BRASTIC REPORT ON NEW HAVEN RAILROAD IS FILED BY I. C. C.

DIRECTORS CHARGED WITH CRIMINAL MISMANAGEMENT

Commission Cites Specific Instances And Recommends Criminal And Civil Suits Be Filed

By Associated Press.
Washington, July 13.—"One of the most glaring instances of mal administration in all the history of American railroads" is the Interstate Commerce Commission's characterization of its findings in its investigations of the New Haven railroad's financial affairs reported to the Senate today.

Its report of 30,000 words probably is the most drastic ever made by the committee.

The New Haven directors were pronounced criminally negligent in their administration of the road's affairs.

Evidence pointing to violations of laws passed by the legislatures have been transmitted to district attorneys in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and New York to the federal department of Justice.

The report says:
A reasonable estimate of the losses to the New Haven by reason of waste and mismanagement will amount to between $60,000,000 and $90,000,000. The directors should be made civilly and criminally liable for these losses.

All the commission's charges of mismanagement were against the management of the New Haven under former President Mellen.

In justice to the present management the commission says: "It is but fair to say that they have co-operated with the commission and rendered it substantial assistance throughout the investigation."

Some specific instances.
The report cites the following specific instances of alleged mismanagement:
"Marked features and specific incidents in the loose administration and mismanagement of the New Haven as shown in the investigation are: The Boston, Main and despoliation; the inequity of Westchester acquisition; the recklessness in the purchase of Connecticut and Massachusetts trolleys at prices exorbitantly in excess of their value; the unwarranted expenditure of large amounts in educating public opinion; the acquisition without the directors knowledge of stocks in various companies; the habitual payment of vouchers without clear specification of details; the confusing interrelation of the principal company and its subsidiaries and the consequent complication of accounts; the practice of financial hyperdormancy in issuing large blocks of New Haven stocks for stocks of the New England Navigation Company, and the manipulation of these securities; the fictitious sales of New Haven stocks to friendly parties with the design of boosting the stocks and unloading on the public at the higher price; the unlawful division of corporate funds for political organizations; the extensive use of a lobby; attempts to control utterances of the press by subsidizing reporters; payment of money and profligate issue of free passes to legislators of their friends; the investment of $400,000 in securities of New England newspaper; the regular employment of political bosses in Rhode Island and other states to prevent them from becoming active against the railroads; the $2,500,000 Billard transaction; the inability of Oakland, Maine, to recover for $1,032,000 of the New Haven fund entrusted to him for carrying out the Westchester deal; the domination of New Haven affairs by Mr. Morgan and Mr. Mellen; the unwarranted increase of the New Haven's liabilities from $33,000,000 in 1903 to $417,000,000 in 1913; the increase in floating notes from nothing in 1913 to about $40,000,000 in 1914; and the absence of financial acumen displayed by eminent financiers in directing the railroad in its attempt to monopolize transportation in New England."

The combination of all these things has resulted in the present deplorable situation of the road the report says.

MORGAN ESTATE AND ROCKEFELLER TO BE DEFENDANTS

By Associated Press.
Boston, July 13.—The attorneys representing minority stockholders of the New Haven railroad have demanded that the directors join with their clients in a suit to recover about $125,000,000 alleged to have been wasted by the management. It is said this suit will be filed this week against the estate of J. P. Morgan and against William Rockefeller and others who were New Haven directors at the time of the transactions which the Interstate Commerce Commission has investigated.

EXPLOSIVES SENT OVER CATHOLICS

IRISH NATIONALISTS BELIEVING ATTACK ON ORANGEMEN FOR DEFENSE

NO FIGHTING UP TO NOON

Anti Home Rule Campaign Lends Excitement To Orangemen's Day Celebration

By Associated Press.
Belfast, July 13.—The insistent demands of the Protestants in Ulster for exclusion of that province from the operation of the Irish home rule act lent excitement to today's celebration of Orangemen's day.

At Londonderry the Orangemen began the celebration with a cannonade during which they fired explosives so that they burned every residence in the Catholic section of the city. The nationalists believing that the cannonading was the prelude to fighting by the Orangemen organized for defense, but up to noon no collisions between the two forces had taken place.

In Belfast 5,000 Orangemen marched with Sir Edward Carson at their head and held an open air meeting where resolutions were adopted calling on the Ulster leaders to take what steps they thought necessary to prevent Ulster from coming under the operation of the home rule act.

Throughout the Ulster province extensive preparations had been taken to prevent clashes between the factions.

Youth Peddled Beer on Sunday; Caught and Was Fined $25

A fine of twenty-five dollars was assessed in police court this morning against a youth charged with vagrancy for selling beer on Sunday. It was shown that he sold five pint bottles at a local restaurant house at one dollar per bottle. He told the officers that he secured the beer at a house in the reservation but did not know what house it was.

