investigation to ascertain the cause of her said conduct and thereafter learned that at the time of her said marriage to the plaintiff herein, she was the wife of one Robinson, who resides in Hill county, Texas, and whose given name is not known to plaintiff and she could not legally become the wife of this plaintiff.

That since the 10th day of April, 1920, this plaintiff has never seen defendant and has not lived with her as his wife since said date, and since ascertaining that she is the wife of another, he can not and will not live with her again. That by reason of defendant's deceitful conduct in attempting to marry this plaintiff while she was the wife of another, she has rendered their living together unsupportable.

Plaintiff prays for judgment for divorce; for costs of suit, etc.

Herein I do Not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

GRADUATE SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE AT A. & M.

College Station, Texas, Oct. 31.—President W. B. Bizzell of the A. & M. College of Texas is now working on the organization of a graduate school of agriculture at this institution. The school was authorized by the board of directors of the College at the last regular meeting, to be established as a separate department of the teaching division of the College.

In the beginning of the new department emphasis will be laid on the graduate courses leading to the master's degree, but it is contemplated that eventually courses leading to the degree of doctor of agriculture and doctor of philosophy will be given to the graduate students. The graduate school will be open to men and women on equal terms.

MOTHER! MOVE CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. If constipated, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup. 11-4

WINGED MONEY.

Money has wings, says the Bible, and few of those who are heedless of the Scriptures will scoff at the statement. Indeed, they will probably make the further admission that money is using its wings. It is no longer the contentedly clucking barnyard fowl of a year ago but, an eagle pinioned bird suspicious of those who would put salt on its tail.

What has become of the money which was so plentiful a year or so ago, which passed so quickly and which bought so little?

It has gone nowhere. It exists somewhere, but it is not here, and go where you will it is not there, at least not so plentifully as formerly. The banks haven't got it as they once had, nor has the government, and private hoardings are not believed to account for the deficit. There have always been hoarders.

Bankers explain that the quantity of money is really as great as ever, but that curtailment of credit and the slackening of industrial and other operations has checked its circulation. In the days of plenty, money passed from hand to hand quickly, each hand having a quantity of it for a brief time. He got more, and he spent more than now, and that is all.

The experts deny that money is on the wing and claim that the real trouble is that it is not using its wings, because of the unavoidable conditions of readjustment.

The truth of the matter is that a year ago a great many people were spending money recklessly and even foolishly, and this put lots of money in circulation. Today these same people are economizing, some from choice, and this has reduced the volume of money in circulation. That is all there is to it.

It will be a good thing for the country, and for every individual in it, if the foolish flush times never return. It wasn't sound business, and without sound business the country cannot prosper.

"SUBSCRIBE FOR YOUR HOME TOWN PAPER WEEK" NOV. 7 to 12th

Director B. Youngblood of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station system, A. and M. College, in commenting upon the observance of November 7th to 12th, "Subscribe for Your Home Paper Week" all over the United States, said: "This is a movement that should be widely advertised so that no citizen will overlook this opportunity to give recognition to the signal services rendered by the local newspaper to the promotion of every interest of the community. I hope no citizen of Texas will fail during the week of November 7th to 12th, to pay his subscription at least a year in advance and incidentally give to the editor of the local paper, a word of sincere appreciation for the unselfish and effective services that are continually being rendered by him in every community in this State.

The local newspaper has had a profound influence upon the social and economical development of the Nation. It is invariably the first in every movement for progress. It is perhaps the strongest single factor in moulding public opinion. It is the most desirable channel for conveying to the people important public information.

The country newspapers of Texas have rendered highly valuable services to the agriculture of this State by publishing extensively the findings of the research workers of the Experiment Station system and their readers have thus been able to make any improvement in their farming and livestock operations almost from the very day any information is available through which such improvements can be effected. These papers have of their own motion, made careful studies of the needs of their communities and many of them are models for sane and useful suggestions and instructions through which their readers may become more successful farmers. Certainly, the people can do no less than give their local paper every support for which they ask and none should fail to receive every issue of his home paper."

BACK UP THE FOOTBALL TEAM

The hardest fought football game ever played in Lubbock, according to many of the spectators was the game between Lubbock High School and Floydada High. The Floydada delegation brought a 160-pound average bunch down here with a back field that passed the 160 mark and they put up the game scrap seen in many seasons. The final score was a tie of 6 to 6. The Lubbock team averaged a bare 150-pounds and it was only through pure hard down backbone and nerve that they were able to hold against the repeated drive of the Floydada bunch. It was a game worth watching and a game that makes real men. But there is a bigger and better game coming Friday afternoon when the old Lubbock rivals, Plainview High School Squad comes down. This game is one of the most important of the whole Panhandle season in determining who is to play off the championship tie of the Panhandle. Plainview is bringing the best squad they have turned out in many years and the Lubbock team is the best we have ever had. The game Friday bids fair to be a real one. High School athletics are not supported in this city as strongly as their importance entitles them to. The Lubbock football squad are leaders in the high school in their grades. Out of the entire 21 men that compose the first squad and substitutes not one man has averaged below 85 in any one of his subjects. They are the leaders in the high school and the coming leaders in our city. They are entitled to the support and encouragement of the parents and citizens of the city and a real asset to the reputation of the city. Let's turn out and support the boys in this, the hardest game of the season. Get behind them with your noise and see Lubbock High triumph over their oldest rivals, Plainview High.

