Authorities Report Vandalism

Board Member Resigns Position

Floyd Prentice resigned from the board of trustees of Olton Independent School district Monday night, effective immediately.

In a letter prepared for reading at the end of the meeting, Prentice said, "I find it will be impossible for me to be an effective board member without placing my family and property in jeopardy. Therefore, I hereby tender my resignation as secretary and member of the board effective as of this date. The past two years and 10 months have been an enlightening experience and I enjoyed working with each of you. Wishing for you a more tolerable future, Floyd Prentice."

Prentice's resignation was prompted by numerous incidents of vandalism of his property.

His pickup was damaged Friday night as it sat in his drive way at his home. Silver paint, tar and paint remover were poured on it and a note stating that he had voted the wrong way on the hair code was attached to the pickup.

Further investigation during the day revealed damages to an airplane at his hanger and also damages to a well motor near his home.

The board accepted his resignation and agreed that since an election was forthcoming in April, there would be no need to appoint another person to fill the vacancy.

The board called for an election April 3. Doris Watt was named Absentee Election Clerk with Edna Price as Deputy Absentee Election Clerk. Fred Hicks was named to serve as Election Judge. Terms of Johnny Hodges and Prentice expire in April. Hodges has filed for re-election.

A report from Superintendent Joe Turner showed an increase in the number of enrolled students. A gain of seven students was noted in comparison to the decline of enrollment the past several months.

Lunchroom participation by students continue to be above average and the program is operating "in the black."

A band trip to San Antonio for the Olton High School band was given unanimous approval by board members. The band received an invitation to march in the parade in the Fiesta Flambo celebration in that city in the latter part of April.

A proposed school calendar was presented to the board for its approval but members asked that other proposed calendars be submitted before final approval. The one presented had a date for school opening that was not satisfactory if a later date could be used and still get the required number of days in before the last of May.

Supt. Turner read a letter to board members from the Education Service Center in Lubbock inviting them to visit their facilities and view the services which Olton schools are provided. The board agreed to visit during February if possible.

Turner reported that he and Tax Assessor-Collector Virginia Moss had attended a recent tax meeting in Lubbock concerning school financing. He showed them a copy of a 12 page form in which schools are required to list each taxable item in their district showing the reasoning behind the taxation rate for such items.

NEW PAINT JOB -- Damage of undetermined amounts were done by vandals to this pickup belonging to Floyd Prentice. Damages also occurred to a plane in Prentice's hanger and a well motor on his farm.

'Voting Wrong Way' Results In Damages

Vandals struck in the Olton area Friday, Feb. 6 during the night in an apparent protest to a ruling made by the members of the board of trustees of the local school concerning a dress code.

Extensive damages were suffered by Floyd Prentice, a member of the board of trustees.

A pickup, parked in his driveway at his farm home west of the city, was damaged when paint remover, tar and silver paint were poured on it. A typewritten note was attached to the pickup which stated that Prentice had voted the wrong way on the hair code. Boards with nails pointing up were pushed underneath the tires.

Further investigation during the day Saturday, revealed that a well motor on the Prentice home place had been damaged. Apparently the vandals had taken a hammer and beaten everything on the motor that could be hit.

Prentice, who operates a flying service, had a plane in his hanger located on Highway 70 west of town. The plane had also been damaged.

Authorities report that an investigation is being conducted at press time.

By City Council

Water Ordinance Adopted

Discussions of several topics took up most of the time of councilmen as they met in regular session Tuesday night.

Brought up for discussion were citizens band radios for the night patrol car, a mobile telephone for the car, establishing the use of radar, police uniforms, water ordinance, traffic light, chickens and trash, plus the calling of an election for three council posts.

Appearing before the council was a representative from a firm dealing with radar traffic devices, who presented information concerning the use of a portable unit for the city of Olton. No action was taken.

The night patrolman asked that either a CB or a mobil telephone be placed in the night patrol car to better serve the citizens of Olton at night. As it stands now, he said that residents are delayed in getting police action at night because of communication. Residents must call Littlefield police in order to get an Olton policeman to their aid. A mobile telephone in the night car would allow Olton residents to simply dial a number locally and help would be on the way immediately. No action was taken.

