Rebels Attacked

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (AP)-National guard troops stormed into the barricaded city of Matagalpa during the night and overwhelmed young rebels who had held the city for five days, Red Cross officials said today.

Guillermo Balmaceda of the Red Cross office in Managua said Red Cross workers in Matagalpa, 100 miles north of here, reported many wounded and some dead in the attack.

Going Anyway

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) - Former President Richard Nixon is making one thing perfectly clear to Australian officials: he's not going to let their rebuff of his request for an official visit stop him from going Down Under.

A Nixon spokesman said an Australian stop was planned on Nixon's forthcoming round-the-world trip because "scores of Australian citizens" have asked him to come.

Nixon's San Clemente office was told Wednesday by the Australian embassy in Washington that an official visit would be "inopportune" because of other official visits during September and October, although the only other visit memtioned is that of a cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, Princess Alexandra.

Trial In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) - American Businessman Francis J. Crawford, who contends he is "a pawn in a political chess game," said today he will be going on trial next Tuesday for alleged currency-law violations.

Crawford, 38, a Moscow representative of the International Harvester Co. of Chicago, was arrested on a Moscow street in June and held for two weeks in Lefortovo Prison here. After being conditionally released, he was summoned back to the prison repeatedly for interrogation.

The Andrews County News turned 44 the other day, and Publisher James Roberts was moved to ask, "Where did the summer go, where did the year go, where has the time gone?"

He then noted a few changes that had taken place during the life-time of the town's newspaper.

"Forty-four years ago, a large sand dune drifted here and yon on the unpaved street of the 100 block of West Broadway, many times blocking traffic or entrapping unknowing drivers," Roberts recalled. He also remembered that in the spring, huge, dark dust storms would roil into the unpaved streets of Andrews wiping out the sun, reducing visibility to a few feet and scalding the paint from buildings and cars alike.

"We never really knew whether the dust bowl days of the thirties were a result or a cause of the Great Depression," Roberts continued. He enumerated various other changes that have occurred, but noted that some things never change.

"Despite the speed of telephone or computerized type-setting, a little bit of gossip about a new affair, a falling-down drunk, or the wild oats of a prominent son or daughter can still circle the town of 12,000 people just as fast as it did when the town contained 563 hardy souls. Science can never equal the speed of tele-a-friend."

Reducing taxes in one place may not necessarily ease the over-all bill to the taxpayer, says Speedy Nieman of the Hereford Brand in discussing a proposed Texas Constitutional Amendment which would exempt $5,000 of the worth of a homestead from school taxes.

"The promise that the 'state' will make up these losses sounds like Texas will be in the revenue sharing business along with the feds," says Nieman. "Collecting tax dollars at the state level and rebating them to the local districts may relieve the local tax collectors of some of their chores, but isn't likely to furnish any relief to the taxpayer. The money has still got to come from the taxpayer, and routing it through Austin is not generally viewed as an economy measure.

Last Ditch Postal Talks Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) - In perhaps the final effort to avoid an illegal, nationwide mail strike, the Postal Service and unions representing more than a half-million employees today began 15 days of new talks.

The new beginning, 4½ months after the stalemated negotiations began, got under way with the help of a seasoned labor trouble-shooter, James J. Healy, as mediator.

The two sides began with separate meetings with Healy at the offices of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

On his way into the negotiations, the president of the largest postal union vowed, "I'm not giving up a damned thing on the no-layoff clause." Emmet Andrews of the American Postal Workers Union added that he did not expect progress quickly in the new talks.

Joseph Vacca, president of the second largest union, the National Association of Letter Carriers, declined comment as he arrived for the talks.

Meanwhile today, a federal judge extended until Sept. 18 his temporary restraining order barring a postal strike by the two largest unions.

Strikes by postal employees are illegal, and the court order is intended to strengthen enforcement of that law.

U.S. District Judge John Pratt had signed a six-day restraining order at his home last Saturday, but that order expired today.

Attorneys for the unions and the Postal Service agreed to Pratt's extension of the no-strike order. However, union officials have not ruled out the possibility of a strike if the new talks fail to produce a satisfactory settlement.

In the new talks, the unions are expected to seek improvement of the 19.9 percent increases in wages and cost-of-living allowances contained in an earlier agreement which postal rank-and-file workers rejected. This money package is substantially below what coal miners and railroad workers have won this year.

Postal management is expected to try to rid itself of the no-layoff requirement it reluctantly accepted on the last day of the original three-month bargaining period. Postal managers would like to be able to lay off workers during periods when mail volume is low.

On the eve of the new talks, a union source said, "I don't see that there can be any give on the no-layoff clause."

Drops Under 6 Per Cent...

Unemployment Declines

WASHINGTON (AP) - Unemployment declined to 5.9 percent in August, the second time it has dipped below 6 percent this year, as more women and teen-agers found jobs, the Labor Department reported today.

The drop from the July unemployment level of 6.2 percent gave the Carter administration and the public their first favorable economic news of the week following several days of generally dismal developments. These included a report pointing to a possible slowdown in economic growth.

The Labor Department said total employment increased in August by 160,000 jobs to a total of 94.6 million, while unemployment dropped by 225,000 to just under 6 million.

The August unemployment rate was the second lowest of the year, bettered only by June's 5.7 percent, a figure that was said to be artificially low because of statistical problems.

Except for the two drops below 6 percent, the unemployment rate has fluctuated between 6 percent and 6.2 percent this year.

The Auguest report was sure to cheer administration economists, who have have been trying to slow the economy to dampen inflation, but without significantly increasing unemployment.

The Labor Department said most of the employment gains in August occurred among adult women and teen-agers, with some gains for black workers as well.

It gave the following breakdown on unemployment in August for various population groups, compared with the July level:

-Adult men 4.1 percent, unchanged.

-Adult women 6.1 percent, down from 6.5 percent.

-Teen-agers 15.6 percent, down from 16.3.

-Whites 5.2 percent, down from 5.3.

-Blacks and other minorities 11.7 percent, down from 12.5.

-Full-time workers 5.5 percent, down from 5.7.

-White-collar workers 3.5 percent, down from 3.8.

-Blue-collar workers 7 percent, up from 6.9.

Most of the new jobs were in service industries, especially wholesale and retail trade, where employment increased by 80,000.

The department said employment in manufacturing declined by 50,000, with job losses in the food processing, paper products and rubber and plastics industries.

The industrial employment report is tabulated from different statistics than the survey on overall employment in the economy.

Consolidation Petitions Ok'd

The final two petitions needed to call an election on the possible consolidation of the Hermleigh and Snyder school districts have been turned in.

The first two petitions were submitted to Scurry County Judge Preston Wilson last week. The next two were circulated and presented to Fisher County Judge Dwight Lovett. Lovett then presented them to Wilson. All four have now been turned over the Scurry County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth for certification. The Hermleigh district extends into Fisher County.

Mrs. Ainsworth said this morning it appears the minimum number of certified voters signed each petition. She added, however, that she was having difficulty locating a certification form to officially verify the petitions. Formal petition certification will be delayed until such a form can be procured, she said.

The earliest possible date the consolidation issue can be voted on is the third Saturday in January, which falls on Jan. 20. Then a vote may be held in Snyder and Hermleigh, and in Fisher County for those people living in the Hermleigh School District but inside that county.

To be accepted, the measure must be approved by voters in both school districts. If it fails in either district, the proposal is defeated.

The election must be called in the respective counties by Wilson and Lovett.

If the consolidation is approved, it becomes effective as soon as the votes are formally canvassed by county commissioners.

The final two petitions were submitted to Lovett earlier this week. They were formally filed with the Fisher County Clerk the afternoon of August 30. The four petitions were filed with the Scurry County Clerk at 11:21 a.m. August 31.

The consolidation issue was raised in Hermleigh about two weeks ago when it was reported by school officials there that taxes in the Hermleigh School District were expected to increase.

The respective school boards in Snyder and Hermleigh are not involved. The petitions were circulated by citizen's groups.

Employers Assailed By George Meany

WASHINGTON (AP)- AFL-CIO President George Meany, in a stinging Labor Day assault on big business, charged today that greedy employers are resurrecting their "propaganda" campaign of the early 1900s to destroy unions because workers stand in the way of unlimited profits.

But in a contrasting Labor Day statement of conciliation, the head of the National Association of Manufacturers saluted the American workingman as "an indispensable partner and ally" in a private enterprise economy.

Ask Us

Q—Why can't Snyder have a bank window open on Saturday morning?

A—Some 12 or 15 years ago banks here began closing on Saturday and remaining open on Friday afternoons. They say this was in response to a trend toward a five-day work week and competition with area industry for competent personnel. It appears to have worked well, they report. Although banks in some areas, mostly metropolitan centers, are now going to 24-hour banking schedules, a local banker says he has not heard any requests for Saturday service here in several years. Consequently, they do not feel justified in paying overtime for Saturday service.

Last Holiday Of Summer Monday

The last holiday weekend of the summer season was to begin this afternoon for a number of area residents.

Monday, Labor Day, will be observed as a general holiday by government agencies and many business firms. However, some local business establishments will be open.

City, county, state and federal agencies will have their offices closed for the holiday, as will banks and savings and loan firms.

The Department of Public Safety Driver License office at 1912 37th St. will be closed for the holiday.

Area schools that have already started their fall terms will observe the holiday, also. Snyder Public Schools have not begun classes for fall, but teachers have been engaged in orinentation and in-service sessions this week. The faculty and staff will take off Monday for Labor Day and then be on hand Tuesday to greet pupils for the first day of classes.

The Snyder Daily News will publish its regular Monday edition, but plans to close in the early afternoon following the press run.

Labor Day is the last general holiday on the calendar until Thanksgiving.

Hearing Concluded...