We notice in a dispatch from Paris, Texas, that the people of that section are hauling water for their livestock. This editor before he was twelve years of age had hauled enough water to overflow the Yellow House canyon before our father discovered that there was a greater and better country in the West. It sounds peculiar to the younger people who have been raised on the great South Plains to hear of a fellow hauling water for any purpose at all. In this great South Plains section the water question is the easiest of all. A well fifty feet deep with a good windmill will supply all the cattle that an average fellow would ever have, with clear, cool, sparkling water, and no matter which way the wind blows, the supply is never reduced. Come to the Great South Plains where you select the place where you want your well and drill down to the everlasting fountain of water and you are fixed for the balance of your natural born days. Doesn't that sound good to the fellow who has been hauling water all of his life several miles to supply the needs of the milk cows and the work team?

It is said that many people of the West will burn corn for fuel this winter. This is on account of the plentifulness of the corn and the high prices of coal. The high freight rates have run the price of coal so high, and the price of corn so low, that the farmer is almost forced to this. There is not a decent market for the corn, and they figure that corn for fuel will pay them better than hauling it to the market at the prevailing prices and turning it into coal at the present figures.

The general build of Lubbock, the many fine substantial brick buildings and the unity with which our people go about things attracts the attention of people immediately when they come to our city. This is a mighty good impression to make, and we are glad that we live in a city where this condition prevails.

Hansford County is another that is in line for a county agent and home demonstrator. The people are learning the value of these departments, and when the right man is found for the job there is no doubt that much good is accomplished by them. Lubbock has a good man, one of the best in the State and while the county commissioners and some of the departments got into a wrangle last year and could not get together on a contract this man's work was kept up by private subscription. This shows that many people realize the value of this work, and we believe that all Plains counties should maintain a county agent. The rapid development of the country and the nature of the climate can be wonderfully assisted by a man who is devoting his time and attention to matters pertaining to agriculture. The farmers get very few appropriations anyway, and we believe that the agricultural interests demand that they get this much consideration at the hands of the commissioners court.

"One thing at a time, and that done well, is a very good rule as many will tell." We believe in doing things right as far as one can go, and we believe that this rule would work well on the road proposition in Lubbock. Of course we cannot build every road in the county and hard-surface it right now, but we believe that this is the only way our roads will ever be fixed right, and we should begin on them now, and do as much as we can.

Lubbock schools are greatly crowded, and we are greatly in need of more and better buildings. The time to start a campaign for a new building is now at hand. Do not wait longer. The need is very evident, and each year will bring its increasing responsibilities upon this city to take care of the children of the town in an educational way. Let's start the ball rolling for a new high school building.

Of course there are a great many things about farming, or potatoes that we do not know, but it seems to us that a sweet potato curing plant would be a mighty good thing for the South Plains. This crop will grow abundantly here, and if they can be saved for market, we see no reason why the raising of this product could not be made profitable.

Be careful with fire about the home and the office. Also be very careful where you flip your cigarette stubs on the range. Thousands of acres of much needed grass might be destroyed by the careless tossing of a cigarette.

From now on the importance of good roads in Lubbock County will be felt more and more, and a great deal more money will have to be spent on the roads. We believe it would be economy to vote some bonds and fix the roads permanently, rather than patch so much.

The importance of increasing the capital stock of the Panhandle and South Plains Fair Association cannot be over estimated, and we feel like every man should invest something in this association. It will be beneficial to every man, woman and child in the city.

Many new brick business houses are being planned and contracts are being let in Lubbock, which will bring about the greatest building era ever experienced in this city. All the buildings in question will be of the typical substantial kind that Lubbock can boast of.

Diversified farming is the strong-hold of the great South Plains. That makes this great section of the State the more favorable to the farmers, and makes this a better all-round country than the sections where the one-crop is more common.

Don't forget the football game Friday afternoon between Lubbock and Plainview. Attend and boost the local boys along. It will likely be a hard game, but our boys will win if you will back them up with your presence.

It looks like the crop of candidates for United States Senator from Texas is going to be an overflowing production, and there is every indication that there will be quite a herd of candidates for State offices from the governor down.

Lubbock should get lined up to handle everything that is produced on the farm, in the garden or orchards of this country—get a market for the stuff raised. "You can sell it in Lubbock" would be a mighty good slogan.

We believe that Lubbock should have an oil mill. With our wonderful developments as an agricultural country and our splendid railroad outlets, we believe that this plant is one of the present day necessities.

While we do not think much of the apartment house idea, still they seem to fulfill a need that is not supplied in any other way, and a good sized one might be advisable in Lubbock.

Cotton may bring a good price next year, and then again it may not. Keep your weather eye on the diversification calendar and not go wrong in that one-crop proposition.

