Snyder area residents will have their eyes and ears focused on Austin in October for two big decisions.

The first of these will come Oct. 7 when the Texas Railroad Commission holds a hearing on a request by SACROC to increase its oil production allowable. The increase is being sought in connection with a proposal to install a C02 repressuring system costing $117 million. Whether this project gets off the ground will depend on the Railroad Commission's action on the request for increased allowable.

The other big decision is due from the State College Coordinating Board which now has before it a petition requesting authority to hold an election creating a junior college district in Scurry County. The petition had prior blessing of the boards junior college sub-committee. So, the hundreds who signed the petition, along with the Chamber of Commerce Junior College Study Committee, are "cautiously optimistic" over prospects for favorable action.

Announcement was made the other day that the Fort Stockton Chamber of Commerce had hired as its new manager, Clark Carpenter, immediate past president of the Fort Stockton Jaycees. Wonder where they got the idea of hiring a Jaycee former chief for that type of job?

J. C. Massingill, Scurry County Auditor, says he has concrete proof that the Post Office Department's Zip Code really does work.

Massingill recently received a letter from California addressed to J. C. Massingill, Route 2, Massingill, Tex., and it was delivered to the proper address. It had Snyder's Zip Code on it — 79549 — the only clue that it belonged in this part of the country.

THURMONT, Md. (AP) — President Nixion and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller were at nearby Camp David today to discuss Latin American policy, but the White House said it will keep silent on results of the conference.

Nixon said Friday that sometime next month "We will be making a major new pronouncement on Latin American policy."

He promised it would include a number of recommendations made by New York's Republican governor who went on four trips to Latin America earlier in the year at the request of the President.

BY BOLIVIA'S NEW MILITARY JUNTA

Petroleum Code Canceled

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — In its first official act, Bolivia's new military junta canceled a law under which a U.S.-owned oil company has been operating.

Gen. Alfredo Ovando Candia, who seized power Friday from President Adolfo Siles Salinas, met with his new cabinet for three hours and then announced the annulment of the nation's petroleum code. The code granted Bolivian Gulf Oil Co. ownership of oil resources and set up a plan of profit-sharing with the state.

Ovando said the legislation was drafted by a New York law firm and was prejudicial to Bolivian interests and "a restriction on the income the state should receive from profits and royalties."

He said the future of the company, a subsidiary of Gulf Oil Corp., had not been decided. He did not rule out the possibility of nationalizing the firm's properties, but said "those are details that will be studied later on."

Under the petroleum code, 33.5 per cent of Bolivian Gulf's profits and 11 per cent of its wellhead production went to the government. Company spokesmen said Gulf Oil invested about $140 million in Bolivian oil production from 1957 to 1968.

Ovando said in a message to the peasants that his government would "make more profound the Bolivian land reform" of 1953. And he issued a statement pledging to secure national sovereignty over the sources of production, improve the already nationalized mining industry, promote heavy industry, establish a nationalistic economic policy, and protect workers' rights.

Ovando, 52, commander in chief of Bolivia's armed forces and the front-runner in a presidential campaign that was just getting under way, seized power from Siles while the president was in Santa Cruz for a celebration.

Siles later took off from Santa Cruz in a small plane, presumably to go into exile in Chile.

Siles, 44, was elevated from the vice presidency five months ago when Rene Barrientos was killed in a helicopter crash. Ovando had helped put Barrientos in power and said in May that he would personally lead the overthrow of Siles if the president "abandoned the Bolivian revolution."

After the coup, Ovando quickly installed a cabinet dominated by young military men, dissident young leftists from the Christian Democrat and National Revolutionary parties, and independents.

The new cabinet appointed Gen. David la Fuente as acting foreign minister pending the return of Foreign Minister Gustavo Medeiros from the U.N. session in New York.

Scurry Fair Opens Oct. 2

A lot of activity will be centered upon the exhibit barn-Armory area of Towle Memorial park by Wednesday, as exhibitors prepare their displays for the annual Scurry County Fair.

Exhibits will feature livestock, field crops, fruits and vegetables, educational displays, women's division displays, art, baked foods, canned foods and a flower show.

In addition to the competitive exhibits there will be commercial booths where merchandise and services will be displayed.

A standard flower show, "Harvest Festival" will be presented in the armory by the Twilight Garden Club.

The fair will open officially for its three-day run at 9 a.m. Thursday. First on the agenda for judges will be agricultural exhibits, women's division exhibits and dairy cattle. At 10 a.m. the judges will turn their attention to poultry, sheep and rabbits, while beef cattle will be judged at 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

Judging of swine is set for 9 a.m. Friday. The fair grounds will be open from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily, Thursday through Saturday.

Darrell Sims heads the Scurry County Fair Association, succeeding L. M. Dawson who moved from the county several weeks ago.

Session Set For Captains In UF Drive

Preparations for the Scurry County United Fund drive will move forward another step Monday when team captains meet for a breakfast session.

The meeting is set for 7 a.m. Monday at the First United Methodist Church.

Division chairmen held their organizational meeting last Monday evening and since then have been engaged in selecting their captains. The captains, in turn, will select workers for their respective teams and this is due to be accomplished by Oct. 6, date set for the kick-off of the general campaign for funds.

The United Fund is seeking $40,638 here this year, of which 71 per cent will go for the operation of local youth agencies, The Scurry County Boys' Club, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. The remainder will go to six other participating agencies, including Salvation Army, Red Cross, USO, Texas Association of Mental Health, Cerebral Palsy of Texas and the Texas Rehabilitation Hospital.

General campaign chairmen are Doug McGlaun and R. C. Patton.

Israel Continues Air Attacks

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli air force planes again attacked Egyptian military targets on the southern end of the Suez Canal and the coast of the Suez Gulf today, the military command announced.

The aircraft hit the targets at about noon, and all returned safely, a spokesman said.

The Israeli air force has been pounding the same area since Sept. 9, the day an Israeli amphibious force supported by planes, ships and tanks hit the Suez coast and ranged at will for 10 hours.

The spokesman also reported that Arab saboteurs damaged a water pipe at Perazon, an Israeli-Arab village south of the biblical town of Nazareth.

US Won't Compete In Sub Numbers

GROTON, Conn. (AP) — Defense Secretary Melvin Laird said today the United States, trailing in numbers, has decided for now not to challenge the Soviet Union ship-for-ship in new submarine construction.

He left open the possibility this could change, depending on the outcome of a high-level review of military needs being conducted by the Nixon administration.

In a speech prepared for ceremonies launching the new atomic submarine Trepang, Laird said the Soviets currently possess more than twice as many underwater craft as this country.

But he suggested that subs the United States is putting to sea are better from a technical standpoint.

"We compete by being ahead in our submarine weaponry, and I for one intend to see that it stays that way," Laird said.

The defense chief said the Soviets have over 350 submarines, most of which can operate world-wide.

"More than 250 of these are attack submarines with at least 20 nuclear-powered, and growing steadily," Laird said.

"Another 60 submarines, half of which are nuclear-powered, are capable of firing the 400 mile surface-to-surface cruise missile.

"In addition, the Soviets have some 45 ballistic missile submarines with at least 15 of these nuclear powered. All of these submarines have been built since World War II."

By contrast, Laird said, the United States has 144 submarines, 61 of them diesel and 83 nuclear driven, of which 41 fire the nuclear-tipped Polaris missiles.

"At present time, we are not competing in sheer numbers, but you should know that a review of all our forces, both strategic and general purpose, necessary for this country's security is underway by the National Security Council," Laird stated.

Mild Temperatures Forecast For Texas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Another day of clear skies and fair weather is in store for Texas today with only occasional light showers on the Coastal Plains to mar the picture.

Patches of early morning fog were scattered along the Gulf Coast and a few scattered showers were tracked by radar over the Gulf of Mexico early today.

The Weather Bureau said temperatures would be mild to warm today with the highest readings expected in the middle 90s.

Despite Criticism Intercept Endures

LOS ANGELELS (AP) — To businessmen on both sides of the U.S.-Mexico border, Operation Intercept means a worthy plan run amuck.

They complain that the intensive search for drugs by U.S. Customs agents has netted relatively small amounts of marijuana, but has had disastrous effects on tourism.

Despite the criticism—which has ranged from a protest telegram sent by the San Diego Chamber of Commerce to calls of a boycott against American goods by Mexican business leaders—the Customs service has vowed to step up its search for illegal drugs this weekend.

Nearly anything that moves across the 2,000-mile international boundary—whether by foot, car, plane or boat—will be searched in the government's drive to cut off smuggled narcotics at their source, Operation Intercept officials say.

A government spokesman said the crackdown thus far has netted 2,000 pounds of marijuana, small quantities of cocaine and opium and from 75,000 to 80,000 pills of dangerous drugs.

"This is far below what we would expect in a normal week," he said.

Mexican National Chamber of Commerce officials are calling on Mexican tourists to boycott American border cities where, the officials estimate, Mexicans spend some $400 million annually.

The officials call the boycott "Operation Dignity," and some have suggested even stronger measures to get the United States to reassess the program's impact on tourism.

Fortina Canbrena, president of the Tijuana Chamber of Commerce over the boundary from San Diego, estimated business in shops and restaurants is down 40 to 75 per cent.

Tourists seeking to return to the United States after a day in Mexico are forced to wait an average two hours before they are checked through the crossing point. Some waits as long as eight hours have been reported.

IN LIBERALS SWEEPING PURGE

Czech Government Resigns

By GENE KRAMER
Associated Press Writer

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's government resigned today in a sweeping purge of liberals by the nation's Communist party.

The men swept out were followers of Alexander Dubcek, who held power when the Soviet Union led an invasion of Czechoslovak in August 1968.

Premier Oldrich Cernik's Cabinet of 18 ministers and 7 undersecretaries resigned unanimously, but Cernik was asked by President Ludvik Svoboda to form a new government, CTK, the Czechoslovak news agency reported.

Cernik and Svoboda were members of Dubcek's old regime.

The purge of government and Communist party officials was ordered at the end of a two-day probe by the Communist party Central Committee into alleged errors under Dubcek before the Soviet invasion.

