The couple will reside in Texarkana.

Parents of the couple are, Ms. Mercy B. Lewis, mother of the bride; and Mr. and Mrs. Leon Shepherd, parents of the groom.

District Two Rally Will Be Held For Mayor Pro Tem Patterson

T. J. Patterson
Mayor Pro Tem

The public and supporters of Mayor Pro Tem T. J. Patterson are invited to attend a District Two Political Rally set for Friday night, March 27, 1992 at Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, 2202 Southeast Drive, the church home of Patterson.

"When I ran for office, I have always said that any activity that I would begin would begin at my church home. There is something about being where I serve," said Patterson.

The program will begin at 7:00 p.m., and there will be a special program on tap for this rally.

"Voted To Keep Dunbar Open" Billie Caviel Announces For Re-Election To District Two

"I hope the intervenors are successful in their efforts to keep Dunbar High School a diploma granting high school. And I will support them, however, I can. But there is no doubt that a struggle of giant proportions is on. A struggle again where I can see a conservative court, with no strong support from the U. S. Justice Department, will make the decision," said Mrs. Billie Caviel, an incumbent Lubbock School Board member from District Two, who is seeking another term.

In a press conference last Friday morning on the campus of Wheatley Elementary School, before many of her supporters, she said, "I know there are questions that I readily and ardently will be confronted about concerning one vote that I made as a member of the Board of Trustees."

In addressing this matter, she said: "The vote on the Unitary status, after conferring with members of the U. S. Justice Department, and also having members of the Justice Department confer with some of you, I could easily see that the courts were not, and I reiterate not going to be the advocate and friends of the minorities that it had been. Therefore, I had hoped that the LISD board of did not become more vocal and perhaps, even radical in my opposition. But then, remember, in the final analysis, I had one, and only one vote against the seven on the board. I and Trustee Linda DeLeon did vote against the measure. But the vote still carried 5-2 against us. But let me remind you of something. There never was a motion put before the Board of Trustees to close Dunbar. The oldest school in East Lubbock will not be closed. Sadly, it is scheduled to become a junior high school. In the event that this does happen, I assure you that it will become one of the most outstanding junior high schools in the state. The types and quality of courses, there can cause the walls to bulge."

"Also, let me remind you of a bit of information, our sister cities of Abilene, Midland, Odessa, and Amarillo all lost their diploma granting high schools completely. We in Lubbock have not, and the case is still not closed. Let's listen to reason, work constructively together, and improve upon the current situation," she said.

Mrs. Caviel mentioned some of her accomplishments during her tenure. They included which listed twenty-four items, are as following:

1. Advocated that the LISD television station be placed in the Dunbar-Struggs complex;
2. Advocated that African Americans be placed in high level administrative positions. A personnel director was hired, and there is now an assistant to the superintendent;
3. Instrumental, and identified to the administration, that Wheatley Elementary School become a magnet school in 1993.

At this report, there is only one person, Mrs. Kathy Anderson, who will face her in the race for trustee of District 2.

be made and volunteers will be asked to become a part of this effort as Patterson seeks another term on the Lubbock City Council," said Harold M. Chatham, campaign manager.

"We would hope to fill the church up, and leave there excited about the upcoming election set for Saturday, May 2, 1992," continued Chatham.

"No doubt about it, we will

Community Development "Willing Workers Unlimited"

A Brain Storming Session will be held on Saturday, March 22, 1992 at 6:00 p. m. at 504 East 23rd Street to discuss future plans for this area. According to Bishop W. D. Haynes, promoter of this project, told the Southwest Digest on Tuesday afternoon, "The city will not knock down the 'Old Starlite Motel' down."

"If we redevelop the apartments for senior citizens home for the handicap or a shelter for the homeless or an A-1 motel," continued Bishop Haynes.

There are some questions to ask. What will happen to the old Thunderbird Lounge? Will it become a night spot for after hours eating and entertainment?

Do we want a senior citizens center?

Something can happen in this area as we need something positive. It will be inexpensive to accomplish!

The former Atlanta Life Insurance Company building is being planned for a Secretary Service, Telephone Answering, Small Printing Jobs, Family Counseling and other important projects for the community, according to Bishop Haynes.