There should be not less than a thirty day jail sentence in every offense of gambling. This will put a crimp in this popular pastime that will clear up the atmosphere wonderfully.

These cool days will require fire in the heaters. Great care should be exercised in building fires, and a close watch should be kept of the flues, that fires may be averted.

Lubbock's need for a good auditorium for public gatherings is growing more urgent than ever. What are we going to do to fill this long felt want?

Lubbock should by all means be made a point entitled to the common point freight rates.

Many modern residences are being built in Lubbock, still the demand is not filled.

WITHOUT FURTHER COMMENT

"Boil Her Down!" "Give More Details."

"I have read some of your articles in The Leader of late and must say that most any of them could have been written and placed in that paper in half the space they occupied. It seems to me that you fellows ought to learn to boil down things. You understand I am your friend; I take the paper; I am well-paid up, or can pay up some more and ahead away yonder, if you say so, as I am going to have The Stamford Leader in my home and in my office. But what I am trying to tell you is this: Boil down your stuff. Put it in less space. If boiling down cuts down your pages, that only lessens your paper cost. Give us the facts in a nut shell; let us do some figuring on the details, if we want to. I'm for you, but I am also for you reducing in volume and increasing in compactness."

Now, that fellow IS right. He is our friend and we know it. He's for us, just like he said he was; not a man who is for us in our presence and for the other out of our presence. When he tells you a thing he sticks to it, and he does not talk till he is ready; he does not figure all the time on stunts that further his own self.

However, here's his opposite, so you should read him, too:

"I wish you would go into detail more, and more. I like the details. I have no time to go out and hunt up the fragments that you fail to give us. Suppose you do say John Jones stumps his toe, falls, breaks his neck, buried by the Dinkum Dido Lodge, about 100 attending, had $5,000.00 insurance, wife is planning to marry another man who was always poor, and so was she, but the two, former lovers before they fell out and she married John, will enjoy the $5,000.00, planning to have a real honeymoon to New York. Now, that would likely be the whole story, simmered down to a fine point, but what we would like to know are the details of the story. If you have the innards to print anything at all about the blamed thing, why not come out with it and tell it all? You leave out cardinal principles that we are paying to learn about: You dodge plain facts and give us the residuum of the soup, and that amounts to about the same thing, after all, as the bones of the oyster that worked over time in the soup join in making the soup. I want everything you have about anything to the remotest parts and what might be termed the inconsequential of a football game, even down to the dialogues between irate players and the ubiquitous umpires and referees, who NEVER know anything of the game and are presumably not in just to cause a row or a riot. If there's a scandal in any church, belch her up; we want it. I am paying for that sort of thing. If there is a good, bad or indifferent move of one of my neighbors, tell me about it in that rag of yours. The Leader. I am a paying subscriber to your paper and I feel like I have a right to say something now and then. I have never gone into your shop and demanded anything before, but I'm here now a strong as horse-raddish. By-the-way, if you ever catch me in anything, see me before you print it, or be sure to put the soft pedal on if you do print anything about me."—Stamford Leader.

Advertising Will Restore Business And Confidence

An advertising revival as a means toward business improvement that would solve the unemployment problem was suggested by William H. Rankin, of New York and Chicago, in a letter to Secretary of Labor Davis, of President Harding's unemployment conference, made public last night.

Mr. Rankin proposed the initiation of a buying movement through advertising that will stimulate the whole business fabric of the nation, and suggested that the conference call upon men familiar with advertising and its possibilities to develop this suggestion.

Mr. Rankin pointed out the vast results obtained throughout the war period by advertising campaigns directed toward solving the problems which confronted the government, and said:

"I believe advertising can help just as much now, in this unemployment problem, as it did in any of the campaigns exploited during the war, and that it is particularly true in regard to the matter of price reduction."

"I happen to know that the concerns that led the way in price reduction are today six months ahead of those who have not, and I also know that price reduction has stimulated buying and that advertising is the only way to let the people know where they can now buy goods at prewar prices and on a basis where the long margin of profit has been cut down to a fair margin."

"I believe advertising may be used not only to convince the public that they should buy products that are now being advertised at a fair price, but can also be used to convince the manufacturers that they should not only reduce their prices, but use advertising space to let the public know that now is the time to buy."

W. J. LEWELLEN DISPOSES OF YOAKUM COUNTY RANCH

W. J. Lewellen of Yoakum County spent a few days this week in Lubbock. Mr. Lewellen stated to a representative of the Avalanche that he had closed out his lands in that county, having held his cattle and will hold them on leased range for another year, in the meantime will buy land where he will have better protection in the winter for his stock. Grass is good and crops in his part of the country are fine.

FARM BUREAU TO DISTRIBUTE A MILLION DOLLARS IN COTTON ADVANCES TO TEXAS FARMERS

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 31.—More than a million dollars has been advanced to members of the Texas Farm Bureau Cotton Association at $25 a bale on cotton consigned to the sales office.

Arrangements have now been made to advance $40.00 a bale on cotton before it is graded or classed. This means that several million dollars will be sent out to farmers by the Association within the next week or so.

The largest single sale made by this farmers' cooperative selling agency so far was 6200 bales which brought $625,000.

