Reds Warn U. S. About Cuban Flights

MOSCOW (AP)—Izvestia, the Soviet government paper, declared today the Soviet Union will side with Cuba if the controversy about U.S. reconnaissance flights leads to "a treacherous attack" on that island nation.

The U.S. military flights over Cuba were denounced as violations of sovereign rights of an independent state, the U.N. charter and "generally recognized standards of international law."

"Gentlemen, do not try to intimidate us," it said. "If Cuba is subjected to a treacherous attack, the Soviet Union will not put up with it, and will side with Cuba. It has declared this before and confirms this now."

U.S. Air Force and Marine pilots have been keeping watch since 1962 to see that no new offensive missiles are moved in to replace the medium-range rockets that the Soviet Union withdrew under American pressure.

Prime Minister Fidel Castro declared in a speech Sunday night that Cuba no longer would tolerate violations of its airspace by U.S. planes.

Johnsons Mobbed By Well Wishers

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — President and Mrs. Johnson were mobbed in an all-engulfing crowd of school children as they arrived today at South Bend to begin a four-state "poverty tour."

Neither the President nor the First Lady was injured in the wild melee as well-wishers crushed around them from all sides. However, several of the enthusiastic greeters were carried out of the crowd and given first aid.

After a fleet of three presidential helicopters landed outside a retraining school for unemployed workers, thousands of school children who had been released from classes swarmed over the landing field.

Both the President and Mrs. Johnson were buffeted about and swept along by the crowd despite the determined efforts of Secret Service agents and police.

Mrs. Johnson was the first to emerge from the crowd. She was able to reach the exit fairly easily because most of the shrieking youngsters did not recognize her and moved instead toward her husband.

The First Lady said later of the crowd, "There's nothing depressing about them. There's nothing down-hearted about them."

The President and Mrs. Johnson toured the classrooms in the Lulu Cline Vocational Retraining School and Johnson chatted individually with students on their problems.

Johnson made a brief general talk, saying: "I just want to tell all of you how proud we are of what you're doing to help yourselves. It's unfortunate that we have this unemployment problem. Mrs. Johnson and I came out to see you and see how you're getting along and what we can do to help. We're here because we care."

Oklahoma Base Among Those Ordered Sold

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara today announced 63 new actions closing or reducing military bases, depots and arsenals and consolidating offices. He estimated savings of $68 million a year.

McNamara said slicing away at least eight unneeded facilities, scaling down 14 others, combining separate contract monitoring offices in 29 cities, and other actions would yield savings "without in any way reducing military effectiveness."

These latest moves in a three-year economy drive, now embraced by President Johnson, bring the number of bases ordered closed or reduced to more than 500.

Expected Results

When added to those other moves, the Pentagon said, the 63 new actions will:

—Save $551 million a year in operating costs.

—Eliminate 81,600 civilian jobs and military assignments. Of these 10,056 will drop away as a result of today's actions.

—Release 696,000 acres of real estate for nondefense use.

—Make available 61 industrial plants for sale to American business.

Fifty-five of the new actions announced by McNamara at a news conference affect military activities in 29 states.

Two-Year Goal

The primary emphasis is on consolidating—one to a city—the separate contract supervision offices maintained by the Army, Navy, Air Force and defense supply agency in many places. That is to be done in two years.

Editorials And Comment–P. 14A

The combining of these offices in 29 cities is expected to eliminate 1,800 workers and save $18.8 million a year.

For the time being at least, the Navy's 11 shipyards, major Air Force and Army bases were left untouched.

The other eight actions—worth $21 million a year in savings—involve unspecified installations overseas. What will happen to

Justice Probe Looks At Baker

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department said today it is "conducting an important investigation into the affairs" of Bobby Baker.

It had been known that the department was looking into the case of the former secretary of the Senate's Democrats, who quit his $19,600-a-year post during a Senate inquiry into how he built up a fortune while on the job.

Today's statement spelled out that the investigation is to "ascertain the possibility of false statements, conflict of interest, bribery, fraud against the government, and conspiracy."

The matter was mentioned briefly in a statement filed with a House Appropriations subcommittee in connection with testimony by H. J. Miller, head of the criminal division, on the department's money needs.

Mortimer Caplin, commissioner of internal revenue, said in a letter Thursday to Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., of the Senate Rules Committee, that an Internal Revenue Service inquiry has established that Baker signed an accountant's name to 1961 federal income tax returns.

Rail Talks Set Monday

WASHINGTON (AP) — Railroad management and union negotiators will meet with federal mediators at the Labor Department Monday to start writing a detailed contract which will formally end one of the nation's longest and most complex labor disputes.

Both sides planned a weekend recess after nearly two weeks of intensive White House talks which ended in an agreement late Wednesday, averting a nationwide strike which had been scheduled for a minute after midnight tonight.

It will take about a week to draw up the contract, and no difficulties are expected. Then it will take another 10 days or so for the unions to vote their expected ratification of the contract involving wages, jobs and working conditions.

Sources involved in the White House bargaining talks credited President Johnson and the two private mediators he called in

Dallas County Jail Riot Quelled By Dogs And Hoses

By CLAYTON HICKERSON

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Police with dogs and fire hoses Thursday night quelled a riot in the Dallas County Jail that involved about 150 Negro prisoners and lasted three and one-half hours.

One jailer, Ray Masters, 50, was wounded superficially, Sheriff Bill Decker said, with a razor blade broken into two pieces and wielded by two inmates.

The sheriff said no prisoners were hurt in the disturbance.

Decker said he had gone to the jail about 7:30 p.m. to talk to a group of prisoners who had been shouting, "We want justice," and rattling tin cups on their cell bars. He said they protested about food, crowded conditions and infrequent use of the telephone.

Thought Solved

After talking to the prisoners, Decker said he thought everything had quieted until a short time later when the riot erupted.

Decker said Masters went into the safety vestibule where a fight had started and two men crowded into the safety vestibule with the jailer. As he sought to get them back into the corridor, they slashed him with the broken razor blade.

Prisoners in three corridors of the seventh floor then began shouting, cursing and tearing up their mattresses. Decker said at least three were torn to bits, set afire and thrown to the street below, a short distance from the point where President John F. Kennedy was assassinated last Nov. 22.

Ruby Confined

Jack Ruby, convicted slayer of Lee Harvey Oswald, Kennedy's accused assassin, is held in the jail awaiting appeal of his death sentence assessed by a jury March 14.

"Jack's rest was not disturbed," the sheriff said.

Decker and Police Chief Jesse Curry, attending a police awards dinner, hurried to the jail when the riot began. Police with dogs, sheriff's deputies, and firemen joined them.

Weather Alert Includes Area

By KATRICIA COCHRAN

A severe thunderstorm alert—calling for damaging winds up to 75 miles per hour and hail possibly as large as baseballs—was issued for an area which includes Wichita Falls. It is effective until 8 p.m.

The U.S. Weather Bureau warning, which went into effect at 2 p.m. Friday, said "scattered severe thunderstorms with large hail and damaging winds are expected to occur Friday afternoon and evening ... along and 60 miles either side of a line from Altus, Okla., to Junction, Tex."

Wichita Falls is in the northeast section of this area, which in Texas is bounded by lines from Memphis to Colorado City to Sonora, Fredericksburg, Goldthwaite, Comanche and Henrietta.

At 1:30 p.m. Friday the weather bureau said that radar had spotted a strong storm center at Coleman, Tex., which is south-southeast of Abilene.

Pilot reports showed that clouds were building up quite rapidly in the Wichita Falls area and the weather bureau said the storms could begin developing any time.

No tornado warning had been issued for the Wichita Falls area as of 1:30 p.m.

However, a tornado alert had been placed on the eastern Panhandle. Severe thunderstorms with one or two tornadoes with large hail and damaging winds were expected for an area 60 miles either side of a line from 30 miles north of Dodge City, Kan., to 30 miles southwest of Hobart, Okla.

Forecasters here said there was a good possibility the new wave of thunderstorms would move into the Wichita Falls area Friday afternoon and, hopefully, produce more precipitation than Thursday's rolling black clouds which primarily spewed forth hail.

Attempts Made To Rob 3 Banks

HOUSTON (AP)—Three men carrying extortion notes saying children of bank employes were being held as hostages demanded $10,000 from each of three suburban banks today.

A man, about 20, escaped with $12,000 from the Belfort State Bank.

A boy, 17, made an unsuccessful attempt at the nearby MacGregor Park National Bank.

The man appearing at the Spring Branch Bank, on Houston's West Side, got the $10,000 he demanded but was arrested by police as he walked out the bank's front door.

"I realized what was going on when I saw the teller counting out the money," said A. W. Schmidt, president at Spring Branch. "I immediately called police and they were waiting at the door.

The MacGregor attempt was made about 10:30 a.m. The Belfort robbery followed about a half hour later. Schmidt said the man appeared at the Spring Branch bank at noon.

The FBI said no hostages were held in any of three cases.

Police said there was indication the extortion notes presented at the Belfort and MacGregor banks had been prepared by the same person or persons.

Except for names, the two notes were similar.

Part of the note handed to Mrs. Branch at Belfort said: "Remember, do you want your daughter's life on your conscience? We don't care."

The note handed to Mrs. Gremillion said: "Remember, do you want your son's life on your conscience — — we don't care."

The boy is Mahlon Gremillion, 9.

Police said a suspect in the Belfort bank extortion was arrested in nearby Pasadena shortly before noon.

French Give Kennedy Gift

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Herve Alphand of France presented Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy today a $100,000 check on behalf of the French people for the Kennedy Memorial Library.

Kennedy accepted it in a ceremony in his office and said it was "another manifestation of the friendship that has long existed between the people of France and the people of the United States."

A boy in navy blue corduroy overalls and a blue and white striped shirt stood at the back of the attorney general's office quietly for a few moments before the ceremony began, interested in all the television paraphernalia and the people there.

He was John F. Kennedy Jr., 3, the son of the president who was assassinated last November.

WHO DONE WHAT?

A Detective 'Tale'

LONDON (AP) — Police Inspector William Fox, 55, saw his wife pedaling toward the cemetery on her bicycle at 10 o'clock one night in 1962.

He followed her.

Dorothy Fox, 58, didn't detect her detective husband. At the cemetery, she took up a position behind a big tombstone.

The inspector watched from behind another.

For two hours Fox watched Mrs. Fox while she watched the nearby window of an apartment occupied by the inspector's secretary.

After two hours, the inspector decided that was enough. He took a roundabout route to the cemetery gate. But his wife chose the same moment to abandon her vigil.

The couple crashed head on in the dark—Mrs. Fox on the bicycle, Inspector Fox on foot.

"It was like a scene from a French farce," commented the judge as the story was told at the divorce hearing Thursday.

As husband and wife picked themselves up, Mrs. Fox recognized her husband and accused him of having an affair with his secretary.

The husband denied it.

Mrs. Fox went to the secretary's apartment, woke her up and accused her. The secretary denied it.

"I'm led to the conclusion," said the judge, "that I'm dealing with a morbidly suspicious wife getting it in to her mind that her husband was unfaithful, and giving him the stick (nagging) year after year."

He awarded Inspector Fox a divorce.

Teacher Given Science Fair Tour

As a reward for her efforts in encouraging and producing winners in the Oilbelt Regional Science Fair-North, Mrs. D. C. Copelin, Zundelowitz Junior High School teacher, will get a free trip to the International Science Fair.

It will be held May 4 through 9 in Baltimore, Md. The "surprise" trip is being provided by sponsors of the fair, held annually at Midwestern University.

For the past two years, Mrs. Copelin's representative from Zundelowitz, John Boland, has taken first-place honors in the junior high school division. Since the winner in this division and his teacher can go no farther, sponsors of the fair decided to reward the devoted teacher with a trip to the international fair.

Mrs. Copelin has stirred scientific interest in many students at the junior high level who went on to capture top awards in the regional fair at the high school level. Included in this group are 1962 sweepstakes winner Caroline Allen of Wichita Falls, now a student at Southern Methodist University, and Jimmy Worley, also of Wichita Falls, a junior at Midwestern University.

In addition to having the junior high winner in the 1964 fair, Mrs. Copelin's 15 students won 13 blue ribbons and five savings bonds.

Mrs. Copelin will leave at 7 a.m. Tuesday, May 5, for Baltimore and will arrive there shortly before noon. While in Baltimore, she will be in the Wichita Falls science fair party, which includes Dr. Arthur Beyer, regional fair director; James Boldy, Henrietta, and Tony Quisenberry, Quanah, sweepstakes winners; and their teachers, Jim Blassingame and John Greening.

In Baltimore, the group will visit many points of scientific interest, and Mrs. Copelin mentioned a side trip to Washington following the fair. The group will return to Wichita Falls Sunday, May 10.

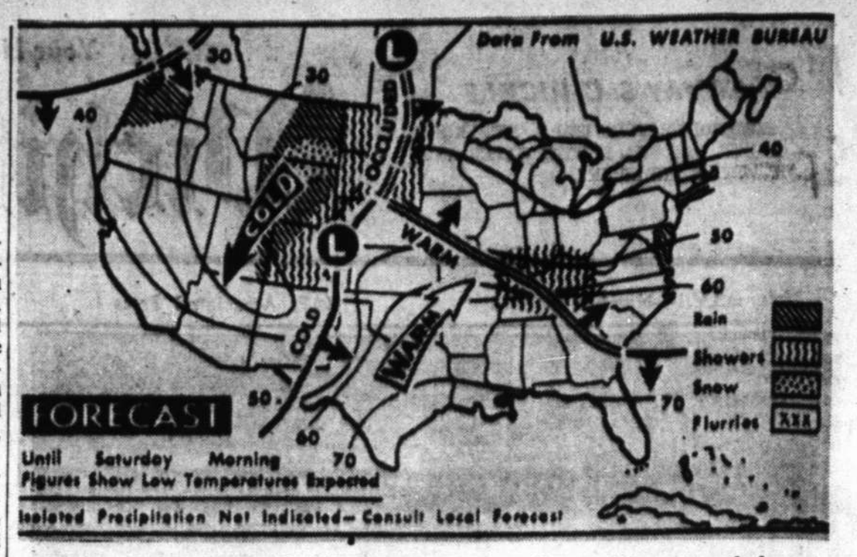

A teacher at Zundelowitz for some 15 years, Mrs. Copelin received her B.A. degree from Oklahoma City University and her master's degree from Midwestern University in 1953, the first M.A. degree conferred by MU.

She is a member of Beta Beta Beta, honorary biology fraternity, Wichita Falls City Teachers' Association, Texas State Teachers Association, National Science Teachers Association, Woman's Forum and the Wichita Falls Coin Club.

Mrs. Copelin resides with her husband at 2005 Jones.

Sheppard Class Visits Seattle

A transportation class of 16 Air Force officers returned to Sheppard Technical Training Center recently from a field trip to the Seattle area. Their trip, part of a 19-week training program of the United States Air Force, conducted by the center's department of transportation training at 3750th Technical School of the Air Training Command.

The itinerary during their week in Seattle provided for visits to Boeing Company plants, Alaska Steamship Company, Alaska Division of Consolidated Freightways, Naval Supply Depot and the 3123d USAF Logistical Control Group at Pier 91, Foss Launch and Tug Company, Todd Shipyard, Pacific Intermountain Express, Puget Sound - Alaska Van Lines and Smythe World Wide Movers.

The purpose of touring common carrier facilities and equipment manufacturers was to provide student Air Force Staff Transportation Officers an opportunity to view carrier equipment, methods and procedures in cargo loading and unloading operations. This first - hand knowledge has proved in the past to be invaluable in assisting these officers in their future transportation assignments with the Air Force.

Officers making the trip to Seattle included Majs. Clayton C. Breitenstein and Albert Ganski of the transportation school faculty here. Student officers were Capts. Bernard J. Kelly, Cartie T. Maple Trees Get Special Pep Pills

By DON GUY

WEST SPRINGFIELD, N.H. (AP)—Maple trees are taking pills for spring fever these days.

Sugar maples get tired of working when hit by the first warm freezes.

The farmers aren't taking pills. They feel fine. It looks like a bumper cash crop of maple syrup will flow from the annual rite of "sugarin' off" in New England this season.

Farmers pop the magic little pill into the maples when they first drill a tap hole.

The pill makes the watery sap flow later in the season insuring a longer "run" as long as the combination of warm days and snappy nights lasts.

"I'm sure they help. I tested several hundred trees, marked them with paint. The trees with pills give more sap over a longer season," says Kirk Heath. His sugar house is on land farmed by his family since before the Revolution.

Farmers always have been puzzled when certain trees seemed to run dry. Federal and state agricultural experts studied the problem. They found that the flow of sap was slowed by the growth of micro-organisms in the wound caused by the drill hole.

The pills act as a germicide over the length of the "sugaring off" season which in New England runs from late February through March and April, depending on the locality.

Modern maple farmers such as the 54-year-old Heath have been able to stay in business only by abandoning most of the quaint and traditional ways of harvesting sap.

Manpower costs too much to unload individual buckets from several thousand trees every morning. Heath uses about six miles of plastic tubing to connect 3,000 hillside trees, so that the sap flows downhill to big collecting tanks.

Certain trees flow earlier from parts of the hillside first, warmed by the morning sun. Heath uses walkie-talkie radios to talk to his men in the woods and route the flow of sap.

Romney Foe Announces

DETROIT (AP)—Angrily accusing Michigan's Gov. George W. Romney of being a Republican imposter, George N. Higgins formally announced Thursday his candidacy for the GOP nomination for governor.

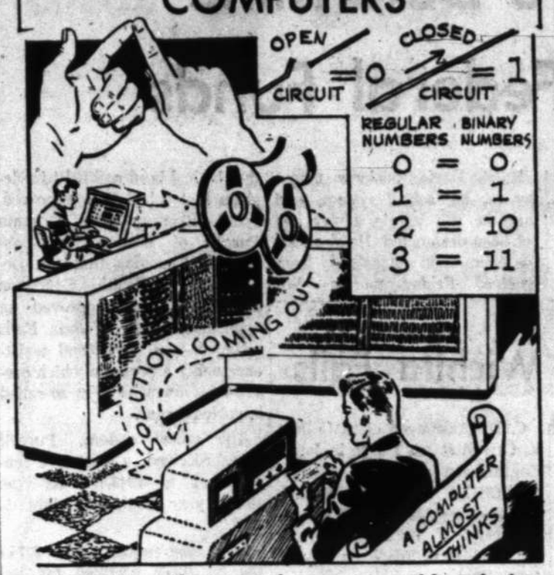

Higgins, 63, a Ferndale automobile dealer and former state senator, actually became the first in the Republican field. Romney has not announced.

"The man who sits in the executive office in Lansing and now calls himself a Republican is an imposter. He used the Republican party to get himself elected to that office and he has abused the Republican party ever since. And if there is any doubt about his being an imposter, let me quote his own words," Higgins said.

Higgins then read from newspaper articles in which Romney was quoted on three different dates as saying he was not a Republican. The latest was on Jan. 30, 1960.

Romney, 56, who stepped down as president of American Motors in 1962 to capture the governor's seat for the Republicans for the first time in 14 years, is expected soon to announce his candidacy for reelection. He had no GOP opposition two years ago.

Junior Editors Quiz on COMPUTERS

QUESTION: Who invented computers and how do they give answers?

• • •

ANSWER: An English professor of mathematics, Charles Babbage, conceived of a mechanical computing machine in 1835, but never actually made one. The first computer was finally built by an American professor, Howard Aiken, in 1944. This machine used electro-mechanical devices, but the science of electronics was developing rapidly and in 1946 an all-electronic computer was built. These electronic machines work with amazing speed—enormous amounts of information can be stored in the computer's electronic "memory" and can be found and consulted in less than 10 millionths of a second.

