Mussolini, Man Of Many Guises, In A Kaleidoscopic Variety Of Moods, Postures, Circumstances And Attire

MEDITATIVE At a Veterans' hospital

AHORSE His morning center

ELOQUENT Haranguing the Black Shirts

CAESARIAN A character portrait

TALKATIVE With the King

PROUD Reviewing the fleet

OBSERVANT Watching military maneuvers

By ALICE ROHE NEA Service Special Correspondent ROME, May 2.—Four years from today I will meet you here. My rendezvous is with Benito Mussolini, the most spectacular figure in modern history.

With the quiet moment which characterizes him, Italy's Fascist Premier springs up, grasps a photograph of himself, goes to his desk and, with a decisive sweep of the pen writes my name, Rome, the date, and adds to my pleasurable surprise "Devotissimo Mussolini." (Devotissimo Mussolini.)

I look at him, appreciating his memory of people. For the last time I had talked with Mussolini just before the march on Rome, when the world did not realize that this black-shirted man held the destiny of Italy in his hands.

"Only," he continues, "you must not wait that long—come and see me before then."

The four-year-lance rendezvous is made by Mussolini when I speak of his miraculous escapes from repeated attempts on his life.

Over his head the bust of Julius Caesar, whom he emulates, forces an inevitable comparison. Mussolini's head sits upon a powerful neck. His face, despite the continued reports of his bad health, shows no traces of illness.

"It is difficult and controversial for those who come after to measure and define a political figure. Time and ideas continually change the point of view. It is still more difficult for contemporaries to place a leader of people in those and space. It is your and impossible to define oneself regarding himself. I know this, that I live and work and prefer to be judged by my work."

Italy His Ego One most prominent thing about Mussolini is that he leaves no one lukewarm or indifferent. People are either extravagantly for or extravagantly against him. And one flash from his prominent eyes betrays a man of great ego—but his ego is spelled ITALY.

"I have no special definition for patriot," he replies. "Patriot for me, as for all, can have no other meaning than he who places love of country before love of self and for this love is ready to sacrifice even his life."

Yes it is arduous until my rendezvous four years hence with the famous Fascist premier.

Personally I am interested in the changes in Mussolini himself. The very elegant figure in correct afternoon clothes recalls the rather ordinary brown suit and brown derby hat of an individual less than four years ago.

It is the custom in interviewing Mussolini to ask in a questionaire. Typewritten responses are granted. This obviates misrepresentation and loss of time.

CLEAN UP

Just why anyone would be so negligent of their premises as to need to have some one inspect their homes and places of business in order to get the necessary work done, we do not know...

The inspection committee informs us that some have never made any effort whatever to clean up the trash, cut the weeds, and gather up the tin-cans, etc.

The corporation of the people is urged in connection with this campaign, and with the proper co-operation the town will be made clean and healthy.

Every person who owns a home, or who is renting a home, no matter whether that home be a five-hundred-dollar garage or a fifty-thousand-dollar home, is invited to take an active part in the campaign this week...

WHEN A CHILD WON'T EAT

Parents who coax and coddle and threaten when a child refuses to eat are on the wrong track, according to Dr. Frank Howard Richardson, a noted child specialist.

Instead of humoring the child by urging him to eat he should be made to sit down at the table five times a day, for 30 minutes at the three regular meals and for 20 minutes at mid-morning and mid-afternoon lunches.

Suitable foods are to be placed before him each time, but no effort whatever is to be made to induce him to eat. He may eat or not as he chooses.

Dr. Richardson declares that there is no danger that a child will starve himself under such circumstances, but that within two or three days the "cure" will be under way. In conclusion, the doctor says: "The relief afforded sorely tried parents by this course of action is so genuine that parents usually wonder why they waited so long before adopting it."

VOTE TODAY

Citizens of Lubbock, you have a duty to perform today. You are called upon to authorize the issuance of $659,000 in five per cent bonds for the purpose of refinancing a number of six per cent warrants, issued for improvements in Lubbock.

The rapid growth of Lubbock during the past three years necessitated the extension of the water-mains, the drilling of other wells for water, the building of large reservoirs and stand-pipes, the laying of many miles of water-mains and laterals, and the connection of new sewer and drain-mains, and the installation of storm-sewers. This was necessary, and it was not known just how much the entire program would cost, warrants were issued in payment for same rather than go to the people with many bond issues. However it is now known practically what the requirements will be for the city's progress and development for the next year or so, and in as much as the bonds are for a longer period and larger amounts the rate of interest is one cent less, which means a saving of more than $1,500,000 on the entire issue.

The additional funds will be used for building a new fire station in the Southwest part of town which will mean the reduction of fire insurance premiums as well as obtaining for the city a reduction in the key rate of insurance which will represent another great saving to the people, besides giving greater protection. Another improvement that will be made will be the addition of another stand-pipe in that part of town, so that water may be supplied to many of the homes that are now unserved. The Commissioners are anxious to serve all of the people within the corporation and they are doing so at the very least cost possible.

It is therefore your duty as citizens to go to the polls and vote for the bond issue today, and ok the action of the commission. They have spent much time and thought on the proposition and this is their solution, so let us express our confidence and show our appreciation in the work they are doing by voting for the proposition.

It is purely a business proposition. It is just this in a nut-shell. We will either pay for these improvements with warrants at the rate of six per cent interest and suffer a raising in property valuations or we will pay for the improvements by the issuing of bonds at five per cent interest and not have to raise the value of property to meet these obligations.

The Avalanche believes it is the proper thing to do, and we urge the readers of this paper to vote for the bonds. Do not feel confident that it will carry without your vote and stay away from the polls but vote.

Citizens of Lubbock, you have a duty to perform.

THE FLOODS

This has been a year of abnormal rains, in some sections and so we are having not only the unprecedented floods of the lower Mississippi—the greatest flood in its history—but scores of lesser floods in the large tributary streams that feed into the Mississippi, and in other large river systems in the central part of the United States.

