Most passengers returned to homes in Japan, Korea

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Most of the passengers and crew members of a Korean Air Lines jet shot down over the Soviet Arctic completed their trip to Japan and Korea today as the United States pressed the Russians for information about the pilot and navigator they detained.

The downed airliner's co-pilot said the crew received no warning from the Soviet MiG interceptor that fired into it early Thursday morning, killing two passengers, wounding 10 and putting a grapefruit-size hole in the plane's fuselage. But President Park Chung hee thanked the Soviet government for releasing the passengers and 11 crew members and asked it to free the other two crewmen as a humanitarian gesture.

A Pan American plane took the 95 surviving passengers and 11 of the 13 crew members from Murmansk to Helsinki, Finland, on Sunday. Three of the passengers chose to remain in Europe, and a KAL plane brought the rest — most of them Japanese or Korean — via Anchorage to jubilant and tearful welcomes in Tokyo and Seoul today.

Also aboard were the bodies of the two dead passengers, one a Korean and the other a Japanese. Among those waiting at the Tokyo airport was Ritsuko Sugano, the 55-year old mother of the dead Japanese, who said to reporters:

"How could they shoot our innocent and unguarded son? I cannot sleep when I think about his last moment in the plane."

Premier Choi Kyu-hah led the welcomers at the Seoul airport.

Capt. Kim Chang-kyu and navigator Lee Kun-shik were prevented from leaving Murmansk despite efforts by U.S. and Japanese representatives to get them released. Diplomats in Moscow said the U.S. Embassy asked the Soviet Foreign Ministry for information about them today, and the State Department made the same request of the Soviet embassy in Washington.

The United States acted on behalf of the South Korean government because South Korea does not have diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union.

The Russians also held on to the airliner's flight recorder, and the $15 million Boeing 707 was still on the remote frozen lake in northwest Russia where it crash-landed. KAL President Cho Choong-hoon said the airline would not try to get the plane back.

Co-pilot Cha Soon-do's report that the MiG opened fire without warning contradicted the official Soviet report that the Soviet pilot fired only after the Korean pilot ignored repeated orders to follow the MiG to a landing field.

"I was on the international emergency frequency," he said, "but I did not hear anything ... We didn't contact at all."

He said he first noticed the interceptor when it pulled alongside. "I noticed it for about two minutes ... no indication (of its intent). Then we was just followed. After that I missed the airplane. After then about five minutes we were shot."

Passengers who apparently saw the MiG before the crew did supported Cha's story. Karlheinz Schwaken, a steel equipment salesman from Dusseldorf, West Germany, said he watched the Russian jet for more than 10 minutes and saw "no wagging, no signals."

Bill Howard, 49, a London leather dealer, said when the interceptor was spotted, "we assumed it was American as we thought we were over Alaska."

The KAL president admitted the plane strayed into Soviet airspace but said it was accidental. Passengers said the pilot told them he believed the plane's cockpit compass had malfunctioned. The airline president said investigators would seek to determine why a backup compass did not correct the problem.

Cho said the navigator had flown the trans-polar route at least 17 times. However, the plane was not equipped with an inertial guidance system, the most sophisticated navigation system available.

The plane got off course during a nine-hour flight from Paris to Anchorage, where it was to refuel before continuing to Japan and Korea. Its last radio report said it was over Ellesmere Island, north of Labrador and more than 1,000 miles from where it was forced down.

The course went near the magnetic North Pole, which can cause wild compass deviations. But KAL officials in Anchorage said they could not believe the plane "was so far off course." The route, drawn on a map in KAL headquarters there, turned northwest from Scotland and headed toward Iceland and Greenland before moving over the Canadian Arctic.

Cho said no one was injured during the crash landing.

Passenger Seiko Shiozake of Kobe, Japan, kept a detailed diary of the incident. She said the pilot searched for 90 minutes before landing near Kem, 230 miles south of Murmansk.

"We are landing and we see a flame on the left wing, she wrote. "The moonlight is very bright and reflects on the snow ... Capt. Kim is applauded."

A British passenger, Benson Cohen, 55, said: "We made the landing in an area that was wooded country. And the right-hand wing finished up about two meters away from a tree. And there were many other trees alongside. So if we had slid a bit more we would have sheared the wing right off and that would have been that."

Cohen said even after they landed he thought they were in Alaska.

Energy meetings to resume today

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House-Senate conference committee considering President Carter's energy package resumes public meetings this week after five months of closed-door negotiations that last week yielded a tentative compromise on natural gas pricing.

Carter's tax cut and anti-inflation plans also face tests this week as senators begin writing a federal budget for 1979.

Staff members planned to circulate completed drafts of the natural gas proposal, which Energy Secretary James R. Schlesinger helped frame, to all members of the energy conference committee sometime today.

Completed by key negotiators last Friday, the plan would gradually lift federal controls from newly found gas by Jan. 1, 1985, and permit regulated prices to increase by about 10 percent a year until then under a formula that adjusts for inflation.

Circulation of the draft will give most of the 42 energy conferees their first chance to see full details of the plan, since only about a dozen actually participated in the private negotiating sessions held at both the Capitol and the White House.

Although a close vote is almost assured, conference leaders are predicting approval when the panel takes up the measure, probably on Wednesday.

The committee, named last fall to reconcile House and Senate differences on the energy legislation, has held only one public session this year, lasting several hours on March 22.

The Senate, meanwhile, goes to work this week on next year's federal budget. It must decide whether to accomodate in the budget a rollback of Social Security taxes and whether to scale down the president's proposed $24 billion income tax cut.

Hill seeks city hearing on WIPP

AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General John Hill has asked Energy Secretary James Schlesinger to order public hearings in Texas on a proposed nuclear waste disposal site to be located near Carlsbad, N.M.

"The Carlsbad site is within 25 miles of the Texas border, and is closer to the Texas cities of Midland, El Paso, Odessa and Lubbock than to any other urban areas either within New Mexico or elsewhere," Hill told Schlesinger in a letter released today.

"Therefore, I suggest that public hearings be held in each of these four cities," he said.

Hill also said the site will be only 40 miles from an aquifer in Loving County which is a future source of water for the city of Midland.

"In addition, Texas railroads and highways will be used to transport this nuclear waste to the Waste Isolation Pilot Project," Hill said.

"It is therefore vital that Texans be

Moro-related ultimatum received

ROME (AP) — A new ultimatum purporting to come from the Red Brigades demanded the immediate release of 13 jailed terrorists in exchange for kidnapped former Premier Aldo Moro.

Newspapers in Rome, Genoa and Milan received the message today.

It threatened to execute the 61-year-old president of the Christian Democratic Party unless the terrorists were freed.

If authentic, the message is the first word from the kidnappers since an ultimatum for the ruling Christian Democrats to agree to negotiations to save Moro's life expired Saturday at 3 p.m.

Among the prisoners whose release was demanded was Renato Curcio, founder of the Red Brigades, and three other members of the terrorist organization on trial with him in Turin, and Cristoforo Piancone, who was critically injured April 11 in a shoot-out with a Turin prison guard who later died.

The Christian Democrats appeared to be retreating from their refusal to bargain for Moro's release, but they were reported still opposed to ransoming him by releasing jailed terrorists.

The secretary-general of the party, Benigno Zaccagnini, said after a meeting of party leaders Sunday that they want to find out through intermediaries "a reply to questions on the fate of Aldo Moro and to ascertain possible ways to achieve his liberation."

Zaccagnini did not repeat the party's previous refusal to bargain with the terrorists. Observers said this could mean that the Christian Democrats, under pressure from Moro's family and some Roman Catholic bishops, might be willing to enter into talks if the kidnappers made concrete proposals.

But the Christian Democrats as well as the Communists and other parties that support the government in Parliament were reported still determined to refuse demands to exchange imprisoned terrorists for the kidnapped political leader.

The Red Brigades, who kidnapped Moro March 16 and killed his five police bodyguards, said on Thursday that they would kill their captive if the government did not agree by 3 p.m. Saturday to negotiate the exchange of Moro for unspecified "communist prisoners."

The government rejected an exchange, but named Caritas International, a Roman Catholic relief organization, to act as intermediary with the kidnappers. Emilio Fracchia, secretary general of the organization, said he received a number of calls saying when and where Moro would be released and others giving new ultimatums. But he said none was taken to be authentic.

Two-year-old Danny Northcutt of San Angelo uses an umbrella as a prop, as he joins others in gazing at a B-17 Flying Fortress making a low-flying pass Saturday at dedication of the Rattlesnake Bomber Base Museum at Pyote. Museum dedication 'almost impressive'

PYOTE — The timing was perfect.

Just as the 101-piece Monahans "Big Green" Band was well into its rendition of "Wild Blue Yonder," a four-engine B-17 Flying Fortress of World War II stock flew overhead as if it were on review.

Down below, on a sunny Saturday afternoon, approximately 500 people were gathered about the Pyote Community Center for the dedication of the Rattlesnake Bomber Base Museum.

And the first sight and sound of the old warplane was as inspiring to many as any Sousa march might be to a gung-ho cadet.

Pyote Army Air Base, on grubby ranchland fraught with mesquite and rattlers, was used for training B-17 and, later, B-29 Superfortress crews during World War II. It was known throughout the Air Corps as Rattlesnake Bomber Base.

Today, it is all but desolate. But there is a fraternity of mostly Pyote folks trying to preserve bits of the ravaged base. The museum is part of that effort.

The Dan Gibbs-directed "Big Green" band fell silent; it's version of "Wild Blue Yonder" went the way of the faded sound of those four 1,250-horsepower radial engines propelling the big bird through the sky.

And Ward County Judge Chester Taggart, emceeing the ground show, stood on the podium in the wind-swept outdoors. He spoke of the old base and of the men and women who served there.

The base began training flight crews early in 1943 after the 19th Bombardment Group, "the most decorated unit in the (Army) Air Force at that time," returned from overseas, Taggart noted.

And in 1978, 35 years later, the dedication of Rattlesnake Bomber Base Museum was being held to honor those who served "in the defense of our country," Taggart said.

Again, that aging B-17 with the Confederate Air Force markings passed overhead.

Taggart summoned Odessa pop singer Tammi Jo Whitmire, who ended up singing more jazzy popular songs than patriotic ones.

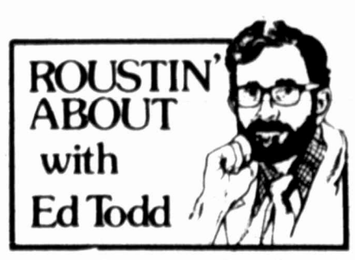

"This song is 'America the Beautiful,' " she said, "because America is beautiful."

The low-flying B-17, for the third time, passed over.

After singing her medley of songs, Ms. Whitmire relinquished the microphone to Taggart, who cited Monahans' Jim Marks for collecting memorabilia to help keep the memory of Rattlesnake Bomber Base in the forefront.

"He knew that (the base) was the

'17 flyover sparks dedication

epitome of the citizens' army learning how to carry the attack to the enemy."

For the fourth time, that silvery B-17, nicknamed "Sentimental Journey" and piloted by Col. John Yates of the CAF's Arizona Wing, passed by. Col. Bill Wall was co-piloting the flying machine.

This time, Congressman Richard C. White of El Paso was up on the podium praising man and machine.

"The '17 has been credited with the great victories in Europe," he said.

The Flying Fortress was lumbering to a landing at Rattlesnake's concrete landing strip, as White recounted the history of the base.

"When they constructed this (base), there were rattlesnakes all over the place," he said of the origin of the base's unofficial name.

Afterward, some of the spectators toured the museum and then joined a few hundred others at the landing strip a piece down the road.

Many climbed aboard the B-17 for an inside look. It was the "star" on the field and base, which is returning to mesquite, shrubs and, presumably, to the rattlers.

About all that remains is a "giant" hangar and a old brick boiler room.

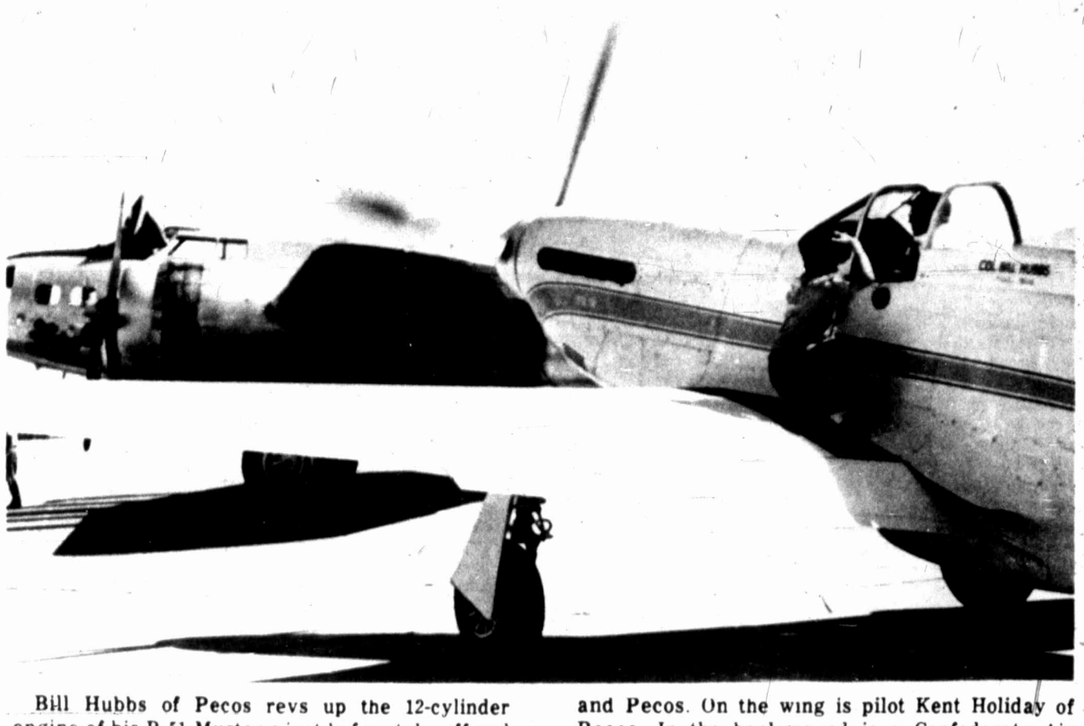

There, near the '17, was a P-51 Mustang fighter owned and piloted by Bill Hubbs of Pecos.

But the hundreds of folks who drove to the field were deprived of an aerobatic show by the fast-and-sleek Mustang. Neither veteran precision fliers and CAF colonels Marvin "Lefty" Gardner of Mercedes nor Joe Henderson of Brownwood could make it to Pyote for the show.

But Hubbs, after taxiing the single-engine "prop job" down the field, took up the P-51 for a few low flying passes. He once waggled the craft's wings in a fly-by but pulled off no stunts.

What turned out to be another let-down to warplane buffs was the failure of a British Spitfire fighter to make an appearance. To some, it was a drag, if you'll pardon the pun.

"It was almost impressive," one spectator said of the air show.

Bill Hubbs of Pecos revs up the 12-cylinder engine of his P-51 Mustang just before take off and a few fly-bys for spectators at the old Pyote (Rattlesnake) Army Air Base between Monahans and Pecos. Three hurt

ODESSA — An Odessa man was listed in stable condition this morning in Medical Center Hospital, and two others were treated and released Sunday after a two-vehicle accident at the intersection of Mockingbird and Altura on the outskirts of this city.

A spokesman for the Department of Public Safety today said a vehicle driven by Joel Self, 22, of Odessa was eastbound on Mockingbird. The second vehicle, driven by Clyde Myers, 27, of Odessa was northbound on Altura, the spokesman said. The vehicles collided at the intersection, and Myers' vehicle overturned, landing on its side, the DPS said.

Self was admitted to the hospital. Gerald Chillas, 22, also of Odessa and a passenger in Self's vehicle, and Myers were treated and released.

Weather fine

Today's forecast of fair skies and warm temperatures should help to brighten up Monday in Midland.

The low temperature tonight is expected to drop to near 50 degrees, while winds should become light and variable. On Tuesday, skies should continue to be fair with the high temperature reaching the middle 80s, the weatherman said.