Suppose you wanted the answer to five minus three. You could hold your five fingers straight, turn down three and count the rest, getting two. "Digital" computers use the same idea, but with tiny electric circuits instead of fingers. If there is a break in one such circuit (open) this might represent zero. If the circuit is complete (closed) so the electricity can run through, this might be one. Computers use "binary" numbers, making all the regular numbers out of combinations of one and zero. A certain number of the little circuits will flip open or shut; with it's incredible speed, the computer will count the ones remaining.

The "program" or information needed, is fed (left) onto an almost magical roll of magnetized tape which checks it with a memory tape which has recorded previous information. The computer works out the problem and delivers it, often by a punched card, at lower right.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: We're coming rapidly into an age when computers and machines are taking over much of the work. Learn something about electronics and you'll understand the new age better. You might begin by finding out the difference between an open and closed circuit. Get a bit more information on this.

President Now Has New Friend

PARK FOREST, Ill. (AP)—President Johnson's announcement of the nation's railroad dispute settlement has gained him the special friendship of at least one 7-year-old.

"He's nice," said Cathy May Baker. "He mentioned my name."

Two weeks ago, Cathy May wrote to the President, asking him to "keep the railroads running" so her grandmother, May Coyle of Yonkers, N.Y., could be present at the girl's first Holy Communion last Saturday.

Wednesday night, via network television, President Johnson answered the second grader.

"Cathy May," he said in announcing the settlement, "if you are watching tonight, I am pleased to tell you that the railroads are going to continue to run without interruption."

Presidential Plea

The letter, written two weeks ago, read:

"Dear President Johnson:

"I am 7. My grandmother lives in New York. She is coming to see me make my first Holy Communion. Please keep the railroads running so that she can come to see me. Thank you."

Cathy May's grandmother, who could not be reached for comment, arrived on time for the event last Saturday. The President on April 9 had obtained a 15-day strike postponement.

The letter to President Johnson was written by Cathy May during the brief Illinois Central Railroad strike two weeks ago, the girl's mother, Patricia, said.

Vetoed By Father

At first, Mrs. Baker said, Cathy May intended to include her telephone number with the letter, but her father vetoed that idea. Her father, John, a field engineer for the Burroughs Corp. in Chicago, commutes on the IC.

Now, Mrs. Baker said, Cathy May is wishing she sent the telephone number. "Maybe the President would call her," the mother said.

To most persons, perhaps, a letter from the President might serve just as well as a telephone call. But Cathy May isn't so sure.

"Well," she said when asked if she was looking forward to getting a letter, "I might and I might not be."

Clean-Up Drive To Open May 24

The 1964 clean-up, paint-up, fix-up campaign will get under way May 24 and run through May 30, and it seems certain that efforts to turn Wichita Falls into one of the cleanest cities in the nation will be more determined than ever this year.

The clean-up committee met in the chamber of commerce's Action Hall Friday, and announced that the week-long drive to beautify Wichita Falls would officially open with Church Day on Sunday, May 24.

Sermons will be preached in churches on that day pointing out the important link between cleanliness and a religious way of life.

The drive will receive an official luncheon Monday. This event will be open to the public. Dates and times will be announced later.

Monday, May 25, at 4 p.m. there will be a parade through the downtown streets of the city to help publicize the clean-up campaign. Jim Neinast and Fred McHam will be in charge of organizing the parade, which will include marching bands, Boy Scouts and numerous other groups.

Joe Mike Pistocco is publicity chairman for the committee and will organize a Miss Wichita Falls Beautiful contest to select a beauty queen to reign during clean-up, paint-up, fix-up week.

Bob Burns was named to head up the special awards group who will be responsible for recognizing various groups for their clean-up efforts during the week. Awards will be made to businesses, churches, schools and private home owners.

Dr. C .C. Hayley will work with local gardening clubs and Stanley Kriss is responsible for working with the schools on clean-up activities. Bertha McNeill will work in cooperation with local church officials on the drive.

Absentee Vote Continues

A record day was set Thursday for voters marking absentee ballots in the county clerk's office, with a total of 30 such ballots completed.

Mrs. J. L. Clayton, handling the absentee votes for both the Republican and Democratic tickets, said Friday the total number of persons to vote in person on the Democratic ballot now numbered 142 with 199 absentee ballots mailed out. This is a total of 341 ballots through noon Friday for the Democrats.

On the Republican ledger, 11 persons have voted absentee in person at the courthouse while 13 such ballots have been mailed out for a total of 24.

Of the absentee ballots mailed out the office two dozen have been returned.

Dora Davis, county clerk, reminded voters that April 28 is the last day to vote the absentee ticket.

Iowa Park residents may cast an absentee ballot in the Wichita County Courthouse. Residents of Burkburnett will vote absentee in the chamber of commerce office while Electra area residents may cast their absentee ballots in the public library.

U.S. BASES—

them was left open, pending consultation with the European and Western Hemisphere governments concerned. "No North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces are affected.

Scheduled To Close

The installations to be closed in the United States include army ammunition depots in Nebraska and South Dakota, a naval auxiliary air station in Louisiana; Ft. Lawton at Seattle, Wash.; and four seaplane bases in Florida and Virginia.

The hardest-hit of the installations to be reduced is the Watertown arsenal near Boston. All that will remain there will be the Army Materials Research Agency.

Many of the other 13 installations ticketed for reduction will be all but eliminated.

In addition, a naval weapons industrial reserve plant at Decatur, Ill., and a high-energy fuel plant at Muskogee, Okla., will be put up for sale this summer.

Workers Cut

Of the 10,056 reduction in civilian workers and military personnel from all 63 actions, about 6,400 will be in the United States. Most of the 3,600 "spaces" to be reduced overseas are military, the Pentagon said.

McNamara said the new actions will, as in the past, be phased over periods up to 3½ years "to minimize the impact on employes and communities, as well as to reduce closeout and relocation costs."

All career workers whose jobs are eliminated will be offered other spots, the Defense Department said.

Additional Jobs

By careful advance planning and extensive freezes on hiring at other installations, the Pentagon said, "additional job opportunities will be made available."

The department offered to pay moving expenses of any employe who must pull up stakes to take another job in a defense installation elsewhere.

And "to assure the widest opportunity for new jobs, the announcement said, displaced workers will be retrained for new skills at government expense.

Further, the Pentagon's Office of Economic Adjustment will stand ready to help communities find new payrolls, it pledged.

Chamber Hears Two Candidates

Maurice Doke, who is seeking reelection as State Representative for Wichita County Place 2, and Harry Joiner, who will run against him in the May 2 Democratic Primary, appeared before the legislative action group of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce Friday to outline their political views.

James Thomas presided over the meeting and H. L. Goldstucker was program chairman.

Doke pointed out that his record was one of a moderate sensible approach to government. He added that he had worked very closely with the oil and gas industry, and during the coming legislative session he hoped, if elected, to work on such things as pooling and water pollution.

Joiner stated he was for the upgrading of public schools and state institutions of higher learning; in favor of a rigid code of ethics for public officials; wanted a fair and impartial election code; and would press for more industry in Wichita County.

Members of the action group and the public who attended the meeting were given the opportunity to fire questions at the candidates.

During the past few weeks the group has met with various candidates in state and city elections to hear their views.

MU Plans Newsletter

Plans to issue a monthly newsletter were made at a Thursday meeting of the Midwestern University chapter of the Texas Academy of Science Collegiate Academy.

Jimmy Worley, chapter president, said that the monthly publication of a campus TASCA newsletter will begin in about two weeks. It will be sent to the entire student body.

The newsletter will explain the purposes of TASCA, outline the history of sciences at MU and give announcements of general interest about science clubs and related matters.

May has been designated as mathematics month by the club. A tour of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., has been planned.

It was reported that several members are working on scientific research papers to be presented at the annual state convention next fall.

RAIL TALKS—

with a major role in settling the five-year dispute.

The two mediators, Theodore Kheel and Dr. George Taylor, will have the final say in any disagreements resulting from translating the general agreement into detailed contract language.

One source said a major factor in the settlement between the five train operating unions and nearly 200 railroads was that Johnson kept both sides in doubt as to what he might have done if the talks had failed.

The railroads had to worry whether the President might consider seizing the line, and the unions were concerned about the possibility that Johnson might ask Congress for compulsory arbitration of the issues.

"He told us it was our problem and not his," said one source in explaining how Johnson persuaded both sides to reach agreement.

"He added that element needed to break the log jam," said H. E. Gilbert, president of the AFL-CIO Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen.

Neil Speirs, president of the AFL-CIO Switchmen's Union of North America, said the settlement represented a "crucial point in collective bargaining in the railroad industry."

Schools To Determine Use Of Federal Funds

How the Wichita Falls Independent School District will use the $275,860 in federal funds which have been certified for immediate payment will be determined later.

Ralph Davis, business manager for the school system, said that the use of the money has not been designated. He also said the money had not actually been received Friday morning but that he had been notified by telegram that it had been approved.

U.S. Representative Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls announced Thursday that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has approved an application of the Wichita Falls school district for federal assistance under a program which provides aid for schools in so-called impacted areas.

The school system, Purcell said, received a tentative entitlement of $343,814 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1963.

The congressman said $275,860 has been certified for immediate payment and a United States Treasury check in that amount has been sent to the school system.

"Further payments will be dependent on availability of funds," Purcell continued.

Davis said the check tendered represented 75 per cent of the total amount applied for several weeks ago.

"We have begun our second survey to determine the number of eligible students in this school district. This total will determine the exact amount of money we are entitled to for the fiscal year. It could be more or less," Davis said.

It was emphasized that the federal funds were for the school's fiscal year which ends June 30, 1964.

No decision has been made by the school district's board of trustees whether further federal funds will be sought for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1964.

WEATHER—

rolled across the city in mid and late afternoon Thursday produced only .05 of an inch of moisture at the U.S. Weather Bureau and did little to lower the temperatures which had soared to a record - tying 92 degrees.

Thursday's maximum of 92 tied the record high set for April 23 in 1958.

It is just possible that Friday's temperatures will do the same thing. The record maximum for April 24 is also 92, set in 1959.

Weather bureau forecasters were calling for a high of near 90 Friday following a mild morning minimum of 64 degrees.

Saturday should have a morning low of about 65 and a daytime high in the upper 80s.

Winds Friday were southerly at generally 10 to 18 miles per hour with some gusts near 30.

With only .60 of an inch of moisture recorded this month, the city is way behind schedule. Par for all of April is 2.53 inches. Precipitation to date tallies 4.62 inches and at this time last year only 3.53 had been registered.

While some light hail fell Thursday in Wichita Falls, which was under a tornado alert until 10:30 p.m., the city missed the brunt of the storm which deposited baseball size ice pellets at Burkburnett where some damage was done to crops.

Wheat in the Lawton, Okla., area reportedly took a real beating from the hailstones which measured up to three and a half inches in diameter. Rooftops and window panes were also smashed by the vicious hail. Only light rain fell.

Hail Elsewhere

Iowa Park had hail about the size of golf balls but no damage was reported. Hail also fell between Bowie and Nocona. A good rain developed east and south of Nocona, greatly benefiting the crops. But in the area north of the city, where the wheat badly needs moisture, only light rain fell. Nocona is beginning to feel the pangs of dryness with the stock tanks being the lowest in some time. Lake Nocona, which supplies the city with its water, is also lower than it was at this time last year.

High velocity winds and hail were followed by a good 40-minute rainfall in the Olney - Newcastle area.

At Sterling, about 25 miles north of Lawton, the roof of a barn was torn off and some utility lines were beaten down by the large hail and high winds.

A mobile home was blown off the road near Dundee and rolled two or three times. Occupant of the towing automobile was not injured.

Soils Banquet Details Given

BURKBURNETT, Tex. — Outstanding conservation awards will be given here Friday night during the annual Wilbarger-Wichita Soil Conservation District "Banquet of Champions."

The event will be sponsored by the 10 banks throughout the two-county district.

The annual program is designed to honor farmers who have carried out an outstanding conservation program in 1963. Other awards to be given include those to high school essay writers on the subject of conservation and to various businessmen who have aided in the advancement of conservation.

Master of ceremonies for the program will be Albert Brockriede, chairman of the board of supervisors for the Wilbarger-Wichita district. Officials announced that the meal's menu will include both roast beef and fish.

The awards presentation will be made by the board of supervisors and A. R. Hill, president of the First National Bank of Burkburnett will introduce special guests.

"Pollution on the Red" will be the topic of C. O. Glenn, featured speaker and officer of the Red River Authority of Texas.

Courthouse Has Phone Survey

Two Southwestern Bell Telephone Company representatives were busy Friday morning making a survey of the PBX equipment at the Wichita County Courthouse.

Mrs. Sue Sperry, PBX instructor for the company, said the survey was to determine the number of in-coming and out-going calls taken by the operator. Basic purpose of the survey is to decide whether the equipment is adequate for the amount of business handled each day.

Mrs. Hazel Beavers, operator of the switchboard for the past 11 years, was quite busy Friday as she watched Mrs. Sperry and her assistant, Mrs. Billye Smith, keep a running total of all types of calls.

Information gathered will be compiled following the survey and turned over to the commissioners court. That body will study the figures to determine if they should add more telephone equipment for the courthouse or retain the present setup.

The survey was taken on two different days, Monday and Friday, judged the busiest, and for four hours each.

A final tabulation of the survey results should be available for the commissioners court within ten days.

Issue Of Prayer Shakes Congress

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The issues of prayers in public schools does not pit the godly against the godless, say several members of the House Judiciary Committee.

Aroused by the tone of early witnesses in the committee's hearings on proposed constitutional amendments to permit school prayers, several members erupted in protest and demanded future witnesses address themselves to the constitutional issues only.

They had heard repeated references to cynics, atheists and "strange and obnoxious" persons opposing the amendments, and the "anti-God" nature of the Supreme Court's 1962 decision banning official school prayers.

First Complaint

Rep. John V. Lindsay, R-N.Y., was the first to complain. "I hope members who seriously question the issue raised here are not going to be charged with being anti-God," he said.

Lindsay said witnesses should relate the proposed amendments to the First Amendment's provision that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise thereof."

"This has been called the bulwark of the republic," he said, "and the question before us now is, 'Do we want to change the First Amendment?' It must be discussed without any suggestion that those who seriously question any change are somehow anti-God, or anti-children or anti-mother."

Gives Compliment

Rep. Jacob H. Gilbert, D-N.Y. complimenting Lindsay for bringing the subject out into the open, called for an end "to all veiled accusations.

"This issue is not between the godly and the godless," Gilbert said. "It is not even a religious question. It is a serious constitutional question which all Americans must try to resolve."

Among others expressing similar views were Reps. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., Judiciary Committee chairman; Byron D. Rogers, D-Colo., and William T. Cahill, R-N.J.

Cahill said he would ask all future witnesses to say what kind of prayers they want said in the schools, who is to determine the kind of prayer, and what version of the Bible will be used.

Key Problem

Cahill described the designation of the authority that will determine the prayer the "key problem" facing the committee.

When Rep. William C. Cramer R-Fla., said the local school board could decide, and if the people objected they could "throw the board out and elect another one," Chairman Celler jumped into the debate.

"That's the nub of the difficulty," he said. "It would put prayers and Bible reading right into politics."

"No," said Cramer. "It would put it in the hands of the voters. And that's the way America should be run."

The committee heard seven members of Congress Wednesday and planned to question dozens more Thursday and Friday. The first nonpublic witnesses, including church officials, will start testifying next Wednesday.

Johnson Firm Bows To Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capital Cable of Austin has bowed to the Federal Communications Commission and submitted a copy of its option agreement with a television firm controlled by President Johnson's family.

Twice, Capital Cable had spurned the FCC's request for a copy of the agreement, which gives Texas Broadcasting Corp. an option to buy half its stock. The deadline on a third request was Wednesday, and Capital Cable complied—but not without a protest.

A review of the agreement, it said in a letter, will show the matter to be a "tempest in a teapot." The commission did not at once make the agreement public.

Both Competing

Capital Cable, owned by Midwest Video, and TV Cable of Austin are competing before the FCC for the chance to relay television programs in Austin by cable. The city now has one television station, KTBC-TV, owned by Texas Broadcasting.

The President's wife, Claudia, owned a controlling share of Texas Broadcasting stock, but soon after Johnson became president, she placed the stock in the hands of trustees. Presumably, the Johnson family will regain control when he leaves the presidency.

The Austin situation has come up at presidential news conferences and Johnson has reiterated that he has no interest in Texas Broadcasting, nor in any government-regulated industry.

Willing To Comply

Last Thursday, after the FCC posted the deadline, Johnson said Texas Broadcasting would be "perfectly willing to comply" with any FCC request.

In its letter Capital Cable said it does not know whether Texas Broadcasting will ever exercise its option on Capital Cable. Capital Cable also said Texas Broadcasting has no interest in Midwest Video and that the agreement has no relevance to the community antenna television system case before the FCC.

Capital Cable said it would have submitted the agreement earlier "but for the innuendoes and inferences of something improper and sinister."

"These companies feel obliged to accede to the commission's demand for a copy of this agreement in order to put the matter to rest, although Capital Cable and Midwest consider this demand an intrusion into what they consider private affairs," Capital Cable added.

Final Symphony Concert Saturday

Dr. Walter Charles will take the podium for the last time here at 8:15 p.m. Saturday when the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra presents its final concert of the season in Memorial Auditorium.

After the final concert, Dr. Charles will go to Estes Park, Colo. where he will be full time director of the Blue Jeans Philharmonic there. He has been with the Wichita Falls Symphony through four seasons.

For the final concert, Dr. Charles has programmed another work of the romantic period with Schubert's Symphony No. Six in C Major (the 'little' C) as the major orchestral work.

Performing for the first time in a regular subscription concert Saturday night will be three soloists who were winners in the Concerto Competition sponsored by the Wichita Falls Music Teachers Association. These three young artists, all students at Rider High School, are the winners in three categories, piano, string and woodwind. They are the best in competition from a radius of 100 miles of Wichita Falls.

First on the program will be a violin solo by David Grote, Bach's "Allegro from E Major Concerto," followed by a flute solo by Karen Hardee, Mozart's "Allegro Aperto, from D Major Concerto," and the last of the soloists, Robert Moss, pianist, playing the Beethoven Concerto, "Allegro Con Brio, from C Major Concerto."

Grote, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert L. Grote, 4300 Featherston, is now completing his third season as violinist with the symphony. He began studying the violin while in the fifth grade in the public school system and has studied privately under Leo Reynolds, former concertmaster and Thomas Greer, present concertmaster. David is 18 and a senior honor student at Rider.

Miss Hardee, a 17-year-old junior at Rider and also an honor student, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hardee of Barnett Road. She is a member of the national honor society and has won numerous honors in the interscholastic league contests as well as the All-State band. Miss Hardee has studied and received training in the public school music program and under Mrs. Walter Charles, principal flutist in the symphony.

Moss, 16, is a relative newcomer to Wichita Falls. The son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Moss, 1600 Celia Drive, he came here with his parents a year ago from Amarillo. He was a finalist in the Amarillo Symphony's piano auditions and has studied privately with several teachers both in Amarillo and here. Moss plays the saxophone and oboe in the Rider band. He was a county spelling bee champion while at Amarillo.

THE WORRY CLINIC

Couples Happily Mated

By GEORGE W. CRANE, M.D.

CASE S-447: Betty M., aged 12, lost her daddy in Korea.

Betty doesn't even remember him. But she has a wonderful mother who registered a year ago with our SMF (Scientific Marriage Foundation).

The IBM machine found a congenial man with the same religion, hobbies, ideals, etc.

So they were given each other's names and urged to correspond for awhile till they got acquainted by mail.

