In Brief

Trial begins

HOUSTON (AP) — A football coach accused of ignoring an alleged gang rape tried to report the incident even though he did not believe a sexual assault had occurred, his attorney says.

Jerald Steven Macklin is charged with failing to report child abuse in connection with the Sept. 28 alleged rape of a 13-year-old girl in a boys' bathroom at E.O. Smith Middle School.

Macklin's trial began Monday. If convicted he could face up to 180 days in jail and a maximum $1,500 fine.

Five youths have been charged in juvenile court with sexual assault and are awaiting trial.

Gets 58 years

AUSTIN (AP) — An Austin man has admitted killing an acquaintance in May 1991 and been sentenced to 58 years in prison.

Kreg Allred, 23, is one of two men charged with killing Richard Elizondo of San Antonio, who was shot five times in a wooded area of southeastern Travis County, authorities said. His buried body wasn't discovered until June.

Elizondo, 35, was lured to the area on the pretense that the men would be target shooting, investigators have said.

GM is ordered to keep Willow Run plant open

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A circuit court judge today ordered General Motors Corp. to keep open its Willow Run assembly plant, stopping the automaker's plans to move operations to Arlington.

It was the second major loss in court for the giant automaker in less than a week.

"There would be a gross inequity and patent unfairness if General Motors, having lulled the people of the Ypsilanti area into giving up millions of tax dollars which they so desperately need to educate their children and provide basic governmental services, is allowed to simply decide that it will desert 4,500 workers and their families because it thinks it can make these same cars a little cheaper somewhere else," Washtenaw County Circuit Judge Donald Shelton said in his ruling.

The courtroom erupted in cheers from United Auto Workers members when Shelton ruled in the lawsuit by Ypsilanti Township, which challenged the No. 1 automaker's plans to close the Washtenaw County plant by summer's end. The township was seeking either an order to keep the plant open or $27 million to make up for tax abatements and other damage it said stemmed from the planned closing.

Lee Schutzman, an attorney for GM, called the decision an unprecedented ruling and said the automaker would appeal.

"This shouldn't have any immediate impact on GM's plans at Willow Run, because we planned to continue building at Willow Run through the end of the '93 model year and I hope the Court of Appeals rules before that," he said.

Ypsilanti Township had claimed it granted the auto giant tax abatements in 1984 and 1988 worth $13.5 million. It said GM promised in return to keep the plant's 4,000 jobs.

The township said GM breached a contract when it announced plans to close the plant and move production to the similar plant in Arlington.

Shelton rejected that argument.

Blood drive slated today at park barn

A blood drive, sponsored by Cogdell Memorial Auxiliary and Scurry County Advisory Council for United Blood Services, is being held until 7 this evening at Towle Park Barn.

Theme for the drive is "Donors are Valentines for Life." By giving blood, donors help replenish a community resource used by neighbors, relatives and friends.

Random drawings will be held throughout the day for door prizes donated by several Snyder merchants.

In addition, each participant will receive coupons for food, drink or other items from participating businesses. Drawings will also be held for gift certificates redeemable at several local restaurants.

There will be a choice of small items as gifts from United Blood Services.

Commissioners...

Pact with PBX approved

County commissioners this morning approved a request from the county auditor to hire a company to review the county's phone bills and a resolution supporting the Head Start program in Scurry County.

The court recessed and was to reconvene at 2 p.m. today to meet with members of the airport board and discuss the status of Airport Manager Darrell Mize.

Commissioners gave County Auditor Eddie McHaney authority to sign a service contract with PBX, a phone bill examiner company which reviews past phone bills in an attempt to get refunds for past overbilling by phone companies.

The Arlington-based company has obtained refunds for several local entities, including $15,858 for Snyder Independent School District, $7,524 for the City of Snyder and $4,677 for Western Texas College.

The company has reviewed bills for 50 county governments, as well, with 70 percent of the customers receiving refunds from overbilling.

According to McHaney, the company receives a percentage of the refund it obtains for its customers. If they are unable to get a refund, no fee will be charged to the county.

Commissioners signed a resolution to show county support for Head Start, a federally funded program for three- and four-year-olds from lower income families, which is operated locally through Snyder Child Daycare Center.

The daycare center, which is having difficulty receiving funds from People for Progress, Inc., is attempting to contract directly with Central Texas Opportunities, the funding organization for Head Start.

Currently, PPI subcontracts from CTO to serve Head Start programs in Nolan, Fisher, Mitchell and Scurry counties.

Precinct 2 Commissioner Roy Idom told the court that a similar resolution will be presented to Service contract, promotion approved by college trustees

Western Texas College trustees approved a two-year service contract for heating and cooling, a promotion in rank and heard an enrollment report during their February board Monday.

Trustees approved a two-year contract with Ener-tel Services, Inc., for $19,200 to provide service to the college's heating and cooling system. Ener-tel has provided the service for the past five years.

Board members also approved a promotion in rank for David Kattes, who recently received his doctorate. Dr. Kattes was promoted from assistant professor of agriculture to professor of agriculture. The promotion will not affect his salary.

Enrollment through Western Texas is up this spring, administrators told the board. Mike Thornton, dean of continuing education, reported a dramatic increase in adult vocational education contact hours. He presented a comparison showing 55,000 adult vocational contact hours in 1991-92 and 96,000 in 1992-93. These courses, some of which are still projected, include nurse aide, Leadership Scurry County, automotive at the Price Daniel Unit and pre-service and in-service training for correctional officers.

Bettie McQueen, dean of instruction, reported that total enrollment in semester hour and quarterly vocational programs is 1,161, the highest spring enrollment since 1989. She noted that the semester hour total is the highest spring total since 1990 and that total contact hours of 250,280 is the highest spring since 1983.

Mrs. McQueen also presented a small class report, which was approved by trustees.

Trustees okayed a resolution in support of the Americans with Disabilities Act. The resolution calls for an ADA coordinator — Gay Hickman, vice president for business and finance — to oversee compliance with the act. He is appointing a task force to assist in the preparation of a campus self-evaluation as relates to the ADA.

The resolution states that the administration will solicit involvement of the community and individuals with disabilities in conducting the evaluation and setting priorities for compliance.

Krenek informed the board that

Mercy killing decriminalized

THE HAGUE, Netherlands (AP) — Parliament voted today to permit mercy killing under strict guidelines, making this the first industrialized nation to officially sanction voluntary euthanasia for the incurably ill.

Legislators passed the Cabinet proposal by a vote of 91-45.

Euthanasia has long been tolerated in the Netherlands and laws against it have come to be seen as a restraint rather than a prohibition. The vote, after years of debate, gave the practice a degree of legal sanction.