The Association has not sold any cotton in the last two weeks, the management believing that the market will be better a little later on. Cotton is pouring in at the rate of from 1800 to 3500 bales a day. The classers are handling from 2,000 to 2,500 bales a day. Sales so far have netted the farmers from $10 to $15 a bale more than is being paid by street buyers.

63 Cents A Pound Obtained For Wool

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 31.—A telegram from Geo. E. Rutan, sales manager of the Southwestern Farm Bureau wool and Mohair Pool concentrated at Houston states that he has sold a hundred bags of scoured wool at 63c a pound, wool sold in smaller lots not bringing quite as good a price.

The Southwestern Wool and Mohair Pool has nearly a million pounds of wool in Houston which has been graded, classed, and prepared for the factory. The sales manager is selling direct to the factory and cutting out the intermediate dealers in wool, according to officials in the Texas Farm Bureau headquarters at Dallas.

Live Stock Next Farmer Problem

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 31.—The Farmers' Live Stock Committee of Fifteen appointed by President J. R. Howard of the American Farm Bureau Federation has completed its report on live stock marketing investigation and recommends the organization of a great National Live Stock Producers' Live Stock Commission Associations with allied stocker—and-feeder companies; the working out of an orderly marketing program by the Board of Directors of the National Live Stock Producers Association the establishment by the same agencies of a Transportation Department to cooperate with the American Farm Bureau Federation and the State Farm Bureau; the interpretation of Live Stock Certificates, and cooperation with the American Farm Bureau Federation in extending the market for meat. Ratification of the marketing plan will be considered November 10, by a meeting of representative live stock men from all over the United States.

The committee desired early in its investigation that the problem which it needed to consider resolved cooperative marketing, orderly marketing, live stock production and marketing information, transportation and financing.

Existing live stock organizations were studied carefully by the committee and the need of a National Association was seen early in the proceedings. Membership will be sold to Cooperative Livestock Associations and to individuals. None but bona fide live stock producers may become members.

The directors of the Terminal Commission Association must be bona fide producers at the time of election.

Earnings of the Associations will be distributed to the membership in the form of patronage dividends. It is hoped thereby to get meat from the producer into the big markets at actual cost.

CALOMEL USERS TAKE AWFUL RISK Very Next Dose of Treacherous Drug May Start Terrible Salivation

The next dose of calomel you take may salivate you. It may shock your liver or start bone necrosis. Calomel is dangerous. It is mercury, quicksilver. It crashes into your bile like dynamite, cramping and sickening you. Calomel attacks the bones and should never be put into your system.

If you feel bilious, headachy, constipated and all knocked out, just go to your druggist and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents which is a harmless vegetable substitute for dangerous calomel. Take a spoonful and if it doesn't start your liver and straighten you up better and quicker than nasty calomel and without making you sick, you just go back and get your money.

Don't take calomel! It can not be trusted any more than a leopard or a wild-cat. Take Dodson's Liver Tone which straightens you right up and makes you feel fine. No salts necessary. Give it to the children because it is perfectly harmless and can not salivate. 11-4

CAUGHT WITH THE GOODS.

A raid was made early Saturday night, on a car and in a room which netted officers G. C. Hufstedler and Jno. McCullough, about one gallon of pure "old corn whisky". The car was a suspicious looking one and a watch was kept up when two men approached, the officers accosted them and made a search, when they found about 1-2 gallon of whisky. Taking the car, the two men and whisky in charge, they then proceeded to search the room of one of the men and found another half gallon, and several jars which had contained the stuff that makes the "kick."

The officers have positive proof as to the guilt of the two men, as one of the officers had bought some of the "stuff," some time early in the evening.

The two men live here in Lubbock and are well-known in town. They were placed in jail and a complaint sworn out against them for having liquor in their possession and selling same.

Remembered the barrel, looked behind it. There was the rat—dead, not the slightest odor." Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Cole-Myrick Hardware & Imp. Co., City Drug Store.

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION

Theford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee
Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficiency of Theford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Theford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Theford's. E. S.

LOCAL NEWS FROM THE SUDAN SECTION

Work has been resumed on the Lubbock-Clovis Highway.

Mrs. C. M. Furneaux, C. M. Furneaux, Jr., and Mrs. W. C. Furneaux, left for Dallas Friday morning.

Mr. Dudley Kent is spending a few days in Lubbock.

Mr. Howard Paul of Amarillo was in Sudan on business the first of the week.

Fourteen thousand acres of the Halsell cattle lands were swept by a raging prairie fire last week. The fire started about three miles east of Sudan and burned for over ten miles north. The splendid efforts of more than one hundred people were used to stop the blaze, which was aided by a strong wind.

Mr. P. E. Rosen has been in Amarillo on business.

Some of the Sudan farmers are receiving prizes from the State Fair. These prize winning agricultural products are more boost for Sudan.

The young people of Sudan were entertained most delightfully Saturday evening, Oct. 29, when Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kenzie opened their home to guests and wives.

Miss Margaret Trent and William and Rachel West spent Saturday in Lubbock.