In three months they met in person, being introduced at church on Sunday by the local pastor, who is one of our 2,500 Clergymen Counselors.

Three months later, they were married and Betty for the first time in her life had both a daddy and mother in the home.

A few weeks later, Betty was bubbling over with such joy at the breakfast table that her mother even asked her why she was so happy.

"Oh, Mother," Betty replied, "I just have to pinch myself every morning just to make sure it isn't all a beautiful dream from which I'll wake up!"

Betty referred to her elation in having a NORMAL home with TWO devoted parents!

Before last Christmas holiday, the SMF received a letter from a school principal in a large Illinois city.

He had lost his wife from cancer, leaving him two little girls, now in the 2nd and 4th grades.

Children Happy

The SMF introduced him to a congenial young widow whose husband had lost his life in an auto wreck, leaving her with two daughters now in the 3rd and 5th grades.

When these two young parents met and fell in love, their daughters seemed delighted to be gaining new sisters.

"But, Dr. Crane," the principal wrote, "what impresses me most acutely is the extra delight of my wife's two little girls.

"They were toddlers when their daddy was killed so they can't even remember him.

"So this is the first Christmas season they have ever known where they will have both a daddy and mother together in their home.

"And they are so elated and excited that they are floating on clouds. In fact, I actually think they are more excited at having TWO parents than at Santa's coming next week."

Thousands of former half-orphaned youngsters are regaining happiness, thanks to the SMF.

Excess Of Young Men

And thousands of new babies are being born to the cultured, top-notch type of couples who are marrying for the first time via the Scientific Marriage Foundation.

American newspapers deserve the credit, for they gave me the original publicity needed to start the SMF.

Obviously, not all the members of the SMF get introduced to congenial partners, for there is an excess of men up to the age of 35, but then women begin to outnumber men by as much as 3 to 1.

But the SMF is a non-profit, interfaith foundation that is valiantly trying to help produce happy marriages. All of us Board Members donate our time and reputations to keep it going.

Send for the "SMF Questionnaire and Booklet," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 20 cents, if you want more data.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a longstamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Yarborough To Get Time

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gordon McLendon, Dallas radio executive running for U. S. senator, is obligated to give Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., equal times on McLendon's radio stations in Texas, the Federal Communications says.

The FCC wrote Wednesday to Yarborough's campaign manager, Emerson Stone Jr. of Austin, about the matter after receiving a complaint from Stone.

McLendon is Yarborough's only opponent in the May 2 Democratic primary in Texas.

Stone complained to the FCC last Friday that Stations KLIF in Dallas, KILT and KOST in Houston and KTSA in San Antonio had not complied with its regulations requiring equal broadcast time for political rivals.

Stratton Enters Plea

CHICAGO (AP) — Former Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois pleaded innocent Thursday to a federal indictment charging him with a $46,676 personal income tax evasion.

The onetime Republican leader, now a country squire on his gentleman's farm near Springfield, appeared in U.S. District Court on an indictment made public the day after the Illinois primary election April 14.

A grand jury returned the bill the preceding week but it was suppressed so as not to affect the primary.

Stratton waived reading of the indictment accusing him of failure to report $93,595 in income during his second four-year term as governor, 1957-1960, and evading the tax on it.

He declined to discuss the charges with reporters, saying, "I have already made my statement issued through an attorney on April 15 in which he said, "I do not believe I have done anything wrong whatsoever."

Stratton was released on his own recognizance.

Groucho Gets Family Into Act

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Nepotism? I'm crazy about it," said Groucho Marx with his usual studied irreverence. "Too bad I'm getting too old for it."

Irreverence aside, the acidic comedian seems to be doing all right by his family these days. Tonight his lovely wife Eden joins him on the Bob Hope Show in "Time for Elizabeth," a play written by Groucho and Norman Krasna.

Recently he appeared on the Steve Allen Show to introduce a new folk music act composed of his grandchildren. "But that wasn't nepotism," he declared. "Nepotism is when your relatives have no talent."

Daughter Wanting

What of various other Marxes? Daughter Melinda is nearing 18 and making sounds of wanting to be an actress. "I never suggested it to her," said Groucho, "and that's the surest way to make her want to do it."

Son Arthur is co-authoring a new television series, and brothers Gummo and Zeppo are involved in orange growing. And Harpo?

Still Active

"He told me seven years ago he was retiring and he works harder than I do," said Groucho. "Right now he's touring the Northwest making appearances for United Jewish Welfare. I didn't even know he was Jewish."

With his family so actively employed, you'd think that Groucho might enjoy a leisurely life. Such is not the case. He continues his frequent television appearances—last week he did two of Carl Reiner's "Celebrity Game" shows in one night — and he wouldn't be adverse to taking on another series like his long-running "You Bet Your Life." He is considering two or three opportunities to do so.

Groucho was divesting himself of opinions at a high-toned Beverly Hills luncheon spot where he indulged in his favorite sport of head waiter-baiting.

"Do you call this a full portion of cheesecake?" he demanded. "It's sliced so sharp you could shave with it."

He spoke fondly of "Time for Elizabeth," which has long been a cause with him. He wrote it with Krasna over a two-year period 15 years ago, but got involved in television before he could play it on Broadway. It flopped with another actor as star. Then Groucho did it in summer theaters for three years with great success.

Musical Star Hurt

NEW YORK (AP) — Inga Swenson, star of the Broadway musical "110 in the Shade," tripped and broke her ankle Wednesday night. She'll be out of the show for four weeks.

Investigation Is Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has indicated it will look into complaints that police mishandled civil rights demonstrators in New York Wednesday. It said it makes a routine check of all such complaints.

A number of demonstrators were arrested in connection with the opening of the New York World's Fair. Some of those taken into custody had bloody heads and faces.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., reading news reports of the incidents to the Senate Wednesday, demanded that Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and the Civil Rights Commission investigate reports that police had beaten the demonstrators.

He renewed his demand today, challenging the government and supporters of civil rights legislation to publicize "the blood flowing on the sidewalks of New York yesterday" with the same zeal applied to alleged Southern offenses.

Asked for comment on Russell's demand, a Justice Department spokesman said, "The department inquires into all complaints of civil rights violations or violations of federal law, whether in the North or South, to see whether any further action is warranted."

The department recently completed a preliminary investigation of complaints of police brutality in Cleveland, Ohio, racial demonstrations. The report, not made public, is understood to indicate no further action is needed there.

Actor Is New Father

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Actor Gig Young's wife, Elaine, gave birth to a daughter Wednesday.

The infant, named Jennifer, is the couple's first.

Religious Study Slated

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP)—The Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions plans to hold a three-day convocation in New York next February on the final encyclical of Pope John XXIII.

The subject of the encyclical was "Peace on Earth."

Robert N. Hutchins, president of the center, said Wednesday the nonsectarian convocation will examine the encyclical as a guide to coexistence and "new concepts of international conduct."

Hutchins said heads of state and leading scholars from all over the world are being invited.

The convocation will be Feb. 18-20. There will be about 24 speakers and an audience of 700, the center said. It conducts studies on ways of maintaining a free society under the pressures of current conditions.

The center was established in 1952 with a $15-million grant from the Ford Foundation. It is now an independent organization.

No Elephant Joke

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Quote of the day: Postmaster A. Frank Fairley after announcing that a satchel full of mail was found in the cage of an elephant flown into New Orleans for the Audubon Park Zoo: "The elephant evidentally stuck out her snoot and grabbed the mail. The question is, what can the postal inspectors do about it?"

Sertoma Begins Light Bulb Sale

The annual light bulb sale of the Nortex Sertoma Club got under way Friday with a noon meeting at the University Convalescent Hospital on FM 369.

Les Kardos, president of the organization, said the club will conduct a door - to - door sales campaign, selling packages of eight light bulbs. The package contains a mixture of the most popular sizes used in the home.

Mrs. Jack Wages, director of the North Texas Cripples Children Center, attended the kick off meeting Friday. All proceeds from the sale of bulbs will go to that center.

Most contacts will be made during the evening hours, Kardos said, and will continue for two weeks.

Airman Promotes Love Of Music

Interest in playing the French horn has grown among the youth in the Sheppard Air Force Base area during the past three and one-half years and it's all due to the work of M. Sgt. Joseph D. Henderson, a member of the 761st Air Force Band at Sheppard.

Sgt. Henderson has been playing the French horn since he entered military service about 15 years ago. Prior to that time he had played the trumpet, baritone and tuba.

"I began playing the trumpet in the fifth grade and then switched to the baritone for one year. In junior high school I took up the tuba and played that all through junior high school and high school, but I'd always had a yearning to play the French horn," the sergeant explained.

He entered the Air Force the last day of December 1948 as a bandsman, but he soon learned he would have to play some other instrument if he remained in the band because there were five tuba players in the Scott AFB band at that time.

"The band director told me that I could stay in the band if I would learn to play the French horn within a reasonable time. I then took lessons from a teacher in St. Louis and was delighted with the opportunity since I had secretly wanted to for several years," he said.

Because of this youthful yearning, and the fact that there is a shortage of French horn players in this area, Sgt. Henderson organized a French horn club among the youth here shortly after he came to Sheppard.

The purpose of the cub was to create interest in the horn and from this club has come several French horn players. Even though the club has now disbanded Sgt. Henderson has continued to work with the interested club members, giving private lessons. There are now horn groups in four high schools of the area—Wichita Falls, Hirschi, Rider and Iowa Park.

One of the featured activities of the Horn Club was to play yuletide music on the lawn at the home of Mrs. L. T. Burns two nights during the Christmas season when she had her elaborate display up.

In addition to sponsoring the Horn Club, Sergeant Henderson has also played the first horn for the Wichita Falls Symphony Orchestra and he directs the Air Force Brass choir which is composed of 16 members of the 761st Band at Sheppard. This group performed at the Woman's Forum and at a musical festival at Midwestern University. He has been on the staff for a two week music school at Midwestern for the past two summers.

The enthusiastic sergeant also directs the protestant choirs at Chapels 2 and 3 and is taking college credit courses at Midwestern University working toward a degree in music education.

During duty hours he is drum major for the band, gives brass and theory instruction and acts as supply sergeant.

A native of Reedly, Calif., Sgt. Henderson has attended Band School in Washington, D.C. on three occasions—in 1949, 1950 and 1959. He has been assigned to Scott AFB, Ill., with the 5th Air Force Band in Korea, Hill AFB, Utah band; the 3rd Air Force Band in England and Hamilton AFB, Calif., band.

He has studied at the Royal Academy of Music in London with Aubrey Brain and played with the Royal Academy Orchestra, Guildhall Orchestra in London; Santa Rosa Symphony in California; the Department of Agriculture Symphony in Washington, D.C. and the Washington, D.C. Civic Symphony.

Vigorous Tourist Boom Predicted

Although Texas could look forward to a booming tourist industry there was much to fear from a complacent approach to developing an energetic travel promotion program, declared Tom H. Taylor, director of the Travel and Information Bureau of the Texas Highway Department in Wichita Falls Thursday.

Taylor, one of the state's key men in attracting visitors here, spoke on "A Million More in '64" at a dinner meeting of the North Texas Restaurant Association in the El Toro Restaurant.

"Some 11.7 million visitors spent about $532 million in the state last year," Taylor said. He pointed out that this had a terrific impact on the Texas economy — as it all represented new capital flowing into the state.

Some 10,000 non-resident vehicles bring 30,000 tourists to Wichita Falls each day, he said. If we apply the basic formula for travel spending, a program that would induce these visitors to stay over a day in Wichita Falls would boost the city's economy by more than $230,000 a day.

He pointed out that the city is served by both east-west and north - south arterial highways.

U.S. Highway 281 connects the Central Plains with South Texas and the Rio Grande Valley. U.S. 287 is a major tourist route from the Gulf Coast at Port Arthur to Yellowstone National Park, and a feeder to Glacier National Park in Montana and Canada.

U.S. Highway 82 links the east coast and the Southwest, spanning the mid-South from near Georgia to Las Cruces, N.M.

Taylor also cited the newly-announced H. E. Bailey Turnpike from Oklahoma City south to the Red River and Wichita Falls, a major leg of the proposed Trans - America Expressway.

Program Instruction Chapter Planned

School administrators and teachers from all area schools will meet at 7 p.m. Friday in the River Oaks Motel to organize a chapter of the National Society of Program Instruction.

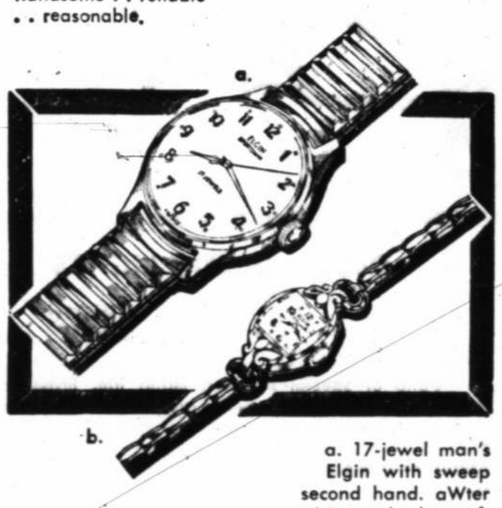

Ken Blankinship, publicity chairman, said the new training and teaching methods used by the organization have already affected many students and will affect many more in the future.

At the Friday night meeting, officers will be elected for the new chapter and a program will be established.

Blankinship said training instructors from Sheppard Air Force Base will be present at the meeting to learn more about the methods of teaching and how they might be used to instruct personnel at the base.

"More than one million Americans over the age 40 have glaucoma. Yet, only half of them are even aware that they are victims of this sneak-thief disease which takes sight without warning", according to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

SAFB Sergeant Is Advertised

T. Sgt. James D. Robertson of the Sheppard training office could walk into any high school or radio station in the United States and most likely be recognized by people he has never seen.

The former Wichita Falls recruiting sergeant's picture is on a record album cover and in a guidance counselor's appointment book. In the picture he is counseling Richard York of 900 Broad in Wichita Falls before enlisting him in the Air Force.

The record album was distributed last month to all commercial radio stations in the United States. The album is a series of spot announcements advertising the advantages of the Air Force life.

The appointment book was distributed about a year ago by the United States Air Force Recruiting Service to all high school and some college counselors.

Robertson's picture was taken about two years ago by a commercial firm surveying the effectiveness of the Air Force's recruiting program. "I had no idea the picture would ever be used in any kind of publication," the veteran of 16 years' service said.

During his four year tenure as the only USAF recruiter in the Wichita Falls area, the 33-year-old sergeant enlisted about 400 young men in the Air Force.

Robertson was a drill instructor here from 1950 to 1951. He has been noncommissioned officer in charge of collateral training at Sheppard Technical Training Center since last December.

Bear Hunters Are Rescued

BARROW, Alaska (AP) — Four bear hunters, two of them injured, were rescued Wednesday from the Arctic icepack 85 miles northeast of here, where they spent more than 48 hours after making a forced landing.

They were picked up in a light plane piloted by Bob Cooper of Fairbanks and flown to a larger plane on smoother ice nearby, which flew them to Barrow. They left behind their two damaged planes and a bear they had shot.

Pilot Juels Thibedeau had cuts on his face and Stan Dale, a passenger, an injured leg. Olly Huddleson, the other pilot, and Army Sgt. John E. De Frehn, the other passenger, were unhurt. All are from Fairbanks.

The hunters left Barrow Sunday and radioed for help Monday.

Slanted Oil Well Judgments Made

AUSTIN (AP) — Dist. Judge Herman Jones entered penalty judgments totaling $18,400 against two Tyler men accused of operating a slanted oil well in Harris County.

The suit, brought by the attorney general, named as defendants Billy Bridewell and R. H. Hedge. The well was identified as No. 1 O. P. Woodburn Lease in the Webster Field of Harris County.

The judgment makes a total of $743,845 returned against drillers and operators of allegedly deviated wells in Texas.

Russians Fear Red Chinese May Break Out Of Isolation

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

Moscow displays fear that Red China has a long-range plan to smash out of its isolation and throw its weight around in Western Europe in competition with both the United States and the Soviet Union.

The plan might seem far fetched now, but evidently the Soviet Communist party is taking an extremely dim view of it, apparently nursing lively suspicions that the Chinese are up to no good.

The Soviets describe the Chinese plan as "the intermediate zone theory." The Soviet Communist party's top theoretical, Kommunist, denounces the entire thing as a serious danger to the world Communist movement.

Wooing Countries

The way the Soviets see it, the Chinese have decided to regard Japan, West Germany, France, Britain and Italy as nations under "the bondage of American imperialism" and therefore are wooing those countries.

The implication is that Peking is offering future prospects of a market of three quarters of a billion people, and inviting these countries to get in on the ground floor.

Peking will remain unimpressed by Moscow's wrath.

Early this year, Mao Tze-tung the Chinese Communist leader, talked with visiting politicians from France. He is reliably reported to have broached the idea of a "third world," even to suggesting that some central organization be set up for a formal beginning.

Nothing has come of that, and nothing may come of it for a long time, But Mao's idea appears to be to start modestly, perhaps with Red China and France as the nucleus of such an organization.

Modest Start

Japan, West Germany and Italy would be approached later and perhaps later on even the British, if Britain should lose what Mao regards as her subservience to Washington. Some day, also, Latin-American nations and others might be invited.

So the Soviet Communists are accusing the Chinese of developing the notion that governmental leaders of France, West Germany, Japan and possibly even Britain should be looked upon by Communists as potential allies against the United States. Perhaps, by implication, this means allies against Khrushchev's supporters, whom Peking calls renegades from communism.

Revealing Comments

The Chinese have been making revealing comments from time to time.

Peking's newspaper, the People's Daily, has said the United States is approaching the time when it will be "deserted and forsaken by its allies in the capitalist camp." The same newspaper has made much of the idea that there is deep conflict between U.S. and Tokyo, meaning, it said, that Japan will eventually split with the United States.

Older generation Japanese appear to dislike the Soviets far more than they do the Chinese, for whom they have fellow feeling based on cultural background. Some Japanese even hint it would be a good idea to help China develop economically in hopes this would mute aggressiveness.

Census Bureau Ginning Announced

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau said Thursday a final report for the 1963 crop showed 15,282,994 running bales of cotton were ginned. This was equivalent to 15,326,635 bales of 500 pounds.

Ginnings in running bales for the 1963 crop totaled 14,864,180, equivalent to 14,866,559 bales of 500 pounds. Texas ginned 4,413,166, compared to 4,736,158 in 1962.

Mediator's Wife Proud And Happy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "I just felt very proud my husband could do it."

The voice of Edith Taylor bubbled with excitement, joy and pride.

She is the wife of Dr. George Taylor, one of the two private mediators who helped bring about a settlement announced by President Johnson in the four and a half year railway dispute.

Less than two weeks ago Taylor, a labor relations expert and professor of industry at the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School, left his sick wife at the call of President Johnson.

Mrs. Taylor said today it was worth it.

Wonderful Result

"Oh, my goodness, yes, to have this wonderful result," she said. "It certainly was."

Mrs. Taylor, recuperating at home from surgery, said she heard Johnson praise her husband in a national television appearance Wednesday night announcing the settlement.

"One of these men, Dr. Taylor, left his sick wife who had just been operated on that day to come here to the White House to serve in these negotiations," said Johnson.

Mrs. Taylor said she thought it was the right thing for her husband to leave her.

"I was in very good hands," she said. "I had very good care. The President was wonderful. He sent the White House plane up at different times with my husband to visit me during the negotiations."

First Word

Mrs. Taylor's first word that her husband was to serve the President came from Johnson.

"The President got him out of bed," said Mrs. Taylor. "He couldn't call me that night. Then it was the President that called me as soon as he arrived in Washington.

"'Your husband is right here with me,' the President told me. He told me he thought it was a great thing that my husband would come down. There are times when you have to do things for your country.