Sunday's high temperature was 85 degrees, according to the National Weather Service at Midland Regional Air Terminal. Sunday night's low temperature was 49 degrees.

Clear skies and warm temperatures were reported throughout the area this morning.

Trailer wreck kills cattle

An early Sunday morning accident resulted in slight injuries to two Permian Basin men and the death of 16 cattle.

A Department of Public Safety spokesman this morning said a truck-tractor pulling a semi-trailer containing 87 head of cattle was northbound on FM 1788. A spring on the trailer reportedly broke, causing the driver to lose control of the vehicle. The vehicle left the road and turned over on its side, the DPS spokesman said.

Gary Wayne Davidson, 29, of Eden and Billy Ray Cathey, 32, of San Angelo were treated at Midland Memorial Hospital and released Sunday morning.

allowed to determine the potential impact such a site will have on the health, safety and welfare of Texas citizens," he said.

"We in Texas recognize that there is a pressing national need to properly dispose of nuclear waste materials and that it is critically important to the future development of nuclear power that a safe method of disposal be found."

"But that does not mean that the safety and health of Texans living near the site must not be considered before such a project is implemented," Hill said.

Informant's tip broke art case

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — Police say an informant's tip about a barroom boast of a "big theft" cracked one of Italy's most daring art robberies and led to recovery of a Rubens masterpiece and nine other Flemish works stolen from the Pitti Palace museum in Florence.

Police arrested three suspects, Franco Mefiti, 29 and Giovanni Manfredi, 31, the men who allegedly made off with the works via a museum skylight last Friday, and attorney Franco Brogi, 37, accused of masterminding the theft. They were jailed on charges of robbery and conspiracy, authorities said.

Rubens' "Three Graces" amd the other paintings were found undamaged early Sunday in the trunk of Brogi's car and were returned to the museum. The works were valued at more than $1 million.

Police said the tipster put them on the trail of the thieves on the day of the robbery after he heard Mefiti boast about a "big theft" at the Pitti Palace. Manfredi was seen with Mefiti, police said.

A search of their apartments turned up undisclosed evidence that let police to the paintings in the car trunk. Authorities said Mefiti and Manfredi confessed Saturday evening, but Brogi denied involvement.

Police said the thieves used a ladder to scale the fortress-like wall of the 15th-century palace.

Attendant, hands tied, makes call

A self-service gas station attendant with his hands tied behind him Sunday managed to hop to the station's cash register, get two dimes and call police from the station's pay telephone to tell them he had been robbed.

After receiving the call, officers went to the station in the 200 block of Andrews Highway, where they found Kenneth Wayne Thomas tied in a back storeroom.

Thomas told police that a man had entered the back storeroom where Thomas was, pulled a knife and held it against Thomas' stomach. The man reportedly then told Thomas to open the safe. Police were told that the man took two money bags from the safe and the cash from the register and put them into a paper sack.

The man, Thomas told officers, forced him to lie on the floor and tied his hands and feet. When the man left, Thomas managed to get to his feet and hop to the telephone, he later told police.

FORTY-FOUR YEARS OF MEMORIES will converge as former Carver High School students and teachers gather for a reunion June 16, 17 and 18. Planning the event are, from left, Linda Choy, Brenda Niblett, Mrs. Leroy Hunt and the Rev. Leroy Hunt. Classes from 1933 to 1967, Carver's last year as a high school, are expected to attend the event. More information about the reunion may be obtained by calling 683-2513 or 682-0916 or by writing to Carver Homecoming, P. O. Box 8474, Midland. (Staff Photo)

High court declines Hearst review

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to review Patricia Hearst's 1976 bank robbery conviction. The young newspaper heiress, free the past two years on $1 million bond, soon may have to go to prison.

The justices rejected Miss Hearst's appeal with no explanation.

Only Justice William J. Brennan Jr. voted to review her case, and he said he would have limited the court's study to the admissibility into trial evidence of recordings of Miss Hearst's jailhouse conversations.

Now, lawyers for Miss Hearst have 25 days in which to ask the high court to reconsider.

Attorney J. Albert Johnson said such a request definitely would be filed. However, the court almost never grants reconsideration.

Miss Hearst conceivably could be ordered to prison in the interim.

Her immediate fate appears to rest with U.S. District Judge William H. Orrick Jr. in San Francisco. He could allow Miss Hearst to remain free until her lawyers exhaust all legal manuevers.

Those could include a request that Orrick reduce Miss Hearst's seven-year prison term to a period of probation, as was done last year for state charges of assault and robbery against her.

Under Supreme Court procedure, Orrick officially will learn of the court's action when receiving notice of it by mail within a few days.

If imprisoned, Miss Hearst would have to serve 14 months before becoming eligible for parole. She served 14 months before, during and after her eight-week trial.

She was convicted of participating in the 1974 armed robbery of a Hibernia Bank branch in San Francisco — two months after her kidnapping by a group calling itself the Symbionese Liberation Army.

Miss Hearst, daughter of newspaper publisher Randolph Hearst and his wife Catherine, was 18 when SLA members abducted her from a Berkeley apartment Feb. 4, 1974.

The kidnapping, reports of her alleged subsequent conversion to the SLA movement and months of police frustration in efforts to capture Miss Hearst and her abductors was international news.

Reese announces Reagan endorsement today

Republican congressional candidate Jim Reese today announced that he has received the endorsement of former Republican presidential hopeful Ronald Reagan.

In a news conference at Midland Regional Air Terminal, Reeae, a candidate for the 19th Congressional District seat, read a letter from Reagan dated April 14.

In the letter, Reagan noted that he had supported Reese in 1976, when Reese was unopposed Republican candidate for the 19th District.

"You are today the same man, and the challenges to our nation are unchanged. Thus on the basis of principle, I want to wish you success in one of the most important congressional races this year," Reagan said in the letter.

Reese said he visited with Reagan when both were appearing at a political event in Abilene several weeks ago. "I asked him to come in and do a fundraiser," Reese said. Reagan indicated he would not be able to fit a fundraising event into his schedule, however, Reese said.

Referring to that meeting, Reagan said: "I've reflected at length on the subject of our recent meeting, earnestly seeking to develop a position which supports the cause for which we've worked so hard over the years, while at the same time, one which does not impede our efforts in presenting a united front for the campaigns in November."

Lyn Nofziger, a spokesman for Reagan's office in Santa Monica, Calif., said today in a telephone interview that the letter is an endorsement of Reese.

"I think you could call it an endorsement of Jim Reese. We're aware that George (W.) Bush is there and a man named Joe Hickox, and this isn't an attack on them or anything. In the light of past relationships and so forth, we thought it was proper to endorse Mr. Reese again," Nofziger said.

Reese said he thinks the endorsement will help him in the Republican primary. "A lot of people, particularly new people who come into the district, will appreciate knowing that Ronald Reagan agrees with me," he said.

He also said he hopes the endorsement will encourage conservatives to vote in the Republican primary.

'Koreagate' draws first jail sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Rep. Richard T. Hanna, the first congressional figure charged in the Korean influence-buying scandal, today was sentenced to serve six months to 30 months in a federal prison.

Hanna, who was a Democrat from California, appeared stunned as Chief District Judge William Bryant tersely handed down the sentence after lengthy appeals from both the congressman and his attorney for mercy.

In a quivering voice, Hanna had told Bryant: "I apologized to the court, I apologized to the people who elected me to public office...I hope in the years that I have left I can do something to atone for what I have done."

The white-haired Hanna who served in Congress from 1963 to 1974, entered a bargained guilty plea last March 17 to one count of conspiracy to defraud the government, a charge that bears a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Hanna's plea agreement averted a trial on a 40-count indictment returned by a grand jury last October. Government attorney Jeffrey White dropped the remaining charges after today's sentencing.

The government said in the bargaining plea with the former congressman that Hanna had "received in excess of $200,000 in cash and checks between 1969 and the end of 1975" for using the power of his office to further the interests of Korean businessman Tongsun Park.

Hanna's attorney, Charles McNelis, argued in a long and emotional presentation to Bryant that while his client "did commit a serious mistake of judgment in his relationship with Tongsun Park," Hanna has since tried to redeem himself by cooperating fully with investigators.

Robert Krueger

U.S. Rep. Robert Krueger of New Braunfels has established quite an impressive record while serving two terms in the House of Representatives.

He has engaged in a number of tough skirmishes on legislative matters during that period of time.

Presently he is engaged in a tough race with former State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie of El Paso for the nomination as U.S. Senator in the May 6 Democrat primary.

The winner of the race will challenge U.S. Senator John Tower in November. The incumbent is unopposed in the Republican primary.

Krueger, whose congressional district joins George Mahon's Midland district on the south, is well and favoraby known in Midland and throughout this section of the state. He is a frequent Midland visitor.

He is a powerful advocate of natural gas deregulation, which has attracted favorable notice by the oil and gas industry, particularly the independent segment thereof.

He came very close to getting his natural gas price deregulation bill through the House twice in brilliant legislative performances in the face of determined presidential opposition. It was no wonder that his House colleagues chose him as the "most effective" first-term member of Congress.

His expressed moderate political philosophy also has gained him many supporters. In addition to his knowledge of the oil business, he also is well versed in other matters of importance to the overall economy and continued development of the Lone Star State.

The Reporter-Telegram endorses Bob Krueger and recommends his nomination in the Democrat primary.

This newspaper will choose between Senator Tower and the Democrat nominee in the November general election.

The No. 1 problem

Inflation, suddenly, has become the nation's No. 1 problem. President Carter says he now will give it his highest priority.

This is a switch. The Carter administration, during its first year in office, has been more worried about solving the problem of unemployment.

But unemployment has been trending steadily downward. Inflation has been climbing upward, rather sharply this year.

Meanwhile, there is the problem of energy, which won't go away. Any solution to the problem is bound to be expensive. It will add to the inflation problem, at least in the short term. This is why inflation must be kept under control.

Two direct approaches must be rejected. One is wage-price controls, which won't work uniformly across the board. Wage controls are easier to impose than price controls. So people suffer while profits increase. And when controls are removed, whoosh! All the pent-up inflationary forces are released.

Another unworkable approach would be the monetary solution, clamping down on the money supply, driving up interest rates. Such action would hit the housing industry, reduce purchasing power and could cause a general recession.

There is no magic answer. The President must keep the pressure on a number of points. He must control the tendency of Congress to inflate the federal budget and reduce federal revenues. He must set an example for private industry and labor unions by keeping a tight rein on salary increases for federal employees.

Only such tough political action in the federal sector will convince policy-makers in the private sector that the President means business when he opposes inflationary price and wage increases.

It all boils down to fiscal responsibility in government.

AMERICA'S WEAPONS:

Aimless experimentation in appeasement: no good

By V. H. KRULAK
Copley News Service

First it was a decision to abandon our development of anti-ballistic missiles.

Then it was a decision to withdraw our ground forces from Korea, then cancellation of the B-1 bomber, then concessions on the deployment, testing and range of our cruise missiles; then a decision to reduce our naval strength — already fallen from a thousand warships 10 years ago to fewer than 500 today.

Now it is second thoughts on development and deployment of the neutron bomb.

These actions all have one thing in common — they inspire loud applause in the Soviet Union, because every one diminishes our options for defending the United States, every one diminishes the credibility of our commitments to our allies, every one brings the Soviet's global aspirations a step nearer realization.

Where the enhanced radiation neutron bomb is concerned, there are the best of reasons for the Russians to want to see it on the shelf.

They are obviously relying heavily on their 13,000 first-line tanks quickly to steamroll across Western Europe. Tanks, by their nature, can withstand a great deal of blast, but radiation penetrates their shell with little difficulty, putting the tank crews out of action. The neutron weapon, in other words, helps to redress the immense numerical superiority of Soviet ground forces over the combined ground strength of NATO. Hence, the Russian complaint that the neutron bomb is a wicked weapon.

They seem to have no similar moral reservations concerning their own growing stocks of chemical and germ warfare weapons, their own new supersonic strategic bomber, the Backfire, or their newest nuclear weapons, including the mobile SS-16, as well as the SS-18 and SS-20 which are so massive in both blast and radiation effect that one, or at the most two, of them would make a shambles out of Paris or Pittsburgh.

Nor have we raised any audible protest to this inconsistency in Soviet conduct. We seem to realize, and by our behavior, to accept the fact that the Russians are hell bent on a program to achieve overwhelming military superiority over the United States.

And, rather than meet their challenge by utilizing our superior technology and industrial power, we are trying, of all things, to reason with them or, as Paul Warnke, chief of the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency, says, "We ought to be trying to educate them into the real world of strategic weapons — convince them that nobody could possibly win."

But the Soviets, to whom force and coercion are almost a religion, are determined that they can win a nuclear conflict and are making all preparations to prove it.

Jawboning, on our part — cancellation of the B-1, rolling over on the cruise missile, and now, temporizing on the neutron weapon can be expected to have no persuasive effect whatever. This misconception — that concession can advance our cause with the Russians — is one of the greatest flaws of all in the flawed Carter administration whose perilous ineptness in this regard is best characterized by Alexandyr Sohlzenitzyn as "the process of giving up and giving up in the hope that someday the wolf will have eaten enough."

But we should know by now that the wolf's appetite is insatiable and, apart from the encouragement that our almost pusillanimous behavior gives the Soviets, there is the grave effect it has on our allies.

They are mindful that they and their free institutions stand as a continuing affront to the Russians and a continuing inspiration to Poles, Czechs, Hungarians, Bulgarians, Ukranians, Georgians and other enslaved peoples.

Standing in the shadow of the threatening Russian bear the free countries of Western Europe lean heavily on us for reassurance and support and, when they see us dabbling in the well-muddied waters of concession, their confidence and their determination have to suffer.

The fact is, these are hazardous times, when the effective survival of the United States — and freedom everywhere — are at stake. Fuzzy-headed, aimless experimentation in appeasement will not suffice. The qualities that will bring us through are resolution and nerve, and we can all pray that some of this strength will begin to appear before it is too late.

WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

Continuing report on herbicides

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — This is another installment in our continuing reports on the poisoning of America.

In past columns, we have told how toxic pesticides and herbicides are seeping into the air we breathe and the water we drink, thus endangering the public health.

Few sprays may be more deadly than 245T, a herbicide containing dioxin. The Forest Service has been using 245T to kill forest brush, which inhibits the growth of valuable pine timber.

Similar herbicides were used in Vietnam to defoliate Viet Cong hiding places. A National Science Foundation team reported that not only the foliage was affected but that certain sicknesses had also appeared among the populace and livestock in the sprayed areas.

Now we have investigated similar reports from Americans living on the edges of the sprayed forests.

One frustrated homesteader, Harmon Seaver of northeastern Minnesota, was so enraged over the spraying that he fired a load of buckshot at the Forest Service's helicopter. He had searched for five years to find a virgin farm that had never been chemically sprayed. So he chased off the helicopter with his shotgun.

But it returned the next day and thoroughly sprayed the forest adjoining his land. Subsequent testing of his water supply by Minnesota health authorities showed traces of a herbicide containing dioxin.

Within a few days of the spraying, his family also suffered headaches, nausea, dizziness and diarrhea. The long-term effects of the exposure are still unknown.

Seaver was acquitted of all criminal charges by a jury which ruled he was merely acting in defense of his home and property.

Another horror story is told by Neddie Freedlund, a farm wife in the neighboring state of Wisconsin. After a neighbor sprayed his land with 245T, she reports, her entire family was seized with intense bellyaches, fever and sleeplessness.

Her baby began screaming in agony and pulling out his hair until bald spots appeared. She subsequently suffered three miscarriages, although she had previously borne six healthy children.

Freedlund also claims that similar maladies afflicted her barnyard. There was a dramatic decline in the quantity and quality of the milk produced by two cows. Her pigs gave birth to piglets which were either abnormally large or small. Rabbits had premature and deformed offspring.

Dr. Eloise Kailin, an Oregon allergist specializing in environmental medicine, examined 10 people who complained of illness after forest spraying. She found that four of the women in the group had experienced miscarriages, with one reporting 16 separate miscarriages.