Another defendant was a tall, sandy haired individual with innocent blue eyes who was charged with vagrancy. His feet were bare and he was ragged and unkempt. It was shown that he had continued to hang around downtown alleys after being warned by the officers. He had been sick, he declared, in a illness undertaken and unable to work. He was bound for Colorado.

"If we turn you loose, how long will it take you to get out of town?" asked City Attorney Nutt.

"How far is it to the city limits?" asked the man.

"I can make it in twenty minutes." "The worst thing about him is that he's broke," said Mr. Nutt, "let's turn him loose. The man ambled out, leaving court and officers something new to puzzle over."

DECLARED FALSE PROPHECY

Unknown Woman Stabs Official of Russian Church While On Visit In Siberia

St. Petersburg, July 13.—Details reached here today of a probably fatal attack on the Mystic Lay Monk Gregory Rastucin whose influence over the Emperor is great. Rastucin, who has been one of the most prominent figures in Russia, was visiting his native village in Siberia when a woman, who was not known there, approached him, pretending to be a beggar. After speaking to him she stabbed him in the abdomen with a long military dirk. She was arrested and confessed she had waited for two weeks for an opportunity. She said she tried to kill him because he was a false prophet and was leading astray everybody in Russia. Physicians say Rastucin's wounds are likely to prove fatal.

"HELLO BILL" OPENS DENVER'S DOORS TODAY

Denver, July 13.—"Hello Bill" is the common form of greeting in Denver today for nearly 20,000 "Bills" otherwise known as members of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks today began the festivities incident to the Golden Jubilee Reunion of their organization here. By night it is estimated that fully 30,000 Elks and from 30,000 to 40,000 friends and relatives will be in the city. Special trains began arriving at noon Sunday from all parts of the country and since then it is estimated that one special has come in every half hour.

What the grand lodge officers declare promises to be the most successful reunion in the history of Elksdom opened at 10 a. m. with a reception to the ladies of the Elks at the Elks Home. In fact the ladies monopolized the attention of the reception committees during the day. After an auto ride to various points of interest, a number of "daylight tennis parties" were held in their honor this afternoon.

The formal exercises opening the reunion will be held tonight at the Municipal Auditorium. Mayor J. M. Perkins for the city and Exalted Ruler Kincaid for the local Elks delivered the addresses of welcome, response being by Edward Leach, grand exalted ruler of the order.

All day long committees of local Elks, most of them in uniform, were at the Union Station to greet the visiting delegations and to escort them to their headquarters. For the entertainment of visiting "Bills" thirty bands were engaged to give concerts in the downtown streets.

The decorations for the reunion are equal to those which greeted visitors here during the triumphal ovation of Knights Templar Masons last summer. The Denver lodge has spent more than $100,000 for decorations and other plans for entertaining the guests. A gigantic representation of an Elk, brilliantly illuminated, is the principal feature of the decorations.

The reunion will conclude Friday evening with the grand lodge of the fifth session of the grand lodge will be opened at the auditorium Wednesday the competitive drills of visiting drill teams will be held and Thursday the big feature of the reunion—the grand parade of all Elks lodges.

LOVE AND LUNACY ABROAD IN JUNE

Paris, July 13.—June, when Cupid is busiest, is also the month of lunatics, according to Dr. Roubovitch, chief of staff at the Bicetre hospital for the insane here. His statistics, which cover a number of years, show June to lead all other months by far with its average number of new cases of mental breakdown. September shows the smallest average. The scale runs: June 1,896; May 1,763; July 1,745; October 1,744; March 1,729; January 1,709; December 1,692; April 1,649; August 1,632; November 1,614; February 1,503; September 1,501. The alienist believes that spring, with its effects on the nervous system, has something to do with the averages.

Terms of Sentences Thousands Texas Convicts Involved

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, July 13.—Should the contents of W. O. Murray, chairman of the State Penitentiary Commission, not be sustained, thousands of ex-convicts might be placed in the position of not having served their legal term. Mr. Murray, as disclosed in the case of F. E. Pyre of Houston, contends the term of sentence commences when the higher court overrules a motion for rehearing, and that it has been customary to discharge prisoners, dating their terms from that time. The attorney general holds the sentences begin when the legal mandate has been issued, which is after the denial of a new hearing.

HURRIED PREPARATIONS ARE MADE FOR HUERTA'S FLIGHT

SURRENDER—CARANZA DEMAND.

Washington, July 13.—General Carranza has formally notified the United States that he would not enter into any mediation whatever with the Huerta delegates and would accept only unconditional surrender.

