SWISHER COUNTY YOUTHS TAKE FAT CALF HONORS HERE

Winners Named In Stock Show

By EDWARD WELSH
Avalanche Staff Writer

SWISHER county boys made a clean sweep of the fat calf division at the 16th annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock show at the Fairgrounds Monday afternoon. Another Swisher county boy had reserve champion in the lamb division.

The grand champion was a Hereford calf entered by Weldon McClurg, 13 year old 4-H boy from Tulia. Weldon earlier took first place in the heavyweight division with his calf that weighed in at 1,057 pounds.

The reserve champion's ribbon went to Billy McAnelly, 13, also of Tulia and a 4-H member. His entry was a Black Aberdeen Angus, winner in its class and weighing 970 pounds. Both winners have been under the guidance of Swisher county agent Calvin Holcomb.

The grand champion was bred by Fitzsimmons Ranch, Llano, Texas, and the breeder of the Angus was Tommy Brooks, Camp San Saba, Texas.

W. L. Stangel, dean of the agricultural division at Texas Tech and judge of the calf division, remarked that the winners were without doubt the finest ever to be exhibited at the South Plains Junior Show. Stangel pointed out that the entries as a whole were better than in previous years.

"This indicates that the boys are learning more about feeding and raising calves," Stangel said. "The calves this year have much better finish all down the line. They are wider and deeper and the winners have good straight over and under lines."

This is the first year here that the Angus class had been entered in the competition and Stangel along with other officials of the show stated that it was remarkable how much had been accomplished with this breed. It came as a surprise to many that the Angus won reserve championship.

More than 500 persons filled all the available seats in the judging arena and there were a hundred or more who stood in every available space to witness the exhibition of fat calves.

Earlier in the day Earl Houston, 16, Seminole FFA boy, won first place in the lightweight division with a Hereford calf weighing 844

Weldon took first place in the heavyweight division earlier in the day. The calf was milk fed and was exactly one year old. Weldon also took fourth place in the division. Although he has been active in 4-H work for five years this is his first grand champion. In the bottom photo, the two champions in the fat lamb division are shown. The grand champion on the left is a 108 pound Southdown owned by Billy Terrell, 14, Lockney 4-H boy shown holding his entry. REVENUE DISTRIBUTION HIT

Solons Delay Proposal Calling For College Building Fund Split

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, March 21.—A proposal to spread revenue from the college building fund among the 16 state-supported colleges and universities was scuttled in an unfriendly subcommittee today.

The House committee on constitutional amendments balked at the proposal by Rep. James L. Norton of Nacogdoches and voted 11-5 to send it to an unsympathetic sub-group.

Norton explained that his plan would touch neither the university permanent building fund nor the $15,000,000 revenue allocated by a previous amendment to the University of Texas and Texas A&M. There is more revenue, he said, still untouched and this should be spread according to scholastic enrollment among all schools, including the university and A&M.

Discrimination Charged

Joe James of Abilene, representing the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, called the previous amendment allocating money to just two schools discriminatory.

In opposition, Dr. T. S. Painter, president of the University of Texas, said dissipation of funds over 16 schools would take away the source of strength making the university and A&M first class schools.

The committee approved seven other proposed constitutional amendments. They were:

By Rep. Bill Wood of Tyler allowing counties to set up rural fire prevention districts.

Pension Proposal Okayed

By Rep. George Parkhouse of Dallas permitting counties to join a statewide pension system for their employes.

By Rep. John Crosthwait of Dallas permitting a jury trial in

Processing Tax On Fuels Urged

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) — A bill putting a one cent per gallon processing tax on fuels that burn was sent to a friendly House subcommittee tonight.

The measure by Rep. Davis Clifton of Farmersville would repeal the present four cents per gallon sales tax on gasoline and substitute the processing tax for it.

Clifton estimates it would produce $120,000,000 per year.

The subcommittee was instructed to report back to the House Revenue and Taxation committee in two weeks.

One Plan Killed

Earlier the revenue and taxation committee in effect killed one revenue proposal before starting the hearing on Clifton's bill.

Clifton said he was gratified by the action.

Rep. Deno Tufares' bill levying a tax of a cent and half per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas was salted away in a new subcommittee of five after having spent two weeks in subcommittee. The new subcommittee had no instructions on when to report. This probably means the finish for Tufares' bill.

Testimony for and against Rep. Davis Clifton's measure to put a 1-cent per gallon processing tax on gasoline and other combustible fuels was delayed by a wrangle over a substitute measure offered by Clifton.

Would Shift Burden

But Clifton withdrew his substitute and the committee went to work on his original measure.

Clifton, of Farmersville, told the committee that 81 per cent of the gasoline produced in Texas is sold out of the state. He said his bill would shift the burden on out of state users.

TEXAS MENTAL INSTITUTIONS

Shortage Of Space For Aged Is Major Problem Facing State

By J. P. PORTER
Special Correspondent

EVERY third person in Texas mental institutions is an incurable senile, and the oppressive numbers have turned the state hospital system into modified concentration camps.

There are 5,800 of these patients whose only crime against society is that medical science has prolonged life expectancy but found no cure for senility. One may escape the more spectacular afflictions which cause sudden death. But old age and mental deterioration often go hand-in-hand.

No. 2

The patients are not card-indexed as seniles. The figure varies from 30 to 80 per cent in each Texas institution. The mental deterioration also varies. Any number know where they are and can recall the grim courtroom scene that sent them on their way.

Consider this case study. John Doe is in his mid-seventies and growing senile. He is feeble and forgetful, sometimes dropping lighted matches around the prem-

Plains Water Outlook Good

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

AN optimistic picture of long-range water prospects of the South Plains and Panhandle was sketched here Monday afternoon by Harry Burleigh, chief engineer in Texas of the U. S. Reclamation service.

He voiced confidence that a Canadian River dam and reservoir could impound enough water for all the needs of all the cities and towns of the areas for domestic and industrial purposes during the "reasonably foreseeable future."

Estimates reported at a meeting in the city hall here of representatives of eight communities of the area, were that the water requirements of all South Plains and Panhandle communities would approximate 139,000 acre feet annually in the year 2,000.

Water Going To Waste

Substantially more than this quantity now flows downstream in the Canadian and goes to waste each year, he said.

He expressed further confidence that numerous towns can place reliance for the next 50 years or longer upon the underground sources from which all communities of the areas now obtain their water. It may be cheaper and better, he said, for many localities to place their long-range dependence upon these supplies. He mentioned Plainview, Littlefield, Levelland and Dimmitt as being in this group.

If the time comes within the next 20 to 40 years when such communities must obtain water from other sources, he asserted, a Canadian reservoir should be able to supply all they need.

Information Sought

Cities like Amarillo and Lubbock, he continued, are in a different category. Their demands are so large, Burleigh said, that the Canadian development appears now to offer the best hope of solving their long-range problems.

Burleigh emphasized repeatedly that all planning still is in an exceedingly tentative stage.

Meetings like the one in Lubbock and another scheduled in Amarillo today, he explained, are for the primary purpose of gathering information which will en-

Two Injured In Car, Motorcycle Accident

Two Lubbock young men were injured, not seriously, in a collision of their motorcycle and an auto at the intersection of Seventeenth street and Ave. V about 3 p.m. Monday.

Dan Moody Hurley, 22, of 2420 Sixteenth, driver of the motorcycle, and Fred Eddins, 19, of 1911 Twentieth, a passenger on the two-wheeled vehicle, were taken for treatment to West Texas hospital by the driver of the car.

Hurley suffered three deep cuts on the left leg near the ankle, as well as several bruises. Eddins was treated for minor bruises and cuts, police reports showed.

The car, driven by Joseph Samuel Davis, 18, a student of 2213 Fifteenth, was going south on Ave. V, and the motorcycle was proceeding east on Seventeenth at the time of the mishap. The car struck the smaller vehicle on the left side, causing it to skid about 20 feet from the force of the impact, the accident report indicated. No charges will be filed, police said.

Endurance Fliers Circle Florida Town To Pick Up Fuel, Food

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 21. (AP)—The "sunkist lady" with two California-Florida endurance flyers aboard arrived over suburban Craig field at 4:31 p. m. (CST) today.

The plane flew in from Meridian, Miss., 560 miles away, to complete one of its longest stretches.

Bill Barris and Dick Riedel, piloting the craft from Fullerton, Calif., to Miami and back again, began to slowly circle the field to make running pickups of fuel and food from a jeep. They ordered steak for tonight's meal.

Truman Blasts Opposition To Rent Controls

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 21.—President Truman, adopting a strategy of soft words toward Congress, said today he and the legislators are co-operating and only "trouble makers" talk of bad feeling between them.

Instead of lashing out at the 81st Congress for the setbacks he has received at its hands, the President roundly denounced the "real estate lobby" which, he said, has proved itself the "enemy of the American home." He said it was trying to kill rent control and the administration's housing program.

The President's remark about Congress, in a speech to the United States Conference of Mayors, were in marked contrast with his lambasting of the 80th Congress during the presidential campaign. They also contrasted with his recent hint that he might stump the country again in behalf of his current legislative program.

Trouble Makers Rapped

"I have been much interested in the attempts of the usual trouble makers to make it appear that there is bad feeling between the 81st Congress and the President of the United States," he said.

"It seems that whenever I make a recommendation to the Congress, many newspapers and columnists set up a howl about the President trying to dictate to the Congress. And then if the Congress makes any decision that varies at all from my recommendations, these same trouble makers start a gleeful chorus about how the Congress has thrown the whole democratis program overboard."

Mr. Truman spoke against a background of three recent developments:

1. The House shot holes in the administration's rent-control bill. As passed by the House, the measure would let states, counties and cities decide whether to keep rent control or junk it.

Real Estate Lobby Hit

2. The Senate, dominated by a powerful coalition of Republicans and southern and western Democrats, rejected an anti-filibuster rules change. Sought by the administration in an effort to clear the way for civil rights legislation.

3. A Senate committee rejected 7-6 President Truman's nomination of his friend, Mon C. Wall-

Senate Split On Rent Curb Bill

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—The Senate split down party lines today on the merits of a House-approved plan to let states, counties or cities shrug off federal rent controls whenever they like.

Republicans generally argued in favor of the idea. Democrats said the power to lift controls should be given only to the state.

The disagreement came as President Truman said lobbyists are trying to kill off controls entirely and his lieutenants prodded the Senate to act quickly.

The present rent law expires March 31, only 10 days away.

Tighter Bill Voted

As the senate began debate on its own bill for the nation, the House passed 247 to 117 a rent control bill for the District of Columbia providing for much tighter controls than its own national bill, which it approved last week, International News Service reported.

The district bill continues ceilings on housing accommodations in Washington hotels, although the House rejected in the national bill an administration-sponsored proposal that hotels outside Washington, including transient hostelries, be recontrolled.

Many members of Congress and government officials live in Wash-

TWISTER CAUSES DAMAGE—Hitting in a rural area about nine miles west of Lubbock, a small twister caused considerable damage to farm buildings on the C. R. Moore farm late Sunday afternoon. IT'S TORNADO TIME AGAIN

Spring, Storm Season Make Joint Bow On South Plains

By BILL HAMS
Avalanche Staff Writer

SPRING, and the tornado season with its accompanying destruction and tragedy, has arrived.

Spring, the season usually associated with birds, flowers and growing things, also is the season of the whirling winds that sow misery from the Texas High Plains, through North and East Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama, and often into Oklahoma, Kansas and along the Texas Gulf coast.

The arrival of the storm season was brought forcibly home to South Plains residents Sunday when shifting air currents stirred up an unexpected storm during which a twister destroyed two small outbuildings, unroofed a third, and almost upset a garage on the C. R. Moore farm, nine miles west of Lubbock. Just across the road, Lloyd E. Huffaker had an overhead tank blown down.

Youth Is Killed

South of Brownfield, Marvin Bullard, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Bullard, was killed almost instantly when struck by lightning early Sunday afternoon.

The huge black cloud that built up west and southwest of Lubbock about 5 p. m. had many storm-wise residents peering from windows and preparing for a severe blow.

It is the coming of spring that breeds the twisters, the weatherman says. The northward bound warm, moist air clashes with the cold, dry front still creeping toward the south.

Storm Season On

The two fronts stage a tug of war, and in the no-man's-land where the air currents twist and turn the tornadoes are born to rip across the countryside leaving a path of death if they are large, or at least a mass of wreckage if small.

Sunday's storm on the South Plains, and the other twisters across the Southwest and Southland came on the first and second days of spring, and marked the opening of the tornado season. The frequency of the storms will increase, the weatherman said, as more warm fronts move northward to clash with a dying winter until the season's peak is reached late in April or early May.

Luckily the South Plains is on the edge of the twister belt. Twisters are not infrequent during the stormy season, but usually they fail to reach the destructive size so common further eastward. It is not uncommon for houses to be damaged, and outhouses destroyed in this area, but loss of life directly from tornadoes is relatively small, the weathermen declare.

"There is always the exception, however," a forecaster pointed out. "We can say that mighty for-

Sunrise Wind May Put 'Indian Sign' On Plains Crops

If the wind is from the east or northeast at sunrise today, sit back and relax. There should be bumper crops in the fields come harvest time.

That is, if you believe in signs—Indian signs, to be specific.

Old Indian legend has it that wind from the aforementioned directions today means good crops this year.

On the other hand, wind from the south, west or southwest portends a poor crop year.

A north or northwest wind, says the legend, forecasts an average harvest.

Former District Judge Clark M. Mullican, ill the past several months, last night was in Lubbock again, ready to keep his appointment for this morning's "wind reading." Judge Mullican now a resident of Wichita Falls, has been taking the wind observation since the death of W. O. Stevens, who learned of the Indian legend from the late J. I. Wilborn of Post.

Wichita Falls Railway Strike Ends; Wage Increase Granted

WICHITA FALLS, March 21. (AP) — A strike by operating employes on the Wichita Falls and Southern railway ended today.

The employes, at work under a 90-day truce, ended the strike immediately by accepting a five cent increase in the basic wage rate. The agreement was for one year.

The operating employes accepted the five-cent wage hike in lieu of a five-cent cash bonus. The new contract signed today provides that the pay increase shall apply to overtime.

Legislature Completes Action On Bill To Spend $15 Million Annually Paving Texas Rural Roads

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 21.—The 51st Legislature finished another major job today with final passage of a bill to give Texas country people 1,800 to 2,000 miles of paved roads a year.

The House adjourned until tomorrow, faced with a heavy afternoon and night schedule of committee meetings. The Senate called for an afternoon session.

The Senate finally passed, 16 to 11, and sent to the House a bill to require all drivers, after one accident to show proof of financial responsibility — by insurance or otherwise—to pay a court judgment up to a maxium $11,000. (See story, Page 1, Sec. 2).

Signature Assured

A House vote of 132 to 5 sent the Senate-approved measure allocating $15 million a year for rural roads to Gov. Beauford H. Jester's desk. His signature was assured.

There were only a few questions of "where's the money coming from?" as the House pushed the bill to final passage. It also has on its calendar another country road bill—this one to build feeder routes not necessarily paved, but hard-surfaced—tied in with a natural gas tax to finance it.

The feeder road bill would supplement the measure by Senator Neveille H. Colson of Navasota. It is by Rep. C. S. McLellan of Eagle Lake.

Gilmer-Aikin Bills Up

The House had a preliminary floor skirmish over the Gilmer-Aikin public school bills recommended for passage last week by the education committee. The House refused 70 to 55 to send one of them to another committee.

Damage High, One Is Killed In Tornadoes

(By The Associated Press)

MONDAY, the second day of blustery spring, brought an outbreak of tornadoes and damaging high winds in Texas, the Southwest and South.

Three storms ripped through widely scattered points in Texas Monday.

At the same time, a series of near-tornado winds caused one death, several injuries and widespread damage in Mississippi.

At least six persons were injured and much property was damaged by a small tornado which whipped through Tioga, five miles north of Alexandria, La., Monday.

Sunday, two small twisters occurred, one near Lubbock and the other near the Texas line in New Mexico.

Wide Area Hit

Monday's Texas disturbances included a small tornado near Texarkana, a damaging squall near Houston and a high windstorm at Denton that ripped out telephone and telegraph lines.

Winds of near tornado force killed a negro child, the 10-month-old son of William Boyd, near Yazoo City, Miss., Monday night. The winds blew down the Boyd farm house. Three other children and Boyd's wife were injured.

Red Cross executives in the Mississippi counties of Humphrey, Madison and Hinds reported widespread damage, persons were injured.

(At least 16 persons were injured in the Mississippi tornadoes. The child was killed when winds struck the Kirby-Wilkes plantation north of the Yazoo-Humphrey county line, the International News Service reported. Four other negroes were injured in Humphrey county and taken to a Yazoo City hospital for treatment. At Yazoo City, one man was seriously injured when his car was razed by the winds.

New Mexico Town Hit

(Red Cross workers also said that nine children and their teacher were injured when the winds ripped through the abandoned church they used as a school near Yazoo City, the INS said.

Teen-aged H. L. Deason of near Brookhaven, Miss., was pinned beneath debris when the athletic gymnasium at the Fair Oak community was struck by the wind.

Negro Charged In Check Theft

Lawrence Bunton, jr., 22-year-old negro who was convicted last week of misdemeanor swindling, was charged Monday afternoon with theft of a government check, Postal Inspector Vernon E. Bell said, and has admitted nine thefts and seven forgeries involving government checks totaling $1,072.

The charge was filed before Mrs. Olive Fluke, U. S. commissioner and deputy U. S. district clerk, after Bunton had been questioned by Bell and Capt. of Detectives Pat Davidson.

Bunton admitted under questioning that he had cashed checks in the amounts of $202.85, $120, $105, $30 and $105, investigators said. Two checks for $180.60 and $105 had not been cashed.