For more information, contact Bishop Haynes at 765-6320 or 744-5334; or Ms. Equilla Peoples at 765-8623.

"We need your input as we began a journey of economic development to make things better for the Chatman Hill addition," continued Bishop Haynes.

The Sounds Of Blackness Win Grammy Award For Best Gospel Group Or Choir

Sounds of Blackness

Paramus, N. J. -- Perspective Records group The Sounds of Blackness added another feather to an already full cap recently when they received the ultimate acknowledgement from industry peers by winning the Grammy Award for "Best Gospel Group or Choir". Director, Gary Hines stated, "We are extraordinarily thankful, honored and overjoyed about winning this award, and feel that it not only acknowledges the breadth of Black music, but pays tribute to the fact that people want to hear songs that inspire and uplift their spirit."

The first group to be released on producers Jimmy "Jam" and Terry Lewiss' Perspective Records label, the "Sounds" released their debut album entitled The Evolution of Gospel in July of last year.

The album has been hailed by critics as powerful and credited with helping to popularize an expand the gospel music genre and audience.

While the Sounds' current project focuses on the full range of gospel music, the group is quick to point out that they perform and have plans to produce projects which cover the entire spectrum of the Black musical experience. Future projects will incorporate blues, rap, r&b, jazz and even reggae musical styles.

The group made Billboard chart history by producing songs that have crossed over onto the gospel, r&b and dance charts. In fact, their debut single, "Optimistic," hit number 3 on the r&b charts; their second, "The Pressure Pt. 1," topped the dance chart at number 1; while the current single, "Testify," is charting top 25 on both the dance and r&b charts. All three singles on the album have done well on the gospel charts.

The Truth Must Prevail and Right Must And Will Win!!!

by
Eddie P. Richardson

What a mess everyone and everything has gone absurd. People in certain positions and dare to be challenged or questioned. The bad part about these kinds of people is most of the time, they are playing with other people's well being, life, or future through an agency or public organization and not an enterprise or business of their own self serving or gratification involving other peoples' lives.

Now, the focus is accountability, especially with William Aramony with the United Way of America, one of the major consolidated fundraising, community and life enrichment organizations in the nation. There is also the house of U. S. Representatives' bank and post office situation. Accountability must come back into play, especially when one is a public servant or steward of the peoples' trust.

The most accountable organization over the years in the Black Community of Lubbock of any size has been the Booker T. Washington, Post 808, American Legion. It has supported many organizations over the years. To name a few, that is well know, include equipment to the sick and handicapped, United Negro College Fund, Boys Ranch, Musclar Dystrophy, and many others.

We have had others, however, who's activities have not been well known as to what they support. It is alleged by many that one organization who have sponsored bingo and have ceased to be. In this age and time, with so many improprieties, it just makes good sense to be accountable -- including have and open to audits. My stint with the Lubbock Black Chamber of Entrepreneurs, Inc, anything this writer did, a report was made. This was done in monthly reports which included what was taken in and spent by the organization. My secretaries also went to the City of Lubbock financial expert to make sure our books were correct. We got one contribution when we had our first Juneteenth Run, and the run was self-sustaining from then, and there was a balance left when I was ousted. I recommend to anyone in a program who receives public funds to get an exit audit. This writer failed to do so, but my records, as long as I was able to make decisions, expenditures and deposits will stand and so will this writer.

Thought must be given to the students who will be transferring from Dunbar-Struggs High School to other schools. This has been brought to our attention that the last few years allegedly the two Black girls on the basketball team has not been treated equitable and felt vary disfranchised. If a handful or less can not be desist with in an equitable manner, what will happen when the flood gates open? This should be looked into and dealt with now for the sake of our young Black ladies!!

There are two ways to travel through life. A journey ..... or a trip .... A trip one sees the back faces..... A journey ..... one sees the event of faces..... Trips ..... limited time ..... Journey ..... No hurry ..... Trip ..... in a hurry no time to enjoy life..... Journey get there by and by no pressure .... relaxed and back.... how are you ..... traveling???

"PAT BUCHANAN: RACISM ON THE FAR RIGHT"

The most striking event in the early stages of the 1992 presidential campaign is the emergence of conservative television commentator Patrick Buchanan. This former Nixon and Reagan speechwriter, who possessed no previous electoral experience, ran unexpectedly strong against Bush in last month's New Hampshire primary.