Meteorologists can predict rains only a few days in advance; they can often predict floods due to incessant rains many days in advance. They can not say why we have the rains. The floods began as far back as last October, due to heavy rains in August and September. They have gone on all winter in one region or another, augmented by rain, and more rain, swelling the smaller waterways, which in turn swelled the greater until we have now the terrible devastation that is being produced by the Mississippi. The weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture issued flood warnings constantly from October on through the winter in various localities, based on observations of rainfall and river stages, as one river system after another became affected by the long continued rains. The great Mississippi flood was not unheralded. Many thousands of people, taking advantage of advance warnings, moved their families and possessions beyond danger of overflowed waters. Others, unable to leave their homes or business properties, made what preparations they could to endure the period of flood hazards and anxiety. Unfortunately thousands of others have been unable to leave the threatened districts and are now suffering great hardships in spite of all efforts to warn and aid them. The first flood of importance was that of the Neosho River, in Kansas and Oklahoma in October. This was the greatest flood on record for that region. Then came more rains, extending over Ohio and the upper Mississippi Valley. These rains caused floods in all streams tributary to the Ohio. Normally October and November are the season of lowest water in rivers, yet in 1926 we came into early winter with nearly all the rivers in the Mississippi system, if not at "bankful" stage, at least at a stage much above normal. It was apparent to trained observers that winter and early spring rainfall above normal and considerable increase must make big floods in the spring.

The damage to property is beyond human minds to estimate, and the damage to the farms of that section will never be known. Miles and miles of territory is under water. Entire villages have been humanity can do to make the conditions more bearable is being done. Relief is pouring in, and much suffering will be avoided by reason of the nationwide offerings taken for that purpose. Lubbock responded nobly to this cause, and the churches did their part well and cheerfully. The quota asked for Lubbock County was $200 but this was considerably exceeded by the churches alone, besides contributions from the proceeds of picture shows, and many other organizations and individuals will yet make up funds for the cause.

OUT OUR WAY

SO THINK WE

We think that it is very important that Lubbock people know more about the town in which they live. We think the Chamber of Commerce could do a very fine work by taking an industrial survey to the extent of learning exactly by the number of wholesale houses, retail houses, classified, the number of every other valuable and commonly wanted information, so that the people can be able to tell inquirers about the town.

We think Lubbock is growing many shade trees now, and it behooves those who have trees to watch them closely for the appearance of the many pests that might attack them. If noticed in time many valuable trees will be saved to the town, and every tree is worth a lot of money to the town.

We think there are too many colored people living in rent houses in the residential section of Lubbock or at least there are too many living in the same house. It is a habit for one servant girl to keep three or four others with her, which means that three or four hundred colored girls and some men are living in the white section of the town. This is apt to prove a bad thing and should be remedied.

We think that a thorough survey of the colored section of Lubbock should be made, and find out just the exact conditions that exist there, and take steps to clean up the district. Provide better equipment for the colored folks, in the way of water and sewer and lights, telephone systems, etc. It would cost the people of Lubbock a great deal of money to give these people these conveniences and we believe they will be better citizens, and the cost of law enforcement will be less, and more satisfactory.

We think that the fellow who can never see any good in anyone else must be a mighty rotten fellow himself. There is some good in nearly every human being, and if we will only look for the good in them and not the bad, it may be that there might come about a great change in the conduct of folks.

We think that there is no wonder that some of the towns on the west are losing some of their people. We have just noticed that everything and everybody are going to Quanah, according to the Quanah Chief. Possibly when that town gets all of the people and all of the industries that they can handle some of the other towns will have a chance to grow.

We think Lubbock could never make any worse mistake than to narrow any of the streets when paving is put down. The parking system in the center of the street is much preferred. It may not look as well, but it serves the purpose of furnishing a mighty good drive way on the streets and does not crowd the traffic to the center, increasing the possibility of collisions.

We think you will not be doing your full duty as a citizen of Lubbock if you fail to vote for the bond issue today, as it is very important that the bonds carry, and it will mean a saving to the people of this city of more than $1,500,000 dollars difference in interest if the bonds carry. This is a large sum of money, and we cannot see why any citizen of Lubbock should not be in favor of the issue.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that very large attendance was seen at the Sunday schools last Sunday in Lubbock and many of the boys participated in the services who had not been present for many months previous. It was Boys Day, and they appreciated the recognition.

It is reported that the Western-er bag is going to Wichita Falls in an effort to win first honors, and of course Lubbock people are backing them in the last. We feel sure they will be in the winning class, and they are certainly deserving of all the honors they can possibly have bestowed upon them.

It is reported that the matter of numbering the houses in Lubbock is receiving attention of the Board of City Development. This is one of the things that should be done, there are many of the streets that are not marked, and because of this there is a great deal of inconvenience experienced by messenger boys, and delivery boys of various institutions.

It is reported that Lubbock is now experiencing the building of more real substantial dwellings than at any other period of the building history of the city. Brick and tile, bricks, concrete and brick veneer being the predominant varieties now.

It is reported that many of the housewives of this city have been greatly consoled by reasons of the floods in the Mississippi valley. They say they would rather put up with the sand storms of the South Plains when they come than to be flooded with water in the Mississippi valley section.

It is reported that there are numbers of people who need employment in Lubbock, and there are also numbers of people who would like to have work done, but they do not seem to know how to get together. There should be an employment bureau here so that people wanting work and those wanting help could be supplied.

It is reported that the newspapers of the state and nation have been given the information that Jim Ferguson is for Al Smith for president. That is not any surprise to us. Part of the business we were confident all the while that Jim was for Al tooth and toenail.

It is reported that Mitchell county voters said by their vote a few days ago that they were not going to have the finger of scorn pointed at them any longer because of the rough roads through that county on the Bankhead Highway, and they voted bonds in the sum of $250,000 to the tune of 16 to 1.

England, Too, Has Poor Men's Sons Who Become Industrial Giants

By MILTON BRUNNER NEA Service Writer

LONDON, May 2.—The business shall prosper and one day the son of Ludwig and the son of John shall be at the head of the greatest combination in the British empire—a concern with three hundred million dollars capital.

It fifty years ago a cypri had foretold this to Ludwig Mond, the German immigrant into England, and to John Brunner, the son of the Swiss pastor who also emigrated to England, the young men would have thought she was crazy. Three hundred millions, and they with barely little resources outside their business brains and their chemical knowledge!