The Food and Drug Administration reports that TCDD is "100,000 to a million times more potent" than the notorious drug thalidonide, which caused widespread birth defects in Europe. According to science researchers at the Library of Congress, one medicine-drop of dioxin has the potential to kill 1,200 people.

But Dr. Mathew Meselson, an expert in TCDD detection from Harvard, cautioned that not enough study has been completed on 245T to determine whether it is a health hazard. At the same time, he told us: "Anyone who says there isn't any danger is talking through his hat."

Dr. Ectyl Blair, a spokesman for Dow Chemical, told us: "We think the hazards of 245T are really quite small. We've had it in agriculture for 30 years or more and don't believe that the spraying of 245T is in any way related to the illness reports."

Added a spokesman for the timber industry: "We are not insensitive to the toxological effects on human health and are relying on the Environmental Protection Agency and Dow Chemical to research this area. We think the studies so far do not suggest that 245T should be eliminated or curtailed."

On April 11, EPA placed 245T on a danger list of suspect chemicals.

BROOKS IS BOILING — A row has broken out among senior members of the House Government Operations Committee over who has been bootlegging secret reports to our column.

Chairman Jack Brooks, a short-fused Texan, blew his stack and lectured the entire committee three days after the latest leak appeared in this space. "I deplore such leaks," Brooks growled angrily.

Then Rep. Leo Ryan, D.-Calif., chairman of the subcommittee which prepared the leaked report, flared up. He complained that he had been unfairly fingered by Rep. Frank Horton, R.-N.Y. The latter had written to Brooks charging that he held Ryan "responsible for the irresponsible handling of the report."

Ryan irately denied that he or his staff was responsible. Horton hastily conceded that his letter had been "perhaps overzealous."

In an effort to cool things down, Brooks observed in jest that if a committee member or staffer was proven the source of the leak, "we'll have to take him out and shoot him." He quickly called out to the committee stenographer: "Strike that out of the record, honey," and just put that we'll take the appropriate measures.

INSIDE REPORT:

Fifteen months of disillusionment, disappointment

By ROWLAND EVANS And ROBERT NOVAK

Evans Novak

WASHINGTON — No sooner had President Carter returned from his administration's weekend retreat at Camp David than he called for the American people to demand that Congress enact "tax reform," thereby casting doubt on how much he has learned during 15 months of disillusionment and disappointment.

Mr. Carter had arrived in Washington with the firmly entrenched notion that he could prosper politically, as he had as governor of Georgia, by appealing to the people over the heads of elected legislators. The difficulty of applying this tactic nationally has since been demonstrated, particularly when trying to breathe vitality into a commodity so lifeless as tax reform.

The public call for tax reform following hard on the Camp David meetings was no accident. It was discussed there, formally and informally, by senior White House staffers and cabinet members. Nobody dared mention that the summons sending cabinet members to the nation's crossroads to sell Carter programs had been sounded previously with singular lack of success.

The new aspect at Camp David was the President lecturing cabinet members to stop feuding, stop leaking unfavorable information and get behind his programs. Even if Mr. Carter came over tougher in news accounts than in actuality ("More p.r. puffery, I'm afraid," says one participant) it was needed to break down the image of "the President nobody fears."

The meetings were otherwise taken up by talk about "process" rather than "substance." Although no mechanism for achieving coordination was spelled out, the feeling was conveyed that Vice President Walter F. Mondale and White House aides were taking over from the cabinet. Indeed, cabinet members spent most of their time chatting informally, drinking cocktails and eating dinner and watching three hours of "Holocaust" over television — probably a worthwhile get-acquainted session for what remains a cabinet of strangers.

But neither formal nor informal sessions addressed the point that worries thoughtful officials: Jimmy Carter is a President who today can claim no constituency — not labor, business, farmers, blacks, Southerners or even a silent majority.

Suspicion that the President does not appreciate this problem was raised by his reversion to going over the heads of Congress. Presidential confidant Charles Kirbo of Atlanta, the only non-official present at Camp David, talked privately of how cabinet members could spread out across America selling tax reform. Nobody mentioned that an identical scheme to market the energy plan last fall (called "the Jordan plan," after aide Hamilton Jordan) failed totally.

Returning to Washington in a helicopter with Kirbo beside him, Mr. Carter went straight into a meeting of a citizens' task force for tax reform. Emerging from it, he declared: "If the American people will let their voices be heard to equal those of the special interests, then the Congress will hear, and tax reform will finally go into effect in our country."

Experienced politicians, including some in the cabinet, feel this quixotic approach is at the heart of the President's problem. Actually, tax reform lacks a constituency, provokes the business community and is not an overriding concern of either pressure groups or ordinary citizens. As the President spoke Monday, the House Ways and Means Committee methodically set about shredding his reforms.

But the President's Georgia advisers, including Kirbo, are convinced Mr. Carter's message is just not getting throught to the nation, partly because of the Washington press corps. That view is largely shared by Mondale, an increasingly influential figure.

So the Carter inner circle argues support can be built for tax reform and other programs as it was for the Panama Canal treaty. Ironically, many officials (including some at the weekend retreat) regard management of the canal treaty as a classically botched job that nearly transformed triumph into defeat. Nobody suggested this at Camp David.

Nor did anybody suggest that Mr. Carter himself might be the real source of trouble, a suspicion widely held within his own administration. Whereas Oliver Wendell Holmes referred to Franklin D. Roosevelt as "a second-class intellect but firstclass temperament," some Carter officials think the description might well be reversed in the President's case.

Nobody talks that way to a President's face, but silent doubts were not erased at Camp David. Although hope of a better coordinated administration was generated there, worries about Mr. Carter's perspective remain, boiled down to this question: when economic, political and moral danger threatens the West, does he truly intend to mobilize his administration in behalf of doomed and dubious procedural tax changes?

Mark Russell says

Two household words in Washington these days are bribery and conspiracy. A day without good old B and C is like a day without politics.

In one day recently, three public officials in Washington were charged with bribery and conspiracy, and a fourth was arrested for soliciting an undercover policeman for sex — the only one showing any imagination at all.

Mark Twain once called Congress a criminal class. That's a bit harsh. We must assume they are all innocent — until they learn the ropes.

Bribery and conspiracy are becoming boring offenses. Let's start booking them on suspicion of virtue.

Market pushing ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pushed ahead today in a moderate advance paced by Eastman Kodak shares.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up 1.65 at 814.45.

Gainers held a 5-3 edge on losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Dow Jones industrial average had slipped 1.74 points on Friday after climbing more than 48 points over the six previous sessions in a rally that broke hourly, daily and weekly trading-volume recogds at the NYSE.

Eastman Kodak shares rose ⅞ to 48½ in active trading today. Over the weekend the company reported a 50 percent increase in its first quarter earnings over the comparable period last year.

Another plus in the news background was word that machine tool orders set a record in March, with producers projecting continued strong demand in the months ahead.

McDonnell Douglas gained ⅞ to 28. The company posted first-quarter profits of $1.02 a share against 73 cents in the comparable period last year.

The NYSE's composite index of more tha 1,500 common stocks was up .10 at 52.75. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .40 to 135.83.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 12.11 million shares by noontime against 13.46 million at the same point on Friday.

'Son of Sam' decision today

NEW YORK (AP) — David Berkowitz, the accused Son of Sam killer, learns today whether he will be sent to a psychiatric hospital or put on trial for the murder of Stacy Moskowitz.

State Supreme Court Justice Joseph Corso, who earlier this month conducted four days of hearings behind closed doors, was scheduled to rule in Brooklyn on whether Berkowitz, a 24-year-old ex-postal clerk from Yonkers, is mentally fit to stand trial for the last of the six Son of Sam slayings.

If he is judged competent, Berkowitz could be ordered to stand trial May 8 or 22.

Corso said last week if he found Berkowitz incompetent he would order the transcript of the hearing released immediately. Otherwise, he said, he would wait until a jury was sequestered before unsealing the document.

Lee band gets honor

The Lee High School Symphonic Band received a special award for earning division I ratings in marching, concert and sight-reading at the recent Region VI University Interscholastic League band and orchestra contest for class 3A and 4A schools at Lee High.

Midland High School's second band was given division II ratings in concert and sight-reading at the contest, while Big Spring High School's second band was awarded a division III rating in concert and a division I in sight-reading.

Midlanders earn funds in walk

First runners to finish the March of Dimes Superwalk route Saturday were Scott Meyer, a new resident of Midland, and Midland High School student Gene Tuttle.

Meyer completed the 20 kilometer route in one hour 10 minutes and Tuttle finished moments later.

Approximately 100 Midlanders participated in Saturday's Superwalk to support Midland's March of Dimes chapter.

Pledges totaled more than $10,000 and will be used toward purchase of an intensive care incubator for Midland Memorial's newborn nursery, in addition to supporting chapter programs for prevention of birth defects.

BRIDGE

Be sure you head in right direction

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"Why get there fast if you don't really want to be there at all?" asks the old folk saying (which I just made up). The question applies only to bridge hands, of course, as we see today.

Opening lead — ♠ 7

Since the opening lead was meant to reduce dummy's ruffing power, South set out quickly to ruff hearts in the dummy. He took the trump, ruffed a heart, cashed the ace of clubs, ruffed a club, ruffed a second heart and a second club, ruffed a third heart with dummy's last trump and tried the diamond finesse.

West took the king of diamonds and led a heart, defeating the slam.

NO HURRY

There was no hurry about ruffing hearts in dummy, nor should South rely on the diamond finesse.

Afte winning the first trump South should take the ace of clubs and ruff a club. He returns to dummy with a trump to ruff another club and then ruffs a heart for the first time to ruff a third club.

Now South takes the ace of diamonds and gives up a diamond. He can get to dummy by ruffing a second heart and then discards his remaining hearts on the queen of diamonds and the last club.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold: S-QJ10943; H-K863; D-AJ; C-10. What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade. You have 11 points in high cards, 2 points for the singleton and 1 point for the doubleton. The high-card structure is a trifle light, but the strength of the spades should influence you to open the bidding.

Begin accepts invitation

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin has accepted an invitation from President Carter to meet next week in Washington to try to get Middle East peace negotations going again.

A spokesman for the Israeli leader said Begin had been invited to the White House during a previously planned visit of a week to the United States to mark the 30th anniversary of Israel's statehood.

The prime minister is scheduled to arrive in New York May 1, but the dates for his Washington visit has not been set.

Each portion of said streets, avenues, and/or alleys as designated by unit number constitutes a separate and independent unit of said improvements and shall be improved, and the improvements constructed therein, separately and independent from each and every other improvement unit, and assessments to be levied for said improvements in each unit shall be altogether separate, distinct and independent of and from the assessments to be levied in every other improvement unit; and in making and levying assessments against property abutting upon one of said units, no matter or circumstance in connection with any other of said units shall be considered, or have any effect upon the other, all as fully, and to same extent, as if separate proceedings and contracts had been had and executed with reference to the improvements to be made in each of said units.

A hearing will be given and held by and before the City Council of the City of Midland, Texas, in the Council Chamber of the City Hall in the City of Midland, Texas, on the 9th day of May, 1978, at 3:00 o'clock, P.M., to the real and true owners, whether named or correctly named in the assessment proceedings or not, of all property abutting upon said streets, avenues, and/or alleys within the limits to be improved, and to all lien holders or other persons owning or claiming any such abutting property, or any interest therein, and to all railways occupying any portion of said streets, avenues, and/or alleys within any improvement unit as above defined, and to all others interested in any of the proceedings, contracts, or matters and things herein mentioned, or incident or relating thereto or the contract for the construction of improvemnts herein referred to.

At said time and place, all such persons, firms corporations railways and estates, and their agents and attorneys, shall have the right to appear and to be heard and offer testimony as to the said assessments, and as to the amount thereof proposed to be assessed against abutting property and the real and true owner or owners thereof, and as to the lien and charge of personal liability to secure payment of said assessment, the special benefits to accrue to each abutting property and the owner or owners there by virtue of said improvements, if any, or concerning any error, invalidity irregularity or deficiency in any proceedings or contract in reference to said improvements and said proposed amendments, and concerning any other matters or thing as to which a hearing is a constitutional prerequisite to the validity of said assessment, proceedings and improvements and on which the owner or owners are entitled to a hearing under the constitution and laws of the State of Texas and the proceedings of said City Council.

Following such hearing, such assessments will be levied against each and every parcel of property abutting upon said streets, avenues, and/or alleys within the limits above defined, and the real and true owners thereof, for that portion of the cost of said improvements determined by said City Council to be assessed against such abutting properties, and the real and true owners thereof, and against railways occupying any portion of said units, and said assessments shall be and constitute first and prior liens upon said abutting properties, from the date said improvements were ordered by said City Council and a personal liability and charge against the real and true owners thereof as of said date, whether such property be described or correctly described, or such real and true owners be named, or correctly named, in such proceedings, or not and no error or mistake or discrepancy in the names of such owner or owners, or in describing said property in any of said proceedings with reference to said improvements, shall invalidate any assessment or certificate issued in evidence thereof, but, nevertheless, each parcel of property abutting upon said streets, avenues, and/or alleys and the real and true owner or owners thereof and each railroad, shall be charged with and be liable for said assessment, which shall be valid whether or not such owner or-owners be named or correctly named, or such property be described or correctly described, and as provided for under Article 1105-b of the revised Civil Statutes of Texas, as amended, herefore adopted by said City Council as the law under which such improvements, proceedings and assessments are being constructed, performed and levied.

DONE by order of the City Council of the City of Midland, Texas, this 28 day of March, 1978.

J. W. McCullough, City Secretary
City of Midland, Texas

Honda-Jeep of Midland is now open. Stop by 4000 W. Wall (next door to Frank See) and see the fine selection of these popular makes available. Honda-Jeep of Midland is fully equipped to offer you complete sales and service.

Honda-Jeep of Midland is now open

Honda-Jeep of Midland, located at 4000 W. Wall, opened for business last weekend. The building has about 6000 square feet, of which 4200 is devoted to parts and service. With eight stalls in the service department, and a full line of genuine Honda and Jeep parts and accessories, they are fully equipped to offer you complete sales and service.

Honda accessories available includes such items as center consoles, special steering wheels, air conditioning, luggage racks, running lights, mirrors, and chrome wheels. You will also find chrome wheels for Jeeps as well as Jeep items like roll-bars, tops, electric winches, free wheeling hubs, air conditioning, bumpers, and trailer hitches.

Ronnie Holman is the chief Honda mechanic while Gary Davis and Randy Hardy are the Jeep and 4-wheel drive specialists. Bill Jones has been named Parts and Service Coordinator.

Honda-Jeep of Midland will be Texas' first primarily Honda and Jeep dealership. With this new dealership, Midlanders will now have available a better supply of these popular makes. The Honda people have promised Honda-Jeep of Midland a good supply of all their popular models, including the much-in-demand Honda Accord, the Honda Accord LX, the Honda CVCC Hatchback, the Honda Station Wagon, and the Honda Civic. Sometime this summer they should have the Honda 4-door, and next year they expect to have the Honda sports car.

Honda-Jeep of Midland will also have a good supply of Jeeps, and a good supply means a better price for the buying public.

Looking for a good used economy-type car? Check with Honda-Jeep of Midland. This will be another specialty there, and they plan to stock 20 to 35 of them on a continuing basis.

For distinctive furnishings or for sueded pigskin by the hide for your do-it-yourself projects, stop by Suede et Cetera, 3201 N. Big Spring, adjoining the Hanging Tree with a side entrance. For information call 682-1051.

Lovely furnishings are at Suede et Cetera

A relatively new product on the market is featured at Suede et Cetera, a new shop owned and operated by Barbara Schatz. The product's brand name is Kroupana, and it's a sueded pigskin made by Wolverine. At Suede et Cetera you will find this pigskin available by the hide in 13 beautiful decorator colors. Kroupana is a newly developed, natural product that resists soil and stains because of the special way in which it is treated and dyed. It breathes, and the nap will not crock as other kinds of suede will. It's durable and cleanable, and best of all, it's affordable!

Because of all these advantages, Kroupana genuine pigskin has been receiving wide acceptance by many leading furniture manufacturers. Suede has always been highly desirable for upholstery, and this new process which renders it soil resistant and cleanable makes it more desirable than ever.