Police Chief Wes Myer showed the council a number of different uniforms which he asked to be purchased for the department. Prices were quoted to the council. No action was taken.

Council adopted ordinance 184 to replace Ordinance 112 concerning water rates and usage. (The new ordinance appears on page nine of The Enterprise this week.)

The city's traffic light, which was knocked down in January, then was up for discussion. Replacing the traffic signal light with a four way flashing red light was brought up, but no decision was made.

Water superintendent Orian Hackler reminded residents that 30 gallon, covered trash containers were to be used in the city and that a number of residents did not have such containers. Fines may be imposed on those who do not secure them, he said.

The council amended an ordinance pertaining to the penning of livestock to include the penning of chickens or any other type fowl in the city limits.

A number of complaints had been voiced concerning chickens getting out of the owners pens and scratching up yards of neighbors. Those with fowl must keep them penned.

An election was called by the mayor to fill three council positions. Terms of Joe Hall, Vernon Nixon and Billie Norfleet expire in April. Election will be held April 3 with Eldon Franks serving as election judge, assisted by V.Y. Jefferies. Alternate judge is Bub Holt.

Filing deadline is March 3.

'Our Town Needs A Doctor'

"Our Town Needs a Doctor" are words often seen on a sign at the entrance to rural communities. The words express a problem that confronts many areas, mostly nonmetro, in 46 states and Puerto Rico.

A community that lacks adequate health services also has other problems, says UDA's Rural Development Service (RDS). Why? Because good health facilities not only help in improving the quality of life, they aid in community efforts to attract new businesses and industries that are needed for economic growth and development.

Eighty-five percent of the areas are rural counties or parts of counties that generally lack one physician for every 4,000 people, according to the National Health Service Corps (NHSC) administered by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Some of the areas have no physician at all. They also are suffering from a shortage of dentists, nurses and other health professionals.

RDS suggests that communities lacking in adequate health facilities should seek help through NHSC. The agency recruits salaried physicians and other health professionals for placement in areas that have a critical shortage of health manpower. The professionals and communities are brought together through a program that matches the needs and desires of each for mutal compatibility.

The community (or a combination of several) must agree to manage the practice and to provide an office, equipment, supplies and staff support.

Any surplus revenue must be used by the community to improve its health care system.

Communities in Texas wishing to take part in the program should contact the NHSC Regional Program Consultant at 1114 Commerce Street, Dallas, Tex. 75202.

Terrorism In Olton

Flags waving over the city Thursday were a beautiful sight. We are indeed lucky to be living in such a nation.

Invocation at the city council meeting Tuesday night voiced by councilman Joe Hall gave thanks for the fact that we "can gather here without fear of being molested."

This is one of our rights under the flag of our nation.

But . . . . . .

Even though groups can gather without fear, it has proved to be a fearful thing among the school board members concerning a decision made by them at a recent board meeting.

Because they did not "give in" to pressure to do away with the hair code, one of the members of the board has suffered losses in property.

This is NOT the American way! This is terrorism, in the raw stages! And it is absolutely sickening to think that it is happening right here in our little community.

How do you go about protecting yourself from "unknown enemies"? When battle lines are drawn and you know that you must protect yourself from a known enemy, you have a much better chance. But when you walk among your acquaintance not knowing who might be the one to strike at you, it's a fearful feeling, we're sure.

We are not only sickened by the fact that someone who disagreed with the board has taken these steps to show them, but we are very disappointed in those who are doing those things.

We were of the opinion that, at the proper time of year when policy is reviewed, possibly the hair code would no longer be an issue and could be dropped. (After all, long hair is not the "thing" anymore).

But . . . . . .

Now that those people have proved their immaturity with such childish behavior, we wonder . . . . .

How much better for all, had the rule been abided by, for the remainder of the year without all the hassle.

Perhaps we would not have lost a board member, who resigned because he felt his family might suffer even more.

