Harlan Vandiver Killed By Fall From Wagon

With plans for his thirteenth birthday party well under way, death came Thursday afternoon to Harlan Vandiver, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Vandiver of the OK community.

The tragedy was the result of a fall from a wagon. The lad had gone to O'Donnell to haul water home, and had filled the barrels for the return trip. He was alone on the wagon. As he crossed a side street near the Farmers' Gin, the wagon lurched just enough to throw him from his seat, down between the doubletree and the heels of the team. The mules jumped and stampeded, throwing the boy under the wheels. From the physician's report, it is believed that the front wheel passed over his abdomen and rolled him over just in time for the back wheels to pass over his back.

Mr. Bun Bolch, who was working at the gin, heard the noise as the team ran away, and went to the boy's assistance. He was carried to an O'Donnell physician, and every effort was made to revive him, but he never regained consciousness. The doctor believed that all internal organs were crushed, and that the big blood vessels in the stomach and intestines were ruptured and torn.

Funeral services were held Friday afternoon at the OK school building. Friends of the family, the boy's schoolmates and hundreds of sympathizing acquaintances were present for the service and for the interment in the city cemetery.

The Courier joins with other friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved parents.

Option Holders Are Warned Not To Sell

One Station—Farmers who entered the cotton plow-up campaign last year and chose the option plan, receiving part cash and part options as payment then, later borrowing 4 cents per pound on the optioned cotton, received participation certificates which they are advised to hold on to by G. E. Adams, assistant state agent of the Extension Service. "These farmers who borrowed on their options agreed to pool their cotton and allow it to be sold by the manager of the pool. It is rumored," Mr. Adams said, "that speculators are going through the country buying up these certificates for very small sums. These certificates may become worth as much as $15 per bale and farmers who sell them for less are likely to suffer some loss."

TRUSTEES SHOULD REPORT DETAILS TO CO. SUPT.

Budgets are being made for all schools applying for rural aid, this week by the county superintendent, and he is requesting that all trustees who have not submitted details of disbursements, should do so at once.

J. C. Preston Died Unexpectedly Tuesday

J. C. Preston, pioneer resident of this section, died unexpectedly at the family home in Pride early Tuesday morning. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at Pride, Rev. J. W. Braswell, pastor and friend of the family for a number of years, is in charge of the rites. Mr. Preston had apparently been as well as usual, and had eaten breakfast before strolling out in the yard. The attention of the family was attracted to his condition when he stumbled in the door. His son, Raymond, caught him as he fell, and he died before anything could be done for him. Mr. Preston had suffered with cancers for many years, and it is the opinion of physicians that his system had been so poisoned that his heart functions were impaired.

The deceased was sixty-eight years of age, and had been a member of the Baptist church for fifty-five years. An outstanding citizen and an upright man and father, he is mourned by all who knew him.

Immediate members of the family who survive are Mrs. Vance Guye of Breckenridge, Roy Preston and family of O'Donnell, Andy Preston of Brownfield, Raymond, King, and Bass Preston, all of Pride, Mrs. W. E. Stafford of Lubbock, Mrs. C. E. Martin of Lamesa, and Miss Leona Preston of Pride. His wife passed away in July, 1925, and is also laid to rest in the cemetery at Pride.

The Courier joins with other friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

6 Per Cent Penalty On Delinquent City Taxes After Oct. 31

In the meeting of the City Commission this week it was voted that the regular 6 per cent penalty interest rate, according to law, will be assessed against all delinquent City Taxes after October the 31st, this year.

This action was taken by the City officials because the city's creditors are demanding it. The city is already behind on payment of bonds and interest to bond holders and every effort is being made to comply with the demands of creditors to hold the present credit standing of the City. The city officials also say that it is only fair to all who paid their city taxes that this rule be invoked.

This due notice is given that plenty of time be allowed to delinquent tax payers to make the necessary arrangements by October 31st to take care of this matter.

Col. F. M. Weaver Donates Park Site To Dawson County

Col. and Mrs. F. M. Weaver, gave Lamesa and Dawson county a park site of 100 acres, subject to development, or the starting of development within 90 days.