At Suede et Cetera they can tell you how easy it is to do many things yourself, such as covering those dining room chairs. If you have a sofa that needs re-upholstering, talk to them about doing it over in this easy-to-care-for pigskin suede. You'll find this product ideal for salvaging old furniture. An old chest of drawers, for example, can be transformed into a stunning piece of furniture by covering it with this beautiful material.

Suede et Cetera also carries a line of fine furniture. Game tables and chairs are particularly smart-looking done in this attractive material. You will also find sofas, recliners, cubes for tables or plant stands, parsons tables, custom pillows, suede art, decorative screens and Western hats.

Seamstresses, take note—garment weight suede, also available in the same beautiful 13 colors, may be ordered at Suede et Cetera.

Whatever needs you may have, you'll find this new natural product ideal for home or office interior decorating. Drop by soon and see it for yourself. Suede et Cetera is located at 3201 N. Big Spring, adjoining The Hanging Tree with a side entrance. For additional information, call 682-1051. You'll find the people at Suede et Cetera eager to help you.

Al Zertuche, owner of Al's Garden Center, located at 2007 N. Big Spring, invites you to come and see his fine selection of bedding out plants. At a regular price of two for 25¢, you will find all kinds of flower and vegetable plants. You can also get a variety of hanging baskets to make your patio even more attractive this spring—and at a reasonable price. Al offers 8 inch baskets at only $3.89 and 10 inch baskets at $5.99. Come by and select yours soon. Their hours are 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., Mondays through Saturdays, and 1:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Sundays.

House considering new farmer credit program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is considering a special $4 billion credit program aimed at aiding the most heavily indebted farmers.

The legislation, up for consideration today, would establish a special 20-month program under which farmers could refinance up to $400,000 worth of farm-related debts incurred after Jan. 1, 1973.

The measure has received the Carter administration's support. It also would open Agriculture Department farm-credit programs to family corporations and partnerships and cooperatives, as well as the individual farmers presently covered.

It also would double in most cases the present maximums for the various operating and ownership loans and set up a special low-interest program for beginning or low-income farmers who can't meet ordinary Farmers Home Administration requirements.

The loans would carry federal guarantees or insurance and could be made for up to 30 years at prevailing interest rates.

A companion bill is awaiting floor action in the Senate.

If the measures pass both chambers, House Agriculture Committee Chairman Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., is expected to seek the chamber's permission to resume sessions of a House-Senate conference on emergency farm aid.

The Senate also is considering two other measures that are aimed at helping the farmer.

Mountain 'conquerors' eat, bathe, celebrate

By BILL BEECHAM

ZION NATIONAL PARK, Utah (AP) — Their hands bloody, their bodies exhausted, mountain climbers George Willig and Steve Matous celebrated their conquest of Angels Landing with meals to order.

Safely down from the almost vertical climb up the 1,500-foot peak in southern Utah, Willig asked for two cheeseburgers and iced tea. Matous dined on chicken and a glass of milk.

Then they showered away two days of red sandstone grime.

"Man, I feel great, absolutely great. It was fun and exciting, but it's sure great to be back down," said Willig, 28, who survived a 30-foot fall from a ledge only minutes before reaching the top.

It took Willig and Matous 23 hours to inch up the steep north face of Angels Landing, giving a weekend thrill to millions of Americans watching on television and from the mountain's foot.

It was not the first time a Willig climb was witnessed by a crowd. Last May 26, he scampered up New York's 110-story World Trade Center and gained instant fame.

Willig fell when the rock ledge he was standing on gave way at about 1,350 feet up. He fell straight down, turned head over heels, and was caught by an anchored rope held by Matous.

It appeared Willig struck his head as he was jerked against the cliff face by the sudden stop.

"Just knocked the wind out of me," he said a second or two later. "I'm OK." He resumed climbing within minutes.

About two hours earlier, Willig had slipped but caught himself during a free climb. "I almost bought it," he said.

"Bought the ranch, eh?" replied Matous.

"Man, I almost died," Willig said.

Willig and long-time friend Matous, 23, a professional guide now living in Boulder, Colo., were paid by ABC-TV, which sponsored the climb for its "Wide World of Sports."

Portions of the climb were telecast live — including Willig's dramatic fall — on Saturday and Sunday. The network also extended its Sunday show to televise the two climbers reaching the top.

That raised questions about ABC's involvement, such as whether the network controlled the schedule so the climbers would reach the top during live coverage.

Matous's brother, Ron, noted that the climbers risked a night climb — they went about 200 feet between 7 p.m. and 1 a.m. Saturday night — because they "thought they were behind schedule."

The night-time climb was possible because there was a full moon and the climbers wore helmet lamps.

Larry Kamm, who directed the "Wide World of Sports" segments, said before the climb on Friday that the network "in no way, absolutely no way, would ... interfere with their climb. This is a sporting event, a happening. We just record it."

Jury to make Wadill decision

SANTA ANA, Calif. (AP) — The case of Dr. William Waddill Jr., accused of strangling a baby that survived an unsuccessful abortion, was to go to the jury today after three months of testimony.

Orange County Superior Court Judge James K. Turner said he would instruct the nine men and three women of the jury on the legal rules which will govern their deliberations.

The instructions, drafted during lengthy meetings with attorneys, were expected to take about one hour before jurors are sent to choose a foreman and begin deliberations.

Waddill, 42, a prominent obstetrician-gynecologist with the largest practice in Orange County, was indicted after the death of a child known as "Baby Girl Weaver" on March 2, 1977.

Personnel from Westminster Community Hospital were the main witnesses at his trial. They told varying versions of what happened after the doctor rushed to the hospital upon hearing of the live birth.

Although Waddill is charged with first-degree murder in the alleged strangling, the prosecution has given the jury options to find him guilty even if he did not strangle the baby.

Deputy District Attorney Robert Chatterton told jurors in his final argument they could convict Waddill if they find that he allowed the baby's death by failing to use extraordinary medical measures to save its life.

The jury has five possible verdicts to deliberate — first- or second-degree murder, attempted first- or second-degree murder, and acquittal.

Dallasites Mrs. J.A. Humphrey, center, and Mrs. John Watson, right, admire a $400,000 seed pearl necklace from the Bulgari jewel collection of New York. Kate Adams, left, the Bulgari West Coast representative, advises and informs. The jewelry collection, housed in the Midland Hilton last week, was attended by a plane-load of Dallas fashionables, who were flown in to see the showing at the Bulgari firm's expense. (Staff photos by Brian Hendershot.)

Anna Bulgari models matching earrings and necklace of Cabochon sapphires mounted in settings of gold and diamonds. The sapphires comprising the necklace total 308 carats making the item worth $450,000. The earrings are valued at $60,000.

A gold minaudiere, evening bag, with Cabochon ruby clasp is worthy of the most elegant of evening wear. The item was one of the most unusual among the Bulgari collection. The accompanying ring is made with a Greek drachme of the 4th century B.C.

This 17.48 carat diamond valued at $½ million was displayed last week at the Bulgari jewel showing. The Bulgari firm, with stores in Rome, New York, Geneve and Monte Carlo, had a showing last week in the Midland Hilton.

Plane-load from Dallas visits Midland to shop

By SUSAN RUTHERFORD

This time the mountain came to Mohammed. So to speak.

Actually, some 24 fashion conscious Dallas women came to Midland to shop.

Sort of a reverse English situation.

And the price tags ran to $1 million.

The occasion last week was the second Midland showing within the past six months of the Bulgari jewelry collection of Rome, New York, Geneve and Monte Carlo.

Taking a well guarded suite in the Midland Hilton, Nicolai Bulgari and his wife Anna of the New York store encouraged handling of the jewels. An irresistable task, no doubt, to many in the elegantly clad group.

The collection was comprised of novelty items along with one-of-a-kind designs by American and European craftsmen. A 17.48 carat diamond and a solid-gold tennis can were displayed next to classical and contemporary works of precious and semi-precious stones mounted in settings of gold, diamonds, and, in one case, quartz.

Bulgari thinks a Texas store is in the offing. "Texas is the most important state in the union," he exclaimed. "It has never suffered a setback. And it is immensely wealthy."

Of his collection he said, "We have to always be contemporary with fashion but should go beyond. Our jewelry must last much longer than a fad, and must not be contaminated with trends. We want to design things that are immortal. Simplicity. Elegance."

Sale to benefit Salvation Army

The Permian Basin Doll Club is sponsoring a Doll-A-Thon to benefit the Salvation Army. The event will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday in the Dellwood Plaza Mall.

Hundreds of dolls have been recycled for the sale at modest prices. The dolls have been repaired, cleaned and dressed by members of the doll club. Mrs. Percy Caruthers is chairman of tthe club.

Chairman of the Doll-A-Thon is Mrs. Russell Sexton.

Persons purchasing a doll may register for the grand prize, a doll with a complete wardrobe.

Mrs. Sexton said there will be dolls of all types and sizes, including Barbies, babies, ladies, mechanical, foreign and a few collectables.

Persons having dolls, doll clothes or doll parts they wish to donate may contact Mrs. Sexton, 683-2057, or the Salvation Army.

DEAR ABBY

'ERA would extend legal protection to both sexes'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I read that you were all for the Equal Rights Amendment. Can you tell me why women need it? Use plain language, please. I only went through the 9th grade.—CONFUSED IN ELGIN, ILL.

DEAR CONFUSED: No one explained it better than Shana Alexander, when she debated James J. Kilpatrick two months ago on CBS's "60 Minutes" TV program.

She said: "Under the law today, women are not being treated as equals with men. Examples:

SOCIAL SECURITY LAWS: Divorced women don't get a fair share of their husband's earnings—even if they were married 30 years.

DIVORCE LAW: A man can divorce a wife on the grounds of drunkenness and adultery, but in some states, a woman cannot divorce her husband on those grounds.

PROPERTY TAX LAW: In all 50 states, the husband owns the farm. When he dies, his widow must pay inheritance tax—even if she has to sell the farm. But when the wife dies, he pays no inheritance tax!

PHYSICAL ABUSE: In most states, a wife can't sue her husband for beating her up.

NEGLIGENT INJURY: If the wife is injured, her husband can sue for loss of her 'services,' which includes sex, because under the law, he has a legal right to companionship, sex and domestic services. (It's called 'consortium.') A woman has no such right.

ALIMONY: Most states don't allow it, which isn't so bad in wealthy families. But with poor couples, whose only assets are in the man's earning capacity, the woman comes out of a divorce dead broke!

As things stand now, the law is unfair to both sexes. (The Supreme Court says widows get an automatic property tax exemption; widowers don't.)

The Court says pregnancy discrimination is not necessarily sex discrimination. It isn't? When's the last time you saw a pregnant man?

The Equal Rights Amendment would take these inequities out of the law and extend the law's protection to both sexes."

DEAR ABBY: I hope you can straighten out my head. My husband and I are in our late 20s and have been married for four years. Our sex life is excellent. The problem is me. My husband begs me to do a striptease dance for him, but I just can't bring myself to accommodate him.

I know there's nothing wrong with it, and I'm no prude, but I just can't go through with it. I've tried, but at a certain point I get a terrible case of stage fright.

I have a nice figure, and I'm a pretty good dancer, but dancing totally naked embarrasses me.

Striptease dancing turns my husband on. He admits it. He has even taken me to striptease joints with him so I could learn how to do it. Abby, what's wrong with me?—STAGE FRIGHT

DEAR STAGE FRIGHT: You're inhibited. You can lose your inhibitions if you really want to, but don't feel guilty if you prefer to leave a little something to his imagination.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SOS IN MACON, GA.": I don't buy that saying, "As you have made your bed, so must you lie in it." If you discover that the bed you made is giving you a backache, get out of it and make it over. People who sleep on the same mental lumps night after night and do nothing about it but complain, have only themselves to blame.

Every woman can look and feel younger.

Let Pat Walker help create a new you.

S. Nelson is perhaps one of the more spectacular examples of the stunning results that may be attained through Pat Walker's Figure Perfection Salons International. Read what she has to say about the program that has benefited millions throughout the world over the past 26 years:

"I hated myself fat, and every new year I promised to really get with it and lose; however, it never happened. Finally my doctor advised me, tactfully, to stay out of his office until I decided to lose weight. He just couldn't help me. Out of desperation, not believing, I called for a courtesy treatment at Pat Walker's.

This was the turning point in my life. With a loss of 51 pounds and several inches, I began to enjoy my life with my friends and family, especially my three grandchildren. The Pat Walker program gave me a positive approach to everyday living."

How's your approach to life?

Now the national director for Pat Walker, Ms. Nelson firmly believes the program can upgrade the life outlook of the overweight as surely as it makes them slimmer, trimmer, more confident of their appearance—and themselves.

In the elegant atmosphere of a Pat Walker salon (where there's none of the noise and confusion you may have encountered at gyms and spas), you can reduce IN ABSOLUTE PRIVACY. Moreover, you have assistance from interested professional counselors (who also conduct their counseling, by the way, in complete privacy).

Another difference: SYMMETRICON

Symmetricon is the equipment, exclusive to Pat Walker's, providing passive exercise that gently shapes and firms your figure while it also improves your circulation and helps correct posture. You wear your regular street clothes during treatments. At Pat Walker's you can lose weight (and keep it off) ON YOUR OWN INDIVIDUALIZED PROGRAM—without strenuous physical exercise or stringent diets.

Intrigued? Call TODAY

ALLERGIES: Your personal poisons

World dangerous for sufferers from almost universal ailment

By JOHN BARBOUR
The Associated Press

In her variety of poses, Mother Nature endows people with brains, agility, strength, keen eyesight, acute hearing, all of the physical blessings that enhance life.

But for what may be as many as one in six Americans, she has tucked in one little flaw. She has made them sensitive to one or another of the thousands of innocent substances on earth.

In short, she has endowed them with one or more very personal poisons. They suffer from allergies.

Their personal poisons are called alergens, and they may be a common as house dust, as subtle as pollen, as cuddly as a cat, as tasty as a tomato, as necessary as penicillin, as cheap as potatoes, as expensive as lobster, as comfortable as a pillow, as pungent as an onion, as avoidable as a radish, as unavoidable as sunlight.

Further, these personal poisons are not in themselves poisonous. But nature has given some unlikely people a kind of super-sensitivity to otherwise innocent agents.

She has created a dangerous world for allergic people out of the very things that make the world comfortable for others. And quirky as it may be, it is a world of torture and misery. It leaves some of its victims with periodic or constant battles with an unseen enemy that leaves them itching, sneezing, coughing, wheezing. For a few it may mean limited vitality, limited scope, perhaps even a shortened life.

Not everyone who is allergic knows it. For some, contact with their personal poison is so rare that they pass off the symptoms as a transient bout of sneezing, or a passing case of diarrhea. "Something I ate," the victim might say.

Some people break out in hives after too much sun. Some get sick to their stomach after eating a sandwich, and blame the meat when the culprit might be the bread. Some awaken sneezing and coughing after a night on a soft down pillow. Some make it a practice never to visit friends who have dogs or cats. Some wonder why they are sneezing after a new carpet has been laid in the office.

For many, however, the torture of allergy is so severe or so constant that they seek medical aid. It may be only then that the personal poison is uncovered.

It is easy to test for allergy. The doctor simply scratches the skin and applies a small amount of the potential allergen, whether it be house dust or chocolate. If an itch or a welt or a lump develops, the test is positive.

The difficulty lies in the wide range of things you might be sensitive to. Generallly the doctor can narrow the suspects down by investigating when you had the allergic attacks.

