SOLON'S BRIBE TRIAL ENDS IN ROW

Cone Johnson Ignores Questions On 'Dry-Voting Wets'

SINCLAIR'S OWN STORY OF OIL DEAL UNTOLD

Oil Baron Closes Case In Conspiracy Trial Suddenly

TO JURY SATURDAY

Final Arguments to End Battle to Imprison Millionaire

WASHINGTON, April 19. (US)—The epochal Teapot Dome trial was virtually brought to a close today. Only the final arguments of the lawyers and the judge's instructions remain before the jury retires Saturday morning to decide whether or not Harry F. Sinclair, oil millionaire, conspired to defraud the nation of its naval oil lands.

The defense abruptly rested this morning with Sinclair's own story of the oil scandals still untold. The silence he has maintained since 1923, when the senate stirred up the investigation which resulted in the present trial, was unbroken.

Close Is Surprise.

A fortnight ago his lawyers declared he would take the stand. The law does not make such a course mandatory, however, and the government cannot remind the jurors of his failure to do so when the closing arguments are made tomorrow.

The abrupt closing of the defense somewhat surprised the government counsel.

Daniel T. Wright, Sinclair lawyer, had told the jury he would put witnesses on the stand to show that Albert B. Fall's New Mexico ranch properties, in which Sinclair claimed he purchased a one-third interest for $233,000, was an immensely valuable empire.

Had the defense done so, the government had a group of officials from the state and county governments ready to testify that the property actually was of little value and that the $233,000 of Liberty bonds which passed from Sinclair to Fall six weeks after the Teapot lease was signed was a consideration for the bartering away of the navy's oil lands.

To that extent the defense benefited by its brief presentation.

No Fall Evidence.

The much-advertised Fall deposition, which the defense had so laboriously taken at El Paso, Texas, after the jurors in the present case had been summoned and before they were sworn and locked up by Justice Bailey, was not put in evidence.

It had not been expected that Sinclair lawyers would attempt to read the Fall story to the jury. It was thought by most of the lawyers who read the deposition that Fall's cross-examination as set forth in the document, would have acted as a boomerang to the defense.

Likewise the government was unable to use C. C. Chase, Fall's son-in-law, as a star rebuttal witness.

The failure of the defense to put in evidence any testimony with reference to Sinclair's or Fall's version of the financial transactions which passed between the two eliminated the opportunity to use Chase as a witness.

Today's session was short and snappy.

Campaign Centers In West, Says Reed

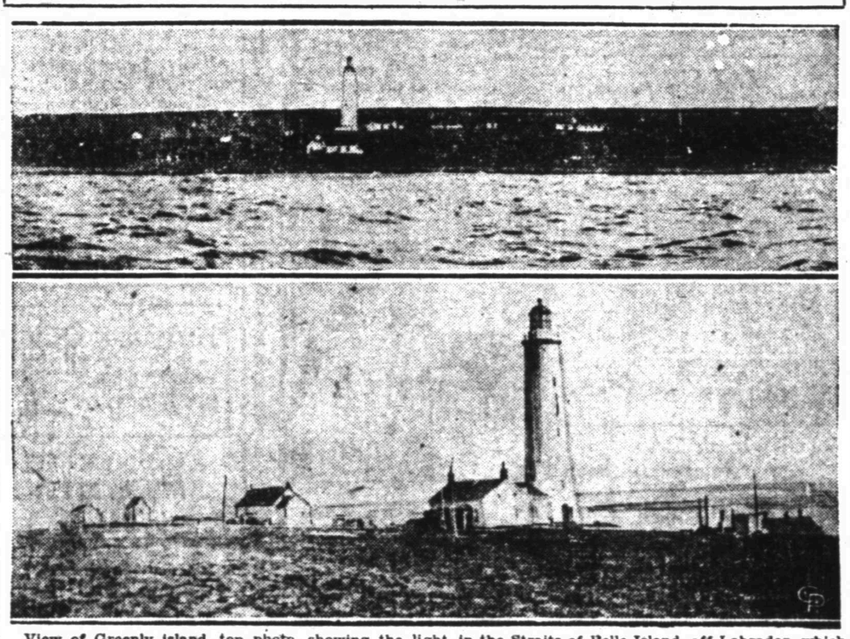

WASHINGTON, April 19. (AP)—Expressing a determination to carry on his fight for the Democratic presidential nomination to the end, Senator Reed of Missouri, on his return today from an extensive stumping tour, declared that the west is the battle ground for the coming campaign.

The Democrats, he said, can carry every state west of the Mississippi if they have the right nominee and the right kind of a platform, or, without them can lose all but three—Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas.

Reports from the Parent-Teacher associations were concluded with the following towns sending in a year book of work accomplished: Huff, Newcastle, Geraldine, Clara, Electra, Waggoner Ward and the Barwise rural school. City councils sending in reports were: Electra, Wichita Falls and Vernon.

The program was made up of speeches made by Dr. Austin F. Leach on "Pre-School," stressing the need of vaccination among children of pre-school age, and the importance of starting them in school with a perfect constitution; Mrs. Ira L. Cain, state juvenile protection chairman, who spoke on her work, and emphasized the importance of keeping salacious literature from the hands of the young; Mrs. Louise Warnken of Austin, from the bureau of child health in the state health department, whose address was based on the importance of teaching the child proper habits and in eliminating as many physical defects as possible in the school child.

The school orchestra from Crockett gave musical selections while the chorus from the Zundelowitz Junior high school sang chorus numbers. Mrs. E. E. Collard, organist of the First Baptist church, gave organ selections. Dr. Floyd Allan Bash, pastor of the First Christian church, gave the devotional.

Weather Man Liberal In Pawhuska Region

PAWHUSKA, Okla., April 19. (AP) The weather man opened his sample cases here today and gave demonstrations of virtually his entire line. Sleet fell early this morning and a cold rain followed. Then came hail and more rain. The sun came out for a few minutes, but clouds soon hid it and rain fell again before noon. The total moisture at noon had scarcely settled the dust.

Silence of Greenly Island Gives Way to New Activity of Repair Shop

GREENLY ISLAND, Via Point Amour, April 19. (US)—A new activity has invaded the stilly silence of Greenly Island, accustomed only to the tread of Lighthouse Keeper Letemplier and his family and to the yelps of the husky dogs which are the island's only beasts of burden. Greenly has become an iceclad repair shop.

On the small lake, some distance from the lighthouse, almost in the centre of the island, Captain Koehl with Doctor Louis Cuisinier and Eugene Thibault, of Canadian Transcontinental Airways, has commenced dismantling the Bremen's broken propeller and under carriage.

Koehl Whistles

A rude arrangement of supports has been erected to hold the plane's fuselage and wings while repairs are in progress. The pilot and his two assistants who remained behind when Fitzmaurice flew back to Murray Bay for replacement parts are busily clearing the scene for action immediately on arrival of the propellor and undercarriage which her crew hopes will enable the Bremen to fly away from Greenly Island to her original destination, Mitchel Field.

Koehl, cheerful and phlegmatic, goes about whistling. His beautiful machine will soon be able to take to the clouds again, so the stolid air-captain is happy again. He busies about the plane all day, superintending the joint efforts of Doctor Cuisinier, Thibault and himself, in the work of making ready for Fitzmaurice's return.

Interested visitors cross the ice from the mainland with their dog-sleds to watch the proceedings. Husky dogs snarl and snap at each other's heels. Koehl and his companions, engrossed in their job, pay no attention, but continue to work in what is now the most novel aircraft repair shop in the world.

QUAKES TEAR BROAD AREA

100,000 Homeless in Bulgaria District

SOFIA, Bulgaria, April 18. (AP)—A population numb with despair and fear was pictured tonight in reports from the Philippopolis district, visited last night by the second shattering earthquake within a week. Almost 100,000 persons are shelterless and more than two score are known to have lost their lives.

Their homes are in ruins, their possessions gone, their highways broken. Bridges have been destroyed and railway tracks twisted awry on rights of way that have sunk six feet in spots.

Hills Moved.

The changing face of nature shows whole hills moved and their contours altered. In places underground reservoirs have broken through and are spouting water and sand like minature geysers.

The dead are uncounted because of the interruptions to communication and the disorganization of local governments. But in Philippopolis there are serious conditions. In five villages near that city 27 persons were killed and scores injured. Savavo, seat of a school of agriculture and model farms, was destroyed.

Borrisovograd, which suffered severely in the previous quake, again was devastated.

In Philippopolis only the higher parts of the city are habitable. The other sections are crashed into ruin.

And the quakes continue. In some sections there have been tremors on an average of a half dozen to the hour.

King In Field.

The shocks have been felt regularly at Tchirpan, center of the heavy quake of last Saturday, but the devastation there has not been increased materially.

People throughout the stricken districts are in a state of deplorable destitution. Many have gone insane. Government and charitable agencies are trying to bring order out of the chaos and King Boris is in the field in person.

Dry Torch Bearer Gives His Views On Issues Of Campaign

Cone Johnson, torch bearer for the "constitutional" Democrats, cast no light on "dry voters and wet drinkers" in his address on "The Selection of Dry Delegates," at the court house Thursday night. Questions asked him by Joe B. Hatchitt, chairman of the Wichita County Democratic club, went unanswered, by even the echo silence gives back. They were ignored.

Three questions were propounded to Mr. Johnson Thursday through The Record News by Mr. Hatchitt, and the "constitutional" was asked to answer them in his address Thursday night.

Three Reasons

"Governor Smith is a Catholic. He does not know anything about the needs of the farmers of the West and South, but is tied up with Wall street. He is fighting prohibition." These three were reasons Mr. Johnson gave why Governor Smith should not be nominated for the presidency.

"I don't want to vote for a Catholic," he declared, "but that alone would be no overwhelming reason why I should not vote for Smith. In addition to being a Catholic he is fighting prohibition. No Catholic hand-in-hand with whiskey ever should reach the White House."

The "constitutional" here paused to mention as a possible candidate, a Catholic "who might be acceptable to Texas Democrats," Senator Walsh. The Montana senator was characterized by the speaker as "the greatest exposer of graft and corruption in the public eve."

Smith's Close Friends Now Speak Of Nominating Him by Acclamation

New Yorker Rides Crest of His Wave, Contrasting Sharply to Sordid Tammany Ancestry

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON, April 9. (UP)—What a week in the life of Al Smith! He wears his brown derby into North Carolina, protestants greet him as he comes out of Catholic services and hail him as the party's choice. State leaders desert their bitterly anti-Smith senators to pledge their support. In Washington many southern senators see no hope of blocking Smith and Senator Heflin must carry on the fight almost alone. Friends of Smith are so confident they are even talking of trying to nominate him by acclamation. In New York this modern graduate of Tammany Hall is offered to the country as a political galahad to destroy corruption.

Early Training

Cut back 30 years, see Smith, a lad barely old enough to vote, training in the political kindergarten of the crooked Croker. Smith is the protege of Big Tom Foley who runs a saloon a block from where Smith was born. He addresses post cards for the party, checks voters at the polls, carries a sack of coal or a basket of food to some family whose breadwinner is in jail. He is learning how Tammany votes are won.

Smith, whose strength is his personal integrity, becomes an even more amazing figure when we dig into his political ancestry. Just as he swings confidently toward the nomination the closet of that ancestry is opened and the skeletons come tumbling out. The unvarnished tale of that inheritance which is now Smith's greatest handicap has just been written by M. R. Werner, biographer of Barnum and Brigham Young.

His publishers, doubleday, Doran & Co., spared the blue pencil that he might "tell all." Not about Smith. He appears only toward the end as an incidental figure. It is his political genealogy.

Gas House Boy

The book stops with Charlie Murphy, the gas house boy, saloon porter, horse car driver, who became head of Tammany as Smith was climbing up the ladder, quit rich and discovered that more could be made for Tammany by dropping its ancient extortionate alliance with liquor, gambling and vice and concentrating on the possibilities of the age of big business, who believed more could be made by a legal contract than by petty blackmail—according to Mr. Werner.

That, we are told, is when Tammany cast aside the brown derby which Smith now wears to North Carolina, largely as a memento of the days that were, and which has made it possible for the present chief of Tammany to be a college man, respected by the "better element" which his predecessors so disdained.

SMITH GROUP CALLS MEETING

No "Dry" Available, Says Britain in Call

"There is no available dry candidate. The 'constitutional' Democrats and the 'harmony' Democrats are merely camouflaging. If we let them get too far off on the wrong foot, and if Texas doesn't vote its real sentiment, we will lose our voice in the nomination of Al Smith and also in the government under his administration which is sure to come."

This and other definite comments were made by A. H. Britain Thursday in issuing the call for the Al Smith for president meeting at an unnamed date next week.

Healthy Sentiment.

"There is a strong, healthy sentiment for Al Smith," he said. "I am confident he will carry every precinct and also in the election if we do not go to seed on prohibition.

"The fact a man is wet is no reason that he cannot or will not enforce the laws. Al Smith's administration has been a notably strong one in his state, and he has proved he will enforce the laws. A man who is a wet can enforce the dry laws better and more vigorously than a dry for he is better equipped. We do not want to be sidetracked by prohibition."

Camouflage Slapped.

The call issued by Mr. Britain reiterated faith and support to the Democratic party and to those things to which it has subscribed; it pledges enforcement of the constitution of the United States; it hits at "camouflage, hypocrisy and innuendo," and it calls for all supporters of Al Smith to band together at the coming meeting to fight for his election.

