Buffalo Has Flowing Oil From Devonian In C-W Lea Wildcat

Buffalo Oil Company has discovered flowing oil in the Devonian in its No. 12-2 Bajah a Central-West Lea County wildcat 30 miles west and a little south of Lovington.

The project flowed 33 barrels of clean, 47-gravity oil in two hours and still was flowing at last report. The flow was natural through an unreported gas-choke on tubing.

From Devonian Top
The production is coming from the top eight feet in the Devonian. No water has been developed. Operator was to flow the wildcat for 24 hours and then decide whether to complete it as it stands or to drill deeper into the Devonian to hunt for more pay.

The project is at total depth of 13,568 feet. Top of the Devonian is at 13,560 feet. Elevation is 4,022 feet. The 5 1/2-inch casing is cemented at 13,557 feet.

The flow of 33 barrels of oil in two hours came after the plug had been drilled out and operator had swabbed out water load. When the water had been swabbed out the pay section kicked off and started flowing and the 33 barrel recovery of new, high-gravity oil in two hours resulted.

Maljamar Area
Location is 1,980 feet from south and 860 feet from west lines of section 23-17s-32E. The new well is in the west side of the shallow Maljamar field. It is a considerable distance away from any Devonian production.

Buffalo No. 12-B Bajah has shown some possibilities of production in the Clear Fork of the Permian in a drillstem test at 6,350-6,644 feet and it also had logged some free oil in a test of the zone at 10,715-856 feet in the Pennsylvanian.

Humble Schedules Semi-Wildcat In SE Midland Area

Humble Oil & Refining Company spotted location for a semi-wildcat one and three-quarter miles north of production in the Midkiff-Spraberry field of Southeast Midland County.

The new test is the concern's No. 1 Elona E. Brown and others, 680 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 35, block 38, T-4-S, T&P survey.

That puts it one location southwest of Humble No. 1 Cassell, Spraberry wildcat bottomed at 8,240 feet in lower Spraberry. Operator cemented five and one-half-inch casing on bottom in that project and is now testing the upper Spraberry from 7,270 to 7,325 feet through perforations.

During the last 21 hours of swabbing the well made 78 barrels of fluid. It was 50 per cent oil and 50 per cent water. During the last five hours of the 21-hour swabbing period, the wildcat made 12 barrels of oil and 12 barrels of water.

Operator will squeeze off the perforations opposite the upper Spraberry and test the producing ability of the lower zone.

Location for No. 1 Cassell is 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 35, block 38, T-4-S, T&P survey.

Four New Wells Are Completed In Spraberry Areas

Four more others have been added to the Spraberry Trend of Midland and Glasscock Counties.

In the Four Corners area of Southeast Midland County, Sinclair Oil & Gas Company and Benedum-Trees Oil Company each finished one of the Spraberry oilers.

Sinclair No. 41-D Little Midkiff, 660 feet from south and east lines of section 48, block 38, T-4-S, T&P survey, was completed for a daily flowing potential of 528 barrels of 36.1-gravity oil through open two-inch tubing and from open hole at 7,135-7,237 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 745-1 and tubing pressure was 40 pounds.

Benedum-Trees
Benedum-Trees No. 1 Douglas, 660 feet from north and east lines of section 11, block 38, T-5-S, T&P survey, was finished for a 24-hour flowing potential of 564 barrels of 37.6-gravity oil through a three-quarter-inch tubing choke and from open hole at 7,175-7,333 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 478-1 and tubing pressure was 115 pounds.

Midland is set for action Thursday night in its greatest single, all-out effort in the 1952 fund-raising campaign for the March of Dimes.

The climax of the drive is scheduled between the hours of 6 and 7 p.m. Thursday when Midland mothers will march on polio.

"Following weeks of preparation we now have a large and enthusiastic volunteer organization of Midland mothers who will swing into action at the appointed hour Thursday to launch the Mothers' March on Polio," James L. Daugherty, campaign director, announced. "Sirens and (Continued On Page 12)

Driver Escapes As Train Demolishes Stalled Automobile

An automobile was demolished Wednesday night when it was struck by a 90-car west-bound freight train after becoming stalled on the tracks.

The driver, identified by police only as Theodor Crowfield, escaped injury.

Police Lt. Dick Hemingway said he had a front seat to watch the crash as he drove to the scene a few seconds before the train approached.

He said the automobile was attempting to cross the Texas and Pacific Railroad tracks at Balrd Street, where the crossing had been eliminated more than a year ago.

The vehicle lodged in the center of the tracks and the driver could not budge it. Police quoted the engineer of the freight train as saying he did not see the vehicle in time to stop.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON (AP)—Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey Thursday predicted a sharp increase in the number of men to be drafted between now and June 30.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman Thursday said he has chosen a successor to Michael V. DiSalle as price administrator. He told a news conference he would name him at the proper time.

TEHRAN, IRAN (AP)—A U. S. Embassy spokesman said Thursday Iran has ordered immediate shutdown of all American State Department information and education centers here except the one in Tehran.

City Coaches Set February Starting Date

Midland will get its first look this weekend at its new city transportation coaches, which tentatively are scheduled to begin operations February 15.

The date was set Thursday by Gene Thummell, manager of the Midland Transportation Company, after receiving word that four of the coaches had arrived in Fort Worth.

A fifth, he said, is enroute from the General Motors factory at Pontiac, Mich.

"We will drive four of the coaches back to Midland either Friday afternoon or Saturday morning," said Thummell, "and a definite date for beginning of operations will be set early next week."

Meanwhile classroom work for the 15 women drivers already has been started.

"We are going through the arithmetic of teaching them how to drive safely and properly," Thummell said.

"Classroom work includes instruction in safety rules, traffic regulations and the technical aspects of driving the coaches."

Training Starts Monday
"Driver training, using the coaches themselves, will begin Monday and continue the next two weeks."

Basic training will be carried on at Midland Airport. After the operators have learned to maneuver the big coaches there, he said, they will be given advanced training on city streets, learning (Continued On Page Nine)

Testimony Underway In John Welch Trial

PECOS—Testimony continued Thursday morning in the trial of John E. Welch, charged with murder in the hitch-hike slaying of Cpl. Dennis E. Miller in January, 1951.

Presentation of evidence started Wednesday night at a night session of court.

Only seven of a special venire of 125 remained when the last juror was accepted Wednesday afternoon.

The jury includes Charles Hoels and Charles Reynolds, both of Balmorea, and David Davis, F. F. Bell, Guy H. McMurray, Bill Winston, R. H. Brown, Paul H. Coleman, G. L. Braashear, Harvey Beauchamp, Orville L. Lucas and M. G. Brown, all of Pecos.

Southern Truck Drivers Threaten Midnight Walkout

MEMPHIS, TENN.—(AP)—An AFL official said that unless a new contract is signed Thursday, 80,000 truck transport workers in 10 Southern states will strike at midnight.

"Unless something drastically happens, there definitely will be a strike at 12:01 a.m. Friday," declared M. W. Miller, chairman of the Southern Conference of Teamsters.

Negotiations with Southwest and Southeastern Motor Carrier Associations bogged down Wednesday on wages for long haul truck drivers.

The Southwest area covers Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Arkansas. States in the Southeast group are Tennessee, Kentucky, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia and Florida.

Gale W. Pugh Seeks Commissioner Post

Voter List May Climb To 12,000

Potential voters began showing up in a last-minute rush Thursday as the number of poll tax receipts and exemption certificates neared the 11,000-mark in Midland County.

County Tax Assessor-Collector J. M. Speed confidentially predicted that the figure would be close to 12,000 by the deadline Thursday night.

With the old record of 7,000 receipts and certificates issued last year already shattered, there were hundreds of other applications on file, ready for the issuance of receipts as soon as Speed's office staff catches up with its work.

Applications postmarked before midnight Thursday will be accepted although the courthouse office will close at the usual 5 p.m. closing time Thursday.

By mid-morning Thursday, more than 9,500 poll tax receipts had been issued and about 1,200 exemption certificates had been obtained by potential qualified voters. A shipment of an additional 1,500 receipt forms was expected Thursday.

Police Raid Red Parties In Germany

FRANKFURT, GERMANY—(AP)—West German police Thursday began nationwide raids on party headquarters of Communists and the Nazi-type Socialist Reich Party.

Frankfurt police said the action was ordered to begin simultaneously in all West German cities. It was ordered by the West German Constitutional Court to gather evidence against the two organizations.

The federal government at Bonn has asked the court to ban both parties as unconstitutional.

Police said they were instructed to confiscate all "material giving evidence of hostile activities of the two parties which can be used in the trial."

Homes of leading officials in the Communist and Socialist Reich (SPR) Parties also were searched.

Truman Takes Off On Flood Area Tour

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman took off at 10:13 a.m. Thursday on a flight over the four-state area damaged by the flooding Ohio River.

The departure from National Airport was made in sub-freezing weather, shortly after the President had met with reporters for his weekly news conference.

The trip was to be a non-stop affair, with Truman having a look at the damaged sections of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. A light rain was falling when the plane took off.

NATO Naval Boss Starts Work Thursday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Adm. Lynde D. McCormick came to Washington Thursday to start setting up the biggest international sea command since the World War II days of huge Pacific fleets.

The newly named supreme Allied commander, Atlantic (SACLANT), nautical opposite of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, European land commander, scheduled a round of calls and conferences for his first full day in office.

Senate Critic Described As 'Pathological'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Thursday denounced Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) as pathological and as a character assassin.

The President let go at the Wisconsin senator at a news conference in response to questions about McCarthy's Senate speech earlier this week on Philo Nash, a special White House assistant.

McCarthy said Nash, a special assistant concerned with minority problems, had close associations with Communists in the 1940's. Nash denied it.

Snapping back, the President referred to the Wisconsin senator as the "pathological Mr. McCarthy."

He said the attack on Nash was the same kind of attack McCarthy has made on all government workers he does not like.

A reporter recalled McCarthy had said FBI reports linked Nash with Communist associates and asked the President if the FBI did have such reports.

Truman responded with a question: Does he (McCarthy) ever tell the truth? And he added that if McCarthy does, he (the President) does not know it.

Truman went on to say that McCarthy does not need information to be a character assassin—that's his business.

And, with an edge in his voice, the President said he himself was (Continued On Page Nine)

President Spurns All Primaries

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman said Thursday he will have his name withdrawn as a candidate in the New Hampshire preferential primary, but that this would not preclude his running for reelection.

The President again declined to say whether he will be a candidate for another term or when he will announce his intentions.

At his regular news conference, Truman tried in vain to discourage questions on his plans, saying there were more important things to talk about.

He said if he decided to run, he could get the nomination without going into any of the state primaries. Kerr is willing.

The President denied knowing of any move among his associates to "stop" Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, an avowed candidate for the Democratic nomination for president.

Pressed directly as to whether his decision to withdraw his name from the New Hampshire primary precluded his running for president, Truman said: Not at all.

And he added that all these primaries are eyesash.

Meanwhile, on Capitol Hill, Senator Kerr (D-Okl.) gave some hints that if President Truman does not run, Kerr would be willing.

His stock answer for reporters who asked if he is a candidate, providing Truman is not, was:

"I'm not running for anything and I'm not running from anything."

A Vital Defense Measure

No political realist imagined that UMT was going to have an easy time in Congress in a year when the lawmakers must face mothers, fathers and service-eligible youngsters of voting age at the polls.

It has been hoped, nevertheless, that enough legislators would hear the call of statesmanship to insure the prompt enactment of this vital defense measure.

Already there is talk of a limp compromise; the proposal that for the first year of a UMT program the projected 60,000 trainees be drawn from volunteers.