VERA CRUZ, JULY 13.—Four hundred laborers were put to work this afternoon repairing the two mile gap in the Mexican railway connecting Vera Cruz with the capital. The despatch with which the work is being done indicates a possibility that the first train after its completion may be a special carrying Huerta and his family to the coast. The gap will be repaired within two days.

Messages from Mexico City say that an extraordinary session was held there Saturday afternoon, but no announcement had been made as to the nature of the proceedings. The session followed a conference between several senators and Francisco Carbajal, minister of foreign affairs.

CARBALJAL DON'T SEEM ANXIOUS FOR HUERTA'S JOB.

By Associated Press.
Mexico City, July 13.—It was declared here this afternoon from an authentic source that unless a quick agreement is reached between the contending factions in Mexico, Francisco Carbajal, minister of foreign affairs, will sever his connections with the administration.

WILSON CONFERS WITH OTHER BUSINESS MEN

President is Told Business Men Want Legislation This Term and Business Better

By Associated Press.

Herman of Detroit and J. C. Branch of Chicago. Other similar conferences will be held at the White House later this week.

NEW THEORY HELD IN BAILEY MURDER CASE

By Associated Press.
Frederick, N. Y., July 13.—Newly discovered evidence in the murder of Mrs. Louise Bailey in Dr. Edwin Carman's office has caused District Attorney Smith to for ma new theory in direct opposition to that brought forward by Dr. Carman. Other similar planned to kill him and not his patient. The district attorney has prepared a chart to show the positions occupied by the doctor and his patient. This shows that only the narrowest part of the physician's shoulder could have been visible to the slayer while an almost unobstructed view was presented of Mrs. Bailey.

FIGHTING HAS STARTED AT SAN LAUIS POTOSI

By Associated Press.
Saltillo, Mexico, July 13.—Fighting already has commenced at San Luis Potosi. Engagements of outposts designed by the Constitutionalists to establish the Federal strength and position are of daily occurrence according to reports received by Gen. Carranza.

Spies and deserters indicate that the Federalists are in force within the city and are strongly entrenched. Their number is estimated at not less than 12,000. It also is evident that the Federal commander, Gen. Maas, has determined to make his stand within the city, within shelter of his fortifications, and that he is disinclined to attempt a sally such as proved so disastrous for the Huerta cause at Ahualulco, outside Guadalajara, where Gen. Alvaro Obregon administered the defeat which placed the second largest city in Mexico in Constitutional hands. It is evident, according to the reports of the scouts, that the attack on San Luis Potosi will meet a desperate resistance, but, in spite of the fact that the Federalists hold every advantage of position, are strongly entrenched and are strong in numbers, Gen. Gonzalez, commanding the division of the northeast, is confident of speedy victory for his forces.

$1600 RAISED HERE FOR KEY MEMORIAL CHAIR

Bishop McCoy of Atlanta and Dr. Young, pastors Sunday at M. E. Church, South

Sunday was a notable day at the First M. E. Church, South, the church having with it on that day Bishop McCoy of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Young, pastor of the church at the Southwestern Methodist University at Dallas.

Dr. Young is raising funds for the Key Memorial chair in the Southwestern Methodist University. In the Methodist Sunday school of the state. The Sunday school here subscribed $1,000 for this purpose yesterday morning. An effort is being made to raise $250,000 for this purpose.

Bishop McCoy delivered an inspiring address to a great crowd at the morning service on the church and the work in bringing about better conditions in the world. He left last night for Atlanta where he goes to meet with the general educational board of the church to consider the location of a Methodist University east of the Mississippi River. Birmingham and Atlanta are the two cities making the strongest bids for the university.

HALF OF WHEAT CROP HAS BEEN THRESHED

Price continues at 75 cents and wagon receipts here around 10,000 bushels daily

Wheat continues to sell at 75 cents per bushel in the local market and local receipts of wagon wheat are around 10,000 bushels daily.

It is estimated here that more than fifty per cent of the crop has been threshed and probably 35 per cent has been marketed.

The railroads are providing plenty of cars for the wheat movement and there is no indication now of any shortage. Some farmers are prepared to hold their wheat and are doing so and more could be held if there should develop any trouble about handling the crop.

The railroads are enjoying the best business in several years and the pay rolls here this month will be very heavy mostly on account of the grain movement.

SALVATION ARMY HERE WINS CHAMPIONSHIP

Makes Best Showing in Sunday School Contest in "Divine Office"

Captain J. J. Bell of the local Salvation Army corps has received notice from Major John C. Smith, chief of division, Oklahoma, that the corps here has made the best showing in Sunday school work of any corps in the division, which comprises Texas and Oklahoma and part of Louisiana, for the quarter ending June 30. Captain Bell and his co-workers here are much pleased over the distinction and will make a determined effort to retain the banner here.