ARGUMENT ON PARDON LETTER CAUSES FUSS

Note to Mrs. Ferguson Center of Bitter Wrangle

DALE TAKES STAND

Ousted Lawmaker Denies He Offered to Take $1000 Bribe

AUSTIN, April 19. (AP)—Trial of F. A. Dale, erstwhile member of the house of representatives, accused of taking a $1000 bribe to get a tax bill killed in the 40th legislature, ended late Thursday with an argument over whether the jury should be allowed to see a letter to former Governor Miriam A. Ferguson seeking a pardon and denouncing the ku klux klan as having secured the unnamed prisoner's conviction.

Lawyers said the letter was written by H. H. Moore, Cooper farmer, who was expelled from the legislature and indicted with Dale. Special Prosecutor Will Hart wanted to show the leter to the jury to compare the handwriting in it with a note alleged to have been written by Moore, and which Moore, as a witness in Dale's case, denied writing. The note directed W. W. Chamberlin, Houston optometrist and state's accusing witness to Dale, to see about the tax bill, which would have levied $50 a year on stationary optometrists. The letter recommended a pardon by Mrs. Ferguson for someone whose name was not divulged.

Defense Objects

Defense counsel strenuously objected to having the letter shown to the jury and District Judge J. R. Hamilton took the question under advisement as he went out to prepare his charge.

Arguments in the case probably will begin Friday morning.

Dale took the stand Thursday and denied that he ever had offered to take $1000 from Chamberlin, as the latter testified, to get an unfavorable house committee report on the tax bill. Dale also denied that he told Chamberlin that parties supporting the bill had offered $750 for favorable action.

The legislator said Chamberlin had talked to him about the possibility of being cited for contempt before the house in connection with his lobbying activities for the Texas Optometry association and that he, Dale, understood the $1000 Chamberlin paid him was offered as a retainer fee for the legislator's services if the contempt action was brought up.

Tells of Arrest

Dale told of his arrest near a local hotel by State Ranger Captain Frank Hamer shortly after Chamberlin gave him the money, the lobbyist having tipped rangers in advance.

Dale related that he started to question Chamberlin about the $1000 when Ranger Hamer stepped up and arrested him. He got off the stand, showed the jury his movements, including the taking of the money, just before the arrest. He said Chamberlin pressed the money into his hand and said "Here is a retainer for your services."

There was no mention of money or division of money at the supper in Moore's room from which he and Chamberlin had just come, Dale testified.

Moore, against whom charges have been dismissed on account of "former jeopardy," went back on the stand and testified that no mention had been made of a retainer fee at the supper.

One of Dale's lawyers, S. F. Leslie of Bonham, said Thursday that the defense had no intention of putting itself in the position of admitting that Dale had "solicited a bribe," as reported from Wednesday's proceedings. When the question of what the law defines as a bribe came up Leslie was discussing it to the court to show the difference between soliciting a bribe and accepting one. He said Thursday that his position was that even if there was evidence that Dale solicited a bribe, that was entirely different from accepting one. To solicit one is not an offense under Texas law. His argument was that the state had not shown that an actual bribe was accepted, because Chamberlin admitted he did not expect Dale to keep the money.

Leslie said it was a "great injustice" to himself and Dale to be reported as admitting that Dale sought a bribe.

Appeared Sober

Ranger Captain Hamer went back on the stand and said Chamberlin did not appear to have been drinking on the night of the arrest, as Moore testified. Captain Tom Hickman, who aided in the arrests, also testified that he was close to Chamberlin and that the lobbyist was conducting himself normally and with no evidence of being under influence of liquor.

Dale testified that he got his first drink of cognac in Chamberlin's hotel room at one of the conferences between them leading up to the passage of the money.

"Beautiful World," Murmurs Charlie Birger Sadly Just Before Eight-Foot Drop to Eternity

BENTON, Ill., April 19. (US)—"It's a beautiful world." Charlie Birger said as he stood on the scaffold trap here this morning. "I don't want to die, but I've played the game and lost, so there's nothing else to do."

And with these words on his lips, the far famed gangster, who was going to his death with a curse for the world, dropped eight feet to his doom.

The hanging was not nearly so dramatic as had been expected. Birger smiled complacently as he left the cell for the scaffold. He strolled almost nonchalantly with two guards in front, two behind, and a rabbi by his side.

He stopped en route, and shook hands with one of his friends. He mounted the scaffold steps lightly, looked about him and murmured the words "beautiful world."

Phil Hanna, the hangman, stepped up to him and spoke a few words.

Birger pointed to a man in the crowd and said:

"Well goodbye Doc."

Hanna adjusted the black cap and the noose, stepped back and sprung the trap. Four minutes later Birger was dead. Benton's holiday was over.

Birger was convicted of complicity in the killing of Joe Adams, mayor of West City. Adams was a member of the Sheldon gang, arch enemies of Birger and his followers.

Birger never confessed his part in the crime, but in the early morning hours after a sleepless night, he soliloquized:

"I'm going to my death for something I didn't do. But I have committed other crimes, lots of them. So I guess the score is about even. But I hate to die. I hate to leave my kiddies. They don't know what it's all about now. But they will."

WISER CLEARED IN EXPLOSION

Hall, Owner Believed Innocent Victim

WEST PLAINS, Mo., April 19. (UP)—Reports that J. W. Wiser, who lost his life in the explosion that killed 39 persons here last Friday night, was responsible for the disastrous blast, were believed unfounded after it was learned today that burns on his face and hands resulted from the flash of the explosion and not from acid.

Charles Bohrer, foreman of the coroner's jury which is investigating the explosion and fire, said today it was proven that several patients in the hospital, victims of the fire, were recovering from burns similar to those Wiser had suffered.

The coroner's jury has adjourned until Monday morning when it will inspect the building where the explosion occurred. Wiser was the owner of the garage structure, scene of the holocaust.

BADGERS ESCAPE

Zoo Animals Return Under Deluge Of Water

Two badgers escaped from their cages in the Lions club municipal zoo and were recaptured Thursday by pouring water down the hole, it was learned from C. C. Bunnenberg, superintendent of parks. The animals are now back in their place, and precautions are being taken to keep them there.

Teasing and pestering the animals at the zoo by boys has resulted in the erection of a heavy railing around the animal cages, Mr. Bunnenberg said. This guard railing probably will be completed Friday.

An appeal to the parents of Wichita Falls to point out the necessity of kindness to animals, even to wild animals in a zoo, was made by Mr. Bunnenberg. "Everyone wants the zoo to grow to be a credit to Wichita Falls, and the help and cooperation of the whole city is needed," he said.

POWER HEAD SEEKS SUBSIDY

Trade Commission Gets Evidence of Propaganda

WASHINGTON, April 19. (US) An investigation of how money has been spent by the national lobby of the electric power trust against the Boulder Canyon Dam bill was today being prosecuted by the federal trade commission.

An annual expenditure of $1,000,000 for lobby, propaganda and other activities by the National Electric Light association, integral part of the lobby, is understood to have been uncovered by the commission.

The commission has begun an examination of the private documents and account of the joint committee of public utility associations and is understood to have located expenditures in excess of $450,000.

Resolution Opposed.

The joint committee is the official lobby organization of the Electric, Gas and Street Railway associations. Its purpose, as stated by former Senator Josiah T. Newcomb of New York, who is its guiding force, was to stop the Walsh resolution for investigation of the financial structure of the public utility corporations and to beat both the Muscle Shoals and Boulder Canyon dam bills.

The commission has in its possession an official copy of an address made by H. M. Aylesworth, managing director of the National Electric Light association, in which he urged the public utility corporations to subsidize college professors. In that speech, Aylesworth said:

Class Lectures.

"I would advise any manager who lives in a community where there is a college to get the professor of economics, let us say, interested in your problems.

"Have him lecture on your subjects to his classes. Once in a while it will pay you to take such men, who get $500 or $600 or $1000 a year, and give them a retainer of $100 or $200 a year for the privilege of letting you study and consult with them."

Johnson Flays Gov. Al Smtih

its platform unequivocal enforcement and support of the prohibition amendment to the constitution has no right to a place in the United States, the speaker declared.

"Lip Service"

"Uninstruction of delegates, as aimed at by the harmony Democrats," he continued, "merely is a lip service to prohibition. This bunch would declare for enforcement of prohibition and yet would nominate a man who is known to favor whiskey. If Al Smith is nominated I hope they will give him a plank in the platform which is dripping wet, consistent with his character.

"Prohibition is on trial and if the Democratic party does not stand up for it, then the party deserves to go down in death, never to rise again.

"The unspeakable corruption of the Republican administration," the speaker predicted, "will be an issue of the forthcoming national election campaign. And yet there are good, honest Democrats who would take the banner of cleanliness and put it in the hands of Tammany hall.

"Smith, Ritchie and Reed each is a saturated saloon. But Ritchie stands far above Smith and Reed. He is frank and honest in his opposition to prohibition and says that the prohibition law, if changed should be put up to the people and repealed in the same way it was made a part of the constitution.

Ritchie Lauded

"When Sinclair's name came to the fore in the Teapot Dome oil scandal, Ritchie had his name struck from the Maryland race tracks and his stables barred from participation. Governor Smith, on the other hand, continued to welcome the oil man with open arms.

"It has been said on the floors of congress, and has yet to be denied, that Sinclair contributed to the campaign fund of Governor Smith during two elections in New York state."

The placing of a pledge on the primary ballot binding the voters to follow the choice of the Houston convention was assailed by the "constitutional." Texans, he said, would be the only persons in the United States required to sign such a pledge at the precinct conventions.

"When has Texas broken faith with the Democratic party that her faith should be challenged so openly?" he asked. "The New York bunch have countlessly denied the Democratic party. They have never carried their state for the party except when the Republicans were divided.

Blames Politicians

"It is the politicians of the state who are demanding that the pledge be made by every person taking part in the precinct conventions. There were no politicians in Dallas when the constitutional dry Democrats, in answer to a call issued by a band of Wichita Falls men, met to begin a fight against the nomination of Governor Smith."

In conclusion the speaker urged his hearers to go to their precinct conventions and take part in the selection of delegates, signing the pledge, but disregarding it in the event Smith were nominated.

Mr. Johnson was introduced by W. J. Townsend as "the man Governor Moody selected to straighten out the tangle which was the state highway department." Judge B. D. Sartin presided at the meeting. The 78th district court room, where Mr. Johnson spoke, was crowded and scores were turned away from the door.

Fliers' Rescue Is Speeded Up

plane to cross the Atlantic from east to west, went forward from Quebec for Murray Bay over the wandering railroad which skirts the St. Lawrence river. The parts, hurriedly concentrated in Quebec today from Montreal, New York, and elsewhere, will be in Murray Bay Friday morning.

"Hellish" Stretch.

Then over the 15 miles of snowbound road to Lake St. Agnes airdrome they will be trucked in the morning, according to word from Major James Fitzmaurice, companion of the German aviator, Capt. Hermann Koehl and Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld on their transatlantic flight.

The stretch from Murray Bay to Lake St. Agnes airdrome has been described as "hellish" by correspondents who have made the difficult trip.

It was hoped that the spare parts would arrive at the airdrame in time for them to be loaded on a plane either late Friday or early Saturday. This may give the German fliers time to make the repairs and hop off for New York Sunday, according to Fitzmaurice's calculations.

Herta Junkers, blonde daughter of the builder of the Bremen, is in active charge of the rescue preparations and will superintend the loading of the parts onto a Ford plane at Murray Bay. She told the United Press she would not accompany the plane to Greenly Island.

"I must remain here to look after all these things," she said.

Fitzmaurice Anxious.

Meanwhile, Major Fitzmaurice, enjoying the new-found freedom which he has had since landing at Lake St. Agnes with Duke Schiller, is anxious that the rescue expedition reach Greenly Island as soon as possible.

TAX LIMIT

10 More Days to Make City Renditions, Hyer Says

There are only 10 more days to make city tax renditions on the ad valorem tax, according to an announcement made Thursday by W. R. Hyer, city tax collector.

"April 30 is the final day allowed by law," Mr. Hyer explained. "Those who do not file returns by that time will not be able to go before the board of equalization as those who file within the time limit. We hope that all taxes will be paid, or at least returns made by that time."

Kenneth Keith gave a reading, "A Close Finish,' and Mrs. P. M. Cordell, Mrs. Ray Wilhite, Mrs. C. H. Evans and Mrs. J. E. Stratton sang several quartets. Miss Elizabeth Cole played the piano accompaniment.

S-P LOSES IN UNION CASE

Injunction Against Road Made Permanent

HOUSTON, April 19. (AP)—Federal Judge J. C. Hutcheson in an opinion filed here late today in the Southern Pacific lines contempt case, ruled that the temporary injunction against the railroad's officers should be made permanent.

The railway act of 1926 was directly at issue in the case. On complaint of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, a union organization, H. M. Hull, executive vice-president of the Southern Pacific lines in Louisiana and Texas, and two of his assistants were held in contempt of court for using a so-called company union as the labor organization of more than 1000 of the railroad's clerks in the adjustment of a wage dispute. The brotherhood asserted it had been chosen by the clerks in a secret vote to represent them. Hearings were held at intervals for about a year. In August, 1927, Judge Hutcheson upheld the union's contentions and issued a temporary injunction. At a hearing early this year he threatened Lull and his associates with a jail term if they failed to desist using the so-called company union as the clerks' labor organization.

The case will be immediately appealed to the circuit court of appeals at New Orleans, J. H. Tallichet, attorney for the Southern Pacific lines, announced here today. He expected an adverse decision, he told the Associated Press, because, he said, the trend of Judge Hitcheson's previous rulings had been in that direction.

I'm not dancing-

It is only an unenlightened woman who still suffers painful periods. The old-fashioned girl who must "keep off her feet" has not learned of Midol.

