

TEX'S TOPICS

Our good friend Ma McLean, writing to Pa Pampa again today, has a word or two of praise for the modern young folk. . . . It is something with which we heartily agree. . . . Fact of the matter is, we have been doubly positive for some time that the world definitely is not going to the bow-wows. . . . But, here's Ma's letter:

De: r Pa:
I, too, have sometimes wondered why your son, Archer Fullingim, didn't make his "People You Know" rhyme, but after reading the one in Sunday's paper about the man who is "back of Pampa's prosperity," I'm glad he didn't. Really Pa, that is a masterpiece. I'd call it a cross between Walt Whitman and Carl Sandberg with an improvement over each.

If you have forgotten how it goes, dig up last Sunday's Pampa Daily News and read it again. Then read Whitman's "I Hear America Singing" and Sandberg's "Chicago" and see if I'm not right.

Do you remember, Pa, back when we were kids, how we used to try to get out of everything that looked like work? How would we leave the gate unfastened so old Bossy's calf could get in, accidental like, and beat you to the milk; and how you and your smaller brother used to turn the stop over halfway to the lot to keep from carrying it the other half; and how I'd take a headache after every meal and have to go to bed until the dishes were washed; and how I used to "spread up the bed" every morning I could get by with it?

Our young folks of today are not like that—they are learning to take responsibilities we never dreamed of assuming. Why there's a group of boys in McLean no older nor larger than you were when you turned over the stop and let the calf in to keep from milking, who know how to do things. I refer to the F. F. A. boys. Future Farmers of America! A week ago last Saturday these boys, with the help of Clyde Magee, put on a community poultry show in which over 200 birds were exhibited. They contacted the merchants and business men who donated prizes which were distributed among some 50 people. Some of the boys had chickens of their own to win prizes.

This last week-end they were hosts to over 30 other F. F. A. boys from 11 different schools. And what hosts they were! Why they told me that Kid, Jr., presided over that meeting like a professional, and think he's one of my own farm boys! But he doesn't let the calf in.

D. V., "Red," Albert, Morse, Joe Billy, Paris, Ernie, and Edward each did his part in helping Ed Wehba barbecue the meat which Uncle George donated and then they brought tables and set them out and waited on the company, and when the meal was over and the clearing away had to be done, not one of those boys took the headache. All of which goes to prove that environment is a stronger influential agency than heredity.

But my boys are not the only ones I've been observing. I know a group of girls who are learning to sew and to cook and I'd wager not a one of them would "spread up a bed." They are the girls of the Home Economics department of the high school—Future Home Makers, they call themselves. And what home makers they are going to be!

With men, who've grown from boys like the ones I've been telling you about, to furnish the houses and girls like the ones I'm going to tell you about to make these houses into homes, what a grand place this will be to live!

Why, Pa, each of those girls is learning to plan and make her own clothes, to balance the household budget, to market consistently, plan, prepare and serve a meal fit for a king—and which will be none too good for a future farmer.

When these girls had turned in their reports of company dinners which they had planned, cooked, and served to Mrs. Malloy, their instructor, if they'd been like girls of my time they'd have taken a spell with that chronic headache, but not my future home makers!

They immediately began planning a progressive dinner—and what a dinner! Eleven girls and Miss Malloy met at the Turman Apartment last Saturday evening at 6:30 where Mollie served them fruit cocktail; then over to the Hodges house to sip consommé with Lorraine; then down to the Johnson home where Shirley served the entrée; then to Back's residence to enjoy the main course of meat loaf with dressing, creamed potatoes, green beans, tomato relish, hot rolls and butter, all prepared by Velma, Georgia, and Mabel; next out to the Phillips farm where they found a delicious salad.

I Heard . . .

Bob McCoy, who has some mighty fine thoroughbred white face cattle on farms near Pampa, wrathfully consigning all police dogs to what he called their just resting place. Bob has just discovered seven of his fine cattle with their ears almost chewed off. Some were infected and others had lost their hearing. Farmers said they had seen police dogs among the cattle. "It's guns from now on," declared Bob.

BISHOP CANNON FOUND GUILTY

SUIT AGAINST TINKHAM IS DISMISSED BY JUDGE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—Justice Jennings Bailey held today that Bishop James Cannon, Jr., was guilty by his own admission—of violating the federal corrupt practices act and ended a $500,000 libel suit brought by the churchman.

Cannon sought that sum, as damages and "punishment," from Rep. George Holden Tinkham of Massachusetts for the congressman's signed statement in 1930 that Cannon had not complied with federal law Smith campaign funds.

"In this case," Bailey said, "the defendant has pleaded the truth of the charges made in the publication and I find from the testimony of the plaintiff and his own witnesses that he was guilty of violating the corrupt practices act, and that the charges made against him are substantially true."

"I therefore direct you to return a verdict for the defendant," Cannon's counsel filed a motion for a new trial and also served notice of intention to appeal, if a new trial were not granted.

No defense testimony was presented. Cannon did not appear in court because of illness.

Cannon was acquitted in 1933 of conspiring with Miss Ada L. Burroughs of Richmond, his secretary, to violate the corrupt practices act.

Both the criminal and civil trials were based on Cannon's handling of $63,000 contributed by E. C. Jameson of New York to Cannon for use in swinging southern states to Herbert Hoover in 1928. Cannon headed a so-called anti-Smith organization.

KPDN TO GIVE FINAL BROADCAST AT NIGHT

Tonight will mark the final night broadcast of Radio Station KPDN which has been operating under a special permit from the Federal Communications Commission for the past two days.

KPDN will be on the air until midnight tonight and on tomorrow will sign off at its regular time, 6:30 p. m. The special permit was issued to give KPDN a part in the nationwide hook-up of radio stations broadcasting relief appeals for flood refugees.

McL Marshall, production manager of the local station, also announced today that KPDN has added an extra news broadcast which goes on the air daily at 6 o'clock, except Saturday and Sunday. KPDN now carries five news-casts daily.

April Wedding Is Planned By Duke And Wally

VIENNA, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Duke of Windsor plans to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson on April 27 at either the Enzelsfeld castle of Baron Eugene Rothschild or in Vienna, a usually reliable source disclosed today.

This is the exact date on which Mrs. Simpson's divorce decree from Ernest Aldrich Simpson supposedly will become final.

The former British monarch wants his fiancée to arrive in Vienna April 24.

MAXIMUM HIKE OF JUSTICES WOULD BE 15

SPEEDING UP OF HIGH COURT DECISIONS IS URGED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt asked Congress to reorganize federal court machinery today in a surprise message proposing more justices for the Supreme Court.

The unexpected request, embracing also plans for speeding Supreme Court decisions on constitutional questions, plunged Capitol Hill into a furor of controversy, which split party ranks.

Drawing major attention in the chief executive's request was the provision of a drafted bill accompanying the message which would give the President power to increase the Supreme court by a maximum of six justices to a total membership of 15 unless justices over 70 retired.

The nine justices now on the high court have ruled against new deal legislation 11 times to five for favorable decisions. Enactment of the President's plan would put six of the nine in the retirement class—or else six justices could be added to the court.

"If these measures achieve their aim, we may be relieved of the necessity of considering any fundamental changes in the powers of the courts or the constitution of our government—changes which involved consequences so far reaching as to cause uncertainty as to the wisdom of such course," the President said.

Senators and Representatives listened intently as they heard Mr. Roosevelt's words read, eagerly snapping up copies of the text and an accompanying letter from Attorney General Cummings, for study.

Reactions bubbled immediately. Representative Snell, the Republican leader who presided over the party's last national convention, quickly commented:

"The administration already has destroyed the economic stability of the country. Now it proposes to destroy the judicial stability. This is pretty nearly the beginning of the end of everything."

SMITH PLOTTER SENTENCED

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—A. Henry Ross, 28, a lawyer, and Max D. Kron, 34, a private detective, convicted of extorting $1,500 from Alfred E. Smith, Jr., son of the former governor, were sentenced today by General Sessions Judge Charles C. Nott, Jr., to serve from 3 to 8 years in Sing Sing prison.

Testimony at the trial showed the men got $12,900 from young Smith by threatening to expose a clandestine affair with a blonde stenographer, Catherine Pavlick, on the night of May 5, 1933.

Only 150 tickets will be available to the chamber of commerce membership luncheon in the basement of First Methodist church Tuesday noon when Col. E. O. Thompson of the Texas Railroad commission will be guest speaker. Admission will be 50 cents.

Tickets should be secured immediately at the chamber of commerce rooms in city hall. Places will be reserved at the table for those purchasing tickets in advance. Those trying to purchase tickets at the door will be unable to get them after 150 have been sold, either in advance or to the first persons at the door.

Col. Thompson will speak on subjects of vital interest to Pampa and this section of the Panhandle. He will also be asked to comment on the recent ruling of the supreme court declaring unconstitutional the statute taking clause of the Texas "sour gas" law.

President Jim Collins will preside. He is expected to name his committee chairman for 1937.

LATE NEWS

AUSTIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—The Senate passed finally today an enabling act under the constitutional amendment creating a new pardons board. The bill by Sen. Gordon Burns of Huntsville retained Austin as the board's headquarters. Originally his bill transferred the seat to Huntsville but it was amended.

AUSTIN, Feb. 5 (AP)—The House of Representatives today adopted and sent to the Senate a resolution calling for a joint legislative investigation of all lobbying activities. The vote was 75 to 58. The resolution, by Rep. R. Morse of Houston, was a substitute for one by Rep. Harry N. Graves of Georgetown proposing an inquiry into public relations expenditures of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company.

Dam Sites In County Visited By Local Group

Duncan Asserts Gray Will Have to Push Own Project

Ivy E. Duncan this afternoon headed a group of local citizens, including an engineer, on an inspection trip to possible dam sites on McClellan creek and the North Fork of Red River.

Beaver dam on McClellan will be thoroughly inspected. This point on the historic stream is generally regarded as an ideal spot for construction of a dam to create a large lake.

Mr. Duncan who recently urged that Gray county finance the building of a lake, reiterated this morning his belief that if this community ever gets a lake it will have to build it itself.

"The program of the Panhandle Conservation association is commendable," Mr. Duncan said. "I am not disparaging the proposals to build a huge lake near Amarillo on Tierra Blanca creek, nor one in Ochiltree county. If they can induce the government to build those lakes, more power to them. But I believe that if Gray county ever gets a lake, it will have to push it herself, and not rely on any other group."

Mr. Duncan and others will appear soon before the county commissioners in an effort to induce the county to finance a lake and dam survey which would reveal the best possible dam sites in the county.

Citizens and tax-payers of the county are invited to express their opinions on the matter in the Pampa Daily News. Letters and interviews will be welcomed.

LOVE STRIKER STILL SITTING

PUBLICITY STUNT NOW MORE REALISTIC THAN ROMANTIC

EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, Mo., Feb. 5 (AP)—Thirty-year old Harold Hulen passed the 50th hour of his "sit-down" strike for love today, still chained to a radiator outside his sweetheart's apartment door.

Miss Florence Hurlbut, 20-year old brunette, the object of Hulen's well-advertised affections, remained obdurate in her refusal to accept his proposal.

She reiterated in her most aloof manner, that unionization could not be discussed until Hulen decamps from her doorstep.

But the fundamental issue at stake was so overshadowed by horseplay today that skeptics saw more realism than romance in Hulen's behavior.

There were some who wondered how Hulen managed to stay so smoothly shaven, for instance. Could it be the anguished lover was slipping away to a barber under cover of darkness? He denied such insinuations but the rumors persisted.

During a radio broadcast yesterday afternoon, Miss Hurlbut conquered her aversion to publicity prettily and spoke her lines without a bobble.

Hulen's immobility was decreased yesterday afternoon when three men suddenly appeared in the lobby and slung a rusty iron ball and chain on his leg.

FORGERY SUSPECT IS HELD IN COUNTY JAIL

A five-week search for a suspected forger ended last night when E. R. Wallace, 30, was placed in Gray county jail after his return from Albuquerque, N. M.

Wallace was arrested by the sheriff at Albuquerque after Constable Otis Hendrix, of Pampa, had sent photographs of the wanted man. Thirty-four hours after he was picked up in the New Mexico city, Wallace was back in the Pampa jail. He was turned here by Deputy Constable O. B. Wasson.