Battering Bush at every opportunity, Buchanan has run on one central theme. The candidate declares that "his campaign is about dumping George Bush and putting America first again." Every difficult question presented to Buchanan yields a simplistic answer. The federal government's too big and too bureaucratic, you ask? Buchanan responds that he would "freeze federal hiring," consider "cutting farm subsidies," permit private firms to compete with the U. S. Postal Service, and "sell off power stations and airports." If Congress refuses to play ball, Buchanan would "let the government shut down," permitting a "political blood bath." For the corporations, Buchanan favors the total elimination of any capital gains taxes. He explicitly condemns Bush for increasing the minimum wage by one-third, and for supporting the Americans With Disabilities Act. Buchanan denounces "affirmative action and considers multicultural education a sinister plot to destroy Western civilization and culture.

But the greatest controversy surrounding Buchanan concerns his espousal of racist and anti-Semitic Views. Attacking the 1991 Civil Rights Act, Buchanan insists that the "sons of middle America pay the price of reverse discrimination." White small businessmen are losing "contracts because of minority set-asides." If elected, Buchanan vowed to purge the federal government "agency by agency, and root out the whole rotten infrastructure of reverse discrimination, root and branch."

Buchanan's reputation as an apologist for anti-Semitism is equally well-known. He joked publicly that Congress was "Israeli-occupied territory" and has dismissed Democrats as "poodles" of the Israeli lobby. Vigorously opposing the recent war against Iraq, Buchanan explained in 1990 that the only the Israeli defense ministry and its "amen corner" inside the U. S. really desired war.

As New York Times columnist A. M. Rosenthal later observed, Buchanan was slyly warning white America to "watch out, the Jews are trying to drag your children into war for foreign purposes." Combining these statements with Buchanan's equal hatred for multiculturalism, and his love of tax cuts for the rich, the death penalty and Clarence Thomas, one has a profile of a rigidly reactionary ideologue, who substitutes stereotypes for analysis. When Buchanan shouts "America First" from the campaign podium, what he's really saying is: "White Upper Class America First, Except Jews."

Virtually all conservatives admit that Buchanan has no chance of upsetting Bush for the Republican Party's presidential nomination. But Buchanan's real objective is the GOP presidential nomination in 1996. Buchanan will surely endorse Bush in the 1992 general election, but his followers may be encouraged to stay home, swinging the electoral balance to the Democrats.

Buchanan has coldly calculated that there will be only one Republican "centrist" in the 1996 Republican primaries, Secretary of State Jim Baker. Republican conservatives could be divided between Vice President Dan Quayle and Housing Secretary Jack Kemp. Buchanan's run today will permit him to establish a network of dedicated campaign workers and financial donors. With shrewd insight, he realizes that his prominent media base on CNN, combined with a bold move to challenge Bush this year, would allow him to consolidate his position as the only "lesser" opponent to

by
Louis W. Sullivan, M.D.

One of the most ominous trends threatening our nation is a perilous rise in fatherless families. Some 60 percent of American children will live part of their childhood in a single-parent home.

This loss of fathers is causing societal problems ranging from teen pregnancy to drug abuse. My hunch is that behind the baffling rise in senseless street and gang violence, drive-by shootings and "wildings," lies a group of young males raised without the love, discipline and guidance of a father. In fact, approximately 70 percent of juveniles in long-term correctional facilities did not live with their father while growing up.

A generation of young males are measuring their manhood by the caliber of their gun and the number of children they have fathered.

It is time that we put the issue of fatherless families and the indispensable role fathers play front-and-center on our national agenda.

A child with two parents is now the exception rather than the norm. Fewer people are marrying, and more are divorcing. At the same time, the number of children born to married couples is decreasing; out-of-wedlock births are surging. Today, more than one in four births is outside marriage.

Two parents are not always better than one. Many courageous and loving single-parents are able to care and provide for their children alone. But a strong two-parent family is the ideal.

Fatherless children are more vulnerable to physical, mental and emotional problems. They are five times more likely to be "run" and twice as likely to drop out of school. In any given year, nine out of 10 children from two-parent families avoid poverty, but one out of two children living in a mother-only family is poor.

