Germans Pulling Back To Rotterdam In Big Lowlands Withdrawal

Allies Break Into Last Nazi Stronghold Before Maas; Enemy Troops Split Into 4 Pockets; Drive On Antwerp Nearing End

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 30. — Allied columns paced by tanks and planes raced for the German escape bridges and ferries across the broad Maas and Hollandschdiep in Holland only five to 12 miles away today and Berlin radio asserted that a major withdrawal across that barrier to Rotterdam was in full swing.

Allied troops, breaking into the last of the chain of strongpoints before the Maas, entered Roosendaal, a city of 25,000, 12 miles south of the Willemstad ferry across the Diep, the sea arm of the river.

American armor plunged to within six miles of the Moerdikj bridge, one of the longest spans in Europe, and other forces fought to within three miles of the Maas and five miles from the Geertruidenberg crossing by capturing Oosterhout northeast of fallen Breda.

Nazis In Four Pockets

The German stand in all southwestern Holland and northern Belgium had been cut into four pockets, and military spokesmen said the German force was disintegrating under the concerted pounding.

The four pockets were below the Maas where the chief resistance center of Breda had been taken; on Beveland island; on flooded Walcheren island, virtually cut off by a Canadian drive to within 3,00 yards of the causeway connecting with Beveland; and a tiny six mile long, four mile wide corner of Belgium south of the Schelde.

The drive across flooded lowlands, laced by canals and dikes, in the campaign to clear the Schelde approaches to the Allied harbor of Antwerp, was gaining momentum and approaching a conclusion after some of the most difficult fighting of the war.

Nazis Fight From Islands

On Walcheren the remnants of German forces were fighting from islands within the island — bits of land and raised dikes around the principal cities of Vlissingen (Flushing) and Middelburg which stood above the flood waters loosed by Allied bombing of the seawalls. The Germans admitted many of their guns were under eight feet of water.

The German high command said other Canadians, after a violent artillery bombardment, had launched a major attack on Dunkirk, a remaining coastal pocket in France, and had achieved a "temporary" penetration.

Canadians and British fighting westward on Beveland north of the Schelde had taken the chief center, Goes, and pushed through Heinkenszand to within 3,000 yards of the causeway to Walcheren, virtually cutting the connecting link. They had captured nearly 4,000 of the 11,000 garrison on the two islands.

Below the Schelde they had

Terms Lenient For Bulgaria

Russian To Head Control Unit

(By The United Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Authoritative sources indicated today that reparations to be exacted from Bulgaria—when the amount is determined—will be considerably lighter than the $300,000,000 "in kind" that Romania and Finland have agreed to pay.

The Bulgarian armistice terms, released simultaneously in Washington, London and Moscow yesterday, followed the same pattern as those signed by the other two Axis satellites, but generally were considered "relatively lenient."

Bulgaria agreed to supervision by an Allied control commission, headed by a Russian and including a United States and British treaty with Germany is signed.

To Use Military Forces

She also agreed to maintain and make available her military forces for Allied use under the direction of the Soviet high command and, when hostilities cease, to demobilize her armed forces and put them on a peace footing under supervision of the commission.

The armistice terms revealed that Bulgaria already has withdrawn her forces from occupied areas of Greece and Yugoslavia and that she has agreed to help feed the population of those areas —the amount provided to be counted as part of her eventual reparations payments. The relief provision was in a protocol to the armistice.

Signed By Kennan

The armistice terms were signed for Russia by Marshal Fedor I. Tolbukhin and for the western allies by British Lt. Gen. J. A. H. Gammell. The protocol was signed by George F. Kennan, U. S. charge d'affaires in Moscow, Andrei Vyshinski, Soviet vice commissar for foreign affairs, and British Ambassador Sir Archibald Clark-Kerr.

Informed sources said a specific sum for reparations was not start-

Lubbock Women Are Suggested For Boards

AUSTIN, Oct. 30 (U.P.) — Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas was here today to present to Gov. Coke R. Stevenson a list of 44 women who have been suggested for membership on state boards or state offices to be filled by governor's appointment.

Judge Hughes said the names were not selected by the committee of women who recently met to protest against women being overlooked in state positions. She said it is a list compiled from suggestions sent to the committee from over the state.

It includes, she said, suggestions for membership on the state prison board and the board of regents of the University of Texas, upon each of which the governor soon will have to make three appointments.

The list is a starting one, Judge Hughes said, and will be added to later.

The list submitted included these names:

Board of Education — Mrs. Mary Woodward Doak and Mrs. H. F. Godeke, both of Lubbock, and Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview.

Public Welfare board — Mrs. Godeke.

Texas Tech Board of Regents—Mrs. Jud Collier of Mumford and Dr. Minnie L. Maffett of Dallas.

Yanks Hit Four German Cities

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP) — More than 800 U. S. heavy bombers attacked Hamm, Munster and the twin port cities of Hamburg-Harbur today.:

Germany's largest freight yards are at Hamm and the third largest serving the western front are at Munster. Hamburg area targets were oil refineries and processing plants.

The Fortresses and Liberators were outnumbered by 950 escorting fighters, many of which veered off on transport-hunting missions of their own.

The three-pronged daylight attack followed another sharp attack on Berlin by RAF Mosquitos last night.

The fast little Mosquitos also roamed far and wide over Germany, shooting up trains and road targets. Sweeping the areas from Peenemunde to Dresden and Stuttgart to Frankfurt, they knocked out at least 14 trains and left several others burning.

From more than a dozen operations by American and British planes over the weekend, beginning with a double attack on Berlin, fewer than 15 bombers and fighters are missing.

Boston Speech Due To Close FDR Campaign

BY LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—White House Secretary Stephen T. Early today threw cold water on reports that President Roosevelt would carry his campaign tour into Ohio, and indicated that his already-scheduled Boston speech —on Saturday—will be Mr. Roosevelt's sole remaining major appearance before election day.

There had been widely circulated reports that the President would make a speech at either Cleveland or Detroit this week. Early said a definite decision would be made within 24 hours but that as of the moment, the President still planned to spend the week in Washington taking care of important work.

Early told reporters that at the outset of the campaign, a number of Mr. Roosevelt's advisers urged him to go into both Ohio and Massachusetts. The President, he continued, told them he did not believe it would be possible to make both states and told them to make their choice. The advisers, Early said, agreed "unanimously" on Boston.

Weekend Trip Successful

But the just-concluded weekend trip to Philadelphia and Chicago was so successful, he continued, that Mr. Roosevelt's advisers again pressed him to make an Ohio swing. No final decision has yet been made, he added, but the President's original position "still stands."

Early explained that while the President has the benefit of two-way radio communication while he is traveling aboard his special train and can receive dispatches and reports quickly, he cannot keep up with his work quite as completely or quite as rapidly as he can in the White House.

The President now has no fixed campaign plans beyond the Boston speech and a tour of the Hudson river valley near his Hyde Park home the day before election with several impromptu speeches at nearby small towns winding up with a speech at 4:30 p.m. CWT, in front of the new postoffice at Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

President Feeling Fine

Early said the President was "feeling fine" after his trip which ended last night and took him into seven pivotal states.

Designed to show the people the state of his health, the journey just ended included two big night speeches in raw and windy weather, long, rainy hours in an open car parade and several

Postal Fees To Be Changed Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—Beginning Wednesday, special delivery and C.O.D. fees go up, but postal money order and insurance costs will drop.

Special delivery stamps for letters weighing not more than two pounds will cost 13 cents instead of a dime, while for non-letter material such as newspapers and parcel post items of the same weight class they will cost 17 cents instead of 15. Other special delivery charges are unchanged.

The Post Office department says the changes will put special services on a self-sustaining basis.

Newcomer to the money order field is the postal note. Its five-cent rate for amounts from one cent to $10 is expected, because of its simplified form, to make possible considerable savings to the department in the issuing and paying of money orders. As a result, traditional money order fees are reduced to a level which exisited prior to March 26, when the 1943 revenue act became effective.

Richard Bong Bags 33rd Jap Plane; One Destroys Itself

LEYTE AIRFIELD, Philippines, Oct. 29. (Delayed) (AP)—A Japanese plane destroyed itself while trying to escape the deadly guns of Richard I. Bong, helping America's top ranking fighter ace to run his string of victories to 33—the last trio bagged during his first seventy two hours in the Philippines.

The Poplar, Wis., pilot shot down 31st less than three hours after he landed.

He got his 32nd this morning without firing a shot and his 33rd a few minutes later.

Attacked Three Japs

Bong roared down Leyte field and into the air just as three Japanese fighter-bombers swept toward this airbase. He threw his Lightning into a steep climb and went after the last Japanese plane, which hadn't yet dropped its bomb.

Jockeying to get out of the way of Bong's guns, the Japanese pilot pulled into a climb and at the same time jettisoned his bomb to gain more speed. The bomb struck the tail of the Nipponese plane, and tore it off without exploding.

The tailless plane crashed into the water.

Turning to one of the other-two, Bong picked it up after another Lightning pilot had missed a pass. After a vicious dogfight Bong sent the Jap plane aflame into the sea only after one of the two engines on his own Lightning had been shot out, forcing him to come in on one engine for the first time in many combat missions.

Dispute Rages Over FEPC

(By The Associated Press)

A revision in the original text of Republican Presidential Nominee Thomas E. Dewey's Seattle speech, in which he mentioned the Fair Employment practices committee, because a topic in the political campaign today.

Speaking in Chicago yesterday, Vice President Wallace charged Dewey with "double talk" on the question. He said that full texts of Dewey's speech, as printed in the Memphis, Tenn., Press-Scimitar and in the St. Petersburg, Fla., Times, showed that Dewey had listed the FEPC as one bureau which had "smothered our labor relations."

Both newspapers said that their front page news stories of Dewey's speech carried the governor's statement urging permanent establishment of the FEPC.

Varying Quotation Cited

Wallace said the speech, as printed in Chicago, New York and St. Louis, quoted Dewey as saying "we shall establish the Fair Employment Practices committed as a permanent function authorized by law."

Paul Lockwood, secretary to Dewey, replied in Albany that "Mr. Wallace is a little balmier than usual."

"What Governor Dewey said on the radio was: 'We shall establish the FEPC as a permanent function authorized by law'," Lockhart said. "This is exactly what the Republican platform pledges, while the Democratic party plat-

Three Give Up After 14 Months In Hiding

SALT LAKE CITY, Oct. 30 (AP)—Three brothers lived in mountainous northeastern Utah and northwestern Colorado 14 months to escape arrest then surrendered to federal authorities rather than spend another winter in the rugged, isolated country.