Davis Denied Bond

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP)-For the second time in two years, millionaire industrialist Cullen Davis has been told he must stay in jail without bond while awaiting a felony trial - this time because prosecutors alleged he solicited the assassination of the judge hearing his divorce case.

State District Judge Arthur Tipps denied bond today immediately after both sides in the case presented final arguments.

The prosecutor stressed that all the evidence presented tended to corroborate the testimony of state's star witness, David McCrory.

Collins also said the video-tapes showed Davis closing his car trunk after a "deadly weapon with a silencer attached" had been placed therein. He stressed that the defense had put on no evidence that the tapes were inaccurate nor did it challenge the authenticity of Davis' voice on the tapes.

Collins said the defendant's case appeared to "point a finger at somebody else-anybody else."

Collins' closing statement came before presiding Judge Arthur Tipps, who said he would rule today on whether the millionaire industrialist can be freed on bond while he awaits trial on a charge of solicitation of capital murder.

The defense rested its case late Thursday after seven days of sensational testimony.

It was two years ago this week - Aug. 27, 1976 - that Davis, facing two charges of capital murder and two more for attempted murder, found himself in a courtroom not 50 feet away from where Tipps is presiding, listening to another judge order him held without bond.

That ruling began a 15-month-long bid for freedom that ended less than 10 months ago with an acquittal on a charge of capital murder in the shooting death of his 12-year-old stepdaughter.

Then and now, a cool mask of inscrutability hides the tempest some witnesses have said simmers inside the unassuming industrialist.

Davis, 44, was arrested again Aug. 20 by state and federal authorities. This time the charges are solicitation of capital murder and carrying an illegal weapon - a .22-caliber pistol with a silencer.

Prosecutors claim he hired a "hit man" to kill District Judge Joe Eidson, who has presided over the bitter, 4-year-old divorce suit filed by Davis' estranged wife, Priscilla. Eidson announced Tuesday he had withdrawn from the case, scheduled for trial Sept. 18.

Taped conversations, allegedly between Davis and police informant David McCrory; photos; a brief videotape; the pistol and silencer; and $25,000 in $100 bills are part of the evidence the state offered during the hearing in an attempt to keep Davis in jail.

FBI agent Ron Jannings said it was McCrory, a self-professed friend and employee of Davis, who was wired for sound during two meetings with the oilman at a restaurant parking lot last month.

pressure is still on

The meeting of Israeli prime minister Menachem Begin and Egypt's president Anwar Sadat with President Carter, scheduled to begin Sept. 5 at Camp David in Maryland's mountains near Washington, is billed as an exploratory session.

Purpose is to see if it is possible to get Begin and Sadat back on speaking terms. President Carter's role will be something more than a mediator, but not quite a principal. Sadat has been saying differences between his country and Israel will never be settled until the United States participates in negotiations as a full partner. His reasoning is understandable but from the American point of view the suggestion is impossible.

We have been down that road several times, beginning with World War I and continuing to the present time. It leaves us still smarting from a rescue effort in Vietnam to what appears to be permanent involvement in South Korea. Never mind the special circumstances in each instance. Getting involved is much simpler than getting out.

So it makes a lot of sense from this country's point of view to participate in peace negotiations in the Middle East as a friend of the principals. It is also an act of wisdom to make it clear from the beginning that the meeting isn't expected to produce a final settlement.

American people have ample reason for being apprehensive over possibilities of a plenary conference. It has been said that we win more wars and lose more peace parleys than any other nation of modern times. Supporting evidence is provided in recollections of Woodrow Wilson at Versailles, Roosevelt at Tehran and Yalta, Truman at Potsdam, Eisenhower at Paris and Henry Kissinger wherever and whenever he could get somebody to sign an agreement and have group pictures taken.

These considerations, however, by no means indicate that conferees will not be under pressure to do something more than meet and talk. Conditions make such a result completely unacceptable. In the present state of international affairs events won't wait while political leaders play with words and look to their own special fortunes.

The troubled Middle East is nearer crisis stage than at any time since World War II. Arabs are united as never before and are better armed than at any time in their history. Israel, even with U.S. backing, can't expect any more six-day victories. The Soviet Union dominates adjacent seaways. U.S. is more dependent than ever on Middle East oil.

If Camp David conferees think there is no urgency about settling their differences they will be courting disaster.

high priced freedom

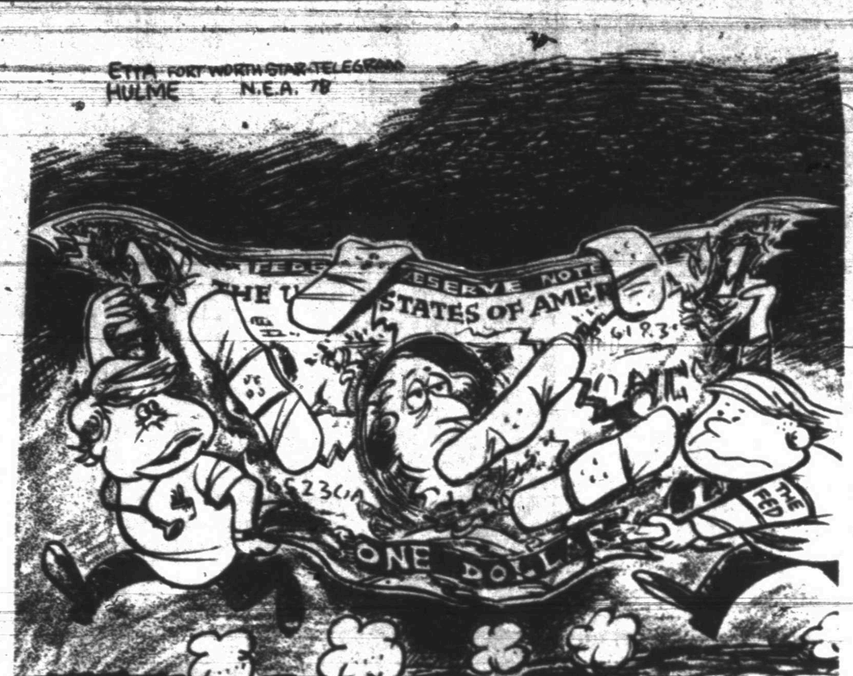

Motorcyclists may be winning the right to ride bareheaded if they so desire, but at a price.

Since 1976, when a federal law requiring drivers and riders to wear helmets was repealed, the motorcycle-accident death and injured toll has been rising.

Reporting on one study of 5,500 accidents, the McGraw-Hill publication Medical News notes that the incidence of fatal or serious head injuries was 63 percent lower among helmeted that for bareheaded cyclists.

Cyclists object primarily to the inconvenience of helmets, but the legal argument against mandated use focuses on infringement of freedom and an individual's right to decide whether to risk bareheadedness and possibly injury or death as a consequence.

The Medical News report points out that the 1977 death count in motorcycle accidents of 4,082, 770 more than the preceding year, is not the complete story. There are also the injured, and considering that the cost of a rehabilitation program for a parapalegic can come to $100,000 or more, usually borne by society, motorcyclists are not the only ones with a legitimate interest in the price their freedom may entail.

debt more popular

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)-Rapid inflation in the past few years has helped make the idea of borrowing money a much more respectable option than it used to be for many Americans.

Warnings of the dangers of debt abound in such prominent places as the Bible, Shakespeare's plays and the works of Ralph Waldo Emerson. Thomas Jefferson advised simply: "Never spend your money before you have it."

Such admonitions seem to carry little weight in this country today. In June of this year consumer credit outstanding reached $233 billion - or more than $1,000 per person.

The total debt expanded by $8 billion in the fourth quarter of 1977, $9 billion in the first quarter of this year, and $11 billion in the second quarter.

Demand for mortgages has remained strong even though the cost of those home-buying loans is averaging a record 9.5 percent-plus.

At the New York Stock Exchange, margin debt - the amount of money investors have borrowed from their brokers using stock holdings as collateral-stood at a record $11.19 billion as of July.

Analysts have said that margin debt totals have been swollen by so-called "non-purpose" borrowing - loans taken out for non-investment uses such as car purchases.

Experts differ sharply on whether such figures are cause for any great concern. But just about everybody agrees they reflect an acute public awareness that inflation favors the borrower.

If Person A borrows $100 from person B at 8 percent interest, A will owe B $108 a year from now. But if the cost of living rises at 8 percent over that time, then $108 next year will have theoretically the same buying power as $100 does now.

Thus A gets the use of the money for a year without giving up any buying power. And the government tips the scales further in his favor by allowing him a tax deduction on whatever interest he pays.

The lender, by contrast, must pay tax on the interest he receives, although it brings him no net gain in purchasing power.

All this casts in a new light the old precept that one should borrow only when absolutely necessary, and only as much as absolutely necessary. Borrowing still means taking on risk, but now there are inflation risks in pursuing a save-and-don't-borrow policy as well.

Of course, unrestrained debt is still a potential source of big financial trouble, either for an individual or an entire economy. If an economy ever experiences deflation - falling prices for goods and services - as the United States did in the Depression, debtors are among the first to feel the squeeze.

Interest rates are supposed to control borrowing by rising to whatever level is necessary to discourage those who really shouldn't be borrowing from seeking loans.

But current interest rates, high as they may appear, haven't shown much sign of exerting that kind of influence. Instead, inflationary expectations seem to be running so high that 9 percent or 10 percent money looks, to some people at least, like a bargain.

in washington

martha angle and robert walters

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Carter loyalists at the Democratic National Committee are taking no chances that the party's mid-term conference in Memphis this winter might turn into a rebellion against the president.

Party Chairman John White and the DNC hierarchy have rigged the agenda and rules of the Dec. 8-10 conclave so tightly that conference delegates will be all but precluded from mounting any significant challenge to Carter's leadership.

