(Copyright, 1929, by Universal Service, Inc.)

There's a bang in the wang
Of the first round clang
For a battle of flatic cracks.
There's a kick in the click
Of the barrier's flick
As the horses tear up the tracks.
There's a thrill in the trill
Of the whistle shrill
That starts the football play—
But say!
Give me the thrill
In the springtime chill
Of baseball's opening day!

However, enough of this! The writing of baseball chanteys, quatrains, odes, and dirges has been overdone, since the day our forefathers first sowed the seed of the national obcession that has its annual formal outburst through the Land O' the Big League Tuesday afternoon in the form of cheers, groans and so forth.

In Chicago, Cincinnati, Philadelphia, Boston, New York, Washington, St. Louis and Cleveland, all well known hives of industry and progression in these United States, the lime dust will fly from the old home plate, and there will probably be the usual number of miscalled strikes, to arouse the fury of thousands of our best citizens.

Relief From Winter

The National league, and its younger brother, the American league, get going for the season of 1929 at approximately the same moment, and everyone will agree that it will be a welcome relief from the hum-drumidity of the dreary winter. It will be one day, too, that the Boston Nationals will not be the last, though they may be least.

At this pause in my recitation, it might be well to interject the consensus of expertorial opinion as to the manner in which the clubs in the two leagues will finish the season for 1929. I have compiled this consensus after an omniverous reading of the reports of the experts who have been peering at the various clubs in the pleasant diversion known as spring training, adding to it my own opinion, not so much as to give the consensus weight as to give it style.

Herewith:

Curtain Falls on 'Joe' Bailey's Dramatic Career at Last Rites

Veteran Texas Politician Buried in Plot Overlooking Gainesville as Thousands Hear Final Tributes

GAINESVILLE, Texas, April 15. (AP)—Joseph Weldon Bailey, who played a dominant role in the drama of Texas politics for more than a quarter of a century, was laid to rest here today.

Surrounded by thousands of friends, the fromer United States senator was buried in Fairview cemetery, overlooking the Texas town he chose as his home when he came west from his native Mississippi. Many of the mourners were old comrades of political battles that stirred the state early in the century, some were associates in the statesman's many legal battles of later years. A special train brought members of the family and several hundred friends from Dallas, where funeral services were held earlier today. These were joined here by a vast outpouring of old neighbors and friends from Northeast Texas cities and towns.

Students Meet Train

The special train was met by the entire student body of the Gainesville schools, numbering 1,500, headed by a color guard bearing the flags "Joe" Bailey served—the national and state colors.

The funeral procession formed slowly at the station, and the concourse, several miles in length began the journey to the cemetery. Automobiles were provided by Gainesville citizens for those who came from other cities. The former senator was buried beside his first wife, Mrs. Ellen Murray Bailey, in a plot which he had owned for years. It had been Mr. Bailey's wish to be buried at Gainesville, which he often described as the "best town in the world in which to live, but the hardest in which to make a living."

Simplicity Marks Rites

The Rev. James H. Gober, long a friend of the statesman, performed the last rites for his former neighbor. Services here, as at Dallas, were marked by the greatest simplicity, in keeping with the wishes

Unwritten Law to Be Texan's Plea To Charge of Slaying El Pasoan

EL PASO, Texas, April 15. (AP)— Self defense and the unwritten law will be the plea of A. F. Lafon, 41, when he is brought to trial for the slaying late yesterday of Charles Titus, 26, after Lafon had found Titus and Mrs. Lafon in a parked automobile half a block from the Lafon home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lafon's 21-months-old daughter was in Mrs. Lafon's arms when the shooting occurred. Lafon surrendered to police. He said he left home Sunday night after telling his wife he was going to work, but that he walked around the block and returned to find his wife and baby gone.

"I went into the house and picked up a .22 calibre pistol," Lafon told police. He said that when he accosted his wife and Titus he thought Titus reached for a pistol and fired in self defense.

"I told them less than two weeks ago to stay away from each other, I gave them fair warning," Lafon declared.

Murder charges were filed today against Lafon, who made $10,000 bond. Titus was shot twice, once in the leg and once through the abdomen.

JURY ACQUITS DALLAS YOUTH OF ROBBERY

Freddy Hostler Freed On Charge of Hijacking Drug Store

FACES THIRD TRIAL

Prisoner Charged With Robbing Soda Man In Spoonts Raid

Freddy Hostler, 22-year-old Dallas youth, was found not guilty of robbery with firearms by a jury in the 30th district court Monday night. The verdict was rendered at 8:30, two hours after the case went to the jury. Hostler was indicted with Joe Ireland and R. B. Nichols after the Spoonts Drug store at Ninth and Van Buren was hijacked on Christmas night, 1928.

A second indictment, charging Hostler with the robbery of Hal Diggs, soda fountain man at the drug store, on the same occasion is still pending. Sam Spence, district attorney, said Monday night the second case would be pushed. Hostler was taken back to the Wichita county jail where he has been since his arrest early on the morning of Dec. 26, 1928. A former trial, held in January, resulted in a hung jury.

Nichols Trial Wednesday

R. B. Nichols, indicted with Hostler, whose first trial in January also ended in a deadlock, is to be tried in the 30th district court here Wednesday. Joe Ireland, the third defendant, is one of the principal witnesses for the state.

Hostler was accused by the state of driving the automobile which is alleged to have taken Nichols and Ireland near the drug store. The car, described as an old roadster, waited near the store and was used as a means of escape by the other two men, according to claims of the state. Hostler was arrested a few hours later in a local hotel, where he and Ireland were found occupying the same bed. A purse, identified as one taken during the hi-jacking, and a gun were discovered at the same time, according to testimony introduced by the state. Nichols was arrested several days later.

Hostler's defense was based on an alibi which he attempted to prove by the testimony of Miss Opal Likens, who told the jury he was at her home delivering a Christmas present to her sister at the time of the holdup. The defendant's mother, Mrs. Anna Bennett, told the court that her son has always been a good by, that he lived with her in Dallas, and that she was dependent on him for support.

Hostler Takes Stand

Hostler took the stand in his own behalf, describing in detail his movements on Christmas day and claiming that he had met Ireland on the street, found him in a drunken condition, and taken him to a hotel to keep him out of trouble.

After his acquittal Monday night, the defendant jumped to his feet to thank the jury. He shook hands with each one as they filed from the box.

Hostler was represented by E. R. Fruechte and Temple Shell.

SOLONS HEAR HOOVER TODAY

Organization of Extra Session Completed

WASHINGTON, April 15. (AP)— The seventy-first congress assembled today and quickly organized for the extra session called by President Hoover to consider farm relief and tariff revision.

Crowded galleries looked down as the victors of the November election took places but with the formalities out of the way adjournment was taken to await the first message of President Hoover to be read tomorrow.

Elected to his third term as speaker of the house, Nicholas Longworth of Ohio sounded the key-note of the Republican majority with a plea for quick enactment of the farm relief, tariff and reapportionment bills. That legislation is enough at this time, he said.

But behind the quiet of the opening day in the senate loomed the prospect of debate for the limited administration program and leaders of both parties were short on forecasts.

The senate sanctions no restriction on debate and the ever present prohibition problem, immigration, the financial dispute between the federal reserve board and Wall street are among the subjects listed for discussion, if not for investigation looking to new legislation in that chamber.

POLICE CHIEF NAMES NEW CITY OFFICERS

Five Men Added to Force; Two Others Shifted To Detective Staff

START WORK TODAY

Reorganization of Police Department to Take Effect Tuesday

Wichita Falls' police department will go under its new method of operation Tuesday, it was announced Monday by Chief of Police Frank Burns.

Five new officers will be added to the force and begin their services here Tuesday, two others will assume new duties, and the general reorganization of police operation will be put into effect.

Under Mr. Burns' new operating method the night forces will be under the direction of John McIntyre, who has been night sergeant for the past year.

Merges Positions

McIntyre will be night captain of the forces to fill the place vacated by Jim Glenn, former night captain. The night sergeant's duties also will be handled by McIntyre.

Chief Burns said Monday that by putting both heads under McIntyre's direction he not only had merged the two positions but that it would enable him to increase the detective force and to bring more unity into the methods of night operation.

He also said that the change would no doubt bring about more efficient work, as McIntyre has been a capable man during the time he has been employed here and that he has the ability to get results from the men.

Traffic and motorcycle men will work for the present under practically the same method that they have been doing in the past. The only changes in the operating method of the two divisions will be in that all motorcycle officers will be required to telephone headquarters at regular intervals and that the traffic men would stick to their corners in the future and give their time to the direction of downtown traffic.

Changes Listed

New members and changes of the personnel of the force are as follows: A. E. Miller will be employed as night patrolman. J. N. Leverett of Vernon, and Clyde Bentley will be employed as motorcycle officers. A. L. Stubblefield, who has been a traffic officer for some time, will be promoted to plainclothes duty, as will W. E. McDonald, who for the past few months has been one of the night patrolmen.

Tom Poe will be employed to serve on the night force, while a brother of Officer Stubblefield who was promoted to plain clothes duty, will be annexed as a traffic officer.

A chief of detectives will be appointed in the next few days.

City officers have recovered more than $1,000 worth of stolen property during the last week and played an important part in the recovery of over $5,000 worth of property Saturday by the sheriff's department.

Chief Burns' action in putting all of his men to work and the revision of the forces has led the department to spend one of the most active weeks in some time.

The general shakeup in the personnel of the force and the revision of the operating methods came after the release of five officers last week.

Chief Burns said Monday, "I have put the members of this department to work and they are going to keep at it. I want them to show courtesy to the public, but I also want results from their work. If the law has to be read to bring action I am going to read it."

BRITISH BEER THIRST WANES

Temperance Cuts Down On Taxes, Churchill Says

By ROBERT WELLS RITCHIE

LONDON, April 15. (US)—The decline in Great Britain's thirst for beer is embarrassing the national treasury.

Before the Prince of Wales and a jammed house of commons, the gallery filled with visitors and diplomats and their ladies, Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, in his budget speech today, characterized the "exchequer embarrassment, but not national misfortune" by the fact that the past year's excise deficiency can be almost entirely accounted for by the falling off of beer consumption in Great Britain.

More Tea, Less Spirits

"The steady decline in the consumption of alcoholic liquors throughout the British Isles has been due to a change in national habits and the growth in popularity of alternate beverages; more tea, less spirits," said Mr. Churchill.

"The movement toward a greater temperance is general among all classes."

Mr. Churchill added that he could not estimate more than a $305,000,000 excise from beer for the coming year. It was pointed out that 10 years ago revenue from that source was double the sum he named.

Election Ammunition

The chancellor of the exchequer rose to present his 1929 budget to the house of commons at 3:30. His appearance was eagerly awaited by the members of parliament as well as by the distinguished persons in the galleries and an interested public, all expecting that Churchill's speech would contain election ammunition for the Conservatives countering Lloyd George's unemployment scheme.

Noting economic progress by Great Britain but admitting that it was relatively far outstripped by the United States, which gained advantage in the war and has displayed far higher stability of purpose ever since," Churchill estimated 1929 expenditures at $22,584,000 pounds sterling as against revenues of $26,680,000 pounds, providing a surplus of only 4,096,000 pounds.

Discussing the growing temperance movement as reflected in the increased consumption of tea and a drop in beer drinking, Churchill announced the removal of the duty on tea from next Monday. He estimated that the removal of the tea duty would reduce the price of tea by 8 cents a pound.

He also announced the repeal of the betting tax and the substitution of a license tax on bookmakers.

ROBERT HILL AND JOHN REED ARE CAPTURED

Cisco and Young County Bandits Caught Without Fight Monday

'TIP' TRAPS SILVER

Girl Pal of Escaped Convict Leads Cops Chase In Heart of City

HOUSTON, April 15. (AP)—Bob Silver's desperate bid for freedom ended here tonight when officers, following a chance tip picked up by a mounted traffic policeman, seated the Fort Worth theater bandit as he drove away in an automobile with a woman and another man.

Silver, who offered no resistance as he faced the guns of four detectives, informed his captors that they had overlooked a pistol when they searched him.

Surrender Considered

He told the officers that he had been deeply moved by appeals of his mother, who through newspapers and the radio had asked him to surrender, and that several times in the past two days he had been considering giving up.

Paul Hinly, city marshal of La Grange, caught John Reed and Robert Hill today. Hill was serving a life sentence from Eastland county for robbery and Reed was sentenced to 28 years from Young county for robbery.

Late today a man told Traffic Officer C. V. Kearn that a woman, who later proved to be Miss Parlee King, 26, had given him a note asking that he send $10 to Carl Lawder, an exconvict from Oklahoma.

Officers Follow Woman

Suspicious of Lawder, the man said, he informed Kearn of the occurrence. Kearn notified Night Superintendent of Police Percy Heard, who summoned detectives.

Four officers went to a downtown hotel, where the informer was given $5, which he took to Miss King.

In a few moments the woman came down stairs, jumped in an automobile and drove to a taxicab stand, with the officers in pursuit.

At the taxi stand the woman left her own automobile and drove out in a rented machine. Through busy streets of the downtown section she led the officers a merry chase. Unaware that she was being followed, officers said, she apparently drove rapidly and in a round-about way to throw off suspicion.