The measure does not formally legalize euthanasia, which is still officially punishable by up to 12 years in prison.

Instead, it codifies existing medical guidelines approved by parliament as a defense against criminal liability for physicians practicing euthanasia.

Doctors who follow the guidelines, although they still would be violating the law, will be guaranteed immunity from prosecution.

The compromise caps years of haggling between euthanasia supporters seeking full legalization and the nation's conservative religious groups opposed to the practice.

The guidelines must still be approved by the parliament's upper house later this year and receive the crown seal, both of which are considered formalities.

Courts almost always refrain from prosecuting doctors who adhere to the so-called "Carefulness Requirements," guidelines published by the Royal Dutch Medical Association.

The guidelines stipulate that a request for euthanasia be made personally by a patient, not by family or friends. The patient must be suffering unbearable and incurable pain, request death repeatedly, and be in a clear state of mind.

A second medical opinion must be obtained.

Doctors must keep detailed accounts of every stage in their decision-making process.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The truth only hurts when it's supposed to."

Somebody left the following on our desk, an article which speaks to attitudes in business. It is entitled, "Why Business is Bad."

January--people spent all their cash for the holidays.

February--all the best customers have left for a warmer climate.

March--unseasonably cold, and too much rain.

April--everybody is preoccupied with income taxes.

May--too much rain, farmers distressed.

June--too little rain, farmers distressed.

July--heat has everyone down.

August--everybody away on vacation.

September--everybody back, but broke.

October--customers waiting to see how fall clearance sales turn out.

November--people too upset over the elections.

December--people need their money for the holidays.

The real key to success is to make things happen, rather than reacting to what has happened or fretting over what might happen.

You can always tell when one has achieved success. Now that President Clinton has won the election and has been sworn into office, more and more people are admitting to having sat next to him in school.

Only in California...

In a recent edition of the San Francisco Chronicle, the following classified ad was run under the "alternate lifestyle" heading:

"SWM looking for SWF 21-27. Tired of living in The City. Married minded. Loves children, ours only."

Only in San Francisco would a heterosexual propose marriage and children under "alternative lifestyle."

Inmate pleads, gets 25 years added to term

A Price Daniel Unit inmate received an additional 25-year sentence this morning after pleading guilty in 132nd District Court on charges of aggravated assault.

Eager Wood Brown pled guilty to the May 30, 1992 assault of inmate Lucian J. Spann, in which Brown allegedly stabbed Spann in the left eye with a pencil following a confrontation between the two at the Daniel unit.

The case was scheduled to be heard beginning Monday in 132nd District Court but will be canceled because of the plea.

Brown was originally indicted on the charge in July of 1992. The previous indictment was enhanced due to prior felony convictions, and Brown was reindicted by a county grand jury Feb. 1.

Brown will begin serving the 25-year sentence at the conclusion of his current sentence, which is a 50-year term for aggravated sexual assault in Randall County.

Inventor claims Reebok copied 'pump' design

BOSTON (AP) — Reebok International Ltd. has fought court battles to protect the technology that inflates its popular "Pump" sneakers. A Texas inventor wants to put the shoe on the other foot.

Byron Donzis, head of Donzis Research in Houston, has filed a federal lawsuit in Boston, claiming his representatives showed Reebok the design for inflatable shoes back in 1987.

Donzis says Reebok entered a formal agreement not to use the information without getting permission from him, but then the company went ahead and introduced its "Pump" sneaker in 1989.

"You feel violated," Donzis said Monday. "They came out with a product that looks amazingly, an awful lot like ours."

Donzis, who filed the lawsuit Friday, said he believes he is entitled to at least $1 billion in compensation. He noted that he received a patent in 1989 — prior to the Pump's introduction — for a device that can inflate athletic shoes.

But Jack Douglas, an attorney for Reebok, said the lawsuit's claims are "without merit," and the company developed its shoe without any information from Donzis. Reebok is based in Stoughton, Mass.

"We have always been aware of (Donzis') patents and done our work so it falls outside the claims of those patents," Douglas said.

Reebok also has a patent, which specifically covers the built-in mechanism that pumps up the air chambers. "The idea of air inflation is not a new one," Douglas said.

Donzis, 60, said he didn't file the lawsuit sooner because he has been busy with other business ventures and public service groups that were higher priorities for him. "I apologize for not filing it the next day" after the Pump was introduced, he said.

The Pump, which uses inflatable chambers to give the feeling of a custom fit, has been a big success for Reebok, and several million pairs have been sold.

Reebok has accused other companies of copying the technology, and has settled claims with rival sneaker maker L.A. Gear Inc. and Spalding Sports Worldwide, which introduced an inflatable baseball glove.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: Put me at the top of the list of those who never thought they'd be writing a Dear Abby letter, but your response to the person whose clothes were constantly being stolen off the clothesline in her back yard was so far off base, I had to write.

The criminal element in this country is gaining control because we are afraid to confront the criminal, or the law enforcement agency when it fails to respond promptly. One's home should be the primary source of sanctuary outside of one's church. When we can no longer protect our property, our very lives are next!

The criminal who operates without fear of reprisal runs unabated across the threshold of our right to pursue happiness. Why should any law-abiding citizen have to hide from a petty thief?

Call the police! Record the dates and names of authorities to whom you have spoken; repeat those names to supervisors, friends, relatives, neighbors, civic leaders — and to the media! Let's take a stand for accountability, and not let our lives be dictated by fear or intimidation.

Since this is not likely to see print, a personal word for you, Abby: Stick to the advice to the lovelorn, and stop being a public forum for crybabies.

DON RICHTER, LEESBURG, GA.

DEAR DON: I don't know how the police would handle it in Leesburg, Ga., but in most larger cities, the police are so busy trying to catch drug pushers, murderers, car-jackers, bank robbers and fire-bombers, if a call came in from someone complaining because someone stole the clothes off her clothesline, the thieves would die of old age before they were apprehended.

DEAR ABBY: A few suggestions for "Hurt," whose neighbor didn't invite her to Thanksgiving dinner, but invited her for leftovers the next day. As the popular TV commercial says, "Get back into life!"

I am also a widow; my neighbors still have their husbands. I have no children, and my siblings live clear across the country. Friends and neighbors are kind and caring, but hey, they have their own lives.

If you're lonely, so are a lot of other people. Start thinking about them instead of yourself — how about your having a dinner and inviting them over? If you can't afford to feed a gang, make it potluck.

If that idea doesn't appeal to you, or your apartment is too small, how about volunteering to help serve holiday dinners for the needy or homeless? There are all sorts of organizations for widowed people. Sure beats sitting around moping and whining.

