OKLA. CITY VOTES SHUTDOWN FOR DOLLAR OIL

Luxuriant Crops Of Irrigated Valley Inspire Demand For Third Tour

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Talker received the following letter Friday morning:

Mr. Talker:

I heartily endorse your plea for support for Wichita Falls industries. It is just as important to keep a pay roll or a useful business here as it is to bring in a new industry, and I think we have a perfect right and a duty to favor those industries and businesses which have contributed so much in many ways to our community. We ought not only to help them in times of adversity but in normal times as well. Yours for a better Wichita Falls.

OLD TIMER.

Wichita Falls had been built up to a fine little city many years ago through just the kind of spirit of cooperation and appreciation "Old Timer" expresses. We owe a considerable part of what we have to this spirit. It worked in other days, there seems no reason why it should not work today. Let's everybody try to do something in the coming months for those who have done and who are doing something for Wichita Falls.

The Grandfield Enterprise reports a yield of 104 bushels of oats an acre on the Emerson farm northeast of Grandfield and a yield of 45 bushels of wheat on the Mounts farm near that place. And right along with these items it prints the report of the census bureau showing that Tillman county in which these farms lie produced 77,265 bales of cotton in 1929 from 229,906 acres in that crop, or nearly one-third a bale an acre. It is not too much to hope that in some season in the near future Tillman county may have the combination of 45 bushel wheat, a third of a bale of cotton with good prices for these crops. If that happens there will be money to pay the mortgages, and buy the many things farmers have learned to do without in recent years.

Twenty years ago this month Wichitans were looking forward to the town's first airplane exhibition. They were called aeroplanes in those days. The chamber of commerce had made a contract with some Spanish gentlemen who called themselves the Pan-American Aviation company, for an exhibition at Lake Wichita. Great preparations were made for the flight but when the day of the exhibition came the pilot could not get the plane off the ground. Subsequently the plane caught fire and an aviatrix who was in it barely escaped.

Only a few days ago two Oklahoma men encircled the globe in an airplane in a little more than eight and a half days making their way through rains and storms and over oceans and mountains and barren wastes.

Access to old newspaper files which record the happenings of 20 years ago and something of the thought and beliefs and hopes and expectations of that day give one some sense of the pace of mechanical progress and the revolution that has taken place in our ideas about many things.

BUSINESS MEN SET GOAL AT PARTY OF 100

Tour for Key Farmers And Agents Opens Eyes Of Home Folks

NEW CROPS DEVELOP

Cantaloupes, Asparagus And Berries Profitable In Irrigated Area

Key farmers of neighboring Northwest Texas and Southwest Oklahoma completed their second annual tour of the irrigated valley Friday, spending the morning in visits to a number of fields, and disbanding early in the afternoon after eating lunch at the state experiment station and then attending the annual field day program at that farm.

The rich promise that the valley offers just now made a profound impression upon the visitors, but they were not the only ones to whom the trip was a revelation. Some members of the group of Wichitans in the party learned so much that they had not known about the valley that they inaugurated a movement for another inspection trip, to be staged later this month, in which they plan to have not less than 100 Wichita Falls business men take part.

May Ask Holiday

A valley tour for local business men was held last month, but only about a score took part. Those on this week's trip believe that the average business man of Wichita Falls has no idea of what is being done in the valley and that the project's possibilities are not even remotely realized in Wichita Falls. Acting on that belief, they formulated plans Friday afternoon for another business men's tour. The suggestion that a holiday be declared, if necessary to obtain general participation, was advanced.

Friday's trip included visits to fields of cotton, feed and alfalfa, with the widely variegated crop program at the experiment station directing attention to a number of other products. The visit to the station brought out the possibilities of raising other than field crops in the valley, with asparagus, cantaloupes and the various berry crops as the favored ones.

The numerous experiments under way at the station were explained by members of the station staff. A brief speaking program followed

Hoover Denounces Short Selling In Wheat as Deliberate Depression

President Calls Upon Speculators to Desist From 'Unpatriotic' Manipulations of Commodity Markets

WASHINGTON, July 10. (US)—President Hoover today denounced as unpatriotic the activities of speculators in selling short in the commodity markets, particularly wheat.

In a vigorous statement, the chief executive charged the speculators with deliberately trying to depress prices and undermining public confidence.

For some time it has been known that Mr. Hoover has been concerned over the "bearish" activities of many operators, believing their activities to be largely responsible for prolonging the business depression. Today was the first time, however, that he ever expressed himself publicly on the matter.

Names Threatened

In his statement, Mr. Hoover made no mention of the New York stock exchange or other securities markets, confining himself wholly to the commodity markets. In some quarters, however, there is a feeling that Mr. Hoover is also disturbed over the activities of the "bears" on the stock exchange.

The extent to which the president was concerned over the grain speculators was revealed by his threat to name the offenders except for the seal of confidence imposed by law. He made it plain that he was not referring to the legitimate market traders. Mr. Hoover's statement follows:

"It has come to my knowledge that certain persons are selling short in our commodity markets, particularly in wheat. These transactions have been continuous over

Figures Show Waning Of Pickpocket Art

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—The pickpocket profession is on its way out.

Injunction Order Halts Opening Of Texas-Oklahoma Free Bridge

HOUSTON, July 10. (AP)—The Red River Bridge company has emerged victorious, temporarily at least, in its fight to prevent opening of a free state bridge across the Red river between Denison, Texas, and Durant, Okla., it developed today when Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly revealed he had granted the company's application for a temporary injunction against the Texas state highway commission to halt the bridge opening.

Judge Kennerly also revealed he had refused to grant a similar order to the Terral Toll Bridge company, an Oklahoma organization.

He held the commission had not paid the money ($60,000) it had contracted to pay the Red River company, or its receiver, before opening the bridge; but refused an injunction to the Terral company with the statement that in that case there had been no such "clear cut" promise on the part of the commission.

Whatever future action may be taken will rest with the contending factions.

The decisions had not been expected until tomorrow.

"I think," said Judge Kennerly's opinion in the Red River case,

Abilene Heart Balm Case Ends in Mistrial

ABILENE, Texas, July 10. (AP)—The Roberts-Keel drama will have to be re-enacted.

The $50,000 breach of promise suit, the legal airing of which has stirred this section for 11 days ended late today in a mistrial, Judge M. S. Long finally discharging the jury at 4:18.

The jury had had the case since 9:41 Wednesday morning, or nearly 31 hours, and from first ballot to last the count stood 7 to 5—seven for the plaintiff, Miss Margaret A. Roberts, five for the defendant, J. Louis Keel. Unable to answer question No. 1, as to whether or not Keel at any time proposed marriage to Miss Roberts, the jury never got to questions 2, 3 4 and 5 in the court's charge.

Pioneer Asks That Team Of Horses Bear His Body To Grave

By FRED LANDERS
Record News Correspondent

ESTELLINE, Texas, July 10.—Estelline was thrown into sorrow this afternoon at 3:15 o'clock when the news was spread abroad that James D. Vardy, pioneer citizen of Hall county and this city had shot and killed himself.

Bares Chest to Gun

Uncle Jim, as he was familiarly known by his multitude of friends in West Texas, went to a small servant's house in the back yard of his home and shot himself with a .38 Winchester rifle, according to the verdict of Justice of the Peace Butler who conducted the inquest. Seemingly the gun was laid on a pillow on top of a table and Vardy sat down in a chair in line with the muzzle of the gun. A yard stick laying across the gun indicated that he had used it to pull the trigger that sent the bullet into his heart.

He had opened his shirt in front and the bullet went entirely through his body, going through a window and entering a neighbor's house on the same block. He fell on his face on the concrete floor and no doubt died immediately. The body was taken in charge by Moreman Bell, undertaker.

Depression Blamed

Funeral arrangements have not been made at this time. Mr. Vardy was 77 years of age, and according to a letter which was found on his body written to his wife, he said he alone was to blame for the act of taking his own life. He said the depression was more than he could bear and he thought it best to go. He asked to be borne to the cemetery with a team of horses and also named many of his cowboy friends to act as pallbearers.

James D. Vardy was perhaps the best loved man in Hall county and had befriended many people in his long and useful life in the west. He is survived by his wife and scores of relatives in this immediate section.

Court Acts Today On Fall Sentence

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—Justice Bailey of the District of Columbia supreme court will decide tomorrow whether Albert B. Fall's next year must be spent in jail.

He will rule on the government's request for immediate execution of the one-year sentence given the former secretary of the interior for bribery in the oil lease cases. Fall's attorney, Frank Hogan, has moved a suspension because of his client's physical condition.

Fall's physicians have said he was unable to come to Washington for a year's imprisonment and Hogan contended it would probably shorten his life.

Corruption in Atlanta U. S. Prison Wiped Out

WASHINGTON, July 10. (US)—Swift and drastic action by the department of justice has wiped out the irregularities at Atlanta penitentiary, in which certain prisoners "bought" transfers to road and military camps, it was announced today.

Investigation thus far has not yielded evidence that any government officials were involved in the corruption, but the department of justice today declared:

"If it should be disclosed that money has been paid to any officers or employes of the institution or of the department, they will be speedily indicted and vigorously prosecuted."

Wichitans Draft Program For Oil Legislation

Oil operators of the Wichita Falls territory went on record at a meeting Friday afternoon as favoring the strengthening of the present conservation laws by the following provisions:

1—An appointive administrative agency as a conservation commission with qualifications definitely defined.

2—Adequate appropriation to enable the commission to properly function.

3—Administrative changes insuring speedy trial; no injunction without hearing; adequate bonds to protect the state in penalties and adjoining operators in damages; quick hearing in appeal.

4—More accurate and specific definition of waste, including the principle of adjusting production to reasonable market demand.

The sections of this program were voted on separately, all being adopted by unanimous vote except that relating to an appointive commission against which one vote was recorded.

The meeting was called at the suggestion of State Senator Ben G. Oneal who said he wanted to have the suggestions of the oil men and the business men of this section. He was joined in the suggestion by Representative Bob Long of Wichita Falls and Representative Albert Walker of Vernon, both of whom are members of the house committee on oil and mining, and who attended.

E. H. Eddleman presided at the meeting which was attended by more than 50 oil men. It was held at the Wichita club.

Britain Puts Moratorium Into Effect by Disclaiming Payments

Move Seen as Hint to Other Nations to Renounce Installments Due From Germany Wednesday

By ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE

PARIS, July 10. (US)—The British government, declaring that it considers the Hoover moratorium proposals in effect, today indicated broadly that all governments which have accepted the proposals should announce all reparations payments due next Wednesday.

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald directed the foreign office to issue in the form of a communique a letter which the government has dispatched to the Bank of International Settlements at Basle, declaring that Great Britain and the dominions will not require the German annuity installment due July 15 because they have "accepted in principle the proposal of President Hoover."

Reminder to Others

This was taken as a reminder to all other nations who have accepted the Hoover plan that they should send identical disclaimers, and is taken as a diplomatic nudge to France to follow the British example. At present, there is no indication that France will do so.

Another joker directed at France in the British letter is contained in the paragraph declaring:

"Great Britain has decided to refrain from claiming any payment in respect of installments of both unconditional and conditional annuities falling due on July 15."

Hint to France

This is a plain hint to France that the MacDonald government is not in sympathy with the French demands that "payments in kind" be subject to review by the technical experts' conference scheduled to start in the treasury buildings on July 17. This point is driven home further by the declaration that:

"Great Britain and the dominions feel it necessary to add that their decision is taken with the object of giving immediate relief to Germany in accordance with President Hoover's proposal by complete suspension of transfers (whether in cash or in kind) and it must not be understood as implying any derogation from the rights of these governments under The Hague agreements, insofar as any payments may be transferred by Germany."

Four trials in two murder charges have already been held. On a change of venue a fifth trial will be held before Judge Martin here September 28.

No testimony in the habeas corpus proceedings was heard here Friday. The prosecution and defense had agreed to argue the plea on facts from a previous trial.

Details of Rudy Vallee's Marriage Questioned

NEW YORK, July 10. (US)—Rudy Vallee announced he was married to Fay Webb. Now he's got to prove it!

It seems that today complaints were made to Mayor Simeon Rollinson, of West Orange, N. J., where the ceremony was performed last Monday, that Rudy's wedding was not in conformity with the statutes of the sovereign state of New Jersey.

New Jersey has a law which stipulates that couples desiring to be wed must, hand in hand, obtain a license three days before the ceremony. Now, then, the complaints say Miss Fay Webb, Rudy's bride, wasn't in New Jersey three days before the ceremony.

Second Operation Planned For Twins Joined Together in Birth

BALTIMORE, July 10. (AP)—Search of medical records today failed to disclose a parallel to the case of the conjoined twin girls separated shortly after their birth here by a surgical operation.

The children, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Forster of Baltimore, were "doing well," today. A second surgical operation, considered necessary to save their lives, was postponed a week or 10 days or until a definite change in their condition takes place.

Dr. Kyle W. Golley, who was in charge when the twins were born, said he knew of no successful operation on true so-called Siamese twins, and that Johns Hopkins hospital obstreticians could find records of no successful cases.

The twins, who weigh four and a half pounds each and were otherwise normal, were born without colons. They were joined at the abdomen, it was explained by Dr. Golley, by a fleshy segment, and it was judged necessary to operate to save their lives.

The twins have stomachs and small intestines, and though human life is possible without a colon, the second operation is considered necessary to provide a normal outlet for body poisons.

Movement Gains Force In Area as Conditions Threaten Industry

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 10. (AP)—A complete shutdown of production in the Oklahoma City oil field was asked by a majority of operators and royalty owners in the field at a meeting here today.

More than 100 oil men, representing virtually every operating and pipe line company in the field, voted to petition Gov. W. H. Murray and the state corporation commission to issue an order shutting in all producing wells in the Oklahoma City pool until crude oil reaches a price of $1 per barrel.

W. N. Stokes, chairman of the operators committee, called the meeting. The vote on the resolution favoring the shutdown was 73 for and 3 against, with 26 absentees. All the operating companies and most of the royalty owners were represented on the list.