It is a risky maneuver, for the procedural manipulation has angered many liberal activists within the party who had hoped to force a showdown on the failure of both Carter and Congress to fulfill the promises of the 1976 Democratic platform.

But it will probably succeed, despite the grumbling now going on. The liberals, blacks, union leaders and others most disenchanted with Carter and Congress are not yet ready to declare open warfare.

They read the same opinion polls as the president, and they realize any major Memphis confrontation over issues would inevitably be viewed by the press as the start of a "dump Carter" movement within the Democratic Party.

"No one really wants the type of fight the Carter people are obviously afraid of," said one liberal organizer, "but the more they batten down the hatches, the more they run the risk that sheer frustration will precipitate the very fight they want to avoid."

The one issue that could ignite a liberal revolt against Carter at the Memphis conference is probably national health insurance, where the president's caution has already provoked an open split by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and his powerful allies in the United Auto Workers and other liberal unions.

But Kennedy, who insists he will not be a presidential candidate in 1980, cannot afford to stir the troubled waters, and the union people are not likely to lead the way for fear their efforts would be perceived as a draft-Kennedy gesture.

There will be 1,633 voting delegates to the mid-term conference, about 80 percent of whom will have been chosen by the end of September at various conventions and in primary elections. So far, liberal activists likely to have no great affection for Carter are picking up anywhere from 35 to 50 percent of the delegate seats.

But no matter how many potentialy hostile delegates wind up in Memphis, they will be hard pressed to create any real mischief. The first two days of the conference will be devoted to speeches, parties and workshops that have no power to submit resolutions to the floor of the convention.

Only on the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 10 - when most delegates will be anxious to head for the airport to catch the last planes out of Memphis - will the conference devote an hour or so to debating and voting on resolutions.

In order to reach the conference floor for discussion, however, proposed resolutions must be submitted to the DNC by Nov. 27 and be cleared by Dec. 1 by a majority of the DNC's executive committee - which is firmly controlled by Carter loyalist John White.

To qualify a resolution for conference consideration over the objections of the DNC executive committee, dissidents would have to submit petition signatures from 409 delegates to the DNC no later than Dec. 5.

That amounts to a four-day "window" for collecting and submitting signatures from delegates scattered all over the country - an almost insurmountable chore. As a practical matter, any group pushing a resolution that would meet objections from the DNC hierarchy would have to start gathering petition signatures long in advance of that four-day period.

It isn't likely to happen. Most party activists will be too busy with the November elections to organize for Memphis, even if they had the stomach for a fullscale confrontation with the Carter forces. Those unhappy with the president's performance will no doubt find informal outlets for their sentiments, but a fullscale floor fight will probably be forestalled.

letter to editor

To The Daily News:

Yes, we have the city sales tax. The only thing fair about taxes. Except for one thing. No one but the city got to vote in in. We in the country didn't even get to vote. But do you know who pays most of it? Most of the city people go out of town to buy their expensive clothes and such. So the town doesn't profit a lot. The thing it does is make everyone pay a tax where some people have never paid any. So I say lower some of the property and land tax and stick on more city tax.

It was stated in the questions and answers that taxes hadn't been raised until this year. Who ever writes that didn't pay taxes. Our school taxes were doubled last year and our land tax is outrageous. I ask how they valued the land. Was told on a soil sample base. You know you can have all the soil you want, but unless the Lord sends the rain, that soil won't grow one thing. If you don't believe it, just take a ride around. Look at the fields and pastures.

Each quarter as the city receives the rebate on the city sales tax it is always up and they try to pretend the economy is better. The thing is, everything has gone sky high. A $40 dress now sells for $80 and so on. Then this doubles the city sales tax.

I wish people could stop long enough to see what is really happening. There is not one thing fair about law and order, taxes, school or any such of the big things. Soon, before we know it, the federal government will run everything. Why don't we just save all the salary paying for county and state officials and let the federal government go ahead? That is what is happening.

Wake up Texas, Scurry County. Aren't we big enough to stand on our own? If we aren't communism is coming through the federal government to rule all of us.

I'm told through the Texas elected that most counties have charge of their own tax problems. Why, why don't you wake up to the fact that all people need to help carry the tax burden? They have to buy other things. Why not share in taxes? (I live in Scurry County).

Diets are a dime a dozen. That is no big secret. Anyone who has browsed through a bookstore or newstand since the Depression is undoubtably aware that preying on the desires of fat people is big business. It is something like advertising or selling razors. They just keep coming up with new ideas no matter how silly. A fat person will obviously swallow anything. (The crux of their problem in the first place.)

The first thing the hucksters in the fat industry must have done was meet with those foreigners in Paris and New York who dictate the fashions and conspired to convince anyone who could not count their ribs that they were overweight. The women bought it. Have you ever met a woman over 110 pounds who was not trying to reduce?

And the diets run the gamut. An entire book has been written telling you that not eating anything is the way to lose weight. (Makes sense). Fasting is both safe and fun for most people, the book claims. A recent headline on one of the "untold story" tabloids boasts of a diet that lets you eat as much as you want six times a day.

Unfortunately most people are not suited for the rigors of fasting and the headlines on the front of the tabloids seldom match the stories inside.

One of last year's popular diets consisted of drinking liquid protein. It killed a few people but they did lose weight, still losing weight I'm sure. The fad diets begin by telling you to advoid fad diets and to see your doctor before going on any diet, knowing darn well that you won't. Then they proceed with good sounding but near meaningless phrases like, "scientifically tested and medically approved."

One of the diets with a "revolutionary new break through" simply advocated drinking grapefruit juice. It was somehow given the property of burning up the calories of other foods if consumed at the right times and often enough. But Dr. Lawrence Lamb who writes a syndicated column published in this newspaper nixes the idea. He says that if you drink grapefruit juice in addition to your meals you simply add that many calories to your problem.

Maybe one of these days people will wise up to the quacks and stage a boycott on all new diets. Then the fools who think up the idiotic things can start losing weight themselves on one of the oldest diets in the world, the unemployment diet.

I have a little piece of costume jewelry I wear from time to time. It's a little button that reads, "If man's home is his castle... let him clean it."

I didn't flaunt that little message back in the days when I was a full-time serf and mother. Face it, I had whole days to devote to dust and static electricity on socks, but as time went on things in the castle began to change.

I became a three-time-a-week court jestor for a newspaper syndicate, took on a few more responsible things in the community, and the appearance of three children took a bite out of my long lunch hours.

Most men recognize the need to share some of the domesticity. Others refuse to believe that housework is an equal opportunity employer.

With the opening of school at hand when everything gets crazy, I've made out a manual for husbands who might like to pitch in.

HOW TO OPERATE CHILDREN: Push alarm button on the clock the night before to manual. Set three inches from child's ear. It will activate child at 7:00 who will rush around the house like an out-of-control garden hose.

To keep child in running order, fill with food six times a day and have regular checkup. (You... not the children.)

MATHEMATICAL FORMULA FOR GETTING FIVE PEOPLE AROUND THE TABLE AT THE SAME TIME FOR DINNER: As soon as one meal is finished, start to thaw for the next one. Gauge ½ pound meat per person, one potato and two vegetables, subtracting one potato for dieters, adding an extra portion of meat for football hopeful, and trying to anticipate who ate soft pretzels on the way home from school or who had a birthday at the office. Use six o'clock as fail-safe time for which there is no return, being careful to calculate interstate traffic on exit 16, overtime, ride home from friend's house and late practice.

KNOW YOUR LAUNDRY: Clothes in the dirty clothes hamper are not dirty - only discarded. Clothes on the floor have not been discarded, but are only dirty. Clothes on the bed are not dirty and not discarded - only in limbo. Clothes that are being worn are definitely dirty.

JOIN SOMETHING. It may not help you with your fustrations, your anxieties, your loneliness, your boredom, nor will it clean your oven. But they give you little buttons to wear to make you laugh once in awhile.

Jealousy Curber Is Hard To Find

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1978 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 28 and my husband is 33. We've been married for six years, and our life would be beautiful if it weren't for his jealousy, which is so intense it borders on insanity!

He has tried everything from psychiatry to prayer meetings, but nothing has helped.

I have never given him any cause to doubt me, but for some reason he doesn't trust me out of his sight. The only thing I can think of that would give him complete peace of mind is a chastity belt!

Will you please tell me where I can get one? I know they haven't been used since the Middle Ages, but there must be one around somewhere. Or perhaps someone who works in metals could make one for me. Whatever the price, it will be worth it.

Please rush your answer to me. This is no joke.

SYLVIA IN GREENWICH

DEAR SYLVIA: The only chastity belts I have ever seen are in museums. But if there are any around for sale, or if I hear of a metalsmith who is willing to fashion one for you, I'll let you know.

DEAR ABBY: I am 17 and overweight, but everyone tells me I have a pretty face. I've had only two dates in my life, and you just can't imagine how much I'd like to have a boyfriend.

One night at a school hop one of the most popular boys in school took an interest in me. I was in heaven. He offered to take me home and we parked on the way and he kissed me. It was wonderful. We kissed a lot, and finally I got scared and made him stop.

He said he wanted to see me again, but next time he didn't intend to stop at a kiss. He told me to get wise, that any fat girl can be popular if she will go all the way. I was shocked and asked him to take me right home.

He told me to think it over and call him when I changed my mind. That was two months ago, and I have been thinking it over. I don't want to be a bad girl, but I want a boyfriend. Should I pay the price?

FAT AND LONELY

DEAR FAT: The price might be more than you're prepared to pay. That boy wants to use you. "Fat girls can be popular," he says, "if they will go all the way."

Brilliant! So can THIN girls, with the kind of boys who use girls, and then go on to fresher game.