Perhaps there would not have been some parents who will be heart broken over their child's behavior . . . . and perhaps some child would not have been sitting in front of a judge, awaiting sentencing.

Who knows what the outcome will be?

Littlefield Man Is Named To Head Easter Seal Drive

Doyle L. Patton Jr. of Littlefield will lead the 1976 Easter Seal Appeal in Lamb County, it was announced by Irving A. Baker of Dallas, President of the Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Texas.

Residents in the county will receive the traditional Easter Seal Appeal letters beginning March 1. The Easter Seal Appeal is conducted each Spring to provide disabled persons and their families treatment and services. It will continue through Easter Sunday, April 18.

Patton is one of 234 men and women throughout Texas who serve in this capacity to help meet the cost of the statewide Easter Seal program, which assisted 10,768 handicapped Texans in 1975.

The Texas Easter Seal Society and it's statewide network of treatment centers and local volunteers spent $1,820,547 financed by the traditional Spring Easter Seal Appeal and Fall Membership Drive. Over 90 percent of all funds raised remain in Texas to support the growing needs of the disabled in the State.

Special emphasis is being given in the 1976 Easter Seal Appeal to the disabled citizen who may need assistance and not know where to obtain it. Contact Patton at Security State Bank, Littlefield to receive the simple, self-mailing request for service form. A determination of the extent and type of assistance needed, the most efficient means of obtaining that assistance, and arrangements for qualified treatment or other services will be made by the Texas Easter Seal Society.

Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Adams attended a reception honoring his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W.V. Adams on their 50th wedding anniversary. The event was in the community center of Burkett.

What About Tomorrow?

BY REX BOYLES

"What comes up must come down." Sir Issac Newton spoke it of an apple and the law of gravity, but it also speaks of the entire condition of humanity. Nothing is really stable, is it? The text books or owner's manuals we are reading these days are under constant revision, and within a matter of years they will be obsolete.

The nations that "make up" our world rise and fall with each election. The cars we drive are being remodeled with each quarter. Prices bounce up and down (mostly up) with each day. It seems that with each puff of wind the weather changes. The people we live and work with live and die with each tick of the clock. All of this speaks of the unstable world in which we love, play, work and live.

Things being in such a state, where are we going to find any peace or security? Is there security in our jobs? Is there security in our bank balance? Is there any security in our nation? Things looking the way they are, there is not much of anything in which we can find a certain hope.

There is something, however, that is in this old world which is really "out of this world." That something in which we can find certainty is a someone. The older folks might call him the "Rock of Ages." The Holy Spirit calls him Jesus Christ. Jesus is certainly the one in which all who will can find eternal peace, glorious security and certain stability. For you see Jesus is not of this world but is the same yesterday, today and forever (Hebrews 13:8).

No matter what the prices do. No matter what the weather blows up. No matter what politicians win or lose. No matter what nations rise or fall, Jesus is forever. That means that if you and I will stand with Jesus, we will find the security that is not of this world. Now with all of that evident, isn't it foolish for us to depend upon ourselves, our friends, or our nation instead of the eternal Son of God?

I think it is important then to check what kind of religion we have. Is our faith an inherited family tradition that says, "if it was good enough for grandma, it is good enough for me." If that is our faith, it is not the faith in Jesus that will stand when all else falls. Is our faith a national tradition that says, "We are one nation under God and everybody goes to church, so I think it's the patriotic thing to do." If it is, it is not the faith that will stand despite the "state of the Union." Is our faith a social status kind of club which says, "I'll go to this church because that is where most of my friends or business associates get religion." If that is our faith, when the tough times come, we'll fall with the rest of the world.

There is really only one place to stand in this whole wide world. That place is with Jesus. Do you want to stand when all else falls? If you do, stand with Jesus. Hang on to Him. Listen to His every living word. Trust in His every certain promise. And having done all to stand, STAND . . . Rex

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

American ingenuity! It's limitless!

Pet rocks are not the latest thing, of course, but they are fairly new. If you haven't one, then you can't imagine what fun you're missing.