L. E. Phillips, vice president of the Phillips Petroleum company, one of the largest operators in the field, voted for the resolution. A number of royalty owners spoke in behalf of the resolution and urged cooperation.

Texas Invited

The operators also decided to call upon the governors of Kansas, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana and New Mexico to take steps toward shutting down, for an indefinite time, oil wells in their states.

The petition asking for an order closing the wells was forwarded to Governor Murray late today and a similar petition will be filed with

Big Corn and Wheat Harvests Forecast

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—Bountiful harvests of corn and wheat were forecast today by the agriculture department.

A wheat crop exceeding last year's production was seen in prospect. The department estimated this year's production at 869,013,000 bushels as compared with 863,000,000 a year ago. The five-year average is 822,000,000 bushels.

OKLA. VOTES SHUTDOWN

Oil Operators to Hold For Dollar Price

the Oklahoma corporation commission tomorrow, it was announced.

Companies which voted today against the shut-down plan included the Sinclair Oil and Gas company, the Champlain Refining company and the Wilcox Oil and Gas company. The Shell Petroleum company's vote first was cast against a shut-down and then withdrawn, with no vote cast.

Twelve operators in the Oklahoma City field already had shut in their wells before the hour of meeting. These included the Phillips Petroleum company, with the largest potential production of any company in the field.

MOVEMENT FOR SHUTDOWN GAINING MOMENTUM

A movement to shut in small pumping oil wells all over West Texas was gaining momentum Friday night, according to reports received by The Record News from its correspondents and from the Associated Press.

In some instances the decision was voluntary—a flat refusal of producers to sell oil for less than its cost of production. In other instances, shutdowns will be forced—the inability of scores of small operators to continue pumping oil at a steady loss.

In the Wichita Falls district, L. V. Hull, proration umpire, declared that 90 per cent of the producing wells in this territory will be forced to close down on account of the low price of crude. Hundreds of stripper wells in this area will cease pumping at once, Mr. Hull said, because of the owners' inability to continue operations at a loss. Many of these small wells, which could continue indefinitely to produce from three to five barrels of oil daily, will be lost forever because of the intrusion of water. It is doubtful if a majority of the wells in the Wichita area could be shut in without being lost, oil men said. Hundreds of men over West Texas will be thrown out of employment unless some relief is given the industry within a short time.

Operators and royalty interests in Crane and Upton counties were discussing the feasibility of shutting in about 18,500 barrels daily produced in that district pending improvement in the crude market. Other companies reported considering the movement to shut down small wells in West Texas were reticent concerning their plans.

Officials of the Continental Oil company at Fort Worth said several of the company's leases in Howard and Glasscock counties and other districts could not be profitably operated at present prices.

Advices in Fort Worth were that Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas would store the 6,500 barrels daily of production formerly handled by Shell Pipe line. Mid-Kansas has approximately 1,500,000 crude barrels of empty storage at Del Rio.

Unofficial reports in oil circles here Friday night said that the Pure Oil company had ordered 16 wells in Howard, Crane and Upton counties shut down. It was also reported that the Simms, Sun, Continental and Gulf companies agreed to shut in offsets to Pure pumpers in Howard county, and it was believed the Texas company would join. Stanolind and Gulf were reported to have agreed to shut in offsets to Pure wells in Upton.

after the defendant had been denied bond.

Alsup was acquitted in one of the cases of murder in a second trial. The first hearing of the same case resulted in a hung jury. The second case which also has been tried twice resulted in a hung jury the first time, and conviction and reversal the second. It is the latter case that will be tried here for a third time.

In prevous trials the prosecution alleged that Alsup then a police officer detailed as a bank guard, arranged the robbery of the Fort Worth bank to collect the $10,000 "dead bank robber" reward posted by the Texas Bankers association.

A part of the defense is based on the fact that the bank Alsup was guarding at the time of the killing was not affiliated with the association and that Alsup knew it.

Judge Martin has ordered that a special venire of 200 men be drawn for the jury panel in the case to be tried here.

William Parker, first assistant district attorney, and Sam Spence, district attorney here, represented the state.

Alsup was bought here Thursday night by Deputy Sheriff E. L. Kincaid for the hearing.

Goodwin Loses Plea For Commutation

AUSTIN, July 10. (AP)—Dave Goodwin of Bowie county probably will die in the electric chair one month from today unless Gov. Ross S. Sterling overrides the state pardon board, it became known today when the board's unanimous adverse report on commutation was made public.

J. A. R. Moseley Jr., Goodwin's attorney, and several others asked that the sentence be commuted to life imprisonment on the grounds the alleged slayer did not receive a fair trial. Goodwin was convicted of the murder of Lloyd Elliott, young Bowie county hog rancher, in February, 1930. Elliott had gone in search of a hog which had been stolen.

Governor Sterling usually follows the recommendation of the pardon board. However, he had not begun a study of the Goodwin case tonight.

TARIFF CHANGE FIGHT SEEN

Robinson Promises Effort To Reduce Tax

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 10. (AP)—Senator Robinson, Arkansas, Democratic state leader, today answered a challenge of Senator Watson, Indiana, Republican senate leader, by announcing that "an earnest effort," will be made to reduce tariff rates when congress convenes in December.

Senator Watson last night challenged the Democratic leader to "assume the leadership in a fight to make a 'serious revision' of the present tariff law.

"I feel justified in replying," Senator Robinson said here today, "that when the congress convenes an earnest effort will be made to reduce tariff rates, which, in the sound judgment of business men and economists, have tended to restrict foreign markets for American products and to inspire retaliatory measures on the part of foreign countries."

Smoot Disagrees

Commenting on the Democratic leader's statement, Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, one of the authors of the Hawley-Smoot tariff act, said in Salt Lake City he did not think a revision of the tariff would be made at the coming session of congress.

"Under the flexible provision of the present tariff act, either reductions or increase can be secured, upon specific items, without disturbing our whole financial and business structure." Senator Smoot said. The Utah senator called upon Senator Robinson to state what specific duties the Democrats proposed to reduce, "and in what amounts."

Senator Robinson, in his statement said present tariff rates are "important factors in causing the existing depression."

'True Test'

Referring to Senator Watson's statement, Senator Robinson said: "Does not the senator realize that the true test of the value of the present tariff is not whether it has 'slaughtered export or import trade' but rather whether it has tended to diminish the demand for American-made products and the purchasing power of the consumers of such products?"

The challenge from Senator Watson, issued from Washington last night, followed a previous statement by Senator Robinson, criticising the Smoot-Hawley tariff.

Hurts Confidence

"But in these times this activity has a public interest. It has but one purpose and that is to depress prices. It tends to destroy returning public confidence. The intent is to take a profit from the losses of other people. Even though the effect may be temporary it deprives many farmers of their rightful income.

SHORT WEIGHT GRAFT AIRED

'Penny Snatching' Costs Chicago Vast Sum

CHICAGO, July 10. (UP)—An amazing story of "penny snatching" graft in which Chicago housewives assertedly were cheated out of $54,000,000 in one year by short weight grocery and meat market scales was recounted today by Assistant State's Attorney Harold Keele.

"This means that each of 3,376,000 persons in Chicago was robbed, penny by penny, on a yearly average of $16.20 by merchants," sad Keele. "Searching investigations conducted by the state's attorney's office showed this to be what occurred during the year 1930.

"Millions of dollars have been stolen by unscrupulous merchants in the past few years. An indication of how widespread the short weight system has become is shown in the fact that out of 1,415 stores in which test purchases were made by investigators, 537 gave short weights.

CERMAK SEEKS MONEY ANSWER

Chicago's Mayor Handicapped by Empty Pockets

CHICAGO, July 10. (AP)—The good ship Chicago, buffeted by years of financial storms, still flounders in a sea of debts—with no land in sight.

In desperation Chicago's new political pilots are trying to find a way out, but so far they have encountered only new rocks of opposition.

For years Chicago's city government has operated on a hand-to-mouth basis. Mounting costs and tax tangles have piled one acute situation on top of another.

The treasury has been empty more often than not, with payless paydays for city employes and school teachers. Each year has seen an increased deficit.

Just now the city seeks almost any remedy to ease the accumulated burden of nearly $200,000,000 in obligations.

And the financial fate of the nation's second city seems to rest on the uncertain tide of Chicago and Illinois politics.

Mayor Anton J. Cermak, who inherited an empty treasury and millions in debts from the regime of William Hale "Big Bill" Thompson, has approached the dilemma from two angles:

He has urged revision of the laws to simplify Chicago's taxation machinery and to put teeth in the Illinois property tax law, and he has moved to cut city expenses. On both counts he has been balked, more or less.

Illinois legislators turned a deaf ear to his pleas for new tax laws, but Gov. Louis L. Emmerson expressed a willingness to call a special session if Chicago and Cook county draft a set of measures "to avert a breakdown of local government."

Mayor Cermak cut the city's 1931 payroll by more than $5,000,000 by dismissing 3,000 temporary employes, but the city council shied at his proposal to save $2,400,000 by compelling all city employes to take two weeks' vacation without pay.

The city payroll, however, was reduced from $4,734,627 in March, Thompson's last month, to $3,363,976 in May—a difference of $1,370,651.

"I expect considerable opposition to the payless vacation plan," Cermak said, "but we can't eat our pie and save it. It's not a question now of eating pie. Mr. Thompson ate it all."

Cermak's chief cohort in his money-saving campaign is his commissioner of public works, Col. Albert A. Sprague, a suave, astute veteran of Chicago politics.

Summarized briefly, this is Chicago's financial plight:

Unpaid tax antipication warrants issued by the city and school board total approximately $175,000,000, with interest accruing at nearly $9,000,000 yearly.

Unpaid payrolls recently have varied from $2,700,000 to $5,000,000. Unpaid school payrolls totaled $9,736,000 when schools closed in June.

July 1 interest on the city's full faith and credit obligations or on bonded debts totaled $2,900,000. Interest totaling $460,000 was due by the school board.

Interest-bearing judgments against the city exceed $6,000,000, with interest.

The city has unexpanded bond and trust funds of $30,000,000, but these legally can be used only for purposes for which they were voted.

Issuance of tax anticipation warrants long ago became necessary. Only about 60 per cent of the tax levy on Chicago property in 1929, for instance, had been collected by the last of June this year. linquent taxes are tied up in the Nearly all the 1928 and 1929 decourts.

Taxes for 1931 are not due until October, 1932. Of an issue of $38,000,000 in 1931 tax anticipation warrants against the general corporate fund, the city has sold $11,000,000 to its own funds to meet payrolls.

In a pinch the city may sell the remainder to special bond funds, thus stopping public improvements.

Special Session to Revive Soil Conservation Questions

AUSTIN, July 10. (AP)—Although Gov. R. S. Sterling has indicated he would frown on submission of numerous questions at the special session of the legislature, strenuous efforts will be made by the agricultural bloc to have the subject of soil conservation submitted for consideration of the lawmakers.

Should the governor consent to submit soil conservation, as well as oil conservation, it was regarded as probable that the Olsen cotton acreage reduction bill would be reintroduced. It died on the calendar at the regular session after a stormy debate of several hours following which a tie vote on the measure was recorded. It was laid on the table subject to call and never brought up again.

Acreage Limit

The bill would give a soil conservation commission authority to apportion the acreage of each farm that could be planted to cotton, the total reduction to be not more than 50 per cent of the acreage planted to cotton the previous year. The bill would not become effective until at least five other cotton growing states had passed and made effective similar bills.

The main argument against the Olsen bill was that it would interfere, if passed, with the right of an individual to the free and unencumbered use of his property; was impractical; would abridge the right of contract and was clearly unconstitutional and was impossible to enforce.

Proponents of the measure, however, contend the present lamentable condition in the cotton industry made enactment of this or a similar law a public necessity if agriculture was to be lifted from the doldrums and the farmers again routed along the road to prosperity.

Measure Urged

Conservation of soil as well as conservation of oil should be submitted as a subject for legislation, according to J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, who bemoans the failure of less stringent methods to produce the desired results.

"Both oil and cotton producers are proceeding as a demoralized mob, wastefully producing and thereby dissipating the natural resources of this state in a manner detrimental to the economic and social welfare of our people and our state," McDonald stated recently. "Some definite and positive means of regulating both oil and cotton production must be established. This is imperative if we are to avert social, as well as financial, bankruptcy.

"The cases of soil and oil are virtually parallel. The chief distinction is that vastly more people depend upon the soil and more lives are affected by the price of cotton than by that of oil.

SUBWAY KILLS QUIZ WITNESS

New York Dock Engineer Jumps Before Train

NEW YORK, July 10. (INS)—Traugott F. Keller, chief engineer of the dock department, was killed today when he either fell or jumped in front of a subway train in the Bowling Green station. He was 56 years old.

The dock department, of which he was head, has been under investigation by the Hofstadter legislative committee which has been probing the affairs of New York City.

"Fell or Jumped"

For the past few days Keller has been a witness at the secret session of the committee, of which Samuel Seabury is chief counsel.

The police said that Keller "fell or jumped" in front of the train.

In questioning Keller for the past few days, the Seabury committee was striving not only to learn the manner in which several contractors had done business with city officials but also to reach a solution of the $250,000 pier lease scandal which was bared during the prosecution of former County Judge Bernard W. Vause.

Keller was identified by a subpoenae in his pocket, calling upon him to report to Seabury this morning.

Quiz Scheduled

Witnesses told the police Keller jumped in front of the train as it was entering the subway station at high speed.

Keller had been in the dock department since September, 1902. His salary was $10,000 a year.

Had Keller appeared before the Seabury committee today it was understood he was to have been asked if he could reveal the identity of the mysterious "Frank Baxter" who figured as Judge Vause's associate in the $250,000 negotiations which resulted in Vause obtaining piers 84 and 86 for the United American lines.

SOONER ROAD SCRAP STIRRED

Charges Fly in Murray-Wentz Dispute

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 10 (UP)—Hostilities between Gov. William H. Murray and Lew H. Wentz of the state highway commission were renewed today. Charges and counter charges were exchanged between the two political enemies.

