With homecoming week finally here, Colorado ISD is still busy preparing celebrations, dinners and a really impressive homecoming float. Among the festivities will be the honoring of former students, as they will be inducted into the CISD Wall of Fame this week.

This year's honorees are Holly (Neff) O'Neil, C.A. Wilkins, Tony Jones, Charles Haines, Jose Luis Rios and Mattie Hines. The honorees will attend the high school pep rally at 12:20 p.m. Friday, Sept. 28, before making their way to the Colorado Middle School cafeteria for the induction ceremony.

This year's honored guests will be a part of the parade downtown at 4:30 before heading to the Kiwanis Park on 2nd Street for a dinner. The honorees will then be honored in a pre-game recognition ceremony at Wolf Stadium before kick-off of the Wolves-Reagan County.

Charles R. Haines

Charles R. Haines is the son of the late Ed and Tommie Putman of Colorado City. He graduated from Colorado High School in 1953 and then Texas A&M University in 1957 with a degree in Aeronautical Engineering. He used this degree in the United States Air Force, where he was a flight test engineer until 1961. He remained with the Air Force an additional year as a civilian flight test engineer on the B-58 Hustler when it broke the international flight record which had been held by the U.S.S.R.

In 1962, he went to work at NASA in Houston, where he became the program manager for the Lunar Landing Training Vehicle, at NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center. He retired from NASA in 1983.

After his retirement, he continued to do contract work for NASA. He travelled to Russia five times during this period, evaluating the Soyuz Capsule for the Russian space program.

Charles has one daughter, Vicki Lynn Kilgore, and one son, Kyle Edwards Haines. He has four grandchildren and two great granddaughters.

His favorite hobby is boating. He and Katie travelled extensively.

MCHD unable to pursue Baker Hotel plans

Cannot get hotel certified by Department of Aging and Disability Services

The Mitchell County Hospital District's Board of Directors met Tuesday evening in a regular session at the Mitchell County Hospital. It was during this meeting CEO Robbie Dewberry told the board they had discovered a third pay phone in the hospital.

"We were aware of two," he said, "but we were not sure about the third one."

He told the board the hospital had been paying roughly $80 per month for each phone and as far as he could tell, no one ever used them. According to Dewberry, the phones are to be removed, saving the hospital $240 per month. In their place, a mounted phone will be placed which will allow local calls only for patients and their visitors to use.

Dewberry also informed the board of the progress in the asbestos abatement at the old hospital. He said once the preliminary work had been done, investigations, paperwork and the taping off of certain areas, things were going quickly.

"The contract says they have 42 days to complete the work," he said. "I don't see them needing that long."

In other business, the board approved renewal insurance policies for general liability, professional liability, business auto and worker's compensation. According to Dewberry, all the premiums went down, with the exception of the worker's compensation.

"It wasn't that we had a lot of cases," he told the board. "The situation is that we had a $25,000 deductible and now we can only get $10,000 deductible, increasing the portion the insurance has to pay. They are sending that new cost straight along to us."

The new premiums went up overall from $80,000 to $87,350.

In other business, the board accepted $150 bids from Ismael and Custodia Silva for properties located at 621 and 629 Pine Street. The board also accepted a $1,200 bid from Amy Pritchard for property located at 617 Cypress, while rejecting a bid of $800 from Charlene Morris. Thomas E. Carrasco's bid of $450 for four lots at 1430 Westpoint was also accepted.

As an informational report, Dewberry told the board the joint project with the city, possibly converting the old Baker Hotel into an assisted living facility was not looking good.

He said of the two former hotels looting to be certified by the Texas Department of Aging and Disability Services (DADS) in Texas, neither had been certified. The main problem lies with the concrete structure and concern about fire safety.

OBITUARIES

Larry Lain 1967-2012

Larry Lain, 45, passed away on September 24, 2012 in Abilene. Funeral services were held at 2:00 p.m., Wednesday, September 26 at Community Memorial Funeral Home Chapel with Jackie Brem officiating. Burial followed in Elliott-Hamil Garden of Memories Cemetery, directed by Community Memorial Funeral Home.

Larry was born September 23, 1967 to Billy and Lonnie Jordan Lain in Hamlin. He attended Abilene High School and had recently worked for two years as a derrick hand in the oil field for UDI Drilling Corporation. Larry had a witty sense of humor with a spunky and light-hearted personality. He never met a stranger and made everyone around him feel comfortable. Larry appreciated his family and bringing happiness to others. He had a great passion for adventure and for his motorcycle. Larry was a member of Oak St. Baptist Church in Colorado City. He will be greatly missed by his family and friends.

Survivors include his father, Bill Lain of Coahoma; his mother, Lonnie Weems of Abilene; his fiancé, Andrea Harrigan of Abilene; his brother, Kenneth Lain of Abilene; and his sister, Donna Lowrance of Colorado City.

Riding for Cure next weekend

The Riding to Cure, Jean Gier-Knight Foundation is inviting everyone out to the historic Byrne B4 Ranch south of Colorado City for a trail ride October 5-7. The Byrne Ranch has over 5,000 acres of beautiful trails for anyone from a novice rider to the most experienced. A chuck wagon style meal will be served on that Saturday night, complete with brisket, beans and potatoes.

Participants can bring their own RV, tent or a simple bedroll if they are a bit more daring than the other cowboys and cowgirls.

In 2010, Jean Gier-Knight was diagnosed with breast cancer. What she and her husband Roy Knight soon discovered was that there were a lot of cracks in the umbrella which covers the treatment of illnesses like cancer.

Insurance companies, non-profit groups and even the Veterans Administration were all too often telling the Knights the same thing: "That does not fall under the categories of what we do."

Knight said he told his wife, even back then, that there needed to be someone to stand in the gaps, to handle the things others never dream of until it is too late, like rental cars, transportation and even child care. But in 2010, Jean had her own illness to contend with, maintaining the strength to fight her own fight, with very little left over.

But when she was declared "cancer-free," she was ready to revisit his ideas.

"I have been truly blessed," she told him. "I need to give something back if I can."

This was the genesis of the foundation which is planning several fund-raisers this year. The Knights will be holding a motorcycle Poker Run in Iowa this Saturday to raise money for the foundation.

The trail ride, scheduled for October will have sponsors like Metal Mart, Enterprise Rent-A-Car and the beer-brewing giant Budweiser.

After the big cowboy meal Saturday, Roy said he was planning a campfire-side music session, where participants are welcome to bring their own guitars and join in with the group to make the event even more special.

Roy Knight said he has a lot of people who have signed up for the dinner only. He said he had no problem at all with that.

"The more the merrier," he said. "We are going to have a great time and some great food."

The cost of the weekend trail is $30 per rider age 12 and over. A one-day event fee of $10 is also available for those not wanting to, or able to, spend the entire weekend. Roy said anyone under 12 rides for free, but a $5 fee will be charged for the young rider's meal.

Anyone wishing to attend the event or who has questions can contact Roy Knight at the e-mail address roy@ridingtocure.org or they can call at 806-549-6728. The foundation's website is ridingtocure.org.

Plainview Church of Christ gets full time minister

The Plainview Church of Christ of Colorado City announces that its minister is now serving the congregation on a full time basis. Since 2008, Larry Fitzgerald has preached for the congregation on a part time basis. "During this period of time, our little congregation has ing Christians or returning to Christ," said Hemphill. "Larry has spurred us on to become a kind and gentle congregation."

"You can tell that Larry cares for everyone," said Betty Rankin another member of the congregation.