Think of all the wonderful benefits of having a rock for your pet . . . There's no expense for special food . . . You don't have to get it annual vaccinations and there's no need for a license . . . It doesn't have to be walked . . . You don't have to clean its cage . . . There's no danger of getting scratched or bitten or bucked or kicked in a playful "romp" with this pet . . . Still another plus for a pet rock is the fact that you'll never have a puddle to mop.

You can caress or cuddle it . . . you can croon to it or cry over it and it always listens.

One of Lubbock's better department stores has them for you if you find yourself just having to have the clever little critters (is a rock a critter?). They're ONLY four dollars . . . the ones I saw were. Now, you'll have to agree, that's a whole lot cheaper than pedigreed poodles, thoroughbred ponies, fancy felines or tropical fish!

And, still newer! This week another of the City's top shops offered "pebble pals." For just three dollars, one can purchase their own pebble pal which demands "little of you but love and understanding." You can even teach him tricks from a "handy little training manual" that comes free with "him" (they call it "him" so maybe the rock people haven't heard of Women's Lib).

'Nuf nonsense. But, what price nonsense for some folk!

Business Corner
LET'S TALK ABOUT NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

BY JANIS CHANEY

SHOULD YOU PREPARE YOUR OWN ADS OR SEEK HELP?

Everyone who has been in business for a few years should have learned many valuable lessons about preparing his own newspaper advertising, if he has done much advertising during his business life. This is probably the reason for the old adage which states that everyone is his own favorite ad writer.

It is certainly true that experience is the best teacher, but where advertising dollars are concerned, unless you have "hit on" an advertising approach that works 90% of the time to your advantage, you are taking a definite gamble if you don't seek the advice and counsel of your newspaper advertising representative. Here are a few good reasons why this is fact:

1. Your newspaper rep is not just a salesman. He has serviced many accounts and knows from past experience the type of advertising that "works", and, of course, the kind that does not prove resultful.
2. Your own advertising experience, though it may involve years in your business, is limited only to the results obtained through your own trial and error. For example, jewelers, druggists and bankers may know all there is to know about their businesses, but it is only logic to submit to the possibility that they cannot be experts in all aspects of business. If this were not true there would be no need to have specialists such as accountants, corporate attorneys, quality controllers, etc.
3. If you are a "lone wolf" when it comes to preparing your advertising, the chances are you will make mistakes that will lose business you could have had by simply getting and using an experienced advertising man's opinion. If you are going to spend money for advertising why not get as much results as possible? What difference does it make who came up with the "good ideas" as long as you get good results?

There are advertisers who will not take suggestions for improvement of their ads, but these are the same people you'll find crying the blues about insufficient results from their advertising. If you enjoy creating your own ads, fine, do it! But, don't shut yourself off from the benefits that are attainable by having another opinion before your ads go to press. Especially the opinion of your newspaper advertising representative.

Remember, there are thousands of professional advertising and copywriting men in the world, and even they, the pros that are supposed to know everything about advertising, NEVER place an ad in a newspaper or other media without consulting other men and women in the field. Two heads are still better than one!

If you are a businessman who has help from suppliers, in the preparation of advertising layouts, you are indeed fortunate. A supplier providing you with professionally prepared ads, pre-tested for positive results, is performing a very worthwhile service, even if you must pay a small fee for it. If you doubt this, ask an independent advertising preparation service what they would charge for the creation of just ONE ad; you will be convinced!