Jay C. Newman, special agent in charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation office here, said the three were Andrew and Deloss Jackson, both charged with desertion from the Army, and Charles Jackson, charged with failing to report for military induction.

The three tired of their lonely life, Newman said, and asked a rancher in the locality to arrange for their surrender.

Battle In Prospect For Massachusetts

(By The Associated Press)

State officials now estimate that more than 44,000,000 persons will vote in the election a week from tomorrow.

And an unestimated amount of political oratory and other energy remains to be directed at getting these votes into what, variously, are held to be the right camps.

Much of the rest of the campaign will be packed into the Eastern and northeastern states, with President Roosevelt and Gov. Dewey both headed for Boston in the battle for Massachusetts.

Mr. Roosevelt is expected in Boston Saturday night, his Republican opponent is to speak there Wednesday night, reserving his own last-Saturday-night-before-election spot for Madison Square Garden in New York.

Dewey In Albany

Dewey is spending today in Albany.

Tomorrow night, Dewey is down for a talk in Buffalo, N. Y., at 8 o'clock (CWT) over NBC. Traveling from there to Boston, he will make stops at Pittsfield, Springfield and Worcester, Mass. He may spend Thursday in Connecticut and Friday in New Jersey.

Sometime in the course of these travels, a reply is expected to Mr. Roosevelt's Saturday night speech in Chicago, in which he accused the Republicans of having only a "me too" program for meeting the nation's needs.

Dewey's running mate, Gov. John W. Bricker, campaigned in Michigan today, his work there to be topped by a radio broadcast tonight from Detroit at 8:30 p.m. (CWT, NBC). He announced an eastward swing of 16 speeches to wind up the campaign, four of them hitherto undisclosed to be in the New York-New Jersey-Delaware area.

Stilwell Recall Leaves China's Fate Uncertain

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 — China has been plnnged headlong into a new military and political crisis by the recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell to Washington.

Information reaching here indicates that decisions which must be made in Chungking in the next three to four weeks may well determine the fate of the Chinese war effort from now on.

CHENNAULT IN COMMAND

CHUNGKING, Oct. 30 (U.P.) — Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, commander of the 14th U. S. Air force, was understood to have taken command of all American forces in the China theater pending the arrival of Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer. Chennault is the ranking American officer in the theater with the departure of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

Among American officials there is hope, but little real confidence that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek will be able to put his military and political affairs in order without further delay.

High Strategy In Balance

High strategy of the war against Japan hangs on the outcome.

Allied strategy has called for a drive across the Pacific, via the Philippines, to the China coast and a drive from interior China to the same coastal point. The ultimate objective was to equip China's manpower with American supplies and technical training.

Until this could be accomplished the aim was to keep pressure on the Japanese from forward air bases which had to be protected by Chinese armies. Recently the Japanese have forced evacuation of some of the best of these bases.

New Bases Procured

In a sense their place has been taken, however, by bases on the Pacific side, in the Saipan-Guam area and now in the Philippines. China sea shipping and Japanese cities which once could be reached only from Asiatic bases are vulnerable now from the islands.

The situation within China will come to a head in mid-November when the central executive committee of the Kuomintang is scheduled to meet. As controlling

Bolt Threatens In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 30. (AP)—Roosevelt supporters in Mississippi sought today to smooth out a renewal of the recent Democratic presidential elector revolt, which flared the past weekend and threatened to split the state's traditional unit bloc of votes in the electoral college.

Gov. Thomas L. Bailey and Judge Herbert Holmes, chairman of the Democratic state committee, declined immediate comment.

Three "rebel" electors declared Saturday in a joint statement that they would vote for Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia for president.

Ticket "Not Representative"

The three electors, W. G. McClain, Clarence E. Morgan and F. E. Everett, declared they were "convinced" that President Roosevelt and his running mate, Sen. Harry S. Truman, "no longer represent the Democratic party as we know it."

The state convention instructed the electors that they were not bound to support the party nominee unless the national convention accepted the state convention's stand on "states' rights," the two-thirds rule and the racial issue.

Presidential Vote Estimated At More Than 44,000,000

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—On the basis of incomplete registrations and qualified estimates of voters, state officials figure roughly that more than 44,000,000 persons will vote in next week's presidential election, including 3,392,000 service men and women.

This compares with the 49,815,312 who actually cast ballots in the 1940 election, but takes into account wartime dislocations in estimating the overall decrease, despite heavy registrations in big cities.

The state officials' minimum estimate compiled by the Associated Press today was 44,102,000. This was raised to 44,637,000 when higher figures were taken into account in eight states where officials gave varying estimates.

The vote forecasts were based on a combined estimate by these state officers of 60,766,625 registrants and other eligibles, compared with 60,576,979 estimated to have qualified for the 1940 election. These officials emphasized that official registration figures are kept only in a dozen states and that hence their estimates of eligibles must necessarily be large-

Heavy Air Raid Strikes Manila, Tokyo Reports

MacArthur's Advances Have Liberated 1,500,000 Filipinos On Leyte, Samar; Carriers Operating Off Philippines

By LEONARD MILLIMAN
Associated Press War Editor

Fresh from sinking or damaging 58 Japanese warships in the greatest naval victory of the Pacific war, American task forces are hurling hundreds of carrier planes across Luzon island at Manila from waters scarcely 100 miles away, Tokyo radio reported today.

The U. S. carriers were said to be operating several hundred miles northwest of Leyte and Samar islands where Gen. Douglas MacArthur has liberated 1,500,000 Filipinos in a land-consuming advance that outstripped Japanese gains in China.

Also countering the Nipponese advance on China's Kweilin stronghold was a powerful double-edge Allied offensives toward Bhamo and Mandalay that blossomed in North Burma on the heels of the recall of Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell.

24 Warships Sunk

The box score on the second naval battle of the Philippines announced by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz showed 24 Japanese warships sunk, including four carriers, two battleships and nine cruisers; 13 probably sunk, and 21 damaged.

This unprecedented victory, scored in last week's three pronged naval battle, cost the U. S. Third and Seventh fleets six warships, including "considerable casualties" on five that went down in the battle of Surigao strait off the southern end of Leyte.

In the air the Japanese lost 171 planes. Ten U. S. aircraft were shot down, carrying with them 18 airmen.

Only Two Ships Escaped

Possibly only two Japanese ships escaped undamaged by the merciless fire of American warships, planes and submarines. Nippon's losses, totaling 500,000 tons, exceeded the combined warship toll taken in the four greatest previous naval battles of the Pacific war. No modern fleet has been so badly mauled in a single engagement.

American submarines spotted and attacked 28 or 29 warships headed toward the Philippines from Singapore. Carrier and land-based planes bombed and strafed them as they split into two flotillas and threaded through narrow Philippines straits and into a double trap in the eastern Philippines.

Another force, nearly as large, speeding down from Japan was detected by a scouting plane. Combined U. S. carrier forces raced north to intercept, caught the Japanese by surprise 200 miles north of the Philippines. Carrier planes led in knocking out this task group as U. S. warships closed to within close gun range, then wheeled and raced south to aid in the route of the other enemy naval forces off the Philippines.

Unconfirmed Tokyo radio reports today said more than 200 U. S. carrier planes swept the Manila area in three waves Sat-

Russians Block Escape Route

Reds Liquidating 100,000 Nazis

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Oct. 30 — The last rail escape route for Germans in northeastern Hungary was blocked by the Russians today with capture of Csap on the upper Tisza river, while to the north Berlin reported further Russian gains in the liquidation of an estimated 100,000 Nazis pinned against the Baltic sea.

Csap, junction of four rail lines at the southwestern edge of liberated Ruthenia, was occupied yesterday by troops of Gen. Ivan Petrov's Fourth Ukraine army which fought their way 50 miles across mountainous eastern Czechoslovakia, Moscow announced.

A Berlin announcement said Soviet troops attacking in western Latvia had penetrated to the Priekule area 20 miles southeast of the Baltic port of Liepaja, and had captured Auce, communications center 70 miles east of Leipaja.

Moscow Communique Brief

The Moscow communique, one of the briefest in weeks, did not confirm the Berlin reports on the Latvia offensive, nor did it mention the East Prussian front, where heavy fighting has been raging along the Kaunas-Konigsberg highway.

(Berlin said Soviet attacks against the thick German defenses southwest of Ebenrode and south of Gumbinnen, important highway points, were growing weaker.)

The Moscow communique asserted that fighting only of local importance occurred along most of the vast battlefields scattered from the Arctic to the Balkans.

GERMANS UNPREPARED FOR WINTER FIGHTING

MOSCOW, Oct. 30 (AP)—With winter coming on and the Red army consolidating its fronts from the Barents sea to the Balkans, Russian field dispatches said today the German army was again unprepared for cold weather fighting.

Interviews with prisoners and observation of captured German booty indicated that Hitler for the fourth straight year has sent nothing new to his troops in the way of equipment—personal or otherwise—for the sub-zero days just ahead.

With deep freezes already taking place on some of the fronts the wehrmacht was still in regulation field boots and medium weight overcoats, and few, if any, gloves have been issued to the Nazi troops, these dispatches said.

FDR Is Best Friend Of Farmer-Bankhead

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 30 (AP)—Senator John H. Bankhead (D-Ala) said today that "a deliberate attempt . . . is being made to persuade the farmers that the President is not their friend," and added that "agriculture will go back to eating at the second table if the Republicans win."

Hailing President Roosevelt as "one of the best friends — the best as I see it — that farmers ever had in the White House," Senator Bankhead said in a political broadcast that he thought Dewey's "tactics are unworthy of a candidate for the highest office in the land."

The Senate agricultural bloc leader asserted that "the Republican record on agriculture is bad."

"Prior to 1932," he continued, "about all the farmers got out of the Republicans was the farm board, and if there ever was a case of too little, and too late, it was that unhappy venture."

Bankhead declared that "this administration has not only helped farmers financially" but has made possible the restoration of the land itself."

FDR'S Campaign

train-end speeches.

Political camp followers on this train and some of those who have been traveling independent now have the distinct impression that the President's health is the top conversational issue of this campaign. That is what the question-askers want to know about and it was "how he looks" that interests curb- and train-side crowds the most.

Exclaim About Appearance

You could hear them exclaim about his appearance as his open car wound among crowded Philadelphia streets and as station crowds observed him on the rear platform of his private car. The customers on the whole seemed to think he looked pretty good.

The presidential campaign train returned to Washington last evening. He had made short or long speeches in six states: Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Indiana, Illinois and West Virginia. In Lima, Ohio, there was a "slow down," which means that the train moved almost imperceptibly through the station where a big crowd was massed. Mr. Roosevelt stood on the rear platform there and gave the assembled citizens his campaign salute.