Major Smith is notifying Captain Bell that it is with much pleasure that I write to inform you that you have made the largest average increase in your Sunday school work for the quarter ending June 30. You are therefore entitled to the division championship banner, which I shall take pleasure in presenting to you on my next visit to your corps.

"Trusting you will be able to retain it at Wichita Falls, and never let it go back to Oklahoma again, believe me faithfully yours, etc."

To the Voters of Precinct No. 1, Wichita County.

Two years ago next November you honored me by giving me the office of Justice of the Peace, for which I thank you. I have done my best to fill the office as it should be filled. Now I come to you asking for a second term. I am in my seventy-first year and have resided in Wichita county almost continuously since 1881. All of the old timers know me well. I served four years in the Confederate army. As to my citizenship, that is for you to judge. To all the trust you imposed on me consumes all of my time. To get out and make a canvass would be taking time that belongs to the office. So I take this method of coming before you asking to be re-elected as Justice of the Peace Precinct No. 1, Place No. 2.

The Victoria is showing the first episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery" part two. It shows Jones, the butler struggling to free himself. Removing the receiver from the telephone resting on the table near his chair with his teeth, the butler calls police headquarters. A platoon of police soon arrive and unbind him. They find the safe in the Hargreaves home broken open and the contents scattered about. A search is begun for the conspirators. Florence Gray (Hargreaves' daughter) arrives with Miss Farlow to find her father gone. Jones who meets her at the station, produces the other half of the bracelet which Florence carries and gives her a letter from her father instructing her to trust implicitly in him. Florence's father has had time to adjust himself to her new surroundings when she has two visitors. One of them is Norton, the reporter, who reveals himself as a true friend. The other is Countess Olga Petrov who upon the pretense that she knew Florence's father, tries to ingratiate herself into the girl's confidence. While the countess, Norton, Florence and Miss Farlow are together, two of the conspirators, representing themselves to be central office detectives force their way into Hargreaves' house in an effort to find Hargreaves' money for which they did not have time to search thoroughly the night before. Norton at once recognizes the detectives as imposters and calls up police headquarters. The conspirators suspect the reporter and while a desperate fight is in progress the police arrive. The two conspirators are captured and carried away.

Mother's Silk Dress.
When, after years all long and lean—
With labor every day for her—
When finally a sky serene Peeped from behind the clouds that were.

When father's job was going strong,
And Sister Grace had gone to work,
And brother tried—but not for long—
To help "Doc" Jones, the druggist's clerk.

When we had patched the roof and
fence,
We made a plan, you'd never guess,
We planned to disregard expense
And buy, for Ma a new silk dress.

It had to be of black grosgrain,
And stiff enough to stand alone;
In fashion it must be quite plain
But velvet folds should add a tone
Of elegance, so, when she passed, Down North Street, on her way to meeting.

A glance of envy might be cast
Together with each friendly greeting
And neighbors' eyes would open wide
With thoughts that look as best express.

While we would try our best to hide
Our pride in Mother's new silk dress.

Aunt Fanny went to town to get
The samples and a pattern book.
Ma's head on certain style was set,
But all of us must have a look.

And give our views on this and that,
And make suggestions as to ways
Ma might trim her last year's hat
To match her newer, richer days.

"Mis Barker" was engaged to sew
The silken treasure, but—distress!
Dear Baby Jean was stricken low,
And doctor got Ma's new silk dress—

WALKING LIFE'S SEAS WAS THEME

REV. CHAS. SMITH DRAWS LES-SONS FROM PETER'S IMPUL-SIVE ATTEMPT.

TYPICAL OF HUMAN NATURE

Peter's Self Confidence and Its Overthrow Emphasized in Sermon
Sunday

"Walking Life's Seas" was the theme for Rev. Charles Clark Smith
at the First M. E. Church, Sunday morning. Several lessons of interest were exemplified in the incident of Peter's unsuccessful attempt at walking on the waves.

"Theologians and Bible critics," said
Rev. Smith, "have amused themselves for some years in arguing as to the possibility of such incidents and in searching for any sufficient motive. If, however, we have any adequate conception of the divinity of Christ and therefore of his infinite power we will have no difficulty in understanding that with him walking on the waves is no test of his power.

If we have any adequate understanding of human nature and will remember that Christ permitted but did not command this attempted walk on the waves thus limiting the question of motive to Peter alone we will have no difficulty in understanding the acting motive. The impulse springing up within the heart of Peter and not from Christ. Peter is quite typical of human nature in general. Impulse played a large part in his conduct and it plays a large part in the conduct of us all. Doubtless with us the faith-er permits much that he does not command and many of our dilemmas are incident to our rash impetuosity.

