Talks break off in Atlanta...

Louisiana hostages may be released

By The Associated Press

Cuban inmates negotiated a possible release today of 27 hostages being held in a detention center in Louisiana, but talks to free 94 hostages in the Atlanta federal penitentiary broke off, officials said.

Most of the action occurred away from public view, inside the fire-ravaged Oakdale, La., detention center and Atlanta prison.

However, in a dramatic development, a Cuban inmate and a federal official in Oakdale shook hands before a television camera Thursday night and spoke of signing a hostage-release agreement today.

"We need to have ... all four (Cuban negotiators) to sign," the unidentified official said on a WBRZ-TV videotape released to news organizations. "That's when the other 27 will be released."

One of the hostages taken when the Cubans seized the compound in a riot Saturday was released Thursday night.

At a news briefing early today, U.S. Justice Department spokesman Mark Sheehan refused to confirm an agreement had been reached.

"I will not confirm or deny that the negotiators' comments are valid," Sheehan said. "I don't know with certainty what will happen tomorrow."

As to how to interpret the videotape, he said, "The handshake was an indication of the tone of the negotiations."

In Atlanta, Justice Department spokesman Tom Stewart said no further talks were scheduled.

Chances for snow less likely in area as system weakens

From Local, Wire Reports

Scurry County residents experienced a cloudy and cold Thanksgiving, but chances for snow locally and at points north are now being downgraded.

Very light snow fell across the Texas Panhandle early Friday, but the National Weather Service cancelled a winter storm warning for the Panhandle and a snow advisory for the South Plains.

The threat of significant snowfall diminished considerably because of a weakening low pressure system, forecasters said.

Only a few snow flurries were expected in the South Plains and very light snow was expected in the Panhandle.

For the Scurry County area, Friday night was expected to be clear and colder with lows in the upper 20s.

Saturday was to be warmer, however.

'TIS THE SEASON — Western Texas College employees Albert Conde, bottom, Sal Carrizales and Carl Stewart put lights on the wires holding the Christmas tree they had just erected in the campus courtyard — one of the annual signs that the Christmas season has begun again in Scurry County. Count near 23,000 bales...

Cotton harvest has 'high' ratings for both quality, price

By mid-week, Scurry County gins had processed 22,308 bales or a little over a third of the projected cotton yield that is considered among the best in quality ever produced here.

Total production of 60,000 bales or about a bale to the acre is expected, and the quality has been so high that the cotton has been bringing an extra two to three cents per pound — generally around 60 to 62 cents or almost 20 cents higher than last year.

David Kattes of Von Roeder Seed Farms said the staple length of Scurry County cotton is usually 15/16ths but this year is running 1 132nds to 1 116ths of an inch and, instead of the typical strict low middling light spot grade, is grading at the "whitest white" middling or strict low middling levels.

"It's stuff that we don't ordinarily grow," Kattes said. "The staple is long and strong."

Ira Gin manager Alton Hill said farmers probably will have all the cotton stripped within three weeks if the weather stays good and that the gins would take about another three weeks to process all the cotton.

Hill reported 1,685 bales ginned with an expectation of 6,000 to 6,500 for the season and said the "price is strong and getting stronger."

Barbara Sutton at Paymaster Gin on the Lamesa Highway reported 2,825 bales processed with a 12,000-bale projection and said a number of farmers are benefitting from having pre-sold their cotton last summer for 73 and 74 cents per pound.

A spokesman for Farmers Co-op on the Roby Highway said 4,901 of the expected total of 12,000 bales-plus had been ginned there.

Dunn Gin manager Alton Smith said he had ginned 1,780 bales and hopes to do about 6,000.

Hermleigh Gin bookkeeper Linda Roemisch reported 1,178 bales out with 260 bales still on Fire run numbers decrease

Snyder firemen answered fewer fire run calls both inside the city and out in the county during the past 12-month reporting cycle, according to statistics recently released.

The total number of city calls was 174 compared to 198 during last fiscal year. Out in the county, the most recent total was 117 compared to 124 last year. The reporting period ends annually on Sept. 30.

The two categories combined for a total of 293 runs in all compared to 323 runs during fiscal year 1985-86.

Of the 174 fires reported inside the city, there were 11 blazes involving a dwelling, two of these mobile homes. There were also six dwelling fires listed in the county.

Inside the city, by far the largest single category involved runs listed as "public service" with 67 reported. Such runs normally involve "non-emergency" type calls to include dumpster fires or gas washdowns.

City fires included also 27 smoke scares; 21 grass fires; and 15 motor vehicle fires. Also, 25 were listed as miscellaneous.

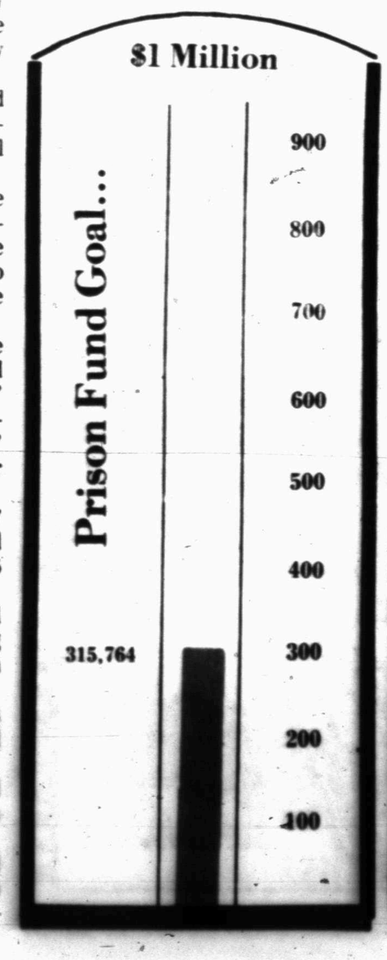

The largest category for rural fires involved either burning grass or trash. Forty-eight such runs were listed.

Eleven motor vehicle fires were noted; 14 smoke scares and 18 miscellaneous fires.

The department was required at only three oil field-related fires during the year.

In addition, it also assisted Borden County firefighters with two blazes in their county.

All recent election interest concerning parimutual betting reminded Gene Dow of a gambling story that he published in the Colorado City Record.

A teacher asked her fifth grade students to stand up and tell classmates their father's occupation, spell it and then tell what his father could do for each student.

The first student said, "My daddy is a banker...B-A-N-K-E-R...he could give us a nickle."

The second student said, "My daddy is a baker...B-A-K-E-R...he could give us a cookie."

A third student answered, "My dad is an electrician...E-L-I-C, E-L-E-K, E-L-I-K..." Finally the teacher asked him to sit down and think about it for a minute.

The next lad said, "My dad is a bookie...B-O-O-K-I-E...he'll give you 10-1 odds that that last kid can't spell electrician."

Death toll 7

by The Associated Press

Seven people, including three Oklahomans, died in separate accidents in Texas during the long Thanksgiving weekend, according to an unofficial holiday fatality count by The Associated Press.

The Texas Department of Public Safety says David Rivera, 37, of Mathis was killed shortly before midnight Thursday in a one-vehicle accident in San Patricio County. His vehicle overturned on FM 881 at the State Highway 77 bypass near Mathis.