About 20 blocks from the business district, the woman stopped the machine and two men entered. She sped away, the officers in full pursuit.

Five blocks down the busy avenue as hundreds of motorists flashed by, the speeding car was crowded to the curb by the machine of the officers. Leaping from their car, the detectives covered the occupants of the woman's automobile.

In the machine were Miss King, Lawder and Silver. None of them offered resistance and Silver stood calmly by as the officers searched him.

After the escape, Silver asked courteously: "Have you finished, gentlemen?"

"We have," answered one of the detectives.

"Well, I'm afraid you've overlooked my gun," said Silver.

The pistol, a .32 calibre weapon, was found in a holster beneath Silver's vest.

Girl Faces Charge

Charges of wilfully aiding a prisoner to escape were filed against Miss King and Lawder.

Silver with four companions escaped from Wynne state prison farm near Huntsville Friday night. Gov. Dan Moody had granted him a commutation of sentence as prison barbers were shaving him for his scheduled electrocution.

Marvin W. Azbell, another of the escaped men, was captured Sunday at Hempstead, and K. E. Brewer, the other convict was captured near the prison farm after the break.

The Country club building at Lake Cisco, the lake pavilion there, a tea room, a supper club building, automobile tops and house roofs were damaged and windows smashed.

BIG LEAGUES OPEN SEASON

Major Clubs Set for 1929 Pennant Drive

regarded as possessing the famous lead pipe cinch on the National league pennant.

Still, I am informed that the Cubs must play out their 154 games before the flag can be awarded them. It is a formality, but it must be done. The experts declare, however, that the only way the Cubs can blow the banner is for them to fall dead. It is barely possible that the National league course may be found bestrewn with corpses ere the ides of October.

Huggins Faces Jinx

Mr. Miller Huggins, the 6'4th size manager of the New York Yankees, beloved by Col. Jake Ruppert, and the inmates of Manhattan and the Bronx, is confronted this season by the learning countenance of a celebrated jinx, this jinx being known in baseball circles as four straight. Mr. Huggins and his Yankees have taken three American league pennants in a line, but that fourth one is like the first hundred years. The hardest.

The experts contend that the baseball fate of the Yanks is always ever teetering about on the uncertain legs of Mr. George Herman Babe Ruth, although the bloke in the bleacher has an idea that Mr. Ruth's bat has something to do with it. Still, if Mr. Ruth's mumbletypegs play out, how he is going to get that bat up to the old saucer? They don't allow wheel chairs in the American league.

After glaring at Mr. Ruth's legs no end this spring some of the experts are wagging their noggins despairingly. Mr. Ruth's legs have certainly brought many a gray hair to expertorial beans the past decade. Only Mr. Ruth never seems to worry about his legs. He comes and goes on them quite nonchalantly. Especially does he go. It would seem to be at least a fair even money bet that Mr. Ruth's legs prop him up at the plate good enough this season, and Mr. Huggins is not concerned about any season at the moment but this season.

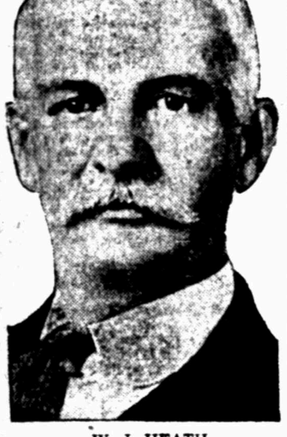

We always have some little pomp and ceremony connected with our New York baseball openings, including the very best first ball tosser in the country in Mayor James J. Walker. I am told that Washington may out-rank us tomorrow to some extent in first ball tossing, because it may have President Hoover, but I guarantee that Mr. Hoover cannot toss a first ball with the aplomb or accuracy of Mayor Walker. Mr. Hoover hasn't had the experience. Man and boy, Mayor Walker has been tossing first balls at baseball openings for three years now, including some in Brooklyn.

MR. AND MRS. HEATH GET BACK HEALTH

"Recently I came home and found two bottles of Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills on the mantel. My wife said: 'I've tired of suffering and know you are. I've heard so much about this Sargon that we are going to try it.'

"I don't believe any two people ever suffered more with stomach trouble than my wife and I. Nothing ever agreed with us and we almost lived on liquid foods. Even then we had to take soda after every meal to get a little temporary relief. We both suffered from constipation and used strong laxatives continually. Extreme nervousness, biliousness and headaches harassed us and many a time we'd walk the floor, unable to sleep. Many days I couldn't go to work.

"Soon after we started taking Sargon we both began to improve. Our appetites picked up and we now eat anything we want with no bad effects. Nervousness left us, we sleep soundly and get up feeling full of life and energy. Sargon brought back our strength and vigor and I don't believe we ever enjoyed better health.

"Sargon Soft Mass Pills are wonderful for they don't sicken or purge in the least, yet they are dependable. We are rid of liver troubles and constipation. Our systems have been reconditioned so that we both are in fine shape."

The above statement was made recently by W. J. Heath, civil engineer for the Proctor-Gamble Co., who lives at 1908 Cockrell St., Dallas, and is highly regarded by his friends and neighbors.

Sargon may be obtained in Wichita Falls from the Renfro Drug Co., Eighth and Scott streets, No. 1 main store, and Seventh and Indiana, No. 2; in Electra from Lough's Drug store; an in Burkburnett from Burkburnett Pharmacy.—Adv.

Ministerial Alliance Endorses Passion Play by Shrine Temple

"Appreciation Week" of Junior C. C. Also Given Approval; Bratton Elected New President

Members of the Wichita Falls Ministerial alliance elected Rev. William D. Bratton, rector of the Church of the Good Shepherd, to succeed Rev. W. H. Townsend, president, who has resigned the pastorate of the Lamar Avenue Baptist church here to accept a post at Olney.

Rev. Mr. Bratton came to Wichita Falls early in 1928. A committee consisting of Dr. Nat F. Grafton, Dr. Floyd A. Bash and Rev. Patrick Henry was appointed to draw up resolutions expressing appreciation for the work done by Rev. Mr. Townsend during his three years in this city.

The alliance voted its endorsement of "Appreciation Week," which is being sponsored by the junior division of the chamber of commerce, and which was presented to the ministers by Walter Nelson Jr., president of the junior organization.

A discussion of the Passion Play, which is to be given in the Memorial auditorium May 1, 2 and 3 under the auspices of Maskat temple, was presented by Harry Hines, and the project received the unanimous endorsement of the alliance.

It was decided that meetings of the ministers' organization hereafter will be held at the First Christian church at 10:30 a. m. on the second Monday of each month. The matter of union Sunday evening services during a portion of the summer months was left with a committee consisting of Rev. E. F. Bohmfalk, Rev. Alvin F. White and Rev. Patrick Henry, which will report at the meeting to be held on May 13.

County's Balance Near Million, Report Says

E. P. Walsh, county auditor, presented his monthly report for March at the commissioners' meeting Monday. His audit showed the county with a balance of $1,099,617.14 on March 31, but he explained that since that date bonds totaling $289,000 have been retired out of the balance. Of that number, $200,000 of the bonds were called before they were due, he said, and $89,000 worth were taken up according to the regular financial scheme of the county. Mr. Walsh's report showed gross receipts for March as $357,464.25, and disbursements as $52,831.22.

Jewish Women Open Hospital Bond Sale

Members of the Wichita Falls Council of Jewish Women comprising the teams which opened the campaign here Monday for funds for the National Jewish hospital, reported very satisfactory results of the first day's drive, stating that the public generally had proven responsive to the appeal.

The National Jewish hospital, located in the outskirts of Denver, Colo., is devoted to the tubercular patients of all creeds and of all sections of the country. No charge of any kind is made for the care and treatment received, and no one who is able to pay for such attention is admitted to the hospital.

The sale of "N. J. H." bonds is the means being used to raise money for the further work of the institution. The following women of this city, divided into two teams, opened the campaign Monday: Mrs. Louis Pink, chairman; Mesdames M. F. Kauffman, Harry Jaffe, D. Persky, Paul Green and Sam Kruger.

Members of Arabic patrol of Maskat temple are sponsoring a dance Thursday, April 18, at 9 p. m. in the Maskat temple auditorium, according to information given by Clarence Dodge, publicity committee chairman. Shriners and master Masons and their ladies are being invited to the affair.

PAIN IN SIDE, DIZZY, WEAK

Fainting Spells, Nervousness, and Other Troubles Made Lady Miserable

Lenoir, N. C.—Mrs. R. L. Simmons, of 111 Broadway, this city, has written a report of how she recovered her health after having been in a painful, weak condition some time ago.

"I suffered dreadfully with a pain in my side," she says. "Sometimes I was up and again I was down.

"I felt so weak. My back hurt with a dull pain. I had fainting spells and was dizzy and weak at times.

"I was very nervous and did not sleep well. I began to get thin, and had no color, in fact I had a sallow look, and was very miserable."

Mrs. Simmons writes that a friend of hers told her about Cardui.

"So I decided to take Cardui," she continues. "My friend was taking it, and she said it helped her. So we took it along together.

"I soon began to feel stronger, and my appetite came back. I took Cardui for several months, and my health improved a whole lot. When I had finished taking it, I felt fine."

JOE W. BAILEY LAID TO REST

Thousands Attend Service At Gainesville

of Mr. Bailey during late years. Only four persons spoke at the services in Dallas, the Rev. William M. Anderson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and three friends of the late leader, John Henry Kirby, Judge Nelson Phillips and John J. Simmons.

Tears stod in Mr. Kirby's eyes as he paid tribute to his late friend. "In his passing the world has lost its greatest statesman," Mr. Kirby sobbed. "He was my friend and he was yours—" his grief cut short the Houston man's words. "My heart is too full," he said; "I know Joe's friends will excuse me."

Mr. Simmons said he had known "Joe" Bailey 44 years, and told of the first speech he had heard Mr. Bailey deliver, in his first campaign for congress against the late Judge Silas Hare, veteran congressman whom Bailey defeated, to begin a long and notable career in both houses of the national congress.

Judge Phillips reviewed the days when Bailey and the late Charles Culberson represented Texas in the senate, and said Texas then considered itself the best represented state of the union.

HASKELL GROUP VISITORS TODAY

100 Farmers Expected Here For County Tour

Plans have been made by G. C. McGown, county farm agent, and O. K. Barnes, agricultural agent of the chamber of commerce, for the entertainment of almost 100 farmers from Haskell county who will spend Tuesday here on a tour of dairy and poultry farm inspections.

The visiting party will be headed by W. P. Trite, county farm agent of Haskell county. The group will be met at 9:30 a. m. at the Bullington dairy at Fair park. Following the inspection of that place, the visitors will be shown the Johnson poultry ranch near the Westmoreland pool. TheWeeks small-farm community will be the next point visited, after which the group will take lunch at a downtown hotel. The cheese factory, Jack Martin's dairy, and the experiment farm near Iowa Park will be visited during the afternoon, if time permits, it was stated.

Similar groups from Baylor and Foard counties have been entertained here recently by chamber of commerce and county officals.

Collector Seeks More Room in Courthouse

Removal of the highway department of the county tax collector's office to quarters in the basement of the courthouse now used as a justice court was proposed to members of the county commissioners' court at its regular meeting Monday.

The court declined to take any position in the matter, indicating that it would leave the question to be settled between O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, to whom the space has formerly been assigned, and members of the collector's office.

Guy C. Raley, collector, explained Monday afternoon that the move was proposed as a means of relieving congestion and of offering better and quicker service to the public.

the Telephone that Tinkled all Day long

MRS. WALTERS measured nervously, put two more pins into the hem of Jane's new party dress. The dress had to be ready by 8 o'clock—and already it was 6:30.

"No!" she answered her husband, who was rumpling his hair irritably in the sewing room door, "Supper isn't ready yet, and—stand still, Jane."

This last to blond, 16-year-old Jane, who posed stiffly on the low table while her mother fitted the garment on her.

"—and don't ask why!" she finished sternly, through a mouthful of pins, "It's a wonder I've accomplished anything! I've spent the afternoon running downstairs to the telephone—down to give Maisie Jones my cake recipe—down to answer the butcher, the preacher, and goodness knows who else!

"I've a notion to move this sewing room downstairs, where I can grab that 'phone the moment it rings!"

Walters, moving ruefully toward the stairway, turned his head to agree with her:

"Either that," he answered, "or have a telephone put in the sewing room."

LEASE SYSTEM EVILS BARED

Bogus Operations on Federal Lands Charged

WASHINGTON, April 15. (UP)—Although 34,000 permits to prospect on public oil and gas lands have been granted during the last nine years, only 56 of them have ripened into leases, many of the others having been obtained by "promoting" associations which never intended to sink wells.

This statement was made by the interior department today in giving further information regarding the operation of dubious oil prospecting associations as outlined by the United Press last week.

The interior department's recently announced policy of granting no more prospecting permits will end the operations of these companies which, since congress passed the general leasing law nine years ago, have robbed the American public of thousands of dollars.