"Larry is no stranger to the Colorado City area. Despite being part time, he has sacrificed his time and expense to participate in community events. For instance, he has volunteered to be the town's 'man in the red suit' each Christmas for the last several years," according to Ellis.

In addition to over 25 years of experience as a preacher, Fitzgerald is a trained economic development specialist. He preached in Cisco, Texas for 13 years where he was president of the economic development council, vice chair of the Housing Authority, the chair of the mayor's taskforce on youth and an ASA certified softball coach. Also while in Cisco, he owned and published Bulletin Digest magazine (a publication for ministers and church secretaries). In 1996, he was awarded with the Cisco High School's booster of the year award. In 2004, he was named Citizen of the Year by the Cisco Chamber of Commerce. He is a long time Rotarian - serving three terms as president of two different Rotary Clubs. This year, he was given the Rotary Builder's award for his work with the Abilene Wednesday Rotary Club.

Fitzgerald holds three degrees - one in public speaking/communications and two in Bible including a doctorate. His name might be familiar to long time residents. His father, Larry Fitzgerald, Jr., was the first television news anchor in Abilene. He gave the 6:00 and 10:00 news in Abilene from 1953-1989.

The congregation invites its neighbors to visit its worship services and see why the Plainview congregation is the fastest growing church in the C-City/Westbrook/Loraine area, said Ellis.

The church is located at 2209 South Highway 163 (Sterling City Highway), just before you reach the power plant on Lake Colorado City. Sunday, Bible School is at 10:00 am and Sunday worship is at 11:00 am. Everyone is welcome regardless of religious affiliation. For more information check out their website: www.plainviewchurch-today.com.

Fitzgerald's secular experience includes being a public relations director for a state chamber of commerce, a national mortgage bank, a book publisher and a state-wide children's charity. He has been a columnist for several small town newspapers in Texas and was news director for KSEY radio. For more information, contact Larry on his cell at 325-668-7661.

increased its membership significantly," according to church member Mike Hemphill.

"Larry did more than most full time ministers," said Ray Ellis another Plainview member. According to Ellis, "One of the major reasons for our growth is because Larry's Bible class lessons and sermons are gentle yet powerful. He teaches in a way that speaks to everyone."

Farm tour set for Oct. 3

Want to know what the cotton market is going to do or maybe you want to see a harvest aid demo? Then come to the Mitchell County Crop Tour on Wednesday, October 3rd.

There will be a $10 registration fee at the door, which includes lunch. Three CEU's will be offered for people with a private applicators license. The tour itself will start at the C.C. Thompson Room at 8:00 to 9:00 a.m. with registration and refreshments. The bus will load at 9:00 a.m. and return around noon.

Stops on the tour will include a look at salt cedar brush control and a harvest aid demonstration put together by Texas A&M AgriLife specialist Mark Kelly. The last stop will show an alternate for brush control using the chemical Sendero on mesquite.

Participants will return back to the C.C. Thompson Room for lunch and updates from Keith Hiser from FSA and Steve Shrode from NRCS. After lunch, Lonnie Winters from PCCA will give cotton market updates. Karin Kuykendall will be giving cotton legislative updates and Bret Cyper will be speaking from the National Cotton Council.

The program will wrap up with Nathan Smith, Texas Farm Bureau Field Representative at 2:00 p.m. For more information and to RSVP, contact Robert Ferguson, County Extension Agent at the Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Office in Mitchell County (325) 728-3111. Individuals with disabilities who require an auxiliary aid, service or other accommodations in order to participate in extension sponsored events are encouraged to contact the county extension office at least a week in advance to determine how reasonable accommodations may be made.

Fashion show scheduled

The Beta Epsilon chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma International, a sorority for teachers and professionals, will be having a fall fashion show on October 1, benefiting breast cancer awareness. All proceeds from the event will be going to the Susan G. Komen for the Cure organization, the largest breast cancer organization in the United States.

Local models will be adorning themselves in their finest, walking the runway to strut their stuff. Colorado High School junior Taylor Griffith will be the hostess for the event, which will be held downtown Colorado City at Desert Rain.

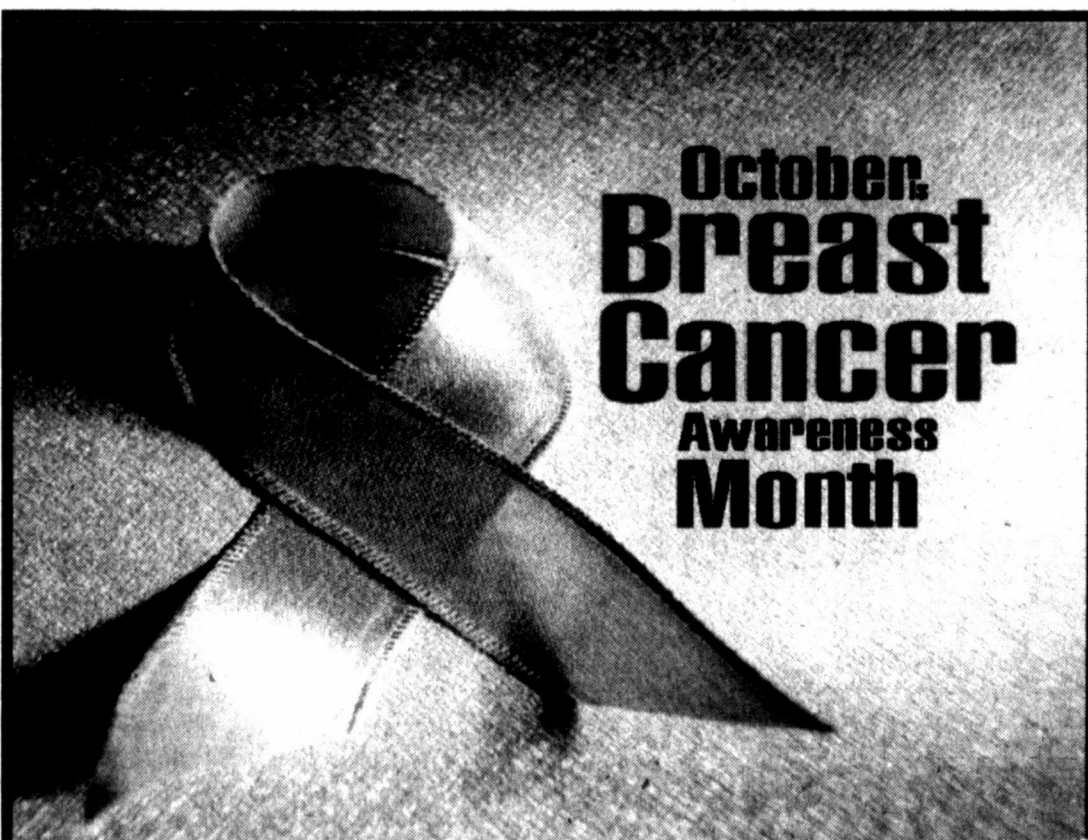

The show, titled "Pink it Up," starts at 6 p.m.

Tickets are $10.00 each and are available now and will be until the day of the show. Tickets will be available for purchase at the Mitchell County Hospital gift shop, Bella Jane's, Desert Rain or from several Colorado ISD teachers.

Any breast cancer survivors are encouraged to contact Jill White before the show, as they would like to honor the survivors. Mrs. White can be reached by telephone at 325-242-2300.

Light refreshments, punch, scones, etc. will be provided at the event.

OPINION & COMMENTARY

TUMBLEWEED SMITH FUN AT SUMMER'S END

We were in a Dallas restaurant, just sitting down with our son Kevin and his family when little nine year old Caleb announced to the table: "No booster chair, no crayons, no children's menu and tell the waiter not to call me little man." Pretty astute for a nine year old. I think it would be a good idea to have a t-shirt made that carried the phrase Caleb mentioned. The waiter could make sure the waiter saw it and was sensitive to the needs of a boy just entering the fourth grade.