Yet today Mond's eldest boy, Sir Alfred Mond, is head of this world-challenging combine and Brunner's eldest boy, Sir John Brunner, is on the board of directors. It's the greatest romance in the history of British business—as romantic as any of the fairy stories connected with our newer land of opportunities.

A Small Beginning When the Swiss pastor settled in Liverpool back in the forties, he put his 15-year-old son, John, to work with a firm of alkali manufacturers at Widjess. The factory was old-fashioned and it handled things according to antiquated methods.

In 1862, at the age of 23, Ludwig Mond, armed with diplomas from great universities in his native Germany, came to England. He had a process for the recovery of sulphur from alkali waste. He had a new method of making soda. He had a scheme to utilize the ammonia in which was secured when coal gas was distilled for gas. He had a plan to get nickel out of the poor grade ore.

Chance brought him into contact with young Brunner. They decided to pool their slender capital and start a soda works at Norwich. It prospered beyond their wildest dreams. They soon had great chemical works all over Great Britain owned by Brunner, Mond & Co. The Mond Nickel company practically got a monopoly of the nickel of the world.

Both men died multi-millionaires. Their sons carried on the business and at the same time entered politics. John F. L. Brunner sat in the House of Commons for 12 years. One of his daughters married into the continental nobility. Sir Alfred Mond, eldest son of the original Mond, was educated as a barrister, but forsook the practice of law to head the head of the chemical firm. He also entered Parliament and during the war entered Lloyd George's cabinet first as commissioner of war and later as minister of health.

The reigning sensation in the business world this year has been his coup whereby he brought about an amalgamation of Brunner, Mond & Co., the Nobel Industries Limited, the United Alkali Limited and the British Inventions Corporation in the new concern—Imperial Chemical Industries Limited.

The combine unites all the big British chemical concerns. It enables them to present a united challenge to the powerful industries of the United States and Germany. It places capital at the disposal of British dyestuffs which will free the British textile industry from any reliance on German products. Dyestuffs also mean explosives. The combine thus protects Britain in war as well as in peace.

It is reported that the matter of numbering the houses in Lubbock is receiving attention of the Board of City Development. This is one of the things that should be done, there are many of the streets that are not marked, and because of this there is a great deal of inconvenience experienced by messenger boys, and delivery boys of various institutions.

It is reported that Lubbock is now experiencing the building of more real substantial dwellings than at any other period of the building history of the city. Brick and tile, bricks, concrete and brick veneer being the predominant varieties now.

It is reported that many of the housewives of this city have been greatly consoled by reasons of the floods in the Mississippi valley. They say they would rather put up with the sand storms of the South Plains when they come than to be flooded with water in the Mississippi valley section.

It is reported that there are numbers of people who need employment in Lubbock, and there are also numbers of people who would like to have work done, but they do not seem to know how to get together. There should be an employment bureau here so that people wanting work and those wanting help could be supplied.

It is reported that the newspapers of the state and nation have been given the information that Jim Ferguson is for Al Smith for president. That is not any surprise to us. Part of the business we were confident all the while that Jim was for Al tooth and toenail.

and local he said should in co-operation with government institutions organize some agency by which loans to farmers and advances to merchants and flood banks can be mobilized at once.

Backwaters Damage NEW ORLEANS, May 2 (AP)—Five flood and backwater from five rivers was reaching out today in also northeastern and east central Louisiana parishes, the torrent flowing through the huge artificial levee system made by the Mississippi river levee south of here apparently had removed the danger from New Orleans.

Conditions Improve Some improvement in the flood conditions both in southeastern Arkansas and Mississippi was reported with the worst apparently over and officials turning their attention to health and sanitation and to rehabilitation after the flood waters recede.

Stupendous is the task ahead that the Red Cross at Washington appealed to the country to double the five million dollars already given for flood relief. This step was taken after Secretary Hoover had personally reported to President Coolidge on his inspection of the flood area and had conferred with the cabinet committee and Red Cross.

Recent City Safe Reassuring news for New Orleans was given by Major General J. W. Win, chief of army engineers, who accompanied Mr. Hoover here last week. He declared that the Mississippi levee was under water with Mer Rouge and Oakridge threatened and one thousand refugees already in flight.

Arkansas river waters also have reached into Texas parish, inundating the northern part of the parish were under water with Mer Rouge and Oakridge threatened and one thousand refugees already in flight.

Some water also is going into East Carroll parish and latest reports were that Lake Providence was threatened. Vidalia and Perry say were in the line of the main Mississippi flood, for streams of water were being made to throw temporary dikes around those towns in order to save them.

Fight Against River The flood from the Otomachis river is now moving slowly into Monroe and West Monroe in Ouachita parish and large forces of men, boys and girls were engaged in toppling the levees there in the hope of protecting the greater portion of the two cities, whose combined population is about 25,000. The Otomachis parish, adjoining Catahoula, also was feeling the force of backwaters, while southward in Avoyelles some two hundred families were obliged to flee from the north side of the town of Moreauville when backwaters from the Mississippi, Red and Black rivers cut from 2 to 3 feet during the day.

Besides inundating rich cotton sugar cane and truck lands, the waters have invaded the oil and gas producing section, both in northeastern Louisiana and Arkansas. Dispositions from Alexander and production of both oil and gas was at a standstill with more than one hundred and fifty production wells shut down.

Highway Group Disavows A ROAD BOND ISSUE AUSTIN, May 2 (AP)—Any plan for a constitutional amendment to allow a state wide road bond issue would not be endorsed by the Texas highway association, officials said today. Declaring they shared the view that the state's financial situation probably would not be feasible at present.

The governor indicated today that he thinks the $25,000,000 or so of highway department bonds due next year is about all it can administer responsibly and quickly under the present system.

Mudspeth Favors Funds FOR MINES SCHOOL AUSTIN, May 2 (AP)—Congressman Claude Mudspeth of El Paso today urged house and senate finance committees to recommend an increase in appropriations for the Texas University system of mines at El Paso.