The technique of the prospecting associations, as explained by the interior department, was varied. One of their most common practices was to solicit memberships on the basis of $2 per acre per member, not more than 160 acres going to one person.

An application to prospect on 2,560 acres, for example, cost the association $20. For membership fees on this amount of land it would have received $5,120, making a clear profit of $5,088 at each filing.

Often, the interior department stated, no work was done under the association permits. They were frequently filed on wildcat land offering no prospect of petroleum.

Another evil of the leasing system it was stated, was control of large blocks of applications by persons having insufficient financial backing to comply with the drilling requirements of the law.

"Actual development, obviously was not their purpose," the department explained. "Apparently, the hope was to obtain permits and hold them until some one had tested the land for oil and gas in the vicinity which would enable them to sell out at a large profit or secure a royalty on any oil that might be produced on their own area by others."

Henry Ford and Son Win Suit Over Dam

WASHINGTON, April 15. (INS)—Henry Ford and Son, Inc., a subsidiary of the Ford Motor company, of Detroit, today won an appeal to the supreme court for review of a New York court of appeals decision enjoining it from raising the water level at a Hudson river dam at Troy, N. Y., by use of flashboards.

The state court held that the use of flashboards, although authorized by the Federal Power commission destroyed property rights of the Little Falls Fibre company and other mills.

Salary for Journal Employes Is Allowed

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 15. (UP)—It will be legal to pay legislative employes working on the permanent house journal, W. L. Murphy, assistant attorney general, ruled in an opinion to A. S. J. Shaw, state auditor, today.

Murphy held the house resolution authorizing this employment does not comply with a recent supreme court ruling but held the payment legal as a motion is before the court for a rehearing on the ruling.

NEW CURRENCY TO SAVE PAPER

Portraits on Bills to Designate Denomination

WASHINGTON, April 14. (US)—When Uncle Sam reduces the size of his $5,000,000,000 of paper money, beginning in July, he will save enough paper to cover ten 100-acre farms, Comptroller of the Currency J. W. Pole told a radio audience tonight.

The savings will amount to 440 tons of paper and 459 tons of ink, in addition to other production economies, Pole said.

He gave assurance that the new currency also will yield "greatly improved appearance," easier handling, and increased protection from counterfeiting.

National bank notes will be issued in the small sizes shortly after the other new paper currency is put into circulation, Pole said. Notes in denominations above $20 also will appear a little later.

Pole counselled all persons to watch the portraits on the new notes. There will be a different portrait for each denomination, he pointed out, adding:

"The portrait of Washington will always mean a one-dollar denomination, the portrait of Lincoln a five-dollar denomination, etc."

The other portraits are: $10, Hamilton; $20, Jackson, $50, Grant; $100, Franklin; $500, McKinley; $1,000, Cleveland; $5,000, Madison; $10,000, Chase.

The portraits are intended to afford protection against raising of notes and mistakes in denominations.

The back designs for the bills to be printed in green, will be all alike. But the face designs, in black, will have features characteristic of the denominations for which they are used.

Treasury sales and serial numbers will be in distinctive colors.

"A new kind of paper has been developed, which it is believed will be far more durable than that formerly in use," Pole said.

Norbeck and Greene Get Coveted Posts

WASHINGTON, April 15. (UP)—Senators Norbeck of South Dakota and Greene of Vermont are slated for the two coveted Republican vacancies on the senate foreign relations committee, it was learned from authoritative sources here today.

These two appointments would give the irreconcilables one more vote and the conservatives a vote, Norbeck being an opponent of the League of Nations and world court.

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.—Adv.

LEGION JOINS BAND WELCOME

Ex-Service Men to Greet Royal Belgian Guards

Pat Carrigan Post of the American Legion will participate in the welcome here Saturday of the Symphonic Band of the Royal Belgian Guards which is coming for a matinee and night performance at the Memorial auditorium, Commander Victor Nobles of the post has been invited with legion members to be on hand at the station when the guard arrived and to escort the band to the auditorium. Mayor Akin, President Bullington of the chamber of commerce and other officials are expected to join the welcome.

Royal Welcome

When the band arrived in New York on March 17 it was given a truly royal welcome with national, state and city dignitaries participating. The band is a military organization. It participated actively and gallantly in the world war. Captain Prevost himself wears the highest decorations of the allied governments.

Nearly 100 years of history lies behind this band. It had its origin in 1830 the war for Belgian independence.

The father of the Regiment des Guides, which in turn fathered the only symphonic band in the world, was the famous free company, the cossacks of the Meuse, made up of non-commissioned officers and soldiers of the cuirassiers and dragoons who had left the Dutch army. This company took part in the capture of Venlo and the blockade of Maestricht, famous episodes in the history of Belgium.

Regularly enrolled as a unit of the Belgian army, the company won its first citation for bravery in the attack on the Dutch infantry in the battle of Kergypt. In 1833 the company was named the Regiment des Guides and received its flag from the hand of King Leopold I. From that time until the outbreak of the world war, the regiment was stationed in Brussels as guard of honor for the king.

Famous Group

With the world war came another exciting period in the regiment history. It was cited for bravery in the battle of Haelen, and took part in the violent fighting on the Gette and the Yser. In the big Flanders offensive during the last month of the war, the regiment pursued the retreating enemy and was cited a second time for heroic conduct at Burkel. After the armistice, the regiment spent a year with the army of occupation in Germany and was later stationed in the Ruhr district.

The band is now making its first American tour and is being received with acclaim everywhere. Capt. Arthur Prevost, leader of the band, is probably the most decorated bandmaster in Europe. His service with the allied cause during the world war was recognized in awards of medals and decorations by all the allied governments.

BUILDING URGE GRIPS MEMPHIS

New Record Seems to Be Unavoidable

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 15.—According to Wesley J. Mangrum, local building inspector, building activity in Memphis is continuing with no prospects of letting up. Plans are under way for the construction of a number of dwellings, and should the building program keep up during the summer months in proportion to the showing that has been made thus far the total construction will amount to a new high total when the year is completed.

The following projects have been announced the past two weeks: E. H. Boaz, duplex frame house on Harrison street to cost $6,000; T. P. Coleman, frame house on South Tenth street to cost $2,500.

Tommie Potts is to erect a brick veneer house on South Sixth street to have six rooms and bath and modern in every respect, to cost $10,000.

Hollis Boren is remodeling his residence on South Seventh street at a cost of $3,500, and Dennis Jarrell is to build a stucco house in the Whaley addition, to contain six rooms and bath at a cost of $4,500.

Hall County Sets Aside $40,000 As Its Share in $200,000 River Project

Special to The Record News

MEMPHIS, Texas, April 15.—Hall county commissioners court set aside $40,000 the first of the week as the county's part of the cost of the Red river project, which includes the construction of grading and small drainage structures, a concrete bridge over the Prairie Dog Fork of Red river, and an overpass over the Denver South Plains railroad on highway No. 5, just this side of Estelline.

To Cost $247,795

The court placed the $40,000 in escrow in the Citizens State bank of Memphis, which amount will match the sum of $68,399.28 of the state's funds and $121,395.78, the amount given by the federal government, and the Denver railroad has appropriated $20,000 as its share of the expense, which makes the total cost of the project $247,795.06.

Bids are now being received in the office of the state highway engineer at Austin, Texas, and on April 24, at 10 o'clock these bids will be opened and read. The time set for the completion of the work is 190 working days for grading and small drainage structures and 180 working days for the bridge and overpass.

Hoffman Pleased

County Judge A. C. Hoffman, who has been an untiring worker to get the work started on the above project, makes the following statement:

"I am very pleased to know that work is to begin within the near future on this important project. The people in Hall county have been waiting eagerly for word from the state highway department relative to the submission of bids for the construction. I might add that both the state and federal governments have been very liberal with us in this matter, and the county appreciates their assistance and help."

WE SMART ADAMSONS

Daily Editorial

A STRANGE form of rust appeared in the wheat fields of France; and the birth rate, in regions where it was markedly prevalent, promptly hit the toboggan.

Vital statistics attracted governmental attention to the phenomenon, and science called out its tracking hounds and set them on the trail.

Investigators, by process of elimination, concluded that the blight was to blame.

They took samples back to their laboratories for a thorough quiz, broke 'em down and revealed ergot, now a right-hand man of obstetrics.

Within the month, American chemistry, after snooping for years through thousands of substances, locates the very precious vitamin D in the self-same stuff. And proceeds to paint another rainbow, with the announcement that we'll soon be able to add concentrated sunlight to the list of "spoon vittles."

The discovery is expected to eradicate rickets, feed the bone structure, strengthen teeth and generally fortify childhood resistance against disease.

Claims are also made that it will lengthen the average life span, and furnish indoor workers with the equivalent benefit of exposure to infra-violet rays.

Tap wood and hope there are no flies in the amber.

NATURE delights to disguise the most valuable products and energies as nuisances.

Arthur Little of Boston has just knocked another overassured proverb into its cocked hat, by obtaining silk from the fiber and gelatine of a sow's ear and weaving the thread into purses.

Telling the world what can't be done is risky business.

Not so long ago, coal tar was the curse of the coke trade—and an apparently necessary evil.

Nobody had any use for the sticky mess, later to become mother of the vast industries and the working base for dye, drug, perfumery and flavoring extract manufacturers—for acid and bakelite producers.

Flour mills are always dreading dust explosions. The fine particles floating around machinery, mix with heated air and occasionally wreck the neighborhood.

A German inventor, pondering upon the problem, has decided that here is a neglected source of motive power, and is building automobiles which use dust for fuel.

One dimly remembers the laugh that greeted Nicola Tesla's statement that he was contemplating a generator to send speech clear through a mountain of Hertzian waves. Twelve million local receiving sets are now daily aware that he wasn't talking through his hat.

Nor are any of the million or so researchists—probing raw materials, gleaning rubbish heaps, analyzing offal, and taking inventory of the earth's attic—promising greater miracles than tomorrow will see achieved.

Anything that imagination may conceive, pertinacity will finally accomplish.

Civilization is the essenced triumph of mind over matter—evidence of man's ability to conquer environment, mystery and menace.

Provided we just keep at it, we Adamsons will be a right smart lot of folk, one of these soon days.

A Queer Way of Living

HE WAS rather an oldish chap, and he looked pretty weather-beaten The stubby gray beard was unkept, the khaki breeches and shirt were badly travel-stained, the leathery skin on his face was criss-crossed with wrinkles.

His outfit was almost grotesque. He pushed a dilapidated baby buggy. In it was a tangle of baggage—bundles tied with string, containing, no doubt, extra clothing and such like. But the leading feature was an enormous book that was strapped on top.

It was a giant among books. A foot thick and twice as long—bigger than the biggest unabridged dictionary, by far—it was, obviously, the king-piece of the whole baggage train. The man laboriously lifted it to a table and proudly opened it. The pages were covered with signatures—signatures of mayors, of governors, of editors, of authors, of cabinet members, of ambassadors, of every kind of dignitary and near-dignitary known to a complex civilization.

"I've got signatures from all over the world," he said proudly. "I've walked all over—Europe, America, Asia, India, everywhere. And everywhere I went I got signatures in this book. Now if you'll just sign your name I'll be moving on."

The signature duly affixed, the old chap shut the book, placed it in the buggy, and started off down the street—a hunched, bent-over figure, odd in its outlandish garb, moving steadily down the busy street to some distant trail leading to no one could imagine where.

That was his life. He had been doing it for years, and would continue to do it until he died. And it struck an observer that this man's way of spending his time was about the oddest he had ever encountered.

Yet, in the long run, it may be that this man's life is no more queer than the lives of most of us.

We haven't, any of us, a very long time on this planet. There are only a few years in which we can make the most of our talents, exercise our faculties for enjoyment and experience, make life mean something worth having. Yet we do not seem to realize it. We slip carelessly into jobs we do not particularly care about, persuade ourselves that they are important, spend all of our energies doing things that don't really matter to us—and, presently, find that the whole performance is about over, with most of the things we really wanted to do left undone.

So maybe the old chap with the baby buggy and the book of autographs isn't so cracked as we think. At any rate, he is doing the one thing he wants to do, however aimless or pointless that may seem. And that is a great deal more than most men can say.

Bootlegging Doesn't Pay

THE BOOTLEGGER, as everybody knows, makes a lot of money. If he is energetic and lucky, he can become a millionaire in a short time. But don't be in too big a hurry to envy him. The job, it seems, has its drawbacks.

In Kansas City one of the most prominent bootleggers was Frank De Mayo. He was arrested, eventually, and brought to trial. Four times he won a disagreement; it looked as if he never could be convicted. But one day recently he went to court, pleaded guilty, and took a sentence to the penitentiary.

Why? Because, he says, bootlegging doesn't pay. De Mayo is very rich, but the uncertainties, dangers and constant worry of the trade counterbalance his big income.

"You can't beat this game," he says. "I want to do my time and be a free man. No more bootlegging for me."

The Speed of the Plane

THE ADVANTAGES of aerial travel are strikingly demonstrated by the action of David S. Ingalls, assistant secretary of the navy in charge of aeronautics, who commutes, week-ends, from Washington to his home in Cleveland.