We were in Dallas to visit with Caleb's big brother Jackson who was getting ready to return to college for his senior year. He is majoring in English and Drama and has already had a book of his poetry published.

We went to Oakland, California to visit with our son BZ and his family. We took our grandsons (nine year old Max and six year old Aiden) to Alcatraz, which was a maximum-security federal prison from 1934 to 1963 and housed criminals who really made names for themselves, like Al Capone and Machine Gun Kelly. Max, who has a gentle soul and is a quiet boy, had to have an item from the gift shop that contained biographies of several of the bad guys. Neither Max nor Aiden wanted to have their pictures taken behind bars.

To cap off the summer season, we had a visit from our Minnesota friends, Jim and Judy Mans. Jim and I joined the Army at the same time and went through basic training in Fort Carson, Colorado and Morse Code school in Fort Devens, Massachusetts. We developed a strong friendship. One night Jim and I went to a hotel in Boston that was supposed to have a USO dance. It had been canceled, but we didn't know that until we got to the hotel ballroom. We had had a few whiskey sours and felt pretty silly. We went up on stage, grabbed the American flag and marched around the ballroom humming The Stars and Stripes Forever. We kept on marching out in the hallway, down the stairs and out the front door carrying the flag. The doorman looked the other way. We decided to make that flag a token of our friendship. He kept the eagle on top of the pole and I kept the flag.

Although we kept in touch after Devens, fifteen years passed before we saw each other again. Our first reunion was in Dallas. My wife Susan and I walked into a hotel lobby and there were Jim and Judy. Susan knew they were there, but I didn't. Susan opened her briefcase and pulled out the flag. Jim pulled out the eagle. We posed for a photograph while standing behind the flag and holding the eagle.

Jim and I have been together on numerous occasions since then, either in Minnesota or Texas or someplace in between. We always have the flag and the eagle with us and always take a picture. The flag now has a few holes in it and the eagle has a bent wing, but to us they are symbols of a strong friendship that has flourished and deepened since that night in Boston in 1958.

And a river runs through it...

By Robert Griffin

I would like to extend a special thank you to Frank Johnson and the Colorado Wolves for scheduling a game in Stamford this last Friday night. While the game did not turn out the way we would have liked — though the boys played one of the best games they have played this season — it was still a special night for me and my daughters.

By now, I think all of you know where I come from, a small community outside of Wichita Falls. Checking Googlemaps.com this last Friday afternoon, I was surprised to see that Stamford was within a couple miles of being exactly half way between Colorado City and The Falls, so when the game was over, the girls and I made a right turn instead of a left. Two hours later, we were standing on the front porch of my parents' home. There was laughter, hugs and a general sense of peace which met us at their front door.

While my family and I have dedicated our efforts to the idea of living in C-City now, I don't think I will ever be able to shake that sense of "home" I feel about that small town up north. I spent a large portion of my life there, both in my parents' home as a kid and in the home we bought there as well. I guess it will always be what I think of when I say "home."

I made a trip over the bridge which spans the Wichita River Saturday and was saddened to see it too was fighting the drought, a mere 14-15 feet wide at this point and barely waist deep. I had no doubt a man could wade across it almost effortlessly.

One of the things I remembered most about our own home up there were all the trees we had. I was saddened to learn none of my fruit trees survived the drought last summer. Peach, apricot, plum and pear — they were all gone.

Many nights, I sat out in the front yard and just stared at the stars as I listened to the owls which would gather across the street. When I moved out here to the desert — I know, this is not the desert, but let's face it, you can hit it with a rock from here — I expected to be able to see the stars even brighter. But the lights of a town next to a prison tend to blur the city's view of the majesty above us.

It was a short trip, as we were back in town by noon Sunday, but I can't tell you how important it was to us. I guess I needed to see the old town, hear the owls and if nothing else, eat some of my mother's chicken and dumplings.

I hope it will not be another year before we make the trip again and I certainly hope we have more time next time. But for now, I am back to work, covering everything from the homecoming bonfire to the ribbon cutting at the Heart of West Texas Museum.

Mom and Dad, we all miss you and we will see you again as soon as we can. Until then, thank you sooo much for the fresh food from your garden. The potatoes went into a pot roast Sunday night and though I do not eat the squash personally, you know Christina and the girls are pretty excited about it.

TML still fighting open government

By Fred Hartman

One of the big issues that practically all Texas politicians claim to support is open government, but unfortunately, in many cases they're only paying lip service.

Last month, I was among Texas newspaper representatives in a state Senate interim committee working group that is looking into how to reduce costs for governmental agencies that run public notices for procurement. State law requires these notices to be published in newspapers of general circulation such as the Record.

Newspapers make a small amount of advertising revenue from procurement notices, but we've always felt the larger purpose is informing citizens how their cities, counties and school districts spend tax dollars.

Procurement notices are required to be published two times in the county where the governmental entity is located. In addition to that, newspapers also publish that same information on their websites at no extra charge.

Cities, counties and school districts would like to see the law changed to where these notices would have to only be published once, but newspapers think the current law passed in the early 1970s is working just fine.

Cities, counties and school districts claim that reducing the number of publication times would save tax dollars, but if truth be told, they would rather put legal notices on their respective websites and never publish any notices in a newspaper.

The problem with this position is people don't go to governmental websites to see what local governments are doing. They go to an independent voice such as their community's newspaper; or even that paper's website, to insure the information they get is accurate. The fox shouldn't get to guard the henhouse.

If the law didn't require newspaper notices, fewer people would know about what's going on. As we've seen from history, a lack of sunshine can lead to all sorts of bad things such as graft and corruption.

The most belligerent of the anti-notice bunch is the Texas Municipal League, the lobby group representing more than 1,121 Texas cities. It has a long history of bellyaching about measures that make government more transparent and responsible to citizens.

Even though a small amount of money is spent with newspapers on procurement notices, the TML wrote on its website that newspapers are the real "taxpayer funded lobby" following the meeting that I referenced above.

This statement shows a lot of nerve by an organization that generates its revenue from the tax dollars of member cities. The organization also states on its website that it doesn't use any member fees to conduct its lobbying efforts, either. That doesn't exactly sound credible.

If TML had its way, it would do away with other public notices that deal with such important issues as annexations, zoning and tax increases. Its leadership thinks current laws are outdated. Newspapers beg to differ.

As some of my colleagues in the newspaper business have correctly stated, TML has long been one of the most consistent and effective opponents of open government in Texas.

TMl tends to forget that the people who pay their dues are employees of the taxpayers. And the taxpayers want to know how their money is being spent.

Fundraiser set for diabetes at Fuller Foods

Letter to the Editor:

I am writing to let you know of my efforts to raise some money. I will be at Fuller Foods on October 18th to take donations for the American Diabetes Association.

I know the people nearly break their hands giving to the heart association but won't give to the diabetes fundraiser. But diabetes is just as bad as heart disease. I know because I am one with diabetes and suffer the pains and sickness of it.

Please give at Fuller Foods on October 18th. Stop diabetes, one dollar at a time. Need $500 dollars.

Yours truly,
Jimmy Huff

C.A. Wilkins Jr.
C.A. Wilkins Jr. was born at Root memorial Hospital 10-30-31, to C.A. Wilkins Sr. and Lucille Wilkins, both teachers in the Colorado City school system. His father was the principal of high school principal until his death in 1936.