Take a tiny tablet of Midol—and forget the time of month. Midol is not a narcotic. It does not interfere with the normal, necessary process of menstruation. But it stops the pain. It brings complete ease in five to seven minutes. And the woman who anticipates her time and takes Midol beforehand will have no pain at all.

Midol is the work of specialists. It is effective no matter how hard a time you've always had. Try it! All drug stores, in a slim aluminum case to tuck in purse, for 50 cents. —Adv.

Three-Year Educational Cruise Of Carnegie Scientists Begins May 1

Exploration Yacht Equipped to Study Magnetic Observations and Forms of Deep Sea Life

WASHINGTON, April 19. (UP)—The three-year, 100,000-mile cruise of the Carnegie is about to start.

On May 1 the non-magnetic exploration yacht of the Carnegie institution will slip its moorings in the Potomac river here and turn its nose eastward.

When the gold and white bow of the Carnegie turns again to its Potomac wharf one of the longest cruises in history will be over and every ocean of the world will have glimpsed the square sails of the wind jammer.

Romance and science will intermingle of the cruise. Unexplored ocean bottom will be chartered, marine life four miles under the surface will be studied, magnetic surveys will be made in every section of the world, wind and water currents observed and oceans tested for varying degrees of saltiness.

Scientific Equipment.

Where the winds blow, the Carnegie will go. From Washington to France, to Denmark, to Iceland, to Newfoundland, to Brazil, to Panama, to the south seas, New Zealand, Falkland islands, Argentine, Africa, India, the East Indies, Australia, Tristan Da Cuna, southern-most island south of Africa, Japan, Alaska and a few other places thrown in for good measure.

New scientific equipment has been installed. For the first time the Carnegie will carry a radio outfit. The navy has contributed a deep-sea sounding device which records depths by echoes. Intruments for the study of deep-sea life have been placed aboard in a special laboratory. Silken nets suspended on four miles of copper wire will be used to drag specimens from the bottom.

Ship Non-Magnetic.

The main object of the expedition will be to check variations in the earth's magnetic field. Previous expeditions have found serious differences existing in chartered ocean routes due to variations in magnetic influence.

As the ship is primarily intended for magnetic observations it has been constructed as nearly as possible of non-magnetic materials. The rigging is of hemp instead of steel wire. The anchors are of bronze and 11-inch manila hawsers take the place of iron anchor chains. Locust tree nails, copper and bronze bolts and composition spikes constitute the fastenings.

The auxiliary engine, located in the stern of the yacht as far away from the laboratories as possible, is composed mainly of bronze. Only the piston rings and valves are of steel.

The cook stove in the galley is of bronze and all utensils are of aluminum or copper. The cutlery is of Mexican silver.

Even the buttons of the crew's uniforms are of bronze or brass.

Seven scientists are included in the personnel of the Carnegie, headed by Captain J. P. Ault, of the department of terrestrial magnetism.

FLAPPER COOKS

College Senior Leads In "Back to the Kitchen" Movement

DALLAS, April 19.(UP)—"Back to the kitchen" is the watchword for what will be a nation-wide movement among the flappers, according to Dorothy Smith, senior student in Southern Methodist university. Miss Smith is the leader of the local movement to put flappers back in the kitchens.

"Nearly all of the young girls in college are interested in our 'back to the kitchen' plan," Miss Smith said, "but we all want the kind of kitchens that are worth going back to.

"I don't see why the kitchen shouldn't have a color scheme, same as a living room. You spend a lot of time in it, why not have it artistic and pleasant?"

Modern kitchens should be jade and crimson and white, according to Miss Smith. The stoves should be of gay enamel and the pots and pans carry out the color plan.

Rap of Gavel Halts Attempt to Revive "Black List" Discussion in Convention

WASHINGTON, April 19. (UP)—A gavel in the hands of Mrs. Alfred J. Brousseau, president general, prevented the so-called speakers' "black list" from being discussed at the D. A. R. convention today.

Mrs. Eleanor Roy, delegate from Fort Scott, Kan., attempted to introduce the subject as well as question the society's support of the "big navy" program.

As she started to speak, Mrs. Brousseau rapped her gavel and refused to recognize her.

Mrs. Roy accepted the ruling of the president general on the agreement that she would be permitted to appear before the resolutions committee Friday.

Following the incident, Mrs. William Sherman Walker, chairman of the D. A. R. national defense committee, submitted her report in support of the "big navy" program.

Texas Professor Urges Abolition of Charity

BATON ROUGE, La., April 19. (AP)—The most intelligent form of charity is the abolition of charity through the principle of prevention was the conclusion reached by Dr. Max S. Handman, professor of economics at the University of Texas in his address today at the opening session of the Louisiana state conference for social betterment being held at Louisiana State university.

Dorothy Dix, Highest Paid Woman Writer, A Daily Woman's Page Feature

All This Blooey About Spanking Has Come Just 18 Years Too Late

"From All Over This Land of the Free and Home of the Down-Trodden Parent Have Come Letters Testifying to the Value of Spanking as a Solution of the Wild, Modern Daughter Problem," Says Dorothy Dix—"Only They're Spanking 18 Years Too Late!"

It would seem that other means of grace having failed with the flappers the mothers of the country are returning to the hairbrush and the slipper as a means of regeneration.

The newspapers have recently contained an account of a Kansas City woman who chastised her 18-year-old daughter and who was hailed into court on the complaint of the girl and fined $100, which she refused to pay in order to indicate a mother's right to spank her children when and where and as often as necessity demands.

That is one straw which shows which way the wind is beginning to blow. Another straw is this: A few weeks ago I printed in this column a letter from a mother who said that she had a young daughter who was going wild. The girl was out at all hours of the night, going God knows where with God knows whom and coming home at 3 or 4 o'clock in the morning well lit up. The mother's heart was broken at seeing her beloved child's feet "take hold on hell," as the Bible dramatically puts it.

She talked to the girl, trying to make her see where the path she had elected to tread leads. She appealed to her affection. She wept over her daughter and prayed over her. All in vain. The headstrong girl, obsessed by her desire for a good time, refused to listen to her mother's entreaties and went her own swift gait.

Finally, the mother said, at the end of these scenes in which she had remonstrated with her daughter and the girl had mocked her and defied her, just as she was turning away, defeated and despairing, her eye fell on a heavy hairbrush on the dressing table. Inspiration came to her as to how to deal with the situation. She took the girl across her maternal lap and administered a thorough and conscientious spanking that had in it the principal and accrued interest of nineteen years of spanking that were overdue.

The effect, according to the mother, was magical. Instead of keeping her date at a roadhouse the girl spent the evening in bed in tears and perhaps in sane reflection on whither are we going. At any rate, ever since then her mother has had no trouble with her. She comes home from places of amusement at a reasonable hour. She has cut out the petting and the smoking and drinking, and there is a notable improvement in the company she keeps.

Nor did this evangelistic woman's good work end with the salvation of her own daughter. About the same time a niece came to make a visit, and she, also, was one of the Shebas addicted to night life and hitting the high spots, and she likewise turned a deaf ear to aunt's counsel. But aunt, knowing from experience the futility of words and the efficacy of the hairbrush, wasted no arguments upon her, but administered a spanking that turned her attention from the error of her ways and converted her into a nice, sweet, biddable girl.

As I said, I published the story of this mother's crusade with the hairbrush, and, take it from me, it has started something. Evidently her suggestion filled a long-felt want, for from all over this land of the free child and home of the down-trodden parent have come letters by the score from desperate mothers and fathers saying that they have found that the real solution of the problem: "What shall we do with our recalcitrant daughters?" is a good spanking. They have tried it and it works.

One woman writes me that in her town they have formed a club of 25 mothers that they call the Spanking club, and that they, one and all, tried out the hairbrush on little pert daughters who defied them and disobeyed them and were impudent to them and who generally dared their parents to interfere with them in any way. And, according to my correspondent, there were never so many girls who were converted to righteousness in the same space of time. It is a changed community, with different customs, habits, hours for social relaxation and a different moral atmosphere.

"And the best of it all is," writes this woman, "that instead of our daughters resenting the spanking and being angry at us, they are more affectionate and considerate, and for the first time in their lives they really respect us."

So that's that. And the proof of the pudding is in the eating.

Personally, I have never been an ardent advocate of corporal punishment, but I am open to conviction on any subject. But if the only way you can reach the finer feelings of a flapper is with a hairbrush, then that is the instrument to use, and more power to mother's good right arm when Gladys and Ethelinda come staggering home with the milkman, bleary of eye and smelling of bootleg hooch.

Of course it is shocking to think of mother having to spank her lovely young daughter, but it is also shocking to think of a lovely young girl telling mother that she will go where she pleases, with whom she pleases and she will do as she pleases, and that if she pleases to go on wild parties and get drunk it is none of mother's business and she can just shut up about it.

Yet that is exactly what happens, and what is mother to do about it? When daughter mocks at mother's authority, when she calls mother a back number and tells her where she gets off, is mother to sit home and weep and ring her hands impotently, or shall she use force? Shall parents make the fear of punishment a means of corralling their willful children into the straight and narrow path, as the law holds the fear of prison and the gallows over the heads of the potential thief and murderer?

Undoubtedly it is the laxity of parents that is responsible for the excesses of the younger generation. Children have not been taught to respect their parents. Obedience is a lost art.

From the time they are born Tommy and Susie run the family, and by the time they are 18 or 19 they naturally have a contempt for the two poor simps they have always bossed. And, of course, they are beyond control and recognize no law except themselves.

And queerly enough the children don't like that. In their hearts they know they are immature, ignorant, uncertain of their own judgment, and they want somebody strong to lean on, somebody wise to direct them, a firm hand to hold them in check. They are glad to be made to behave, and their reaction to authority is that of the fretful, whining, peevish baby that some benevolent person spanks and immediately turns into an angel child.

But the trouble with spanking an 18-year-old girl is that it is 18 years too late. If it had been done in the cradle, it would not be necessary later on.

Texas Mother Proves Claim

Children don't ordinarily take medicines but here's one that all of them love. Perhaps it shouldn't be called a medicine at all. It's more like a rich, concentrated food. It's pure, wholesome, sweet to the taste and sweet in your child's little stomach. It builds up and strengthens weak, puny, underweight children, makes them eat heartily, brings the roses back to their cheeks, makes them playful, energetic, full of life. And no bilious, headachy, constipated, feverish, fretful baby or child ever failed to respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup on their little bowels. It starts lazy bowels quick, cleans them out thoroughly, tones and strengthens them so they continue to act normally of their own accord.

Millions of mothers know about California Fig Syrup from experience. A Texas mother, Mrs. J. G. Moore, 119 Cliff avenue, San Antonio, says: "California Fig Syrup is certainly all that's claimed for it. I have proved that with my little Dorothy. She was a bottle baby and very delicate. Her bowels were weak. I started her on Fig Syrup when she was a few months old and it regulated her quick. I have used it with her ever since for colds and every little set back and her wonderful condition tells better than words how it helps."

Don't be imposed on. See that the Fig Syrup you buy bears the name "California" so you'll get the genuine, famous for 50 years.—Adv.

MODISH MITZI — By Jay V. Jay

The Goofer is waiting—waiting for Mitzi he tells Marie. Not that the Goofer is complaining, he's used to it. The Goofer has infinite patience but Marie would like to see it rewarded. The Goofer, without prompting, says he likes her new coat—a copy of a Paquin model. She'll find Mitzi——

Marie's ensemble suit has a printed silk dress to it with a double bolero line to the blouse. The skirt flares but even this recent purchase does not make her forget that the Goofer is waiting and Mitzi, perhaps, is making him wait for no better reason than powdering her nose.

Well, it was for a better reason than that. Mitzi was trying on a new evening gown, with a low decolletage and a clinging molded line. When Marie informed Mitzi of the Goofer's patient waiting Mitzi only replied: "Poor dear, tell him I'm awfully busy and he'd better not wait."

Marie thinks Mitzi is very hard hearted. If it came to a choice between seeing a new evening gown and the Goofer she knows what she'd choose! The Goofer says he doesn't mind waiting a bit—in fact, now that she is there he thinks it's very jolly. So chivalrous. So noble. So perfectly sweet of him.

LINDA -:- A Love Mystery of Collegiate Life

By Virginia Swain.

The flashlight went out when it struck the floor. It continued to roll across the narrow balcony, between the posts of the balustrade. Then it hurtled off into the black depths of the well below. Linda, waiting rigid for the crash, trembled and went cold when she heard it strike the floor far below.

There was a scrambling in the dark hall, as though the man who had entered were shaking his clothing free of the glass particles from the broken window. Then she heard his heavy, uncertain steps across the hall. There was a silence before his hoarse laugh rang out. Clutching the railing, the girl peered down.

Doyle Hoskins was standing in the lower hall, the flashlight turned on his own face. The red of his hair and his eyes was vivid in the circle of white light.

Linda's nails bit into the wood of the railing. She hung there motionless.

The man was laughing softly now, twisting the flashlight in his hands, as though it were a choice tidbit. At last he swung the light off his own face and turned it toward the stairs. The circle of light climbed a zigzag path up the lower stairs, across the first balcony, up the second flight.

Watching it in horror and fascination, Linda started as though a blow had struck her when the dazzling circle fell upon her.

"Ha, ha, ho!" laughed the invisible man below. He made the circle of light run from her head to her feet and back again. Linda let go of the rail and flung her hands over her face.

He had started up the stairs. He was panting and lurching from step to step and cursing under his breath, thickly.

Linda whirled about. There was no way of escape. The descending flight was blocked by his approach. Above, the stairs circled into shadow, ending beneath that dingy, snow-packed skylight. They offered no hope.