Those states add up to 128 electoral votes. Massachusetts, where he speaks next Saturday casts 16 in the electoral college. There are very tentative plans for a Cleveland, O., or Detroit, Mich., speech this week. The president will savor the reaction to the journey just ended and decide in a couple of days whether to swing west once more before going into New England.

Advisers Content

His advisers were content with results of this latest trip and they were fairly ecstatic over a train poll taken by Don Pryor of the Columbia Broadcasting company. Newspaper, radio and picture men aboard the special answered Pryor's questions yesterday en route to the capital.

In brief: The poll showed that of 39 persons participating, 28 favored Mr. Roosevelt's re-election and 11 favored Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican candidate. But what pleased the President's party was that 37 of the participants thought the odds favored Mr. Roosevelt's re-election. Two agreed that the contest should be an even money bet. Odds proposed ranged from even money on Dewey to 5 to 1 on Mr. Roosevelt.

The President climaxed this journey Saturday night before more than 110,000 persons in Soldier Field, Chicago. Other thousands were massed outside. He bid heavily for the business support which has been rallying around Dewey by proposing post-war tax inducements to help private industry create 60,000,000 jobs.

Proposes Expansion

Specifically, he proposed that the government should foster the expansion of private industry by financing through the normal investment channels. And he pledged to encourage large and small plant expansion and replacement to obsolete equipment by accelerating the rate of depreciation for tax purposes on the new plants and facilities built during the war.

America, he said, must remain "the land of high wages and efficient production."

"Every full time job in America must provide for a decent living. After the war, we shall, of course, remove the control of wages and leave their determination to free collective bargaining between trade unions and employers."

Must Not Isolate Ourselves

Mr. Roosevelt said that "never again must we in the United States attempt to isolate ourselves from the rest of humanity."

"I am confident that with congressional approval the foreign trade of the United States can be trebeled after the war — providing millions more jobs.

"Such cooperative measures provide the soundest economic foundation for a lasting peace. And, after this war, we do not intend to settle for anything less than lasting peace."

There was evidence of considerable revision in the Chicago speech which was not in final draft until a few hours before he was to go on the air. The President's advisers expected him to give the crowd something to shout about with some caustic reference to President John L. Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, and the Rev. Gerald L. K. Smith, America First leader, and some others whose names would have aroused the multitude to a frenzy of booing. But those passages were stricken, although the speech ran well beyond the usual half hour limit.

Mr. Roosevelt's last public appearance of the weekend swing was made yesterday at Clarksburg, W. Va., where he addressed a railroad station audience estimated at between 10,000 and 12,000 on the advantages of reforestation.

Mr. Roosevelt described the speech and the topic as my "Sunday sermon," emphasizing that he was not talking politics on a Sunday—that it was a comfort to be able to forget politics when Sunday came around.

A 31-year-old negro woman who admittedly was drunk raised a disturbance at 8:45 o'clock Sunday night aboard a City bus, after police said, "she tried to borrow a penny from the man she lives with and he wouldn't give it to her." M. R. Brothers, police patrolman, attempted to take her off the bus, at the station in 1100-block Ave. J, and she caught his badge, kicked him on the shin and "stomped" his feet. Brothers and two other patrolmen took her to the station by force. This morning she pleaded guilty of drunkenness and disturbance and was fined $25.

The insignia was a miniature submarine with three gold stars indicating "four or more sinkings or patrols of comparable importance." J. C. Brock, commander USN, submarine division 61, wrote that the Grampus was lost "when on official war patrol in confined and heavily patroled enemy waters, after bold and aggressive tactics that were very successful" and that Fireman 1/c Trego's performance had "materially contributed . . ."

Allies Make Gains In Section Near Bologna

ROME, Oct. 30. (AP) — American and British troops of the Fifth army have made new gains in the mountains southeast of Bologna, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Allied communique noted an improvement in weather conditions which have impeded progress of the British Eighth army and the Americans in northern Italy, but swift running streams and wide flooded areas due to recent rains kept the opposing armies still bogged down in the mud.

American infantry supported by tanks attacked the Germans north of Marano. Advance elements in a mile gain reached the area of Gasalecchio, only two miles from the Bologna Rimini highway and three miles southwest of Castel San Pietro, a main point on the highway 13 miles southeast of Bologna.

British troops pushed up Highway 67 leading to Forli, 37 miles southeast of Bologna, maintaining contact with German forces with drawing order to avoid being isolated.

Estimated At 88,600,000

The Census bureau estimates the number of "potential voters" —citizens 21 years of age and over —at 88,600,000 this year, an increase of more than 8,000,000 in four years, with women of voting age now exceeding the men for the first time by more than 600,000. Males were computed at 44,043,669 and females at 44,662,886.

It estimated 7,860,000 males in the armed forces over 21.

In Texas this year an estimated 1,567,000 persons are eligible to vote. Of this number it is estimated one million persons, including 80,000 service men and women, will cast ballots. In the last presidential election year, 1944, Texans cast 1,041,168 votes.

Settlement Expected In Texas U. Rift

HOUSTON, Oct. 30. (U.P.)—Texas educational leaders hoped today that settlement of the academic freedom controversy between the University of Texas board of regents and University President Homer P. Rainey may be reached during continued discussions among regents here tomorrow.

Regent Chairman John H. Bickett of Dallas, who approved meetings with a three-man faculty committee at the close of the regents' meeting here Saturday, indicated a resolution regarding the controversy may be forthcoming tomorrow.

Observers believed this resolution would be formal agreement by the board to meet with the faculty committee to seek some solution to the university's internal problems, which have revolved around Dr. Rainey and his charges the regents attempted to "gag" him and interfere with his operation of the school.

The regents concluded their two-day meeting here Saturday after discussion of the controversy, suggestions by top officials of the American Association of University Professors, and the compromise offer by Chairman Frederick Duncalf of the faculty committee.

Dr. Ralph Himstead, executive secretary of the AAUP, recommended that three economics professors who were discharged from Texas university because of their outspoken views on sit-down strikes be re-employed.

Voting Barred For Some Servicemen

Some of the men who have paid the most in wartime service overseas are barred from voting in the Nov. 7 general election — despite efforts of public law 277 to make the right of franchise available to those who because of detached position can't vote the regular ballot, either in person or in absentia.

An interpretation asked by County Clerk Ed D. Allen of Secretary of State Sidney Latham explained the "regrettable" situation.

"Several instances have come to the attention of this office in which men have been overseas many months and have just returned to the States without having paid their poll tax," Latham wrote. "It is regrettable to realize that these men could have voted at least the federal ballot had they remained overseas, but upon returning home they became ineligible to vote at all."

Interpretation Is Given

Here is the interpretation behind the statement:

"Public law 277 requires that in order to be able to vote the short federal ballot, the serviceman must have applied for a state absentee ballot prior to Sept. 1, 1944, and failed to receive it by Oct. 1, 1944. Affidavit to that effect is printed on the inner envelope containing the ballot and must be properly executed before the federal ballot can be counted. Such ballots are sent to this office first, and we in turn distribute them to the various county clerks, who by law are required to distribute them to the county election precinct judges having proper jurisdiction."

"Unfortunately," Latham wrote, "there is no method provided by either the state law or the federal law for men located within the United States to vote unless they have paid their poll tax. Those who have paid the poll tax are eligible to vote the same ballot in the same manner as civilians, irrespective of whether they are located in the United States or overseas; but those in the United States cannot vote the short federal ballot at all. Those in the foreign service may vote the federal ballot without a poll tax."

One Exception Given

However, in instructions to local election officials in how to accept and count federal war (the bobtail) ballots, Latham had written one exception to whom shall be allowed to vote the federal ballot, thus:

"The federal ballot cannot be voted except by servicemen and attached civilians located outside the United States, except members of the regular Army or Navy maintained during time of peace as well as war may vote if they are inside the United States. If you receive a ballot from a serviceman shown to be located within the United States, it cannot be counted unless he shows to satisfaction of the election judge, in addition to other information on the inner envelope, that he is a member of the regular Army or Navy. All volunteers or inductees under selective service and attached civilians must be outside the United States in order to vote the federal war ballot."

He further pointed out that "neither poll tax payment nor exemption certificate is required to vote the federal war ballot."

Five Candidates Certified

The federal war ballots are "write-in" ballots. A vote for a presidential candidate by name is to be tabulated by election precinct judges as a vote for the electors for president and vice president of the same political party as the candidate whose name is written in the ballot. The following candidates for president have been certified to Latham's office, and their political parties have a list of electors on the regular Texas ballot: Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Democrat; Thomas E. Dewey, Republican; Norman Thomas, Socialist; Claude A. Watson, Prohibition; Gerald L. K. Smith, America First.

Allen listed the following figures to show how the volume of voting the bobtail ballot and regular ballots, both in person and in absentia, is progressing: 144 regular ballots had been mailed to civilians for absentee voting, 14 of which had been returned to the clerk. Number of regular absentee ballots sent to service men, 500, of which only three had been returned. Number of federal service men's ballots (federal ballots) received by Allen, 110. Fifty-seven persons who plan being outside Lubbock county Nov. 7 had voted "in person" at Allen's office.

Voting Strength 16,000

Total "registration" for Lubbock county shows a potential voting strength of approximately 16,000, it was learned from H. B. Bryan, county tax assessor-collector, who had issued 11,422 poll taxes. There are sufficient temporary and permanent exemptions, Bryan estimated, to run the figure of those qualified to vote to 16,000.

In the last presidential election, in 1940, the total Lubbock county vote was 9,431, a general election record vote in the county. The vote in the first Democratic primary of this year was 8,277.

SKIN DOESN'T DRY OUT AS IT DID BEFORE
Here's a new kind of cream emulsion, especially made for dry skin. Wind, sun and everyday activity take natural oils out of skin—it becomes dry, leathery, lined, on face, and especially neck, hands, and elbows. A thin film of Chafix under your powder protects as no cold cream can because it forms an invisible shield that holds the natural oils. You can't see or feel this film, but you know it's there, because of the way its protective shield helps your skin retain its moist, supple smoothness. 35 & 60¢ for the big economy jar at

Notre Dame-Navy Tilt In Spotlight

Transfers Due To Increase Upsets

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—College football upsets were numerous Saturday but they are nothing compared to the form reversals expected the remainder of the season because of the naval and marine transfers which are slated for this week.

Army and Navy, of course, will keep their rosters complete and the Middies take on Notre Dame minus Chick Maggioli at Baltimore in Saturday's feature. It was Maggioli's 65-yard run, after taking a lateral from Bob Kelly, that brought the Irish a torrid 13 to 7 triumph over Illinois. Kelly and George Terlep, another back, also may be missing from the Irish lineup by then.