Flying his own plane, Ingalls is able to reach his Cleveland home in less than three hours from the time he leaves Washington. When he closes his desk Saturday noon he jumps in his plane and gets to the Ohio city in plenty of time for dinner. Then he has Saturday night and all day Sunday and Sunday night at his home, taking off at 7 o'clock Monday morning and getting back to the capital in ample time to begin the new week's work.

The speed which the airplane gives is seldom better exemplified than in Ingalls' case. With that example before them, how long will it be before business men generally begin to follow suit?

To Recondition the Hartford

ADMIRAL FARRAGUT'S old flagship, the Hartford, lies in the navy yard at Charleston, S. C. The navy department has just rejected the request of New London, Conn., that the ship be towed there for exhibition as a patriotic memorial to the great civil war sailor.

The Hartford, the navy department explains, is not seaworthy enough to make the trip, and the department has no funds with which to recondition it. It will be recalled, in this connection, that even the Constitution is not being reconditioned at the navy's expense; the general public contributed the necessary money.

Erie, Pa., spent its own money to recondition one of Admiral Perry's squadron, and the ship now draws many tourists annually to Erie. Probably the cost of reconditioning the Hartford would be more than New London would care to shoulder. It might be worth the city's while, however, to look into the matter.

An Original Thief

ONE WOULD THINK that the business of thievery no longer offered any chance for originality. Surely, in all the years that men have been stealing things, everything stealable had already been stolen at some time or other.

But in Biddeford, Me., the other day a truly original thief popped up. He went to a public park and stole eight civil war cannon balls, weighing 100 pounds each, which had rested in a neat, ornamental little pyramid for something like 40 years.

What on earth any man would want with eight 100-pound spheres of iron is hard to tell. And how any thief would lug such trophies away with him is another matter that piques the imagination. The Biddeford thief, at any rate, was original. He managed to steal something that nobody had ever thought of stealing before.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

Broadway Chatter by Grant Dixon

NEW YORK, April 15.—Few playgoers hereabouts know it, but producers on Broadway adopt mysterious ways for amusing themselves.

For instance, Lew Lester, the producer of "Blackbirds," occasionally steps into the orchestra pit and directs the band. The other day a friend asked: "Who is that man?" He was told it was Leslie.

"It can't be," he replied, "I know of no producer who would work when he has a hit."

The above, I clipped from a newspaper. It is supposed to be funny. I'm not sure that it is. But it serves as a medium to contradict the theory that producers lounge or become bored when successful. I know of no producer who is so sated that his enthusiasm sinks with success.

Oscar Hammerstein always is at hand for his shows; the Coburns are in their theater nightly; the Selwyns have perspired, success or failure; Cohan is notorious for thinking up something new while the public is lavishing attention upon one of his productions; Charles Hopkins, though a millionaire in his own right, is daily in his office; so is Arthur Hopkins; and whoever heard of Jedd Harris being idle? He's thinking up an idea for a new success even while one or two or three other successes are current.

Now, do you give up?

I mentioned Charles Hopkins and I should like to refer to his sane philosophy. He is, of course, wealthy. You might say the theater is but a hobby with him, but it is not. It is his life. He fights for successful shows as, though his bread and butter depended upon it.

And, because of his detachment from financial worries, I suppose, he has been able to form a wholesale and sane attitude toward stage success and failure. He was chatting with me the other day about the theater and he said there was no reason to refer to a "bad" season.

"There is no bad season, whether it be in the theater, in literature, in art or in industry," are the words I recall, and he added: "Unless, of course, we fail to turn out fine stage productions, fine books, fine paintings and worthy items of manufacture. If I produce a play that proves to be bad, I simply scrap it. And I continue to produce more until at last I have succeeded in putting out a good one. That is all."

They say of Jacob Volk that his greatest ambition in life, never to be realized, was to tear down the Woolworth building. Its 792 feet of terra cotta and steel fascinated him. He had it all figured out, give him a year and he could tear the building down.

This sounds as though Volk was a destructionist. He was, professionally so. He pulled down some of the best places in town. Something like 2,500 buildings fell under his direction. He tore down the Cotton Exchange, the 22 stories of the Bankers' Trust at Wall and Nassau and other buildings in that section. On his wagons was a sign which boasted of him as "The Most Destructive Force in Wall Street." He was the most destructive force, indeed, in all the town.

Now he is dead. And that reminds me that not long before his demise he erected a beautiful home for himself out in Long Island. But it seems, lately, that some real estate organization got hold of it and, as though fate had hurled its final jest—they are going to tear Jake Volk's home down.

There is an amusing story they tell about Jake. At the same time he was tearing down the W. K. Vanderbilt chateau in Fifty-second street he was erecting his Long Island home. Someone suggested to him that he should salvage some of the magnificent interiors and use them in his own residence. To which Jake replied:

"Listen, am I a piker? You won't see second-hand stuff in my house. Everything new and expensive—that's me."

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

ENTITLED, "ALL A LITTLE MISUNDERSTANDING"

No rough talk or profanity by the customs agents of the dry law enforcement staff marked the boarding and search of Mr. Stuyvesant Fish's new cabin cruiser Restless in the New York harbor the other day, according to official reports forwarded to Washington. Mr. Fish, his wife and sons say that the agents were violently abusive and used exceedingly profane language, but they must have been mistaken, it seems.

PHILLIPS

"You know I would not swear," said one of the agents under examination. "I said to Mr. Fish, I am sorry I had to stop you and board your boat,' and he replied, 'Oh, that's all right.' There was no evidence of anger on the part of anyone."

So it requires but little imagination to realize what was really said when the dry agents chased the pleasure boat, fired several shots to halt it and then searched the ship from stem to stern.

"Oh, that's all right," Mr. Fish must have said. "We wouldn't have you stay off our little boat for anything."

"You're sure it won't inconvenience you?" asked the officer in charge of the raiders.

"Not at all," assured Mr. Fish. "We'll all be delighted to have you all join our party. It's a new boat and we're curious to see how strangers will like it. Do come aboard at once."

"After all," protested the dry agent, "we haven't been introduced, but possibly I can get my men to wave the formalities."

"Do try," argued Mr. Fish. "You just tell them I'll be hurt if they don't."

"It's getting late," insisted the dry chief. "Couldn't we let it go until some other time?"

"No, I want you to come aboard today. Just as soon as I heard you shelling us I thought you would pay us a visit and I told Mrs. Fish you were coming. She'll be awfully disappointed if you back out now."

"Some other time. Say next Sunday at 2?"

"No, now be a good fellow and come aboard this very minute. We were just remarking that one meets few interesting people or sees new faces out here in the harbor. We were really getting quite lonesome. Now hop aboard. I'll have some tea made at once. What kind of sandwiches do your men like?"

"That's awfully good of you, but they've just had lunch."

"Well, how about dessert—some strawberry shortcake?"

At this point the dry agents swarmed over the side of the boat, shouting, "Hooray for Stuyvesant Fish! Three cheers for Mr. and Mrs. Fish and a tiger for all the little Fishes!"

"I knew I couldn't hold them back if you mentioned strawberry shortcake," apologized the chief, as he climbed aboard, too.

A jolly good time was had by all, and why any complaint should have been made to Washington is a mystery.

NEW GASOLINE BILL PREPARED

Excise Levy Proposed On Motor Fuel

AUSTIN, April 15. (INS)—Drafting of a new comprehensive gasoline tax bill by Assistant Atty. Gen. R. M. Tilley, was completed today and will be introduced at the coming special session of the legislature by Rep. Leonard Tillotson of Sealy. The bill proposes to levy an excise tax which will impose a tax not only on the sale, but also on the use and distribution of gasoline. The measure is designed to prevent bootlegging in gasoline and will increase the revenue of the state not less than $300,000 monthly, said Tilley.

The tax will apply on gasoline sold at the source. Under the provisions of the bill a bond of not less than $10,000 nor more than $100,000 is required to be executed by refiners of gasoline to secure the payment of the tax. Railroads and other common carriers are required to file monthly a report with the comptroller's department on the amount of gasoline transported.

Casinghead gasoline used for blending purposes is subject to the tax. The tax is proposed to be four cents on the gallon, which is an increase of two cents over the present tax.

The bill was prepared at the request of the house committee on revenue and taxation.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

When a society editor doesn't hear much society news, she has to "dig," so, on Sunday morning we started for a walk, deciding that as our page was supposed to be "of interest to women," they might be interested in what interested one woman.

There seemed to be an unusual silence hanging over the outskirts of the city. A mocking bird's notes came clear as music could be. We passed a little dog and he wagged his tail. Somehow it pleased us; we felt the stamp of his approval.

A man was digging the grass from around the trees in his front yard and his little son chuckling with joy over being able to tramp in the fresh dirt. Just a few feet beyond them, another man was cutting a hedge and a baby boy tumbling on the grass. All of it spelled "home." One who makes home beautiful is helping preserve the sanctity of home; they were worshiping the Lord.

In Country Club estates, the field larks were calling. It seems as if they sing love songs in spring and then are quiet until spring comes again. In the hush—(our vagrant fancy thought the wind was holding its breath in reverence for the earth's beauty)—we heard a dog's bark that must have come from far away.

We stopped at the Fred Gates home. We'd been watching the lovely evergreen on that front lawn ever since it was planted or transplanted. People say such a large tree won't live when moved, but this one has. It came from Fort Worth to Wichita. We'd have been as much disappointed as Mr. Gates, had it not survived. We learned it was a "cedrus deodora," a Himalayan cedar. There are little frosty leaves inside its green, and it's the ideal shape for a Christmas tree.

The grounds about that home fulfill the dream of one who loves plants. There's an Oregon holly, that has lovely foliage now and will bear blue berries instead of red. In a sunny southeast corner, there's a kumquat tree with a number of golden little kumquats shining through the green leaves. An olive tree stands staunch and gray-green and a tall plant unknown to us, we learned was an avocado pear tree—familiarly known as the "alligator pear." Our family scorns them and we think them the most delicious of salad fruits, and as we were promised one of its pears, we are hoping it will be full of pears. One can't afford to buy them at 50 or 60 cents each when one is the only member of the family that likes them.

Last week we read that the rose came originally from China. We saw two enormous rose bushes full of the loveliest single petalled roses, called a Chinese rose. They reminded us of the little pink briar roses that grow along the highways of Tennessee and Mississippi, only the leaves were altogether different. Sweet scented and lovely, they thrive in Texas as that wonderful "cedrus deodora" thrives in this state. We learned that from Mr. Gates.

In a corner was a bed of ragged robins, the loveliest blue on earth. It seems to us a celestial color. And across from them were lilac bushes brought from the very bushes that grew in Mrs. Gate's mother's girlhood home in Ohio. Our heart goes out to anyone who cherishes flowers in that way.

Between the rose garden and the street, there is a wilderness of plants. Someone asked why they didn't cut those weeds. What a breath-taking thing it will be when the larkspur and poppies blossom there together! The larkspur, with all its colors of purple and orchid and pink and blue, stands straight and proud in its beauty, but the poppy bows and waves to everyone. We're going back and bow to it.

The first of these studio recitals was given a month ago and marked improvement was shown by all pupils who appeared then and who appeared again last night.

One of the features of the program was two class drills in which small girls appeared to show the result of rhythmic exercises, lessons in stage technique and other features Greathouse of the voice department being taught these classes by Miss and Miss Kathryn Orr of the piano department. In addition individual solos were given by the following: Mrs. C. N. Cameron, Mrs. N. A. Ferguson, Misses Juanita and Mickey Ferguson, Mrs. Jim Totten of Electra, Mrs. Monte Payne, Miss Macie McClure, Miss Ruth Maupin, Miss Billy Parmenter, Miss Edna Hammond, John Sloan, Ray Wilson and H. Soul Mates Are Best for the Long Pull, Though None Are Perfect

Shall a Woman of 30 Marry for Love or Understanding?—Why Is It Better for a Fatherless Child to Be Adopted—Widow With Five Children Who Hopes to Get a Husband.

Dear Miss Dix—I am nearly engaged to the dearest man in the world. He has every virtue, but we do not care for the same things. He loves a social gathering for dancing or bridge playing. I prefer a program of Bach, or a discussion of the newest books, which would bore him to tears. Moreover, I have a little business in which I am deeply interested, and his kind of amusement seems to me an annoying distraction. Yet the idea of giving him up is simply unbearable. Another man who is attentive to me is perfectly congenial, but I don't love him and could part from him without a pang. Can you straighten me out, please.

—FAIR AND THIRTY.

Answer—Evidently in your case it is a question of marrying for your soul or your body. One man makes a physical appeal to you, the other appeals to you mentally, and which ever one you take there will be times and seasons in which you will regret it and wish you had married the other.

At your age I should pick out the soul mate as the best for the long pull, as they say on Wall street. Some wise man has said that the only happy marriages are those in which we marry ourselves. That is, somebody who is as near like ourselves in temper, disposition and taste as possible, and this, I think, is true.

Congeniality is the very bedrock of a successful marriage. The only husbands and wives who never get on each other's nerves are those who have the same habits and who have been brought up in pretty much the same environment and with the same point of view.