Linda could hear Doyle's footsteps quickening, his breath growing louder. She darted toward the first of the three doors before her and slipped inside it.

He reached the balcony outside, stopped and swore more violently. Then she heard his methodical steps coming nearer to the door. The knob turned with a squeak, and Linda shrieked aloud.

He swung the door back, and again the merciless spotlight played over her. "Well, well!" he hiccoughed. "I knew you'd wait, little sweetheart. Come to papa." He stretched out his arms and leaned toward her.

Linda shuddered away from the gross, soft body, and the gross, soft words. But he took a step forward, caught his balance and made a rush for her. Linda was caught between his broad shoulders and the wall. His wet lips fastened and clung upon her neck. His hands, fumbling around her waist, caught the folds of the furcoat and flung it back. He drew her face against his mouth and held it.

For the second time the flashlight fell with a loud report and rolled away. Under the smother of his kisses, Linda was beaten and wrenched by waves of sick disgust. He crushed her closer, blotted out air and sight by his hot face.

In another moment she would strangle, if she did not die of horror. Linda tore her shoulders free of him and threw all her strength into one blow.

The fist she shot at his face had not much force behind it, but her diamond ring, clipping his chin, cut a neat groove across his cheek. He reeled away from her, clapped his hand to the bleeding cheek, and swore, softly, filthily, in the accents of a man sobered at last by rage.

He reached a hand, dripping blood, to seize her. But Linda slipped from beneath it and sprang toward the door. He was at her heels, blocking her way to the descending flight. She turned and rushed toward the upper stairs, sobbing aloud with the agony of breathing. Her feet found the steps and flew up through shadows, past the doors on the next balcony, toward that nook under the skylight where the last desperate fight must end.

The man was following. Once she turned and saw him, smeared with flood, pulling himself around the corner of the balustrade. "You—!" he roared, but the epithet was choked in his throat.

With a spasm of new terror, she rushed on. The platform of the top balcony was on a level with her eyes now—now sinking, dropping waist-high, knee-high — she was standing on it!

In front there were no doors—just as there had been no doors on the afternoon when the unknown man had faded from her sight on this very spot.

The sudden end of her flight flung her back against the wall, hands outspread, her whole body straining for breath. She closed her eyes.

But it was only for a second. When she opened them, in the blank wall ahead a square dark opening yawned. Doyle was rounding the last flight of stairs now, almost within touch.

She flung one glance back at him and darted into the black hole in the wall. A hinge grated behind her. She was standing alone, in darkness. Not a sound reached her from the balcony outside.

What Dr. Caldwell Learned in 47 Years Practice

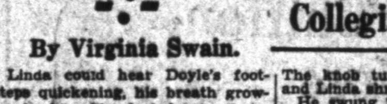

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time regardless of how much one tries to avoid it. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound, it can not harm the most delicate system and is not a habit forming preparation. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it. It does not gripe. Thousands of mothers have written us to that effect.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when a medicine like Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly, more cleanly and gently, without griping and harm to the system.

Keep free from constipation! It robs your strength, hardens your arteries and brings on premature old age. Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to a druggist and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Take the proper dose that night and by morning you will feel like a different person. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and cramp stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Always have a bottle in the house, and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is worth to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.—Adv.

P.-T. A. Conference Nominates Officers for 13th District

member of the College of Industrial Arts, giving an address on "The Three Warnings," and J. H. Allison discussing the subject, "Publicity."

Vocational Training

In issuing his three warnings to parents of children of school age, Mr. Stoker said, first, that the fostering of vocational training to its present large scope has a tendency to make for carelessness in preparation. He said that children are taught that if they fail at whatever vocation that has been chosen, that they have been fitted into the wrong niche. The young person will then fail to see the real cause for their failure, which is often lack of determination and hard work.

The second warning was that vocational training tends to lay too much stress on what the individual can do and not enough on what he is, the speaker said. The cultural values are likely to be overlooked in the struggle for vocational supremacy.

The last warning was that in reducing the teaching program to the objective things, the educators are likely to foster a substitution of "cockiness" for character. The student may think that the old learning is worthless and that armed with a type of vocational excellence, he may be free to run roughshod through any amount of criticism with no idea of checking up on himself.

Works With Press

Mr. Allison explained the operation of a newspaper in order that the various organizations of the city may learn better co-operation with the press. He stressed the importance of understanding something of the exigency of the press preparatory to handling publicity for Parent-Teacher associations and other organizations dependent upon publicity for their best work.

He outlined the three departments of a newspaper, the mechanical, the editorial and the business departments, explaining briefly the work of each. He gave instructions for writing suitable newspaper copy and explained some of the common terms in newspaper words.

In conclusion, Mr. Allison expressed the desire of the press for complete co-operation with worthwhile organizations.

Other numbers on the program were: A group of songs by a chorus from the Alamo school, devotional by Dr. S. S. McKenney, pastor of the First Methodist church, South, and musical selections by the orchestra from the Austin school.

Mrs. Charles H. Woodson had charge of the session.

Mrs. Stephen Chamness, Austin state executive secretary, featured the program of the Thursday session of the 13th district of Texas Parent-Teacher associations.

Mrs. Chamness spoke on "My Office," the office of state executive secretary, and gave information concerning the P.-T. A. work being carried on at the state capitol. She gave delegates instructions on the matter of sending in news notes on P.-T. A. work and stressed the importance of Parent-Teacher association magazines and leaflets.

In outlining the development of the state Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations, Mrs. Chamness told of the beginning with a desk in the state capitol to the work of today with a room on the second floor of the capitol building, and the three women who had charge of the state office work. The new room is the result of a decision reached Wednesday by the board of control which has realized that the work is worthy of special attention.

Mrs. Chamness announced the coming election of Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs of Austin, state P.-T. A. secretary, to the office of national president of the Parent-Teacher movement, which is slated to take place at the national convention of P.-T. A in Cleveland, Ohio May 17 to 21, inclusive.

The Thursday morning session was presided over by Mrs. T. H. Lawson. Other numbers on the program were devotional by Rev. Alvin White, pastor of the Grace Methodist church; mass singing led by Mrs. Fred Barron; call for conference by Mrs. Charles H. Woodson, state director of organization; reports from the following P.-T. A. organizations in the district: Henrietta given by Mrs. J. H. Williamson; Megargel given by Mrs. C. W. Cullers; Petrolia given by Mrs. F. D. Posey; Iowa Park given by Mrs. Howell; and reports sent in or read from the following associations: Burkburnett, Vernon, Nocona, Jacksboro, Fairview, Valley View and Olney.

The nominating committee included the following members: Mesdames Ira L. Cain of Wichita Falls, Date Anderson of Haskell, F. D. Posey of Petrolia, and George Mathewson of Wilbarger.

Other numbers on the program were: Cornet solos by Leo M. Underwood, accompanied on the piano by Miss Frances Wise; and a folk dance by a group of children from the Bowie school.

A social hour was observed at noon Thursday by the visiting and local delegates when a luncheon was given at the Forum club house by the chamber of commerce. Raymond Myers, speaking for that organization, welcomed the visitors to the city.

Mrs. Claude B. Woods, general chairman of arrangements, presided and introduced the state and district officers.

Mrs. Ira L. Cain said the invocation. She also introduced a group of local women who have been working in the interest of the convention: Mesdames C. C. Jones Jr., H. J. Strief, C. E. Bailey, R. P. Willis, John M. Fox, W. A. McGee, O. H. Karr, Harry ten Brink, and S. A. Covington.

Mrs. Fred Barron was in charge of the program which included a group of Scotch numbers by Joel H. MacGregor, who sang "She's the Lass for Me," "It's Nice to Get Up in the Morning," and "Roamin' In the Gloamin'," with piano accompaniment by Mrs. M. P. Albritton. Mrs. John B. Rhea read two numbers, "Apple Blossoms," and "A Man's a Man for A' That." Miss Olive Humphrey danced the Highland Fling and the Sword dance, with the piano accompaniment played by Mrs. F. R. Collard.

Forum Department Holds Year's Last Meeting Thursday

The concluding departmental meeting of the Womans Forum was observed Thursday afternoon by the health and home department, with a program featuring three speakers on the value of music, literature and homemaking in the modern American home.

Mrs. Guy Rogers discussed the subject "Arrangements that will encourage reading in the home," stressing the importance of example in influencing children to develop a reading habit.

The speaker also contrasted the library in the average home of yesterday, and the modern day library, explaining that today the library is formed with an idea toward use and not to lend an uncertain cultural atmosphere to the home. She also enumerated a few pieces of furniture that would encourage home reading among both adults and children.

"Musical training is rich in emotional content and for that reason should be placed in the every day schedule of the child," believes Miss Minnie Baker, supervisor of music in the Reagan junior high school, who spoke on the subject, "Influence of music in the home," as the second speaker on the day's program.

"The rightful place of music in the life of the individual has been retarded by the perverted ideas that persons have had concerning its rightful place in the scheme of things."

A person may be taught to be a good listener in music, thereby increasing his ability to enjoy a full life, the speaker pointed out, for a person need not be a performer in order to be a musician.

Educators have at length afforded music its rightful place in the school curriculum, and the needs of the child to develop his musical taste as an aid in social life has been fully realized of recent years, Miss Baker concluded.

Mrs. Arch Dawson spoke on "The Modern Home Maker" and emphasized the place that home making occupies among the worthwhile occupations of the feminine field. She contrasted the present day conception of the status of housekeeping with that accorded that branch of work some time past.

Mrs. R. H. Peterson was in charge of arrangements for the meeting and the following ladies were hostesses: Mesdames W. W. Cook, E. W. Nicholson, L. E. O'Leary, G. R. Pate, A. R. Prodhro, J. E. H. Railey, G. D. Rigsby, R. O. White, Frank White, H. C. Donohoo and C. H. Evans.

Tea was served following the program.

Ramblin'

with Marie Theresa

MORE straw hats worn by men . . . the first evidence that nose veils will again be worn by women this spring, we counted two before breakfast Thursday morning . . . pencils are being served delegates at the P.-T. A. district convention, that's something . . . Woman's forum members returned from the district convention in Weatherford . . . spring coming out again after a few days of winter . . . tulips succumbing to the hot sun, or was it frost? . . . office force planning various and extensive fishing trips and picnics . . . everybody coming out for a few hours' relief from too much sudden heat.

MARIE THERESA hasn't fathomed the reason for a woman's wearing a tan hat, a dress with tan trim, and completing the otherwise effective costume with a pair of gray hose. Have you?

THE 13th district organization conference now being held here is occasioning a great deal of comment and interest among P.-T. A. workers and those who visit the sessions being held at the First Christian church.

The most enthusiastically received bit of news given forth at the conference meetings has to do with the coming installation of Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs of Austin as president of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher associations which will take place in Cleveland, Ohio, at the national conference of P.-T. A. held there May 17 to 21, inclusive.

Although the election is not yet established, there is only one nominee to that office. Mrs. Marrs has been a diligent worker in Parent-Teacher life for several years, and has been greatly instrumental in bringing the organization in Texas up to its present plane of usefulness.

Beginning work with the organization years ago when little attention was paid to it and a desk was given them in the state capitol at Austin more as a matter of tolerance than through a realization of its worth, Mrs. Marrs has aided greatly in making the organization a necessary one, in carrying out the work of the teacher and the responsibility of the parent.

THIS column has heard of five babies observing the coming of the spring time by running away—and the queer thing is that not one of 'em was a little girl. There must be something inherent in a young man's fancy turning to romance in the spring, and these fellows are getting an early start.

EVERYBODY must have his troubles. Marie Theresa witnessed a struggle between the kitchen force and a departmental meeting at the Woman's forum Thursday afternoon. The kitchen help was trying to clean up the dishes left from feeding more than 200 persons at luncheon while the health and home department was figuring out the various problems of making home a pleasurable place, just next door. Finally the dish washing had to be silenced.

THIS windy weather makes me feel a kindred spirit to the janitor out at the Woman's forum who, when asked what part he contributed to the general scheme of things, said, "Miss, I does mo' work 'n airy three."

MOST Americans at home are a conversational failure, thus reasoned one of the speakers heard recently at the Woman's forum. There is a scarcity of conversation in the home during the evening. The modern inventions of radio and phonographs as well as the many evenings spent in playing bridge or at the movies, have brought this about. The child who has been talked to a great deal by his parents and who has thus been taught to express himself, is easily discernible by his faculty of self expression and his easy conversational grace.

I HAVE located a person who has never before run across barbecue and who has run up considerable enthusiasm since she has found out what it is.

Easy HOUSEKEEPING

By Mrs. Meg MacGregor, Director of Household Science

Washing made easy

—Clothes sterilized too

I am sure many a woman will smile as she reads my headline. And it does seem a pretty big claim. But I made my own washing much easier just by adding Clorox. Now my laundry not only gets done more quickly, but it has a professional whiteness of which I am immensely proud.

Clorox is white magic in a bottle! A magic that makes boiling or soaking unnecessary; a magic that disinfects and deodorises too, just by being present in the water!

For washing machine or tubs

Don't imagine that if you use Clorox you must change your own careful washing ways, or give up your pet soap. Wash in either a machine or tub and add Clorox—a tablespoonful to a gallon of water—to the first rinse. Your clothes will hang out on the line the whitest in the neighborhood.

Removing stains

Nearly every hamper of soiled clothes holds a piece or two so badly stained you dread tackling them. But if the fabric is white cotton or linen you need not worry. Every kind of a stain from tea to dyes—including mildew and scorched spots—will disappear under the renewing powers of Clorox.