But by God's help, if we trust him even in despair—as did Peter, those incidents are overruled to our good.
It would be well for us to pause long enough sometimes to inquire how much of our life is inspired by our un-reasoning impulses.

Peter's Self Confidence.
The story is marked by several outstanding principles. The first is Peter's self confidence and its overthrow. Confidence is a valuable asset, and properly placed, but it is a quality of character that may be easily overdone. Self confidence leads many into difficulty and must usually be overthrown before one can go on to good development. Peter's confidence was overthrown in a very natural way. He had minimized the danger in his own mind and then he magnified his powers and further he lost sight of the real source of all power.

The thoughtful individual
ought to know that he can not change
the fact of danger by bringing himself to believe that there is after all little risk. It accomplishes nothing to minimize the power of the enemy.
Sometimes you hear young people minimizing the danger of certain things. They may be very sincere but moved more by impulse than reason.

Perhaps the young man has succeeded in making himself believe that the use of tobacco does not reduce his efficiency but the man who has investigated knows the facts regardless of the young man's notions.
Perhaps the young lady has succeeded in making herself believe that she is incurring no risk by going on the ball room floor but the appalling facts and cold blooded statistics are to be reckoned with regardless of her convictions. Some men may rail at the church's insistence upon strict abstinence from all intoxicants, but the facts in the case are all with the churches. To magnify our own powers with reference to these dangers is foolish also. To say as many will, "You are over-cautious," "I will not sink. Such thought is crass folly.
Such talk is as vain as it would have been for Peter to have said, 'Now the rest of you are weaklings. You can not walk on the waves. But watch me. There is no danger for me because I am so strong. I can do it if all right even if others can not. Peter was vain enough but he was not so vain as that.

Real Source of Power.
Peter lost sight of the real source of all the power he had. The power did not within himself but in the Christ. The man or woman toying with sin has lost sight of the fact that to continue toying with sin is to lose hold on his source of power.
Even his strong will will slip after continued debauchment. Thus in Peter's foolhardy venture we have a picture of life as it is often lived.
There is a spirit of dare in humanity and when we are seized with this spirit we would remember to stop and think the thing through before we plunge into the waves. We should remember that to minimize the danger in our own minds will not change
the real condition; that to magnify
our own powers will not make it foolish; that to let go of the real source of all power for right living is little short of suicidal.

We venture not only along lines
where the physical welfare is involved but also often along lines involving spiritual welfare. The venture-ness of our warfare with sin is often startling. We assume unnecessary things in the name of faith. There was nothing worth while to be accomplished by Peter's rash act either than to bring him quickly into the Master's presence. Jesus would have been with the Disciples in the boat in a moment any way. It was a needless venture. When Christ stood on the pinnacle of the temple during the days of His temptation He was moved to cast himself down to test
His power and to create a sensation,
but He resisted the temptation because it had no worthy motive. So we have no right to experiment with Faith is never irrational. It reaches further than reason but always in a direction parallel with reason. Faith can not contradict good sense and to try to make it do so is to be needlessly venturesome with faith. Such faith loses its intensity in the slight of difficulty. Paul's, 'I am persuaded that neither life nor death, nor things present nor things to come, nor heights nor depths, nor any other creature can separate us from the love of God, such confidence is informed faith based on rational presumption and is not a blind leap into the dark. It was not such a faith that would waver at the sight of the first difficulty. It held firm even unto death with Paul.

The Hard To Bear Us Up.
Peter got a much needed lesson
when he began to sink. All his boastfulness, all his self confidence oozed out the ends of his fingers and he cried to the Christ to save him. Sometimes our sinkings are hard to bear
but if they bring us to our better
selves they will be helpful in the end.
If like Peter, we assume too much and plunge into something unwarranted
it is time we had the egotism all taken out of us. We force ourselves into a hard place and suddenly our bravado vanishes and we are exceedingly helpless. Instead of our fearlessness we are exceedingly fearful. We have lost hold of self and we have not learned how to take hold upon Christ. Fortunately indeed it was that Christ was near by to take Peter's hand and hold him up. Fortunate it is for us when we begin to sink that there is a hand near by which can bear us up.