Wentz, in a formal statement, scored Murray's farm-to-market road order, saying "it takes money and intelligent management to make a highway system. Designating highways does not mean improved roads. Catch phrases do not mean improved transportation facilities."

Wentz Attacked

The governor's attack on Wentz, made without knowledge of the commissioner's statement, alleged Wentz approached J. F. McKeel, Democratic commissioner, and urged immediate construction of Cimarron river bridge north of Guthrie and said he had a friend who would do the work for $5,000.

"McKeel opposed Wentz and insisted the contract be let to the lowest bidder with a resultant saving to the state of $2,800," Governor Murray said.

Murray's allegations were hotly denied by Wentz when he declared "there is no truth in such a statement. We all agreed on the contract as let."

"Mileage Only"

"I like most every other citizen in Oklahoma favor farm-to-market roads," Wentz said in his statement. "The existing state highway system in Oklahoma is composed of its most important farm to market roads. These roads connect every county in the state and most of the towns with the important market centers.

"The purported new plan in effect is absolutely nothing but a proposal to add great additional mileage to the state highway system. No material additional improvement of highways is effected—simply a greater mileage unimproved roads carrying a state sign. New roads cannot be placed on the system except the state bears the major part of the burden. The counties are now cooperating to the extent of their finances."

Air Lines Scoffed

Wentz scoffed at Governor Murray's idea of limiting construction of "air line" roads.

"We do not have a real air line road in the state," he declared. "Our most important highways are nothing more nor less than farm to market roads, converging on the state's greatest market, Oklahoma City. In no sense are they air line roads since they pass through the principal cities and towns and do not take a direct course from point to point."

Foard County Stores 625,000 Bushels of Bumper Wheat Crop

CROWELL, Texas, July 10. (AP)—A total of 625,000 bushels of wheat has been brought to six grain elevators in Foard county, a check revealed. Many farmers are holding their wheat on account of low prices, while others plan to use much of the crop for feeding livestock. The harvest has been practically completed and it is estimated that 75 to 80 per cent of the crop has been threshed.

Oklahoma Institution Head Fights Inquiry

ENID, Okla., July 10. (UP)—Hearing on court orders involving the investigation of the Oklahoma hospital feebleminded by the state charities and corrections commissioner was postponed today until 2 p. m. Monday.

Commissioner Mabel Bassett, who has been here four days conducting an investigation, obtained an order restraining Ed Andruss, superintendent of the institution, from interfering with her investigation into allegations of moral laxity and irregularities.

Andruss then sought a stay of execution of the injunction. Mrs. Bassett charged in her petition Andruss would not permit her to question inmates unless he was present.

When hearing on the orders was called today, Judge Byrd postponed action until next week.

U. S. Rum Chasing Fleet En Route To Texas Coast

CHICAGO, July 10. (US)—On their way to the old coastal rendezvous of the famous Buccaneer, Jean Lafitte, in the Gulf of Mexico a fleet of Uncle Sam's rum chasers arrived in Chicago today.

They are under orders to join the government ships already in the Gulf in an effort to check the flow of illicit liquor into this country through coastal points from New Orleans west and south down the Texas shore line. They came here from Buffalo, N. Y.

Ten of them shortly will proceed on to the Mississippi river, down to New Orleans and thence to Galveston where their headquarters will be. These are 38-footers. Two others, 75-footers and radio equipped will re-trace part of their voyage and go to Harbor Beach, Mich., on Lake Huron. In this vicinity, it is said, considerable liquor is run through the blockade from Godrich, Ont.

In command of the fleet are Chief Warrant Officer William J. McGraw and Warrant Officer S. D. Larue and J. L. Hagglove.

'Payroll' Charges Expected Against Illinois Lawyers

CHICAGO, July 10. (INS)—The Illinois Bar association was expected to name 30 downstate lawyers as members of the sanitary district of Chicago's pay roll during the "whoopee" regime of Timothy J. Crowe, it was announced today. The investigation of the Illinois attorneys follows the recommendations of Circuit Judge Thomas Taylor Jr., that 47 Chicago lawyers be disbarred or suspended from practice.

Chicago attorneys were fighting the recommendations of Judge Taylor and were preparing to file their objections by Aug. 17.

The Chicago investigation was held at the instigation of the Chicago Bar association for the alleged padding of pay rolls in the sanitary district for which many received pay without rendering services.

Troopers Guard Mill After Attack

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I., July 10. (UP)—State police patrolled the plant of the General Fabrics company today after thousands of dollars worth of damage was caused to the mill by rioting strikers last night.

More than 1,000 persons participated. The trouble resulted from an attempt to reopen the mill, closed by a strike. Practically all the 500 windows in the building were shattered by stones and damage was done to the valuable machinery by falling glass and debris.

So fierce was the battle that a call for help was sent to Governor Case and state police were ordered. When they arrived local police were holding off the crowd with a fire hose. Several officers had been beaten.

The troopers started a barrage of tear gas, and the strikers and their sympathizers gradually gave way.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas has one spring with a daily average flow over a long period of 162,400,000 gallons, more than enough to supply the needs of a city of 100,000 population. It is the Comal Spring at New Braunfels.

Texas' sweet potato crop, ranking seventh in value among the state's agricultural products, had a value of $7,248,000 in 1930, its exports, however, being partially offset by imports of 511 cars, mostly from Louisiana.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

Even inland Texas cities are getting navigation-minded, as the recent Fort Worth hearing on the Trinity canalization scheme proved. If army engineers report the project feasible on this $50,000,000 scheme, towns and counties along the Trinity will agree to finance the preliminary work through taxation. Brownsville is at work on its ship channel with outlet at Port Isabel and has plans ready for a turning basin 1,000 feet across. Beaumont port commission has opened bids for $253,000 worth of improvements. Houston will spend $192,000 on repairs and extensions of its dock facilities on the ship channel and bids have been opened on an estimated contract of $954,000 for widening the channel and easement of the bends in the bayou. Port Arthur has let contract for completion of its new seawall at a cost of $190,000. Contract has been let for $394,000 for dredging of the Sabine-Galveston section of the intracoastal canal, while preliminary surveys are under way for extending the canal from Corpus Christi southward and westward to Port Isabel.

Hall Community Votes School Bonds

MEMPHIS, Texas, July 10.—The $6,000 school bond for the Pleasant Valley schoolhouse carried by a four to one vote at a special election held this week. The bond carried with a 24 to 6 vote, representing three-fourths of the district's voting capacity. The plans are being drawn and the contract will probably be let within a few days.

Work Pushed on New Church in Frederick

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., June 10.—Excellent time is being made by A. H. Krause, superintendent in charge of construction of the First Baptist church building. Carpenters kept busy the past few days, not stopping for the Fourth of July celebration in making forms. As a consequence pouring concrete for the basement walls is now in progress, about 21 men being employed Thursday. Most of the sand is being obtained locally, the sand from Paul Hartwig and the gravel from A. H. Holloman. The remainder is being obtained at Cache.

Arthur McAfee was awarded the brick contract. Krause expects brick laying will start next week.

Ziegler is looking after the wholesale department and the west station while his son-in-law, Earl Rinehart, is manager of the station on East Grand avenue. A Wise Investment

THE four-year era of prosperity that began along in 1925 added enormous increases to the values of industrial stocks and to the private fortunes of America's wealthiest men.

All of this got widespread attention at the time. To some it was an indication of a new economic era; to others it foreshadowed an ever-growing concentration of great wealth and power in the hands of a small group.

Along with it, however, there was another development that got less attention, although it probably will have an infinitely greater influence for the well-being of the country; a striking growth in the size of the endowment funds of colleges and universities.

Figures compiled just recently show that the 10 wealthiest colleges and universities in America—excluding the big state and municipal institutions—now have endowment funds totaling more than $390,000,000. This represents an increase from $220,000,000 in 1925 and indicates that some, at least, of the gains of the boom era were put away where they could go on working for the welfare of the nation as a whole.

It would, in fact, be difficult to over-estimate the importance of this. The rich men who diverted $171,000,000 of their profits in the years of prosperity to enrich American educational institutions invested their money very wisely.

Long after the other effects of the "Coolidge prosperity" years have worn off, this money will still be working, helping to spread the light without which the American democracy cannot survive.

A New Penal Code

THE re-establishment of the death penalty in Italy is the feature of the new Italian penal code that has drawn most attention in this country. After nine years in which treason was the only crime punishable by death, Italy returns to the custom of most other nations by making murder a capital offense also.

However, certain other features of the new penal code are well worth study. One of the most notable is the provision whereby prisoners are compelled to pay for their board and room in prison if they are financially able. There is a lot of good sense in that, and one wonders why other nations have not thought of it. Related to it is the new Italian ruling basing fines on the criminal's capacity to pay and not on the size of his offense.

These provisions indicate that Italy's new code is not simply a return to stricter methods of punishment, but is based on a scientific study of criminology. It is a pity that all we have been able to notice is the return of the death penalty.

A Statesman's Prophecy

THE Hawley-Smoot tariff bill went into effect just about one year ago. It may be of interest, in view of one thing and another, to recall the prediction which Senator Jim Watson of Indiana made on the day before the bill was passed. It is as follows:

"I here and now predict—and I ask my fellow senators to recall this prediction in the days to come—that if this bill is passed the nation will be on the upgrade financially and economically and commercially within 30 days, and that within a year from this time we shall have regained the peak of prosperity and the position we lost last October."

Public opinion, of course, is a long way from being unanimous on the effects of the tariff, and this little quotation doesn't prove anything at all—except, possibly, that senators should leave prophecy strictly alone.

Oysters in Summertime

FOR a long, long time Americans have nourished themselves on the devout faith that oysters must not be eaten in months which do not have an "r." From May to August we are a nation of oyster-abstainers, actuated by the belief that oysters consumed in hot weather will make us ill.

Now, however, the U. S. bureau of fisheries brands this faith as just another popular fallacy. The bureau recently made an investigation and found that oysters are as good in summer as in winter.

Before modern refrigeration was available oysters usually spoiled in hot weather. But now, they can be stored and shipped in summer as well as in winter. The old rule of the "r" is out—and another American tradition has been knocked end-wise.

New York Night

Far beneath me lies the purple park
Like a great velvet jeweler's pad
On which a million diamonds
Have just been tossed:
Far above me the moon is a golden balloon
Held high by a searchlight's beam.
Underneath the Japanese lanterns
On the roof-garden to my right
A millionaire is kissing a blonde
chorus girl;
In a rowboat on the lake below
A sailor is kissing a blonde shop
girl;
I'm sitting here alone
Feeling like hell
Because all the blondes I know
Prefer Gentlemen.

Jack Benny relates the one about the dialecticians, who crashed a snooty and exclusive country club which also featured swimming, fishing, boating, tennis, etc. On their first day at golf they drew the stares and frowns of members, because they were attired in overalls, instead of golf outfits.

"Of all things!" they heard people say, "they do not even know what to wear for golf! What etiquette!"

The next day at breakfast, however, the members were kindlier, for the dialecticians were smartly attired in white shirts, ducks, red ties, white shoes and golf sweaters.

But their prestige was lost again when they put on silk top hats and Moe turned to Jake and chirped: "Jackey—deed you remember to breeng de feeshing teckle?"

Word Juggling

Take it from L. Meltzer—there are a lot of femme crooners who try to imitate her like Etting thing!

Heheheh

Deems Taylor relates the one about the two matinee-goers who met in the lobby of a theater where a notorious flop was giving its final performances.

"Howjeedoo!" ejacuated the first, "did you get in on a pass?"

"My dear," screeched the other, "you can't get in without one!"

In Other Hollywords

They tell you that the Brown Derby restaurant in Hollywood prefers catering to the chin-ema stars and others who like to swank. A fast rule is that no one may enter who sheds his coat, no matter how torrid the weather.

The tourists, however, give the management the headache, but times are hard and the place cannot afford to turn away customers.

So they solved the problem in this manner. Whenever coatless men come in, they are taken to a rear room when all sizes and shades of coats are available and guaranteed to fit!

New York is louder but not funnier.

Haw!

The Schmeling-Stribling encounter as reported in part by Paul Gallico: "Round 9 — Schmeling blocked a left to body. Schmeling landed left hook to chin. Schmeling punched the body. Schmeling landed three lefts and rights to body. Stribling got in a right to shoulder. Schmeling drove a right to chin. Schmeling landed right and left to face. STRIBLINGS ROUND."

The Graham McNamee influence.

Harry Reichenbach

They buried another favorite son of Broadway yesterday—Harry Reichenbach—dean of the exploiters—good fellow—wit—the ace of the "roastmasters"—and pal to the columnists. Harry never took his own profession to heart. He would say that a press agent was nothing but a bill-poster with a full dress suit. But that a movie press agent was only an accent remover.

His exploitation stunts never failed to pack a theater. Whenever anything of a startling nature happened in the theater world—you could easily trace it to Reichenbach. He made people talk about his play, movie or circus.

His pet stunt, he once said, was the one he pulled in the subways during the rush hour. He engaged a "rube" character and his wife, whose attire, alone, attracted attention. They stood in the packed trains, riding back and forth, and the rube—making people think his wife was deaf—would yell at the top of his voice: "But I don't want to go to Coney Island, maw! Take me to see Carl Laemmle's new movie at the Central theater!!!"

Addendum

Another of his tricks was to mail 50,000 letters to himself. Then Harry would send agents all over the five boroughs "losing" the "opened-and read" missives.

They had been folded and wrinkled, of course, and lost in doorways or on the streets. Harry's argument was that all the world loved to learn how the other half lived, and he knew that the average person would pick up the letters and read them.

In other words, 50,000 people read the following letters: "Dear Harry, I am so blue. My wife ran off with another man. I wanted to kill myself at first, but I happened to see the movie at the Strand and it was so like my own life, anybody's life, I guess. The wife in the movie also ran off with another man, but—well see it for yourself, and you'll agree it is the greatest heart-throb seen in New York in years."