Army, which nicked Duke by a 27 to 7 edge, has Villanova as its next foe. The Philadelphia eleven loses seven players by transfer. George Balitsaris, Duke fullback, saw his final action against Army and won't be available for the Georgia Tech encounter at Durham.

Michigan which smashed Purdue by a 40 to 14 score, comes east for its tussle with Pennsylvania minus Capt. Bob Wiese, Bob Nussbaumr, Jim Aliber — all backs—and a pair of subs. The Boilermakers, carded for a game with Wisconsin, lose six of the men who oppose the Wolverines.

Penn, held to a minus 29 yards by Navy while losing a 26 to 0 contest, says farewell to Art Littleton, a defensive star at end, and two other mates.

Washington, which upset California, 33 to 7, no longer will have Keith Decourcey, high-scoring ace, and the Golden Bears, who tangle next with the staunch Alameda Coast Guard, will give up nine players, seven of whom are considered regulars.

Tulsa which was spilled by Oklahoma A. and M. for its first defeat in a scheduled game since 1941, is entirely civilian and will have its full strength for the clash with the Iowa Seahawks. The Seahawks won Sunday from Marquette, 26 to 0, while Oklahoma Aggies trimmed Tulsa, 46 to 40.

Southern California must finish its campaign without Gordon Gray and UCLA must do without Johnny Roesch. The Trojans, 34 to 7 winners over St. Mary's, go against San Diego Navy next and UCLA has a tough task in March field.

Saturday's encounter between Yale and Dartmouth will be one of has-beens, the Elis losing both their regular tackles and Dartmouth will be shy 24 Navy trainees. The big Green sailors spilled Rochester, 32 to 0, in their finale and Dartmouth conquered Brown, 14 to 13.

Penn State Surprise Loser

Penn State, a surprise loser to West Virginia, 28 to 27, finishes the season with 20 freshmen and six naval trainees following the disbanding of the Marine Corps there. Syracuse's civilians are Penn State's test this week.

Texas, spilled by Rice in a 7 to 0 struggle, tangles with Southern Methodist, dumped by Tulane, 27 to 7. Randolph field, another team with no transfer worries, collides with North Texas Aggies after taking the previously unbeaten Third Air force eleven, 19 to 0.

North Carolina, with 14 naval transfers missing, must tangle with South Carolina. Other southern games this week have Alabama at Georgia, Kentucky at Mississippi State, Lousiana State at Tennessee and Wake Forest at Clemson.

Two civilian outfits, Ohio State and Indiana, are booked at Columbus and Iowa's freshmen entertain Nebraska, a team which hadn't counted a point this season until spilling Missouri, 24 to 20. Iowa State and Oklahoma, a 34 to 19 conqueror of Texas Christian, meet with the Big Six title at stake.

The Norman, Okla., Navy Zoomers, who polished off Glenn Dobbs Second Air Force, 13 to 6, Sunday, are up against unbeaten Oklahoma A. and M. in a southwestern masterpiece.

Marshall To Test Scotties

Thomas Jefferson, Austin To Clash

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Conference play dominates Texas schoolboy football from Panhandle to Gulf this week but an interdistrict battle between Highland Park (Dallas) and Marshall gets a big share of the interest.

Highland Park, ranked No. 4 in the state, will be winding up its practice schedule preparatory to leaping into the district 6 fight and the Scotties may be taking on more than they can handle in this parting fling with sectional combat.

Marshall it was that played Waco, the No. 1 ranking team, a real ball game before losing by a touchdown. But despite this the Mavericks are down in a tie for fifteenth place in the state ratings.

The major battle in conference warfare will be at Austin where the unbeaten, untied Maroons play the team considered their chief challenger for the district 15 title—the Thomas Jefferson Mustangs.

Jefferson Has Ace Back

Jefferson, boasting the most widely-heralded back in the state—Trackman Perry Samuels — is one of two threats in the path of the Maroons, who weekly have moved up in the state rankings until they now occupy the fifth slot. Kerrville, also undefeated and untied for the season, is the other top challenger.

Other leading games in conference play are Pampa at Amarillo in district 1, Sweetwater at Abilene in district 3, Greenville at Sherman in district 5 and Jeff Davis vs Lamar in the Houston district.

Pampa last year upset Amarillo and the Golden Sandies have been living for this week and a measure of revenge on the Harvesters, who have performed in mediocre fashion this season.

Sweetwater, Abilene Clash

Sweetwater, one of the state's nine unbeaten, untied teams, takes on a Tartar in the comeback kids of Abilene, a team as dangerous as they come these days.

Greenville and Sherman are two of three undefeated teams in district 5 conference combat. Paris, a surprise winner over Denison last week, is the other.

Jeff Davis and Lamar, while their outside records are worse than spotty, are two of three unbeaten outfits in the Houston district race. John Reagan is the third.

Of the nine undefeated, untied teams remaining in the state, Sunset of Dallas has the outstanding record. The Bisons have won six games and the opposition has been unable to score. In the other direction is Texarkana, which has lost six games and failed to score while giving its foes 205 points.

In addition to Kerrville, Austin Sweetwater and Sunset, the undefeated, united teams include North Side and Paschal of Fort Worth, Waco, Tyler and Goose Creek.

According to the Roman writer, Pliny, boats were invented in Egypt and were first made of papyrus.

Duke and Mississippi State.

Holy Cross was the only eastern hope remaining and Iowa State and Michigan state were prospective Middlewest choices. Baldwin indicated both Tulsa and Oklahoma A. & M. were strong contenders among the Southwest outfits, by record of their 46-40 thriller Saturday in which the Aggies topped previously unbeaten Tulsa.

Rice, Texas Christian, Texas and Texas A. & M. also were in the running, Baldwin said.

'Possibles' Total 15 For Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 30. (U.P.)—Fifteen of the nation's leading football teams remained "possibles" today for a bid to the Orange Bowl here New Year's day, C. H. (Jack) Baldwin, chairman of the Orange Bowl schedule committee announced.

Of the southern teams, Wake Forest, which defeated Miami on the gridiron where the Jan. 1 classic will be played, and Georgia Tech, both undefeated, still were very much in the running, Baldwin said. Other southern teams included Alabama and Tennessee, both undefeated but both tied once,

Rice, New Power In Southwest Loop, To Meet Tech Saturday

Foes Wonder If OPA Could 'Ration Rice'

(By The Associated Press)

They say Rice is rationed in Japan, and members of the Southwest Conference would like to see the OPA step in and do something about the Rice situation in Texas, too.

Two conference games are scheduled this week-end, but Rice, the new champ apparently with two victories and no conference defeats on its record, plays a nontitle game and will be top man on the circuit's totem pole for two weeks, anyway. Rice meets Arkansas Nov. 11.

Texas To Meet S. M. U.

Texas university, toppled unexpectedly Saturday in Houston by the Owls, will play Southern Methodist university in Austin and Texas A&M tangles with Arkansas at College Station in conference games.

The Owls' perfect conference record won't be in danger but they won't be able to relax when they take on Texas Tech Saturday at Houston.

The conference eases up on intersectional play, with only one member leaving for other pastures. Texas Christian, the only other conference team undefeated in title play but with a tie chalked against it, goes to Savannah, Ga., to play Chatham field. TCU is second in the conference standings, and its position won't be threatened until it meets Texas Nov. 18.

Texas Roundly Outplayed

Rice, roundly outplaying and upsetting favored Texas 7-0, has a grip on the title and for the first time in the five years of Jess Neely's reign the Owls can be optimistic over the future. Oddly enough, the team they may fear most is the one that today is gracing the bottom of the standings—Texas A&M. Rice still plays Arkansas, Texas Christian and the Aggies.

The Aggie team, which trounced hapless North Texas Agricultural college 61-0 Saturday, is the leading offensive team in the circuit and can and usually does score on all comers. Further, Rice hasn't beaten AM since Neely took over.

Bad Day For Visiting

Southwest conference teams found last Saturday a bad day for visiting. They won only one out of three intersectional games.

Texas Christian fought Oklahoma gamely but vainly and came out on the title end of a 34-19 score, and Southern Methodist lost to Tulane 27-7 in a game that was much closer than the score indicated. The TCU loss was the Frogs' first of the season. They have been tied by Arkansas, which was Saturday's sole winner in intersectional play, defeating Mississippi 26-18 in a game which saw the lead change hands four times.

Sammy Snead Looks Good In Match Play

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 30 (U.P.)—Sammy Snead, the long driving Hot Springs, Va., professional, provided every indication today that he was up to his pre-war golfing form after winning a best ball benefit with Helen Sigel of Philadelphia yesterday in his first appearance since being discharged from the Navy with a back ailment.

Snead and Miss Sigel defeated Bon Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., and Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, the western amateur women's title holder, 5 and 4.

Snead's game off the tee was as good as ever and he appeared steadier than usual on the green.

Snead had an individual card of 33-33—66, six under par. The Snead-Sigel combination turned in a 62 while Hamilton and Miss Germain had a 69.

Luckman And Baugh Shine

Bears, Redskins Win Pro Games

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (U.P.) — Those master passers of the pros, Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears and Sammy Baugh of the Washington Redskins were back doing business at the same old stand today and it was more than coincidental that their respective teams came through with impressive victories in Sunday's National league football games.

Luckman, who flew to Chicago after returning to New York from a voyage with the Merchant Marine, regained his "land legs" quickly and completed 10 out of 16 passes to spark the Bears to a 28 to 21 revenge victory over the Cleveland Rams. The defeat virtually eliminated the Rams as contenders for the western division title and coupled with Green Bay's 14 to 0 victory over Detroit, practically clinched championship honors for the Packers.

Baugh's Play Typical

Baugh's activity in the Redskins' 42 to 20 victory over the Chicago Cardinal-Pittsburgh Steeler combine was typical. He highlighted his play with a fourth period interception after which he faded back and threw a 14-yard end zone pass to Bob Seymour. Players on both teams squared off for impromptu fist fights in the second period with Joe Aguirre of Washington and Tony Bova of the Card-Pitts, top pass receivers for their teams, being ejected.

The Philadelphia Eagles knocked the New York Giants out of the eastern division deadlock for first place, winning 24 to 17.

Augie Lio's field goal in the final three minutes gave Boston's Yanks a 17 to 14 victory, their first in league competition, over the Brooklyn Tigers.

The kings of Egypt have been traced by name back beyond the first dynasty, which started about 3,400 B.C.