After you lose your mate, your life will change, and it will never be the same again — so make a new one, and make it as good as you possibly can. Please sign me ...

AI ONE BUT NOT LONELY IN DENVER

DEAR ALONE: My hat's off to you, my dear. With your positive, cheerful attitude, it's easy to see why you will never be lonely. God bless you. (And he has.)

DEAR ABBY: Man's best friend is not necessarily his neighbor's best friend. A deaf neighbor, perhaps, but not a hearing one.

We sold three houses to get away from barking dogs — the last houses were fully paid for, free and clear.

We now live in a mobile home park where pets are not allowed — the only way we could find peace and quietude.

PEACE AT LAST IN SAN DEIGO

DEAR PEACE: Congratulations. I would say you were dog-goned resourceful.

Advocacy group wants Clinton to reject gas tax increase plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texans would feel the pinch at the gas pump more than most if the Clinton administration raises the federal gasoline tax, says a public interest group opposed to any hike.

A 50-cent a gallon increase would cost the average family of four in Texas an additional $928 a year, Citizens for Tax Justice said in a report issued today.

That's compared to $762 a year for the average American family, said the non-profit coalition of labor, public interest and citizens groups.

Hardest hit would be Wyoming motorists, with an annual increase of $1,141. Least affected would be motorists in the District of Columbia, paying $403 more a year on average.

The administration is considering a variety of proposals to raise more money, including a gas tax increase. A 50-cent hike, pushed during the campaign by presidential candidates Paul Tsongas and Ross Perot, has been greeted warily by many on Capitol Hill.

Last year, Congress rejected a proposed 5-cent per gallon increase. Each penny hike would raise $1 billion a year. Motorists in Texas now pay 34.1 cents a gallon in gasoline taxes: 20 cents in state taxes and 14.1 cents in federal taxes.

Proponents argue that an increase in the gas tax would curb consumption, thereby reducing oil imports and air pollution. They also note that Americans pay about two-thirds less for gasoline than drivers in Germany and Japan.

Opponents counter that gasoline taxes hurt the poor more than the middle-class. The taxes also disproportionately affect consumers in Southern and Western states who often drive longer distances than their urban counterparts, they note.

The poorest fifth of all families would spend 3.7 percent of their income in added gasoline taxes versus 0.2 percent for the richest 1 percent of Americans, the coalition contends.

"Middle- and low-income families shouldn't have to pay higher taxes to deal with a deficit problem that they didn't create in the first place," said Robert S. McIntyre, director of Citizens for Tax Justice.

"The president is right that we need to increase taxes to cut the deficit," he said. "But the proper way to raise taxes is to restore fairness to the federal tax system, by taking back the huge tax cuts granted to corporations and the richest people over the past decade and a half."

The coalition called on President Clinton to reject any proposals increasing the gas tax or other energy taxes.

Your Birthday

Feb. 9, 1993

If you have prepared yourself properly, the knowledge and experience you've acquired could lead to a coveted advancement in your field of endeavor in the year ahead.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It might be difficult for you to distinguish between positive or wishful thinking today. One assures success, the other invites disappointment. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Think twice today before putting additional funds into an investment that so far has been rather sour. It's time for you to seriously review this entire situation.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be cooperative today, but don't make concessions for the sake of expediency. Restructuring a deal could weaken it for both you and the other guy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Duties and responsibilities will not take care of themselves today, although you might be inclined to believe they will. Whatever you neglect today could be more difficult to do later.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Romance must be handled in a compassionate, considerate manner today. If not, you may do something that could severely hurt the one you love.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) The harder you try to impress others today, the less effective you're apt to be. If you want to make a good, lasting impression, be both natural and sincere.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Give praise where it is merited today, but don't use flattery for purposes of manipulation. Others will perceive your intentions and not like them.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Usually you are a prudent and careful shopper, but today you could be knowingly extravagant and pay more for something than it is really worth.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Guard against inclinations today to prejudge people whom you do not know too well. Give everyone the benefit of the doubt, and don't tag them with labels they don't deserve.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) In order to be a nice person today, you might take on an assignment another should be handling on his or her own. You could wind up being used instead of appreciated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Be very mindful of your behavior today, because your social image is a trifle more fragile than usual. If you do something distasteful, it could become the topic of gossip.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It won't be what you say today that will make a good impression on others, it will be what you do. Performance, and not personality, will be graded.

Silver for toasting

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — A collection of silver drinking vessels ranging from simple tumblers to elaborate, two-handled covered cups, is displayed in a special exhibition at Colonial Williamsburg.

"To Your Health! Silver Drinking Vessels 1601-1818" features about 120 pieces: mugs and cups, tankards and tumblers, punch bowls and ladles, from England, Ireland, Scotland and America.

They are all "readily recognizable, human in scale and size, handsome and well made, in forms that are still popular," according to John Davis, curator of metalwork.

The pieces on show are from the collections of the Colonial Williamsburg Foundation, as well as on longterm loan from a private collector, John Hyman of Williamsburg.

The exhibition will remain on show in the DeWitt Wallace Decorative Arts Gallery through 1994.

Some 350 known species of dinosaurs trod the earth for 165 million years, from about 230 million to 65 million years ago, and all probably evolved from a scurrying, bipedal, pheasant-size reptile, notes National Geographic.

When will we see Bridge 101?

This is the 101st week of columns that I have written. Don't you think it's about time a teen-ager could sign up for Bridge 101 in college? There is an annual national junior (under-26) championship, but, to my knowledge, no scheduled college classes are held.

Vicky Sawyer, 17, and Chris Austin, 14, won last year's Junior Pairs Championship. Both are high-school students — Sawyer in Occoquan, Va., and Austin in Riverdale, Ga.

To win a title, you need to play well and ride your luck. Sawyer and Austin were lucky before a card was played. Though they overslept and arrived late, the game had been delayed and they were allowed to enter. Then they were favored by a helpful opening lead and by friendly distribution in today's deal.

Sawyer rebid three diamonds because of her excellent suit. She was hoping her partner could rebid three no-trump — which is probably what he should have done. But with a youthful rush of adrenalin, Austin used Blackwood and bid the slam.

West made the unfortunate choice of the spade ace for his opening lead. Sawyer won the heart switch in the dummy, drew trumps, cashed the spade king and took the club finesse. When it won, declarer threw her heart six on the club ace. Then she called for the spade jack. East played low, but Sawyer discarded the heart jack. She was confident West wouldn't have led the spade ace if holding the A-Q.

When that worked, Sawyer was plus 1370 and they had a top.