He aided the florists with the slogan: "A Daisy may tell her you love her—but an orchid is more convincing!"

Fair Trade

Not all the night club owners have refrigerated hearts. Some of them have hit on an idea to relieve the hunger of chorus girls.

The jobless lasses, who are really hungry, and have a yen for a juicy steak, etc., may go to the night clubs, where they are fed—with no strings attached.

The managements know that when the girls get "a break" and encounter a John who spends, the gals will bring the lads to their rendezvous. It is a fair enough bargain all around, and this corner applauds It All.

O, Mr. Wilstach!

THE STORY SO FAR

Sally Blair and Peter Douglas are in love, but Peter is engaged to Linda Davidson and Sally is secretly betrothed to Linda's father. On one last ride together, Peter, in a moment of frenzy, dashes the car over a precipice. Sally crawls away and allows Peter to be taken to the hospital alone. She goes to see him when she hears that he is not expected to live. Although Peter's mother had objected to Sally as a daughter-in-law, she seems to rely on her for comfort now. Peter gets no better.

CHAPTER XLV

Days went by. Leaden, slow days. Days that were as dreary, as dark as the sky overhead. Listless days that Sally lived through somehow, thinking of Peter constantly, dreaming of him on the long, lonely nights.

The day that was to have been Peter's wedding day. That had gone slowly as the rest had gone. December twenty-fourth. Mrs. Douglas had wept a little that day for her past hopes, and the girl had had her hands full with her. For she was over at the Douglas apartment a good deal. Sometimes she stayed at night with Peter's mother.

Harvey Davidson, when he found out Mrs. Douglas wanted her, insisted that Sally give up her work at the office and be with her as much as she could. Sally didn't mind. It was nice to be with Peter's mother, to hear all about him, listen to the same stories a dozen times a day. Nice to feel that she only had to sit down and Mrs. Douglas would talk about her son. It meant, too, that she was too busy to see Davidson, for she didn't want to see him, to talk to him alone. He was taken up with Linda, and was spending most of his time with her.

"You're doing me a big favor, Sally, being so thoughtful about Mrs. Douglas. She is a lonely soul, and Linda, well, Linda has suddenly taken it in her head that she doesn't want to see her," Davidson had said. "Before she couldn't see enough of her, but now things have changed. Of course, the wedding, the disappointment about the wedding—"

"I'm glad to do it." He thought she was doing it for him! She wasn't. She was doing it because Peter's mother was so pitiful in her grief. Because of Peter. He wouldn't want his mother alone now, when she needed some one to comfort her, some one to lean on.

Peter Improves

"We'll have to put off our plans, Sally. Do you mind? Linda's so upset. We'll talk about them later when Peter is better."

That, too, was all right with Sally. She didn't want to think about those plans. She wanted to forget them but couldn't. Every time she looked at the ring Davidson had given her, she was reminded of them.

Every day when she opened the flowers he never failed to send, there was the same worry in her mind, a worry that was with her practically all the time. What should she do? Mr. Davidson was counting on her to marry him, to love him, to give him the affection he had longed for for years. How could she tell him she couldn't marry him?

For she was seeing things more clearly now. She didn't want to marry him. She had learned that much that night when Peter had gone off the road, when the car had whirled through space like an arrow, and she had sat beside him, thinking suddenly of Ann . . .

Peter was better. The doctors, there were half a dozen of them Mr. Davidson had insisted on consulting, said there was excellent hope for recovery. A long pull, of course, but Peter had a good chance. The relief when she had heard that. When she knew that Peter would live.

He was conscious now, and Mrs. Douglas went every day to see him. To run into the room for a second, touch his hand and leave again. The doctors wouldn't allow her to stay long. Sally hadn't asked to accompany her, and she hadn't been invited. It was enough that Peter was recovering. Enough.

Christmas had come and gone. Boxes from Nebraska, and gifts from Harvey Davidson. Too many of them. Sally hated to open them. A mink coat, another ring, a diamond bracelet. At any other time she would have been thrilled, but now she was too sick with her own worries to feel pleased, and longed to return them. She was without an excuse yet, however, so she packed them in their boxes and laid them away. The sight of them around bothered her.

Linda Goes South

Davidson and his daughter had gone away for the holidays, Davidson a bit apologetically because he told Sally he would much prefer to stay in New York and see her, but Linda wanted to go away. She was not feeling well herself, and he thought the change in the south would do her good.

A little respite, Sally thought gratefully, and then was angry at herself for wanting Davidson away. Wires came each day and long letters from him, full of news of Linda, and what they were doing in Cuba. Letters that Sally read with tight drawn lips, and frowning face, uneasy conscience.

Love letters she didn't want, because she didn't love Harvey Davidson and never would.

What a mess she had made of her life! She and Ann, too. How different it would have been if she had listened to Ann in the beginning!

It was New Year's day when Mrs. Douglas came home from the hospital, low and discouraged.

"Peter's no better today, Sally." She was calling the girl Sally now. "I'm going to wire for Linda. She ought to be here."

"You mean—he's worse?" Sally held her breath. He couldn't be worse than yesterday Mrs. Douglas had come back saying he was much improved.

"Yes, that's what Doctor Randolph said. He seemed quite worried. They sent me away because they said I couldn't do anything there. I don't know what to do—"

"Would you like to have me go to the hospital?"

"No—well, maybe it would be better, and then you could phone me every now and then. Will you?"

Sally didn't wait to answer. In a minute she was into her coat, pulling her hat gingerly over her head, for it was still sensitive, and out the door. Peter worse! Impossible.

Peter Is Worse

In the taxi going over she was impatiently looking out the window, wondering why it was so slow, worrying because the Douglas apartment was so far from the hospital, nervous lest Peter be gone by the time she reached there. The streets were white with snow as the car sped through them, and a milky chiffon curtain blurred the buildings, softening their hard straight lines.

On the sixth floor she waited until Peter's nurse came out of his room, then explained who she was and what her errand was.

"A turn for the worse this morning, Miss Blair. I'm sorry. We're doing all we can, and if you'll wait over there—" she pointed to the chairs in the little sun room—"I'll come by now and then and tell you how he is. We had quite a time persuading Mrs. Douglas to go home."

In half an hour—an agonizing half hour—Doctor Randolph came to her.

"Miss Blair?"

"Yes?"

"Do you know if Mrs. Douglas wired for Miss Davidson?"

"She did." How cold doctors were. How formal. She looked into his sober face anxiously, but could read nothing there. Then he sat down beside her and taking his watch from his pocket studied it for a moment.

"Good."

"Is he—"

"Mr. Douglas? He isn't responding the way he should, Miss Blair. I told Mrs. Douglas this morning—"

"Perhaps we'd better send for her!"

Sally Sees Peter

"No, she's better at home. She's not well herself, the shock's been too much for her. No, Douglas is not responding the way he should. He doesn't seem to want to live, Miss Blair, that's the long and short of it. I'm perfectly frank with you."

"Doesn't want to live!"

"No. You have to fight to live, you know, when you're as sick as he's been—and he won't make the fight. Just lies there and waits to die. Pitiful. I didn't dare tell his mother—but I'm telling you."

"Could I see him?"

"You? I think not."

"For five minutes! I might—I might help him!"

"Even his mother can't help him. We let her stay longer today than we should, thinking the visit would do him some good, but it didn't."

"Let me see him!" She had to see him now. Peter not wanting to live.

Doctor Randolph looked at her for some time. "You know him quite well?"

"Very well—"

"Five minutes, then, but no longer."

Sally sprang to her feet, and raced to the door. When the nurse answered her soft knock she explained that Doctor Randolph had given her permission to see Mr. Douglas for a few minutes. The nurse called to Randolph and he nodded.

The room was very dark, as Sally tiptoed in. Very dark, and very quite. The bed, all white, that still figure on it. Peter, and he didn't want to live. His eyes were closed, and his face was pale even against the immaculate pillow. Pale and thin.

Sleeping . . . She looked up at the nurse, the question in her eyes.

"No, he isn't asleep now," was the answering whisper. "He lies like that most of the time."

"Peter!" She called in a small, weak voice. The eyes fluttered open. The hand she was touching was hot and dry.

Will Sally help Peter or will she be blamed if the excitement of her visit hurries the end?

One hundred thousand dollars was appropriated and it was stipulated that the Arch must be completed by November, 1913. It is 60 feet 9 inches high, 50 feet wide, and 19 feet thick. The archway itself is 21 feet wide and 32 feet 9 inches high.

Q.—For whom is Shelby, Ohio, named?—N. D. B.

A.—Shelby, Ohio, was named for Isaac Shelby, a former governor of Kentucky, according to Gannett's "Origin of Place Names."

Q.—Can a woman enlist in the United States navy?—J. G.

A.—Women have never been eligible for enlistment in the regular navy. During the war women were enrolled in the naval reserve. This enrollment, however, was discontinued in November, 1918.

Q.—Was the song, "There's a Long, Long Trail," written as a war song?—W. W.

A.—It was written shortly before the war by Zo Elliot for a fraternity banquet while Mr. Elliot was still a senior at Yale. Like "Tipperary" it was not meant for a war song.

Q.—What is the term which expresses fear of cats—J. Z.

A.—Aelurophobia.

Q.—Why is the design found on old Paisley shawls called palm leaf?—G. C. S.

A.—The palms of Persia and of India where the original Cashmere shawls were made are of the type that is known as the royal palm, the drooping leaf of which can easily be conceived as forming the basis for the leaf so customarily used in the beautiful India shawls of which the Paisley shawl is a copy.

Q.—What scholarship was awarded the boy who discovered Pluto? Where does he go to college?—A. R.

A.—Clyde Tombaugh, discoverer of the new planet, has been given the Edwin Emory Slosson $500 scholarship in science. He will enter the University of Kansas in the fall either as a freshman or unclassified as he has had only one year in high school. Almost entirely self-educated, Tombaugh has been honored by the Royal Astronomical society of Great Britain for his discovery and is now on the staff of Mount Wilson observatory at Pasadena, Calif.

Q.—Has Henry Ford taken up farming?—F. M.

A.—Mr. Ford is doing intensive farming on a 8,000-acre tract of land in Lenawee county, Mich. A group of farms has been purchased by him and will be operated as an experiment designed to solve some of the problems of agriculture.

Q.—Is there an American organization opposing censorship?—H. D.

A.—The national council on freedom from Censorship, 100 Fifth avenue, New York, recently was organized by the American Civil Liberties union. Its members include authors, playwrights, clergymen, and publishers. It actively opposes federal and state censorship of motion pictures, periodicals, the radio, books, plays, and any interference with constitutional guarantees of free speech and press.

The Record News Offers Preventive Measures for Ivy Poisoning

If you have come in contact with poison ivy, or any of the other plants that are commonly known under that name, the first preventive measure to be taken is a thorough washing, since the poison usually requires some time to penetrate into the tender layers of the skin. Until such penetration has taken place much or all of the poison can be removed. Ordinary alkaline kitchen soap is best for this purpose. A thick lather should be produced and the washing repeated several times, in running water if practicable.

This is but one of many important things about ivy or sumac poisoning now available to readers of the Record News. Use this coupon and enclose ten cents in coin or stamps.

TEXANS PLAN SECOND HOP

Pair to Attempt Tokyo Flight Again

NOME, Alaska, July 10. (AP)—Their attempted non-stop flight from Seattle to Tokyo having ended near here in failure, Reg L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones of Texas today planned an early return to the United States to try it again.

Robbins and Jones brought their monoplane Fort Worth to earth at Solomon, 30 miles east of here early yesterday after having covered about 2,100 miles of the 5,100 mile route and having connected several times with their tri-motored refueling plane, piloted by J. J. Mattern and Nick Greener.

New Motor Sought

After a long rest Robbins and Jones announced they would use the Fort Worth for their second attempt, but would install a larger engine. They said the same tri-motored ship would be used for refueling.

In explanation of the sudden termination of their flight, Robbins said the Fort Worth had become unwieldy after 300 gallons of gas had been taken aboard in high winds.

It was impossible to hold the monoplane in contact with the refueler, he said, to take aboard sufficient gasoline to complete the 3,000 mile flight to Japan. The other refuelings near Fairbanks and on the way to Norton sound, had been successful.

Too Much Gas

The Fort Worth had not been in the air in test flights before leaving the United States with a capacity load of 435 gallons which the fliers had planned to take aboard from their refueler over Siberia.

Several attempts were made to fill the Fort Worth's fuel tanks above Nome, but the weight of the gas and the high winds baffled them, Robbins said. A larger engine in the Fort Worth, he said would have prevented the trouble.

Flying here with the refueling crew in the refueler yesterday, Jones and Robbins had a long sleep after having been 26 hours, 53 minutes in the air on their hop from Seattle. Arising, they ate heartily.

To Return Home

Bad flying weather to Fairbanks prevented their take-off for Seattle, but they said they would return to the United States as soon as possible. Earlier in the day they had said they would sell the Fort Worth if possible here in Alaska.

The men were disappointed in their failure in the quest for a $25,000 prize offered by a Japanese newspaper for the first non-stop flight between Seattle and Japan. Four previous attempts by other fliers, two by Harold Bromley, Tacoma, also have failed.

Carelessness Blamed For Insurance Rate Increase on July 31

AUSTIN, July 10. (AP)—Carelessness of employes and employers is partially responsible for the increased workmen's compensation insurance rates which will become effective at midnight July 1, according to W. S. Pope, state casualty insurance commissioner.

The major increases were ordered in rates covering general construction risks, including highway and bridge construction, buildings, plumbing carpentry, brick and tile manufacture, oil well and pipe line construction and several smaller construction classifications.

The rate changes affect new and renewal business and affect principally those classifications of hazard in which the pay roll totals $1,000,000 or more. The changes are based on the experience showing of each classification on hazard.

He urged support of nation-wide cooperatives and outlined activities of congress and the farm board in furthering formation of these organizations.

Coal Mine Conferences End Without Solution

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—The distressed situation in the bituminous mining industry has been brought to the attention of the federal government by both operators and miners.