Mr. W. M. Harn and her little daughter, Margaret, have been in Amarillo shopping this week.

Great enthusiasm is being shown over the cotton crop here. The amount raised exceeds all expectations. Good cotton land is yielding one-half a bale to the acre. This year's acreage is to be several times increased the next season and the prospect for a gin in Sudan is bright.

Mr. Francis Abney and family of New Mexico are welcome additions to our town. Mr. Abney will be interested in cattle here for the winter.

Mr. C. F. Jackson of Lubbock was here Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Slate were shopping in Lubbock last Thursday.

The Sudan Farmer's Cooperative Association has installed a sixteen ton Howe scale. This will be used in weighing an enormous amount of grain to be shipped from this section.

Mr. J. B. Loyd, of Lubbock was in Sudan Monday.

LAWYERS AND JUDGES.

A new objection to feminine jurors has been voiced by a young woman lawyer of New Jersey, who lost a case before a mixed jury.

"The nine young women in the jury were essayed by the smiles and compliments of the handsome young lawyer on the other side," complained the lady. "My case was won until then."

Now, what shall we do? Shall we put jury duty for women to a sudden end, or shall all good looking men be refused admission to the bar? We shall do neither, if we are wise, as an exchange suggests.

Instead, we shall banish the idea that jury service is a matter of sex or influence. We shall insist that every jury decision be in accordance with the facts presented and not with the emotions aroused.

What is still more important, we shall stop the attempt of lawyers to influence juries by theatrical and misleading methods.

And we shall drive from the bar all that unsavory crew who debase a great profession by conniving at the evasion of law, and who use every trick, legitimate or illegitimate, to protect criminals known to be guilty.

Clive Cobb from Seminole brought his wife to the Sanitarium first of the week for an operation.

The commercial honest that seeks merely to evade the law and thereby keep out of jail is not honest enough.

LEVELAND IS NAME OF HOCKLEY COUNTY SEAT AS DETERMINED BY THE POSTAL AUTHORITIES

Leveland, Hockley County, Texas, Oct. 31.—This is the first news item that has ever carried such a date line—due to the fact that this city has been Leveland only three days. It has been Leveland since the beginning of time and as far as the eye can see. But as the county site of Hockley County it has just started its career. Incidentally it is the fourteenth name that was submitted to the Post Office Department before one could be found that would not conflict with some other post office in the United States—which, according to the new ruling, is necessary.

Leveland has a total population of seven and consists of one full-fledged courthouse, a store, one residence and a windmill. The nearest neighbor is nine miles away—barely in sight as a matter of fact.

District Judge W. R. Spencer opened the first term of District Court in this new county this past week and after empanelling the grand jury there was but one man left that was available to investigate and after thoroughly investigating him the jury was dismissed and the court adjourned without finding a bill.

Counting the court officials and jury, the city had its largest night population since its founding and beds had to be made down in the court room to accommodate the many visitors.

Hockley County lies due west of Lubbock County and its county site, Leveland, is on a direct line from Lubbock to Roswell, N. M. The total population of the county at the last census was 137. The county includes more than a half million acres of the most productive type of South Plains soil, known as the chocolate sandy loam, ninety-eight per cent of which is suitable for farming through the simple method of hitching a mule to a plow and calling "giddap." Entirely level, without a tree in sight, covered with a luxuriant mat of waving native grass, it bespeaks a future of productive abundance, happy homes, fertile fields and golden opportunities for extensive and intensive development.

With an average rainfall of more than twenty-one inches and an average depth to inexhaustible water of eighty feet, it offers agricultural possibilities not exceeded by any of the South Plains counties with their thousands of inhabitants.

E. Hugh Grayum of Amarillo is registered at the Merrill hotel.

Fatal Shooting In Amarillo Last Monday Afternoon

With seven bullet wounds in his body, Jess Townsend is dead, and Henry C. Harding, well-known ranch and cattleman has been released on $10,000 bond, in connection with the killing. The shooting occurred about 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, on Third Street, directly in front of the Marjolia Filing Station near the intersection of Polk Street.

Harding surrendered to officers immediately following the shooting. The body of Townsend was viewed by C. G. Landis, Justice of the Peace, at the Blackburn & Malone undertaking parlors, and Dr. B. M. Puckett, Dr. E. A. Johnston and Dr. E. O. Dunaway.

The doctors were unable to determine whether six or seven bullets entered the body, but there were seven wounds. The doctors were of the opinion that any one of the wounds, with the exception of flesh wound on the left arm, would have produced death. Judge Landis as coroner found that Townsend died from the effect of gunshot wounds inflicted by Harding.

The following report was made by the doctors who viewed the body.

One bullet entered the right side of chest, passed through body, coming out just left of the breast bone.

One bullet entered chest just beneath the left collar bone, passing backward toward the spine.

Four bullets entered neck, just behind right ear, one ranging upward into brain, and one fracturing neck.

NEWS ITEMS OF THE PAST WEEK FROM MONROE

The meeting of the Singers here last week was the event of the season. Smiling happy faces were gathered here from over the county—and some fine singing by a quartette from Lorenzo, composed of Miss Pearl Duncan, Messrs Ross and Fincher and one who's name I failed to get.