5 die in fire

JASPER, Texas (AP) — Five people were killed early today in a mobile home fire north of Jasper.

Jasper County Sheriff Aubrey Cole said the victims included two women and three children, believed to be ages 1, 4 and 15. The home was located nine miles north of Jasper, off U.S. 96, Cole said.

"They were all related, they were part of two families," Cole said. "They were burned. It's terrible."

The names were not released pending positive identification and notification of next of kin, officials said.

Transplant

HOUSTON (AP) — A Dallas County sheriff's deputy, striken with an irreversible heart condition, needs a heart transplant to live, a doctor says.

Merle Nicholson, who has worked for the sheriff's department for 7½ years, became ill during a trip to Jacksonville, Fla., to pick up a fugitive.

Nicholson, 26, checked into a local hospital, and doctors determined he needed a transplant as soon as possible.

Former minister to move

DALLAS (AP) — A former Methodist minister who attempted suicide and eventually surrendered his credentials as a minister after a brutal attack left his wife comatose will move to California, friends and acquaintances say.

Walker Railey has decided to move to California to pursue job opportunities, friends said Thursday. Railey was minister of the First United Methodist Church of Dallas prior to the attack on his wife, Margaret Railey, about seven months ago.

The friends said Railey is spending the Thanksgiving holidays with friends in Houston before moving to California. They said he sold the home where his wife was attacked.

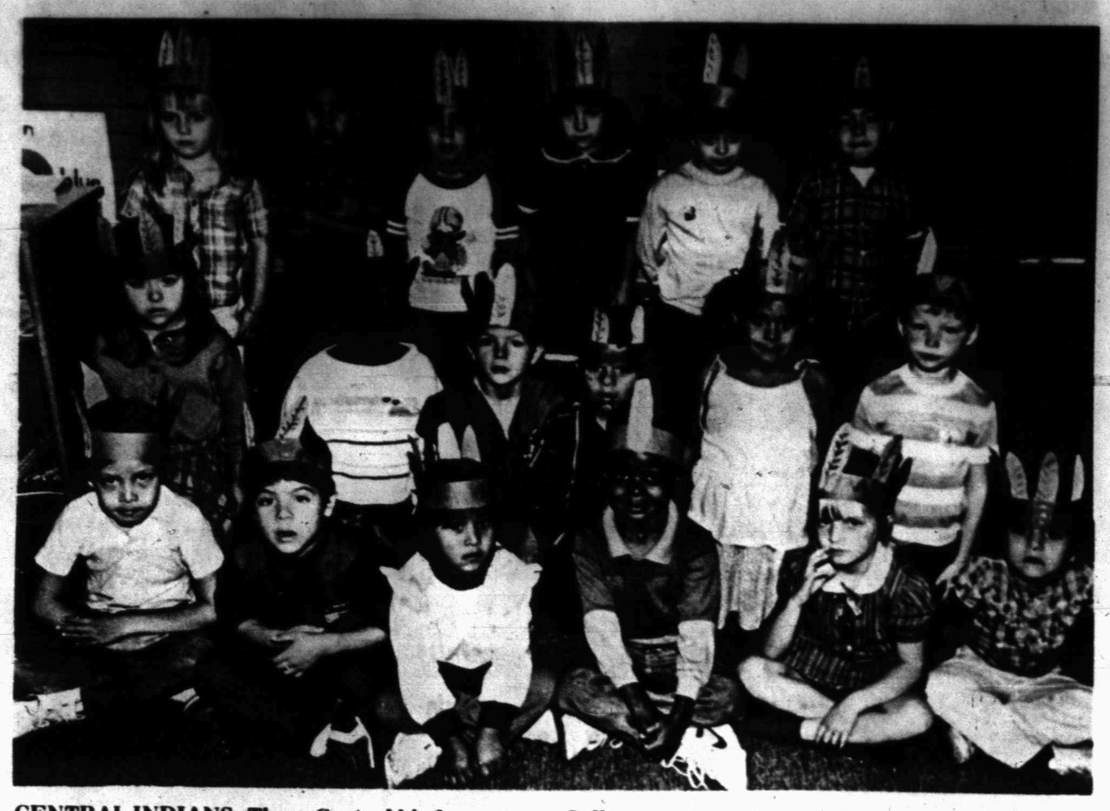

Railey determined that it would be almost impossible to find employment in the Dallas area following extensive publicity about the attack, friends said. Railey's situation was complicated by testimony from Dallas psychologist Lucy Papillon, who told a Dallas County grand jury she was romantically involved with Railey for more than a year before the attack.

The former minister surrendered his credentials as a minister after receiving his last paycheck from the church in September.

Police have not called Railey a suspect in the attack on his wife, his lawyer, Doug Mulder, has said Railey is the only suspect police have.

The former minister's move to California will not significantly effect the investigation into the attack, according to Police homicide Lt. Ron Waldrop.

"He's refused to talk to us while he's been here, so his leaving shouldn't have any impact on our investigation," Waldrop said.

Lackluster season forecast

NEW YORK (AP) — The Christmas shopping season that begins today will probably get off to a slow start, hurting retailers who traditionally get half their profits from holiday spending, analysts say.

"I think it's going to be lousy," said Robert Buchanan of L.F. Rothschild & Co Inc. "I think the consumer is not in a buying mood because of very meager growth in real disposable income along with a dose of fright caused by the stock market crash."

Analysts said their negative predictions also stem from the fact that consumer spending has not picked up this month after being slow all year while Americans paid off heavy installment debt.

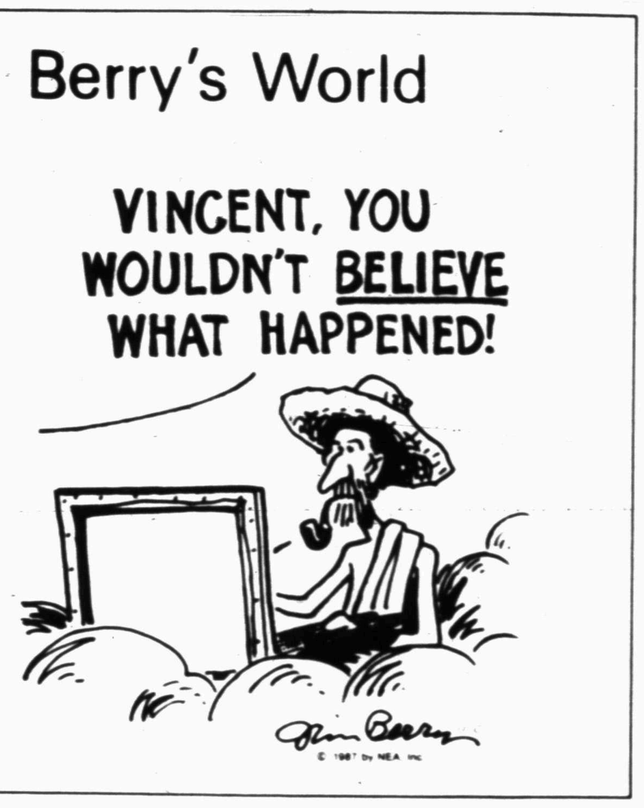

"People have been extremely pessimistic," said Jeffrey B. Edelman, an analyst with Drexel Burnham Lambert Inc. "Consumer spending is drifting sideways."

