Suit To Admit Negroes In Demo Primary Heightens Political Speculation

COURT RULING ON VIRGINIA LAW IS CITED

Hidalgo County Group Asks Poll Tax Receipts Investigated

LONG, PETSCH FIGHT

Gubernatorial Aspirants Keep 'at It' in Every Section of State

(By The Associated Press)

Political observers over the state were wondering Tuesday what effect, if any, the negro vote would have on the outcome of the governor's race if state Democratic party officials should be restrained from barring negroes from the primary.

Luther H. Wiley, San Antonio negro, brought suit in federal district court at El Paso seeking to destroy the bar against negroes. Bexar county negroes said that the Virginia primary law, similar to the Texas statute, had been held unconstitutional by a United States circuit court.

Committee Given Power

The Texas law gives the state executive committee power to fix qualifications for voters, and the executive committee this year voted 14 to 13 to continue the ban against negroes. Several counties have refrained from enforcing the ban. The McLennan county executive committee voted unanimously today to allow negroes to participate in the primary there.

Another Tuesday development, aside from the usual flood of campaign oratory, was the appearance of a group of representatives of the Good Government league of Hidalgo county requesting the attorney general's department to investigate the poll tax receipts there.

Probe Becomes Issue

The investigation of poll taxes in Bexar county and the subsequent filing of ouster suits against two officials of that county has become an issue in the attorney general's race with Attorney General Robert Lee Bobbitt defending his action and Representative Cecil Storey, his opponent, charging it was a political move.

Two members of the state house of representatives, Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg and Bob Long of Wichita Falls, were gathering more material Tuesday in preparation for their debate at Llano Wednesday

School Upheld in Firing Teacher After Marriage

AUSTIN, July 15. (AP)—The state board of education at its monthly meeting today upheld decision of superintendent S. M. N. Marrs in a marriage case from Navarro county, without, however, dealing with the marriage phases of the case.

The case was that of Mrs. Mary Ruth Holliday Bennett, whose contract was broken at the Union Rural High school in Navarro county because she was married while teaching. Superintendent Marrs sustained the local board's action in dismissing her, because Mrs. Bennett did not file her appeal within 30 days.

Steel Head Tells Of Business Division Plan

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 15. (AP)—Rumors of agreement to divide the nation's steel business was brought into open court today when Frank Qurnell, president of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company, testified that at a merger meeting in Cleveland, March 11 this year, there was some talk of an understanding between Suge G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, and Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier and leader of the merger opposition, that Bethlehem was not to come into the West.

Baby Takes Record With Tooth at Three Days

PONCA CITY, Okla., July 15. (AP)—Juilianne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Giesing, has a lower tooth. She was one week old today. The tooth was noticed three days after the baby's birth.

Miss Broadway of 1930

There's a broken heart for almost every pretty girl on Broadway, and here's the reason—the prettiest, according to certain judges, of them all. In a contest, which invited the competition of all New York's musical show pulchritude, Miss Violet Carson, as you see her here, smiled her way to the title of "Miss Broadway of 1930." The prize was a ticket to Europe, a round-trip one, of course, so Violet won't forget to come home.

More Than 1,000 Wichitans Hear Ross Sterling Plead for Bonds

Houston Candidate Says Opponents Shooting at Him With Pop-Guns Loaded With Chinaberries

"Every other candidate in the race for governor is shooting at me because they know I'm out in the lead, but they're shooting with pop-guns loaded with chinaberries and after July 26 they'll be sitting on the capitol steps wondering where their pop-guns are."

In these words Ross Sterling of Houston Tuesday night characterized his position in the governor's race in addressing a large crowd on the Memorial auditorium grounds. The assembly, larger by several hundred persons than any which has turned out to hear a candidate for governor here this year, was estimated at more than 1,000 persons by C. C. Bunnenberg, city park superintendent, who is familiar with the seating capacity of the grounds.

Carrigan Speaks

The first of several introductory speakers was A. H. Carrigan, attorney and jurist here, who said he had never seen Ross Sterling but would give his vote and support on the basis of his record.

J. A. Kemp, financier here, was the next speaker, describing the idea that Ross Sterling would "slap a $300,000,000 bond issue on the state as soon as he is elected" as an absurd idea.

"The bond issue plan must first be submitted to the legislature," Mr. Kemp said, "and by a two-thirds vote there be submitted to the people. If the people favor it to the extent of a two-thirds vote, it will then, and only then, be adopted."

Sterling "Can Work"

Judge John C. Kay, the next speaker, said: "Sterling is a man who can work and get work out of other men. He is not a man who will raise hell about anything and I do not mean this in a profane sense."

W. E. George, local attorney, compared Mr. Sterling with the great governors of other states and of Texas and even with presidents of the nation in his abilities. Mr. George introduced Judge R. O. Kenley, who in turn introduced Ross Sterling.

Mr. Sterling spent practically his entire speech in talking of his proposed highway bond plan and on other phases of the highway system in Texas.

"I was instrumental in bringing the first suit against the crooked road contractors of the state. Other suits followed and Dan Moody's efforts as attorney general at the time in fighting these suits was the factor which elected him governor. He called upon me to become chairman of the highway commission while politicians and 14 of your state senators insisted that a man

MISHAP FATAL TO CLARA BOY

Wichita County Youth Dies In Rock Crusher

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, July 15.—Funeral services for Norman Lee Walker, 18, killed when he fell into the belt of a rock crushing machine near the Throckmorton railway station Tuesday morning, will be held at the Electra cemetery at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The Baptist pastor will officiate.