The site lies adjacent to Highway 83 and north with the Sulphur Draw traversing it almost through the center. It is as ideal a site as could be secured within this distance of Lamesa, as could be found here.

Chamber of Commerce officials, after securing this donation, set to work to get the State Parks Board to accept the park and start development. Plans are going forward to secure if possible a CCC camp here and if failing to do this, development of the site with CWA labor. Feeling the need for so long for such a park and after working so hard to get a site for park purposes, now it is felt by those in charge that every effort must be put forward to get this site developed.

Mrs. F. M. Weaver was out the first of the week and with her ranch foreman, Sam Dalmont, announced Sunday afternoon through her attorney, Carl Rountree, who had drawn the deed and placed same with a contract in escrow in the First National Bank here, the donation of the 100 acres of land. Mrs. Weaver stated that it was Col Weavers intention to donate this park and that he asked that it be named the F. M. Weaver Park. Local officials state that the Colonels wishes will be carried out.

Other local people participating in the transaction are: Judge Philip Yonge and the county commissioners, court, W. L. Marr and the city commission, J. E. Barron, M. C. Lindsey, Sam Dalmont and Wm. A. Wilson.

No time limit has been placed on closing date for applications for vegetable and truck loans.

NEW CARS REGISTERED

Much Interest In Outcome

Saturday is election day. The run-off election in the Democratic primary and every person who is entitled to a vote is urged to go to the polls and make his choice among the candidates.

A good vote was cast in this county in the first primary one month ago and it is believed that full as large a vote will be polled Saturday.

As in other elections the polls will be in the court house at Lamesa and at the different boxes over the county. Voting will start at eight o'clock and close at 7 o'clock.

Much interest is being shown in the run-off races of the county with several to be decided. The county school superintendent's race with W. T. Webb and Miss Pauline Bulsterbaum candidates, the county treasurers race with Mrs. Arpie Oliver and Mrs. Annie Crow as candidates are probably creating the most talk. The tax assessors and collectors contest with Miss Willie Belle Cleveland and Mr. W. N. (Bill) Norris as candidates is also causing lots of pondering on the part of the voters.

The precinct run-off for justice of peace between D. M. Campbell and P. H. Couch and the constables race between Mac Hancock and A. L. Boyd will also prove interesting.

In the state races, the gubernatorial campaign is of course the subject of most conversation and publicity, with odds apparently evenly divided between James V. Allred and Tom F. Hunter, both of Wichita Falls. Whichever of these two men is elected, this will make history in Texas for it will be the first time that a governor has been elected from the territory west of the Brazos river. Another unusual feature of this campaign is the fact that Wichita Falls contributed the three high candidates for this office in the first primary—Allred, Hunter and McDonald.

The Congressional race in our district, the newly created nineteenth district, is also attracting statewide notice. Clark M. Mullican of Lubbock and George Mahon of Colorado City are contenders for this honor.

Yes, Saturday is an important day for lots of folks. Don't forget to vote early.

Yaqui Indian Exhibit Next Tuesday, Aug. 28

With the coming of the Yaqui Indian Exhibit, the Dawson county Library Association is sponsoring a display and lecture on this subject in the Dal-Paso Hotel lobby for school children of Lamesa and Dawson county. The price of admission is 10 cents or a good book. The time is 3 P. M. Tuesday afternoon next week. The purpose is two-fold: First to permit our children to see and hear first hand exhibits and lectures on the Yaqui Indians as collected by the Tech professors and students while they were making this expedition in Old Mexico last spring, and second, to raise money and books for the public library. No adults will be admitted, just school children of Lamesa and Dawson county.

The Library Association is inviting anyone who has antiques, old relics or the like, to bring the same along to help make the display more elaborate. It will be considered a favor to the library if anyone who has something unique that will create interest to bring same to the Dal-Paso Hotel lobby prior to the three o'clock hour that it be placed in the hall along side of the Yaqui Indian exhibit. Especially if someone will get in touch with J. W. C. Mullins, east of the Midway store and ask him to bring his nice collection of relics to the show it will be highly appreciated. Much talk has been heard about this exhibit and many would like to see it.