Hit-Run Driver Sought

Bond had not been set by Mrs. Fluke on the charge filed Monday afternoon, it was said. It was indicated that further charges may be brought out in grand jury indictments.

The Texas highway patrol and other law enforcement authorities on the South Plains were looking last night for the hit-and-run driver of an old-model Mercury automobile which struck a 10-year-old Tahoka boy about 5 p. m. Monday and failed to stop.

Martin F. Eudale, the accident victim, suffered only bruises and lacerations and was not hospitalized, it was reported. The boy, according to reports, was playing at the side of the street when the auto knocked him down. It was believed that the vehicle may have caught his clothing, since

Brazilian Police Hold 100 Reds After Battle

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 21.—(INS)—Reports reaching Rio De Janeiro said today that 100 persons were arrested after a gun battle between police and Communists near Santo Anastacio in the interior of Sao Paulo state.

The entire Alto Sorocabana region was reported under virtual martial law. Four top leaders of the outlawed Communist party were among those seized by police.

The trouble began when police broke up plans to hold a huge convention of agricultural workers. Three plane-loads of Brazilian security police and reinforcements from Sao Paulo were rushed to the area.

WAR HERO IS 'ON WAY UP'

Audie Murphy Still Surprised At Finding Self Film Actor, Author

By BOB CONSIDINE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, March 21—Lot of nice things are coming the way of Audie Murphy, and it would be difficult to find anyone more deserving of same.

We visited him the other day at his hotel suite and got the usual shock. The kid from Texas still has the face of a choirboy and the manner of a bashful fraternity pledgeling. He also has, as you perhaps know, the Congressional Medal of Honor, the Distinguished Service Cross, Silver Star with Oak Leaf cluster, Bronze Star, three Purple Hearts, the French Legion of Honor and the Croix de Guerre.

The good-looking, humble kid was officially credited with killing or capturing 240 Germans.

Surprised By Career

The most decorated GI (who, typically, wears the insignia of none of his medals) was telling us about his movie career. It is still something of a surprise to him, though he now has a leading role in "Bad Boy," the Allied Artists release which will open in New York Tuesday at a special showing, complete with all-star stage show, and whose "gate" will go to the charitable work of the Variety club.

"I wanted to stay in the Army and go to West Point after the war," the boyish-looking Texan remembered. "But the last wound made me ineligible. So I was stuck. I hadn't done much except be in the Army. Then one of those picture magazines put my kisser on the cover and a few days later I got a letter from Jimmy Cagney.

Tutored By Cagney

"He sent me some dough and brought me out to Hollywood. He let me live in his guest house for six or eight months and sent me to the Actors' laboratory. He coached me himself, too, and I got a couple of bit parts. I had never acted in my life, naturally. But I like it. It's an interesting buck."

Murphy didn't say so but the theme and locale of "Bad Boy" are pretty familiar. It concerns the rehabilitation work done at Boys' Ranch, Copperas Cove, Texas. The work is supported by the Variety club of Dallas, and the picture is produced by Paul Short, who once was that club's "chief barker."

Hero's Family Separated

Audie's mother died in 1940 when he was 16. The family broke up and three of the younger children of the family were placed in an orphanage. Audie, who had worked since he was six, tried to enlist in the Marines, but years of malnutrition had made him a scrawny boy. The Army accepted him, however, though it would not assign him to his preferred field—the paratroops.

He got into action in Sicily and distinguished himself enough to be made a corporal. Somehow he managed to live through Salerno and the northward drive to Mount Lungo. At Anzio he led a patrol that knocked out two German tanks. He was promoted to staff sergeant and offered a battlefield commission as a second lieutenant. He turned it down for fear of being transferred to another outfit.

Germans Wiped Out

Murphy's Company B of the Fifth Army's third division went into southern France near Ramatuelle. The Germans resisted stiffly and Murphy and a buddy found themselves crouching in a fire-swept hole on a contested hill. Not far away a group of entrenched Germans waved a white flag. The buddy went out to accept their surrender and was riddled to bits by the supposed surrenderers.

Murphy, wild with rage, went after them and wiped out the position almost single-handedly. Later in France, in the Colmar pocket, his company, reduced to 30 men, was attacked by two German companies supported by six tanks. Murphy wound up in a burning tank destroyer (filled with ammunition) blazing away with the destroyer's machine gun. When the attack buckled, he gave chase, though badly wounded.

Medal Awarded In Field

President Truman offered to have him flown home to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor in Washington. He declined; with thanks, and took it on the field, where he had won it. He was ordered out of combat after that, but one night slipped away from the brass that was protecting him, and rejoined his old company long enough to lead it through the Siegfried line.

With the money he had saved during the war he bought a house for his brothers and sisters in Farmersville, Texas. Now he is stepping into the first real dough of his life, for he is a remarkable young actor. But he's the same kid.

"I've got a lot to learn," he said in his quiet way. "But it's good to have fellows like Cagney, Lloyd Nolan, Jimmy Gleason and a few others helping you."

Murphy's book, "To Hell And Back" (Henry Holt & Co.) is becoming a best seller. But he has taken even that in stride. "What's good about it is that the guys who went through the thing says it's okay," Murphy said. "That's the important thing."

Air Force To Transfer School To Sheppard Field At Wichita Falls

WICHITA FALLS, March 21 (U.P.) Brig. Gen. John H. McCormick, Sheppard Air Force base commander, revealed today that the Air Force's airplane and Engine Mechanics school is to be transferred from Keesler Air Force base at Biloxi, Miss., to Sheppard.

McCormick said a definite date for the transfer had not been set, but it will be completed by July 1.

He said the move was ordered because of better facilities at Sheppard and to make room for expansion of a radar school at Keesler. It will mean an addition of some 3,800 Air Force students, 750 officers and 250 civilian employes at the Wichita Falls base.

Wounded Vet Keeps Vow, Astounds Art Critics With Work

By ROBERT MUSEL
United Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, March 21—When Major David Lax was blinded by shrapnel as he clawed his way up a beach in Normandy, he made a vow for the days when he might recover his sight.

Today artists are making a pilgrimage to his cluttered little flat on West 14th to see some of the most powerful canvases painted by an American in recent years.

These figures of greed and bigotry, of aimless folly in a crumbling world, stunning in their impact sprang from his brushes as a redemption of his promise after his sight returned.

Critics Praise Work

Critics say that at the very least Lax has achieved something that will have a profound impression on the art of his time. At the most he may be helping to found a new American school of painting.

He calls his 15 paintings "The Denunciations." They took three years to complete—with only time out to earn eating money by doing portraits. Lax has insured them for $250,000 but one of his admirers, the critic Reeves Lewenthal, doubts they have any real commercial value.

"They represent a major effort in the art of this period," Lewenthal said. "A real accomplishment, impressive, powerful and intelligent. But I can hardly imagine anyone hanging them in his parlor."

Dark, intense yet friendly, Lax at 38 has been a notable artist since the days he wore knee pants in Peekskill, N. Y. His work hangs in museums and collections in Dayton, Chicago, Toronto, Philadelphia, Tallahassee (where he lived several years) and many other cities. He could stick to portraits and retire in a few years.

Gets $500 For Portrait

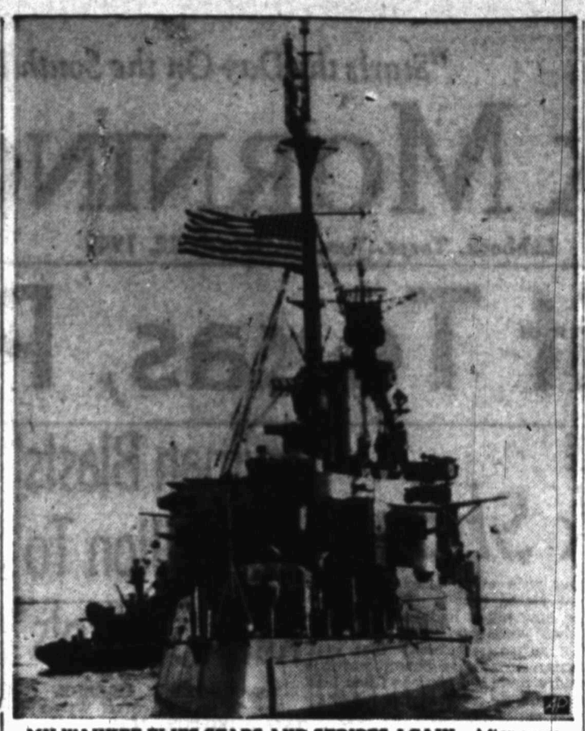

"I can get $500 or more apiece for all I can do," he said, "and I can bang out a couple a week or better if I push myself."

In fact he was well on the way to financial security when the war came. But as chief of the Army's combat artists he saw enough fighting to win the purple heart, the bronze star and lose a good deal of his zest for painting just for money.

"How could I paint pretty pears and peaches after what I had seen," he demanded. "I was sick of art which doesn't concern itself with humanity and our times."

His sudden smile made him look younger.

"I guess they're pretty unique in other ways as well," he said. "I'm in the middle or right of center politically, if anything, and people who think my way aren't supposed to have any social consciousness. It's time we showed how wrong that idea is."

STATE'S PETITION IS ANSWERED

Price-Fixing Charge Is Denied By Eight Texas Oil Companies

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) — Eight major oil companies charged with fixing gasoline prices in Texas appeared in court here today to deny the charges. Seven of the eight also denied fixing crude oil prices.

Two other companies, Sinclair Refining Co., and Magnolia Petroleum Co., were granted delays in replying to anti-trust violation charges filed by Attorney General Price Daniel on Feb. 21.

Eight companies also were charged at that time with conspiracy in declining to follow the crude oil price raises of Phillips Petroleum Co.

Deny All Charges

The eight companies filing an answer to the state's petition denied that they had at any time "combined, conspired or agreed with the other named defendants . . . to fix, restrict, or increase" gasoline or crude prices.

Answers were filed in 98th district court here today by the Humble Oil and Refining Co., Gulf Oil Corp., Arkansas Fuel Co., Cities Service Oil company, Continental Oil company, Standard Oil company of Texas, the Texas company, and Phillips Petroleum company.

The eight companies also asked for separate trials on charges of gasoline price fixing and charges of crude price fixing.

All eight answers said the state's petition was "general, vague, and indefinite" and "wholly fails" to point out any violation of anti-trust laws.

Humble, Gulf and Texas also contended that a 98th district court judgment handed down Oct. 3, 1938, cleared them of alleged anti-trust law violations charged by the state.

The Humble answer said that state charges of the defendants adopting "a delivered price system which results in the same price throughout the state . . . do not establish that there was any agreement, combination or conspiracy."

Gulf said that the allegations of the oil companies charging a higher price for gasoline in Texas than in other states "are immaterial and prejudicial and are not remotely relevant to any issue raised."

In the original petition, Sinclair and Phillips were not charged with collusion in crude price fixing because both posted crude price hikes of 35 cents a barrel.

The petition said that the ten companies manufacture about 65 per cent of the gasoline refined in Texas and sell about 80 per cent of the gasoline sold through bulk stations.

Rail Board Reveals Oil, Gas Field Rules

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) — The Railroad commission today announced rules for four Texas oil and gas fields.

Spacing rules for the Mercedes Barrow sand field in Hidalgo county require that new wells be no closer, than 933 feet to the Barrow sand reservoir and 330 feet to any lease or property line.

The gas-oil ratio for wells in the field was set at 2,000 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil produced with exceptions. A proration unit of 40 acres and allowables based 75 per cent on acreage and 25 per cent on wells were ordered.

Lamb, Hale Fields Set

The commission amended existing special rules in the Hopkins county Pickton field and ordered that the daily producing ability of new wells be determined by a 15-day flowing, pumping or gas lift test.

Operators in the Pickton field, the commission ruled, may with the commission's permission, be transferred or re-transferred to other wells in the lease that have a lower gas-oil or water-oil ratio.

Spacing rules, adopted for the Prasifka gas field in Wharton county, ordered 1,320 feet between wells and 330 feet from wells to property subdivision or lease lines, proration unit, 160 acres.

New rules rescinding a previous order set up these regulations for the Anton-Irish field in Lamb and Hale counties:

Spacing rules with 933 feet between wells and 330 feet between wells and property, lease or subdivision lines.

An gas-oil ratio of 1,500 cubic feet of gas per barrel of oil.

A daily allowable based 15 per cent on acreage and 25 per cent on wells.

Court Finds Negro Guilty Of Murder

A 99th district court jury Monday afternoon found Pheasue Artha (Dick) Williams, 33, a negro, guilty of murder, but recommended suspension of a five-year sentence.

Williams, who slew Eugene Gentry, another negro, Christmas Eve, pleaded guilty. Gentry was an ex-convict, who was dangerous when drinking, witnesses testified.

Gentry was slain after having made an opprobrious remark about the defendant's mother, the court and jury were told. He was represented by Roy Carpenter and Byron Chappell.

Carpenter, under appointment of Judge G. V. Pardue, presiding, also represented Bill Roberts, about 22, of Lubbock, charged with theft of $50 in money Nov. 15 from Troy Stone. He pleaded guilty before the court and was placed under five-year probation.

E. G. Pharr and A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorneys, represented the state at the trials.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

(EDITOR'S NOTE: During the two months that Margaret Turner is in Europe, The Woman's Angle will be written by Ellen Miller, a member of the Woman's staff.)

WHEN Miss Turner left for a tour of Europe, this column fell into willing but rather humble hands. We are making no effort to take her place, because we feel that would be impossible. However, we will do our best in our own way to provide a few light items daily for your consideration. And if you know some interesting tidbits that might find a place here, we would love to hear from you.

ANGEL CAKE TIP

Having trouble with angel cakes? Maybe you beat the egg whites too dry. It isn't necessary for the whites to be so stiff they will remain in the bowl when it is turned upside down. For a moister cake that stays fresh longer, whip the whites just until they won't pour over the edge of the tilted bowl. This method is faster, too.

SPARE A DIME?

Reporting this may upset the routine of a couple of little boys we know, but it's too good to keep.

Little Sammie, aged four, is blessed with a healthy pair of lungs, and his mother sometimes finds it necessary to give him a dime to get him to hush crying. Brother Bill, understanding this well, is given to pushing Sammie around. Every day or so Mother spanks Bill for slapping Sammie, gives Sammie a dime to be quiet, and tells the lads to shake hands and make up. This little nicety is taken care of, usually, as the pair departs for the candy store.

PAUSE FOR A WORRY

THE world is too full of people who advise others "not to worry." Personally, we are in favor of a little worry . . . but only in its place. We can't see this business of putting off thinking about a perplexing problem like it were a sock in need of mending.

Instead, we think the problem should be pulled out, thought out carefully, and some course of action decided in regard to it. If, after careful thought, there seems to be no solution, then is the proper time to discard the worry . . . not to be thought about later, but discarded permanently.

I CAN'T WAIT DEPT.

If you think that colored stockings are the last word in hosiery hoopla, you haven't seen anything yet, according to Epsie Kinard, NEA fashion editor.

"Wait," she gurgles, "until you see 10-denier sheers sprinkled with velour polka dots in a choice of seven delicious colors."

Better Distribution Of Food Is Favored To Combat Farm Surplus

By SIGRID ARNE
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 21. — When food begins to pile up again so badly that farmers can't sell all they produce, what would you do:

1. Set up controls that would cut back the crops on American farms?

2. Dump the surplus abroad at low prices?

3. See that low-income Americans eat better by letting them buy our own surpluses at low prices?

There are American surpluses already—eggs, citrus fruits and raisins. The government has helped out a little by buying some for the Marshall plan countries.

In the '30s New Dealers thought the quickest way to help farmers who couldn't sell their stuff was to get them to produce less. They thought lower supplies would force prices up.

New Plan Proposed

Now thinking is veering.

The National Planning association (NPA), a non-political, non-governmental agency here, thinks it may be best to permit American farms to work at top speed but to help Americans to buy American food.

NPA researchers report that they find the program of cutting back production was uncertain. Tobacco and cotton men liked it pretty well. But wheat and corn men were dissatisfied. Besides, they say, wheat and corn weren't cut back enough to mean anything to the prices farmers got. Growers cut back their poor acres and in good years raised just as much on their good acres.

NPA doubts American farmers can hope to sell their surpluses to foreign buyers. It says foreigners can't sell enough here to earn the dollars they would need to buy American farm surpluses. For example, it says in the past year or two Europe hasn't had enough dollars to buy the oranges its needs for its babies.

So the NPA researchers turned to thinking of ways that American farm products could be used to build up better diets and health among Americans.

They point out first that Americans eat pretty well, comparatively—about as well as Canadians, Australians and New Zealanders. But they cite medical reports to show that a third of the young people turned down for World War II service had defects traceable to poor diets.

NPA figured there were two hurdles to helping Americans eat better: (1) A good many people don't know how to eat intelligently and (2) another good many have not the money.

School Program Urged

How to jump the hurdles?

1. NPA says that schools, the Red Cross and public health officers could put together a national program to tell people what foods would give them the most health. It would like to see wartime local and state nutrition committees start to work again.

2. It thinks the cost of food could be brought down, and hence more people could buy, if the distribution system was simplified. It points out that during the war two or three times a week. That milk companies delivered only cut their costs. It was reflected in the price of a quart of milk.

Some researchers pointed out that today's fancy packaging costs money and said there should be some way for buyers to buy without the fancy package.

3. The researchers agreed, as American always have, that children should be well fed. They figure the Federal school lunch program should be extended, as much to teach children good eating habits, as to give them good food.

4. They think this idea may spread to caring for adults through some sort of food stamp program that will permit the lower income families to buy enough food for good health.

5. They admit that if Americans really begin to learn how to eat for good health, the farmers may have to shift their planting programs. They say there may not be such a need for wheat, potatoes and beans. More meat, milk, vegetables and fruits may be needed.