He is not for you. And neither is any boy who feeds you that kind of line.

(P.S. Please look into Overeaters Anonymous. They're terrific for girls with your problem.)

DEAR ABBY: My girlfriend went to a bridal shower that was held in the home of another girl she barely knew.

While she was there, someone stole $50 from her coat pocket. That was all the money she had. (I've lent her some money so she can buy groceries this week.)

When my friend told her hostess that she had been ripped off, all the hostess did was say she was very sorry.

Don't you think the hostess should have offered to replace the money?

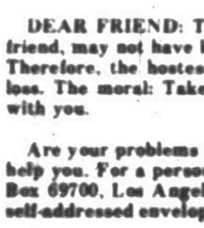

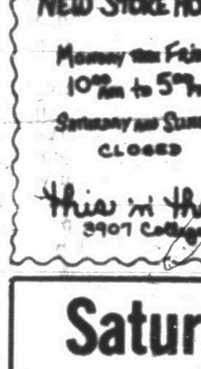

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: The hostess, in giving a shower for a friend, may not have known all the girls her friend invited. Therefore, the hostess could hardly be held liable for the loss. The moral: Take no chances; always keep your cash with you.

Are your problems too heavy to handle alone? Let Abby help you. For a personal, unpublished reply, write: Abby: Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. 90069. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Keep It Simple, Keep Cost Down

HOUSTON (AP) - When Beth and Jack, and Kathy and Mark, announced their engagements, their wedding plans sounded very similar.

Both couples were to be married in a church with a reception following. Both girls planned long wedding gowns, invitations, music, florists and photographers were hired and cakes ordered.

Beth and Jack's wedding cost $700. But when Kathy and Mark said "I do," it cost Kathy's dad $5,000. What made the difference?

"It was not any one thing that made the difference, although the biggest cost in both weddings was the reception," said Betty Crager, a professional planner who coordinated both weddings. "In nearly every phase of the wedding plans, Beth chose to keep it simple and watch the budget."

When cost is a factor in planning a wedding, Ms. Crager has these suggestions for judicious savings:

-Invitations: Consider handwriting invitations to save printing costs. For an engraved look consider thermography - much less expensive than engraving looks very similar.

-Photograph: Don't skimp on quality, but do be sure you understand separate charges for extra prints, an album, a portrait, etc.

-Flowers: Think greenery and simple flowers like daisies and other garden varieties to cut costs.

-Reception: The reception is the single largest cost in a wedding and the time and place indicate how lavish the food and beverage choice should be. The church hall is usually the least expensive place to hold the reception and if the bride eliminates alcoholic beverages it greatly reduces the per-guest cost.

A morning wedding almost requires a brunch or light lunch type of menu for the reception. Early afternoon hours between 2 and 4 p.m. permit the bride to serve champagne and wedding cake and tea sandwiches. Evening weddings are very social and seem to promote the notion that you will be serving something more than cake.

The type of wedding brides prefer, says Ms. Crager, often depends upon their age.

The 19-to 23-year-old: She and her parents usually want a traditional church wedding. Her parents live in the same city and it is an important social event for them and their friends.

The 25- to 30-year-old bride: She is a career woman, whose family usually lives in another city. She and the groom invite their friends and are concerned with making their wedding simple and more personal. Often the bride pays for this wedding or she splits the cost with her parents or the groom.

The 30- to 50-year-old: She is the divorced bride who wants a church wedding either because she never had one or because she wants an opportunity to get her children and friends involved in the marriage ceremony. Even without orange blossoms and lace, this can be a lovely wedding and a reception where everyone knows one another and has a good time.

Ms. Crager formed Events, Etc., in Houston after taking a course on handling special events in Washington, D.C., from White House social secretary Gretchen Posten. She considers herself a professional mother-of-the-bride, helping brides to sort out the good from the gaudy among purveyors of flowers, food and photos.

"All brides are beautiful," she says, "but not brave. They let well-meaning friends complicate their wedding plans with ideas that turn out to be costly an needless. I try to pare these ideas down to size and help brides select the pomp to suit their circumstances."

August has nearly caught up with June as the most popular wedding month, says Ms. Crager, who notes these current trends:

-Paper hearts or tissue paper rose petals have nearly replaced throwing rice at the daparting couple.

-Today's brides are wearing their mother's wedding gowns, both as a tradition and to save the cost of a new gown.

-Popular songs like "You Light Up My Live" are being used instead of "O Promise Me" for wedding music.

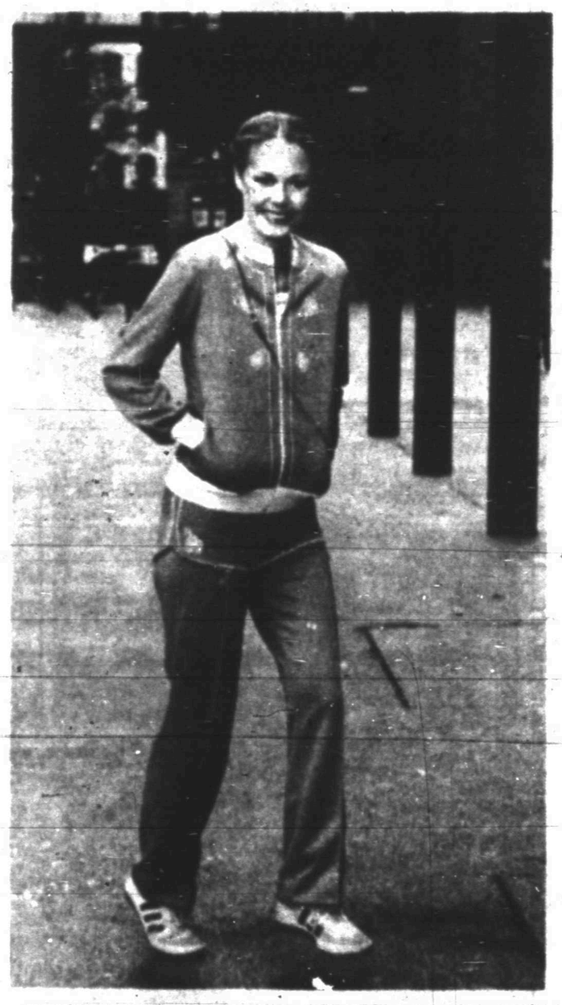

-Many couples are writing their own wedding vows.

-Wedding cakes, tiered or flat, are being decorated with fresh flowers.

-Bare-foot-in-the-park weddings are popular with young couples, says Ms. Crager, and can be quite lovely.

FINAL INSPECTION-Wedding consultant Betty Crager of Houston checks final details before recent marriage of Mary Ann Snell of Kermit Keeling in Houston.

EXERCISING FASHION SENSE-The layering trend reaches the jogger this fall, with shorts worn over long Acrilan pants and a loose, comfortable jacket topping a skinny T-shirt. (Loomtogs Tennis Whites, Wear-Dated by Monsanto.)

It didn't take South any time at all to decide to rise with dummy's ace of diamonds. He wasn't going to throw away his nice slam at trick one and it looked as if he had better ways to get rid of the losing diamond before letting a defender in with the ace of trumps.

South started with the clubs. All he needed would be to have both opponents follow three times, but East stuck the four of spades on the third club and South had to overruff.

South entered dummy with the ace of hearts and led dummy's last club. This time East was ready with the five of trumps. South had to overruff again and still hadn't been able to get rid of his losing diamond.

Fortunately, South had another string to his bow. He hadn't been able to jettison his one diamond. Maybe he could handle dummy's three.

So South proceeded to cash the king, queen and jack of hearts while discarding dummy's three, five and six of diamonds.

East was able to ruff the last one, but he had to use his ace of trumps for that purpose and South had his 12 tricks.

Ask the Experts

A California reader wants to know if we have ever seen a 13-card suit in actual play.

No, we haven't even seen a 12-card suit but maybe the next time we play we will run into one. We have seen a couple of 11-card suits.

Body May Be Linked To Cycle Gang Slayings

BRYAN, Texas (AP)-Authorities who discovered the partially decomposed body of a man on a southeast Texas riverbank are investigating the possibility that the death is linked to the slayings of two motorcycle gang members in different parts of the state Sunday.

The latest body was found Thursday along the Navasota River about 15 miles southeast of Bryan. The victim's hands were tied behind his back.

Brazos County officials identified the body early today as that of Douglas Allen Jones, 22, of Houston. The remains were sent to Dallas for an autopsy.

A tipster who led police to the body said he witnessed the death, and claimed it was connected to the shooting deaths in Fort Worth and Madisonville of members of opposing motorcycle clubs.

But Sheriff Bobby Yeager, who questioned the informant several hours after the body was recovered, declined to discuss the man's statement.

"We want to do some more checking on his story and his background," said Yeager.

"We're pretty sure Jones was not an active member of a motorcycle gang, but we think he was associating with the members. He just hadn't got his colors - he wasn't a true blue 100 percent member," the sheriff said. "We don't know at this point whether he was trying to become a member or was a former member or what."

Yeager said three police officers from Houston were in Bryan to assist in the investigation.

Earlier in the day the man telephoned Houston television station KTRK-TV and told news producer John Montgomery he witnessed a murder Sunday. He said the man killed was a member of motorcycle club who had been telling Houston police there would be a gang war between two bike clubs, the "Bandidos," and the "Banshees."

The president of the Fort Worth chapter of the "Bandidos" motorcycle club was shot six times and killed Sunday in Fort Worth as he sat on his bike at a traffic light. Eight hours later two members of the "Banshees" club were shot on Interstate 45 near Madisonville. One was killed and the other critically wounded.

Followup Reported On Area Mishap

In a followup report of last week's fatal traffic accident, investigating highway patrolmen report a vehicle driven by Ronnie Williamson was apparently traveling west in the eastbound lane along Highway 180 when the collision occurred with the Donny Franks vehicle that was going east on the highway.