Constable Hendrix had been on the lookout for Wallace since he took office Jan. 1, the officer stated today. The suspect is specifically charged with the forgery of a $30 check, and, according to Hendrix, also is wanted on several other charges here.

4 Arrested In Gasoline Case

NAZI'S SALUTE IRKS BRITISH

Four Gray county men were under bond today awaiting action of the county grand jury on complaints filed against them in justice court by state officers who charge that they transported drip gasoline on the public highways without a manifest authority or permit as required state law.

The four are V. H. Powell, E. R. Rington, J. F. May, and Ed. Preston. County Attorney Joe Gordon stated today that each of the four was charged with a separate offense and that officers found cargoes of the gasoline amounting from 30 gallons to 200 gallons.

Arrests were made yesterday afternoon on the Pampa-McLean highway by A. P. Martin and W. H. Murphy, district deputies of the state motor fuel division.

The men were given an examining trial before Justice of the Peace E. F. Young. Powell's bond was fixed at $1,000 and Rington, May and Preston each was released under $500 bond.

SWINDLING IS CHARGED IN COMPLAINT HERE

A complaint charging C. F. Riddick with swindling was on file in county court today.

Riddick, the complaint sets forth, bought a hog from Walter Jones and gave a check for $32. According to the charge made by Sheriff Earl Talley the check was issued without funds to cover it and Riddick has since failed to make the payment good.

The defendant is scheduled to appear before County Judge Sherman White tomorrow.

Recovers $300 From Insurance Company

L. C. Davis recovered $300 from the Southern Underwriters in a judgment handed down in district court here yesterday by Special Judge B. S. Via.

After a jury had been waived, the ruling in favor of Smith was returned when Judge Via set aside a decision given last August by the Industrial Accident Board.

The judgment in favor of Mr. Davis also included court costs of the lawsuit.

Gus Howard with a list of endorsements several feet long on a 10-cent check. Gus got the check as a dividend payment the other day from a company, and took it to a nearby town where a friend operated a hotel. He thought he would play a joke on him by making him cash it. Gravely, the friend cashed the check, then began selling endorsements at 10 cents each; when he had sold $15 worth he turned the money over to the flood relief fund, and sent the check and endorsements to Howard who now plans to cash the check at a local bank.

Supt. R. B. Fisher dressed up as a woman at a womanless wedding the other night. He wore dress, curls, rouge, earrings, necklace, etc., and it is said that it was a day and a half before Brent would even so much as speak to his papa.

It's hard to keep high school boys out of the pool hall—ask the teachers, Mr. Bone, and the others. For one reason, the club is only a block, and a short one at that from the school. . . . Ask Grover Seitz, the baseball player, who operates the club.

Grover, the joy of fans when he goes to bat at Road Runner park, whether he hits or not, doesn't allow boys in the place during school hours, and he and Mr. Bone are in cahoots in the matter of keeping boys from playing hooky at the club. . . . The construction and arrangement of the club is so laid out that boys can slip in without being seen, and it takes constant watching to see who comes in. There was a quarrel in the club the other day after school, but Grover was not there, because he has no patience with boys who like to raise a ruckus, and he does not want that kind around him.

And besides he cares to meet not boys. Men of social and financial position, professional men, doctors and lawyers who like him, who like the way he huris his bat against the ground when he strikes out, who like Grover Seitz because his individuality is blustery, sincere, human, who like to relax in the easy atmosphere at the billiard table.

Reporters and Play Leaders Learn Duties

Lessons in teaching Home Demonstration club members to play and in telling the public of their play and work were given two groups of committeewomen yesterday in the office of Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county agent.

She conducted the first of a series of schools for committee chairmen. Club reporters were the morning "pupils," and recreation leaders had their turn in the afternoon.

Principles of reporting were studied in the morning session; work for the year was planned; reports were read and criticized; and a contest between club reporters was announced. Miss Sue Vinson of the Daily News was a guest, who spoke informally and answered questions.

Present were Mrs. H. H. Kenney of Bell, Mrs. W. O. Kelley of Meriden, Mrs. N. B. Cude of Kingsmill, Mrs. Curry of Laketon, Mrs. C. A. Tignor of Priscilla, Mrs. Luther Petty of McLean. They set the first Thursday in May as their next class day.

Plays to be presented in clubs this year were distributed in the afternoon meeting; new songs and games were learned. Two other schools were planned for the year, the next on the first Thursday in June.

Those attending were Mmes. C. T. Nicholson and A. R. Walberg of Kingsmill; Mmes. Palestine Gething and Betty of McLean, Mmes. L. O. O'Neal, G. P. Bradbury, R. E. Daurer, Keahey, and Miss Margaret Skibinski of Bell, Mrs. Kenney at Meriden, Mmes. Guy Farrington, J. M. Daugherty, and Roy Tinsley of Priscilla, Mrs. Curry of Laketon, Mmes. Willard Franklin and C. Second Week of Revival Nearing Close at Church

"One of the deepest questions of the human race should be, 'Is my heart right with God?'" said the evangelist, Marshall Masters last night in beginning his sermon at the First Christian church where he has been conducting an evangelistic meeting for the past two weeks. "That question is the most tremendous thing in life," he continued. "No man need ever think that he can get away from God. We think sometimes that our churches need more religion and we do, but I think if our hearts are made right with God, the religion will take care of itself."

"David said, 'If I regard iniquity in my heart, then thou wilt not hear me: I think that is the reason so many of our prayers fall flat. If I am hiding sin in my heart, the Lord will not hear me. Thy word have I hid in my heart that I might not sin against Thee,' said the Psalmist of old. Is your religion that deep? Did you ever hear a man stand and swear? It is an awful thing to hear the Lord's name taken in vain. It is awful because it comes from a heart that is full of rottenness and corruption."

"We have a lot of 'talkie' religion these days. Religion that goes no deeper than the lips. Real religion goes deeper than that. It comes from the heart."

There will be services tonight at 7:30 with special features including music, vocal and instrumental, the song illustration and other interesting items. No services tomorrow night.

A Valentine tea at the home of Mrs. John Hessey Wednesday afternoon entertained Friendship class of the First Methodist church at the February social meeting.

Mrs. W. Purviance and Mrs. Sam Cook poured tea at a table prettily decorated in red and white, where the guests helped themselves to dainty refreshments. Mrs. Roy Bourland directed games afterward.

Hostesses for the afternoon were Mmes. Paul Cunningham, A. L. Patrick, Roy Tinsley, and Walter Daugherty. In addition to class members, Mrs. C. W. Osborne was a guest.

BLACK-DRAUGHT For Clean System Helps To Prevent Sickness

One of the advantages of Black-Draught is that, if it is taken at the first disagreeable feeling of constipation, one or two doses usually bring relief. Prompt relief, such as that, is well worth while. Constipation is too dangerous to be neglected.

"A clean system for health" plan has saved thousands of people much useless sickness. They keep a package of Black-Draught in the family medicine cabinet and take this purgative laxative at the first sign of constipation. They say the relief it brings is mighty hard to beat.

Find out, by trying it, why so many people prefer Black-Draught when it comes to buying a laxative.

Recovers Jewels

A package intended for Marius Hansen was delivered by postman's error to 11-year-old Veronice Hanlon (above), who gave it to her father. Opened, the package revealed $300,000 in gems, which Hanlon turned over to police, bringing quick recovery of the gems stolen from the home of Mrs. Frederick Bugher in Washington. Hansen, the original consignee, said John Marscheck, Bugher butler, had wired him to turn the package over to a woman acquaintance.

COMMITTEE FOR SUMMER NAMED

Club Council Talks Recreation Plans Yesterday

Summer recreation plans as an immediate objective, and year-round program as a final goal, were discussed by the Council of Women's clubs at its meeting yesterday. Mrs. Jim Collins and Mrs. J. A. Meek were named to serve with Mrs. Raymond Harrah, council president, as a summer recreation committee.

First classes in a Girl Scout training course for leaders were announced for next Wednesday, and club members who have agreed to take the course were reminded to be present. Miss Elizabeth Sampson, Girl Scout director of Amarillo, will be in charge. Classes will start at 9 a. m. and 1:30 p. m.

Announcement of several club projects were made by representatives, and council members were invited.

New Bridge Club Is Entertained

Members of the new Nopenthe Bridge club had their first party at the home of Mrs. W. A. Spoonemore Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Otis Brinkman was co-hostess. Mrs. Brinkman was elected president and Mrs. Spoonemore reporter.

A Washington Birthday theme was stressed in decorations and plate favors. Mrs. Alva Phillips and Mrs. J. H. Spoonemore were special guests. Club members are Mmes. R. S. Walker, Roy Sullivan, H. A. Peebles, E. C. Rupp, Irene Kline, and the hostesses.

P-TA MEETS IN NEW ANNEX FOR A FIRST VIEW

Vocational Guidance For Students Is Subject

The new high school auditorium was used as a meeting place for High School Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon, giving most of the members a first view of the handsome building.

Vocational guidance for students was the program topic, and Mrs. Hol Wagner explained a program which the A. A. U. W. is sponsoring this year to help senior girls choose vocations. She invited the members to a tea at which the A. A. U. W. will be hostess Thursday in city club room. Senior girls will also be invited.

Mrs. F. E. Leech spoke on vocational guidance, pointing out the need of assistance by parents and teachers to help the child in wise selection of a career.

A play with a cast of association members was planned for presentation on March 26 to benefit the treasury.

Mrs. Earl Eaton was elected vice-president after the resignation of Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson.

Playing their first symphony arrangements in a public appearance, the high school band contributed three numbers under direction of Winston Savage. Mrs. Claude Lard spoke on Achievements of the P-TA paying tribute to the national founders.

Church Hour Radio Broadcasts Are to Start Tomorrow

First broadcast of a new radio program, "the all-church hour," will be heard from station KPDN tomorrow afternoon at 6:30. Announcements of services planned by the various churches will be made for the following week at this time. Lester Aldrich will be in charge of the program, and will arrange programs of sacred music by members of various church choirs to alternate with the announcements. Favorite hymns will be featured, and requests of listeners will be included.

White Deer News

WHITE DEER, Feb. 5.—Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Rudyard Edmonson of Denver, Colo., will be pleased to learn of the arrival of a son, Harry Kipling, on Jan. 29. Mrs. Edmonson bore her marriage was Miss Adine Simmons who was employed by the Central States Power and Light Corporation in Pampa.

The football boys, members of the school board, and the high school faculty of the White Deer schools were honored by a banquet sponsored by the pep squad girls Thursday evening, Jan. 28, in the high school banquet hall.

As a fitting close to the banquet, E. C. Shuman presented 19 jackets to the players and coaches. He announced that B. E. McCullum and E. R. Cleavinger had been re-elected as coaches for next year.

The Worthwhile Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. Charlie Black Feb. 3. A business meeting was held. It was voted to have a spring bazaar and food sale on the third of April.

The Methodist W. M. S. met Monday, Feb. 1, in the home of Mrs. Hugh Edwards.

Mrs. Harsh gave a very interesting talk. Mrs. Thompson told of the many interesting things she had heard at the same meeting last Friday in Miami. Rev. Walker gave the third chapter of the mission study book on Africa.

F. F. A. To Hold Show On March 27, the White Deer chapter of the Future Farmers of America will hold a stock show. Dairy judging, livestock, shop work and poultry will be among the features of the program and exhibits. Chapters of schools from all over this area are being invited to attend.

John Pender Wells and John Williams of White Deer are entering school in Texas Tech this semester.

Mrs. Lula Dunn and Lehar Graham returned Sunday from Los Angeles, California, where they spent the last year. Lehar will attend school here the remainder of the year.

Mrs. A. A. Crofts and son, Danny, of Panhandle, visited friends here yesterday.

Mrs. Claude Henderson and children, Wayne and Elaine, of Bridgeport are visiting friends and relatives in White Deer.

The Rapstine family of White Deer is well represented in the Worley hospital in Pampa. Mrs. Rapstine and two daughters-in-law, Mrs. John Rapstine and Mrs. Benjie Rapstine, are all patients there this week.