Texas Senate's Confederate Flag Located, Promptly Lost Again

AUSTIN, March 21 (U.P.)—Senate authorities, still searching for their stolen Confederate flag, found the missing item today only to have it disappear before they could put their hands on it.

The flag, one of seven decorating the rostrum of the Senate chamber, was stolen a week ago Sunday.

Late Saturday an unidentified University of Texas student reported he found the missing flag in a waste basket in a men's rest room at the school. He turned the flag over to the university lost and found department.

The Senate sergeant-at-arms' office reported they were notified about 9 o'clock this morning that the flag had been found.

However, an assistant sergeant-at-arms said that when he got to the university lost and found office, the flag was gone again.

"Somebody," he said, "got it again before we got there."

Meantime, another university student, Stayner A. Dugan, wrote Lt.-Gov. Allan Shivers offering the use of his Confederate flag until the Senate could retrieve its own.

More Space For Aged Is Needed

ises. Because of these memory lapses, John Doe can't be trusted alone or with children.

His personal habits have also degenerated, and he must be watched like a baby. He may start disrobing in the front yard. His eating habits are a constant source of embarrassment. As deterioration advances, he becomes furtive and suspicious, and may even suspect that members of his own family are plotting against him.

To put him away in a private home or hospital is more than the average family can afford. As frustration and worry increase, the Doe family makes a decision based on desperation. They take the old man before a county judge and a jury picked at random. And John Doe is sent off to an institution.

IN numbers, the alcoholics present the least problem in overcrowding. There are seldom ever more than a dozen in any of the six mental hospitals. But they require constant care and specialized attention, which can't be given where there is one doctor for every 400 patients.

Let this case study be Joe Doakes. He has been hitting the bottle for 15 years and is now a chronic alcoholic, a source of annoyance to everyone and of deep concern to his family.

One day Joe Doakes begins seeing things that really aren't there. The family physician puts it bluntly: Joe has had his first bout with DT's, a forerunner of insanity. No permanent damage has been done if he will take the cure.

The savings account is gone into and Joe is put in a private institution which costs $100 per week. Three weeks later Joe Doakes steps forth with a spring in his step and a vow to do right. But three week's treatment pitted against 15 years of bottle fighting isn't much. A month later he falls hard off the wagon and ends up in the county jail.

This time the family throws a second mortgage on the home to extend the treatments. If this fails, there is only one road left. The family, unable to meet the high cost of private treatment, puts Joe Doakes in a state institution.

Can an alcoholic be salvaged? Says Dr. A. T. Hanretta of the Austin State Hospital: "Where the cure once was around four per cent, medicine and psychiatry working with Alcoholics Anonymous have made some amazing advances."

Dr. Hanretta doesn't know just what the percentage is, but it is above fifty per cent.

The criminally insane are generally those who have been adjudged guilty of a serious crime, but whose actions were regarded by the court as the result of mental illness. Medical science is agreed that they are sick and need treatment, not punishment. But to place the criminally insane in the same hospitals with patients who have no criminal background is in itself a crime.

In many respects it actually reduces the treatment of all patients to the same level because of the potential danger in the very sick minds of the criminally insane. Yet the current Legislature has before it a bill which would allow one group of insane prisioners now in the state penitentiary to be removed to mental hospitals. These persons are sick, need humane treatment, but not in hospitals devoted to the general practice of mental hygiene.

Remarked one Texas doctor: "The view we take lies somewhere between apprehension and terror. Certainly, we realize that a mentally sick man must have treatment. But the criminally insane should be segregated for their own good, and for the good of others."

Dr. Ozro Woods, president of the Texas Society for Mental Hygiene and a prominent Dallas surgeon, recently condemned the "courtroom trials where mentally ill persons are committed like criminals."

Said Dr. Woods: The manner in which our mentally ill people are treated must often injure their already sick minds, and may even permanently impair their recovery."

THE Austin State Hospital houses about 100 criminally insane. San Antonio, Terrell and Rusk each has fewer. Opinion among medical experts is unanimous that one relatively small hospital unit, especially designed for these patients, could serve the entire state and possibly effect some cures.

When the last of the Civil War Veterans in the Texas Confederate Home at Austin died, the home opened to 600 senile patients. Here the aged live in surroundings especially adapted to their needs. It was a step forward, but one already nullified by the onrush of new patients.

Says Dr. Hanretta who has seen the system work in Austin: "It took an act of God to provide one small corner of refuge for an unfortunate handfull of seniles. The problem is now in the lap of Texans. That problem is to correct the wretched conditions caused by overcrowding. Otherwise, the entire system is surely headed for disaster."

(TOMORROW: The Austin State Hospital, where overcrowding is so bad that mental patients must be herded into a single room to undergo electric shock treatments.)

(Copyright, 1949, By J. F. Porter)

BETTER FACILITIES NEEDED—Every third patient in Texas mental hospitals is a senile whose only handicap is the feebleness of mind and body which comes with old age. If these persons, who rarely can be benefitted by mental treatment, could be placed in homes more suited to their needs, thousands of hospital beds would be released for younger patients who might be cured.

Andrews County Wildcat Drilling In Tubb Zone Of Lower Permian

J. C. Barnes No. 1 Lawlis, slated 12,000-foot wildcat in Central-West Andrews county, 14 miles west of the town of Andrews has entered the Tubb zone of the lower Permian 60 feet high to a dry hole one mile to the southeast which showed signs of petroleum on both the Clear Fork of the Permian and in the Ellenburger.

The Barnes prospector, located at the center of the northwest quarter of the northeast quarter of section 22, block A-47, psl survey, is making hole under 6,970 feet in dry lime.

It called top of the Tubb at 6,690 feet, on an elevation of 3,304 feet. That makes it 60 feet high on that point to the same marker in the Stanolind No. 1 Nix, dry hole one mile southeast.

Oil Show Found

The Stanolind venture found some interesting shows of oil in the top of the Ellenburger, but those shows were not sufficient to make an oil well. Water came in after a thin zone of Ellenburger had been penetrated.

The Stanolind exploration also developed considerable amounts of free oil in the Clear Fork, but they failed to develop for commercial production.

The Barnes wildcat is to continue until it reaches and explores the Ellenburger.

Prospector Drills Ahead

Magnolia Petroleum Company No. 1 Hicks, Southeast Gaines county deep prospector, 25 miles southeast of Seminole, and 660 feet from north and west lines of tract 16, league 273, Loving County School Land survey, was drilling ahead under 13,130 feet in Ellenburger lime, after a drillstem test was run at 13,100-130 feet.

A 2,070-foot water blanket was used. The tool was open one hour and 30 minutes. Recovery was the water blanket, 210 feet of drilling mud cut with sulphur water, and 1,350 feet of slightly gas cut sulphur water. There were no signs of oil.

Top of the Ellenburger was picked in this wildcat at 13,102 feet, on an elevation of 2,986 feet.

Top Zone Eroded

Some observers say that the top zone of the Ellenburger was badly eroded, and that it is calculated that a considerable amount of the Simpson, the zone just above the Ellenburger, is cut out.

Those persons think there might be a possibility of this venture going deeper into the Ellenburger and finding a porous zone which might carry petroleum.

Operator representatives have not revealed whether or not that course of action is planned for the project at this time.

Venture Re-Opened

In the Cedar Lake area of Northwest Gaines County, Stanolind Oil & Gas Company has started operations on its No. 15 American Warehouse, old venture temporarily abandoned which is now re-opened and being deepened.

Last report had it below 12,273 feet, drilling lime and shale.

Pacific Western Oil corporation was boring ahead with its No. 1 Oil Development, deep wildcat between the Russell and Seminole fields of Northwest Gaines county.

The prospector, 660 feet from south an deast lines of section 315, block G, CCSD&RGNG survey, was past 10,232 feet in lime and shale.

At 6,753 Feet

Offsetting the newly-opened South - Central Gaines county, George P. Livermore, inc., No. 1 Joe Head was making hole from 6,753 feet through lime.

It is 631 feet from north and 610 feet from west lines of section 12, block A-23, psl survey.

Will Start Tests

Humble No. 1-B Moore, Northwest Scurry county Ellenburger wildcat, 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 492, block 97, H&TC survey, will start making production tests in the top of the Ellenburger early in the week.

This venture entered the Ellenburger at 8,202 feet. Elevation is 2,590 feet. The top section of the formation developed some free oil. It drilled to 8,405 feet and found the water.

A string of 5½-inch casing has been cemented at 8,395 feet with 150 sacks, and a secondary cement job of 2,050 sacks has been run back of the casing.

Operator will drill out and perforate in the top of the formation and try to develop commercial production from the section which showed the oil. The water zone will be left cemented off.

Influenza Cases In U. S. Drop To Five Year Low For Period

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP)—Influenza totals in the United States for the first ten weeks of 1949 were the second lowest for that period in the last five years, the Public Health service reported today.

As of March 21, cases reported totalled 43,307, compared with 107,000 last year; 62,582 in 1947; 165,882 in 1946; 43,198 in 1945; and 310,935 in 1944.

For the week ended March 12, there were 3,948 cases, with 1873 of them from Texas.

That total compared with 5,170 during the week ended February 5 when the highest number of cases for any week so far this year were reported.

Lone Star Steel Company Faces $2,429,200 Suit For Trespassing

MARSHALL, March 21 (AP)—The Lone Star Steel company today was sued for $2,429,200.

The suit was filed in District Judge Harold Beck's court at Linden by Mrs. Kathleen Allen Deprang and Joe Lane Allen of Hughes Springs.

The petition alleges trespassing and surface damage.

Involved are 861.79 acres in the William King survey, astride the Morris-Cass county line, containing iron ore deposits.

The petition claims that Lone Star in the past two years mined 600,000 tons of iron from the land at an estimated market value of $4 a ton.

Entry to the property was allegedly made on a 1918 instrument. The suit questions whether that instrument conveyed mineral title.

Kentucky, Illinois Advance To Finals In NCAA Tourney

Wildcats Gain 85-72 Victory Over Villanova

NEW YORK, March 21. (INS)—Kentucky's defending N.C.A.A. champions walloped Villanova, 85 to 72 Monday night to advance to the eastern regional finals along with Illinois.

The Illini came from five points behind in the last two and a half minutes to nip Yale and the fabulous Tony Lavelli, 71 to 67.

Kentucky's victory kept alive its chances to salvage at least two championships out of the "grand slam" expectations that went sour.

Out to erase memories of their upset defeat by Loyola of Chicago in the National Invitation tournament last week, the Wildcats gave 18,051 Madison Square Garden fans a full measure of their vaunted prowess.

The Wildcats' All-American center, Alex Groza, scored 30 points, but not all the laurels went to the Kentuckians.

Arizin Scores 30

Villanova's lanky Paul Arizin also scored 30 before fouling out late in the game. And Yale's Lavelli rang up 27 in a losing first game cause.

The Wildcats needed exactly six and a half minutes to get the speedy Villanovans under control. Hot-shooting Jim Line—who had 15 points the first half and missed only two shots from the field—put Kentucky ahead to stay, 17 to 15.

After that, Kentucky's amazing ball handling built the score to 48-37 by halftime, despite the thread-needle shooting of Ricca, Arizin and John Weglicki.

Ricca had 13 and Arizin 11 points by halftime, but Groza had 18 for the 'Cats and Line 15.

Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky kept three starters, Wallace Jones, Groza and Line, on the bench much of the second half since each had four fouls. Even so, the Wildcats—though falling off their first half tempo—still weren't pressed.

Line was inserted into the starting Kentucky lineup in place of Dale Barnstable, and he provided just the spark the Wildcats lacked last week in the N.I.T. He wound up with 21 points.

Illinois, which will meet Kentucky in the regional finals Tuesday night, made a great comeback after a cold and spotty performance.

Organized Baseball To Face Damage Suits In Court Today

Lanier, Martin File Show Cause Order

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP)—Organized baseball, which for many years avoided court tests as to the legality of its player contracts, must come into court tomorrow to give its reasons why Max Lanier and Fred Martin should not be reinstated immediately.

Lanier and Martin, former St. Louis Cardinals who were suspended for jumping to the Mexican league, applied for a temporary injunction against baseball, charging that it is a monopoly and is operated in violation of the anti-trust laws.

At a hearing last week before Federal Judge Edward A. Conger, the defendants were given until tomorrow to file briefs in reply to a show cause order seeking reinstatement for the players. A similar hearing in behalf of Danny Gardella, former New York Giants outfielder, is to be held Wednesday morning.

Judge Conger, a baseball fan, has indicated that he will give a decision within 24 hours after the case is completed.

Even if the application for a temporary injunction, which in effect would lift the suspensions, is denied, baseball still would have to contend with the $2,500,000 damage suits filed by Lanier and Martin and Gardella's $300,000 suit which charges that the five-year suspensions deprived the players of their chance to earn a livelihood.

Named as defendants in the Gardella suit were the Giants, Commissioner A. B. Chandler, Ford Frick, president of the National league, William Harridge, president of the American league, and George M. Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues. The two ex-Cardinals also added the 15 other major league clubs to the list of defendants.

The challenge to the legality of the standard baseball contract is based largely upon the reserve cause, which forbids a player to deal with any club other than the one with which he previously had played.

Texas Aggies' J. D. Hampton Is Fastest Runner In Southwest

COLLEGE STATION, March 21. (AP)—J. D. Hampton finally woke up to the fact that he was thinking too much of "next year"—and so he has become the greatest distance runner in the southwest.

Track fans have marvelled at the amazing improvement of the slim, blond Texas Aggie over last season. But it's easily explained.

"I decided I was looking too much in the future—that if I didn't get busy time would be running out on me," he said. He added, too, that the "experimental period" was over—that the Aggie distance coach, Ray Putnam, had found out just what he could do and the proper way to handle him.

Hampton performed the unusual feat of striding the mile in 4.18.7 and the two-mile in 9:36 to set records in the Border Olympics March 12—the fastest these events ever have been run so early in the season in Texas. The best he ever had done the mile before was 4:21 although he had turned the two-mile in 9:29.

Last Saturday he registered a 4:24.6 mile in the Southwestern Recreation meet at Fort Worth—just one-tenth of a second over the record for the university division set in 1931—and he had to fight a strong wind to do it.

He runs effortless and with a tremendous stride. He is 6 feet tall and weighs 149 pounds.

"I am just more determined than I was a year ago," he declares. "You know, my folks at Brady are watching me and backing me and I think it's time I did something."

His ambition is to meet Don Gehrmann, the great Wisconsin miler who is the current national sensation of the distance runners.

HALE CENTER, March 21, (Special)—Date for the Hale Center High school invitational boxing tournament has been changed to Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday nights, March 28-30, Supt. N. L. Douglas announced Monday.

Previously the date had been given as March 24-26, but it was changed to avoid conflict with other events scheduled at that time.

Gold trophies will be awarded to first and second place teams, and individual first and second place winners will receive awards. Coach Ralph Huntington will direct the tournament.

Among the schools invited are Lockney, Olton, Springlake, Hart, Kress, Cotton Center, Abernathy, Happy, Dimmitt, Spur, Plainview, and New Deal.

Anglers Are Banned From Don Martin Lake

MEXICO CITY, March 21. (AP) Mexico Monday banned fishing in Don Martin Lake, favored spot of many Texas anglers.

Specifically, the government cancelled the concession given the Sabinas Sports Fishing Club. The concession covered not only Don Martin Lake in Coahuila state but also Salinillas Lake in Nuevo Leon state.

The decree cancelling the concession said that when it was granted December 2, 1948, it was not based on technical studies. Therefore, it continued, cancellation of the contract was necessary "for reasons of national interest and in order to conserve and protect" the fish.

Mexico grants exclusive fishing privileges in many lakes to private sports clubs, on condition they enforce the conservation laws. A 12-year-old law requiring that bass taken from Don Martin should be at least a foot long from the eye to the fleshy part of the tail was recently enforced by the club.

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

GREENVILLE, March 21—Aching muscles in the Lubbock Hubber camp almost had a chance to rest today, thanks to a heavy rain Sunday night, but the sun and wind cleared off the diamond in the morning and Manager Jackie Sullivan's 12-man squad went through a good second-day workout.

Several players were not on hand for the opening drills Sunday afternoon, but the remainder of the squad was sent through a good stiff session. Emphasis was on conditioning and running the first day, with only light hitting and fielding.

After initial limbering up drills Sunday, the squads of Lubbock, Corpus Christi and Greenville were sent into action in a six-inning game. No attempt was made to keep tally, with various players being shifted from position to position.

Infield Works As Unit

But today the Hubbers had a chance to work as a unit and a complete infield took to the diamond for a long session. Jim Prince, up from Midland, was on first base, Sullivan was on second, Jackie Wilcox held down shortstop and Frank McAlexander anchored the infield at third. This combination went through a long workout and looked good. Mike Dooley, of course, was catching.

The Hubbers also had a long batting session, sharpening their winter-dulled batting eyes and getting timing back into focus. More of the same is on tap tomorrow.

Don Hensiek, a pitcher, is due to arrive Tuesday to join Royce Mills, Nick Pappas, Oscar Kuver, Herby Pitts and Cotton Russell. Tommy Taylor, jr., considered a fine prospect, hasn't lived up to advance notices and may be dropped to a lower classification club.

Lloyd Pearson, former Greenville outfielder, is the only outer garden patrol member on hand. Joe Wisniewski is in bed with flu and won't report until Wednesday, while Bob Cowsar is coaching and Carl Brecheisen can't get released from college yet.

Haskins Not Available

Ben Pardue showed up late today and will wrestle with Prince for the first base position.

Chris Haskins, counted on throughout the winter, no longer is available, while no word has been heard from Roy Larue, Aurelian Luquette or Roland Miller, all pitchers. Miller applied for voluntary relief papers during the winter and probably won't be back.