We have in this incident an illustration of the immediate answer to the cry of faith. It was not an ideal faith. It was a mixture of terror and faith, but it was sufficient to induce Christ to extend the hand of helpfulness. Fortunately for us all Christ does not demand that we know how to exercise a perfect faith before He will hear us. A very imperfect faith, if properly exercised will get hold on God. It is not uncommon that we hear the cry of faith in times of peril. We need to exercise faith
the more to be sure, but in order to know how to properly exercise it in times of trial we should work with our faith in times of calm. Jesus saved Peter first and rebuked him afterwards. He let him sink far enough into the waves that he might realize his danger and his own helplessness and that he might appreciate help. Peter was glad that the hand of the Christ was near.

Keep Eyes Fixed On God.
Peter's clinging to the hand of the Master was natural if unreasonable
at that moment. There was an element of triumph as well as of defeat. For a time Peter made a success of his venture. What would he do? So long as he kept his eyes on the Christ he could walk the waves.
When he began to look at the side of the waves and lost sight of Christ he sank. What a picture of life this is.
Without eyes fixed on God we can walk through great waves of difficulty.
With our eyes on the waves we are sure to sink. The thoughtful soul should undertake to walk no unsuccessful waves. God may permit some things which he does not command and it is best for us to go only at His word. If he calls and we fix our eyes on him we can cross safely.
If we sink His hand is near to recue us. If we know the feel of His hand and how to grasp it we can walk
the fiercest tempest successfully.

COOL
SATISFYING
REFRESHING

I am referring to a glass of Red Wing Grape Juice after a hard day's work. Just sit down in the coolest part of your porch and open a bottle of Red Wing Grape Juice that has been on the ice for two or three days. Dilute with water, add a little lemon juice, too, if you like, and you will be fully satisfied and refreshed. It's well to have a wonderful summer beverage ready at all times. A half dozen bottles and you have the price on a case.

OCTOBER 26 DESIGNATED AS SCHOOL HOUSE DAY

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, July 13.—Seeking to stimulate interest in the present needs of the public schools, particularly the smaller schools of the state, with a view to obtaining legislation to add them to the Conference for Education in Texas has designated October 26 as "School House Day," and October 24 as "Education Day," and asked that meetings be held throughout the state on those days.

ED HOWARD, Mgr.

Had those members of the legislature who rode into office on the issue of prohibition "stood hitched" there would have been no necessity of electing an anti speaker of the House. As The Times understands it, the pros had a majority of 37. A caucus on the speakership was called for, and a candidate selected. Those pros who refused to enter the pro caucus put out a candidate of their own and voted for him. The result was the election of Mr. Terrell, an anti prohibitionist, as speaker of the House. It is also a matter of record that many of those pros who were elected as such, and who refused to stand hitched, thus making it possible for the election of an anti speaker of the House, were given chairmanships of various committees that would carry them from one end of the state to the other at the expense of the state and financial profit to themselves. Was this their reward for betraying a trust?

The minority stockholders of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad who were robbed of about $125,000,000 by the majority stockholders, will institute suit seeking to recover that amount from the directors of the road. They charge this money was illegally squandered by the big financiers who gained control of the road and on that account the suit will be watched with a great deal of interest by people everywhere in the United States. If they win, and the directors of the road are required to pay this money over to the minority stockholders, the effect will be to put a stop to that sort of robbery. The estate of the late J. P. Morgan is involved in the suit, as well as that of Wm. Rockefeller and Lewis Case Ledyard.

"Is this hot enough for you?" inquired a man at Wichita Falls the other day. The indignant lady thus accosted wore out an umbrella over his head and then fainted away. The court fined the inquirer $5, refused to convict the lady of assault and called the offense committed by the man "provocation."—Beaumont Enterprise.

There is a suggestion in this which it is hoped the women of South Texas will follow. There are plenty of men prepared to furnish the umbrellas, and no judge would dare refuse to follow the unwritten law in such cases even if it took him out of the window.—Austin American.

COLLAPSIBLE PLATFORMS

It so happened on Saturday that a platform collapsed when Colonel Ball was speaking at Royce, and amid the confusion he remarked, "That's the way the Ferguson platform is doing only it is sinking deeper and there are no women on it," also, that a platform collapsed when Mr. Ferguson was speaking at Sulphur Springs and he said, "That's the way Ball's campaign is going to finish."

Such things occur so often and the political orators are so ready with their comment that we sometimes half-way suspect that campaign managers pull off the trick on purpose. Whether that is so or not, the collapsing platform always reminds us of the collapsible platforms upon which many men ride into office and immediately fold-up and tuck away until needed again.

We fear that some of the platforms now being presented in Texas will prove to be collapsible after the election. Taking the lunatics out of the jail, putting the penitentiary system on a business basis providing generosity for the institutions of learning, bringing about peace and good will by quieting agitation and by harmonizing factions—all these things which are promised now have been promised before but somehow the platform has collapsed, for there are still lunatics in the jail, the penitentiary system is still a problem, institutions of learning are still hampered and there is still agitation and strife.

governor and two years hence he will ask for a second term as a vindication. It is to be hoped that the people will take note now of his platform and then of his performance, and if he has worked the old collapsible trick on them that they will refuse the vindication.