A father's absence cannot be reduced to income loss alone; his attention, discipline and love are not easily replaced.

To reverse the trend toward fatherless families, we must reinvigorate a "culture of character" in our nation—a culture in which we support and reinforce one another actively in positive and healthy choices. We must re-evaluate our cultural values and the messages we send our children about marriage, family and sexual relations.

We must encourage fathers living apart from their children to remain involved in their children's lives. Only a third of absent fathers report that they see their children at least once a week, and nearly one in five has not seen his children for five years.

HHS has stepped-up child support enforcement to change the situation in which just half the women due child support receive the full amount owed, a quarter receive partial payment and a quarter receive nothing.

Also, for children whose fathers have completely abandoned them, we can strive to help through grandparents and extended family members, mentors and tutors.

Our nation is built on strong families and communities. If we protect these, no outside force can overwhelm us. But if our family and community ties grow weak, what will be left to save our children—and our future?

(Dr. Sullivan is U.S. secretary of health and human services.)

the Reagan legacy. The thunder from the Far Right, by both Buchanan and former Klan leader and Nazi David Duke, threatens to redefine the parameters of US politics. Buchanan is only a cleaned-up version of Duke. Since Bush has no clear principles of his own, he could easily be dragged further to the right, advancing Buchanan's reactionary message without the controversial context. Increased racism and political discrimination would be the result.

Judge Rose Spector Makes History

Judge Rose Spector has become the first woman nominated by Democrats to the Texas Supreme Court and will be the first woman elected to the state's highest court if chosen by voters this fall.

Judge Spector's campaign will be a top priority of the bi-partisan Texas Women's Political Caucus (TWPC) this election year, TWPC officials said.

Judge Spector is in her 18th year as a trial court judge in San Antonio and is now running for Place 2 on the Texas Supreme Court.

Although two women have received gubernatorial appointment to unexpired terms on the state's highest civil court, never has a woman been elected to the court by popular vote.

The TWPC recently announced its endorsement of Judge Spector and now is turning its members' attention to her election in November. Judge Spector also has the strong support of Governor Ann Richards and other Democratic leaders and organizations.

"Judge Spector's race is a priority race for the Texas Women's Political Caucus," said Patricia Smothers, chair of the TWPC's Campaign Support Committee. "Her race is one of very few targeted races this year, and we consider it to be very important."

"Judge Spector is extraordinarily well qualified to sit on the Supreme Court," Ms. Smothers said. "She has the experience and background to be an outstanding justice."

In 1974, Judge Spector was one of the first women ever elected county-wide in Bexar County when she won a race for judge of the County Court at Law No. 5. Six years later, she was elected to the 131st District Court, where she has been re-elected twice without opposition. She has presided over hundreds of jury trials and thousands of non-jury cases.

"At a time when the court's decisions impact on every aspect of a woman's life," Judge Spector said, "not a single woman sits on the 9-man Texas Supreme Court."

"As judges, we are courts of law and equity," Judge Spector said.

Governor Ann Richards and Judge Rose Spector

"Women fought hard for the right to vote, the right to sit on juries, the right of a married woman to control her own property."

"And women are still fighting hard for education, for a sense of dignity in the workplace, for equal rights at every level in our society," Judge Spector said.

"In my own case, I have been able to add my judicial experience to my own life experiences as a daughter, a wife, a mother and now a grandmother," she said. "And that background has prepared me well to serve as a Supreme Court Justice."

Judge Spector was born in San Antonio and has been married to physician Dr. Morris Spector for 36 years. They have two children, Mary and David, and two grandchildren. Judge Spector is one of Bexar County's most respected jurists.

"I have tried lawsuits before judges throughout Texas," said Phil Harberger of San Antonio's prominent law firm of Harberger & Rodriguez. "And Judge Spector rates as one of the fairest, most studious judges I've been in front of. She is first-rate."

"I will refuse any campaign contribution — be it for $1 or $5,000 — from anyone who mistakenly believes they can influence any decision I make on the court," Judge Spector said.

and his team are combatting drugs and crime in the community.