The very essence of any sound military training program is that the burden of service shall fall fairly upon all young men.

Deferment for good reason may play some part in the plan, but exemption—complete freedom from service—has no proper place.

To inaugurate a UMT plan with a call for volunteers is therefore a total violation of the spirit and purpose of the program.

It puts a premium upon the man who does not choose to offer his services, bestowing special favor on him at the expense of his volunteering comrade.

If, in spite of all, Congress should initiate the program on a volunteer basis, it will amount to the lawmakers saying:

"We do not have the nerve to put this plan into effect on a compulsory footing, as it should be. Therefore, we are risking damage to the whole UMT concept by asking for volunteers this first year."

The wise and brave course admittedly is difficult for a politician to follow. The average congressman's mail undoubtedly is running heavily against UMT.

But most of those who write are not thinking of the welfare and safety of their country. They are simply thinking of themselves.

It is a lawmaker's business to reflect the views of his constituents, to represent them. But it is also his business to act for the good of the country in times of stress.

Unless Congress can figure some way to repeal the Russians, it must be forced to concede that these are perilous days. Unpreparedness was a luxury we managed to enjoy without fatal consequence in the two world wars.

Hardly a military man alive believes we dare indulge in it again; the risk of crushing defeat is too great.

Those who insist on thinking in terms of former wars or who simply wish to give way to selfish emotion are firm against the adoption of UMT. The most charitable thing to be said about them is that they do not understand what kind of world they are living in.

UMT is one vital ingredient in America's considered formula for security in a dangerous world. It is incumbent on those who would eliminate it to demonstrate how they would protect the United States in national emergency.

"Fill 'Er Up, Please"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Senator Kefauver stays in Ohio primary with lady secretary; Military waste revealed in Morocco; President Truman almost faced military court-martial.

WASHINGTON—The vehemence of the undercover "Trumanite" drive to stop Kefauver is illustrated by the way wares were pulled back-stage among Democratic leaders in Ohio.

Ohio primary law requires delegates to be pledged both to a first and second choice. Originally, therefore, Murray Lincoln, a statesman-like head of the Ohio Farm Bureau, was offered the No. 2 spot on the Kefauver ticket.

But Lincoln declined when pressure was brought from Washington. He was told he would have to resign his advisory post on the State Department's Point 4 program; so Lincoln said no.

Following this, anti-Kefauver strategists in Ohio conceived the idea of volunteering a top Democrat for the Kefauver ticket, then having him suddenly send a telegram to the Ohio Secretary of State on February 6, the filing day, saying he was unable to go along with some of the Kefauver delegates and therefore pulling his name off the ticket.

This would have let the senator from Tennessee high and dry. It would have invalidated all Kefauver petitions and taken him out of the Ohio primary altogether. Also it would have made him look like a rank amateur not in a class with party professionals.

However, Tim Hogan, Kefauver's Ohio manager, got wind of this sly strategy, and after a hurried conference with Congressman Wayne Hays, it was decided to take no chances. Instead of a big shot as No. 2 on the Kefauver ticket, the name of Marie Harrington Krim of Martins Ferry, Ohio, was inserted.

So Ohio Democrats, when they vote in the primary, will cast their ballots for Kefauver and a woman who, while completely unknown, happens to be the personal secretary to Congressman Hays and can be trusted.

Note—Opposition to Kefauver in Ohio came from the "Trumanites"—those around Truman who passionately want him to run again—rather than the President himself. Actually the President has expressed friendly sentiments toward the Tennessee senator, even gave him suggestions during their recent talk on how to conduct his campaign.

Among other things, he suggested that not much was to be gained by featuring Kefauver's victory over the Crump machine, also warned him to avoid early contacts with scaly people, said that his geographical location, Tennessee, meant that he should win the support of the South.

The full scandal hasn't been told, but three U. S. air bases in French Morocco suddenly have been abandoned in the middle of construction. More than one million dollars already had been spent on the three bases—when suddenly the Pentagon changed its mind and decided not to build them.

The Senate Preparedness Committee quietly is investigating who is responsible for this expensive boner. One report is that the airstrips weren't built on solid ground and sank into the sand; another report is that the rainy season flooded out at least one base. Chairman Lyndon Johnson, Texas Democrat, has demanded a full report.

Stalin Gets Mad If we get discouraged over government waste and efficiency here at home, it might pay to look at an official report from Moscow that Marshal Stalin secretly has visited Russian shippers in the Baltic to find out what's holding up his plan to build a powerful fleet of super-battleships.

American observers report that Stalin was furious at the excuses his admirals have been giving for Russia's failure to turn out a single new battleship since 1939.

Therefore, accompanied by 200 secret police, he personally inspected the naval installations where three 30,000-ton battleships are under construction. The inefficiency and blunders he saw, especially at Gdynia, infuriated him even more, and Stalin now has ordered, a complete purge of the Russian admirals responsible.

Near Court-Martial The nation's commander-in-chief, Harry S. Truman, is just a little proud of the little-known fact he once was almost court-martialed. The story came out the other day when Congressman Dan Flood of Pennsylvania called with other colleagues at the White House.

"Tell them about the time I came to the rescue of an artillery unit from your home town of Wilkes-Barre during the first world war," Truman suggested to Flood during their talk.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

Today's hand was played last September in Venice during the European round-robin team tournament. The English pair got up to six clubs, by the bidding shown, when they held the North-South cards. In the other room, the French pair bid only five clubs.

It is easy to see that South can make six clubs if he guesses the right way to play the spades. He will make the slam if he leads to the king of spades, in the hope that East has the ace. He will lose the slam if he leads the jack of spades and lets it ride for a finesse.

When the hand was actually played, South gave himself an extra chance by tricky discarding. It was very simple, and it shouldn't have worked, but it did.

West opened the jack of hearts, and dummy won with the queen. South drew two rounds of trumps, took the remaining top hearts and ruffed a heart. Then he got back to dummy with a trump to cash dummy's last heart.

South got two discards on dummy's hearts—not enough to do him any real good. He discarded the eight and ten of spades, keeping the five of spades in his hand, and then led the nine of spades from dummy.

East fell for his elementary stratagem. He thought that South was very short in spades, that perhaps he now held the blank king. So East scrambled to put up the ace of spades, and South no longer had to guess how to play the spades.

By the time the spade play was made, East should have had a complete count on the South hand. It was clear that South had started with exactly six trumps and two hearts. Why hadn't he discarded any diamonds on the hearts? Obviously, South had a singleton diamond, which left room in his hand for four spades.

Hence East should have known that South still had two spades left. He should have ducked when dummy led the nine of spades, thus allowing South to guess. If you let your opponents do their own guessing, they will sometimes do you the favor of guessing wrong!

Q—The bidding has been: South West North East 1 Heart Pass 1 Spade 2 Clubs ?

Q—South, hold: Spades 7-5-2, Hearts A-K-9-4-2, Diamonds A-Q-8-3, Club 4. What do you do?

A—Bid two diamonds. You have quite enough strength for a free re-bid, and your only question is which of the two red suits to bid. In this case the diamonds are worth showing, and the hearts are only barely re-biddable. The choice

India's Elections Set The Stage For Next Four Critical Years

By PETER EDSON NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Elections in India, now going on, have considerable interest and importance to the United States even though this country is preoccupied with its own political problems.

The constitution of the Republic of India was modeled on that of the United States, but the election system is considerably different.

Instead of holding national elections one day and knowing the results on the next, as in America, the Indians spread their elections over six weeks. They began late in December. They will end early in February, but the final results won't be known till the end of the month.

This is India's first four-year election since the republic was founded in 1947. Out of 170,000,000 eligible voters more than 21 years of age, it is expected about 90,000,000 will cast ballots.

They are voting for members of Parliament—a Council of States and a lower House of the People. They also will choose members of the 28 State assemblies.

As of January 23, with returns in from about a fourth of the election districts, these results have been tabulated:

House of the People—Out of 496 seats, 105 elected. Nehru's Congress Party won 74, Communists 11, Socialists and Independents 20.

State Assemblies—Out of 4,000 seats, 1,294 elected. Congress Party 830, Independents 121, Communists 115, Socialists 48, others 162.

It is the nucleus of 11 Communists in the House of the People and the 115 Communists in the state assemblies that should be of some concern not only to India and the United States but to the rest of the world as well.

Assuming that these percentages hold for the whole country, it will mean the Communists will have about 10 per cent representation in Indian legislative bodies.

The new U. S. ambassador to India, Chester Bowles, former price administrator and ex-governor of Connecticut, has been in Washington the last couple of weeks, trying to stir up more congressional and other interest in India.

Whatever else anyone may think of Bowles and his ideas, he is conceded to be a good reporter. He does a lot of leg work and he goes out and digs up a lot of facts.

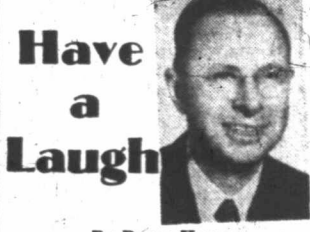

In the three months he has been in India he has traveled 7,000 miles by plane and 1,800 miles by auto, within India.

He has taken tea in mud huts with families that formerly would have been considered unapproachable. He has talked to common people, to students, where Communist agitators tried for two hours to break up his meeting, to businessmen and politicians, as well as diplomats and Prime Minister Nehru.

In Bowles' opinion today, Nehru is the greatest potential power in the East. Bowles reports that the Communist chant heard most frequently in India is "Chiang is down. Next goes Nehru."

should therefore go to the new suit. TODAY'S QUESTION The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades 9-7-5-2, Hearts A-K-9-4-2, Diamonds K-Q-8, Club 4. What do you do?

Have a Laugh

By Boyer House

A gunfighter, on trial for murder, testified that the other man had called him a so-and-so. The prosecuting attorney said, "But the testimony shows that he never said a word!" The defendant replied, "Well, he was a-thin'!"

And Peter who had for several stunning minutes heard himself cast in a villain's role that included treason, adultery and vicariously achieved murder, could only win at the "doubt in his friend's question."

His head jerked up as Stella Pelletier, who, like her husband, had not been in her bed for almost 24 hours, came through the swinging door with a platter of scrambled eggs and bacon.

"Peter," she said, spooning the fluffy yellow mound onto his plate, "you're to eat some breakfast. I don't know how much Walter has told you, but we both have the utmost faith in you, and you're not for one minute to lose faith in yourself."

PETER did not bestir himself from the task of heaving the sides of his egg-pile with the tines of the fork. Without raising his eyes from his plate, he announced in flat insulating recital, "I have not had an affair with Jennet Logan. I am not and never was a Communist. So help me God!" And then, riled by the necessity for such a speech, he leaned forward and slapped the table with a bandaged hand, as big as a plate. "And to tell you the truth, I don't feel in the least responsible for Dr. Logan's death. All I feel is so mad my teeth hurt. I'd like to sink them into Cota's throat—I'd like to claw that ugly face till it ran . . ."

"Good," said Mrs. Pelletier, the doe of her lavender eyes helping the cheer in her voice. "Good for you. That's exactly what I hoped you'd say. Now calm yourself, Peter, and eat your eggs before they get cold. We've been through a lot tonight—and that poor child, Jennet, I just hope she doesn't lose her reason. But we've been through bad times before. I always say to myself while they're happening, 'This, too, will pass.' And it does. Do you take care, Peter? Don't eat so fast, Walter, you'll get heartburn."

Dr. Logan's Wife

By Diana Gaines

THE STORY: Dr. Gus Logan, aged and failing, is shocked by news that his wife Jennet has been unfaithful. The instructions were part of a complaint by Maxwell Cate, head of the hospital where Peter and Dr. Logan were staff members, to assist Peter, who is interested in a new clearance. Dr. Logan falls to understand that his wife, although attracted by Peter, has been faithful.

room? I suppose everyone knows about the affair but me. And if they didn't before, they know now.