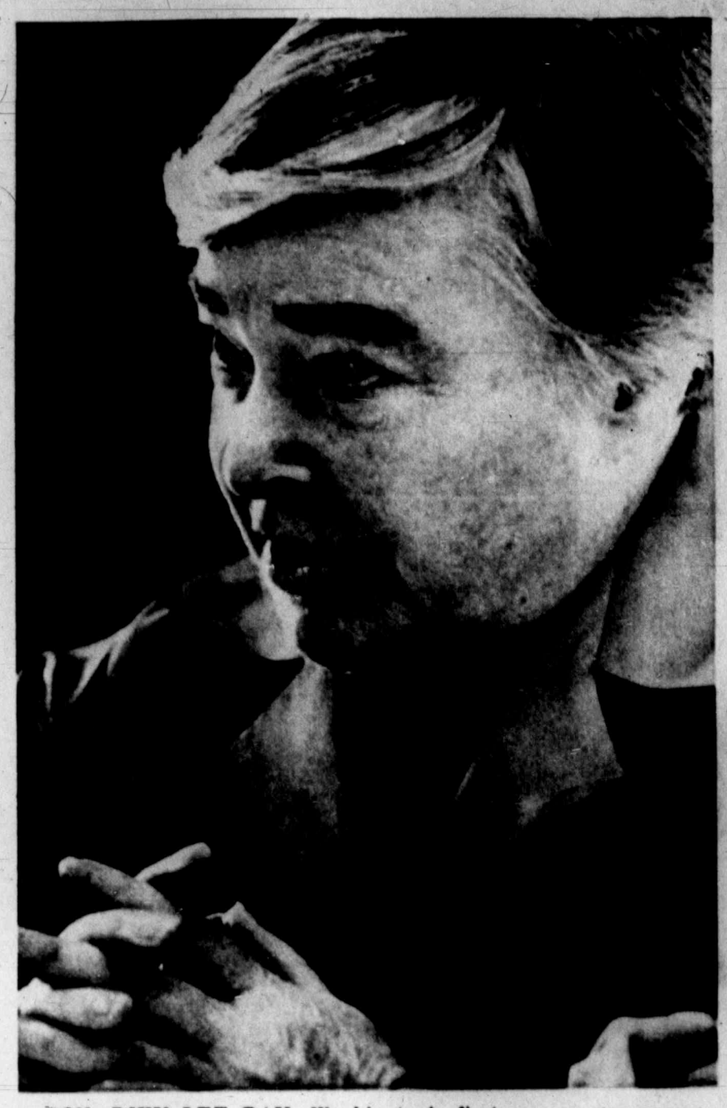

A similar method is used to desensitize a person to allergenic agents. The doctor simply inoculates the patient with the substances to which he is allergic. The body responds by building a tolerance for these agents. But this treatment, like some vaccine, works for a limited period of time and must be repeated over the years.

The surest way of avoiding allergic attack is to avoid the thing or things you are allergic to. That may be simple when the culprit is shellfish, but very difficult when it is house dust or pollen.

Allergies are often belittled, and the plight of the allergic patients is sometimes the subject of a kind of sick humor. But there is nothing humorous about the pain and suffering of the allergic person.

Allergies cannot be ignored. A child seldom outgrows his asthma before it can cause serious damage to the bronchial tubes and the lungs. In addition, allergies invite infection. The rash on the skin, scratched by an erring finger, is an invitation to bacteria. The mucous-filled sinuses and bronchial tubes are a perfect breeding ground for the agents of the common cold and other invaders.

While the secret ways of allergy response are not well known, research in recent years has uncovered some interesting mechanisms. And as researchers learn more about the ways the defense system goes astray, they will be able to tailor-make chemicals against abnormalities, and still let the body do its work.

GOV. DIXY LEE RAY, Washington's first woman governor, announced late last week that she is phasing out the State Women's Council. (AP Laserphoto)

Close encounters on the 33rd floor

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — "Have they figured out how to get those giraffes into the plane yet?"

"Well, the agent for Flying Tiger called this morning and said if they removed the staircase, they might be able to fit six of them standing up in a jumbo ..."

"That's better than lying them down tranquilized ... the sedation might wear off."

If somewhere between the 20th and 40th floors, your ears have perked up to overhear such bizarre conversation delivered in matter of fact tones, you have been exposed to America's latest parlor game: "Towering Infra Dig," also known as elevator elephantiasis.

A partner is required, but three or more can play.

The idea is to get a conversation going as soon as you board the car that will absolutely rivet and startle the other passengers in the cathedral hush that obtains in all elevators.

Something on the order of:

"Harvey has halted production on the Double Bubble Baby Buggy..."

"So I heard. The Pill just knocked the bottom out of the pram market, so who's having twins anymore? He's cut way back too on the Snookums Snooze-Tite Stroller and the roller-bearing Cuddly Carriage with the fringe on top..."

It's essential that the actors in these turgid high-rise dramas debark from the elevator before the denouement is reached so all the others are left gaping with a buzzling thought for the day.

Where are those giraffes going?

Has the declining birth rate doomed the baby carriage industry?

To achieve this stupefying effect, it is sometimes necessary to alight at an earlier floor than one intended and catch another car. As the name infra dig implies, it is usually beneath another passenger's dignity to cut in with a comment or question, but there is always the danger of overplaying one's hand and destroying credibility.

Keen students of the game usually confine their hyperbole between the 20th and 40th floors and find that the up cars in the morning are best, when the arriving commuters are still groggy and most gullible. At mid-morning the final 20-floor run down to the coffee shop can find a receptive audience, although fine tuning of the dialogue is required here to insure that enough of the outrageous message is delivered in the vertical space and time available.

For example:

"When we hit the reef, that coral tore though 60 foot of hull like it was a matchbox. She went down in less than a minute....."

"But fortunately no one drowned, I heard."

"No but Gerta ripped up her thigh a bit, and as soon as those sharks smelled that blood, you should have seen them come streaking."

Now there's your exit line, when the sharks come streaking in, and it wouldn't do to be caught on 9 or 10 waiting for a delivery boy with a pile of mailing tubes when you should be disappearing through the lobby while the others babble in fright and horror among themselves in the coffee shop.

Politics and religion are usually too provocative for innocent bystanders — even the pitiful drones who ride elevators — to ignore, but one might hazard an occasional pretension in the direction of the seat of power without giving the game away to public debaters.

To wit:

"What have you and Laurie-Lee decided to do about that White House thing?"

"I don't know. She can't stand Horowitz's piano playing. Drives her up the wall, all that heavy left hand. And the last time the draft in the East Room aggravated her neuralgia something awful..."

"Linda-Sue's bringing a wool shawl. I hope they don't have that damn peanut ice cream again..."

Close encounters on the 33rd floor stir the imagination and get the creative juices flowing in the corridors of corporate ennui. Whose soul wouldn't scar from the slave quarters of the computer bank or the secretarial pool on a day that begins with:

"Can you believe Irving at his age chucking it all up for a try-out with the Harlem Globetrotters?"

DR. NEIL SOLOMON

Touching means pleasure to blind

Dear Dr. Solomon: My sister is blind, and I am always struck by the amount of pleasure and information she can get out of touching things—whether it is a plant, a puppy, a piece of fruit or a person's face. Couldn't there be exhibits of interesting objects that blind people could go to feel, the way the rest of us take in picture shows—Meg M.

Dear Meg: As a matter of fact, the celebrated Tate Gallery in London recently put on an exhibit for blind people to feel. It included pieces from some very famous artists such as Edgar Degas, Aristide Maillol, Henry Moore and Jacob Epstein, as well as works commissioned especially for the exhibit. Seeing-eye dogs were welcome; a rubber-textured pathway guided the blind visitors through the display; braille labels identified the sculpture, and a braille catalogue and knowledgeable members of the staff were also available.

The Tate noted that it cannot normally encourage visitors to touch sculpture, and said this is too bad—as many artists intended their work to be felt. And it said that the blind had an advantage over the sighted at this special show because they are used to touching objects and feeling with great sensitivity.

Let us hope we'll have more exhibits of this kind, even if it is only of reproductions of works which, because of their value, cannot be exposed to too many hands.

My mother is blind, and I too am pleased by the amount of pleasure she gets form touch.

Dear Dr Solomon: When your joints creak, is that a sign that anything is wrong—or is it just one more way of telling you the machinery is getting a bit rusty and old—Allen K.

Dear Allen: Those creaks can mean something to a skilled diagnostician—and perhaps their message is going to be a lot clearer in the near future. Researchers at the University of Akron are developing ways to interpret more accurately the kinds of sounds arthritic joints make. What they are doing is to amplify the sounds and run them through a computer to produce an acoustical "signature." The intensity of the signature depends on how rough a diseased or damaged cartilage is. The Akron experts say that osteoarthrities—the wear and tear variety—has a more intense signature than rheumatoid arthritis, at least in the first stages.

The researchers hope their technique will help detect joint diseases earlier and also be useful in finding out how effective treatment is. Meanwhile, if you are having any trouble with your joints, check with your doctor—as it is important to treat any arthritic condition as soon as possible.

(If you have a medical problem, see your doctor. If you have a medical question, write to Neil Solomon, M.D., 1726 Reisterstown Road, Baltimore, Md. 21208. Dr. Solomon cannot give personal replies but will answer as many questions as possible in his column.)

TIC will meet

ODESSA — The 12-member Texas Industrial Commission Friday will meet to discuss plans for a proposed statewide meeting to review current Environmental Protection Agency regulations on air control.

The commission Friday will meet at 9 a.m. in the ballroom of the Inn of the Golden West.

Other items on the agenda include a report on the success of a Texas Industrial Commission-sponsored reverse investment mission to West Germany, budget preparations for the next biennium and a proposed name change for the agency.

Tyler asbestos workers file $188 million suit

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Attorneys for 44 former asbestos workers and their survivors have filed a $100 million personal injury suit, similar to one settled out of court in February for $20 million.

The plaintiffs claim on-the-job exposure to asbestos while producing insulation at the now-closed Corning Glass Works plant here resulted in serious injury and, in some cases, death.

Asbestos has been shown to cause lung cancer and other diseases, including asbestosis, which reduces breathing capacity, mesothelioma, a rare form of cancer, and gastro-intestinal malignicies.

The plaintiffs, who said in the suit that they "have just now become aware" of the dangers, claim the defendants, including PPG Industries Inc. and Corning Glass Works Inc. knew the dangers, but failed to warn employees.

The suit was filed in federal court here Friday.

The federal government and other defendants agreed in February to pay a total of $20 million to 445 plaintiffs in a suit filed in 1974. The government's share of the settlement was $5.7 million, officials said.

The federal government was not listed as a defendant in the suit filed Friday. It was listed in the earlier suit, however, because the workers had been working under a federal contract to provide insulation for navy ships. Some of the asbestos had also come from government stockpiles.

A similar $1 million suit was filed Wednesday on behalf of two former employees of the plant. The list of defendants in that suit included the federal government, the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union, PPG Industries Inc., and Corning Glass Works Inc.

U.S. spends millions studying Palmdale Bulge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The federal government has spent millions of dollars to see if the heaving of a Southern California area nearly as large as Indiana could mean an earthquake or a new mountain.

The U.S. Geological Survey began studying the 32,000-acre uplift, called the Palmdale Bulge, two years ago. At that time, the agency approved $1.4 million to study the formation. This year, it plans to spend $5 million — one-third of all the federal money handed out for earthquake study — on investigating the uplift.

Information from a four-month investigation completed last week is being processed into computers at the agency's center at Menlo Park. The agency said early study results would kick out of the computers around June, and the final report is not likely before the end of the year.

The uplift, which straddles the 600-mile-long San Andreas Fault and is centered in the Palmdale area, might foretell a great earthquake, or it might be part of mountain-building processes — rising and falling harmlessly over the ages, scientists say.

"We just don't know. Nobody knows," said Peter L. Ward, chief of the survey's earthquake prediction branch. "But, we're moving in the right direction. We know a lot more about the uplift now."

Robert Castle, head of the survey's team that first reported the uplift on the basis of earlier survey records, said the bulge probably began building about 1960. It peaked in 1974 after swelling about 12 inches above the surrounding land, he said. Peaks of up to 18 inches were recorded.

Sometime after 1974, Castle said dips as deep as 7 inches began developing in the bulge.

So far, Castle said, there is no clear relationship between the past uplifts near here and earthquake activity.

Bulge or no bulge, many geologists say that California is due for a major quake along the San Andreas Fault, particularly in Southern California where the last big temor on the fault occurred in 1857.

Three-way exchange of prisoners sparks talks

By MICHAEL J. SNIFFEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-way prisoner exchange among the United States, East Germany and Mozambique is spawning discussions of deals to free Soviet dissident Anatoly Shcharansky from the Soviet Union and a U.S. CIA employee from Cuba.

An aide to Rep. Benjamin Gilman, R-N.Y., said Sunday that East German lawyer Wolfgang Vogel — a key go-between in previous East-West prisoner exchanges — will arrive here this week with "some options for the possible release of Shcharansky."

Vogel helped arrange the three-man deal that began Sunday. He also played a key role in the 1962 swap of U-2 pilot Francis Gary Powers for Soviet spy Rudolf Abel.

A knowledgeable State Department source cautioned, however, "Any speculation on Shcharansky is very iffy. Vogel has indicated a readiness to talk about it, but he's just a middleman.

"I don't think the Soviets are interested in a trade on Shcharansky now. I don't think they've decided what to do with him yet," said the source, who asked not to be identified.

Shcharansky, a 29-year-old computer programmer who was refused permission to emigrate to Israel, is awaiting trial on charges of belonging to a dissident group that collected military and industrial secrets for the CIA.

The United States has denied that Shcharansky worked for the CIA.

Sunday's release of an Israeli citizen, Miron Marcus, on the Mozambique-Swaziland border was the first of three releases to be completed by April 30. The United States is releasing Robert G. Thompson, a former Air Force intelligence clerk convicted of passing secrets to the Soviets. Vogel will take him to East Germany.

The East Germans, in turn, will release Alan Van Norman of Windom, Minn. Van Norman, a college student, was arrested Feb. 8, 1977, in East Germany while trying to smuggle a German doctor, his wife and son to the West.

There was no official explanation of Mozambique's involvement in the exchange, but authorities noted that country has close ties with East Germany, which has hundreds of technicians and advisers working there.

Marcus, 24, walked across the border Sunday into Swaziland, where his wife awaited him. He had been a prisoner since September 1976, when his light plane made an emergency landing while on a flight from Rhodesia to South Africa.

Discussions about this three-way deal had included unsuccessful talks about freeing Shcharansky and Lawrence Lunt, a contract employee of the CIA serving a 30-year sentence for espionage in Cuba, participants said.

Lunt's name entered the picture when his Washington lawyer, John Wainwright, read news accounts of a State Department official discussing a possible swap of Thompson.

Geer formerly known as liberal activist

By JERRY BUCK

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Will Geer, dead at 76, was known to millions as the spry, sage patriarch of television's "The Waltons." But he was also a citizen crusader who was blacklisted during the McCarthy era.

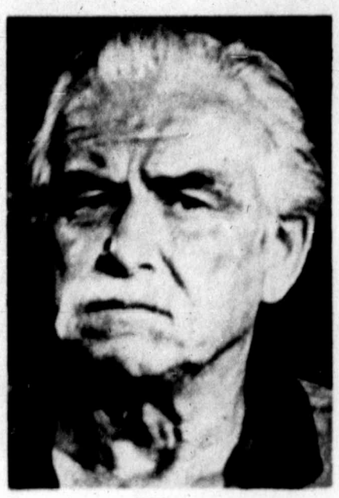

The veteran stage, movie and television actor died Saturday evening of respiratory arrest at Midway Hospital. His family stood by his hospital bed and recited Robert Frost poems and sang "This Land Is Your Land," a folk music classic written by his friend and fellow labor activist Woody Guthrie.

Geer, a 1975 Emmy winner as best supporting actor for his portrayal of Grandpa Walton, had been hospitalized secretly since March 25 for a respiratory ailment, said Janet Alston of CBS.

Geer's former wife, actress Herta Ware, his daughters Ellen Geer and Kate Linville, and a son, Raleigh, were at his bedside when he died. Ellen confirmed his death, but said, "He didn't like publicity and wouldn't want talk about his body."

A memorial service at a date to be announced will be held at the Theatricum Botanicum, the Greek-style theater he founded for young actors in Topanga Canyon, a rustic area about 25 miles northwest of Los Angeles, said Ms. Alston.

He had recently completed his sixth year on CBS with "The Waltons," the story of a Depression era Virginia family based on author Earl Hamner's own life. The last show filmed was about the return of Grandma Walton, his television wife played by Ellen Corby.