"I don't think there's reason for alarm, but I don't think there is reason to be ebullient," said Edelman, predicting sales would be mediocre.

Consumer spending, considered an important barometer of the nation's economic well-being, accounts for two-thirds of the gross national product. The gross national product is the total value at retail prices of all goods and services produced by the U.S. economy.

A survey by the Conference Board, a business research organization, indicated that Americans don't plan to cut back their Christmas spending. More pessimistic analysts such as Buchanan said sales could decline from last year after being adusted for inflation.

Gifts Should Be a Joy to Give And a Joy to Receive as Well

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1987 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: Well, are the Christmases getting closer together or does it just seem that way? It's time to start preparing for the holidays again, so do yourselves a favor and do your Christmas or Hanukkah shopping early.

Here's my annual — slightly revised — column on holiday shopping.

If you're wondering what to give Aunt Olivia or Grandpa, who doesn't go out much, let me tell you what not to give them:

Forget dusting powder, after-shave and cologne. (They probably have several unopened boxes gathering dust on their closet shelves.)

Grandpa doesn't need another necktie, and Aunt Sylvia doesn't really want any more brooches, necklaces, bracelets or earrings.

With the price of groceries so high, older folks who live alone on a fixed income would be delighted to receive a basket of goodies. Include small cans of salmon, chicken, ham, tuna, fruit, instant coffee, tea bags, crackers, cookies and instant soup mixes.

Older people who live in confined quarters do not need more "things" that are ornamental only. Don't send music boxes, statuettes or other bric-a-brac.

A truly thoughtful gift: postcards and some lined stationery with envelopes and a generous supply of postage stamps. (Enclose some felt-tip pens, too.)

A handy gift: an assortment of greeting cards for all occasions, so that they, too, can send birthday, anniversary, graduation, get-well and condolence cards to others.

Don't give a gift of clothing unless you're absolutely sure the size is right.

If you're tempted to pass along a scarf, purse, wallet or some little doodad you received three Christmases ago, please don't; the recipient will probably find it just as useless as you did. (Besides, you might get it back the year after next.)

If someone on your gift list is living on a pension, a check for any amount would be far more appreciated than some useless little trinket. Another thoughtful gift would be a year's subscription to a newspaper or magazine you are sure he or she will enjoy.

If you buy a gift on sale, be sure it's appropriate, since if the recipient tries to exchange it, he will be told, "Sorry, sale merchandise is not returnable."

Never give a pet to anyone unless you're absolutely sure a pet is wanted and will be properly cared for. And if you want to delight someone who considers his pet a "member of the family," include a tin or two of cat or dog food for the pet.

Don't give wine or liquor unless you're sure the recipients imbibe. Candy, nuts and fruitcake make wonderful gifts for those who aren't counting calories, but please have compassion for those who are, and lead them not into temptation. Also remember that many older people have difficulty chewing hard candies and nuts.

Instead of giving someone a gift with permission to "take it back and exchange it if it's not what you want," save yourself (and them) time and effort by giving gift certificates in the first place.

For those who maintain their own homes and apartments, consider a gift certificate for other types of service needed — window washing and rug cleaning. And don't forget certificates for the barber shop, beauty parlor, taxi rides or dinner out to a fine restaurant. And (don't laugh) a trip to the podiatrist!

Holiday time can be depressing for people who are alone, so if you know someone who might be alone and lonely, give him (or her) the best gift of all — an invitation to have a holiday meal with you and your family. Loneliness is the ultimate poverty.

Love, ABBY

Literary prizes called 'happy accidents'

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Mexican author Carlos Fuentes, fresh from winning the top Spanish-language literary prize, said in an interview published here Thursday that such honors are happy accidents.

"Literary prizes are happy accidents," he said in the phone interview from Boston with the left-leaning Uno mas Uno newspaper. "Or, if you'd like, accidental happinesses."

Fuentes spends much of his time outside of Mexico. He currently is a literature professor at Harvard, where he learned Wednesday about his winning of the Spanish Ministry of Culture's Miguel de Cervantes prize.

But he said in the interview, "I visit (Mexico) regularly. I go to places where no one goes. I talk with the common people more than with the intellectuals."

Fuentes also was named earlier this year as a top candidate for the Nobel Prize for literature, along with Mexican poet and essayist Octavio Paz.

Paz, who was the first Mexican writer to win the Cervantes prize in 1981, described Fuentes as being "the most complete and of the most universal talent in this Mexican end of century."

He also said, "I hold his sayings in esteem because in him the words are alive; they are true characters in his works, characters of flesh and blood."

Among Fuentes' best-known works are the novels "The Death of Artemio Cruz," "Hydra Head," "Where the Air is Clear" and "The Old Gringo."

Preparations are well under way for the screen version of the latter, to be made in Mexico starring Jane Fonda and Burt Lancaster and directed by Luis Puenzo, the Argentine director whose "The Official Story" won an Academy Award as best foreign language film.

Private investors may buy thrifts in Texas

DALLAS (AP) — The new president of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Dallas says resolving the problems of Texas savings and loans and re-establishing public confidence in the industry are major priorities of the agency.

Two proposals to sell troubled Texas thrifts to private investors have been sent to Washington to be reviewed by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, new president George M. Barclay said.

Barclay declined to detail which savings and loans might change hands.

The deals, which could be completed before the end of the year, are subject to final negotiations and bank board approval, Barclay said.

It would be the first time private investor capital is used to help the troubled Texas thrift industry.

Regulators have undertaken a study to determine the best way to help S&L in Texas, prior to substantial acquisitions. The study was announced earlier this month by bank board chairman M. Danny Wall, and should be completed in early 1988.

"It is important for the public to see action," Barclay said. "I think it also is important to ensure that the industry is a long-term player for providing depository services and credit to the district."

The research will help determine how to reduce the operating costs of troubled thrifts by merging facilities, he said.

Getting the picture

By James Jacoby

Making the right defensive play requires you to have confidence in your opponents' bidding. You assume they have bid correctly, and you try to picture the cards held by declarer. Then you plan to develop enough tricks to set the contract, based upon your perception of declarer's holding. That's the right approach to defense at bridge, even though declarer will frequently have different cards from what you anticipated.

Today East used this line of thinking to come up with an unusual winning play. Declarer played dummy's heart king at trick one, and East won the ace. Since South had simply signed off in four spades without expressing any slam interest, East mentally placed him with nine or 10 high-card points. If that were the case, perhaps West had a trump trick. Where then would the setting trick come from? East finally decided there would be a good chance of success if his partner had as much as the 10 or even the nine of diamonds. So he played back his two of diamonds at trick two. Declarer won the queen of diamonds in dummy and took the spade finesse. West won and returned a diamond, and the A-J took the setting tricks.

Why would the nine of diamonds be enough in the West hand to achieve a favorable result? Suppose South held 10-8-7 instead of 9-8-7. With a diamond return at the second trick, the natural card for him to play is the seven or eight rather than the 10. Readers of this column will now do better, right?

A new book by James Jacoby and his father, the late Oswald Jacoby, is now available at bookstores. It is "Jacoby on Card Games," published by Pharos Books.