It's good for your hands

Many women tell me that they are afraid that Clorox will hurt their hands. On the contrary it disinfects cuts; removes dye, fruit and vegetable stains; whitens the skin and softens callouses. To dispel any remaining odor just wash your hands in hot water and soap, and dust with talcum.

Your special needs

Perhaps I have not touched on your special needs and I do so want to help you. So write to me. I shall be glad to answer your letters.

Paint Your Farm Buildings

It is very expensive to let your farm buildings and implements go without a protective coating of paint. As soon as they are exposed to the weather, rot and rust will set in, and in a short time what was once a valuable property becomes a shameful wreck.

The farmers of today realize this and are taking steps to keep their buildings and implements well painted.

ACME QUALITY Paint-Varnish-Lacquer

The paint that protects and preserves farm buildings is Acme Quality Barn Paint. Acme Quality Wagon and Implement Paint is what we recommend for use on wagons and implements.

Barns and implements that are painted with these paints stand out with that individual, lasting appearance which is characteristic of Acme Quality Products.

Pot Shots at Politics by Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald

CONE JOHNSON'S DEMANDS

There has been no change in the Love-Hicks-Johnson program. They demand, as they did at the start, instructions against Reed, Smith, and Ritchie and all other democratic presidential possibilities who have not been anointed with the holy oil of bossism by the little bosses of Texas democracy in the years that have fled. Cone Johnson has been put forward as the spokesman. He demands instructions against all democrats blacklisted by Boss Love and, no doubt, the naming of Love-Hicks-Johnson hand-picked delegates at Beaumont to represent Texas in the national convention that will name a standard bearer and adopt a platform.

WHO SNIPPED IN 1896?

It is an unheard of thing for the democrats of a state to declare against presidential possibilities, tie the hands of their delegates and arrange for a bolt if possible before the national council of their party has adopted a platform and named its standard bearer. William Jennings Bryan was an idol of the democratic party of Texas. He was the presidential standard bearer in 1896. Now, who was the Democratic leader who snipped the Bryan electors from his ticket and bolted the prince of peace as standard bearer of his party?

MILLER FOLLOWS THE FLAG

Lieutenant Barry Miller in his formal announcement lets it be known that "whomsoever lets it be democratic nominee at Houston will be my candidate from the hour of his nomination until the polls close in November." Moreover, he lets it be known that he does not "intend to tie his candidacy to the tail of a presidential or any other candidate for office." Target practice for those who are not tail waggers or riders appear to be the order of the day. A candidate for office should be on his own, run on his own merit and permit the people to do the rest.

The Record News Staff Poet

TO A SMILING GIRL

I make my bow to the little girl
I pass on the street some days,
With her radiant, smiling countenance,
And her happy thankful gaze.
For she hasn't much to smile for.
Hasn't poise, or charm, or grace,
With her torture-twisted body,
And her poor, fire-ravaged face!

To me, it's real religion,
When you can smile like she;
And if I knew her method,
I'd make it a part of me.
It's hard enough to be happy
When one is young and well,
But it must be religion to smile, men,
When you've suffered the torture of hell!

—John Self Elliott, 1928.

One-Minute Sermon

But now I may go my way to him that sent me; and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?

But because I have said these things unto you, sorrow hath filled your heart.

Nevertheless I tell you the truth; It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I depart, I will send him unto you.—St. John, xvi, 5-7.

Big Bill Defeated and Discarded

THERE are new faces in the pictures in Illinois. Big Bill Thompson has been demoted and dumped. He had been degraded and dishonored by his own official acts long before the crisis came.

Big Bill lost political control of the city of Chicago. His pal, Governor Len Small, running for a third term, was defeated by a majority of more than 250,000. His choice for United States senator, Frank L. Smith, was sent to private life for good by Otis S. Glenn.

He was defeated in city and country. Len Small was defeated in city and country. Judge John L. Swanson defeated Robert L. Crowe for states attorney in the great Chicago district.

Big Bill and Crowe were the twin bosses of the great city. Crowe had been district attorney for seven years. He had a machine that he said was invincible and invulnerable.

All the anti-Thompson-Crowe-Small candidates for the offices were nominated. United States Senator Charles S. Deneen is the new boss of the Republicans of Illinois.

Deneen made his slate. He defied Big Bill and his gang. He overwhelmed them. He cleaned out the bunch from the bottom of the political cellar to the top of the political garret.

Frank O. Lowden had the backing of the Deneen forces. Big Bill boasted of his control of the nine congressional districts of the city of Chicago. He promised to elect 18 delegates in the city district to the Kansas City convention, pledged to vote for Calvin Coolidge and never for Frank O. Lowden.

He may have saved two or three congressional districts. Delegates from all the other districts in city and state will send Lowden delegates to the national convention.

Mrs. Ruth Medill McCormick was on the winning ticket as a candidate for congressman at large. She won hands down. She is the daughter of the late Mark Hanna and the widow of a former United States senator and said to be one of the best equipped women in America for a political career.

There is crepe on the door of Big Bill. There is crepe on the door of Boss Crowe, his running mate. There is crepe on the door of Len Small.

There are new faces in the Illinois picture. There are old bosses broken and new bosses on the stage.

As for the democrats, Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York won the delegates-at-large to the national convention and all the district delegates with possibly three or four exceptions.

"Dever and Decency" were overwhelmed by Big Bill and his black battalion a year ago. Now Deneen and decency have overwhelmed Big Bill and his battalions, both white and black, and all Americans who believe in the smashing of political bosses and their henchmen should rejoice.

Coolidge Bows His Neck

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE has bowed his neck. He has decided to be the political rock of ages—for another year at least. He will veto the McNary-Haugen act unless the equalization fee is deleted by the makers of the bill.

He will veto the Mississippi flood relief bill for the reason he says that it is a pork barrel which will contain hundreds of millions of dollars for big bankers and land owners and their advisers and henchmen.

Calvin Coolidge meant what he said when he let loose his Black Hills message. He is going to get out at the expiration of his term. He is going to ply his veto act most vigorously before he steps down and out. He is playing havoc with the plans of many of the congressional leaders of his party.

And the corn and the wheat belters threaten to ditch Herbert Hoover if he is given the Republican nomination.

What of it? The corn belters and wheat belters are Republicans for the most part. They are forever threatening to bolt and never bolt in the direction of the Democratic wigwam.

A Man of Vision

THERE are men of vision to be found everywhere. They love nature and they love their kind. J. D. Freeman of San Antonio has donated to the state of Texas 363 acres of land in Houston and San Jacinto counties for three state parks.

J. D. Freeman is possessed of much land.

He has given many tracts for park purposes. One of the tracts is timbered with a forest of huge magnolias, maple, pine and various hardwood trees. It is traversed by a clear stream.

He says the time to give it is while the land is cheap; that in later years land in Texas will be so valuable that park sites will be hard to get.

Not a Candidate for V. P.

GOVERNOR ALFRED RITCHIE of Maryland has let it be known that he will not accept a vice presidential nomination at the hands of the Democrats of the United States. "He would sooner be governor of Maryland than vice president," according to a political writer who interviewed him. Governor Ritchie is the only Marylander ever reelected to the office of governor of the state; he is the only Marylander ever elected three times in succession to the office of governor. He is for the big prize of his party or he may be governor of Maryland for a fourth term. Are all the governors side stepping a Democratic vice presidential nomination?

UNFORTUNATE SITUATION FOR MR. CONNALLY

Tom Connally will formally open his campaign for United States senator at Belton Tuesday with a speech setting forth his platform in full. Mr. Connally is one of the strongest men in the race and will poll a large vote, but it seems as if the campaign is going to be placed upon other than grounds of fitness of the candidates, and it is entirely possible the race will go to the one least capable of performing the duties of the great office.

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Dr. McCoy, who can be addressed in care of this paper.

Stop Wasting Food!

It has been said that a dollar saved is a dollar earned. There is no doubt but that most people literally throw away good money every day by practicing bad dietetic habits. Two or three times as much food is used as the body by any means can convert into normal tissue. This is of course a direct loss, greater than if the excess of food were thrown into the garbage can, as the body is consequently weakened by the useless effort made in attempting to digest more food than needed. Enervation is the natural result, with a loss of time and energy from useful daily work, with more doctors' bills. You live on one third of what you eat, and the doctors and undertaker live on the other two thirds.

The daily cost of food used by the average person is sometimes between two and five dollars, and of course a great deal more than this by those who give "feasting" parties once or twice weekly. If only essential foods are used, the actual daily cost should not exceed one dollar for the child or adult. This diet would include eggs, meat, fruit and all of the vital vegetables. For example, a breakfast of two eggs, toast and stewed fruit would not cost over twenty-five cents at the most at the present prices.

For luncheon, a meal of whole-wheat bread, with a choice of such cooked vegetables as spinach, string beans, asparagus, carrots, turnips, beets, parsnips, summer squash, chard, etc., would be satisfying and thoroughly nourishing. Add to this a salad of the leafy vegetables. You could not eat over twenty-five cents' worth of these vegetables if you tried to, as they are very "filling," but equally vital.

At dinner, if you use the same kind of vegetables, and one-fourth of a pound of beef or fish, you will have a dinner which, if prepared properly, is fit for a king.

These meals do not include pastries, candy, puddings and cakes, lobster, shellfish, or unwholesome and expensive food which is often as indigestible as it is costly.

If you have been spending two to five dollars daily for your food, you see you have been spending two to five times too much. You could buy something you need each day for the money you waste. You could buy a good book daily with the money thus saved, and even though you couldn't read all of them, you would never suffer from "mental" indigestion in trying to do so.

If you have been suffering from any chronic illness, a fast from all food for a week or two would add a tidy sum to your bank account. In France, a doctor recently proposed that all Frenchmen should fast one day a week and thus be able to pay off the national debt and restore the franc, which seems to have fallen below all help. He suggested closing all food stores, restaurants and cafes one day each week. But his advice did not strike a happy response from his comrades who were so willing to march to the trenches for France, but unwilling to fast for the franc when it would mean so much for the future of their beloved country.

You to whom this writing may come can help yourselves both financially and physically if you will eat less and fast more, and, as an addition to your new rules for health—march more!

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question—Mrs. R. H. writes: "I am enclosing an advertisement. Can you recommend this prescription for reducing, and will it affect the heart? I have a slight touch of heart trouble.'

Answer—I do not at any time recommend remedies of any kind. I conduct this column daily for your benefit, to teach you how to take care of yourself so there will be no need for queer remedies to correct conditions caused by injudicious living. If you will diet as I recommend in my reducing articles, your weight will surely come to the normal and your "touch of heart trouble will disappear as you stop burdening your heart by making it take care of excessive weight.

Question—Anna M. asks: "Do not cherries and milk make a bad combination? I always believed this combination formed a poison."

Answer—Cherries and milk form a perfect combination. But, remember, do not use any starch food at the same time, for therein lies the source of the mischief that is blamed upon an otherwise good combination.

Question—W. K. M. writes: "What is the cause of the upper and lower eyelids being swollen all the time; also what causes a person to see his nose when reading?"

Answer—Inflammation of the eyelids is caused by the same bad habits which produce gastritis, interitis, colitis, or any inflammation of the digestive organs. When the stomach or intestines are inflamed, it is liable to affect any of the mucous membranes of the body. If you are bothered in seeing your nose when you read, it may be because your eyes do not focus properly. Go to a good optometrist and see if properly fitted glasses will not correct this trouble.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By BURTON RASCOE

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to The Record News

NEW YORK, April 19.—Variegated notes of a reporter covering the biggest beat in the world:

The peppiest and tastiest hot-dogs in New York are obtainable at Joe's Place, "open all night," at Sixth avenue and 45th street.

The prettiest chorus girls are in night club shows, rather than in musical comedies. Cafe girls used to get $25 a week and have to mix with male guests. Now they are hired for their looks, shapes and talent and need not meet customers. They average $60 a week in pay. Some of them also appear in stage shows and have a total income of $150 a week.

The costliest wardrobe of any stage performer is that of Francis Renault. It is valued at $75,000. Francis is a he—a female impersonator in shows.

Levine, Fifth avenue tailor who makes all the clothes for Jimmy Walker, the Beau Brummel of mayors, reports that despite his reputation for tardiness, Jimmy is never late for fitting.

A table steward on the Leviathan was a commander of a German submarine during the World war. Wounds so shattered his nerves that he is no longer able to serve as officer, but he doggedly follows the sea in the only job he can fill.

Hotels are flooded with offers from college boy jazz musicians to play during the summer for lodging and meals.

Stock exchange traders paused amid the turmoil of a 3,000,000-share market to cheer the appearance in the visitors' gallery of the first straw hat of the season. It was worn by James Rolph, mayor of San Francisco.

The chauffeur of a dweller in East 54th street, in the block in which the Chauncey Depew residence is situated, whiles away the time he waits in front of the house practicing on a muted cornet.

New York gunmen carry their "rods" in holsters strapped under the left shoulder. (If left-handed, under the right shoulder.)

A well-dressed beggar who works the theater district at midnight, bangs on the pavement with his cane and bespeakes himself commandingly, "Come 'in, people, come 'n."

The pedestrian's path over Brooklyn bridge is a lovers' lane after dark.

Speakeasy operators are keeping step with modern high-pressure sales methods. They maintain card index files of their customers, keep a record of visits, etc. When a customer doesn't come around for some time, he receives a note something like the one I got from a "club" in West 48th street:

"We want to thank you for the business you have given us in the past. Please understand that any future favors will be very much appreciated.

"We have just put in a large stock of splendid merchandise that we know will meet with your approval."