The only husbands and wives who never bore each other are those who are interested in the same things, who enjoy the same things, who like to do the same things. The only peaceful homes are those in which the husbands and wives agree about fundamental things and in which there is no argument or discussion.

The best man and the best woman in the world, the most intelligent and high-minded man and woman, the man and woman who are most earnestly desirous of doing their duty as husband and wife, will make a failure of marriage and be utterly miserable if they are not congenial.

For what happiness can there be for a couple who have to be continually surpressing their own desires and doing something they do not want to do in order to please the other one? What fun can there be in a dinner if one has to eat baked beans which he or she loaths because that is the other's favorite article of food, or if one has to drink dishwater coffee and eat food without seasoning because the other can't bear strong coffee and sophisticated dishes? What pleasure in going to a play i one writhes through a musical comedy at one performance, while the other sits like a martyr at a gruesome, highbrowed problem play to please the other? What conversation in a home where the talk must walk on eggs for fear of starting a row?

No. The people we love more and more all the time, whose society we enjoy and who literally become a part of ourselves, are not those who differ from us, who never want to do what we want to do, who never read what we read and who always take the opposite side of any view we hold. They are those who ride the same hobbies that we ride, who play the games we play, who read the same books, who like the same school of cooking and to whom we can say, "Don't you remember?" and with whom we never quarrel because we always think alike.

Look at the contented husbands and wives about you. Are they not those who have a common interest? The ones who work and play together? The man who likes to step out of an evening doesn't consider it a persecution to have to put on his evening clothes and take his wife to a party. The woman who plays golf doesn't bemoan herself as a golf widow. She trots around the links with Friend Husband. The woman who is interested in her husband's business never yawns in his face when he talks shop. Instead they have an exciting time planning together how to cut down the overhead or build a new wing to the factory.

So, if you want to take out any matrimonial insurance, invest in Congeniality Consolidated. I particularly urge this upon you at your age, for at 30 it is not easy to adapt ourselves to others and to change our tastes and habits. We are too old to learn new tricks and the chances of a woman of 30 learning to prefer bridge to books and jax to Bach is slim.

Marriage lasts a long time and it seems longer if you are united to some one who bores you.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have a fatherless baby not a year old. Not long ago I married a man on the condition that he was to assume no responsibility toward this child, and that his friends should know nothing of our marriage. I earn an average of $125 a month, and could support the baby, but as I cannot have it with me would it be best for him to have him adopted by some well-to-do family, or to have a succession of women taking care of him? —M. M.

Answer—I should say that it will be far better for the child to be adopted, inasmuch as you cannot give it a mother's care and love. If it is adopted by good people it will have the benefit of a settled home an dof being brought up by some one who cares for it, instead of being left to the mercy of hirelings and being passed on from hand to hand.

In fact, I can think of nothing more demoralizing for a baby than to be farmed out to women whose only interest in it is the money they are paid for looking af it and who are indifferent as to how it is developed physically, mentally and morally. It will be much better for the child even to be placed in an orphan asylum than to be reared in such a manner.

People who have the parental longing strong enough in their breasts to make them adopt a child nearly always treat it kindly and give it a real mother and father love.

There is also this to be said about giving a fatherless child for adoption: It does more than anything else to offset the stain of its birth. The fatherless child is an object of scorn to other child, but the adopted child is wrapped in a certain romantic mystery. And the adopted child takes the name and status of its foster parents, and is given a social standing that it would not otherwise have.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—You struck me right to the heart when you said the other day that a woman with a bunch of children has small chance of ever marrying again when left a widow. I have five under 13, and it is my only hope of happiness that I may marry again, because my first marriage was very unhappy. My husband never supported us. He was unkind to me and the children in every way and unfaithful to me, but I stood it all without a murmur because I always believed that the Lord would reward me by sending me a good husband, and I still believe that He will.

—MRS. EVE. O.

Answer—Well, Mrs. Eve, I hope that I am wrong and you are right and that some good man will come along and take over the job of supporting your brood and make you a good husband. But whether he does or not, believe me, in your fine optimistic spirit you have something better and more sustaining than a husband.

—DOROTHY DIX.

Writer's Luncheon Program and Quiz Wednesday at Noon

Writers' day at the Woman's Forum, Wednesday, promises to be one of exceptional interest. Mrs. H. F. Weldon, chairman, has arranged the program. It is a cycle of original poems; some of them, it is thought, will be set to music and given as songs.

Following the program, the monthly quiz on advertisements in the Forum magazine will be conducted by Mrs. B. C. Nicholson. The prizes are of unusual attraction.

Luncheon on writers' day is only 50 cents, with all members of the forum eligible to attend the meeting. There will be out-of-town members from Electra, Iowa Park, Necona, Bowie and Henrietta.

Those whose verses will be used are Mesdames W. B. Jarrell, Curtis Atkinson, E. C. de Montel, H. B. Van Emden, G. M. Holt, W. M. Cason and Miss Dorothy Nolen and T. A. Bradley.

Reservations may be made up to 9 o'clock Wednesday morning with Mrs. B. C. Nicholson, telephone 2-4305.

STEENGRAFE OR PAYNE TO BE JIM'S SELECTION TOMORROW

SPUDS ENTRAIN TODAY AT NOON

Fitzgerald to Play in Opener at Shreveport

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

George Payne or Milt Steengrafe will be the bad news for Shreveport from Bad News Jim Galloway. On the eve of departure for Sportville, where the Spudders tomorrow open the Texas league championship season, Skipper Jim last night announced that one of his two veteran righthand pitchers will be his selection.

It matters little or nothing whether it be Milt or George, or George or Milt. Each is in fine fettle and both apparently are ready to go the route at a winning clip.

Payne has been the Wichita Falls starting chucker the past two campaigns and won on both occasions, though he had to have help last year. Recovered from a recent severe cold, the screw ball master yesterday was burning 'em into the big mitt of Pete Lapan.

Steen Set for Big Year

Steengrafe seems in for the greatest season of his career—and the big fellow has been a superb hurler for several years. In the best spring condition he has attained since he became a Spudder two years ago, Steengrafe should show such pitching this campaign that will take him up to faster time ere the leaves of next autumn come tumbling down.

The Spudders, arrayed in their bright and shining new road uniforms, took their last workout yesterday afternoon before boarding a rattler today. The new monkey suits are of the conventional gray, but are trimmed in gorgeous orange, with orange-striped stockings to match. The white home uniforms are also trimmed with orange. There won't be any mistaking the Spudders when they're out there on the field dolled up in their glittering uniforms.

They will make a colorful and spectacular appearance and Owner J. Alvin Gardner is to be thanked for departing from the conventional and drab attire worn by most nines.

The workout yesterday showed the Spudders continuing hammering the ball and fielding in a sparkling manner. It was further pleasing in that Howard Fitzgerald cavorted around little the worse for a twisted ankle that laid him up several days. It is fine news to local fandom that this great ball player will take his place in lineup tomorrow.

Eldred to Play Soon

Ross Brick Eldred, that hardy and fence-smashing veteran of the gardens surprised his teammates and fans by appearing for a workout. Struck on the hand with a pitched ball last Saturday, it was feared that Eldred would be lost for two weeks or more. Brick will be in shape to play when the Spudders open their home season next Tuesday with Shreveport, though he will not make this first road jaunt. Fred Stiely, ailing with a lame back, will be left at home to keep Brick company. Fred also is recovering and will be ready to play within a few days.

The loss of Eldred in opening games won't be so severely felt, it was indicated by the rookies Dick Sullivan and Garland Orr, who pastimed with high credit in games with Fort Worth last week-end. And if both those colts exhibit any inability to hit lefthand pitching, Milt Gordon, although a third baseman by trade, can play a very good outfield and is a righthand hitter. Gordon, incidentally, has come along fast in recent days of training and has justified the high recommendation that caused his purchase from the New York-Pennsylvania league.

With Fitzgerald returning to his place in center field, the Spudders will open at Shreveport as they are figured to play throughout the campaign, with the exception of right field. Benton and Turgeon, that scintillating keystone pair, will head the batting order with Fitzgerald third and mighty clean-up man, Bennet, fourth. Wally Swenson, the pinch-hitter, is fifth in the order. Sullivan probably will start in right field tomorrow and will hit sixth, followed by Stapleton, who seems to have the call over Dallas Clements for first base.

Pete Lapan, ol' reliable, will be back of the log.

The Wichita Falls athletes will leave at noon and will arrive in Shreveport shortly before midnight.

Wichitans Honored By State Bowlers

DALLAS, April 15. (AP)—Dallas bowlers took most of the prize money in the annual tournament of the Texas State Bowling association which closed here yesterday.

At the conclusion of the event C. D. Wheeler, Beaumont, was elected president for the coming year. J. J. Laughlin and Harry Katz, both of Wichita Falls, were named vice presidents; Fred Peterman, Dallas, honorary president; and Will Fort, Beaumont, secretary-treasurer.

Beaumont was given the 1930 tournament and Wichita Falls the 1931 event.

GIANTS GIVEN EDGE ON CUBS

Figures Show New Yorkers Should Beat Chicago

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

NEW YORK, April 15. (UP)—It will take a 154-game schedule to settle the argument between baseball partisans over the relative merits of the New York Giants and Chicago Cubs, but a perusal of last season's records gives an edge to John J. McGraw's club.

As often as not past performances do not mean a thing, but they form an interesting means of comparing the potential strength of the two leading National league pennant contenders.

The popular impression that the Cubs have the more powerful offensive team is not borne out by the 1928 averages. The Giants finished second in batting last season with an average of .293, while the Cubs trailed along in fifth place with a mark of .278.

Giant Attack Stronger

Even with the league's batting champion, Rogers Hornsby, in the lineup, the Cubs' attack is inferior to the Giants' offense in the percentage column. Excluding pitchers and catchers, the Giants' seven regulars for 1929 have a batting average of .314, against .307 for the Cubs' seven. Comparison of the two teams follows:

Giants				Cubs
Player—	B. A.	F. A.		Player—	B. A.	F. A.
Terry, 1b	.326	.993		Grimms, 1b	.294	.993
Reese, 2b	.308	.958		Hornsby, 2b	.387	.973
L'strom, 3b	.358	.958		English, ss	.299	.948
Jackson, ss	.270	.952		Beck, 3b	.257	.958
Leach, lf	.304	.986		Steph'son, lf	.325	.982
Welch, cf	.307	.981		Wilson, cf	.313	.958
Ott, rf	.322	.979		Cuyler, rf	.284	.982
Hogan, c	.333	.978		Hartnett, c	.301	.989
O'Farrell, c	.200	.987		Gonzales, c	.272	.983

Based on last season's record, the Cubs have the edge in pitching strength, but this may be discounted because four of the six Giants' boxmen were not with the club all season. Joe Genewich did not join the Giants until June 15. Carl Hubbell was purchased from the Beaumont Texas league club in mid-seal son. Bill Walker was ill practically all season, and Dutch Henry was under suspension for several months. Hal Carlson, one of the Cubs' stars, also was unable to pitch most of last season.

McGraw's Hurling Best

With Hubbell, Henry, Walker and Genewich in the harness and performing at their best, the Giants' staff is second to none in the National league. A comparison of the pitching strength follows:

Giants			Cubs
Player—	W.	L.	Player—	W.	L.
Benton	25	9	Malone	18	13
Hubbell	10	6	Blake	17	11
Fitzsimmons	20	9	Nehf	16	7
Genewich	14	11	Carlson	3	2
Walker	3	6	Root	14	18
Henry	4	0	Bush	13	6
Total	75	47	Totals	80	57
Outstanding Additions
*Mays			Cvengros	21	8
Scott	4	1	Horne	13	17
Ogden	21	10	Lautenbacher	10	5

*Mays was out of baseball last season recovering from a sore arm.

Defensively, the Cubs were the best team in the National league last season, when they led the league in that respect with a mark of .975. The Giants were fourth in team fielding with an average of .972.

Cubs May Miss Maguire

The loss of Fred Maguire, the best defensive second baseman in the major leagues last season, however, may weaken the Cubs in the field.

From the standpoint of management, John J. McGraw stands alone. Under Joe McCarty, the Cubs have improved each season and any more improvement will just about mean a pennant for the North Side nine. McGraw's two lieutenants, Ray Schalk and Bert Niehoff, are capable of running the Giants if McGraw is forced away from the club for any reason, as was the case last season, when he suffered an injured leg. McCarthy's assistant is Jimmy Burke.

The weakest links in the Cubs' machine are at third base and the lack of reserve strength. If any of the Cubs' stars get hurt, McCarthy will be hard put for reinforcements.

One of the Giants' biggest handicaps is a left-handed hitting outfield, which may not bat so well against southpaws. Andy Reese at second base still has to prove he can fill the job.

SPUDS, STEERS ARE FAVORITES

Buffs Are Contenders And Sports Held as Dark Horses

It would require the seventh son of a seventh son to forecast the finish of the Texas league this campaign. Picking the winners, always a hazardous undertaking, is rendered more difficult, indeed almost impossible, this season in the Texas league, by the changes of personnel affecting all clubs and the presence of many rookies, with five non-class men required by the new ruling.