"What do you mean?" Jennet asked.

"The meeting tonight was about Surinov. They want to fire him."

A sound of distress almost escaped her lips, and on his next words turned heartlessly into nourishing breath.

"Because of the loyalty oath, Pelletier backed him and so did I. I spo'e in his defense. Cota was furious and pulled out a photostatic copy of the check. I thought it was some trick. But if it was not, then there are only two conclusions the men can draw. Either my wife is a tart or I am a Communist paying off my young helper."

Jennet stared at the man to whom she had been married for 10 years and she did not know him. He was a god of righteousness and she a unrepentant Magdalene and her tongue cleaved to the back of her teeth.

"Answer me!"

Down against her fang body, she felt him sliding, down, down until she, staring, saw him writhing and gasping at her feet. She didn't know she was screaming until Ingrid came in, running, wild in hibiscus wrapper, her braids bouncing, her eyes popping.

BEFORE sunrise the morning after Gus Logan's death, Peter Surinov sat, by invitation, in the breakfast room of the Pelletier home.

"I phoned Rafe Warner at two this morning—that was the first chance I had to get the results of last night's meeting. It happened as I expected. They voted you out of a job, Peter. Unanimously. I told Rafe of Gus's passing. No one knew he had a bad heart, not

Ohio River Flood Danger Diminishes

CINCINNATI —(P)—Blaze residents of the thickly populated metropolitan Cincinnati area paid scant attention Thursday as the flood-swollen Ohio River rose steadily toward an anticipated crest of 87.5 feet.

That would be five and a half feet above flood stage, but persons living here and in adjacent cities in Kentucky and Indiana pointed out that only 15 years ago the river stage was 76 feet.

That was during the 1937 flood, when the peak was 80 feet.

The serious damage from the flood apparently already has been done—many miles upstream. In its early rampage the river had driven upward of 10,000 persons from their homes, and—cost the lives of 10 persons.

Gold weather had slowed the river's rise and the U. S. Weather Bureau said it had over-estimated the amount of water that would be dumped into the Ohio by its tributaries.

The damage, however, figured to be in the millions of dollars.

Proposal For Direct Presidential Voting Handed To Congress

WASHINGTON —(P)—A plan for nation-wide presidential primaries went before Congress Thursday.

The sponsors, Senator Douglas (D-Ill) and Rep. Charles E. Bennett (D-Mia), said the plan would not require a constitutional amendment, and could apply to the 1952 campaign.

Primary voting, as envisioned in the proposal, would not bind convention delegates but probably would exert a "strong persuasive influence" on their decisions, Douglas and Bennett said in a statement.

They said their purpose is "to bring about greater direct participation" by the people in the nomination of candidates for president and vice president.

Under the plan, the attorney general would be directed to work out agreements with the various states to conduct presidential preferential primaries for the major political parties.

The federal government would share the cost of the primaries, paying the states up to 20 cents for each vote cast. The states would provide election personnel, registration books and other facilities. A 10 million dollar ceiling would be put on federal expense.

DALLAS —(P)—The Dallas Morning News Thursday published a list provided by Senator Tom Connally of 24 occasions "when I voted contrary to the views or wishes of the President."

Connally's only opponent so far is Price Daniel, now Texas attorney general.

Connally said his votes contrary to Truman's policies resulted not "from any personal hostility or animosity toward the President, but because 'I thought he was wrong and I was right.'"

Rotary Wins Two, Phillips One In Basketball Action

Smooth Rotary Engineering Company and powerful Phillips Petroleum Company rolled over opponents by convincing margins in the Midland JayCee Independent Basketball League Wednesday night to remain tied for the league lead.

Rotary used its reserves in the main to dispose of the weak JayCees, 54 to 30, while Phillips crushed Western Plastic at will, 65 to 36.

The two top teams will meet Monday night in the John M. Cowden Junior High School Gym. Rotary also played a practice contest between the two loop tilts Wednesday, downing a good McCamey News Publishing Company team, 69 to 34.

Buddy Johnson's 18 points paced the Rotary team past the JayCees, with Jimmy Edwards scoring 13 points for the losers. It was Rotary all the way, although the halftime margin was only 22-19, but the Engineers turned it on in the last half. Edwards scored nine of the 11 JayCee last-half points.

Bennie Rutherford played a merry tune on the bucket in the game with McCamey, getting 24 points, while J. B. Collins scored 15. Morris topped McCamey with 19 tallies.

McCamey held a 20-17 first quarter lead before Rotary surged in from 29-32 at halftime and stayed in the lead thereafter. Once again it was Gerald Tucker, ex-Oklahoma All-American, who led Phillips. He scored 17 points while going through his usual clowning antics. Don Jones hit 14 for Phillips.

Plastic's Stover got 10 and Dyeis 11.

Lou Boudreau Spots Good Bosox Rooks

BOSTON —(P)— After working with 32 rookie prospects at the Sarasota, Fla., training camp for the last two weeks, Manager Lou Boudreau says he has spotted "at least three and possibly six" who will help his Boston Red Sox in the indefinite future.

"Most of the kids are 20 and under and we'll lose most of them to the armed services," Boudreau explained. "But I'm sure of retaining Jim Piersall because he is married and has two children."

Piersall, now 22, has been an outfielder during his four years in the Red Sox farm system, with the Scranton Eastern League, Birmingham Southern Association and Louisville American Association clubs.

"I think Piersall has the makings of a great shortstop," Boudreau, one of the best in that position, insists. "He charges the ball well and has mastered most of the rudiments of his new position. But he may need a bit more experience with Louisville."

"What I've been looking for," Boudreau continued, "are rookies of the type that the Yankees come up with, the Mickey Mantles and the Gil MacDougalds. I didn't expect much from any of our kids when we got started two weeks ago. But some of them have shown me plenty and they still will be around when we start regular Spring training on March 1."

Here for the annual Boston Baseball Writers dinner, Boudreau said he was not including slugger Ted Williams in his 1952 managerial plans.

Like To Have Ted

"I'd like to have Ted report for Spring training and stay with us until he rejoins the Marines on May 2," Boudreau said. "I don't know what he intends to do. It may be that he has much personal business to clean up before going back into the service."

At this stage, the versatile Billy Goodman rates as Boudreau's first left field choice.

"But Billy will have to fight for the job," Boudreau said. The only outfielder on our roster who can consider himself set is Dom DiMaggio in center. The left and right field spots have to be won in Spring training.

With Don Lenhardt, Ken Wood, Clyde Volmer and Charlie Maxwell available, Boudreau indicated he has little or no outfield worries.

"It would be a great help if Piersall could be converted into an infielder in a matter of weeks," Lou confessed. "Then we could settle down to grooming Johnny Pesky as Bobby Doer's second base replacement. What a hole he left when he retired!"

Field Of 136 Golf Players In Tucson Open Tournament

TUCSON, ARIZ.—A field of 136 golfers counted ideal weather and a short, easy course among their assets Thursday as they played the first round of the $10,000 Tucson Open.

The weatherman said 75-degree temperatures should remain indefinitely.

The pros find the 6,402-yard, par 70 El Rio Golf and Country Club layout a simple test.

Lloyd Mangrum, Chicago, is favored to win top money for the third time.

Jack Burke, Houston, Texas, also is highly regarded.

In the pro-amateur Wednesday Jack Shields, Glen Eagles, Ill., teamed with Tucson amateur Hal Landon to win with a best ball total of 58. Shields shot a three under par 67.

More than two dozen of the pros who turned in individual scores smashed par. The eight under par 62 made by Jimmy Clark, Laguna Beach, Calif., on Tuesday was the best. Burke had 66. Mangrum had 67 along with seven others.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, and Joe Louis, ex-heavyweight champ, are among the amateurs.

Martin Signs To Manage Oiler Team

ODESSA—Bob (Pepper) Martin, who led the Odessa Oilers to a 1951 Longhorn League pennant, signed to manage the same team here Thursday for the 1952 season. No contract terms were disclosed.

Martin, an infielder, will be playing manager.

Oliver Selected New C-C Manager In Colorado City

COLORADO CITY—Walter (Dub) Oliver, who has been commercial manager of Radio Station KVMC here for a year, will become manager of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce February 6.

He replaces L. A. Chapman, who resigned in December to join the Highway 80 Association staff.

Oliver came to Colorado City from Waco. He is a graduate of the Nashville, Ark., High School, attended the University of Missouri two years, and received a degree from Baylor University. He served as a paratrooper in the European Theater in World War II.

Walcott, Matthews Talk Of Heavyweight Bout In May

WASHINGTON —(P)— A heavyweight title match between champion Jersey Joe Walcott and Harry (Kid) Matthews, backed by Las Vegas, Nev., hotel operator Wilbur Clark has been tentatively agreed to, but whether the fight ever will come off is anybody's guess.

The decision was announced late Wednesday at a news conference.

Reporters were called into a suite at the Shoreham Hotel for a conference attended by Harry Hunt, a Los Angeles promoter; Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, and Jack Hurley, who manages Matthews, an up and coming Seattle light heavyweight.

Bocchicchio said Hunt had made this offer: "He said he'd give us $250,000 and give me 50 per cent of everything."

There was a catch to the acceptance, though. Bocchicchio said Walcott had a contract with the International Boxing Club, and that he will go to Coral Gables, Fla., on Saturday to talk with Jim Norris, IBC president.

Bocchicchio said Norris would have to match, or better, Hunt's offer to get the fight.

Harry Markson, director of boxing for the IBC, promptly said in New York: "We are confident Bocchicchio will fulfill his contractual agreement to fight (Ezzard) Charles for the heavyweight title for the IBC."

Here are a few of the questions which never got a definite answer: When will the bout be held? Some time in May.

Where? No answer here, but Las Vegas, Nev., Los Angeles and Philadelphia were mentioned as possibilities.

Who is Harry Hunt? Hunt replied he'd done some promoting. No, he'd never promoted a fight before.

Who are his backers? Hunt himself said he'd rather not say, but Clark said in Las Vegas that he was the one Hunt was representing.

Asked about the $250,000 guarantee, Clark said "we talked around that figure" but added he'd rather not go into too much detail until something definite develops.

It's a well-known fact that football fortunes at Midland High School have been until the last couple of years at a very low ebb. A story which Gilbert Sevier, ex-student manager at the high school, tells us illustrates the point very well.

Sevier says this particular incident happened right after Gene McCollum took over as the coach in 1942 at MHS. McCollum, standing by and observing his boys draw their equipment for the initial workout of the year, saw a good-sized boy approach the equipment window and mentally noted the youngster might be a good tackle candidate.

"Has he any experience?" McCollum asked an aide just as the young man in question blurted to the manager: "I want a hat, a coat and some stockings."

What the young man wanted was a helmet, jersey and sweat socks. That answered the "experience" question for McCollum, and it must have been a rather rude awakening to the fact he had very little grid savvy on the squad which he inherited.

We don't know if it's so, but Sevier swears the particular boy in question is John Caselman, Jr., who still lives in Midland but who knows a little more about the grid game now.

When we wrote about McCamey's new coach—Ray Pope—we didn't know he had Midland relatives. But we've been informed he has two brothers here: D. H. Pope, who operates a service station, and Cecil Pope, an oil company employe.