Mom, girl recovering slowly

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Gail Amos and her 9-year-old daughter continue their slow road to recovery, almost nine months after they were abducted at gunpoint by a trucker who shot them and left them for dead.

Ms. Amos said she is thankful she and her daughter, Angie, were alive this Thanksgiving.

"There's a deep thankfulness in my heart that my daughter will be here with me," Ms. Amos said. "I still wake up mornings and think, 'I'm alive, Angie's alive.'"

Ms. Amos has tried to help Texas Rangers and the Ector County Sheriff's Department find the trucker who abducted the pair early March 3, when the woman had car trouble on Interstate 20 west of Colorado City.

Gunshot wounds to Angie's head and the woman's neck still cause problems. The child still limps and Ms. Amos wears a neck brace.

Angie, who sustained a 25-caliber bullet wound that pierced her cerebellum and sent her into a coma, "recovered faster than any of the doctors expected," her mother said.

Angie was discharged from a Dallas hospital on May 8, after a seven-week stay.

"It's hard to tell any difference" in Angie, said Ms. Amos, who credits God with the "miraculous" survival of the two.

Ms. Amos returned in August to her job with the U.S. Postal Service in El Paso. She works part time due to the immobility caused by the bullet that was lodged between two vertebrae in her neck.

Ms. Amos still cannot drive, but next Wednesday she visits a doctor for an exam she hopes will enable her to leave the neck brace behind and get behind the wheel again.

"Our lives are starting to blend back together," she explained by telephone from her El Paso home this week.

She harbors no bitterness toward the man who nearly ended their lives.

Missing siblings are reunited

FREMONT, Calif. (AP) — Five siblings put up for adoption 58 years ago by parents who were unable to feed them finally reunited over a Thanksgiving feast, and found they had more in common than similar features.

"The whole group likes jigsaw puzzles, reading and gardening," Ed Maddox, 62, of Sunland said Thursday as he stood surrounded by leftovers and half-empty paper plates at Holy Spirit Church.

"It was a marvelous day," said his 67-year-old sister, Marie Peterson of Minneapolis. "I didn't believe it would ever happen. It has and I'm so glad I was alive to be here."

The reunion brought together three brothers, two sisters and 44 relatives from across the nation.

But it was far from complete despite national news stories on the search that Maddox, a Christian missionary, began last July for his six brothers and four sisters.

Two brothers are dead, one sister is in a nursing home suffering from Alzheimer's disease and three others are still missing.

"It was nice to be able to bring each other up to date about what's happened in our lives," Maddox said. "We hope next time, there will be three more with us."

The 11 siblings were put up for adoption by their poverty-stricken parents, Agnus and Harry Bunan, in 1929.

The Bunans and their children had camped all summer on the bank of a creek in what is now Fremont, about 40 miles southeast of San Francisco, on the eve of the Great Depression.

Alameda County authorities at first refused to take responsibility for the children of transients. Unable to feed the youngsters, the couple gave 10 of them to well-wishers attracted by newspaper accounts of their plight.

The county later reconsidered, took custody and offered all the children for adoption. No one knows for sure what became of the elder Bunans, although it's believed they moved to Arizona.

Born Edward Birdsel Bunan, Maddox was adopted by an Oakland streetcar motorman and his wife.

Maddox and his daughter, Cherri, began the search by combing courthouse files in Oakland for adoption papers. The Associated Press ran a story on their effort last August and within two weeks Maddox had located all but the three missing siblings.

Those found were:

—Walter Berman, 65, a retired federal government worker from Hamilton, Ohio.

—Agnes Durand, 69, of Citrus Heights, Calif. She told Maddox their eldest sibling, Harry, died in 1972 at the age of 56.

—Lillian Stong, 67, now living in a Castro Valley nursing home and suffering from Alzheimer's disease. Peterson is her twin sister. From them, Maddox learned that another brother, Ernest Bunan, died of appendicitis in 1931 at the age of 12.

—Lloyd Lindberg, 63, of Springfield, Mass.

Still missing are Marion Fenton, who was last known to be living in Petaluma, Calif., and had her name changed from Viola; Leonard Loftus Bunan, last seen in 1942 when he was 15 and was adopted by a family named Wilson; and Harold Bunan, adopted when he was 10 months old and whose name was changed to James.

Peterson said the family hopes the three siblings still missing "will see this in the paper or television and get in touch with us."

Michaelangelo's statue David was set in place in 1504 in the Palazzo in Florence, Italy.

A U.S. Navy communications ship anchored off the Sinai Peninsula was attacked in 1967 by Israeli torpedo boats and planes, and 34 American sailors died.

German composer Robert Schumann was born in 1810.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Be realistic in evaluating situations today, but don't dwell solely on their negative aspects. What appears to be just a black cloud could have a silver lining.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Your rate of expenditures is likely to be dominated by the company you keep today. If you get involved with high rollers, you might spend more than you intend.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Lofty goals might not be easy to come by today, in order to achieve them, it will require more effort than you may be prepared to exert.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You must be careful today that you don't use methods, procedures or tactics that are self-defeating. Think and plan ahead.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you are past due on an obligation to a friend, save yourself embarrassment today by calling it to this person's attention before he or she has to remind you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Companions will have a considerable influence on your attitude today. Avoid crepe hangers, because they'll cause you to view the world through defeatist glasses.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Someone to whom you've assigned a critical task may not be as dependable as you had hoped. To be on the safe side, keep a close tab on this person today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) At a social function today, there is a chance you might run into one of your least favorite people. Don't let old feelings detract from your enjoyment.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Sidestep an old issue today that always creates friction between you and your mate. If you bring it up, your spouse could use it as a hook on which to hang other complaints.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Criticizing the efforts of another will not help this person's performance today. It may just cause him or her to lose interest in working with you again.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you overextend yourself financially at this time, you might not have the money available to do something fun you'll want to do further down the line.

Earthquakes...

Predictions may get better

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Earthquake predictions are often little more than guesses, but the guesses probably will be a little better in the future, a Texas A&M University authority on earthquakes says.

Dr. John Logan, addressing the subject in the aftershock of new tremors in California, said scientists now know that quakes have a cyclic nature which — if better understood — could refine a researcher's "best guestimate."

"In the last five to 10 years we have seen that quakes seem to have a cyclic nature," Logan said. "So we have found that major quakes on a fault should occur with some sort of periodicity. The larger quakes occur at larger intervals, and so on."

The recognition of this cyclic nature has gone a long way in enhancing the prediction of the probability of a quake, he said.

"The inability to predict earthquakes stems from the fact that, first of all, we don't know the underlying mechanisms of earthquakes," Logan explained. "We can describe it only generally, and not in a way that allows prediction.

"However, we might be able to predict them without knowing the underlying mechanisms, if quakes had certain precursor events, and certain changes to act as indicators."

Several types of changes have been explored as possible indicators: ground elevation, tilting of the surface, subsurface water, sound wave velocities, gas content, radioactive content, animal behavior, release of radon and small foreshocks.

The best-known success in earthquake prediction occurred in northeast China in the early 1980s, when evacuation saved more than 150,000 lives, Logan said.

The quakes usually occur on faults, or zones of weakness, and when the crust of the earth reaches a critical stress point, it will fail at its weakest part.