Dr. Holden, Dr. Waggoner, and others of Lubbock will be here to speak and explain the Yaqui Indian display and will no doubt take much interest in the Mullins exhibit. Mr. Guy would like to see it and give it wide publicity in the papers he represents.

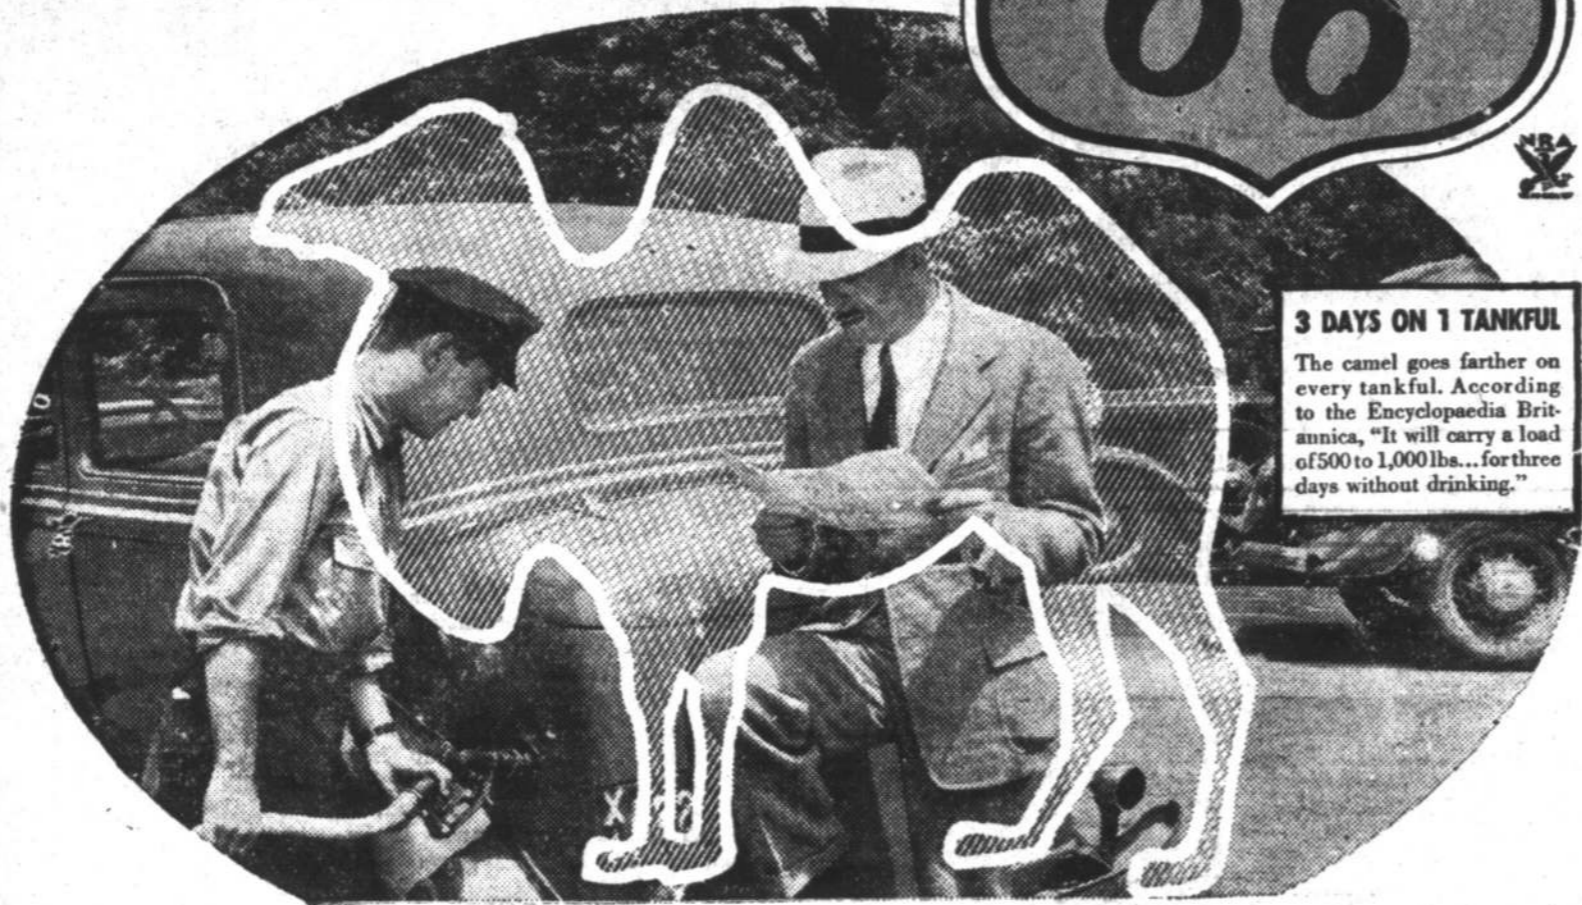

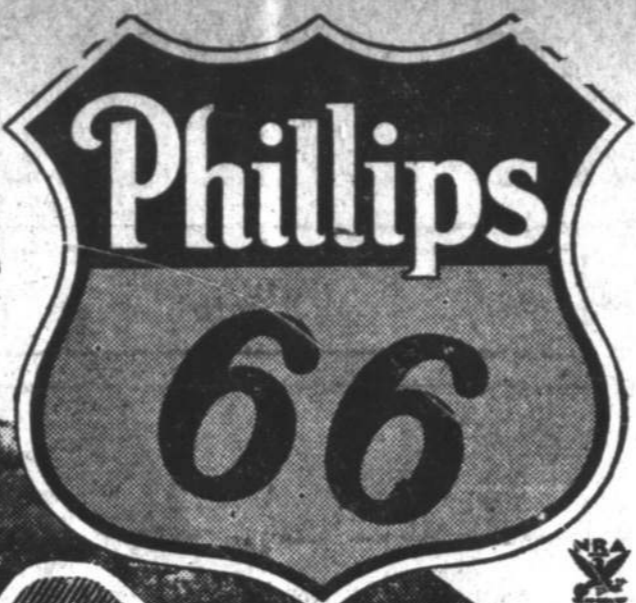

It is indeed a treat to have this educational feature in our community. Remember the time, next Tuesday, 3 P. M.

At 8:00 P. M. the Lamesa Luncheon Club will hear these guests at a chicken barbecue and all who desire plates should make reservations not later than 5 P. M. Monday afternoon of next week.

Miss Jesse Hastings is visiting friends in Colorado this week.

N. J. Allen of Amarillo spent the past week in Lamesa working for E. B. Townsend at the Corner Drug.

GOES FARTHER ON EVERY TANKFUL

3 DAYS ON 1 TANKFUL

The camel goes farther on every tankful. According to the Encyclopaedia Britannica, "It will carry a load of 500 to 1,000 lbs., for three days without drinking."

Every time you think of more miles per gallon, especially in hot Summer weather, think of Phillips 66... the greater gasoline.

It always delivers maximum power and miles on a minimum amount of fuel—every month in the year—because every month it is seasonally adjusted by the Phillips process of CONTROLLED VOLATILITY.

This makes it a superior Summer gasoline in Summer; a great cold-weather gas in Winter. Always, a sensational performer in your motor no matter when or where you buy it.

The success of this basic gasoline improvement, CONTROLLED VOLATILITY, has been tremendous. As motorists found out how it eliminated—in large part—the variations in engine performance caused by weather changes, they have rewarded Phillips with unprecedented sales increases in record-breaking short time.

Phillips invented, developed, tested, and perfected this scientific seasonal change of gasoline specifications. CONTROLLED VOLATILITY is accepted, acclaimed... and imitated! So whenever you read or hear of climatic adjustment of gasoline at the refinery, remember that Phillips did it FIRST... seven years ago!

This means that Phillips experience and facilities for custom-tailoring gasoline are today truly unmatched. The result is a gasoline so outstanding that you quickly feel the difference.

AUGUST GRAVITY 60.5° to 65.1°

Even one trial tankful will prove its cooler anti-knock power; its pick-up, speed, and economy.

Now is the time to test Phillips 66 in your car. It really costs you nothing to find out how much it will improve the performance of your motor, because it doesn't cost a penny extra to fill-up with Phillips at any Orange and Black 66 shield.