County Line had a class of 24 fine singers, while Lubbock, Carlisle and several other places had delegates, and singers present.

Monroe was simply packed with jolly friends who were having a good sociable time, as well as sweet songs. The 100 feet of table on the campus was groaning with the weight of good things to eat.

Monroe singing class won highest place in the County. Hurrah! for Monroe. Both County Line and Carlisle invited the singing convention to meet with them next time and a vote of the house gave the meeting to Carlisle on the fifth Sunday in Jan. 1922. On the 4th Sunday a crowd of Monroe people attended church in Abernathy, and heard Mr. Reynolds of Plainview preach two fine sermons. The following gentlemen drove the cars and each car was full: Andrew Graham, Willie Robinson, Gilbert, Stephenson, Bondy, Adrian Merrill and Mr. Payne of Lubbock and Mr. Ditto took a good old fashioned wagon load.

Our new store, run by Mr. and Mrs. Canell, reports a thriving business and we wish them success.

We are proud to report that Mr. B. C. Clutter of Lubbock has bought property 1 mile north of Monroe and we hope that he will soon bring his charming wife and son and live among us.

The school opened against after 4 weeks' out to let the children pick cotton.

Our splendid teachers, Prof. Russell and Miss Lannyhill are getting fine results from the students.

Cutting of row crops is almost finished, and cotton being gathered fast. Threshing for Andrew Graham last Monday. Gorn is fine and there is prospect for plenty of "hog and hominy."

Success to The Avalanche.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Forgy last Monday morning, a fine boy.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY WILL RANK FIRST IN 1924 ACCORDING TO ESTIMATE OF A SCIENTIFIC WRITER

When a battleship gets to be ten years old it is almost gone; when it reaches fifteen years it is junk. J. Bernard Walker, writing for the November number of the Scientific American, takes this into consideration and makes a comparison of the navies of the three leading powers as those navies will be affected by depreciation in 1924. He explains his method of measuring the depreciation by the number of years which the ship has yet to serve before being scrapped.

If a capital ship is worthless for active service in fifteen years—that is to say, if she is at 100 per cent efficiency on the date of her completion and has zero per cent of efficiency in fifteen years—we take it that a reasonable way to get at her efficiency at any period of life are still left to her. Thus, a ship five years old will be two-thirds efficient; a ship ten years old one-third efficient, and so on.

Under this assumption he takes ton displacement as the means of comparison between ship and ship and between navy and navy, assuming that in the long run this is about the only just and fair means of comparison. Under his combined scheme a 40,000-ton battleship just commissioned is reckoned at 40,000 tons. At the end of fifteen years it is reckoned as zero. In between those extremes the tonnage of the vessel is reckoned in proportion to its efficiency as already explained. Thus at the end of five years, with two-thirds efficiency, its efficiency tonnage is counted as two-thirds of 40,000 tons, and so on. On this basis he is able to reckon the standing of the United States, England and Japan in 1920, choosing that date because of the number of big vessels now planned while will then be launched.

In 1920 the battleship standing of the navies will be in this order (total displacement unmodified by age depreciation): United States 722,040 tons, Great Britain 548,240, Japan 272,500. At the same time, by making the deductions for age depreciations, the displacement efficiency ranks as follows: United States 554,467 tons, Japan 195,939, Great Britain 192,484. No ships armed with guns of less than 13.5 caliber are included in this comparison. If Mr. Walker's basis of comparison is correct it indicates that in 1924 the present building program will leave our navy more than equal to the combined navies of Japan and Great Britain, so far as battleships are concerned.

By similar method he shows that for battle cruisers (which are ships which sacrifice thickness of armor to greatly increase speed) the 1920 total displacement standing is: Great Britain 355,400 tons, Japan 284,000, United States 261,000. But when deduction for the age efficiency of the vessels is made the order is reversed: United States 261,000 tons, Great Britain 254,986, Japan 204,867. Combining battleships and battle cruisers for a displacement efficiency rating based on the newness of ships in 1924, he gets the following: United States 815,467 tons, Great Britain 447,469, Japan 400,806.

This showing is eloquent of two things. The first of these is that the depreciation of battle vessels is due

Discoveries That Marked Growth of The Telephone Art

In the two score and more years of telephone history the telephone engineers have overcome one by one the barriers of speech transmission. From the very beginning the progress of the art has been marked by epoch-making advances due to inventions and improvement in apparatus and equipment. Some of the more notable achievements are as follows:

The development of the switchboard of telephones would be possible, which was the beginning of the telephone exchange system.

The discovery of the process of hardening copper wire and its application to telephone circuits, improving transmission and making long distance telephone circuits possible.

The substitution of a pair of wires for a single wire a grounded circuit, greatly improving transmission by contact with the earth.

The multiple switchboard, making possible the expansion of the exchange system by providing positions at the switchboard for a large number of operators, eliminating the disturbances caused by each answering the calls on a certain number of subscribers lines, and because of the duplication of all the subscribers line terminals at each section of the switchboard, each operator able to connect the calling subscriber with any other subscriber in the same central office, he they one thousand or ten thousand.