Kenneth Lester Parker, 23, of Snyder, was killed in the two-vehicle mishap.

Donny Franks, 28, is listed in good condition at Cogdell Memorial Hospital and Becky Franks, 16, is listed in fair condition at the hospital. Williamson was transferred to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock shortly after the wreck.

The wreck took place about 12:45 a.m., Aug. 25 approximately 3.8 miles west of Snyder.

Parker was the fourth traffic fatality of the year in Scurry County.

RSVP To Aid Four Agencies

Members of the Retired Senior Volunteer program have announced that they will sell four quilts made by members, with proceeds going to four local organizations.

They will be selling tickets the next four Saturdays, beginning tomorrow, at Safeway and TG&Y.

The money they raise will go to the Goodfellows, the Multiple Sclerosis Society, the Snyder Child Day Care Center and The Scurry County Association for the Retarded.

Firemen Called

A pickup truck fire was doused by city firefighters Thursday.

The fire occurred in a 1976 Ford owned by the Schlumberger Co and was reported at 1:45 p.m. It occurred at the intersection of 25th St. and Ave. T.

No damage reports were immediately available.

OBITUARIES

Mawhorter

WINCHESTER, Tenn.-Mrs. Sarah Ann Mawhorter, 54, wife of a former manager of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, was fatally injured Thursday in a traffic accident near here. She was dead on arrival at the Franklin County Hospital.

Funeral service has been set for 10 a.m. Saturday in the Watson Funeral Home Chapel in Winchester. The Rev. Eugene Barrett will officiate and burial will be in the Montgomery Cemetery at Cowan, Tenn.

She is survived by her husband, Karl Mawhorter, who was community development director for the City of Snyder in the late sixties and then became Chamber of Commerce manager in 1968. He headed the chamber here some two years.

Also surviving are three daughters, Mrs. James Taylor Stewart Jr. of Hatterville, Ohio, Mrs. Clarence Rayford Pharr Jr. of Martinsburg, W.Va., and Mrs. Stephen Gable Hawley of Quito, Ecuador; a sister, Mrs. B.J. Chuppa of Miami Beach; and three grandchildren.

Fisher Youths Are Graduated

ROBY-Three Fisher County youths moved up a rung on the educational ladder during the month of August.

Garry Wester, a 1974 graduate of Rotan High School and a 1976 graduate of Western Texas College in Snyder received a bachelor of science degree in physical education and an all levels teaching certificate from Angelo State University in San Angelo.

Texas State Technical Institute in Sweetwater graduated Linda McKee of Roby in technical office training and Reynaldo Garza of Rotan in air conditioning and refrigeration.

Choirs Resume Rehearsals Here

The co-operative children's choirs of four local churches have scheduled their first rehearsal of the 1978-79 season for Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 6. The children in Kindergarten, grades 1 and 2 will meet at 3 p.m. and the children in grades 3, 4, 5, and 6 will meet at 4 p.m.

Rehearsals will be held at the First Christian Church on 37th Street and will be under the leadership of Joan Marble and Pearl Wheeler. The four sponsoring churches are Trinity Methodist, First Presbyterian, Grace Lutheran, and First Christian.

Any children, ages 5-12, who are not already involved in a church choir are invited to become members of the Children's Co-op Choir by attending the first rehearsal.

Witnesses Set Assembly At Lubbock

Jehovah's Witnesses from 35 congregations throughout West Texas and Southeast New Mexico will assemble Saturday and Sunday in Memorial Civic Center in Lubbock.

Some 2800 delegates are expected to attend the two-day meet. The convention theme will be "Rendering Sacred Service with Loyalty."

The sessions are designed to increase understanding and appreciation of the Scriptures and to aid Witnesses in using such knowledge in service to God and their fellow man.

W.S. Brandozzi, District Director and representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society of Brooklyn, N.Y., will present the 2 P.M. Sunday address entitled, "Meeting the Test of Christian Loyalty."

All sessions are free and are open to the public.

Bob Bergland Gets Bargain

WASHINGTON (AP) - Even the Secretary of Agriculture doesn't know about every bargain on the farm.

Or at least Bob Bergland didn't Thursday when he bought tomatoes at an open-air market set up near the Agriculture Department to promote farmer-to-consumer marketing.

Bergland picked up $17 worth of fruits and vegetables. But he ran into an arguement when he told Mrs. Warren Welsh he wanted "about half a bag" of tomatoes.

A few more, he soon learned, and the charge would be five pounds for $1. The per-pound price was 25 cents, so Bergland paid up. "My wife sent money along this morning so I'm well-heeled," he said.

Rev. Peek Is Ordained

ROTAN-Bobby Peek has been ordained as pastor of the Elm St. Baptist Church in Pecos. Rev. Peek is a former resident of Rotan. His wife, the former Barbara Howell is a native of Snyder and graduated from Rotan High School in 1976.

Among those present at the ordination were Rev. Peek's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Freeman of Snyder; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E.M. Nolen of Rotan and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H.N. Howell of Seymour.

Ford Motor Co. was incorporated and sold its first car in 1903.

August Food Prices Decrease

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

August brought a little bit of relief to consumers struggling to make both ends meet at the grocery store, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows. The cost of a selected list of products dropped by an average of more than 1 percent at the stores surveyed.

The AP drew up a random list of 15 commonly purchased food and nonfood items, checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and has rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list at the end of November 1977 because the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

The latest survey showed general declines in regular prices last month as well as a number of special sales. In Providence, R.I., for example, the regular price of coffee at the checklist store declined from $3.05 a pound at the start of August to $2.95 a pound today. Shoppers taking advantage of a pre-Labor Day sale at the store could buy coffee for $2.19 a pound.

The AP found that the marketbasket total increased at the checklist store in five cities during August, up an average of 1.9 percent. The bill decreased in eight cities - including Providence - down an average of 3.1 percent.

On an overall basis, the marketbasket bill at the 13 checklist stores was 1.2 percent lower at the start of September than it was a month earlier. During July, in contrast, the marketbasket bill rose an average of half a percent.

The August decrease was not enough to offset earlier rises in food costs. Comparing today's prices to those at the start of 1978, the AP found the marketbasket bill at the checklist stores had increased an average of 5.1 percent.

The ups and downs of retail grocery prices this year generally can be traced to ups and downs in supplies. Beef prices, for example, rose sharply because there fewer cattle came to market. Coffee prices dropped because of an abundant supply of green beans.

No attempt was made to weigh the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery out-lay each item represents.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar. The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, Salt Lake City and Seattle.

State Spends $9,000 To Collect Fee Of $23

By SUSAN STOLER
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Only three persons bought egg broker licenses in 1977, but it cost the state an estimated $9,000 to collect and account for the $23 raised from the fees.

Under a House subcommittee recommendation made Thursday, the broker fee and 88 others would go into the state's general fund instead of special accounts credited to various agencies.

The savings could total $801,000 for the state, but would cost certain departments up to $48,000 in annual revenue.

"We have to have a breaking point," said Chairman Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, of the House Appropriations Committee's fee and license income subcommittee.

"Based on data gathered to date, any fund generating less than $9,000 is below the average net revenue producing point for the state," said a Legislative Budget Board report prepared for the subcommittee.

Bill Wells, LBB assistant director, said his staff had studied fees collected by seven state agencies.

An agency's average fund management cost is approximately $7,100, the staff report said. In addition, the state comptroller's office spends $1,900 on accounting and other management of each fund.

Hollowell said exceptions to the recommendation would be unique fees whose continuance would be justified by special circumstances.

The LBB studied fees collected by the parks and wildlife department, secretary of state, highway department, health department, agriculture department, insurance board, public safety department and the railroad commission.

Among the less productive fees are beaver and otter trapping licenses, $50; fish farm vehicle license $145; apiary brand registration fees, $27; sweet potato inspection fees, $230; livestock tatoo mark registration fee, $10; and piston displacement fees, $6.

In contrast, drivers' license fees brought in $18 million - more revenue than any other license charge collected by the seven agencies studied.

County Court Pleas Heard

Five pleas have been entered in county court.

Thursday, Clarence Milton Garrett, Loomis Lane Allen, and Billy Ray Freeman were sentenced on charges of driving while intoxicated. They pleaded guilty.

Garrett and Freeman both received a $200 fine and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months. Allen was handed a $200 fine and a three-day jail term.

Wednesday, Adam Rodriguez Sosa and Broadrick Steven Mark were sentenced.

Sosa pleaded guilty to a charge of fleeing to elude and was assessed a $150 fine.

Mark pleaded no contest to a charge of evading arrest. He received a $300 fine, and a 30-day jail term, probated for six months.

Toast Juice Not Enough

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP)-One "Mayflower Maiden" brought her own juice - grape - to toast city workers when they put up a traffic light near her home.

But Virginia Electric & Power Co. didn't come through with its juice until Mrs. Douglas Barnes complained one more time.

Mrs. Barnes and her friends, the "Mayflower Maidens" of the Mayflower Apartments, sought the traffic light for 15 years.

But the light didn't work, so there was one more call to make before the elderly women could safely cross busy Pacific Avenue.

Days after her grape juice toast, Mrs. Barnes called the electric company. "When are you going to turn on the juice?" she asked.

That was enough. Wednesday, the light was on.

Heartache of heartburn?

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Would you be kind enough to give me some information on heartburn? What is it? What causes it? How does one avoid it? Is it connected to heart problems — that is heart attacks or heart failure or an aneurysm?

DEAR READER — It's a very poor term. It doesn't have anything at all to do with the heart. It's burning and irritation in the lower part of the esophagus — the food tube that passes from the back of the throat to the stomach.