Sports Roundup

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 — A young pitcher named Dick Blow was breezing through a game for the Albany Eastern league club one day last summer and shook off the catcher's signal. The catcher repeated the sign and again Blow shook his head. Then they staged one of those conferences where they shoot the breeze between the plate and the mound. In the course of it, Blow blew his top and they came to blows. Seeing what was in the wind, Manager Rip Collins stormed out of the dugout and chased both off the field. That night, Ripper handed the pitcher his release, saying, in effect, "Blow, Blow."

MONDAY MATINEE

Texas scribes see the makings of another Sammy Baugh in Sammy Jacobs, who pitches passes for the North Side (Fort Worth) Steers, one of the highest scoring schoolboy teams in the state. Wester Michigan college will operate two golf courses until time comes to use the ground to expand its facilities. Well, didn't Sonny always call on Par to help him through college? Harold Keller, who is bidding for a berth on the Maryland basketball team and likely will play baseball, is almost a double for his older brother, Charley, who was quite a college athlete before he joined the Yankees. The last time Andy Kerr, Colgate grid coach, heard where his son, Lt. Billy of the Navy, was assigned, Billy was aboard the carrier Princeton, which was sunk last week.

JAM SESSION

Coach H. E. Wishard of Graham, Tex., High school has a new and, he hopes unique, addition to the list of how to lose players. In addition to losing four games, he had lost several boys by injuries so during a practice session he decided to try out a third-stringer in the backfield. Wishard yelled for the kid to take his position and there was no answer. Another shout brought only a reply from another sub: "He's gone to see Harry James, coach." "To see who?" asked Wishard. "Harry James, you know, Betty Grable's husband." The coach didn't know — what losing coach would — that the bandleader was only 90 miles away in Fort Worth but he probably changed his mind about moving the missing boy up to the first string.

GIANTS OFFICIAL DIES

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (U.P.)—Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow from the Riverside chapel for Leo J. Bondy, 62 year old vice president and treasurer of the New York Giants' baseball club, who died in a hospital yesterday after a long illness. Bondy had been associated with the team since 1919.

WE note with interest that the State Department of Education is perfecting plans whereby Texas public school children studying Spanish next year will be conducted on a theoretical "trip down the Pan-American highway to Mexico City."

The idea is — and it's a good idea — to teach young Texans the tongue of their Latin neighbors and, at the same time, teach them something about Mexico. If the plan clicks, the following year the "trip" will be continued further southward into Mexico and Central America; and the year following that will be "spent traveling" in South America.

As is generally known here, Lubbock schools were "trail blazers" in the matter of teaching Spanish in the lower grades.

All over Texas, there has been a great and logical trend toward teaching more Spanish in ward and high schools, as well as in colleges.

We think the idea is very fine and are all for its continuation.

But we think, too, that as we teach more Spanish in Texas we should also teach better Spanish. And it's a lot easier to teach the former than the latter.

THE trouble with the Spanish taught in most U. S. school rooms is that it isn't good conversational Spanish.

By studying the language, the Anglo-speaking youngster can learn to talk something approaching Spanish and can learn to read the neighboring language very well.

But few schools are fortunate enough to secure Spanish teachers who have had experience living and dealing with natives of Mexico, or with other individuals whose basic language is and always has been Spanish.

As a result, the teachers who learned "classroom Spanish" from other teachers who got their knowledge in the same way, teach the sort of Spanish that, at its best, is stilted.

Some schools and colleges, even in these enlightened days, continue to teach the Castillian Spanish, which differs as sharply from the Spanish of Mexico as the English spoken in Britain differs from the English spoken in Texas. Obviously, this doesn't make much sense.

As is well known, Texas has within its gates many families of Mexican extraction. Included in those families are numerous well reared young girls who would make good school teachers after receiving the proper and required training.

It occurs to us that leaders of education in our state might do well to "recruit" some teachers from these sources and, wherever necessary, see that scholarships be provided to help them complete college courses and secure teaching certificates.

After college, then, these girls could go into the classrooms prepared to teach Spanish as it should be taught.

THE Plainsman has been thinking over this idea for a good many months. Back in the summer, we discussed it with William J. Hooten, editor of the El Paso Times who has been a Border City newspaperman for 25 years and who knows El Paso and the surrounding country on both sides of the river like he knows the back of his hand. Since his wife is a dietetic expert connected with the El Paso schools, Mr. Hooten also is more than casually familiar with the El Paso school system.

He said that even in El Paso they have had difficulty in getting Spanish teachers who can teach the language "as she is spoke," despite the fact that a knowledge of Spanish — although not required — is worth a great deal to anyone living there.

Mr. Hooten said he would like to dig into the possibilities of the idea before expressing an opinion, but added that his "off the elbow" reaction to it was good.

From where we sit, Texas schools should teach both more and better Spanish — and we don't know any more practical way of teaching better Spanish than by encouraging some of our Spanish speaking girls to go into the teaching profession in this state.

WELL, The Plainsman and Maj. Thomas Mitchell Potter, of LAAF, had the best intentions in the world when we credited the Optimist club with the erection of the "ride shelter" at Nineteenth street and College avenue. But the truth is, somebody crossed us up. It wasn't the Optimist club, at all, but the local Knights of Pythias lodge. Members of that organization gathered the lumber and constructed the shelter last July — and ever since have been looking for materials to construct a similar shelter on North Avenue H for the benefit of the boys at SPAAF.

It all happened as we attempted to find some individual or organization willing to furnish a similar shelter where the Levelland highway intersects with the road leading to the LAAF entrance. Major Potter, who only recently became LAAF's special service officer, didn't know the background of the College Avenue and Nineteenth street shelter, and neither did we. But the major checked all around town and was finally told that the Optimist club was responsible.

Johnny Corcorran, Acle Cope and E. H. Bergman, of the KP lodge, called to our attention the error, but they were more than reasonable about it. They said the fault had to be shared by the lodge, which has been aiming to put a sign up at the shelter ever since construction was completed, but hasn't been able to get a sign painter to settle down long enough to do the job.

But, anyhow, we want to apologize to the KP lodge and, at the same time, ask anybody who'd like to donate some suitable lumber for the construction of a SPAAF shelter on North Avenue H to get in touch with Mr. Corcorran. The KP's will build the shelter if they can only get the necessary lumber.

Incidentally, Major Potter happily reports that the item here resulted in the Veterans of Foreign Wars post pledging itself to construct the shelter on the Levelland highway near LAAF. Lloyd Johnson, of that organization, told the major the VFW would be delighted to be of such service, which is, of course, mighty swell.

NOTE to Mrs. M. L. Sullivan: Thanks for your good-humored ribbing about The Plainsman and "Pappy" O'Daniel being on the same side of the political fence. We really got a chuckle out of your remarks and the only reason your note didn't get in our letters-from-readers department is that it didn't arrive until after Wilbert Lee had been here and gone.

To tell the truth, you aren't the only one who has needled The Plainsman about being in the same camp with Wilbert Lee. Knowing our complete antipathy for that gentleman, a lot of folks have given us the works. For instance, here's a report of a telephone conversation between L. C. Ellis, an official of the Fourth Term organization, and The Plainsman a couple of days before Wilbert Lee hit town:

Mr. Ellis: "I think you ought to introduce O'Daniel when he comes to Lubbock."

The Plainsman: "I'll sure do it, Lou, I'll sure do it—PROVIDING you will introduce either Sidney Hillman or Earl Browder when they come here to speak!"

Mr. Ellis, an old friend of ours and a first class citizen, too, didn't have an answer to that one!

JUNIOR, born before his father got into uniform or shortly after he sailed overseas, has probably been a strong tie in holding his dad and mother close together — though separated by thousands of miles.

MILLETT

But he is likely to be something of a trouble-maker when his dad comes home — unless both mother and father use their heads and keep a sense of humor.

To begin with—if he is more than a babe in arms, his dad is sure to decide his mother has spoiled him. Chances are she will have, too.

For he has been her whole concern and her whole life in his father's absence. Anxiety over his welfare, because she has had sole responsibility for him, has probably made his mother coddle him too much, and cater far too much to his whims.

NEEDS DAD

AND if she has moved in with her husband's parents or her own for the duration junior is almost sure to be spoiled by too much attention.

Furthermore, he has been growing up without the steadying influence of a father's firm tone of voice.

Then, too, if the husband is at all inclined to jealousy he may feel the child takes up too much of its mother's attention—which he may feel should be concentrated on him, at least for awhile.

And the child, used to turning to its mother for everything, will unconsciously shut the father out at first, and probably bitterly resent suddenly having an additional boss.

But if both parents realize all this in advance they will get along all right. And in no time at all Junior will again be "ours" instead of "yours."

ELECTIONS IN WARTIME

Just as all Americans never entirely agree on any one point, there is a difference of opinion regarding whether or not an election campaign during wartime is hurtful to the war effort, or is a healthy thing for democracy.

While we are confident that many of our fellow-countrymen will disagree with us, we think, first, that the campaign has not injured the war effort; and, secondly, it is a credit to the nation that its free men are given opportunity to express themselves at the polls even while prosecuting a war of global extent.

At this stage of the war, the principal job is being done on the fighting fronts. The officers and men removed from the domestic scene certainly cannot have their attentions seriously diverted from the task at hand. Men don't argue—or think—politics when bullets are whizzing by them and bombs are busting all around.

As for the people on the home front, they are going to have their diversions and one of them may better be politics, and discussion of national political issues, than some others of the diversions which have been so popular during earlier months of the war.

Forthright discussions of issues of the day in some ways may very well result in the strengthening of the home front.

Past mistakes are paraded by opposing forces, and should act as a lesson to us all in the future. Plans for the balance of the war period and for the postwar era are described and explained which, in themselves, call attention of every citizen to the necessity of prosecuting the war to the earliest possible victorious conclusion.

While it is true that home-fronters spend a great deal of time talking campaign issues and arguing over the individual candidates, our guess is that most of that same time would have been spent, anyway, in arguing about football games, football parlays and football stars. The balance of the time would have been spent in other forms of discussion not nearly so vital to the nation's good, so, all in all, we think the war effort would not have been the net loser.

If our government is to be strengthened and our democracy improved from time to time, the strengthening and improvement must come from the people, via the ballot box.

One thing we must always retain in this country, war or peace, is our election system, regularly exercised.

Air Traffic Parley In Chicago Important

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—This week in Chicago one of the most important international conferences in recent history takes place. It will decide the air routes of the postwar world and will be an early test of our ability to iron things out with the other United Nations. The job will not be easy.

PEARSON

Five hundred air delegates and air experts from all the United Nations convene in the Stevens hotel for the air conference. It will almost rival one of the political conventions. Chicago was picked for the conference because neither crowded Washington nor New York had a hotel which could conveniently house so many delegates.