The boy has been in the employ of the state highway department during the past six weeks and was assisting in the construction of pavement between Throckmorton and the Shakelford county line when he lost his footing and fell into the machine. His head was crushed. Death was instantaneous.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Walker of the Clara community, one brother and five small sisters, all of Clara.

Former Klan Official Begins Prison Term

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, July 15. (UP)—Ben C. Richards, former klan official, began serving a three-year term for forgery today. He appeared at Huntsville and surrendered after he had been reported missing. Richards was refused admittance to the prison last week because his commitment papers had not arrived.

$50,000,000 Bond Issue Asked for Institutions

AUSTIN, July 15. (UP)—Roy I. Tenant, member of the state board of control, today issued a statement urging the state to adopt a $50,000,000 bond issue to provide for needs for state eleemosynary institutions. The sum is needed, he said, to care for tuberculosis, to keep the insane out of jail and to care for feeble minded and orphans.

HOOVER REIGN REVIEWED FROM TWO ANGLES

Republican and Democratic Campaign Heads Give Partisan Views

'RIOT OF WASTING'

Byrns of Tennessee Hotly Derides G. O. P. Record In Statement

WASHINGTON, July 15. (AP)—A Republican and a Democrat each the head of his party's congressional campaign committee, regarded the financial achievements of the Hoover administration tonight through partisan spectacles.

To Chairman Wood of the appropriations and Republican congressional committees it was evident that "the Republican party has met and fulfilled its promises for sound management" of the financial affairs of the government.

"Riot of Extravagance"

But from the other side of the fence, it appeared to Representative Byrns of Tennessee, ranking Democrat on the committee and chairman of his party's congressional campaign group, that the Hoover administration had been indulging in a "riot of extravagance."

Wood credited the Republican party with having completed a decade of successful financial management in the face of world wide economic depression and said the administration of President Hoover and the 71st congress had been confronted with serious economic problems arising from this depression and due to no fault of their own.

Worldwide Force

He added the president had done all that was "humanly possible" to relieve the situation "but a worldwide force of economic readjustment cannot altogether be arrested in a short time."

In spite of this, he said, there was a surplus of $184,000,000 in the treasury at the end of the year, the public debt had been reduced $746,000,000, taxes lowered $160,000,000 and the government found itself able to engage without raising taxes in an extensive public works program as a measure of relief.

The Republican leader said a widespread misapprehension existed that congress was "grossly extravagant" and added that in the last nine years appropriations had been $384,000,000 less than budget estimates.

Byrns Criticizes

Byrns in his statement, which is to go into the Congressional Record with that of Wood, said the regular

Desert Hermit May Be Missing Air Mail Pilot

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, July 15. (AP)—A story of an unidentified man who has been living for the past four months in a shack on the Colorado river has been received by Major R. McDonald, in charge of a search for Maurice Graham, Western Air Express aviator missing since last January, Major McDonald told the Cedar City, Utah, correspondents of the Desert News today.

The report was received from a prospector whose name Major McDonald refused to divulge. He said the man apparently had lost his memory and had not shaved for several months. The shack, he said, was near the site of the Boulder dam project.

Major McDonald was quoted as of the belief that the man might be Graham, whose wrecked plane was found last month near Cedar City.

Merchant Held After Destructive Llano Fire

LLANO, Texas, July 15. (AP)—A prominent Llano merchant is being held here by officials pending investigation into the explosion and fire last night that partially destroyed his store and caused considerable damage to the stock. The fire was preceded by a violent explosion from the rear of the store and the flames spread rapidly through the structure, according to a report made to Sheriff Dan McDonald by the Llano night watchman.

Both the building and stock were covered by insurance. No charges have been filed.

Jobless War Vet Offers Body To Science For Support Of Wife

By BOYD LEWIS

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., July 15. (UP)—Chester Taylor, unemployed world war veteran, offered his body to science tonight in exchange for his wife's support.

The hollow-cheeked, slim little man, who enlisted when the United States declared war against Germany and served 14 months at the front with an artillery unit, declared he had exhausted every hope of employment and was ready to sell himself for medical experimentation to save his wife, Ruth, from starvation. They have no children.

He had hoped that New Mexico physicians who are experimenting with a promising cure for trachoma would agree to finance Mrs. Taylor if he would submit to trachoma inoculation but even this desperate hope was dashed when he was informed by the United Press that the experimenters at Albuquerque, N. M., had expressed interest in his offer but had no funds with which to guarantee the woman's support.

"I don't care," said Taylor. "I'm still ready to go to work for any doctor who wants to experiment on the same terms. It's my last hope, I guess. I don't care what happens to me so long as I can get someone to take care of Ruth."

While Taylor talked to a United Press correspondent in his meagerly furnished four-room flat, his wife returned from a search for work. The shoulders of the attractive little black haired Irish woman dropped in dejection as she threw open the door.

Taylor looked at her inquiringly. She shook her head slowly and he slumped back into a chair.

"Oh, don't let him sell himself to some doctor like he wants to," she implored the correspondent. "Convince him that he's wrong."

"I'd rather starve than have him die from some awful disease," she cried. "If he dies I want to die. I'd rather live on like this than

Plains Cotton Co-Op Formed at Lubbock

Special to The Record News.

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 15. — Actual organization plans were outlined here Tuesday when 175 farmers, chamber of commerce officials, county agents, and others met with officials of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, a unit of the Federal Farm board, to unite 40 plains counties under the direction of a district office at Lubbock.

A branch office here and five others will be set up. Probably at Littlefield, Wellington, Levelland, Plainview and Lamesa.