DOTS AND DASHES: More than 400 persons watched Billy Maxwell, the North Texas State boy, receive a plaque from AP Sports Editor Harold V. Ratliff as Texas "Amateur Athlete of the Year" Wednesday night. When Tyler JC defeated Cameron Aggies, 65-44, Wednesday night, it was number 500 as a coach for Floyd Wagstaff. A new 4,000-seat fieldhouse at West Texas State has boomed that school's basketball attendance. More than 18,000 fans have witnessed seven games in the city of only 5,000. M. H. Hopson, Kilgore High grid mentor, resigned Wednesday. He gave no reason. Bobby Thompson is to be hailed as major leagues' outstanding player at Boston Baseball Writers' dinner Thursday night. Outfielder Bob Addis, formerly of the Boston Braves, has signed with the Chicago Cubs for 1952. Here's what NY Giant players are asking for 1952, according to reports: Sal Maglie, $40,000; Larry Jansen, $35,000; Jim Hearn, $25,000 and Bobby Thompson, $25,000.

The Women's Texas state bowling tournament is scheduled for San Antonio in March. Vernon High here for a basketball game with Midland Friday night. Rotary and Phillips to tangle again Monday night, and brother, that will be a ball game. End of The Row for now!

Lions Club To Operate Brownsville Baseball Outfit

PORT WORTH.—(P)— President Howard L. Green of the Gulf Coast League announced Thursday that the Brownsville Club will be operated by the Lions Club there.

"It is the first time in the history of Texas baseball, to my knowledge, that a civic club has taken over operation of a professional baseball club," Green said.

The last obstacle to the deal was cleared when league directors approved transfer of the Brownsville franchise from the Brownsville Baseball Club, Inc., headed by M. M. Holder, to the Lions Club, of which D. A. Crossley is president.

Green said a fraternal order, the Elks, has operated a Hutchinson, Kan., baseball club for the last three years and that the JayCees operate the Union City, Tenn., club of the Kitty League.

FCC Orders Probe Of Western Union's Ties With Gambling

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Federal Communications Commission Thursday ordered an investigation into any use of Western Union facilities in connection with illegal gambling operations. The FCC directed Western Union to hold in abeyance, meanwhile, a set of new regulations proposed by the company to regulate transmission of horse and dog racing news over its wires. These regulations were to have gone into effect at midnight Thursday. A postponement of the effective date to May 1 was ordered. The FCC called a public hearing March 3 to determine, among other things, whether there is any current use of Western Union wires to violate state or federal statutes. In addition, the commission said it wants to determine whether the proposed new regulations would serve their announced purpose of withdrawing wire service from gambling interests and restricting Western Union wires to "legitimate business."

Allied Warplanes Rip Red Rail Lines

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—Allied warplanes ripped up Red rail lines in 132 places Thursday in heavy new attacks on wobbly North Korean transport routes. American jets saw 140 Communist jet fighters during the day. There were two brief fights but the U. S. Fifth Air Force did not report any Red damage.

Move To Kill New Internal Revenue Plan Is Defeated

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman's plan to take the Internal Revenue Bureau out of politics and reorganize it under a merit system was a long step closer to realization Thursday. It had received the overwhelming approval of the House and, unless vetoed by the Senate, will become effective March 15. House approval of the plan came indirectly late Wednesday. By voice vote, the House killed a resolution that would have rejected the plan. One of its major provisions would abolish the patronage system of appointing revenue collectors and put them under civil service.

Allies Propose Negotiators Talk Troop Withdrawal

MUNSAN, KOREA—(AP)—The Allies Thursday proposed that truce negotiators tackle yet another problem—the final clause of a Korean armistice. This is recommendations to belligerent governments, including ultimate withdrawal of foreign troops from Korea. The Communists have been wanting to talk about it since the truce negotiations began. If the Reds accept, it will mean every key armistice problem will be under discussion simultaneously in a three-text performance. Negotiators have been deadlocked for weeks on agenda items three and four, supervision of a truce and exchange of prisoners. But Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, senior Allied delegate, suggested simultaneous negotiations on item five in an effort to speed the signing of a truce.

Royal Pair Starts Five-Month Tour

LONDON—(AP)—Princess Elizabeth flew off with her handsome sailor husband today on a 30,000-mile tour to the other side of the empire she someday will rule. The princess and her 30-year-old husband, the duke of Edinburgh, took off in an specially converted British Overseas Airways Argonaut for a royal visit to four British outposts—African Kenya, Asia-tipping Ceylon and the "down under" lands of Australia and New Zealand. For Elizabeth and Philip it means five months of traveling.

Huge Losses Reported In Air Base Program

WASHINGTON—(AP)—More than $1,000,000 has been lost and one airfield has been abandoned in the U. S. Air Force's air base construction program in French Morocco, the Senate Armed Forces "Watchdog" subcommittee has been informed. A committee source Thursday said both the Air Force and Army have sent special investigators to North Africa to find out the exact reason for the losses.

Rotary Club Speaker Describes America As 'Land Of Promise'

Men made the United States a "land of promise" and it is men who keep it that way, William R. Sewell, Lubbock banker and civic leader, told Midland Rotarians at their meeting Thursday noon in Hotel Scharbauer. He defined "land of promise" as "a place where through toil, thrift and cooperation, man can sustain a code of moral conduct and a sense of reverence to and dependence upon God." The guest speaker was introduced by the Rev. Luther Kirk, pastor of the First Methodist Church. Sewell, who spoke on the subject of "Rotary," said the Rotary movement is significant because it involves men, who always have sought the "land of promise." Distorted Conception "Sometimes, however," the speaker said, "man's conception of the 'promised land' has become distorted." He compared the United States today with man's accepted definition of the "land of promise," pointing out the many and varied problems confronting the nation. "We need men, we need Rotarians more than we ever before," he declared. Jess Barber, Ralph Smith and Donald Bell were introduced as new members of the club. A nominating committee including W. I. Pratt, G. W. Breneman, T. Paul Barron, James Smith, and Ray Upshaw was named by Dr. J. O. Shannon, president.

Coaches—Sewing Lessons

(Continued From Page One) The routes and how to drive through traffic. "You'll probably be seeing a lot of these coaches on city streets in a few days," he said, "as the operators familiarize themselves with the routes and the stops. "We are shooting at February 15 as the opening date. At that time there will be proper ceremonies marking the beginning of Midland's first public transportation system in more than a year. The coaches themselves, carrying the names of various oil-producing sands in the Midland area, will be christened at that time. The coaches, the most modern available, have a front entrance and a rear exit. The interiors are fitted with standard seats, overhead grab rails for standing passengers, and other equipment. On the exterior, a green-and-white color scheme is carried out. The upper portions of the coaches are painted white, and there is a practical reason for that. "The white tops," said Thummel, "will lower the temperature inside about 16 degrees in the summer from what it would be if painted a darker color." The lower portions of the coaches are painted green.

President—Siding New Tax Boost 'Unsafe'

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman has expressed the view that to try to get along without another tax boost would not be "safe." He gave his opinion in a letter made public Thursday by Senators Moody (D-Mich) and Monroney (D-Okla). He had written the President on December 30 that they believed a tax increase this year would be "wise or necessary." In a reply dated January 26, Truman said "the fiscal outlook of the government is such that it is not safe to forego some increases in taxes."

Infant Mortality Rate Decreases

ROME—(AP)—Italy's infant mortality rate is decreasing sharply. From 11.52 per cent in 1941, the index dropped to 6.41 per cent in 1950. It continued its downward trend in 1951, the National Statistics office announced. The reduction was credited largely to increased activity by the National Organization for Maternity and Infancy which assisted almost two million mothers in 1950 through 3,332,280 doctors' visits.

Burglars Take Cash From Highway Cafe

Burglars Wednesday night broke into Mom's Cafe on the Rankin Highway and escaped with a quantity of small change. Police said entrance was gained through a rear door and the money was taken from a cigarette machine and a juke box.

No U. S. Atom Bases, Says Japan's Premier

Defendant Falls Dead In Courtroom

SANTA MONICA, CALIF.—(AP)—James W. Walker, 53, came to court Wednesday to plead that a heart seizure, not intoxication, caused him to drive erratically last October 12, when he was cited for drunken driving. Churchill's Tories, with a nominal majority of 14 votes, was expected to win the showdown. The vote was expected about 10 p.m. (4 p.m. CST). Victory for the Laborites would force the doctory wartime leader to resign the government leadership he won in the October 25 general election.

At stake was Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler's program to wipe out 150 million pounds (420 million dollars) a year worth of British imports from the United States and other countries, plus such rigid economies as a slash of 10,000 jobs from the Civil Service rolls.

The Labor Party, in its motion of censure, mainly attacked government plans to freeze for certain phases of the free medical services which the previous labor government installed.

whistles of all kinds will sound at 6 p.m. as a signal for Midlanders to switch on their porch lights.

Mrs. W. Harry Rhodes, Mothers' March chairman, and Mrs. Jack Waicher, co-chairman, said area chaumén, captains, lieutenants and block workers who will participate in the campaign are alerted and ready for action.

The mothers will call at every home at which the porch light is burning or at which a light is burning in the window, to pick-up March of Dimes contributions.

Ashland Spots Five Spraberry Tests In Trend

Ashland Oil & Refining Company staked locations for five Spraberry explorations in Midland and Glasscock Counties.

Three of the tests will be drilled in the undeveloped area between the Driver and Tex-Harvey fields. The other two will be dug east of production in the Driver field.

Ashland will drill the tests on two sections obtained from Sun Oil Company in the semi-wildcat area.

Ashland No. 7-12 W. A. Hutchinson will be drilled in the Midland County side of section 12, block 37, T-4-S, T&P survey. It is located 660 feet from the south and west lines of the section.

In the Glasscock County side of the same section, Ashland will drill No. 1-12 W. A. Hutchinson and No. 4-12 W. A. Hutchinson. No. 1-12 is 660 feet from the north and east lines of the section and No. 4-12 is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 12.

The other two tests will be dug in Glasscock County, both in section 18, block 36, T-4-S, T&P survey. One of them, Ashland No. 4-18 N. T. Hutchinson will be drilled 666 feet from west and 661 feet from south lines of the section. The other, No. 3-18 Hutchinson, will be dug 1,884 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of the section.

Barnes Trying To Test In Ellenburger At Reagan Wildcat

J. C. Barnes of Midland No. 1 University, South-Central Reagan County wildcat, six miles southeast of Stiles is bottomed at 10,845 feet in Ellenburger dolomite and is slated to make the third attempt to take a drillstem test in the top of the Ellenburger.

Efforts to run tests at 10,706-845 feet and at 10,530-845 feet failed when the packers slipped. Operator probably will take an electric log to locate a satisfactory packer point before making the third attempt for a test.

No Top Called

Top of the Ellenburger has not been called. There is a disagreement among interested geologists as to the exact location of that point.

So far this wildcat has not logged any shows of possible production in any section it has penetrated.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of the northwest quarter of section 31, block 38, University survey.

Deep Rock Finals Spraberry Wildcat In Martin Sector

Deep Rock Oil Corporation No. 1 McWhorter, wildcat six miles north of Stanton and in Southeast Martin County, was completed as a small pumping producer from the Spraberry sand.

Operator reported a daily potential of 11 barrels of oil plus seven per cent water from open hole at 6,882-7,850 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 600-1. Gravity of the oil is 39 degrees.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 31, block 35, T-1-N, T&P survey.

It will be assigned to the Germania field 11 miles to the south.

SW Yoakum Gets San Andres Test

Magnolia Petroleum Company has staked location for a 3,300-foot San Andres wildcat in Southwest Yoakum County.

It is the No. 1 Mattie Neeley and is located 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 604, block D, John H. Gibson survey.

That makes it two miles southwest of the West field and four miles north of the Wasson pool.