Wichita Falls and Dallas will fight it out for the pennant—if the prognostication of sports writers around the loop is borne out. The Spudders, with a veteran team of holdovers and the Steers, presenting a strong pitching staff and well-balanced club to look best—at this writing. But other clubs must be regarded as dark horses, and there is the possibility that teams will be strengthened. Houston and Fort Worth in particular are in a position to receive reinforcements from major league clubs with which they have connections.

Houston is seen by the majority of critics as a pennant contender and a sure first-division club. Shreveport is regarded as a possible challenger for the flag.

Beaumont, Waco and Fort Worth are uncertainties, though for the time being they are relegated to the second division.

San Antonio is consigned the cellar berth by a majority of the scribes and none, except a sports writer of the Alamo city gives the Indians a chance to land higher than sixth. Fred Moseback, sports editor of a San Antonio paper, evidently in a spirit of levity, picked the Indians to win the pennant, explaining that it is a poor rule that won't work both ways. Whatever that means. Following are selections of the scribes:

He has sweated unsung out where umpires are hung,
But he's got his degree from the sticks.

He's struggled through 10-inning battles,
He's dressed under dingy old stands;
But he's opening today where the big-timers play,
With the peanuts and soda and bands!

The dream has come true and he's happy,
The sun in his eyes and the crowd;
He knew he could work it, the Big Leaguer's Circuit;
Do you wonder the yearling is proud!

The bleachers have bellowed a welcome,
A mayor has fondled his fist;
His future is bright and the world looks all right;
He's "fourth" on the manager's list.

Oh, it's nice coming up from the bushes;
It's grand to be making the grade;
But a tough spot is due when they tell you "you're through,"
And they strip you of glory and braid.

The best of them traveled that way, lad;
Old Tyrus and Honus and Tris.
It comes like a flash and you're back eating hash,
Still dreaming of glories you miss.

We do not want to discourage,
We'll greet you with gusto today;
But we'd like to advise a kid of your size
To salt down a hunk of your pay.

When your arm isn't quite so elastic,
And they can't keep you up on your toes,
The return to old scenes, with some dough in your jeans
Is the best thrill the veteran knows.
—ROBERT NORMILE ROSE.

Opening Day

From now on they have to prove it. The box score breaks out in a series of day by day stories that will put facts above theories and opinions. The weaker members of the two big leagues may stall off the moral contained in the standing of the clubs for a few weeks, but not for long.

It will soon be a case of chasing the Yankees and the Cubs, if the perforated dope doesn't blow open. They start as the best bets, but they also will have to prove it through the daily returns.

They are not going to sing or dance their way through such opposition as the Athletics, Senators, Browns, Giants, Pirates and Cardinals.

There is always a story of some sort in every box score. Just a few of them hooked together may announce that a veteran is slipping or that some kid is breaking through.

A Few High Spots

Outside of the two pennant races, there are several other interesting details to follow. As for instance:

How many home runs will Babe Ruth crack this season?

What chance has Lou Gehrig to beat the Babe to the big punch?

What about Herb Pennock's arm under heavy fire?

How will the duel between Hornsby and Waner come out?

What sort of a leader will Walter Johnson make?

Can Bob Grove stop the Yankees and lead the league in pitching?

What chance has Dazzy Vance for another strike-out season?

Will the Brown youngsters of 1928 hold up or slip?

Will Boston or Philadelphia win the tail-end championship of the National league?

By Way of Reminder

While the cheering swings on high,
Here's to Tris and here's to Ty;
How can there be pennant races
With two strangers in their places?

One of the darker equines in the American league race will be Bucky Harris at Detroit. Harris is still a fine leader and he has certain possibilities in his material that may work out. But he will have a hard campaign ahead before displacing Athletics, Browns or Senators for a first division landing field.

Judging by the fan returns in discussing McGraw's all-time Giant outfield, the majority vote seems to be as follows: Donlin, Roush and Pep Young. Pep Young undoubtedly belongs, having been overlooked in the first consensus.

Opening Day

You office boy, who with age is wise,
This is the day that your grandma dies.
This is the day when you hear "Play ball!"
But keep sharp watch over one and all
Or you'll meet your boss at the funeral.
And wouldn't he think that was comical?
Take care when springing the ancient tale.
Just make it sober, but do not wail.
He's good at guessing synthetic tears;
He's watched them summoned for years and years.
So just remember he, too, is wise
On this day that your grandma dies.
—HARCOURT STRANGE.

This makes the 15th year since Connie Mack disbanded his famous collection and started out to build over. Still he couldn't figure in 1915 that Huggins would show up with the Yankees in 1927 and 1928. To say nothing of 1929.

Collegiate Ball League Planned

Fordham Mentor Proposes Eastern Circuit

NEW YORK, April 15. (UP)—Increased interest in intercollegiate baseball is anticipated throughout the East in 1930, if plans announced here today for the organization of a second league of college teams are carried out.

The announcement some time ago that Columbia, Yale, Dartmouth, Cornell, Pennsylvania and Princeton, had banded together in an Eastern intercollegiate baseball league, similar to the basket ball circuit that operates each winter, brought from Eastern diamond critics the opinion that the baseball teams of those schools were hardly representative of the East.

Today Jack Coffey, baseball coach at Fordham, announced plans for a 10-team league which will include, if definitely formed, the majority of schools cited by critics as leaders in baseball, yet excluded from the first loop. Notable among these was Holy Cross, where championship baseball teams are traditional.

Coffey proposed to organize a league which would include, in addition to Fordham and Holy Cross, such teams as Rutgers, New York U., Lafayette, Colgate, Boston college, Brown, Syracuse and Lehigh.

Former Husker Named Kansas Teachers Coach

PITTSBURG, Kan., April 15. (AP)—Edward (Blue) Howell, star halfback of last year's University of Nebraska eleven, has been selected head football coach at Kansas State Teachers' college here, it was announced today.

Dr. Garfield W. Weede, director of athletics and head football coach, asked to be relieved of the football post in order that he might devote more time with his other work.

Threatening Weather May Mar Openers Today

NEW YORK, April 15. (UP)—Threatening weather may mar the opening of the major league baseball season tomorrow, especially in the East, where showers and cold weather are forecast.

All of the clubs except the New York Giants and Chicago White Sox rested today in preparation for the 154-game grind.

CRUCIAL SERIES

Pirates and Cubs Open Four-Day Stand Today

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—The crucial series boys make a strong start in the National league this season.

Chicago and Pittsburgh, rated as two of the strongest clubs in the Heydler circuit, clash on the very first day of the season.

They are booked for a four-game engagement beginning today and lasting through April 19.

ONE GUESS being as good as another, it is in order that I do a bit of experting on the major league pennant races. A few years ago I made a swing of big league training bases for United Press, at the conclusion of which I picked how they would finish. I could have done as good guessing from headquarters at New York—or in Wichita Falls. That year, in common with most of the ball scribes down in Florida, I picked the Athletics to win the pennant. That year, and last season, cured me of that. But I am NOT selecting the Yankees to win this 1929 campaign. I pick the St. Louis Browns to win the American league pennant.

That, at least, is original. Practically all the boys are naming the Yanks or Macks. Well, if they're right, there won't be any undue credit for it; New York or Philadelphia FIGURE to win. But if the Browns SHOULD cop after I pick 'em, I'd be the fair-haired boy as a prognosticator.

Here's the way I size 'em up:

NATIONAL—	AMERICAN—
New York	St. Louis
Chicago	New York
Pittsburgh	Philadelphia
St. Louis	Washington
Cincinnati	Detroit
Philadelphia	Cleveland
Brooklyn	Chicago
Boston	Boston

THE GIANTS will show more reserve strength to beat out the Cubs in late stages of the race. McCarthy overworks his pitchers and the Cubs have had a tendency to falter in the stretch. It isn't likely they will reverse their ways. The Cubs will give New York a great battle, however, and it is conceivable that Hornsby will lead them to the championship.

Pittsburgh and St. Louis lack punch and balance to win a flag, but they will cause lots of trouble to the Giants and Cubs. Cincinnati looks no better than fifth and if Thevenow gets back into the game by early June and is fully recovered from injuries sustained recently in an auto accident, the Phillies will crowd the Reds for leadership of the second division.

Brooklyn and Boston—aw, what's the use.

SERIOUSLY, the Browns, with a great hustling and dangerous club that finished third last year, strengthened offensively and defensively, are mighty formidable. Rick Ferrell completes a fine catching staff; Crowder and Gray are great pitchers; Manush heads a direful attack. If the young infielders come through and McGowan and Jenkins play the third outfield post satisfactorily, the Browns have a great chance to win.

The Yanks are due to disintegrate. Indeed, the process of failing to pieces was in evidence last season but neither the A's nor the Brownies could take advantage of it. Pennock and Moore may not win a ball game, and without that pair the pitching is weak. The catching still is dubious. The infield is revamped and of uncertain quality and the outfielders, even the great man Ruth himself, are aging and will be no better and perhaps not so good as formerly.

RUMORS OF dissension are heard in the Philadelphia camp; the Macks have been beset by spring mishaps—and there is the memory of how they fade away when the going gets rough late in the season. In other words, the Macks apparently don't have the punch and fighting spirit.

Washington looms strong and the Senators may be inspired by Johnson and make a great race of it. Indeed, a few critics see the Nationals as possible dark horses. Anywhere from first to sixth is a good guess for Washington.

Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago should fight it out for fifth place and Boston seems doomed for the cellar again. The Red Sox, however, might displace any of the trio named for the other second division berths.

TEXAS LEAGUE NINES ARE SET

Athletes Mark Time Awaiting Openers

BEAUMONT, April 15. (AP)—Returned to the field after two days of rain, the Exporters went through three hours of batting and fielding today in preparation for Wednesday's opener with Houston.

BUFFALOES SHOW LOTS OF HUSTLE

HOUSTON, April 15. (AP)—If the "pep" Manager Snyder and his mates exhibited in today's workout is any indication, the Beaumont Exporters will meet a hustling ball club Wednesday when the Exporters entertain the Bisons in the opening game of the Texas league season.

After two days of inactivity, the Buffs went through their practice session with a will.

CATS TAKE FINAL DRILL THIS P. M.

FORT WORTH, April 15. (AP)—One more afternoon of drill; then strictly business for 164 games for the Fort Worth Panthers.

The Fort Worth squad takes its last training workout Tuesday. When next the boys assemble, it will be an hour before game time in Dallas.

INDIANS ATTIRED IN NEW REGALIA

SAN ANTONIO, April 15. (AP)—Instead of waiting for the opening game to break in their uniforms, the San Antonio Indians will wear them in their last workout Tuesday. While Manager Alexander has no conscientious scruples against new uniforms for the opening game, he said he prefers to have the Indians hit the dirt in their new togs before the opening game.

BARNABE TO HURL OPENER FOR STEERS

DALLAS, April 15. (AP)—Charlie Barnabe, southpaw flash with the Waco Cubs last season, will essay the task of clipping the claws of the Fort Worth Panthers in the opening game of the season here Wednesday, Manager Milton Stock virtually has decided.

PRATT TO START STEIN, CALDWELL

WACO, April 15. (AP)—Manager Pratt today announced that either Lefty Stein or Earl Caldwell would draw the pitching assignment when the Waco Cubs inaugurate the 1929 baseball season at San Antonio Wednesday.

Baer Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

NEW YORK, April 15—We agree with Sir Tommy Lipton that it is about time for him to defend second place in the cup races.

Tommy hasn't fought one of his famous rear-guard actions since 1920.

Tom's first Shamrock was named the first. After that he decided to get some more appropriate number.

It is exactly 30 years since Sir Thomas so decided that the English had lost enough races and entered his Irish craft in the Marine Olympics.

That was in 1899 and Tom came back again in 1901, 1903 and 1920. His next boat will be a five-leaf Shamrock and we wish Tommy all the success he can see through a telescope.

However, he will find that yachting has enjoyed a suffering change since those good old days of jibbing and luffing.

The first four Shamrocks proved to be skippered herrings, and we tremble for the fifth.

The latest challenger was the I'm Alone. America's cup is now a bottle. The I'm Alone not only lost the race but also lost the ocean.

Sir Thomas can boast of one victory. He may have lost a few races, but they never sank him.

Then Stuyvesant Fish entered his Restless in the harbor sweepstakes. He discovered that there were too many coast defenders in the competition.

Yes sir, Tommy, the America cup races have switched since you chased the Defenders, the Valkyries and the Resolutes home.

In those days, the losers went aboard the champion boat for a jolly old supper. Sometimes with food.

Now, the winner searches the loser.

The coast guard have lost very few races in the last year. If they cannot finish first, they see to it that you don't finish at all.

When you bring your yacht over in the summer, don't forget your life preserver.

Most of the boat races off the grand banks this season have wound up in swimming contests.

Another bit of advice is to go in less for sails and more for armor plate.

We hope that you win this time. But look out for trouble in more than pound sizes.

When you are in a boat off the Jersey coast, nobody will ever believe that you are in the tea business.

Amarillo Golfer Gets 180-Yard Hole-In-One

AMARILLO, Texas, April 15. (UP)—S. L. Bither, Amarillo, golfing on the Twin Hills course at tee five, gave the ball a terrific wallop and sliced.