Members of the National Miners union paraded in front of the White House yesterday shortly after operators of three states had concluded a lengthy conference with Secretaries Lamont and Doak. The operators and the chiefs of the commerce and labor departments failed to agree on a general coal conference of all elements of the industry. Secretary Lamont announced later that "little could be accomplished" at this time.

Son of Reno Attorney Sought As Candidate for Austrian Throne

RENO, Nev., July 10. (UP)—John Burrows, Reno divorce lawyer, brought a royal glamor to this city of surprises today when he revealed an international intrigue involving one of his own sons in a plot and counterplot for the Austrian throne.

The son, 12-year-old Harvey Marois Richard Leon George Burrows, may be a candidate for the throne of Austria—but not if his American father can help it.

The strange story had its origin in the fact that Mrs. Burrows, the former Maria Magdelina, was the daughter of the late Prince Johann of Austria, who was archduke of Albrecht and the brother of Emperor Franz Josef.

"The monarchistic party wants to take my boy back there and run him for emperor against Otto, the pretender," Burrows said. "But I don't want any of my kids monkeying around with European politics. Everybody knows what they are these days. And I know it wouldn't be any place for my wife."

Appeals to Mother

Mrs. Burrows, although she has the fiery red hair of the Hapsburgs and is described as the living image of the ill-fated Marie Antoinette, is interested in her royal lineage more for its romance than for a possible bearing on international politics. She only smiled when Burrows admitted he did not know he was "marrying into royalty when it happened."

"My wife's father," Burrows continued, "called himself Jacob Albrecht and kept the secret of his birth until after I married Maria. Then he took me aside and told me the whole story. You could have knocked me over with a feather."

Burrows unfolded the family history in this way:

Johann's family dates back to the 12th century, when Emperor Rudolph was the first of the rulers of the holy Roman empire, noted for their ability to make or unmake popes. Franz Josef was the last. Johann left home to see the world after a violent row with Franz Josef over Johann's socialistic views. Johann had found time, however, to indulge in a morganatic marriage with Maria Magdalina, a comely maid of Alsace Lorraine, whom he left in Austria with three children.

Married in California

His wanderings took him to Brazil and to Mexico, where his other brother, Maximillian, had been killed, and then to Utah, where he worked for Brigham Young. Tiring of that Johann moved to Nevada and became a bartender in Mashoe county. Still later he moved to California and married a widow named Rawlings, who bore him the present Maria Magdalina, so named out of romantic memory fo rthe first wife.

Johann died at Jacob Albrecht in 1921, after watching some of his sons go to war for America against the armies of his brother. His grandchildren in the Burrows family include five more besides Harvey Marois Richard Leon George. They are Francisco Segundo Leocadio Carvajal, 10; Mary Elizabeth, 7; Twyman Tyas Harper Augustus Krehmke, 5; Myrtle Emma, 4, and Gladys Irene Taylor, 16 months.

"They're all eligible for the throne, but Harvey has the reddest hair," remarked Burrows. "My wife is in a much more direct line of descent than the pretender Otto. He is only a nephew of Francis Ferdinand, the prince who started the world war by getting himself shot. My wife is the niece of Franz Josef, who was Francis Ferdinand's uncle."

Calles' Son

This is the first picture ever taken of Plutarco Calles Jr., baby son of Mexico's former president and "strong man." He is shown here in the arms of his mother.

GIRL STRIKE LEADER JAILED

Mill Worker Sentenced for Assault

CENTRAL FALLS, R. I., July 10. (UP)—Ann Burlac, 22-year-old organizer, from Pennsylvania, one of the leaders of the textile mill strikers here, today was sentenced to serve 30 days in a jail and fined $200 following her conviction several weeks ago on a charge of assaulting a forelady in a plant.

She was released under $2,500 bond for a review of her case by the superior court in October and instructed to "keep the peace.'

Crowds of mill strikers cheered the bobbed-haired blonde organizer of the National Textile Workers' union (not affiliated with the American Federation of Labor) as she entered the local court.

State troopers and police with riot guns and tear gas bombs barred the crowds from entering the courthouse.

The girl acted as her own lawyer in the court proceedings and engaged in a battle of words with Presiding Judge Roscoe Dexter. She declined to reveal what town she came from in Pennsylvania.

When she emerged from court, she led a parade of strikers who sang and cheered behind her.

A two-hour riot occurred yesterday outside the plant of the General Fabrics company in which four policemen, two firemen and a score of strikers were injured.

Added details of police were ordered out for next Monday when the Royal Weaving company, some of whose workers are on strike, plan to reopen the mill gates.

Olustee Girl Wins University Honors

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., July 10.—Miss Emily Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Smith of Olustee, was one of 64 students of the University of Oklahoma during the past semester of school who made "straight A" grades in all subjects.

In the entire enrollment of almost 6,000 students, only 64 made the high grades in all studies for the second semester.

She was graduated from Eldorado High school several years ago when she was valedictorian of the class. Miss Smith was English instructor in high school at Eldorado for two years before resigning to attend the university and complete her work for a Master's degree.

Montague Awaits Highway Survey

Special to The Record News

NOCONA, Texas, July 10.—It is reported here that the state department is still working on highway 5 survey maps and that they will be furnished the Montague county commissioners court as soon as completed.

This is in reference to the section of highway 5 through the northern part of Montague county. It is also learned that the state highway commission will still carry out its first agreement, which is to grade, drain and build culverts on this road if the county will furnish the right of way.

Reports from Judge Dearmore, county judge, last week were that they had not received these papers, and of course could not act until they have been received.

It is thought the right of way can easily be secured through the county, for this will give quite a number employment, and citizens are anxious to have this road completed through Montague county, filling up quite a gap on this important highway extending from Texarkana and almost on a straight line to Texline.

Condemned Negro Wins 90-Day Execution Stay

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 10 (UP)—Benny Sango a negro under sentence to die in the electric chair Aug. 21, was granted a 90-day stay of execution by the criminal court of appeals today.

The stay automatically followed Sango's appeal to the court from the conviction in Tulsa county district court May 21.

Sango was convicted of murder in the killing of Chester Toney March 9. Sango claimed self defense and appealed the case on the grounds the trial court was in error in requiring him to appear for trial twice in one week. The first prosecution resulted in a mistrial.

Health and Diet Advice

Don't Feed or Breed Flies

One of the best ways to protect health in summer is to do away with flies. The common house fly carries disease and dirt into your home. The fly feeds upon that which is unclean, particularly on manure and garbage. In feeding he picks up a certain amount of filth on his feet and carries it into your kitchen. He may light on your food, the mouth of your baby, on the hands, or some wound where he has a good chance of distributing disease germs.

Many diseases such as typhoid, dyptheria, infantile paralysis and tuberculosis are believed to be carried by flies from one family to another.

This is the time of the year when all of our newspapers will start publishing articles about the perils of the house fly; swatting campaigns are started, and you are frequently advised to swat the fly. But in spite of the swatting campaign, flies still develop, and such a campaign is fruitless unless you go back and eliminate the real source of the fly.

The best thing to do to avoid flies is to clean up the premises where they breed. Kill the fly before it has even hatched. This is much more certain than even swatting.

Usually the fly lives around garbage pails, outdoor toilets, stables or piles of dirt. Any kind of protein food will furnish soil in which the fly may lay her eggs which quickly develop into other flies.

The life of the fly usually lasts about 10 days and one female lays about 120 eggs at a time, laying four times during her life. A short period later all of her children are laying eggs, and you will have thousands of flies to swat.

The best thing to do in getting rid of flies is to remove all garbage. If there is any around keep it tightly covered, also clean up any manure or other filth which may be close to the home. Here again, fasting the flies at your house will be good for your family if not for the flies. If necessary, kerosene or chloride of lime may be sprinkled on the manure pile or other trash and this will kill the eggs and maggots before they develop into flies.

When you eliminate all of the breeding places for flies you eliminate all the flies. You will also find it helpful to use fly paper or fly traps near the kitchen door as this will stop many flies as soon as they enter.

Windows and doors should be screened to protect the food in the home. Such precautions as the above cost but a few cents and may save many doctor bills.

Of course, the fly may be swatted, but since he has about 250 eyes you will have to be rather nimble to creep up and swat him. However, the swatting is a good form of active exercise.

I would suggest that you do not go to the extreme and develop a fear of flies so that you cannot rest when you see one. Use your energy to remove the real source of flies which is filth. If every one kept the home and yard and place of business clean, flies would cease to be the menace to health which they are now.

Be sure to do all you can by cleaning up your own back yard and keeping it clean and wholesome. If you do this, you may rest assured that your family and neighbors will all be safer from fly borne diseases.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Pellagra

Question—Mrs. B. R. asks: "Will you please explain something about the disease, pellagra, naming some of the symptoms which accompany it?"

Answer: Pellagra is a nutritional disease caused by the lack of certain elements in the food. Very often toxic absorption from the lower bowel is a secondary cause and the cure depends upon a thorough bodily cleansing program, and a diet so balanced that the body will receive its share of the proper food elements. The symptoms vary; sometimes mental derangements. It is important to use plenty of the foods containing vitamin B.

Fruit Juice

Question—H. G. asks: "Will you please tell me what kind of fruit juice to take to reduce high blood pressure?"

Answer—Any kind of acid fruit juice may be used with a fast to reduce high blood pressure, but no other food should be taken at the same time. Orange or grapefruit juice prove quite satisfactory, using a glassful of these juices at two hour intervals during the day, being careful not to use more than one kind of juice on the same day.

Fallen Arches

Question—R. E. S. asks: "Will you explain some foot exercises for fallen archces?"

Answer—The exercises for fallen arches are a little too long to give in this column, but I will be glad to send you an article on the subject if you will write to me, giving your full name and address, and enclosing a large, stamped envelope.

CATS GET 'BREAK' IN ELEVENTH TO DEFEAT SPUDS, 5 TO 3

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

His Best Yet

Ash Hillin turned in his best pitching job of the year yesterday. The fact that a loss was charged against him does not alter the fact. Hillin didn't lose it. As one tearful fan remarked after the bounding ground ball had lost the game:

"The Lord just wasn't with us."

Hillin's control during that game was nothing short of remarkable. There is surely nothing of the rookie left in Ash Hillin, when he can stand up against one of the league's leading pitchers, Dick McCabe, and not give in an inch. We suspect that if Hillin wards off over-confidence, and plugs along at the rate he is going, the St. Louis Browns will have a candidate shortly who will deserve their attention.

Yesterday's contest was also marked by Ted Gullic's decision to collect a few hits. The extent of this gent's batting slump had become alarming.

His two home runs saved him from the depths of disgrace, for in the last six home games, including Thursday's game with the Cats, the great Gullic polished off the rhapsodic batting average of .154.

In the six games he was at bat 26 times and got four hits, all singles. Seven times he hit pop-ups. Twice he fanned. Twice he hit into double plays. Five times he hit weak flies. Three times he grounded to the infield.

What Relief!

If the Fort Worth pitching in last Thursday's game was an indication of the caliber of Skipper Phelan's second string and relief moundsters, then the Cats do not appear to this observer to have half as much chance in the race for the second half crown as the Spudders.

They got by last year on McCabe, Stoner and Whitworth, who did most of the work the second half. But these idols are not as effective this year. Bob Cooney wound up the first half with 10 victories, only one behind McCabe and Whitworth, who won 11 each. Stoner is not the same pitcher he was last year.

Leon Chagnon is the only other winner on the Cat staff. This boy Bednar, recently acquired from the Western league, doubtless already has an earned run average in this league as fat as his cheek, when it's stuffed with tobacco leaf—and we've never seen it when it wasn't. Lanky Bill Terry, the holdover from last year, is about in the same class. These two worked Thursday, and were succeeded by Gribble, the outfielder, infielder, and man of all trades. Gribble had better be kept running after fence balls instead of shooting them over the plate.

Things Seldom Heard

Chet Fowler, Fort Worth third baseman, was original in his verbal cut at Umpire Steve Basil in Thursday's game. Steve called a three-one ball a strike and Fowler's fur ruffled. Even after the side had been retired and Chet was in his fielding position, he kept muttering, and finally said:

"Well, one of those balls you called on me was a strike!"

Did You Know That—

The Spudders have some of the best reserve pitching talent in the league but this may turn out to be a liability instead of an asset. Look at Dick Florrid, for instance. The kid has the stuff, but with an eight-man staff he gets to work about every 30 days, and under those conditions he can be expected to have about as much control as he showed against Dallas the other day.

Mr. Bud Hungling, Esq.,

In our estimation, as we have said before, is the best catcher in this old league, and one of the things we like about him is that he "rides" his pitchers when they show signs of letting down.

Which, of course, cannot be expected to delight the pitchers.

But don't all pitchers need a little "riding" now and then? How many games could have been kept out of the fire if the pitcher hadn't decided a three or four-run lead was enough, and settled down to some good old loafing in the last stanzas?

The younger pitchers, we suspect, feel the sting of his words more than the veteran members of the staff. (And sometimes we wish the veteran members would take his words as seriously as the kids do!)

Dean Fans 12 Again

Dizzy Dean of Houston fanned 12 San Antonio batters the other night. The only other time we know of Dean fanning 12 in one game was when he made 12 Spudder batsmen whiff in a game toward the close of last season. We would like to see Dean better his record, provided he doesn't do it at the expense of the Spudders.

Better Late, Etc., Maybe

Now that the season is more than half over, and with only about 35 home games remaining on the schedule, the Browns' office in St. Louis is thinking that maybe night baseball for Wichita Falls would be a good thing, after all.

L. C. McEvoy, Browns' vice president, is reported on his way to Wichita Falls for another conference. Mr. McEvoy was here shortly after the start of the season, and turned a deaf ear to all pleas for the night game here.

It's almost too late now, but with a little hustle it might be put over, and a night plant would then be ready for next season. But we still believe that had the Browns taken the advice of many good Wichita Falls citizens, they could have installed and paid for a plant long before now.

New York Fathers Won't Recognize Schmeling

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10. (US)—Max Schmeling, German fighter, will not be recognized as heavyweight champion in New York or reinstated in that state. At least, not while conditions remain as they are.