An announcement said full details of personnel changes directed by the party would be made public Sunday.

A minister of the Czech state government said there had been "sweeping personnel changes" in party and government and virtually confirmed that former party chief Dubcek had been downgraded again.

Dubcek remained a member of the party presidium after losing the first secretary post to Gustav Husak last April. The latest session apparently removed him from the 11-man presidium.

In a radio commentary Czech Education Minister Jaromir Hrbek said, "The departure of some representatives of our party and government is naturally in the forefront of interest.

"Conclusions were drawn correctly from failures in the critical situation into which our peoples got because of indecision and underrating the seriousness of events by some leading representatives," Hrbek said in an apparent reference to Dubcek, under fire the past months for alleged weak leadership prior to the Soviet invasion.

Hrbek said some officials purged were "given the opportunity to work but at a lower and less responsible function."

Dubcek, 47, led the 1968 campaign to give communism "a human face" for the past month he has been the target of an officially inspired press and radio campaign accusing him of polices that made the invasion inevitable.

DEAR ABBY: For 18 years I have been married to a handsome, charming professional man. He is also an incurable philanderer. When we walk into a room filled with strangers, I can pick his victim within 10 minutes.

No one would suspect that he would follow up a cocktail party flirtation, but he does. I have covered up for him many times, and have stayed with him for the sake of the children, hoping each affair would be his last. Everyone thinks we are an ideal couple. They should only know!

Abby, does a leopard ever change his spots?

LEOPARD'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: You have your animals confused. Yours is a wolf. Covering up for a philandering husband is no way to cure him. The wife who raises the roof early in her marriage may not change her leopard's spots, but she can train him before he gets too wild.

DEAR ABBY: My darling wife of over 40 years I'll call her Bertha) has to have a cigaret in her hand every minute or she's not happy. That't not all, she is too vain to wear glasses all the time, so she is always misisng the ash tray, so we have cigaret burns in most of our tables and a couple of her favorite chairs. I have brought home ash trays as big as a fry pan, but she misses those, too.

When we are guests in the homes of friends, the hostess doesn't take her eyes off Bertha for fear she'll burn up something.

Won't you please say something in your column to let my missus know I love her but I wish she'd quit smoking?

DEAR LARRY: You've said it all, Larry. Just see that your missus doesn't miss this column.

DEAR ABBY: When someone has lost a member of is family by suicide, what should friends do?

It doesn't seem right to just ignore the situation, yet you can't write and say, "I am sorry to hear that your brother shot himself." (Or should I say, "Shot himself — ACCIDENTALLY?" Would that be better?)

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Offer your condolences, but do not mention the circumstances.

DEAR ABBY: I have never heard of a big belly getting in the way of true love. In the 15 years Joey and I have been married, Joey gained 55 pounds, and I gained 40. But if he can stand MY big belly, I can stand HIS. We both want to thank you for a wonderful column.

US Space Superiority Necessary

HOUSTON (AP) — America's leadership in the world is directly related to its technological superiority and it must continue space exploration to maintain that leadership, a former head of the Air Force space program said here Friday night.

Retired Air Force Gen. Bernard A. Schriever told 1,400 persons attending the first annual National Space Hall of Fame awards dinner that "Going ahead in space is an absolute must" for the United States.

He said America's wealth is "directly related to our world leadership in technology" and the space program "has been the cutting edge really pushing technology into the future."

Gen. Schriever, a Texas A&M graduate, said the American technology is not on a plateau, as some have said.

"We really haven't seen anything yet," he said. "Technology continues to be vital to our economy and well being."

Ten persons, four of them deceased, were enshrined in the Space Hall of Fame during the banquet. The honorees were Dr. Wernner Von Braun, director of the Marshall Spaceflight Center and a pioneer in rocket boosters; Dr. Kurt Debus, director of the Kennedy Space Center; the late Dr. Hugh L. Dryden, deputy administrator of the space agency; Dr. Masime A. Faget, engineering and development director of the Manned Spacecraft Center; Dr. Robert Gilruth, MSC director; Ret. Marine Col. John H. Glenn Jr., a former astronaut and first American to orbit the earth; Navy Capt. Alan B. Shepard Jr., the first American to fly in space; the late Lt. Col. Edwin H. White, the first American astronaut to walk in space; the late Congressman Albert Thomas, a leader in supporting the space program in Congress; and the late Dr. Robert Goddard, a pioneer in rocketry.

Letters To Editor

I know of no better way to express our appreciation than through a letter to our Snyder Daily News, as did the Rev. Mr. Herman Valladares in such a perfect form.

I am very sorry we missed the Latin American Fiesta. It must have been outstanding.

When I was a small child, we had to pick a certain amount of cotton every year so we would have spending money to go to the Spanish Fiesta in Lockhart. That was a great thrill!

We so appreciate getting to attend the Ranchers Day celebration Saturday — the old timey songs by the neat looking choir; the beautiful string music that made one want to do a Schottische; and all the trouble the good people went to, to exhibit the things we used to see in our homes; bringing back pleasant memories.

Also, we want to praise the Jaycees for opposing Madalyn O'Hair in her determination to do away with prayer in public places.

Boone Not Sure About Campaign

HONOLULU (AP) — Actor Richard Boone is packing his political guns but isn't ready yet to travel down Hawaii's campaign trail.

"I'm not sure I want to be governor," he said. "It would mean a big change in our lives, not to mention the money."

But Boone's recent disclosure that he may enter the 1970 gubernatorial race on the Republican ticket has generated a lot of talk among Republicans, who have been out of power here since 1954.

One party leader calls Boone "the only hope of the Republican party in Hawaii."

And a local radio station said 75 per cent of the listeners responding to a telephone poll indicated they would vote for the actor.

Boone, 52, an avid deep sea fisherman, came to Hawaii from California six years ago as a permanent resident and maintains homes on the islands of Oahu and Hawaii.

The onetime star of television's "Have Gun, Will Travel" says people have been asking him to run for governor "ever since I got off the plane."

Boone has been active in community affairs and youth programs and worked in the Nixon presidential campaign, but has never sought office.

State Sen. D. Hebden Porteus, the only other apparent GOP hopeful, is unannounced. Democratic Gov. John A. Burns is expected to seek a third term.

Hoyt Kelley, unsuccessful candidate for the state GOP chairmanship earlier this year, is among Boone's principal supporters.

"When you go out and talk with a high school graduate who can't read, write or speak English," he said, "then you know he has been gypped. His parents have been gypped. The taxpayers have been gypped."

Library And Museum Are Dedicated

WACO, Tex. (AP) — The Lee Lockwood Scottish Rite Library and Museum was dedicated here Saturday in honor of the internationally known financier, civic and cultural leader.

Ranking Texas and southern Masons attended the ceremonies. Presiding was John McKee of Dallas, the president of the Scottish Rite Foundation of Texas.

Lockwood, 33rd degree of Waco, was among four men formally received in customary Masonic rite.

Henry C. Clausen of San Francisco and deputy grand commander of the Supreme Council of the Southern Jurisdiction, addressed the gathering, calling the library's dedication "a new epoch in Texas Masonry."

"This will be a Mecca for all Masons," Clausen said of the $2 million structure.

Funds for the library were provided by contributions from members of Masonic orders throughout the state.

In addition to Lockwood, Gov. Preston Smith, Clausen and J. Guy Smith of Dallas were also received in the Masonic rites.

Masonic leaders were introduced by Allan Shivers, 33rd degree, former Texas governor. Gov. Smith also addressed the assembly.

AFDC Retroactive Payments Denied

DALLAS (AP)—A three-judge federal court Friday denied a request for retroactive payments of aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) in Texas.

The motion for back payment was made by attorneys for the Dallas and San Antonio AFDC mothers who were successful in a court challenge of the state's welfare laws July 1.

At that time, the court ruled that Texas had failed to give AFDC recipients an 11 per cent cost of living increase as required by federal law.

The state upped welfare payments on Sept. 1 after voters passed a constitutional amendment Aug. 4 raising the welfare spending from $60 to $80 million a year.

Attorneys Friday asked that the 11 per cent raise should be paid at least back to July 1. They also claimed that some of the mothers have not been given adequate increases in AFDC payments this month to reflect the 11 per cent increase.

Railroad Union Negotiators Meet With Labor Secretary

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Five railroad union negotiators slipped away from a labor convention here today to meet with Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz concerning a threatened strike next week against six major railroads.

Labor sources said the union negotiators hoped to persuade Shultz against recommending that President Nixon declare a national emergency which would postpone the strike for 60 days.

On Wednesday, National Mediation Board Chairman Francis A. O'Neill, advised the White House that efforts to settle the wage dispute by mediation have been unsuccessful and that a strike would cause a national emergency.

Sources said Shultz, after meeting with the union leaders in Washington to hear their side of the wage dispute, will call in industry representatives early next week.

The four railroad shopcraft unions involved—machinists, electrical workers, sheet metal workers and boilermakers—have called a strike against the six railroads for 12:01 a.m. next Saturday.

The unions, who staged the first nationwide railroad strike in 45 years in 1967, picked only six railroads this time in an effort to avoid White House and congressional intervention.

The 1967 strike was halted after two days by a special law passed by Congress that provided for a forced wage settlement for the first time in peacetime history.

The unions insist that striking the six railroads would not create a national emergency, and ask the White House to let them fight it out with the railroads. They contend the railroad industry will never negotiate realistically as long as it has hope of government intervention to halt a strike.

The union negotiators leaving here early today for the meeting at the Labor Department in Washington were William W. Winpisinger, vice president of the Machinists Union and chief negotiator for the four unions; J. W. O'Brien, vice president of the Sheet Metal Workers; Frank Gladney, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Eric Erickson, international representative of the Boilermakers Union, and Ed Wolfe, vice president of the Boilermakers Union.

The shopcraft workers now earn $3.59 per hour, which the unions contend is at least 50 cents below wages for comparable workers in other industries.

They are asking a wage increase of 10 per cent per year, plus extra pay for higher skilled workers, shift differential pay and a cost of living escalator.