At this meeting five new members were added to the roll. The lesson for the day was from the Bible. The second Epistle of John was read by Mrs. Cecil Watkins. Talks were then made on "Mothers of the Bible and Daughters of the Bible."

Mrs. Hardesty, our member who attended the A & M Short course, very entertainingly told of her trip and thanked the club for making it possible for her to go.

cookies and punch were served by Mrs. Hardesty.

The club was then dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Hardesty.—Reporter.

EUDORA BRUCE TELLS OF SHORT COURSE

The Short Course at A & M helped us in so many ways it is hard to say what is more beneficial.

We can make our bed rooms more comfortable by using cotton from our fields, feathers from geese and wool from sheep.

We can make our bedrooms more beautiful and enjoyable by observing four things. First, remove all dust catchers, paper flowers and old calendars are good dust catchers; second, hang pictures that are restful and be careful that they are not too high; third, if we do not have a clothes closet in the bedroom, we should build one, as it helps so much in keeping our bed room straight and clean. Then again clothes can be kept so much better. Fourth, a bedroom needs a rug or two on the floor so why not add beauty by making a hooked rug.—Eudora Bruce.

CURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Both morning and evening services of last Sunday were well attended. The special missionary program of the local W. M. S. was one of decided help and inspiration. The offering for the Missionary work was very commendable.

At eleven o'clock the pastor will use the subject, "Divine Sustenance" At the evening hour the young peoples service will be in charge of Roy McFarland, the subject, "Think on These Things." The evangelistic service will begin at 8:15, the pastor using the theme, "Carelessness." We welcome any visitors that might be able to attend.

A. L. Dennis, Pastor.

Same as last year, old timer, we got to have 'em.

MR. HUNTER DOES NOT BELIEVE IN CONTINUING A TAX ON POVERTY

He says the law shall be changed so that those who have the means and reap the profits must bear the expenses of the government under which they thrive.

He wants to adopt the workable and successful plan that the United States has prospered under since the government was founded. No direct tax on real estate but on profits, incomes, production and luxuries. In other words, "Let him as gets, pay according to his getting." Mr. Hunter says this can be done and shall be done.

ROBBER'S ROOST

By ZANE GREY

COPYRIGHT W.N.U. SERVICE

On the porch. I took to the attic myself.

"If you don't mind I'll keep my pack inside, but sleep out under the pines," responded Wall.

When at length Jim carried his effects up on the porch Hays spoke up: "Jim, here's the rest of my outfit. . . . Fellers, scrape acquaintance with Jim Wall, late of Wyoming."

That was all the introduction Hays volunteered. Jim replied: "Howdy," and left a return of their hard scrutiny until some other time.

Hays went at once into low-voiced conference with these four men. Hays Jack hauled up the supplies. Brad Lincoln occupied himself with his pack. Jim brought his own outfit to a far corner of the porch. Then he strolled among the pines seeking a satisfactory nook to unroll his bed.

Jim, from long habit, generated by a decided need of vigilance, preferred to sleep in covert places like a rabbit, or any other animal that required protection.

At length he found a niche between two rocks, one of which was shelving, where pine needles furnished a soft mat underneath and the murmur of the brook just faintly reached him. Jim would not throw his bed where the noise of rushing water, or anything else, might preclude the service of his keen ears. There was no step on his side now, but he instinctively disliked the place. He would undoubtedly have chosen a nook more of these other kind.

He secondarily reflected the fact of honor among thieves. Jim had come to that conviction. This robber might turn out big in some ways. But could even he be trusted? Jim resolved to take no chances.

Not until the following morning did Jim Wall get a satisfactory scrutiny of the four members of Hays' outfit.

The eldest, who answered to the name of Mac, was a cadaverous-faced man, with eyes like a ghoul.

"What you from?" he asked Wall.

"Wyoming, last," replied Jim, agreeably.

Jeff Bridges, a sturdy, tow-headed man of forty or thereabouts, had a bluff, hearty manner and seemed not to pry under the surface.

"Glad Hank took you on," he said.

"We need one cattleman in this outfit, an' that's no joke."