Kerr Wildcat Gets No Shows In Top Of Ellenburger Zone

Kirkwood & Company of Alice and others No. 1 wildcat in Central-South Kerr County is drilling ahead below 4,579 feet in the Ellenburger after failing to find any shows of production in the top of that horizon.

The Ellenburger was topped at 4,322 feet. Elevation is 2,121 feet. A drillstem test was taken at 4,509-79 feet. Length of the test has not been reported.

Recovery was 150 feet of slightly gas cut drilling mud. There were no shows of oil or of formation water.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of lot 13, league 1.

Argo Finds Slight Gas Shows In Test At Martin Project

Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 R. B. Brown, North-Central Martin County wildcat, 16 miles northeast of Stanton ran a four-hour drillstem test at 9,350-9,488 feet.

Gas surfaced in 16 minutes. Recovery was 590 feet of slightly gas-cut drilling mud. There were no shows of oil or of formation water.

To Test Higher

Operator has plugged back to 9,000 feet and will take a drillstem test at 8,760-9,000 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 15, block 36, T-3-S, T&P survey.

This wildcat was drilled to a total depth of 10,606 feet in the lower Strawn lime. It ran several tests on section which logged slight shows of oil and gas—but none of those tests developed any commercial production.

The prospector was then abandoned and plugged. In a few weeks after the plugs were set shows of

Ike's Talks During Two Years As Civilian Begin To Take On New Meaning

By BRUCE BROSSAT
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's civilian statements on major issues—delivered from 1948 through 1950—take on fresh meaning today because it is now clear the nation is not to have any new declarations on these topics in the months leading to the national convention.

Since he became European defense commander in early 1951, the general has been silent on domestic matters. But in the period before, during his tenure as president of Columbia University, he touched specific issues frequently, though always rather lightly.

The views he expressed reflect his endless attention to the aim of preserving individual freedom against both internal and external foes. His overriding concern is to protect the ordinary man from the encroachments of power-hungry government.

Here are his opinions on many specific issues:

Spending
"If the times demand a sudden and tremendous increase in the budget for defense, reckless extravagance, selfish grabbing, heedless spending of dollars we do not possess will make American citizenship a mortgaged existence rather than a joyous privilege.

"If solvency and security are not synonymous, they are so closely related that the difference, if any, is scarcely discernible." (Pittsburgh speech, Oct. 19, 1950.)

Taxes
"How far can a government go in taxing away property rights and still not leave the government the master of the people instead of their servant?" (Fort Worth, Texas, Dec. 15, 1949.)

Profits
"When shallow critics denounce the profit motive inherent in our system of private enterprise, they ignore the fact that it is an economic support of every human right we possess and that without it all rights would soon disappear." (Inaugural address, Columbia University, Oct. 12, 1948.)

Capitalism
"A capitalist, far from being someone to condemn, in this country is one who by his own efforts in the past has made it possible for this country to be what it is today." (Philadelphia speech, Oct. 6, 1948.)

Personal Security
"I am quite certain that the human being could not continue to exist if he had perfect security. Life is certainly worthwhile only as it represents struggle for worthy causes, and there is no struggle in perfect security. I should think the best example of it would be a man serving a lifetime in a federal prison." (New York, 1949.)

Welfare
"As we strive to devise measures intended to lessen the shocks and privations incident to old age, to sickness, to unemployment, to natural disaster, let us choose among the several proposals that which best protects our heritage of freedom." (New York, October, 1949.)

Duties of Citizenship
"Stop shrugging off politics as only the politicians' business; stop banking on American luck to get us good government and good policy—sometimes it will run out. Stop using the alibi, 'one vote doesn't count.' It won't only if not used." (Also from Forum speech, 1949.)

Civil Rights
"Insistently reject any doctrine that acknowledges disparity of right based on class, race or creed." (Speech to DAR, Washington 1947.)

U. S. Communism and Loyalty
"Nelect could be as damaging as attack against us. Moreover, I believe that any among us who embraces Communism or its purposes thereby becomes an enemy of America. By no juggling of words or twisting of ideas can a citizen of this country justify an alliance with the forces of dictatorship and Communist enslavement.

"Because disloyalty is an offense of the most profound import we must be especially careful to avoid hurling the charge of Communist against any who may merely disagree with us.

"Respect for our own free system requires that we speak and act against others with restraint until factual evidence establishes guilt. But in fighting disloyalty we must not let restraint degenerate into indifference to the offense." (Boy Scout meeting, Valley Forge, Pa., July 4, 1950.)

UMT
"This service will be performed as an obligation. It will demand sacrifice. But can any sacrifice be considered too great, if it can guarantee a lifetime of freedom?"

"On the other side of the coin, the least we owe to these young men in advance is a clear understanding of our problems, aims and plans, with the assurance their sacrifice will cease the instant the necessity passes." (Pittsburgh, October, 1949.)

"A paternalistic government can gradually destroy, by suffocation in the immediate advantage of subsidy, the will of a people to maintain a high degree of individual responsibility." (Inaugural, Columbia, October, 1948.)

"Some among us seem to accept the shibboleth of an unbridgeable gap between those who hire and those who are employed. Such distorted doctrine is false and foreign to the American scene. American workmen are principals in the three-member team of capital, management and labor. Never have they regarded themselves as a servile class that could attain freedom only through destruction of the industrial economy." (Speech to American Bar Association, St. Louis, Sept. 5, 1949.)

These are representative samples of the only civilian opinions Eisenhower has ever had a chance to express. They are the only raw material the American people will have between now and next July to decide where the general stands.

Easier Citizenship Is Object Of Plan
SINGAPORE—(AP)—The Singapore government is considering a proposal to cut the present $30 nationalization fee and also to make it simpler for non-British subjects to become citizens.

Chinese leaders had said that the present procedure was too costly and too cumbersome. They said thousands of Chinese who lived in this Crown colony for decades were thus denied citizenship rights.

FINE PAINTING PURCHASED
WINNIPEG, MANITOBA—(AP)—A painting considered one of the most important works by the British artist Sir William Russell Flint has been purchased by Joseph Harris of Winnipeg. Entitled "The Beach," it portrays a group of bathers at St. Malo, the French seaside resort.

Premature Funeral Held In Indochina
SAIGON, INDOCHINA—(AP)—The newspaper, Le Journal D'Extreme Orient, has just reported a "resurrection" in the all-Chinese twin city of Cholom.

But, added the journal, the woman suddenly raised herself from the funeral couch. As far as is known, she's still living.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Eighty-five elderly New Yorkers have been "adopted" into the homes of younger foster parents under the Private Residence program of the Jewish Community Services here. Sponsors of the plan believe oldersters thus placed have many advantages they would not have in institutions.

Cattle Rustlers Are Streamlined

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGLER

Well it is Thursday and that means it is time to give you a report of the exciting things that happened this week and part of last week.

Now we are going to start right off by telling you what you are doing that isn't very good. It's this thing about the bottles (soda pop and various other kind) which are broken all over the ground of your Youth Center. Now if this is the way you want it to look that is the way that it will look. It is just exactly what you make it and not anyone else. Each bottle you break costs your Youth Center four cents and by looking now at the yard there are plenty of dollars out there broken and wasted. Another thing about the bottles—please don't throw the broken pieces at someone.

It's coming next Tuesday. Don't miss it! There never will be another like it. You are making your life less interesting if you don't get in on it, too. Guess what it is! Well it is the band concert at 8 p.m. next Tuesday in the high school auditorium by the Midland High School Band. In charge will be Ralph Mills, band director. The program is promising to be very good. There will be various kinds of numbers presented. The tickets can be purchased from any band member or a Band Aide. The prices are 30 cents for students and 60 cents for adults. Let's all be sure and attend as it is part of the school activities. You can't say you are active unless you attend school functions and this is one that you will not want to miss. Oh yes, there will be solos also by some of the band members.

Football Banquet
Last Friday night the "A" squad football team had its annual football banquet, given by the Booster Club. It was very nice and football sweetheart Emily Hamilton was crowned by Dan Black. The trophies were presented to the boys who earned them.

Don't forget the Valentine Dance February 9. It is to be formal and will have Dean Baker and orchestra presenting the music. Those of you who want to help decorate do so by telling "Myrt" or Joann.

Well Thursday saw the O'Neals off. We mean Jimmy, Peggy and Judy. They were all three very popular youngsters. They moved to Ada, Okla.

Last week also saw Jan Dickinson off to her new home in Corpus Christi. Another who moved was Nancy Warren. She moved to Washington, D. C.

Well the Friday night dances have started with a bang. That is the way we like to see it. All be sure and go down there Friday night.

A while ago we told you about supporting the school activities and there is one you certainly have improved on. That is basketball. Last Thursday night we played Lamesa. Well they might have beat us but it was by only three points. We are now tied for second in the district. Now those players can do much better if they have someone there watching them. Now let's keep on supporting them. How about it?

Speaking of the basketball game. It had some real moral support the other night. The "pep" band of the Midland High School band was there to play marches and give the other supporters a thing or two to listen to. The "pep" band will be on hand for all of the games that are played in town. You all sounded very good.

They Saw Him
Well we are sure glad that Lanetta Early, Anna Bess Doyle, and Barbara Whitson finally got to see a picture of Johnny Ray. In case you are wondering just who Johnny Ray is well—he is the one who sings the Little White Cloud That Cried, a record that you can hear being played constantly in the YC. Well, we think that they were just a bit disappointed because they saw his picture. But they still like to hear his recordings.

Now the coronation is coming up and the dance afterward is to be held at the Youth Center. Everyone is invited. We just thought that we might tell you about that in case you are wondering about it. It is to be February 22, so let's all be there, also at the coronation to see Nancy Cooper crowned our Catoico Queen of 1952.

The ping pong tournaments are to begin soon. Costs 10 cents to enter. The money goes to pay for the trophies.

It seems that just about every week there are some "exes" running all around the school. This time they say the reason they are home is because they just got through taking their tests. We got through taking our tests and we don't recall any holiday but maybe they deserve it. Anyway, we are glad to see all of you home.

All of you remember the hike we have been talking about. We took it last week. There were about 10 brave ones who walked out there and only two braver ones that walked out and back. Others rode their bicycles and then the less energetic ones went in cars. Football, volleyball and baseball were the games played. Those two that didn't ride back in cars were myself and Gail Black. Gail lost one of her shoes so we changed every once in a while with each other. While walking, rather hiking back, we met four girls who seemed to have gotten their time mixed up. They were Barbara McMillan, Tommie Underwood, Lavonne Bell and Ann Ashby. We don't know if they meant to go out there late but there weren't too many out there when they reached their destination.

Oh yes, there will be a hike every month, and we will go to different places around town. So let's more of us go next time. We wait to take this time out to thank the "Bulldog," which is the weekly paper that comes out in The Reporter - Telegram each Sunday, for giving the Youth Center a nice write-up like that. We sure do think that it was swell of you to do that for us.

Volleyball Is Popular
Many of you seem to like to play volleyball. In fact you can see that ball going most anytime that the YC is open. Now plans have been made to have leagues. That is teams with eight on each team. That means that there will be two extra. Now the boys and girls alike are to do this as it will always save less confusion. So anyone that wants to sign up just tell "Myrt" and he will put your name down.

The YC has some new records. Have you noticed them? We don't remember the names because we don't have that good a memory, but anyway that doesn't mean anything. We sure do like to have all of the new hit records, don't we? The first picture show will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday. Let's all be there.

Don't forget that your dues. Also remember your number.

OPEN-AIR JOB—Chester C. Hyland, taking his dog, Ginger, for a spin, says his 1903-model jalopy is just right for the weather and roads in St. Louis Park, Minn. Even in 15-below cold, there's no starting problem—because the car has just one cylinder to warm up. What's more, the ample road clearance takes it through snow drifts that would stall today's low-slung autos. Hyland would make only one improvement—addition of a windshield.