The wage dispute nationwide on 76 major railroads involves a total of 60,000 workers.

The unions hope to set a pattern by striking the six railroads—Santa Fe, the Great Northern, the C&O, - B&O, Southern, Illinois Central, Erie-Lackawanna.

Testimony Begins In Murder Trial

BIG SPRING, Tex. (AP)—Testimony was scheduled to begin here today in the murder trial of Bobbie Euegene Chrisco, 23, accused in the death of a Big Spring pet shop owner, A. D. Blount.

Judge Ralph W. Caton recessed the 124th Dist. Court Friday afternoon after the 12th juror, Big Spring jeweler Travis Starr, was chosen.

A secretary's snafu in jury selection nearly caused the entire jury to be dismissed Friday. Walter W. Nichols was telephoned by the secretary to appear in court for consideration for jury duty, but a clerk later discovered that the name on the list of potential jurors was Walter L. Nichols.

After a lengthy debate, Judge Caton ruled that it was not necessary to dismiss the entire jury on the technicality.

Chrisco is charged with murder along with Bobbie Randall Crain, 23, Ray Bourbon, 76, is charged as an accomplice in the Dec. 9, 1968 death.

4-Hers Help Fight Inflation

Homemakers seeking to stretch the family income to cover rising living costs can pick up a tip from their 4-H sons and daughters. More than 1¼ million 4-H members are already getting the jump on inflation by learning to get the most for their dollar through the 4-H Consumer Education-Home Economics program.

Both boys and girls benefit from this national educational program supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service and sponsored by Montgomery Ward. 4-H'ers talk with managers of stores, banks and credit departments and carry on their own in-the-store research. They learn the basic steps to wise buying: (1) Analyze income and plan purchases accordingly; (2) Compare brands, labels, materials, warranties, guarantees and buying incentives; (3) Know when to pay with cash or credit, use their savings or borrow elsewhere; (4) Evaluate purchases to determine whether the money was well spent.

The young people find the program interesting and useful. For example, one of last year's national 4-H winners, Gail Hamilton, 18, of North Miami Beach, Fla. budgeted the family expenses for three months and saved $135 on the food bill alone.

"Read the label" is the advice given by others enrolled in the consumer education program.

The young people look for clothing labels which indicate whether a garment requires dry cleaning or simple laundering. And they suggest adding the maintenance cost of the purchase price when comparing similar clothing purchases.

Keeping the label handy for re-reading at a later date, is a tip provided by Arlene Haeder, 18, of Wolsey, S.D. She suggests homemakers permanently file garment and appliance labels and guarantees for future reference on laundering and service repairs.

Labels on canned foods are the buyer's clue to securing the best value, an Eckley, Colo. 4-H'er found in her study of food labeling. "While the size of the can is standardized," said Delaina Gardner, 17, "the difference in net weight is due to a more solid pack or greater density in syrup content."

For their work in the 1968 4-H Consumer Education-Home Economics program, these young consumers each received a $600 scholarship. Again this year, Montgomery Ward provides $600 scholarships for each of six winners. The company also offers one educational trip per state to the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago November 30 - December 4, and medals of honor for the four best projects in each county. Awards are offered through the National 4-H Service Committee, Chicago.

Wnners are selected by the Cooperatve Extension Service.

W. F. Mathises Observing Anniversary Today

Celebrating their Golden Anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. William Fowler Mathis of Fluvanna will be honored by friends and relatives at the Fluvanna Community Center today between the hours of two and four o'clock.

Married at Fluvanna October 2, 1919, by the Rev. James H. Tate. Mr. and Mrs. Mathis are well known to Scurry County residents. Mrs. Mathis, the former Mildred Elnora Boren, moved to Fluvanna with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Boren, in 1916 from Bell County and became a teacher at Fluvanna. Mr. Mathis, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mathis of Wharton, Texas, came to the Fluvanna area in 1914. The couple became engaged prior to his leaving for the Army during World War I, and when he returned from France in August, 1919, they completed their wedding plans.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathis are parents of three children who are hosting their celebration today. They are Mrs. Billy T. Hurley, the former Alice Faye Mathis, of San Antonio; Wayland Lawrence Mathis of Union; and William Orval Mathis of Fluvanna. They have seven grandchildren. They include Lou Alice, Mark, and Martha Jo Mathis of Union; Dow and Marsha Mathis of Fluvanna; Tom Hurley of San Antonio; and Mrs. Jack T. Faulk, Otis, New Mexico.

Mr. Mathis is engaged in farming activities in the Fluvanna area, and the couple are active in community and church affairs, being members of the Fluvanna United Methodist Church.

The Bishop of Chester, John Wilkins, worried in 1638 that spacemen might starve to death on the long flight to the moon which he believed might take a half a year. "No inns to entertain passengers, nor any castles in the air to receive poor pilgrims," he lamented.

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the home owner:

The median price of new single-family houses throughout the country is now close to $26,000 and is expected to go higher in the next few months. . . Houses costing $25,000 and up account for nearly 37 per cent of all sales. . . Homes with three bedrooms remain the most popular, accounting for 56 per cent of sales. . . Those with four or more bedrooms capture 23 per cent of the market, with the one and two-bedroom dwellings at 21 per cent.

A construction company that admits in its advertising that you have to be affluent to buy one of its chalettes in New Hope, Pa., provides a complete recreation, entertainment and sport package for residents, with one and two-bedroom units costing up to $33,000 — and these are just "second" homes. . . A plastics company in Ridgefield, N.J., comes up with the interesting conclusion that the sales of garden hoses increase greatly where there is plenty of rain, since home owners with lush lawns want to keep them that way.

The development of mobile home parks is expected to rise sharply now that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has drastically eased its mortgage insurance regulations on such establishments, permitting longer periods for repayment of loans and insuring mortgages up to 90 per cent of value instead of the previous 75 per cent . . . A female realtor in Anchorage, Alaska, has increased her listings considerably by pointing out to sellers that, when they permit their houses to be seen only at night, the changes of sales are reduced greatly, whereas when she handles property, it gets a minimum of 12 hours exposure every day.

While questions about the effects of condensation, especially on windows and walls, have dominated reader mail for years the leadership has recently been taken over by queries about the use of clear finishing materials on wood surfaces. (You can get Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Wood Finishing in the Home," by sending 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P.O. Box 477, Huntington, N.J.11743.)

The selection of a reliable contractor to do major remodeling work in your home is not always easy, but it's a good idea to steer clear of companies or individuals who suggest ways of bypassing local building codes and who tell you that it isn't necessary to obtain building permits because nobody will know the difference. . . Incidentally, one of the values of having a knowledge of home construction and repair is that, even if you do not do the work yourself, you can conduct a knowledgeable discussion with a contractor when a project is under consideration.

District 8 Texas Garden Clubs Meeting Scheduled In November, In Snyder

District 8 Southern Zone meeting, of Texas Garden Clubs, November 14th., headed a list of interesting projects for the coming year for the Snyder Garden Club members when they met for their first fall meeting, Thursday, at the Martha Ann Woman's Club. Mrs. John Hamblen, president, presided.

A flower arranging school for beginners will be scheduled with club members as instructors. This will be a series of sessions for men, women, and young people who enjoy creating all kinds of flower arrangements just for pleasure.

It was announced that the Garden Club will have a Spring Garden Show. The club will sponsor a kitchen shower for the Martha Ann Woman's Clubhouse. Committee chairman is Miss Myrtle Harrell. Others serving on this committee are Miss Faye Harrell and Mrs. H. F. Clark. All clubs and individual members are invited to help with this project. Further details will be announced in the Snyder Daily News. Committee members may also be contacted.

Mrs. Hamblen reported some changes in the Clubhouse By-Laws and food prices. Mrs. Homer Ray and Mrs. S. L. Terry will continue to direct the "window box" and landscaping project at Hillcrest Lodge.

Club officers for this year are: President - Mrs. John Hamblen; First Vice President - Mrs. Richard Brice; Second Vice President - Mrs. W. B. McSpadden; Third Vice Pres - Mrs. Jay Huckabee; Rec. Sec. - Mrs. Von Kleibrink; Treas. - Mrs. S. L. Terry; Corr. Sec. - Mrs. Gene Best; Historian - Mrs. Wayne Boren; Reporter - Mrs. H. F. Clark.

Mrs. McSpadden introduced the program for the morning. Mrs. Terry presented the article "The Case Against Hard Pesticides" from The National Gardener, a Bulletin of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc. Mrs. Glenna Jones reviewed a delightful book "Peacock Manure and Marigolde" by Janet Gillespie. This is a review of thoughts from a housewife who reminisces gardening techniques before the "new" rules of sprays and powders found in today's Gardener's rigid routines.

Guests welcomed to the group were Mrs. John Gary, Mrs. Thomas Perryman, Mrs. Jim Walls, and Mrs. Bill Stanley.

Mrs. Terry gave the following article.

"The Case Against Hard Pesticides" by Ralph A. MacMullan, Director Mich. Dept. of Conservation

Threats of fire, pestilence and plague against our natural resources are as nothing compared to the pervasive and sinister attacks of such destructive pesticides as DDT, Dieldrin, Aldrin, Heptachlor, Endrin, Lindane and Chlordane. These "hard" chemicals have now pollpted our environment to the extent that we no longer can eat or drink any food without swallowing at least minute quantities of these chemicals.

DDT is found in the Antartic Ocean, thousands of miles from any area where it has ever been used. It is found inside the eggs of eagles and osprevs and falcons — eggs which do not hatch into birds whose number are now in decline.

The weight of evidence against these hard, or persistent, chemicals is now so overwhelming that there is no longer any doubt of the need to end their use. Literally hundreds of documented cases tell us of the danger these chemicals pose for wildlife, for soil organisms, for the elements of the animal food chain. One study shows that up to half of all DDT spread by airplanes does not settle, but escapes into the atmosphere. Such fine particles may be carried completely around the globe in as little as two weeks, to be deposited anywhere on the earth by rain or winds.