Cagers try to regroup against EHS Matadors

Snyder's Lady Tigers will have to regroup following the announcement Monday that they had to forfeit their two District 2-4A wins this season, when they host Lubbock Estacado in the basketball season finale today at Scurry County Coliseum.

It was discovered Monday that members of the SHS girls' basketball team were bought lunch, presumably by a team members' parent, in violation of University Interscholastic League rules. UIL and District 2-4A Executive Committee sanctions included payment for the meals by the girls and the forfeiture of loop wins over Lamesa and Estacado.

The Lady Tigers, 3-23 overall and 0-9 in loop games since the ruling, are coming off a 52-19 loss at the hands of Plainview Friday.

Estacado, which brings a 2-21 and 1-8 record into tonight's game, was ripped Friday, as well, losing to Frenship, 63-35.

Snyder defeated the Lady Matadors, 44-32, in their first loop meeting this season. The Lady Tigers also have a win over Estacado in an early season tournament matchup.

Prior to the tip-off of tonight's game, the Lady Tigers' parents will be introduced.

The Tigers are also coming off some bad fortune.

The SHS boys lost two key members of their team last week when seniors Barretta Collins and Tory Garza quit. Following the loss of the two players, Snyder had to host the top team in the district, the Plainview Bulldogs.

Plainview posted a 68-49 win over Snyder Friday setting up tonight's skirmish between SHS and the Estacado Matadors.

Estacado, tied for second in the district, carries a 13-13 season mark and a 4-3 slate in loop action, including Friday's 89-78 upset of Frenship.

The Tigers are 1-6 in district games and 15-11 overall.

They are led by senior point guard Anthony Alvarez, who scored seven against Plainview Friday, including a pair of 3-pointers, and junior post Jimmy Henry who topped SHS scorers Friday with eight points.

Action begins with 5 p.m. junior varsity games. The girls' JV will play Estacado at the coliseum and the boys face the JV Mats at SHS.

The girls' varsity game tips off at 6:30 p.m. at the county coliseum, followed at 8 p.m. by the boys' varsity battle.

Non-conference game...

Clarendon nips Lady Dusters

CLARENDON — A 50 percent night from the free-throw line cost the Western Texas Lady Dusters a 65-62 loss to Clarendon College in a Monday non-conference women's basketball game.

The Dusters shot 18-of-36 from the stripe to Clarendon's 14-of-17.

"In a close game, especially on [illegible] make your free throws," said WTC coach Ron Jones. "We had opportunities to win this game, we just let it slip away from us.

"I think we played hard," Jones continued. "In fact, we played better than we've played the last few games. We missed some easy shots early that we should have converted, but we did lots of good [illegible]

"We've just go to keep working."

The Lady Dusters held a 32-30 halftime advantage, but trailed by as many as seven points in the last 20 minutes.

Freshman post Paulita Murrell poured in 14 points to lead the Western Texas attack Monday. Murrell hit five field goals and had a 4-of-7 night at the charity stripe.

Shelly Decker had nine points for WTC, including a 3-point bucket, and Ayesha Howard and Allison Garcia each hit eight.

Marquita Williams and Julie Blackshear each scored 13 to lead Clarendon in the win.

The loss drops WTC to 13-12 overall, Clarendon is 7-13 in 1992-93.

The Dusters have little time to worry about the loss. They get back into the Western Junior College Athletic Conference schedule Thursday when they visit Odessa College.

Western Texas will have a chance for revenge for their most recent setback when the Dusters host Clarendon Monday in the team's final home game of the season.

'Dogs, Cardinals fight for last playoff berth

Both Ira and Hermleigh head into tonight's boys' District 27-A basketball games with slim playoff hopes...but hopes nonetheless.

The Bulldogs, who needed two overtimes to take a 73-63 win over Westbrook Friday, visit Blackwell, and Hermleigh, a 63-42 loser to Highland in its last outing, hosts league leader Loraine.

Ira and Hermleigh both carry 4-4 loop records into tonight's tilts, tied with Blackwell for third place.

IHS, led by Coy Henderson's 24 points Friday, moved to 10-10 on the year. Blackwell, 13-10, 4-4, fell to Loraine, 60-44, in Friday action.

Hermleigh's 21-point loss to Highland Friday dropped the Cardinals from a second-place tie, to third at 6-12 and 4-4.

Loraine paces the district and has clinched at least a tie for the district title and a playoff berth. Highland's 5-3 mark is second, just one game ahead of Blackwell, Hermleigh and Ira with two games to go.

Tonight's girls' games also feature Loraine at Hermleigh and Ira at Blackwell.

The Lady Cardinals are 5-15 on the season and 1-7 in district games, including a 55-52 loss to Highland on Friday. Loraine, a 38-28 loser to Blackwell last week, brings a 10-10 overall record and a 3-5 27-A slate to the contest.

Ira, 3-13 and 1-7, lost to Westbrook Friday, 50-35. Blackwell, like Loraine on the boys' side, has clinched a berth in the playoffs and at least a tie for the district title. The Lady Hornets are unbeaten in eight district games and 17-5 on the campaign.

Highland is in second place sporting a 6-2 district record. The only other girls' team with a chance to push its way into the playoffs is Westbrook, at 5-3, who faces Highland tonight.

All district girls' games start at 6:30 p.m. while the boys' tilts begin at 8 p.m.

Girls finish at Andrews

ANDREWS — The Snyder Junior High A team Lady Tigers wound up their basketball season over the weekend with an appearance at the Andrews Tournament.

The seventh graders went 1-2 at the event and the eighth graders were eliminated in two games.

Snyder fell to Lamesa 28-25 in the seventh grade opener. Kristy Bollinger hit 10 points and Erin Maytubby and Halea Huestis each added four for Snyder.

Melanie Kidd scored 10, Bollinger hit eight and Jaime Burleson had six as Snyder downed Pecos 40-23 in the second round.

In the seventh graders' final game, the Lady Tigers were nipped by host Andrews, 19-17. Kidd had six and Huestis scored four.

The eighth graders from SJHS lost to Lamesa in the first round, 46-19, then fell to Big Spring, 39-24.

Sha Marricle contributed seven points and Samantha Trevino got four in the Lamesa game. Lisha Leatherwood, Darla Blackwell, Erica Garvin and Devon Reed each scored four for Snyder in the Big Spring contest.

WTC golfers tied for 9th

MELBOURNE, Fla. — Western Texas College, led by a 36-hole 152 by sophomore Mike Torres, shot a team total 629 in Monday's first day of competition at the Sun Tree Invitational golf tournament at Sun Tree Country Club here.