Anderson's Fund Raiser "Successful"

District Two School Board candidate, Kathy Russell Anderson, held a very successful fund raiser at LaLa's Restaurant Thursday, March 12th. More than 70 people attended this campaign event in support of Kathy Anderson's quest to represent District Two on the LISD School Board.

Mrs. Anderson, who is married to Jeffrey Anderson, is the mother of three children, and an insurance agent for the Universal Life Insurance Company, has given her campaign the theme: "In Touch Through Honest Communication."

When elected, this theme will be placed into action by: (1) visiting schools; (2) attending District Two PTA meetings; (3) being visible in District Two; (4) being a willing listener to concerns and opinions; and (5) bringing the is-ssues to the constituency so they can discuss and decide how their representative should vote.

The specific issues that Mrs. Anderson will focus upon after her successful defeat of the incumbent are: (1) the minority drop out rate; (2) upgrading the minority teacher recruitment program; (3) be a consistent negative voter for wasteful expenditures of tax dollars; and (4) be a steadfast supporter of programs that will ensure quality education for all.

In her speech, Mrs. Anderson voiced concerns that LISD needs to become aware of the importance of multi-cultural history plays in the every day life of minorities. That the criteria that determines at-risk students should be re-evaluated.

She closed her fund raising speech by stating: "If the voters of District Two sincerely feel (1) LISD ignored their voice in the Dunbar, Thompson Junior and the building of two new junior high schools in central Lubbock issues, (2) that LISD is insensitive towards the minority community, and (3) that District Two must have stronger representation than an overwhelming vote for Kathy Russell Anderson is needed in the May 2, 1992 School Board election."

A restaurant once advertised: "The early bird gets the worm! Special shoppers' luncheon before 11 a.m."

Even the best organized family can get a little out of touch sometimes. That's why many experts advise regular family meetings. Perhaps once a week or so you can make sure your whole family knows to meet in the kitchen, den or other appropriate area. Plan to serve a light snack—perhaps crackers or fruit—and steaming cups of tea. In this congenial atmosphere you can then go over things such as chore schedules, allowance adjustments, school projects due and done and sibling disputes. Also include some time for telling a favorite joke, reading a poem or newspaper article or listening to some music. That could make taking care of family business seem more like fun.

The Outreach Prayer Breakfast

"What God Requires Of All to Us is To Do Justly!"

In the world, there is little justice! What a statement! One which is often spoken by many from all walks of life, but is really such a statement really true? Why there is little or no justice in the world? Furthermore, what is justice? What can we as Christians do to help promote justice in the world? Among several other definitions of justice, it is defined as "being righteous, fairness, rightfulness: to treat fairly or with due appreciation." Considering the definition of justice, is there justice in the world? Righteousness? Fairness? Rightfulness? I would say not, justice is of God. It is not of the world. How then can the world provide justice when it does not know the God who is just, and from whom true justice comes?

Although, the world may have its system of justice, and individuals their concepts of justice. Even at their best the world's system, and man's concept of justice are merely man's way of justice. Not God's! Does man's system of justice meet God's requirement?? Can the world in its sinful state, and man whose hearts are deceitful above all things and desperately wicked provide true justice? Justice is an attribute of God; therefore, as children of God, justice ought to be demonstrated in the life of every Christian. God commands us to do justly. Deut. 32:4; Isa. 45:21.

Continue second Saturday in April, 1992 until then, keep reading this report.

We will be at the Parkway Nursing Center on Saturday, March 21, 1992, at 10:00 a.m.

Make plans now to meet us there.

Keep smiling and loving all men. Lubbock and you, can make a difference. A tremendous difference. Right here, we can make it. We just know we can.

We have many sick in our city and surrounding communities. The enemy of this world is going to and fro to see who he can devour (Christians).

Stand on the word, having done all to stand, "Just Stand," anyway. Mark 11:22-26; II Chronicles 7:14.

"Jesus ... went forth with his disciples over the brook Cedron." John 18:1.

The phrase "to cross or pass the Rubicon" means to take a decisive, irrevocable step. This phrase is centered around a beautiful river by the name of Rubicon which flows across North Italy east into the Adriatic Sea, the arm of the Mediterranean. This river formed the boundary between Italy and Cisalpine Gaul during the Roman Republic.