THE FAITHFUL FLOWERS

The day she died her house went down. As if its strength was hers alone. The curtains changed to dusky brown. And lost the beauty they had known. The man she loved threw pride away, And deeper sank day to day. And then at last he disappeared. A broken thing, and winter came. And none that pleasant doorway neared. Dye settled on each window frame. The house which smiled when she was there. Had lost the strength which kept it fair.

We watched it wither and decay. We saw her dreams fall one by one. For none she'd loved, with love away. Had any heart to carry on. And then came spring, and at last the sun. There bloomed her rows of daffodils. Her bright wreath flung spray and spray. Of beauty for the world to vie. Her passing bloomed, as if to say. This is the thing she'd have to do. Only the flowers she'd left behind. Had kept her lovely dreams alive.

MATADOR ERRORS AID IN 13 TO 12 WILDCAT WIN

WALKER AGAIN HAS MARGIN OF SINGLE RUN FOR A DEFEAT

Again "Iron Man" Walker led a team of an Abilene institution for a one-run tally—it was the third time for "Big Ray" Walker to drop a one-run margin to the Abilene college this season, two to Simons University and one to the University of Abilene Christian College. The Wildcats romped on the offerings of Freeland's ace yesterday afternoon at the Tech Park to defeat the Texas Tech Matadors by a score of 13 to 12. The Wildcats scored in seven of the nine frames against Walker yesterday.

Walker, who pitched for the Abilene team, was the only pitcher to begin with Walker's man. Walker walked a man and then followed with a single from Robinson, initial pitcher coached by Coach Morris, which scored the initial runs in the first inning. However, the Matador pitcher then lost the game in their last at-bat at the plate with two outs, an error from Guthrie, Christian shortstop, and sacrifice fly. In the second inning, the Wildcats counted with a single from Hill, Cat receiver, and a double by O'Neal.

Piled Up Lead

When the Matadors hit in the fifth frame it seemed as if they had a comfortable lead to work with, as they scored four runs and a home run off of Robinson. The Red Viper pitched a wild ball, one for two bases from Let of Ray Walker and one for a home run from the smashing Dick of "Chubby" DeWitt. But the Cats never looked back hitting the time and took advantage of the loose plays made by the Scarlet fielders.

Two runs made by the Wildcats in the sixth inning were donated to a silver platter when on three occasions Christian runners were on third and first bases. Hamilton, Tech receiver, in his attempt to catch the runners on first and second allowed runners to "Topper" Rigney fumbled Hamilton's throw and again when Hamilton threw to second base for Rigney to fumble. Both of these runs were scored under the circumstances—so they were chalked up to Hamilton's throw and again when Hamilton threw to second base for Rigney to fumble. Both of these runs were scored under the circumstances—so they were chalked up to Hamilton's throw and again when Hamilton threw to second base for Rigney to fumble.

Bad Running

Then, too, loose base running was displayed at intervals of the game by the Matadors—on the first inning Rigney was on third base and Peterson drove out a fly ball to centerfield and Rigney could not stand on the base and let the runner go by. Again in the seventh inning Walker and Peterson got together and were doubled out. Walker grounded a ball to Hill to second base and Peterson was doubled out. Peterson was doubled out by Peterson. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING

A. C. C.—Coleman singled to centerfield and Coleman's cost second. Hamilton's passed ball both Coleman and Durham advanced a base. O'Neal singled to left field scoring Coleman and Durham took third on a fielder's choice Durham went out Watkins to Hamilton at the plate and O'Neal took third and Davis was safe at first. When Hamilton attempted to get Davis at second Rigney fumbled the catch and O'Neal scored. Watkins took third base. Again Hamilton attempted to catch Powell at second and the throw was high allowing Powell to be safe and Davis scored. Hill grounded out Walker to Sams. Colley grounded out Rigney to Sams. Three runs, three hits, three errors.

SEVENTH INNING

A. C. C.—Henricks flew out to Marshall to deep left. Robinson grounded out Peterson to Sams. Coleman doubled to centerfield. Durham was safe on Peterson's error. O'Neal tripled to score both Coleman and Durham. Davis struck out. Two runs, two hits, one error.

EIGHTH INNING

A. C. C.—Powell singled to right field. Hill struck out. Colley went to rightfield and Powell went to third base. Henricks singled to centerfield to score both Powell and Colley. Henricks was safe at second when Rigney dropped Hamilton's throw for Jim Robinson grounded out Walker to Sams. Coleman singled to left field and Henricks took third. Walker caught Coleman off base and went out Walker to Rigney. Two runs, four hits, one error.

NINTH INNING

A. C. C.—Hill singled to centerfield. Colley doubled to center. Hill grounded out Peterson to Sams. Two runs, two hits, one error.