If not spread by airplane, such chemicals are carried off the land by the runoff of rainwater or melting snow, or by any vagrant breeze. As a result, DDT and other similar chemicals are now found in every major river system of the United States, in all the Great Lakes and in all inland lakes which have been checked, in soil organisms, and in virtually all human and animal life.

Saddest of all, DDT, the most persistent of these pesticides, has a half-life of ten to fifteen years. If further use of these chemicals were halted right now, we would still have to live with the effects of our past excesses for more than a generation. In short, we are talking about altering and changing the environment that we will hand over to our children's children, or even to their grandchildren.

The questions we now must ask are: A) How much damage already has been done? And B) How can we stop further use of these chemicals? To the first question no immediate answer is possible. We know that the effects of these chemicals continue for a long time after they are released. We know that lower forms of life are more easily affected than more complex forms of life. We are beginning to understand the consequences of "biological magnification" which operates in these chemicals.

What can be done? There are now numerous "soft" chemicals which can be used to control insect pests, but which lose their strength after a relatively short period of time. Some of them are now in wide use and have proved their effectiveness in solving a broad spectrum of insect problems. Some people have voluntarily turned to them after viewing the consequences of DDT, Dieldrin, and other hard chemicals. However, some soft chemicals are extremely dangerous to handle and require more frequent application to accomplish the same ends. Also many of them are more expensive. Individual communities can contribute their share to the effort by refraining from use of DDT in control of Dutch elm disease and mosquitoes. Actually, there are numerous examples of Dutch elm disease programs that have produced satisfactory results with Methoxychlor.

Sportsmen's groups, civic organizations, women's clubs, and individuals — everybody, in fact — must speak out against hard pesticides if we are to return our environment to a more normal condition. As a beginning, we can stop the use of such chemicals in home flower and vegetable gardens, and in local mosquito control.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special) — This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. Thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories, plants and offices throughout the U.S.

Because this diet really works. We have testimonials reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. No weight loss in the first four days but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Revised and enlarged, this diet lets you stuff yourself with formerly "forbidden" foods, such as steaks trimmed with fat, roast or fried chicken, gravies, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon fats, sausages and scrambled eggs and still lose weight. The secret behind this "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. And the grapefruit juice in this diet acts as a catalyst (the "trigger"), to start the fat burning process. You stuff yourself on the permitted food listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. A copy of this startling successful diet can be obtained by sending $2 to

Citrus Diet Plan

Money-back guarantee. If after trying the diet you have not lost 7 pounds in the first seven days, another 6 pounds in the next 7 days, and 1½ pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Tear out this message as a reminder. Decide now to regain the trim attractive figure of your youth.

I'm married to Daddy. And I'm a very busy person. I have a 3-year old who goes to play-school, but that's only for 3 hours a day. And a 6-year old who goes to regular school and Boy Scouts and about 100 other things and guess who does the chauffering. (And I also have another one, as they say, in production.) Well, at least I have two lovely baby sitters, one terrific pediatrician, and a clothing store that has everything a child could possibly need including something I wish I had more of - PATIENCE and UNDERSTANDING.

Brachiosaurus, Tyrannosaurus, and their entire tribe of reptiles were wiped out about 70 million years ago. Host A Coffee Happening

The best parties very often happen in a hurry. But even the most composed, practiced party-giver will admit refreshments for an impromptu get-together can pose a problem.

Keep the menu simple but imaginative and you'll always keep your cool. Rely on fancy convenience foods and beverages, the kind you can dress up with a minimum f fuss.

For a spur-of-the-moment teen happening, for instance, turn the den into a coffee house. Bring on a variety of coffees — some strong, some sweet, none alcoholic — and serve them all in varied and colorful ceramic mugs, demitasse cups, even in steins.

For demitasse coffee keep in mind that ordinary proportions for making perked coffee must be increased to boost the coffee's strength, using your perk, but preparing only up to half of the perk's capacity. The proportion of ground coffee to water must be doubled.

For those who tend toward the sweet, prepare these sugary delights:

Brown Sugar 'n Coffee. What could be easier? Just combine hot coffee with brown sugar to taste.

Cinnamon Swizzle. Use one cinnamon stick to stir a demitasse cup of double-strength coffee.

Viennese Brew. Pour hot coffee into table wine glasses and top with softly whipped cream. Sprinkle with nutmeg and serve with sugar.

No Campus Confrontations Are Expected In Texas

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

Texas colleges and universities, watching the students pour in this fall, are taking note of college unrest over the nation and some inside Texas, but say they expect none of the so-called campus confrontations.

At the same time, most are gearing up to listen to the students in advance of trouble and thus possibly forestall any that could arise.

This appeared the picture from a survey of several institutions, large and small, by The Associated Press. Some have had student troubles of varying severity.

Of the universities and colleges surveyed, only the mammoth University of Texas with its 35,000 or so students said it is beefing up its campus security force and this largely is because of the school's growth.

And on the issue of more black courses, a major point of dispute in some colleges in the nation last year, several Texas schools surveyed say they have added such studies.

Others are resisting separate black studies, saying Negro history and the like should be a part of the total picture of America—that is, they should be included in standard, general courses.

The University of Texas at Austin, which has its share of unconventional students, has had minor demonstrations, mostly parades and picketing.

Austin police say that militants on the university campus there could not mount more than a couple of hundred serious demonstrators.

Frank Erwin, chairman of the regents, said, "These radical units are too small to cause any real trouble themselves without getting help from the big majority of real, legitimate students, and so far we have been successful in preventing this."

Student groups regularly appear before Erwin and the other regents. And President Norman Hackerman says he normally has conferences with student groups several times a day.

Texas A&M University was the first institution in Texas to have major troubles shortly after World War II and learned from that how to cope with them.

This was at a time when A&M was filled with veterans who knew how to organize men. But the demonstrations were nonmilitant although massive and A&M found all that was needed was to talk with the students.

Jim Lindsey, public information director at A&M, said, "Students here have always had a strong voice in the affairs of the institution. Each year we include them more and more in university business. There is actually the chief bone of contention."

Last spring, 15 Negro students presented a set of demands to the school in an orderly manner and these were referred to the board. There was no trouble. A&M feels that black studies should be a part of the total education, not separate.

Southern Methodist University at Dallas seemingly came close to trouble last year when 34 blacks, their leader a non-student, pressed a set of demands on the school. They remained in the president's office for five hours emphasizing their stand.

One of these demands was that SMU recruit 500 black students for this semester.

There was some talk of reducing this to 200. Then the school announced recently that 50 had been recruited to add to the 60 or 70 expected to return. School officials said more could not be obtained without raiding all-Negro colleges.

A spokesman for SMU said, We are a little ahead of the game now. Our student involvement policy dates back to 1962 when we anticipated some legitimate student complaints nationally so we were able to meet them." The school has set up a grievance committee.

The most serious trouble last year came at small Wiley College in Marshall. The Methodist institution is all-Negro. Students boycotted classes for several days but there were no riots or damage.

The demands at Wiley were multiple and President T. Winston Cole said the administration met "as well as possible" all the students' demands. One, aksing that Cole be fired, was not met.

"We have improved the men's dormitory. Two present professors have studied black courses this summer and we will listen to their recommendations," Cole said.

"The major lesson I learned during the past years," Cole said, 'is that we must all—administration, faculty and students—accept a practice of total involvement."

The huge University of Houston also faced black students' requests last year.

As an outcome, the university set up an Afro-American studies program which may become the core of a degree program.

Also set up in the Houston school is a 10-member task force appointed by President Phillip Hoffman. It includes students.

The Houston university filed a complaint against several apartment owners under the federal open housing law, the school said dormitory space would be assigned on a first-come basis, and action will be taken against any teacher practicing discrimination.

Texas Tech at Lubbock has had no student trouble, and a spokesman said any dialogue with militants "will be on a constructive nature."

Officials of Trinity University in San Antonio are not expecting difficulties. But it has set up a crisis council" to discuss problems and the administrations will meet with students to hear any complaints.

President John J. Kamerick of North Texas State University at Denton says, "some people are saying that they believe the peak of the student rebellion has passed."

But North Texas and its president take nothing for granted and Kamerick has encouraged an open atmosphere for expression of student and faculty views.

We hope we can air any of the grievances in this form," says the North Texas President.

The University of Texas-Arlington gained headlines last school year with a different kind of protest and demonstrations—against the Confederate theme used in school symbols, sports rallies and the like. Some of these have been resolved.

Arlington President Frank Harrison says that "several new programs should help us in our relationships with the black students."

Harrison said the real question is "what sort of influence outside people" might have.

The Arlington president says the school is not going to interfere with any peaceful protest or demonstration.

But, says Harrison, he draws the line at "destruction of property, physical attacks on people and a major disruption of the academic program."

The schools surveyed all indicate that they, like Harrison, are willing to listen and help but definitely do not plan to let demonstrations run wild.

DEEP SEA FISH

QUESTION: How can deep sea fish survive all that pressure and darkness?

* * *

ANSWER: A good question. In that world of ocean depth, spoken of by the frightening word abyss, light from above fails to penetrate. Six tons of weight presses down on each square inch of surface. Yet strange, fearsome-looking fish do survive down there. Our pictures do not exaggerate their grotesque appearance. They survive the pressure because they have air bladders inside which press out, equalizing the outside pressure. Upper-level fish have these air bladders, too. We show one at top, with a section of skin removed to show the air bladder. Air, like water, also has weight. Our own bodies have ways of creating inside pressure to balance against that of the air outside. As to light, the strange abyssal fishes, living in a lightless world, carry their own lighting systems. They have various organs which glow with an eerie, luminescent light, enough so they can grope their way around in their dark world, which in addition to being lightless and under such pressure, is also very cold. Let's be glad we live up in the sunlight!

RANDY ROMPS — Randy Levens played an outstanding game for Snyder's Tigers in their 13-10 conquest of Lubbock Dunbar here Friday night. Here, Randy scoots around left end while Dunbar's Larry Wilson launches a tackle. Christoval Fights Off Ira, 49-20

CHRISTOVAL — Ira's Bulldogs put up a good fight here for two periods, but the hosts' depth paid off in the second period as they were able to claim a 49-20 decision in a Six-Man football contest Friday night.