The development of the underground cable, enabling the removal of pole lines from the main thoroughfares of the large cities, and the aerial cable reducing the number of cross arms and the size of the poles.

The transposition of telephone circuits, thereby minimizing the interference with other telephone circuits and of high power electric light and feed wires.

The loading coil, which placed at regular intervals in the long distance lines and permits much longer talking distance.

The phantom circuit, utilizing two telephone circuits to create a third independent circuit.

Long distance cable of a new type having a range of one thousand miles has been installed and experiments have shown that speech may be transmitted as well through two thousand miles of new-type cables with circuits weighing only 80 pounds to the mile as over the heaviest gage open wire which weighs 870 pounds to the mile.

principally to the competing inventive genius of the world by which old inventions become obsolete before they begin to suffer mechanical decay, and increasing unit costs in naval construction may be expected to continue to pyramid for years to come. The second fact that stands out is that the United States is on the point of approximating a two-power navy and of leading the world in militarism on the sea. Offering twenty-four hour hotel service with many unique innovations for the comfort and convenience of guests, this seven story structure of white stone and cream colored brick has nearly four hundred rooms.

the Housing Committee of the National Board of the Young Women's Christian Associations of which Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., is chairman, it is to be conducted as an exclusive hotel with absolutely no rules or restrictions. It is the first contribution that the Association has made for the professional or business woman or woman of leisure who is called to Washington on legislative activities.

Special features include a booth for legislative information, including what bills are up before the house, speakers on the day's program in Congress and the House of Representatives for the convenience of the woman visitor in Washington. Mothers traveling with young children will find the special suites, outfitted with nursery accessories, a big boom in comfort and convenience. No tipping will be allowed in the hotel. The entire staff has been engaged with the understanding of a definite raise of wages every six months for an extended period. It is expected to use the hotel as a training laboratory for home economics graduates who will put in six months' intensive course throughout the departments of the hotel.

The hotel has been luxuriously furnished by Mrs. Helen Criss of New York. The lounge, 100 by 40 feet is furnished in early English furniture, old English linens and cretonnes, with handsome accessories in deep lounge and lamps. The bedrooms throughout have painted furniture and glazed chintz. Many of the selections were made by Mrs. Rockefeller personally.

Under the direction of Miss Mary Augusta Lindsley, Manager, the hotel will be entirely staffed by women, many of them college graduates. Special attention will be given to visiting conventions and conferences.

Mrs. Valvin Coolidge, Miss Mary Anderson, Director of the Woman's Bureau of the Department of Labor, Miss Grace Abbott, head of the Children's Bureau, are among the prominent women who have expressed enthusiastic approval of the hotel and emphasized its need as a national center for women from all parts of the country.

NEW GRAIN SHOWN FIRST TIME IN LAMB'S DISPLAY

Two small imitation lambs, made of real fleecy wool, are featured in the exhibit of Lamb County in the agricultural building at the State Fair. Above them is a large and attractive sign, with the words "Lamb County," the entire sign being made up of seeds of five grains, corn, millet, wheat, milo maize and popcorn. Above them is reproduced a sunrise, signifying the sunrise of prosperity for many in Western Texas.

"Dares," a new and highly prolific grain developed from maize and sorghum, is shown in this exhibit for the first time here.

Lamb County is in the South Plains country. The towns of Littlefield and Sudan sent the exhibit to the fair. Olton is the county seat. P. E. Roosen is in charge for Sudan and C. H. Davis for Littlefield.

Around the lambs are shown various designs of ears of corns and heads of kafir corn, milo maize, foxtail, seeded ribbon cane and black amber sorghum, with bolls of cotton to complete them.

On the platform are shown Irish and sweet potatoes, turnips, onions, peppers, millet, flax, broom corn, sugar beets, kershaws, watermelons, pumpkins, alfalfa, sudan grass, wheat oats, beans corn, and many canned fruits and vegetables. Growing everbearing strawberries, in pots, are featured.—Dallas News.

Cotton Yield In Terry County Exceeds Estimate

That a much larger yield in Terry county than was dreamed of earlier in the season, is now generally admitted, despite the 50 per cent cut in acreage, but the West Texas Gin Co. estimated a greater ginage even before they turned a wheel as they had made a closer inspection than anyone else. The plant is maturing so much earlier that the sample is away ahead of last year, and many of the farmers will be done picking before real cold weather sets in.

J. D. Williamson, of near Gomez, cut his acreage to 10 this year, but is going to get four or five bales.

One man in the Union community was so discouraged with the price in early spring, that he plowed up all of his 50 acres but six rows. He will get a bale.

S. D. Miller, north of Brownfield 8 miles told us two weeks ago, and we published it, that he would get 25 bales. He had out 27 last Saturday, and had just started over the second bales and will no doubt get 50. He has 100 acres, and says one block of 50 acres will go the half bale alright.

N. W. Jones, a few miles north of Gomez, cut his acreage deep this year that left only a "patch" he calls it. He spent seven days working this "patch" and will get six or seven bales of cotton.