FRESH PIPES

Afghan tribesmen, who are fond of long-stemmed pipes, seldom carry them in their wanderings. They mold a new pipe for each smoke from the mud at their feet, shaping the bowl with their thumbs and reaming the stem with a stiff straw in about the time it requires an American to roll a cigaret.

Korean Families Of Seized Persons

Carried-off leader, Dr. Kimmy Kiu-Sie, former head of the Korean Legislature, taken by the Reds, is now believed dead.

By GERALDINE FITCH

PUSAN, KOREA—(NEA)—The dinner party was almost all women—members of the Nap-Chi Society. In Korean, that means the Association of the Families of the Carried-Off Persons.

It was an experience I won't soon forget.

Most of those present were Koreans whose husbands were kidnapped by the Communists in Seoul. The missing (there are 86,000 in all, by actual record), include government leaders, educators, newspapermen, bankers, artists, policemen and doctors.

Their families are now greatly worried because they fear no provisions will be made in the current truce talks for returning them from the enemy.

"Unless a strong demand is made for the return of the carried-off civilians," one woman told me, "they will certainly perish behind the iron curtain."

One Of Few

One of the few men present, S. T. Hong, told me almost tearfully of the efforts he had made to locate a sister, the Mother Superior of a convent in Pyeng-Yang, who along with her 22 Korean nuns was taken off by the Communists. "So far we can find out nothing," Hong said.

It is generally believed that some of those kidnaped had already died in Communist hands. These include Dr. Kimmy Kiu-Sie, former head of the Korean Legislature. And there is little hope that the Gandhi of Korea, Cho Man-Sik, is still alive.

At least one of the Carried-Off Persons has returned after escaping by some clever footwork from imprisonment in Pyeng-Yang.

She is Mrs. Shin-Duk Whang, and seated on flat square cushions on the floor of a room lighted only by oil lamps, she told of her harrowing experience. Sometimes there was laughter as she talked. More often tears.

Mrs. Whang, principal of a girls' school in Seoul, was ordered by the Communists one day to get into a crowded truck. Also in the truck were such people as Kim Dong-Won, vice chairman of the National Assembly; Lee Chung-Ho, president of the Seoul YMCA; and several professors from Seoul University.

"When the truck got to Pyeng-Yang I was first put into a prison cell with several other women and later transferred to a school."

"Trials were held in the school-house. Some were sentenced to 10 years or more in prison. Some were given lesser sentences. My case was undecided."

"The weather was turning colder and I had on only Summer clothes. We women would stand huddled together for warmth."

"Three or four times a day UN planes flew over Pyeng-Yang, dropping bombs. The guards always ordered us to fall flat in our cells during a bombing, but we would lift our eyes to the small window to count the planes."

"One day some other women and I were undergoing an inspection in the courtyard when the planes came over. The guards ordered us into nearby bomb shelters outside the enclosure."

That was Mrs. Whang's big chance.

"I noticed that the shelter had an exit at the far end. When the all-clear sounded I walked the opposite way from the others and went out through the far exit. In the confusion I was not missed until I got well into the city. I was liberated a short time later by UN forces who fought their way into the city."

Mrs. Whang said the prisoners she saw were of three types. First, were the patriots, especially the leaders of Korea's independence movement. Second, were people of moderate means who had devoted much time to cultural scientific and other interests of their country. Third, were Christians.

Besides fear that the truce talks will not provide for returning the Carried-Off Persons to their homes, the people at the dinner were concerned lest the UN forces (they always say "the American Army") should become discouraged, bored, or dismayed at the heavy casualties and decide to pull out.

If It Happens

"If that should happen," said a Mrs. Namkoong, a woman with an exceptionally strong intelligent mind, "it would have been better if the UN had not come to rescue us."

"Now we are known to be UN sympathizers. If we are deserted, we shall all be 'Carried-Off Persons,' or we shall be driven from this peninsula into the sea. We have no other place to go."

But the women who have lost their menfolk have too much to do to spend a lot of time worrying. There's a living to be made for themselves and their families. And that can be difficult in a country where men are virtually the only breadwinners.

Some women are working in private homes, others in offices, factories, or with the armed forces. They have even organized a center where homeless widows and their children can live—while they still have a place.

SIGNAL STARS

Performing dogs, which indicate correct answers to arithmetic problems by barks, get their cues from very slight movements of their trainer's hand or jaw. Since dogs have great sensitivity to movements, they can detect a signal which is imperceptible to the human eye.

Vietnam Harvests Record Rice Crop

SAIGON—(AP)—The information service of America's ECA program in Indochina says a "record" rice crop is being harvested in four areas of North Vietnam.

It reported 700 refugee farmers, cultivating over 200 acres of land near Hanoi, were getting bumper yields because they had used fertilizer supplied by ECA and improved methods of cultivation.

Some farmers said they were getting as much as 3,600 pounds of rice from little more than one acre. Previous yields ran only as high as 2,600 pounds.

can be bought in cellophane bags or tin cans at almost any store. Their flavor is rich, toasty and nut-like.

Corn Chip Veal Roll
(Serves 4)

One slice veal round steak (approximately 1 1/4 pounds).
One cup corn chip dressing; 3/4 cup corn chips, 2 1/2 slices bread, 2 tablespoons onions (chopped), 3 tablespoons celery (chopped), 1/4 cup stock or bouillon, 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/4 teaspoon salt.
Soak bread in water. Add remaining ingredients and mix well. Salt and pepper steak. Place 1 cup of dressing in center, spread over steak and roll. Tie with string.
Place in casserole, add 1/2 cup water. Cover and bake 1 1/2 hours at 325 degrees F. Bake remaining dressing in a greased pan to serve as garnish for the rolled steak.
To give potatoes an extra distinction try this casserole recipe using more corn chips. You will like it.

Daddy Ringtail, your monkey friend, had gone to the cave in the mountains to find out just why the Man Called X was not called Y or Z or something else other than Mr. X.

"Come in!" the Man called X said when Daddy Ringtail knocked on the door. Daddy Ringtail did go in and there in front of the fireplace stood the Man Called X. He stood with his legs apart like the bottom part of an X. He stood with his arms apart and up like the upper part of an X. Between the arms was a cheerful, friendly face. That was all of the Man Called X. He looked like an X all right, but is that why the Man Called X was not called something else?

"Nice weather we are having," said Daddy Ringtail. "Well yes, and then again, no," said the Man Called X. "Of course, it is pretty cold," Daddy Ringtail said.

"Well yes, but it could be colder," X said. "But why was the Man called X? Why oh why oh why? Daddy Ringtail wanted to ask him, and yet—Daddy Ringtail somehow knew that this was not the thing to do. The Man Called X was a diplomat, Daddy Ringtail was thinking, and a diplomat never answers questions without hemming and hawing about them. Just to see about this, Daddy Ringtail asked: "Mr. X, do you think we are going to have some snow?"

"Hem and haw," said the Man Called X, and he coughed when he

He would find out, he would, just why the Man Called X was called X. He did find out, because later that afternoon, the Man Called X's father came home for supper. Yes, and the Man Called X's father was not a diplomat. He could answer questions without hemming or hawing. He explained that the Man Called X was called X, because his name was X. And the Man Called X's father laughed out loud as though at a funny joke, but the joke was on him all right, all right. The Man Called X's father now had forgotten his very own name, because it was Spittlesdorf, and he couldn't say it anyway. Happy day! (Copyright 1952, General Features Corp.)

Hot Potato Salad Is Wonderful When Trimmed With Bacon

HOT POTATO SALAD with bacon is a hearty and economical dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

You'll like this hot potato salad recipe from our old friend, Lucy Malloy of Corning, N. Y. Her food is always homey, and easy to prepare.

Hot Potato Salad With Bacon

(8 Servings)

Two quarts diced, cooked potatoes, 8 slices bacon, 1 cup chopped onions, 1 1/2 cup bacon fat, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons sugar, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 1/2 teaspoon celery seed, 1/8 teaspoon pepper, 1 cup water, 2 1/2 cup vinegar, 1 1/4 cup chopped pimiento, parsley for garnish.

Place potatoes in 2 1/2 quart heat-resistant glass bowl. Fry bacon until crisp. Cook onions in 1/2 cup of the bacon fat over low direct heat for about 5 minutes, or until yellow.

Mix together flour, sugar, salt, celery seed and pepper; blend into onion and fat mixture over low direct heat. Gradually pour in the water and vinegar, stirring until mixture boils. Boil for one minute. Pour over potatoes. Add 5 slices of the crisp bacon, broken into small pieces, and the chopped pimiento. Mix lightly. Cover bowl with waxed paper and let stand for one hour. Heat in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) for 20 minutes or until heated throughout.

Garnish with remaining bacon and parsley.

To make a palatable and nourishing dish out of leftover chicken, combine it with rice and broth.

Rice With Chicken

(Serves 4)

One and one-half cups diced leftover cooked chicken, chicken bones, salt, 1 onion, chopped, 1 1/2 table-spoons chicken fat, 1 1/2 cup rice, uncooked, grated cheese.

Cover bones with water and simmer an hour or longer. Drain off the broth. Add any leftover chicken gravy. Add water, if needed, to make one quart broth. Add salt to taste.

In a large frying pan, cook the onion in fat a few minutes, add chicken broth, and when it boils up rapidly, sprinkle the rice in slowly. Cover the pan.

Summer, rice about 25 minutes or until the grains swell and become soft. Stir with a fork from time to time to keep the rice from sticking.

By the time the rice is done, it will have absorbed the broth and the grains will be large and separate. Then add the pieces of chicken and more salt if needed. Turn mixture onto a hot platter, and sprinkle generously with grated cheese.

Solon Asks Better Chow For Congress

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Hungry congressmen, frustrated in wangling a meal either for or from their constituents at the Capitol, were urged Wednesday by Rep. Clare Hoffman to join his drive for more eating space.

"One-third of this Congress is ill-fed, ill-served and getting pretty impatient," the peppery Michigan Republican declared in introducing his Chow-for-Congress resolution.

The way to a constituent's heart is through his stomach, but some body sure has misplaced the road map at the Capitol.

Hoffman needed seven whereas clauses to list what he considered the short points of the present feeding facilities for House members. These consist of a dining room and short-order counter at the capitol, and a cafeteria in the House Office Building.

The nub of his complaint was that the people who come to Washington to see their representatives in action can't eat in the House Restaurant unless accompanied by a congressman, and the place is so crowded at lunch time there isn't any room for the legislators to entertain them anyway.

"I will have to admit that, even if they got in, some of the constituents probably would be unable to work up much of an appetite looking at their congressman," Hoffman said. "Nevertheless it is up to us to give these taxpayers a fair chance for a square meal. The day of the full dinner pail must and shall return."

Hoffman has a choice spot picked out for the second section of the congressional diner—on the west side of the Capitol, overlooking the White House and Washington Monument. He's open to suggestions as to a name.

Sam's Place, honoring Speaker Rayburn? "No," the Republican member said firmly. The Cave of the Winds? Likewise rejected—"That's up on the House Floor."

He is strongly opposed to incorporating a bar in the new grill. "People get dizzy enough listening to the talk in the House," he said.

Layer an apple stuffing between two well-fleshed rib sections of pork for a delicious main dish. Serve with sauerkraut and creamed green beans.

They are the fifth heaviest twins born, according to American Medical Journal records. The proud parents, DP's from Poland, have two other children, boys four and six years old, born in Germany.