R. J. "Bob" Murray, president of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce was appointed general chairman of the district. A chairman will be appointed in each community and organization work is expected to begin within the next few days.

Road Clips Nine Hours Off Schedule to Mexico

ST. LOUIS, July 15. (AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad today announced a new passenger train schedule between St. Louis and Mexico City, effective July 20, that will save nine hours and 45 minutes each way. The improved service is warranted, President L. W. Baldwin said, because of rapidly increasing travel between the United States and Mexico for pleasure and business.

Under the new schedule the Sunshine Special will leave St. Louis at 6:30 p. m. daily, arriving at San Antonio, Texas, at 8:30 p. m. the next day; at Nuevo Laredo on the Mexican side at 2:50 a. m. the second day, and at Mexico City at 7:35 a. m. the third day.

Boys Die in Flames As Chicken Coop Burns

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., July 15. (UP)—Two small boys who used an abandoned chicken coop as a laboratory for their experiments with matches were burned to death in the shack today.

The mother of one of the victims, Mrs. Edwin Healey, tried to enter the blazing death chamber and was burned on the face and arms before neighbors rescued her.

Fire Chief George Koebler said the youngsters, Eldridge Healy 3, and John Dipman, 4, evidently obtained matches somewhere and were playing with them when the blaze started.

Border Liquor 'Leak' Shifts to New York

WASHINGTON, July 15. (US)—A sudden shift in the Canadian liquor stream from the Great Lakes to the highways of New York and New England today prompted Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman to detail a large number of border patrolmen from Florida and Great Lakes ports to increase the vigilance at all road-entry points along the Quebec province line.

Six Workmen Injured When Trucks Collide

UVALDE, July 15. (UP)—Six highway workmen were injured, two seriously, today, when a truck loaded with workmen struck another truck parked on the roadside five miles south of here. Wade Shaw, of Carrizo Springs, suffered internal injuries and his condition is critical. Catarina Rosales sustained a badly crushed right leg and amputation may be necessary.

Five Machine Gunners 'Shoot Up' Town, Loot Bank and Escape

Two Women Wounded When Gang Makes Wild Western Raid, Securing $50,000 as Loot

WILLMAR, Minn., July 15. (AP)—Five machine gun bandits, moving swiftly in a well-planned raid, descended on the Bank of Willmar today, shot up the town in a fashion reminiscent of the James gang, wounded two women, one probably fatally, and escaped with $50,000 after exchanging shots with citizens.

Although it was estimated that more than 100 shots were fired by the bandits the only casualties were the two women — mother and daughter—who were shot down in the final burst of wild firing as the robbers sped out of town. Windshields in several automobiles were shot out in the fusillade and windows shattered in buildings adjacent to the bank.

Highways Patrolled

Agents of the state bureau of criminal apprehension were investigating the robbery tonight while sheriffs through the state and in Iowa and South Dakota were asked to patrol the highways in an effort to apprehend the gunmen whose raid was one of the most spectacular in the Northwest.

Despite the close watch kept on the roads no trace of the bandits had been found tonight. They fled southward and none of the citizenry attempted pursuit although several sped their departure with shotgun and revolver fire. The driver of the bandit car apparently was wounded in the exchange and was dragged from behind the wheel.

Woman Near Death

Physicians tonight held little hope for recovery of one of the victims of the bandits' bullets. She is Mrs. Emil Johnson, who was shot through the arm and in the chest as she walked along the sidewalk with her daughter, Mrs. Donald Gilda. Mrs. Gilda also was shot, but the bullet wound in her leg was not considered serious.

Only eight minutes were occupied by three bandits in gathering up $37,000 in cash and $13,000 in negotiable bonds after intimidating 25 employees and customers in the bank while two others with machine guns held a crowd of more than 100 at bay outside.

One Bandit Shot

While the three gunmen in the bank hurriedly rifled cash drawers and the vault, their companions on the outside kept the crowd cowed by an occasional burst from their weapons. Sam Evans, oil station employe, tried to snipe one of the machine gun gunners from behind a penny scale. It was believed to have been his shot which struck the driver as the robbers were preparing to depart.

In making their exit from the bank building, the three bandits used George Robbins, vice president, and Miss Mary Walker, a customer, as shields from possible attack by the crowd which had been attracted by sounding of the burglar alarm.

Nickel Cabs Threaten Washington Taxi War

WASHINGTON, July 14. (US)—Nickel taxicabs started operations in Washington today, with predictions of a taxicab war.

Competition recently forced abandonment of meters and adoption of a 35-cent flat rate for the city proper.

The latest cabs to enter the field are metered and charge five cents for each third of a mile.

Kansas City Census Books Close at 402,262

KANSAS CITY, July 15. (UP)—Kansas city's population, with census books officially closed, was announced as 402,262 today by E. J. Price, census supervisor.

SEYMOUR HOST TO BOHEMIANS

Annual Picnic Attracts Candidates

Special to The Record News

SEYMOUR, Texas, July 15.—More than 1,000 men and women of Bohemian extraction gathered here Tuesday from all over the section to hold their annual all-day picnic and political rally. The occasion attracted state, district, and county candidates, and most of the day saw speakers on the improvised platform from which the addresses were made. Edwin Fojtik of Seymour was in charge of the program.

Judge A. H. Carrigan of Wichita Falls, speaking for the candidacy of Ross Sterling for governor, was the first man introduced. He was followed by Representative Guinn Williams and the four candidates for state senator, Rube Loftin, Roy J. Daniel, Ben G. Oneal, and George W. Backus.