LUNCHEON AND SHOWER HONOR MISS SHANKLIN

Bride-Elect Is Given Pretty Party by Carrollettes

Miss Evelyn Shanklin, who is to be married Feb. 13 to Eugene Sealand, was complimented with an unusual shower at a luncheon yesterday, by members of the Carrollette club. Misses Clotilde McCallister and Myrtle Faye Gilbert were hostesses at the Eagle buffet.

A miniature bridal party stood in a setting of tiny palms and flowers on a mirror centerpiece. Place cards were arrows thrust thru red hearts in corsages at each place. Miss Shanklin's corsage was of white carnations. Boxes of candy hearts also marked the places.

Packages, all wrapped in white and tied with red ribbon, were presented to the honoree. Each contained a different article of her favorite brand of cosmetics.

Guests were Misses Shanklin, Josephine Lane, Frances Stark, Hope Wells, Ruby Thompson, Mmes. Charles Vaughn and J. C. Koen.

House Speaks at McLean Meeting

Pastors and members of Methodist churches over the Clarendon district attended a missionary institute at McLean yesterday. They were served lunch at noon by the McLean women.

The Rev. Will C. House, First Methodist pastor here, was on the afternoon program, speaking on Stewardship, one of a series of short talks. Others who went from First Methodist church were Mmes. Will C. House, C. E. Ward, Mabel Haston, Luther Pierson, F. L. Stallings, Annie Culberson, and R. B. Fisher. Workers in the children's department participated in an afternoon meeting conducted by Mrs. T. S. Barcus of Clarendon, district superintendent of the children's division.

Guests to Direct Song Services at Church on Sunday

Song services in Central Baptist church will be in charge of W. W. Earnest, evangelist singer and educational director of the Hickory Street Baptist church of Dallas, Sunday morning and evening. He will be assisted by Mrs. Earnest, pianist.

The public is invited to both these services, which will feature special music, announced John O. Scott, pastor.

Young people's department of the First Methodist church will be entertained this evening at 7:30 with a "horse race" party. Members are all invited, and are privileged to bring guests. The party will be in the church basement.

Lace Redingote

The lace redingote is the attractive contribution to Paris afternoons of Francevramant. Of dark brown lace it is worn over an amber gold dress cut on simple lines even to the draped neckline. Amber and orange red flowers complete the ensemble.

DOUGHNUT SALE

Girls of the Rainbow Order will conduct a doughnut sale Saturday. Orders for doughnuts may be telephoned to Mrs. W. B. Murphy, and doughnuts will be delivered to purchasers.

Frank Skaggs of Amarillo was a White Deer visitor Wednesday.

COUPLE MARRY IN DALHART AT CHURCH FRIDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Will Make Home in Tyler

Announcement is made of the marriage Wednesday afternoon of Mrs. Eva Smythe of Pampa and Charles Vaughn of Tyler. The double ring ceremony was read at the Methodist church in Dalhart by the Rev. Mr. Yarbrough, Methodist pastor at Dumas.

Miss Emma Faye Ellis of Borger and Dr. T. G. Brown of Dumas attended the couple. The bride wore a brown suit with brown accessories and a yellow rosebud boutonniere.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn returned to Pampa, and will leave soon for Tyler to make their home. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Johnson, attended Pampa high school and later Oklahoma College for Women at Chickasha. She has been an active member of the Carrollette club, young women's music club of the city.

Mr. Vaughn is with the Emory Industries Inc., stationed at Tyler.

Assisting in the formal installation of a new Beta Sigma Phi chapter, six Pampa members went to Amarillo last evening to a dinner in the Amarillo hotel. They took part in the candle-light ceremony that initiated 14 members of Alpha Alpha chapter.

Miss Ruth LaFon was chosen president of the new group, and Mrs. Ardelle George director. Both are known to many Pampa residents. Miss Eunice Harlan, national representative, was in charge of installing the Amarillo chapter.

Guests going from Pampa were LeVane Woolley, Frances Clark, Josephine Lane, Clotilde McCallister, Lois Hinton, Myrtle Faye Gilbert. They received yellow rosebuds, sorority flowers, as favors.

Chuck Dessen, peppery manager of the Cheimnau Reds played professional football with the Decatur, Ill., Stanley in 1920. He was quarterback on that team, which later became the Chicago Bears.

Good Posture Is Topic for Bell Club's Program

Good appearance depends upon good posture, Mrs. Conner O'Neal told members of Bell Home Demonstration club in the home of Mrs. Roland Dauer Wednesday afternoon. "Graceful carriage makes one more alert and everyone likes to watch an alert person," she continued. "Good posture affects the health, so let's be posture conscious and try to correct our faults in standing, walking, and sitting."

Mrs. C. McKnight demonstrated correct and incorrect posture. An interesting article on good posture was read by Mrs. George P. Bradbury.

Exhibits for the meat show were promised, and entries will be brought to the next meeting by members.

Seven members were present, and a visitor, Mrs. Schultz.

Mrs. Campbell Is Hostess at Shower

Mrs. Walter Clark was honoree at a shower in Mrs. Ray R. Campbell's home at Noletto recently. A large stork stood in the center of the room and a Valentine motif was used in decorations.

Mrs. Ross assisted in serving cake and cocoa to Mmes. Clark Cannon, Lonnie Estes, Sam Cokerly, Charley Cannon, O. L. Satterfield, J. R. Stansell, and McCullum. Gifts were sent by Mmes. W. A. Hall and L. C. Cannon also.

DATE IS FEB. 22

Invitations to the open house program of Treble Clef club, issued at the Council of Women's club meeting yesterday, failed to mention the date of the program, members of the hostess club have discovered. It is to be at 4 p. m. on Feb. 22, at city club room, and all club women of the city are invited. Acceptances are to be telephoned to Mrs. Alex Schneider by Feb. 20.

CLOSE ADVISER SENTENCED TO LIMBO BY FOR

IS STATEMENT AIMED AT DR. STANLEY
HIGH

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (AP)—President Roosevelt's sentencing of the "close adviser" to limbo along with the "official spokesman" caused little mourning today in the Democratic high command.

In fact, something akin to relief and glee was evident in orthodox party ranks. Purportedly responsible allegations of an inner, subversive movement against Roosevelt policies had aroused resentment.

Stephen T. Early, press secretary at the White House, late yesterday handed reporters this statement.

"The President announced 'the death of the official spokesman' in March, 1933.

"He now announces the passing of the so-called authoritative spokesmen, those who write as 'one of the President's close advisers.'"

"Is this aimed at Dr. Stanley High?" Early was asked. He would not say.

The suggestion was made, however, that reporters read recent magazine articles bearing on the future of the Democratic party. Dr. High, a 41-year-old church worker and lecturer who organized the "Good Neighbor League" for Roosevelt in the presidential campaign and has frequently been at the White House conference table, has been writing on that subject.

An article by him in the current Saturday Evening Post bore an editor's note saying the author had the reputation of being "one of the President's close advisers."

High could not be reached for comment.

In his article, entitled "Whose Party Is It?" the former editor of the Christian Herald said it seemed probable Vice-President Garner was the "engineer" of a movement to restore the Democratic party to the conservatism of its old leaders by "dismantling the new deal and demobilizing the new dealers."

Garner said he had not read the article and would not comment.

125,000 Attend Midnight Mass In Manila Park

MANILA, Feb. 5. (AP)—Dennis Cardinal Dougherty of Philadelphia, papal legate to the thirty-third international eucharistic congress, received today the praise and blessings of Pope Pius XI for the "magnificent triumph" of the great assembly.

A cablegram to him signed by Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, papal secretary of state, said the Vatican was "overjoyed by the magnificent triumph accorded Christ the King by the congress."

The Holy See, the message continued, was "profoundly moved by the loving homage and prayerful solicitude for his vicar on earth, the Holy Father." He imparted his paternal apostolic benediction as "a pledge of his copious grace for the abundant fruits of your devoted labors."

Brilliant lighting converted beautiful Luneta park into a vast open air cathedral for the midnight mass, attended by an estimated 125,000 men from 64 nations.

Rich-robed cardinals and a retinue of priests administered the sacrament before the great eucharistic altar on the shore of Manila bay.

Edward Invited to Attend Coronation

LONDON, Feb. 5. (AP)—Former King Edward VIII of England, it was learned authoritatively today, will be formally invited to attend the second major state function of the coronation pageantry which would have been his own had he not abdicated for love.

Although officials assumed the invitation to the ceremony in connection with the coronation of George VI on May 12 would be declined by the self-exiled Duke of Windsor, they pointed out he might appropriately return for the historic "Garter service" in Windsor castle.

The ceremonial has been heralded as second only in splendor to the actual coronation of his brother May 12.

The bare possibility of his return arose at a time when labor leaders were reported authoritatively to be objecting to the inclusion of an allowance for Edward in the civil list—submission of which has been delayed by King George.

It was believed an stipend of $125,000 was being sought for the Duke of Windsor.

Friends of Windsor, who believe he will marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson soon after her divorce is made absolute—perhaps on April 27—do not think he plans to return to England.

DOLL RESCUE FATAL

JOHNSVILLE, Feb. 5. (AP)—A six-year-old girl's effort to rescue her doll from a burning house was blamed today for the death of the child and her mother, Mrs. Marion Smith, 27. Mrs. Smith died yesterday of burns suffered in an attempt to save her daughter, Billy Joe. Both were ill when the explosion of a can of kerosene started the fire. Mrs. Smith carried Billy Joe to safety but the child darted back into the house for her doll and her mother followed.

Although Cavalcade, champion 3-year-old of 1934 and High Quest, 2-year-old winner of the Preakness the same year, raced together, High Quest was in the first to be retired to the stud—in 1935. Cavalcade will make his stud debut this year.

Give Fire Plug Plenty of Room

No conscientious driver will willfully block the approach to a fire plug. When parking near a fire plug, remember that most ordinances require fifteen foot clearance, although local regulations may vary. When you park right next to a fire plug, you are not only making yourself liable to arrest and a fine, but you may prevent firemen from functioning properly in case of fire in the vicinity. A minute's delay to firemen may result in the loss of a life.

Around Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD.—Robert Taylor, the matinee man of the hour, is practically the perfect movie star. He is everything and does everything a nice young man should be and do—especially if the nice young man is in the movies.

To begin with, he is tall, dark, handsome, and young—just 25. In insurance parlance, he was rated a "100 per cent moral risk." That means his private life is sane, sensible, and sound—according to the finding of the policy sleuths. None of that Hollywood foolishness.

His background, among other things, makes him the explorer's delight. Typically American stuff, born in Filley, Neb., a hamlet on a middle-western road, he had for parents two substantial, highly respected members of the community. His father was a country doctor. Bob (then Spangler Arlington Bruhn) spent much of his boyhood on a relative's typically American farm. And true to the American tradition, he started earning his way after school hours.

And then, he was collegiate. Pomona college helped smooth the rough edges, taught him "mixing" and a little dramatics.

He played extra before he got a small contract at $35 a week. He worked hard. When success came so overwhelmingly, he kept his head. He realized the success came from the fans who now write him about 7,000 letters a week.

He finances a "news letter" issued by the Taylor Fan Clubs numbering some 80,000 members. He is gracious about being mobbed.

Other Attributes

To other attributes of the "ideal star" Taylor conforms.

In insurance parlance, he remembers old friends. (College pals Don Milo and Redmond Domes still are among his best).

He is financially astute. (Saves his money).

He is modest. (Actually worries about his future).

He is athletic. (Tennis is his forte, but weight-lifting built those shoulders).

He is sentimental. (Flew home for chicken dinner on his grandmother's 80th birthday).

He is "romantic." (Barbara Stanwyck is his "steady company.")

He has hobbies. (Collects tricky sweaters, mystery puzzles).

He has idiosyncrasies. (Can't eat vegetables, craves meat and potatoes).

And finally—he is "good to his mother."

NORRIS URGES ENOUGH TVA'S FOR MIDWEST

120,000 BATTLE RIVER
AS FLOOD ROLLS
SOUTH

(By The Associated Press.)

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 5.—A battered but unyielding levee line repulsed the Mississippi's greatest crests today while rehabilitation, control and relief problems engaged the flood-scourged Ohio valley and the nation's Congress.