Christoval scored in the first period on a 65-yard runback of an intercepted pass, and a two-point conversion put the hosts in an 8-0 lead.

Later in the frame, Jerry Millhollon punctured the goal from three yards out for Ira as the Bulldogs narrowed the gap to 8-6.

Christoval ran a punt back for a touchdown to take a 14-6 lead in the second period, but Don Sellars connected with Kirby Sterling on a 20 - yard run and pass play and Obie Crawford kicked accurately from placement as Ira pulled even at 14-14 later in the frame.

Ira went ahead a couple of minutes later when Crawford and Robert Ramon teamed up on a 50-yard run and pass play. However, Christoval scored on a pass on the last play of the half to take command again 21-20.

The second half was all Christoval as they scored three touchdowns in the third period and one in the last frame.

Ira will host O'Brien this week.

Battling Bengals Bash Panthers 13-10

Long TD Gallops, Tough Defense Downs Rated 11

Muchachos, them Snyder Tigers have played only three games, but they've already had a successful football season. After dethroning state champion Lubbock Estacado 7-7 a week ago, they showed the poll raters it was no fluke by knocking off 5th-rated Lubbock Dunbar 13-10 Friday night in what undoubtedly was one of the hardest fought and most thrilling gridiron contests ever unreeled in Tiger Stadium.

The Panthers are big and tough and they tried their best to win. They may actually be the fifth best team in the state. If they are, you can still put the Bengals down at least one notch ahead of them for they had the ability and the fighting determination to hang in there when the odds were suddenly stacked against them.

Again, it was a great team effort, and while the offense turned in a stunning performance, credit for preserving the victory must go to the great defensive effort in the second half when the Tigers had their backs to the wall. To give proper credit, one would simply have to list the entire Bengal roster. They all came to play, and play they did.

Perhaps the two best individual performances were turned in by halfback Willis Harrison, a 157-pound senior, who struck for two lightning quick touchdowns in the second period, and Steve Dillaha, a 212-pound junior tackle, who made two key fumble recoveries and was a thorn in the Panthers' side all night.

A fumble and a penalty stopped two first period Tiger drives, but early in the second quarter with the Tigers operating from the Dunbar 47, Harrison went wide left, cut suddenly upfield near the west sideline just out of the grasp of the cornerback, and set sail towards the north goal. The safety had the angle on him, but, somehow, Harrison faked him out of position about the 20 and sped into the end zone. The clock showed 10:15 remaining in the half when quarterback Lee McNair kicked accurately from placement to put the Tigers into a 7-0 lead.

The touchdown drive was set up by a fumble recovery by Dillaha at the Snyder 46. Fullback Eddie McClain charged through the middle for seven yards on two carries to set the stage for Harrison's run.

It was the kind of play that can break a ball game open. It certainly stunned the Panthers, who, until then, were unscored on. Previously, the Tigers had concentrated their efforts from tackle-to-tackle and the touchdown play was the first wide call.

Following the kickoff and an exchange of punts, the Panthers got back in the game, spanning 41 yards in seven plays. Tailback Ronald Kinner sliced across from the one to cap the drive with 4:16 remaining. Big plays in the march were a 20-yard keeper around right end by quarterback Ernest Davis, and a 14-yard gain on a counter by wingback Edwin Toines. R. B. Young kicked the extra point.

Then, while the visitors still had visions of victory in their eyes, the Bengals stunned them again with another quick touchdown to regain the lead.

Harrison fielded the kickoff following the Dunbar tally at the seven. He moved straight up the middle of the field and seemed to gain speed as he ran into a pile of players near the Tiger 35. Somehow his momentum carried him through the cluster, and he emerged into the clear on the other side. One Panther made a dive from behind and barely missed. Then Willis appeared to be in a footrace with another defender. At the 50, they were running side by side, separated by about five yards of turf. Suddenly, the little Bengal back lurched towards the defender, then swerved to the right and slowly pulled away. He slanted towards the east sidelines and went all the way. The kick for extra point was wide left, but the Tigers were in command again, 13-7.

Davis made a brilliant runback of Snyder's kickoff, but someone rung his bell at the end of the run and Dillaha came up with another fumble recovery at the Tiger 40. Battling the clock as well as the Panthers, then, the Black and Gold almost chalked up another tally before time expired in the half.

Randy Levens started the march with an 11-yard thrust to the Dunbar 49. Harrison added two, then he went up the middle on what appeared to be a delayed buck and made it to the 27 before being corraled. On next down, the speedy senior swept left end to the 16, and Dunbar definitely was on the ropes.

Steve Pierce charged straight ahead to the 12, then Harrison swept right end to the five to set up first and goal. The Panthers wised up, however, and were waiting for the next sweep and managed to throw Willis for a yard loss on the next play. Eddie McClain regained the five, then McNair had to throw high when his receivers were covered. On fourth down, Lee attempted a field goal from the 12. From the press box, the kick looked good, but the official was closer to the play and he ruled it was wide right.

Two gallant goal line stands by the Tiger defenders preserved the lead in the third quarter. Snyder had to overcome four fumbles in the second half with defensive heroics, and the defenders came through handsomely.

Dunbar took the kickoff opening the third period and was forced to punt. The kick was short and wobbly and it struck a Tiger as it came down. Anthony Wilson recovered at the Snyder 43, and Kinner shook loose on a long run to set up first and goal for Dunbar at the six.

Davis faded back looking for a receiver on first down and was smeared at the 10. Toines swept left end to the seven on second down. Davis then tried an option play, but when he started to run Dillaha and McClain bounced him down at the eight. On fourth down, Dunbar tried a field goal. The snapback was low and the ball skittered on the ground. McClain and Ricky Glasscock crashed into the Panther backfield and dumped the "hold man" about the time he got the ball.

Snyder took over and drove to the Dunbar 29 before being stopped by a fumble. McNair turned in two nice runs around left end in this drive, gaining 11 and 15 yards. Harrison was injured while blocking on the second run, but he returned to the affray later. Randy Levens contributed a 19-yard gambol over left tackle in this march, and McClain added important yardage up the middle.

But the fumble gave the Panthers hope again, and they reached the Tiger 30 on a 24-yard gallop around right end by Milton Crittendon. On the next down, the Tigers were waiting for the counter, and they slammed Edmonson Hall down for a loss at the 33. Crittendon gained five to set up third and eight from the 28. Davis faded on the option again, but Dillaha knocked him down for a loss back to the 30. After a 5-yard penalty, the Panthers decided to punt.

Snyder took over at the 13, but another fumble on first down put the Panthers back in the drivers seat with a 1st and goal situation at the nine.

Toines gained two to the seven, then the aroused defenders socked it to the same ball carrier for a loss back to the 11 when he tried to run again. Ricky Glasscock and McClain were the first to hit him. On third down, Mike Glasscock, Dillaha and Barry Welsh did the honors, crashing through to spill Davis at the 14. The Bengal defenders again had saved six points, but R. B. Young booted a 28-yard field goal on fourth down to shave the margin to 13-10. It was the last play of the third quarter.

Early in the fourth period, Levens snared a Davis aerial at the Snyder 37. He headed towards the west sidelines, set sail towards the south goal and made it to the 22 yard line in Panther territory. The senior halfback faked one of the defenders out of his socks at the 32 to get 10 more yards in the 41-yard return.

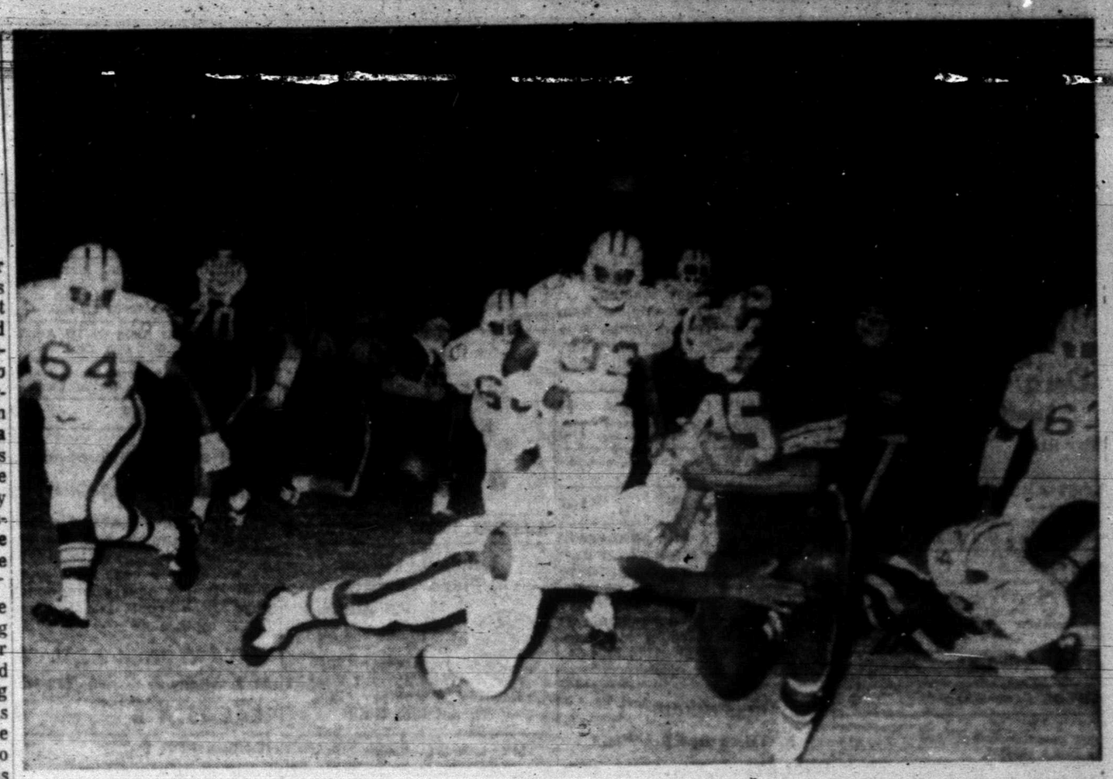
The Bengals were on the move again. McNair went around right end to the 17, Levens added four to the 13, but another fumble came to Dunbar's rescue and the Panthers took over at their 10.