A common cause for irritation of the lower esophagus is regurgitation of the acid contents of the stomach into the lower esophagus, often associated with problems of hiatal hernia — a rupture of a small portion of the stomach through an enlarged hole in the diaphragm.

The hernia affects the normal closure mechanism at the top of the stomach and allows the regurgitation of the acid contents in the stomach. It commonly produces a burning pain just at the bottom part of the breast bone. This irritation may be relieved with milk or eating.

Factors which contribute to "heartburn" include cigarette smoking, excess coffee drinking and spicy foods. Anyone who has such a symptom deserves to have a complete medical examination to be certain what the cause is.

To help avoid the problem of leakage of the stomach contents into the lower esophagus you should avoid eating large meals, don't lie down immediately after eating and follow the routine that we usually prescribe for people with a hiatal hernia.

To help you with this matter I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-8, Hiatal Hernia, Esophageal Reflux. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I have a friend who is going from doctor to doctor and taking Flagyl periodically. I have heard that this medicine cannot be taken over and over like aspirin.

The doctors she goes to tell her she has Trichomonas but have not suggested treating her husband. I would like for you to comment in your column about this disease. I'm quite worried about my frfend and feel she does need help. She will not listen to me but then why should she — I'm not a doctor. I hope you'll particularly tell her why this infection keeps recurring after treatment.

DEAR READER — Trichomonas is one of the most common infections that women have and is commonly transmitted by sexual activity. It is caused by a parasite which is classed as a protozoa, meaning it is somewhat like an ameba. This particular organism infects both the male and the female and it may persist in the urinary tract as well as in the lower digestive tract. Usually when it occurs in a couple both the male and the female have the disease.

If the doctor treats the female with Flagyl — which is a very good and usually effective treatment — and doesn't treat the male, the woman simply gets reinfected as soon as her body is susceptible to another infection.

About the only way this ping pong effect can be eliminated is for both sexual partners to be treated simultaneously until the parasitic infection is eliminated from both individuals.

They Got A Lonely Feeling

ARLINGTON (AP)-They should have known better. The officials of Arlington, that is.

The city held a public hearing recently to try to generate interest in future public hearings which will determine how to spend $1 million in federal funds.

"The staff made its presentation and looked around for citizens to add to the presentation or comment on it," said city spokesman Gene Randall.

Rangers, Astros Take A Night's Rest...

Yankees Edge Closer To Red Sox

By The Associated Press

While the Red Sox relaxed on an off-day and enjoyed their standing atop the American League East, their four pursuers worked at cutting into Boston's lead.

Three of the chasers would have been better off resting Thursday.

Only the New York Yankees were able to gain any ground, shaving Boston's margin to 6½ games with a 6-2 verdict over Baltimore. The Orioles fell 12 games off the pace while third-place Milwaukee split a pair with Cleveland, winning 1-0 then losing 12-6, and dropped 8½ games out. Detroit lost to Minnesota 4-1 and is fourth, 11 back.

"There's going to be a pennant race," said Yankees out-fielder Lou Piniella, who homered and singled in New York's seventh consecutive victory and 12th in the last 15 games. "It's going to tough, no question. But if we play well, we've got plenty of time."

The Yankees have 31 games left - seven against Boston - while the Red Sox have 30 to play.

The 6½-game deficit is the closest New York has come since Aug. 11.

Brewers 1-6, Indians 0-12

Milwaukee's Mike Caldwell, 17-8, threw a six-hitter to out-duel Mike Paxton, who had a three-hitter as the Brewers won the opener. Ben Oglivie's second-inning home run provided the scoring.

"I've been consistent with my pitches," said Caldwell. "I haven't thrown a lot of hanging breaking balls. I've got 17 victories with a month to go. If my arm stays healthy, there's no reason I won't win 20."

"The guy pitched well," said Paxton, 9-8, of Caldwell.

"That's life. It was a good effort but if you don't win it doesn't mean anything, at least to me it doesn't."

Cleveland belted out 17 hits to snap a 27-inning scoreless string in the nightcap. Andre Thornton had a three-run homer, his 27th, and Ron Pruitt also homered.

The Indians sent 11 men to the plate in the fourth, when they scored five runs.

Twins 4, Tigers 1

Home runs by Rich Chiles and Glenn Adams and solid relief pitching by Mike Marshall, who picked up his 17th save, led the Twins to victory.

Chiles' blast, a solo shot in the fifth, bounced off the upper-deck facing in right-center field at Tiger Stadium. Adams followed Roy Smalley's double in the seventh with a shot into the upper deck in right.

Geoff Zahn, 10-13, carried a three-hitter into the seventh when the Tigers put together three hits for their run. Marshall came on with men on second and third and two out and snuffed the rally, then easily retired the Tigers the rest of the way.

Padres 6, Expos 1

Jerry Turner's two RBI - on a first-inning single and a third-inning double - helped San Diego snap a three-game losing streak and extend Montreal's losing string to five games.

Right-hander Eric Rasmussen, 14-10, shut out the Expos for five innings before needing relief help with two out in the sixth from Mark Lee. The victory was Rasmussen's third this year over Montreal. Expos starter Woody Fryman, 7-9, took the loss.

Judge Orders Umpires Back

PHILADELPHIA (AP)- A federal judge has ordered major league baseball umpires to remain on the job while lawyers try to untangle a complicated legal rhubarb.

The umpires staged a one-day walkout Aug. 25 after charging both the American and National leagues with unfair labor practices.

The stoppage spread to 13 major league cities before U.S. District Court Judge Joseph L. McGlynn Jr. ordered the officials back to work, replacing college and retired professional umps who had filled in.

Thursday, the judge extended his temporary restraining order indefinitely, giving both sides until Sept. 15 to file legal briefs which will clarify their arguments.

That came after a two-day hearing on a league motion for a temporary injunction, aimed at keeping the umpires on the field once the temporary restraining order expires Sept. 4.

Richie Phillips, attorney for the 52-member Major League Umpires Association, had made it clear the arbiters would resume the strike if and when injunction expired.

The dispute, brewing since spring, came to a head Aug. 16 when the association sent an eight-page telegram to AL President Lee MacPhail and NL President Chub Feeney demanding 21 improvements in a contract that doesn't expire until 1981.

The demands included cost-of-living benefits, job and union security and adjustments in travel expenses.

The umps contend the five-year agreement, which contains a no-strike clause, is not binding because association officials never signed it, nor gave their attorney authority to, and because it does not cover all the mandatory subjects of collective bargaining. Agreement was reached March 1, 1977.

Cats Still Need Extra Tuning, Cooper Shows

ABILENE--Snyder concluded it's final varsity football scrimmage here last night, finding the going tough against a top District 5-AAA contender, Abilene Cooper.

"We learned some things and saw some things we hadn't seen before," relayed Tiger Coach Mike Jenkins, who praised the abilities of the Cooper team.

"At times we ran at them well and there were times when our defense gang tackled real well. Consistancy is the main thing. We'll have to get more consistant."

Snyder's passing game, a primary area to focus on going into the scrimmage, did not fair quite as well as was hoped, and according to Jenkins, it will remain as a major topic to study.

"We moved the ball better when we ran right at them," said the coach. "But not as consistantly as we're going to have to get. Our passing game was a little better too," he added, comparing Thursday's scrimmage with the one last week against Fort Stockton. "And we'll have to work on that, too, both passing and receiving."

Basically however, Snyder got what information it needed from scrimmaging the two powerhouses.

"That's what we wanted, to see how far along we were. And, we wanted to play good people. We got to look at everybody for a long time.

"When we start actual game preparations we'll eliminate some of the problems we've been having. We'll do some things against (Midland) Lee that we haven't done during the scrimmages, such as run a few different plays and defense. We'll have scouted them and learned more about them, too. This (the scrimmage) was just like a workout for us. We didn't scout Abilene Cooper or anything."

Snyder opens the regular season Sept. 8 in Midland, a District 5-AAA opponent which returns two offensive starters and four defensive starters from a 5-5 season in 1977.

"We'll prepare for a win Friday night," said Jenkins. "Our plus-plus has been our effort. It's been super. And with our game preparations, we'll should look more polished."

A starting lineup for Friday's game will be released next week.

Abilene Cooper bettered the Tigers yesterday, five touchdowns to one.

New Champ

THE WOODLANDS, Texas (AP)-Tracy Caulkins, 15, of Nashville, Tenn., won more individual events in one national AAU swim competition than any other person. Because of a rule change, swimmers this year could enter five individual events instead of four.

Turnbull's Back...

Rains Plague U.S. Open...

NEW YORK (AP)-Suddenly Wendy Turnbull is a celebrity - and she loves it.

"It's a lot more fun this way," said the 25-year-old Australian, who burst into the upper ranks of women's tennis by beating Rosie Casals, Virginia Wade and Martina Navratilova in last year's U.S. Open before bowing to Chris Evert in the finals.

"When I went back to Australia I got a lot of publicity. And when I won the Wimbledon doubles this year they showed it live on Australian TV. People had to stay up till 3 a.m. to watch me play. Isn't that great?"

Turnbull, seeded fourth this year, defeated Katja Ebbinghaus of West Germany 6-2, 7-5 Thursday in a first-round women's singles match at the U.S. Open on a day in which rain played havoc with the program, forcing postponement of two-thirds of the scheduled matches.

Before the rains came, 15th-seeded John McEnroe advanced to the third round in men's singles by defeating Jaime Fillol of Chile 6-4, 6-7, 6-1, while in women's first-round matches sixth-seeded Dianne Fromholtz of Australia beat Kathy Harter 6-1, 6-4 and seventh-seeded Betty Stove of the Netherlands defeated Terry Holladay 6-3, 6-2.

...And British Golf Meet, Too...