LOBOES WILL PLAY WAXAHACHIE TRIBE FOR STATE CROWN

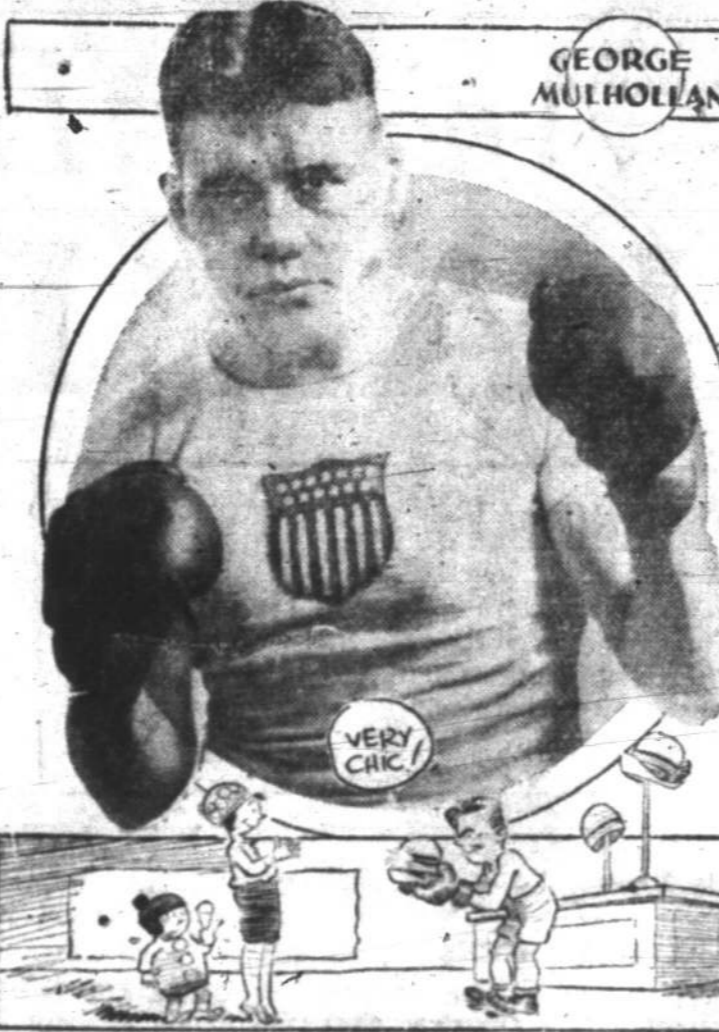

(By Associated Press)

CISCO, May 2.—The Cisco Big Dan Lobos, who brought the winning streak of Waxahachie high school after the latter had piled up 63 consecutive victories, are negotiating with the Ellis county club for a final series to determine the state championship. It was announced Monday.

By playing a ninth inning ball, the Lobos Saturday defeated the Indians 12 to 8.

It was Waxahachie's sixty-fourth straight when the Indians won the south-central Texas championship by defeating Temple. The Indians also won the first of the two games series with Cisco.

Lacked Heart to Kayo Opponents

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 2.—You need a fighting heart and the viciousness that made Jack Dempsey famous to stay among the top boxers in the boxing world.

That explains why George Mulholland, former Butler athlete, is now operating a chain of women's hat stores here instead of boxing for a living—he lacked the heart and viciousness.

For five years, Mulholland was a football star at Butler. During those years, four years he boxed quite a bit in college circles.

He had the build of a Tom and the physique of an iron man and, as a result, he was crowned national A. A. U. junior lightweight champion before he was through an amateur.

He was also a member of the 1924 Olympic team that took Sam to Europe.

Like La Barba and a great many amateurs who later entered in as professionals, Mulholland felt the need of his dough—especially since college expenses were piling up regardless of the size of his roll and turned pro last December.

The beginning of his professional career was not successful. He checked up victories against some of the best light heavies despite his lack of experience. That is, everything but the fighting heart that could have made him a great fighter.

He had the punch to rock 'em to sleep, but he never used it. He didn't have the heart. He was known for his sportsmanlike sports writer said, and he never could reconcile himself to battling an opponent until he took the count.

Enter the hat stores.

Mulholland said he would work under any man and that he had to get into a business of his own. Millinery shops have always run in his family so it was not surprising to find him interested in that line.

Mentioning three women's hat stores is about all one fellow can worry about any way, and this enterprising of the youth who might have been a king in the boxing world is something quite different from any athlete's attempt in the business.

Before the game Walter Johnson, Washington's star pitcher, was presented by Speaker Longworth with a silver baton, won in a previous game.

Manager Harris was on the bench nursing a slight leg injury in batting practice.

Stribling To Open Arena With Tommy

NEW YORK, May 2.—Tommy Stribling, Philadelphia, and Tommy Laughran, Philadelphia, will try the lid off an outdoor season at Ebbets Field tomorrow night that promises to make pugilistic history before the curtain rings down in October. The bout is scheduled for 10 rounds.

Stribling, before both youngsters, will be the prize of a championship match with Jack Dempsey. The bout, now rampant in an aggressive comeback campaign, will be a fight for either Stribling or Laughran would forecast a light-heavyweight "elimination" match to complete a hectic summer that already promises extensive fighting for championships in virtually every class.

WHOLESALE CREW TAKES BANKERS IN CITY LOOP OPENER

The Lubbock City League will start off this afternoon with a whing when the Wholesale crew takes the Bankers in the Tech Park in the opening game of the series.

The Wholesale crew, which is managed by Terry, former Lubbock pitcher and manager of the Wholesale, stated that his crew was in good shape and are showing mid-season work in their previous games so far.

In a recent game with the Shallowater club Terry's machine defeated the old leader of the metropolitan Lubbock county city by a score of 3 to 1. They are hitting hard, fielding excellently, and are in truly good form, he said last evening.

Although the money changers have had but few workouts and are handicapped with size arms and other injuries that are with the city game manager Judge Raley stated that he is ready to go and will be out this afternoon with his crew of Bankers who mean business.

Raley has a veteran machine—six of them that have participated with the money lenders since the beginning of the Lubbock City League and will no doubt give the high rated Wholesale a fair test of the game when the initial ball is tossed.

"Cap Moody Smith, fast ball hurler of the Bankers pitching staff will start the game for the Bankers and Lawson will assume mound duty for the Wholesale." White Smith has not had but few weeks of lumbering he is a demon to the box at late season.

The game was first announced for the Merrill Park but by agreement of the managers the scene of the opening contest has been shifted to the Matador Park. An official ball was adopted at the meeting of the managers last evening and will be purchased through the Nislar Hardware company. Attractive prizes are being offered to champions of the league this season by the Nislar Hardware company.

Truck Farming In Plainview Popular

Special to The Avalanche
PLAINVIEW, May 2—Small tract farming is coming into prominence in the Plainview country, and the demand for small tracts of irrigated land around Plainview is the greatest in the history of the section according to well informed men here.

During the past few years there has been a tremendous increase in small acreages around the city, and recently Graves Long, a well known land agent, has been busy selling up as a subdivision of the city and sold in small tracts for truck and poultry farming. There has never been a failure on one of these small tracts.

Poultry raising, gardening, and fruit raising are the principal pursuits on these small tracts. Practically all of them have irrigation systems on them capable of producing such as three thousand dollars' worth in some instances.

Lamb County Has 60,000-Bale Crop

Special to The Avalanche
LITTLEFIELD, May 2—The rains at Littlefield have closed for the season, giving a total of 15,000 bales at Littlefield. This is a tremendous increase over the amount of cotton heretofore ginned at this point. There will be about 60,000 bales ginned in Lamb county.