That was the verdict handed down by James A. Farley, chairman of the New York boxing commission, from his temporary beach at the St. Francis hotel.

HILLIN EQUALS M'CABE IN DUEL

Bouncing Ground Ball Turns Tide of Battle

By FRED THOMPSON

With two out and the bases loaded in the eleventh, Charlie Engle's easy grounder to short took a miraculous bounce over Scoop Scharein's head, allowing two runners to score, and the Fort Worth Panthers Friday afternoon won the extra-inning affair, 5 to 3, to equal matters with the Spudders in the short series.

Whatever it was that made that ground ball bounce—a pebble, or a simple clod of old Mother Earth—might well be framed by Dick McCabe and hung in his private hall of fame, for it was that one little break that enabled him to snatch the decision from Ashley Hillin, who turned in a pitching rhapsody that McCabe could not excel.

The two moundsters tied up in a splendid duel and came out all square, each allowing 10 hits along the hotly-contested 11-inning route.

The teams entered the fatal eleventh with the score tied at 2-all. Pitching the same heady game he had turned in the preceding frames, Hillin struck out Dalrymple and made Fowler ground out to Stanton. Brown and McClanahan singled in order and Hillin purposely walked Larry Cox. It was fine strategy, for Engle, a relatively weak hitter came up next. Then came the break. Afterwards, Meyers singled, scoring Cox from second with a third run.

The Cats can well thank that bounding grounder for their victory, for in the last of the eleventh, Ted Gullic hit his second home run of the day, a blow that would have won for the Spudders had Scharein been able to get his hands on Engle's dribbler and retire the side in the first half of the frame.

Gullic was the swatting hero, his first home run coming in the fourth to start the rally that tied the score. His homer was followed by Hungling's double, and Fuss' single, which knotted the count, the Cats having scored once in the second and again in the first of the fourth, the latter run being the result of Eddie Moore's circuit smash.

It was a great defensive game, a fast double play demolishing a Cat threat in the eighth, and a Panther twin killing in the ninth dousing a Spudder hope.

Today the Spudders play in Shreveport.

Stanton Doubles

The game opened with Hillin retiring three Cats in order, Moore grounding out pitcher to first, Dalrymple grounding out, second to first, and Fowler grounding out to Stanton, unassisted. In the home half, Garmes popped to first, and Allday flied to center. Stanton doubled to center but Gullic fouled out to left.

The Cats drew first blood in the second. Brown and McClanahan singled in order and were sacrificed along by Cox, pitcher to first. Engle grounded out to Stanton, unassisted, Brown scoring and McClanahan taking third. Meyers walked. McCabe grounded out, pitcher to first. The Cat infield retired Hungling and Fuss, and Scharein fouled to Meyers.

In the third, Moore grounded out, second to first. Dalrymple flied to left. Fowler's fly backed Fuss against the right field fence. In the last half, Euller singled to left center, but was not elastic enough to stretch it and was out at second on McClanahan's throw to Dalrymple. Hillin flied to center. Garms beat out a bunt down the first base line. Allday flied to left.

Home Run Attack

Brown opened the fourth with a home run over the left field fence McClanahan fouled to Hungling. Cox singled to right. Engle forced Cox at second, Stanton to Scharein. Meyers grounded out, Allday to Stanton. With one out in the home half, Gullic hit a home run over the center field fence. Hungling doubled against the left field fence. Fuss singled to center, scoring Hungling to tie the count. Scharein hit into a double play, short to second to first.

In the fifth, McCabe flied to left. Moore grounded out, Allday to Stanton. Euller made a great barehanded stop of Dalrymple's grounder to third, and cast him out at first. In the last half, Euller grounded out, short to first. Hillin singled to left. Garms flied to right. Allday walked, Hillin going to second. Stanton flied to center.

Fowler flied to Gullic to open the sixth. Brown grounded out, Scharein to Stanton. McClanahan flied to Garms. In the home half, Gullic walked. Hungling forced Gullic at second, short to second. Fuss flied to center. Scharein popped to short.

Cox beat out a hit to first to open the seventh. He was forced at second by Engle, Stanton to Scharein. Meyers flied to left. McCabe grounded out, Allday to Stanton. In the home half, Euller flied to left. Hillin grounded out, short to first. Garms flied to center.

Spuds Squelch Threat

Moore was safe when his grounder got through Scharein's legs to open the eighth. Dalrymple beat out a bunt down the third base line, Moore taking second. Fowler bunted down the third base line and Moore was forced at third. Hillin to Euller. Moore vigorously protested Umpire Steve Basil's decision and there was quite a row. Brown hit into a fast double play, Scharein to Allday to Stanton. In the home half, Allday flied to left. Stanton fanned. Gullic flied to center.

In the ninth, McClanahan flied to Gullic. Cox grounded out, Allday to Stanton. Engle went out by the same route. In the home half, Hungling doubled against the center field fence. McCabe intentionally walked Fuss. Scharein fanned. Euller hit into a double play, Engle to Dalrymple to Brown, to end the threat, and the game went into extra innings.

In the tenth, Meyers grounded out, Allday to Stanton. McCabe grounded out, Scharein to Stanton. Moore fouled out to Garms.

In the last of the frame, Hillin grounded out, Fowler to Brown. Garms, after hitting a beauty to right that was foul by inches, grounded out, second to first. Allday dropped a Texas leaguer to right center for a base hit, but was picked off the bag. McCabe to Brown.

Wotta Life!

In the eleventh, Dalrymple fanned. Fowler grounded out to Stanton unassisted. Brown singled over Scharein's head. McClanahan singled to right, Brown taking third. Hillin intentionally walked Cox, loading the bases. Engle's grounder took a bad hop over Scharein's head, scoring Brown and McClanahan. Meyers singled to right, scoring Cox, and made second when Allday dropped Fuss' throw-in in the act of tagging the runner. McCabe popped to Scharein.

In the home half, Stanton grounded out, third to first. Gullic hit a home run over the left field fence. Hungling walked. Fuss flied to left. Scharein forced Hungling at second, short to second, and the game was over.

Lowery Beats Powell As Empire Beats Dixons, 4-2

Gib Lowery outpitched Phillip Powell Friday afternoon on Harrison field and Empire Paper won their second game in succession by downing the Dixon Sign company team, 4 to 2.

Lowery put on full steam in the last inning with his two-run lead and Powell, Marshall and Pete Dixon went down before him by the strikeout route. Lowery whiffed nine during the game. McKee led the winners' attack with a triple and single while Mauldin, ace of the City league catchers, led the Dixon attack with two singles in three trips to the plate. The Papermen had one big inning off Powell to win the game when four singles and an error gave them a trio of tallies. Score:

HOUSTON, July 10. (AP)—Playing in a dust haze that hovered over the diamond, Houston tonight trimmed San Antonio, 7 to 3, to register their 10th consecutive victory. In the third Sanguinet lost Carey's blow in a dust cloud and the fly ball to center went for a homer. Score:

Hagen Ahead In Canadian Open

MISSISSAUGA COUNTRY Club, Toronto, Ont., July 10. (AP)—The old master, Walter Hagen, toured around Mississauga's layout in 68 strokes in the second round of the Canadian open golf championship today to blast his way into the lead by a single stroke.

Hagen's 36-hole total of 136 was just good enough to nose out Johnny Farrell of New York, former United States open champion, who added a 68 today to his 69 of yesterday for 137.

Back of the leaders trailed Percy Allis of Germany, whose 67 in the first round had given him the lead after 18 holes. Allis slipped to a 71 today for a total of 138, two strokes ahead of the defending champion, Tommy Armour, who put together 68 and 72 for 140.

The field was cut tonight for the final 36 holes tomorrow by elimination of all more than 20 strokes behind the leader.

Back of the four leaders came the first real "dark horse," Ted Bishop of Natick, Mass., who followed his first round par-equaling 72 with a fine 69 today for 141.

Wiffy Cox, Brooklyn pro, who had tied for second place with 68 yesterday, fell back to a 74 today for 142 where he was tied with Willie Lamb of Toronto. Another virtual unknown, Victor Ghezzi, held eighth place with 143, a stroke ahead of Ed Dudley of Concordville, Pa., and Willie Spitall of Toronto.

CROCKETT, Texas, July 10. (AP)—Coroner's verdict on the death of John H. Ellis, secretary of the Crockett federal bank, who was found shot to death six miles south of here today, tonight was delayed pending a thorough investigation of the shooting.

Philadelphia Athletics Beat Yanks In 14-Inning Struggle, 8 to 6

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—For the seventh time this season the New York Yankees engaged in an extra-inning conflict today and for the sixth time they went down in defeat as the Philadelphia Athletics beat them out, 8 to 6, in 14 innings.

Max Bishop's triple in the 14th, a wild pitch by Ed Wells, Al Simmons' single and a triple by Jimmy Foxx, gave the champions their margin of victory. Big George Earnshaw, who relieved Walberg in the seventh, held the Yanks scoreless through the five extra innings. The first two Yankees up in the 14th hit safely, but Earnshaw forced the next batter to pop up and then struck out the next two to end the contest with a flourish. Score:

BOSTON, July 10. A double by Moore, who had replaced Urbanski at third base after the latter had been knocked unconscious chasing a foul into the grandstand, started the Braves' rally. Score:

Kinsey Beats Burke In Pro Net Tournament

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., July 10. (US)—In a match studded with remarkable plays on both sides, Howard O. Kinsey, of San Francisco, overcame Albert Burke, of France, 10-8, 8-10, 6-4, 6-4, to produce the first surprise in the United States professional tournament at West Side Tennis club today.

Following the 6-3, 6-4, 6-4, victory of Vincent Richards, defending champion, over Robert Seller, of California, Burke and Kinsey engaged in an absorbing baseline struggle which was decided largely by the Westerner's greater stamina. The interest in this contest was sustained for over two hours and brought out the finest exhibition given thus far.

ART SHIRES ON AUCTION BLOCK

Whataman to Be Disposed Of at Season's End

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 10. (AP)—Louis Nahin, president of the Milwaukee Brewers baseball club, today said Charles Arthur Shires, first baseman, would be sold to the highest bidder at the close of the current American association season.

Nahin said he has received bids for the player from several clubs, including the Boston Braves, the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Philadelphia Nationals.

"We need players more than we do cash," said Nahin, "and since the Browns have no one they can send us, I have been instructed to let him go to the club that makes the best offer in the way of talent.

When Shires was brought from Washington this spring, it was generally predicted he would appear next season with the Browns at Sportsman's park in St. Louis. Nahin said he regretted losing Shires, whose consistent batting strength has aided the Brewers considerably this year.

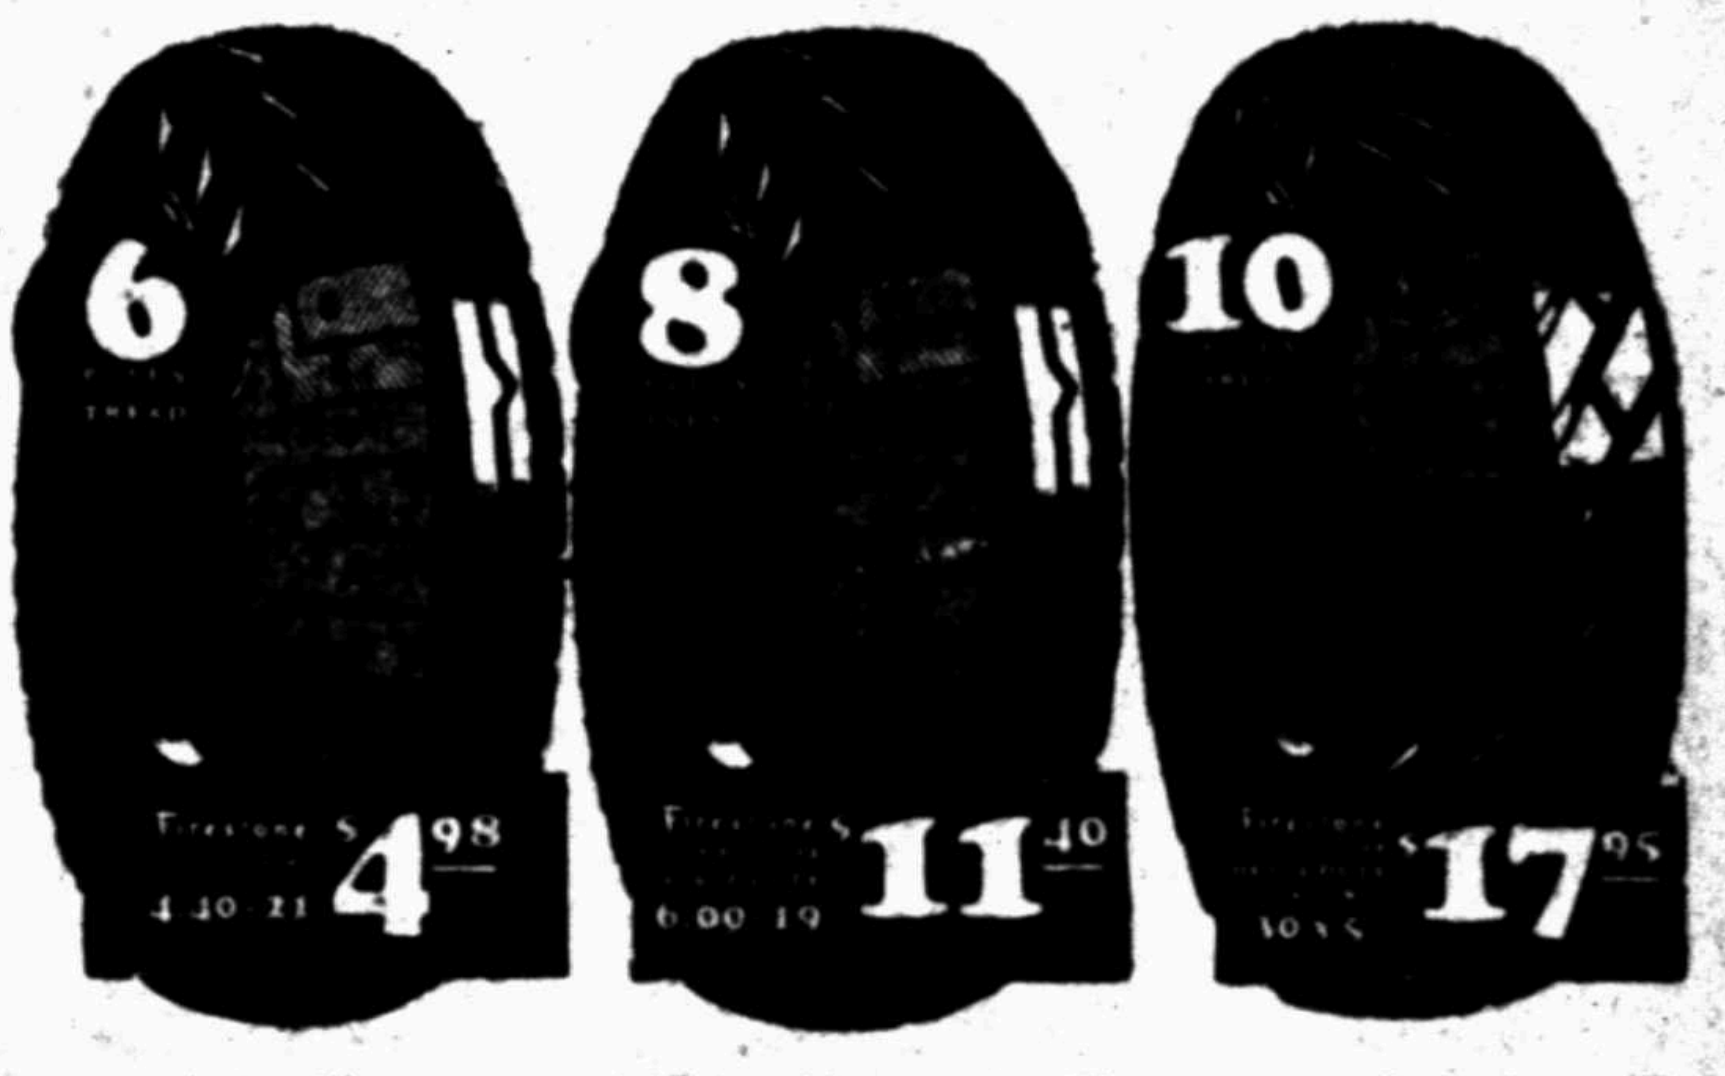
Car Owners Bought More Firestone Tires During April, May and June than in any like period in History