The ball was lost.

After a long search, he found the pellet nestled in the cup on number six, 180 yards from tee five. Yes, it was a hole-in-one.

LEAGUE CHIEFS ARE OPTIMISTIC

Close and Prosperous Pennant Races Forecast

(By the Associated Press)

Neither John A. Heydler, president of the National league, nor E. S. Barnard, head of the American circuit would make any prediction Monday regarding the possible outcome of the pennant races, other than to foresee close battles in both and signs of a prosperous season.

Both believe that many teams in each league have been strengthened in the past six months and that the 1929 race will see several teams in the role of serious contenders, who were hopelessly out of the running from the start in 1928.

Commenting on the race, Heydler said:

"It would be hazardous for me to speculate this time on the comparative playing strength of the eight clubs in our league, or to classify the contenders. I am especially loath to speak of the chances or improvements of any certain teams when I recall that in our last pennant race six clubs were in the fight for three-fourths of the season, four were in the struggle up to the last two weeks and three until the last few days. As composed at present, these clubs are so closely matched in playing strength that the luck of the game probably will decide the next champion."

Predicting that the 30th pennant race of the American league would be one of the best in the history of the organization, Barnard said:

"The playing strength of our clubs has been out of balance in recent years resulting in poor races and corresponding lack of interest, but that will all be changed in 1929. During these recent years our owners have carried on an aggressive campaign for new material and their efforts have been so successful that the opening of the season finds each weak club of last year strengthened and in a position to give good account of itself."

Boxing Show Seats On Sale Tomorrow

Heavy demand for ringside seats for the boxing show headlined by Duke Tramel and Cyclone Hall tomorrow night at the Palace theater has caused Promoter Alex Ross to place tickets on sale early. The box office at the Palace will be opened tomorrow at 10 o'clock and reserved seat tickets and all duckets may be obtained throughout the day.

Hall and Tramel will finish training today for their 10-round scrap which will attract boxing enthusiasts of all West Texas.

BROWNS BEAT CARDINALS

ST. LOUIS, April 15. (AP)—O'Rourke's single after two bases on balls in the 14th inning gave the St. Louis Browns the second game of the city series, 10 to 9, here today. It also tied the series, as the series, as the Cardinals won Saturday, 2 to 1.

Health And Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper

(Copyright 1929 by The Bell Syndicate Inc.)

A Cleansing Spring Diet Course

This is the first of a series of articles in which I will explain how every one of my readers may receive excellent results through following the same general dietetic regime. This springtime is especially a good time in the year for you to undergo a thorough bodily housecleaning. These articles for the next two weeks will explain exactly how it can be done.

This course will not only benefit those who are suffering from definite disorders, but should be used also by those who are not sick enough to go to a doctor but who wish to have health more abundantly.

Those of my readers who have been closely following the daily health articles will understand more readily how it is possible to get such good results in every case, even though each reader has a different complication of symptoms and ailments. Many who have just become interested in the daily health articles may need some further explanation.

How Diet Cures

Those who are just beginning to study dietetics will too often think that food can be used in the way we used to think medicine could be given, that is, that certain foods could be given for certain diseases. You have all read a great deal of nonsense about "brain-building" foods, and about foods good for the heart, liver, or some of the other organs. While it is not true that any one kind of food can cure any one disease, it is nevertheless, true that the taking away of certain kinds of food can have a definite effect in bringing about the cure of different diseases.

The ordinary table contains plenty of variety of foodstuffs. Disease develops because too many of these foods are used at a time—too much of certain kinds of food is eaten—and because the body does not properly eliminate its toxins. Disease thus develops because of dietetic errors and faulty elimination. Of course, mental influences, environment, habits of exercise, etc., all play their part. The progressive physician of today, and the millions of people making up the masses, know these facts to be true.

Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the brilliant English physician has, after a lifetime of surgical practise and the use of medicines, finally come to the conclusion that good health depends upon "diet and drainage," which is the same thing as saying that disease is caused by errors in diet and inefficient elimination.

In more than 20 years of practice, I have never found any other factors which are so important in the study of diease and health as food and elimination!

Diet Theories Simplified

Although many of my readers will consider my task a difficult one when I attempt to explain a dietetic regime suitable for the cure of all types and classes of disease, I can assure all of you that the problem is not such a difficult one as it may at first seem to be.

As I look back over the early days of my dietetic study, I remember how confusing all of the different diet theories were, and how complicated food science seemed to me, so I can easily realize any beginner's attitude. The amazing fact is that every year I have found that the complicated theories of my early study have given way to very simple ones.

If you are willing to take advantage of the fruits of my years of study and experience, it will be needless for you to go through so much study to arrive at some very simple, true conclusions which can be proven to your entire satisfaction. If you will but have the courage to follow the rules in these lessons, the results will speak for themselves!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Fattening Foods

Question—M. M. S. writes: "Please list in your column the vegetables and fruits that are fattening if eaten continually."

Answer—Potatoes and Hubbard squash are about the only fattening vegetables. The fruits which contain the most fat-producing qualities are the avocado, banana and olive. Probably the most fattening foods are the grains and everything made of flour.

Burning in Leg

Question—Mrs. E. G. S. writes: "I am 53 years o'd and seem in good health, except that I am troubled with a burning sensation in my right leg, from the hip to the knee. Also, I do not sleep well. Will go to bed sleepy, but in a little while become wide awake. Will you suggest something to overcome these conditions?"

Answer—Your trouble may be due to some disorder of the liver or gall bladder. Enlargement or congestion of either of these organs will often affect certain of the nerves going to the right leg. I would advise you to consult some physician who is skilled in nerve tracing, and who understands manipulative treatment of the spine.

Italy Launches Most Powerful Submarine

TARANTO, Italy, April 15. (UP)—The submarine, Fieramosca, largest and most powerful in the Italian navy, was launched at the Tosi shipyards today. Archbishop Mazzella blessed the vessel, which has a displacement of 15,000 tons in emersion and 18,000 in submersion. It is capable of a speed of 19 miles an hour under water.

MACK: They is makin' talkies in Hollywood.

MORAN: Is they got to holler like that?

MACK: Sure, they is makin' a picture called Secret Service.

MORAN: What's the secret?

MACK: Well, Secret Service is all about a murder in one of them cafeterias.

MORAN: Continue, Big Boy.

MACK: An' the secret is where is th' service.

MORAN: I understan' everything except what yo' is talkin' about.

MACK: That makes us mutual.

MORAN: Yo' makes me feel dumber every day.

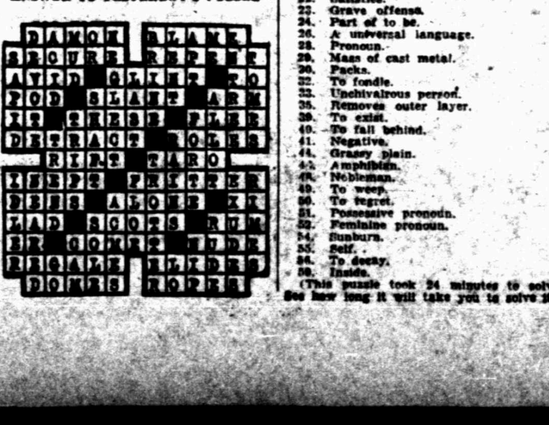

MACK: An' th' days is gettin' longer.

MORAN: How kin they take pictures with all that yellin'?

MACK: Yo' ain't heard nothin' yet. That's only a Whisperin' campaign.

BRANIFF TO EXTEND LINES

10 New Transport Ships To Go in Service

Airline passenger service directly to Kansas City, Mo., and to San Angelo, Texas, will be offered within a few weeks by the Braniff lines, according to information given Monday by Deane Davenport, public relations director who joined the Braniff system when it merged with the Universal airlines.

It was stated that 10 new transport ships have been purchased for service on the lines between San Angelo, Wichita Falls, Chickasha, Duncan, Oklahoma City, Tulsa and Kansas City. Each of the ships will have a capacity of eight passengers, it was said. Completion of the increased service schedules will make available connection with the coast to coast Universal lines, according to the report.

Spudders Entertain At Kiwanis Luncheon

The Spudder Concert company, composed of "Rabbit" Benton, Deb Garms, Dallas Clements, and Ed Ellis entertained their teammates and members of the Kiwanis club with a varied program of musical numbers at the Kemp hotel Monday noon.

Clements and Benton were the vocal performers, with Ellis at the piano. Garms and Benton teamed together in a group of harmonica-guitar duet numbers. NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—A lull came over the cotton market today with trading slack and price fluctuations narrow.

Weather conditions proved the stimulating influences with prospects for more favorable weather clipping the early spurt.

Cheerful advices from Washington over farm relief legislation sustained prices more or less during the day, accounting for a three-point advance in the early trading for July, placing that position at 19.94, which later slumped 11 points to 19.83, which it held until the close. The general market closed steady at net declines of 8 to 12 points.

Despite a poor Liverpool, first trades showed no change to 4 points up, and later climbed upward on reports of rains over the week-end and farm relief prospects, with July reaching 19.94 and October 18.80, but this was soon lost.

At the lowest May traded at 19.75 and July 19.83, or 11 to 12 points under the highs, while new crop months showed even greater losses with October pointing downward to 19.66 and December to 19.73, 14 points beneath the highs.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 15. (AP)—A slight early advance on reports of rains in the Eastern belt were followed by declines in cotton today under liquidation together with some local selling which appeared to be inspired by prospects for clearing weather. July contracts declined to 20.02 to 19.82 and closed at the lowest, with the general market closing barely steady at net declines of 11 to 16 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 1 to 5 points on buying apparently attributable to an unfavorable view of the rains reported in the Eastern, and parts of Central belt. This bulge met increase offerings and prices soon turned easier.

Part of the buying of near months was supposed to represent price fixing for the trade. Some traders were inclined to doubt whether the rains or showers reported in the Eastern belt were heavy enough to do much harm and their influence was evidently offset by the outlook for clearing conditions.

Hovering Shadow of Congress Keeps Stock Market Within Dull Bounds

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, April 15. (US)—The shadow of congress hung over the stock market today. It was another listless, almost meaningless session, with the total turnover dropping to the 2,500,000 share level and the list backing and filling in narrow price range.

Although call money was in good supply at 8 per cent and Durant had vigorously attacked the federal reserve and all its works, the public refused to come in and trading was confined mostly to professionals on the floor.

Steel dropped off more than a point as the stockholders met and other standard Industrials finished no lower on the average. Anaconda lost over two points in a generally soft Copper group as fears of further reduction in the price of the metal continued to be expressed.

Oils were strong early but finally succumbed except for Wilcox which benefitted from special influence. Rails were extremely dull and practically unchanged for the session.

Steel stockholders met and approved the increase in common stock to provide for bond retirement. After the director's meeting tomorrow the terms of the offering of new stock will be known. Current indications are that the rights to subscribe will be worth about $18 a share for stockholders. Much of the bullish influence thereof has been discounted. As Steel has been bolstering the entire market profit-taking on the "good news" is quite likely to affect the entire list.

There is nothing apparent in the current Steel situation to attract bargain hunters. With rights worth $18 a share Steel is selling "ex" rights on a 4 per cent yield basis. You can get a bigger return than that on Liberty Bonds now. Even allowing for possible extra cash payment of $2 a share over the next year the return would be but a little more than 5 per cent and there is no trouble finding good bonds to return that much.

There was hope in the street that the president would scold the reserve board in his message to congress tomorrow. Those in touch with Washington, however, maintain he will confine his remarks to agriculture, tariff and immigration as those are the matters on which the special session has been called. For the president to mention the reserve or the stock market would hasten the bombastic barrage from congress which administration leaders are trying to fight off, for they know the only result will be further disturbance to business. However, Glass or some other senator is bound to open the ball that will bring forth all manner of unsettling proposals and opinions so wise traders remain out of the market.

There were a few courageous pools at work and one or two stocks were affected by special developments. Wilcox Oil buying was due to knowledge that the management is nearly ready to announce recapitalization and payment of dividends.

The Durant people were taking offerings of Combustion as they have corraled a rather crowded short interes; therein.

Some buying of Hudson Motor resulted from the advice that March was the best month in history and would bring earnings for the first quarter up to more than $3 a share. Hudson Motor earnings have been grossly exaggerated before, however, in advance estimates. There was some quiet picking up of General Motors also, on the theory that when the most powerful directors get back from Europe toward the close of the week they will stage a demonstration.

The Durant attack on the reserve caused varied reaction. There were hose with a mistaken idea who misunderstood the reason for his talk. Durant will leave for Europe Wednesday night in the best financial shape of his career, it is maintained. His talk over the radio Sunday night, it is clamied, was to demonstrate that he is ready and more than willing to carry on his fight against the reserve. He believes the majority of business men will back him up and with the support of business thinks he can make the reserve halt its campaign against the stock market.

MIDWESTERN REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, April 15. (AP) (United States Department of Agriculture)—Cattle trade around the 11-market circuit was featured by a fairly broad demand for light-weight steers and yearlings, at generally steady to strong prices. A weak undertone prevailed on medium-weight and heavy steers and at a few points where supplies were liberal packers shaded values 15c to 25c. Slaughter cows were comparatively scarce with prices continuing to work higher. Country demand remained broad for stocker and feeder classes at firm prices. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 61,300 as compared with 64,735 last Monday and 69,655 a year ago.