81 Million Miles Traveled Daily By Texas Motorists

AUSTIN—In this age of mobility, when Texans travel 81,000,000 miles daily trying to "get there first with the most," it sounds almost trite to say that the future of Texas moves on wheels.

Yet no better way could be found to demonstrate the evolution of Texas history than to trace the state's highway development.

The Texas Highway Department operates on a pay-as-you-go basis not only because the constitution prohibits issuance of road bonds by the state, but also because that policy has been found best for roadbuilding under modern governmental tax structure.

However, certain county and road district bonds used for construction of roads which prior to 1933 became part of the state highway system have been assumed as a state obligation.

Cut from $86,000,000 in 1940 to $36,000,000 in 1949, this indebtedness stands at $26,000,000 now but, according to plan, by 1960 only $5,000,000 or 14 per cent of the 1949 amount will remain on the books.

Yet, like any other dollar, the highway dollar has been hard hit by inflation until today it can buy only half what it bought in 1940.

While the demand for more and better streets, farm-to-market roads and state highways appears unlimited, money available to meet these demands definitely is limited.

County indebtedness, consisting of bonds and warrants not assumed by the state, continues to rise. At the end of the 1950 fiscal year, statements on bonds and warrants. Classified as street receipts are money from city property taxes, bond issuance, and assorted sources including parking meter income, transportation franchise tax, and special assessments.

Biggest single expenditure by city or county usually is for right-of-way, followed by construction and maintenance costs.

Crane PMA Panel Talks Practices For '52 Program

CRANE—Members of the Production and Marketing Administration in Crane County are considering approved practices for Crane County in a set program for 1952, Maxine Moan, administrator officer, reported Wednesday.

The practices will contribute to the maintaining soil fertility, controlling and preventing soil erosion, conserving water and range forage, and producing agricultural commodities needed in the defense effort.

The program outlined includes drilling or digging wells, installing pipe lines on rangeland, constructing earthen dams and spreader dams, lining earthen reservoirs, eradication of cactus, control of blackbrush on rangeland, deferred grazing, constructing fireguards and establishing or improving pastures by seeding and chemical control of mesquite.

Mrs. O'Neal Is Honored On Eighty-First Birthday In Crane

CRANE—Mrs. M. M. O'Neal celebrated her eighty-first birthday with an open house held Sunday in her home on Gaston Avenue.

Mrs. O'Neal's twenty-fifth anniversary as a citizen of Crane was celebrated at the same time. Mrs. R. V. Wilson and Mrs. Allie Justice were hostesses, assisted by the past matrons of the Order of Eastern Star.

She was born in Bastrop County in 1871. She is related directly to Jefferson Davis and John Garner, former vice president of the United States. President William McKinley was a personal friend of hers.

After marrying Cullen W. Dougherty, she toured the Southern States for 18 years. He was a superintendent of sales crews for the Sulky Cahill Plow Company. These were the first riding plows to be sold in Texas.

The couple settled on a farm in Mitchell County and adopted two boys, Robert and Henry.

Mrs. O'Neal was the postmaster there until a star route made the office extinct. She continued to manage the farm after her husband's death.

When she married G. L. O'Neal she moved to a ranch in Gaines County. The O'Neals moved to Crane where he served two terms as justice of the peace.

After the death of O'Neal, Mrs. O'Neal was elected to the post of justice of the peace and served 12 years. She retired in 1949.

Mrs. O'Neal is a charter member of the Crane Chapter of the OES, having been a member for 40 years. She has served as chaplain and worthy matron. She has been awarded the only life membership ever given in the Crane chapter in recognition of her years of service to the order.

Sister Assistants Mrs. O'Neal's sister, Mrs. Justice, assisted in the receiving line during the open house. Mrs. Wilson, assisted by Mrs. George McCorkle, served refreshments from a crystal service.

The centerpiece on the table was a styrofoam model of an arch with happy birthday lettered in gold. On either side of the arch was a pot, sprinkled in gold, with the dates 1871 to 1952 on them. The arch was accented with an arrangement of yellow chrysanthemums and yellow tapers.

Mrs. O'Neal stated that she never wants to leave Crane and thinks that at last it is a permanent and progressing city. She has seen the time when she thought it would "fold up."

Key Industrial Leaders See Outlook Improving In Defense Bottlenecks

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

CINCINNATI, Ohio—Bottlenecks which have been holding up America's struggling defense production are being broken.

Barring all-out war, the ingenious and aggressive way American industry is attacking its difficult production problems should see the new year justify Uncle Sam's guns and butter policy.

A whole new body of workers skilled in the many complex production trades is being created by intensive training programs in prime contractor are filling up with orderly allocation of machine tools on a need basis and barring strikes in key industries such as steel, jet engine production will be stepped up greatly within the next few months. Where we are turning out hundreds of engines today it will be thousands by the not too far distant future.

Top Industrialists

And that represents the thinking of top industrialists in the other key defense industries which also may have fallen behind.

Lockland's big trouble is machine tools for its subcontractors. Also in this city is the nation's largest machine tool plant, the Cincinnati Milling Machine Company. According to the firm's latest report it has a two-year backlog of defense orders. However, its tools for jet engine production have priority and are coming off the lines faster.

Since the Korean War began the company has spent $23,000,000 in expanding its output, which has now more than doubled. Major additions to its foundry went into operation last Summer. Another big addition to the plant is nearing completion. The company is buying machine tools for its own current needs from competitors and is subcontracting a lot of its work. Its own engineers are working in competitors' plants helping to expedite production.

According to Walter W. Tange-man, executive vice president of the firm, one recent month was the first since Korea that orders were less than shipments for the whole industry. He says the outlook for the industry generally is improving now that it has recently gotten a satisfactory method for government financing of customers and permission to raise prices.

On Two Shifts

More than 5,000 persons employed in Tange-man's plant are on two shifts of 34, 2 hours per week. Tange-man says the shortage of ing programs: Another big problem: headaches, but is licking it with elaborate training and recruiting programs. Another big problem which has complicated his company's expanding output is the very complex nature of the machine tools needed for the very complex tools of war now needed.

A few miles away in the Lockland plant, H. W. Chandler, manager of operations, tells how his firm is trying to catch up with its schedule—which it fell behind on largely as a result of recent long strikes at Alcoa, Dow and Wright, key suppliers of Lockland.

GE has teams touring Europe seeking machine tools for its subcontractors' plants, advising and helping on production problems. It has a huge basic engineering program under way, finding means and materials to substitute for the critically short materials in the J-47 engine. Successes in this effort are numerous but secret.

All-Time High

Cooperation among defense firms on the swapping of new ideas, short cuts, sources of material and engineering aid is at an all-time high.

Material bottlenecks are being licked and avoided by clever, scientific substitution of critical materials. New production facilities are daily coming into operation to expand America's base of arms manufacturing.

That's the story unfolded in a tour of key defense plants, where, according to critics of the guns and butter program, there exist the most severe bottlenecks.

The huge General Electric Lockland jet engine plant in Cincinnati, which is the biggest producer of the most critically short jet engine, the J-47, is behind schedule. But speaking in Schenectady, N. Y., John W. Belanger, GE's general manager of its defense products division, says: "The pipe lines from supplier to

Proper Care Combats Pesky Skin Blemishes

Tender teen-age skins require faithful night and day care. In the evening, after you have carefully cleansed your skin, combat any unsightly blemishes with a special ointment prepared for just that purpose. Spot the preparation wherever necessary (left), and let it go to work while you sleep. Before your morning make-up, again scrub your face thoroughly (center left) with a complexion brush and liquid cleanser. Your skin must be kept immaculate if it is to be healthy and lovely. Now you are ready to apply your foundation base. Choose one that is designed to keep your erupting skin under control. The base may be applied with a clean piece of cotton (center right) or your fingertips. Make sure the coverage is smooth and even. Very often a base of this type does not require powder. Keep the rest of your make-up subtle, and learn to capitalize on your own natural coloring. A last-minute inspection (right) before you leave for school will catch any possible smudges or color irregularities.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Editor

No, no a thousand times no. Your adolescent skin does not have to be blemished. If you've been laboring under the false impression that pimples, acne and blackheads are an unpleasant, but necessary, part of growing up, here are some facts for you to face.

Make up your mind that your skin definitely can be smooth and lovely, and then find out for yourself why it isn't. Perhaps you have been eating too many hot fudge sundaes and rich creamy gravies. Maybe you just don't know how to keep your skin immaculately clean. It takes a lot more than a quick soap and water scrub to do the job.

Before you start taking care of your skin, however, remember never to squeeze out whiteheads, blackheads or pimples. Squeezing only remove the top, and by bruising the skin you can cause new infections and blemishes. Unfortunately, these infections very often leave ugly scars that you will never be able to get rid of.

A healthy skin depends on clean active pores, free from clogging dust and the impurities that are often caused by the excess oil secretion of your glands. With the proper care, your delicate teen-age skin can have a fresh, natural glow that will enhance your appearance, and build your self-confidence.

Here are the basic steps to youthful skin beauty: and if you follow them faithfully, the change will be more than rewarding.

Begin with cleansing. Soaps may irritate your skin at this point in life, so use a fragrant foamy liquid lather preparation which is designed to gently clean even the most sensitive skin. The lather, to be scrubbed on with a complexion brush, will help guard against blemishes, too.

Since you will want to keep your skin care program a private affair, retire to the quiet of your room, about a half hour before you intend to go to sleep, and treat any blemishes that have already made their appearance.

For dry, flaky skin, apply a greaseless lubricating cream—one that is free of the heavy oil, grease or wax that makes young complexion so susceptible to blemishes. Most teen-agers, however, find their skins more oily than dry. If oiliness is your problem, pat an "oil-free" gently medicated cream all over your skin. You will increase circulation and improve your general skin tone. Apply the ointment every night to dry up that excess oil, and give your skin a smoother appearance. Of course, blemishes don't disappear overnight. To protect your skin during the day, when you are wearing make-up, always apply a protective make-up base first. Choose a base with a mildly anti-septic lotion. Usually this type of base offers you the opportunity to wear or not wear powder, as you see fit.

Skin cannot be kept clean and healthy from the outside only. The food you eat and the rest you get both influence your appearance. If you find your beauty campaign is not working, consult your doctor. Then, again, you may need special vitamins to replace any deficiencies.

Your hair, too, should be kept immaculately clean. Falling hairs and dandruff can cause infections on your face and body. Never comb your hair without first putting a make-up cape or towel over your shoulders.

Naturally, proper skin care is going to take time. Whether or not it is worth your while depends on how much a smooth, glowing appearance really means to you.

ITALY NEEDS WHEAT

ROME—(AP)—Italy will have to import 180,000 tons of wheat to meet the nation's requirements in 1952, according to year-end estimates. The major party, 110,000 tons, is expected to come from Italy's quota under the International Wheat Agreement. Other likely sources given in a recently published survey include: 20,000 tons from Russia, 40,000 tons from Argentina.

How To Lose A Husband: Work Too Hard To 'Hold' Him

She says she is "sick unto death" of all the newspaper and magazine articles telling women how to hold their husbands. But this reader doesn't stop with that frequently heard complaint.

She goes on to say: "At the time of my marriage I decided that I would just let my husband try to hold me instead of my worrying about him, and it has worked out fine."

Although that sounds a bit hard-boiled and it isn't calculated to get a lot of common sense to her attitude.

Probably more good husband material has been ruined by wives who knocked themselves out trying to hold on to their men than in any other way.

It isn't the men's fault that the harder a woman tries to please—if she is the least bit obvious about it—the harder they are to please. That is just one of the less admirable traits of human nature. And men are, after all, just human beings.

So it isn't a bad idea at all for a woman to take the silent attitude that she is every bit as important to her husband as he is to her. And also that their marriage offers him just as much as it offers her.