Will Geer

Miss Corby, who suffered a debilitating stroke last year, said she was "very saddened" by Geer's death.

Geer, whom White called "the great crusader," had long been a supporter of liberal causes, and during the Depression traveled with folksinger Guthrie and actor Burl Ives, often performing at union organizing benefits.

Geer was blacklisted for 12 years in Hollywood after taking the Fifth Amendment before the House Un-American Activities Committee in 1951. Geer told the committee, which had asked if he had ever been a member of the Communist Party: "The word 'communist' is an emotional word like the word 'witch' in Salem."

Defection of Shevchenko renews debate on loyalty in civil service

By SAMUEL KOO

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The recent defection of Arkady N. Shevchenko, a top Soviet U.N. employee, has brought to the surface a question that has troubled the world organization since its inception: Can members of the international civil service conduct themselves independently of their governments?

Shevchenko, the undersecretary-general for political and Security Council affairs, refused a Soviet order to return home and took an indefinite leave of absence. He cited "differences" with his government.

Both Shevchenko's statement and the subsequent Soviet demand for his dismissal indicate that neither paid much attention to the neutral character of the U.N. Secretariat as laid down in the U.N. Charter.

Article 100 states that the U.N. staff "shall not seek or receive instructions from any government" or from any other outside authority.

It also requires each member state "to respect the exclusively international character of the responsibilities of the secretary-general and the staff and not to seek to influence them in the discharge of their responsibilities."

An analysis

Although the charter principle applies to all U.N. civil servants, the question of whether U.N. employees can subordinate the special interests of their countries has primarily concerned top-echelon officials, especially the 77 men and women who are above the rank of assistant secretary-general.

These top jobs, paying $76,000 to $120,000 a year, are parceled out according to national and political quotas. Shevchenko's post traditionally has been reserved for a Soviet diplomat chosen by Moscow.

U.N. contracts can be renewed, and there are high-ranking officials who have kept their jobs for more than 20 years. But in order to keep a sensitive U.N. job, the official needs his government's blessing.

Some officials make no secret of their close association with their governments. For example, China's Tang Ming-chao, undersecretary-general for political affairs and decolonization, lives in the Chinese Mission building where all Chinese diplomats stay in New York.

Shevchenko also called frequently at the Soviet Mission on his way to and from work and followed the Moscow policy line strictly.

An undersecretary-general from Western Europe, who prefers to remain anonymous, says there should be "some flexibility" in upholding the concept of an independent civil service for the 149-nation community.

"Given the diverse political situations in member countries, I don't think we can apply any hard-and-fast rule. We should try to deal with glaring violations only — like attempts by some government leaders to place relatives and friends in U.N. posts or the substitution of political favoritism for merit in promotions."

Session to advance independence of Namibia begins today in U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The U.N. General Assembly begins a special session today promoted by Africans to advance the independence of South-West Africa, or Namibia. The session is delaying Security Council action on a Western proposal aimed at making the territory independent of South Africa by the end of the year.

The 49-nation African group turned down Western pleas that the council meet urgently to endorse the plan, for one thing because the council debate would overshadow the assembly session.

The Western members of the council — the United States, Canada, Britain, France and West Germany — are awaiting replies to their proposal, which they delivered on March 30 to the South African government and the South-West Africa People's Organization. SWAPO is the black nationalist organization fighting a guerrilla war against the South Africans along the border between South-West Africa and Angola.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance and the foreign ministers of the other four Western countries met in London Sunday and agreed that Canadian Foreign Minister Donald Jamieson would speak for them at the assembly on Tuesday.

South-West Africa produces diamonds, uranium and karakul wool. It is as big as Britain and France together and has an estimated population of more than 850,000, with blacks outnumbering whites eight to one.

South Africa took the territory from Germany in World War I and in 1920 was given a League of Nations mandate over it.

Dallas police rescue two men from angry mob

DALLAS (AP) — Two men, ages 19 and 20, probably are grateful for their jail cells here today after police rescued them from an angry mob.

Officers said a rifle blast that killed a 22-year-old Mexican-American and shattered the solitude at a local park Sunday night triggered a mob-like reaction from an estimated 100 people, who turned on the alleged gunmen and tried to "kill them."

The mob surrounded the car the two men were attempting to leave in seconds after the shooting, pounding it with liquor and beer bottles and dragged the two frightened occupants out.

"We tried to make the crowd stop, but they wouldn't do it. They were so mad," said Park Patrol officer W. R. Schuss.

Authorities identified the dead man as Francisco Ortiz of Dallas. He was dead at the scene from a gunshot wound in the face.

Dallas police jailed the two men for investigation of murder, no doubt much to their relief.

Det. John Landers said the shooting apparently stemmed from a quarrel between Ortiz and the two men about 7:30 p.m. over a parking space at the park. He quoted witnesses as saying the two men told Ortiz "they would come back."

Ortiz was shot from a distance of about 20 feet as the slow, now badly battered Mustang cruised through the parking lot. Police said a bolt-action rifle was found lying on the parking lot near the Mustang.

One witness, who declined to identify himself, said "I heard shooting and then some girls were screaming and everybody started running.

"It looked like about 100 of them. The Mustang tried to drive away but they ran up to it and they ripped the .... out of it. They wouldn't let those guys get away, and they were throwing beer bottles and beating the car all up."

Schuss said he said he and another park officer had to "wade" through the angry crowd to prevent the two men inside the car from being beaten to death. At one time, as many as 12 to 15 squad cars were parked in the area to help control the mob.

'Right' to sell auction considered by President

By ART PINE
and
J.P. SMITH
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — The Carter administraion, still looking for ways to restrict U.S. oil imports, is exploring the idea of a licensing system under which the government would auction off "rights" to sell overseas petroleum here.

The plan, a form of import quota, is being considered as an alternative to imposition of an import fee of $4 to $5 a barrel if Congress fails to pass the president's proposed crude-oil excise tax in the next few weeks.

Both the excise tax and the import fee would discourage consumption by driving up the average price of a barrel of oil in this country. The licensing fee plan would also do this, and in addition give officials a way to restrict import volume directly.;

Some adminstration officials believe the licensing system would be easier to put into place because it would not depend on congressional approval to the same extent as import fees. Many lawmakers oppose the fees.

Carter warned last week that if Congress did not act soon on his energy legislation, he would move on his own to limit oil imports by "administrative action." The energy bill is stalled in a House-Senate conference.

Thursday morning, the Senate Finance Committee is slated to vote on a resolution opposing oil import fees. The Senate added an amendment to the energy bill revoking legal authority for the fees that is stalled with the bill.

The plan to impose a flat import fee was opposed publicly Wednesday by independent domestic oil refiners, who protested that such a measure would give a crucial edge to European competitors.

Robert E. Yancey, president of Ashland Oil Corp., told a hearing of the Senate Judiciary antitrust subcommittee that if import fees were levied, "the domestic refinery industry would be decimated."

At the same hearing, a spokesman for the industry was quizzed about published reports that the administration offered oil producers billions of dollars in concessions if the producers help pass its crude-oil excise tax.

Charles DiBona, executive vice president of the American Petroleum Institute, first told the panel "there was no deal or the suggestion of one." Then he conceded, however, that the trade-offs were "talked around."

The recommendation that Carter act on his own to impose oil import fees if Congress fails to pass the energy bill soon came originally from W. Michael Blumenthal, the secretary of the Treasury.

G. William Miller, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, also has supported such a step. Both have argued that failure to pass the energy legtislation has been a major factor in the recent decline in the value of the dollar.

The plan to auction off oil-import "rights" instead is being considered by top adminstration policy-makers as an alternative to the Blumenthal plan. One key official described the two schemes as "the two most sensible" on the table.

Although the import-fee plan is the simpler of the two, officials say the auction system would have two advantages—it would bring in extra revenues to the Treasury and make it easier for the government to push up prices.

The way the plan would work is that the administration would put a quota on the amount of foreign oil it wants to allow into the U.S. and divide up that market in a system of licenses, like New York City taxi medallions.

U.S. petroleum importers then would bid on the "rights" to bring in a specific amount of oil, with the license for each portion of tshe market going to the firm that bid the highest.

The system would make it easy for the government to push prices up. If demand for imported oil were running at, say, 7.5 million barrels a day, the administration could set the quota at 7 million barrels. The bidding—and prices—would climb.

C. Fred Bergsten, assistant secretary of the Treasury for international affairs, told the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday an import fee similar to the crude-oil excise tax would save half a million barrels of oil a day.

However, officials stressed that Carter considers both the import-fee and auction proposals second to the crude-oil excise tax he has proposed. "The president would rather have the energy bill," one strategist said.

The two sets of proposals would accomplish the same goal — cutback in oil consumption through an increase in prices — in different ways. The excise tax would raise domestic prices directly. The others would boost import prices.

The resolution in the Senate Finance Committee is being sponsored by Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan. with 29 co-sponsors. Dole said it may be modified slightly to deal with the domestic refiner issue.

At a Finance Committee haring Wednesday, Sen. Clifford P. Hansen, R-Wyo., who supports the Dole resolution, aserted that if the United States indicates it is willing to pay higher oil prices, foreign producers will raise prices on their own.

Hansen was immediately challenged by Bergtsen, who argued that foreign oil producers want the United States to raise domestic oil prices in order to cut demand here and ease the burden on their own supplies.

Fred M. Newman, Inc., No. 1 J. M. Rape Estate, a re-entry of the Wolfcamp re-opener of the Cable area of Reeves County, has been completed as a Delaware oil discovery.

Operator reported a daily pumping potential of 25 barrels of 34-gravity oil, 30 natural, through perforations from 5,222 to 5,250 feet. Gas-oil ratio io 2,500-1.

The discovery is 1,320 feet from south and west lines of section 24, block C-1, psl survey and 19 miles southeast of Pecos.

Total depth is 21,150 feet and plugged back depth is 5,300 feet. Nine and five-eighths-inch casing is set at 13,269 feet.

The project originally was drilled by Texaco Inc. as No. 1-C-NCT1 J. M. Rape and completed to reopen the Cable field to Wolfcamp production in 1970.

WORSHAM WELL

Union Oil Co. of California No. 7 N. T. Evans is a new well in the Worsham (Cherry Canyon field of Reeves County, nine miles southeast of Barstow.

Operator reported a calculated, absolute open flow potential of 8.6 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 5,740 to 6,353 feet. Gas-liquid ratio is 226,000-1 and gravity of the condensate is 56 degrees.

The pay section was acidized with 13,000 gallons.

Total depth is 6,395 feet and 4½-inch pipe is set on bottom.

Wellsite is 1,060 feet from south and 467 feet from east lines of section 47, block 6, H&GN survey.

MIDLAND OILER

John L. Cox of Midland No. 1-C Braun has been finaled as a pumping well in the Parks (Spraberry) area of Midland County, 12 miles southwest of Midland.

On 24-hour potential test it made 72 barrels of oil and 41 barrels of water, through perforations from 7,813 to 9,321 feet, after a 140,000-gallon fracture treatment.

Gas oil ratio is 730-1 and gravity of the oil is 40 degrees.

Total depth is 9,700 feet and 4½-inch pipe was landed on bottom.

MARTIN OILERS

Tamarack Petroleum Co., Inc., and Parker & Parsley Inc., have each completed Spraberry Trend Area Wells in Martin County.

Tamarack No. 1-30-A Tom was completed for a 24-hour pumping potential of 51 barrels of 38-gravity oil and 49 barrels of water, through perforations from 6,962 to 8,439 feet. Gas-oil ratio is 1,451-1.

The new well was drilled to 8,550 feet and plugged back to 8,517 feet. Four and one-half-inch casing is set at total depth.

Location is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 30, block 35, T-1-S, T&P survey and 11.5 miles southeast of Stanton.

SECOND WELL

Parker & Parsley Inc. No. 1 Yarbrough is a new well five miles southwest of Stanton.

On 24-hour potential test, it pumped 45 barrels of oil and 105 barrels of water, through perforations from 7,328 to 8,897 feet.

Gas-oil ratio is 1,444-1 and gravity of the oil is 40 degrees. The pay was acidized with 4,500 gallons and fractured with 160,000 gallons.

Hole is bottomed at 9,013 feet, with 4½-inch casing set at that point. The plugged back depth is 8,953 feet.

Location is 1,155 feet from south and 1,320 feet from west lines of section 12, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey.

MITCHELL TESTS

A trio of projects have been staked in the Westbrook, East (Clear Fork) area of Mitchell County.

The projects will be drilled to 3,200 feet by HMH Operators of Midland.

No. 5-A Wilma McKenney is 2,173 feet from south and 1,660 feet from west lines of section 29, block 27, T&P survey and three miles northeast of Westbrook.

It is 1,000 feet east of Clear Fork production.

MMH No. 4 Clara Shoemaker is to be dug 980 feet from north and 1,660 feet from west lines of section 29, block 27, T&P survey and three miles northeast of Westbrook.

ANDREWS TEST

Amoco Production Co., operating from Midland, announced location for an 8,500-foot project in the Three Bar (Devonian) field of Andrews County.

It is 900 feet east of Devonian production and 22 miles southwest of Andrews.

Location is 1,980 feet from south and 1,443 feet from east lines of section 9, block 11, University Lands survey.

Discovery rates flow; project set

Cotton Petroleum Co. and Tomlinson Oil Co., of Wichita, Kansas, is preparing to take four-point gauges at a Fusselman discovery in the Worsham-Bayer multipay field of Reeves County.

Cotton, operating from Midland, also announced location for a wildcat in Borden County.

The Fusselman discovery is No. 1 Meriwether, a re-entry project in Reeves County, 11.5 miles northwest of Coyanosa.

The operators reported a flow of 1.8 million cubic feet of gas per day, through perforations from 14,788 to 14,837 feet. It was gauged through a ¼-inch choke and tubing pressure was 1,300 pounds.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 5, block 7, H&GN survey.

WILDCAT SITE

Cotton No. 1 Clayton will be drilled as a 9,900-foot Fusselman wildcat in Borden County, 11.5 miles southwest of Gail.

The drillsite is one-half mile northeast of the Good (Fusselman) field and 2,310 feet from south and 1,650 feet from east lines of section 28, block 32, T-4-N, T&P survey. It is separated from the field by a dry hole.

$1200.00 Per Month Plus

Manager Trainee needed to fill $50,000.00 per year position. It normally takes only 2 to 3 years to become a manager. $14,400.00 is your guaranteed annual salary while you learn; however, for those who survive, the first year average compensation is $20,100.00 due to additional sales commissions. 90 to 95% of your time will be in sales during the 2 to 3 year training period.

The qualifications are tough-please don't apply unless you meet each and every qualification.

1. Impeccable integrity and references.
2. 4 year degree from accredited college or high school diploma coupled with 2 years of heavy, retail manager experience.
3. Willing to work over (60) hours per week (no Sunday or out of town work.)
4. Willing to take polygraph test.
5. Willing and capable of taking instructions.
6. Not have any prior heavy sales experience such as Real Estate, Automobile, Mobile Homes, Vacuum Cleaners or Etc.

We have an extraordinary benefit plan including a retirement profit sharing plan. We don't list with employment agencies and request they don't refer "candidates" to us.

Big George doesn't enjoy being a basketball yo-yo

By ALEX SACHARE
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — George McGinnis says he feels like the world's largest yoyo, and he doesn't like the way Billy Cunningham is pulling the string.

"I'm in the lineup one minute and out the next," said the 6foot-8, 235-pound forward of the Philadelphia 76ers, a starter and former National Basketball Association all-star. "If I gotta be in that system, I don't want to be here."

McGinnis' discontent was the lone sour note for the Sixers Sunday as they completed a four-game sweep of the New York Knicks in the playoff quarter-finals with a 112-107 victory. They now await the winner of the Washington-San Antonio series for the Eastern Conference crown.

Washington took a 3-1 lead in that best-of-seven set by beating San Antonio 98-95 and can wrap it up Tuesday night.

In Western Conference action Sunday, the Seattle SuperSonics beat the Portland Trail Blazers 99-84 to take a 2-1 lead in that series, and the Milwaukee Bucks routed the Denver Nuggets 143-112 to trim Denver's series lead to 2-1.