George Schepps, Hubber general manager, said that three more boys from the baseball camp that ended Saturday, had been signed for Corpus. And he added that a pair of rookies might be picked up for Lubbock. One is a pitcher and the other is an infielder.

Lubbock Squad In Relay Events

Just back from the Southwestern Track and Field meet in Fort Worth, Fred Brown, Westerner track coach, has another meet to look forward to this weekend in Odessa.

On March 26 the West Texas Relays will be held, and Brown has the job of getting his squad in shape for the cinder meet which attracts the top schools in West Texas. He said Monday that a large squad would go to Odessa, but he was not sure how many.

Last week at Fort Worth the Westerners qualified only three men for the finals, and Alfred Adair tied for second in the high jump. Eddie Goetze in the half-mile, and Douglas Ross in the 120-yard high hurdles were the other two qualifying.

Coach Brown was a little displeased at the showing of the boys and said they were not in the best condition. But Monday at practice he was working them long and hard trying to build up their wind and get them ready for the Odessa relays.

The loss of Wayne Stroud due to illness was a severe blow to the eight-man team that traveled to Cowtown, and a leg injury suffered earlier by Charlie Williams almost completely eliminated any hopes for a victory in the dashes or the 440-yard relay.

Stroud had not reported to practice Monday, and Williams was running in an effort to strengthen muscles in his right leg.

Another Two Years Added To USC-Notre Dame Grid Series

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (INS)—Another two years was added to the Southern California - Notre Dame intersectional football series today.

Willis C. Hunter, USC athletic director, disclosed a new home and home series, bringing the Irish to Los Angeles in 1950 and the Trojans to South Bend, Ind., in 1951.

Linksmen From Meadowbrook In Amarillo Meet

First home and home golf meet for linksmen of the Meadowbrook Publinx Golf club will be Sunday at Amarillo's Ross Rogers Municipal course, with the first twosome due to leave the tee at 1 p.m.

Paul Jones, Meadowbrook pro, said last night that the Amarillo golfers probably will return the match here April 24. Jones declared that 25 golfers already had signed up to make the trip to Amarillo and any others interested in going should call him at the Meadowbrook club during the day.

Organization Meet Tonight

The Municipal course in Amarillo recently was chosen to be the site of the annual West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf association's open tournament in the fall.

Meanwhile, Jones announced that the second organizational meeting of the spring for the Meadowbrook club would be held tonight at 7:30 in the studios of KSEL. All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

Jones also announced that the Meadowbrook club had joined the West Texas Pro-Amateur Golf association and that the first tournament that members could enter would be in Lamesa on March 31. The Meadowbrook pro emphasized to Meadowbrook members that amateurs were the backbone of the organization and they were urged to enter the various association tourneys.

Work is progressing nicely on improvements at the Meadowbrook club and Jones said that the greens were in better shape than they had been in years. Temporarily, there are only eight holes on the first nine of the 18-hole course. Jones said that golfers currently tee off Number Six tee and use Number Seven green.

In the meantime, Number Six green has been torn out and covered with over a foot of fresh topsoil. Grass seed has been planted and the green probably will be ready for use within six weeks.

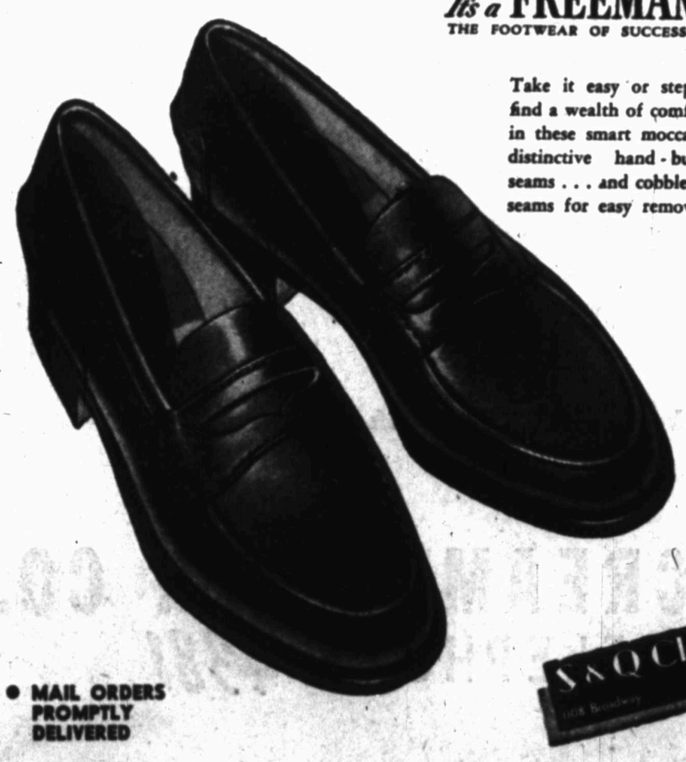

Jones announced that from now on, only foursomes will be allowed to tee off Saturday afternoons and Sundays. He explained that it would speed up play and make it possible for more persons to play the entire course those days.

Raider Linemen Go Through Stiff Session Monday

Texas Tech football players may have thought that the rough and rugged scrimmage Saturday would give them a chance to rest up a little Monday, but such wasn't the case.

Coach Dell Morgan sent the big squad through a pretty stiff session yesterday, particularly the linemen. The blocking on the four squads Saturday didn't come up to par and extensive corrections and intensive work will be the result.

Line Play Stressed

The head-knocking featured most of the players who did not see action Saturday, but it also involved several of the players who did work. Emphasis was on line play, with the backs again working primarily on pass offense at the opposite end of the field.

Yesterday was also visitor's day at Tech and a large group of high school prospects worked out. Looking particularly good was a freshman from Alabama, Carl Madison, a little slip of a lad no bigger than a short drink of water. But Madison opened the eyes of the coaching staff with his forward passing.

Madison, a protege of Judson Brawner, another freshman from Alabama, and Paul Cates, prominent Techsan supporter, was threading a needle with his passing. He easily dominated the aerial phase of the workout and impressed spectators with his ability. Madison was an All-State back in Alabama and demonstrated why without much effort.

Game Slated April 9

There were a lot of other high school boys who showed up well and gave promise, if they continue, to supply the Red Raiders with future talent. The linemen in camp were put to work on defense and several gave promise of development under Coach G. B. Morris' tutoring.

This week will mark the end of three weeks work, or 18 of the 25 days allotted for spring training by Border Conference rules. The Raiders will have no work next week, but will return the following week and wind up their training with an intra-squad game April 9.

Cubs Sign Three Righthanded Pitchers For Springfield Club

CHICAGO, March 21 (INS)—The Chicago Cubs announced today they have signed three young pitchers for their Springfield, Mass., farm team in the New England league.

The three, all righthanders, are: 21-year-old Barthelmew Palumbo, Milburn, N. J.; 21-year-old John Waselchuk, Peabody, Mass.; and 19-year-old Richmond Hornby, Pawtucket, R. I.

HIGH JUMP WINNER—Robert Walters of the University of Texas is shown clearing the bar during the Southwestern Recreation Track and Field Meet in Fort Worth last weekend. Walters gained a first place for the winning Longhorns with a leap of six feet, four and a half inches. Ed Clepper of Texas Tech finished in a tie for second behind Walters. (AP Wirephoto.)

FEW TEXANS HAVE HEARD HOUNDS BAY

First Coonhound Races In Texas Slated At Brownwood On April 7

AUSTIN, March 21 (Special)—Thousands of Texans will see their first coonhound races at Brownwood in April when the champion coonhounds of Texas are selected at the Texas Sportsmen's Competition.

Coonhunting is an old Texas sport, but relatively few Texans ever have seen and heard the hounds baying hot on the trail of a coon.

Entries for the coonhound races and for all other events in the meet will be accepted up to the opening day of the Competition, Conrad Fath, general chairman, has announced. Early plans were to set a deadline for filing entries with Fath, but delays in getting entry forms and the Competition rules in the hands of member clubs made it necessary to set aside the deadline. Entries still are being accepted by mail, at 506 Lamar Blvd., Austin. All participants must be members of clubs affiliated with the Texas Wildlife Federation.

The coonhound races will be but one part of the Texas Sportsmen's Competition, the first statewide meet of its kind in the United States. Other events scheduled include plug and fly casting (for men, women and children), skeet and trap shooting, pistol and rifle marksmanship, and a bench show for pointers, setters, foxhounds and coonhounds. The competition will be held on the old Camp Bowie grounds near Brownwood April 7-10.

Six coonhound races are scheduled for the last two days of the Competition, Saturday and Sunday. On Saturday, there will be two all hound races and two mixed breed races with awards for the first line, first tree and second line winners in each. On Sunday final races will be held in the all hound class and in the mixed breed class with trophies for the first line and first tree winners in each.

How The Race Works

For the benefit of the unitiated, here's how a coonhound race is run:

Prior to the race, a live coon is walked on a leash the length of the field, about half a mile, and then is tied high in a tree out of reach of the dogs. The hounds are assembled some distance from the spot where the coon first left his scent. The first line is drawn across the spot where the scent begins, and a second is drawn farther along the scent near the treed coon.

When the whistle blows, the dogs are released. The first dog to pick up the scent and cross the first line is the first line winner. The first dog to near the tree by crossing the second line wins that award. And the first dog to the tree wins the tree award.

Wayland College Girls Gain 36-34 Win In Women's NAAU

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 21. (AP)—Wyla Whetley's two free throws in an overtime period game the Wayland college team from Plainview, Texas., a 36-34 victory over Magnolia, Ark., A. and M. in the National Women's NAAU tourney here Monday night.

The game was close throughout. With two minutes left, Norma McMahen put Magnolia ahead 34-32 and the Arkansas team tried to stall it out. But Joyce Poice of Wayland hit a fielder with less than 30 seconds to go and threw the game into an overtime.

Ray Robinson Is Offered $100,000 To Fight Foster

By CHARLES EINSTEIN
INS Sports Writer

CHICAGO, March 21 — Two Chicago promoters, said by some to be fronting for the new Joe Louis-Wirtz-Norris International Boxing Club, offered Ray Robinson $100,000 "going in" today to defend his welterweight title against Vince Foster in Chicago in June.

The long arm of coincidence, complicated by an improbable assortment of characters, played up the situation, which ran roughly as follows:

VINCE FOSTER CLEARED

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 21. (INS) Vince Foster, welterweight boxer from Omaha, Neb., was cleared today of a criminal assault charge brought against him by a 22-year-old Kansas City woman.

Buchanan county prosecuting attorney O. R. Newcomer asked that the charges be dismissed in a St. Joseph court, where Foster was scheduled to appear tomorrow for a hearing.

Newcomer said he made the recommendation because of a lack of evidence against the fighter. Foster was accused Feb. 7 by the girl who charged she was attacked by the boxer while riding with him in an automobile near St. Joseph. The hearing, set for Feb. 28, was twice postponed.

Chicago promoters Irv Schoenwald and Jack Begun have offered a $100,000 guarantee to Robinson for a fight in local ballpark this June. But Robinson is variously reported committed for that time, either to fight:

1. The winner of the Kid Gavilan-Ike Williams bout, in a welterweight championship match sponsored by 20th Century Sporting Club; or

2. Marcel Cerdan of France, for the latter's middleweight title, under the auspices of the Tournament of Champions.

IBC Meets Wednesday

The International Boxing Club, promotion rival to both the 20th Century and T. of C., is having a ways-and-means meeting in Chicago Wednesday, to be attended by partners Louis, Arthur Wirtz and James Norris.

A long-time associate of Schoenwald and Begun, meanwhile, is Jack Hurley, who manages Foster, Robinson's proposed Chicago foe. And Foster is still out on bond pending hearing of a charge of criminal assault filed against him by a Kansas City woman.

Coincidental, to say the least, was the simultaneous presence in Chicago of those two firm buddies, Louis and Robinson. It was believed in some quarters that Robinson would strive to meet the Foster date as a favor to Louis' I. B. C.

Robinson Meets Lee

Sugar Ray is in Chicago to fight Bobby Lee of Baltimore in a non-title ten-rounder at Chicago Stadium Friday night.

Robinson said he would give his answer to Schoenwald and Begun "in a few weeks," but some inkling might emerge from the statement to be made by Louis, Wirtz and Norris after they talk things over at the Stadium Wednesday afternoon.

At that time, they hope also to produce a date and site for a fight between Ezzard Charles and Joe Walcott to decide the successor to the heavyweight title vacated by Louis when he retired undefeated March 1.

Other plans of the I. B. C. include fight programs tentatively set for Chicago Stadium the week of April 17 and the Detroit Olympia the week of April 24.

Where Foster figured in all this remained conjectural. Two continuances have already been granted in St. Joseph, Mo., for preliminary hearing of the charge against him.

Spring Training To Be Strict

Lamesa Lobo Nine Will Stress Speed

LAMESA, March 21. (Special)—Midnight curfew will ring tonight—and every night—in the training camp of the Lamesa Loboes, who yesterday left for their spring headquarters in Ballinger.

Manager Jay Haney has no intention of letting the Loboes get off to a poor start and training will be observed strictly. The new playing manager spent several seasons in the Brooklyn Dodger chain and he believes in the Dodger system of "youth, speed and hustle."

Running Emphasized

One way to bear down all the time is to observe curfew, which will go along with heavy emphasis on running. The combination, along with speed, defense and a veteran staff, Haney hopes will make a pennant contender of the Loboes.

Signing of Stan Grzywacz, veteran Lobo hurler, who came to terms just before the players left for Ballinger, helped Haney's optimism a little. The slender hurler has been a work horse for the Lobos, appearing in 177 games in two seasons and winning 31 against 34 defeats with a weak club. He accounted for 13 of the 44 triumphs the Loboes had last year.

Ten candidates left here Sunday for Ballinger, where they will be joined by approximately 20 more prospects.

Haney recently returned from the Dallas Eagles' camp, where officials assured Lamesa that they would get "as much help as possible" after the Eagles first take care of Gladewater. Two pitchers and a catcher probably will be supplied before the season opens, if present players secured through Dallas fail to work out.

Lamesa has only four definite exhibition dates thus far, but will play at least 15 pre-season contests. Practice tilts already carded are: April 7, Midland there; April 10, Abilene there; April 14, Abilene here; April 15, Midland here.

Lobo Field Improved

Other spring training opposition will include Ballinger, Big Spring, Roswell and San Angelo, with at least 5 home appearances to be made before the season opens April 20th.

Intensive work is underway at Lobo Field. The entire field has been levelled, sown and sodded with grass. The park is now one of the biggest in the league since the right field fence has been moved 35 feet deeper, making right field 360 feet, center 375 and left field 380 feet.

Other improvements will include an improved parking area, new rest rooms, a clubhouse and umpire's dressing rooms under the stands, additional lights, and of all things, a new press box.

Cardinals Nudge Cincy Nine, 2-1

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21. (AP)—With pitcher Jim Hearn yielding no runs and only one hit in five innings, the St. Louis Cardinals nudged the Cincinnati Reds 2-1 today for their sixth straight exhibition victory. Hearn also looked good in his last assignment.

DODGERS GAIN 6 TO 5 WIN OVER MONTREAL NINE

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 21. (AP)—Spider Jorgensen's bases-loaded triple sparked a five run ninth inning rally that enabled the Brooklyn Dodgers to nip their Montreal Royal farmhands, 6-5, today.

WASHINGTON RESERVES TIE WITH CHATTANOOGA

WINTER GARDEN, Fla., March 21. (AP) — Washington's reserves tangled with the reserves of their Chattanooga farmhands here today and battled to a 1-1 tie in a game called at the end of nine innings.

BRAVES HELD TO SEVEN HITS AS TIGERS WIN, 18-5

LAKELAND, Fla., March 21. (AP) Paul (Dizzy) Trout and rookie Jim Lawrence held the National champion Boston Braves to seven hits today as the Detroit Tigers belted four pitchers for 18 hits and an 18 to 5 exhibition baseball victory.

HOUSTON BUFFS GAIN 5-4 WIN OVER DALLAS

NEW BRAUNFELS, March 21 (AP)—Good pitching and three double plays pulled the Houston Buffs through to a 5 to 4 win over the Dallas Eagles today in an exhibition baseball tilt.

LONGHORNS COP 11-5 WIN OVER OHIO STATE

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) — The Texas Longhorns rushed across six runs in a big fifth inning here today and then coasted to a 11-5 victory over the Ohio State Buckeyes in the first of a three game series.

Commission Grants Dempsey License To Act As Second

CHICAGO, March 21. (INS)—The Illinois Athletic Commission issued a second's license to Jack Dempsey today in its first meeting since its appointment by Gov. Adlai Stevenson.

Dempsey was granted a second's license for the fight between his Austrian heavyweight protege Jo Weiden and Orlan Ott at Chicago Stadium Friday night.

In Tohira, Japan, after a cow killed a bee with its tail, a swarm of about 60,000 stung her to death, leaving 10,000 casualties of their own.

Winners Named In South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show Here

pounds. His calf was rated third best in the entire show.

Top lamb honors went to Billy Terrell, 14, 4-H member who had the grand champion. His entry was a Southdown weighing 108 pounds. Billy also won the pen of five class.

The reserve champion lamb was a Southdown crossbreed weighing 93 pounds. It was raised and entered by Doyle Hutson, 14, Tulia FFA.

Only one Shorthorn was entered in the calf show. It was in the heavyweight division and did not place.

Quality Is Impressive

Many calf breeders attended the show and remarked on the quality of the animals on exhibit. Some were here to witness the success of their particular calves. They included such well known cattle breeders as Ray McNeill, Hobbs, New Mexico; Stanton Brunson and W. D. Collier, Crosbyton.