This insignificant river has acquired a name in history and a place among the proverbs of man. Legend has it that Julius Caesar in 49 BC came to the bank of the Rubicon and hesitated. He said to his officers, "We can even yet draw back; but if we cross that stream, all must be decided by the sword." Caesar knew that when he crossed this stream he would pass beyond the limits of his province and become an invader in Italy, thus participating war with Pompey and the Senate.

The night was passed away in anxious deliberation, and at daybreak the legend alleged, that a majestic form appeared to Caesar playing on a flute. As the soldiers came close to quell their anxiety, the angel snatched from one of them a trumpet, blew the signal for advance and plunged into the river. "The die is cast!" With that exclamation, Caesar boldly forged the river followed by his army committing himself to war against Pompey (Gnaeus Pompeius Magnus). That was the decisive act which led to victory and Caesar being made dictator for life.

Long years before, we read of an older Rubicon, the crossing which had far reaching consequence. David, the king of Israel crossed it as he fled his capital in the days of Absalom's rebellion (II Samuel 15:23). Cedron or Kidron means darkness or sadness. When David crossed Cedron he became a different man. The ill that his son had perpetrated, brought a sadness and hurt that went with David to his grave. His inner life though became tender and much more beautiful.

And what happen to David happened to Jesus more than one thousand years later. The decisive moment came to Jesus when he crossed over Cedron. He was no longer the great Teacher, but the great Sacrifice.

In this Lenten season all of us need to be reminded that there is a Rubicon in our life. There is a Cedron to cross, a critical moment in which we have to move from the old life to the new. And like the sages of yesterday, your Rubicon will come in the shape of temptation, sorrow, a disruptive loved one, an incurable disease, or even change. The way you deal with this trial will be determined by how you have given yourself to God. The best preparation for that day which lies ahead is to go to God now in prayer like our Lord Jesus did. He specializes in things that seem impossible.

We Thank God For Jesus

"Lord, It's A Different Word!!"

Part 2

Deuteronomy 32:1; 6-7 -- Give ear, O'ye Heavens, and I will speak and hear, O'Earth, the words of my mouth. Do ye thus requite (repay) the Lord, O'Foolish people and unwise? Is not he thy father that hath bought thee? Hath he not made thee, and established thee? Remember the days of old, consider the years of many generations: ask thy father, and he will shew thee; thy elders, and they will tell thee.

Lord, I remember when the simple laws of the land, was obeyed, specially commanded. "But in the 60's, this country said: I have my rights and won't obey the law of the land."

Romans 13:1-2 -- Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers, for there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ordained of God. Whosoever therefore resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation.

As the children watched and learned, they received that Satan's spirit of the same, "and now the whole land is full of that disobedience: Shame, Shame, Shame!"

Psalms 2:1-2 -- Why do the heathen rage, and the people imagine a vain thing? The king of the earth set themselves, and the rulers take counsel together, against the Lord.

Jeremiah 23:1; 25 -- Woe be unto the Pastors that destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture, saith the Lord. I have heard what the prophets said, that prophesy lies in my name, saying I have dreamed, I have dreamed. How long shall this be in the heart of the prophets that prophesy lies? Yea, they are prophets of the deceit of their own heart. "That led to the disobedience of you 10 commandments, which we tried to obey. But not today, it's my rights; to kill, molest, hurt, destroy, don't care what you say."

Galatians 6:7-8 -- Be not deceived, God is not mocked (imitated): for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap (obtain). For he that soweth to the flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the spirit shall of the spirit reap life everlasting.

Lord, I remember in when I was in school, a fist fight: "after wordes we were friends. But in today's world, the children with knives, and AK-47's & death is the end."

Proverbs 14:12 -- There is a way which seemeth right unto a man, but the end therefore are the ways of death.

I never remember when my parents would at least, listen to the words of their children today.

Proverbs 18:13-14 -- He that answereth a matter before he heareth it, it is folly and shame unto him.

The spirit of a man will sustain his infirmity, but a wounded spirit who can bare?

"Lord, there was a time when going to a movie, having popcorn was called a date." "But now it's a new thing: I want your body; and if you don't give I will rape."