After an exchange of punts, Dunbar went from its 16 to the 45, but stout defensive play forced them to punt again and the ball went long across the goal.

Snyder took over on its 20 and ran out the clock, getting a-first down in the process.

All of the Bengal defenders came through when the chips were down. They simply refused to accept defeat. Joe Hale especially, gave the opposition a hard time. Others who made their presence felt included Tony Breedlove, Bill Wilson, Merce Hernandez, Rocky Land, Larry Greene and Mark Gilstrap besides those previously mentioned. Stewart Sims also did a creditable job of punting.

Again, it was a superb team effort. We don't know how the state scribes will rank the Tigers after this second stunning upset, but their fans will put them down No. 1 in their book.



SHAKES LOOSE — Snyder's Willis Harrison (45) displays the style he employed in an earlier gambol around left end that netted the Tigers 47 yards and a touchdown against Lubbock Dunbar here Friday night. An unidentified Panther lurches at the senior back. Other Tigers in on the action are Steve Dillaha (70), Danny Reynolds (65), and Lee McNair (facing ball carrier). Dunbar boys identifiable are Wayne Stiggers (64), Clyde Moore (60), and Robert James (63). Harrison also scored on a 93-yard kickoff return as the Bengals bounced the Panther's 13-10. Broncos Shuffle Off To Buffalo

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Denver Broncos, already in high gear, shuffle off to Buffalo, and the New York Jets, trying to get out of reverse, head for the Golden West in two significant American Football League games Sunday.

Denver has won its first two games, including last week's 21-19 stunner over the Super Bowl champion Jets. A victory over Buffalo would keep the dark horse Broncos in such fancy company as Kansas City and Oakland in the Western Division race.

New York, meanwhile, is 1-1 in the East and hopes to get turned around in the right direction with a seemingly easy opponent in the San Diego Chargers.

Also on tap in AFL action Sunday will be Miami at Houston, Oakland at Boston and Kansas City at Cincinnati.

In the National Football League, Los Angeles hosts Atlanta; Washington visits Cleveland; Dallas is at New Orleans, Baltimore plays at Minnesota; San Francisco meets Green Bay at Milwaukee; New York plays at Detroit; Philadelphia is home to Pittsburgh and Chicago battles the Cardinals at St. Louis.

Quarterback Pete Liske, architect of Denver's triumph over New York, will start in place of injured Steve Tensi. Floyd Little, who carved out 104 yards rushing last week before leaving with an injury, is a doubtful starter for the Broncos.

The Bills are banking on O.J. Simpson, their glamorous rookie running back who is yet to reach full professional fruition, and veteran quarterback Jack Kemp.

Simpson, the Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, got 35 yards in 10 carries in his first regular season pro game. Last week, he toted the ball 19 times for 58.

New York, as usual, looks to Joe Namath for leadership. The smooth quarterback suffered a bruised chest against Denver, but is ready to play.

Dick Post, who scampered 147 yards for San Diego in the Cincinnati game, and quarterback John Hadl give the Chargers a ground and air attack to reckon with. San Diego has never beaten New York.

Reeves Returns

DALLAS (AP)—Running back Danny Reeves was reactivated Friday by the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League.

Reeves says his injured right knee, which caused him to miss most of last season, is "as good as ever."

Rookie quarterback Bob Belden of Notre Dame cleared waivers to make room for Reeves and was placed on the taxi squad.

Hermleigh Falls At Abilene 46-14

ABILENE — Central Catholics Charges socked Hermleigh's Cardinals 46-14 in McMurry Stadium Friday night, but the game visitors forced the more powerful team to come from behind for the victory.

Hermleigh went 49 yards on 13 plays on its first possession to take a 6-0 lead with Dale Peterson crossing the goal from the three. Tommy Vineyard passed to Bruce Hess for two points.

The hosts rallied behind the heroic playing of the Brassford brothers — Jim and Bobby. Jim tallied 16 points and Bobby added 14 as the Chargers took 23-14 lead at halftime and boosted it to 38-14 in the third period.

The hosts got two points on a safety that resulted from a blocked punt, two on a pass for bonus points, and a 55-yard touchdown run by Dennis Duggan.

Randy Roemisch carried three times up the middle and swept 50 yards for Hermleigh's other touchdown.

Gail Flails Union, 16-0

GAIL — The Borden County Coyotes chalked up a 16-0 lead in the first half here Friday night and breezed to a 16 - 0 triumph over Union's Wildcats in a hotly - contested Eight - Man gridiron contest.

Charles Billeck ripped off a 40-yard touchdown run for the Coyotes in the first period, and Joe Harding went across from the two in the second stanza to cap a drive. The extra points were collected on a pass from Rick Hendley to Jim Hodge and on a run by Hendley.

Tough Falcons Pin Hopes On Rookies

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The young Atlanta Falcons, flying high after opening their National Football League season by upsetting the San Francisco 49ers, again will count heavily on rookies Sunday when they will try to keep from being grounded by the tough Los Angeles Rams.

Seven Atlanta rookies are set to start against the Rams in Los Angeles—guards Dick Enderle and Mal Snider, tackle George Kunz, tight end Jim Mitchell, defensive end John Zook, corner back Nate Wright and left safety Jim Weatherford.

Mitchell caught three passes from Bob Berry for two touchdowns and set up another touchdown with a 40-yard run in the 24-12 victory over San Francisco. Zook, rookie reserve safety Rudy Redmond and second-year right safety John Mallory came up with interceptions.

The fact that Atlanta beat San Francisco should stave off any emotional letdown by the Rams, who opened their season by beating the Colts, their arch-rival in the Coastal Division, 27-20 in Baltimore.

Roman Gabriel completed 20 of 33 passes for 268 yards and three Los Angeles touchdowns, and the Rams defense intercepted three Johnny Unitas passes and dumped him three times.

In other NFL games Sunday, Baltimore is at Minnesota, 0-1; San Francisco plays Green Bay, 1-0, at Milwaukee; Washington, 1-0, is at Cleveland, 1-0; New York, 1-0, is at Detroit, 0-1; Pittsburgh, 1-0, is at Philadelphia 0-1, Chicago, 0-1, is at St. Louis, 0-1, and Dallas, 1-0, is at New Orleans, 0-1.

Denver is at Buffalo, Kansas City at Cincinnati, Miami at Houston, New York at San Diego and Oakland at Boston Sunday in the American Football League.

Runing back Jerry Hill, recovered from knee surgery, will play for Baltimore against Minnesota, upset 24-23 by the New York Giants. Despite throwing three interceptions against Los Angeles, Unitas completed 20 of 42 passes for 297 yards and two touchdowns. Now he will have to face Minnesota's tough front four.

If Green Bay uses the same tactics it did in beating Chicago 17-0, San Francisco will have to be geared against running. In the Chicago game, Jim Grabowski ran for 85 yards and a touchdown, Travis Williams for 67 yards and rookie Dave Hampton for 36. The 49ers again will count heavily on the passing of John Brodie and the catching of rookie wide receiver Gene Washington.

Quarterback Sonny Jurgensen and receivers Charlie Harraway and Jerry Smith should be the big offensive cogs as Washington tries to snap a 10-game losing streak to Cleveland. Leroy Kelly, defending NFL rushing champion, pulled a hamstring in the 27-20 victory against Philadelphia but probably will play for Cleveland.

The Giants should be up after their comeback upset over Minnesota but will be facing a Detroit club still smarting from 16-13 loss to Pittsburgh. Tucker Frederickson looked good last week for New York, running for 77 yards and catching five passes for 26 more and rookie Don Hermann caught two scoring passes. Mel Farr counted for much of Detroit's offensive against Pittsburgh, running for 35 yards and catching 10 passes for 59.

Hydrogen Use Is Key To Making Products Cheaper

By MAX B. SKELTON
AP Oil Writer

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A petroleum scientist says the use of hydrogen in refineries holds a key role in the industry's ability to produce better products at lower costs.

Ernest F. Marshall, associate research and development director for Sun Oil Co., says the industry's ability to hold the price line is attributed to innovations which produce not only more products from a barrel of oil but products of higher quality.

Marshall said that while the average cost of living rose dramatically in 1968 the American motorist can be comforted by the fact that during the decade ending in 1968 the price of regular grade gasoline, excluding taxes, rose by only 10 per cent.

"This slight increase is more than offset by improvements in quality and performance of motor fuels," he said in an article published in the summer edition of Sun's employe-stockholder quarterly publication.

Marshall said the catalytic cracking process first commercially developed by Sun in the 1930s led in turn to hydrogen treating, now a key to manufacturing methods for many refinery products.

He said the industry's U.S. hydrogen capacity has increased more than eightfold since 1956 and now stands at almost 4.5 million barrels a day.

Hydrogen, an odorless gas, readily combines with oxygen to form water.

"To petroleum refiners, however, hydrogen has many applications beyond its compatibility with water," Marshall said.

"Basically, hydrogen is used to improve the properties of a refinery stream. The charge stock may range from heavy oil to gasoline."

The reaction is carried out with pressures from 300 to 3,000 pounds a square inch and temperatures up to 850 degrees fahrenheit.

"Heavy stocks such as gas oil and kerosine are charged with large volumes of hydrogen," Marshall said.

"The reaction splits the larger gas oil molecule into the smaller one required for the manufacture of gasoline or jet fuel. Hydrocracking has won wide acceptance within the industry despite direct competition from the well established catalytic cracking proess."

Early large sale uses of hydrotreating involved high quality gasoline.

"Since the early 1950s, hydrogen pretreaters have been used to rid the charge stock to catalytic reformers of unwanted organic sulphur and nitrogen compounds," Marshall said.