Army engineers maintained a force of 120,000 river fighters along the defenses to keep the country's worst flood from multiplying its cruel toll of 381 dead, nearly 1,000,000 homeless and $550,000,000 in property loss.

The Mississippi receded slowly in the Cairo, Ill. section and, barring storms to send the muddy waters smashing against improvised dikes, engineers considered the battle won but promised a ceaseless watch.

President Roosevelt's $5,011,000,000 public works program to curb raiding rivers lay before a Congress receptive to flood control plans. The proposal calls for a plan of water control for the Ohio and Mississippi in combination with a six-year program of public works.

Senator Norris, Nebraska, "daddy" of the Tennessee Valley Authority act, offered a proposal to handle the flood problem by creating "enough TVA's to cover the entire country." Such a program, he contended, would mean "the maximum navigation development, the maximum flood control, the maximum reforestation, the maximum correction of soil erosion, and the maximum amount of water power."

Along the Ohio the hardest hit towns emerged further from flood waters and began thinking in terms of reconstruction. Cincinnati reported a shopping "boom" reminiscent of holiday trade as stores reopened to meet buyers' long denied needs.

The Ohio overflow continued to retreat from Louisville at the rate of three feet a day, leaving the city with an acute housing problem.

Far to the west, southern Oregon fought flood conditions brought about by rain and melting snows that sent streams over-flowing over highways.

The Mississippi edged up to 47.69 feet on the Memphis weather bureau gauge last night, with a crest of 48 feet due in a few days.

MOTHER AT 15

ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 5. (AP)—Mrs. Dolly Stout, 15-year old girl wife, and her infant son, George, born of her marriage with 55-year old Ira Stout, were reported doing well today. The baby is their second. The first, a girl, died shortly after birth two years ago when the mother was 13, the attending physician, Dr. S. J. Stottlmyer, said.

Stout, a widower when he married Dolly, has a 23-year old daughter.

GROUP FAVORS CORPORATION TAX INCREASE

700 PER CENT HIKE IS URGED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE

AUSTIN, Feb. 5. (AP)—A bill to boost the corporation franchise tax about 700 per cent came back to the House of Representatives today with an 11 to 7 favorable report from the revenue and taxation committee.

The bill, by Rep. Herman Jones of Decatur, would increase the levy to 5 per cent of net income or one-tenth of one per cent of gross assets, whichever was greater. Jones estimated it would bring in about $12,000,000 a year. The present franchise levy yields approximately $1,500,000 annually.

Jones hoped for floor consideration next week. The present franchise levy over most other measures because it was the fourth bill introduced.

The committee acted in the face of warnings that passage would keep industry out of Texas.

"The taxpayers should have a reprieve," contended B. T. Johnson of Fort Worth, one of the minority members of the committee. "I'm going to be conservative on tax measures. We don't need to try to wipe out the deficit in one or two years. A reasonable deficit serves as a check on expenditures."

Reps. Albert L. Darden of Marlin and H. Cecil Baker of Rosenberg supported Jones.

The committee will start hearings Monday night on bills to increase the oil tax.

The House expected fireworks today on resolutions proposing a legislative investigation of expenditures of Roy Miller as public relations director of the Texas Gulf Sulphur Company and requesting Orville S. Carpenter to resign as state old age pension director.

MARTIN OWNS BOXER.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 5. (AP)—Junior Munsell, Oklahoma heavyweight fighter, will make his first appearance tonight under his new part-owner, John "Pepper" Martin of the St. Louis Cardinals, by taking on Jimmy Merriott, Tulsa heavyweight, in a 10-round main event on a card at Ponca City, Okla. Martin purchased a half interest in Munsell yesterday from Rolfe Munsell, the fighter's father.

HARVESTERS UPSET 29 TO 19 BY TULIA AFTER LEADING PART OF GAME

TEAM TO PLAY AT PLAINVIEW AND LUBBOCK

ALBERT AYER IS STILL OUT OF HARVESTER LINEUP

Folding up midway through the second quarter, the Pampa Harvesters were never able to recover their equilibrium last night in a 29 to 19 loss to the Tulia Hornets here. On a recent road trip, the Harvesters swamped Tulia 27 to 11.

Without the veteran Albert Ayer in the lineup, excepting for less than two minutes, the Harvesters were unable to get going. They held Tulia in check during the first quarter and part way through the second stanza. Then they broke and Tulia had no trouble pulling to the front and keeping a commanding lead. The Hornets had a 17 to 13 lead at the half.

It was a substitute guard by the name of Payne who almost single-handedly beat the Harvesters. Inserted into the game in the second quarter, Payne helped himself to six field goals and a free throw before the final whistle. Moon, hotshot Hornet forward, was limited to seven points.

Claude Heiskell paced the Harvesters with six points, closely followed by Dewey with five and Kilgore with four.

While the Harvesters gave a jittery performance, the Hornets were cool and collected after the first quarter when they appeared to be in the large playing floor. When they did get their stride, they stung the Harvesters with burning passes and deadly shots.

Tonight the Harvesters will meet the Lubbock Westerners in Lubbock. Tomorrow night they will be in Plainview. Both Lubbock and Plainview have great teams this season. The Westerners drubbed the Harvesters here two weeks ago while the Bulldogs took a defeat.

Coach Odus Mitchell was uncertain whether Ayer would be able to play in either of the road trip games. The veteran guard has been fighting blood poisoning in his hand this week.

JOYCE WETHERED MAY SEEK REINSTATEMENT

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—A comeback by the woman golfer long regarded as the greatest shotmaker her sex ever produced, Lady Heathcoat-Amory, the former Joyce Wethered of England, is in prospect for the new year, just when the youthful element is enjoying its biggest fling.

By way of Jamaica in the West Indies, where she is honeymooning with Sir John Heathcoat-Amory, comes word that the former British champion contemplates seeking reinstatement by the Ladies Golf Union for amateur competition.

Joyce retired almost four years ago and entered the "business woman golfer" field, becoming associated with a London department store in an advisory capacity. The question of her status as an amateur has not been raised since Joyce never sought to enter a tournament after her retirement. She won the British championship four times—the last in 1929 by defeating Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare.

Didrikson Wants To Be An Amateur

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Babe Didrikson complained today she was weary of watching other girls play golf.

"I want to play, too," she said, explaining her professional status keeps her out of almost all tournament action except against men.

"I'm going back to amateur golf. That is, if the United States Golf Association will let me. My application for reinstatement as an amateur will be mailed soon to the USGA."

"I like this sort of thing, and am just beginning to realize I've missed something."

"I'm through with this all-around-woman-athlete business, for it takes too much out of you. I'm putting on weight since I gave up strenuous training. Those sports are all right for a while—but I'll stick to golf."

Only 22 now—23 in June—Miss Didrikson feels she has plenty of years left for the amateur game. She has been a pro two years.

BAUGH RECEIVES HUNDREDS OF LETTERS ASKING HIS PHOTO

FORT WORTH, Feb. 5 (AP)—"My name is Sylvia So-and-so. I live in Cityburg, Pa., and I can toss bricks like you flip footballs. Please send me an autographed picture."

This is typical of hundreds of letters and cards received by Slingin' Sam Baugh, T. C. U's All-American quarterback.

Not one in a hundred of the requests is accompanied by money to pay for the picture (they cost 50 cents each), or even return postage.

Some of the epistles are from enthusiastic admirers who simply state that they wish to be able to show their friends a letter from Sammy Baugh.

One man, early in December, sent the University a check in payment for 10 pictures of Sam.

"If it isn't asking too much, I'd like to have them autographed," he wrote. "I want to give them as Christmas presents to my own youngsters and several of my nephews, all of whom are ardent football fans."

The autographed pictures were furnished.

By far the most widely published picture of Baugh shows him not passing or kicking a football, but strutting a guitar. Or at least he appears to be strutting a guitar.

The picture was posed with Miss Helen Moody, Horned Frog "Band Sweetheart," on the way to San Francisco for the Santa Clara game. Although the guitar business is obviously a "plant," the picture caught on and has appeared in newspaper rotogravure sections, and magazines from coast to coast.

TUBBS TO BE COACH AT IOWA UNIVERSITY

IOWA CITY, Feb. 5 (AP)—Iowa's football fortunes, at a low ebb last season, were entrusted today to a soft-spoken southerner named Irl Tubbs.

The athletic board's search for a successor to Ozzie Soles as head grid member, on the way to San Francisco for the Santa Clara game, was announced. Soles resigned to become head coach at Syracuse University.

Tubbs, Miami (Fla.) University coach for the past two years, said he will have Pat Boland as his assistant. Boland, former Minnesota all-American tackle who aided Tubbs at Miami, will serve as first assistant.

COLLEGIANS SIGNED. PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 5 (AP)—Connie Mack had a trio of Dixie collegians, all outfielders, "on the line" for his Athletics today with the signing of Clarence (Ace) Parker, all-American halfback at Duke University. The A's pilot, looking for outfield reserves, said he would take Parker, Bill Nicholson and Floyd Yount with the first crowd that leaves Philadelphia Feb. 18 for the training camp in Mexico City.

Venzke Comeback Is Possible in Millrose Races

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—From the way the ballyhoo is shaping up, the spot seems right for the season's "forgotten man," Pennsylvania's Gene Venzke, to toss a monkey wrench into the indoor track tracks in the featured mile race of the Millrose A. A. games tomorrow night.

Up to now, the hullabaloo has been for a red hot race in the Wanamaker mile among Glenn Cunningham, Hungary's Miklos Szabo and Indiana's Don Lash. Venzke just hasn't figured.

Some of the pressure was taken off yesterday when Szabo decided to postpone his American debut because of a cold.

The performances of the top flight to date do not indicate Penn's picture runner is too far out of the picture. Venzke was anything but outclassed in the Prout mile at Boston last Saturday, which opened the season's big time. Cunningham won in 4:11.9, finishing about four yards in front of Lash. What seems to have been overlooked, however, is that Venzke wasn't even a full strike back of the Indian at the finish.

Announcement Braddock and Louis would sign Monday came after a meeting yesterday, attended by Jacobs and Julian Black, co-manager of the Brown Bomber. Contracts call for the appearance of both principals in Illinois by May 1.

Triner said it's up to Joe Gould (Braddock's manager) to get out of it anyway he can in commenting on the Madison Square garden contract which calls for a championship bout June 3 in New York between Braddock and Max Schmeling, German battler.

Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Feb. 5 (AP)—Lou Gehrig may be the successor to Babe Ruth in July but in February he's just another first baseman. When Lou tried to talk Colonel Jake Ruppert out of more money and failed, he got up to leave and left his contract on the colonel's desk. "Don't forget your contract, Lou," reminded Ruppert. "I think I'll leave it here," replied "Legs." And there it is, in the colonel's upper left hand drawer. Jack Dempsey's place in Miami Beach is doing all right. Incidentally, he doesn't actually "own" those places—he's just the front. Bump Hadley, first and only Yankee regular to sign so far, has worked up a new winter business. . . . during the baseball season, he takes movies of the stars and the big games. . . . in the off-season, he goes around the country telling baseball stories and showing the pictures. . . . he gives a lot of free talks, but he gets anywhere from $25 to $200 most places, and makes winter expenses out of it. . . . Soon as a guy joins the Brooklyn Dodgers, things happen to him. . . . Ralph Birkofer writes his Cincinnati home was in the flood and he's been cooking his meals in a can on the

By EARL HILLIGAN
CHICAGO, Feb. 5 (AP)—A world heavyweight championship match between titleholder James J. Braddock and challenger Joe Louis, with prospects of a $1,000,000 gate, went into the site stage today.

Contracts for the 15-round bout, to be held June 15, will be signed next Monday afternoon by Louis and Braddock, said Joseph Triner, chairman of the state athletic commission. The big problem now to be solved is the location of the battle scene—huge Soldier Field on the Lake Michigan shore or the White Sox ball park.

The bout, to be promoted jointly by the Illinois sporting club and Mike Jacobs, who holds exclusive rights to the services, originally was set for Soldier Field, scene of the $2,500,000 Dempsey-Tunney battle. But Lou Comiskey, White Sox president, gained prompt consideration through an insistent and attractive offer.