Already the issues are rigidly drawn—and some of the delegates are not too happy about them. The showdown is between Great Britain and the United States. Briefly put, here are their respective positions:

United States—We favor full and free competition across all the oceans to all countries. We want any U. S. aviation company to have the right to fly to London, Paris, Berlin, Cairo, Australia, New Zeland. In return, we would give other nations the same right to land here. The British and Dutch, et al., could put as many companies in the field as they wish and let them all land here.

Great Britain—Favors regulated air traffic by a few selected companies. In flying between New York and London, for instance, the British would measure the traffic. If 80 per cent of the passengers were American, U. S. planes would carry 80 per cent of the load. The Dutch would get 5 per cent, if they produced that many passengers, and each country proportionately. The same rule would be applied to other air routes.

ALL-IMPORTANT

WHAT the British want to avoid is having the United States put thousands of planes into transoceanic operation immediately after the war. They know we have both the planes and the pilots. We will need to use them. We can put so many companies flying on so many different lines that smaller countries won't be able to compete. As a result, the British argue, each country should go in for its own national line and subsidies.

President Roosevelt, on the other hand, believes that competition between all companies and all countries will sharpen air wits, make for faster, better air developments. He is dead opposed to cartels, either on the ground or in the air.

Most of the smaller countries, however, line up with Great Britain. They see no chance for their small air lines unless they do.

Basically, the question boils down to the fact that we have the planes, Britain has the bases. Her islands, dominions, crown colonies cover the seven seas. Neither country can fly without the other. This first step in international cooperation is going to be all-important.

Dewey likes silk pajamas in loud colors, though he dresses soberly during the day . . . The GOP nominee's shirts are also custom made . . . He no longer wears attachable collars, finds them a nuisance.

Public affairs make it difficult for Dewey to spend as much time as he'd like with his children . . . The two boys leave for school before their father gets up for breakfast, but dine with the rest of the family about twice a week at 6:30 p.m.

KEEPS UP WITH NEWS

EVERY morning after breakfast, Dewey spends an hour reading all the New York papers . . . After breakfast, Dewey frequently walks about a mile to his office in the capitol, is always accompanied by two big bodyguards . . . Once at his desk, Dewey finds a complete set of clippings carefully culled from the nation's press, concerning matters his aides think should be brought to his attention.

Since winning the presidential nomination, Dewey has less time for swimming, likes to bounce around the pool with Aide Lockwood and Publicist Jim Haggerty. Both Haggerty and Lockwood were crack swimmers in college, still easily outdistance their boss . . . None of his entourage call Dewey by his first name, all address him as "Governor."... Dewey gets to the theater about once a year, at other times sees movies on the top floor of the executive mansion, in a small projection room especially fitted for the purpose . . . Dewey's book reading is scant, is confined to subjects which he may be trying to bone up on, at the moment, for a speech.

HARD WORKER

LAST spring the one-time ham-and-eggs senator from California, Sheridan Downey, was considered a dead political duck. With wartime prosperity, California's ham-and-eggs enthusiasm waned. Republican politicoes long ago sharpened their knives, counted Senator Downey's scalp already in the bag.

Downey, however, has fooled them. Despite the fact that the Republicans have been spending money like water, have billboards plastered all over the state and are able to buy far more radio time than Downey, their candidate, Gov. Fred Houser, is running behind.

Recently GOP Houser has been blasting Downey on alleged absenteeism, claiming that he has been in Congress only 52 per cent of the time. Actually those who have watched Downey laboring in Washington know he is a glutton for work. Shunning the cocktail parties and social salons of the capitol, he gets to his office early, works late.

That is why the Republican charge has got under Downey's skin. Recently he sent Houser a registered letter, challenging him to debate at any time any place in California on the question of his absentee record or any other subject. Houser so far has ducked. Meanwhile, the irate Downey has confided to friends that he will bring suit against Houser—an unusual move in any political campaign—or take out an injunction to stop his attacks.

Southern California may no longer be the hunting ground of oldsters, but Ham-and-Egger Downey isn't ready to retire yet.

IN THE FRONT LINES Before Mateur, May, 1943—We're now with an infantry outfit that has battled ceaselessly for four days and nights.

This northern warfare has been in the mountains. You don't ride much any more. It is walking and climbing and crawling country. The mountains aren't big, but they are constant. They are largely treeless. They are easy to defend and bitter to take. But we are taking them.

ERNIE PYLE

The Germans lie on the back slope of every ridge, deeply dug into foxholes. In front of them the fields and pastures are hideous with thousands of hidden mines. The forward slopes are left open, untenanted, and if the Americans tried to scale these slopes they would be murdered wholesale in an inferno of machine-gun crossfire plus mortars and grenades.

Consequently we don't do it that way. We have fallen back to the old warfare of first pulverizing the enemy with artillery, then sweeping around the ends of the hill with infantry and taking them from the sides and behind.

Artillery Sensational

I've written before how the big guns crack and roar almost constantly throughout the day and night. They lay a screen ahead of our troops. By magnificent shooting they drop shells on the back slopes. By means of shells timed to burst in the air a few feet from the ground, they get the Germans even in their foxholes. Our troops have found that the Germans dig foxholes down and then under, trying to get cover from the shell bursts that shower death from above.

Our artillery has really been sensational. For once we have enough of something and at the right time. Officers tell me they actually have more guns than they know what to do with.

All the guns in any one sector can be centered to shoot at one spot. And when we lay the whole business on a German hill the whole slope seems to erupt. It becomes an unbelievable cauldron of fire and smoke and dirt. Veteran German soldiers say they have never been through anything like it.

NOW to the infantry — the damned infantry, as they like to call themselves.

I love the infantry because they are the underdogs. They are the mud-rain - frost - and - wind boys. They have no comforts, and they even learn to live without the necessities. And in the end they are the guys that wars can't be won without.

I wish you could see just one of the ineradicable pictures I have in my mind today. In this particular picture I am sitting among clumps of sword-grass on a steep rocky hillside that we have just taken. We are looking out over a vast rolling country to the rear.

A narrow path comes like a ribbon over a hill miles away, down a long slope, across a creek, up a slope and over another hill.

All along the length of this ribbon there is now a thin line of men. For four days and nights they have fought hard, eaten little, washed none, and slept hardly at all. Their nights have been violent with attack, fright, butchery, and their days sleepless and miserable with the crash of artillery.

Men Look Middle-Aged

The men are walking. They are 50 feet apart, for dispersal. Their walk is slow, for they are dead weary, as you can tell even when looking at them from behind. Every line and sag of their bodies speaks their inhuman exhaustion.

On their shoulders and backs they carry heavy steel tripods, machine-gun barrels, leaden boxes of ammunition. Their feet seem to sink into the ground from the overload they are bearing.

They don't slouch. It is the terrible deliberation of each step that spells out their appalling tiredness. Their faces are black and unshaven. They are young men, but the grime and whiskers and exhaustion makes them look middle-aged.

IN their eyes as they pass is not hatred, not excitement, not despair, not the tonic of their victory—there is just the simple expression of being here as though they had been here doing this forever, and nothing else.

The line moves on, but it never ends. All afternoon men keep coming around the hill and vanishing eventually over the horizon. It is one long tired line of antlike men.

There is an agony in your heart and you almost feel ashamed to look at them. They are just guys from Broadway and Main Street, but you wouldn't remember them. They are too far away now. They are too tired. Their world can never be known to you, but if you could see them just once, just for an instant, you would know that no matter how hard people work back home they are not keeping pace with these infantrymen in Tunisia.

Highest Award Given San Antonio Officer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30 (AP) — The Congressional Medal of Honor has been conferred posthumously on Lieut. Robert G. Cole who personally led his battalion in a bayonet charge which turned a stalemate into an advance.

The action occurred at Carentan on July 11, five days after the landings in Normandy, the War department said in announcing the award. Cole, a parachute infantryman, was killed in Holland September 18. The medal will be presented to his mother, Mrs. Clara Cole, at Fort Sam Houston, Texas, today by Major General Jonathan W. Anderson, commanding general of the 36th corps.

His widow lives at 103 Wildwood Drive, San Antonio, Texas.

Crisis In France Precipitated By Ban On Arms For Civilians

PARIS, Oct. 30. (AP) — Predictions of nation wide demonstrations accented today an incipient crisis precipitated by the De Gaulle government's action in forbidding everyone except the regular army and police to bear arms.

The order, apparently directed at Communist partisan elements who have defied the government's authority, particularly in southern France, met instant opposition from the influential National Resistance council, brains of the French underground during the German occupation.

The council declared that the patriotic milice (militia)—an anti-Vichy guerrilla organization largely communistic — should be given legal status, and questioned the government's right to decide the future of the militia without consulting the council.

To Enforce Decree

At a conference with a delegation from the council De Gaulle said the government would insist that the decree be despected.

De Gaulle's office issued a statement asserting "the government has the strict duty to insure that henceforth no armed group should remain in liberated territory outside the army or police." The government paid full tribute to "the fighting contributions by the militia during the liberation."

The order presumably does not affect the French Forces of the Interior, which have been integrated — at least in theory — into the French army.

The Communist newspaper "Humanite" asserted that the armed bands were directing their energies against pro-German elements still commenting acts of terrorism in southern France.

Political Campaign

Mass) declaring "heart and soul for the success of our entire ticket." Walsh frequently criticised the Roosevelt administration on foreign policy grounds prior to Pearl Harbor.

Boston was the scene of a Sunday news conference by Sen. Truman, the Democratic vice presidential nominee. Also in on the conference was Andrew J. Higgins, New Orleans shipbuilder backing the fourth term, who said "whispered questions as to the President's health" are "pure unadulterated bunk."

PAC Under Fire

Washington developments included the release of a report by a subcommittee of the House Committee on Un-American activities (Dies committee). This said that the CIO Political Action committee and the National Citizens Political Action committee "are now the rallying point for the Communist party and its Allied groups and organizations to rise to power by taking control of a major political party."

Chairman Sidney Hillman of the PAC commented, "its charges are just propaganda and falsehoods, which have been repeated many times—simply a part of the campaign to defeat the New Deal."

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE SEFSION IN NEW YORK

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 30. (U.P.)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey took time out from his presidential campaigning today to convene a special session of the New York state legislature.

The legislature was called to extend voting hours in New York state Nov. 7 by two hours, and was expected to complete its work promptly.

The only possible stumbling block in sight was the plan of Assemblyman Irwin Steingut, Brooklyn, and Sen. John J. Dunnigan, Bronx, minority leaders in their respective houses, to ask Dewey to expand his special session call to permit extension of time for receiving absentee ballots from overseas.