"I told him (the President) I was recuperating very well, there was nothing to worry about."

Today, Mrs. Taylor says her recuperation is coming along very well and she's "just about ready to go out." Her husband will be home today.

In a final note, Mrs. Taylor reminded: "You know my husband has served five presidents, so it's something I'm very used to. I'm very proud about it."

Dowdy Must Pay Postage

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. John Dowdy, D-Tex., was told by the Postoffice Department Wednesday that he must pay 5-cent postage on each of about 40 newsletters he mailed March 12 under his frank.

The demand was made by Louis Doyle, the department's general lawyer. It followed an investigation by postal officials after Dowdy's primary opponent, Benton Musselwhite, asserted that Dowdy had abused his franking privilege.

Dowdy wrote the department that the newsletter went to newspapers and radio stations in his congressional district. In a letter to Doyle, Dowdy said:

"I consider my report of March 12 to be a discussion of the civil rights bill and the pressures that are being placed upon the members in connection with the bill.

"The report reiterated my stand on the bill and my position on the bill . . . I believe (it) to be a discussion of issues pending or to come before the Congress."

Doyle, in informing Dowdy of the department's decision to demand the postage, said that "correspondence upon official business is frankable only when the correspondent discusses issues pending or to come before the Congress."

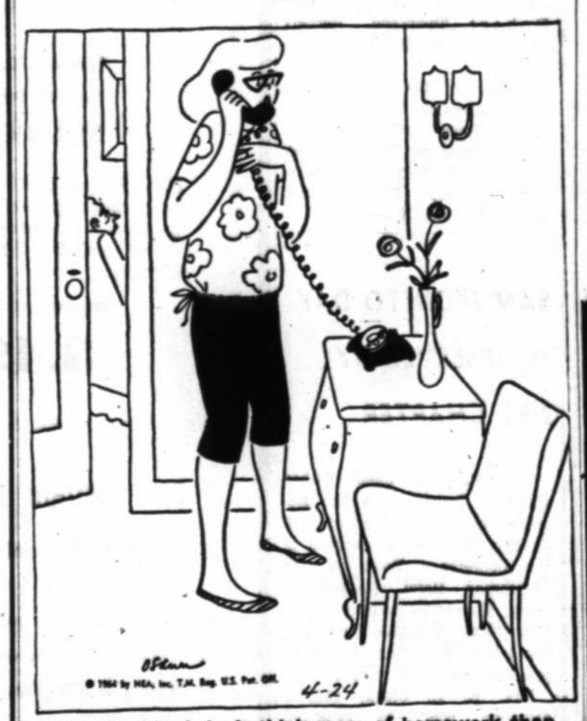

"I accordingly make demand upon you to pay the postage at 5 cents each for each of these reports which you mailed prior to March 19 1964," Doyle wrote.

First news of a vital scientific triumph that will bring untold beauty and happiness to millions of anxious women.

2nd Debut for Mother

Since She Had Her "Face Lifted" at Home Without Surgery

From Germany—

The "Wiesbaden Discovery" that Makes Older Faces Look Younger

WIESBADEN, GERMANY —April 28—Since news has leaked out concerning a carefully guarded top secret discovery by a small but mighty important group of skin physiologists, women in this part of the world have been waiting with bated breath for official announcement that the real "fountain of youth" has at last been found. Such, however, is not quite the case, but scientific authority has it that a way is now known whereby facial skin is actually made to drink minute but sufficient quantities of water, to quickly gain an appearance of fresh, smooth youthfulness it hasn't had in years. Facial lines, particularly around the eyes, and the throat crepey-ness that so deeply mark the pass of unwanted birthdays are said to more or less "get lost" as this water beneath the skin's surface pushes them out of sight. It's something like a "face lift"—but no surgery. While this research was not conducted in the interest of beauty, but for the sole purpose of furthering scientific knowledge of skin functioning, it appears that new happiness for millions of unhappy women is a real, though honestly not intended, result. By special arrangement with the discoverers of this technique for at least partially reversing the aging process of facial skin, a semi-lotion has been formulated which makes home application of the Wiesbaden discovery easy, pleasant and effective. The name of this preparation is 2ND DEBUT.

The "Wiesbaden (West Germany) Discovery" has now come here and is available to you—if you want to really and truly make heads turn your way once more and again enjoy the rapt attentions that were bestowed upon you at the time of your first debut. You will look somewhat as though your face has been "lifted," a fresher, younger looking smoothness prevailing, which restores the extra and all-important lost impact to the beauty your facial features have always had. Medical and other scientific journals have sung their praise of this valuable scientific work (done in Weisbaden, Germany) which now brings you a real second debut with all the excitement of being newly admired—actually stared at.

How 2nd DEBUT "lifts" Your Face

The active ingredient that enables 2nd DEBUT to youthify facial skin in such a short time is a heretofore unknown and living part of human skin. Our scientists designate it as CEF 600. Placed on the face, this natural ingredient immediately penetrates the outer skin layer and carries into it millions of tiny loads of pure water that skin has lost during the natural aging process. This water finds its way under lines and wrinkles and as it accumulates there, it pushes these unwanted indentations upward. Progressively the face is "lifted." The face and neck look younger again. The result is actually startling to the user herself.

This ingredient (CEF 600), extracted from real tissue, is compounded into a smooth-flowing and delightful-to-use substance that is neither cream nor lotion. It is used nightly, and daily under-make-up, so that during 24 hours of the day it is carrying water into the skin to get you ready for your 2nd DEBUT.

We Have a Limited Supply

Because of the slowness and care with which CEF 600 is extracted, only a limited supply of 2ND DEBUT is available at this moment, and can be purchased, with a money back guarantee from the better drug and department stores.

2nd Début WITH CEF 600

LARGE 4-OUNCE BOTTLE

Restores a Younger, Lineless, Smoother Look to Sun Beaten Skin

The tropical sun is merciless in its thirst for water from human skin. Its raid on a woman's youthfulness is never ending. It is the villain that causes the "lady of the sun" to lose her soft, smooth complexion years too soon. But now science outwits this enemy of fresh, young looks. 2nd Debut with CEF 600 is a purely scientific product. Nothing else can do what 2nd Debut can. By actually putting water back into the skin, the skin's water balance is corrected and maintained. A more youthful look returns to stay—as long as 2nd Debut is used regularly.

Speak Up, Mom!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an eight-year-old neighbor boy who plays with my seven-year-old. He comes to my house after school with my son. We eat supper at six o'clock and the neighbor kid just stands there watching us. When I ask him to eat with us, he never refuses. Sometimes I've asked him to wait in the other room, but he always ends up back in the kitchen watching us. My son is eager to play again, so he gives us a hard time and doesn't eat very well. I've sent the neighbor boy home because of this, but in 15 minutes he is back again. On school nights they let him stay at our house until I send him home so I can get my son ready for bed. Can you help me? I am a nervous wreck. — JACKIE'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: It's not the boy's fault. He has no rules to follow. Tell his mother that YOU have rules and you need her cooperation. Tell her precisely what hours your son has for playtime, mealtime and bedtime. Explain that he isn't permitted company at mealtime or afterwards. And if she doesn't respect your wishes, don't SEND the boy home—take him home.

DEAR ABBY: A serviceman came to repair our washing machine and said he had to take it to his shop to fix. When he brought it back, I was at work. A neighbor saw him trying to get into my house so she called me at work and told me what was going on. I called his employer at once and told him I didn't appreciate people going into my house while I was gone. He said that's the way everybody did nowadays. They always searched under mats, in mailboxes and all over for keys, and let themselves in. Am I out of step, Abby, or did he have a right to do this?—JUST PLAIN MAD

DEAR MAD: You are very much "in" step. And if you want to get technical, the serviceman is guilty of breaking and entering.

DEAR ABBY: My husband insists that when a man and a lady go upstairs, the woman goes first, and when they go downstairs, the man goes first. I say it's the other way around. Who is right?—ETTA KET

DEAR ETTA: When a lady goes up the stairs, the gentleman should follow her so that he can catch her should she trip. And the gentleman precedes the lady when she descends, for the same reason.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "B" IN SACRAMENTO: Watch out! The person who ducks the blood test is usually the one who needs it most.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif., 90212. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

HOUSEWARES DEPT. — Second Floor

A PEEK AT BLAIR HOUSE—Queen Anne secretaire, circa 1710, commands attention in the back drawing room of the newly refurbished official guest house for the nation. The overall color scheme is yellow.

Refurbished Blair House Takes On "New Dress"

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

When there is not much light in the house, color it yellow. This seems to be the decorating message from Blair House, the nation's guest house in Washington.

The newly refurbished entrance hall, front drawing room, back drawing room, dining room and powder room of the first floor are a study in yellows, ranging from ivory-trimmed woodwork on butter-colored walls in the entrance hall to green-tinted yellow walls in the other rooms.

The fine silk damask curtains on Pennsylvania Avenue and in the rear of the house are gold, trimmed with silk tassel fringe. Imagine lavish flower arrangements and colorful costumes worn by foreign dignitaries and other guests at receptions and you'll have the theme of the floor.

Mrs. Francis Henry Lenygon, chairman of the American Institute of Interior Designers' National Committee on Restoration, chose a soft color scheme so that the colorful dress of guests could provide the accents. All rooms open into each other with one-color scheme unifying them. Since the house is dark, yellow at least suggests sunshiny brightness.

House Needed It

Previous decor lacked coordinated planning. "Furniture covers were faded, walls were drab and the delicate woodwork was overpowered by turkey red oriental carpets," says Mrs. Lenygon, who supervised the decorating under the direction of U.S. Chief of Protocol.

In the small passageway in the entrance hall is a Persian runner over black and white marble. A large Chippendale gilt mirror hangs over a carved table. A long, low bench and an 18th Century mahogany Willard grandfathers' clock with carved pediment are at the entrance to the back drawing room.

Illuminating the rooms are crystal and ormulu 18th Century Empire and Regency chandeliers.

Twin Drawing Rooms

Two drawing rooms facing each other are decorated alike, with Hepplewhite sofas in front of windows covered in honey yellow antique velvet. The velvet Hepplewhite chairs are blue and honey yellow. Wing chairs are yellow and beige combination, cut and uncut velvet. On the gray and black marble fireplaces are candelabra. Benches are covered in yellow antique damask with fringe. The Chinese rugs are yellow, beige and blue.

A cornice piece in the back drawing room is a Queen Anne walnut secretaire, circa 1710.

With the American sideboard and three-pedestaled dining table are 16 chairs with seats of gray-blue striped yellow antique satin, edged with a scalloped blue and yellow fringe.

The pantry is concealed by a six - fold chinoiserie decorated leather screen.

Exclusive Free Hotel

Blair House is actually two houses with a common wall used jointly at 1651 and 1653 Pennsylvania Ave. Blair House dates from 1824 while its second side, Blair Lee House, was built just before the Civil War by Francis Preston Blair for his daughter who married a cousin of Robert E. Lee.

The government purchased Blair House in 1943. When the White House was undergoing repairs during the Truman administration, the President and his small family made it their official home. It was here that an attempt on Truman's life was made.

Although it has been the official White House guest house —often described "America's most exclusive free hotel"—it has been shut tight since July 1 of last year to undergo its present rejuvenation.

Because of the crush of visiting dignitaries during President Kennedy's funeral, President Truman and his daughter, now Mrs. Clifton Daniels, returned to the house before its refurbishing was complete.

"What have you done? You've moved Daniel Webster," said the former President. "And where did you get those rugs?"

Hints from HELOISE

Comparison Buying

Dear Gals: I would like you to pour yourself another cup of coffee, sit down for a few minutes, and try to absorb something (that's hard, I know . . . I have trouble doing this myself!) that I would like to explain.

We often wonder where our pennies go, why our budgets won't stretch, and whom we can turn to for advice on comparison basis. Who is going to tell us the truth? How do we know we are getting our money's worth, etc.

Learn to test for yourself. You are the only one who can do it.

As an example, let's take tomatoes . . . canned, that is.

Tomatoes come in cans of all sizes. Compare ounces on the label, then price, then contents . . .

Some seem expensive when compared.

Some are not so precious (money-wise that is, gals).

Before you buy your cans of tomatoes this week-end, stop and think, "What am I going to use them for: Spaghetti sauce?" If so, why not buy the cheaper grade? You will find that some tomatoes might have a hard core, but you can squeeze the tomato and just pick out that hard core, if you are saving pennies.

Are you using tomatoes for stewing? This may require a better grade of tomatoes! If not, just "squeeze" 'em and remove the hard core.

Very good canned tomatoes (they usually cost more, too!) can (in an emergency) be used in salads. I have sometimes, when desperate, chilled a can in the refrigerator for a day or so, before opening and pouring off the juice, (especially when the price of fresh tomatoes is high) and cut them for salads.

Now . . . next time you do your grocery shopping. THINK! "Have I bought the same brand for years?" Your answer will probably be "Yes."

So the next time you go to the store . . . instead of buying three cans of "that-same-brand," buy three DIFFERENT brands. Then when you open the cans compare them. When you find a brand of tomatoes that is well packed, and the color hits your fancy, and it's cheaper in price than the brand you have been using . . . then it's time you changed brands to the one which pleases you the most and save that few pennies. Eh?

For years I bought the same brand of peas, first because my mother did, and had for years, and the label on the can was pretty, and the peas looked greener in the picture . . . then I started comparison buying. Wow! Was I ever fooled!

I never look at the picture on a label any more.

If I need asparagus, I buy two different brands. I always buy two small cans, and even though this costs me a little more than one big can, at least I am testing this myself and comparing them. When I find a brand that our family thinks is better, then I start using that brand.

Asparagus is something that you can really get fooled on. When it says "green tips," then buy two small cans of different brands and see for yourself, which can really has the most green tips. In one can we found only one slightly chartreuse tip! And the label said "green tips" . .

Do the same thing with peas. I know most of you buy that big pound can, but other brands will read "One pound and one ounce' and you are getting an extra ounce. But what do the peas look like?

Here's what to do:

Get two small cans of peas in different brands. Open them both at the same time and test each with a spoon before heating (canned peas should never be boiled, only heated) and then test again after heating. After they are mixed in your sauce pan you will see the difference . . . Then stick to the brand you like best.

Gals, this is not a waste of your husband's hard earned money. Eventually you will stretch every penny the easy way.

Those hard - earned pennies which are saved eventually make dollars. Dollars saved give us security. It is security that we are all seeking.

THINK before you buy . . . anything.

And as a parting thought, say to yourself "do we save 10 per cent of our salary?"

If the answer is "Yes"—and let's hope it is , then think again.

"If I waste one penny, then that is 10 cents that my husband has to earn to replace it."

Count your pennies, gals, and God bless you always.—Heloise

Holland Princess At Catholic Mass

AMSTERDAM (AP) — Princess Christine of Holland has attended a Roman Catholic Mass, the Dutch Government Information Service says, but it insists there's nothing to reports that Christine will become a convert.

Christine's sister, Princess Irene, created a sensation in the Netherlands when she abandoned the royal family's traditional Protestant faith to become a Catholic.

SAVE CLOTHING FROM CANNIBALS DURING SUMMER

The moth always seems to get the blame for chewed-up holes in a favorite sweater, suit, or dress. Of course, he is not innocent; but the moth has many companions in crime. Beetles, carpet beetles, silver fish, crickets, and roaches also enjoy a good fabric meal.

This month many homemakers are getting ready to protect their winter garments from these hungry villians during the coming warm weather.

Proper storage will safeguard a garment's well-groomed appearance and extend its life.

Five major hazards to avoid in properly storing garments are insects, soil, heat, humidity, and light.

Those who plan to store their winter garments at home must first take precautions against insect damage. All garments must be clean and stain free.

Cleaning will also destroy insect larvae that may already be hiding in the fabric, and will eliminate sharp soil particles that cut a garment's tiny fibers.

Once the storage space is clean it should be sprayed with a commercial moth repellent.

The next two hazards, heat and moisture, are easy to avoid. Select a closet (or place your storage chest) in a cool, dry spot. Do not store garments in hot attics or damp basements. It is also a good idea to keep storage chests as air-tight as possible to keep out humidity—as well as insects.

Prolonged exposure to light can fade dyes, so protect stored garments from both sunlight and electric lights.

For those who plan to have garments stored with a professional drycleaner, there are a variety of services available. A drycleaner's storage vault has controlled temperature and humidity. All garments are cleaned before storing; woolens are also mothproofed. At the end of the storage season, garments are finished and delivered ready to-wear to customers.

It is a good idea to investigate the variety of professional storage plans and their benefits to find one that exactly suits your needs for a well-groomed winter wardrobe.

Eye Makeup Is Keyed To Patriotic Colors

By ALICIA HART
Beauty Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

This spring your eye makeup will have a distinction all its own.

Instead of selecting it to highlight you natural eye color, key it to the fashion reds, navys and whites. You'll find navy blue is big and spills over into your make-up kit. Here is how to put on your "navy blue eye":

First, smooth on a foundation. Many overlook this. The result—the eyes have a slightly denuded appearance because they don't match the rest of your complexion.

Select a make-up base with a tone slightly pinker than your skin. Stroke it on and allow to set.

For your eyes select a soft medium blue with a slightly grayed hue. Apply it either in cream or powder form, but lightly.

Since many of you like to pop on false eyelashes, here is a tip from models to keep them from coming unglued. Stick the eyelashes on a thin strip of surgical adhesive which you can get in a drug store and put them on.

Whether you use the falsies or not, eye liner follows the eye shadow. You may use liquid, pencil or cake liner but whatever your preference, don't draw last year's look — the bat wing swoop beyond the lid.

Begin the line just inside the corner of the eye where your eyelashes begin to grow. Widen it slightly to the outer edge of the eye, then stop.

Finish your navy blue look with a mascara in that shade. And keeping in season, sign off your new make-up look with a light red, sunswept pink or juicy peach lipstick.

Wrinkles Go Unnoticed On Woman Who Is Charming

By RUTH MILLETT
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

What's so disgraceful about wrinkles? Or, for that matter, what's so shameful about any of the other signs that a 40-year-old women isn't a 20-year-old girl? Two things prompt that question:

The first is the statement of an expert in the field of aging, who says: "Many Americans feel compelled to deny their own aging. They wish to delude themselves rather than face the fact that they, individually, are growing older."

The other was the sales pitch of a cosmetic saleswoman for a new, high - priced wrinkle smoother-outer who claimed that even though the product is only supposed to conceal wrinkles for a few hours, women are buying it like crazy.

Evidently, a lot of middle-aged women think they can buy instant youth for a few hours at a time though they must hurry home, like Cinderella, before the clock strikes 12 and their wrinkles begin to show through their cover-up. They are again what they have been pretending for a few hours not to be — middle-aged women.

Why should women try so hard to deny the inevitable fact of aging, when they would be so much more relaxed and interesting and charming if they made up their minds to get the very most out of whatever age they happen to be?

You won't even be aware of the wrinkles of a woman who is out-going, amusing, well - informed, kind, helpful, and obviously interested in you.

And that kind of wrinkle cover-up is good for a lifetime — not just for a few hours.

Installation Will Be May 5

New officers of Phi Alpha Omega chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, will be installed at the May 5 meeting at the home of Mrs. Eddie Conklin, 5311 Montreal.

Mrs. Bill Moser, incoming president, announced committees and chairmen at Tuesday night's meeting with Mrs. Don Denham, 1913 Taylor.

The chapter's yearbook received honorable mention in an international contest sponsored by the sorority's monthly magazine, "The Torch." Miss Billie Lear, president, said the yearbook has been entered in the state contest.

The area convention to be held Saturday at Floral Heights Methodist Church and the banquet and dance May 2 at Maskat Temple were announced.

Mrs. Roland Russell, Mrs. Moser and Miss Lear presented a two part program on handcrafts and the use of leisure.