Local Levy, New York architect and veteran fight layout, said Comiskey park could be arranged to seat 75,000 fans, with a maximum gate of $1,000,000, at a $3 to $25 price range. Soldier field can be arranged for 130,000 seats, but the rental there may be as high as 15 per cent of the gate.

It was known Soldier Field is the preferred site, City officials were expected to offer a considerable concession in rental to secure the bout for the lakefront stadium inasmuch as the battle would be the principal attraction on Chicago's centennial celebration program.

Announcement Braddock and Louis would sign Monday came after a meeting yesterday, attended by Jacobs and Julian Black, co-manager of the Brown Bomber. Contracts call for the appearance of both principals in Illinois by May 1.

Triner said it's up to Joe Gould (Braddock's manager) to get out of it anyway he can in commenting on the Madison Square garden contract which calls for a championship bout June 3 in New York between Braddock and Max Schmeling, German battler.

Hemphill and Berg To Renew Rivalry

CORAL GABLES, Fla., Feb. 5 (AP)—Renewal of rivalry between Patty Berg of Minneapolis and Kathryn Hemphill, of Columbia, S. C., was slated for this afternoon in the Miami Biltmore women's golf tournament, if these favorites survive tough quarter finals tests in the morning.

Patty tackled Jane Othman of Greenville, S. C., while Miss Hemphill, who defeated the Minneapolis girl last week, faced Dorothy Traugott of San Francisco.

On the other side of the bracket Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., met Mrs. Leon Solomon of Memphis, and Marion Miley, the long-driver from Lexington, Ky., played Grace Anory of Palm Beach.

Bill Posedel, pitcher purchased by Cincinnati from Portland, Ore., won 17 of the last 20 games he pitched in the coast league.

BABE RITCHIE IS FAVORITE TO WIN TITLE

LUBBOCK STILL HAS 5 GLOVE ENTRANTS IN TOURNEY

FORT WORTH, Feb. 5 (AP)—Twenty-four survivors of two rounds of the Texas Golden Gloves tournament will be reduced to a winner in each of the eight weight divisions in semi-final and final events tonight.

The winners will be sent to the national tournament at Chicago.

Eight survivors represented the Fort Worth district, Houston and Lubbock had five each, the University of Texas and Dallas had two each, and Wichita Falls and Brownwood each one.

Babe Ritchie, 229-pound football player from Lubbock high school, remained a favorite in the heavyweight division after a third-round knockout of Lee Jackson of Amarillo.

Light heavyweight—Dewey Vaughn, Dallas, won decision over George Stoddard, Jacksboro; Jack Williams, North Texas Aggies; defeated Jimmy Vaughn, Dallas; Earl Crowe, University of Texas, scored technical knockout over George Caviness, Amarillo, in second.

Plyweight—Skeet Smith, Fort Worth, stopped Buck Hayes, Amarillo, in first; Jesse Williamson, Houston, won decision over Lefty Hickey, Dallas.

Heavyweight—Julian Alsbrook, Abilene, scored technical knockout over Bill Barton, Corsicana, in third. Bantamweight—Ray Bumbers, Huntsville, won technical knockout over Moses Carona, Wichita Falls, in second. Lorraine Guthrie, Lubbock, stopped Harry Flowers, Fort Worth, in first.

Middleweight—Carl Hilger, Dallas, won decision over Lee Ross of University of Texas; T. W. Schrader, Fort Worth, defeated Wayne Cox, Texas Tech.

Welterweight—Joe Elder, Fort Worth, defeated R. V. Tison, Dallas; Jack Tinney, North Texas Aggies, bested by Ed Key, Corsicana.

Paul Derringer, ranking golfer on the Cincinnati Red's roster, plays a round or so daily at his winter residence at Sarasota, Fla.

BASIL JAMES IS CHOSEN AS NUMBER ONE JOCKEY OF YEAR

Sport Sparks

By WILLIAM T. RIVES
(Pinch-hitting for Felix McKnight)

DALLAS, Feb. 5 (AP)—Prediction: K1 Aldrich, strapping sophomore center, will be one of the two most-talked-about players in the south-west conference football chase this fall. Alumni and friends of Texas Christian University are beating the bush with praise of the Temple boy's work. Leo (Dutch) Meyer, Horned Frog coach, goes so far as to say he believes Aldrich is headed for the All-America. Meyer, who coached the unforgettable Darrell Lester, twice an All-America center, should know.

Passing through: How many miles of newspaper type have gone into stories of D. X. Bible (the initials sound G-mannish) since his coup at Texas University? Oh, well, why should we be an exception? Here's the most unusual play he ever saw, as related by Weldon Hart of the Austin Statesman: In the 1932 Nebraska-Minnesota game the Cornhuskers were leading 6-0. Minnesota's right end grabbed a pass. Just as he attempted a lateral to Jack Manders, now the Chicago Bears' fullback, he was nailed around the waist, his arms pinned to his side. As the Cornhuskers relaxed, the end bounced the ball to Manders perfectly. Manders sped to a touchdown and kicked the extra point which beat Bible's boys. "And that," says Bible, "is one of the reasons a great many of these (pointing to his bald spot) are numbered among the missing."

The sight of Marvin Westenberg charging head-first into Leo Dan'l Boone Savage and promptly bouncing off the granite-like Hill-Billy's waistline, prompts the same editor to suggest Savage as center for Bible's fall edition of the Longhorns.

Felix R. McKnight, the daddy of this column, is a member of the hip-boot brigade in Arkansas. He's on emergency flood duty. . . . Poly High of Fort Worth almost turned in the perfect basketball game this week, beating Vocational High 55 to 4. . . . Gordon Young, former state munny champ from Dallas, has made five holes-in-one but says only one gave him a genuine thrill (Haw)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5 (AP)—Basil James, 17-year old son of a rodeo bronco-buster and trained to ride on the rough and tumble "bush" tracks of the west, was America's outstanding jockey in 1936.

A skinny little kid with a timid smile and eyes as cold and grey as a man of 40, James had a leg up on 243 winners last year. He won them the hard way, and is cocky and confident he'll do as well this year. Perhaps he will, maybe he won't. James works at the jockey trade. It is the business he learned; the only thing he knows. Recreations? "I don't guess I have any, except riding," he said seriously. "That's about all I have time for."

Track observers have said James' riding at times is perfection in artistry, as witness the day last spring at Tanforan when he rode Indian Broom to a new world's record of 1:47.3 for a mile and an eighth, breaking Discovery's time of 1:48.1.

At other times, so the critics say, James' work in the saddle is more like a county fair. He had hardly ridden his first horse at Santa Anita this year before the stewards slipped a $100 fine on him for cutting across the field at the start. He was disqualified five times at Bay Meadows, and fined up in the hundreds.

"Let 'em say all they want. It doesn't bother me," James exclaimed. "We all get a little rough now and then."

Harris, who drew Atlanta's mighty mite as his semi-final opponent, said: "I'll be lucky to win four games."

Hendrix, who has defeated Frankie Parker and others this winter and meets Budge today, said little in words, much in expression: "I don't know how it will turn out."

YALE'S HEAD TALKS AGAINST SUBSIDIZATION

PRO-AMATEUR TOURNEY SPONSORED BY CROSBY

DEL MAR, Calif., Feb. 5 (AP)—Lured by $3,000 in movie gold, no-mad golf stars tuned up today for the Bing Crosby pro-amateur tournament at Ranch Santa Fe near here tomorrow and Sunday.

The profitable competition will ring down the curtain on the California winter links season, which has seen Lawson Little, Sam Snead, Ed Dudley and Harry Cooper, among others, come home winners.

Crosby is going to team with Denny Shute, long a winner in these parts, while Bob Burns, the Arkansas comedian, will test his strokes and jokes with Jules Huot.

Other film luminaries consigned to the company of pros include Alan Hale, Bruce Cabot and Richard Arlen.

Grant defeated the No. 1 ranked red-head from Oakland, Calif., in tournaments at Tampa and Coral Gables.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 5 (AP)—Two Floridians, Arthur Hendrix of Lakeland and Charles Harris of Palm Beach, implied today they felt like "innocent bystanders" in the sweep of Don Budge and Bryan Grant toward their third meeting of the season in the surf club invitational tennis final.

Grant defeated the No. 1 ranked red-head from Oakland, Calif., in tournaments at Tampa and Coral Gables.

Harris, who drew Atlanta's mighty mite as his semi-final opponent, said: "I'll be lucky to win four games."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES.
901 North First Street.
"Spirit" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist on Sunday, Feb. 7.
The Golden Text is: "We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord" (II Cor. 3:18).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Am I a God at hand, saith the Lord, and not a God afar off? . . . Do not I fill heaven and earth? saith the Lord" (Jeremiah 23:23, 24).
The lesson-sermon includes also the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The three great virtues of Spirit, omnipotence, omnipresence, omniscience—Spirit possessing all power, filling all space, constituting all Science—contradict forever the belief that matter can be actual. These eternal verities reveal primeval existence as the radiant reality of God's creation, in which all that He has made is pronounced by His wisdom good" (pages 109-110).

4-YR. VICTIM OF CONSTIPATION IS NOW RELIEVED

Stomach Bloating with Gas; "My Body Ached All Over," Says Texas Lady; Now She Tells How Van-Tage Relieved Her; Gives Amazing Statement.

Mrs. Ella Hollon, of 1612 Freeman St., Houston, Tex., is Another Widely-Known Resident of This Section who is publicly praising and endorsing the "Amazing Mixture of Nature's Roots and Herbs and Other Splendid Ingredients,"

MRS. ELLA HOLLON known as VAN-TAGE, which is now being introduced and explained to the public of this city and vicinity at Cretney Drug Store. Mrs. Hollon has lived in Texas all her life, and has resided in Houston 8 years.

4 Years of Gas, Bloat and Constipation
"For the last 4 years I had been a suffering, miserable person. I was an awful victim of stubborn constipation, with a gassy, bloated condition that just kept me in a state of misery. I also developed an upset stomach and indigestion from the poisons held inside of me by my sluggish bowels, and I got so I ached all over my body. I did everything I could to get relief, but I went right on suffering, for it seemed like nothing did me any good. But finally I found Van-Tage. And now, I simply can't thank it enough. That awful constipation and gassy bloated condition is relieved, and I don't have indigestion any more and my system has been cleansed of the poisons and acids. This medicine is the Greatest Thing of the Kind that I Ever Found."

Over 20,000,000 Bottles Great Formula Sold
This Amazing Formula has been tested by the sale of over 20,000,000 bottles. It has helped thousands of sufferers, in THIS VICINITY ALONE, from irregular bowels, inactive liver, gaseous stomach and sluggish kidneys. And—due to the immense volume in which it sells, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable, so get it—TODAY—at Cretney Drug Store, next to LaNora Theatre.

City Manager Off To Inspect Trees

City Manager C. L. Stine left this morning for Plainview, La. and other South Plains cities to look at trees the city is interested in purchasing for use along the draws in and close to central park and other city property.

Mrs. Stine and children were to go as far as Snyder where they will visit her parents for a few days.

City commissioners recently opened bids for trees, mostly Chinese elms, but through the prices quoted were too high, Mr. Stine was authorized to make the trip to look at other trees.

38-day old strike. The conference, originally scheduled for 10 a. m., was delayed until 11:45 by the arrival of General Motors representatives.

The conferees today were the same as yesterday. William S. Knudsen, executive vice-president of General Motors; Donaldson Brown, finance officer and John Thomas Smith, the corporation's attorney, arrived more than an hour and a half after Governor Murphy and labor representatives, John L. Lewis, Lee Pressman, and Homer Martin had reached the courtroom.

Knudsen and his colleagues had been delayed, it was understood, looking up certain data desired at the conference. They were immediately into conference room without commenting upon the move at Flint through which the corporation obtained an attachment writ against the "sit down" strikers in the Fisher body plants there.

The issuance of the eviction writ at Flint came as many rumors circulated that only one issue stood in the way of an agreement that would permit reopening on short notice, of all closed General Motors plants. This was the question of collective bargaining representation.

As the conferees renewed their discussion today the impression grew that the White House was taking a more active part in the negotiations. Governor Murphy was known to be keeping in touch with Washington as well as with the tense situation at Flint.

annual civil grant of $25,000 for Edward.