ENDICOTT, N.Y. (AP)- Lee Trevino and 149 other professional golfers tried again today to start the $225,000 BC Open Golf Tournament.

Constant rains drenched the Em Joie Golf Club course Thursday and postponed the opening round. Tournament officials decided to run the event today through Labor Day on the 6,903-yard, par-71 course.

Last year's runner-up, Lee Elder, withdrew from the tournament because of the death of a close friend.

Other pretournament favorites include U.S. Open champion Andy North, PGA champion John Mahaffey and the last year's BC Open winner, Gil Morgan.

The delay could boost attendance for the four-day tournament, which will now end on a holiday, officials said.

"We are used to any disaster," said Alex Alexander, the tournament director. "We're not concerned at all. We can't play God. We'll handle any situation and we'll handle this."

The weather was expected to clear over the area by this morning.

The winner of this tournament, named after a cartoon strip, will take home $45,000.

Lopez Tees Rail Charity

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)-Nancy Lopez, top money-winner on the woman's golf tour so far this year, took on Hollis Stacy today in the Rail Charity Golf Classic, which Stacy won last year with a record 17-under-par 271.

Lopez, returning after a two-week absence from the tour, has been bothered by a shoulder strain, but showed up early this week to practice.

She has won more than $150,000 on the tour this year, and said she now feels fine.

Stacy last year defeated runnerup Betty Burfeindt by 9 strokes, and her 271 set a 72-hole record for the Ladies Professional Golf Association.

She indicated she didn't expect to match that performance, saying: "The course is tougher, I don't think anybody is going to touch 17 under."

Eighty-five women entered the tournament, which was to wind up Monday. They will compete for $100,000 in prize money.

Burfeindt, who last weekend shared sixth place with Stacy and Pat Meyers at the Patty Berg Classic in St. Paul, Minn., is back to try again.

COMING SUNDAY--Snyder High School volleyball coach Joyce Elrod is looking forward to the upcoming season with enthusiasm and optimism. The Tigers ripped through District 3-3A last year, and if that kind of spirit remains, it could be another banner year for the local varsity team. Picks Houston, Dallas To Win...

Bock Ballots The Big Leagues

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Lydell Mitchell now is in San Diego, O.J. Simpson now is in San Francisco and George Allen, last seen in Los Angeles, now is in limbo.

Presenting the National Football League's new look for 1978.

Half of the 14 National Conference teams are equipped with new coaches and one, the Los Angeles Rams, set a record by hiring a new bench boss - Allen - and then firing him before he could do very much damage. The American Conference just about stood pat with only three new coaches but some significant player moves including the transfer of Mitchell from Baltimore to the Chargers and the departure of Simpson from Buffalo to the 49ers.

And how will all the shuffling affect things? Not much, really. Don't look for any instant changes this season, except in this corner where the crystal ball seems much clearer than it has been before. And so, bravely plunging ahead, here is how the first weekend looks from here.

N.Y. Giants 14, Tampa Bay 10

The Giants do it with defense. Tampa Bay's attack doesn't scare anybody, even with two straight victories at the end of last season. They did remember, lose 26 straight, mostly on merit, before that.

Dallas 21, Baltimore 7

Dallas opens defense of its World Championship. The Colts won't be easy pickin's although the absence of Lydell Mitchell and Bert Jones makes the task somewhat simpler for that awesome Cowboy defense.

San Diego 27, Seattle 14

The Chargers are all charged up over the addition of Mr. Mitchell to their backfield and the chance to try out their souped up attack on Seattle's sorry defense.

Oakland 17, Denver 14

A tough start for two tough teams. We like the Raiders, probably from habit. You don't really think Craig Morton can make magic again, do you?

Chicago 24, St. Louis 10

The Cardinal defense makes one laugh. Walter Payton will enjoy the joke most. Bud Wilkinson's return to football will be painful until St. Louis patches those holes.

New England 24, Washington 3

The Redskins will spend the season seeking that elusive fountain of youth, never realizing that Allen took it with him when he left town.

Cleveland 17, San Francisco 7

San Francisco needs more than O.J. Simpson to juice up its offense. Cleveland's no powerhouse but the Browns ought to be able to handle the 49ers.

Houston 17, Atlanta 7

Atlanta has a defense that can play with the best of them. The Oilers, however, could be one of those best, with new additions Earl Campbell and Richard Caster giving some punch to the offense.

LA 27, Philadelphia 14

The Eagles are improving, but so is their schedule. They play 11 clubs with winning records and haven't beaten one of those winning type teams in two years. Sorry about that.

Detroit 10, Green Bay 7

Somebody probably will win this one but there is little to choose between these two have-nots. Overtime, however, would not be fair...to the fans.

Pittsburgh 20, Buffalo 10

The Steelers are only a shell of their Super Bowl past. The Bills, however, are only a shell, period.

Cincinnati 24, KC 14

A soft start for the Bengals, even without Kenny Anderson. Marv Levy has been hired to rebuild Kansas City and there's plenty of rebuilding to do.

Miami 24, N.Y. Jets 14

The Dolphins went to the Super Bowl after Bob Griese spent most of 1972 in a cast. His absence at the start of 1978 won't be devastating to the young Dolphins.

Minnesota 27, New Orleans 7

The Saints have a new coach but the same old team.

IOC Gives LA The Go-Ahead; Berates Proposed '80 Boycott

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (AP)-Los Angeles can have the 1984 Olympic Games without its taxpayers having to pay one penny, the International Olympic Committee (IOC) has decided.

And Lord Killanin, the IOC President, cracked down hard on those calling for a boycott of the 1980 Games in Moscow.

The Olympic movement, which has been under heavy pressure, suddenly looked healthy and defiant again as the IOC's Executive Board ended a two-day meeting here Thursday night.

The board unanimously approved a plan under which Los Angeles can host the 1984 Olympics without any financial responsibility.

The U.S. Olympic Committee (USOC) will appoint an organizing committee and guarantee any financial loss with the help of federal funds and grants from private industry.

The IOC's 89 members need to confirm the decision by postal vote by a simple majority. Then it will be up to Mayor Tom Bradley and the Los Angeles City Council.

As for moves to boycott Moscow in 1980, Killanin abandoned his usual gentle, diplomatic image and spoke in strong terms.

"The IOC awarded the 1980 Games to Moscow in 1974, and that situation remains," he said.

"There are certain groups who are endeavoring once again - and it doesn't matter whether it's from the left or right - to make use of the Games for political pressures. That we will fight, from whatever source it comes."

A campaign to boycott the Moscow Games had been growing in the United States and Britain following the sentences passed on Anatoly Shcharansky and other Soviet dissidents.

The Los Angeles saga, which began early this year, is still not over. The IOC will wait for letters or telegrams from 45 of its members approving the executive board's recommendation.

In a way, Los Angeles has won its fight to break down IOC resistance, forcing a deviation from the Olympic Charter.

Walton Has Second Thoughts On Move

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) - Bill Walton will meet with Portland Trail Blazers owner Larry Weinberg in the next few days to discuss a possible reconciliation with the National Basketball Association club.

Walton, voted the Most Valuable Player in the NBA last season, has asked to be traded to the Golden State Warriors, and Trail Blazer officials said they would try accomodate him.

He cited the team's medical policies, specifically regarding the use of pain-killing injections to keep injured players in the lineup, as a reason for wanting to leave.

But the possibility of Walton's return to the team he led to the NBA championship in 1977 surfaced Thursday when the 6-foot-11 center's friend and agent, Jack Scott, revealed the planned meeting with Weinberg in interviews with the Portland Oregonian and television station KATU.

Trail Blazer publicist John White confirmed the report, saying Walton had asked Weinberg, through an intermediary, to meet with him.

Scott, who was in San Francisco when he revealed the planned meeting, said Walton and Weinberg would meet in Los Angeles "one-on-one, with no agents around."

Koch Rips 400 Record

PRAGUE, Czechosiovakia-Marita Koch of East Germany smashed her own world record in the 400-meter run with a time of 48.94 seconds at the European track and field championships.

She became the first woman to run the distance under 49 seconds. Her old mark was 49.02.

Joe Namath, then playing for the New York Jets, once completed six touchdowns passes in one game against the Baltimore Colts and in another game against the same team had six intercepted.

Nets To Transfer To Meadowland

NEW YORK (AP)-The days of Roy Boe and his New Jersey Nets are officially over.

The National Basketball Association announced Thursday the signing of a formal agreement to transfer ownership of the Nets from Long Island Sports to Meadowland Basketball Associates, headed by Joseph Taub of Tenafly, N.J., and Alan N. Cohen, former Madison Square Garden president.

A polo field is 300 yards in length and 160 yards in width.

WGA Meet Date Corrected To 3rd

Snyder Country Club golf pro Don Bryant reminds members that the Women's Golf Association Couples Golf Tournament, marked Sept. 10 on the monthly calendar, will actually be held Sept. 3.

Tee-off time, with shotgun starts, will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Also ommitted from the front of the calendar is a Labor Day (Sept. 4) Scramble, with shotgun starts at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. The meet will be a ladies and men, four-person scramble.

In one final item, Twilight Golf Swingers will be held as usual Sept. 8.

For information on any of these events, contact the pro shop, 573-7101.

WTC Hosts Scramble

Western Texas College will host a Florida Scramble for Labor Day (Sept. 4) golfers. Anyone interested may register by calling the pro shop at 573-9291.

Shotgun starts will open the action at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m., and players may request either tee time. Fees will be $6, plus $4 green fee for non members. The tournament will be limited to 72 two-player teams.

McNally Makes Colt's Fame

BALTIMORE (AP) - Dave McNally, who won 181 major league games, is the newest member of the Baltimore Orioles Baseball Hall of Fame.