"This process protects the reformer's platinum containing catalyst from the debilitating effects of sulphur and nitrogen. Not only is the reformer operating time increased but better gasoline is produced."

For furnace oil, Marshall said, reaction with hydrogen improves the performance in oil burners, resulting in greater operational efficiency as well as fewer service calls.

"Hydrotreating can replace the chemical additives formerly used, doing the job better and more cheaply," he said.

He said hydrotreating also is being used to benefit lubricating oils used in everything from watches to supersonic jets.

"Here hydrogen's two main benefits are better appearance of the oils and improvements in performance that gives the product a longer, more useful life," Marshall said.

"Hydrotreating is a tremendous asset to the modern refinery."

Double Deaths Ruled Murder And Suicide

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Justice of the Peace Charles R. Cashell ruled murder and suicide late Friday in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Hurst whose bodies were found Friday morning in their Lake Cherokee home 12 miles southeast of here.

Both had been shot through the head with a .45-caliber automatic pistol, according to Sheriff Noble Crawford. The weapon was found near Hurst's hand on the bed where his body was found.

J. G. Hurst Jr., the couple's son, discovered the bodies with family physician. They went to the home after Hurst failed to appear at his office and could not be reached by telephone.

The physician, Dr. W. P. Farrar, was quoted by police as saying Mrs. Hurst had probably been dead less than five hours when their bodies were found. Hurst was found alive but unconscious, and he died in an ambulance en route to a Shreveport hospital.

Commodity Check-Off Plan Postponed

AUSTIN (AP) — A referendum among soybean growers for a commodity check-off plan has been postponed by the Texas Soybean Association, John C. White, agriculture commissioner, said Friday.

The temporary delay of the proceedings was requested by W. B. Tilson, president of the association, following a public hearing in Austin Sept. 15.

If approved, the program would offer soybean growers a proposition to assess themselves for crop promotion, research, education and disease and insect control. A nine-member commodity producers board would be proposed to administer the program if established.

CAREER CORNER

By F. J. LAIN

"If I pursue the career I'm now thinking of, industrial design, should my college major be art, architecture or engineering? Or is there such a thing as a degree in industrial design?

A — The industrial designer thinks like a consumer; he or she is concerned with all the human aspects of machine-made products and environments — the working relationship between products and people.

He doesn't design engines or electronic circuitry — the engineer does that— but the industrial designer, using his technical knowledge of materials, machines, methods of production and artistic talent, deals with parts of the product you can see or touch; appearance, convenience, comfort, safety, maintenance and cost. He must design his employer's product to compete favorably with similar goods.

FASHION OF WORK. From concept to finished product, the industrial designer's job is often: (1) historical research and study of competition's products (2) sketches of possible designs (3) confer with others in company (4) selection of best design by company officials (5) make first model, often in clay (6) after modification, make working model in actual material (7) after final approval, production begins.

Beginners can't expect to take charge overnight; at first you're a "pair-of-hands" to senior designers.

VARIATIONS. In addition to designing a vast panorama of consumer and industrial products, including containers and packages, some industrial designers prepare small display exhibits or entire layouts for industrial and trade fairs, or design interior layouts for special purpose commercial exhibitions, such as supermarkets. Most of some 10,000 designers work for big manufacturers or design consulting firms. Others free-lance, or work for architects and interior design firms. Jobs are mainly in major industrial areas.

DESIGN SCHOOL. Industrial design programs are offered by art schools, colleges and universities. Programs are located in the department of art, architecture or engineering. The Industrial Designers' Society of America (IDSA) recommends that you pick a school offering a real four-to-five-year major in industrial design, not a general art or engineering program with a few industrial design courses. These schools grant the bachelor's degree in industrial design or fine arts; some also award the master's degree for advanced study. However, it is true that people with other backgrounds, notably engineering and architecture, may qualify as industrial designers if they have appropriate experience and artistic talent.

A list of industrial design schools is available, along with . . .

A BOOKLET, "Careers in Industrial Design," from IDSA. If you want a copy, send 25 cents in coin to me at this newspaper. Write "I. D." on outside envelope. Allow several weeks for delivery.

TAX BASE. The Industrial Designers' Society says current weekly earnings for beginners are about $125-175 or more, depending on qualifications. Experienced designers' salaries vary greatly, but with a few years of experience, $9-16,000 is usual. Some make $30,000 plus. Consultants can earn between $15-50,000. A few designers command as much as $200,000.

'ROUND THE CORNER: The field is growing slowly but steadily. Factors: personal replacement needs, rapid obsolescence of goods and rising population. There's keen competition for entry jobs and no guarantee that every graduate will be absorbed into the field. A severe business down turn means fewer jobs for designers. (Although, a slight dip in the economy can increase the need as manufacturers scramble to increase sales by offering better products.) This is still a new field, and the well-trained professional with talent and perserverance can pattern a future an an industrial designer.

Oil Picture More Complex Because Of Recent Events

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP pecial Correspondent

New ingredients have been added to the murky mixture of oil and global politics.

The picture of world oil, the fuel that moves economies, always has been bafflingly complicated. Insatiable global demand requires a constant flow of vast seas of it. Any break or threat of break in the flow causes crisis.

Now the picture becomes even more complex because of recent events: a burgeoning Alaska oil boom, the Northwest Passage odyssey, political upheaval in Libya, hostilities in the Middle East, nervousness in the Arabian peninsula. All these developments raise critically important questions.

Alaska's rivers of black gold should begin flowing from the frozen tundra of the North Slope by 1973. What will be the impact? What is the meaning of the tanker Manhattan's smash through formidable ice to demonstrate that a commercial route to Alaska's oil via the Northwest Passage may be possible?

Where will Alaska's oil go? What will be the effect on recurrent Arab East crises? Will the power of Arab oil to threaten Europe's economies be lessened? Will there be less American dependence on Middle East oil? Will oil lose some of its power as an instrument of Arab politics?

The importance of oil to any advanced economy can be imagined from the extent of U.S. consumption. In simple terms, to supply the United States today requires about three gallons daily for each man, woman and child in the country. Thus, the status of U.S. reserves is an enormously important national security question.

Alaska's discovery is one of the biggest ever made. Estimates of reserves in the area run as high as 100 billion barrels, as compared with U.S. reserves elsewhere of 40 billion.

Because of oil, recurrent Arab East explosions have caused crisis and near-panic elsewhere from time to time. That was so in the Suez crisis of 1956 and again in June 1967, during the six-day war in which Israel defeated her Arab neighbors.

New discoveries have eased the situation. Europe gets 52 per cent of its oil from North Africa and Nigeria, most of the rest from the Persian Gulf area. But Libya, now an important producer, recently underwent a coup whose leaders promised to point that North African nation toward "Arab socialism."

There is skittishness, too, about the Arabian peninsula. King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, a major producer, is having trouble with Pan-Arab elements which follow the lead of Egypt's Gamal Abdel Nasser. Should Faisal be toppled, it might not be long before Kuwait, the neighboring oil sheikhdom, went the same way.

In any case, if Arab-Israeli hostilities develop into yet another full-scale war, Arab rulers will be under severe pressure to shut off all supplies of oil to the West.

Thus, oil experts say, Alaska's reserves represent a form of insurance. The United States will be in a safer position to supply Europe on an emergency basis, because the reserves are there—even though Alaskan oil will not be flowing for a few years.

If the Northwest Passage proves profitable usable, this would have great impact. It would bring Europe close to the Alaska source.

Skeptics remain unconvinced, but if the Manhattan's breakthrough should ultimately demonstrate a feasible, safe and short route to the East Coast and European markets, the impact a half dozen years hence—with mammoth new ice-breaking tankers available by then—would be heavy. Europe, then, no longer would be at the mercy of wars and political crises in the Middle East.

Some experts say the extent to which U.S. dependence on foreign oil will be diminished depends upon the status of the quotas which now restrict imports. The argument is that if controls are maintained, Alaskan oil will go to U.S. markets; that if controls are lifted, it is likely to go primarily to foreign markets. The reason for this, they say, is that lifting of the quotas will permit a heavy flood of foreign oil from the Middle East, Venezuela and elsewhere.

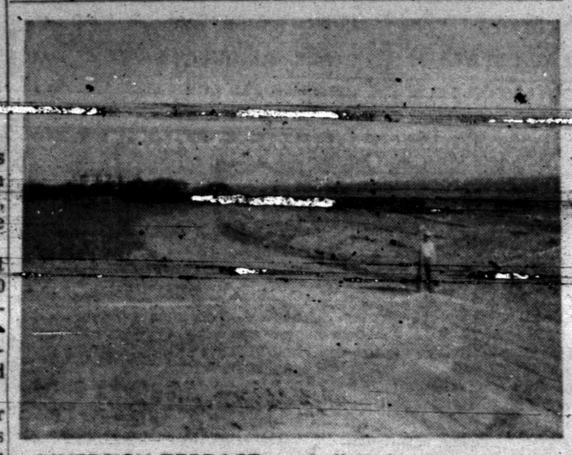
Middle East oil in particular is vastly cheaper to produce than U.S. oil and far cheaper to ship, since U.S. oil, by law, must be carried in U.S. flag ships.

The controversy over import quotas has been going on 30 years, and came to a head during the Eisenhower administration with a decision that national security would be endangered by a liberal policy on imports.

The argument on the other side is that limiting imports keeps cheap foreign oil off the U.S. market and thus costs U.S. consumers heavily, and also that it depletes American reserves.

A presidential task force now is reviewing the whole question of quotas, but the argument that the domestic industry must be kept prosperous because of national security make it doubtful that there will be a drastic break with present practice.

Currently, about 21 per cent of U.S. consumption is foreign oil. Experts say that could be lessened to a point where it would be negligible and pose no threat in time of crisis. Thus, oil producers in the Arab East, for example, would be deprived of considerable leverage.



DIVERSION TERRACE — A diversion terrace was recently built on the C. W. Addison farm just east of the Monsanto plant. The diversion was designed by Soil Conservation Service technicians and built to store outside runoff water that crosses the farm. Parallel terraces will be built below the diversion. Rare Starfish In Hawaiian Waters

By BRUCE DUNFORD
Associated Press Writer

HONOLULU (AP) — A phenomenal population explosion of a rare medusa-like starfish has been discovered for the first time in Hawaiian waters.