THERE are reasons for this—Firestone is now building the Greatest Tire Values in history, with the result that Firestone factories are operating 24 hours a day, 6 days a week, to meet public preference.

This is the year everybody is scrutinizing his purchases. This is particularly true in tire buying because of the many confusing and misleading statements made about tires.

To give car owners the facts, Firestone published comparisons showing quality, construction and prices. Then the public came in—made their own comparisons with cross-sections cut from Firestone tires—and from special brand mail order tires and others.

When they saw the facts, they bought more Firestone tires during April, May and June than in any like period in Firestone history.

Drive in today and let us show you these Firestone Extra Values and have your car equipped for Safe, Trouble-Free Summer Motoring. We can save you money and serve you better.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—An opening decline in cotton was followed by advances on trade buying and covering today. October contracts, after selling off to 9.31 or 17 points net lower, advanced to 9.64, or 16 points net higher, and closed at 9.53.

The opening was steady 7 to 10 points lower under a renewal of liquidation, Liverpool and local selling. Reports of showers in the eastern belt were considered favorable and buyers evidently found little encouragement in the early action of the stock market.

According to the New York Cotton Exchange service, consumption of lint cotton in this country for the month of June was estimated at 450,000 against 466,000 for May and 405,000 last year. These figures were without apparent effect on the market which seemed to be chiefly influenced by the cables and weather and later by an improved technical position and the firmer tone of the stock market.

Liverpool cables reported local and foreign liquidation uncovering stop orders in the market there and said Manchester was bearish with cloth and yarn buyers cautious. Reports from Texas said rains of Wednesday and Thursday had partly relieved the drouth which was becoming serious. Exports today 26,311, making 6,746,971 so far this season. Port receipts 4,994. U. S. port stocks 2,917,746.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 10. (AP)—Cotton was fairly active today and after declining about a dollar a bale early on cables and rains rallied more than a dollar and a half a bale on an oversold market condition and firmness of stocks and, although easing off slightly at the end closed steady at net gains of 5 to 6 points.

Cables came in much lower than due and overnight reports indicated recent rains had relieved greatly the drouth situation. Their influences caused a decline from the previous close of 19 points.

Liverpool came in 7 to 8 penny points worse than due. Manchester cabled there was a bearish feeling in the cloth and yarn markets with buyers cautious. First trades here showed losses of 10 points.

Port receipts 7,909; for week 16,667; for season 8,861,098; last season 8,747,241. Exports 31,681; for week 67,704; for season 6,545,437; last season 6,540,586. Port stocks 3,940,281; last year 1,617,567. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 47,798; last year 38,-?C8. Spot sales at southern markets 2,756; last year 1,981.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, July 10. (INS)—Spots cotton was quiet at the opening today with prices barely steady. Sales amounted to 5,000 bales and receipts totaled 2,000 bales.

At midday, middling fair sold at 6.35d, strictly good middling at 5.90d, good middling at 5.55d, strictly middling at 5.30d, middling at 5.15d, strictly low middling at 5.00d, low middling at 4.75d, strictly good ordinary at 4.55d, and good ordinary at 4.25d.

Futures were barely steady with July at 4.90d, October at 4.97d, December at 5.04d, January at 5.07d, March at 5.17d, and May at 5.23d.

The market continued to ease off in the beginning of the second hour on further long liquidation, October dropping to 9.31 and December to 9.52, or 19 points below yesterday's close.

Later, however, the market rallied rather sharply on shorts covering induced by a belief that a rally was due after so large a decline and because of an oversold condition of the market. Crop advices were also less favorable and the weather forecast was for fair conditions in the belt.

October advanced to 9.60 and December to 9.81, or 29 points on both months above the earlier lows.

Around mid-session the market eased off 4 to 7 points on a little realizing.

Market Gains Bouyancy From Foreign News During Quiet Day

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 10. (US)—Swayed principally by internal conditions, stocks today displayed a buoyant tone. Trading, however, was quiet. New developments were not particularly of a nature to invite aggressive buying. On the other hand, the market was virtually unaffected by the unfavorable news developments.

For example, U. S. Steel entirely ignored the publication of the unfilled tonnage. This report showed a drop of 141,129 tons which was somewhat above expectations. Further declines in wheat prices also had little effect upon the general market.

It was evident throughout the day that the market was vibrating more on foreign news than on domestic developments. This is best illustrated by the action of the market following the brisk recovery in German bonds in early mid-afternoon. Strength in these issues was interpreted to mean that satisfactory progress was being made in negotiations for the extension of a credit to Germany.

Greatest strength and activity converged on issues now sponsored by the former leading bear. Allied Chemical and Dye, to which attention frequently has been called here, was a conspicuous feature. Current activity in the Allied is traced principally to the Boston crowd. Since the stock sold close to par some time ago, persistent accumulation has taken place for these interests. Furthermore, interests conversant with the affairs of the company also have steadily added to their holdings on recessions. Floating supply of Allied, consequently, has been materially reduced of late. As a result, shorts are experiencing difficulty in extricating themselves from their position.

Commercial solvents shows further signs of accumulation. A noticeable laggard, however, was Bethlehem Steel. Failure of this stock to participate in the general improvement reflects nervousness over the maintenance of the present $4 dividend. In some quarters, a cut to $2 annually is expected.

The wheat crop estimate issued after the close was particularly bearish. Effects of the report, however, have to a large extent been discounted by the sharp decline in wheat prices during the past week or 10 days. The report placed the indicated winter crop at 713,000,000 bushels against 612,000,000 bushels last year. Estimate of the entire wheat crop was 869,000,000 bushels, against 863,000,000 bushels a year ago. Knowledge of the impending bearish wheat report, however, failed to dampen the ardor of the Case pool. Group sponsoring this stock plans to initiate another drive against shorts within the near future.

Leaders in the present bull pool are making plans for a renewal of more aggressive pool activities within the immediate future. These operators contend that news during the next week or two will prove propitious for such an undertaking.

Vague rumors are heard of further constructive developments from Washington. These principally revolve around a possible ruling by the farm board on both wheat and cotton. In addition, constructive forces state that news from the steel trade should prove more optimistic. Operations at present are at the low. Therefore, any change should be for the better. Carloadings also are expected to make a better showing shortly due to increased crop movements.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 10. (AP)—Enormous arrivals of new domestic wheat, with prospects that the harvest movement would continue heavy for several weeks, led today to fresh breaking of low price records. The market fell to the bottommost level since 1894, out doing yesterday's tumble to below any later than 1896. Today's minimum for July wheat, representing the 1931 crop, was within 2½ cents of the lowest point ever reached by future delivery contracts on the Chicago board of trade.

The United States government crop report was a surprise to most traders, the official estimate on winter wheat being materially above expectations whereas spring wheat was smaller. The official total on all wheat was 12,000,000 bushels less than looked for.

Wheat closed unsettled at about the day's furthest depth, ½@⅝ cents down, corn ⅜c off to 1¼c up, oats varying from c decline to ⅛@¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12 cents. It was the sixth straight day of declining wheat prices.

Corn was irregular, with July offerings relatively scarce, whereas there was selling pressure on the deferred months, weather conditions being auspicious for the new corn crop. Oats paralleled the action of corn.

Despite hog market upturns provisions were affected by grain weakness.

Closing indemnities—Wheat: July 52c, 54⅜c; Sept. 53@53¼c; Dec. 57¼@⅜c, 59½@⅝c. Corn: July 56c, 59¼c; Sept.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, July 10. (US)—The government estimate of 713,000,000 bushels for winter wheat was considerably more than the trade had anticipated, but its bearishness was offset by the sensationally bullish report on spring wheat, showing a harvest prospect of only 156,000,000 bushels.

While the winter crop is over 100,000,000 bushels in excess of the yield a year ago, total wheat production in the United States is estimated at only 6,000,000 bushels more than in 1930.

The International Harvester company was reported to have agreed to wait for payments on agricultural machinery in Kansas in order that farmers might not be forced to sell wheat at the extremely low prices which now prevail.

The lowest quotation on wheat for the season was reported from Oklahoma where the price at the Guyon station was 26c per bushel.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, July 10. (AP)—Cotton goods continued easy in unfinished lines today, with the demand light. Wash fabrics lines were being cleaned up more rapidly. Silks were being liquidated steadily at low prices in preparation for a new fall season. Wool goods were selling steadily with buying more active in the women's wear division. Burlaps continued quiet and easy. Consumption is estimated as down 12½ per cent under normal. An active demand persisted for inferior or obsolete rayons for knitting and weaving with scarcity developing more noticeably on some of the finer grades.

CORPUS GETS HUGE PLANT

$10,000,000 Chemical Factory to Be Built

AKRON, Ohio, July 10. (AP)—Plans for construction of a $10,000,000 chemical manufacturing plant at Corpus Christi, Texas, by the Southern Alkali corporation were announced today by H. A. Galt, manager of the Columbia Chemical division of the Pittsburgh plate glass company at Barberton, Ohio. Galt is president of the Southern Alkali corporation, which was incorporated recently as a Delaware corporation.

The Southern corporation has acquired 340 acres of land two miles from Corpus Christi, has taken options on a large supply of natural gas from nearby fields for fuel purposes, and will begin building operations shortly, Galt said.

A ship canal from Corpus Christi bay to the Southern Alkali corporation property to afford deep sea shipping facilities is contemplated. The plant will make soda ash, caustic soda, and other products from raw materials found in the vicinity, and will employ about 800 men, Galt said.

Stock in the Southern Alkali corporation will be held jointly by the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company and the American Cyanamid company of New York.

Bell to Build Oil Refinery at Longview

TULSA, Okla., July 10.—Construction has started upon the new 10,000 barrel skimming and refinery that the Bell Oil and Gas company is to build on a 24-acre tract just one and one-half miles south of Longview on the International & Great Northern railroad, in Gregg county, East Texas.

The Lathrop pool of Gregg and the Kilgore pool of Rusk will be served by a six-inch pipe line, that is being constructed simultaneously with the refinery. Albert Finston of the Bell company said that the majority of the products of the new plant have already been contracted.

The Southwestern Engineering corporation of Los Angeles and Tulsa will erect the pipe still unit. It will be the third Bell refinery, the other two being at Pampa, in the Panhandle of Texas and at Grandfield, in Southwestern Oklahoma. The Longview plant will thus give the Bell company a refinery capacity of more than 40,000 barrels a day.

Farm Board Predicts Conflict With Traders Over Co-Op Growth

WASHINGTON, July 10. (AP)—Increased conflict with private traders is expected by Carl Williams, farm board member, as farmer-owned and controlled cooperatives expand.

Following attacks on the board by Pennsylvania's two senators after Philadelphia dairy wholesalers had charged a cooperative with indiscriminately cutting prices, Williams said it was only natural the commission men's protests should become louder as farmer competitors absorb more of their business.

The growing conflict between cooperatives and private dealers has been recognized for months by the board with former Chairman Alexander Legge and his successor, James C. Stone, charging the trade with attempting to prevent formation of the farmer organizations.

Dispute Stirred

After demands had been made last week for a more definite stabilization wheat sales policy, Chairman Stone accused the grain trade of inspiring the wide-spread agitation.

Williams' intimation of increased conflict came after three southern cotton exchanges had requested a new statement of policy for handling that commodity during the new crop year.

The Pennsylvania case brought the board's clash with private interests into full play again, with Senators Reed and Davis, Republicans, considering the advisability of filing complaints with the federal trade commission directed specifically at the Land O'Lakes Creameries, Inc., of Minneapolis.