The Westerners, tied for ninth place with Odessa College, shot a 312 on the first 18 holes, then registered a 317 in Monday's final round.

Meyers and Semyonova...

Women highlight Hall entries

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP) — A pregnant Ann Meyers was drying laundry, preparing her children for school — and talking about winning entry into the Basketball Hall of Fame.

Meyers joined high-flying Julius Erving, master passer Bill Walton and five other players named Monday as the latest additions to the Springfield-based Hall of Fame. The other inductees May 10 will be NBA stars Walt Bellamy, Dan Issel, Dick McGuire, Calvin Murphy and Soviet Olympic standout Ulyana Semyonova.

But perhaps no one was more delighted with the sudden spotlight than Meyers, the UCLA and Olympic star who had been busy with housework and her two children Monday. She and her husband, Baseball Hall of Famer Don Drysdale, are expecting another child in March.

"I'm still a little shell shocked," she said after learning of her selection. "I have to give a lot of the credit to my family and their support. I idolized my brother David and always tagged along with him."

Meyers held 12 of 13 school records when she graduated. She had led UCLA to the 1978 AIAW championship.

She also played on the U.S. Olympic team that won a silver medal in 1976 — the gold was won by the Semyonova-led Soviet team — and was the first MVP of the Women's Professional League.

The selection of Meyers and Semyonova doubled the number of women in the Hall of Fame. The first two, Delta State great Lusia Harris and AAU star Nera White, were inducted last year.

Erving, the electric Dr. J, seemingly defied the laws of gravity with dramatic dunks that stamped him as a star, first in college at the University of Massacusetts and then in the old American Basketball Association. He was equipped with a dazzling assortment of moves that he brought to the NBA with the Philadelphia 76ers.

"It's very special," Erving said of his selection, recalling how he had not been expected to be a star until he grew 31/2 inches in college.

"That helped me out a lot. It prohibited me from ever taking anything for granted," Erving said.

After playing two years at UMass, Erving began a 16-year pro career with the Virginia Squires of the ABA in 1971. He was the league's MVP in 1974 and 1976 when he led the New York Nets to the ABA championship.

In 1976, Erving, one of three players in pro basketball history to score more than 30,000 career points, joined the 76ers. An 11-time NBA All-Star, he was named MVP in 1981 and led the 76ers to the 1983 NBA championship.

Walton, an All-American at UCLA and twice college basketball's Player of the Year, led the Bruins to two national championships and set a Final Four record when he hit 21 of 22 shots against Memphis State in 1973. He later helped Portland and Boston to NBA championships.

"I am very surprised," Walton said. "I loved every level of basketball from grade school on. It has been my life and I have had a fabulous time."

Like Erving, Walton left the NBA after the 1987 season.

When informed of his selection, McGuire thought of his brother Al, who was inducted into the Hall of Fame last year.

"He will be the one bringing me up the aisle," McGuire said.

Snyder frosh drop Abilene

Snyder's freshmen girls finished their basketball season Monday with a 42-32 victory over Abilene High.

Trish McGrew led the SHS girls with a 22-point effort. Adrienne Bailey scored six, Tami Tucker hit four, Sterling Cave had three and Jina Miller and Nicki Claborn each canned a basket for the Lady Tigers.

The SHS frosh, coached by Robin Turner, wind up their season with a 14-9 record.

NY run continues; Dallas falls in OT

by The Associated Press

Once again, Patrick Ewing came up big and Dallas came up short.

Ewing scored a season-high 40 points Monday night, including 10 in overtime, as the New York Knicks made Philadelphia their fifth straight victim, 120-115.

Ewing made 17 of 30 shots from the field and 6 of 7 at the foul line to top his previous high this season, 35 points against Phoenix on Jan. 18.

"Our defense was good and that is the reason we prevailed," Knicks coach Pat Riley said. "But the value of Patrick as a major threat is what we are all about. You have to go to your strength and live off that."

Dallas almost won its first road game of the season before falling to the Los Angeles Lakers in overtime, 108-100. The Mavericks, now 0-20 away from Reunion Arena, haven't won outside Dallas since their final road game last season at Denver.

"I thought we outplayed them for most of the game," said Derek Harper, who led the Mavs with 23 points. "We played tough and gave ourselves a chance to win it. That's all we can ask for."

In other NBA games, Utah beat Orlando 108-96 and Washington downed Houston 106-100.

Lakers 108, Mavericks 100, OT

At the Forum, Byron Scott scored 26 points and A.C. Green sparked a decisive 12-2 overtime run for the Lakers.

Green finished with 16 points after scoring six straight during the key run.

James Worthy scored 20 points and Sam Perkins added a career-high 17 rebounds for the Lakers.

Knicks 120, 76ers 115, OT

At Philadelphia, Greg Anthony had 17 points and 11 assists, and Anthony Mason added 15 points and a career-high 18 rebounds for New York.

Hersey Hawkins scored 26 points for the Sixers.

Jazz 108, Magic 96

At Salt Lake City, Karl Malone had 23 points and 14 rebounds, and Utah used a 13-1 run early in the fourth quarter to beat Orlando.

Jeff Malone scored 22 points and Tyrone Corbin, who made 10 of 12 shots, added 21 for the Jazz. John Stockton finished with 18 points and 15 assists for Utah.

Bullets 106, Rockets 100

At Houston, reserve forward Larry Stewart scored 21 points in 24 minutes as Washington defeated the Rockets.

Bowhunters name shoot winners

Snyder Bowhunters Association opened the year by hosting 32 shooters in its first monthly shoot of 1993 Sunday.

Winners included Malcolm Rainwater, who had the highest number of center kills in winning the Male Bowhunter Release Division, and Marshall Early, the winner in the Youth Open Division, even though he was shooting from the men's stake.

Adam Owen was the Mini-cubs winner, Randy Rainwater claimed top honors in Cubs, Daphene Thompson was tops in the Female Bowhunter Release, Mark Thompson was first in Male Compound Unaided competition, Eddie Rollins took first among Male Compound Aided entrants, and Dale Byrd won the Male Recurve Division.

The bowhunters' next activity will be a Thursday shoot at the club's new indoor range on the Lubbock Highway.

For more information, contact Rainwater at 573-0657, Byrd at 573-8088, Darryl Boone at 573-2851, Mark Thompson at 573-9063 or Dr. Jerry Early at Scurry County Veterinary Clinic and Bow Shop.

From The Family of Abraham Lopez

Perhaps you sent a lovely card
Or sat quietly in a chair.
Perhaps you sent a funeral spray,
If so we saw it there.
Perhaps you spoke the kindest words
As any friend could say.
Perhaps you were not there at all
Just thought of us that day.
Whatever you did to console our hearts,
We thank you so much whatever the part.