McGinnis played just 21 minutes Sunday, scoring 10 points. While his teammates celebrated in the Sixers' lockerroom, he dressed hurriedly and avoided most questions from newsmen.

"It seems if I don't play his way, I'm on a string," McGinnis said of Cunningham's method of changing personnel. "It's like he's saying, 'If you don't do what I think you're capable of doing, I'm taking you out.' We won 55 games during the regular season and it didn't happen then."

Cunningham, a former star forward in the NBA who took over from Gene Shue as coach of the Sixers early this season, said he hoped McGinnis would accept the principle that a player's performance dictates the playing time he gets.

"No. 1, every basketball player wants to play 48 minutes," said Cunningham. "I was that way. I hope George and everyone else realizes it's a matter of playing whoever is doing the job. McGinnis wasn't playing that effectively today, so I used (Steve) Mix and (Joe) Bryant more.

"You can't worry about their morale. I respect them, they're great guys, but if I don't try to help them win, then I am not doing my job."

New York led 50-37 midway through the second period before the Sixers got rolling, cutting the deficit to 2 by halftime. The second half was close all the way, the Sixers taking the lead to stay 98-97 with 3:13 to play on a free throw by Julius Erving following a technical foul against New York's Lonnie Shelton. Mix hit a bank shot and Doug Collins converted an offensive rebound to give Philadelphia a comfortable 5-point spread.

Collins led the Sixers with 24 points, Erving scored 23 and Lloyd Free 17. Bob McAdoo topped New York with 24.

"The turning point was the way we played defense in the second half," said Cunningham. "Our offense wasn't clicking in the first half, but our defense and defensive rebounding got us going."

He had special praise for center Caldwell Jones, who harrassed McAdoo throughout the series. Jones scored just 2 points Sunday, but his 14 rebounds helped Philadelphia to a 52-42 edge off the boards and he also blocked 5 shots.

"If I had to pick a most valuable player of this series, I'd have to say Caldwell Jones," said Cunningham. "He did so much for us — rebounding, blocking shots, helping on defense and stopping McAdoo."

The Knicks, meanwhile, were disappointed at being unable to win at least one game from Philadelphia.

"It's embarrassing to be wiped out," said forward Lonnie Shelton, "but it's something we have to live with. We have to become a team — not just a bunch of individuals."

Bullets 98, Spurs 95

Elvin Hayes' slam dunk with 46 seconds left put Washington in front 96-95. San Antonio worked the ball to NBA scoring champion George Gervin, who drove for the basket only to have his shot blocked by Hayes. Two free throws by Charles Johnson with 11 seconds left iced it.

The Spurs thought Hayes was guilty of goaltending on his block, but the officials said no and Hayes agreed with the call. "I have been blocking shots for 10 years in this league and it was a clean block," he said.

Bob Dandridge led the Bullets with 24 points and Hayes had 23, while Gervin scored 35 points for the Spurs.

Sonics 99, Blazers 84

Portland, reduced to nine men because of injuries to Bill Walton and Bobby Gross, held Seattle to 22 percent shooting in the first half but could not maintain that defensive pressure after intermission. A 20-8 spurt moved the Sonics in front 64-51 eight minutes into the third period and they led by as many as 19 points in the fourth quarter.

John Johnson scored 18 points for the Sonics, all in the second half, and Fred Brown also had 18, 14 in the second half. Tom Owens, playing center in place of Walton who broke his left ankle Friday night, led the Blazers with 24 points.

Bucks 143, Nuggets 112

After losing twice at Denver, the Bucks came home and hit 66 percent of their shots, accumulated 46 assists and scored 87 points in the second half. Rookie Marques Johnson led the way with a career-high 35 points, 10 in Milwaukee's 40point third quarter.

Johncock wins Indy tuneup

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — A scoring error that put Indianapolis car driver Danny Ongais in fourth place at the finish of the Trenton 200 on the Trenton Speedway cannot be changed, the USAC sanctioning body has ruled.

The race was won by Gordon Johncock, driving a Wildcat DGS powered by one of the few four-cylinder engines capable of running with the quick Cosworth V-8s.

Ongais got caught behind the pace car during two caution periods late in the 134-lap race after scorers erroneously listed him as the race leader. In fact, he was nearly a lap behind because of a lengthy pit stop.

The error came when Ongais came in for tires on lap 99 and spent almost 38 seconds making the change. He had been running a close second to Johncock at the time, after leading 31 laps earlier in the race.

Just as Ongais was pulling out of the pits, Johncock came in, and the scoring officials assumed that Ongais had taken over the lead. Johncock made a very brief stop.

Although Ongais pushed hard to make up for lost time, two later caution periods brought the pace car onto the track.

On both occasions, the pace car picked up Ongais instead of Johncock, the real leader. The pace car is supposed to set the pace during caution periods, holding back the first car. All other cars are allowed to close up at the rear, single file).

When USAC realized the error, it was lap 125 - nine from the finish. Both the Ongais and Johncock pit crews were notified, but by then it was too late for Ongais to catch Johncock.

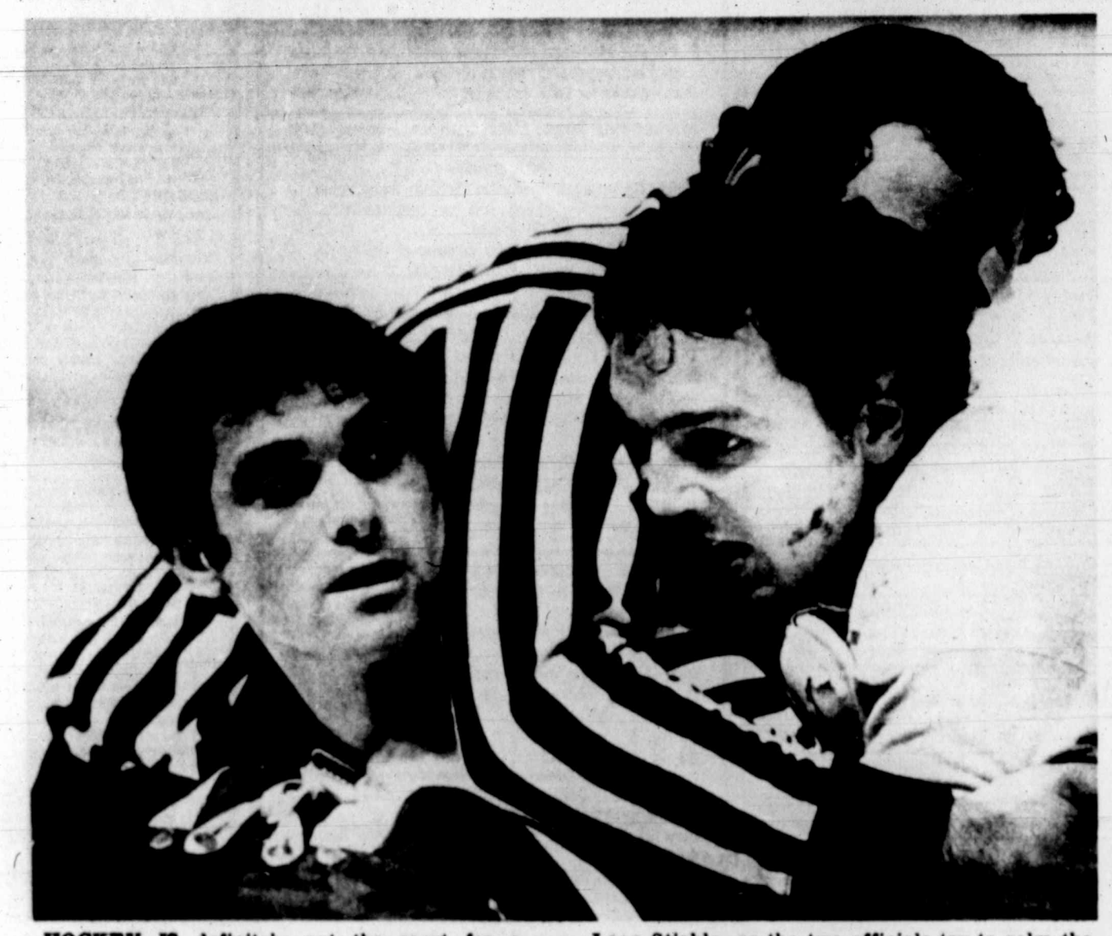

When the checkered flag came out, Johncock was leading, followed by A.J. Foyt, Tom Sneva and Ongais.

Vel Miletich, co-owner of the Ongais car, a Parnelli Cosworth, immediately filed a protest, claiming his driver should at least have been given second place.

But USAC chief steward Art Meyers rejected the challenge, ruling that it had resulted from a "human mistake" for which there was no recourse.

Johncock won the nationally televised race in 1:32.4.18, an average speed of 129.033 mph.

Johncock earned $13,000 for the win, while Ongais had to settle for fourth-place money of less than $5,000.

HOCKEY IS definitely not the sport for a passivist. Here, Tiger Williams (right) of the Toronto Maple Leafs struggles with National Hockey League linesmen Ray Scapinello (left) and Leon Stickle, as the two officials try to calm the skater down during a brawl Sunday in a playoff game with the New York Islanders. Midland clobbers Amarillo

AMARILLO—An all night bus ride and bright afternoon sunshine didn't dull the batting eyes of the Midland Cubs, who lashed out 19 hits to pound the Amarillo Gold Sox, 13-5, here Sunday afternoon in the opener of a six-game Texas League series.

It was the Cubs fifth win in their last seven games and for an additional bonus, Manager Jim Saul received a route-going pitching performance from Herman Segelke, the 6-4, 215-pound righthander from South San Francisco who had been plagued by control problems in his first two starts for Midland.

Segelke scattered 10 hits and walked only three in the second route-going effort by a Cubs' pitcher this spring.

Midland jumped on Greg Wilkes for two first inning runs when the Gold Sox righthander walked three and then the Cubs got a couple of hits for the runs. It was 6-1 after four innings and 12-3 after six as Midland ravaged four Amarillo pitchers.

The Cubs, who came out of the six-game disaster at San Antonio with a .177 team batting average, continued to swing the stick with much gusto and show a team average of .397 over the last five games.

IN THAT stretch, Midland has scored 56 runs and pounded out 79 hits. Although his nine-game hitting streak went by the boards Sunday, Aaron Randall has been one of the ring leaders in the bat revival.

In Sunday's game, Jimmy Buckner, with four hits, Kevin Drury with four hits and Eric Grandy with three were the ringleaders.

Buckner, hitting .133 for the San Antonio series, stretched his batting streak to nine games and has been hitting .528 for the last six games.

Tony Pepper and Steve Macko also hit in their seventh straight games and Macko, the shortstop drafted out of Baylor last June, has hit at a .450 clip in the last four games.

Also swinging smoking bats have been Grandy and Brian Rosinski. Grandy his 11 for his last 18 at bats for a .611 average over the last four games while Rosinski is eight for 14 over the same stretch for a .511 mark.

Lee Smith, who won his last start with a route-going performance against El Paso and is now 1-1, will go for the Cubs tonight while Eric Mustad, 1-2, is Amarillo's scheduled starter.

Where does it all end? Player wins again

By BOB GREEN
AP Golf Writer

HOUSTON (AP) — One of Gary Player's standard comments, almost a code with the South African globetrotter, is: "Golf is a very humbling, very strange game."

In the last three wee'ks he's turned it into a truism.

His victories have been among the more unusual in American golf history and the game has, indeed, been a very humbling one — to his competitors.

In the final rounds of the last three events he's made up an incredible 17 shots and won all three — the Masters, Tournament of Champions and now the Houston Open.

And there's no let-up in sight.

He'll try the New Orleans Open this week for a fourth consecutive title, which was last accomplished by Jack Burke in 1952.

"Oh, no. You don't dare let yourself start thinking you can't be beaten. You never think that," he said, and repeated, "Golf is a very humbling game.

"But," he continued, "I'll tell you this. It's much easier doing it this way, playing 10 tournaments in a row and having your family with you, than commuting to South Africa, as I've done for the past 20 years."

Player came from seven shots off the pace in the last rounds of the Masters and Tournament of Champions. On Sunday he came from three strokes behind — actually he was five behind at one time during the final 18 holes — with a solid, no-bogey, 3-under-par 69 that left him a single stroke in front of big Andy Bean.

His winning total was 270, a distant 18 shots under par on the 6,997-yard Woodlands Country Club course and the best 72-hole total on the tour this year.

It made him only the 10th man in PGA Tour history to win three consecutive titles; the first in two years; and the first foreign player to sweep three in a row since Bobby Locke, also of South Africa, turned the trick 31 years ago in 1947.

Player also won $40,000 from the total purse of $200,000. That pushed his earning for the last three weeks to $130,000 — more than he'd collected in any full season in the 22 years he's been playing the American tour. And he's the first man to win three American titles this season.

Importantly, the 42-year-old phsical fitness buff is the winningest player in the game this year and says he's playing better now than at any time in his 25-year pro career.

"It's a wonderful thing to be able to say, at age 42, you're playing better than you were at 22 or 32," he said. "I'm playing the best of my life, better even than I did in '74, which was my best year ever.

"And, barring injury or illness, and you have to be lucky to avoid those, if a person takes care of himself, there's no reason you can't continue to play well, play winning golf, at least until you're 50."

The hulking Bean, 6-foot-4 and 210 pounds, struggled to a 73 that left him a single shot back at 271. He had a chance to tie with a 15-foot birdie putt on the 18th, but as Player watched with his 5-year-old daughter in his arms, Bean missed.

Bill Kratzert, who played his last nine in 30 and shot a 66 in the hot, humid weather, tied for second at 272 with Bob Murphy, who had a closing 70. Mike Reid was next at 67-274 and was followed by Jack Renner, a 21-year-old rookie. Tom Kite and Kermit Zarley at 275. Zarley closed with a 66, Kite shot 70 and Renner 71.

Bean took a 5-shot lead oversr Player with his second consecutive birdie on the fifth hole, but bogeyed the next.

He held a 4-stroke advantage when Player, in the group ahead of him, went to the tee on the ninth.

Bean hooked his drive into the woods, played out into a fairway bunker, missed the green with his third, chipped on and 2-putted for a double bogey. That cut the margin to a single shot and opened the gates for Player's move.

Bean lost sole control of the top spot with a bogey on the 14th. Both birdied the par-5 16th from a greenside bunker and Player took the lead alone with a 20-footer on the 17th hole.

'Frameup,' cries Leon

FREEPORT, Bahamas (AP) — It was to have been an exhibition match with two Miami fighters, but World Boxing Association heavyweight champion Leon Spinks chose instead to get in some licks against those he claims set him up in a recent drug-related arrest in St. Louis.

"Somebody is trying to set me up. Somebody put those things on me," Spinks said at an news conference that included chicken and pork chops dished up by his wife.

"They tried to hurt me. They tried to get me to do something then, and many people out there are doing the same thing," Spinks said.

Spinks was arrested Friday after police allegedly found small quantities of marijuana and cocaine in his possession.

He called the charges a "frameup." It was his second arrest in a month in his home town. He was stopped on March 19 for driving the wrong way on a one-way street and driving without a license.

"I didn't have no marijuana or cocaine on me," Spinks told reporters who met him at the Miami International Airport Friday night on his way to Freeport.

On Saturday, he sparred two rounds each with Levi Forte and Bobby Lloyd of Miami.

Such comments received a dim reception in St. Louis. George Peach, the circuit attorney who issued the felony cocaine possession charge, said Spinks had blown his chances of first-offender treatment.

"Based on what I read today, I'm not going to do it," said Peach, who can suspend prosecution a year to see if a first-offender defendant behaves himself.

USAC officials perish

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Frank DelRoy, longtime U.S. Auto Club technical chairman whose expertise made racing safer for generations of drivers, was among seven USAC officials killed Sunday in the crash of a twin-engine plane southeast of Indianapolis.

The other victims were identified as:

—Ray Marquette, USAC vice president in charge of public affairs.

—Shim Malone, head of USAC's midget car division and chief starter at many races throughout the country.

—Stan Worley, USAC's chief registrar.

—Don Peabody, head of USAC's sprint car division.