Hogs found a moderately active outlet at steady to 15c lower figures. The day's practical top of $11.65 was paid in Chicago. Total offerings were around 119,600, an increase of 20,700 over a week ago and 22,500 heavier than the corresponding day last year.

CHICAGO GRAIN REVIEW

CHICAGO, April 15. (AP)—Grain price upturns based on farm legislation prospects amounted to 1⅝c a bushel in many cases today, but increased selling led afterwards to setbacks. Uncertainty among traders was aparent regarding the market effect of several clauses of the farm bill introduced in the house today at Washington, especially the clauses which referred to minimizing of speculation and made mention of insurance against price declines.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅝c higher, corn finished ⅝c to ⅝c up, oats at ¼c to 1⅛c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10c.

Highest prices of the day in the wheat market were reached soon after the opening.

Selling broadened out, however, on the bulges in price. During the dips numerous transactions were made at well below Saturday's finish. The corn market today had a firmer undertone. Scarcity of cash oats was a strengthening influence in the oats market.

Provisions were slightly firmer on account of commission house buying.

Northwest Outskirts Of Panhandle Tested

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., April 15.—What may help to determine the northwest limits of the Panhandle field of Northwestern Texas are the two tests the Dana Oil and Gas company of Amarillo plans to drill, one in Hartley and another in Moore county.

Samuel Vanderweide of the Dana company, is a visitor in Tulsa and is finding Mid-Continent oil men intensely interested in the outcome of his efforts. The No. 1 Feltz, is to be located in the center of the northeast of section 81, block 44, of H. & T. C. survey, eastern Hartley county, and Howard Bean Drilling company is now moving material out for the rig.

Second test is No. 1 Anthony, in the center of the northwest of section 260, block 44, same survey, and six miles west and one mile north of Dumas, county seat of Moore county. Both are on a northwest trend of the Panhandle field.

Mr. Bean, a former Oklahoma drilling contractor, will use rotary at both tests to the lime, expected from 2900 to 3000 feet and then complete with standard tools.

INDIAN LAND HOLDERS ARE GRANTED REVIEW

WASHINGTON, April 15. (UP)—T. L. and Lillie V. Carpenter, Carter county, Oklahoma, holders of Choctaw Indian lands, today were granted a review of a state supreme court decision which held they were liable to the three per cent state gross production tax on money received by them from their Indian oil lands. They contended the tax against them amounted to a prohibited property tax. The lands are not restricted Indian lands.

While details are still lacking of the Continental Oil company and Marland Oil company consolidation under the name of the Continental, facts are becoming known of the Darby Petroleum company's acquisition of the Tidal-Osage Oil company on a share for share exchange basis.

Two other large deals are soon to be announced. One will be the sale of a large Tulsa firm, with production in Oklahoma and Texas, to another Tulsa major that will place the latter firm into West Texas.

Still another is the prospective sale of a major natural gasoline producing firm of Tulsa to another major Tulsa firm, having production, refineries, natural gasoline plants and marketing facilities.

And rumor tells of at least five other merger deals now being worked up, and which may become known some weeks hence.

The Darby and Tidal-Osage deal has been under way for some months and is just coming out. It witnesses the passing of the Tidal-Osage Oil company, which was originally the Guffey-Gillespie Oil company, and the enlargement of the Darby Petroleum company as a good sized Mid-Continent independent.

J. Fred Darby of Muskogee, continues as president and directing head. J. F. Russell Jr., is vice president; A. C. Boyce, secretary, and D. C. Bothwell is treasurer and manager. Three additional directors go on the Darby board, E. H. Salrin, president of the Tidal companies; W. C. Franklin, vice president of the Tidal companies, and M. P. Williams, former president and now vice president of the Tidal companies.

The enlarged Darby company will have 1,019,392 shares of no par value stock, the increase being 531,319 shares, that being the actual number of shares of Tidal-Osage. Tidal-Osage par was $10. The merger on a share for share basis is regarded as equal to a $6,000,000 proposition.

Tidal-Osage has 5,200 barrels a day of net production and Darby 3,400 barrels, making the enlarged Darby have 8,600 barrels a day in Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas. Combined leaseholds and fee lands of the Darby will now be 144,000 acres.

NEW THEATER SLATE FORMED

125 Members Reported At Reorganization Meet

The reorganization of the Little Theater, election of new officers, and the reporting of 125 members thus far featured a meeting of the organization held Monday night at the Woman's Forum with more than 50 persons in attendance.

Emil Hermann was named as president, and Stillwell Wyatt as business manager. Other officers chosen are John Kilgore, first vice president; Mrs. J. T. Harrell, second vice president; Jerry Vinson, secretary-treasurer, and Dr. J. A. Heyman, W. F. Pagan, Mrs. John W. Thomas, Paul Barnett, Baldwin Montgomery, Mrs. Bentley Nelson and Mrs. H. F. Weldon, directors.

A meeting of the new officers and directors will be held within the next few days, it was stated, to take action on the proposition made last week by F. C. McClung of St. Louis relative to assuming the direction of Little Theater productions here for the remainder of this spring, and for the 1929-1930 season. Mr. McClung agreed last week to accept the position here provided a total of 100 or more members were obtained by April 17, it was reported, the proposition calling for 50 per cent of the earnings of the organization as his compensation.

A telegram from Russell Stelmell, director of the Grauman's Egyptian theater of Los Angeles lauding Mr. McClung's qualifications as a director and actor, was read before the meeting, as well as other recommendations from persons in the Southwest who have associated with him in theatrical enterprises.

The membership drive will be continued, it was stated, with a goal of 250 as the objective. Persons interested in the movement, and on whom calls may not be made, were urged to get in touch with officers of the Little Theater and arrange to become members.

J. M. Gilliam, owner, and R. E. Shepherd, manager of station KGKO, who are listed among the new members, offered the facilities of the local radio station for use of the Little Theater in carrying out its program.

Oil Station Permit Granted by Council

A permit for construction of a filling station at Seventh street and Brook avenue was granted to the Panhandle Refining company in a public hearing before the city council in its regular weekly meeting Monday night.

An ordinance providing for the erection of a loading rack by the Adams Electrified Water company on Railroad street was passed at its first reading. Ralph Pond was granted a permit for the construction of a storage tank at Sibley avenue and the Wichita Falls tracks.

Police methods and the wave of recent robberies here was not discussed by the board, the reorganization of the police force by Chief Burns apparently meeting with the approval of the aldermen.

Equalization Board Appointed April 22

The 1929 board of equalization probably will be named Monday night, April 22, at the regular meeting of the city council, according to W. R. Hyer, city and school tax assessor and collector.

The board, which is made up of three members, all of whom have no part in city government, is appointed each year by the council.

Taxpayers who have not handed in their renditions were urged to do so before the meeting of the board next week by Mr. Hyer.

"I Came 305 Miles To Get a Bottle of Orgatone for My Friends," Says a Katy Brakeman

Wichita Man Suffered 20 Years But Is Now Relieved and Is Buying Orgatone for All of His Many Friends in Oklahoma.

"Yes, sir, Orgatone did so much for me, and relieved me of all my troubles, until I have come 305 miles from Forgan, Okla., to get another bottle for my friend," said Sam Stallings, of 1304 North Eighth street, Wichita Falls, Texas, while in Allison's Drug store talking with the Orgatone representative.

"For 20 years I have had an awful lot of trouble with my stomach. Everything I ate disagreed with me and after meals I would get that puffed up, bloated feeling and belch up my food sour and undigested. I got to the point where I was almost afraid to eat anything because of the suffering I knew it would cause me. I was constipated, had terrible headaches and my sleep was very poor. My heart would palpitate so fast, on account of the gas that formed on my stomach, until I could hardly get my breath. My system seemed to be all round down and I was awfully nervous all the time and felt that unless I could get something my troubles would result serious.

"Orgatone was prasied by so many local people so I decided to try it. I am always hungry now, and eat anything and more of everything than I did. I'm not bilious or dizzy any more, and all of the gas has stopped forming on my stomach. Orgatone has helped my constipation and, in fact, I feel better all around than I have in a long time. Orgatone is the best medicine I ever saw or heard of, and I am recommending it to all of my friends. My neighbor is now taking it with good results. I am buying Orgatone for all of my friends in Oklahoma, and am taking it to them. I am glad to always say a good word for Orgatone."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but a new scientific bile treatment and is sold in Wichita Falls exclusive by the Allison's Drug store, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. Also in Burkburnett at the City Drug store, in Electra at the Tarleton Drug Co. and in Vernon by the Vernon Drug store.—Adv.

Most of Burglary Loot Taken By Sheriff Awaits Identification

Articles Stolen From 16 Homes Here Make Officers' Quarters Look Like Department Store

Identification of goods valued at between $5,000 and $10,000, stolen from at least 16 Wichita Falls homes since Feb. 1, and recovered in a raid by the sheriff's department on a Burnett street apartment Saturday afternoon, was still incomplete late Monday, although visitors had been calling to describe parts of the array of wearing apparel, luggage, jewelry and silver throughout the day.

Meanwhile members of the sheriff's department were completing investigations expected to result in other arrests in addition to the two made at the time of the seizure of the goods. T. O. Cagle, alias Richard Newman, arrested in the Burnett street apartment where most of the goods was discovered, and Mrs. O. T. Hart, 31 year old woman, taken into custody from a house on Monroe street after officers had followed a car believed to have transported stolen goods to Dallas, are under technical charges of concealing and possessing stolen property. One burglary complaint had been entered against Cagle Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Hart had been employed at various times at the Monroe street address, it was said.

Property belonging to Charles R. McGaha and other goods identified by L. T. Francis were picked from among the mass stored in the offices of sheriff W. G. Bralley Monday. A phonograph and a sterling silver water service were included among the goods taken from the Francis home. Other householders whose goods have been recovered include: Joe Carrigan, Pirce Langford, Carter McGregor, C. M. Miller, L. E. Whitham, A. A. Spencer, Ray Hirscni, T. J. Waggoner, C. D. Shamburger, Charles Miller, and Frank Timberlake. Articles taken in two separate robberies were identified by P. P. Langford Jr.

A number of handsome bags and several thousand dollars worth of jewelry, reported missing along with goods already found, are still unrecovered, Mr. Bralley said Monday night. The prisoners now held deny all knowledge of the missing property, claiming that it never came into their possession, the sheriff said.

The goods in the sheriff's office, largely ladies' wearing apparel, is to be identified and disposed of as fast as the owners can be persuaded to come down and pick out their own things, Mr. Bralley said. His own office resembles a large and generously filled ladies' wardrobe, except that the dainty garments are hung from a very unfeminine line of thick rope, seized by the sheriff's department months ago in the investigation of a house breaking.

Police Recover Loot, Arrest Man in Case

Four men's suits valued at more than $200 were recovered Monday by Luke Hart and Pat Allen, city plain clothes officers.

Two of the suits, which were identified as belonging to T. J. Waggoner, were recovered by Hart in Dallas while another was recovered after the arrest of a man on the streets by Allen.

GROWERS ASK HELP OF CITY

Protection Against Non-Member Salesmen Urged

Officials of the Wichita Falls Truck Growers' association were empowered by a meeting of the membership at the courthouse Monday night to petition the city to provide protection against non-member salesmen in the neighborhood of the proposed cooperative market which has been announced to open on May 1.

Discussion of the matter in the meeting revealed the fact that plans for the public market have been made with the understanding that marketing of produce from trucks and wagons in the downtown district would be limited to the space retained for the cooperative market.

Under the plans prepared by leaders of the truck growers' organization, space in the market is to be sold to local truck farmers for a small charge for each day of occupancy. The market would remain open each week day until about 9 a. m., and would then be closed until late in the afternoon.

According to statements made at Monday night's meeting, representatives of the association were informed by city officials that there is no ordinance on the books under which outside trucksters could be prohibited from parking at the curb near the proposed market and selling their wares.

It was stated that in numerous other cities where cooperative markets have been operated successfully for several years, the restrictions desired here have been provided as a means of fostering the growth of the truck growing industry. Efforts are to be made at once, it was stated, through the city attorney and the city manager to obtain similar protection for the truck growers in this community who have subscribed to the establishment of a public market in this city.

Two Liquor Cases Go to Trial Today

Cases against Joe Swayzee and L. Schuette, charged with the possession of whisky and equipment for the manufacture of whisky, will be called in the 30th district court Tuesday, George W. Anderson, assistant district attorney, announced Monday afernoon.

Later in the week, after the trial of R. B. Nichols, indicted for robbery with firearms in connection with the holdup of the Spoonts drug store on Christmas night, the state will seek the forfeiture of a $1,500 bond for Tom Shook, former Electra police chief, who escaped from the Wichita county jail last summer.

Other cases set for the week include those against Larry Kilroy, Steve Skinner, J. T. Reynolds and Lloyd Hooker, all charged with violation of the state prohibition act; Walter Pointer, charged with assault to murder, and E. G. Ramsey, charged with swindling by check.