If left uncontrolled, the venomous Crown of Thorns starfish could spell an end to the coral reefs in the islands and leave the prized beaches here to the mercy of a pounding, unchecked surf.

Scientists from several nations have set up 20 island laboratories from Hawaii to Australia to study the unprecedented spread of this seabottom marauder.

"As late as 10 years ago a collector would have been pleased to find a Crown of Thorns starfish," says Dr. Albert H. Banner, a University of Hawaii zoologist.

Now divers have found a heavy concentration of the spiny, coral-eating starfish off the island of Molokai he said.

The first outbreak was discovered in 1963 in Australia's Great Barrier Reef. In six years, the mysteriously prolific starfish has killed off more than 100 square miles of living coral there.

It also has established strongholds throughout the hundreds of Pacific islands of Micronesia. Ninety per cent of the Northwest reefs of the island of Guam already has crumbled. Banner said.

Scientists fear that without reefs, some of the lower atolls in the Pacific may eventually wash away.

Of more immediate concern, said Banner, is the critical upset to marine ecology.

Eroding reefs would mean a diminishing supply of fish, the basic source of protein for islanders.

Just why the Crown of Thorns starfish became so abundant is not known, Banner said.

"The female starfish produces about 10 million eggs a year and normally only an average of two adults would survive," he explained.

"The coral itself normally consumes the starfish larvae, but now, for some reason a much larger percentage are surviving and the reproduction has grown to an alarming rate."

Coral reefs, the sea's underwater gardens, are built by generations of tiny organisms, each leaving behind a limelike skeleton which serves as the base for new organisms.

The Crown of Thorns starfish eats the tiny marine polyps that produce coral, halting the growth of the reef, which makes them vulnerable to the waves and other boring sea animals that are really tearing it down," Banner said.

The virtually indestructible Crown of Torns starfish is so-named because it is armed with 16 long spines tipped with poison.

It grows up to two feet in diamater. If one appendage is severed, the pieces grow into new starfish capable of reproduction. So far, the only means found to kill it is by injecting each spine with a chemical called formalin.

Australian scientists suggest the spread of the Crown of Thorns starfish may have resulted because its only known natural enemy, the Triton Shellfish, is a favorite of conch collectors.

Banner says another theory blaming man as the culprit holds that ocean pollution caused the death of the coral organisms that once fed on the starfish larvae.

Hostility May Shut Hospital

KANO, Nigeria (AP) — A missionary hospital here last year treated 31,000 patients, yet it is in danger of shutting down because of local hostility.

"I feel our days are numbered here," one American at the hospital told a visitor. "Perhaps the biggest thing is that we're up here trying to make Christians out of Moslems."

This year four American eye specialists who wanted to join the staff were refused short-visit visas, according to hospital authorities, for no known specific reason. (Immigration officials in Lagos commented: "There may be a local problem.")

A shipment of eyeglasses and supplies was held up at Kano Airport for seven months before it was cleared recently.

Hospital officials aren't sure these difficulties are purposeful — red tape, draconian restrictions and administrative tie-ups are common in this federation at war. Still, they add, it hurts.

Nigeria's North is predominantly Moslem. Kano has been a seat of Hausa-Fulani tradition for centuries, wary of change in general.

Thousands of Nigerians, from feudal peasants to the elite, owe their sight to the 143-bed hospital founded 26 years ago by Dr. Douglas Hursh of Wheaton, Ill., now retired.

It's now run by Dr. Titus Payne of Atlanta, Ga., who came here in 1967 after a year's practice in Columbia, S.C. He is the only ophthalmologist but there are two optometrists. Six American and five Nigerian nurses are trained to treat minor cases; they refer serious ones to Payne.

Dr. Payne has done considerable research, studying disease borne in the dust swept down from the Sahara. He and his staff performed 5,000 operations in 1968, including transplants.

Much of Payne's work is complicated by local treatments which have aggravated eye trouble: onion juice or indigo dye as medicine, for example, or primitive surgery. Doctors estimate that Nigeria has more than one million blind persons, or one of every 60 persons.

Rules For Middle-age Living

NEW YORK (AP) — The greatest danger to the middle-aged executive is not overwork but a big lunch, a flabby belly and a hot-temper.

By avoiding these and other pitfalls, there's no reason why the businessman can't live a happy and healthy 100 years, says the Executive Health and Fitness Guide, a new paperback book.

The years 50 to 70 are the most dangerous to a busy executive, the report said. A man who survives these years without acquiring a chronic disease such as cancer, heart disease, stroke or diabetes is likely to live on another quarter century in good health.

Some rules of healthy living, to turn the potential heart attack victim into a centenarian:

—Tell your doctor everything.

—Keep working. A study of Americans over 95, between 1951 and 1953, found not one idle centenarian. So if you're planning to retire, find another job.

—Eat what you want but eat lightly. Studies of persons living to 100 show they avoided second helpings.

Stay slim. Insurance studies show persons living longest are 15 to 20 pounds below the "ideal" weights.

—Don't be deceived if your scale shows you are at an "average" weight. You may have been trading fat for muscle.

—Quit smoking.

—Get at least an hour of exercise daily. A man who works at his desk all his life has twice as great a chance of dying of a heart attack.

—Don't rely on that executive standy, golf, to keep you fit. Golf is too easy. It doesn't burn enough calories.

—Walk whenever you can.

—Keep your cool. Stress from emotional upsets can result in coronary and heart disease. The habit of a calm mind and a controlled reaction to frustration can be cultivated. Losing their temper is a habit like any other.

—Take time to fish and think.

Curry Service Is Set Here Today

Funeral service is set for 3:30 p.m. today (Sunday) at the First United Methodist Church for Olan W. Curry, 65, who died Thursday night in the Veterans Administration Hospital at Temple.

Dr. John English will officiate at the service. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery, under direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home. Pallbearers will be nephews, Bill Hart, Bo Hart, J. D. Hart, W. C. Hart, Jimmy Hart and Rufus Hart.

Lab Animals May Be Destroyed

By C. YATES McDANIEL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several thousand laboratory animals, including 380 monkeys used in cancer research, may be destroyed to meet federal spending cuts imposed this year.

The National Cancer Institute has ordered laboratories conducting the research for the government to kill the animals unless they can be transferred safely to other institutions unaffected by a $900,000 slice from the $16.9 million cancer virus program.

The animals can't be given away as pets or to zoos because all have been innoculated with viruses associated with some forms of cancer, particularly leukemia. Scientists don't know whether the viruses cause cancer or just happen to be associated with leukemia. That's what the research is about.

The institute is less concerned about the loss of some smaller animals—hamsters, guinea pigs, mice—because they are relatively short lived and easily replaced. The monkeys are much more important. They cost more to acquire and support, and being primates, are much more closely related to man.

The monkeys will be put out of the way at a rate of about 20 weekly. Autopsies will be performed on each animal to check on any signs of cancer development.

The institute is distressed about the loss of so many laboratory monkeys but is encouraged by the growth of its monkey "breeding colony" now up to 800 and still expanding through natural births in the captive population.

In the time it takes to dispose of the 380 virus innoculated animals, the government agency expects to welcome enough babies to reduce the net loss to around 100.

Budget Cuts Halt Health Research

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ralph Yarborough, chairman of the Senate Health Subcommittee, charged here Friday that budget cuts will force health researchers to stop nearly all work on programs for heart disease, cancer, arthritis and respiratory ailments.

Yaborough, D-Tex., told the national meeting of the College of Radiology that 10 clinical research centers are being closed and the cutbacks in research inevitably will hamper the capacity for training medical students.

"Cut research and medical education suffers too," Yarborough said.

The federal government pays more than 60 per cent of the budgets of the nation's medical schools and of that total, 35 per cent comes from the National Institutes of Health. Yarborough said the Republican have cut in half the money for five of NIH's eight units in chronic disease research.

He noted that the budget sent to Congress calls for $218 million and said estimated need for medical education of the professional types alone totals over $466 million.

In Texas alone last year 1,300 sought to enter medical school but only 400 made, he said. He said another 946 applied to the state's two dental schools but there was room for only 200 first-year students.

Teen-Age Girls Man Gas Pumps

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer

HARTFORD, Mich. (AP) — Teen-aged girls man the gas pumps and do small mechanical repairs while operating their own service station in this western Michigan town of 2,300.

"I think everybody's seen a girl attendant already," said 18-year-old Merry Newland. "But I've never heard of girls operating a service station."

Merry, her 19-year-old sister, Beverly, and their stepsister, 17-year-old Sue DeMorrow, run the station leased by their parents. Mr. and Mrs. Jack DeMorrow operate another station about a mile away.

When asked about the problems of girls running a service station, Merry said there have been no serious ones. However, she said a former boyfriend broke up with her because he did not consider running a service station a ladylike occupation.

Four young members of the family help after school and on weekends, while two other girls and three young men work part-time after school.

But the burden of running the station falls upon the Newland girls because state law limits high school pupils under 18 to 18 hours of work per week.

The girls had six months training under their father before opening their own station July 25. They handle grease jobs and oil changes, fix fan belts, and change tires themselves. More serious mechanical problems are sent to their father.

Four or five others operated the station before the girls took over. But the others found the station unprofitable despite its location at an Interstate 94 interchange between Kalamazoo and Benton Harbor. There are seven other stations in town.

Merry said the station is now in the black.

"A lot of the girls who work here have friends that buy gas," she said.

Chronic Disability Reduces Work Activity

AUSTIN (AP) — Chronic disability reduces the work activity of at least 13.6 per cent of the tate's population, Laurence Melton, chairman of the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped, said Saturday.

Melton said 42,171 handicapped workers found jobs in the competitive market through the Texas Employment commission in 1968. This totaled 13 per cent of the national total of handicapped placements.

Melton urged employers to give increased consideration to the capabilities of handicapped workers when they have jobs to be filled.