W. B. Griffin, superintendent of the calf division, said that there could not be any question that this year's show provided the finest animals that have been exhibited here. W. A. King, manager of the livestock department, Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Ft. Worth, said that the offerings here compared with the finest that were shown at the big annual event in "Cowtown." D. W. Sherrill, Lubbock county agent, agreed.

BARBECUE SET TONIGHT

Members of the Lions club will eat an example today which, they hope, will be followed by large numbers of Lubbock and South Plains people. They will visit the 10th annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock show in person.

Wayne Henly, Lions' president, announced the weekly luncheon in the Hilton hotel will be short. At about 12:45 p. m., members will board chartered buses for a trip to the Fairgrounds and show. He urged all members to be present.

Lions also will prepare and serve the food at the annual stock show barbecue in the Texas Tech Livestock pavilion at 6:30 o'clock tonight. Other service clubs of the city will supply the food. The barbecue program will be short, with no speeches, featuring the distribution of premium checks. Homer E. Hunt, general show chairman, will preside.

U. D. Thompson, of A and M College extension service, remarked on the quality and finish of the animals. "The animals show the results of care, hard work and careful supervision," he said.

Competition was very keen throughout the entire period of judging and Dean Stangel said that it was one of the hardest jobs that had ever faced him at a junior show. Most of the classification, he said, was done on small technical points. All of the top animals, he indicated, were very close in quality and show.

The calf divisions and all sheep classes were judged today. Tuesday will be devoted to the swine classes.

Winners in the various classes in the order of judging were;

Second place, Charles Richardson, 4-H, Kirkland; third, Homer Bradley, 4-H, Happy; 5th, Joe Craddock, 4-H, Lubbock, route 5; 6th, Richard Hunter, 4-H, Hereford; 7th, Joe Craddock; 8th, Ray Tyler, FFA, Seminole; 9th, Charles Richardson; 10th, Jackie Moore, 4-H, Petersburg; 11th, Leon Harkins, FFA, Plainview; 12th, Thomas Pherigo, FFA, Snyder; 13th, Bobby Harris, 4-H Ralls; 14th, Bill Evatt, FFA, Ralls; 15th, Clydene Head, FFA, Lorenzo; 16th, Don McGinty, 4-H, Spur; 17th, John Allen, FFA, Lubbock, route 6; 18th, Ray Hancock, FFA, O'Donnell; 19th, Marvin Massey, 4-H, Friona; 20th, LaVon Shearer, 4-H, Floydada; 21st, Jimmy Sandlin, FFA, Lubbock, route 4; 22nd, Richard Carter, 4-H, Tahoka; 23rd, James Becton, 4-H, Petersburg; 24th, Will Ed Craddock, 4-H, Lubbock, route 7; 25th, Rhonal Teaff, FFA, Floydada.

USDA Says Farmers Plan Acreage Cut

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP) Farmers apparently plan to take voluntary action to prevent a possible sharp increase in production of most crops this year by planting less land.

They had been expected to plant more.

Recent declines in farm prices —coupled with the fact that farm production costs are still high— were said by the Agriculture department to be discouraging farmers from going too heavy on spring planted crops.

Expectations of an increase had been based upon the possibility that this may be the last year of high government war time price supports and freedom from rigid pre-war production controls.

Officials had warned that "over production" this year could force return to such controls in 1950.

The department said that about 361,000,000 acres may be planted to all crops for harvest this year. This would be about 1,600,000 less than last year, but still the fourth largest since 1937.

However, given very favorable yields per acre, total production this year could exceed last year's record.

Truman Blasts Rent Curb Foes

gren, to be chairman of the National Security Resources board.

Mr. Truman made no mention of these developments. Instead, he told the conference of 600 mayors:

"Of course, I differ with the actions of the Congress on some points, and where these differences are important I shall continue to urge the course I think is right.

"But basically the Congress and the President are working together for the good of the whole country. We are going to agree on a lot more things than we disagree on."

Mr. Truman told the mayors he believes that when the final score for the present Congress is added up, "some of the selfish pressure groups are going to be pretty badly disappointed."

Lobby "Shocking"

"The lobbyists . . . don't want us to build new low-rent houses, and they don't want us to hold the rents of the houses that are available," the President said.

"It is a terrible and shocking thing that the real estate lobby—which pretends to speak for those whose business is providing houses—has become the real enemy of the American home."

Before talking to the mayors, Mr. Truman conferred with Democratic leaders in Congress. Leaving the White House, House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) told newsmen that talk of the administration's program bogging down is "nonsense."

Baruch Urges Decision

Senator Lucas (D-Ill), Senate majority leader, said he agreed.

The leaders predicted that Congress will enact a major part of Mr. Truman's legislative requests.

Also addressing the conference of mayors today was Bernard M. Baruch, long-time adviser of presidents.

Baruch said it is now urgent for the United States to "seek a decision" in settling the cold war with Russia.

He advised against "panicky" measures, and told the mayors:

"I believe we can get the peace we crave if we pace the control ourselves in the interest of all, and not of selfish groups."

Local Authority Backed

(Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, another speaker at the mayors' conference, told the group to hang on to their local authority and not to surrender it to the federal government, International News Service reported.

(The general said that local self-government is the political foundation of the United States and warned that "our democratic nation cannot exist unless mayors exercise and discharge their authority.")

Spring, Storm Season

nadoes seldom occur on the South Plains but that doesn't mean that we will never have one, or that one of the smaller ones won't score a direct hit on a crowded residence or cut through a town and cause heavy loss of life and terrific damage. We can only go by the averages built up over the years."

There was a time in the Panhandle and on the South Plains, before the coming of the frozen food locker, when every rural family and many city residents had a cellar or dugout handy. Usually the dugout was used for the storage of canned goods, potatoes and other edibles, but often an approaching black cloud sent the Plains people scurrying to their underground storerooms for safety.

While there is little that can be done to offset the danger from a tornado, the weather station pointed out that during the present stormy season a forecast of an approaching cold front is also a forecast of possible twisters for the approaching cool air mass is certain to clash with the warm, humid air that has moved in with spring.

Mrs. Clara Gebhard Snyder, director of the educational division of the Miller's National federation of Chicago, will visit the Texas campus Friday and Saturday. She will be a guest of the Home Economics department.

Revival services which have been conducted the past three weeks at First Foursquare church, Eighth and Ave. Q, have been termed unusually successful by officials of the church. Last night, Rev. Floyd Dawson, pastor, had as his sermon topic, "Unbelief." At 7:30 o'clock tonight, he will preach on "Supernatural Powers." The revival marks the 17th anniversary of the establishment of the Lubbock church. Services are to be continued all this week at 7:30 o'clock nightly.

Processing Tax

Waco, testified that the Clifton bill would help relieve the grave financial situation most Texas cities are in.

R. B. Anderson of Vernon, president of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association, appeared in opposition to the measure. He called it a "de-industrialization tax" that would place Texas industries at a competitive disadvantage in national and world markets.

"It will place those of us who operate little plants in inland territories or adjacent to the state's borders at a competitive disadvantage, which will mean our end," he said.

Two Oklahoma legislators were called as witnesses.

Appearing for the Clifton bill was Rep. Kirksey Nix of McAlester, who said the oil refineries would not leave Texas or Oklahoma if such legislation is enacted.

"They won't leave until they suck Texas and Oklahoma dry of oil. If you don't tax them now, you will never get it," he said.

Opposing the bill was Senator Frank Mahan of Fairfax, Okla.

He said the Oklahoma Senate would not pass such legislation unless all other oil refining states joined.

"If you fellows pass this bill, we will welcome your refineries to Oklahoma," he said.

A similar bill has been passed on second reading in the Oklahoma legislature, Nix said, and "we will advance ours as you advance yours."

Rent Bill Pushed

ington hotels.

Rep. Harris (D-Ark), who managed the district bill, said he saw nothing "incongruous" in the conflict between the two measures.

The Senate opened debate on a bill to continue controls for 12 to 15 months and allow some rentals to increase 10 per cent over a year's period.

Democratic leader Lucas of Illinois urged his colleagues to stick to the subject. He said that unless the Senate makes good progress, he will call night sessions starting Wednesday.

Mr. Truman, in an address to the U. S. conference of mayors, had some harsh words for the "local option" provision of the 15-month extension the House has passed.

The section would allow every state, county or city to decide for itself whether to retain or abolish federal rent ceilings. The bill the Senate Banking committee recommended would give such power only to the states.

There was no immediate indication when the Senate might vote on the bill.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican floor leader, retorted to reporters that Mr. Truman in his new attack on the real estate lobby was only belaboring a "bogeyman." Wherry said senators will not be influenced by pressure groups.

Dam Project Studied

able him to estimate costs of a development on the Canadian river. This report, to be ready before June 1, is expected to give some indication for the first time of how much it would cost the interested towns and cities to get water out of the Canadian.

Two Sites Studied

Present indications, he said, are that the most feasible site for a dam and reservoir on the river would be near Sanford, about 35 miles northeast of Amarillo. Another site at Tascosa, northwest of Amarillo, also is under consideration. But the Sanford site is viewed with most favor at present.

The tentative planning visualizes, the meeting here was told, a two-pronged pipeline system. One prong would extend from Sanford southeasterly about 40 miles to Pampa.

The other trunk pipeline would extend almost due south, touching Amarillo, Canyon, Plainview, Lubbock, Tahoka, Lamesa and O'Donnell. If communities east or west desired or required water, it would be obtained by tapping the trunk pipeline.

Cost Is Unknown

Burleigh declined all speculation as to what the cost of such an undertaking might be. The report for which he is gathering information should give the first indication on this subject, as well as the probable cost per 1,000 gallons of water delivered to individual communities, he said.

Other engineering sources, however, said the system probably would cost close to $50,000,000—about half the amount for the dam and reservoir and the remainder for pipelines.

Supporters of the project are hoping to obtain a congressional appropriation for the project by supplying evidence that it would pay for itself within 40 years or less.

Officials Interested

Without exception, spokesmen for the communities represented at the meeting here expressed interest in the project and voiced hope that it will be built. But all said they would want to know the cost of water before considering a contract to buy it.

Levelland, Littlefield and Plainview representatives said they believed their communities would prefer to rely on underground sources as long as that water is available, if production costs are cheaper. At the same time, they were unanimous in saying they would like to have a Canadian supply available, just in case.

While reclamation officials would not speculate on the subject, other engineering opinion was that enough probable demand for water can be shown to demonstrate that the project would be self-liquidating. Estimates of probable total demand for all South Plains and Panhandle communities, by decade years, were: 1950—65,000 acre feet; 1960—76,000; 1970—91,000; 1980—105,000; 1990, 120,000; and 2000—139,000.

To Meet At Amarillo

Some preliminary opinions in authoritative circles are that a market for 30,000 to 35,000 acre feet a year would make the undertaking feasible financially.

Burleigh flew to Lubbock for the conference, accompanied by H. W. Iredon, a reclamation service engineer. They are to attend a meeting in Amarillo today for representatives of towns in that area.

Present at the meeting were: L. B. Wootton, mayor, and J. B. Huckabay, city commissioner, Slaton; L. E. Mabe, city secretary, Kenneth Harper, city councilman, Levelland; Winfield Holbrook, mayor, H. S. Hilburn, publisher, and E. M. Osborne, Plainview; J. D. Willson, city manager, Lamesa; R. O. Stark, mayor, O'Donnell; Don Elder, assistant water superintendent, Seagraves; Ralph W. Douglas, city engineer, Littlefield; and Mayor W. H. Rodgers, City Commissioners E. K. Hufstedler, jr., and Clarence Whiteside; City Manager Steve Matthews, City Engineer R. L. Oldham, Board of City Development President Homer D. Grant, Harry N. Roberts, Harlie D. Woods, G. W. Parkhill and George P. Green, all of Lubbock.

Rites Held For Brownfield Youth

BROWNFIELD, March 21. (Special)—Funeral services for Marvin Bullard, 12, Brownfield youth who was killed early Sunday afternoon by lightning, were held Monday in Crescent Hill Church of Christ.

Jimmy Woods, minister, officiated.

Burial was in Brownfield cemetery, under direction of Brownfield Funeral home.

Bullard, the son of Mr. and Mrs. U. S. Bullard of one mile south of Brownfield, was fatally injured at about 1:45 p.m. Sunday, when he was struck by lightning as he rode a bicycle on a dirt road near his home.

His sister, Joyan, riding another bicycle a few feet behind the boy, saw the bolt of lightning strike him.

Her screams brought the parents to the scene. The boy's clothing was burning when the parents arrived.

The father wrapped the boy in a blanket and carried him by auto to Treadway-Daniell hospital, where the youth was pronounced dead on arrival.

Survivors, in addition to the parents and sister, include three brothers, Edwin, Roy Dale and Danny.

Storms Hit State

He was seriously hurt. Eight or ten others in the building at the time were not injured.

(Clinton, Edwards, Brookhaven, Louise, Raymond and the Capital City of Jackson reported damage to telephone, telegraph and power lines, the INS said.)

Sunday, two other tornadoes occurred. One damaged farm buildings near Lubbock. Another caused some damage to the business section of Melrose, in eastern New Mexico.

Winds were strong throughout the state Monday. The Weather Bureau said, however, that they were expected to calm down during the night and Tuesday.

Heavy Rains Fall

Also forecast was cooler and clear weather Tuesday.

Heavy rains, ranging up to four inches, fell at many points Monday.

A tornado ripped through a small Red River farming community about seven miles north of Texarkana at 8:30 a.m. Monday. The tornado injured some livestock and destroyed a dairy barn, a negro church and several negro residences. No one was injured.

A squall, described as resembling a tornado except that it was horizontal instead of vertical, struck Hockley, a small town near Houston. It hit at 7.32 a.m. and lasted less than a minute. It smashed barns and small buildings, ripped roofs off homes and uprooted trees.

The windstorm occurred at Denton early Monday morning. It knocked out 50 telephone lines and interrupted telegraph service between Denton and Dallas.

Most seriously hurt in the Louisiana storm was A. P. Colvin, 60, Missouri Pacific railway agent at the Tioga station. He was hospitalized with leg injuries received when the storm demolished the station about 10:30 a.m. Homes in the area were damaged and trees blocked some roads.

Gulf Coast Hit

Heaviest rainfall reported Monday was four inches at Webster, Harris county. Most of that Gulf coast county received an inch or more of rain.

Rainfall of more than an inch fell at scattered points over all Texas except the southwest portion and the Rio Grande valley. Other totals for the 24 hours ending at 5:30 p.m. Monday included Lufkin 1.70, Beaumont 1.64, Waco 1.36, Dallas 1.10, Austin 1.09, Texarkana 1.08, Tyler 1.05, Galveston .86, Abilene .23 and Amarillo .23.

Heavy rains also fell Sunday night and early Monday at Corsicana, Mineral Wells, Bryan, Denton, Kerrville, Bonham, Fort Worth, Burleson, San Antonio and Junction.

RAIN FALLS OVER AREA. HIGH WIND ALSO HITS

While rainfall over the area was generally light, a sudden twist in the weather brought a small twister, severe lightning, strong winds and some hail to the South Plains Sunday and Sunday night.

The weather bureau station at Municipal airport reported that .3 inch of rain was measured there following a series of showers, and one heavy downpour Sunday afternoon. Some hail was reported at the station.

A small twister struck the farm of C. R. Moore, nine miles west of Lubbock on the Levelland highway at 5:40 p.m. Sunday, destroying two small outbuildings, unroofing a third and almost upsetting Moore's garage.

Sounded Like Gun

An overhead tank on the farm of Lloyd E. Huffaker, just across the highway north, was also blown down.

Corrugated tin roofing and lumber from the buildings on the Moore farm were scattered over a 100-yard wide area for about a mile east.

Moore and his family were in the Moore residence when the small tornado hit. He said it sounded like the boom of a large gun and was over in less than five minutes.

No other damage in the immediate vicinity was reported but one farmer several miles to the west of the Moore home was reported to have lost the roof of his house.

Fair and warmer was predicted last night for the South Plains today and Wednesday. Temperatures today should range from 36 to 70 degrees, the weather forecaster said, and from 38 to the low 70's tomorrow.

Strong winds continued to lash the Plains section Monday, the velocity reading a sustained 41 miles per hour with gusts up to 50.

No heavy rainfall was reported from any point in the immediate vicinity.

Congratulations To:

Mr. and Mrs. Joyce J. Hagen of 809 Ave. K on birth of a son weighing 6 pounds at 8:15 a. m. Monday in West Texas hospital. The father is a diesel mechanic.

Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Trantham of Lorenzo on birth of a daughter weighing 7 pounds 14½ ounces at 8:37 a. m. Monday in Lubbock Memorial hospital. The father owns a dry goods and variety store.

Check Theft Charged

one sleeve of his jacket was torn out, investigators said.

A pickup order on the hit-and-run driver and car was broadcast to other agencies in the state by shortwave radio on authority of the Lynn county sheriff's office at Tahoka, where it was said that charges would be filed in the case.

Gypsies took about $60, a new smoothing iron, and cloth from a Mexican near Shallowater Saturday, the sheriff's department here was informed Monday. An old gypsy woman, accompanied by a boy and a baby, was said to have been responsible. They left in a 1941 black Ford automobile, one headlight of which was gone, sheriff's deputies were told.

A burglary at Idalou; a cutting, a stabbing and an attempted robbery here; a car theft and numerous lesser offenses were reported to law enforcement agencies here over the weekend.

Graves' garage at Idalou was entered through a south window, and $10 in change was taken from a cash drawer.

A pistol fired at close range reportedly discouraged efforts of an unidentified Mexican to break into the 216 Ave. K residence of Edward Ochoa.

Intruder Described

Ochoa said he was awakened about 5 a. m. Sunday by a man who hammered at his door and threatened him if he did not give up $400.