The present law provides that all absentee ballots must be received by Nov. 3 and be counted on election day. Dewey's call for the special session limits its agenda to a two-hour extension of polling hours and adjustment of compensation for election workers.

Under present law polling places are open from 6 a.m. to 7 p.m. the two hour extension, until 9 p.m. was proposed to accomodate principally the heavy registration of 3,217,751 voters in New York City.

Platform Collapse Only Hurts Dignity

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 30 (U.P.)—The Democratic platform collapsed—literally—during a rally here over the weekend.

Gov. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma had just concluded a sizzling oration in which he paid satirical tribute to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's "sustained and unbroken record of going off 'half-cocked.'" At that point the speakers' platform sagged and collapsed.

No injuries, except a lot of damaged dignity among dignitaries.

Battleship Richelieu Said In Philippines

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 30. (AP)—The Tokyo radio hinted today that the French battleship Richelieu has reached Far Eastern waters and joined the American fleet now operating about the Philippines.

"It is reported that part of the Australian and French fleets are included among the enemy units damaged by the Japanese in the Philippines battle. The French battleship Richelieu was reported to have reached Far Eastern waters."

BLUE MONDAY HITS MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 30 (AP) — It was another Blue Monday for the stock market today — the fourth one in a row — and, while there were scattered exceptions, leading issues sold down fractions to more than a point.

The ticker tape loafed frequently and transfers for the full proceedings tapered to around 600,000 shares. Extreme setbacks were reduced here and there near the close but losses were widespread.

Dividends and earnings propped individual favorites and helped keep liquidation at a minimum.

Prominent on the offside were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, Johns-Manville, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Western Union "A", Kennecott, Douglas Aircraft, Sears Roebuck and Philip Morris. Grumman Aircraft managed to post a new 1944 peak and modest support was accorded American Telephone, Pennsylvania, Westinghouse and International Harvester.

Bonds were mixed.

Blast Wrecks Home; Woman Dies Of Burns

DALLAS, Oct. 30 (U.P.) — Multiple burns received yesterday when a gas explosion wrecked her home proved fatal today Mrs. E. D. Rodgers, 23-year-old restaurant employe.

Mrs. Rodgers died in a hospital as a result of first, second and third degree burns inflicted in the blast and ensuing fire.

Investigators said that the blast, which blew out two of the residence's four walls, apparently resulted when an accumulation of gas within the house, whose windows and doors were shut, was ignited by a burning gas heater.

Fire Marshal B. C. Hilton said that every gas jet in the home was open.

Three votes were cast in the four hours County Clerk Ed D. Allen kept his office open Sunday afternoon as a convenience to those who expect to be away Nov. 7, date of the general election. But today's volume was accelerated—20 having voted by 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Postwar plans for the city of Lubbock were discussed by Mayor O. W. Ribble at the luncheon of Lubbock Junior Chamber of Commerce today in Hilton hotel. He was introduced by Cliff Cummings, president, who presided. Other speakers were Major Bernard C. Morris of Dallas, public relations director of the Salvation Army, and Capt. Ralph Porges of the U. S. Public Health service.

British Take Kozane After Sharp Battle

ROME, Oct. 30 (AP) — British troops have captured Kozane, 58 miles southwest of Salonika, after the first sharp battle with retreating Germans in northern Greece, Allied headquarters announced today.

The Allied communique said casualties were inflicted on the Nazis in a spirited fight west of the town, which is 40 miles from the Yugoslav border and is on one of the main escape routes for the Germans.

The British entered the town at 2:45 p. m. yesterday, and were given an enthusiastic welcome by the populace, the communique added.

Advance British patrols maintained contact with the Germans as they fled northward.

Stilwell's Recall

agent of China's one party, the committee is the most powerful political organ in the country.

Before it will be charges recently framed and published at Chungking by the advisory people's council. The council sharply criticized some of the leaders serving with Chiang. It attacked the military administration on the ground that conditions of the troops were bad.

Chinese Leadership Incompetent

These criticisms accorded with the reported observations of American experts who have visited the country in the last two years: The Chinese soldiers are brave, tough, loyal troops, but their top leadership in all too many instances is incompetent, ineffective and closed to outside suggestions for improvement.

Stilwell and Chiang Kai-Shek have both worked hard to keep free China battling, even though isolated except for the supplies flown "over the hump." But personal relations of the two men have been poor since they gambled on and lost the battle for Burma in 1942. That closed the last links of the Burma road, sealed China against supply by land.

Saturday night an anonymous Chinese official said in New York that Chiang had demanded Stilwell's withdrawal, but in informed quarters here it was indicated that in recalling him Mr. Roosevelt — by allowing immediate announcement of an important new assignment — had sought to make it clear that he intended no slight to the general. Only recently he was promoted to the rank of full general.

Moreover one authority familiar first hand with affairs in China said that Stilwell's successor, Maj. Gen. A. C. Wedemeyer, whatever his disposition, would not be able to accomplish anything beyond what Stilwell has already done unless Chiang is able to put through some revolutionary reforms.

"It's all up to the Chinese now," this official said.

G. N. Holton Dies In Austin Home Sunday

AUSTIN, Oct. 30. (U.P.)—Gideon N. Holton, 78, who has been state treasurer, state fire insurance commissioner, and holder of other minor posts in the state government over a period of years, died here Sunday. His last post was with the state health department from which he retired recently as chief clerk.

The funeral was to be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock with burial in Austin.

Survivors include his three daughters, Mrs. Frank Lyons of El Paso, Mrs. Paul Moore of McAllen, and Mrs. E. N. Stuart of Austin; two sons, F. P. Holton of Austin and Lt. Commander Barry Holton of Dallas, and a brother, Dr. R. W. Holton, Terrell, Tex.

Russia Will Not Take Part In Aviation Meet

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—Russia will not participate in the impending international conference on civil aviation at Chicago because some governments unfriendly to the Soviet union have been invited, the Moscow radio announced last night.

Six Russian aviation officials who passed through Winnipeg, Canada, during the weekend declined to disclose their destination. When the Russians reached Canada by plane on Oct. 25 it was understood they were en route to Chicago for the conference

O'Daniel Show Due In Austin Tonight

AUSTIN, Oct. 30. (U.P.)—U. S. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel and his hillbilly band will bring the Texas Regulars' anti-Roosevelt campaign here tonight.

He was expected to arrive about 4 o'clock from Waco, where he was to speak this afternoon.

O'Daniel's Austin speech will be in Wooldridge park, and the anticipated crowd was expected to be as great as when he packed the outdoor area during his gubernatorial and senatorial campaigns.

He will go from Austin to Luling tomorrow afternoon and on to San Antonio that night.

Meanwhile, Regulars' Campaign Manager Merritt Gibson, Longview, outlined his view of how the "Roosevelt-Truman-Hillman-Dubinsky-Browder crowd" might "steal" the Texas election.

On basis of 850,000 votes being cast in Texas, Gibson hypothetically divided it 350,000 for Texas Regulars, 1000,000 for Republicans, the remainder for Roosevelt. On this basis, he said, the Republican votes would be wasted, whereas if combined with the Regulars the New Deal opposition would win.

"What we Texas Regulars want to know is whether those Democratic electors of the New Deal will still cast their vote for Roosevelt and Truman in face of the will of the majority," Gibson said.

U. S. To Encourage Ministers' Meeting

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29 (AP) — Acting Secretary of State Stettinius said today that this government certainly would do nothing to discourage a meeting of the foreign ministers of the American nations.

He spoke at a press conference in response to questions on Argentinians' formal request to the Pan American union that a meeting be called to consider the fact that practically none of the other American nations now have diplomatic relations with Argentina.

Stettinius said that he would attend on behalf of Secretary Hull the meeting of the governing board of the Pan American union Wednesday and that he could not say in advance either what the American position on the Argentina request specifically would be or could he predict what action the board might take.

Murder Charges Filed Against 3 Negroes

HOUSTON, Oct. 30 (U.P.)—Three youthful negroes, confessed slayers of Clarence W. Edwards, 39-year-old Houston shipyard worker, were in the hands of city police here today following their return from San Antonio, where they were captured Saturday.

The negroes, Julius Harper, 18; Joe Davis, 18, and Ernest King, 17, all of Houston, admitted that they brutally murdered Edwards a week ago and mutilated his body with a small knife. Murder charges were filed immediately.

One of the negroes told police a gruesome story of how he and his companions slashed Edwards' throat, stabbed him in the back and dragged him into a woods near Houston. Once inside the woods, he said, they fiendishly hacked off the man's hands and left foot.

Mysterious Explosion Kills Houston Man

HOUSTON, Oct. 30. (U.P.) — An official police and fire department investigation was underway today into the cause of a mysterious explosion which killed Max Fisher, 57, and demolished the entire front of his Houston home.

Mrs. Fisher told police she and her husband had just returned from church yesterday and that her husband had walked into the living room when the blast occurred. She was in the kitchen preparing their Sunday dinner at the time, she said.

One theory was that gas had formed under the front of the house and was ignited in some manner.

SENATOR TO RESIGN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30. (AP)—Senator Bone (D-Wash) said today he will resign "very shortly" to accept a judgeship on the Ninth federal circuit court of appeals to which he was appointed April 1.

Terry County Host At USO Saturday

Indicative of hospitality the South Plains has organized for Lubbock United Service organization, Terry county Saturday night brought food for 2,600 persons, said Miss Leona Gelin, USO director.

"Every scrap had been eaten by midnight," Miss Gelin said. "There were 45 huge cakes baked by Brownfield women; hundreds of sandwiches made by home demonstration clubs of Terry county were served, and you can imagine how much coffee, donated by Terry county merchants."

Hostesses were Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Locke and Mr. and Mrs. Odell Lowe, all of Meadow; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Herod, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hord, Mrs. Roger Clapp, Mrs. Truett Flache, Mrs. Jack Stricklin, jr., Mrs. A. J. Stricklin, sr., and Miss Mozelle Reast, all of Brownfield.

"Numerous counties have assumed host and hostess responsibilities at the USO, and others, or organized groups from any county outside Lubbock, are invited to call and volunteer similar service," Miss Gelin said.

form did not dare to mention the subject. Mr. Wallace can hardly hold any Republican responsible for what is printed in Florida newspapers."

Reporters who accompanied Dewey recalled that the original text issued by James C. Hagerty, the governor's executive assistant, included the FEPC among criticized agencies. Later, Hagerty asked that the text be corrected to eliminate the FEPC from the list and to insert the statement urging permanent establishment of the agency.