Sparrowhawk Latimer, the third of the four, greatly resembled a horse thief Wall had once seen hanged.

Hays had said to Slocum, the fourth member of this quartet: "Smoky, you an' Wall shore ought to make a pair to draw to."

"You mean a pair to draw on," retorted the other. He was slight, wiry, freckled of face and hands, with a cast in one of his light, cold-blue eyes.

"No!" snorted the robber. "Not on! . . . Smoky, do you recollect the gambler Stud Smith, who works the stage towns, an' is somethin' of a gun-slinger?"

"I ain't forgot him."

"Wal, we set in a poker game with him one night. I was lucky. Stud took his losin' to heart, an' he shore tried to pick a fight. First he was goin' to draw on me, then shifted to Jim. An' Jim bluffed him out of throwin' a gun."

"How?"

"Jim just said for Stud not to draw, as there wasn't a man livin' who could set at a table an' beat him to a gun."

"Most obligin' an' kind of you, Wall," remarked Smoky, with sarcasm, as he looked Jim over with unsatisfied eyes.

"If you was so all-fired certain of that, why'd you tip him off?"

"I never shoot a man just because the chance offers," rejoined Jim coolly.

There was a subtle intimation in this, probably not lost upon Slocum. The greatest of gunmen were quiet, soft-spoken, sober individuals who never sought quarrels. Jim knew that his reply would make an enemy, even if Slocum were not instinctively one on sight. Respect could scarcely be felt by men like Slocum. Like a weasel he sniffed around Jim.

"You don't, eh?" he queried. "Wal, you strike me unfavorable."

"Thanks for being honest, it not complimentary," returned Jim.

Hays swore at his lieutenant: "Unfavorable, huh? Now why do you have to pop up with a dislike for him?"

"I didn't say it was dislike. Just unfavorable. No offense meant."

"Smoky," said Hays, "I won't have no grudges in this outfit. I've got the biggest deal on I ever worked out. There's got to be harmony among us. But Smoky bobbin' up agin' my new man—that's serious. Now let's lay the cards on the table. . . . Jim, do you want to declare yourself?"

"I'm willing to answer questions—unless they get nasty," replied Jim, frankly.

"You got run out of Wyoming?"

"No. But if I'd stayed on I'd probably stretched hemp."

"Hold up a stage for somebody?"

"No. Once I helped hold up a bank. That was years ago."

"Bank robber! You're out of our class, Jim."

"Hardly that. It was my first and only crack at a bank. Two of us got away. Then we held up a train—blew open the safe in the express car."

"Smoky, I call it square of Wall," spoke up Hays. "He shore didn't need to come clean as that."

"It's all right," agreed Slocum, as if forced to fair judgment.

Hays plumped off the porch rail.

"Now, fellers, we can get to work. Herrick puts a lot of things up to me, an' I ain't no cattleman. Jim, do you know the cattle game?"

"From A to Z," smiled Wall.

"Say, but I'm in luck. We'll run the ranch now."

"What'll I do, Hank?" asked Jim.

"Well, you look the whole diggin's over."

Jim lost no time in complying with his first order from the superintendent of Star ranch. What a monstrous and incredible hoax was being perpetrated upon some foreigner!

Evidently there had been ranchers here in this valley before Herrick. Old log cabins and corrals adjoining the new ones attested to this.

Jim passed cowboys with only a word or a nod. He talked with an old man who said he had owned a homestead across the valley; one of those Herrick had gathered in.

Jim gleaned information from this rancher. Herrick had bought out all the cattle men in the valley, and on round the foothill line to Limestone Springs, where the big X Bar outfit began. Riders for these small ranches had gone to work for Herrick. He was told that Heeseeman, with ten men, was out on the range.

Presently Jim encountered Hays, accompanied by a tall, florid blond man, garbed as no westerner had ever been. This, of course, must be the Englishman. He was young, hardly over thirty, and handsome in a fleshy way.

"Mr. Herrick, this is my new hand I was tellin' you about," announced Hays, glibly. "Jim Wall, late of Wyoming. . . . Jim, meet the boss."

"How do you do, Mr. Wall," returned Herrick. "I understand you've had wide experience on ranches?"