The intruder finally got one foot in the door and was trying to burst it open when Ochoa fired one shot, police were told.

The other man was described as about 30 years old, of heavy build, wearing a gray suit, white shirt. He wore no hat, Ochoa said.

Clarence Bryant, described by police as a negro, was stabbed and Samuel Joe Maxie, also identified as a negro, was cut in separate incidents, police said. Martha Massey, listed as a negro woman, was injured in one of the cases.

Bryant, witnesses told police, was driving a car and drew a pistol on Artis Williams, 27, another negro. Williams, they said, jumped out of the car and cut Bryant. Will Thomas Spencer, 26, a negro, later showed up at a hospital where Bryant had been taken for treatment and was arrested for carrying a "loaded and cocked" pistol. He said it belonged to Bryant.

Police said Maxey got drunk and went to Martha Massey's house at 2610 East Ave. B. She ordered him to leave, the report added, and he grabbed an iron poker and struck her several times. When she ran across the street to call police, he allegedly threatened to kill her, and picked up two bottles.

The woman grabbed a butcher knife and "carved him about the head." He was taken to a hospital, "in bad shape." Police held an iron poker and a knife in connection with their investigation.

The fine calf shown above with its owner Billy McAnelly, 13, Tulia 4-H Club member and Swisher county agent Calvin Holcomb (right) weighed in at 970 pounds. It had extremely fine lines and was deep in all quarters. The coat showed a fine, glossy finish and the calf was well trained to stand and show. Judith Coplon Pleads Innocent To Espionage Charge; Claims Material Gathered For Novel

WASHINGTON, March 21 (INS)—Judith Coplon, 27-year-old former Justice department political analyst, today pleaded innocent to charges of espionage and theft of secret government documents.

The dark-haired defendant said through her lawyer, Archibald Palmer, of New York, that the accusations grew out of her attempts to gather material "to write a book — a novel."

She entered her plea in U. S. District court before Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech who set April 25 as the date of trial in the Washington case.

The former government worker was released on $10,000 bail in the Washington case and her attorney said she is returning immediately to New York.

Miss Coplon and Valentin A. Gubitchev, Russian attache at the United Nations, were arrested March 4 in New York on espionage and conspiracy charges. She is free on $20,000 bail. Her trial there is scheduled to begin April 1.

Indictments against Miss Coplon have been handed down by grand juries in both New York City and Washington.

The Washington grand jury indictment, however, added the theft count against the Barnard college graduate.

In her court appearance today she wore a black sweater and a gray plaid skirt.

Hunting Novel

During her arraignment in New York, no clue was given as to her defense. But Palmer provided the first indication today when he said her search for story material was responsible for the charges.

He said:

"What can a serious-minded girl do in Washington. She's not good-looking enough to be too attractive to men."

Palmer declared that she already had started the book, but when he was asked if a manuscript were in existence, he replied:

"You know how authors work . . . a book is not in existence until it is finished."

Bail Demand Upheld

Over Palmer's strenuous objections, the court upheld the demand of Raymond Whearty, representing the Justice department, for $10,000 bail.

Palmer said Miss Coplon "was born in America, and her mother and father were born in America," adding:

"She doesn't know any foreign language and would have no place to go."

Whearty, however, said the bond was justified "because of the tactics employed by this defendant to date." If she escaped, he added, she would be "difficult to apprehend."

Palmer said a bonding firm declined to provide bail and the funds would have to be raised among friends.

Miss Coplon was given seven days in which to obtain a District of Columbia attorney to participate in the case and file motions designed to quash the Washington indictment.

Rebuilt Factories Run Continually In Russia's Donetz Coal Basin; Invasion Scars Evident

By EDDIE GILMORE
Associated Press Staff Writer

DONETZ COAL BASIN — Although much repaired, Russia's rich and famous Donetz coal basin still bears the imprint of German invasion.

I saw a small boy at what used to be a three-story railway station at Lozovaya. He said he was eleven.

"I remember the war very much," he said. "I lost my mother, father, two sisters and a brother in it. I'm entirely alone."

What was he doing?

"Going to school," he replied.

From Lozovaya, at one corner of the Donetz basin, we went to Slavyansk, a town in the Artemovsk province. It was the same story — ruins and reconstruction.

We moved to Kramatorskaya. Here was a place that before the war had a huge metallurgical works with thousands of tons of cast-iron produced annually.

The big works are going again, but only after much reconstruction. Although the metallurgical works were functioning, the railway station has been completely destroyed — right down to the ground.

"The factory and the mills were the important thing," said one of the workers. "They had to be started first. In the meantime we're using this string of boxcars for a station. But we'll get a new one up in time."

Further along the road was Konstantinovka.

Here the metal works had been destroyed along with a huge bottling factory. Both were going again.

"All blown up or burned down by the Germans," explained one of the citizens looking over the downtown section of the city. She said she had been here during the entire occupation.

"God of mine, we had a bitter time."

City after city. Town after town.

During the war I had been through sections of the Donetz basin and had seen destruction . . .

Today offered the proper setting. It was cold and gray and there was a fog on the steppe which edges up to the towns.

The Donetz basin occupies an area of slightly more than 4,480,000 acres of land and it contains a great amount of pit coal. The coals here are said to be of exceptional variety. Coke coal is also found in large proportions which is of much benefit to the local metal industry.

The industrial development of the Donetz basin began in 1860. About 246,000 tons were extracted in 1870. The Soviets have doubled and trebled and done far greater things than were ever dreamed of in those days.

The Donetz basin was a target for German penetration. They rolled big mechanical armies into its very heart and tried to work it for all it was worth.

When the Soviet armies began their offensives, the Germans—seeing it all was lost to them—went about a systematic destruction of as much of the area as possible.

In more than a day we have traveled from one corner of the basin to the other, moving through such industrially important places as Druzhkova, Nikitovka, Gorlovka, Putyeprovod, Khartzysk and Olovayskoye.

Smoke from operating factories rolls over the steppe again. At night the skies are red from blast furnaces and ovens.

Texas Solon Declares B-36 Is Best Bomber In World

WASHINGTON, March 21 (AP) The Air Force B-36 bomber is the best in the world, Rep. O. C. Fisher of San Angelo said last night.

He was speaking on a radio program broadcast over the Texas state network. The program, the Texas Forum of the Air, is conducted by Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana.

Fisher said the B-36, made in Fort Worth, is the "world's best long range bomber." He said it could fly 10,000 miles at 40,000 feet altitude with 21 tons of bombs.

"That means that operating from bases in Alaska, Maine or Labrador, the B-36's could fly to as many as 68 targets in Russia and return to their bases without refueling," he added.

Fisher serves on the House Armed Services committee, which studies all measures directly affecting the Air Force, the Navy or Army.

Rep. Gene Worley of Shamrock also appeared on the program. A member of the House Agriculture committee, he discussed the work of that group.

Senate Okays Driver Responsibility Bill

Safety Proposal Goes To House

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, March 21 — A bill designed to make drivers financially responsible for death and damage on Texas' streets and highways finally passed the Senate, 16 to 11, and went to the House today.

Opposition of the bill forced the Senate into its second afternoon meeting of the session.

Under the bill, a driver would not be affected until he had an accident. He would then—if anyone were injured or killed or if property damage amounted to $200 or more—have to prove that he could pay a court judgment up to $5,000 for injury or death of one person, another $5,000 for injury or death of a second person, and $1,000 for property damage.

Penalties Provided

Unless such proof were shown, the driver's license and car registration could be suspended.

Senator G. C. Morris of Greenville, author of the bill, said it would "promote safety and save lives."

Opponents had objected to the estimated $30 annual insurance premium they said the bill would force on drivers.

Senators Warren McDonald of Tyler and Carlos Ashley of Llano led opposition.

"I'm getting awfully sick and tired of seeing propositions enacted into laws in this state taking away the rights of the people under the guise of public safety," he said.

Ashley contended the bill was unconstitutional. He said it assigns judicial powers to an executive branch of the government—the Department of Public Safety which is charged with the bill's enforcement.

McDonald moved to recommit the bill to the Senate Finance committee for a consideration of the $400,000 it provides for enforcement. It had been approved by the state affairs committee. His motion was knocked down, 20 to 6.

The $200 property damage limit was moved up from the bill's orginal $50 limit. Morris upped the figure to $100 and agreed to another amendment by Senator D. B. Hardeman of San Angelo to double it again on argument that "you can't get a car into a shop for a fender repair for less than that."

Besides an insurance policy, the bill's requirements could be met by a cash (or securities) deposit or a bond. A "self-insurer"—one who owns 25 or more cars—would be exempt.

Commissioners Score Delay In Plans

Courthouse Building Program Is Studied

Several members of the county commissioners court expressed discontent Monday afternoon after, they explained, architects again failed to deliver plans and specifications upon which bids will be asked for construction of a new county courthouse.

"This has been going on for months now," R. O. Short, Ottis Isom and Pat Corley said. "We had a positive agreement to get them in February—in fact, we've expected them since last fall.

"We didn't get them, so at our last meeting we brought the matter up again and were promised they'd be ready in 10 days.

Material Is Discussed

"But today, Mr. Haynes (S. B. Haynes of the architects firm of Haynes and Kirby) told us it would be four weeks longer."

George G. Green, the other commissioner, was not a member of the court when it authorized the architects to draw the plans and specifications for the building.

Haynes met briefly with the court Monday when commissioners made efforts to decide upon the type of stone that will be used in the courthouse construction.

"It appears that tonkstone, a white rock quarried at Crawford, Texas, may be selected," the court said. "It is just as good as Indiana limestone, in our opinion, and can be bought with much less freight charges—perhaps so much as a saving of $8 a ton."

Will Meet Today

The commissioners will meet again today, with the architect and a representative of the Crawford stone company. The court seeks to find out whether the stone can be planed by the company to fit all requirements.

The courthouse would be six stories, a basement and a pent house, and would be set 63 feet from Texas Ave., 112 feet from the present courthouse.

Green, Isom and Corley had voted for placing the courthouse in that position. Short, dissenting, wanted to build it 117 feet back from Texas Ave., placing it much nearer to the present courthouse.

Bonds for construction of the new courthouse were voted in 1946.

It would require approximately a month after plans and specifications are received before a contract could be let for construction, court members said.

County Judge Walter Davies presided at Monday's session. Louie F. Moore, county clerk, took notes of the proceedings.

Texas House To Hear Vets' Bonus Proposals

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) — Two proposals to pay a veterans' bonus will be heard before a House committee Wednesday at 2:30 p.m.

Both measures, in the form of proposed constitutional amendments, will be heard before the House committee on constitutional amendments.

One by Rep. Jimmy Horany of Archer City would give $250 to each veteran of both world wars who served within the continental limits of the United States. Another $250 would be granted veterans who served at least three months outside the continental territorial limits. Horany's proposal would provide $400,000,000 for payment of the bonuses.

Rep. J. A. Benton of Wylie includes veterans of the Spanish-American war as well as the two world wars in his bonus proposal. He provides for minimum total bonuses of $200 and a maximum of $500 depending on length of service and whether it was overseas. Prisioners of war and dependents of men who died in service and disabled veterans could draw up to $750.

CHINESE GROUPS AIDED

Local Gideons' Bible Campaign Spreads Throughout U.S., Canada

A campaign started by the Lubbock camp of Gideons International now promises to be taken up by the Gideons of the United States and Canada.

The campaign is to provide Bibles for Chinese Christians, and the Lubbock group has issued an appeal for used Bibles and Testaments which they will pick up, pack, and pay transportation on.

Inspiration for the drive resulted from talks made by Oscar Wells, missionary returned from China who is now visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wells of South Ave. S.

China Camps Organized

Wells has told the Gideons and church groups that many Chinese would go to almost any lengths to obtain a copy of the Bible, so hungry are they for Christian knowledge.

The Lubbock camp of the Gideons resolved to collect any old Bibles they could and send them to the two Gideon camps which Wells has organized in China, for distribution.

Shortly afterward, they went to Wayland college at Plainview, where they contributed Bibles for dormitory rooms and offices. College photographers photographed them and sent it to the national Gideons magazine with a story of their campaign to find Bibles for China.

As a result, the Gideons International organization has promised to urge every local camp in the United States and Canada to participate in the drive.

O. D. Peden, who was named arrangements chairman, said "We want someone in every church to help us in the drive to obtain Bibles."

He explained that any individual can contribute a Bible by calling any local member of the Gideons, who will gladly call to pick up the Bible at their expense.

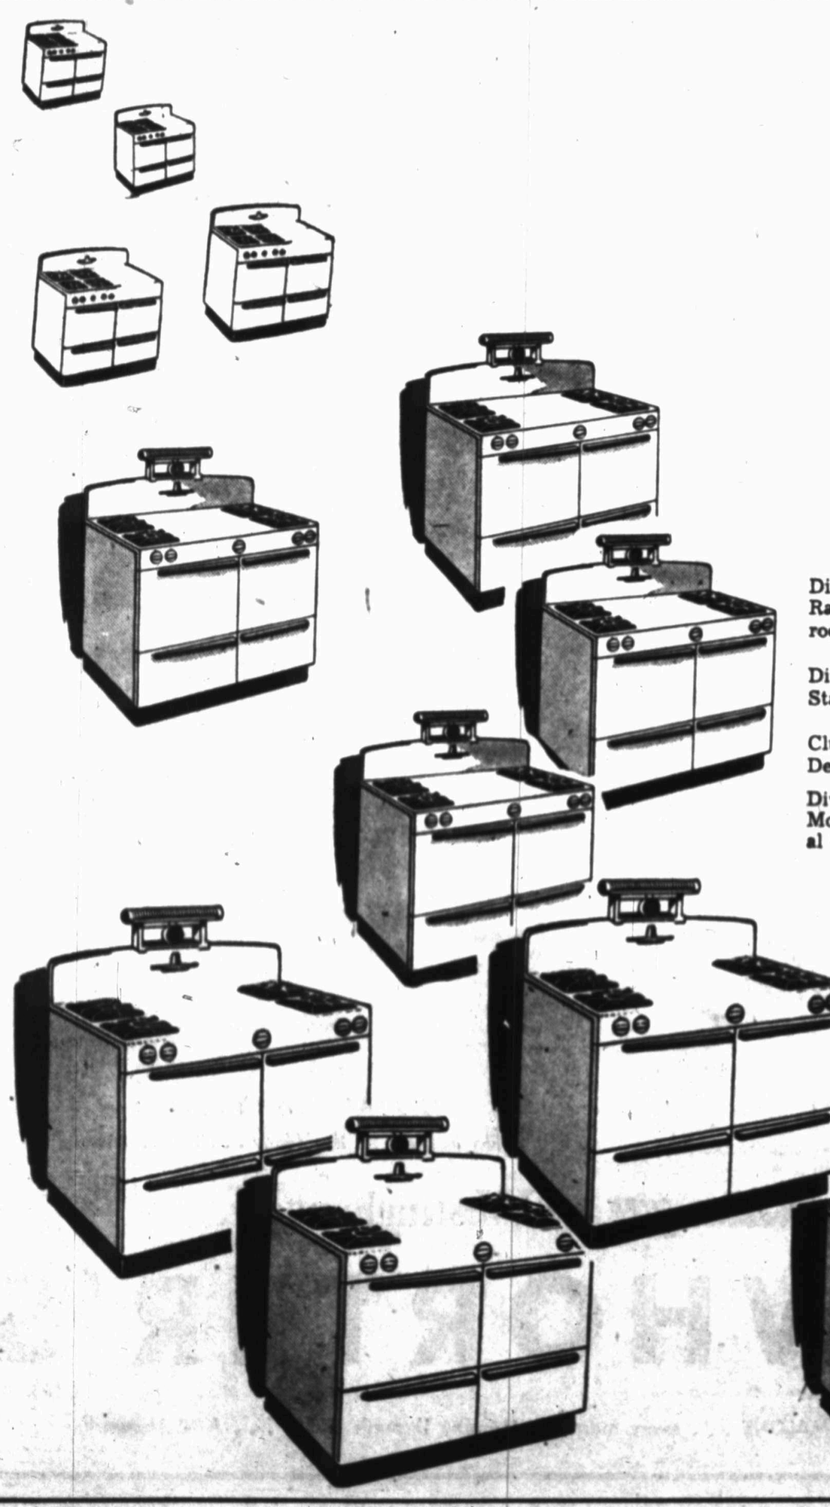

The Gideons Interfiational is a non-sectarian organization, with their telephone numbers, are Lester Ericson, president, 2-4617; A. L. King, vice-president, 9687; Earl Burnett, secretary, 6779; L. C. Ellis, treasurer, 7604; O. D. Peden, chaplain, 4097; A. N. Gamble, church assistant secretary, 4985; W. L. Hester, associate church assignment secretary, 4029; Troy Edwards, Bible secretary, 2-4963; J. C. Leech, associate Bible secretary, 2-8130.

U.S. Official Sees Employment For 60 Million During Summer

WASHINGTON, March 21. (U.P.) Ewan Clague, the government's top employment specialist, said Monday there should be jobs for 60,000,000 workers again this summer.

"It will be quite a recession if employment doesn't go that high," he told a news conference.

Clague made that forecast after other government officials predicted that unemployment would reach a peak of 3,715,000 persons this month.

Seasonal Upturn Due

Clague, director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said a seasonal upturn is due in non-manufacturing employment. If this rise follows the traditional seasonal pattern, he said, "we have hit bottom in February." He said the rise in non-manufacturing employment in March may be only slight.

"But," he said, "the key month is April and we ought to get a seasonal rise in that month."

Clague said manufacturing employment usually hits its seasonal peak in May and June but that agricultural employment is picking up now and should go up sharply next month.

He said the United Mine Workers' coal strike has caused some unemployment on the railroads and might continue to do so in April if not called off on schedule next Monday.