The basic premise of earthquakes is the elastic rebound theory: the crust is loaded; stress accumulates; some small displacements must occur; the crust will then slide, and the crust outside the fracture then rebounds to its original place.

As this crust strains before the quake, over a long period of time (100 to 1000 years), there ought to be detectable changes in the rock, Logan said.

"If we could detect this, we should be able to predict, ideally, a month to six months before for medium precursors; and 48 hours for short-term precursors," he said.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

Deaths at 21 are puzzling

DEAR DR GOTT — I've been doing some family genealogical research, from 1630 to 1930. Looking at a chart of death rates, there are two "spiked" rates — one for infants below 5, and one between ages 20 and 22. The rest of the curve is more bell-shaped, or what one would expect. I can understand the high infant death rate, but the "spike" at about 21 has me puzzled. The victims were equally divided between males and females; no wars were involved. Do you have any insight?

DEAR READER — Your family pattern is indeed thought provoking. The increased rate between 20 and 22 could be due to the old-time high maternal death rate from childbirth. Also, in their early 20s, our ancestors usually struck out on their own and were less protected by family. In the old days, before government entitlement programs, welfare and food stamps, such an independence must have been extremely risky. However, I'm guessing. Perhaps some genealogy maven out there can answer your question. If so, I'd like to hear from such an expert.

DEAR DR GOTT — I teach mathematics and use a lot of chalk every day. Even though the box is labeled "dustless and non-toxic," there is quite a bit of dust. Is this hazardous?

DEAR READER — The new "dustless" non-toxic chalk is not harmful. Unless you experience an allergic reaction to the chalk, such as coughing, sore throat, difficult breathing or rash, I believe that it is safe to use.

DEAR DR GOTT — Most obstetricians don't want to see their patients until they are eight to 12 weeks pregnant, but you can't get a prescription for prenatal vitamins until the doctor has seen you. If the first trimester is so important, why wait so long for the first exam?

DEAR READER — Many obstetricians DO want to see their patients in the first trimester (12 weeks) of pregnancy. This is particularly true with first pregnancies, high-risk pregnancies, teenage mothers-to-be and women over 40 who become pregnant.

Ordinarily, a healthy woman on a nutritious diet has a store of vitamins and nutrients in her body that is sufficient for herself and an early fetus. Vitamin and mineral supplements are usually not necessary until the second trimester, when the baby has grown substantially and can put a strain on the woman's resources.

Finally, there is no reason why a woman with an uncomplicated early pregnancy could not take a regular over-the-counter multivitamin pill until she needs the more super-charged prenatal variety.

I suggest that you discuss this issue with your obstetrician to obtain an overview of his or her personal philosophy about managing your particular case. From my experience, most obstetricians want to see their patients early in pregnancy, so that good health habits can be initiated and supervised.

It's important that you find a doctor who suits your needs — and Dr. Gott tells how in his new Health Report, CHOOSING A PHYSICIAN. MAKE A DECISION FOR GOOD HEALTH. For your copy, send $1 and your name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Dusters at home; 8 p.m., coliseum

Howard College tips off against Blinn at Scurry County Coliseum tonight in the opening game of the Holiday Classic.

Game time is 6 p.m. Host Western Texas College will battle Fort Hood at 8 p.m.

"We're looking for some good ballgames," said WTC Coach Kelly Chadwick. "Fort Hood was tough last year and Blinn is always one of the better Central Texas teams."

Saturday's schedule has Howard facing Fort Hood at 6 p.m. and Western matched up with the Lady Buccaneers of Blinn at 8 p.m.

Western Texas and Howard - scheduled to meet in WTC's conference opener here on Dec. 10 - do not play each other in the classic.

Tonight's game will be the first home game of the season for Coach Chadwick's Lady Dusters, who are 7-3 on the season.

Western to play San Jac

PASADENA -- Western Texas College faces highly-touted San Jacinto at 6 o'clock today in the San Jacinto Tournament.

The Westerners will end a long road trip on Monday by hosting Ranger in Snyder.

Tigers to host Levelland

Snyder's Tigers will entertain Levelland at 3 p.m. Saturday in Scurry County Coliseum.

A junior varsity game will be held at 1:30 p.m.

The coliseum will also be the site of the Holiday Classic that evening, which pits Howard and Blinn College at 6 p.m. and Western Texas' Lady Dusters and Fort Hood at 8 p.m.

2-4A area playoff Friday

Tiger Stadium will host a pair of Class 2A stalwarts here tonight at 8 o'clock in an area playoff game.

Abernathy and Hamlin, both 10-2 on the season, will square off at the local stadium.

The winner will advance to meet either New Deal or San Saba, which play at 8 p.m. in Abilene. New Deal is 12-0; San Saba 10-2.

Send UT to Bluebonnet Bowl...

Aggies goin' Cotton pickin'

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - It took a little help from the old guard and the new for the 15th ranked Texas Aggies to make their third straight trip to the Cotton Bowl on New Year's Day.

Senior running back Keith Woodside broke 90 yards for a touchdown and freshman quarterback Bucky Richardson scored the game-winning touchdown with 4:33 to play, leading the Aggies to a 20-13 victory over the Texas Longhorns Thursday night.

Their combined efforts helped the Aggies, 9-2, win their third straight Southwest Conference title and host berth in the Cotton Bowl.

The Longhorns, 6-5, accepted a berth to play Pittsburgh in the Bluebonnet Bowl New Year's Eve.

"They seemed to want our quarterbacks to run the ball," said Richardson, whose 7-yard run put the Aggies ahead for good. "They did exactly like we thought they would do. I was wide open."

Richardson started down the line of scrimmage to his right and suddenly made a 90-degree turn and sprinted into the end zone.

The victory sent the Aggies to the Cotton Bowl for the sixth time and cut Texas' series lead to 63-26-5.

The Aggies lost to Ohio State 28-12 last January and beat Auburn 36-16 in the 1986 Cotton Bowl.

Woodside, outrushed this season by freshman Darren Lewis, saved one more outstanding game for his final appearance in Kyle field.

"Last Saturday I was hobbling," Woodside said. "But I knew somebody had to come in and take up the slack tonight.

"On the 90-yard run, Coach (Lynn) Amadee just called the right play against the right defense. I'd been dreaming and dreaming of making a long run like that."

Woodside broke outside behind a block by Louis Cheek and then trailed behind the interference led by receiver Percy Waddle.

"It was a great game," Woodside said. "I came in with a bang and went out with a bang."

Texas running back Eric Metcalf answered Woodside's long run and a 50-yard burst for a touchdown in the second quarter.

Wayne Clements kicked a 47 yard field goal and A&M's Scott Slater booted a career high 53-yards for a 10-10 halftime deadlock.

Clements added a 35-yard field goal in the third quarter and Slater kicked a 47-yarder in the fourth period to set up Richardson's game-winner.

"It really hurt when we had to go for field goals instead of getting in for touchdowns," Metcalf said. "I think we could have been in control if we had done that."

Metcalf rushed 82 yards in the first half but was held to a minus-one yard on six carries in the second half.

The Aggies lost safety Chet Brooks in the second quarter with a broken left leg that will keep him out of the Cotton Bowl.

The Houston Cougars and Rice Owls play for the Bayou Bucket and the Arkansas Razorbacks host New Mexico Saturday.