—Judy Phillips, artist and typist who helped direct the publication of USAC's newsletter.

—Russ Teegarden, assistant USAC technical chairman.

All were from Indianapolis except Peabody, who lived in Coronado, Calif.

Also killed in the crash near Arlington, Ind., were Dr. Bruce White, 27, Indianapolis, a member of USAC's medical staff, and Don Mullendore, 54, Franklin, Ind., pilot of the plane.

DelRoy, 65, a former riding mechanic at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway before World War II, was considered the chief technical authority in the sport. His position, with less than a month before the Indy 500, will be the hardest to fill.

DelRoy pioneered much of the safety equipment now used in racing and was the chief inspector of the race cars at the Indy 500. Last fall, he was also invited by Formula 1 officials to come to Watkins Glen for the U.S. Grand Prix.

Teegarden, 57, his assistant, helped in the inspection of the cars and the enforcement of the technical phases of USAC rules at each race.

Marquette, 48, longtime sports writer with the Indianapolis News and the Indianapolis Star, joined USAC a year ago to head up its public relations department. Later, he was elected a USAC vice president.

Marquette also was immediate past president of the American Auto Racing Writers and Broadcasters Association.

Malone, 47, handled the flags for every major USAC race in the world except for the Indy 500 and was in charge of the business afairs of the midget car division. He gave the checkered flag to Gordon Johncock in Sunday's Trenton 200 race, from which the USAC officials were returning at the time of the crash.

Peabody, 54, joined USAC last fall. He was a California businessman and former director of the California Racing Association.

As registrar, Worley, 65, was in charge of signing in drivers, cars and crews at all major USAC races.

Phillips, 40, was a graphic artist and worked with Marquette in the public affairs office. She attended all major USAC races and was responsible for typing race summaries.

White was a surgery resident at Indianapolis Methodist Hospital and was president of the Indiana University Student Union Board. He attended all USAC races.

Mullendore was co-owner with his brother, former state Rep. Jack Mullendore, of a charter flying service based southwest of Franklin.

El Paso wins, 6-2

By The Associated Press

Center fielder Bob Clark got three hits in four trips to the plate Sunday night to help El Paso take a 6-2 Texas League decision over San Antonio.

Clark's efforts included a home run in the ninth inning, his third of the year.

On the losing side of the ledger, San Antonio catcher Mike Scioscia also went three for four, including a fifth inning homer with one man on base.

San Antonio, which sent three pitchers to the mound, gave El Paso room to operate by walking seven men in the first four innings. Dave Steck got the victory. Dave Stewart took the loss.

Sports in brief

BASKETBALL

PORTLAND, Ore. — The Portland Trail Blazers announced that center Bill Walton will miss the rest of the club's National Basketball Association playoff games this season because of an ankle fracture.

Team spokesman John White said doctors discovered Walton had a fracture on the inside of his left ankle and placed him in a walking cast.

Walton, who scored 10 points and pulled down six rebounds Friday night before leaving the game with intense pain in his left foot, sat out the second half of Portland's 96-93 second-game victory over Seattle when the Trail Blazers evened the Western Conference best-of-seven semifinal series at 1-1.

TENNIS

HOUSTON — Brian Gottfried defeated Romanian Ilie Nastase 3-6, 6-2, 6-1 to win the $175,000 World Championship Tennis tournament at River Oaks Country Club.

Manuel Orantes of Spain beat Guillermo Vilas of Argentina 3-6, 7-6, 6-4 for third place.

Connors, who won $50,000 for second place, beat Vilas 6-4, 6-1 and Borg beat Orantes 6-1, 6-4 in Saturday's semifinals.

Houdek wins title

Rickey Houdek won the 'A' Division title Sunday in a Midland Tennis Club men's singles tournament at the Midland High courts. Houdek defeated Lance Armstrongin the finals, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Both Houdek and Armstrong are freshmen at Edison and will be playing tennis next year for Midland High.

In the 'A' consolation final, Lee High's top boys singles player, Ed Barrera, defeated Teddy Schweinfurth, 6-3, 6-1.

Net pair victorious

Tom Kirwan and David Hattfield of Midland won the men's doubles title over the weekend in the Brownwood Invitational Tennis Tournament. The pair defeated Rich Norman and Phil Crane of Granbury in the finals, 6-2, 6-1.

The Tall City duo lost only seven games all totaled in their four tournament matches.

A's, Jays strike some early gold

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

The Toronto Blue Jays and Oakland A's may not have too many thrills this season so they probably should savor the pitching gems turned in for them Sunday.

The Blue Jays, who had the worst record in the majors in finishing last in the American League East in their first season last year, can point proudly to Jesse Jefferson's three-hit, 4-0 blanking of Chicago Sunday. The A's, who were 63-98 and last in the AL West in 1977, are expected to be near the bottom of the division standings again this year, so they might want to remember rookie John Johnson's six-hit, 5-0 whitewashing of Seattle.

For Jefferson, it was his first major-league shutout and the first three-hit game in Toronto's short AL history. And he accomplished the feat against his former team, which surrendered him in the 1976 expansion draft.

"There wasn't any added incentive against them," Jefferson said. "They've got five or six real good hitters and you've really got to buckle down. They're a much better team than when I was there."

"That's what pitching can do for you," said Toronto Manager Roy Hartsfield. "He had excellent command of all his pitches and changed speeds well."

Oakland's Johnson, obtained in the Vida Blue deal last month, led the surprising A's to their 10th victory in the last 11 games. Johnson, 2-0, has beaten Seattle for both victories.

"I wasn't trying to throw it by people like I did the first game," noted Johnson. "I used my slider and changeup and spotted my fastball."

He did such a good job of spotting the blazer that Mariners' Director of Baseball Operations Lou Gorman said, "He had average stuff but he made us look like idiots. We're going to put that club in the World Series."

Royals 6, Orioles 5

Hal McRae drove in three runs with a home run and a two-run double, and a quintet of Kansas City relievers held off the Orioles.

Brewers 3, Yankees 2

Larry Sorensen pitched eight innings of five-hit ball and Bob McClure retired New Yorkers in order in the ninth. The Brewers are 4-1 against the Yankees this year.

Ben Oglivie's homer and a two-run single by Sal Bando provided the Milwaukee runs while Reggie Jackson clouted his third homer for New York.

Tigers 9-1, Rangers 6-2

Richie Zisk's fourth homer of the year won the nightcap for Texas in the 11th inning, snapping an eight-game losing streak for the Rangers. Bump Wills also homered for Texas in the game as the Tigers had a five-game winning skein broken.

Rusty Staub drove in three runs and scored two and Jason Thompson had three safeties to pace the Tigers' victory in the opener.

Red Sox 6-7, Indians 3-10

The Indians virtually handed the Red Sox the opener by committing five errors, including one by reliever Dennis Kinney which led to the winning run. Carlton Fisk knocked in that run with a double and George Scott followed with a two-run double in the eighth inning.

In the nightcap, Duane Kuiper had four hits and drove in the winning run in the 11th inning. The Indians took a 7-6 lead in the 10th on Paul Dade's RBI double but Boston tied it on Jerry Remy's sacrifice fly in the bottom of the inning.

Butch Hobson became the 15th player in major league history to drive in at least one run in 10 consecutive games as he belted a two-run homer in the opener and a three-run shot in the second game.

Hollis Stacy is exhuberant after making a birdie putt to tie for the lead on the final hole of regulation play Sunday in the Defender Golf Classic. Her joy was short-lived however. She lost to Amy Alcott in sudden death.

Alcott wins Defender Classic

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — Amy Alcott knew she'd wrapped up the $55,000 American Defender Golf Classic title when Hollis Stacy blew a seven-foot birdie putt on the first hole of a sudden death playoff.

"When she missed, I knew I had won," Alcott said after she calmly dropped in a five-foot putt Sunday and picked up the $8,250 winner's check for the Ladies Professional Golf Association event.

"I felt I'd worked so hard all week that I didn't want anyone else to win," she added. "There was no way anyone else was going to win even though it was against tremendous competition."

A 22-year-old fourth-year member of the LPGA tour, Alcott had a chance to win the tournament without a playoff, but she suffered her only bogey of the day on the 18th hole to set up the sudden death situation.

Alcott turned in a final-round 68 over the 6,123-yard North Ridge Country Club course while Stacy shot a sizzling, 6-under-par 66 as both women wound up with 10-under 206s after 54 holes.

They went back to the 14th hole for the sudden death, both getting off the tee into the fairway and hitting their second shots just short of the green. Stacy then put a pitch shot on the green just seven feet from the cup, but Alcott did a little better, coming two feet closer.

"Hollis is a tough competitor and there is no one I'd rather play in a playoff because I thrive on competition," Alcott said. "Although I would like to have won it easier, I'm glad I was in the playoff, because it adds to my experience."

Kathy Hite had a 5-under-par 67 Sunday and finished 1 stroke behind the leaders. Pat Bradley, Debbie Massey and Dot Germain wound up at 210 and Mary Mills and Debbie Austin had 211s.

Houston takes golf title

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Individual champion Terry Snodgrass and teammate Kalua Makalena led Houston to a record-setting performance and a come-from-behind victory over Texas Sunday in the Southwest Conference Golf Championship at Briarwood Country Club.

Houston shot 11 under par in the final round to make up a four-stroke deficit and win its fifth straight crown with a two-over, 54-hole total of 866. That bettered the Cougars's previous SWC record of 869 set in 1975.

Hogs, Aggies clash for diamond title

By The Associated Press

Arkansas and Texas A&M tangle in a three-game series in Fayetteville Friday and Saturday to determine the Southwest Conference regular season baseball champion.

While the Razorbacks and Aggies collide in their showdown, the Baylor Bears can punch a ticket into the SWC post-season tournament by winning just one of three games against Texas Christian. Texas has to win three times against Texas Tech.

The Aggies set up the showdown by sweeping a three-game series from Texas Tech climaxed by a no-run, no-hit effort from left-hander Mark Thurmond.

While Thurmond was no-hitting Texas Tech 5-0 in the seven-inning opener, Houston was blitzing Arkansas 14-4 to split a double-header against the Razorbacks.

Arkansas and A&M are each 18-4 in the SWC race.

The first four teams in the league get into the SWC post-season tournament in Austin May 12-15. Houston has clinched third place.

Baylor is 10-8 while Texas is 10-11.

Texas Electric does the rest.

This solar house at the University of Texas at Arlington is an experiment. It's one of many research projects Texas Electric is participating in to search for future energy sources.

These solar panels, powered by the sun, produce no electricity. But they do provide the heating and cooling for this home. The electricity for lighting, appliances and the backup heating and cooling system comes from generating plants fueled by natural gas and lignite coal.

Research offers us hope for new energy sources that will be dependable and economical. Until then, Texas Electric must continue to build lignite coal- and nuclear-fueled generating plants to supply you and our solar home customers the electricity needed now — and in the future.

Monday keeping his resolution

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

In 1977 Rick Monday suffered through most of the baseball season with a painful back and an injured ego. So he made a new year's resolution for 1978.

"The number one thing was convincing people that my back was all right," he said.

Getting off to the best start of his career has certainly helped. Monday's back is fine — and so is his bat for that matter. The Los Angeles outfielder continued to hit like a man obsessed Sunday, blasting his eighth home run and driving in three runs as the Dodgers beat the Houston Astros 7-3.

"I'm delighted that I'm able to do so many of the things that I could not do last year," said Monday. "Everything is really a combination, however. I've got 19 RBI, but I wouldn't have if people here were not getting on base in front of me.

The Dodgers took a 6-2 lead over the Astros after three innings. Reggie Smith had a run-scoring fly ball and Ron Cey and Dusty Baker smashed run-scoring singles in the first inning as the Dodgers jumped to a 3-0 lead against loser Joe Niekro. Watson homesred leading off the second.

Reds 2, Giants 1

George Foster's infield hit with the bases loaded in the 10th led Cincinnati over San Francisco in a game played before a Bat Day crowd of 50,510, the biggest in San Francisco Bay Area baseball history. Joe Morgan's major league record streak of consecutive games without an error for second basemen came to an end at 91 as he made a wild throw past first in a rundown situation in the second inning.

Expos 5, Phillies 2

Dave Cash, Ellis Valentine and Larry Parrish drove in runs in a three-run sixth as Montreal defeated Philadelphia. Steve Rogers pitched 6 2-3 innings for the Expos before leaving with a blister on a finger of his pitching hand. He gave up five hits while walking seven and striking out 11, tying a personal career high in that department.

Cubs 3, Mets 2

Joe Wallis' single with two out in the 12th inning drove in the winning run as Chicago nipped New York.

"It was a curve that came in on me," Wallis said of the pitch he hit for the game-winner. "It would have been a strike, but the count was 3-and-1 so I could have taken it. I fought it off and didn't really hit it that well. I guess I'm just lucky it fell in for a hit."

Padres 5, Braves 4

Shortstop Darrel Chaney's second error of the 12th inning allowed San Diego to score its winning run over Atlanta. With one out in the 12th, George Hendrick was safe when Chaney bobbled his ground ball. One out later, Bill Almon and Ozzie Smith both singled to load the bases.

Atlanta pitcher Eddie Solomon then wild-pitched Hendrick home to tie the game. Jerry Turner was walked intentionally to reload the bases and Gene Richards then hit a slow roller to Chaney, who threw the ball away, allowing Almon to score the winning run.

Pirates 14, Cardinals 7

Dave Parker and Rennie Stennett each drove in three runs, leading Pittsburgh over St. Louis in the first game of their doubleheader.

The Pirates led 5-4 in the second game when play was suspended after six innings by mutual agreement so the Cardinals could catch a plane connection to Montreal.

Parker had a home run in each game, collecting five hits in all and driving in four runs.

Gottfried wins River Oaks title

HOUSTON (AP) — Brian Gottfried solved the high-floating spins of Romanian Ilie Nastase in the finals of the $175,000 River Oaks Tennis Tournament, but the hard part came after the match when he had to rewrite his acceptance speech.

"After that first set I was already preparing my acceptance speech as the runner-up," Gottfried said Sunday after he had recovered for a 3-6, 6-2, 6-1 victory in the title match. "I was going to compliment Ilie on how well he played."

But starting with the second set, Gottfried began charging the net and played his own aggressive serve and volley game.

It was like crossing a mine field to get there, but once Gottfried was able to take charge of the net, Nastase's confusing spin shots were numbered.

"I decided I had to get into the net any way I could," said Gottfried, who earned $30,000. "I would come in when I could, sneak in, anything."

Gottfried's tactics paid off spectacularly in the third set when he broke the fading Romanian in the second, fourth and sixth games and rarely missed the forehand volleys that plagued him in the first set.

The tournament was the last on the WCT tour and filled the final three spots for the eight-man WCT championship tournament in Dallas next month.

Gottfried, who started the week in a tie for 10th in the race for Dallas, made it along with Italy's Carrado Barazzutti, a semifinals loser, and Dick Stockton of the U.S., who lost in the second round.

Vitas Gerulaitis, U.S.; Bjorn Borg, Sweden; Eddie Dibbs, U.S.; Raul Ramirez, Mexico and Nastase already had clinched spots.

Although Gottfried broke Nastase in the first game of the match, Nastase confused his opponent with his series of spin shots and Gottfried was hampered by a faulty forehand. Nastase broke Gottfried in the fourth and eighth games to win the first set.

"It took me awhile to get used to his style," Gottfried said. "It's hard to attack the way I like to when the ball comes in so high in the air and is moving around so much."

As for Nastase, he walked immediately off the court with his $15,000 runner-up check and his strangely-strung racket to a waiting car and headed for the airport without showering or talking to the media.

Asked if he thought Nastase's racket, which has the middle four strings unwoven to allow added spin on the ball, was an advantage, Gottfried had the obvious answer.

"Not today," he said.

'Why I choose to smoke.'

"Why kid anyone? I smoke because I enjoy it. I'm the kind of guy who gets pleasure out of a cigarette. But I'm not deaf to what's being said about tar.

"So I searched out a cigarette that would give me taste with low tar. And two years ago I found it in Vantage. Vantage has all the taste I enjoy yet, surprisingly, much less tar than my old brand.

"Why did I choose Vantage? Because I like it."