Political "Hot Potato"

The St. Petersburg Times commented today that the "FEPC is a political hot potato. Negroes and foreign-born voters in northern cities love the FEPC, while many southerners abhor it." The Times said "Dewey and his staff must plead guilty to one of three excuses for their Seattle somersault:

"'1. It was a deliberate trick to show that Dewey was against the FEPC in the South, and by changing the text at the last minute Dewey could be for the FEPC in home editions of GOP newspapers in the North.

"2. Dewey and his staff were ignorant of the importance of the FEPC until it was called to their attention after releasing the text of the Seattle speech.

"3. Dewey and his staff are just plain inefficient."

The St. Petersburg Times said its page one story did record the change.

Game Of Commandos Proves Too-Realistic

NEW YORK, Oct. 30. (AP)—Deputy Chief Inspector John J. O'Connor said today that a too-realistic game of commandos led to the strangulation death of four-year-old William Drach yesterday.

The boy was found by his father, John Drach, a Bronx apartment house superintendent, bound and gagged in the dumb-waiter shaft of the building.

Inspector O'Connor said an older brother, Robert, eight, tied William with a clothesline about the neck, secured his hands behind his back, tied his feet and roped arms and legs together. Two handkerchiefs were wrapped around William's face.

Although police yesterday temporarily listed the case as homicide, Inspector O'Connor and Assistant District Attorney Arthur Carney said today they believed they death was accidental.

Jap Prisoners Killed In Attempt To Escape

DENVER, Oct. 30 (AP) — Three Japanese naval prisoners, who more than two months ago failed in a hari-kari attempt, were shot and killed at Fitzsimons General hospital last night when they rushed the guards in a mutiny.

Brig. Gen. Omar H. Quade, commanding officer at Fitzsimons who announced the outbreak today, said a board of officers will investigate. A guard is being held in technical detention.

The three Japanese, who were captured in the South Pacific, sought to commit harj-kari last August 11. Two slashed themselves across the abdomen and the third inflicted a cut on his head, but the attempt failed when guards found them in time and they were treated by physicians.

All three were tuberculosis patients.

urday and on Sunday Japanese planes began attacking an American carrier task force in Lamon bay on the east coast of Luzon opposite Manila. Four carriers were reported in the group.

Infantry and tank troops driving through the rain and mud of the Philippines broke up all organized resistance in Leyte valley which MacArthur said "for all practical purposes is ours."

Jap Garrisons Wiped Out

Japanese garrisons were wiped out along 212 miles of the coastline extending from Carigara in the north to the southern tip of Panaon island in the south. The lower third of Leyte island was conquered by guerrillas and the 21st infantry regiment. On adjacent Samar, MacArthur announced "the small garrisons are helpless and can be destroyed at will."

Schools and churches were reopened on Leyte and Samar for the first time since the Nipponese overran the islands two and a half years ago.

Japanese columns speeding up their drive to cut China in two smashed deeper into the outskirts of Kweilin, last formidable Chinese stronghold in their path. Fierce fighting was reported 13 miles north and 10 miles east of the city.

Chinese Troops Advance

In North Burma's general offensive, Chinese troops advanced 57 miles in their drive south from Myitkyina to reopen highway routes to China. They overran scant opposition to occupy the village of Myothit, 24 miles north of Bhamo, a road junction near the China border.

Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten announced the British 36th division, pushing through North Burma's ceintral valley toward Katha, has driven 26 miles down the Myitkyina - Mandalay - Rangoon railway.

Chungking said Allied troops cleared Japanese out of 2,000 square miles of North Burma in two weeks of preparing for the new offensive.

driven south until they had pushed the Germans entirely out of Holland into Belgium where the Germans held a six-mile coastal strip northwest of Brugge, including the towns of Knocke and Heyst, and running inland four miles to the town of Sluis. Cadzand, Zuidzande and Retranchement were captured. Only a few hundred Germans remained here after the capture of 6,000, 500 of them taken yesterday.

To the east a four-day German counterthrust by two armored divisions, supported by tanks, planes and much artillery, had gained headway, but it was too late to be of great aid to the remnants of 40,000 German troops being pushed against the Maas.

This thrust, from between Venlo and Roermond against the British Second army's East Holland front, had swept through American-held Meijel and Liesel, progressed some 4,000 yards from Meijel toward Asten, and reached the vicinity of Nederweert, only two miles from Weert.

Few Miles Gained

It apparently had gained a few miles and reached to within 15 miles of Eindhoven, but field dispatches said the German drive was being contained, and 15 of the enemy's 50 tanks were knocked out yesterday.

Tank-led Allied troops, now including Americans under First Canadian army command, were crashing through thin German rearguards and retreating columns toward the Moerdijk bridge, only crossing of the mile and a half wide Maas in the central sector. Strafing planes ripped the openly-fleeing enemy.

A British army spokesman said the fall of Breda had brought about the "disintegration" of the enemy below the water barrier, the first of several major water barriers lying between the Allies and Rotterdam, 20 miles to the north. Already a bag of 8,000 prisoners had been taken below the river and it was expected to grow to 20,000.

American First army patrols felt out Nazi strength in the Aachen sector.

Far to the south, American Seventh army troops captured Jussarupt, 13 miles east of the French city of Epinal, but Berlin claimed recapture of the dominating heights in the Bois de la Madelaine, 22 miles northeast of Epinal.

Allied Use Of Port Antwerp Imminent

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

The Allies have been doing a workmanlike job over the weekend in ousting the Germans from bitterly disputed southwest Holland, and the task nears completion.

This means that the great port of Antwerp in neighboring Belgium shortly will be available for the movement of much needed supplies to support the Allied assault on the Siegfried defenses. Thus far the Nazis heavy artillery has been able to block shipping by commanding the estuary of the river Scheldt on which Antwerp lies.

There also has been an unusually heavy bombing of the German defenses, communications and industries in the Cologne-Arnhem sector — the type of bombardment which precedes big offensives. So on the whole the weekend developments have been in effect reaffirmation that our Allied high command intends to launch a major drive at the earliest feasible moment. A lot, of course, depends on the opening up of Antwerp.

Rush Fresh Fortifications

The German command is rushing work on fresh fortifications west of the Rhine in preparation for the Allied assault. Hitler's idea is to hold this river and so protract the war into next year. That's the most formidable line of defense still facing the western Allies.

Once the United Nations forces have reached the west bank of the Rhine they will be in position to exert a new and terrible pressure on the Germans even before the crossing is made. This will be by bombardment of vital war industries.

Veritas, British official commentator who has just made a personal survey of the fighting front, in calling attention to this prospect, points out that the Allied artillery will "be within easy range of almost all the important industrial centers of the Ruhr and the Saar. These two regions together represent between 60 and 70 per cent of Germany's heavy industry and over four-fifths of her coke supplies." And he reaches this grim conclusion:

"The arrival of the Allied armies on the Rhine will entail the total destruction of a high proportion of Germany's heavy industry, upon which all her war production ultimately depends. In addition, Silesia and the great industrial centers of Czechoslovakia are now indirectly threatened by the Russian offensive."

So if the Allies are held up at the Rhine, they won't be wasting any time. Also, what we do with long distance guns won't have to be done by soldiers at close quarters — and that's an inestimable boon.

Ham Fish Engaged In One Of Hardest Fights Of Career

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 30—Republican Hamilton Fish, who won renomination to Congress despite opposition of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey and the late Wendell L. Willkie, faces one of the hardest fights of his career when he bids for a 14th term at the Nov. 7 election.

Fish, 55, must beat the same man he licked in the August primary—Augustus W. Bennet, 48, a Newburgh attorney, who is a

H. Fish A. W. Bennett

Republican too. Bennett is the candidate of the Democratic and American Labor parties, whose nominations he won without opposition.

Politicians speculated whether the usually heavy presidential year vote would help or hurt Fish. His primaries margin was 2,700 of approximately 26,000 votes cast. Fish predicted he would triple his 4,000 majority of 1942.

The campaign began with the prospect of duplicating the bitter primary battle. On Bennet's side again was Actress Helen Hayes, a resident of the district, who calls Fish's congressional career a "failure."

Fish replied that "Miss Hayes may be a very fine actress" but "she hasn't the slightest knowledge as to what has transpired in the Congress of the United States."

Fish's opponents charge that his pre-Pearl Harbor record was isolationist. An administration critic, Fish answered that he voted for all military, naval and air appropriations, "but against measures that would make war inevitable."

Redistricting of the state this year took Fish from his old 26th district, where he built a strong following. The new 29th district in which he is campaigning includes four counties, only one of which he represented before. And no longer does it include President Roosevelt's home county of Dutchess.

Stanton Man Wins Pistol Championship

AUSTIN, Oct. 30 (U.P.) — When they talk of pistol shooting in this six-gun state of Texas hereafter they will not fail to mention J. N. Woody, a cool marksman from Stanton, Tex.

Yesterday Woody cleaned up in all but one of nine championship matches devised by Austin police and the Austin Rifle club to test all sorts of pistol proficiency.

State Policeman J. L. Clearley proved better than Woody in center fire rapid fire shooting but the rest was all Woody. State Policeman Don Lawrence, 1943 champion, was third in the grand championship rating, based on scores in the nine matches.

Sgt. Rayner Huddleston, 34, of Camp Barkeley, and his wife, Evelyn, 21, were found shot to death in their apartment. Both were from Charleston, W. Va., and had been married about two years.

Justice of the Peace W. J. Cunningham found that Huddleston shot his wife with a pistol, killing her almost instantly, and then shot himself.

He died in Regional hospital, Camp Barkeley, shortly after his arrival there.

Better Deal Asked For British Press

LONDON, Oct. 30 (AP)—World's Press News, England's foremost newspaper trade magazine, today published on behalf of British journalism "an insistent demand that something be done to improve the service of SHAEF public relations division to the British press."

This protest followed criticism by American newspaper, news agency and radio executives that press communications to and from supreme Allied headquarters in Paris were both slow and inadequate. They have stressed that this inadequacy has made it necessary to write comprehensive roundup stories on the Western front in London or New York, rather than Paris.

One complaint was that supreme headquarters moved too soon, before lateral press communications were set up between the various fronts and Paris. The transfer from London was postponed several times because of the inadequacy of communications of all kinds, including transmitters to the outside world.

"Recent developments, following the transfer of SHAEF to Paris," declared World Press News, "confirm the impression that the confusion at SHAEF since its transfer to that city has in essence been comparable with that experienced when headquarters were in London.

"Fleet street executives warned SHAEF officials of the serious delays that could be expected if the division moved overseas. That warning has now been justified."