Playoff hopes dwindle for Pokes...

Vikings clip Cowboys in ot

IRVING, Texas (AP) - The Minnesota Twins won baseball's World Series despite only the ninth-best record in baseball. The Minnesota Vikings have the best non-strike record in the NFL but will probably have to take the wild-card route to reach the Super Bowl.

The Vikings, 7-1 in games played by their regulars, just about assured themselves a wild-card playoff spot by beating the Dallas Cowboys 44-38 on Thursday. Darrin Nelson's 24-yard touchdown run with 6:09 left in overtime gave Minnesota its fifth consecutive victory and put a severe crimp in Dallas' playoff hopes.

Minnesota, 7-4 overall because its replacement team went 0-3 during the 24-day NFL players strike, is now two games ahead of Dallas in the race one of the NFC's two wild-card playoff spots. New Orleans, 7-3, is the other likely wild card. With only four games remaining, the Vikings or Saints would have to fall apart for Dallas to have a chance.

The Vikings still have a mathematical chance of catching the Chicago Bears, who lead the NFC Central race by two games. A loss on Sunday to Green Bay would drop the Bears to 8-3, setting up a Dec. 6 showdown with the Vikings at Minneapolis.

"We're not 7-4, we're 7-1," yelled linebacker David Howard, but most of his teammates were more realistic.

"It's just one of those unfortunate things. It's a hole that we were in that we had to get out of," said defensive end Chris Doleman, who had three sacks, two of which caused fumbles.

"It's a hole we're in that we've got to get out of. Whatever happens, you've got to give us credit for getting this far."

"It's just something we have to put behind us," said Nelson, who had 118 yards on 16 carries and his first two touchdowns of the season.

The Vikings nearly let this game get away by three times allowing Dallas to come back from 14-point deficits. The last comeback occurred after Rick Fenney's 1-yard scoring run with 8:24 left gave Minnesota an apparently safe 38-24 lead.

Quarterback Danny White, who had his best game in two years despite an ailing right wrist, threw scoring passes of 14 and 18 yards to Mike Renfro, the latter with 2:08 left in regulation.

White, who completed 25 of 41 passes for 346 yards and four touchdowns and also ran for another score, saw it all go for naught when a ball slipped out of his hand in overtime.

The errant pass went directly to Minnesota's Scott Studwell, who wasn't near a Dallas receiver. Studwell's 12-yard return set up Minnesota's 63-yard drive to the game-winning touchdown.

"I can't remember one that was as personally disappointing as this one. I lost the game," said a tearful White, who sat out last week's game because of problems with a wrist still aching after being broken last season.

"All I had to do was execute but I got brave too many times," White said, "and the defense can only cover up for you for so long."

The Dallas defense tried all day to find an answer to the Vikings' Anthony Carter, who caught eight passes for 184 yards and two touchdowns. His 24-yard reception of a Wade Wilson pass moved the ball to the Dallas 26 midway through the extra period.

Then the Vikings, admittedly calling plays with the idea of getting better field position for kicker Chuck Nelson, gave the ball to Nelson.

"It's our most basic play," said Darrin Nelson, who also had a 52-yard touchdown run in the third quarter. "I just run up the middle and look for daylight and run whichever way I think I should."

Just as on his earlier scoring run, Nelson broke three tackles on the way to the end zone.

"All I wanted to do was move it closer," Minnesota Coach Jerry Burns said. "Then I looked up and I saw Darrin in the end zone so I didn't have to worry about it."

"We just couldn't contain their skill people, Carter and Nelson," Dallas Coach Tom Landry said. "You can't keep that type of an offensive team off the scoreboard very long. Now we get 10 days off before we play our next game and nobody feels worse than I do."

Willowridge to face tough passing game

by The Associated Press

Mission, 11-1, with the most prolific passing attack in the state, clashes at 7 p.m. Saturday with Sugar Land Willowridge, 10-2, in one of the highlight games of this week's regional round of the playoffs.

Mission quarterback Lupe Rodriguez over the past two years has set Texas high school records for most career passing yards, most passing yards in a season, and most touchdown passes for a game, season and career.

Two Mission receivers, Nati Valdez and Frank Hernandez, finished 1-2 in the state among Class 5A pass-catchers, with Valdez hauling in 77 for 1,183 yards and Hernandez 76 for 1,391 during the regular season.

Valdez has broken the single-season record for catches and Hernandez has the single-season record for most yards.

The Mission-Willowridge game will be played at Judson.

Other outstanding games also are on this weekend's playoff calendar.

Two Americans are killed in massacre

HARARE, Zimbabwe (AP) — Anti-government rebels massacred 16 whites, including two Americans and a Briton, on two farms run by Pentecostal missionaries, fellow preachers and the government said today.

Home Minister Enos Nkala said the victims included five children, five women and six men. Colleagues of the missionaries said two children escaped the Wednesday night massacre in Matabeleland province, in western Zimbabwe.

It was the bloodiest attack on whites since black-ruled Zimbabwe gained independence from Britain seven years ago and became black-ruled Zimbabwe.

Nkala, who is in charge of police, said the missionaries and their children were bound by the wrists and butchered with axes by a gang of about 20 armed men.

The gunmen then torched their communal houses on the two farms, New Adam's and Olive Tree, before fleeing into the bush.

"These were innocent missionaries, white people, engaged in production, talking about peace," Nkala said. "They were people we so much value."

Earlier reports from the victims' colleagues in the area said a black farm worker was killed. Nkala made no mention of this.

Nkala said the gang was led by Gayigusu, an anti-government rebel whose name means "grind the bush" in the local Ndebele language.

He said the gang appeared to have staged the massacre on behalf of squatters who had been ordered by the government to vacate the missionaries' farms, southeast of the Matabeleland provincial capital of Bulawayo.

The squatters' leader, Charles Masuku, had warned the missionaries they would "not eat another meal," Nkala said.

He refused to identify the victims and would not answer questions from reporters.

Simon Rhodes, an Assemblies of God minister living in Bulawayo and who formerly stayed with the missionaries, identified the two dead Americans as David Emerson, 35, and Karen Sharon Iversdahl, about 34, both of Montana.

He said Emerson and Ms. Iversdahl, whose hometowns he did not know, had planned to marry in a few weeks. He identified the Briton as Jean Campbell, 56, of Britain.

Rhodes said the rest of the victims were Zimbabweans and identified them as Jerry Keightley, 40, his wife, Marian, 39, their daughters Deborah, 16, and Glynis, 14, and son Barnabas, 18 months.

He also said David Marais, 38, his wife Gaynor, 27, and their son Benjamin, 6 weeks; Penelope Lovett, 28; Hazel Russell, 46, were among the victims.

Rhodes said the Marais's 6-year-old son, Matthew, escaped through a window and slept in the bush, where he was found by security forces on Thursday.

Mrs. Russell's daughter, Laura, 13, was spared by the gunmen and ordered to take a note to authorities, Rhodes said.

Nkala read extracts from the note in jumbled English. The note said the killers were "Marxist-Leninist fighters" prepared to "fight to the last man" to drive "Western, capitalist-orientated people from the country."