By his eleventh birthday, it was well established that C.A. (Clay) wanted to be a pilot. World War II was underway and his time was spent thinking about airplanes and their pilots engaging the enemy. This wild imagination led him to occasionally hitchhike to Avenger Field, near Sweetwater in the heat of the summer to sit outside the barbed-wire fence and watch the Women's Air Force Service Pilots (WASP) training to fly military aircraft.

He had completed two and half years of college when the Korean War began and his yearning to fly had not been waned. Still wanting to fly airplanes, he withdrew from school and joined the Air Force. He would later complete his undergraduate degree at the University of Omaha.

Soon, he was flying fighter planes and did so for the next 21 years, sometimes in combat environments. He was awarded numerous decorations including: the Distinguished Flying Cross, eight Air Medals, the Joint Service Commendation Medal, the Air Force Commendation Medal and the Vietnamese Service Medal.

After his military flying career, he flew for the State of Texas for another 22 years in various duties and aircraft, including a three-year tour as Chief Pilot for State Comptroller Bob Bullock. He then served as director of the Texas Aeronautics Commission. He was president of the National Association of State Aviation Officials and was awarded the FAA Distinguished Service Award.

C.A. is now retired and lives in Waco with his wife of 59 years. He has a daughter who lives in Alaska and she and her husband work for the Federal Aviation Administration. A son, daughter-in-law and grandson live near Cedar Park. Mom and Dad are music writers, performers and record producers.

Holland N. O'Neil (Holly Neff)

Holland N. O'Neil (Holly Neff) was the valedictorian of the 1980 graduating class at Colorado High School. From there, she earned a BBA at the University of Texas at Austin (1983), before graduating from Texas Tech University School of Law in 1987.

She is currently a partner in the Bankruptcy and Business

Reorganization Practice Group of Gardere Wynne Sewell LLP in Dallas.

Holland co-authored On-Life Support? Selling Healthcare Assets in Chapter 11, and is a noted speaker. She is a member of the State Bar of Texas, the State Bar of Arizona, the American Bankruptcy Institute, Turnaround Management Association, American Bar Association and the Dallas Bar Association.

She has been recognized in The Best lawyers in America, Chapters USA: America's Leading Lawyers for Business and in D Magazine, under Best Women Lawyers in Dallas.

At Gardere, O'Neil serves on the firm's Compensation Committee, is Chair of Lateral Hiring in the Dallas office, and is an active member in the Gardere Women's Council. She has also served on the firm's Management Committee.

Jose Luis Rios

Jose Luis Rios began his career as a journalist at the San Angelo Standard-Times during his senior year at Angelo State University. Luis has edited two Pulitzer Prizes during his tenure at several national newspapers to date.

As a photo editor at the Washington Post, Luis worked with a trio of photographers covering the ravages of ethnic cleansing during the war in Kosovo in 1999. The Washington Post won the Pulitzer Prize for Feature Photography in 2000 for that coverage. The photographers - Carol Guzy, Michael Williamson and fellow Texan Lucian Perkins - acknowledged the efforts by Luis as critical to their work. Luis was a news editor for seven years before being named photo editor.

Luis worked at the Washington Post from 1989 until 2003 when he left the newspaper to become the Director of Photography at the Miami Herald.

He directed staff photographer Patrick Farrell to a Pulitzer Prize in Breaking News Photography in 2009. Luis led the Miami Herald photography staff to national and international awards that among them included several National Headliner Awards from 2003 through 2009.

Luis returned to Texas and to San Antonio in 2010 after a 22-year absence when he was selected as the Director of Photography of the San Antonio Express-News. The following year Express-News staff photographer Lisa Krantz won the Scripps-Howard Photojournalism Award for her one-year coverage of a failing inner city high school in San Antonio's East Side. Luis directed and edited the project that resulted in the first national journalism award in Express-News history.

Luis previously worked as a news editor for the Detroit Free Press, the Dallas Morning News and the San Antonio Light. Luis has edited numerous national award-winning photographers at the Washington Post and the Miami Herald. He also served stints as an editor for the Colorado City Record and the Big Spring Herald in the mid-1980s. He is a member of the National Press Photographers Association and the National Association of Hispanic Journalists.

Luis is married and has three children. He and his wife Carmen have two children, Maximiliano and Valentina India. His oldest daughter Jennifer Rios is an award-winning multimedia journalist at the San Angelo Standard-Times.

Mattie Hines

Mattie Hines, formerly Mattie J. Conaway, was born February 22, 1900 southwest of Westbrook. Her parents, C.P. and Martha Conaway, were pioneers, settling in 1891. Mattie grew up spending countless hours riding the ranch with her father. He raised Reds Durham and Hereford cattle, as well as horses, which were the finest in West Texas. Ranching was in Mattie's blood and heart.

After she graduated from high school, she went off to Hardin-Simmons University, where six of her sisters graduated and got their teaching certificates. Mattie grew up knowing how important education was. Her father founded Conaway community and school.

After getting her teaching certificate, Mattie came back to Colorado City and taught second grade. Mattie and Witt Hines carried on the tradition of ranching with their three sons. Mattie loved Mitchell County and got busy preserving local history. She spent countless hours researching, to make sure it was always factual. She never lost her love for local history, God and education.

Tony Jones Jr.

Tony Jones Jr. was born in June of 1943 to Mr. and Mrs. Tony Jones in Colorado City, Texas. He attended D. W. Wallace High School and received his High School Diploma in May of 1961. While at Wallace, he was a starter on the 1959 and 1960 State Basketball Championship Teams. After graduating from high school, he attended Pueblo Junior College and Southern Colorado State College on a basketball scholarship. In June of 1966, Tony Jones graduated from Southern Colorado State College with a degree in Secondary Physical Education and a Minor in Biology. In October of 1966, Tony Jones enlisted into the United States Marine Corps. During his tour of duty, he was assigned to the United States Marine Corps Aviation Division at the Marine Corps Air Station in Beaufort, South Carolina.

In 1974, Tony Jones Jr. received a Master's Degree in Secondary School Administration and Supervision from Bowie State College in Bowie, Maryland. During that same year, he became the Acting Assistant Principal at Randle Highlands Elementary School. He served in this capacity until the spring of 1975 when he became Acting Principal. In July of that same year, he was appointed principal of the same school where he served in that capacity until his retirement in June of 2004.

During his tenure at Randle Highlands, the school was ranked amongst the highest elementary schools for academic gains on systemic assessments. The Washington Post wrote an article titled, "The Rite of Passage" about the school, due to the academic performance of the students and the close relationship developed between staff and students that extended well beyond their years there. Tony also established a technology/computer lab to enhance instruction and a before and after school program for enrichment, tutorial services and recreational activities. In addition, he established a partnership with the Arent Fox Law Firm, the Pennsylvania Avenue Baptist Church, the Branch Avenue Baptist Church and the "FRIENDS" Organization. These partnerships afforded students and teachers with valuable support and resources that enhanced a positive climate between home, school and the community. Randle Highlands was also selected to host educational presentations given by First Lady Barbara Bush, the Secretary of Education Roderick Paige and the Heritage Foundation.

After retiring from the Washington, D. C. Public School System, Tony Jones served in an administrative capacity in the Prince George's County Public School System at the Forestville Military Academy.

collection includes an 1866 Winchester rifle, commonly referred to as "Yellow Boy." An 1873 Colt Army revolver is among the guns as well. It shot the same rounds as the Winchester rifles, allowing the owners to carry just one caliber of ammunition for both guns.

Wistrand, a former Colorado ISD graduate, said he was in town visiting his mother, when he stopped by the museum.