"Yes, sir. I've been riding the range since I was a boy," replied Jim.

"Hays has suggested making you his foreman."

"That is satisfactory to me."

"You are better educated than these other men. It will be part of your duties to keep my books."

"I've tackled that job before."

"So I was tellin' the boys," interposed Hays.

"As I understand ranching," went on Herrick, "a foreman handles the riders. Now, as this ranching game is strange to me I'm glad to have a foreman of experience. My idea was to hire some gunmen along with the cowboys. Hays' name was given me at Grand Junction as the hardest nut in eastern Utah. It got noised about, I presume, for other men with reputations calculated to intimidate thieves applied to me. I took on Heeseeman and his friends."

"But you really did not need go to the expense—and risk. I might add—of hiring Heeseeman's outfit."

"Expense is no object. Risk, however—what do you mean by risk?"

"Between ourselves, I strongly suspect that Heeseeman is a rustler."

"By Jove! You don't say? This is ripping. Heeseeman said the identical thing about Hays."

A STATEMENT FROM MISS BULSTERBAUM

Election day is at hand again, and you are confronted once more with the matter of making your choice from the "run-off" candidates for the various offices. Before you make your final choice for county superintendent, I ask your careful consideration of my candidacy for this office.

My almost continual contact with the rural schools of this county since my youth, both as pupil and teacher, entitles me to know something about rural schools aside from my other training I may have had. But of course, important as this knowledge of rural conditions is, this is not enough to qualify one for the office of county superintendent. To supplement practical knowledge, I worked my way through one of the outstanding schools of our state, the University of Texas. While there, I had the privilege of studying problems of rural school supervision under one of our foremost educators in Texas, Miss Annie Webb Blanton, who was formerly state superintendent of schools. Then, I have had an opportunity to become more or less acquainted with the duties of the county superintendent's office by reason of the fact that I served as office assistant to Mrs. Annie Baker Gooch, our first county superintendent. Finally I hold a permanent high school certificate which entitles me to qualify for county superintendent under the laws of Texas.

I am asking for the office of county superintendent strictly on my qualifications, my experience as a teacher, and my record as a citizen of this county. I do not desire special consideration, least of all because I am a woman. On the other hand, if you find me well qualified, as capable, as intelligent, and as honest as my opponent, I do think, in all fairness, that you should not hold my sex against me. Women can fill the county superintendent's office, and they are filling it successfully in many counties in Texas. Out of "Wal, Mr. Herrick, don't you worry none," interposed Hays, suavely. "Shore I don't take kind to what Heeseeman called me to your face, but I can overlook it for the present. You see, if Heeseeman is workin' for you he can't rustle as many cattle as if he wasn't. Anythin' come of that deal you had on with the Grand Junction outfit?"

"Yes. I received their reply the other day," rejoined Herrick. "By Jove, that reminds me. I had word from my sister, Helen. It came from St. Louis. She is coming through Denver and will arrive at Grand Junction about the fifteenth."

"Young girl—if I may ask?" added Jim.

"Young woman. Helen is twenty-two."

"Comin' for a little visit?" asked Hays.

"By Jove, it bids fair to be a lily-long one," declared Herrick, as if pleased. "She wants to make Star ranch her home. We are devoted to each other. If she can stick it out in this bush I'll be jolly glad. Can you drive from Grand Junction in one day?"

"Shore. Easy with a buckboard an' a good team," replied Hays.

Herrick resumed his walk with Hays, leaving Jim to his own devices. Jim strolled around the corrals, the sheds, down the lane between the pastures, out to the open range.

This Englishman's sister—this Helen Herrick—she would be coming to a remote, wild and beautiful valley. What would the girl be like? Twenty-two years old, strong, a horsewoman, and handsome—very likely blond, as was her brother! And Jim made a mental calculation of the ruffians in Herrick's employ. Eighteen!

After supper Hays leaned back and surveyed the company. "Fellers, we've

(To Be Continued Next Week)

162 counties in Texas having county superintendents 51 are women. This number is comparatively large when one considers that women have had the privilege of holding office only a short time. That they do their work satisfactorily is shown by the fact that many of them are serving a second term.