Some very large individual yields were made. L. L. Allen, farmer east of town, picked 83 bales from 77 acres. V. L. Castleberry, southwest of town, ginned 99 bales off of something over 125 acres. Sleds were used almost altogether in gathering the cotton, and there was considerable loss. With the perfection of the sled, however, it is expected that these losses will be obviated in the future.

Rail Contractors Progress Rapidly

Special to The Avalanche
PLAINVIEW, April 25—Twenty miles of the dump for the new line of the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad company has been completed on that part of the new road which will be above the caprock according to a report of Sprague and Nisley, the general contractors.

Peterson, Sherry and Gunther, the contractors under the caprock are making rapid progress hammering away at the caprock with their excavating machinery. Several miles of dump from Estelline to the caprock has already been completed by that company.

On the plains, eight camps are now established from which grading operations are being directed and managed. One is between the junction north of Lockney and six-tenths miles from that point to Plainview. Two camps are working on the line from the junction through Lockney to Petersburg and Lubbock, and the remainder of the camps are on the line from the junction to the caprock, according to A. A. Nisley at Plainview.

Done By Spring

So far no work has been done from Plainview to Dimmitt, the plans being to complete the line into Plainview and Lubbock first.

Plenty of time is given the plains contractors, Sprague and Nisley, because of the length of time it will take the contractors to complete the ascent of the caprock between Lockney and Quitaque. It is the contention of rail officials that Quitaque and that part of the territory under the caprock will have service from the new line before Winter and that service to the plains cities of Lockney, Petersburg, Plainview, Dimmitt and Lubbock will be in force by Spring.

Mr. M. C. Overton of the Lubbock sanitarium, is expected today from St. Louis where he has been taking special work in diseases of the children studying in the hospitals there and in Washington university.

DAUGHTERS of MIDAS

by Anne Austin

T. G. CURTIS, millionaire owner of the big Curtis Store, conducts two intriguing contacts and, strangely, the winners are the prettiest girls in his employ—BILLY WELLS, NYDA LOMAX, WINNIE SHELTON, and others.

Billy is suspicious of the old man's intentions. Her suspicions are heightened when CLAY CURTIS, son of the store owner, begs her to let his father and the contacts alone. Clay has disinherited himself and is living in the poor section of the town, working in a factory by day and writing music at night. He has a room with the Wells family.

At a dinner given in the Curtis home for the prize winners, Billy sits next to DALHART ROMAINE and is completely enslaved by the spell of his personality. Billy notices that old T. G. watches her, Nyda Lomax and Winnie Shelton with eager interest during the whole evening.

The next morning Billy gets a telegram, asking her and her mother to be at the Curtis home at ten o'clock. They go in spite of Clay Curtis' plea that they do not, and there are surprised to find Nyda Lomax and Winnie Shelton. Mr. Curtis tells them he wants to make them his wards for a year, giving them opportunities to fulfill ambitions which each has revealed in the contests. Nyda and Winnie are over-eggs but Billy is mute. Her joy is unexcelled when old T. G. presents her with a rare violin and tells her she is to study with the best teacher in town. He dismisses the girls to think the offer over, asking them to return with decisions the next day.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

At half-past five that afternoon Billy Wells laid her precious violin in its case and went to the kitchen, flexing her left arm that was stiff with hours of playing.

Mrs. Wells did not hear the girl's light footsteps. As Billy stood there a tear rolled down Mrs. Wells' plump, ruddy cheek, and splashed upon the paring knife that flashed so busily over the surface of a big potato.

"Mother! You're crying! And you said you were happy!" Billy cried accusingly. "I'm not going!

That's all there is to it! I'm not going to leave you here."

Mrs. Wells laughed shakily and retrieved the potato she had dropped in her surprise. "I reckon a body's got a right to cry for joy!" she protested.

"It wasn't joy," Billy insisted. "Oh, honey, what a beast you must have thought me today, because I jumped so at the chance to leave you. Didn't you know I couldn't do it, really? You've been so good to me always."

"And a fine mother, I'd be if I let you make a fool of yourself and pass up the opportunity of a lifetime! Land alive! You'd be going to Europe to study if you had the money, wouldn't you? And I'm sure I wouldn't go to Europe with you," she lied bravely, "with nobody but foreigners to talk to and no habits. Of course, you're going to live at Mr. Curtis' for a year. Now get out of here and stop bothering me, or fix the salad if you're going to hang around the kitchen."

"Woor! Woor!" Billy laughed and kissed her mother on the back of the neck.

"It'll just be for a year, and you can come home as often as you like. And don't you think I'll be so all-fired lonesome either. I'm going to feed Clay so well that he won't think of changing boarding houses."

"And I meant what I said about giving you a hundred and fifty a month out of my allowance." Billy was entirely cheerful again. "Five hundred dollars a month just to spend, mother! I can't believe it. Has the old man gone crazy?"

"That won't be so much for the kind of clothes you'll be expected to wear as Mr. Curtis' ward," her mother pointed out. "And you'll have to pay for your music lessons out of that, I suppose. They say that Professor Navratil charges terrible prices—five dollars an hour, or something like that."

"I don't care," Billy was already beginning to shrug at small sums like five dollars. "I'll take a lesson everyday if he'll let me, but I suppose I'll be 'tucky if he lets me come three times a week. I'm going to learn more music in a year than any girl ever learned before. And when the year is up, I'll bust into New York and bully a manager into booking me for a concert tour."

Half an hour later the sound of the front door opening told them that Clay had come home from work.

It was not going to be easy, Billy decided, as she sat down opposite Clay at the little round dining table. He looked tired and discouraged.

"Somebody's birthday?" He tried to make his voice jocular as he passed his plate, his eyes roving hungrily over the unusually festive meal. "Lord, but those chops look good!"

"I did it," Billy acknowledged proudly. "And I made the salad and mashed the potatoes. Mama's good girl!" she applauded herself, hoping to win a smile from those tired lips.

"That's right—you didn't work today. Well, what's the latest news from the psychopathic ward? Did my eccentric father make you general manager of the Curtis Store?"

"Better than that," Billy told him, keeping a tight rein on her temper. "Wait till after supper and I'll show you. What's the news?"