The note also accused Prime Minister Robert Mugabe and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher of acting contrary to the "people's revolution" and charged Mugabe with leading "a bloody, barbaric system."

The note claimed the government had massacred 60,000 members of opposition leader Joshua Nkomo's Zimbabwe African People's Union (Patriotic Front) party.

Nkomo has long disavowed links to the rebels and has urged his supporters in Matabeleland to report the rebels to authorities.

Nkomo family members, contacted in Bulawayo, said he was on a visit to England.

Mugabe led the former white-ruled British colony of Rhodesia to independence as black-governed Zimbabwe in 1980, after he and Nkomo led two separate guerrilla armies in a seven-year war. After independence, hundreds of Nkomo loyalists returned to Matabeleland province, and have been blamed for killing hundreds of civilians.

President declares 'state of calamity'

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Corazon Aquino today declared a "state of calamity" in 11 provinces as the death toll from this year's worst typhoon climbed to 281.

Officials said at least 23 people were missing.

Relief agencies reported that nearly 63,000 people were homeless after typhoon Nina, with peak winds of 127 mph, slammed across Luzon and smaller islands before entering the South China Sea on Thursday.

U.S. Ambassador Nicholas Platt released $25,000 in emergency assistance and sent U.S. Agency for International Development officials to help in relief work in Sorsogon province, one of the hardest hit areas.

Latin presidents discuss problems

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — Eight Latin American presidents began searching today for a common approach to their foreign debts, a problem that has stunted their nations' economies, led to social unrest and in some cases threatened their governments.

"Foreign debt is the most dramatic danger that troubles the economies of our people," said Alan Garcia, the combative president of Peru, on his arrival Thursday.

"It constitutes the greatest challenge and also could cause a historic rebellion of the people of the continent. Now is the time for Latin America to act."

Garcia set the tone for the meeting at this Pacific coastal resort Thursday, calling on his colleagues to "stand up to the dictatorship of a single world currency," a clear reference to the U.S. dollar.

Garcia has earned the enmity of international lenders by limiting payment of Peru's $14.5 billion debt to 10 percent of its export earnings.

The presidents began their discussions Thursday evening at the plush Las Brisas Hotel overlooking Acapulco Bay.

They were greeted individually at the city's seaside airport by President Miguel de la Madrid of Mexico, given a 21-gun salute by a battery of army howitzers, and driven to their mountainside hotel. Their informal dinner excluded even their closest aides.

Formal talks were to begin at mid-morning today with an inaugural session at which each of the eight was to make a public statement. Thereafter, all discussions will be behind closed doors until the summit ends Sunday morning with a joint declaration.

President Jaime Lusinchi of Venezuela said the eight shared a common interpretation of "social and economic development, the debt, obstacles to trade, the lack of technology transfers and our cultural isolation." He said all those matters would be discussed.

De la Madrid and Presidents Jose Sarney of Brazil and Raul Alfonsin of Argentina, whose countries are the leading debtors with outstanding loans totaling $270.7 billion, are expected to call for more favorable repayment terms from their lenders.

Together the eight nations owe $343 billion and their economies vary from battered to devastated.

In Washington, any Latin American pleas for debt restructuring will have to compete with U.S. concern over its own massive trade imbalance, huge budget deficit and shaky stock market. European lenders are not likely to be any more sympathetic to debt restructuring.

Also attending the summit were Presidents Eric Arturo Delvalle of Panama, Virgilio Barco of Colombia and Julio Maria Sanguinetti of Uruguay.

Israeli leaders vow to punish attackers

KIRYAT SHMONA, Israel (AP) — Israeli leaders vowed to avenge an attack by a hang-gliding guerrilla that left six soldiers dead. A Syrian-based group claimed responsibility and Israel said Syria also bears some of the blame.

Meanwhile, an Israeli army officer investigating the infiltration near the Lebanese border said it appeared the guerrilla could have been stopped at the main gate of the army camp he attacked, but a guard apparently did not act in time.

The 10-member inner Cabinet of senior ministers held an emergency meeting Thursday to consider Israel's response to the attack.

"We believe that the attack in northern Israel was carried out by the organization of Ahmed Jibril and we will do everything we can to punish him," the Itim news agency quoted Foreign Minister Shimon Peres as saying Thursday.

Gen. Ehud Barak, the deputy commander in chief of the army, also blamed Jibril's organization, the Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine-General Command for the attack. He told reporters that "in due course they will pay the price."

In the bloodiest infiltration from Lebanon in nearly a decade, a guerrilla flew a motorized hang glider from Lebanon and landed in northern Israel Wednesday night. The guerrilla launched a rifle-and-grenade ambush on a passing army truck, then attacked a military outpost.

He killed six soldiers and wounded seven others before being shot dead. Israeli soldiers wounded a civilian who they mistook for a guerrilla.

On Thursday Israeli troops tracked down and killed the pilot of a second glider. He had been shot down in southern Lebanon the night before but hid out until morning, the army command said.

Jibril's organization, a Syrian-based splinter group of the Palestine Liberation Organization, said Thursday it was responsible for the attack.

It issued a communique in Damascus, the capital of Syria, saying five commandos flying hang gliders took part in the attack. One of the pilots was killed, another captured, and three returned safely to base, the communique said.

PLO chief Yasser Arafat ordered his forces in Lebanon on full alert in case of possible Israel reprisal attacks, a PLO statement said.

Israel's usual response to guerrilla attacks in the past has been bombing raids on Palestinian bases in Lebanon.

The U.S. Air Force Academy was dedicated in 1955 at Lowry Air Force Base in Colorado.

Volunteers help needy celebrate holiday

By The Associated Press

An after-dinner nap may have seemed welcome to many overstuffed Thanksgiving celebrants, but the energy of thousands of volunteers who fed the needy couldn't be dampened by excess gravy.

In downtown Houston, 10,000 people enjoyed a turkey dinner and all the trimmings at the Fourth Annual Thanksgiving SuperFeast on Thursday. Organizer David Moeller said about 4,000 people volunteered to help with the feast.

"I think it's something that we could do toward making a contribution to helping people who have less in the world than what we have been blessed with," said attorney Bill Stradley, who volunteered at the event with his wife, Emmalee.

At the Salvation Army Harbor Light Center in Houston, hundreds of people lined up in the cafeteria to receive a free meal, said John Blake, food service director.

"It's a blessing to us," Blake said. "The volunteers feel great about helping someone. Me, personally, I enjoy preparing the food."

Volunteers in Fort Worth and San Antonio worked around the clock preparing dinners provided to thousands of senior citizens by restauranteur Raul Jimenez.

It was the 15th Jimenez giveaway in Fort Worth and the eighth in San Antonio.

In San Antonio, 20 city buses transported senior citizens from nutrition sites and housing projects to the Jimenez dinner at the San Antonio Convention Center.

"We thank God because we are still alive and he gives us something to eat," said Virginia Castillo-Galvan, 58, of San Antonio, who attended the dinner in a wheelchair after recently losing a foot and part of a leg to diabetes. "We think Thanksgiving Day is special and we think Mr. Jimenez and his family are special, too."

An estimated 4,000 of Dallas' needy and homeless were given warm clothing and Thanksgiving dinners by about 300 volunteers from the Bigheart Ministries.