You'll Win His Respect

If a woman really believes that she will get more honest respect, more attention, and more cooperation from her husband than will the wife who is scared to death she'll lose him if she doesn't spend her life trying to please him.

What it actually boils down to is a self-respect. The woman who has that can be a thoughtful, considerate, wonderful wife and still not give her man the idea she is desperately trying to hang onto him against all odds.

It isn't a belligerent attitude. It is just a question of a woman's thinking enough of herself to figure that she is every bit as important to her husband as he is to her. If she figures that way, he will too. For everybody tends to respect the person who respects himself.

Italy Has Eyes On Mineral Search

ROME—(AP)—Iron-short Italy is watching with interest the progress in geological research near Viterbo, 50 miles north of here, where iron and manganese ore was found recently.

The Italian Geological Institute, where samples of the ore were examined, found "a very high iron content" and ordered further checks in the area for possible radio-active materials.

The search was led by an Italian industrial firm, looking for geyzers to use for the production of electricity. The iron ore came from a depth of 100 feet.

FIRST SKYSCRAPER

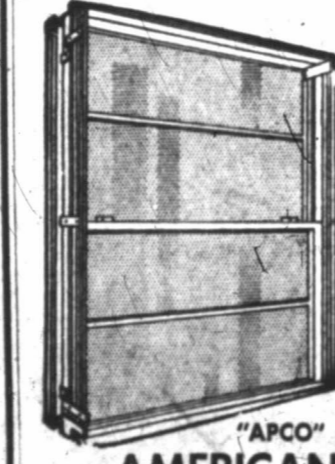

Chicago was the first city with a skyscraper. A 10-story building there, built in 1894, was the first structure to be called a skyscraper.

Because foam rubber is long-drying, it's advisable to cover pillows of this material with a zippered removable ticking that's quickly and easily launderable in hot soapsuds.

'The Itch' Plagues All Of Us And Its Causes Are Legion

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Itching of the skin is an experience which practically everyone has had at one time or another. Usually, the itching affects only one portion of the skin and the cause is quite obvious, such as a mosquito bite.

Sometimes, however, the itching covers a large area and the normal reaction of scratching is likely to make the condition worse.

There are many possible causes for itching, only a few of which can be mentioned. In eczema, which likely is to be a result of long-continued contact of the skin with irritating substances, the skin condition and itch become chronic.

Redness, thickening, cracking and crusting of the skin occur and the itching may be extremely hard to relieve.

Hives, or urticaria, is a source of severe itching. This is an allergic condition and the diagnosis can be made easily by the sudden appearance of raised reddish spots accompanied by an irresistible desire to scratch. Other forms of allergy may also produce itching.

Some people itch all over after bathing. The sensation may last up to half an hour or more, but is relieved after the clothes are on for a while. The skin has an entirely normal appearance.

Winter itch is a closely related condition in which people complain of severe itching all over the body when undressing for the night or just after retiring.

It is absent when the weather is mild. The skin appears normal except for whatever scratch marks may be present.

The seven-year itch, or scabies, is another cause of skin itching which must be considered. This type of itching comes from a parasite which burrows into the skin. Treatment for scabies is aimed at destroying the parasites.

Some Diseases Cause Itch

Itching of the skin may accompany such diseases as diabetes, nephritis or Bright's disease, and especially jaundice. Indeed, in most forms of jaundice, the itching of the skin which is one of the symptoms, particularly is distressing and extremely difficult to relieve.

Lice, always cause itching. Here also the treatment of the itch is not merely to apply some lotion but to get rid of the insects which are causing the trouble.

With so many possible causes for an itching skin, no single lotion or ointment can be counted on to bring relief. Severe, long-lasting itching is a problem of deciding what is the cause and how the cause can be attacked or removed. It is often astonishing how unpleasant itching can be.

The Arctic tern nests as far north as there is land.

Gigantic Tunnel Under Niagara Builds World's Second Largest Power Source

NIAGARA FALLS, ONT.—(NEA)—Deep under the honeymoon city of Niagara Falls, workmen are blasting through rock and sand to build a tunnel that will be as high as a four-story building.

The tunnel will bring water from above Niagara Falls to a point far below on the Niagara River, and by 1954 it is expected to add 700,000 more horsepower of electricity for the kilowatt-hungry industries of southern Ontario.

The project on the Canadian side of the border is going ahead under a U. S.-Canadian agreement to expand power facilities at the Falls. Development on the U. S. side, is still in the argument stage among federal and state power authorities and private power companies.

Ontario's $182,000,000 project, which includes new generating stations being built into the solid rock wall of the river, required an entire new townsite for the 5,000 men on the job. Many of these are hard-rock miners brought down from the gold mines of northern Ontario for the tough blasting job.

To Run Uphill

The development will take water as it rushes toward the brink of the falls and drop it through a 45-foot-diameter tunnel to 250 feet below the river surface. Then for 5.1 miles, the water will run gradually uphill again to an open canal which will carry it two miles to the seven penstocks of the new generating station.

The new 700,000 horsepower will be added to the 325,000 horsepower already generated on the Canadian side of the Falls.

Under the International treaty the scenic value of the famous Falls will not be harmed. The flow of the water over the falls will be tapped in greatest quantity in the Fall and Winter months when tourist activity is at a minimum and when power needs are highest.

The tunneling job under the city of 40,000 people is being done from five shafts sunk from the surface at an angle. These shafts are about 50 feet in diameter and are being built off-center so they can be used later for building a second tunnel for the final power development on the Canadian side in about 1960.

Major Factor

The vast industrial development in southern Ontario since the end of the war has been a major factor in the need of more power. There are many new factories in the area immediately north of Lakes Erie and Ontario today, and more factories for defense industries are now being built by U. S., Canadian, British and European capital.

The population has been increased by about half by the 500,000 immigrants who have come to Canada since 1945. For the Niagara Falls power development alone, Ontario has imported over a thousand skilled workmen from Great Britain, as well as unskilled labor from western Europe.

When completed in another 10 years, the Canadian side of Niagara Falls alone will be the second largest power development in the world, next to Grand Coulee, Washington. With the power to be developed on the American side of the Falls, Niagara will be the biggest power source anywhere.

TEEN TALK

By VIVIAN BROWN AP Newswriter

Ring in Leap Year with a loud and impressive shout. This is the year: you can Dutch treat without being too embarrassed; invite that elusive boy you've had your eye on to your house for an evening by the fire; lasso your favorite campus Romeo for that school dance.

And all of this meets with the approval of the male animal, we'll have you know. As one young man said: "It's just about time some little ol' year came along to help pay the sweet shoppe bill."

Leap year can be fun. It gives an opportunity for lots of reverse-date parties: such as having the girl take a flower to her date, pick him up at his house, escort him to the party. (However, it is wise to let the boy take you home.)

There are endless possibilities for fun and merriment. You have 396 days to revel in it, so get on your merry way. One thing you should skip, however, is making the romantic overtures. Let the boy be the leader in some things: asking for a kiss or holding hands, for instance.

The young men, of course, will be mighty wary of their female friends this year, particularly those of marrying age. Here are a few tips on how to corral that price charming for just a date or that big sparkler:

1. If you do invite him to a dance or party, don't shower him with extra attention. And don't invite him to a second party unless he asks you out after that first date.
2. Dutch treats can be carried too far. It might be in the spirit of Leap Year, to take care of your share of the expenses, but don't let it get to be a habit. Many a romance ends because Joe gets in the habit of expecting Nancy to pay all her own tabs, and she can blame herself for spoiling him, usually.
3. Don't be a man-snatcher just because Leap Year gives you license to do the unusual. If Susie Belle goes out with a boy you like, don't make a play for him every time you are in their company.
4. Don't make marriage your sole topic of conversation. Men are shy of orange blossoms, and the easiest way to set them running is to show your hand of hearts.
5. The slightly aloof approach is more likely to get that man than the uproarious life-of-the-party technique. Men like girls who are good sports—but gigglers are not for romantic evenings in the moonlight.
6. If you have a bigger allowance than your date of the moment, don't impress the fact upon him. And don't suggest places to dine or dance which do not fit his budget. It is all right to suggest making up the difference of a bill on a minor date but it wouldn't do to suggest entertainment so lavish that the boy couldn't even foot his half of the expenses.
7. When you are out with a young man you can make him seem important without showering him with affection. There are other ways to build up your date. Men are vain—so brag on his school marks or athletic prowess, his choice of books or his interest in the theatre or music.
8. Forget about Johnny and Moe when you are out with Joe. Some girls think their object in life should be to make every man jealous. He'll be more fearful of what he doesn't know about your other dates than what you willingly volunteer.
9. Blase girls aren't the most popular co-eds. Most men still prefer the old-fashioned girl, even if he measures her according to modern standards. He won't admire you for bragging about your late hours, lack of religion or criticism of your parents.
10. Don't be a steady dater, unless the boy has proposed, and you've accepted him. And the easiest way to get that man to propose is to give him a little competition.

Exports Of Rubber Shoes Are Curtailed

KUALA LUMPUR, MALAYA — (AP)—Export of Malayan rubber shoes to Great Britain is being prevented by tariff complications, the president of the Malayan Rubber Goods Manufacturers Association has said.

"We know that Malayan rubber shoes have an excellent future in Britain but we are not going to export any to Britain unless the imperial preference requirements are relaxed," he stated.

Noting that the tariff regulations require proof that 50 per cent of the materials used were of British Empire origin, he said to secure this proof would entail a laborious, costly accounting operation.

Slipcovers should be ironed when "almost dry." Press pleats and flounces, and then stretch the slipcover into place on furniture where it will dry taut and smooth.

Congressmen Are Against IQ Test

NEW YORK — (AP)—Congressmen don't always agree, but 25 of them recently were unanimous in turning down an invitation to take an intelligence quiz.

The 25-question test, prepared at the request of a magazine by a psychological-testing bureau, was submitted to the group of House and Senate members. Typical queries were "Who wrote the Declaration of Independence?" and "Who is the prime minister of France?"

Editors of the publication said the lawmakers were explicit and vehement in their reactions. The names of the congressmen were not disclosed.

Lip Balm Soothes Chapped Sore Lips

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

Chapped, sore lips can spoil even the happiest child's disposition, to say nothing of their effect on the older members of the family. That is why it is so important to look for protection in an antiseptic, medicated lip balm.

Just such a preparation is available in a handy little black and white tube, the size of your lipstick. The tube can be slipped into a pocket or purse, and whipped out whenever lips feel particularly parched.

One of the special advantages of this lip balm is that it is completely colorless and can be applied either under or over your lipstick.

You won't have any trouble encouraging your young daughter to use it. She'll love being able to make-believe it is her own lipstick. As for brother, all he wants to do is stop the chapping and clear up the painful sores. He will really appreciate the colorless quality.

To avoid a family mix-up of lip balms, this tube is available in a variety of designs. A separate symbol can be assigned to each member of the family: a heart for sister, a circle for brother and a diamond for mother.

Lip protection for young and old is a vital necessity during the cold weather months. Blustery winds dry out the natural oils and leave the skin chapped and unattractive.

Tractor Fouled Up By Little Mouse

VERDON, NEB.—A field mouse immobilized a tractor belonging to Harvey Fritz.

When the tractor's engine locked, Fritz took the tractor to mechanics who removed the engine head and found a quantity of finely-pulverized corn above the piston in the firing chamber.

The sabotaging mouse had climbed in through the manifold into the head and had hidden kernels of corn in the cylinder.

A liberal pinch of bluing and a couple of tablespoons of kerosene added to a pail of hot soapuds will make your window panes super-shiny.