WORKING WIFE MUST PREPARE MEALS QUICKLY

The new Special Labor Force Report by the U.S. Department of Labor reveals some startling figures—and these figures have a direct impact on the kind of foods women buy.

Last year, approximately 13.5 million married women, or about one-third of the total number of wives in the country, were working. The distaff side, in fact, represents one-fifth of the entire national labor force.

The report states, "Somewhat less than half (46 per cent) of the married women in the work force had no children under 18 years of age, about one-third were mothers whose youngest child was of school age (6 to 17 years), and the remaining one-fifth had preschool age children."

When you think about the lives of the women behind the figures, it becomes apparent that a vast number have a serious problem in dashing home from work and preparing nutritious, appetizing food that doesn't require long cooking time.

The working wife must budget her time as carefully as she budgets her money—and for this particular homemaker chicken is the pet of the kitchen.

LITERARY CLUB HEARS REVIEWS AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. W. R. Bourland was hostess to the Friday Literary Club for a luncheon at the Women's Forum Friday.

Mrs. R. J. Bradley Jr. and Mrs. O. R. Tipps presented the program on "The Arts in Our Changing World."

Mrs. Bradley reviewed "Renoir, My Father" by Jean Renoir. She said the author tells with warmth, humor, love and compassion, and against the intimate background of family and friends, of his father's fight for his revolutionary art and reveals for the first time the magnitude of his battle against the crippling disease of arthritis.

Though forced into wheel chair invalidism and eventually becoming an emaciated mass of twisted limbs, he never lost his joy of painting and until the very end could so lose himself in his work as to forget his crippled body, she said.

The reviewer said Renoir's first canvasses were scorned by critics and ridiculed by the public.

Mrs. Tipps reviewed Basil Rathbone's "In and Out of Character." She said the book relates in a somewhat Victorian style the life of man and the actor of the theatre and motion pictures. The book reveals the author's many loves — the stage, his family, great friends, his wife, music and dogs, she said.

Mrs. Tipps closed by saying that Rathbone strived for perfection like the Sherlock Holmes he portrayed and this perfection carried him to high acclaim in many roles.

"ASTRO-GUIDE" By Ceean

For Saturday, April 25

Present—For You and Yours . . . Don't put off those spring chores around the house any longer. Good weather or bad, you can find plenty to do inside or outside the home. Don't purchase inferior materials just because they are a "bargain" or you will be disappointed in results. Go out in the evening.

Past . . . On April 25, 1953, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon concluded the longest Senate speech on record against the Republican-sponsored bill granting offshore oil land to certain coastal states. He spoke for 22 hours, 26 minutes!

Future . . . Steelmakers may come up with an answer to the aluminum industry's hold on the foil market. Under test is a tin-coated steel foil that is like aluminum foil, only it is, so far, too stiff to use for wrapping leftovers, etc.

Rail Strike Solved By Work-Johnson's

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson put a way of life to work—his way—and the railroad dispute was settled without a strike. His performance here is perhaps the best single insight into how he runs the presidency.

How did he get the railroads' management and unions to reach a settlement after being at each other's throat for five years? He worked at it. He never got off their backs.

He has more drive than Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy and more down to earth dogged persistence, and apparently far more energy as was demonstrated in this past week alone by all his handshaking, speeches and news conferences.

Whether in the long run his general judgment is half so good as either man's remains to be seen in future events.

Best Senate Leader

He made his reputation as Democratic leader in the Senate—and he was probably the best Senate leader in this century—by getting opposing sides to compromise their differences and reach agreement. And he was tireless.

He did exactly the same in the rail dispute which had dragged on since 1959. In their time neither Eisenhower nor Kennedy could get the two sides to agree. But Johnson did.

The case reached the Supreme Court twice; Congress stepped in once (1963); a presidential commission, arbitration board, and emergency board failed to prevail; and the government exhausted its machinery for delaying or stopping a strike.

Got Agreement

It was due to begin April 10. Johnson called both sides to the White House and on the night of April 9 got an agreement there would be no strike before April 25 and that in the meantime the two sides would work hard for a settlement.

The President kept them at it day and night, worked Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz overtime, and called in experienced outside mediators to help out. Johnson was on top of it all the time. He coaxed but didn't threaten.

He had a big personal and political stake in the outcome himself. He put his presidential prestige on the line in this one—particularly by making optimistic statements — and a strike would have been an impressive setback.

Obviously Delighted

A settlement would mean the opposite. No wonder he was so delighted when he rushed to a studio to go on the air—although it meant interrupting programs—and announce the result as fast as he could.

Johnson is not experienced in foreign affairs. He lacks Kennedy's intellectuality and the heroic symbolism of Eisenhower. And the typical corn of the American politician pops through his public statements.

But he is, above everything, a politician and it is as such that he is running the presidency. But that is not meant just shaking hands and making speeches, although he does plenty of both.

There are various kinds of politician: The sonorous, the pompous, the placid, the active, and the very aggressive who tries, often behind the scenes, to anticipate and shape events. Johnson is this aggressive kind.

Private Correspondence

For example: He has kept up a private correspondence with Soviet Premier Khrushchev and as a result of it Johnson and the Russian were able to announce at the same time they were cutting down production of material for nuclear weapons.

How much of the same he is doing with other world leaders is not known. But this is how he operates because this is how he always operated in the Senate—on the telephone or in his office—making arrangements on a vote before the vote was taken.

In the end, all the extraordinary energy of Johnson will come to nothing if his judgment over a period of time proves bad. So far it seems to have been all right.

When he first took over the presidency he appeared a little unsure. As time passed and he suffered no disaster and made no apparent mistakes, he became increasingly active until now he is all over the place, talking and working.

One side of Johnson hasn't been seen yet: how he acts if things go against him.

State Deer Hunters Get More Shooting

AUSTIN (AP) — The Parks and Wildlife Commission may give Texas deer hunters an extra weekend of shooting this fall, Chairman Will Odom said Thursday.

Odom said the three commissioners are studying the advisability of opening the deer season Nov. 14 in certain counties where the season has traditionally begun on Nov. 16.

Modern Capital Of Brazil Is Still A Controversy But It's Taken Root

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — Brasilia remains an unfinished controversy. Critics decry its cost and remoteness. Champions hail the grandeur of its setting.

But Brasilia has taken root, and it is dramatically changing the way of life in one corner of Brazil's vast interior.

Brasilia itself has changed little physically since Dwight D. Eisenhower helped inaugurate it four years ago this month. Its population is about 150,000 and some 75,000 more in the suburban areas. Some buildings are unfinished after four years of off-on construction. Others long completed remain unoccupied. One of the most dramatic examples of futuristic architecture, a national cathedral, seems abandoned in a litter of red clay, empty cans and upturned scaffolding.

Sometimes Drab

In many places Brasilia wears the disarray of a child's abandoned playpen. The spectacular line of its architecture achieves a special quality on clear days when low humidity gives a razor-sharp edge to outdoor objects.

"I feel Brasilia is a miracle," says Dr. Israel Pinheiro, the silvery haired, 68-year-old president of the company that built it. "There was so much resistance to its creation it seems incredible that it was ever built."

A storm of censure swirled around Pinheiro and his company when the new capital started moving from drafting board into reality. There were cries the company was a legal drain for federal funds. But the founders, backed by the city's chief advocate, then President Juscelino Kuxbitschek, pushed ahead and within three years the glass, granite and marble heart of the futuristic city was ready for inaugural day.

Good Question

Why hasn't it caught on as the real capital of Brazil?

"Read the story of Washington, D. C.," said Pinheiro, "and you'll find that was no instaneous success either."

One aim was to open the country's interior to a population of more than 70 million. Today surfaced highways link Brasilia to nearly all corners of the country, including the forbidding Matto Grosso jungle area. Because of Brasilia it is now possible to drive from Santiago, Chile, to Belem, on Brazil's north coast. That is comparable to a trip from New York to Los Angeles—via Mexico City.

Brasilia has come a long way from October, 1956, when Pinheiro moved into a wooden shack on the city's future site.

Lovely Wilderness

"There was only a small ranch in the area," he recalls, "and nothing else but a lovely wilderness. We selected the place for its climate, water, the spectacular topography and nearness to supply markets."

Location on a 3,500 foot high plateau accounts for Brasilia's bracing year-around climate.

The most distinguishing feature is the white Congressional Palace consisting of twin 28-story towers of green-tinted glass and granite, flanked by two white saucers, one inverted the other upright, over the senate and chamber of deputies, respectively. Ten great rectangular buildings, five on each side of an esplanade, house the ministries and complete the government portion of the city.

Life can be dull for the Brasilia bachelor. There are only two movie houses, hardly any recreational centers and a shortage of female company.

Confining Aspect

The confining aspect of apartment existence, exaggerated by the sense of vast empty space around it, seems the most galling bit of life in this city. Strict zoning laws kept out private homes, and also the humble dwellings of the poorer classes. Slums are grouped in a string of suburban communities that seem more human than Brasilia. These people helped build Brasilia. Thousands who came to find their fortunes have gone back.

Demetrio Louizos, 33, came to Brazil from Israel and opened a shoe store in Taguatinga, a Brasilia suburb, four years ago.

"Business isn't always good," he said, "and it isn't always bad."

President Joao Goulart spent little time in Brasilia, preferring to operate from Rio De Janeiro. The new military president, Humberto Castello Branco, says "I always have lived where my command is." This indicates he will make more use of the elaborate Presidential Palace. Congress meets here, but most congressmen don't care for Brazilia and it has often been hard to get a quorum.

Bomb Threat Empties Capitol

Boy Astronaut Back In School

MILL VALLEY, Calif. (AP) —Danny Nowell, 11, who rode a balloon 3,000 feet up while dangling at the end of a rope, was back in school Thursday.

Danny was one of several persons holding balloon restraining ropes Saturday prior to a two-balloon race over San Francisco Bay. He couldn't release the ropes because he had wrapped it around his wrist. When the pilot became aware of his helpless passenger, he descended.

Danny's father said "he won't be playing baseball or the trumpet for a while, but otherwise he's okay. The boy was treated for a badly swollen left hand.

"Apple" Case Decision

Secondary boycotts are nowhere specifically defined in federal statutes, the St. Louis Post - Dispatch points out, and partly as a result represent a difficult subject for the courts. In its latest dealing with the issue, the Supreme Court has decided, 6-2 that the Taft-Hartley Act ban on secondary boycotts does not apply to pickets urging customers at a retail store not to buy certain products sold there.

The case involved a strike by a fruit packers' union against a packing and warehousing firm in the Yakima, Wash., area. For several days in 1960 and 1961, the union picketed 46 chain stores carrying signs asking people not to buy non-union apples. The National Labor Relations Board barred the picketing, but was not sustained by the Court of Appeals in Washington. And now Justice Brennan in the majority opinion holds for the Supreme Court that there was not sufficient evidence that the picketed chain stores suffered injury as an innocent third party in the labor dispute.

Congress accepted the common definition of a secondary boycott in attempting to prohibit it in 1947 and 1959 acts. The usual definition is that such a boycott attempts to shut down or injure an employer not directly involved in a dispute. That is, a union striking Employer A would picket Employer B so the latter would stop doing business with Employer A. The picketing would attempt to induce Employer B's employes to quit work or to refuse to cross the picket line.

In the apple case, this is not what the union did or sought to do. It left the third party doing business and did not coerce his employes. Instead, it directed its efforts at his customers and, indirectly, at one item of many he sold. This was, in short, a form of informational picketing which the courts have upheld as a form of free speech. The line between that and the secondary boycott may not be an easy one to draw, but the high court has sketched it on the side of a basic right of communication of ideas.

To Forefront Again

In averting a possible railroad strike and in the settlement of a five-year-old dispute between labor and management of the nation's railroads, there was only one factor present in the latest successful proceedings that was missing from prior rounds of the sparring.

The difference was represented by President Lyndon B. Johnson and his insistence that the issues were going to be settled on a voluntary basis.

Action without precedent has been entailed in an effort to resolve the long and complex dispute, which appeared headed for Congress where the Transportation Association of America hoped for binding arbitration legislation as an alternative to federal seizure of the railroads, which would not have settled any of the issues.

Compulsory arbitration for two years already is in effect on two issues which had brought the nation close to a nationwide strike last year, over elimination of some 30,000 firemen's jobs and review on a local basis of the number of other train crew members.

The negotiators, railroad representatives and labor representatives are due their full measure of credit in the proceedings which have settled other issues, but statements from all of them praised President Johnson's role in getting them together and keeping them on the job until the protagonists were willing to agree.

Again the President's ability to maneuver, a skill which won him such high praise when he was majority leader in the Senate, has come to the forefront on a matter that had grown thornier and stickier and more bitter with the passage of five years.

Welcome At Any Cost

Just how serious water evaporation is to the ranchers of dry sections of the state was pointed out by the Texas Water Commission in a study this month.

The report showed that a rancher's herd of 125 cattle would require 1.12 acre-feet of water per year, with no evaporation.

But areas of the state have evaporation ranging from 50 to 100 inches per year, so that, if the farmer's tank had a one-acre surface area, the evaporation would run from 4.17 to 8.34 acre-feet per year, or many times the water required for his livestock.

The report said studies show the cost of retarding evaporation can be lowered, through the use of cetyl alcohol or stearyl alcohol compounds to provide a film on the surface. The cost of water saved ranges, it said, from $1.02 to $2.45 per 1,000 gallons, varying with surface area and shape of the ponds.

The commission noted that "in the drier areas of the state, evaporation retardation processes are welcome seemingly at any cost."

Water can be cheap at any price, if it is a question of availability at all.

Victory For Redwoods

The redwoods will be preserved.

Having commented some weeks ago on the threat to a forest of the trees because of road-building plans in California, we can now add this encouraging footnote: The expressway lost.

These huge, ancient and unique products of nature, to whose defense an organization sprang up, had more appeal than a modern roadway to California's governor, Edmund G. "Pat" Brown.

Lumbering already had taken many of the trees; hence conservationists were aroused when the state's highway department proposed to build a coastal superhighway directly through a redwood stand in a state park.

After touring the area, Gov. Brown announced that replacing the trees with pavement would be "desecration." The word is appropriate. Roads can be built almost anywhere; redwoods do not grow everywhere.

"You Suppose It Can Be Converted Into A Peaceful Little Runabout?'

Incidents Bare Issue Of Military Control

By VERNON LOUVIERE
Times Washington Bureau

Although the long-standing controversy over military versus civilian control of the American military establishment has not broken into the open for some time three recent incidents show how the issue still seethes under the surface.

Prime among these, of course, was the opening of old wounds of Korea brought about by publication of newspaper interviews some 10 years ago with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and made public a few hours after his death.

Bitter Question

These resurrected the bitter question of who was right—MacArthur or President Truman—in how the Korean War should have been fought. MacArthur wanted to carry the war beyond the Yalu River and stop the Red Chinese in their tracks. Truman resisted and relieved the old general of his command.

The other day a strong difference of opinion arose over the posture of United States defenses against possible Soviet attack. Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Curtis LeMay kicked it off by saying the U.S. military edge over the Soviet Union has decreased in the last few years. Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara fired right back and vigorously denied the LeMay statement.

More Subtle Form

The third incident took more subtle form. It developed when Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover, father of the nuclear-powered submarine, suggested to a congressional committee the job of running national defense could be pulled away from the military and contracted out to private enterprise. An unusual suggestion, yes, but Rickover has come up with some seemingly unlikely ideas in the past and always has a receptive audience in Congress.

The tug-of-war between the military brass and civilian authority will certainly continue as long as there is such a thing as a military establishment. For the time being, at least, Congress and the American public seem content to let civilians carry on with the upper hand.

Argument Intensified

MacArthur's death has not ended—but probably intensified—the argument over who has final say in such matters. Many of the facts in the dispute are ignored, of course, because of passionate views on either side.

Clearer heads which attempt to prevail in this instance are prone to believe that while statements made by MacArthur in two interviews a decade ago were accurately reported they could not, quite naturally, tell the whole story.

Not That Many

Some of these observers are certain, for instance, that when the general talked of dropping 35 to 50 atom bombs on Red Chinese territory behind the Yalu he did not mean this literally since he must have been aware there were not that many A-bombs in the American stockpile. (Some people say MacArthur never mentioned A-bombs but had conventional bombs in mind.)

MacArthur, it is also pointed out, could not have been so completely ignorant of what was going on and was able to predict then—with such brilliant accuracy—some of the disasters now taking place in the Far East.

Conflicting Views

Unfortunate in the McNamara-LeMay exchange is the effect their conflicting views on our military strength is having on the American public. Here are two of the country's outstanding authorities on U.S. defenses and they disagree completely on where we stand. One must be right and one must be wrong. However, since the information on which they base these conflicting views is withheld for secrecy reasons, how is the man on the street to make up his mind?

Rickover's comments on the subject, not likely to endear him to generals and fellow admirals, bring into the foreground some interesting food for thought.

Civilian Crews

In his view, the increasing complexity of modern weapons is diminishing the role of the military and enhancing the importance of civilian eggheads. Since little military genius has gone into the design of intercontinental ballistic missiles, for instance, why not let trained civilian crews operate them.

According to the admiral, development of these newer weapons has required new systems of military management which have created friction between the military and their civilian superiors.

Rickover goes even further when he states the position of the professional military man is now rapidly declining and that he may have lost forever responsibility for making basic strategic decisions.

More Corks Pulled In Washington Again

By WALTER TROHAN

WASHINGTON — President Johnson described as "one of the most important pieces of legislation to continued good government in this country" the bill, pending in the House, to raise federal salaries.

This is good news to the hard liquor industry, because the per capita consumption of spirits in Washington has reached an all-time peak and will go higher if there is more money to spend. The only thing that passes liquor consumption in the capital is the crime rate, which was up 2.7 per cent last March over March of a year ago to continue a long string of monthly increases.

The national annual consumption of whisky, gin, vodka, rum, cordials, and other distilled spirits was 258,797,210 gallons in 1963, which would make the average consumption, 1.39 gallons for every man, woman, and child in the country. For the sixth consecutive year an increase in the per capita consumption was reported. In 1958 it was 1.24 gallons.

Led The Nation

As usual, the District of Columbia led the nation in per capita consumption, with 6.63 gallons a head. This was more than four times the national average.

The distilled spirits institute noted in its annual report that the District of Columbia is the center of a metropolitan area of about 2 million and that the District's own population is only 800,000. The district does enjoy lower prices than those in neighboring Virginia and Maryland, so it can be assumed that the city proper buys liquor in the capital.

So if one allotted more than half the District of Columbia per capita consumption to those in the outside areas, the per capita consumption in the district would still be more than twice the national average.

A Way Of Life

No matter how many mathematical cloves one munches or how much breath - concealing vodka is tossed off, the prize for drinking goes to the national capital. It may be true that outsiders swell the per capita consumption but it is also true that nowhere else in the country is drinking so much a way of life.

Every kind of business — monkey or serious — seems to have to be launched with a cocktail party. It has been estimated these run more than 500 a day in the capital. The combined murmurs of conversation would shatter the sound barrier if they could be brought together.

The cocktail party is an established capital institution. There isn't any more drinking at bars than anywhere else, but there is a heavy concentration at parties by those anxious to influence legislation or make friends among the mighty.

If the Washington cocktail party could be abolished and the savings put to constructive use, many worthwhile projects could get needed financing, but many would find Washington inhabited by very dull people.

Regarded As Peril

The end of freeloading in the capital is regarded as a greater peril than nuclear warfare. There are people who dine regularly on cocktail snacks as well as stoking up their egoes with spirits.

The first attempt to pass a pay raise of 1.7 to 22.5 per cent for all federal employes was mired by the fact that the bill contained a proposed $10,000 a year increase for members of Congress who had already more than doubled their pay since the end of World War II.