Staff and volunteers at the Salvation Army's Carr P. Collins Center provided dinner for more than 1,100 people, officials said.

About 150 people lined up for a "hip" free Thanksgiving Day dinner at the Hard Rock Cafe.

"It's the nouveau needy," said restaurant promoter Janna Brockman of the crowd. "(They) aren't used to needing help, and that's why we have this cool atmosphere. It's not like a bus stop or anything."

What was intended to be a free meal for 300 homeless people, organized by Holy Covenant Presbyterian Church, turned into a casual Hard Rock lunch for 50 foster families and about 100 people who signed up through a United Way agency.

The south Texas town of Vattman, so small it's not on the map, swelled to nearly 1,700 for the town's 73rd Thanksgiving dinner.

"It is like a gathering or reunion," said Jennie Schonefeld, a member of a church that co-sponsors the community get-together. "It just keeps growing."

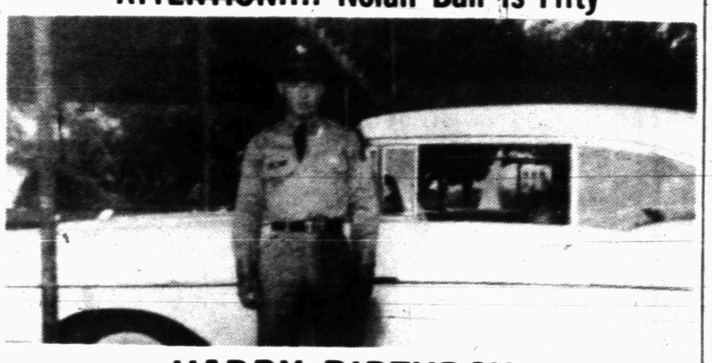

Hundreds bundled up against the cold weather to watch the Foley's Thanksgiving Day parade in downtown Houston Thursday morning. Thousands more watched the event, which featured marching bands and floats depicting fairy tale characters, on statewide television.

In East Texas, the happiest — and safest — bunch of turkeys this Thanksgiving may be distant cousins of the turkeys that ended up on the Pilgrims' plates in Massachusetts.

Ten big Eastern turkeys were recently released in a wildlife preserve near Lufkin by the Parks and Wildlife Department. Bill Brownlee, director of the department's upland game program, said the birds were trapped and transported in an attempt to restock the Eastern variety in Texas.

"They'll be protected from hunters," Brownlee said. "They'll be safe — at least this year."

Nation's notables extend hand to needy on holiday

By The Associated Press

Celebrities and politicians joined hands with the nation's homeless and hungry over Thanksgiving amid news of a hostage release in Oakdale, La., and prolonged captivity in Lebanon and two federal prisons.

For millions, Thursday's holiday meant the usual staple of plates overflowing with turkey, stuffing and gravy, pageant-filled parades and a double bill of pro football. For others, this was a different kind of year.

In economically beleaguered Texas, about 150 people lined up for a "hip" free Thanksgiving Day dinner at the Hard Rock Cafe in Dallas.

"It's the nouveau needy," said restaurant promoter Janna Brockman of the crowd. "(They) aren't used to needing help, and that's why we have this cool atmosphere. It's not like a bus stop or anything."

In New York City, 80 residents of a welfare hotel were invited to Central Falls, a chic Soho restaurant-art gallery that provided a band, a magician and clowns. Actors Matt Dillon and Griffin Dunne helped serve the traditional meal.

An estimated 2 million people who watched Macy's 61st annual Thanksgiving Day Parade in the city saw four new towering helium-filled balloons and floats, clowns, bands and colors galore. About 55 million others watched on TV.

"We got born just in time for the parade, didn't we?" Gale O'Conner of Bethany, Conn., asked her silent 3-week-old son, Patrick, as the new Spider-Man balloon passed by.

Skies stayed mostly dry and temperatures chill for parades in Detroit, Dallas and Philadelphia, where Miss America Kaye Lani Rae Rafko and Santa Claus helped usher in the holiday season.

The day was one of true thanksgiving for the family of William Hoffpauir, a guard who was released from the Federal Detention Center in Oakdale on Thursday evening by rebellious Cuban inmates who took him hostage along with 27 others.

"He's in great shape. He said they were treated royally," said Mike Marcantel, his brother-in-law.

In Atlanta, 94 people were being held hostage at the U.S. Penitentiary.

Thanksgiving presented a bitter dish for other Americans.

In Los Angeles, former Lebanon hostage David Jacobsen brandished a set of chains before reporters and urged Americans not to forget his former fellow captives, who were being treated worse than ever, he said.

On the nation's highways, the holiday weekend highway death toll rose. Victims included 28-year-old California Highway Patrol Officer Mark Taylor. Authorities said he was writing a traffic citation when struck and killed by a car alongside crowded Interstate 10 on Thursday.

In several cities, the nation's luminaries gave a helping hand to the long-suffering.

On the lawn of the U.S. Capitol, editorial cartoonists including Pat Oliphant and Jules Feiffer offered dinner to more than 2,000 homeless people. But people need "more than a turkey leg," said the Rev. Carl Ressner, director of the Union Rescue Mission in Nashville, Tenn., who expected to feed 900 people Thursday. "What's going to happen next week?"

At a senior citizens center on Chicago's South Side, residents missed their longtime Thanksgiving dinner companion, Mayor Harold Washington, who died Wednesday of a heart attack.

Thanksgiving services throughout Chicago were dedicated to Washington.

Elsewhere, a snowstorm that snapped power lines and dumped up to 14 inches of snow in northern Vermont and New Hampshire forced some residents to postpone Thanksgiving dinners.

Search continues for missing private plane

PORT MANSFIELD, Texas (AP) — Authorities hoped for cooperative weather and planned to expand the search today for three Dallas-area doctors who have been missing since their single-engine plane took off from the local airport Wednesday.

Volunteer pilots and observers of the Civil Air Patrol coordinated the search and were aided offshore by the Coast Guard.

"We didn't find anything," said Maj. James Cooper, of Group Nine of the Civil Air Patrol, Thursday. "I wish we had."

The missing men were identified as Frank Rainone Jr., 61, the pilot, a surgeon at Arlington Memorial Hospital; his brother, Carl Rainone, 62, a retired dentist and manager of art galleries in Arlington and Las Colinas; and William H. McClarty, 64, also a dentist. They were flying back to Arlington after a fishing trip.

Carl Rainone, a former professional baseball player in the minor leagues, is the team dentist for the Texas Rangers. He helped found the Little League in Arlington and helped persuade the city of Arlington to add fluoride to the water supply as an aid in fighting tooth decay, family members said.

Four planes, carrying 14 volunteers, and a Coast Guard helicopter searched the area 15 miles north and 10 miles south of Port Mansfield, Cooper said.

The search was called off in the late afternoon, after seven hours, because of inclement weather, which brought low clouds and reduced visibility.

Cooper said the search area would be expanded today to 45 miles north of Port Mansfield.

"We're going to concentrate our effort over the northern part of Baffin Bay and the southern part of the King Ranch," Cooper said.

The search was hampered by the loss of the aircraft's emergency locator transmitter, which transmitted for a few seconds after the plane took off from Port Mansfield and then stopped, officials said. The device is set off by hard landings and severe jolts.