Some of the speakeasies go so far as to plague men and women for patronage daily by telephone.

"CANARY" MURDER CASE

THE STORY THUS FAR.

It was the jewel case that puzzled Vance. It was found in the apartment not far from the strangled body of Margaret Odell, the "Canary." The case looked as if someone had first tried to open it with a poker and then had succeeded in opening it with a chisel. Vance, Markham's friend, and a student of crime psychology, thinks it most peculiar.

Chapter VI

Deputy Inspector Conrad Brenner was one of that small army of obscure, but highly capable experts who are connected with the New York police department, and who are constantly being consulted on abstruse technical problems, but whose names and achievements rarely get into the public prints.

His specialty was locks and burglars' tools; and I doubt if, even among those exhaustively painstaking criminologists of the University of Lausanne, there was a more accurate reader of the evidential signs left by the implements of house-breakers. In appearance and bearing he was like a withered little college professor.* His black, unpressed suit was old-fashioned in cut; and he wore a very high stiff collar, with a narrow black string tie. His gold-rimmed spectacles were so thick-lensed that the pupils of his eyes gave the impression of acute belladonna poisoning.

When Heath had spoken to him, he merely stood staring with a sort of detached expectancy; he seemed utterly unaware that there was any one else in the room. The sergeant, evidently familiar with the little man's idiosyncrasies of manner, did not wait for a response, but started at once for the bedroom.

"This way, please, Professor," he directed, cajolingly, going to the dressing table and picking up the jewel-case. "Take a squint at this, and tell me what you see."

Inspector Brenner followed Heath, without looking to right or left, and, taking the jewel case, went silently to the window and began to examine it. Vance, whose interest seemed suddenly to be reawakened, came forward and stood watching him.

For fully five minutes the little expert inspected the case, holding it within a few inches of his myoptic eyes. Then he lifted his glance to Heath and winked several times rapidly.

"Two instruments were used in opening this case." His voice was small and high-pitched, but there was in it an undeniable quality of authority. "One bent the lid and made several fractures on the baked enamel. The other was, I should say, a steel chisel of some kind, and was used to break the lock.

"The first instrument, which was blunt, was employed amateurishly, at the wrong angle of leverage; and the effort resulted only in twisting the overhang of the lid. But the steel chisel was inserted with a knowledge of the correct point of oscillation, where a minimum of leverage would produce the counteracting stress necessary to displace the lockbolts."

"A professional job?" suggested Heath.

"Highly so," answered the inspector, again blinking. "That is to say, the forcing of the lock was professional. And I would even go so far as to advance the opinion that the instrument used was one especially constructed for such illegal purposes."

"Could this have done the job?" Heath held out the poker.

The other looked at it closely, and turned it over several times.

"It might have been the instrument that bent the cover, but it was not the one used for prying open the lock. This poker is cast iron and would have snapped under any great pressure, whereas this box is of cold rolled eighteen-gauge steel plate, with an inset cylinder pin-tumbler lock taking a paracentric key. The leverage force necessary to distort the flange sufficiently to lift the lid could have been made only by a steel chisel."

"Well, that's that." Heath seemed well satisfied with Inspector Brenner's conclusion. "I'll send the box down to you, Professor, and you can let me know what else you find out."

"I'll take it along, if you have no objection." And the little man tucked it under his arm and shuffled out without another word.

Heath grinned at Markham.

"Queer bird. He ain't happy unless he's measuring jimmy marks on doors and windows and things. He couldn't wait till I sent him the box. He'll hold it lovingly on his lap all the way down in the subway, like a mother with a baby."

Vance was still standing near the dressing-table, gazing perplexedly into space.

"Markham," he said, "the condition of that jewel-case is positively astounding. It's unreasonable, illogical—insane. It complicates the situation most damnably. That steel box simply couldn't have been chissled open by a professional burglar . . . and yet, don't y' know, it actually was."

Before Markham could reply, a satisfied grunt from Captain Dubois attracted our attention.

"I've got something for you, Sergeant," he announced.

We moved expectantly into the living room. Dubois was bending over the end of the library-table almost directly behind the place where Margaret Odell's body had been found.

He took out an insufflator, which was like a very small hand-bellows, and blew a fine light-yellow powder evenly over about a square foot of the polished rosewood surface of the table-top. Then he gently blew away the surplus powder, and there appeared the impression of a human hand distinctly registered in saffron.

The bulb of the thumb and each fleshy hummock between the joints of the fingers and around the palm stood out like tiny circular islands. All the papillary ridges were clearly discernible. The photographer then hooked his camera to a peculiar adjustable tripod and, carefully focusing his lens, took two flash-light pictures of the hand-mark.

"This ought to do." Dubois was pleased with his find. "It's the right hand—a clear print—and the guy who made it was standing right behind the dame . . . And it's the newest print in the place."

"What about this box?" Heath pointed to the black document-box on the table near the overturned lamp.

"Not a mark—wiped clean."

Dubois began putting away his paraphernalia.

"I say, Captain Dubois," interposed Vance, "did you take a good look at the inside door-knob of that clothes-press?"

The man swung about abruptly, and gave Vance a glowering look.

"People ain't in the habit of handling the inside knobs of closet doors. They open and shut closets from the outside."

Vance raised his eyebrows in simulated astonishment.

"Do they, now, really?—Fancy that! . . . Still, don't y' know, if one were inside the closet, one couldn't reach the outside knob."

"The people I know don't shut themselves in clothes-closets," Dubois's tone was ponderously sarcastic.

"You positively amaze me!" declared Vance. "All the people I know are addicted to the habit—a sort of daily pastime, don't y' know."

Markham, always diplomatic, intervened.

"What idea have you about that closet, Vance?"

"Alas! I wish I had one," was the dolorous answer. "It's because I can't, for the life of me, make sense of its neat and orderly appearance that I'm so interested in it. Really, y' know, it should have been artistically looted."

Heath was not entirely free from the same vague misgivings that were disturbing Vance, for he turned to Dubois and said:

"You might go over the knob, Captain. As this gentleman says, there's something funny about the condition of that closet."

Dubois, silent and surly, went to the closet door and sprayed his yellow powder over the inside knob. When he had blown the loose particles away, he bent over it with his magnifying glass. At length he straightened up, and gave Vance a look of ill-natured appraisal.

"There's fresh prints on it, all right," he grudgingly admitted; "and unless I'm mistaken they were made by the same hand as those on the table. Both thumb-marks are ulnar loops, and the index fingers are both whorl patterns . . . Here, Pete," he ordered the photographer, "make some shots of that knob."

A few moments later, after an interchange of pleasantries, Inspector Moran also departed. At the door he passed two men in the white uniform of internes, who had come to take away the girl's body.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

*It is an interesting fact that for the nineteen years he had been connected with the New York police department, he had been referred to, by his superiors and subordinates, alike, as "the Professor."

DINNER STORIES

Collegiate.

As I was coming down the street I met a man from St. Ives. "Whatcha got under that arm?" says I

"Sugar for my coffee," says he.

"Whatcha got under t' other arm?"

"Sugar for my tea," says the lad coyly.

Well, you may imagine how my ire was up, so by and large, I gave him a couple of lumps for his cocoa. Chortle, chortle.

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

REGINALD DENNY

By REGINALD DENNY

Sixteen years ago Riginald Denny was an amateur boxer attracting considerable attention in England. Ten years ago he won the boxing championship of the Second Corps, Royal Air Force. Today he is a popular film star.

He was born at Richmond, Surrey, England, in 1891 and educated at St. Francis Xavier in Sussex. He made his stage debut at the age of 6, came to America when he was seven and later appeared in a play with Ina Clair. Later he became interested in boxing, but just as he seemed destined to ring success, the war came along. So he went across with the overseas royal flying corps and became a second lieutenant, winning as well the boxing championship of the second corps. After the war he entered pictures, gaining attention at first in a series of short-length prize-fight films.

Denny is married to Irene Horsman, whom he met while playing in a repertoire company in India. At that time Miss Horsman's contract stipulated that if she married during its life she must forfeit £500. Neither of them had £500, but they married. Then neither had a job, but they had each other; which is a very nice illustration of something or other.

"Well," Denny said when I asked him for his favorite joke, "I am English, you know, and the popular conception of an Englishman's humor is just about that expressed in the saying that 'London is the largest city in the world because its population is the densest.' However we H'Englishmen can appreciate a joke ourselves as much as the next one, and this is the one I like best:

"A party of tourists was mortorjng through the English countryside and they stopped near a smithy's shanty to see the road directions that were printed on a signpost nearby.

"An arrow pointing north bore the inscription, 'To London.' Another said' 'To Charing Cross.' And still a third, 'To Wimbly.' Below was tacked a cardboard with the following message roughly scrawled 'If you can't read, ask the blacksmith.'

"The American in the party laughed loud and heartily at the sign, but still more at the uncomprehending look of their English companion, who quietly stood beside them, his face a blank.

"Finally there was a beam of triumph in his eyes, as, with a bright smile on his countenance, he announced, 'Ha, ha! I see it all, now! A jolly good joke, that! Suppose the blacksmith isn't in?'"

HOT LEASE PLAY FOLLOWS STRIKE NEAR BRYSON

GUSHER DOES 200 IN HOUR

Panhandle Refining Co. Important Oiler

Special to The Record News.

JACKSBORO, Texas, April 19.—A new producing area has been assured for Jack county, possibly with gusher potentialities, in Panhandle Refining company's No. 1 J. M. Daugherty, two miles northwest of Bryson.

Estimates as high as 3000 barrels have been placed on the well since it was opened yesterday and flowed naturally for one hour, producing nearly 200 barrels in that time.

Considerable excitement has already resulted from the strike, and there has been a mild lease boom in the area.

The well, which is in absolute wildcat territory, will be the means of opening up an entirely new productive area in this part of the county. It topped the sand at 2976 feet and barely penetrated it when a strong gas flow of 800,000 pound rock pressure was encountered. At present the producer is shut in waiting on additional storage and its true status will not be known for a time.

That the well will be the factor in the starting of considerable development in this portion of the county is looked for in the number of leases that changed hands in the past few days. In the neighborhood of $30,000 being paid for royalties and close in acreage. Bert Shaw already an active Jack county operator purchased several tracts, as did Thomas Morrisey well known Wichita Falls operator, and the Panhandle Refining company corralled considerable acres.

SPUDDERS SWEEP SERIES WITH SPORTS AND TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

CHAMPS GRAB FINAL, 5 TO 4

Timely and Hard Hitting Scores Victory

SHREVEPORT, La., April 19.—The Spudders are in familiar surroundings again — surveying the rest of the Texas league from the top. Thanks to a 5-4 victory today over the Sports, while Houston was losing in 11 innings to Waco, the champions regained the lead, with a mathematical margin of five victories and two defeats to six wins and three losses by Houston and San Antonio, the Bears going into a tie for second by trimming Beaumont.

A first-inning lead of three runs stood the champions in excellent stead today, as the Sports threatened in late innings. Home runs by Pitcher Brown and Catcher Hayworth, the latter with a comrade on base, accounted for three Sports' runs, in the fifth and seventh innings, respectively. The Sports also had counted one in the fourth.

But the Spudders tallied a pair in their half of the seventh, which was to prove sufficient to win the ball game.

Tom Estill chucked a creditable game, except for the circuit drives and the fifth inning when two hits were bunched. He hurled eight-hit ball.

Spudders Hit Hard

The Spudders made 10 hits, seven of them figuring in the scoring. Every champion clouted safely except Estill. Stanton and Turgeon were the batting leaders, each with two blows, one of George's knocks going for three bases. Joe Cobb and Benton maced doubles.

Wichita Falls again fielded brilliantly, with Turgeon, Benton, and Fitzgerald especially glittering defensively.

Phipps, Sport left fielder, made a sensational play in the seventh when he snatched a drive by Fitzgerald that seemed a sure hit and doubled Turgeon at second.

Champs to Dallas

The Williamsmen play Friday and Saturday at Dallas and return home Sunday to open a 16-day stand with Fort Worth, the first foe.

By winning today the Spuds swept the series, with two victories and a tie.

Four hits and an error scored three tallies in the first innning. Turgeon singled with one out. Fitzgerald fouled out. Lamb singled to center and Turgeon scored and Lyman went to second on Wilson's fumble. Jenkins strolled. Singles by Swenson and Stanton tallied Lamb and Jenkins.

The Sports scored in the fourth. Phipps singled but was forced by Wilson. Holman doubled to center, scoring Wilson.

Brown hit a home run over the center field wall to give the Sports another mark in the fifth but the Spuds counted two in the seventh.

Spuds Win in Seventh

Cobb doubled past third and went to third on Estill's sacrifice. Benton doubled to right, Cobb scoring, and Benton tallied on Turgeon's single.

The Sports rallied in their part of the seventh but fell short a run of tying and Estill held them safely thereafter. Their pair of tallies were counted on Bloxsom's infield hit and Hayworth's homer, which scored the shortstop ahead of the catcher.

Hallas and Henry Wrestle Monday

Dutch Henry, that funny-faced grappler who made his first appearance here last winter as Duth Mantell's "unknown," returns to the mat war at the Gym Monday night. Henry is to meet Billy Hallas, recent conqueror of Mantell and Yaqui Joe, in the feature match.

This promises to be another of those grueling, thrilling shindigs, as the principals are among the roughest and toughest of the fellows who make their frequent appearance in our town.

"They are so rough," said Mr. A. Goofey, "that they should be run out of town."

Jack Gorman and Nick Kavoras are to grapple in the prelim.