Members hesitated to boost their $22,500 salaries in an election year. The boost has been scaled down from $10,000 to $7,500. Members hope that this will make the measure more palatable to taxpayers, especially those who haven't doubled their pay since 1945.

President Johnson said the nation will lose some of its best men in the government if the pay raise isn't passed. This could be true but it's a cinch the losses won't be in Congress, because hundreds are fighting tooth and nail to hold their jobs at the present rate of pay.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

Fair Should Put Ed Begley On Exhibit

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — We've got an idea for a World's Fair exhibit . . . Ed Begley and his Fountain of Youth.

Ed, 63, churned down B'way the other day, pulling with him his bride Helen, who's expecting a baby . . . you could hear him roaring as he waved his arms and pounded his palm with his fist that since they eloped Dec. 12 . . . "I'm not such an excitable guy."

WILSON

"Helen's been my tranquilizer," he cried. "Do you know that in 'The Unsinkable Molly Brown,' I sing and I dance?"

Ed lowered his non-excited voice to what he would consider a confidential tone. (It was reported overheard as far away as Newark.)

"They say this picture is going to do for MGM what they thought 'Cleopatra' would do for 20th Century Fox!"

Asked For Lunch

Ed's Fountain of Youth is the Oscar he got for "Sweet Bird of Youth" —and his decision last July to ask his Hollywood agent's secretary, Helen Jordan, divorcee and mother of three, who was only a voice on the phone to him, to have lunch because she'd been nice.

"I was glad she wasn't some ugly old plug!" Ed shouted . . . "I soon asked her to marry me . . . I put thousands of miles on my car driving to her place to help her kids with their homework."

Their elopement to Las Vegas was classic in that the bridegroom wasn't drunk. (Ed doesn't drink.)

They got the license—and ceremony—in the Las Vegas late, late, late City Hall . . . Ed had his usual hot coffee to celebrate on . . . and they flew back to L.A. . . . where Ed notified his two teen-agers and also an older son who has children of his own.

Lunged To Stage

Ed figures it all started that Oscar night last year as he sat in the audience ready to say (out loud) "Congratulations, Omar Shariff" and (under his breath) "You !!!!" To his astonishment, he won and lunged up to the stage to accept.

If the Fair makes an exhibit of Ed, they ought to find out what kind of coffee he drinks. It's got jumping beans in it.

Jill Haworth's chums report that Frank Sinatra and she had a couple of dates here . . . The restaurants are full of Texans here for the Fair, and that means $ . . . Sherry Britton, opening a singing, non-stripping act at the Living Room, burst into tears at the prolonged applause and fled the stage, unable to make a Thank you speech. She says all classes have had work songs except strippers so she offered one titled, "We've Been Working on The Runway." Also a delight at the Living Room: Italian singer Gino Tonetti who can make it as a movie star.

Dick Rodgers and Stephen Sondheim will collaborate on "Time of the Cuckoo" for a B'way musical. Should be the perfect new song team . . . Steve Lawrence turned back his Actors Fund benefit seats for "Hello, Dolly!" for Sunday, complaining that lesser people in "Sammy" weren't able to get them . . . Jan Murray says at the Copa that the World's Fair should run at least seven years so Lannie Bruce can see it.

An angry husband is threatening to "break the legs" of friends of his wife whom he blames for their marital crisis . . . Leslie Caron's ex-ex-husband Georgie Hormel, opening his singing act at The Most, had with him a Pittsburgh beauty, Merritt Malloy, whom he described as "one girl in 20,000."

The Midnight Earl

Natalie Woods' sister Lana, 18, married Carl Brent of the Judy Garland entourage; they'd met a week before . . . Shirley MacLaine's dtr. Sachie, 7, arrived from Tokyo to visit her parent in H'wood, then flew back alone. (Shirley and her husband are filming "John Goldfarb, Please Come Home") . . . Producer Federico Fellini, who's worked with all the sexy Italian actresses, sent roses to the H'wood star he wants in a movie —Mae West . . . Joey Bishop OKd a one-hr., variety show for the '65-'66 tv season.

A film star's biography will charge her death was caused by her mother's refusal to allow hospitalization (on religious grounds) . . . Pat Boone escaped injury when he fell asleep at the wheel and his car piled into a tree.

Lou Jacobi injured his eye onstage in the touring "Fade Out — Fade In;" a dancer scratched the cornea . . . A new rock 'n' roll tune is titled "I Do" and is dedicated to Barbara Hutton—the phrase is repeated seven times . . . James Garner owns a piece of a West Coast bank . . . Robert Cummings is arriving in a pink plane for the "What a Way to Go!" premiere . . . Marlon Brando asks friends not to smoke in his presence, and lectures 'em on the evils of the weed.

Dr. Schweitzer Defies Africa's Rush

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

LAMBARENE, Gabon (AP)—In his jungle hospital on the banks of the Ogooue River, Dr. Albert Schweitzer defies Africa's rush toward the white man's idea of progress.

"I have lived here for 54 years. I know what's best for Africans," says the 89-year-old winner of the Nobel Peace Prize.

His hospital has treated more than 50,000 Africans in its 40-year existence. They continue to come in growing numbers to the filth-strewn shacks serving as wards — disregarding a new, gleaming hospital built by the French on nearby Lambarene Island.

Tried And True

"Here they find conditions to which they are accustomed and they know they will be cured," says the old man with bushy white eyebrows.

Dr. Schweitzer has become one of the most controversial figures in restless Africa. The problem narrows down to whether the continent should force its development or should be left to itself and its traditions.

"Africa—" he begins, and dismisses the subject with a wave.

"There is no point in writing all this," he says with an ironic smile. "They are trying to stir the people up against me."

Reckless Leaders

"They" are the few educated Africans who head the continent's sometimes reckless move toward European-type civilization. Their critics — European and African alike—accuse them of frequently overlooking the most valid parts of Western civilization for the glitter of superficial progress.

Dr. Schweitzer turns his eyes away from the crowded corrugated iron shacks of his famous hospital, backed by the donations of the world's rich and poor.

Outside his office, which also serves as the principal pharmacy, an old woman is retching. Ducks waddle in the ditch where the families of the sick cook meals over open fires.

From the desk he has occupied since 1925, Dr. Schweitzer looks toward the muddy waters of the Ogooue below. Narrow pirogues move toward nearby Lambarene, one of the main towns of the new Gabon republic.

Students Restless

In Lambarene and elsewhere in Gabon, students are growing restless and angry — against French advisers, against the white man. One day they shouted "Down with Schweitzer's hospital!"

"He treats our people like savages instead of bringing progress," a Gabonese official asserted.

"If it were up to me, I would burn the place down," threatened another.

Said a French official working for the Gabon government:

"For years we have been thinking of forcing him to introduce some idea of hygiene, adopt modern treatment methods. But we are powerless. He has millions of dollars and influential people behind him."

Heard It All

Dr. Schweitzer has heard all this. He sees only one thing—that the black man from the bush continues to come for help to him and his doctors, some of whom come from the world's best hospitals.

Some sick are carried by relatives over 200 miles of forest paths. Once in the hospital, they get a ticket with a number. It is explained "Afrian names are too complicated — who knows how to spell them anyway!"

Families stay with the sick, sleeping on the floor next to their beds. The beds are one of Dr. Schweitzer's concessions to European comfort.

MRS. CLAUDE HODGES

Dentist's Wife Gives Blood

A Wichita Falls civic worker, Mrs. Claude W. (Nita) Hodges, recently gave her eighth pint of O positive type blood at the Red River Regional Blood Center to gain admission into the Red Cross Gallon Club. Mrs. Hodges received a certificate of appreciation from the Wichita Falls Times and Record News for her unselfish service and a Gallon Club pin from Red Cross officials.

She is active in the League of Women Voters, the 1935 Study Club, volunteer work at the Wichita Falls State Hospital and enjoys gardening and sewing.

She attends the Floral Heights Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hodges and her dentist husband, Dr. Claude W. Hodges, live at 4104 Rivercrest.

The patients are issued staple food rations to be cooked by their relatives.

Simple Problem

To Schweitzer and his staff the problem is simple—you cannot give an African two pills and tell him to take them on two different occasions. He has to be given one pill at a time and supervised when swallowing it.

There are no showers in the hospital—the sick are washed by their families in the Ogooue. There is no latrine "because they are not used to it."

No nurses are on duty in the wards but 18 work in the hospital. Families alert the doctors in case of emergency.

And thousands of Africans leave Schweitzer's hospital cured and grateful. They return to mud shacks in the heart of the rain forest.

Other, more civilized Africans come to Dr. Schweitzer simply "because one gets cured there."

More Each Year

They complain that the quarters are not for "civilized people" and resent the methods of the staff, wearing white smocks and pith helmets, a symbol of an Africa of the past. But they come — the number has been growing every year. There were 6,000 African patients in 1962.

The old doctor makes plans for expansion, adds new shacks to his hospital.

"I am busy, I have no time to worry about all that nonsense," he says in his Alsatian French.

"That nonsense" is young, Africa, with its independence, desires, pretensions, incongruities. Proud young Africans in tight trousers and pointed shoes sneer at his work but seem unable or unwilling to replace it.

Dr. Schweitzer prefers tribesmen with their own dignity and their own traditions who smile at him and give him their confidence.

A goat comes up and licks the old man's hand.

Man's Duty

"It's man's duty to love animals," he says slowly, stroking the goat. "One must be good not only to humans but to all creatures."

The noon bell rings and all work stops. In the dining room, the hospital's white staff hears the doctor say grace in German.

Outside, a mother waits, carrying a child scarred with the terrible markings of witchcraft. She has come to the white doctor, asking him to save her child.

"This is Africa," says Schweitzer with his slight smile. "You want it to be independent, don't you?"

Nixon's Name Not On Florida Ballot

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon's name will not appear on the Florida presidential primary ballot as the choice of a Republican slate of delegates.

The Florida Supreme Court dismissed Thursday a petition of Anthony Battaglia, St. Petersburg lawyer and GOP national committeeman, which sought to put Nixon's name on the ballot against Nixon's wishes.

Nixon said he did not want to participate in presidential primaries. The secretary of state acted on the Florida attorney general's opinion that Nixon's right of privacy should be respected.

Fair Stall-In Dismal Failure

NEW YORK (AP)—For days before the opening of the World's Fair, the youthful civil rights rebels talked exuberantly of their "stall-in," boasting of 1,800 cars pledged and another 1,000 expected.

But when the time came on Wednesday for the stall on the highways leading to the fairgrounds, the automotive force assembled at the Brooklyn chapter headquarters of the Congress of Racial Equality.

There were 12 vehicles. Four came from Harlem, one from Queens, four from the Bronx and three from Brooklyn.

Rain and a court injunction against the stall-in were factors in the poor showing, but supporters of the plan put the major blame on the leaders' drastic overestimate of their ability to win support.

Faster Traffic

Traffic on the $125 million network of new and improved expressways around the fairgrounds in Queens actually was thinner and flowed faster than on a normal day. Many habitual users of these routes apparently stayed off lest they become trapped in the threatened mass traffic jam.

Of the more than 300 arrests of civil rights demonstrators related to the fair's opening, only one resulted from a "stalled" car.

Isiah Bronson, 22, leader of the Brooklyn CORE, which was suspended from the national organization because of its insistence on going ahead with the stall-in, could not be reached afterward. A friend said he was bitter and unhappy and had gone off by himself.

Called The End

"This is the end," said Percy Gilmer, Brooklyn CORE office manager. "Our backs are broken. This city is worse than Birmingham."

The Rev. Milton A. Galamison, the Negro minister who led the school boycotts here, and a supporter of the stall-in, commented on its failure with questions.

"Where were the thousands of cars promised? Were Negroes asked to contribute too much? Were they willing to risk jail terms and $50 fines for their convictions?"

Bayard Rustin, who organized the civil rights march on Washington last summer and the first school boycott here, said he did not regard the stall-in as a failure.

"I regard it as a mistake in tactics," Rustin said.

"I believe that all tactics should have two qualities: that people go themselves, and that they go directly to the heart of the problem and make clear their objectives.

"I think that the difficulty with the stall-in was that it did not follow these rules and that, thirdly, it tended to inconvenience people who were not the source of the problem. And I think that is always a mistake."

Governor Blasts Anti-Dallas Story

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally criticized Thursday remarks about Texas made by a Dartmouth professor in a magazine story on the assassination of President Kennedy.

"His reference to Texas as a 'semi-civilized part of America' peopled with oil millionaires and hatemongers is all the more childish in view of his obvious standing as an educator," Connally said of the article, written by Wentworth Eldredge in the March issue of NATO Letter.

Connally's remarks were in a letter to Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

The governor, still recovering from bullet wounds received while riding in the Dallas motorcade with Kennedy, added:

Almost Unbelievable

"At a time when we are striving to strengthen the unity of the free nations of the world, it is almost beyond belief that such an article would be printed in the publication of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization."

"It can serve no purpose except to distort in the minds of our allies the facts of the Nov. 22 tragedy."

Under the sub-heading, "The U.S. Home Front," Eldredge wrote:

"The stunned, shattered stupefaction of the American public lies beyond mere verbal description; something fresh and good (full of hope) had been squashed in a 'semi-civilized' part of America where Adlai Stevenson had been spat on weeks before and earlier Vice President Johnson mauled.

Tax Loophole

"This is the area which has spawned the oil millionaires and which, through a bad loophole in the American income tax structure, the oil (and other mineral) depletion allowances, has produced fabulously wealthy individuals, a number of whom have served as the financial angels for the radical right with its lunatic fringe of hatemongers so reminiscent of Germany's Nazis of pre-World War II days."

Connally remarked, "The article indicates that the author has an extremely remote and unqualified view of the events surrounding the assassination."

No Excuse

"The fact that Prof. Eldredge was emotionally distressed by the tragedy, as so many of us were much more directly involved, is no excuse to print such irresponsible diatribe in a magazine of this nature.

"I doubt if any thinking person believes anything which has been written by self-appointed critics since the assassination occurred. I do not think defense is necessary for most of this trash, because it is obviously trash. However, when a similar article is printed in NATO Letter I believe the matter has exceeded all bounds of reason.

"Since the Department of State is directly concerned with its publication I am directing this protest to you with the request that future articles attempt, at least, to undo the harm of the March issue."

McNamara Can Expect Big Fight

By STANLEY MEISLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has received a vote of confidence from the House. But angry cries may follow if he fulfills a prediction and closes three naval shipyards in the East before the year is out.

The vote of confidence came late Wednesday when the House by a unanimous vote of 365 to 0, passed the $46.8-billion defense appropriation bill.

All major attempts to change the bill with amendments failed and the measure, as passed, is pretty much the way McNamara wanted it.

The bill now heads to the Senate, where the civil rights debate has posed a legislative logjam.

Most Controversy

Most of the controversy in the bill centered on a provision that limits the amount of repair and conversion work that can be done in naval shipyards, leaving the rest for private yards.

During the debate, Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, said this provision, first put in several years ago, has hurt naval shipyards.

"Before this calendar year is out," Vinson told the House, "you will see at least three shipyards closed." He named New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

This quickly drew a defiant cry from Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., who said, "I serve notice on the secretary of defense that we will not take this lying down."

Offers Amendment

Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., saying that the House Appropriations Committee "is the unwitting partner in the destruction of naval shipyards in the United States," introduced an amendment that would strike out the repair and conversion provision. But this lost on a standing vote of 130 to 82.

The provision, which allots 65 per cent of the work to the naval shipyards and 35 per cent to private yards, was supported by Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., who told the House, "The private yards can do it cheaper."

The bill provides $461 million less than Congress appropriated for defense last year and is $712 million less than President Johnson requested in his January budget message.

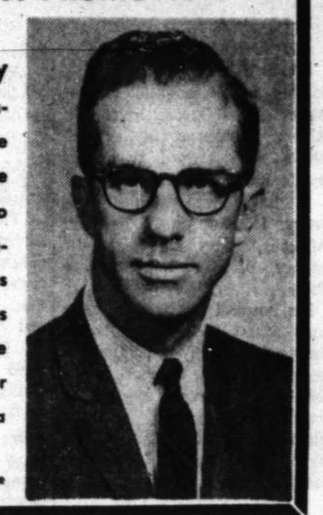

The cut of $712 million is a little more than 1½ per cent of the original request.

This Lola Doesn't Get Everything

IONIA, Mich. (AP)—Whatever Lola wants, she gets, as the dancing temptress in the Broadway musical "Damn Yankees." But Ionia is a central Michigan town of 6,754—not New York.

Lola was censured here while being portrayed by Kristi Honson in the high school play last weekend.

The Rev. Raymond Bierlein, rector of the Ionia Episcopal church, was one of two ministers who objected to the performance.

His church bulletin said: "The fact that she left the stage and concluded the dance in the audience was an inexcusable act of arrogance and effrontory on the part of the director. As a priest and a Christian, I don't want any children taught to dance like that by the public school for any excuse whatsoever."

He followed with an appearance before the school board to ask that student plays be subject to censoring by the board and faculty.

Also appearing were Mr. and Mrs. John Honson who said that a family member had coached their daughter in the dance. They objected to the Rev. Mr. Bierlein's comments.

Supt. Robert Boyce defended the cast and the director Raymond Monte, a school speech instructor. The board president, Flint C. Watt, appointed a committee to investigate.

Monte claimed that the dance is an integral part of the play and cannot be left out. He said, however, in view of the objections, Lola will not mingle with the audience in concluding her dance at final performances of the play Friday and Saturday.

Chinese Want German Break

BERLIN (AP) — The Chinese Communists have demanded that East Germany break with the Soviet Union and quit the Communist council for mutual economic assistance — Comecon—an East German Politburo member said in a speech released today.

The speaker, Herman Matern, also said the Chinese proposed that East Germany make friends with West Germany to split Bonn from the United States.

Matern, often mentioned as one of the possible successors to party chief Walter Ulbricht, made the speech at a ceremony Wednesday commemorating the birthday of Lenin.

Excerpts were carried by the official news agency ADN.

However, the party paper Neues Deutschland omitted the passages about the Chinese demands.

Texas Open Jam May Be New PGA Record

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—The PGA doesn't carry such a statistic but the 10-man tie for first place in the $40,000 Texas Open's first round Thursday was believed to be a record.

Nobody could remember it every happening before. They knew it certainly never had happened in the Texas Open, which is in its 37th year.

Six tied for the lead in the second round last year and it was agreed then that it was a record.

Jammed

The 10 were jammed at the top with three-under-par 67s over the 6,715-yard Oak Hills Country Club course.

The big names—Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Julius Boros—passed up the Texas Open this year. But there still were some pretty well-known and respected fellows working over par.

The leaders include Gene Littler, former National Open champion; Bob Charles, British Open king; Bob Rosburg, former PGA champion; Don January, and E. J. (Dutch) Harrison; Charles Sifford, the Negro star playing in his first Texas Open and Jack Rule.

The only players who have not yet notched a tournament victory were Jerry Steelsmith, Terry Dill and Gary Floan. Dill and Floan are recent collegians Dill at the University of Texas and Floan at University of Idaho.