Employment Total Drops

Clague said employment in non-agricultural work dropped 370,000 in February to 43,957,000. He said this is 324,000 below February, 1948, but higher than any other February on record.

Manufacturing employment was 15,750,000 in mid-February, about 1,000,000 below the postwar peak reached last September.

He said prices continued their levelling off process during February.

The March unemployment figure was forecast by economists of the Federal Reserve board. They estimated that the number of jobless would average 3,200,000 over the first three months of this year. That would mean March unemployment must rise to 3,715,000. The February figure was 3,221,000 —a seven-year high.

Meanwhile, the Commerce department reported that the postwar sellers' market has all but disappeared in every line except automobiles and metals.

Cattle Field Day Set By Texas A&M Group

COLLEGE STATION, March 21. (Special)—The annual cattle breeding and feeding experiment field day at the Balmorhea field station will be held April 9, Director R. D. Lewis of the Texas Agricultural Experiment station announced Monday.

Test cattle will be available for inspection during the forenoon. Local cattlemen will serve a noon barbecue. Brief discussions of purposes and results of the experiment will follow the luncheon.

This experiment seeks to develop information on the ability of individual bulls to produce calves that can make high rates of gain in weight, Lewis explained.

Ranchmen Supply Calves

Each year ranchmen of the Highland area place 5 to 10 calves of one or more of their best herd bulls in the experiment. These calves are fed about 130 days by Superintendent John J. Bayles and R. V. Turnbough, assistant animal husbandman.

Individual records are taken when the calves are received, at monthly intervals and at the close of the feeding period.

A committee of competent judges will give the calves typescores just before the field day. They then will be sorted into sire groups. Each group will be labeled for ease of identification by interested visitors.

Results of previous tests indicate that about 75 per cent of the wide variations in rates of gain can be attributed to hereditary differences. Lewis said this gives encouragement for rapid improvement by selection for increased gaining rates of our beef and cattle breeds.

Smallpox Vaccine Dispatched To Threatened Rio Grande Valley

AUSTIN, March 21 (U.P.)—State authorities, mobilizing to meet the threat of smallpox in the Rio Grande valley, have dispatched 115,000 vaccine points into the area, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, reported today.

He said that additional supplies were needed to meet the valley needs and "more will be sent as soon as possible."

He said that thus far "six cases have been diagnosed and one death (from smallpox)" has been reported from the valley area.

The state health officer urged that everyone, "regardless of where they live," be vaccinated. "This," he said, "is especially true for all persons entering or leaving the affected area."

He pointed out that "smallpox is one disease that can be entirely eliminated if everyone is vaccinated at regular intervals."

California Scientists Perfect X-Ray Motion Picture Device

LOS ANGELES, March 21 (U.P.)—An X-ray motion picture device that shows the heart, lungs and muscles at work has been perfected and is about to go into hospital use, scientists of the University of Southern California disclosed today.

The device, combining the use of a powerful, new X-ray tube, a fluoroscopic screen, a mirror and a 16-millimeter motion picture camera, is expected to have particular value in diagnostic work, especially in studies of the heart.

New Guide To Military Jargon Circulating In Capital, With Pass-The-Buck Definitions

WASHINGTON, March 21. (AP)—The routine of military paperwork has established certain words and phrases rock-hard in Army, Navy and Air Force letters, orders, documents and even conversation.

For the "guidance" of those lost in the maze of stilled language, and to the considerable amusement of senior officers, a "glossary" is circulating this week at the Pentagon.

The well-worn terms and their "explanations":

Concur generally—I haven't read the document and don't want to be bound by anything I might say.

In Conference

In conference—I don't know where he is.

Passed to higher authority—pigeonholed in a more sumptuous office.

Appropriate action — do you know what to do with it? We don't.

Giving him the picture—a long, confusing and inaccurate statement to a newcomer.

Under active consideration—we have never heard of it. However, we'll try and find it in the files.

Has received careful consideration—a period of inactivity covering a time lag.

Have you any comments—give me some idea what it's all about.

You Stick Neck Out

That project is in the air—I am completely ignorant of the subject.

You will remember—you have forgotten, or never knew, nor do I.

Transmitted to you—you hold the bag a while, I'm tired of it.

It is recommended—we don't think it will work, but you go ahead and stick your neck out and try it.

It is estimated—this is my guess —now you guess.

For compliance—sure it's silly, but you gotta do it anyhow.

For necessary action—we don't know what they want, so you do it.

For immediate action—we have stalled it long enough, now you do something about it.

For signature—I thought it up but you sign it and take the rap.

Housing for your telephone voice is scarce, too

Like new houses, telephone cable is not yet plentiful. It takes telephone cable to "house" your telephone voice as it travels.

Perhaps telephone poles near your house carry a telephone cable (the thick, lead-covered carrier for a bundle of wires strung from pole to pole). Why can't we connect a telephone for you to this cable?

Ordinarily we could. But today most of these cables have no idle wires in them.

So new telephones take new cable.

That new cable is being made as you read these words. It is spinning out of telephone factories twice as fast as prewar. It is hurried to wherever we need it. There we hustle it into place—at the rate of a million miles of wire in cable this year alone.

Compared with normal production, telephone cable isn't scarce—it's abundant. But when 50,000 more people order telephones each month in the Southwest—as they do—even yesterday's abundance is today's shortage.

We're closing the gap, however, and we owe a lot to your patience and trust that we'll get the job done. For we're just as anxious to get you a telephone as you are to get one.

UNIONS PLEDGE CO-OPERATION IN 'EMERGENCY'

House Group Ends Hearings On Taft-Hartley Law; Labor Leaders Protest 'Clamp' On Testimony

By ALLAN J. FUNCH
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 21 — A House Labor subcommittee tonight noisily concluded 10 days of public hearings on Taft-Hartley act repeal amid protests from union representatives who did not get a chance to testify.

Rep. Kelley (D-Pa), subcommittee chairman, banged the gavel and declared the hearings ended while spokesmen for half a dozen unions of the Congress of Industrial Organization demanded an extension so they could be heard.

In the Senate, the eight Democratic members of the labor committee assailed the Taft-Hartley act as hurling the power of the government against workers and contributing to strikes.

They filed with the Senate a majority committee report urging passage of the bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley act and to substitute mild labor regulatory proposals endorsed by President Truman.

This bill is now on the Senate calendar awaiting action after the chamber disposes of rent control extension and the measure authorizing five billion, 580 million dollars to continue the Marshall plan for another 15 months.

The House subcommittee prepared to start drafting a Taft-Hartley act repeal bill.

At the hearing the CIO joined the American Federation of Labor in pledging to obey any presidential request for a 30-day postponement of strike action in labor disputes creating national emergencies.

CIO General Counsel Arthur J. Goldberg told a House Labor subcommittee during hearings on T-H repeal:

"Having endorsed the bill, we are going to abide by it. The CIO will carry out the wishes of the President."

President William Green of the American Federation of Labor gave a similar pledge to the committee in testimony last Wednesday.

House hearings were highlighted by another CIO attack on the Taft-Hartley act, with the union declaring failure of the 81st Congress to repeal it "will give aid and comfort only to the Communists."

Party Line Vote Seen

James B. Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, said:

"We cannot talk out of one side of our mouth in foreign affairs and out of another side in the domestic field. The Communists use the Taft-Hartley act as a major vehicle of propaganda — as evidence of reaction in this country."

Rep. Kelley (D-Pa), chairman of the House Labor committee, said the group should report the administration repeal measure in the lower chamber about April 1.

The subcommittee now holding hearings is expected to approve the administration measure by a straight party split of 8 to 5.

Texas Senate Okays Number Of Governor's Appointments

AUSTIN, March 21 (AP) — The Senate in executive session today approved these nominations by Gov. Beauford H. Jester:

Leonard B. Brown, of Kerrville, chairman of the Liquor Control board; J. Gordon (Obie) Bristow, of Big Spring, Liquor Control board; Gene Howe, of Amarillo, and V. F. (Doc) Neuhaus of McAllen, Game Commission.

Shotgun Blast Claims Last Of 'Barker Boys'

DENVER, March 21. (AP)—The last of Oklahoma's notorious "Barker boys" has died with his boots on.

Authorities here Monday indentified Lloyd (Red) Barker, 51, who was slain by a blast from a 20-gauge shotgun early last Friday, as the last son of "Ma" Barker, who, with her sons, rated high on the public enemy list during the prohibition era.

Barker's wife, Jean, 37, was arraigned in district court at Brighton, Colo., Monday on charges she fired the blast which cut down Barker as he unlocked a door to their suburban home. She pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity.

Last Of Barker Boys

District Attorney Clement R. Hackethal said he learned Monday from Mrs. Barker's attorney that the slain man was the last living son of the infamous Kate (Ma) Barker. Ma and had four sons, two of whom were members of the Barker-Karpis gang.

FBI records show the four Barker boys were Herman, who died early in the 1920's, Arthur, Fred and Lloyd. Ma and Fred were killed by FBI agents in Florida in January, 1935. Arthur, known as "Doc," was killed by guards as he tried to escape from Alcatraz in 1939.

Lloyd was manager of a Denver restaurant at the time of his death.

Mrs. Barker, who is quoted by police as saying she shot her husband because she feared he was going to kill her and their four children, has been committed to Colorado Psychopathic hospital for observation.

Prison records show that Lloyd Barker was discharged from Leavenworth penitentiary Oct. 29, 1938. He had been sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary for mail robbery at Baxter Springs, Kans., in 1921. This was during the era of the Barker-Karpis gang.

POOR EYESIGHT BLAMED

DENVER (U.P.)—Nine Denver eye doctors have a new recipe for developing juvenile delinquents into attributes to society. The doctors, who examined the eyes of more than 170 boys at the state industrial school, said "the program is being undertaken with a great deal of enthusiasm. Delinquency has its roots in school failures and poor eyesight hampers the student."

NTSTC Teacher Killed, Another Injured In Highway Mishap

GEORGETOWN, Tex., March 21 (U.P.) — One English teacher of North Texas State Teachers college, at Denton, was killed and another was seriously injured yesterday in an automobile collision two and a half miles northwest of Georgetown.

Miss Valaree Mangum, 26, was killed, and Mary Tom Osborn was injured.

James Davidson and C. H. Davidson, occupants of the second car, were taken to an Austin hospital for treatment of injuries which were not believed to be serious.

THAT ALLIANCE:

Necessary To Peace

INDICATIONS, which probably can be observed as well in Lubbock as any part of the country, are that most Americans are taking an entirely realistic view of the proposed North Atlantic alliance.

They deplore the conditions which argue for a protective alliance. They would prefer to avoid foreign entanglements as much as circumstances will allow. Their common sense tells them the United States cannot go into a thing of this kind without risks and obligations. As reasoning people, they know the treaty would require the sacrifice, to a degree they cannot guess, the right of self-determination in matters of vital concern. Bluntly, they know—and no one can persuade them to the contrary—the alliance could involve them in wars they otherwise might avoid.

But their native intelligence also tells them that the hope of gains of any kind usually require risks. The gains for which they hope in this instance are security from attack and/or subjugation because of the unified strength the alliance would present to a potential aggressor—meaning Russia.

Neither in its present form, nor in whatever form it may take when ratified, can there be hope for a treaty to satisfy everyone in its entirety. But Americans have the re-assurance that two-thirds of the voting members of the U.S. Senate must approve before this nation is committed to the alliance. The senators aren't going to approve anything which, in their opinion, is contrary to the safety and best interests of the U. S.

Their collective opinion will be the best, by far, available to the American people. Unquestionably, the senators could make a mistake—one of horrifying possibilities. But of all the agencies available, the Senate is the best qualified to chart the course which is best and safest for the nation—one which can be accepted and followed with the most confidence by the American people.

The United States Senate is our best bet—as good a bet in a matter of this kind as any nation reasonably could hope to have.

Good Appointment

LUBBOCK and Floydada naturally might be suspected of bias in the matter, but informed opinion throughout Texas almost certainly will approve Attorney General Price Daniel's selection of Charles D. Mathews, now of Lubbock but formerly of Floydada, as his executive assistant.

It was a promotion so obviously based upon merit it is difficult to see how anyone might criticise it. As chief of the department's Anti-trust division since Jan. 1, 1947, Mr. Mathews was handed one of the most difficult assignments ever made by any Texas Attorney General—that of trying to break up unlawful price agreements and monopolistic practices in this State. The offenders, who have paid off nearly $150,000 for their offenses largely as result of efforts under Mr. Mathews' direct supervision, are likely to be the first to agree he has done an outstanding job.

General Daniel is to be commended for recognizing and rewarding merit in his department. The local pride the promotion might inspire in Lubbock and Floydada is incidental to the fact that it has gone to a man who has proved his qualifications for the No. 2 spot, unsurpassed by any division of State government in its importance to the people of Texas.

Pop Goes The Queen

THE STORY: Quiz Show Winners John Henry and Sin Conover, spending an expense-paid vacation at a swank resort, receive a mysterious visit from gun-toting Homer Anglin. Later Anglin is fatally shot, but he whispers to Johnny, "You already got it," before he dies. Then the cottage of the Conovers is occupied by Faye Jordan under the pretext of a mix-up in reservations. But the Conovers find their luggage was searched when it was moved to another cottage. While speculating that Faye was to meet Anglin, who was confused by a lack of a No. 13 in the row of cottages, Johnny finds a mechanical pencil in his pocket. In it is a piece of paper on which is a cipher message. Meanwhile, other characters in the story are under suspicion, including Thelma Loomis, a gossip columnist and Mr. Trim, representative of the quiz-show sponsor.

XIII

THELMA LOOMIS lounged at an umbrella-shaded table on the yellow tile bank of the swimming pool. Opposite her, stiff and straight in a canvass-backed chair, sat Mr. Trim.

Let the old bore make conversation if he wants to, thought Miss Loomis. I didn't ask him to sit down.

Her eyes were across the pool, where a man with an athletic figure and close-croped silver hair idly kicked at blue water while he talked gaily with a young girl in a white knit bathing suit.

The four of them were alone at the pool. Most of the hotel guests were Sunday morning sleepers.

Said Mr. Thim, "What are you watching him for?"

Thelma Loomis moved her gaze hastily. "Curious," she said. "I wanted to see how the old goat operated." Her companion looked shocked. "He's Sagmon Robottom. The Prince Charming of archaeology. You probably read his book." The Hollywood writer was scornful. "He popularized archaeology—made it just like golf. Robottom's the All-American Boy grown up. He's got quite a reputation around L. A.," she added gently. "Plus a wife."

Trim's "Ah!" could have meant anything. But he looked disapprovingly at the archaeologist and his brunette consort.

"That's no relic he's found there," chuckled Miss Loomis.

AN inviting face crowned by braids of black hair was turned up attentively to Robottom. And he was putting his most charming foot forward. Even across the wide expanse of pool came the constant flash of blinding white teeth in the bronze aquiline face.

Suddenly the silver-haired man got up and fumbled in the pocket of his discarded beach robe.

"He's giving her something!" exclaimed Trim. "Say, is it—a key?"

"Not so loud, for Pete's sake," said Thelma Loomis. Robottom handed the girl a little card that looked like a claim check. She tucked it in the waist of her suit so that the edge showed against her bare stomach. He said something and they both laughed. Then the archaeologist stood on the edge of the pool and stretched.

He launched his long body into a perfect dive, cleaving the blue water.

Thelma Loomis watched the graceful display he made through the shimmering water as he arched his torso and sounded to the depths of the pool.

"Say!" whispered Trim, tapping at her hand. "Another married man!"

Miss Loomis quit wondering about the card and brought her sharp gaze up to the girl opposite. The brunette wasn't appreciating Sagmon Robottom's performance at all. Instead, she had her pert face turned to a stocky young man in gray trousers and blue sport coat who had strode purposefully from the direction of the guest cottages.

"That's young Conover," hissed Mr. Trim.

"Of course," said Thelma Loomis exasperatedly.

The girl patted the yellow tiles beside her and Conover sat down awkwardly, folding his legs beneath him.

Robottom surfaced and blew out water. He looked for applause from the girl. Then he saw the man with whom she was engaged in fascinated conversation. The expression on his face was impossible to catalog.

JOHN HENRY had no more than determined how to pursue his course of clever questioning when Miss Jordan said matter-of-factly, "I suppose you're here to find out how I got your cottage."

"Uh—well—no," he managed.

"Oh, sure you are," Miss Jordan told him confidently. "Your wife probably sent you."

"That's not true. In fact, she—"

The girl's round eyes brightened still more and she leaned a smooth shoulder closer to him. "Why, Mr. Conover!" her voice caressed his ear.

He glanced around hurriedly. Sin wasn't in sight.

"Now, Miss Jordan—" John Henry edged away from the white knit hip.

"Faye! With an 'e' like in 'easy.'"

"Now, Faye—" said John Henry and forgot what it was. The girl had slid along the yellow tile so that her bare knee nudged his leg. He couldn't retreat any farther without falling into the pool or getting up.

John Henry started to give the whole thing up when he saw the card tucked into the waistband of her swim suit. Too large for a calling card, it evidently had some engraved letters on the side that was against her flesh. At least, the engraving had dented through onto the blank side in places. What was she doing carrying the card around in her bathing suit?

"Let's talk," he suggested, torn between retreat and curiosity.

"Intimately," Faye amended. "You start—darling."

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

IT'S ONE o'clock in the afternoon.

My typewriter faces the road.

Strolling by leisurely is a young chap who lives in the neighborhood and who recently graduated from one of our great universities.

BRANDEIS

A few days ago he asked my advice.

He had to get a job.

What did I suggest?

"What kind of job are you fitted for?" I asked him. "What did you study in college?"

"Oh, they didn't really fit me for anything in particular," he said. "I majored in sociology, but I can't think of anything in that line offhand."

"Have you any particular talents or tastes?" I asked.