The family of Abraham Lopez would like to say a special thanks to: Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home, Tiny Vargas, Las Guadalupanas and those who brought food, the Church Choir, and especially Deacon Frank Ortegon and Fr. Pat Maher for the kind and thoughtful words. Thank you and God Bless You!

Clinton aims to link jobless workers with retraining plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton is proposing a face lift for the nation's unemployment insurance program that will line up retraining programs with jobless workers who most need them.

The plan — an advance component of the economic program Clinton will unveil Feb. 17 — came as the administration backed away from one controversial option, a one-year freeze in Social Security benefits.

"I think it's very unlikely it's something the president wants to do," White House spokesman George Stephanopoulos said Monday of the freeze in cost-of-living increases.

Earlier, Stephanopoulos had said the freeze was one of a number of deficit-reduction items on the table. Speculation that the White House might go ahead with such a plan drew outcries from senior citizens and some congressional Democrats.

Now seen as a more likely move is higher taxes on Social Security benefits received by the affluent elderly.

Meanwhile, Clinton said he was nearly finished with the portion of the economic plan that will provide short-term economic stimulus.

The president announced he will send Congress a bill to extend for seven months a program allowing unemployed workers who have exhausted their regular unemployment benefits to keep drawing them for 20 to 26 additional weeks.

The current program, already extended several times, expires March 6.

At the same time, Clinton said he was directing Labor Secretary Robert Reich to use the unemployment benefit system to "link structurally unemployed workers with the re-employment services they need to re-enter the work force."

the college has won a $50,000 grant from the West Central Texas Private Industry Council, through the West Central Texas Council of Governments, for a Summer Youth Employment and Training Program. The grant will allow 15 students to live on campus for six to nine weeks in the summer, attending special classes and working on campus or at non-profit sites in the afternoon.

In other non-business items Monday, board members heard pre-bid information concerning a green aerator for the golf course greens, an update on the new computer system and a brief progress report on an energy audit, planned to help reduce the college's energy bills.

Dr. Krenek also showed board members data from the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board indicating that average salares at WTC rank 43rd among 49 community colleges in Texas. The average salary at WTC is $29,808.

Board vice chairman John Fagin presided at Monday's meeting for John Gayle, who was absent. All other board members were present, to include Carolyn Barbee, R.C. Patton, Carl Williams, Bill Wilson Jr. and Jay Kidd.

Funds for prisons ok'd by committee

AUSTIN (AP) — A House committee has approved $250 million in emergency spending to build and operate new prisons.

Half the money would come from bonds, and half from the state's rainy day fund.

The proposed spending, which already has passed the Senate, was approved Monday by the House Appropriations Committee. It next will be considered by the full House.

The bill would cover building and operating prisons to house 10,000 more inmates, and pay counties $72 million for the cost of holding state prisoners.

There are about 53,000 inmates in Texas prisons, and 18,000 in county jails awaiting transfer to the state system.

The measure also would provide $38.8 million to fund community corrections programs, such as boot camps, in Harris County.

An additional $18.6 million would be set aside to pay federal court fines for overcrowding in Harris County Jail. An amendment by the Appropriations panel would provide that if that money isn't spent, it would go into the state general revenue fund.

Special envoy may be appointed soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Clinton is considering appointing a special envoy to work with international mediators and rival factions to try to end the war in Bosnia, administration officials say.

Still skeptical that the plan formulated by mediators Cyrus R. Vance and Lord Owen would work, senior presidential advisers were unable to devise a more promising process to end the fighting that has claimed more than 18,000 lives in the past 11 months in the former Yugoslav republic.

As a result of the three-week policy review, officials said Monday, Clinton was considering appointing a special envoy who would work with Vance, a former U.S. secretary of state, and with Owen, a former British foreign secretary.

The envoy would do "whatever it takes to get a plan that can be acceptable to the parties," and the goal was to "make it stick," said one official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Vance-Owen plan would establish 10 largely autonomous zones in Bosnia-Herzegovina and set terms for a cease-fire. Bosnian Serbs, who occupy about 70 percent of the country, and the Muslims, who account for more than 40 percent of the population, both turned down the zones arrangement last month and the Muslims also objected to the cease-fire conditions.

Muslim leaders said the plan would reward the Serbs for a campaign of "ethnic cleansing" that has outraged the United States and other Western democracies.

Secretary of State Warren Christopher met with Vance and Owen in New York a week ago and then openly questioned the plan's "feasibility" and "credibility."

Clinton also suggested Friday that the plan was unfair to the Muslims, who he had promised during his presidential campaign to assist in their war with Bosnian Serbs supported by regular Serbian army forces.

However, Christopher and other administration officials have been careful not to disparage the effort by Vance and Owen. They have said the United States supports the "process," if not the particular plan itself.

The administration has been unable to produce an alternative peace proposal. Instead, the officials said, the administration was inclined to cooperate with Vance and Owen through a special envoy. "We're going to have to come up with ideas that can work," one official said.

White House spokesman George Stephanopoulos said Monday that the review was nearly over and "we expect to have an announcement soon."

other local entities in an effort to obtain community support for the program.

Tommy Pate was to present a request to the court to exempt taxes for the Grace Bible Church, but the request was withdrawn prior to the meeting.

Members of the airport board requested to meet with the court this afternoon, followed by a discussion of Mize's status as airport manager.

There was speculation that Mize was to resign during last Monday's commissioner's court meeting, but Mize withdrew his request to address the court prior to the start of the meeting.

After learning that Mize had withdrawn his request, Precinct 2 Commissioner Roy Idom insisted that some action be taken on the matter. County Judge Bob Doolittle said no action could be taken by the court since the request was withdrawn.

Commissioners recently met in closed session with Mize and the airport's other full-time employee, Dewey Thames, to discuss personnel matters, including conflicts between Mize's sideline mechanic work and flying and his duties as airport manager.

An option to discuss the matter in closed session has been included on this afternoon's agenda, however, Idom said this morning that a closed session may not be necessary.

Present at this morning's meeting were Idom, Jerry Gannaway and C.D. Gray Jr., who presided in the absence of Doolittle. Precinct 1 Commissioner Ralph Trevey was absent, but was expected to be back for the afternoon meeting.

Try daily exercises for 'pot-belly'

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: By following a low-fat diet and exercising moderately (brisk daily walking), I am able to maintain a reasonably slim body. However, my belly protrudes and sags ridiculously. Not only is it unsightly, it's uncomfortable. What would be the best form of exercise for me? I should add that I had one Caesarean birth and a hysterectomy. Could either of these have contributed to the dilemma?