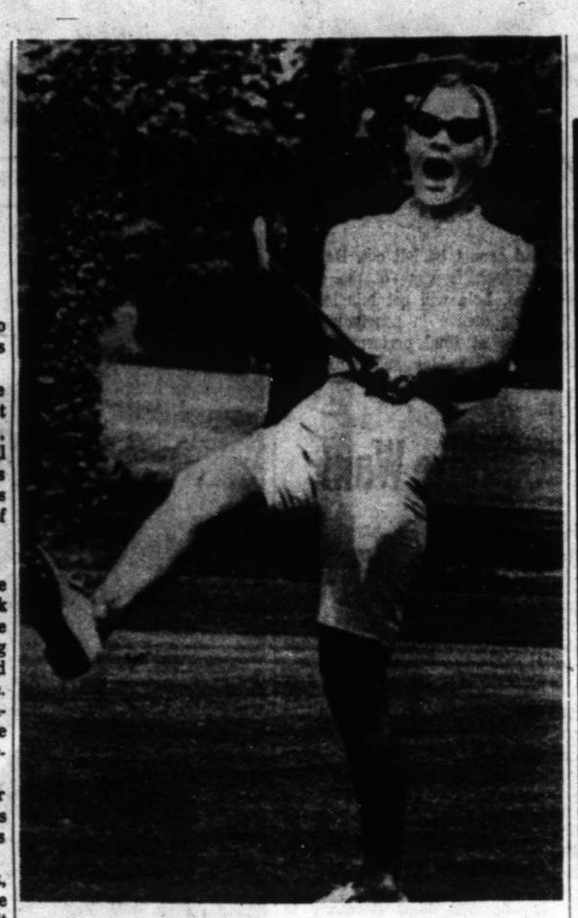

Harrison

The 42-year-old Harrison gave the crowd a boost when he sank a 20-foot putt on No. 18 to tie for the lead after a stirring comeback from a bogey and double bogey on the front nine.

Littler barely missed becoming the undisputed leader. He three-putted 18, bobbling a four-footer on his second try.

Thirty players racked up par in the first round, which was about an average for the Texas Open.

Veteran Jimmy Demaret, who has played in 24 of the tournaments and to whom it was dedicated this year, posted a 71. Demaret has been runner-up four times.

Six Crowns On Line Today At Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Six major championships are on the line today with Villanova's perennial contenders shooting for a pair as the 70th annual Penn Relays opens at Franklin Field.

Twenty-one major titles will be decided as more than 5,000 athletes from 113 colleges, secondary schools and clubs participate in 121 events during the two days. In addition 15 Olympic development events featuring eight of Uncle Sam's Olympians are on the schedule.

Villanova, Eastern collegiate track champion, has its sights set on the four mile and distance medley championships. Coach Jim (Jumbo) Elliott has solid contenders in both events.

Stock Car Races Set At Speedrome

More than 40 stock cars are expected for the race program Saturday night at Red River Speedrome when a highlight of the program will be the return of Leon Cotton, last season's high point driver.

Claude Tanner, Wichita Falls racing promoter, said Cotton was due back to the lineup after living briefly in the Houston area.

A mechanic's race will be an extra for the program of eight regular race events in more than 100 laps of racing including three heats, a trophy dash, two semi-finals, an oval-track feature and a figure-eight feature.

This year's faster cars are producing faster programs with cars due on the track by 7:30 p.m. and the races beginning promptly at 8 p.m. Saturday.

STANLEY CUP

Toronto Extends Hockey To Limit

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings, accustomed to coming from behind and battling to win important games, have reached that point again.

Toronto extended the Stanley Cup hockey playoff finals to the 5 limit with a 4-3 victory Thursday night on Bob Baun's goal at 1:43 of an overtime session. A Detroit victory would have given the Red Wings the Stanley Cup.

It was ironic that Baun should score the winning marker, a shot that deflected off the long end of defenseman Bill Gadsby's stick and past the surprised Terry Sawchuk. It was Toronto's first shot of the overtime.

Baun

Baun wasn't even supposed to be on the ice, Toronto Manager-Coach Punch Imlach said. Baun had been carried out on a stretcher in the third period after suffering an apparent ankle injury.

"His ankle was badly swollen but he came back soon after the injury and skated a bit," Imlach explained.

"Then in the overtime I was going down the bench and hitting players on the back and all of a sudden I saw Baun on the ice. I didn't tell him to go.

"But after watching him, I figured he was skating well enough so I let him go," he concluded

Bob Pulford scored twice for Toronto. His first goal in the opening period came while the Maple Leafs were shorthanded.

The remaining five goals were scored in a hectic second period as Paul Henderson, Pit Martin and Gordie Howe tallied for Detroit and Pulford and Billy Harris for Toronto.

"What a way to get beat—one lucky shot that bounces off a stick. Now we have to do it the hard way," lamented Detroit Manager-Coach Sid Abel.

Imlach

Imlach said he was thankful for the two days of rest before the teams go at it for the seventh time at Toronto Saturday night.

Besides Baun, Red Kelly and Don McKenney are on the injury list. McKenney sustained torn knee ligaments in the game last Tuesday, while Kelly got up slowly after a hard check in the third period Thursday.

The extent of Kelly's injuries were not immediately known.

Imlach indicated he will let up on his rigorous "skate every day, win or lose" practice which he has used through the playoffs.

The team was to leave for Toronto at 8 a.m. today. "Those that want to skate will practice at 10:30 a.m. when we get home," he said.

The Red Wings are scheduled to fly to Toronto later this afternoon.

Sikes, Harris Want To Become Pros

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Two widely known amateurs applied Thursday for tournament pro status with the Professional Golfers Association.

Jim Gaquin of the PGA said applications from Dick Sikes and Labron Harris Jr. arrived in the same mail. He expressed belief they would be accepted by the Player Approval Committee.

Sikes, 24, University of Arkansas golf team captain, won the National Public Links tournaments in 1961 and 1962 and the NCAA crown in 1963.

Harris, 23, is working for a master's degree at Oklahoma State University. He was National Amateur champion in 1962.

Berg Credits Driver For Titleholders Lead

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — "I drove pretty well for the old girl," said 46-year-old Patty Berg who took a two stroke lead over young rivals into the second round of the 25th annual Titleholders Golf Tournament today.

Miss Berg was speaking of her three-under-par 69 in the first round Thursday and boosted her into contention for her eighth Titleholders championship. She also was only one stroke away from the single round record of 68 which she set in 1955 en route to her tournament record of 291.

"I hope the 291 is broken this time," she said. "Every time a record is broken it shows that women golfers are making progress."

Miss Berg, of St. Andrews, Ill., said she drove well throughout the round.

"I was never in the rough at all," she added.

She took only 24 putts in making four birdies, one bogey and 13 pars over the 6,300-yard Augusta Country Club course.

The 69 put her two strokes ahead of Judy Kimball of Sioux City, Iowa, and Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C. Gloria Armstrong of Alameda, Calif. and Jo Ann Prentice of Birmingham, Ala. had par 72s.

Defending champion Marilynn Smith of Runaway Bay, Jamaica, was tied with Louise Suggs of Cincinnati at 73. Tournament favorite Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex., was tied with six others at 74, five strokes off the pace.

The biggest blowup of the day happened to Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla. She matched Miss Berg's 33 on the front nine but skied to a 42 coming in.

Four Tied In Texas League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas League stands in a lop-sided four-way tie for leadership today.

Victories by Albuquerque and Tulsa Thursday worked with losses suffered by El Paso and San Antonio to bring about the quadruple deadlock.

Fort Worth, tied for the cellar, settled in more securely after an 8-1 drubbing by Albuquerque. Austin nipped El Paso, 5-4, to climb out of last place.

Weather permitting today, however, two of the four leading clubs will slip out of first place, since each of the four plays another league pacer.

Albuquerque pitcher Jim Ward scattered six hits Thursday as the Dukes eased to their win over Fort Worth. The Cats picked up their lone run in the ninth.

Barry Morgan's line single into left center gave Austin the needed run against El Paso. Glen Clark raced home from second with the tally.

Tulsa rattled 11 hits and held San Antonio to six hits to roll to a 14-3 win.

Today, Albuquerque plays at Tulsa, Austin at Fort Worth and El Paso at San Antonio.

4-AAAA BRIEFS

Two Raiders In Loop's Stall

L. D. Bell's Raiders aren't to be confused with the Wichita Falls Rider variety, at least that's what coach Hulin Smith argues.

"All of the young clubs in 4-AAAA this season are going to have an uphill fight. Rider may be the exception, but we have our work cut out for us," Smith says.

Bell has been talked about as a first division finisher from various sources. Smith says, "We will win some games, but we can't possibly do as well as we did last year."

Last season Bell had a 9-1 record, losing only to Castleberry in 5-AAA play to finish second in the loop. "But it is quite a step to AAAA. And with this big a district, it won't be like last season when we had a tough game one week and beat the team the following week by 50 points. They'll all be tough this year," the Bell coach exclaims.

The Hurst Raiders return 13 lettermen. The lettermen include five starters, three offensive and two defensive.

Smith also says, "We lack experience in AAAA play, not in football. Our boys have a desire to play, and their attitude is going to determine our season."

The offensive players are fullback Randy Beck, a 205 pound block busting junior; Steve Kincaid, a tough senior tackle at 210 pounds and Mike Shub a 170 pound guard.

On defense, Smith will call on two senior guards to stable the line. Don Pfrimmer (160) is the left guard and Richard Scibek (165) is tagged for the other side of the line.

Smith has seen all of the teams in the district play except Wichita Falls Rider.

"From what we hear the coaches around this area say Rider will be strong. Grand Prairie and Irving are definitely to be considered," Smith concluded his picks.

'No Sad Song For Me'

Two Ninth Inning Bobbles Kill Johnson's No-Hitter

KEN JOHNSON

HOUSTON (AP)—"I pitched the best game of my life. I can't feel bad because I lost it."

That's the way right-hander Kan Johnson of the Houston Colts described his performance against the Cincinnati Reds Thursday night when he became the first pitcher in major league history to pitch a no-hitter and lose in nine innings. It was the first no-hitter of the 1964 season.

The Reds scored an unearned run in the ninth inning on two errors for their 1-0 victory.

One of the errors was by Johnson and the other by veteran second baseman Nellie Fox.

"Even if we had tied it," Johnson said, "I couldn't have gone on."

He displayed an ugly bruise, the shape and color of a plum on his leg.

Johnson said he received the bruise when Chico Ruiz hit a line drive that caromed off his shin in the ninth. Bob Aspromonte played the carom and threw Ruiz out.

Johnson figured it was the closest the Reds came to a hit. "Actually I feel worse for the guys on the club," Johnson said in the dressing room after the game. "I guess that sounds funny, but it's true."

Johnson, seeking his third straight win of the season, was practically untouchable for eight innings. He started his own downfall with one out in the ninth when he fielded Pete Rose's bunt and threw wild on the inside of the bag as Rose went all the way to second.

Aspromonte

Ruiz' hard grounder then struck Johnson on the leg and caromed off toward third. Aspromonte alertly fielded the ball and threw out Ruiz, with Rose going to third.

Vada Pinson grounded to Fox, who booted the relatively easy chance on a short hop, and Rose sped home with the only run of the game.

In the dressing room, Johnson put his arm around Fox's shoulder.

"I told Nellie it wasn't his fault," Johnson said. "It was mine. I put the guy (Rose) on base, and I have no one to blame but myself."

Johnson, termed a hard-luck pitcher, had an 11-17 record last year and lost many because his teammates could not produce any runs for him. However, he won his last five games in 1963 and recorded a 2.65 earned run average.

Nine Others

Nine pitchers before Johnson had no-hitters at the end of nine, but allowed hits and were beaten in extra innings. The last was Harvey Haddix of Pittsburgh, who lost to Milwaukee in 1959.

"But Haddix pitched a much better game than I did," said Johnson. "He went 12 innings without giving up a hit."

Johnson was aware from the start that he had a no-hitter going. At the end of the seventh, he sat down beside Don Nottebart on the Colt bench and whispered to the Colts' first no-hit pitcher:

"How's a guy supposed to feel, Notty? What do you do?"

Stay Loose

Answered Nottebart: "Stay loose and keep going."

Nottebart pitched his no-hitter against Philadelphia May 17, 1963, despite an unearned run by the Phils. The score of that one was 4-1.

"You know, right after the game was over — even before the last out — I was trying to think of some smart words, some good words, to make the fellows feel better," Johnson said, but I just drew a blank."

"I know one thing. It's nobody's fault but my own."

The rest of the Colts had little to say. Fox dressed slowly and left without a word.

"I feel sorry for Nellie," Johnson said. "I know he feels bad."

Nuxhall

The Reds pulled off three double plays behind lefty Joe Nuxhall, who pitched a fine five-hitter.

But Colt Manager Harry Craft was in no mood to analyze the game.

"We didn't score any runs," he said. "That's the whole story."

The only base runners for the Reds through eight innings was Pinson, who walked on a 3-2 pitch in the first and Bob Skinner who also walked on a full count in the fifth. Johnson fanned nine.

Johnson, 30, broke into organized baseball in 1952 and reached the majors with Kansas City in 1958. He was purchased by Cincinnati in 1962 and at the end of the year was placed on the expansion draft list.

NL Opening Crowds Set All-Time Record

CINCINNATI (AP) — Attendance at National League opening games this year was 333,020 an all-time record, league headquarters said Thursday.

The total topped last year's opening attendance by 60,077, an increase of 22 per cent.

The San Francisco Giants, New York Mets, St. Louis Cardinals and Houston Colts set club records for a home opener.

The Mets played before 48,736, Giants 42,894, Cardinals 31,410 and Colts 26,697.

The largest crowd at a 1964 NL opener was 50,451 at Dodger Stadium in Los Angeles.

Wildarm McBride 'Hits' New Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baseball's department of unique statistics has had its first busy day of the season.

Some three hours after Houston's Ken Johnson earned a place in the record book by losing a no-hitter to Cincinnati 1-0 Thursday night, Ken McBride of the Los Angeles Angels entered the sweepstakes.

McBride, who previously had hit two batters with pitches, stood out on the mound in the ninth inning and hit two more, forcing in Cleveland's winning run in a 3-2 victory and equaling an American League record for most hit batters in one game.

McBride got into the ninth inning jam on singles by Fred Whitfield and Tito Francona, who collected the 1,000th hit of his major league career earlier in the game. McBride then hit Johnny Romano and Woody Held in succession, forcing in the tie-breaking run.

Orioles

The Baltimore Orioles gained a doubleheader split with Boston, winning the nightcap of a two-night doubleheader 1-0 behind the pitching of Robin Roberts after a 3-1 opening game loss.

In the opener, the Orioles lost the services of Steve Barber, the only Baltimore 20-game winner since the club rejoined the American League 10 years ago.

Barber pulled a muscle under his left shoulder blade in the pre-game warmup, was tagged for two runs in the first inning and then forced to leave. There was no word on how long Barber would be sidelined.

Only one other game was scheduled in the AL. In that, Bill Skowron drove in the winning run with a single in th eighth inning as Washington edged Minnesota 5-4.

Besides the Colts-Reds game in the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers defeated St. Louis 7-5, Philadelphia edged Pittsburgh 6-5 and the Chicago Cubs whipped the New York Mets 5-1. San Francisco and Milwaukee were not scheduled.

The Angels pulled ahead of the Indians 2-0 in the fourth on a triple by Jim Fregosi, an infield out, an error, a stolen base and Bob Rodgers' single. The Indians tied it in the fifth when Whitfield doubled, Francona singled for his 1,000th hit and pitcher Dick Donovan singled both home.

Donovan

Donovan got credit for the victory when the bizarre ending was fashioned by McBride.

The Red Sox put the opener away against the ailing Barber in the first inning, scoring twice on a single by Ed Bressoud, a walk, Frank Malzone's single and a double by Dick Stuart. Carl Yastrzemski homered in the third for the other run.

Jack Lamabe, a reliever last year, won his second consecutive start with help from Dick Radatz. Boog Powell's double and a single by John Orsino scored the only Orioles run off Lamabe.

In the second game, Roberts scattered nine Red Sox hits for his first victory. The lone run off Boston starter Dave Morehead came across in the eighth on consecutive singles by Jack Brandt, Luis Aparicio and Norm Siebern.

Lions Bowling Tourney Here

The 18th annual Texas Lions Bowling Association Tournament will be held in Wichita Falls Saturday and Sunday, with some 35 teams entered from around the state. There are approximately 150 doubles and 300 singles entries.

Team play will begin with opening ceremonies at 11:45 a.m. Saturday at Spudder Lanes, 200 N. Scott. Ira D. Brown, secretary for the Texas Lions Bowling Association, Wichita Falls Bowling Association and Downtown Lions Club, will roll out the first ball.

This year's tournament is being dedicated to Brown.

Singles and doubles events will get under way at Falls Bowl at 9 a.m. Saturday with full shifts scheduled through the day.

The business meeting of the Texas Lions Bowling Association will be held Sunday at 8 a.m. at Falls Bowl, during which officers for next year will be chosen and a tournament site selected.

A banquet and dance will be held Saturday at 8 p.m. at the National Guard Armory for visiting Lions, guests and local Lions making reservations. Trophies for a golf tournament held in conjunction with the tournament on Friday will be presented at the Country Club.

Warriors Face Crucial Game Tonight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—"We have to win tonight to be really back in the fight," said San Francisco Warrior Coach Alex Hannum of game No. 4 in the final National Basketball Association playoff against defending champion Boston.

San Francisco won at the Cow Palace on Wednesday to trail the Celtics 1-2 in the best-four-of-seven set for professional basketball's crown.

"It was a tremendous victory," said Hannum of his club's 115-91 performance, "but you know we can't afford to take a 1-3 record back to Boston for the fifth game."

Celtics Coach Red Auerbach didn't appear worried about his club's reversal of form after it had won the first two games with ease in Boston.

"It was just a case of they could do no wrong in shooting and we could do no right," said Red. "Those things will happen."

Neither coach indicated any change in line-up or strategy for this fourth contest, expected to draw upwards of 12,000 people to the Cow Palace.

Aggressiveness, called hustle and muscle by Hannum, has been the byword of the Warriors this season as they won the Western Division title after finishing fourth a year ago.

He didn't think San Francisco showed that style in Boston but he saw it in the third contest.

He also saw his club hit 53.4 per cent of its field goal attempts while Boston was held to 31.8. The key to tonight's outcome could lie in such statistics.

Coincidence Weaves Sandy Weird Role

Koufax Return Still Mystery To Physicians

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Coincidence rapped Dodger pitcher Sandy Koufax a blow, the weight of which still has to be determined.

As of Thursday, Koufax was declared temporarily out of action with an injury aggravated in the first inning of a game against the St. Louis Cardinals the night before. Physicians describe the injury as a muscle strain in the left forearm.

Exactly a year earlier—April 23, 1963—Koufax injured his left shoulder and was sidelined until May 7.

If coincidence refuses to release its hold on Sandy, he would be back in action by May 7, when the club plays Houston here.

The Cardinal's physician, Dr. I. C. Middleman, said Koufax may be idled one or two rotations. If that proves true, he'd be ready in time for Houston.

If the parallel continues past that date—National League look out.