Jeremiah 3:24-25 -- For the shame hath devoured the labour of our fathers from our youth. Their flocks and their herds, their sons and their daughters, we lie down in our shame, and our confusion covereth us: for we have sinned against the Lord our God. We and our Fathers, from our youth even unto this day, and have not obeyed the voice of the Lord, our God.

God is not through with us yet. So let's pray for one another always. AAAMANNNNNNNN Satay, the favorite chicken kabob of Southeast Asia, takes on a healthier appeal in "Lite Chicken Satay." The traditional chili and garlic spiced peanut sauce has been replaced by an equally tasty marinade featuring Kikkoman Lite Teriyaki Marinade & Sauce. A blend of spices, sugar, wine and naturally brewed soy sauce, lite teriyaki sauce has 50% less salt. It's slightly spicier, sweeter and more full-bodied in taste. It's also an ideal base for this richly seasoned marinade. We've also used minced peanuts rather than peanut butter for a fresher flavor. Served over curried rice with lime and julienned zucchini, this easily prepared entrée is a healthy change of pace that's also lower in sodium.

LITE CHICKEN SATAY

- 1/4 cup Kikkoman Lite Teriyaki Marinade & Sauce
- 2 tablespoons minced unsalted roasted peanuts
- 2 tablespoons minced green onion & tops
- 1 tablespoon lime juice
- 2 cloves garlic, pressed
- 1/4 to 1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper
- 1 pound boneless, skinless chicken breasts
- 8 metal or bamboo skewers*

Combine lite teriyaki marinade & sauce, peanuts, green onions, lime juice, garlic and pepper in small bowl. Cut chicken into 2-inch square pieces; stir into teriyaki sauce mixture. Let stand 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Thread chicken pieces onto skewers, leaving space between pieces. Place skewers on rack of broiler pan; broil 4 minutes on each side, or until chicken is tender.

*Soak bamboo skewers in water 1 hour to prevent burning.

Witness "Lied" Wayne Williams' Lawyers Seek New Trial

JACKSON, Ga. (AP) — Wayne Williams' bid for a new trial is going to hinge, in part, on a judge's determination of how helpful is helpful.

At least 10 times last Tuesday, a prosecutor from Williams' 1987 murder trial conceded that police reports Williams' trial lawyers never saw, identifying other suspects or questioning the testimony of prosecution witnesses, "could have been helpful" or "might have been useful" to the defense.

But then prosecutor Joe Drolet insisted that the material wasn't so important to the case that the prosecution had a legal duty to share it.

And that's the question Superior Court Judge Harold Craig, who is hearing Williams' appeal, will have to decide: what materials Williams' trial lawyers should have been shown, as opposed to what they might have liked to see.

Famed New York defense attorney William Kunstler, part of Williams' high-powered appeal team, was pleased to see Drolet admit the defense could have used the information.

"Of course, that's damaging. He knows damn well what it is," Kunstler said after Tuesday's hearing.

Williams' appeal team contends that a wealth of information — from possible Ku Klux Klan involvement in the killings to questions about dog hair evidence — was improperly withheld from his trial lawyers 10 years ago, denying him a fair trial.

"It's not if we win a new trial; it's when," defense attorney Bobby Lee Cook said after the hearing in Butts County Superior Court. "And I predict the state will never try this case again."

Williams is serving two life sentences for the killings of two adults whose cases were part of Atlanta's "missing and murdered children" investigation. Ten more cases were blamed on him at his trial, and police later blamed another 12 killings on him.

Under questioning by Kunstler, Drolet conceded Tuesday that prosecutors perhaps should have turned over at least one police report, concerning prosecution witness Dobby Toland.

Toland, an acquaintance of Williams, testified during the trial that Williams hated his own Black race, and discussed the elimination of Black children.

But Toland had previously told police he wanted "to get" Williams, who had cheated him. And police conservatives in droves and the referendum result is likely to be close.

"That would have been helpful. ... I might have turned it over," said Drolet, who now works as a defense attorney.

Drolet said trial Judge Clarence Cooper, not the prosecution, reviewed the extensive police files in the case and ordered the relevant material turned over to Williams' lawyers.

"No one (for the prosecution) went through every piece of paper. ... We didn't go beyond Judge Cooper," he said.