T. P. O'Dell of Throckmortion and Dennis Ratliff of Haskell, seeking election as state representatives spoke during the afternoon. William Combest and Richard Dresser, opponents in the race for district attorney, were next introduced. The political program ended with an address from Judge J. T. St. Clair in the race for county judge.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the crowd enjoyed a baseball game between Seymour and Rhineland in which Seymour was defeated by a score of 4 to 3.

The Rhineland orchestra furnished the music for a dance given on an immense platform raised in the park in the evening.

Bexar County League Asks Poll Tax Probe

AUSTIN, July 15. (UP)—The attorney general's office was in receipt of a demand for a poll tax investigation in Bexar county today. The demand was made by the Good Government league in that county which claimed that more than 2,000 poll tax receipts had been issued illegally.

"We are here to prevent their use in the coming election. Immediate action is needed," the request said.

'Talkies' Throw 6,000 Musicians Out of Jobs

WASHINGTON, July 15. (US)—More than 6,000 of the 12,000 musicians formerly employed in German motion picture houses are now idle because of the sound film, the commerce department was advised today. In Berlin alone, 2,300 are receiving doles.

PANIC STRIKES PASSENGERS IN RAIL CRASH

Hundreds Terrorized By Rear-End Smash-Up In New York

THREE NEAR DEATH

Express Stalled at Block Knocked From Tracks By 'Local'

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—Sixteen persons were hurt, three seriously in a rear-end collision between two crowded elevated trains at the Chambers street station of the Sixth avenue "L" late today.

The accident threw hundreds of home-bound passengers into a state bordering on panic.

The crash occurred after a northbound express train, pulling out of the station, stalled at a block. A moment later a local train, proceeding in the same direction, struck it, smashing the rear platform of the last car and throwing the car partly off the rails.

Those seriously hurt were Joseph Bataglie, 54, possible skull fracture; Thomas Carvers, crushed back; William A. Cutter, the motorman of the local train, fractured arm.

All the others hurt were struck by flying glass or bruised by the impact of the trains. They were treated at the scene and sent home.

Millionaire's Son Given Sentence for Robbery

LOS ANGELES, July 15. (US)—Charles Gor, son of a millionaire theatrical magnate, in superior court today was sentenced to serve 13 months at the county road camp for participating in a bank robbery and was placed on probation for 10 years.

His companion in the crime, Harry S. Adler, son of a policeman, however, was sentenced by the same judge to serve from seven to 15 years in San Quentin penitentiary.

Lloyds Writes Policies On Talkie Failures

WASHINGTON, July 15. (US)—Lloyds, the famous British insurance firm, which insures everything from twins to seasickness, is now insuring exhibitors against breakdown in talking films, the commerce department was advised today.

The rates average about $80 per year on daily receipts of $125. However, there cannot be more than 14 breakdowns per year, nor a breakdown on more than three days running.

'K of New Haven' Flies Toward Buenos Aires

VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., July 15. (AP)—After taking on 425 gallons of gasoline, in four contacts with a refueling plane over the Curtiss-Wright airport, the monoplane "K of New Haven," was believed to be flying southward tonight, on the first leg of a non-stop refuelling flight to Buenos Aires. The "K" had hopped off from Roosevelt Field at 3:24 p. m., E. S. T.

Erick, Okla., and Shamrock, Texas, Quiet After Period of Racial Unrest

ERICK, Okla., July 15. (UP)—An investigation into threatened mob violence, inflamed by the murder of a white woman by a negro farm hand just across the border in Texas, was planned here tonight by Beckham county officials.

Threats of mob violence drove negroes from Erick and the move of state officials to dispatch national guardsmen into this section discouraged concerted action of irate citizens.

County Attorney Hubert Ivestor announced he had learned the names of several of the mob leaders who routed negroes from their homes. Ivestor conferred with Acting Sheriff M. L. Inman concerning filing of charges, the nature of which he refused to disclose.

Negroes were being given protection in various city and county jails throughout the section.

RANGERS READY TO LEAVE SHAMROCK

SHAMROCK, Texas, July 15. (UP)—Shamrock was quiet tonight after three days and nights of anxiety caused by threatened racial troubles.

Five Texas rangers who came here to assist Sheriff W. K. McLemore's posse, Monday, were making plans to leave. The sheriff said he believed he would have no more need for the state officers at present.

Death Hovers Over Boy Aviator After Night in Wreckage of Plane

BENNINGTON, Vt., July 15. (AP)—The aviation jinx which hurled his father to death in the barren wastes of the north Atlantic hovered tonight over the unconscious form of Frank Goldsborough, 19-year-old aviator, whose plane crashed into a mountain side east of here yesterday.

The youthful aviator, holder of the junior transcontinental flying record, was in a critical condition at Putnam Memorial hospital suffering from a fractured skull. An all-night search was conducted for him and his plane which now lies in shreds at the side of Woodford mountain.

The ill-fortune which pursued his father, Brice Goldsborough, one of the party in Mrs. Frances Grayson's The Dawn, lost in 1927, on an attempted transatlantic flight, trailed young Frank yesterday from Buffalo, N. Y. The plane, which was en route to Keene, N. H., with Donald Mockler, lecturer, as a passenger, hurled itself to destruction in a fog-bound forest.

Young Goldsborough lay unconscious amid the wreckage until 6 o'clock this morning, when searching parties after a fruitless all-night combing of the wilderness came upon the wrecked plane and its victim. Mockler, who was thrown clear of the wreckage, brought news of the accident to a farm house

ASPIRANTS FOR GOVERNOR BUSY

Seven Active Candidates Hammer Away

night on the respective merits of Bobbitt, supported by Petsch, and Jimmy Allred of Wichita Falls, Long's favorite in the attorney general's race.