DEAR READER: Unfortunately, pregnancy stretches the abdominal muscles, which can lead to a protuberant belly as a woman ages. Also, abdominal surgery will exacerbate the problem because scar tissue tends to stretch and thin with age.

You can strengthen your abdominal muscles by performing two simple exercises: Sit-ups (with bent knees) will tighten the upper abdomen, leg lifts will condition the lower.

Remember, too, that most "middle-age bulge" is not caused by sagging muscles. Rather, as we age, we tend to deposit fat beneath the skin of the belly: this deposit exists irrespective of muscle tone.

If you are truly bothered by your "pot-belly" appearance, you might consider cosmetic surgery to remove unwanted tissue. A plastic surgeon can advise you. However, the exercises are cheaper, so you might want to try them first.

Should you decide to have surgical repair, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach to Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I recently discovered I'm allergic to a lot of food additives, especially MSG, that cause headaches and stomach pain. Do you have any literature or information regarding food additives?

DEAR READER: Food additives are ubiquitous in the American diet. People with allergies to these substances must carefully read labels, to avoid ingesting these chemicals, which can cause hives and difficulty breathing in susceptible individuals.

Remember that many preservatives containing sodium are related to monosodium glutamate, a flavor enhancer; therefore, an allergic person can have a reaction to these compounds, even if the food is free of MSG.

I suggest you write to the Allergy and Asthma Network, a voluntary health agency, at 3554 Chainbridge Road, Suite 200, Fairfax, VA 22030 or telephone them at (703) 385-4403 or 1-800-878-4403. When requesting information, please include a self-addressed, stamped (52 cents postage) envelope.

Military offers proposed cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military leaders say they are willing to retire an aging aircraft carrier and other weaponry, reduce their ranks and postpone some purchases in order to meet President Clinton's goal of slashing defense spending by another $10.8 billion next year.

Their recommendations were part of a package of suggested budget cuts delivered to Defense Secretary Les Aspin on Monday, said Pentagon officials who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Aspin told the military services and other top Pentagon agencies to come up with their suggestions for belt-tightening in preparation for a new Clinton spending plan.

The cuts are to come from a $267.8 billion military budget that former President Bush and his defense secretary, Dick Cheney, envisioned for the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

During the election campaign, Clinton proposed defense cuts of $60 billion beyond the $50 billion Bush had proposed over the same five-year period. Bush and Cheney maintained that their cuts were as close to the bone as possible without endangering the nation's security.

Sharper decreases in spending are expected in the years ahead, including more base closures. That is something Congress may have a hard time swallowing, one official said — "The real screams will be coming from the (Capitol) Hill."

The Navy's new recommendations include halting the overhaul of the aircraft carrier Forrestal, which is at the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard, and decommissioning the vessel.

The carrier is being transformed into a training ship. Its retirement would be a major blow to the Philadelphia area because the repair work is keeping the yard open, despite the fact it was targeted for closure by an independent federal panel.

SCS Notes

By Michael Squires
Range Conservationist

Urging all Americans to "share the heritage of living in harmony with out natural resources," actor Rodney A. Grant, who portrayed "Wind in His Hair" in the movie "Dances with Wolves," has recently joined with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service in a new public service campaign.

The campaign, titled Project Harmony, stresses the importance of protecting our soil and water resources. The centerpiece of the campaign is a public service announcement featuring Grant speaking in Piegan (the native language of the Blackfeet Nation) and donned in traditional native American clothing.

Viewers are urged to call 1-800-THE-SOIL to receive a free action packet which includes a poster of an oil painting of Grant on horseback, tip strips on ways urban residents can protect soil and water resources, a coloring book, a bumper sticker and volunteer information.

"Grant's message is that Native American Cultures have always understood the importance of living in harmony with the earth," Terry Hefner, district conservationist at Snyder, said. "And we can all learn from that land use ethic," she added.

The materials in the packet will educate and motivate city dwellers to look at ways they can be a part of our conservation effort, Hefner said.

"Traditionally, SCS has worked mostly with farmers and ranchers to get conservation off the ground," she said, "But to have long-term solutions to some of today's environmental problems begins out our own front door."

In addition, she said involving urban residents in the soil and water conservation movement at home can help those who have never been on a farm come to understand some of the isues involved in keeping the nation productive while maintaining harmony with the environment.

Anyone inerested in receiving an action packet can telephone 1-800-THE-SOIL.

Top steers find home at FW Zoo

FORT WORTH (AP) — Two championship steers have been spared from the dinner table and are settling into their new quarters at the Fort Worth Zoo.

It may take Fuzzy and Poncho, the show's grand champion steer and reserve champion, a while to get used to their new surroundings.

But, the Fort Worth Zoo sure beats the alternative.

"Typically the grand champion is processed for meat," said Mark Sellers, retail operations manager for Winn-Dixie's Texas and Oklahoma food stores.

Winn-Dixie paid a record $53,000 Saturday to a 17-year-old Lubbock boy for Fuzzy.

"The Fort Worth Zoo had shown an interest in the grand champion since the one champion was donated to them last year, so we did, too. We were happy to accommodate," Sellers said.

Poncho, who was donated after being bought for $21,000, also will be living at the zoo, said spokeswoman Jackie Ferguson.

"The steers have adjusted so well," she said, adding that the pair and a grand champion goat arrived Saturday afternoon.

RPCG meeting set Feb. 17 in Abilene

Rolling Plains Cotton Grower's annual meeting will be held Wednesday, Feb. 17, at the Taylor County Fairgrounds in Abilene.

The meeting is from 11 a.m. until 1:30 p.m. in the display building, south of the coliseum. The door will open at 10 a.m. for registration and coffee. Parking will be provided in the participant parking lot, entering through Gate 4.

Rolling Plains Cotton Growers is an organization of cotton producers working together to promote their products and make cotton production in the Rolling Plains more profitable. RPCG is certified by the USDA to represent producers throughout 29 counties.

The annual meeting is being held in conjunction with the First Annual Big Country Farm & Ranch Show. The farm show runs for two days, Feb. 17 and 18, and will have over 250 exhibits. There is also a Cotton Production Conference scheduled for 2 p.m., following RPCG's meeting.

All cotton producers, along with anyone interested in cotton, are invited to attend. There is no charge for the meeting or farm show.

There will be reports and discussions on important industry topics, ranging from boll weevil eradication to changes in Farm Policy.

Johnny Paul DeLoach, director of the Southeastern Boll Weevil Eradication Foundation, will explain how weevils were eradicated from most southeastern states. Roger Haldenby, coordinator of the High Plains boll weevil program, will discuss new technology in fighting weevils. RPCG officials will discuss eradication in the Rolling Plains.