Conservatives have joined the movement and will hold their positions "until Edward gives up all thought of marrying Mrs. Simpson," said informed sources.

Two future courses are considered possible:

1. Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin—rather than risk a new controversy and resultant publicity—may drop the pension proposal.

2. King George and the royal family may make provisions for Edward out of their own funds—with the consent of the government.

Pride and eight others gathered stretchers and blankets.

They hurried into the mine, waded and swam through a deep pool of water covering nearly an acre where originally many believed Johnson drowned while trying to open clogged drains.

Pride told of administering first aid, and declared:

"Johnson's physical condition was excellent considering the long exposure. He had been drinking sulphur water and his lips were badly parched. He thought he had been in the mine for a month.

Johnson was carried a quarter of a mile down a snow-covered path to a waiting ambulance. There he was joined by his wife—among his first questions was "How's my wife?"—and hurried to a hospital 15 miles away in Clarksburg, the nearest large city.

Rescue workers theorized Johnson swam across the water, dropped his lamp and, unable to find his way in the dark, began days of wandering throughout the dark passageways.

Heaps of coal and slate hampered rescue work in most of the passageways—the mine had not been "cleaned" since it was abandoned. Johnson had been content to do his spare time mining in most accessible spots.

would not meet von Ribbentrop for a discussion of Hitler's demand for return of Germany's former colonies until after his return.

The diplomatic conversation previously had been planned "within a few days."

The Nazi ambassador also stirred some members of the House of Commons to criticism when he imported a group of German workmen to aid on constructing additions to the embassy.

Von Ribbentrop, one source said, when he was formally presented to the king last night at Buckingham palace, instead of making the usual bow, raised his right arm, palm down and fingers outstretched, in the Nazi salute, and in ringing tones cried:

"Heil, Hitler"

STARK COLLECTION OF FINE ART OBJECTS IS GIVEN TO UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Feb. 5. (AP)—H. J. Luchter Stark of Orange, chairman of the board of regents of the University of Texas, today presented to the state and the university a collection of fine art objects gathered by his mother, Mrs. Miriam M. Stark, and valued at $500,000.

In the formal presentation to Governor Alfred, Stark said the gift was made on condition it be properly housed, and estimated $400,000 was needed for that purpose. Lieut. Governor Walter P. Woodul and Robert W. Calvert, speaker of the House ceremony.

Stark said a state fine arts museum was greatly needed and suggested the old library building on the university campus be converted into one.

The collection of Mrs. Stark, who died last year, is reputedly one of the finest of its type in the country. It includes paintings, lace, costumes, period furniture, china, rare glass, vases, rugs, statuary, books and manuscripts.

Club Parties at Skelly Reported

By Mrs. W. W. Hughes
SKELLYTOWN, Feb. 5. (P)—Mrs. V. F. Francis was hostess to the Amigo Bridge club Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. L. R. Jones.

Valentine decorations were used in appointments for the games. Mrs. S. C. Dickey scored high. Mrs. H. E. Patton low. Mrs. Ed Patchett received the floating prize.

A guest favor was presented to Mrs. W. W. Hughes.

An attractive refreshment course was served.

Coulsons Are Hosts

The Bid-A-Bit bridge club met last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Coulson, including Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller, as guests for the games. Mrs. Harry Sherriff scored high for ladies, and Joe Miller high for men.

Delicious refreshments brought the evening to a close.

What-Not Club

Mrs. C. R. Jaccard was hostess to the What-Not club Wednesday afternoon. Sewing and conversation was enjoyed at the informal hour. The hostess was given a shower of tea towels, which were inspected and admired. Delicious refreshments were served.

A special guest for the afternoon was Mrs. Ruth Wood of Vega.

HOWARD PAYNE LOSES

BROWNWOOD, Feb. 5. (P)—St. Edward's, defeated 30 to 12 the previous night, came back last night to down Howard Payne, defending Texas conference cage titlist, 34 to 30 in an overtime game.

St. Edward's led 17 to 13 at the half. Reece of Howard Payne and Fleming of St. Edward's tied for scoring honors with 11 points each.

John H. Day of San Antonio, Texas, captured a four-month-old panther cub. The "kitty consumes about six pounds of meat daily.

NO. 3 —

of federal court machinery, including an increase in judgeships of the Supreme and lower courts and a method for speeding high court decisions on constitutional questions.

In a tentative draft of a bill accompanying the message, the President would be given the power to increase the Supreme Court by a maximum of six justices to fifteen and the lower courts by two members each unless judges over 70 retired.

"These proposals do not raise any issue of constitutional law," the President said, listing four specific recommendations, as follows:

1—Power for the President to nominate an additional judge in any court when an incumbent has reached the age of 70, has held office for 10 years and within six months after reaching 70 has neither resigned or retired.

2—Power for the Supreme Court to appoint an administrative assistant or "proctor" to watch lower court calendars and permit the chief justice to assign district and circuit judges temporarily to areas where the dockets are congested.

3—Provision that no decision, injunction, judgment or decree on any constitutional question be promulgated by any federal court without previous and ample notice to the attorney general of the United States and an opportunity for the United States to present evidence and be heard.

4—Provision that when any inferior court determines a question of constitutionality, there shall be a direct and immediate appeal to the Supreme Court and that such cases take precedence over all other matters pending in that court.

The President's message also was accompanied by a letter from Attorney General Cummings asserting delay in administration of justice "is the outstanding defect of our federal judicial system."

Before sending the bulky document to the capital, the chief executive went over the whole subject at a special cabinet meeting attended also by Vice President Garner, Speaker Bankhead, Democratic Leaders Robinson and Rayburn, and Chairman Ashurst (D, Ariz.) and Sumners (D, Tex.) of the Senate and House judiciary committees.

This meeting caused a half hour delay in the President's regular press conference at which he read the entire message and explained it.

He said he was urging no compulsory retirement of judges but asserted the necessity for "relieving present congestion extends to the enlargement of capacity of all the federal courts."

He added, however, that a part of the problem of obtaining a sufficient number of judges to dispose of cases "is the capacity of the judges themselves."

"This brings forward the question of aged or infirm judges—a subject of delicacy and yet one which required frank discussion," Mr. Roosevelt said in his message.

"In this connection let me say the pending proposal to extend to the justices of the Supreme Court the same retirement privileges now available to other federal judges, has my entire approval."

Near the close of his message, Mr. Roosevelt said it dealt with four "present needs."

"First," he said, "to eliminate congestion of calendars and to make the judiciary as a whole less static by the constant and systematic addition of new blood to its personnel; second, to make the judiciary more elastic by providing for temporary transfers of circuit and district judges to those places where the federal courts are most in arrears; third, to furnish the supreme court practical assistance in supervising the conduct of business in the lower courts; fourth, to eliminate inequality, uncertainty and delay now existing in the determination of constitutional questions involving federal statutes."

The President said there were 237 life tenure judgeships in the federal courts, 25 held by judges over 70 and eligible to leave the bench on full pay.

Life tenure, assured by the constitution, he said, was designed to place the courts "beyond temptations or influences which might impair their judgments; it was not intended to create a static judiciary. A constant and systematic addition of younger blood will vitalize the courts and better equip them to recognize and apply the essential concepts of justice in the light of the needs and the facts of an ever-changing world."

Would Limit Number

The bill would limit the total number of judges to be added in all courts to 50. Six of the present nine supreme court justices are past 70 and under the proposed bill they would have the same retirement privileges that are now accorded lower court judges. The latter may now retire on full pay but a supreme court justice must resign to obtain full pay.

"These proposals," the president said, "do not raise any issue of constitutional law. They do not suggest any form of compulsory retirement for incumbent judges."

"Indeed, those who have reached the retirement age, but desire to continue their judicial work, would be able to do so under less physical and mental strain and would be able to play a useful part in relieving the growing congestion in the business of our courts."

"Among them are men of eminent ability and whose services the government would be loath to lose. If, on the other hand, any judge eligible for retirement should feel that his court would suffer because of an increase in its membership, he may retire or resign under already existing provisions of law if he wishes to do so."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5. (P)—Retirement privileges for supreme court justices recommended to congress today by President Roosevelt would affect six of the present nine members of the supreme bench. These justices are over 70 and have served 10 years on the federal bench:

Chief Justice Hughes and Justices Van Devanter, McReynolds, Sutherland, Butler and Brandeis. Of the six Van Devanter, McReynolds, Sutherland and Butler are regarded by some lawyers as the "conservative" wing of the high court, while Brandeis is considered "liberal" group.

Should the President's recommendations be enacted into law and the six justices retire, Justices Stone, Cardozo and Roberts would be left on the bench.

Of the three, Stone and Cardozo have come to be known as "liberals" by some attorneys. Roberts sometimes has sided with them on important constitutional questions and sometimes with the so-called "conservative" group.

Roberts wrote the decision invalidating the agricultural adjustment act.

Hughes has voted against the new deal eight times and, for it even. In the Guffy coal decision he supported part of the law and opposed other parts.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

Chapter IX DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTER- ING'S THIRD REPORT, CON- TINUED.

From the foregoing statements it is obvious that, as we have a note in Blane's own hand, scribbled on the back of a leaf torn from Stodart's pocketbook with the share quotations on it, which was sent down to him at 7:45, he must still have been alive at that time.

The steward, Ringbottom, entered his cabin at 8:30 and discovered him to be missing. Therefore, Bolitho Blane must have been murdered between 7:45 and 8:30. The situation of the cabin steward's pantry and Ringbottom's statement, backed by that of the carpenter, Jenks, rules out the possibility of the crime having been committed by any member of the crew and we must, therefore, assume that the guilty party is either Carlton Rocksavage or one of his guests.

After I had questioned Count Posodini, Detective Officer Neame told me that he felt certain that this man's face was familiar to him, and that we had him on our criminal records. Every effort should therefore, be made to obtain full particulars regarding him at once.

Having taken statements from all the guests and the only members of the crew who might possibly have been concerned in the affair I proceeded to analyze their statements with a view to seeing how far they vouch for each other, and the limited time in each case, when they were on their own, during the period, 7:45-8:30, during which the murder must have been committed.

TIMES ACCOUNTED FOR BY PRESENCE IN THE LOUNGE.
Analysis of people eliminating each other from suspicion by their presence in the lounge from time when Blane was known to be alive until he was reported missing.

At 7:45—Mrs. Jocelyn, Count Posodini, Mr. Rocksavage, Mr. Stodart, Rock-savage, Stodart, the Bishop.

At 8:05 to 8:10—Steward, Rock-savage, Stodart, Bishop, Lady Welter.

At 8:10 to 8:15—Steward, Bishop, Stodart, Lady Welter.

At 8:15 to 8:25—Steward, Stodart, Bishop, Lady Welter, Mr. Hayashi.

At 8:25 to 8:30—Steward, Stodart, Bishop, Lady Welter, Hayashi, Posodini.

At 8:30 to 8:32—Steward, Stodart, Bishop, Lady Welter, Posodini, and Mr. and Mrs. Jocelyn.

At 8:32 to 8:33—As above with cabin steward who reported Blane missing.

UNVOUCHED FOR TIMES.
The following table shows the number of minutes in the period from 7:45 to 8:30, when each member of the party was not under direct observation of one of the others and, therefore, at liberty to commit the crime.

MRS. JOCELYN: In the lounge till 8:30. Unvoiced for time full period of 45 minutes.

COUNT POSODINI: In lounge till 7:45. Returned changed to lounge at 8:25. Unvoiced for time (in period) 40 minutes.

MR. ROCKSAVAGE: In lounge till 8:10. Returned changed to lounge at 8:35. Unvoiced for time (in period) 20 minutes.

MR. STODART: In lounge at 7:40. Remained there till 8:33. Unvoiced for time (in period) nil.

BISHOP OF BUDE: Came below with Lady Welter at 7:05. In lounge changed at 8:00. Unvoiced for time (in period) 15 minutes.

LADY WELTER: Came below with the Bishop at 7:05. In lounge changed at 8:05. Unvoiced for time (in period) 20 minutes.

MR. HAYASHI: Went to cabin at 6:10. In lounge changed at 8:15. Unvoiced for time (in period) 30 minutes.