Tom Bingham has the Accala cotton that is producing a fine yield. He will soon be advertising pure Accala seed for planting purposes in these columns.

Comparing the ginning this season with last, there was 4 bales ginned to Oct. 4th, last year, and 144 this year. More than 700 bales will be ginned by Saturday night this week.—Terry County Herald.

THERE WAS A REASON

She stepped into the room, and then stopped. A blush spread over her cheeks, and her blue eyes dropped. She walked another step or two, then stopped again. Every eye in the room was turned upon her and wherever she had walked that night it had been the same. In the Tube, in the street, in the tram-car, all the people had looked up as she had approached them. Poor girl! What ever was wrong with her? The truth—she wore squeaky shoes!—Ex.

AN EXAMPLE OF REAL DIVERSIFIED FARMING

Diversification of farm products is the middle name of W. C. Dysart, of Collin county. He is exhibiting more than 100 different crops, grown on his place not far from the Dallas county line.

His chief crops are: Corn, oats, cotton, sweet and Irish potatoes, tomatoes, peanuts, alfalfa, ribbon cane, sorghum, milo maize, kafir corn, watermelons, squashes, pumpkins, peach es, pears, apples, pecans, and all kind of garden vegetables. He also raises chickens and turkeys.—Dallas News.

Farm and Ranch does not advise every farmer to produce 100 different crops, but suggests that many may learn something from Mr. Dysart, of Collin county, Texas. No doubt Mr. Dysart is ready for winter, no matter how long and cold it may be. There is a great deal of comfort and satisfaction in knowing that the pantry shelves are well filled with canned fruits and vegetables; the smoke-house stored with hams and bacon; the poultry well housed and a plentiful supply of feedstuffs for both poultry and milk cows stored in barn and granary. When a farmer enters the winter with all these things he is not worried much about the fluctuations in the cotton market.—Farm and Ranch.

EAT MORE BREAD IS SOUND ADVICE

The amount of food consumed by the population of seven of the largest cities of the United States is incredible. This is handled at some length in a recent article in the Saturday Evening Post by Edward G. Lowry.

"They don't produce any food; they just consume it—and pay for it," so the writer says. "Well, there's plenty of it for them to eat this winter. And if they don't believe that's good news, just let them go over and ask somebody in Petrograd, Vienna or Warsaw."

Food needs and food values have been emphasized to the people by the war and resultant conditions as never before.

Bread is at last recognized as food of foods, and has come into its own place of paramount importance in the diet.

Science now tells us that bread, weight for weight, furnishes one-third more food value than meat.

and at one-tenth the cost of meat. Moreover, every bit of it is almost immediately available as sustenance.

In spite of the wide publicity given to the nutritive value of bread, Americans are still consuming only about one-third as much bread as is desirable both from the standpoint of health and economy.

Bread contains all the food elements, in the proper proportion, that are necessary for sustaining life, rebuilding tissues and supplying energy for daily activities.

It is easy to be seen that with bread as the basis of the diet, not only would the individual be better nourished, but his living costs would be substantially decreased. And still the high standard of variety and palatability of all meals could be maintained.

Bread can be made a tremendous factor in the achievement of greater thrift. During this period of reconstruction, while the nation is struggling to put our economic life on a firmer basis, it's clearly up to the American people to prove the advantage of more bread eating.

The thatched cottage—if it brings back your own—is better than a palace whose unbroken hush presses life's sad story in upon you.

Roberts-Krueger
A pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roberts on Wednesday, Nov. 2nd at 12:30 p. m., when their daughter, Miss Lelia was given in marriage to Dr. Krueger of this city. Mrs. Joe Hilton gave a splendid rendition of "Because I Love You" as the pre-nuptial music modulating into "Mendelssohn's Wedding March" by Mr. Brown on the violin accompanied by Mrs. Ed Robinson on the piano.

The bride and groom preceded by Miss Bernice Wolffarth and Mr. Ross McWhorter descended the beautifully decorated stairs, to a fern, banked altar, made more attractive by large wicker vases holding orchid chrysanthemums. Rev. W. A. Bowen performed the ceremony, using the ever impressive ring ceremony during which time Mrs. Robinson at the piano and Mr. Brown at the violin softly played the "Flower Song".

During congratulations Mrs. Joe Hilton sang "A Lovely Garden". The guests were ushered into the dining room, beautifully decorated in white, molene and red dahlias. Here the wedding cake was cut by Mrs. Earl Hunt and served with delicious punch.

The bride wore a most becoming suit of navy blue Tricotine, with harmonizing accessories and a pretty corsage of pink rose buds. Dr. and Mrs. Krueger left immediately for California.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Roberts and has been reared in Lubbock. Her admirable traits of character have won for her a host of friends.

The groom is a practicing surgeon of this city and numbers his friends by his acquaintances. The out of town guests were: Dr. and Mrs. Krueger of Austin, parents of the groom, Mrs. Estes of Hereford, Miss Estes of Hereford, Mrs. Gilland of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Harrell of Abernathy, Mr. and Mrs. Burch of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton of Plainview.