"I was very impressed with the caliber," he said. "I didn't expect it to be that nice of a museum and it is just really well done."

Wistrand said he was on his way home and got to thinking about the museum and the "heart of West Texas." He said he felt like there should be a gun collection and then it hit him; he had what he called the beginning of a great collection.

Kirschbaum, will be the featured speaker. Kirschbaum was a prominent Mitchell County business man a few years back, starting with Kirschbaum Clothiers he started in 1976. In the early 1980's he bought Better Cleaners out and built the shopping center which still stands at the corner of Hickory and 17th Streets. He bought out another clothes cleaning business as well. In 1985, the king of clothes ran into a man in Abilene who was looking to get out of the cleaner business. He bought the man out and by the end of 1986 had sold all of his Colorado City businesses and moved to the larger city.

The collection also includes an 1873 and 1892 lever action Winchester rifles. The exhibit opens to the public officially at 2 p.m. Saturday, with the sound of a big gun loud enough it should be heard all over Colorado City.

The Museum will also be featuring and Suzette Watkins from Auction and Services Unlimited. Residents can bring items to the museum to be appraised, similar to the once-popular Antiques Road Show. Tim specializes in guns, while Suzette will appraise small household items. A small donation to the museum is requested.

The appraisers will be at the museum 1-5 p.m. Saturday, allowing C-City residents the opportunity to have their own guns appraised while admiring the museum's new collection.

and took a break. "My wife let me hang around the house a couple years after I retired," he said, "but I got bored and went to work selling cars. For about four years."

But born and raised in C-City, he said his heart was never far away from Wolf Country.

"I still had friends and family there, so I could be found sneaking in and out of town to visit every once in a while. Of course, when you get older, you don't sneak quite as much," he said, laughing.

Registration and a reception will be held from 10 a.m. to noon, and lunch will be served shortly thereafter. The cost is $10 per person.

of Commerce decided to do away with the annual parade. "We thought it best not to hold a parade less than 24 hours from the homecoming parade," Amie Wood said, "but we may crash the parade and have some of our floats in the homecoming parade."

The county fair side of the event will return in full force again this year with several different categories. Crafts, Breads, Cakes, Pies, cookies and canned food are just a few of the events Mitchell County residents can enter, along with modern quilts (made in the last 36 months).

Under the antiques category, there are subdivisions of magazines, handmade and store-bought dolls, quilts, household or agricultural tins and toy tractors. According to Amanda Jo Ritchey, in order to qualify under the antiques division, the displays have to be 50 years old or older, made in 1962 or before.

"There will be plenty for the kids to do, as well," Ritchey said. "We will have bounce houses, the Chamber Choo-Choo and of course the dog costume contest, complete with cash prize."

There will be a fully interactive petting zoo for the kids to enjoy as well. Ritchey added that the Chamber of Commerce and Main Street was still working on some details, trying to add more events to the festival.

There will be live music again this year with performances from Lake Bottom Trollers and Da Boyz. The Dusty Creek Band will be performing at this year's street dance on 2nd Street.

In addition, the 5K run is still on, along with the Western Stroll. Wood said there would be plenty of activities for the kids as well as the ever-popular wiener dog races and ice cream freeze off.

A watermelon seed spitting contest has been added to the event and includes a cash prize for the winner. It will be held inside, along with the wiener dog race.

Across town, the Heart of West Texas Museum will be unveiling their new gun exhibit for those wishing to get a better understanding of what it meant to "carry iron."

More information can be found on the city's and chamber's websites. They are www.coloradocitytexas.org and coloradocitychamberofcommerce.com, respectively. Or interested parties can contact the Chamber of Commerce or Main Street by phone by calling 728-2072.

ing up even earlier than usual.

Joe Munoz will be hosting a horse trail ride that morning, beginning at 8 a.m. Wagons and buggies are also welcomed in the event. The event will begin roughly 12 miles south of Loraine and end up downtown. The ride is absolutely free to the public and everyone is welcome. For more information about the trail ride, people can contact Munoz at (325) 725-6397.

Among the food vendors at this year's festival are those with a breakfast menu, brought in especially for those who want a little breakfast before getting dirty.

The mud bog itself will begin at 1 p.m., with entries being taken right up until the starting whistle. At press time Tuesday, there were already over 30 entries for the bog and the numbers are expected to climb.

In a perfect world, the mud bog will end just before 6 p.m., in time for the queen and princess to be crowned. Those interested in registering for the mud bog or simply wanting more information, can call Mark Diaz at (325) 436-8246.

There will be DJ music starting at 10 am on that Saturday, with live bands performing later in the day. Thozé Guyz, Juan Pantoja Y Carabina 30/30, Hagood & Mahon and Angelic will be performing at the festival for Loraine's listening pleasure.

There will be plenty of different food vendors at the festival, sure to satisfy everyone's taste buds, and there will be plenty of arts and crafts as well. The festival will be fun for the entire family, with games for all ages.

For more information about the festival itself, people are encouraged to call (325) 242-3575, (325) 242-0408 and (325) 737-2738.

Brisket and sausage, along with all the trimmings, will be served with a drink and dessert between 5 and 7:30 p.m. The Kiwanis annually sell over 400 plates at the event, so to-go orders are welcomed... and even encouraged.

The price of the plates is $9 for adults and $7 for children under the age of 12. All the funds collected at the event will go to the various youth activities the Kiwanis Club supports in Mitchell County.

Petticoats to hold show in October

Petticoats on the Prairie will be having its next show on October 19th and 20th. One of its founders, Cecilia Scott met with the Colorado City Garden Club on September 7th at Bama's House to explain how Petticoats came to be. Scott gave club members facts about the upcoming event.

Scott stated that a group (now called the Rodeo Queens) got together because they saw a need in West Texas for an antique fair with high-end vendors that would be fun and family friendly. They had the first one at Black Locust Farms and over 1,000 attended the affair. Since then it has continued to grow. They moved it to the Mitchell County Ag Barn to have more room. Petticoats on the Prairie was featured in several magazines; two of which are Cowgirls and 50 Best Vintage Markets in America. At present, they have over 4,000 friends on Facebook.

This year's market promises to be even better. There will be antiques, furniture, vintage finds, jewelry, cool junk, vintage trailers and, of course, food, sold by over 50 vendors. Author Irene Rawlings will be there promoting her new book "Modern Prairie Girls" and 25 trailers with "Sisters on the Fly" will attend.

The cost is $5.00 at the gate with children under 12 free. A portion of the gate is donated to Gateway Family Services. Some of the people working with Scott on this year's market are Cat Geiger, Mary Smith, Lee Ann Moore Kuhel, and Dana Mayfield.

The business of the day for the garden club was making plans for the Mitchell County Reunion. Amanda Jo Ritchey stopped in to explain the details that club members would need. President Gay Houston appointed committees to take care of things. Ritchey also stated that the Heart of West Texas Museum would be open on the same day, Saturday, September 29th with an antique gun display donated by Richard Wistrand and his wife. There will also be a band, Dusty Creek, for the street dance that night.

The upcoming meetings, including Texas Garden Club, State, Fall and Spring Conventions, were discussed as well as the "Parade of Homes" for December.

There were 23 members and three guests present. The hostesses for the day were Janie Henderson, Nelda Hill, Lorie Lindsey, and Dana Mayfield.

Sheriff's Office helps out the local mission

Every month, Sheriff Deputy Jack Green takes three Mitchell County inmates to the Community Mission to help prepare around 300 boxes of food.

The food boxes weigh about 30 pounds each, and the help from the Sheriff's Office is greatly appreciated.

"We could not do it without them," mission volunteer Dot Smith said.