The winningest left-hander in club history was formally inducted during ceremonies preceding Baltimore's game against the New York Yankees Thursday night.

Bucs Get 1st Shot As NFL Trial Begins

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

The Tampa Bay Buccaneers, the last team to win its first game in 1977, can become the first one to win one in 1978 when they host the New York Giants Saturday night, kicking off the National Football League schedule.

The rest of the league except for Monday nighters Baltimore and Dallas get under way Sunday. But the NFL knows Tampa Bay may be too hot to handle - literally. Because of the Florida heat, the league has the Bucs playing their first two home dates in the cool of the evening.

On Sunday it's Oakland at Denver, Houston at Atlanta, Green Bay at Detroit, Kansas City at Cincinnati, Los Angeles at Philadelphia, Miami at the New York Jets, Pittsburgh at Buffalo, Minnesota at New Orleans, San Francisco at Cleveland, Washington at New England, St. Louis at Chicago and San Diego at Seattle.

The Giants may find Tampa Bay a bit hot to handle, too. The Bucs, who lost 26 games over two years before they won one in the regular season their next-to-last one in 1977, are playing a new brand of football. They came out roaring in '78 with three straight exhibition victories and a narrow 24-20 loss to Miami in the preseason finale last Friday night.

This season, by the way, is also the first in which Tampa Bay and the other NFL "expansion" team, Seattle, play regular schedules.

Oakland's visit to Denver presents a rematch of the AFC championship game last New Year's Day when the Broncos, already a mile-high over having ousted the Raiders as champs of the West, got even higher when Craig Morton's two touchdown passes to Haven Moses paved the way to a 20-17 victory and a trip to the Super Bowl.

Houston trots out 1978's version of Tony Dorsett, namely Earl Campbell, the Oilers' Heisman Trophy-winning running back. The Oilers face an Atlanta defense which turned out to be the stingiest in the league last year, allowing just 129 points. The Falcon offense has been reshuffled with June Jones III replacing erratic Steve Bartkowski at quarterback.

Green Bay has Neil Graff at quarterback due to injuries to Lynn Dickey and David Whitehurst. The Packers will be cut to spoil Monte Clark's debut as head coach of the Lions.

Cincinnati, with John Reaves at quarterback in place of injured Ken Anderson, will be trying to do the same to Marv Levy, head coach with the Chiefs after five successful years as field boss of the Canadian Football League's Montreal Alouettes.

Special Clinic For Young Girls Started In Houston

By ROB WOOD
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - The young girls were ill at ease, troubled by the score of more older women sitting in the doctor's waiting room. Some wanted to leave without seeing the physician because they felt out-of-place in the surroundings.

Dr. Patti Jayne Ross had witnessed this scene on many occasions and decided the time had come to open an obstetrics and gynecology clinic for girls between the ages of 10 and 19. Those older need not call for appointments.

"Some felt too old to go to a pediatrician and uncomfortable in an obstetrician-gynecologist office because they felt too young," Dr. Ross said.

With the help of the University of Texas Medical School, Dr. Ross opened the youth clinic and the "response has been very, very good. The girls now are with their peers. They have common interests and can relate to one another. The adolescents are a group that has been overlooked in the past and their needs are great," she said.

The clinic offers routine gynecological examinations, care for venereal disease, obstetric care for pregnant teenagers and sex education.

Dr. Ross, a graduate of the Tulane School of Medicine, said, "We use sex education during the examinations to help those young girls know more about their bodies. A lot of girls, believe it or not, don't know how they got pregnant.

"Despite the talk of a free society and sexual activity, so many know so little."

Dr. Ross says each patient is treated individually. "I had a girl of 16 and I wouldn't go through all the birds and bees lecture. She just wasn't ready. In another case, there was a much younger girl who was ready to listen and to learn."

One of the greatest benefits of the clinic, Dr. Ross, 31, said, "is that mothers often come with their daughters. They come in as a team. I examine the girl and then ask if she wants her mother with her for our talk. In 99 percent of the cases, the girls ask that Mom be in the room. That is healthy. That makes it work. That makes it all worthwhile."

In the months and years ahead, Dr. Ross said, she hopes to branch out into sex ecucation lectures in the schools of Houston; to work with rape victims; to give advise on adoption, on how to lower the venereal disease rate, now high in the growing Houston area.

"This is not a clinic where you are rushed through," Dr. Ross said. "Each patient is a private patient. They or their parents pay for the costs. They are treated like private patients and the young girls seem to appreciate this.

"I want to see these clinics grow throughout Houston and the nation. Once we can deal with the young girls in surroundings where they feel at home, we can solve so many of the problems of the future," she said.

Bones Of Missing Man Are Found

FORT TOWSON, Okla. (AP)-The bleached and scattered bones of Gerald Leon Tiffie, who has been missing since he is believed to have picked up two Oklahoma prison escapees last summer, were found near here Wednesday afternoon.

The body was found by a man in thick underbrush about 200 yards off Oklahoma 109, a dirt road, Choctaw County Sheriff James Buchanan said.

Tiffie, of Soper, was believed to have picked up Earl Van Denton and Paul Ruiz, who killed him and stole his car.

Denton and Ruiz are currently imprisoned in Arkansas, after being convicted of murdering an Arkansas law officer.

Authorities have said Ruiz had volunteered to return to Oklahoma to help locate Tiffie's body.

Authorities say they pinned down the identity of the body by matching U.S. Navy dental records with the teeth of the victim.

Buchanan said a wallet containing identification cards was also found near the body.

The sheriff said the skull, part of a rib cage and shreds of clothing were found by a local man who was 'brushhogging'' Wednesday. He said there were bullet holes in the skull and a bullet fragment under it.

Tiffie, 27, had been missing since June 25, 1977, two days after Ruiz and Denton escaped from the state penitentiary at McAlester.

"The description of the scene was just as Ruiz said it was. We were just on the wrong side of Hugo," Buchanan said of the earlier search for the body.

Authorities believe Tiffie was killed after he left a home-coming dance in Boswell. Buchanan said Ruiz told authorities he believed the victim's body was near Boswell, which is west of Hugo.

Breaking the pattern

By Karen Blaker, Ph.D.

When a woman is dominated by her husband, her mother or her mother-in-law, society frowns upon but accepts the situation. But when a woman is controlled by her children, there is general disapproval.

Yet, as this excerpt from a hot-line call illustrates, all those forms of domination are outgrowths of the same general pattern of submissiveness.

A woman faces a built-in conflict if she expects herself simultaneously to be submissive to her husband and an authority figure for her children. Many women struggle to walk this tightrope, unaware of how much energy the feat consumes.

HOT LINE

MRS. B: I am absolutely exhausted. My children order me around all the time. Sometimes I honestly feel like a slave. I realize that mothering requires a lot of servant-like duties, but this is too much. It also bothers me that my friends are critical of the way my children act toward me. I am only trying to be a good mother.

COUNSELOR: What concerns you most about this?

MRS. B: My friends' criticism, I guess.

COUNSELOR: You want them to accept your style of raising your children?

MRS. B: No. Actually, I would like to change the way I am bringing up my children so my friends will approve of me.

COUNSELOR: It sounds like you are controlled by your friends.

MRS. B: It's true. I am always trying to do what everyone wants.

COUNSELOR: Since it's not possible to get everyone's approval, maybe you should try to please only the people who agree with what you want to do.

MRS. B: I am embarrassed to say it, but I think that is exactly what I always end up doing. I get an idea, but I wait until someone else has the same one. Then I say I am doing it because of them — not because it is what I secretly wanted to do all along.

COUNSELOR: What about the issue of child rearing?

MRS. B: I am doing the same thing. I really do want to be less of a slave to my children. I feel so resentful.

COUNSELOR: Where do your children get the idea they can or should treat you in that way?

MRS. B: They get it from me. I act so submissive. I allow them to take advantage of me. It's all my fault. I know that.

COUNSELOR: Do they see anyone else treating you that way?

MRS. B: Just their father. When he comes home, he sits down in his easy chair with the paper. Even though I have worked all day in the office, too —

COUNSELOR: Do you work outside your home?

MRS. B: Yes, why?

COUNSELOR: I guess I just assumed you were home all day and had time to wait on everyone.

MRS. B: Well, I do work and wait on everyone. Anyway, my husband comes home and I mix him a drink, make dinner, clean up the dishes and then start the chores for the evening. The children's lunches have to be made for the next day and things like that.

COUNSELOR: How do you feel about waiting on your husband like that? It's all really part of the same pattern.

MRS. B: I guess you're right. But I just want to change part of it — just the part with the children. Maybe that is impossible.

COUNSELOR: It might be possible to move in the direction of being more assertive with your children while remaining submissive to your husband. But I think you will find that once you begin that process, the resentment you must feel toward your husband will begin to seep out.

MRS. B: Well, what should I do?

COUNSELOR: Some professional counseling would definitely help.

The counselor supported Mrs. B's wish to be more assertive with her children but warned that the change might have ramifications for some of her other relationships, particularly her relationship with her husband.

Dr. Blaker cannot take telephone calls from her readers. However, there are hundreds of crisis intervention phone lines in the United States. For the phone number of one near you, contact your local mental health association or mental health information service.

He's Bullish On America

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)-Howard Marchant admits he's bullish on America. And he hopes tin cans full of the natural fertilizer produced by Georgia bulls will become his own pet rock.

Marchant, a 51-year-old liquor salesman, sees lots of possibilities or the $3-per-can offering marketed by his company, B.S. Sales.

"I just woke up one night and was tired of being poor and didn't have $200,000 to open up a McDonald's," he said.

And he thinks the product is a natural for some markets.

"First, consider Washington," he said. "Congress should be a prime prospect."

Susan B. Anthony, a suffragist, was fined $100 for voting in 1873.