"Ralph Truman was at the factory today—showing a delegation of women's club uplifters what a model factory looks like. He stopped and spoke to me—about you," and he gave Billy a long meaningful look.

"He sat next to me at dinner last night, and we danced together a good deal. Why shouldn't he speak of me to you?"

"No reason, I suppose," Clay answered shortly. "And I suspect there's a very good reason why he should. He's obviously fallen in love with you. That must have been a very interesting party."

"Clay Curtis, you make me so mad!" Billy exploded. "You haven't done a thing but grouch and crab at me for weeks, just because I've been lucky enough to get the merest taste of the good things you've had all your life. I'm getting sick of it, I tell you."

"Please, children, don't fight," Mrs. Wells begged, almost in tears. "We're not going to fight any more. Mrs. Wells' Clay rose from the table, his face very white and his eyes frowning with pain. "Billy's right. I've been acting like a soreheaded bear lately. And I'm sorry. I'll try to act more like a boaster and less like a member of the family in the future—if you'll let me stay, Mrs. Wells."

"Don't be foolish!" "I don't want to be fighting all the time," Billy grinned at him through a mist of tears. "But, honestly, Clay, I'd rather fight with you than to make love with any other man in the world."

"Thanks," He dropped back into his chair and hid a hand shyly over hers. "What's dessert? I'm still hungry."

"Chocolate blanc mangle, with oodles of whipped cream. And I made that, too!"

"Now, children, I'm going to stack the dishes and go to the movies. You two can play your music to your heart's content." Mrs. Wells rose from the table with a satisfied sigh.

When she had left, it was at Clay's suggestion that they washed the dishes before giving themselves up to music. He had become proud of his technique as a dishwasher, refusing to allow Billy to soil her lovely white hands in the greasy water.

"Are you happy here, Clay?" Billy asked suddenly, as she flung her damn towel up on the drying rack. "Here, in this house, with you and your mother, yes," he answered slowly. "I don't think I was ever so happy with people in my life. But Billy, the factory is tearing me to pieces. I don't know how I can stand it much longer. And yet there's nothing else for me to do. You know, I'd hope to be able to write music in the evenings, but my nerves are so ragged when the day is over that I can't write anything worth putting on paper. I just want to play—with you. That's the only thing that makes it possible for me to go on."

Billy knew then that the hardest task of her life lay ahead of her. How could she tell him that, for a year, he would see him only two or three evenings a week at very most?

"We'd better play now, if that's true," she said. "I've got something to show you."

He was already at the piano, playing softly, when she took her new violin from its case and adjusted it beneath her round, firm little chin.

"They began to play, Clay rather listlessly, as if his hands were too utterly weary from factory toil to strike the notes. Then, watching his face closely, breathlessly, she saw wonder dawn on it, saw him raise his startled black eyes, saw them widen with incredulity as they rested upon the instrument cradled along her arm.

"Where did you get that?" He sprang to his feet and strode toward her as if he meant to snatch the instrument from her hands. But when he did touch it, it was with fingers as gentle and reverent as her own.

"It's two hundred years old," she told him, in a joy-stricken voice. "Your father gave it to me."

"Then—God bless him for a very Christian gentleman," old T. G.'s son said in full reverence. "I take back all the unkind things I've said about him!"

That instrument and your eyes—Billy, you're a lucky girl. If you could only have a decent teacher—"

Billy turned abruptly from him to lay the violin upon the top of the piano. Her moment was upon her. She went to him slowly and laid her hands upon his shoulders.

"Clay, I'm going to have the teacher—Professor Navratil of Vienna, who teaches at the university, you know. He's really wonderful; I've heard him play. And I'm going to have all day every day to practice."

"Then I was right," Clay interrupted her in a strange voice. "So Dad had found his daughter. Well, if he had looked the world over he couldn't have found a better. I suppose—he looked down at her with quizzical eyes—"we're brother and sister now. Not exactly what I had hoped for, but—"

"How did you know?" Billy demanded, startled. "But if you're looking for sisters, maybe Nyda Lomax and Winnie Shelton will suit you better. He's making all three of us his wards for a year to train us for our chosen careers. I suppose you know that, too?"

"Three of you?" Clay frowned. "Good heavens! He's a thorough chap, isn't he? Three girls for a year! Talk about caution! Oh, Lord, this is funny! What a merry little hell he's picked out for himself—and for you!"

Clay prophesied seems justified the very first day that the girls spend in their new home. Will T. Q.'s experiment be a success?

If M. (Book), Bryant, of Lubbock, was here yesterday visiting with friends. He was accompanied by his brother, O. L. Bryant, of Amarillo.

Records Of Heroic Deeds Revealed In Carnegie Commission Award of Medals

(By Associated Press)
PITTSBURGH, May 2.—Seven of the 37 heroes rewarded by the Carnegie Hero Fund commission at its meeting here today, lost their lives in the commission of heroic deeds.

Two silver medals and 35 bronze medals, together with financial awards totaling more than $25,000 were given to heroes and their dependents as pensions, and for educational and other worthy purposes. The citations, heralding near cases and heroines covered the cases of six girls ranging in age from 11 to 21 years.

The seven men who died in the commission of heroic deeds, were: Lester C. Dunham, of Rural Route 1, Palaski, Mich., 11 year old school boy, who, after rescuing one girl from drowning at Palaski on March 12, 1924, lost his life when he went to the aid of a second girl. His father, M. M. Dunham, Palaski, received a silver medal.

Clayton Staskey, Whiting Road, Rural Route, Webster, N. Y., died attempting to save a boy from drowning at Rochester, N. Y., July 8, 1924. Bronze medal to his father, Charles Staskey.

Carl Donner, Rural Route 1, St. Clairsville, Ohio, drowned when he tried to rescue a girl from drowning at St. Clairsville, Sept. 7, 1925. Bronze medal to his father, Newton S. Donner.

Santa Fe Building Slaton Extension

Special to The Avalanche
SLATON, May 2.—Following a few weeks' delay, construction has been resumed on the Santa Fe track extension in the local railroad about by transferring machinery from the scene of construction begun here in February to the Canyon-Funhand double tracking project. Plenty of equipment is available to push forward the work here without further delay, it is believed now.