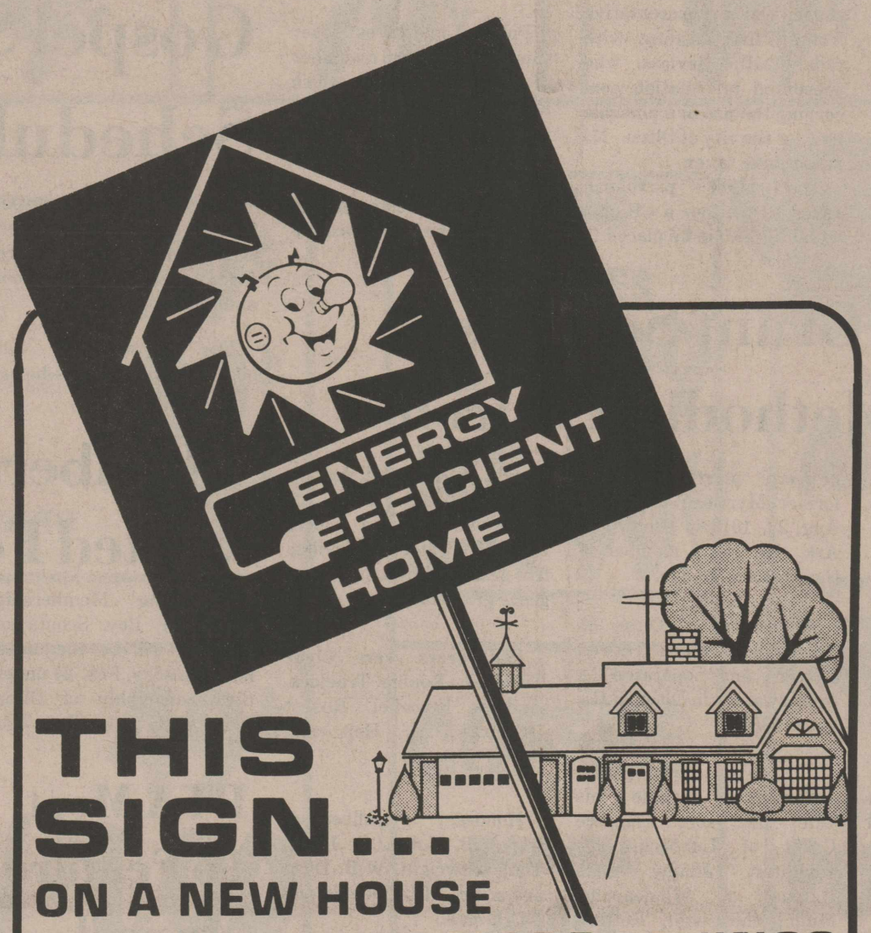

Is working with an advertising agency a good idea? Absolutely, if your budget is big enough to interest an agency. Most agencies work on a 15% commission which is paid them in the form of a discount from the media in which they place your advertising. So, except for special service charges such as artwork, photography, supplies, etc., the service costs you nothing, and you have the distinct advantage of having highly experienced advertising personnel create for your approval all of your ads. Of course, care in selecting an agency should be exercised by talking to other clients of the agency to evaluate service, whether they meet their deadlines on time, pay their bills on time, and, above all, whether their advertising gets results.

For the smaller businessman not large enough to be attractive to an agency, and not large enough to maintain a full time advertising manager, your best "bargain" is your newspaper's advertising representative. He'll serve you well if you let him and your advertising will be far more resultful with his guidance than without it!

High Plains Farmers Set For Capitol Visit

A delegation of more than 60 High Plains farmers will go to Washington, D.C. Feb. 16-19 for meetings with top government officials, Sen. John Tower announced today.

The Texas Republican has arranged for the group to air their problems with Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Richard Bell. The top-ranking agriculture official directs U.S. policy on grain exports and commodities programs.

"The session with Secretary Bell will afford Texas producers an opportunity to explain their difficulties face-to-face with a key decision-maker," said Tower.

The farmers also will go in 6-member teams to visit numerous senators and congressmen from all over the nation. Topics for discussion will include grain embargoes, the rising costs of production, uncertainty of fuel supplies, and parity levels for farm commodities.

"The farmers' story is not being heard on Capitol Hill, especially by urban congressmen and senators from the Northeast states," said Tower. "Though heavily dependent on farm industry output, these states' elected officials often deal damaging blows to the bread basket with their votes on issues affecting agriculture."

"If farmers are going to be asked to produce to maximum capacity to feed our peoples, it is imperative that they have free access to world markets," added Tower.