Two Philadelphia wholesale houses charged the government, in effect, with granting a subsidy to the Land O'Lakes with board loans.

Schilling Replies

In replying to this complaint, William F. Schilling, dairy member of the board, wrote Reed the board "recognizes it is inevitable that some private businesses will be injured." He reiterated Stone's contention private dealers have little to worry about if they are performing a necessary service at a cost as low or lower than cooperatives.

The board is charged by law with assisting in the formation of cooperatves. They have developed rapidly in the last two years, delivering products direct from the farm almost to the consumer's front door.

As they grew, the middleman's profits have been pinched and they have carried their protests to the White House as well as to the board and are expected to renew them next winter when the question of farm relief is reopened in congress by organizations supporting the export debenture and equalization fee.

While considering his probable action, Reed, who has advocated abolishing the board, told the Philadelphia wholesalers the best method of relief "is to repeal the legislation (the agricultural marketing act) and cut off the appropriations which make this sort of thing possible.

Atlantic to Build Pipe Line to Gulf

DALLAS, July 10. (AP)—Officials of the Atlantic Oil Producing company today announced the company would begin within the immediate future construction of a $2,000,000 pipe line from Longview to Port Arthur.

Work, officials said, is scheduled to begin as soon as a survey of the 180-mile route is completed. The survey was expected to be completed within three or four weeks at the most.

The line's daily capacity would approximate 30,000 barrels of oil.

Under present plans two pumping stations will be located on the line, the first expected to be placed at Longview.

In addition the company was to launch a program of building gathering lines which will feed oil from a number of leases into the main line to be carried to Port Arthur and shipped to the East.

TURKEY C.-C. BACKS ROAD

Cavern Short Cut Route Given Boost

Special to The Record News.

TURKEY, Texas, July 10.—J. M. Edwards, secretary of the Turkey Chamber of Commerce, also secretary and treasurer of the recently organized Carlsbad Cavern short cut route from Oklahoma City, via Turkey to the cavern, has just returned from various town in New Mexico and other points in interest of this proposition.

Mr. Edwards reports keen interest in this road by all towns and communities. They are anxious that all work be speeded up in order to secure much of this summer's traffic.

This is not a new project for these towns. For years work has been under way on this route. Much time and money has been spent in efforts for designation and proper recognition. Formerly, it was the Ozark Trail Highway association. After years of active work the organization disbanded, later another organization took up the work.

Plans are now under way for the placing of 400 road markers along the route.

Several 10x30-foot signs are also to be placed. A map showing the route and towns it will pass through is now in the hands of the engraver, and when finished each town will be asked to have printed 5,000 to 10,000 road or tourist maps. A committee is to be appointed to work out means to have these maps properly distributed throughout the North and East.

This route, the "Cavern Short Cut route" makes connections with important highways, leading to all sections, at Oklahoma City. From Oklahoma City, it passes through Chickasha, Lawton, Snyder, Altus, Duke, Gould, and Hollis, Okla., Childress, Estelline, Turkey, Quitaque, Silverton, Tulia, Dimmitt, Bovina, Farwell, Texas; Clovis, Portales, Roswell, Artesia and Carlsbad, N. M.

The Cavern Short Cut route from points in Oklahoma is one of the best and most direct routes to the cavern and mountain districts of New Mexico, where thousands of people visit each year. It is a high, dry, cool route, with portions of it paved, or under contract to be paved. The entire route is designated state highways, well graded and well maintained.

Judge J. P. Sweptson, of Tulia is president of the association and J. M. Edwards, of Turkey, secretary-treasurer.

Lindberghs Get Radio Licenses

NEW YORK, July 10. (US)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh who have been studying radio operation in preparation for their projected flight to Japan, are now licensed operators, it became known today.

The Lindberghs went to the subtreasury building Thursday and passed the regular examination for a commercial third class license to send and receive messages. The examination was given by E. H. Lee, radio superintendent of the second district, who said Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh obtained high percentages.

A third class license requires the ability to transmit fifteen words a minute. The test includes transmission performances and twenty-five technical questions. The Lindberghs will carry two radio transmission sets in their plane.

SCHOOL SHAFT VICTIM NAMED

Boy's Body Found After Nine Years

MUNCIE, Ind., July 10. (INS)—Positive identification of the skeleton found in an air shaft at the Central High School building here as that of Perlie Guelsby Hogg, 15, an orphan formerly of near Harrisburg, Ill., missing for nine years, was announced here today by Coroner Clarence Piepho of Delaware county.

At the same time the coroner said he would return a verdict of "probable suicide" in the strange case.

The skeleton was discovered accidentally yesterday at the bottom of the sealed shaft by plumbers who entered the shaft to make repairs. Indications pointed to the boy's death in the shaft nearly 10 years ago.

The identification of the remains was clinched today, the coroner said, when Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cooper, the former an uncle of the boy, and Mrs. Effie Owens, an aunt, positively identified the shreds of clothing, shoes and the Boy Scout knife found with the body.

'KEY FARMER' TOUR CLOSES

Fine Crops Impress Visitors And Home Folks

the sumptuous luncheon served by the Boy Scout organization.

The party was augmented Friday by additional arrivals from Seymour, Frederick, Chillicothe and Childress. J. A. Moore of Grand Prairie, Texas, a "master farmer" also joined the tour. L. E. Karper, deputy director of the state experiment station service, County Agents Hefner of Childress and Beaty of Tillman, Supt. R. E. Dickson of the Spur experiment station and Superintendent Quimby of the Chillicothe experiment station were others who took part.

The trippers arose early Friday and ate a big breakfast, then visited the state fish hatchery near the Diversion dam. There they saw enormous bass getting a breakfast of bread, minnows and grasshoppers.

The first farm visited was that of L. E. Joines, where feed and alfalfa crops were inspected. One of the Kemp & Kempner farms managed by S. D. Johnson was next visited. The very attractive farm of Will Hodges near Valley View was the third stop, with the alfalfa patch as the center of attraction.

The motorcade then proceeded to Iowa Park where half an hour was spent at the plant of the Kemgas Cottonseed Delinting company, owned by S. B. Jackson and Paul Lusk. Mr. Lusk explained the delinting process in detail and distributed samples of the treated seed. Delinting, it is claimed, makes it easier to obtain an early stand, lessens the likelihood of plant disease, makes cultivation easier and cheaper. The delinting involves the use of hydrochloric acid gas, which turns the lint into dust which is removed by fanning and threshing.

A ride through the small truck farm area south of Iowa Park brought the trippers to the Birk farm. Here a field of cotton, planted under the check row system, was the center of interest. Mr. Birk explained the method and its advantages, chief of which is that the cotton may be planted to a stand and cultivated on all sides.

Deep Tillage

The Birk farm's big herd of sheep was viewed, and the up-to-date feeding equipment was inspected. The deep tillage tools which are used on this farm were also the object of much interest.

The next and final stop was the experiment farm. Lunch was the first attraction and the repast that was served under the direction of Frank Creighton was enjoyed with a thoroughness that brought a prompt response when F. Williams proposed a vote of thanks to the scout executive.

Frank Wolfe, chairman of the agricultural committee of the junior chamber of commerce, spoke briefly and introduced a number of visitors, several of whom spoke briefly. Superintendent McDowell of the experiment station then explained the plans for the field day trip.

The asparagus patch was the first to be visited. Mr. McDowell said that this crop was apparently well suited to this soil and climate, being immune to root rot. Under favorable conditions, he said, an annual return of $400 to $500 per acre can be obtained. Two to three years are required to bring the plants to commercial bearing.

A number of the station's experimental plants were next inspected. Mr. McDowell explained that 75 per cent of the station's crops were failures, but that the information obtained in this way was worth more than the crop would have been.

The station threshed 36 bushels of wheat from a one-acre patch of the Denton red variety which was originated by Mr. McDowell when he was superintendent at the Denton experiment station. The oat patch yielded 75 bushels. Neither of the grain crops was irrigated.

The experiments under way include:

A "corn vs. grain sorghum" test intended to show the comparative productivity of corn as compared with the grain sorghums. So far, the sorghums are far ahead, Mr. McDowell said.

A spacing test on feed crops.

A variety test on cotton, involving 37 varieties.

An irrigation test on feed, with water in various quantities applied to determine the number of acre-inches under which best results are produced.

A fertilizer test on cotton, using about 20 different kinds of fertilizer.

Cantaloupe Test

A variety test on cantaloupes; this crop is the subject of much experimentation at the state farm, Superintendent McDowell and Horticulturist Brooks believing it can be made a very profitable one in the valley.

The orchard, in which root rot is steadily killing many of the trees, and in which the peach crop is exactly nothing owing to the late freeze last spring, was next visited.

The visitors viewed with much interest the root rot tests, where a number of healthy plants of various kinds are inoculated with the root rot bacillus in order to determine their relative resistance and perhaps to result in development of a legume crop that is not susceptible.

The berry patch, where raspberries, blackberries, dewberries, strawberries and youngberries are planted, was an interesting feature of the inspection. Mr. McDowell asserted his belief that berry crops of various kinds can become very important factors in the valley's program. The youngberry is a new hybrid resembling the raspberry.

After their two-hour walk around the station, the trippers were able to do full justice to the cold watermelons which the irrigation district had waiting for them at the station office. The trip disbanded at the station.

Hoover Annoyed as Choice Bits Of Repartee Find Way to Papers

WASHINGTON, July 10. (UP)—President Hoover feels that all news about him should come from a source he designates at the White House, his secretary, Theodore Joslin, made known today as an accompaniment of an investigation by the White House of the source of recently published personal incidents concerning the executive and his family.

Mr. Hoover, himself, was revealed as having actuated the investigation now under way to determine the source of some 15 recent stories published by newspapers and press associations.

No Censorship

Mr. Hoover has no desire to impose censorship upon the press, Joslin said. He indicated the executive is merely irritated over stories which have been appearing without his authorization and is determined to find out whether any members of his staff has been talking out of turn to newspapers.

Joslin is the officially designated press publicity representative of the White House.

He declined to confirm or deny the latest story—that Mrs. Walter Newton, wife of a presidential secretary, fell off her horse into the Rapidan river at the presidential camp recently. Joslin said he did not know whether the story was true.

He expressed the opinion, however, that another news story about what President Hoover said when Mrs. Hoover's dog bit a marine was untrue. This story related that the executive was supposed to have patted the head of the dog after it had bitten the marine, and said to it:

"Nice doggie. Now go bite General Butler."

Joslin said the executive had no intention of abandoning his usual Tuesday and Friday conference with the press. The fact that only one of the last 12 scheduled conferences has been held indicated only that the executive had no news to give out, Joslin said.

Meantime, the investigation of the White House secret service detail has failed to develop the source of any newspaper story. It is understood that four members of the staff, veterans of many years in White House service, have asked to be transferred to other details because of the investigation. It is said they resent the cross-examinations to which they have been submitted in an effort to determine whether they gave out unauthorized information.

FARMERS FIGHT FREIGHT HIKE

Board to Present Letters in Hearing Monday

WASHINGTON, July 10. (UP)—Protests of agricultural interests against the proposal of railroads to increase freight rates are being received by the federal farm board for presentation to the Interstate Commerce commission.

Hearings on the petition on the carriers for a 15 per cent rate increase begins next Wednesday. Already the correspondence in the case has become so voluminous that the commission's secretary, hoping to stem the flood of letters, announced they are not necessary to the case.

The agricultural protests which have been sent to the farm board, however, may receive a preferred status if they are introduced during the regular proceedings.

Agricultural interests are expected to get considerable relief from the revised grain rates which the commission has ordered into effect August 1. Carriers have estimated they would lose $20,000,000 annually in revenue under the revised schedules. Although they lost a court decision last week, they may seek a supreme court ruling before publishing the new rates.

Negress Sues for Loss Of Funds in Pool Hall

Testimony in a suit brought by a negro woman against a negro man to regain $292.25 she alleges to have spent from her own funds in the operation of a pool hall for the man while he served a term in a federal penitentiary was opened in the county court at law here Friday before Judge Irvin J. Vogel.

The negress' petition to the court alleges that before the negro pool hall operator left to serve his term on a narcotic charge that he asked the woman to operate the hall and to pay several bills then due. Although she was to have all the profits from the operation of the place, no profits were made, it was further alleged.

Testimony of the operator was that he had cleared from $7.50 to $20 daily before the place was turned over to the woman. The court recessed Friday afternoon to allow new witnesses to be obtained.

Reservations indicate that an unusually large crowd will attend the banquet honoring former City Manager George D. Fairtrace and the new manager, V. R. Smitham, which will be given at the country club Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock by members of the city council.

Principal speakers will include Charles I. Francis, Walter Cline, Mr. Fairtrace and Mr. Smitham. Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., will act as master of ceremonies and will introduce the speakers.

Entertainment will include a take-off on the city council in session which will be directed by Wilburn Page, several vocal selections by Miss Mary Virginia Barron, accompanied at the piano by Miss Elizabeth Powers; dance numbers by Miss Marion Mendenhall and violin numbers by Miss Viola Grace Doern, accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. G. Wayne Barker. Jesse Smith's orchestra will play during the dinner.

BROOKS-SPEEDWAY TRAFFIC

A new traffic officer will not be placed on duty at the corner of brook and Speedway as was erroneously stated in Thursday's Times, it was announced Friday by W. E. McBroom, acting city manager.

One of the traffic officers will be taken off of his regular beat during the evening and will direct traffic at that corner until the management of the golf driving course can provide parking space off the street, Mr. McBroom explained.

Plenty of Peoples Pure Distilled Water Ice in a good, well-insulated refrigerator is the best protection for food you can get. ICE maintains a temperature low enough to keep the most highly perishable foods sweet and safe and creates an atmosphere neither too moist nor too dry, but just right to keep foods in prime condition.

The cost of ICE is trifling, but the service it renders in protecting food and health is invaluable. And don't forget PEOPLES ICE is the best money can buy.