Considerable progress was made on the track work in February, but the bigger part of the project is yet to be done. Track facilities will be increased approximately fifty per cent above present capacity.

Material for the various other improvements planned for this division point is being rapidly assembled in the yards. Roundhouse improvements, including six new stalls, additions to machinery in the shops, a new 120-ft turntable, a 25-car scale track, enlargement of the stockhouse and other items are included in the plans. Total cost of the contemplated construction will approximate $300,000, most of which has been approved by appropriations.

Dawson County Is Produce District

Special to The Avalanche
LAMESA, May 2.—A check of the produce business in Dawson county has revealed the fact that a money crop of $150,000 per year is being realized. The busiest places in Lamesa at any time of the week are the three produce establishments. The business men of Lamesa are accepting cream checks as legal tender for such merchandise as is purchased.

Lamesa is now headquarters for a vast territory to market its produce. Each day finds trucks after truck loaded with all kinds of produce including butter, eggs, chickens, and meat from Lamesa on their way to Midland, McCamey and Odessa, and other oil towns to the south. All laundry of the oil field towns is done in Lamesa, according to F. R. King, laundryman. Thus the program of diversification in Dawson county is being carried forward.

LUBBOCK NATIONAL BANK

Will Lubbock Pay 5% or 6% For the Money It Uses For the Development of Lubbock?

SAVE THE TAX PAYERS OF LUBBOCK $101,701.44 BY VOTING

YES

In the $650,000 Bond Election Tues., May 3, (Today)

BECAUSE OF LUBBOCK'S RAPID GROWTH, THE CITY COMMISSION HAS BEEN FORCED TO SPEND $490,000 FOR NECESSARY IMPROVEMENTS. THIS AMOUNT IS NOW COSTING THE TAX PAYERS 6 PER CENT INTEREST.

THE CITY COMMISSION HAS CONTRACTED TO SPEND AN ADDITIONAL $160,000 FOR OTHER NECESSARY IMPROVEMENTS.

WE WILL PAY 5 PER CENT INTEREST ON ALL THIS MONEY IF THE BOND ISSUE CARRIES— WE WILL PAY 6 PER CENT IF IT DOESN'T.

ALREADY SPENT—(NOW COSTING 6 PER CENT INTEREST)—THE FOLLOWING MONIES HAVE ALREADY BEEN SPENT AND LUBBOCK IS NOW ENJOYING THE BENEFITS FROM THE IMPROVEMENTS:

- Item No. 1. $50,000 spent for water works and sewer extension in 1923 to serve our fast developing city. By changing this indebtedness from 6 per cent warrants to 5 per cents bonds we will save $ 5,300.00
- Item No. 2. $18,000 funding warrants issued to care for various minor improvements in 1924. By changing from 6 per cent to 5 per cent bonds, we will save $ 1,530.00
- Item No. 3. $24,600 spent for improvements at our electric light plant in 1924. Changing from 6 per cent warrants to 5 per cent bonds will save $ 1,962.00
- Item No. 4. $21,818 was spent in 1925 for our Incinerator Plant, which is one of the best in the State. Converting the 6 pct. warrants issued for this purpose into 5 pct. bonds, will save $ 2,604.54
- Items No. 5. $29,880 spent for improvements and additions in equipment to your electric light plant. The saving in this instance by changing 6 pct. warrants to 5 pct. bonds, will amount to $ 3,284.40
- Item No. 6. $60,000 spent for new 720 horse power engine in your electric light plant in January 1926. The bonds will save $10,390.00
- Item No. 7. $150,000 was issued in warrants in May 1926, the funds being used to take up several smaller issues and get them in one group, maturing altogether, the original monies having been spent for a large number of city improvements, including street improvement machinery, work on the incinerator and disposal plant, etc. The saving on this issue of warrants alone will be $22,250.00
- Item No. 8. $45,000 was issued in funding warrants in August 1926, to group a number of smaller issues. The saving here is $ 6,300.00
- Item No. 9. $40,000 was issued in 6 pct. warrants in November 1926, to group smaller issues spent for various city improvements. The saving in changing from warrants to 5 pct. bonds $5,800.00
- Item No. 10. $6,560 was spent in December 1926, for improvements in our waterworks system. The saving on this issue will be $ 538.00
- Item No. 11. $44,650 was spent in March of this year for another new engine in your electric light plant, whose business is increasing every day and which is showing a profit on the investment, even with one of the lowest rates in the state. By voting the bond issue, we will save in this instance $ 8,522.50

CONTRACTED TO BE SPENT (WITHOUT BONDS, WILL COST 6 PCT.) WITH BONDS ONLY 5 PCT.

- Item No. 12. $75,000 issued in March of this year to provide funds for improvements at light plant, extension of transmission lines, enlargement of sewer disposal plant and an additional fire station in the southwest part of the city. Converting these 6 pct. warrants into 5 pct. bonds will save $13,500.00
- Item No. 13. $57,000 issued in March of this year for new stand pipe, which together with the new fire station provided for in Item No. 12 will reduce the insurance key rate, and at the same time prevent a raise which would otherwise be made in the present rate. The saving in interest alone on this item by converting the warrants to bonds, is in addition to the saving in the insurance premiums that will be had. We will save in interest $13,140.00
- Item No. 14. $28,000 issued in March of this year to care for smaller issues, the majority of the money from this issue being expended for water meters and other water extensions. The saving in interest on this item will be $ 6,580.00

SUPPORT THE EFFORTS OF OUR PRESENT CITY COMMISSION TO GIVE LUBBOCK AN EFFICIENT, ECONOMICAL CITY GOVERNMENT BY ALLOWING THEM TO SAVE MONEY IN THE INTEREST RATE THEY PAY.

THE FAILURE OF THIS BOND ISSUE WILL NOT PREVENT MORE WARRANT ISSUES.

If it is not voted, the City Commission may continue to issue 6 pct. warrants for needed and emergency improvements, even though it has been stated that this is not the case. The voting of this Bond Issue is just good business. It just means that the tax payers will begin paying 5 pct. instead of 6 pct. for the money the city owes. Vote "Yes" for Economy, Progress and Good Business.