Last month, the inmates also assisted in the clothing recycling program, a project that raised nearly $500 for the mission.

Shrimp peel staged for Sweetwater fund-raising event

Sweetwater to host event raising money for West Texas Rehabilitation Center

This year there will again be two back-to-back fundraising events associated with the Round-Up for Rehab in Sweetwater to raise dollars for the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. The Shrimp Peel dinner and auction will be held at a new location, the Sweetwater Country Club, on Tuesday evening, October 30th. The following day on Wednesday, the regular round-up sale will be held at Sweetwater Auction.

Heading up the Sweetwater Round-Up events as chairs are Jan Smith, Riley Ann Price, Homer and Beth Taylor, Tom and Becky Rees, Leah Andrews, Brenda Stevens, Bruce Sanderson, Dalton and Gretchen Maddox, Leah Andrews and Tom Henderson. The Shrimp Peel will begin at 6 p.m., and cost will be $20 per person. Sponsorships are available which include dinner tickets. Individual tickets and sponsorships are available from the chairpersons.

The regular Round-Up for Rehab Sale will be held the following day at 12:30 p.m. with the Rehab chuck wagon serving up free beans, cornbread and tea beginning at 11:30 a.m.

Both events will feature live auctions and items for each are being accepted by the committee.

WTWC's Director of Donor Relations Dan Huggins says the Rehab has been taking care of people throughout West Texas for almost 60 years, regardless of their financial circumstance. He says to help offset the costs of helping those who can't afford services, the Rehab holds fundraisers. The overall Round-Up for Rehab, now in its 53rd year, is the Rehab's oldest fundraiser and it's where local ranchers, businesses and individuals come together to help raise funds for the center.

Huggins says there are nine sales being held this year in area west Texas communities to benefit patients at the West Texas Rehabilitation Center. In addition to Sweetwater, San Angelo, Abilene, Stephenville, Olden, Dublin, Brownwood, Junction and Coleman are also hosting sales this year.

Red Steagall is once again teaming with Rehab as honorary chairman, because as the legendary cowboy says of Rehab, "It's a place where neighbor-helping-neighbor is more than just a slogan, it's a way of living and doing business."

Corporate friends already on board for the round-up include B-4 Farms, Bar-G Feedyard, Basic Energy, Group IV Electric Cooperatives, H-E-B Food Stores, Lone Star Beef, Stamford Insurance/America First Insurance, and Hargrove Ranch Insurance.

For more information about the Rehab Center, round-up sale dates or arrangements for hauling donated animals, call one of the local committee members of Dan Huggins at 325-793-3508.

Quail seminar set up for this weekend in Roby

The Rolling Plains Quail Research Ranch's fifth annual field day is set from 8:30 a.m.-3 p.m. Sept. 28 at the ranch, which is 11 miles west of Roby on U.S. Highway 180, or just east of the intersection of Farm-to-Market 611 and U.S. Highway 180.

"Our theme for this year is 'useable space,' which essentially means how much of one's land is habitable for a quail 365 days a year," said Dr. Dale Rollins, Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service wildlife specialist at San Angelo and the ranch's director.

"Quail numbers have shown some rebound this summer despite the dry, hot weather. Our topics for this year's field day will help managers accelerate the recovery of quail on their property."

"Now in our fifth year of work here at RPQRR, we'll discuss how we use the data collected from whistle counts and helicopter surveys to detect where our 'holes' are in the ranch's useable space, and how we hope to mitigate these deficiencies through active management."

Some of the day's topics will include creating quail oases with spreader dams, quail "storm shelters" for evading raptors, Bobwhite Brigade and enhancing useable space on post-Conservation Reserve Program fields.

The field day is being conducted by the Rolling Plains Quail Research Foundation, Texas A&M AgriLife Research and AgriLife Extension.

Two Texas Department of Agriculture continuing education units will be offered.

Individual preregistration is $10 prior to Sept. 21 and $20 thereafter and at the door. Registration includes a catered lunch, refreshments and handout materials.

For more information or to preregister, contact Mary Lynn Nelms at 325-653-4576 or mlnelms@tamu.edu.

See the ranch's website at <http://www.quailresearch.org> for program updates.

TxDOT releases new video

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) recently released a new educational video to better inform Hispanic drivers about the personal and financial costs of a driving while intoxicated (DWI) conviction in the state of Texas.

The Spanish-language video features DWI testimonials from Hispanic drivers convicted of driving under the influence of alcohol in Texas. The educational video is designed to resonate with recently immigrated and first-generation Hispanics in particular; research suggests they may be less likely to know about DWI laws because they may come from countries where DWI laws are different or are not enforced consistently. TxDOT is sharing the video with organizations such as AVANCE and foreign consulates as well as Spanish-language driver's education and alcohol awareness courses.

"TxDOT's goal is to increase awareness among the Hispanic community about the dangers of drinking and driving. We want to make sure that more people know that driving under the influence of alcohol is never acceptable," said Carol Rawson, director, Traffic Operations Division of TxDOT.

In the educational video, several Spanish-speaking Hispanics talk about their DWI convictions, including a married man whose license was suspended after an alcohol-related crash; a mother whose children were in the car with her when she was arrested for DWI; and a woman arrested for driving under the influence after a night out drinking with her friends.

TxDOT data from 2011 shows that:

- 37 percent of all DUI fatalities in Texas occurred in crashes where a Hispanic driver was under the influence of alcohol.

- 33 percent of all Hispanic DUI drivers involved in crashes had a blood alcohol level of .08 or more.

- Hispanics represent 38 percent of the Texas population according to U.S. Census data.

This new effort builds on TxDOT's telenovela-style PSA campaign launched in 2011. The telenovela PSAs features Hispanic families and friends discussing Texas' DWI laws and the consequences for being convicted of a driving under the influence.

NOWHERE TO GO — David Sanchez (20) and Nick Perez (41) leave this Stamford runner with very little room to breathe and even less chance for an escape.

MISDIRECTION — With Nathan Jackson (22) going one way and Mark Henderson (12) going the other, defenses are having fits trying to guess the right direction.

Wolves stumble in Stamford
Find tough, talented opponent in the Bulldogs

The Colorado Wolves were able to put to rest any doubts about how good a team the Stamford Bulldogs were. Though the Wolves played a good game, they still ended up on the short end of a 34-14 score.

They were really, really fast," Wolves Head Coach Frank Johnson said. "There is no way to prepare for that kind of speed. You can't simulate it in practice. The boys have to see it in person to know the right angles to take."

Coach Johnson said the Wolves might see that speed again when they play Cisco and the game in Stamford should serve as an example for the boys about that level of speed.

"Hopefully we can use what we learned when we play Cisco," he said.

The Wolves put together a good drive on their opening possession after David Sanchez ran the opening kick to mid field, but they would eventually turn the ball over on downs on the Stamford seven yard line.

The Bulldogs responded by driving the distance for a touchdown. Then after a quick offensive set by the Wolves, did it again, this time for 99 yards. It was 99, because an excellent Rylan Gardner punt penned them on their own one-yard line.

Unwilling to go quietly however, the Wolves' Mark Henderson broke free in the backfield in the second quarter. Stamford had sent several rushers after him, but he got loose and moved his way to some breathing room, enough to hit a streaking Jonathan Jackson on the sideline for a 76-yard touchdown pass and completion.

The Wolves would score again in the third quarter when Henderson broke free on a designed running play, but by the fourth quarter, the faster Bulldogs were using their speed to its fullest advantage, scoring three times in the second half for the 34-14 win.