"No, can't say I have. But I do want a job that has good opportunities for advancement.

"It shouldn't be too hard but leave me some time for fun and play. A fellow is young only once, you know.

"I'd also like a job that has some prestige attached to it and some glamour and excitement."

"Anything else?" I asked.

"Well, nothing I can think of," he replied, "except that there shouldn't be too much competition in that line of work. Competition makes things pretty tough, you know. You've got to work too hard."

I couldn't think of anything at the moment that would suit the young gentleman. But I promised to give the matter some thought and have another chat with him.

In the meantime, he said, he would try hard to land something himself.

I have seen him around every day since then, dressed in clothes of a country gentleman. A few nights ago I saw him coming home at two o'clock in the morning. I was awakened by the happy noise of youngsters coming back from a party. He was one of the youngsters.

IS MY young friend typical of today's graduates? Are today's colleges breeding a generation of boys and girls whose great ambition in life it is to grow up into glamorous loafers with short hours and large income.

He wanted a job with little competition. This morning I read about a job with no competition.

Dr. Milton James Ferguson, chief librarian of the Brooklyn Public Library, has just accepted the position of "Editor-in-Chief of the Dewey Decimal Classification and Relative Index."

It's the only job of its kind in the world and it consists of "dividing all the world's knowledge into ten classes, each designated by a whole number, the subdivision by decimals."

The index is used by 99 percent of all the libraries in this country and was devised by the late Dr. Melvil Dewey in 1873, when he was 22 and college librarian at Amherst College while still a senior.

Shall I tell my job-seeking friend about Dr. Ferguson and Dr. Dewey?

I don't think I shall. He'd consider them old-fashioned fuddy-duddies.

ON SPENDING PLANS

Missouri Solon Leads

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The most influential single individual on Capitol Hill these days is not Vice-President Barkley or Speaker Sam Rayburn. He is dour, dark Clarence Cannon of Missouri, chairman of the House Appropriations committee, who is pouring out money with a speed and volume unsurpassed in peace time by any member of the United States Congress.

He is a complete puzzle to his playmates. He declared war on President Truman's spending program at a secret meeting of this all-important committee, warning that the nation would face "bankruptcy" unless there were large-scale reductions.

TUCKER

He warned that an economic collapse, based on a business depression, high taxes and heavy spending, would enable Stalin to win the "cold war" without firing a shot. His colleagues were deeply impressed until he began to use his chairmanship prerogatives to block any real reduction in the budget.

SIGNS: Chairman Cannon has broken all traditions of this historic committee to make sure that more economy-minded members, including Democrats and Republicans, do not cut the White House spending program by more than a few dollars.

Unless the House or Senate rebels against his czaristic attitude when appropriation bills reach the floor, it is doubtful if the Truman budget of $42,000,000,000 will be lowered by more than $500,000,000. But there are signs that both chambers, and especially the Senate, may reduce both him and the budget to smaller size.

PLEDGES: Mr. Cannon insists on sitting in on all meetings of Appropriations Subcommittees, although no other chairman has ever done so. As chairman, he is entitled to a vote in these bodies, even though he is not an actual member. When a Republican member protested against this procedure, Cannon snapped:

"This Administration made certain pledges last year which involve the spending of money. We were given that mandate and responsibility, and I intend to keep these promises. I intend to see that no Republicans or renegade Democrats repudiate those campaign promises."

The "renegade Democrats" he had in mind include several Southern members, who, naturally conservative, have been appalled by Administration demands for heavier spending and higher taxes. When they rebel in subcommittee, Mr. Cannon's vote offsets their protest.

CABINET: He recently used his vote to save President Truman both political and financial embarrassment. There is a general belief that Chairman Cannon aims at a Cabinet post, and hopes to get it by abandoning his proclaimed economy attitude for full support of the White House spending program.

As related here several weeks ago, the House removed Reclamation Commissioner Michael W. Straus from office for alleged political manipulation of funds. He was charged with halting many projects during 1948 so as to support the President's charge that the 80th, Republican Congress had neglected Western interests. When the contractors who suffered from liquidation of their jobs threatened to sue, Reclamation agreed to pay them $780,000 as damages.

DELAY: Mr. Cannon, however, knocked that agreement out, refusing to approve the proposed payment. He realized that it would be an admission of political guilt if the claim were allowed.

The contractors will eventually sue and get their money from the U. S. Court of Claims, but it takes years for court action on such cases. The delay will save the present Administration from any embarrassment until after 1952.

Senate members have heard of this maneuver. Both a subcommittee and a full committee have agreed to fire Commissioner Straus as proof that they condemn his practices. President Truman and Mr. Cannon are pulling every political string to force the Senate to refuse payment to the contractors and to retain the former Chicago newspaperman as Reclamation Commissioner.

CZAR: Chairman Cannon also showed callous regard for western states which supported President Truman because they were persuaded that he would treat their sectional problems more generously than the 80th, G.O.P. Congress did.

He ordered a straight horizontal cut of 15 per cent in the Budget's requests for funds to inaugurate or complete irrigation, power and conservation projects in that area. But he permitted only a two per cent reduction in the amount of money appropriated for personnel. Although the field staff has been sharply reduced, the number of political partriots in the administrative offices will be kept at the present high level.

Thus, although he is hardly known to the general public, Clarence Cannon of Missouri is the czar of Capitol Hill.

ECONOMISTS: "In all this talk about inflation and deflation," writes B. H. of Jackson, Mich., "I find government experts contradicting themselves. Why can't they get together and give us a single, straight forward answer?"

Answer: Even outside the government, economists never seem to agree. This usually is because a particular economist emphasizes one phase of a subject.

This same difference of opinion is found in various Federal departments, not only on economics but also on other subjects including national defense, labor and social services.

Sometimes the opinions are slanted to meet the requirements of partisan politics. Or special stands are taken in accord with the pet theories of a particular department. For example, the Federal Trade Commission in general discourages manufacturers efforts to sell products broadly over the national market. But the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Department of Commerce do the opposite.

Policies differ, also because bureaus operate under different laws. The Federal Reserve Board requires a high down payment on sales of new autos. The Veterans Administration insures loans on autos that eliminate down payments.

The Justice Department might threaten a group of manufacturers for an infraction of the Anti-trust Law while the Bureau of Standards might encourage the practice.

Usually nothing is final until the Administration lays down a policy—and sticks to it. It's confusing but better than regimentation.

Power and riches are two things hard for a man to handle without making a fool out of him.

The average man does most of his loose talking when he is tight.

A bushel of trouble sometimes comes to the man who consumes too many pints.

A politician is the man who tries to use a platform as a springboard.

An old-timer is the one who can remember when a man never wore ventilated shoes unless he had a corn on his toe.

Early to bed and early to rise and someone else will have to keep you wise.

Believe It Or Not -- By Robert Ripley

PROGRAM CLAIMED CHANGED

Probe Of German Policy Asked

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—Over two months ago a special commission appointed by Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall returned from Germany where it was sent to investigate the program designed to break up the giant German cartels that had helped to foment Adolf Hitler's war of aggression and supplied his war machine.

The secretary acted on the basis of a mass of firsthand evidence submitted to him by former officials who were familiar with that program in Germany, which showed the successive steps by which it gradually had been abandoned by the American military government headed by General Lucius D. Clay.

STOKES

The old pattern was appearing again. Gradually former Nazi financiers and industrialists were regaining influence and prestige.

Solon Asks For Report

Senator Kilgore (D-W. Va.) who is much concerned about our policy in Germany, has been prodding the Department of the Army for the commission's report. It still has not been completed and submitted to Secretary Royall. The West Virginia senator is well informed about the German cartels and their part in the war from the very exhaustive investigation he directed as chairman of a special Military Affairs subcommittee and a trip to Germany immediately after the war when he gathered considerable documentary evidence.

He thinks that Congress and the American people ought to know what is happening in Germany.

It develops now that there is a controversy within the three-man commission, which consists of Garland S. Ferguson, Federal Trade commission member, its chairman; Samuel Isseks, New York lawyer, formerly in charge of the Justice department's anti-trust division's New York office, and Arthur Kearney, Chicago business management expert.

Mr. Isseks is objecting to the delay in the report. Chairman Ferguson now is proposing to resubmit some of the testimony taken in Germany to Army officials there, presumably for rechecking, which would string the whole process out longer.

Persons familiar with what is going on are afraid that this dilatory procedure may result, in the end, in what they call a "whitewash" of officials in Germany who have been responsible for policy in the decartelization program.

They fear a repetition of the sort of intimidation already used in one case, that of Alexander S. Sacks, a New York lawyer attached to the decartelization branch. He was suspended by the American military government because of criticism of former Under Secretary of the Army William H. Draper, jr., and other officials in testimony he gave the Ferguson commission at its request. Mr. Sacks accused these officials of hampering the decartelization program.

Mr. Ferguson, who remained in Germany after the other two members of the commission had returned to this country, turned the whole record of the investigation, including Mr. Sack's testimony, over to Lawrence Wilkinson, economic adviser to General Clay, which was most irregular procedure, to say the least.

Mr. Sacks recently was reinstated as the result of the outcry here over the summary treatment accorded him and a protest to the Department of the Army by Wendell Berge, formerly head of the Justice department's anti-trust division in which Mr. Sack's, himself, was employed at one time.

Mr. Draper recently resigned his post here as under secretary. He was head of the economics division of American military government in Germany, in which role he had much influence in determination of policy, before he took his job here as under secretary in which he was in general charge of policy in occupied Germany and Japan.

It was thought that his retirement might bring a change of policy. But time is of the essence. The policy he established may be so firmly imbedded that it will be difficult to revise it. It has been a gradual development through steps that may now be beyond recall. That is why Senator Kilgore is anxious to get the story to Congress and the public before it is too late. A thorough investigation by a senatorial committee would be most helpful.

BOTTLE TILTER REPEATS

FORT WORTH (U.P.) — A Seymour, Texas, salesman, 49, hit the jug both ways while here on a trip. Police found him drunk in his parked car. He spent the night in jail, sobered up, and paid a fine. He returned later in the day to claim his forgotten luggage. He'd been hitting the bottle again and was locked up a second time.

Mexico City reports that a New York bus line plans to operate international service to Mexico.

Drive To Raise Funds For Lubbock Cerebral Palsy Center Is Launched By Rotary Club

Money which will make possible an expanded treatment program for children handicapped as result of cerebral palsy is being collected by Lubbock Rotary club members following the kick-off of a financial campaign Monday morning in Hilton hotel.

Purpose of the campaign is to raise $65,000 to build a building to house the Lubbock Cerebral Palsy Treatment center, which has outgrown its present rented quarters at 1317 Tenth.

700 Spastics In Area

Dr. W. N. Gordon, member of the executive committee of the treatment center, pointed out at the meeting that more than 700 children suffering cerebral palsy live in the wide area served by the treatment center.

Now receiving treatment at the center are 138 children.

Approximately 30 Rotary club members attended the meeting and began personal solicitation immediately following the session.

Indications Good

Bob Fuller, member of the executive committee of the treatment center and finance chairman for the drive, said Monday that early indications were that the drive would meet immediate success. Response to solicitation was reported good.

Fuller presided at the kick-off meeting.

The site for the proposed building already has been purchased in 1600-block Thirty-fifth.

Tech Band Group To Leave On Tour Today

Eighty Texas Tech bandsmen will leave today for a three day tour of four cities in West Texas and one in New Mexico.

Prof. D. O. Wiley, director of the organization, said that the band would play from two to three concerts daily in Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Kermit, and Jal, New Mexico.

One of the main purposes of the trip is to present some of the music that high school bands will have to play at the state band contest held in Austin. Prof. Wiley said a program of classical and popular music would be offered.

Prof. and Mrs. Wiley, Joe L. Haddon, assistant professor of music, and Mrs. Haddon and Frank Junell, assistant to Tech's president will accompany the band.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Group To Interview Students

Four representatives of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company will be at Texas Tech Wednesday and Thursday to interview graduating seniors who are interested in a position with their company, according to Mrs. Jean Jenkins, head of the Tech Placement service.

E. W. Baccus, H. P. Hackney, W. J. Hancock and R. C. Vernor, all of the Dallas office, will talk with students who have majored in accounting, economics and management, marketing, electrical engineering and mechanical engineering.

Mrs. Jenkins also stated that the four men said that "others who may have a genuine interest in the Bell System are also welcome to an interview."

Students who are interested should stop by the Placement office in the Administration building and make an appointment for an interview.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, March 21 (AP) — Cotton futures were irregular in slow trading today. Scattered hedging and commission house liquidation met only scale down mill buying. Local traders were on both sides of the market.

The slow conditions in textiles and exports coupled with uncertainty over the outcome of pending farm legislation discouraged interest in the market.

Futures closed 40 cents a bale lower to 5 cents higher than the previous close.

Russian Reaction To Atlantic Pact Limited To Increased Propaganda

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

Russian reaction to publication of the terms of the Atlantic pact has been about as expected.

Coupled with more or less coincidental developments in the dispute over Berlin, it brings the war of words to a new crescendo, but without any sign of new action.

The text of the pact is being published and broadcast throughout the Soviet Union against a background of weeks-long preparation in dispatches from Tass correspondents all over the world interpreting it as a Western move toward war.

During the pact negotiations the Communist propaganda took the line that it was a "preparation for aggression" by the West.

The timing of the proclamation of a Communist government for Eastern Germany, giving it the status of a separate nation within the Soviet orbit, may have been influenced by the pact negotiations.

The Allied ban on Russian-issued East Marks as currency in Western Berlin comes coincidentally, following the failure of United Nations efforts for a mutual agreement, rather than as a part of the dispute over the pact.

Soviet Offensive Seen

Russia can be expected to step up her efforts to represent herself as the true friend of peace, menaced by war mongers.

The Allies will counter with continued efforts to prepare themselves for any contingency.

There already is talk of a Mediterranean or Middle Eastern regional pact, with Great Britain, the United States, France and Italy, of the present Allied bloc, throwing their weight officially behind the small countries which already are resisting Soviet pressure in that area.

Talk of a Pacific pact is likely to proceed slowly, also. The Western powers are well aware that, while their support can be expected as almost automatic by India and other countries, the Asiatic fight for freedom from Western dominance is a bar, to the movement, to direct partnerships.

Cattle Disease Fight Speeded

HOUSTON, March 21 (AP)—An estimated 15,000,000 animals in the foot and mouth disease infected area in Mexico will have been vaccinated within the next three months, Gen. Harry H. Johnson, co-directer of the Mexican-American fight against the disease, said today.

Johnson came here from Mexico to attend the 72nd annual convention of the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers association which opens here tomorrow.

Mexican To Report

Johnson, a Gulf Oil corporation executive on leave, said the cattle vaccination program has been stepped-up in recent months to the point where 2,300,000 animals have been vaccinated this month.

Full reports on the joint United States-Mexican Foot and Mouth commission will be made before the convention. Mexican Undersecretary of Agriculture Oscar Flores, the Mexican co-director, will report tomorrow, with Johnson following on Wednesday.

Johnson said he feels much progress toward eradicating the disease has been made but pointed out that the program still is a scientific experiment. The effectiveness of the vaccine still is undetermined, he said.

More than 500 cattlemen had arrived today for the three-day convention, which will include talks by Gov. Beauford Jester, Homer H. Davison, vice-president of the American Meat institute; F. W. Hinkhouse, West Liberty, Iowa, and Judge E. E. Townes of Houston.

The association's tax committee, headed by R. B. Anderson, Vernon, was in session today, and the board of directors was to meet this afternoon.

A delegation of Mexican officials and cattlemen, including three governors of Mexican states, was expected to arrive to participate in the convention.

EAT PLENTY AND TAKE OFF UGLY FAT
When you buy Barcentrate, you buy a preparation for taking off weight. You do not pay for any printed diet or for vitamins to fortify you against weakness while on a starvation diet. You need never know a hungry moment while taking this preparation. Barcentrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction.
Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it.
If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple, easy way to take off ugly fat, return the empty bottle for your money back.
Lost 56 pounds
Here is what Mrs. L. J. Bryant, P. O. Box 56, Whitewright, Texas, wrote us:
"I want to tell you what Barcentrate has done for me. I weighed 268 pounds when I started taking it. I now weigh 212.
"I have taken my dress size down from size 50 to 44 and never felt better in my life and everybody tells me how much nicer I look than I did.
"I am still taking Barcentrate as I want to get my weight down to 185 or 170 pounds."

The Beautiful Chrysler | Silver Anniversary Model

NOW ON DISPLAY at Chrysler dealers everywhere. The new Silver Anniversary Chrysler. With more room—greater comfort—greater safety and performance. Completely new in its well-bred beauty! Advanced again in its inspired engineering.

Like every Chrysler for 25 years, our Silver Anniversary car is beautiful because it reflects the common sense and the imagination of the engineering underneath. Your greater safety . . . your greater comfort . . . your greater satisfaction in your car's performance . . . these come first in the Chrysler way of building cars. And once again, with more than 50 important improvements, you are getting first from Chrysler the advances that really count.

The full beauty of the Silver Anniversary Chrysler goes far beyond all that is exciting to the eye. Tailored to taste, with ample headroom—with plenty of shoulder room and legroom—with wider chair-height seats. This is a car perfect in every detail right to its jewel-like ash tray. There's more horsepower from the foremost high compression engine, the mighty Chrysler Spitfire! With Prestomatic Fluid Drive Transmission . . . with Safety-Level-Ride . . . with exclusive Safety-Rim wheels that make it almost impossible to throw a tire . . . with more than 50 advances in safety, comfort, convenience, and performance—this is the car you'll talk about for years to come. We cordially invite you to see and ride in it . . . by far the greatest value offered!

AGAIN YOU GET THE GOOD THINGS FIRST FROM CHRYSLER