MR. JOCELYN: Came below with Miss Rocksavage 7:30 (approx.). In lounge changed at 8:30. Unvoiced for time full period of 45 minutes.

MISS ROCKSAVAGE: Came below with Mr. Jocelyn 7:15 (approx.). In lounge changed at 8:40. Unvoiced for time full period of 45 minutes.

DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTER-
ING'S THIRD REPORT, CON-TINUED.

The foregoing tables rule out the lounge steward, Cane, as he was only absent from the lounge for two periods of two minutes each during the time under review, and in each of these had to go down to Blane's cabin and come up again, so he could not possibly have had time to perpetrate the crime in either.

The only other person who is entirely ruled out is the secretary, Nicholas Stodart, as he was in the lounge during the whole period under review.

Rocksavage and all his other guests were, however, absent from the lounge for periods of from 15 to 45 minutes between 7:45 and 8:30, during which they might have committed the murder.

I then proceeded to make an analysis of possible motives.

POSSIBLE MOTIVES
MRS. JOCELYN: Nil, as far as is known at the moment.

COUNT POSODINI: Nil, as far as is known at the moment.

MR. ROCKSAVAGE: Blane's death will send the shares of the Blane companies down to zero and, in their present precarious state, possibly cause them to crash altogether. That would suit Rocksavage's book far better than the proposed amalgamation. Blane also stated his fear that Rocksavage might attempt his life, before he died. Motive in Rocksavage's case is, therefore, strong.

THE BISHOP OF BUDE: Nil, as far as is known at the moment.

LADY WELTER: As the largest holder in the Rocksavage companies she stands to benefit by Blane's death. She may have other assets outside the Rocksavage companies, however, so, although there is a motive, in her case it is weak.

MR. HAYASHI: Nil, as far as is known at the moment but, as he is concerned in the world soap interest,

By Dennis Wheatley

© 1937, NEA Service, Inc.,
William Morrow & Co.

he may well have a motive which has not yet come to light.

MR. JOCELYN: Nil, as far as is known at the moment, but, as a dependent of Lady Welter, his interest marches with hers, so it is possible that he might have acted at her instigation.

MISS ROCKSAVAGE: Nil, as far as is known at the moment.

Having analyzed the information gained from first statements, as above, I then went below to examine the dead man's property. An inventory disclosed the usual travel apparel, dress suits, shoes, shirts, hats, etc., and in addition two tins (100 each) Balkan Sobranie cigarettes, one bottle Phenice, one bottle Gum Tragacanth, a 22 Scott Webley automatic, unloaded, and bullets for same; an electric torch, and a postcard addressed only "Bolitho Blane, Esq.," found in right-hand top dressing table drawer.

The last item on the inventory is of considerable interest as it comes from the Japanese Inosuke Hayashi. It is on a yacht postcard and, therefore, written after Hayashi's arrival on board. Presumably it was delivered to Blane some time between his arrival on the yacht at 7:05 and his death, which is known to have occurred between 7:45 and 8:30.

MAKE AUTO KILLING UNPOPULAR

When the final figures are tabulated and released, it will probably be found that 1936 was the worst year in our history so far as automobile accidents were concerned.

More than 35,000 men, women and children were killed. Hundreds of thousands were injured. Property damage ran into the billions.

At least 90 per cent of this ghastly destruction can be ascribed to but one thing: the human element.

It is a telling commentary on our driving habits that the worst accidents commonly occur on good roads under favorable conditions of light and weather, and involve cars in excellent condition. The reason for this is simple enough. Drivers exaggerate the "safety factors" of roads and weather and cars. They take chances. They succumb to the lure of speed beyond any reasonable need. They pass other cars on hills and curves, weave in and out of traffic and zoom around corners at a horrible cost in life, health and property.

Efforts to educate these drivers, to appeal to their senses of reason and fairness and courtesy, have failed practically 100 per cent. That being true, the next step is a massed public opinion that will strengthen traffic laws and traffic patrols, and strictly punish those guilty of driving errors that cause accidents. If the reckless driver refuses to mend his ways, he must be forced to. And if, after a period of time, he has shown that fines and other punishments won't do the work, he must be deprived of the right to operate a car on public streets and highways.

It is estimated that 10 per cent of drivers are reckless, while 90 per cent are reasonably capable and cautious. Will that dangerous 10 per cent continue to be allowed to imperil all the rest of us and to make slaughter houses of our public roads?

IMPATIENT AMERICA

Impatient America is riding itself jittery behind millions of automobile horns. How long will it be before laws are passed throughout the country, making it a misdemeanor to toot one's way through traffic? We hope, not very long.

E. V. Durling, Los Angeles columnist, brings out the seriousness of automobile horn tooting in a more or less humorous way, recently. A woman reader of Durling's column said: "If I drive 20 miles an hour in a 25-mile zone, everybody honks their horns at me. If I fail to jump the red light or bell at intersections, I get the angry horns again. I can't understand it. Horns have made a lawbreaker out of me."

A Phoenix man adds his bit of protest. He says: "When the sign said 'stop', I stopped. I went when it said 'go', but not until then. And there were honks of protest to the right and honks of protest to the left. Finally I got the idea. Jump the red light and bell or get honked out of Los Angeles."

Isn't it a pity? Impatient America, riding to its jittery doom! Did you ever, as a than the teetotalis mof the old "temperance" and Cuyler streets here, and watch the automobile traffic? If you did, you will know what impatience is.

If horn blowing in traffic continues, we'll all be nervous wrecks! Something in common, anyhow. European countries, several of them at least, already have established laws, making it a misdemeanor to blow an automobile horn except in extreme emergency. Several European cities prohibit automobile horn blowing, entirely. Europeans live longer than Americans. There may be a reason!

TOO MUCH INCOME TAX

Make your returns for income tax early, urges the Bureau of Internal Revenue. And for what reason, do you suppose, in addition to all the good old familiar ones, does the Bureau make this plea?

Because if you are late, you are apt to overpay!

It appears from the Bureau's records that late taxpayers are in a hurry, and they often fail to take advantage of personal exemptions, credit for dependents, or deductions from gross incomes, to which they are entitled. They get their money back later, of course, after the income tax man has been around to audit their returns. But he uses up, in the day or more of his labor and yours, more money for the taxpayer than that enduring soul gets back. So it's a good idea to do it early and carefully and to make as few mistakes as possible, and to do it all as clearly as possible, so that you pay your rightful amount the first time, no more and no less.

TEMPERANCE FOR PROFIT

An interesting development in the liquor business, since federal prohibition was abandoned, has been the preaching of temperance by liquor dealers. The word is used here in its ancient and natural meaning of moderation and self-control, rather than the teetotalism of the old "temperance" movement. Some manufacturers make a regular practice of warning users of their liquors against unwise indulgence.

Various groups of retail dealers are engaged in similar campaigns.

Here is an interesting combination of good morals and good business. A temperate drinker, no doubt, makes the best customer in the long run. It is also evident that the more self-control drinkers use in their indulgence, the less danger there will be of a popular rebellion sweeping the legitimate liquor traffic out of existence again.

PAINTERS PROTEST

The battle of the rouge may be recorded in the history of the present session of Congress. Women are rebelling against paying the government more than $1,300,000 a month as taxes on necessary accessories to achievement of present-day standards of beauty.

Fittingly the champion contender for women's rights will be a congresswoman, Mrs. Mary T. Norton, a New Jersey representative. She has announced that she will introduce a bill to repeal taxes on toilet preparations. "Cosmetics," says Mrs. Norton, "have become articles of necessity."

Well-wishers may urge in Cromwellian phrase: "Have faith, girls, but keep your powder dry!"

Washington Letter

By RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON — The president's abrupt termination of negotiations toward pooling TVA power with the electricity of the private power companies should give you some idea of the type of programs which will be recommended by his new, hand-picked National Power Policy Committee.

If something doesn't happen to throw it off the track, this committee and the administration may be expected to work toward the day when the country will be almost blanketed by public power projects modeled after the one in the Tennessee Valley, with little if any compromise with private power companies except such as might be forced by decisions of the supreme court.

If the power policy committee didn't decide for Roosevelt that the TVA pool negotiations should be called off, it was at least in complete agreement with him when the president acted, citing the persistency with which the industry had pressed its court suits against TVA.

The committee, under chairmanship of Secretary Harold Ickes, will concentrate for the time being on a policy for the big Bonneville project in the northwest.

Eventually, according to those who know its members most intimately, there probably will be "authorities" handling Tennessee Valley, Boulder Dam, Bonneville, Ohio Valley, and perhaps other big federal power developments more or less covering the country.

An Ohio Valley Authority becomes daily a more fixed idea with Roosevelt and his power advisers, who realize something must be done toward flood control in that area and, of course, prefer to tie it in with power development.

Such a program faces a hot fight, not only with the power companies but also with railroads, which will see a menace in any improved navigation facilities. The same interests may be expected to try to beat the proposed St. Lawrence navigation-power project when the president begins to push it this year.

Bonneville will be selling power by October, it is now predicted, and the NPPC will work out rates and distribution policies, probably recommending that the Federal Power Commission be temporarily empowered to fix the rates.

The committee's scope is huge, as it also can make decisions as to what ought to be done about rates and other equally important problems by TVA and any other power developments.

If the administration does push on with the program for a series of far-flung regional federal power authorities it will only be reverting to the original big idea Roosevelt had in creating PWA. That idea primarily was one of developing the river valleys.

Low Douglas, then director of the budget, persuaded Roosevelt to let that ride and concentrate on NRA as a recovery weapon. By the time the president got his mind back on PWA, there was too much pressure for specific local projects to be resisted. And money poured out through CWA and PWA and into schools, sewers, bridges, and courthouses instead of into the original grand scheme.

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Norman Rockwell thinks artists must strive for meticulous or suffer appalling consequences. Once, as an instance, on a magazine cover he painted a farm house with doors opening inward, and for days his mail was charged with vitriolic missives. This taught him that farmhouse doors always swing outward, and today he does not even essay a pair of bedroom slippers without first possessing himself of a pair.

A quorum of the boys was discussing the more illuminative instances of this fetish, and one recalled the time Rockwell needed (as part of a picture) and old pair of shoes. None were at hand, nor could he find anything in the newspapers and anything similar to the sort he desired. So he advertised in the newspapers and waited until the right pair turned up.

Speaking of illustrators, there is a charming story concerning the sketches for "Kid Galahad," a hard-boiled prize fight story by Francis Wallace. So pleased was this prize of Notre Dame with the illustrations that he dispatched a note of appreciation to Mr. Cooper, whom he had never met, praising his technique and assuring him that, no doubt, they played a big part in the success of the story.

In the note he mentioned the heroine (Wallace's wife is always called "the girl") about falling in love with his own heroines, and he observed, judging by the gorgeous illustrations, that Cooper must have fallen for her, too. The artist, however, replied that the villain of the story seemed the more attractive character, which dumfounded Wallace until he realized that Richie Cooper was a charming girl, who lives with her husband in Kansas City. She is one of the few women artists able to lend authenticity to action pictures.

Wallace, by the way, says that this story "got away" from him. In spite of everything he could do, the villain and a lady-who-fell-by-the wayside emerged as the stand-out characters.

And then there was the time James Montgomery Flagg met with a most informal introduction to a famous artist. It was during rehearsals of an illustrators' club show, and a stranger kept shouting criticism to the director. "Some of these scenes are bad, etc."

Across the room sat Flagg, growing more annoyed with each outburst. Finally he leaped up and invited the meddling one outside. "I'm going to take a good sock at you," growled Flagg, advancing with shut fist.

"If you do," said the stranger, "you'll be hitting one of your greatest admirers."

Well, what can you do in a case like that? Well, you can have a couple of drinks, which is what they did and Flagg was delighted. His new admirer was Russell Patterson.

them no right to rob her of her revelation.

Had Sally's parents been on the alert, and had they themselves realized the child's right to her own beliefs and the importance of these beliefs to Sally, they would have put a stop to the household inquisition. Tolerance is rare, especially among children. However, it is a virtue that can be inculcated.

Had the other children taken away Sally's toys or smashed her dolls, or had they limited her freedom of action, the parents would have interfered.

Moreover, they missed a chance of teaching tolerance to the other children, in a matter which might have served as a particularly good object lesson.