Henderson led the Wolves in rushing, accumulating 56 yards on five carries, followed by David Sanchez who rushed twice for 24 yards. Nathan Jackson had 11 yards on 14 carries.

In the air, thanks to the long strike in the second frame, Henderson threw for 207 yards, going 20-31, with one touchdown and one interception. Jonathan Jackson had 142 yards receiving on eight catches to lead the Wolves. Gustavo Silva hauled in four catches for 51 yards, while Rylan Gardner gained 37 yards on his four catches.

Corbin Castillo had three catches for four yards in the game as well.

Coach Johnson named Jonathan Jackson as the Offensive and Defensive Player of the week, stating Jackson had "a great game on both sides of the ball, causing a fumble and recovering another, while leading the team in receptions."

On special teams, Coach Johnson named Rankin Bullard as the Player of the Week. It was Bullard's first attempt at long snapping the ball, and according to Johnson, that usually leads to tragedy on special teams, but this was not the case with Bullard.

"Rankin was brand new at it, but he had great snaps the entire game," Johnson said.

This week, the Wolves will host 4-0 Reagan County. The game is set to kick off at 7:30 in Wolf Stadium.

Wolves to face Owls in homecoming game

This is the football game even girls get excited about, as homecoming week descends upon the quiet little city by the river as the Wolves prepare to battle the 4-0 Reagan County Owls.

While the Wolves match up a lot better with the Owls than they did with the Bulldogs, there is a trend that needs mentioning when talking about the Owls. In the four games this year, the Owls have only given up 32 points. Of course, all of those points were allowed in their two road games.

Another thing about the Owls is they have never scored over 29 points in a game, averaging 23 per game.

"They play a great defensive set," Head Coach Frank Johnson said. On offense, the Owls run a Wing-T, very similar to Coahoma, but with more sweeps."

Coach Johnson said that was something he intended to go after in this game, the sweeps.

"If our linebackers read sweep, they are going after it," Johnson said. "Our boys will be playing 'sick-em' against that sweep, shutting it down," he added.

Looking at the statistics from Reagan County's four games, it is hard to find the lead running back. They rotate a lot of kids through the offense during the game and the talent level does not drop off all that much between them.

"We will be playing some new kids in different positions this week," Johnson said, talking mainly about the linebacker position.

As of Monday, Jake Johnson will be out another week with the concussion he suffered against Coahoma. Against Stamford, the stadium went quiet when Josh Sutton went down. Coach Johnson lists Sutton as "day-to-day with a possible concussion."

The game starts at 7:30, and though the crowd may be filled with dresses and mums, Coach Johnson said when the doors to the field house open, it will be all about football.

Wildcats fall on road

The Westbrook Wildcats found themselves on the short end of the scoreboard Friday night at the hands of Veribest. The game was called at the 5:57 mark of the third quarter when a 30-yard field goal found its way through the uprights to put Veribest ahead by more than the 45-point rule allows, going ahead 61-14.

Jacob Morris provided two touchdowns for the Wildcats, scoring on runs of 20 and then 46 yards. Morris ended the game with 175 total rushing yards on 17 carries.

The Wildcats, now 0-4, will return home this week to take on the 1-3 Paint Rock Indians. The Indians are coming off their first win of the season, a 27-14 win against Rising Star.

Garza guides Bulldogs to first win, 53-46 over Rotan

The Loraine Bulldogs fought their way into the win column this week, defeating the Rotan Yellowhammers 53-46 in a game designed to make even the toughest men cringe from some of the hits.

After spotting the Yellowhammers six points in the first frame, the Bulldogs scored in the found the end zone for the first time in the second quarter of the game. Tim Garza capped a Bulldog drive with a four-yard run and after the Point-After-Try (PAT) failed, the Bulldogs found themselves tied with just less than 10 minutes left in the half. But Rotan would waste little time, a mere two minutes, to drive the field a score again, sending the two teams into the locker room with Rotan holding a 14-6 advantage.

But halftime proved to be a turning point in the game, possibly the season – as Loraine took over the game, making their own luck, creating their own momentum.

Garza scored four times in the third quarter on runs of 46, 42, 5 and 56 yards, propelling the Bulldogs from the eight point halftime deficit to a 35-26 lead going into the fourth quarter.

The final frame was more Bulldog highlights, as Garza hit Ricky Cantu for touchdown passes of 13 and 15 yards. Garza would find the end zone himself to cap the night when he broke free from four yards out.

Garza ended the night with 344 rushing yards and six touchdowns. He threw for 110 yards on seven completions, with 98 yards going to Ricky Cantu on just five catches. Cantu had two touchdowns.

This week, the Loraine Bulldogs will return home for a 7:30 p.m., Friday night clash with the 1-3 Hermleigh Cardinals. It should prove to be another fast-paced affair, not to mention another close one. But the tenacity and fortitude of the Bulldogs has begun to reap benefits, and coming off of last week's thrilling win on the road, the Bulldogs are prepared to defend the home field.

Beware of 'Dogs!

Loraine Middle School gets big win against Rotan Yellowhammers

The Loraine Middle School football team pulled off an amazing come-from-behind win Thursday night against the Rotan Yellowhammers Jr. High. The Bulldogs scored 13 of their 19 points in the second half to overcome an 18-6 deficit for the 19-18 win.

Jacoby Williams scored twice for Loraine, on runs of 16 and 10 yards, but he wasn't finished there. With 1:20 left in the game, Williams broke free from 20 yards out to put the Bulldogs up for good.

Oscar Gonzales kicked an extra point in the third quarter, while the Loraine defense refused to allow a single extra point in the game, adding icing to their cake as they completely shut out Rotan's Jr. High in the second half.

Williams racked up 141 rushing yards in the game on 13 carries, with three touchdowns, while Gonzales had 56 yards on eight attempts.

Gonzales also led the defensive charge, recording six tackles, including two tackles for a loss of yardage.

Well, we may have stumped Mr. Young, but JoAnn Zeck was a bit tougher. JoAnn guessed this week's picture with no problem, pointing out that though it may be rare, that was clearly a picture of water. Well done and thank you for playing.

This week, we will see if JoAnn can go two-for-two as we bring you another piece from our photography archives for your guessing enjoyment. If you know the answer, give us a call at 728-3413 or e-mail us at coloradorecord@yahoo.com.

Again we ask you...

Lady Wolves begin district with win over Brownfield

The Lady Wolves began district play with an impressive win Saturday at The Pit. After spotting Brownfield the first game 20-25, the girls bounced back to take three straight games 25-19, 25-17 and 25-14 to claim a 1-0 district record after a 14-12 non-district mark. Head Coach Anita Graham said the girls just needed a bit to get going.

"The girls needed that first game to get going," she said. "Then they came on strong with the hitting and serving."

Huntir Messick and Mackenzie Kimball led the girls in kills, with 14 each. Heather Merket was right on the heels on the stat sheet with 13 and Taylor Griffith added five.

Kimball also led the team in blocks with six. Merket had five and Shirley Hemphill had two.

Griffith had six aces and Cassie Sutton had four. Messick and Merket each had three, while Marissa Molina and Kimball each recorded one.

Sutton led the girls with 24 assists, followed by Molina with 16 and Erica McCright with four. Merket had 12 digs, while Darian Lendermon had 10. Sutton, Kimball Messick and Griffith each had six.

"Taylor Griffith got four of aces in the fourth game," Coach Graham said. "That put the Lady Wolves on top for good."

The Lady Wolves will be at home again this Saturday, with a 1 p.m. start at The Pit. The JV Red team will play at 11 a.m. and the JV Black will play at noon.