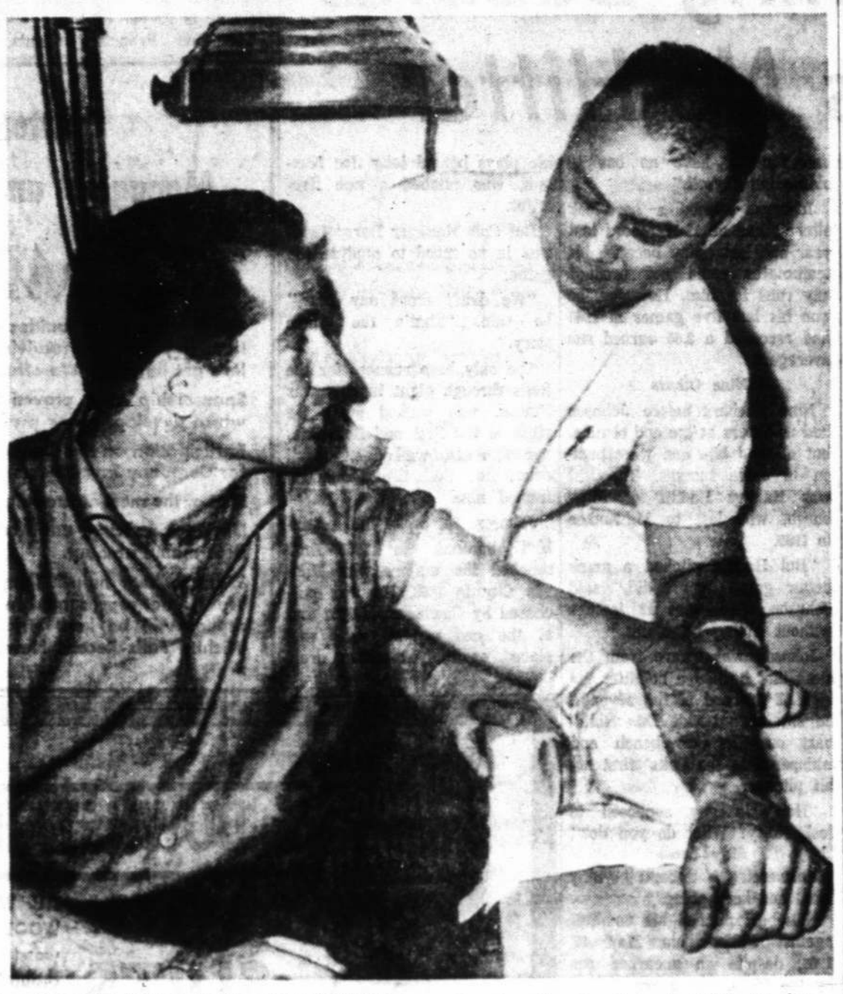

Koufax came back from his rest last year and went on to win 25 games, lose only five and score two triumphs over the Yankees in the World Series.

This time, however, physicians aren't sure how long Koufax will have to rest his arm.

Dr. Robert K. Kerlan, the Dodger orthopaedic specialist, said after examining Koufax that he would be able to predict nothing until Saturday morning.

Koufax began treatments with ice packs, hot whirlpool baths and ultra sound Thursday. He was given cortisone injections in the strained region at that time.

Koufax said that the arm had been bothering him for the past three weeks. Dodger Manager Walter Alston said that after the first inning "Sandy didn't want to come out of the game."

TREATMENT FOR KOUFAX' 'GOLDEN ARM'—Los Angeles—Sandy Koufax of the Dodgers, who hurt his arm pitching against the Cardinals at St. Louis has ice applied at a doctor's office after leaving the team and returning to Los Angeles for treatment. With him is Frank O'Neill, a physical therapist. A doctor described a swelling on the star lefthander's "golden" arm as "rigid and just like a hot dog." (AP Wirephoto)

Hirschi Takes 5th Baseball Victory

MINERAL WELLS, Tex.—The Hirschi High School Huskies kept their undefeated string in good order Thursday by waxing Mineral Wells, 5-2, in a non-conference baseball game.

The Huskies of coaches Dub Largent and Jack Vantrease are the only undefeated high school diamond team in the city. It was their fifth win of the season.

Billy Tanner was credited with the win, his third of the season, although he needed help from Mike Willis and Kenny Reynolds in the late stanzas.

Indians' Hurlers Have Field Day Against Dallas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Spokane's pitching gets any better, the Dallas hitters might as well go to the plate by proxy.

Rookie Bill Singer, a 19-year-old right-hander who toiled in the Texas League last year, spun a no-hitter Thursday night en route to a 3-0 victory in the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader against the Rangers. It was the first no-hit game in Dallas in a decade.

Then Bob Radovich came back in the nightcap to blank Dallas 4-0 on four hits. Spokane's pitching has bordered on the incredible in the last three games.

Wednesday, Howie Reed tossed a one-hitter at the Rangers, with the only blow a homer by Ken Harrelson in the seventh inning. With only one run and five hits in three games, it's no wonder the Dallas hitters are reluctant to leave the dugout.

Just 408 fans were on hand as Singer, 6-7 with Albuquerque last year, walked two and fanned three. Only two balls were hit hard against the youngster, who celebrates his 20th birthday today.

Until Singer sewed up the Ranger bats, the last no-hitter at Dallas was by Luis Arroyo on Aug. 11, 1954.

The double victory made Spokane the winningest team in the Pacific Coast League with a 6-2 mark. The Indians trail Seattle by a few percentage points in the Western Division.

If pitching was the story at Dallas, lack of it was the big news at Oklahoma City where the 89ers rallied to nip Tacoma 9-8 in 10 innings in a contest which featured eight home runs. Fittingly, the game was settled by a homer, John Hoffman's with one out in the 10th.

Tacoma built an 8-1 lead after three innings on a grand-slammer in the first by Dick Dietz, Hal Lanier's two-run shot and Norm Larker's solo blast. The 89ers rallied for six runs in the fourth with Joe Wooten and Carroll Hardy hitting for the distance. Wooten's second homer in the fifth tied the game and it stayed that way until Hoffman's 360-foot smash sent everyone home.

Orioles' Aching Left-Hande Faces Thorough Examinatio

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer

BALTIMORE (AP)—A thorough examination and X-rays were scheduled today to determine the seriousness of Steve Barber's aching back.

The ace left-hander of the Baltimore Orioles was removed from the first game of Thursday's twi-night doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox after pitching only one inning.

Manager Hank Bauer and others connected with the club didn't seem overly worried. But Barber said any sudden movement caused severe pain in his back several inches below the left shoulder blade.

Trainer Eddie Weidner reported Barber had pulled his left "trapeze" muscle — which presumably is the locker room derivative of the more dignified medical term "trapezius."

"What is the trapeze?" Bauer bellowed. "I thought that was something you swung on at the circus. All I know is he had something wrong with his back."

Barber said later he first felt a pain last Sunday while pitching batting practice, and again while running later in the week.

The 25-year-old pitcher said he felt a "deep pain" during his pre-game warm-up Thursday, but thought he "could wo out."

But he had difficulty i first inning, when he gav two runs, and Bauer ma visit to the mound to i about his condition—which ber had kept secret fro manager. Barber was re before Boston came to b the second inning.

"The first I heard abou injury was from the Cat (Brecheen, Oriole pit coach; during the first inn Bauer said. "Players ough tell me when somethin wrong. But a lot of them They want to be martyrs."

Brecheen said he rec that Barber, after pitchin minutes of batting practice day, had returned to the without a sweat shirt, and rized he may have caug cold.

The trainer said simila juries in the past have pitchers out four or five d

If that's the case, Ba would miss only one pit turn since Baltimore has off days through next Thurs

Not Golf This Time

One of my ardent fans (the sports editor) ask me why I didn't write about anything but golf. I started to tell him I didn't know anything else, but thought better of it.

But, friends I have dug into volumes of books for this article about baseball. Someone told me the other day that the season had just started so I thought this column would be appropriate.

There's been volumes written about players, but there's not too much written about things I think are interesting.

For instance, you know Casey Stengel and his Yankees dominated baseball from 1949 to 1960, won ten American League pennants and copped the World Series seven times. But, did you know that the only other manager to win 10 pennants was John McGraw.

10 Flags

He led another New York team, the Giants (remember them), to 10 National League pennants from 1904 through 1924. The Giants weren't as successful in the Series, however, and managed only four titles.

The next most successful manager was Connie Mack. He led his American League Philadelphia team to nine pennants. They batted .500 in the World Series with five crowns.

I'm not for sure, but Yogi Berra and his Yanks may have set some sort of record by going into extra innings in their first three games. But, do you know how many innings a team would have to go to break the existing record? No, well it's 27 innings.

Bums-Braves

Brooklyn and Boston played to a 1-1 tie in 26 innings on May 1, 1920 in a 3 hour and 50 minute affair.

The longest extra - inning game, by time, occurred June 24, 1962, between New York and Detroit. The Yankees finally won 9-7 after seven hours and 22 innings of play.

The longest scoreless tie happened Sept. 11, 1946 between Brooklyn and Cincinnati. They went 19 innings.

And then about no-hit games. Ken Johnson must think himself the unluckiest man in the world after pitching a no-hitter and losing. But, did you know that he became the 60th hurler in the majors to pitch a complete nine - inning no-hit game. Of course, he could be consoled in the fact that he set a record by being the first ever to lose one.

Well, maybe I've made a few people happier by skipping a column about golf. Smile, now.

LET ME POINT OUT THAT TIMES and RECORD NEWS CLASSIFIED ADS SURE SOLVE PROBLEMS FOR FOLKS WITH LITTLE KIDS

As children grow and change—so do their needs. Bassinets, sterilizers soon need to be replaced with strollers, play pens, and high chairs . . . And, before you know it, it's tricycles and swing sets. Sometimes it gets to be a real headache.

Today more and more wise, modern families have found that by both using Times and Record News Classified ads they can give their little ones the things they need — and still not shatter the family budget. Use this amazingly easy formula.

As soon as your baby outgrows something — sell it — while it still has maximum value to a cash buyer. Do it by dialing 767-8301 and placing an inexpensive Classified ad. Then, using the money you received, turn to the Classified columns to find the newer things your youngster now needs. A word ad is as low as 3½c per word per day on the special day 8 day rate. So put this plan into action today. It's the easy, inexpensive and profitable way to cure your budget's "growing pains."

Candidates Trade Verbal Swats

By PEGGY SIMPSON
Associated Press Writer

The influence of convicted swindler Billie Sol Estes has mushroomed into the most bitterly disputed question in the Texas Senate race.

With little more than a week left before May 2 elections, Sen. Ralph Yarborough denounced as "a monstrous falsehood" an accusation by Gordon McLendon, his Democratic opponent, that he accepted $50,000 cash from Estes in 1960.

Yarborough called the Dallas radio executive a "bankrupt huckster" and told a Dallas rally that McLendon was "spending upwards of $1 million in the final weeks of the campaign trying to beat me."

He said McLendon was waging a "hate campaign, with slander and smear."

Earlier Wednesday, Yarborough asked the Federal Communications Commission to investigate what he called "infamous lies being broadcast against me" by McLendon over his three Texas radio stations, in Dallas, Houston, and San Antonio.

McLendon replied that Yarborough "has got hold of a real tough old Scotchman. . .He's not about to intimidate and bully me into submission. Our radio stations will continue to broadcast the news."

In Marshall, McLendon said "The only statements we have broadcast have been direct quotes from the Dallas Morning News. We will not only continue to broadcast them, but from now on we are going to factually expand upon them."

He referred to a Dallas News story of April 12 that said Yarborough accepted $50,000 from Estes on Nov. 6, 1960. Yarborough has warned newspapers that the account was libelous.

At the Dallas rally, Yarborough said his last campaign contribution from Estes was in 1961. He added that the Dallas News had praised Estes as late as March 28, 1962, the day before Estes was arrested by federal officers. He said he learned later the News had been probing Estes' activities but said, "How did they expect me to know, if they had investigated him and they didn't know?"

Market Is Down In Mixed Trade

NEW YORK (AP) — Rails settled irregularly lower and the over-all stock market was off a little in moderately active trading early this afternoon.

Losses of key stocks were mainly fractional, some going to a point or so.

Texas Gulf Sulphur rebounded from Thursday's loss of 2⅞ and was up about 2 point. Curtis Publishing traded about unchanged.

After early declines, some of the rails began to come back.

The trend was lower among cigarette stocks, electrical equipments, farm implements, retails, chemicals, steels and some of the office equipments. Motors were narrowly higher. Airlines and nonferrous metals were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .7 at 305.5 with industrials off 1.2, rails off .5 and utilities off .1.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 1.63 at 820.03.

Principal Bars 100 Students

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A ban on a fashion trend among teen-agers — skirts that really aren't skirts — led to suspension of more than 100 pupils at Berry High School.

Clyde H. Yeilding, principal of the 1,600-pupil school, imposed the suspensions Thursday after the pupils walked out in protest to the new rule.

The ban applies to culottes—that's French for breeches, but they look like skirts—and perts, a pair of shorts embellished with panels of fabric to resemble a skirt.

Among the protestors were a number of boys who walked out in sympathy—or because it was a spring day.

IDI Directors Hear Wolverton Report

By PETER HINCHLIFFE

As part of the continued intensive drive to bring industrial expansion to Wichita Falls, Joe B. Wolverton, president of Industrial Development, Inc., and president of the First-Wichita National Bank, paid a flying visit to New York City last week to meet with a number of industrial experts.

At a meeting of the IDI board of directors in the Country House Restaurant Friday luncheon, Wolverton stated he had visited with Bob Anderson, Secretary of the Navy and later Secretary of the Treasury during the Eisenhower administration.

Anderson told him there were two basic approaches to selling a town as a location for industrial development to New Yorkers. One was was to advertise that representatives of the town would be present in a New York Hotel on a certain date to sell the image and possibilities of their city to industrialists. Anderson had said it was surprising how many people attended such meetings as these.

Relocation Factor

The second and more effective method was to have a complete analysis made of one's community to establish what industries could be attracted there, and then to go out and call on those specific industries.

Wolverton said he had also met with officials of two firms of management consultants — the largest firms of their kind in the world.

These officials had stated that with modern transportation, a geographic location was not quite as important a factor as before in influencing the relocation of an industry. "If your city happens to be 150 or 200 miles away from where a firm is considering relocating, don't give up hope of bringing them to your community," Wolverton was told.

The officials stated that three factors were important in persuading a firm to relocate in a specific town. Firms no longer interested in going into a town where there was no organized labor, for they realized that organized labor would quickly follow once industries were located there. However, they did demand a pattern of industrial peace and a favorable labor climate.

Labor Aspects

They also looked to see whether local government was favorably inclined towards labor.

Thirdly, it was also a big help if the whole citizenship of a town was united behind a drive for industrial expansion.

Wolverton stated he had learned a great deal during his visit to New York, and Anderson had advised him that such visits would be worthwhile on a regular basis so that Wichitans can get to know members of the New York business world.

Anderson also suggested that visits to such cities as Los Angeles, San Francisco, Detroit and Pittsburgh would also be worth while for any businessmen attempting to attract new industry to their communities.

While he was in New York, Wolverton was hosted at a dinner which was attended by Anderson, Thomas M. Macioce (financial vice president, Allied Stores Cpr.), T. A. Mangelsdorf (executive vice president, Texaco, Inc.), W. S. Soeath (treasurer, Union Carbide Corp.), R. E. McNeill Jr chairman, Challen R. Parker Jr., senior vice president and Gilbert H. Weale, vice president (all of the Manufacturers Hanover Trust Co).

Banking Views

Wolverton also visited with banking officials and stated that they were very familiar with the relocation aims and plans of various industries.

Rex Jennings and Lee Nelson presented reports on a number of industrial prospects investigated in recent weeks.

Jennings pointed out that recent statistics released by the Wichita Falls office of the Texas Employment Commission showed that there were 135 more manufacturing employes in this city in March this year than in March last year. "That is some sign of progress though we will have to step it up considerably to achieve our goal of 4,000 new manufacturing jobs in the next 10 years," Jennings added.

The following IDI committees for 1964 were announced:

Arrowhead Development Committee — Harold Jones (chairman), John Estes, Tom Foley and Dick Harris; budget and personnel committee— Hal Dyer (Chairman), Dick Harris and D. C. Norwood; finance committee — Harry Lane (chairman), Dick Harris, C. B. Johnson and Harold Shappell; prospect development and research committee — Erle White (chairman), Bill Bass, W. A. Hotchkiss and Joe B. Wolverton; publications and advertising committee — James Barnett (chairman), Bill Bass and Joe Steed; existing industry committee — Bill Bass (chairman) and all the members of the board.

Valley Traffic Shows Increase

WESLACO (AP) — Increases of traffic through lower Rio Grande Valley ports of entry to Mexico are faster than at out-of-valley points, the LRGV Chamber of Commerce says.

Four out-of-valley points, the AAA said 67,304 persons crossed for an increase of 4,039 in the same quarter.

Campaign Cost Reports Due

Despite a deadline midnight Friday, most candidates seeking office have not filed their first required sworn statement of campaign expenditures with the county clerk.

Dora Davis said Friday noon that only about 25 per cent of the candidates had filed the statements.

Candidates who have filed, and their expenses for the primary election, are as follows:

Maurice Doke, seeking election as state representative, place two, listed his expenses at $861.76 and monies received for his campaign at $750.

Cuba Appeals To Conference

GENEVA (AP)—Cuba called on the world trade and development conference today to condemn economic sanctions as a violation of the U.N. charter and the principles of international law.

A resolution presented to the conference by the Cuban deputy trade minister, Raul Leon Torras, did not mention the United States but clearly was aimed at the American trade embargo against Cuba. The resolution is to be discussed later during the three-month conference.

The resolution was expected to find support from the Soviet bloc and some of the African and Asian nations, but was given no chance of approval by a majority of the conference.

MU Bible Chair Sets Lectures

"The Contemporary Christ for Modern Youth" is the theme of the first annual series of student sermons, delivered each night next week, April 27 through May 1 at 7:30 p.m. at the Church of Christ Bible Chair at Midwestern University. Four students at the university have been selected to speak, with each developing the major theme.

Wendell Willis, graduating senior from Wichita Falls and an education major, will speak Monday night on, "Campus Gods on Trial." His sermon will discuss the need for certainty and what claims the Bible can make in an age of scientific sophistication. On Tuesday night the speaker is Jerry Brown, also a senior education major from Loving, Texas. Brown's topic will be "The Quest for a Contemporary Church."

Travis McWhorter, a sophomore from Megargel, Texas, will speak Wednesday night on, "Christ and the Crisis of Modern Man," and Ron Miller, senior biology student from Wichita Falls, will speak Thursday night on, "20th Century Progress—fact or Illusion?"

On the final night of the series, Friday, Jim Wilburn, instructor in Biblical literature at Midwestern and director of the Church of Christ Bible Chair, will conclude the series with a message entitled "Courage to Decide."

While the series is especially designed for young people of college and high school age, the public is cordially invited to attend.

Australia Gets New Minister

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) —Defense Minister Paul Hasluck was appointed foreign minister today by Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies in a Cabinet reshuffle apparently touched off by the Indonesia-Malaysia dispute.

Hasluck, 50, a former career diplomat, replaced Sir Garfield Barwick, who was appointed chief justice. Sen. Shane Paltridge succeeded Hasluck as defense minister.

Observers speculated that Barwick was moved to the court for a disagreement with the United States over the Indonesia-Malaysia dispute.

Barwick told a news conference April 17 the United States was obliged by treaty to intervene if Indonesia attacked Australian troops aiding Malaysia. U.S. officials recognized a technical obligation but were reluctant to be drawn into a military commitment over Malaysia.

T. SGT. BILLY GREENE

Sheppard Cites Two Airmen

Two men are being recognized for outstanding work by 3750th Technical School at Sheppard Technical Training Center this week.

Airman 3.C. Samuel L. Moffett Jr., received the American Spirit Honor Medal for demonstrating outstanding leadership and scholastic abilities as a student in the Reciprocating Engine Mechanic course and Phase II of Basic Military Training.

He was recommended for this honor by his basic military training instructor, S. Sgt. James Thompson.

A native of Mesa, Ariz., Airman Moffett will return to his Arizona Air National Guard unit upon his completion of training at Sheppard.

T. Sgt. Billy V. Greene of the 915S Field Training Detachment at Hickam AFB, Hawaii, was named Detachment Instructor of the Week for the period ending April 21.

Since joining this detachment in February 1963, Sgt. Greene has performed outstanding service. He noted and resolved several local training problems and developed a three-step program which included operational checkout of the ten most used items of AGE, followed by separate training on the overhaul and maintenance of the same items of equipment, and finally instruction of lesser used AGE equipment.

A native of Monroe, N.C., Sgt. Greene has a total of 19 years of military service.