Both Petsch and Long were members of the special legislative committee which investigated University of Texas land leases. Long said he planned to discuss the findings of that committee as well as data which he had unearthed.

Candidates Active

The seven active candidates for governor were "at it" Tuesday in South, Central West, Northwest, Northeast and Southeast Texas, with each of the two first mentioned sectors entertaining a pair of aspirants to the nomination.

Clint C. Small, preceding Jim Young into far South Texas, spoke at Kingsville in the afternoon and Corpus Christi at night. Young, speaking at San Antonio Tuesday night, will cover practically the same ground Wednesday and Thursday that Small visited Monday and Tuesday and Small will speak at San Antonio Thursday night.

At Dallas headquarters for Small, John Erhard, managing his campaign in Northeast Texas, predicted the Panhandle senator would get a clear majority in West Texas. He added that he thought West Texans would go to the polls in larger numbers than usual because they had a candidate in the race.

Young Forces Cheered

Young headquarters reported a letter from C. C. McDonald, saying that former Ferguson supporters were comnig to Young in large numbers in Southeast Texas. This followed a report yesterday from Miller headquarters that old Ferguson men were drifting to Miller.

Thomas B. Love, in a speech at Dublin Tuesday afternoon which was broadcast, requested Earle B. Mayfield to say whether he would support Mrs. Ferguson if she were nominated and Alfred E. Smith if Governor Smith were nominated for president in 1932. The inquiries were an aftermath to the radio announcement of a well-known Fort Worth pastor that he was supporting Mayfield. The preacher was vehement in opposition to Governor Smith two years ago. Love spoke at Brady tonight.

Mayfield was at Clarksville Tuesday afternoon and at Texarkana Tuesday night.

Former Governor James E. Ferguson, who said he was assured of support for his wife from all sections, was a Brownwood Tuesday night.

Maury Hughes of Dallas, member of the state executive committee, spoke at the Dallas County Miller for Governor Women's club luncheon Tuesday. "Don't let anyone tell you that Barry Miller hasn't a chance," Hughes said. "Every other candidate is afraid of Barry Miller in the runoff and they're trying to 'play down' his strength." Miller was at Beaumont Tuesday night.

Sterling was in Northwest Texas, Tuesday, finishing up his strenuous day with talks at Vernon and Wichita Falls.

Boy, 14, Unmoved In Confessing Slaying

MORRISTOWN, N. J., July 15. (AP)—Unmoved at his predicament and apparently showing no alarm, 14-year-old Robert Woolsey was held without bail today when arraigned on a charge of stabbing to death Miss Anna Miller, 23, his mother's maid.

Willingly, and almost gleefully, young Woolsey re-enacted the murder for police today, describing in minute detail his movements as he plunged his hunting knife into the maid's back as she stood on Lookout mountain, near Green pond, Saturday night.

LAST CHANCE

Mother of Two Jailed When She Continued To Sell Beer

A Wichita Falls woman who has avoided jail and court procedure on other occasions because of her two small children found officers had given her a final chance and had run out of pity when she was arrested and named in a complaint charging possession of beer for the purpose of sale Tuesday afternoon.

Warren Belcher and H. L. White, deputy sheriffs, said they had found liquor at the woman's home on several other occasions but for the sake of her small children they had not brought charges when she promised to stop her illegal practices. Investigations revealed, however, that the children were not being properly cared for and that the woman was still making and selling the liquor.

With the mother named in a complaint, the case of the children was turned over to child welfare society workers and efforts were being made to find a home for them with relatives of the woman in another city or with the society.

'Vanities' to Play In Court Thursday

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—The current edition of the courtroom "Vanities" of Earl Carroll will play another matinee Thursday.

The state today finished its case against Carroll, Jimmy Savo and eight chorus girls, accused of participating in an indecent show, and Magistrate Gottlieb will decide Thursday whether to dismiss the charges or hold the defendants for trial.

He ordered counsel to submit briefs Thursday morning and said he would hand down a decision Thursday afternoon. He said he would hold the defendants for trial unless the defense motion for dismissal was overwhelming.

Police Captain James J. Coy, was the state's only witness.

Defense counsel subjected him to a severe cross examination about what he saw when he watched Faith Bacon's fan dance, and his reactions to the window undressing scene.

Captain Coy said he was inexpressibly shocked by the show and that he noticed a woman in a seat next to him blushing.

"What dramatic experience have you had?" defense counsel asked.

"I had a big job. I used to wash elephants in a circus," Coy replied, which ended that line of questioning.

Carroll, Miss Bacon, Savo and the seven other chorus girl defendants were in court.

AKERS HELD IN JAIL HERE

Rusk Asylum Unable To Admit Prisoner

Wichita county faces the necessity of keeping in its county jail for the next several weeks a man who has been adjudged criminally insane, according to the statement Tuesday of Judge John P. Marrs of the county court, who pointed out that the single institution in the state fitted and equipped for the safe imprisonment and treatment of Otis Akers, found insane by a jury in the 89th district court Monday afternoon, has no room for the prisoner and will not be able to take him until a new building now under construction has been completed.

"A man of his caliber," Judge Marrs said, "would find no difficulty in escaping from the state hospital here. He would be out 24 hours after he was put in if he decided to escape. We are not too sure that he is safely imprisoned in the county jail, because men of his desperate character have escaped from such jails before, sometimes at the cost of the lives of others."