There will also be discussions of some changes in Washington and Austin that will have an impact on agriculture. One of those important changes is the new EPA regulations that could impact all farmers.

Lunch will be provided by representatives from several associated industry representatives. Help is needed in planning for the meal. Those planning to attend should call the RPCG office at (915) 773-2581, or contact a gin manager, and let them know how many will be attending.

In May...

Ag firms encouraged to invest in Hungary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is looking for U.S. agribusiness firms to participate in a mission to Hungary in May. Potential U.S. investors should move quickly to take advantage of opportunities there, the department says.

Confidence in Hungary is strong among foreign investors at this time due to the country's history of economic reform over the past two decades, said John A. Miranda, acting administrator of USDA's Office of International Cooperation and Development.

"Due to Hungary's accelerated pace for privatization of state-owned enterprises, potential U.S. investors must act quickly to take advantage of the current investment opportunities in Hungary," said a department announcement.

Goals of the May 3-7 mission are to identify joint ventures that result in U.S. investment in Hungarian agribusiness, technology transfer and licensing arrangements, and increase opportunities for trade between the United States and Hungary.

"Through joint ventures and other business linkages with Hungarian companies, American firms would be in a stronger position to gain access to the European Community and to compete for the Eastern European and former Soviet markets," USDA said.

Foreign businesses invested $3 billion in Hungary in 1991, it said, over half of all foreign investment in Eastern Europe.

"Hungary is also an attractive, albeit small, export market for selected U.S. agricultural products because of its increasing purchasing power for higher-priced, high-quality food items," the department said.

It listed potential markets in pork, broiler, goose, turkey and dairy products processing, fruit and vegetable canning and freezing, fruit juices, flour milling, feed manufacturing and seed production.

Profiles of about 40 Hungarian companies visited by an investment evaluation mission last December are available from the department.

Funding for the May mission is provided by USDA's Foreign Agriculture Service but participants are responsible for their travel, lodging and per diem expenses.

U.S. firms interested in participating should call or submit a short letter of intent no later than April 2 stating their specific area of interest and company information to: Maria Nemeth-Ek, USDA-OICD, Room 3248-S, 14th and Independence Ave. SW, Washington, D.C. 20250-4300. THE IMPORTANCE OF FAMILY TO AMERICANS

Americans place strong emphasis on the family — but are they actually practicing what they preach?

Some experts believe that there's a huge gap between what Americans say about their family and what they actually do. People say that the family takes priority over everything, yet most people are concerned about what they're personally getting out of their marriages.

Traditional family relationships are in trouble. People are less likely to tolerate unsatisfactory marriages. About two out of three marriages that began this year are expected to end in divorce if current rates continue.

Although the importance people attach to marital happiness has increased, achieving marital happiness has become less likely.

Happy family life seems to be the key to overall happiness. But a poor marriage may be worse than no marriage at all.

The connection between strong family ties and overall happiness indicates that family should be more important than anything else. However, many Americans will sacrifice traditional family ties for activities they claim are less important.

Surveys indicate that ideas about the family are changing. Economic, technological and demographic trends contribute to the gap between professed family values and life choices.

The media also plays a role, emphasizing negative trends and events of American family life. People also are unwilling to admit that there are problems within their own families.

DIFFERENT TYPES OF MARRIAGES

All marriages are different, yet similar in their differences. There are three distinct types of marriages:

—The twins — Partners share the money making, home making and the friend making. Their lives intertwine in every way.

—The dual roles — One partner makes the money, the other makes the home. Each knows who does what in the partnership. They have different friends but a common interest — the home and family.

—The independents — Each partner lives his or her own life, sharing only what is mutually convenient, usually the home.

No type of marriage is necessarily better than the other because different arrangements may be best at different times in peoples lives. The key is that if the marriage changes, can the partners adapt.

Wallace named booster of year

Leland Wallace, president of the National Anxiety 4th Hereford Breeders Association, was awarded as "Booster of the Year" at the annual Texas Hereford Association business meeting at the Worthington Hotel in Fort Worth recently.

Wallace, of Big Spring, has served as president since 1982. He is also one of the charter members of the organization.

National Anxiety 3th Hereford Breeders Association hosted the Texas Junior Hereford Association Field Day last June 25-27 at the coliseum and ag complex. About 400 juniors, family members and friends attended the showing, judging and sale, as well as the lectures, banquet and other planned events.

The National Anxiety 5th Breeders Association will hold a sale in Snyder on Feb. 15 in the coliseum and annex.

Team finds fuel market

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Feed Grains Council says an ethanol trade team that recently traveled to Japan found a large potential market for the fuel.

The team met with Japan's Environmental Protection Agency, the Japanese Auto Research Institute and the Ministry of International Trade and Industry (MITI), the council said in a recent release.

Team members "learned that global warming is the primary problem to address in Japan, and are convinced that educating MITI on the benefits of ethanol over methanol will lead to the opening of a large, new market for the United States," it said.

NATIONAL BOY SCOUTS WEEK

FEBRUARY 7-13, 1993

History of Scouting in America:

One day in 1909 in London, an American visitor, William D. Boyce, lost his way in a dense fog. He stopped under a street lamp and tried to figure out where he was. A boy approached him and asked if he could be of help.

"You certainly can," said Boyce. He told the boy that he wanted to find a certain business office in the center of the city. "I'll take you there," said the boy.

When they got to the destination, Mr. Boyce reached into his pocket for a tip. But the boy stopped him. "No thank you, sir. I am a Scout. I won't take anything for helping."

"A Scout? And what might that be?" asked Boyce.

The boy told the American about himself and his brother Scouts. Boyce became very interested. After finishing his errand, he had the boy take him to the British Scouting office.

At the office, Boyce met Lord Robert Baden-Powell, the famous British general who had founded the Scouting movement in Great Britain. Boyce was so impressed with what he learned that he decided to bring Scouting home with him.

On February 8, 1910, Boyce and a group of outstanding leaders founded the Boy Scouts of America. From that day forth, Scouts have celebrated February 8 as the birthday of Scouting in the United States.

It is the mission of the Boy Scouts of America to serve others by helping to instill values in young people and in other ways prepare them to make ethical choices during their lifetime in achieving their full potential.

The values we strive to instill are based on those found in the Scout Oath and Law:

SCOUT OATH

On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country and to obey the Scout Law; to help others at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

SCOUT LAW

A Scout is:

Trustworthy
Loyal
Helpful
Friendly
Courteous
Kind
Obedient Cheerful
Thrifty
Brave
Clean
Reverent