Blackerby's Hit and Run End Pitchers' Batle

WACO, April 19. —In a sensational hurlers' battle here this afternoon between Lefty Stein and Jim Lindsey, Waco defeated Houston by a score of 3 to 2, the game going 11 stanzas. The battle was decided when Blackerby opened the last round with a single, was sacrificed to second by Johnson and scored on Adair's Texas leaguer to left.

Brown saved the game for Waco in the ninth when with Schuble on second, Jonnard singled over second, Brown's perfect throw to the plate getting Schuble. Stein had a shade best of the argument, both of Houston's scores resulting when Worthington hit a high fly to the left field wall. Score:

Walter Johnson Is Convalescent

Barney Takes Walk; Out Of Hospital Soon

WASHINGTON, April 19. (UP)—Walter Johnson, former pitching star of the American league and now manager of the Newark, N. J., International league team, was permitted to take a short walk today for the first time since he was brought here seriously ill from influenza complications.

Walter will be able to join his team within two or three weeks if no setbacks are encountered, his physician said. He has regained most of the weight he lost.

Ritt's Ritticisms

College ball players with mustaches may cause a revolution in the diamond business. Their slogan is—why sacrifice a cookie duster for a base ball career?

Razor circles will be all agog if the movement spreads. It is the worst attack on the greatest industry of scraping chins since Charles E. Hughes ran for president.

The rise of the diamond sport saw the fall of soup strainers and zitses, hair by hair. However, pictures of early ball teams look like Santa Claus multiplied by nine.

So many balls were lost in the outfielders' hirsute appendage that beards were banished from baseball. It was a great blow to basestealers. No longer could they dive into a bag protected from injury by their heavily upholstered jaws.

It was a great day when the last whisker fluttered into eternity at the snip of the shears. It was like the unveiling of a monument though not so pretty.

The mustache may be manly and the beard a boon to an ambassador, but whiskers will never again be popular in the national pastime. It would be too much like bringing the bush back into the big leagues.

FREDERICK 11'S PROGRAM OUT

Game at Vernon Nov. 17 Completes Schedule

FREDERICK, Okla., April 19.—With the acceptance Tuesday of a contract for a game with Vernon, Texas, for November 17, the schedule of football games for the Frederick Bearcat team next fall is complete, according to J. T. Martin, athletic director of the local schools. In his opinion it is the best balanced schedule this team has had during the several years he has been here.

There is one vacant date, November 2, but Martin does not intend to get a game for it as it is in the middle of the season and the players will need the interval in order to get in shape for the four following hard games.

May Play Nov. 2.

C. F. McCormick, athletic director-elect, who will be in charge after this term, may schedule a game for that date if he thinks best, said Martin.

One feature of the schedule that Martin likes is that a game is to be played, on the home gridiron every two weeks. Six of these clashes are to be conference contests. It appears to be the stiffest schedule the Bearcats have ever had.

Third Game With Hollis

The third game will be with the latest entry in the conference, Hollis, which had a team the past season which some claim was stronger than Mangum, conference champion. If the Bearcats can emerge a winner in the coming schedule they will be recognized as one of the best in Oklahoma and Texas. The schedule:

September 30, Altus, here.
*October 5, Erick, there.
*October 12, Hollis, there.
*October 19, Cordell, there.
*October 26, Carnegie, here.
*November 23, Mangum, here
November 9, Lawton, here.
November 17, Vernon, there.
November 30, Grandfield, there.
*Indicates conference contest.

Frederick is to get 50 per cent of the gate receipts at the Vernon and Grandfield games, after all expenses are paid. Record crowds are expected at both contests and Martin looks for these to put the Bearcats' treasury in excellent shape.

PITCHER GIVES UP 55 BASES IN ONE GAME

Fifty-five bases were made off William O. Rhodes, Louisville, Ky., by the Cincinnati Nationals, July 18, 1893.

PREP CHAMPIONS OF NINE COUNTIES COMPETE HERE SATURDAY

ELECTRA TEAM PICKED TO WIN

Vernon Is Strong; Junior College Field Reary

Wichita Falls junior college track and field has been completely overhauled and is in excellent condition for the annual meet of district No. 4 of the University of Texas Interscholastic league which will be held here Saturday.

More than 100 athletes from nine counties in the district are expected to answer the roll call of B. M. Dinsmore of Electra, district director of athletics, at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

The winners of county meets of Wilbarger, Wichita, Archer, Montague, Jack, Throckmorton, Baylor, Young, and Clay counties and Wichita Falls high school are eligible to enter the meet.

Special Race Planned

A special race, the 100-yard dash, will be run by Jot Hodges, Wichita Falls junior college flash, and Frank Williams, a former Wichita Falls high school football star. Hodges has taken first place in the "century" at Fort Worth fat stock show meet and the Oklahoma relays while Williams was noted for his speed on the gridiron.

Another special event will be run if officials are able to secure an opponent for the Indian relay team.

Preliminary heats in most of the track events will be necessary and the winners of first place in these morning heats will run in the final race Saturday afternoon.

Electra Favored

The Electra Tigers are expected to win the meet as they were state champions last year and are composed of practically the same team this year. Two weeks ago the Tigers walked away with the Wichita county meet scoring a total of 97 points.

The Vernon Lions entering this year for the first time in district four are expected to give the Tigers strong opposition.

Coach J. N. Hall's Wichita Falls high school Coyotes rank next to Vernon and Electra as the leading teams in the district, though they probably will not bid seriously for the championship. If two or three Coyotes win the right to compete in the state meet at Austin they will fulfill the highest expectations of their boosters.

The program of events, announced by Director Dinsmore yesterday, and opening at junior college field, 9 o'clock Saturday, follows:

Track Events

1. 120-yard high hurdle.
2. 100-yard dash.
3. 880-yard run.
4. 220-yard low hurdles.
5. 440-yard dash.
6. 220-yard dash.
7. Mile run.
8. Mile relay.

Field Events

1. Pole vault.
2. Shot put.
3. Discus throw.
4. High jump.
5. Broad jump.
6. Javelin throw.

According to Mr. Dinsmore two sets of judges will be provided so that the track and field events can progress at the same time.

FOUR SURVIVE WOMEN'S GOLF

Waco, San Antonio And Dallas Players Win

HOUSTON, April 19. (AP)—Mrs. Whit Stafford of Waco, Mrs. Jack Lapham of San Antonio, Mrs. L. J. Morris of Dallas, and Mrs. L. W. Magruder of Waco, will meet in the semi-finals of the twelfth annual championship tournament of the Womens' Texas Golf association at the Houston Country club course Friday.

Mrs. Stafford will meet Mrs. Lapham in the upper bracket while Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Magruder are favored to meet in the finals, the rounds played by Mrs. Stafford and Mrs. Morris in today's event makes it far from a cinch that the two former champions will compete in the 36-hole title contest Saturday.

Mrs. Whittley Beaten

Mrs. Stafford eliminated Mrs. Mae Whittley of Fort Worth, two up, after Mrs. Whittley's victory over the defending champion, Mrs. E. R. Lederer, in the first round led many to believe that Mrs. Whittley would get into the semi-finals.

Mrs. Morris, the "dark horse" of the meet, eliminated the last Houston contender when she scored a 2 and 1 triumph over Mrs. Katherine Standish.

After Mrs. Standish's sensational comeback against Mrs. Clyde Maddox in the first round, the dope had her lined up for a match against Mrs. Magruder in the semi-finals.

Mrs. Morris Wins

Mrs. Morris lost no time in getting "up." She took the first three holes from Mrs. Standish and after that the Houston muny course champion was forced to do some battling.

Making the turn 2 up, Mrs. Morris dropped the tenth hole but after that her deadly approaches and accurate putts kept her in the lead. She picked up another hole and closed the match at the 17th green.

Both Mrs. Lapham and Mrs. Magruder coasted to easy wins in the quarter final contests. Mrs. Lapham scored a 5 and 3 win over Mrs. George Thompson of Fort Worth, while Mrs. Magruder closed out Mrs. O. D. Deputy of Brownsville, 6 and 5.

Dempsey-Kearns Ready For Fight

NEW YORK, April 19. (AP)—The legal extravaganza of Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, featuring an argument over $701,026.66, opened with a dress rehearsal today before Judge John C. Knox in United States district court. Adjournment was taken until tomorrow morning after a half hour session during which the jury was chosen.

Fistic luminaries thronged the courtroom. Kearns, who piloted Jack to the championship, charges breach of his contract with Dempsey and seeks to recover one-third of the former titleholder's earnings from 1923 through Dempsey's losing title fray with Gene Tunney in 1926.

The judge, busy on another case, kept the contestants fidgeting in their corners almost three hours. During the wait Dempsey autographed countless cards, talked with reporters, chatted with Tex Rickard and swapped surreptitious glares with Kearns, once his inseparable pal.

The Madison Square garden promoter, Members James A. Farley, William Muldoon and Brower of the New York state athletic commission, Billy Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, and many others prominent in the fight circles, are called as witnesses.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

JOY REIGNS in Dublin, the Kerry Patch and other centers populated by the Irish. For another Colt has arisen to add lustre to that race by his prowess in sports. Frank O'Doul, who this spring won a place in the New York Giant outfield, bloomed into a star of brightest ray Wednesday. Hitting two home runs, the first with a comrade on base, this long-legged Irishman from San Francisco almost single-handed beat the Phillies that day, the Giants winning, 5 to 1. But though O'Doul's elevation to the limelight occured overnight, it is indicated he will not be a flash in the pan.

O'Doul is one of those ball players who stars in the minors but for some obscure reason is overlooked as major league material. True, he did have a trial with the New York Yankees. But that was several years ago and he was a pitcher then. Frank drifted to the Pacific Coast league and took up outfielding. His hitting won him fame in that loop. Certainly his record justified a return to the big leagues.

* * *

FOR THREE YEARS, 1924, 1925 and 1927, O'Doul was second in batting in that class AA circuit. 158 runs, hit 33 home runs and stole 40 bases. But the scouts overlooked him. Possibly his "age" was viewed as a detriment. He is 30, which generally is rated "old" for a ball player. Anyhow, the Giants acquired him through the draft. He earned a berth this spring with McGraw's club, but was dimmed by the brilliance of Andy Cohen, who apparently has acceptably filled the place vacated by Rogers Hornsby.

* * *

BUT NOW, the Irish lads in the Polo Grounds bleachers, who took Cohen's impressive debut with pleasure as an aid to their beloved Giants, but with none too great enthusiasm, may look to one of their own race upon whom they may lavish adulation as befitting a diamond star. For "Lefty" O'Doul has brought his direful mace into action—and who can deny a man with the name O'Doul? Erin go bragh!

THE SCHOLASTICS are to have their "day" tomorrow in Wichita Falls, District No. 4 track and field meet of the University of Texas Interscholastic league will be staged on Junior college athletic field. With the Spudders out of town enthusiasts of sports may spend a pleasant and interesting afternoon watching these bright-eyed, fine youngsters in their competion. Truly, with them, "the game's the thing," and there is no more greater thrill than watching these youths who strive only for the glory of their school and the love of red-blooded sport.

THE INVASION of Europe this summer is under way. A trio of foremost American golfers are on the high seas, bound for England to participate in British open golf. And though Bobby Jones says he will not defend his twice-won title as British open king, Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour and Bill Mehlhorn may be depended upon to uphold the prestige of these United States in play over the historic St. Andrews course.

Helen Wills sails for Europe, to defend her crown as queen of tennis. American athletes are training for the Olympic games, held this summer at Amsterdam. And meanwhile, a foreigner is preparing to invade America to battle for the greatest prize of pugilism. Tom Heeney, the Australian, will be first of the foreigners since Luis Firpo to fight for the heavyweight championship of the world. Not since Bob Fitzsimmons, he of the gangling, spindly legs and massive shoulders, with the hitting power of a mule's kick, sunk his mighty pile-driving blows into the midriff of Jim Corbett has a foreigner ruled as king of all the heavyweights.

SOONER GAINS IN LONG RACE

Andrew Payne Increases Lead Over Gavuzzi

JOPLIN, Mo., April 19. (UP)—Andrew Payne, Claremore, Okla., substantially increased his lead over Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, for first place in the elapsed time standings of the "bunion derby" when Gavuzzi failed to finish better than 21st in the 47th lap today.

Payne finished in a dead heat with Thomas Ellis, Wales, and Phillip Granville, Hamilton, Ont., for seventh place, in 6:33:56. He now has a lead of one hour 39 minutes and 23 seconds over Gavuzzi who is in second place.

Today's lap was replete with surprises, darkhorses reaching the tape in many instances far ahead of the favorites.

John Gober, Greek flash from Moberly, Mo., led the parade across the border into his home state. He covered the 40 miles between Miami, Okla., and Joplin in 5:55:51, averaging slightly less than eight miles an hour despite a heavy downpour of rain. His time for the 1,761.6 miles from Los Angeles to Joplin is now 445:48:01.

Rain Aids New Yorker

The cold rain seemed to have an enervating effect on Samuel Richman, New York entrant, who finished second in 6:00:35. Richman has been running in 62nd place in the long race and his fast time today came as a surprise. His elapsed time is 5:10:0:24.

Third place went to Harry Rew, Long Beach, Calif., with 6:08:28, giving him an elapsed time of 340: 45:19.

Mike Kelly of Goshen, Ind., furnished the day's greatest surprise when he finished 34th in 8:32:28. This was the first time Kelly reached the overnight stop before dark since the start of the transcontinental race. He usually has been brought in at midnight by control cars and sent back the following day to make up back mileage. His elapsed time is 6:38:24:00, exactly 344.07:40 behind Payne, the leader.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., recovered from his slight illness and finished fifth today in 6:27:07. His elapsed time is 329:37:30.