Judge Marrs said that there is no opening for another man inmate at the Wichita Falls state hospital but that Akers would not be placed there even if there were room for him. The only institution in the state capable of caring for such persons is the state hospital at Rusk, which was formerly the state penitentiary and has been redesigned for the special purpose of keeping the dangerously insane under restraint while being treated.

Dr. W. M. Thomas, superintendent of the Rusk institution, informed Judge Marrs Tuesday that no opening was available there for Akers and that no additional inmates could be taken until completion of a new building several weeks from now. The judge said he would remain in touch with Dr. Thomas in order to transfer Akers at the soonest possible moment and added that every precaution for insuring safe imprisonment of Akers would be taken at the county jail here. Specialists at the hearing for Akers Monday testified that the type of insanity from which he is suffering is practically incurable and that the patient is likely to become extremely dangerous.

session just closed had been a "five billion dollar session."

The total outlay for the session, he said, had been $4,924,929,233 plus special session appropriations of $19,310,597. Eliminating the special session figures, he said those for the regular term exceeded those of the last regular session by $259,692,465. In addition, he said, future appropriations of $1,000,000,000 had been pledged in laws passed and approved by the president.

The Tennessean said "even the myth of Coolidge economy disappeared with his regime" and "the government has indulged in what may well be termed a riot of extravagance."

False Picture

He said statements issued by President Hoover regarding the growth of appropriations had left the country under the impression that congress was entirely to blame for this situation.

"This is by no means the true picture," he said. "The president himself is primarily responsible. Not a dollar has been appropriated or authorized which has not previously received his approval and that of his budget director."

Byrns attacked tax refunds made by the Republican administration saying total refunds and credits had reached $2,860,405,898 with a billion dollars in claims pending. He listed the large refunds to the United States Steel corporation, the Middle States Oil company of New York, Eastman Kodak company, Philadelphia Rapid transit company, the Baldwin Locomotive works, the American Window Glass company and the Aluminum company of America.

Clock Bank

BERLIN—To encourage saving, a German bank has been issuing "clock" banks. These clocks cannot be wound until a coin is inserted in them, and this winding lasts only for 24 hours. Consequently, if the owner of the clock wants it to keep time, he has to insert a coin every 24 hours.

have him suffering and me in comfort.

"Oh I've argued and argued with him, but he says it's the only way out."

"It is the only way out," said Taylor. "I've been to every factory and shop in town since they fired me at the bakery but there's a thousand men for every job and nobody wants a man in my physical condition."

Taylor had been employed as a baker's assistant until poor business forced his discharge two months ago. Their slim savings dwindled quickly. Since the war he had been operated upon eight times. Fourteen months in the trenches did a man no good, he said. There was no money left and the rent was due tomorrow.

"Life is a rotten business anyway," he said bitterly. "I gave the best years of my life over there—re-enlisted after two stretches when we went into the war—and now what am I fitted for? I haven't even a trade."

He was bitter in his criticism of the United States Veterans bureau and ex-service mens' organizations.

"A soldier can't be a man and get veterans' compensation," said Taylor. "You can't take their back talk and keep your self-respect. A man has to be a politician to get help from the Veterans' bureau."

Taylor said he served 14 months at the front with the 306th field artillery, 77th division.

"The other day," said Taylor, "I saw something in the paper about a doctor in the West trying to get a condemned prisoner to take trachoma inoculation so he could try out a new cure. I made up my mind I'd offer myself for the job if he'd promise to take care of Ruth.

"Now that has gone through. Well, I'm still ready."

Burk Contestants Enter Third Day of Dance Marathon

Special to The Record News

BURKBURNETT, Texas, July 15.—Four and half couples were going strong Tuesday at noon with a total of 68 hours in an attempt to establish a new world's record in a marathon dance which started Saturday evening about 9 o'clock. Among the endurance dancers is Howard Elkins of Dallas, who holds second place in the world's record with 1,480 hours. The other contestants are Wichita Falls and local boys and girls. Large crowds are gathered at the scene of the endurance test practically all of the time.

near here. He had struggled in vain to pull his companion from the plane and then wandered through thick underbrush for hours before he found help.

Leonard Lawrence, and a party of five men found Goldsborough lying beside his plane only after they had combed the dense forest for miles. Their discovery of his unconscious form was the beginning of an arduous trek through underbrush, boulder-strewn paths and knee-deep fields of mud.

Two suit coats taken from the backs of his rescuers served as a stretcher on which the injured flyer was carried for two miles to a waiting ambulance. Then a slow trip was made to the hospital. A surgeon found the youth to be suffering from a fractured skull. This with the long period of exposure and lack of treatment made his condition most critical.

FUNERAL HELD FOR PIONEER

B. H. Hodges Buried At Archer City

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, July 15.—Funeral services for Benjamin H. Hodges, 76, Archer county pioneer who died at his home here Monday night, were held from the First Christian church Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. R. H. Highsmith, pastor of the church, conducted the services. Interment was in the local cemetery.

Benjamin Hodges came to Archer county from North Carolina almost half a century ago and entered into every phase of the pioneering days. He drove the first mail coach between Wichita Falls and Archer City during the 12 years between 1896 and 1908, when railway service was inaugurated and the coach line discontinued. Afterward he operated a livery stable in Archer City for many years.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Estelle Scott, Channing, and Mrs. Willie Gardner, Wichita Falls; four sons, Frank Hodges, Tulsa, Okla.; Toby Hodges, Wichita Falls; Luke Hodges, Wichita Falls; Joy Hodges, Archer City; a sister, Mrs. Julia Cooper, Ashville, N. C., and a brother, Cooper Hodge, Ashville, N. C.