THE REVOLT IN LOUISIANA

By Savoyard
Politically Louisiana threatens to desert the democratic party—that is, the Louisiana that grows sugar and rice. Cotton Louisiana is as democratic as Mississippi or Arkansas. This new movement asserts that it is on the way to the bull moose camp, which, so far as Louisiana is concerned is a way station on the journey to the republican party. Did the Louisiana "fledglings" ever hear of a man named Mahone, who left the democratic party and went on an expedition for spoils? The venture proved swiftly disastrous.

Here is the situation. Theodore Roosevelt is a candidate for president and he believes he can disrupt the South that succeeded in 1881. His gratuitous and insolent insult to Jefferson Davis for a favor the gentleman did him was resented by the Southern people, and in a fulsome address of Mr. Davis on one of his presidential tours, Colonel Roosevelt sought to make amends for his labor of abuse. He declared that he would break the solid South before he left the White House.

In the spring of 1912 Roosevelt believed that the nomination of Champ Clark by the democrats was inevitable. Had he dreamed that Woodrow Wilson, the man there would have been no bull moose party. But when Wilson was nominated Roosevelt had gone too far to withdraw, and all his energies were devoted to polling a bigger vote than Taft, which he did. That was pretty good evidence that the republican party could not get along without Teddy.

And that is his sole aim in 1914. He will play the same game, and if the democrats shall carry the country as is more than likely, we will see a movement to Rooseveltize the G. O. P. and make it as much his personal goods and chattels as the bull moose party now is. That is his game. Whether it shall prove successful time alone will tell. His assault on Penrose, there is little doubt, will prove successful for that gentleman in the primary polled every republican vote he had, and it is unthinkable that he can get in November more than 50,000 depraved democrats who should be in the republican party in name as they are in fact. For 50 years all the republican bosses of Pennsylvania have had in their pay thousands of scamps in the democratic uniform.

Unless Penrose can muster at least 200,000 voters who did not cast their ballots for him in the primary he will be beaten, and either Mitchell Palmer or Gifford Pinchot will get his seat in the senate. If the conditions were as they existed in the old days of Quay, there would be no contest. The count in Philadelphia would settle it. If the ballot boxes were big enough to hold the fraudulent votes. But things have changed. It is far more difficult to steal an election nowadays—even in Philadelphia.

There will never be another tariff enacted by an American congress writ by special interests. It is not at all likely that this bull moose movement in Louisiana will amount to much. The revolt of Mahone against the democratic party in 1881 was serious, and might have resulted in great disaster to the democratic party, had there not arisen a quarrel between Garfield and Conkling. Ben Hill went to the president and demanded Mahone's head as the price of democratic support of the nomination of Robertson as collector of the port of New York, and he got the little man's head, and if there is any ambidextrous democrat in Louisiana tired of his political head he can rid himself of it by joining in this absurd bull moose business.

THOROUGH INVESTIGATION

Before he does it let him read Ben Hill's speech on Mahone in the senate room after the inauguration of Garfield. It beats the first William Pitt on Hume Campbell.

CHARTERS PROCEEDINGS

Attorney General's Department Going into All of Proceed-ings
The attorney general's department at Austin has written here for a copy of the charter proceedings, going back to the original meeting held in the fall of 1912. The charter proceedings will be gone over thoroughly in connection with the approval of the hospital bonds by the state department.

The purchasers of the bonds have asked the city council to increase the tax rate to three cents, so as to provide sufficient interest and sinking fund, but this will not be done until the attorney general has acted, as other action may be necessary before the money for the bonds is paid.

Archer County Farmer Reports Wheat Yield 27 Bushels Per Acre

Archer County News.
J. W. Seals, of two miles northeast of Archer City, walked off with the blue ribbon as champion wheat raiser of Archer county. Off twenty acres of his wheat 540 bushels, or 27 bushels per acre, was registered by the machine. Another section of his wheat produced 24 bushels per acre, and his worst patch only made 20 bushels per acre. The average for his 120 acres down was 23-23 bushels per acre. His wheat, the fall-caster variety, not only produced more per acre but tasted considerably better than that of his neighbors. He intends selling his surplus wheat for seed and stored it for that purpose. Besides marketing his own through the winter Mr. Seals derived $2 per acre from pasturing stock for other people.

U. M. Taylor and Miss Moxa Maulden of Iowa Park were issued a marriage license this morning. Rev. Moreau of Iowa Park married the couple in the county clerk's office.