Last week, the middle school Lady Wolves traveled to Denver City. The 8th grade team came back with a win by scores of 25-17 and 25-10. The 8th B team lost 0-2. The 7th A Team lost 1-2 and the 7th B team lost 1-2. The next middle school game will be Monday, Oct. 1 vs. SA Corner Stone, at the Pit, beginning at 4:30 p.m.

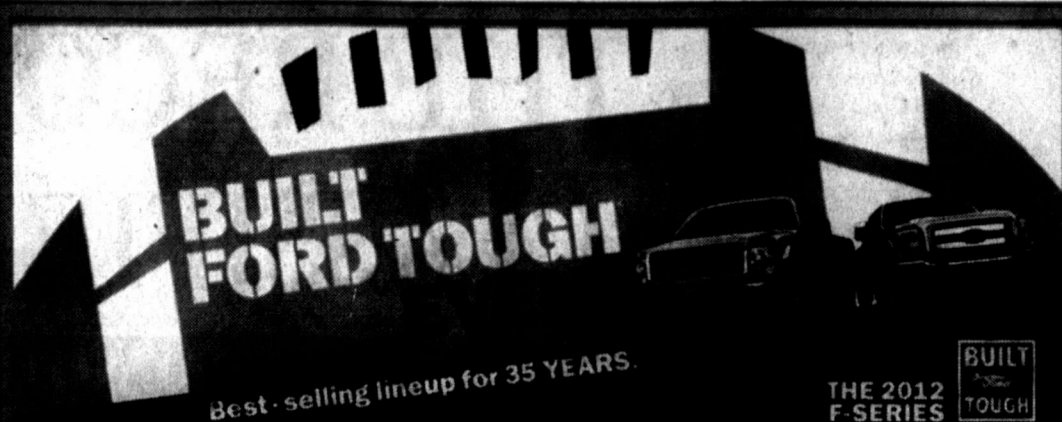

BLOCK, PASS, AND SPIKE – Coach Bianca Vasquez, Coach Ryan Cronkright, Bailee Young, Madison Edmonds, Brilee Young, Mariah Jeffers and football coach Kyle Hauk looks on as the Loraine Lady Bulldogs lost three very close hard-fought games against Knox City on Saturday morning. LORAININE NEWS

By Sandy Graham
Loraine Correspondent

"Lay not up for yourselves treasures upon earth, where moth and dust doth corrupt, and where thieves break through and steal. But lay up for yourselves treasures in heaven, where neither moth nor rust doth corrupt, and where thieves do not break through to steal. For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." Matthew 6: 9 - 21

Hello again everyone. This week has really flown by! Hope it was a good week for everyone.

What about those Bulldogs? They got a big win, 53-46 over the Yellowhammers. It was a really good game.

At halftime All-State tackle Howard Van Loon of Rotan ISD recognized several members of the 1962 state Class A football champions in attendance including head coach Tommy Watkins, all-state tackle Howard Van Loon, Steve Herron, Jim Nowlin, Eddie Edwards, and several others. Carl, being the sports fanatic, was able to talk to several members of the team.

Don't forget the Mitchell County Senior Citizen's Dance Thursday, September 27th from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. Admission is $5 per person.

This is their first anniversary so let's all help them celebrate. Music will be provided by Mike Porter and Kevin Rainwater. The Colorado City Civic Center is located at 157 E. 2nd Street.

Please no smoking or drinking. Snacks will be provided.

Winners at the St. Joseph's Catholic Church Festival were:
1st - Dominga Martinez, Walmart $400
2nd - Maria Pantoja, Walmart $300
3rd - Gio Benivamondez, K-Mart $250
4th - Giulie Guerro, K-Mart $250
5th - Martha Martinez, Fullers $150
6th - Patty Perkin, Perkins $100

The St. Joseph's Church Women's Organization will have a booth at the Loraine Cotton Festival this weekend. They will be selling breakfast burritos, menudo and taco plates and barbeque plates for lunch.

I met A.W. and Louise Phillips grandson last Friday. Scott and his wife, Ashley were missionaries in Jerusalem for two and a half years, and while there they took a trip to Egypt. In Jerusalem they organized youth and young adult conferences aimed at reconciliation of Jewish and Arab believers.

Today they live in Dallas and Scott organizes tours to Jerusalem three or four times a year. They also raise funds for local Israeli missionaries in Jerusalem. We wish them many blessings on their endeavors.

Pam and Danny Butler with their children, Brian and Lisa Butler and Drs. Krystal and David Barrera and girls, went to Texas Tech to watch the Tech and New Mexico game. Pam said they all had a great time.

Mark your calendars for the Loraine Cotton Festival Saturday, September 29th. There will be a trail ride in the morning and a mud bog in the afternoon; with craft booths and food vendors and lots of music there will be something for everyone. Come out and have a good time.

LORAININE SENIOR CENTER
We would like to thank Cherie Dockrey from IntegraHome Health Care for all she does for the center. Cherie comes in on Wednesdays and takes blood pressures, does the toe-nail clinic the fourth Wednesday, brings flu shots to us and always has an upbeat attitude and a big smile.

The center is still selling raffle tickets for the rocking horse. Tickets are $5 each or three for $10.

On September 13th, Randy and Dor Britton of Big Spring came to pick-up Randy's mother Christine to travel to Austin to attend the wedding of their son, Kyle and his fiancé, Casey Turnstall. The celebration of marriage took place on September 15th at a beautiful, late-evening, outdoor setting. The reception was held in a quaint old church which had been converted for such occasions. After their honeymoon in Florida, they will make their home in Austin. Christine returned home on Sunday.

On Friday September 21st,

Wanza Graham accompanied Tom Carlock and his mother to Midland to pick up Debby Carlock. Debby had been there helping Mindy Ann, their daughter, with Belle Ann, the new grandbaby.

Wanza says the baby is two weeks old and so sweet and pretty. Wanza said both great-grandmothers enjoyed holding and loving the baby.

On Sunday, Y Sadler had lunch with Pat Sadler, Heather and her friend James, Mike and Hadley, also Dick Colson of Dripping Springs. Y said everyone enjoyed the good food and fellowship.

Short menu this week.
Wednesday, September 26 - turkey and dressing, yams, green beans, rolls and birthday cake
Friday, September 28 - chili dogs, chips, baked beans, all the fixins and black forest parfait.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The City of Loraine will be having a Cleanup Day on Saturday, October 6, 2012. Dumpsters will be located in the fenced lot east of the county equipment lot.

This service will be provided to the City of Loraine Residents Only, all persons dumping will be required to show a current water bill from the City of Loraine. Only hard-to-pick-up materials, such as large and bulky items that are not picked up under regular collection including grass clippings and small tree limbs will be allowed in the dumpsters. Tires and batteries will not be accepted. We also will be collecting old appliances and metal items inside the fenced in area. Please have freon and compressors removed from old appliances or they will not be accepted.

If you have any questions please contact City Hall at 737-2222.

College workshop set for Loraine

Loraine ISD will be hosting a college admissions and planning workshop on October 4 from 6-7 p.m. in the cafeteria. The title of the event is Anyone Can Go to College and will be led by LISD counselor Doug Fortenberry.

Though the workshop is primarily targeted for rising high school juniors and seniors, all grade levels and community members are encouraged to attend. Complimentary pizza will be provided for those who attend.

Parents and students will be advised on basics of the college admission process. The presentation will cover topics that include guidelines for researching colleges, application strategies, writing the college essay, how to prepare for a campus visit, tips for completing your application, recommendations, college entrance testing (SAT, ACT, TSI) and a brief overview of financial aid.

The workshop will be broad-based, and will cover all types of colleges and universities including public, private, and selective college admission.