You have no reason to fear the curtailment of financial aids made available to rural schools by the legislature of Texas if I should be elected. As a teacher I have had to conform to the standards required for securing such aids, and if elected, I pledge alert leadership and hearty cooperation with teachers, trustees, and the state department in securing state aid, free high school tuition, and other financial aids and savings, for the courtesy you have shown me.

In conclusion I thank you again by giving me a place in the "run-off" a second time. If you feel that it is advisable to extend this courtesy by electing me, I shall do my best to show my appreciation in service. If you do not think it advisable you shall hear no complaint from me because being a Democrat, I respect the voice of the majority.

Sincerely yours,
PAULINE BULSTERBAUM.

GEORGE MAHON

We wish to thank the people of Dawson county for the splendid vote given George Mahon on the 28th day of July in his race for Congressman in this district and ask for their continued good will and support. To those who did not support him in the first primary we invite your consideration and support of his candidacy.

If elected to Congress George Mahon will represent ALL the people of this district. He is honest, capable and qualified to be the personal representative of every citizen in this district in any worthy undertaking.

Age 33. 26 years in the district. Serving fourth term as district Attorney.

Let's elect him to Congress!
Friends of George Mahon.

To The Voters Of Dawson County

Before you vote for County school Superintendent, think of the $90,000 that has been saved the tax payers by retiring and refunding school bonds. Consider the $94,000.00 Rural Aid that has been secured for the payment of teachers salaries. Remember the $20,000.00 that has been paid for the tuition of pupils where their grades were not taught. During any administration school taxes have been reduced 25 per cent, while the length of terms have been increased 25 per cent. Standards in general have been raised.

In the near future you are going to be less able to support your school from local taxes than you have been and will need the State and Federal support more than ever. Select the man for County School Superintendent that you think can be of most service to the taxpayers and school children of Dawson county.

Should I be your choice again I shall do my very best by staying on the job as I have in the past.

Sincerely,
W. T. WEBB
Candidate for County School Superintendent of Dawson County.

Mrs. George Canon has returned from a visit with Mrs. Joe Olive in Clovis, New Mexico.

To The Voters Of Dawson County

I hesitate to make a last minute statement. I really think most people have already made up their minds as to how they are going to vote in this election and what I shall have to say here will not change them. That is not my purpose at all.

I want you to know that I want you to vote for me and that I shall appreciate your support. It may be that because of inability I have not seen you and solicited your support personally. It has been hard for me to get around and see all the people. This is a big county and in it are lots of people to see. Please consider this a personal solicitation and an appeal for your support.

So far as I know this race has been a good clean one. I know my opponent and consider her my friend.

I want you to know I am ambitious to serve you as Treasurer and will do all within my power to make an efficient officer as is within my ability to do so. I need the office, but that is not going to control you and should not, you will choose the one you want to serve you and that is just what you should do. Of course I will be happy if you choose me, but if you choose my opponent I shall be satisfied that the voice of the people has spoken and will abide as a good Democrat should, by your wishes.

My qualifications are: high school graduate, year in West Texas Teachers Normal at Canyon, Commercial course, twelve years in Lamesa office and store work.

Yours very truly,
MRS. ARPLE OLIVER.

A LOT OF TIRES OWE JIMMY DURANTE

an apology

"Stupendous! Gigantic! Colossal!"
murmurs Jimmy Durante, humorous star of moving pictures, radio and the stage.

"Our tires are absolutely burst-proof!"
"Our tires outwear all other tires!" "Our tires are made by a super method that dwarfs all other tire-making methods!" shout one tire advertisement after another.

Motorists laugh at the flow of Durante adjectives. They're good fun. But there is no humor in a blown-out tire that was supposed to be burst-proof, as many car owners are finding out.

That is why many motorists are turning to Seiberling. They prefer to ride on facts, not claims. They know that F. A. Seiberling has been building good tires since 1898 and has more major tire inventions to his name than any other man.

If you are tired of riding on adjectives, come in and get the FACTS on Seiberling Tires. Learn about air-cooling and vapor-curing. Find out what experience and simple manufacturing honesty can mean in tire mileage, safety and economy.