PRO' SUSPECTS ALLOWED BOND

Six Arrested in Kerrville Raids Arraigned

SAN ANTONIO, July 15. (AP)—Six defendants arrested Saturday night at Kerrville in connection with a series of raids by prohibition agents were arraigned before United States Commissioner Lockhart today, charged with violation of the national prohibition laws and were placed under $500 bond set by the commissioner.

Two of the defendants, Clyde Fellows and Wesley Cooksly, pleaded guilty to charges of possession and sale of liquor. Joe Remos, charged with manufacture, possession and sale, also pleaded guilty; Concepcion Alvaredo, a woman, charged with manufacture, sale and possession, pleaded not guilty and a hearing was set for 10 o'clock Thursday morning; Francisco Herrera, charged with manufacture, possession and sale, pleaded not guilty, and Guadalupe Barela, a woman, pleaded guilty to the same charge and a hearing was set for 10 o'clock Wednesday.

Four of the 12 persons released on their own recognizance following the raid, which netted large quantities of beer, whisky, a still and an automobile resulting in 23 arrests, have not yet appeared before Commissioner Lockhart for arraignment.

Newspapers Oppose Insurance Request

AUSTIN, July 15. (AP)—Vigorous protest against the application of certain insurance companies asking an increase in the rates on trucks used for the delivery of newspapers was registered here today at a hearing of the insurance commission by representatives of Texas newspapers. The newspaper representatives argued the proposed increase would raise the insurance premiums 140 per cent over the present rate.

The application sought to have newspaper delivery trucks placed in classification No. 2 instead of No. 3, which carries a considerably reduced rate.

It was alleged at the hearing by G. J. Palmer, vice president of Houston Chronicle, that an effort was being made by insurance companies to make Texas newspapers pay rates as high as those assessed in Chicago, New York and other large eastern cities, although the operating hazard in Texas was considerably lower than the hazards in those cities.

The newspapers were joined in the protest by agents of several insurance companies who stated they were satisfied with the present rates and did not favor any increases.

Hearing on the application was continued.

Murder Epidemic Alarms Detroit

DETROIT, July 15. (INS)—The epidemic of gangster shootings raged unabated here today with the seventh shooting in 11 days occurring when an alleged bootlegger was shot and perhaps fatally wounded in typical gangland fashion.

Ten gunmen have been killed in underworld slayings during that short period and with police maintaining an almost disinterested attitude, Detroit sat back and waited for gangland guns to bark again.

Jake Greenburg, 48, was the 11th intended victim. He was "put on the spot" as he was leaving his alleged "blind pig" this morning. He is dying in Receiving hospital.

Loan Company Messenger Robbed Of $1,400 by Fort Worth Bandit

FORT WORTH, July 15. (AP)—Edmund Van Zandt, 14, messenger for the Equitable Building and Loan association, was forced into the alley off Sixth street between Main and Houston streets shortly before 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and robbed of $400 in currency and nearly $1,000 in checks.

The lad was approached at Seventh and Houston streets by a man who engaged him in conversation. The man threw his arms familiarly about the boy's shoulder, the messenger said, and inquired where he was going.

Then he fell in step beside the boy and accompanied him to the door of the bank. As they prepared to enter the bank, the boy said, the stranger asked him to inspect a new automobile parked a few steps away.

While they were standing before the automobile, the man displayed a pistol, he had concealed in a holster under his coat and ordered the messenger to go with him to the alley on Sixth street. Here the robber snatched from the lad the bank book containing the checks and currency and commanded him to remain in the alley for a few moments.

The man disappeared west on Sixth street, the boy said. After waiting a few moments, the messenger ran to the Fort Worth National bank and reported the holdup.

While the holdup was taking place, the actions of the robber were concealed by two automobiles parked in the alley, Edmund said. The robber forced him to stop between the two parked cars, he said.

HOOVER PLANS MOUNTAIN TRIP

Vavation Boiled Down To Two Weeks' Journey

WASHINGTON, July 15. (INS)—President Hoover's projected western tour this summer was boiled down today to a two-weeks' sojourn in the northern Rockies late in August or early September.

A White House statement set forth that the president would be detained in Washington by "important matters" for some time after the senate adjourns, and that nothing more ambitious in the way of a trip is to be attempted than a two-weeks' holiday in the mountains.

The statement follows:

"On May 9, press representatives were told that the president hoped to take a month's holiday in the western national parks, beginning Aug. 1. At that time it was anticipated that the work of congress would be completed at a much earlier date than has now eventuated.

"The president will require some time in Washington to complete important matters after the adjournment of the present session. He expects, however, to be able to spend at least two weeks in the northern Rockies late in August or early September, solely for purposes of an out-door holiday and rest.

"The president has received a very great number of cordial invitations to make public appearances and addresses in various cities en route. The curtailment of the period when he may be away from Washington, and the very nature of taking a holiday and rest will preclude acceptance of these invitations and he believes they will not be pressed."

FARMER HELD FOR SHOOTING

East Texan Near Death In Houston Hospital

HOUSTON, July 15. (AP)—Frank Todd, 25-year-old Chambers county farmer was in a critical condition in a hospital here today, and Dave Hunt, 60, was in Goose Creek jail, following a shooting at Cedar Bayou.

Hunt is charged with assault to murder.

Hunt was arrested by Deputy Sheriff E. J. Buckley who said the arrest was made after a chase through corn fields and across the prairie.

Hunt's explanation, Buckley said, was that a shotgun was discharged accidentally. He said that he was alighting from his car when the shotgun caught and fired, striking Todd by accident.

New Official Heads C.-C. at Chillicothe

Special to The Record News.