Paul Revere

You who were born of the spirit of '76, listen . . . and listen well. I am the voice of PAUL REVERE. I lived a full life, blessed with a vigorous and practical mind that enabled me to accomplish many things, and the spirit to do what I could to help. I have created beauty in silver and copperplate; printed money; made false teeth; cast cannons; commanded a regiment; and, what people remember most, ridden a horse to warn of the coming of the British. But I most remember my bells. On the Sunday I died those bells, which I had cast, rang from New England to the West Indies, on ships at sea along the Baltic and North African coasts, all ringing to the glory of God. One of my most beautiful was the King's Chapel bell, the "passing bell", which tolled for the dead. That day it tolled for me, ending a life which I hope, helped to bring liberty, peace and beauty to the country I so loved.

LOVE LETTER OF THE WEEK
Dear Daisy:

I sure am glad you came along that night when you did. If you hadn't have I might have gone off with those good old boys from the Earth town.

I never would have thought we would have ever gone to that house that night. I sure had alot of fun listening to the tape player.

I guess the best part of the night was when we had the pillow fight and it worked up to a lot of smoochin'.

I really need to go now. I hope you can come to see me soon so we can get all of our New Years out of the way.

Love Ya,
D.

SPORTS: The girls played their game last Tuesday. I guess they will go to running track real soon.

At this point in this mess I would like to say "Hi" to some good friends that I have just made. First of all "Hello, Vicky, I sure had a good time even if I didn't know where we were most of the time." "Hello Elaine thanks for showing me the Spade drag. Hello, Darla, too bad I didn't see you much but I guess Stogie took good care of you."

Darla and Elaine I hope you said "Hi" to your mom for me. If you didn't - "Hello, Mom."

I'll come see ya'll again when I'm in good shape.

Well, that is all we have got to say this week, but one thing. The things that are happening in and out of school is not cool at all. So until next week keep the dip in and you'll ride that bull through the buzzer because the dip has balanced you out!

Soil Conservation

By Armando DeLeon

Demonstrations on two West Texas farms have proven that less gas is required when water from several small wells is first pumped into a collector tank then pushed into sprinkler systems with a booster pump.

Tests showed that three wells pumping directly into the sprinklers burned 1,020 cubic feet of gas per hour. The same three wells burned 620 cubic feet pumping into a collector tank, and an additional 300 cubic feet per hour were burned by the booster pump. A total of 920 cubic feed were burned by four pumps.

The main advantage of collector tanks is that the pressure of pumping water is greatly reduced, therefore, allowing each well to pump more water. In most cases one well would have to be cut off to keep the collector tank from over flowing, which in turn would reduce gas consumption an additional 100-200 cubic feet of gas per hour. This particular collector tank is located on the R.L. Buyer farm ½ mile south of Springlake.

You're doing without a Zimmatic center pivot. Saving your hard-earned capital for other improvements. Don't want to borrow right now.
But it's costing you money every year you wait. Two ways. First, you're losing the extra crop production you get under irrigation. Second, inflation is at work. Boosting prices, dropping the value of your dollars.

Why not rent a Zimmatic under our new lease plan? Let the system pay for itself and put some extra money in the bank for you at the same time.
Our rates are reasonable. You can include freight, installation, pump . . . other "above ground" items in one flexible package, tailored to your needs.
Why wait to irrigate? It's just costing you money. Call us today for details on our new lease plan.

For those who desire to create their own retirement plan by opening an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) at the bank, there can be some substantial tax savings over the long haul.

That is because an individual can deduct from gross income whatever is deposited in the IRA each year up to 15 per cent of gross income, not exceeding $1,500.

Normally, contributions to IRA are made during the years when an individual is experiencing his highest earning levels, and therefore is in higher tax brackets. Thus, during these high earning years, the individual might find himself paying personal income taxes of 40 per cent or more.

However, if he has an IRA plan he doesn't pay income tax on those funds, including the interest they have been drawing through the years, until he actually begins using the IRA money in his retired years. By that time the individual is in a much lower tax bracket -- because his annual gross income is probably much less than when he was working -- and he pays income tax at the lower rate, even though the money was actually earned when he was in a high tax bracket.