In St. Louis Soon

Miller, Mo., will be Friday's control, approximately 35 miles east of Joplin. On the following day, the runners will camp in Springfield, Mo., and Sunday's control has been announced as Conway, Mo. The caravan will be in St. Louis late next week.

DeMar Sets U. S. Marathon Mark In Winning Sixth Boston Grind

Veteran Paces 26 Miles, 385 Yards in 2 Hours, 37 Minutes, 7 4-5 Seconds; Ray Runs Courageous Race.

By WILLARD E. MARTIN JR.
United Press Staff Correspondent

BOSTON, April 19. (UP)—Tireless Clarence De Mar, "grand old man" of long distance runners, established a new American marathon record today in winning the annual B. A. A. classic for the sixth time.

Setting a man-killing pace for the classiest field ever to compete in such an event in this country, the little Sunday school teacher from suburban Melrose covered the regulation course of 26 miles, 385 yards in 2 hours, 37 minutes and 7 4-5 seconds.

This was 3 minutes and 14 2-5 seconds faster than the record De Mar established last year, but 4 minutes and 33 seconds slower than the Olympic record set up by Hannes Kolyehmainen at Antwerp in 1920.

Joie Ray Third

Joie Ray of the Illinois A. C., veteran miler who came out of retirement to try for a place on the Olympic team at his favorite distances and failed, made good in his first marathon today.

After racing neck and neck with the unbeatable De Mar for most of the last five miles, Ray was forced out of second place, but his gameness enabled his weary legs and blistered feet to carry him across the finish line an easy third.

"Wasn't So Tough"

Although Joie's showing in his long-distance debut probably will entitle him to a place on the Olympic team, it was apparent that he suffered severely from the long grind. The doctor who examined him after the race described his condition as "terrible" and ordered him to bed.

"It wasn't so touch," Joie said, when newspaper men asked him how he felt after the longest and hardest race in his career.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 19. (AP)—Rallies from an opening decline in the cotton market today met increased offerings and there were reactions later. July contracts, after selling up from 19.80 to 20.00, declined to 19.82 and closed at 19.86, the general market closing steady, at net declines of 1 to 4 points.

The opening was barely steady at a decline of 5 to 8 points, active months soon showing net losses of 9 to 10 points under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers, influenced by a favorable view of the early weather news and relatively easy Liverpool cables.

These early offerings were absorbed by trade buying, combined with some broadening of commission house demand and covering, and the midday market firmed up on the uncertainty of the weather outlook and numerous reports concerning the unfavorable effect of recent weather conditions on the new crop start.

May advanced from 19.92 to 20.13, while October sold up from 19.58 to 19.78, but offerings increased at these figures, while demand tapered off and the afternoon market eased. Active months sold back within 4 or 5 points of the early low level, or about 4 to 8 points below yesterday's closing quotations, reflecting a favorable interpretation of the detailed weather reports and a disposition to take profits on long cotton before the end of the week.

The official forecast was for more or less scattered showers in the belt and there seemed to be differences of opinion as to the weather outlook which probably contributed to the rather irregular price movements of the day.

Private cables said continental buying in Liverpool had been supplied by liquidation inspired by the depression in Egyptian cotton at Alexandria, and that cloth sales in Manchester were unimportant, with yarns freely offered.

Exports today 11,275, making 6,253,443 so far this season. Port receipts 11,698. U. S. port stocks 1,544,440.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 19. (AP)—A spirited advance in the cotton market, promoted by unfavorable crop news met realizing in late trading today and resulted in the loss of all the earlier gain. After trading up to 19.74, 19 points up from an initial low, July eased off to 19.59 and closed at that price, one point net lower for the day.

The general market closed steady at net declines of 4 points to a gain of 1 point.

Early trades showed losses of 4 points following receipts of Liverpool cables that were from 1 to 2 points better than due. Prices firmed up after May had reached 19.70, July 19.55 and Oct. 19.25 on buying by short interests whose activities were attributed to weather map indications of unsettled weather and an official forecast for showers and colder weather. Before the demand had been supplied May traded up to 19.74 and October to 19.44, or 17 to 19 points above the early lows and 10 to 14 points above the previous close.

The advance met realizing during the noon hour and the market eased off. Later advices of more seasonable weather was held responsible although private reports of rain in the central belt had a steadying effect near the close. May closed at 19.75, July 19.59 and October 19.30.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE

CHICAGO, April 19.—A world of selling in both the wheat and corn markets caused downward reactions during the session today, but the markets turned round late in the day and closed stronger than ever with good gains. On the break corn never got below the close of the day before.

At the end wheat was up 1⅛c to 2⅛c; corn was up 2c to 2⅛c; oats were ⅜c to 2c higher; rye was off ⅞c to ¾c better.

It was a day of enormous trading. Thomas Howell, a bull in wheat was credited with buying over a million bushels of July wheat at around $1.59 in a single transaction.

Wheat opened more than a cent higher. Bulls, eager to take profits, poured their holdings into the pit. The sales were absorbed with surprising ease in the boiling market.

All through the session it was difficult to tell whether the market would be able to absorb the selling without a decided break. But buying power from the outside kept expanding and late in the day was sufficient to take all the wheat offered and then some.

Prices firmed up and then began to advance rapidly, with shorts in a scramble to cover. When the gong sounded to mark the close, the pit was in a turmoil of executing orders and roaring like a record crowd at a ball game when the captain of the home team makes a home run.

It is said that a big trade in both corn and wheat is coming in from the east, and the supposition is that this comes from persons who have been knocking singles and two-baggers in the stock market.

In the cash market wheat was unchanged to 1c higher; corn was ½c to 2c higher; ats were 1c lower to 1c higher; rye was unchanged; barley firm.

Buying Heavy On Stock Market in Face of Predictions That Rediscount Rate Would Remain Unchanged

By BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, April 19.—Federal Reserve bank announcements after the close nullified a strong market today. Delaware & Hudson and Radio had soared in sensational manner in advance of an advancing list, with buying largely predicted on the area that rediscount rates would not be changed.

Right after the closing bell the bank announced that rates in Boston and Chicago had been raised to 4½ per cent.

Early in the day the stock exchange had announced there would be no trading Saturday to permit member firms to catch up with the record trading. To add to the uneasiness of traders overnight the loan report issued late in the day showed gain of $134,000,000 in brokers' borrowings and revealed renewal of selling of government securities by the reserve banks on quite a large scale.

These reserve bank developments made price fluctuations today rather meaningless and, with an extended weekend shutdown ahead, promises a lively time tomorrow.

Sterling held firm in a quiet, but irregular foreign exchange market. Cotton remained steady in quiet trading while other commodities advanced steadily on receipt of further bullish weather advices.

With call money renewing at 4¾ and easing to 4 per cent, there was greater certainty there would be no change in rediscount rates. That the reserve board means the change in Boston and Chicago as a club to the stock market is evidenced by the fact that special meetings were held to take action. No change in the New York rate cannot be regarded as bullish in as much as a lower rate here will influence flow of funds from this district. The reserve banks sold a total of $35,000,000 government securities which, while smaller than indicated by recent action of the bond market, is further warning that the money authorities are determined to call a halt on wild stock speculation.

Market Comments

R. O. Harvey and company, rooms 630-37 Harvey-Snider building, received the following Thursday on cotton and grain from their New York and Chicago correspondents:

Cotton.

NEW YORK—Notwithstanding less optimistic trade reports from abroad, the market continues to show a rather firm undertone, which is largely due to the demand for old crop positions for price fixing by domestic trade. Weather conditions from all indications seem more favorable, although in the west high winds and sand storms are still complained of. Local sentiment is rather bearish, many advancing the idea that the recent advance has discounted the delay in the crop start and good weather would cause lower prices. We believe that favorable weather would undoubtedly cause the market to go some lower and would only buy on recessions. —E. A. Pierce and company.

Grain.

CHICAGO, Ill.—Very nervous over a good range and quite susceptible to news either way. Higher early on the cables and failure of rain to materialize in the southwest overnight, later private reports of scattered rains over portions of Oklahoma and Kansas brought heavy realizing by longs and some local pressure with the September delivery developing the most weakness. On the break locals of good size took hold in a liberal way and brought about the closing rally to the best prices so far. Cash trading basis was relatively steady to one cent higher with a good demand. Number 2 hard in store sold at one cent better premium. Liverpool closed 1⅝ to 2⅛ higher, while Buenos Aires showed half cent decline at noon. Crop advices showed little change but the forecast for rising temperatures and increased cloudiness, along with reports of actual showers in spots checked bullish enthusiasm. It is a weather market and do not care to buy on bulges. Feel that reactions from various causes will be witnessed from time to time and afford good spots on which to buy. We are bullish on the situation generally.

Corn—Continued to show decided strength. Substatial gains were made early. They attracted heavy realizing and market reacted with wheat. Prices did not get back to the previous closing level, however and rallies from setbacks were exceptionally fast. Cash trading basis half to two cents higher. Boat room was chartered for 200,000 bushels today and for 135,000 bushels yesterday to go to Buffalo at opening of navigation. Weather generally favorable. Country offerings to arrive light. Market showing a stronger tone as prices advanced and buying power of good character is in evidence on all weak spots.

Oats—Trade active with new investment buying through commission houses and by locals meeting with heavy profit taking and selling on resting orders. Cash interests were good sellers on the early bulge. Receipts estimated at 77 cars. Cash trading basis one cent lower to one cent higher, relative to futures. Crop advices mixed with Iowa claiming damage, while southern Illinois said promise was good. —E. A. Pierce and company.

Strawberries Cheaper On Increased Suply

With the advance of spring and fair weather, bringing with it an increased production of Texas strawberries, prices on that fruit are beginning to drop. Texas strawberries were reduced to $3.75 per crate Thursday from $4.00 and $4.25.

The James Bros. creamery reduced the price of its cream from 43c to 41c. All other prices remained the same as for the day before.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, April 19. (AP)—Easing money rates overcame hesitancy on the curb market today and a flood of buying orders buoyed prices. Support, however, went chiefly to those issues which led the speculative advance before yesterday's recessions set in. Sagging motor, utility and some oil shares recovered their strength, advances ranging from 1 to 10 points.

Utilities as a group recorded the widest advances, American Gas and Electric soaring 15 points to a new high at 154 before profit taking cut its gain to 100. Electric Bond & Share climbed more than 7 points and United Gas Improvement and Electric Investors about 2 each. Buffalo, Niagara & Eastern A, International Utilities B and Puget Sound reached new peaks.

Marmon was one of the strangest of the motor shares, advancing nearly 4 points, followed by Auburn Auto, Brockway, Durant, Marvel Carbureter and others. Bendix, Warner Gear, Sparks Withington and Stutz were under pressure.

Bohn Aluminum advanced 7 points to a new high at 82½. Fox Theater A, Nichol and Shepard, Realty Associates, Sanitary Grocers, and United Piece Dye Works, Canadian Marconi and Spanish and General were among other industrials to register gains. Deere & Co., Mengel, Campbell Wyant, Cancitaly, Shattuck, Denn and Tubize sagged.

Announcement of an advance in gasoline prices bolstered some of the oils. Most gains were small, however, and Penn Mex Fuel, Vacuum and a few others showed losses of 1 to 3 points.

U. S. WORKERS TOLD OF LAW

Federal Employes Warned Of Political Activity

Bulletins have been received and posted by the postoffice and other federal departments in Wichita Falls warning against the taking of an active part in political management or in political campaigns by competitive employes.

This bulletin, or warning, is issued every year by the United States civil service commission, Washington, D. C., and states that: "Competitive employes, while retaining the right to vote and to express privately their opinions on political subjects, are forbidden to take an active part in political management or in political campaigns. This also applies to temporary employes, employes on leave of absence with or without pay, substitutes, and laborers. Political activity in city, county, state or national election, whether primary or regular, or in behalf of any party candidate, or any measure to be voted upon, is prohibited."

The bulletin also contained warning against the solicitation or receiving of money for political purposes of government employes by any candidate, officer or officer-elect.

A presidential appointee, however, with certain restrictions, is allowed to take such a part in political campaigns as is taken by any private citizen.

Dancer Grabs Vaudeville Lead

Victoria Youngman Wins Individual Honors

By The Record News Critic

An upset on the Majestic vaudeville program this week left the headline act still the headline act, but it found the show with a new shining star in Victoria Youngman, a "dancin' little fool," as Manager Hans Smith puts it.

Vic takes the new dance craze successors to the black bottom and sets the house wild. She danced herself into the hearts of the Majestic fans Thursday.

Her act is the headliner and features Hugh Skelly and Emma Heit, who handle their work well. The Kramer twins on this same act have a song and dance series that gets over nicely.

Lew Reed and Paul Le Vere in "Two Gentlemen From Nowhere," get over well with some nifty dancing and instrumental music. These boys add great variety to the show, and the banjo, violin and guitar features are among the high spots of the program.

"The Doll Dance" is the feature number played by the "Little Symphony Orchestra," which is a real organization. This orchestra presents a series of popular melodies and is composed of men who have played in some of America's best symphonies. Mynet Andre lances and sings as a special feature of this act.

A little pup dog, unannounced, is the feature of the pantomime acrobatic act which opens the bill. The doggie is good. Claud de Car heads this company.

About 900 watches, 15 alarm clocks and one or two big clocks are conjured out of mid air by Gus Fowler, the watch king, who has a touch of magic particularly applied to chronometers. He picks Ingersolls out of the air at a most rapid rate.

Esther Ralston in "Something Always Happens," causes quite a bit of laughter in the screen feature. The Paramount newsreel and a short comedy complete the program.