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD — On the wings of a glowing storm, with thunder in crescendo and wind hissing, Basil Rathbone made a fittingly villainous return to Hollywood. His last year in England and on the continent was spent, he reported, in practically complete bad weather, which ought to show him what a movie villain can expect.

But the tall, affable and scholarly Rathbone brought with him an undastardly note of cheer: in his opinion, there will be no war in Europe. He had a great deal of fun sizing things up, making personal observations and forming personal opinions, which (he admits) he enjoys doing.

This radical fellow goes further than that. He thinks actors are entitled to political opinions and to the expressing of them, whatever policy or tradition may decree to the contrary.

It was with some difficulty that Rathbone was steered conversationally from the turbulent waters of European intrigue and diplomacy to the comparatively placid sea of film topics, where drama floats in celluloid reflection. It was doubly difficult because the man was as interesting as well as interested.

Ann Harding Stars
But Rathbone finally talked about his picture—the one he made in England—and reported that from what he'd heard about it Ann Harding will return to Hollywood "a bigger star than ever." (This was something to hear, since Miss Harding's later Hollywood pictures rather made her a Little Orphan Annie, they were that bad.)

"Love from a Stranger," Rathbone expects, will help him too. At least it is his first film role untainted by villainy (well, almost) and it offers him, actually, as a romantic lover. On the stage such roles were usual, but in pictures he joined the "man you love to hate" parade. For professional well-being, he has been trying to step out of line.

"The public grows tired of hating much more quickly than it does of liking," he commented. "People do, in everyday life. Think how often you dismiss someone you don't like with: 'Oh, let's not talk about him any more—I don't like him, you don't like him, he's just a bore.' But of someone you like, you're willing to talk all day. Isn't that so?"

Hollywood Stars Migrate
The English studios, during the summer, were transplanted Hollywood. Miriam Hopkins, Mariette Dietrich, Charles Laughton, Edward G. Robinson, and other Hollywood stars were there. But Rathbone, at least, was convinced that Hollywood is the place to make pictures.

London, he said, has the same drawback as New York—too much to do. Players want to make pictures while doing stage work, and they can't with justice to both.

"In Hollywood," he said, "it's easy to get to bed early and get up at six. An evening with a book and the

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. How wide is the Gulf Stream near Bermuda? C. E. A.

A. The breadth of the Gulf stream varies. At its narrowest point it is about 50 miles, but the width increases to about 150 miles where it passes between the Bermudas and the coast of Carolina.

Q. How many states banned the practice of bank nights at the movies? H. D.

A. The practice has been ruled illegal in Illinois and Texas.

Q. What was the award recently given to Juan Trippie, president of Pan American Airways? L. W.

A. The Chinese Government conferred the Order of Brilliant Jade on Mr. Trippie for his part in spanning the Pacific with fast-flying Clipper ships.

Q. How do skiers warn of their approach? B. M.

A. The cry is "Track" and warns a person to move off the trail immediately or, if this is impossible, to stand perfectly still.

Q. What is the name of the representative who has introduced a bill in congress providing a National Academy of Public Affairs for men and women? W. H.

A. Representative Wesley E. Disney of Oklahoma introduced this bill which would provide specialized education for careers in the Federal Government and in the foreign service of the United States.

Q. What is the correct spelling for the plant known as crepe myrtle? I. R.

A. It should be written as one word and spelled crape myrtle.

Q. What company spent the most for radio advertising in 1936? M. J.

A. The leading radio advertiser for 1936 over Columbia, National and Mutual networks was Procter and Gamble who spent $3,512,423 over the air.

Q. Does Mrs. Calvin Coolidge get a pension from the Government? H. W.

A. Congress has authorized an annual pension of $5,000 to the widow of President Coolidge.

Q. How much time is lost due to sunburn? Is sunburn dangerous? E. B.

A. A noted dermatologist estimates that every year 200,000 working days are lost in the United States because of illness due to sunburn, which represents an annual loss of $1,400,000. If one-half or more of the body surface is sunburned, serious internal complications and even death may result. In any case, if blisters are formed there is a possibility of infection which may cause serious injury.

Q. Is there an autobiography of Rudyard Kipling? E. W.

A. The author's autobiography is entitled, "Something of Myself for My Friends Known and Unknown."

Q. How many pounds of unshelled peanuts made a pound when shelled? F. M.

A. About one and a half pounds of unshelled peanuts will weigh a pound when shelled.

Q. Are there West Point Cadets or Annapolis Midshipmen? S. F.

A. There are about 1,653 Cadets and 2,290 Midshipmen.

Q. What is the origin of the expression, Darby and Joan, for a loving, virtuous, old-fashioned couple? G. B. K.

A. The names belong to a ballad called "The Happy Old Couple," probably written by Henry Woodfall, and the characters are said to be John Darby, of Bartholomew Close, who died 1730, and his wife, Woodfall served his apprenticeship as a printer to John Darby.

Q. Is there an Audubon Museum? R. W. J.

A. The first museum ever constructed for the work of the great ornithologist and artist will be dedicated this spring near Henderson, Kentucky, where Audubon lived for ten years. The museum will be erected in Audubon Memorial Park and will consist of a main gallery, a wing, and enough space to house the Audubon prints. The Norman style of architecture has been chosen because of the artist's ancestry.

Teach the Rules Of Etiquette
Good manners are an asset—bad manners a lifelong handicap. This is one reason why children should have the advantage of early training in the practice of the little courtesies that rub off so many of the sharp edges of daily living.

The easiest and best way to teach the children manners is to set a good example yourself. Maybe you had better brush up on a few points.

The etiquette booklet, which our Washington Bureau offers is just what you need for this purpose. Send in your name and address, together with ten cents in coin, and a copy will be forwarded promptly.

radio is the usual thing. And we all think of pictures as an end, not just as money on the side."

This, That and Everything

By JESS KELLEY

Some people have a strange mania for being on the winning side irrespective of principles involved. They would rather be on the side that wins than to be identified with the right when the two are in conflict. When such people go to the polls to vote, the question uppermost in their minds is not, "Which issue is right?" But they ask, "Which side of the question is most likely to win majority of votes?" When these people go to an athletic contest, they have only one wish—that they may be able to cheer louder than ever when the game is over. They have no pride in any particular team nor do they care about political destinies; their pride is in their own foresight in deciding a winner. So they go vacillating along life's highway, hunting a ride on every bandwagon that comes along. Having no convictions concerning any desired destination, they fall in with any notion that promises to be popular.

It might be helpful for such people to remember that a large per cent of all good movements toward human progress have, in the beginning, been championed by the minority. All the satisfaction derived from one's citizenship does not come from the experience of having gone the way of the majority. The best citizen gets joy out of a consciousness of having espoused a great cause.

SIDE LINE

BUTLER, Pa. (P)—Visitors to the county clerk's office found this sign, "Marriage Licenses Here. Fight Tickets for Sale."

Clerk Victor A. Campbell explained — the "fight tickets" had nothing to do with matrimony. They were for boxing bouts scheduled for tonight.

TOY LIBRARY

CHICAGO, (P)—Toys galore will soon gladden childhood hearts in a North Side park district. They are to be made available on a "lending library" basis and disinfected after each use.

FENCING RECOMMENDED TO BOOST GIRLS' POISE

GREELEY, Colo., Feb. 5 (P)—Girls, do you want to keep that figure trim and boost your poise quotient?

Then there is no sport like fencing, says Patricia Ann Luckey, only college girl fencer expert in the mile high Rocky Mountains conference.

"Stretching for the target and bending in lunges keeps one in shape better than the same exercise in a gym class because fencing is more vigorous and it has the added impetus of the thrill of contest," the dimpled Greeley State College junior said today.

"For perfecting poise and grace, it excels all other sports, every grace and every patty being executed with precise balance, coordination and timing."

THERE'S VALUE IN JUNK
COLUMBUS, O. (P)—When Harry de Vennish retired as assistant superintendent of the street cleaning department, fellow employees appropriately enough, presented him a big barrel of trash. Under the tin cans and old shoes, however, was a new radio.

MERCHANDISE

CAPITOL JIGSAW

By HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, Feb. 4 (AP)—Gov. James V. Alfred, asking liberal contributions from Texas to aid flood-stricken Kentucky, called attention to assistance Kentucky gave Texas in the struggle for independence from Mexico.

In the hall of the House of Representatives is a stirring reminder of that assistance. It is a flag carried by the heroes of San Jacinto presented Kentucky volunteers by women of Newport, Ky.

Prayed and closed in a glass case, the flag bears the inscription, "Liberty or Death." It hangs just back of the speaker's rostrum.

The governor also reminded Texas that the famous little cannon, "The Twin Sisters," which figured in the Texas-Mexican war, came from Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Texans should not forget the aid received in their hour of need," Alfred said.

District Judge Ralph W. Yarborough, who had much experience defending state laws when an assistant attorney general, expressed the opinion recently that district courts should be chary of declaring statutes invalid.

He commented after upholding the constitutionality of the cigarette tax law, attacked in a case from Fort Worth.

"Any law affecting hundreds of persons should be decided as speedily as possible by the court of final resort."

Yarborough was appointed judge of a Travis county court by Gov. Alfred and then was elected.

Lieut.-Gov. Walter F. Woodul thought it a good thing to have two candidates for president pro tempore of the Senate.

Usually only one man is nominated, but at the start of the present legislative session Senators Will D. Pace of Tyler and Olin Van Zandt of Toga were put up.

"It's a good idea to have two or more candidates for president pro tempore," Woodul said. "because it makes for fewer and shorter nominating speeches."

After the decision, Woodul commented he believed Senator Van Zandt "better qualified for the job," having gone to school with both.

In the reception room of Gov. Alfred, who was not present, there was discussion of a threat by Senator L. J. Sulak of LaGrange to have the legislature override the selection of Dana K. Bible as football coach at the University of Texas.

Sulak objected to the reported $15,000 annual salary for the former University of Nebraska coach. "Maybe Senator Sulak doesn't mind tackling the University," some one opined. "He might recall the case of Gov. James E. Ferguson who did it and has been nursing wounds ever since."

Rep. J. Carroll McConnell of Palo Pinto wants to give the legislature definite authority to hold executive sessions for investigations. The constitution now authorizes the Senate to have closed meetings to consider appointments by the governor, but is silent otherwise on the matter.

"There are times when it is desirable for the House sitting as a committee of the whole or for its committees to question witnesses after the manner of a grand jury," McConnell said.

He has offered a constitutional amendment to give the authority.

English Starlings Flocking to Texas

HOUSTON, Feb. 4 (AP)—Starlings the birds they don't like in Washington, have invaded Texas in droves. Thousands have been seen in Dallas and in West Texas, especially in the Stamford section. E. A. Gilliam, president of the Dallas Ornithological Society, says there is a good chance for the starlings to become a plague, adding:

"Already these small birds are beginning to starve out the native winter birds by cleaning out their sources of food. Our robins, mocking birds, yellowhammers, and other native birds are of distinct value to the economic life of the southwest. The starlings are of practically no value."

Starlings were imported to the United States from Europe late last century to fight the menace of the Japanese beetle in the east. From New York's Central park they have spread over the northeastern and midwestern parts of the nation and gradually moved into the southwest. Predicting that it will be only a matter of time until Starlings intrude on every part of the southwest, Gilliam says:

"The worst part of it is that no one has found a way to stop their invasion. There are too many to shoot and driving them off with any kind of noise-maker seems only to bring more back later. Any one who can invest in a way to keep starlings from taking over the southwest and crowding out the valuable birds will do a great public service."

POOR COMPLEXIONS OFTEN TRACED TO CONSTIPATION

An unattractive, sallow skin and dull, lifeless eyes often mean that common constipation has clogged up your system. You feel wretched and listless, may have headaches.

This condition is usually the result of meals low in "bulk." Restore this "bulk" with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Within the body, ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, forms a soft mass, gently exercises and cleanses the system. Isn't this cereal way better than taking weakening pills and drugs?

Try Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for a week. If not satisfactory, your money will be refunded by the Kellogg Company.

Serve ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or fruits, or in recipes. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily. Three times daily in severe cases. Sold by all grocers. Made and guaranteed by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