The case of Smith vs. the Traction Company, for damages in connection with the death of a young man last winter, is now on trial in the district court.

Widely scattered thunderstorms are probable," said the bulletin, "but no important disturbance is charted."

OCTOBER 26 DESIGNATED AS SCHOOL HOUSE DAY

By Associated Press.
Austin, Texas, July 13.—Seeking to stimulate interest in the present needs of the public schools, particularly the smaller schools of the state, with a view to obtaining legislation to aid them, the Conference for Education in Texas has designated October 16 as "School House Day," and October 24 as "Education Day," and asked that meetings be held throughout the state on those days.

On the first day citizens have been asked to gather at their local school houses to consider means of improving general conditions, while on the second day the delegates have been asked to meet at the county seat and take steps for improving conditions.

OUR REPUTATION

Is not based upon the sale we make today, but the way our work shows up throughout the years withstanding that greatest of all tests, "The ravages of time."

We have erected a good many MEMORIALS throughout Texas and Oklahoma, and can always point with pride to each and everyone, representing full value for the money expended. We never sacrifice QUALITY in order to make a sale knowing as we do that quantity without quality is always a source of much dissatisfaction, not only to our customers, but to ourselves.

Your dollars will bring greater satisfaction used in the erection of a memorial to your departed loved ones than they will expended in any other way. Why not follow that best of all impulses, and beautify your cemetery plot today?

Remember the house of QUALITY.

WHEN YOU READ A BOOK
The first fourteen chapters are taken up with a minute description of sloppy weather. Long swirls of riven rain beat against the window where the beautiful girl sits and wonders "why doesn't he come?" Reading further you find that the hero is a strawberry blond with pink nose and a weakness for hemp cigarettes. And the heroine proves to be a gum chewer of the most abandoned type, and at this juncture you remember reading the book in 1880. If you tackle a magazine the most interesting thing you can find is the 1915 models with electric lights and self-commencers and you are not interested because you are either too poor to buy one or you wish you had not bought the one you have. If you peer into a newspaper you will either find that Jim Ferguson is the most colossal thief in the universe with a well-developed weakness for foreclosing mortgages on widows' homes or that Tom Hall belongs to the trusts, body and soul, and owns one of those things that the spellbinders call a gilded palace of sin; also a wholesale liquor house.

CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM

WILL CLOSE TONIGHT

O'Donnell's interpretation "Sign of the Cross" and Venetian Singers Features

Two large audiences attended the chautauqua yesterday and heard an enjoyable program with the Cambridge players and a Japanese lecturer, Seichi E. Ikemoto, as the entertainers. The Cambridge players' program consisted of impersonations and songs; one of the party was ill and unable to appear which curtailed the program somewhat.

The chautauqua ends today with Congressman Bourland of Missouri as the afternoon's principal speaker. He will lecture on "What Uncle Sam is Doing for the Farmer and His Wife." Tonight James Francis O'Donnell will give the noted drama, the "Sign of the Cross." The Venetian Singers will provide music for both programs.

The lecture Sunday afternoon on "The Changing Orient," by Mr. Ikemoto, was one of the stellar features of the entire chautauqua program. The speaker appeared in native costume. He used perfect English and gave a talk that not only gave his hearers a new conception of the Japanese people, but increased their respect for the little western nation. Mr. Ikemoto is a devout Christian and Christianity is reflected throughout his lecture. He related numerous anecdotes to illustrate his points and kept his hearers well entertained. He spoke also at the night performance.

Today's program marks the conclusion of the six days and those who have attended with any regularity are more than pleased with the excellence of the attractions offered.

HOME GROWN BEEF WILL BE GIVEN PREFERENCE

By Associated Press. Fort Worth, July 13.—What Texas cattle raisers believe to be the last big purchase of Argentine beef by the United States government is due to be loaded on transports at New Orleans beginning tomorrow. The Argentine beef is part of a shipment of 2,000,000 pounds. Texas cattle raisers protested when the government in advertising for bids for this shipment gave the preference for Argentine beef. Since that protest the Texas Cattle Raisers Association has announced that the war department has assured them no similar bids are likely to be requested in the near future and that in the next bids preference probably will be given to home grown beef.

The New LEADER Grafonola

The "Leader" at $75 is as good an example as you will find of the increased purchasing power of the dollar in mechanical musical devices. Each succeeding new Columbia instrument, no matter at what price grade, has set a new mark for value at its price. Now we offer the Leader, the first upright and fully cabined instrument that does not carry a price mark of three figures.

It is of strikingly handsome appearance, and in design and style, adheres to the upright type which has come to be regarded by many as the standard style of high grade "Talking Machines."