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, July 15.—The office of the Chillicothe Chamber of commerce has been reopened with W. M. Gourley, formerly teacher of vocational agriculture at Silverton, as secretary-manager, and Miss Estelle Plummer, of this place, as office secretary.

Mr. Gourley will be employed also in the local high school as teacher of vocational agriculture.

The new official began his work by making farm surveys of a large number of rural communities in the Chillicothe trade area. He expects to visit farms in the following communities: Bailey High, Farmers Valley, Big Valley, Medicine Mounds, Star Valley, Mount Olive, Clark School, Trueheart, Tolbert, Painview, Elm Grove, Center Point, Jackson Springs, Midway, White City, and Odell.

When surveys have been completed and compiled, the board of directors of the chamber of commerce will study the information obtained with the view of working out a definite agricultural program to be followed out during the next 12 months.

Pretty Bride-Elect Honoree At Bridge Luncheon Tuesday

Though spring flowers are lovely, those of summer are deeper in beauty and the home of Mrs. J. B. Hatchitt on Speedway was pretty as a real summer garden when Miss Dell Hatchitt entertained Tuesday with a bridge luncheon and shower honoring Miss Katherine Weldon who will become the bride of R. Q. Davis on July 21.

The hostess in a pretty white sport frock and the honoree in one of yellow were lovely contrasting types of brunette and blonde as they stood before the masses of flowers to greet the guests.

The chosen colors of the bride-elect, pink and green, were noted in tallies and score cards and in the wrappings and ribbons used on the gifts.

A lovely Italian cutwork luncheon set was presented to the honoree by her hostess and the shower given by the guests was a set of handsome old English Bristol china.

In the games, Miss Margaret Hines was winner of high score and Miss Margaret Waltz of second. Both were odd pieces of the same china and were presented to the bride-elect.

A delicious two-course luncheon was served to the guests who were among the close friends of the honoree.

Many Parties Planned

It is a rare thing to find a bride-elect so popular as Miss Catherine Weldon. The time between now and the wedding date is so short that many honors offered could not be accepted.

The calendar until that time is filled and Wednesday morning Mrs. Helen Kendall will entertain at the Country club with a swimming party and breakfast.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

We feel ourself much disappointed when a spirit from another world whispers messages back to this that are so private we cannot get the news.

We wonder if any real news came over. There never has been any before. Yet spiritualists have the other world all worked out; the time the spirit takes in passing and the abiding place of the wicked ones. Heaven and hell, we understand, are arranged.

In spite of the slackness shown in attending to their own spiritual affairs while yet on earth, 10,000 people gathered in London to hear from the other side.

We do not know spiritualism. It may be a cult filled with beauty, but the grave has always seemed to us the dividing line between mortal and immortal.

When messages are flying about (We've never heard any), we think with apprehension of the criminals who have been forcibly "passed on." Suppose we had a message from one of them!

Disrespectful thoughts come to us of devoted married couples who have sworn eternal allegiance. When one dies and the other begins at once to seek another love, what will he feel like when his spirit mate reproaches him?

Strange things do happen. We had written just so far making gentle mockery, when we saw and heard Sir A. Conan Doyle. The gentle old man spoke earnestly at the Majestic theater on what he "knew,—not what he believed."

He said he began studying the "beyond" when so many of the fine young men of England passed away during the war and people began to ask "Where are they?" And he stated that he could fill a room in his house with the letters from people who told him of how his lectures and his writings had brought comfort to them.

As he stated it, the comfort of talking to the other world was a question of a touch from a hand that had vanished; a word from one who was gone.

It shames us somehow for any mockery. We cannot believe in spiritualism. But, as we have often reiterated, we deny no man the right to his own beliefs.

If one can find comfort in that way, let it come to him. But ever to us, the deep study of the spiritual world is a dangerous thing for simple minds. Ours is probably one of the simple minds.

ARKANSAS POPULATION

WASHINGTON, July 15. (INS)—The 1930 population of Arkansas was announced today by the census bureau as 1,853,981, a gain of 101,777, or 5.8 per cent over 1920.

Over 3,500,000 game fish were hatched at North Carolina fisheries last year.

Maid of 31 Lucky Not to Have Hubby, Says Dorothy Dix

Dear Dorothy Dix—I am fun-loving, but never have any lasing fun. I like people and am nice to all, but the very people I am so considerate of and nice to invariably ask: "Why aren't you married? Any one as pretty as you should have a beau. We don't understand it." These people know I have no admirer. They must know that I would rather have a home of my own than any position in the world. As soon as people make it plain that they recognize my failure I can't help but freeze because my heart twists in agony and I feel choked with tears. No man whom I can bear wants me. All around I see girls given the stamp of approval that makes people think they are worthwhile while men pass me ver. Don't accuse me of being super-sensitive. I am not, just discouraged. I am 31 and do not care if I am never a day older if I am not to have a home and family.—I HATE PITY.

Answer—I think that you are worse than supersensitive. You are plain goofy. Any modern girl who puts the stress upon being married that you do has simply lost all sense of proportion. More: she is seeing things like pink elephants and fairy princes that aren't there at all.

In the first place, my dear girl, when people ask you why you are not married they don't mean it as an insult or any reflection upon your charms, as you appear to think they do. The motives that prompt those to ask that hoary question, which has been put to every unmarried woman for the last century or two, are perfectly honorable and intended to be complimentary.

They intend to convey the impression that they consider you such a matrimonial prize that they don't see how you have been able to fight the suitors off. If, however, you suspect that some female cat is getting in a sly scratch by asking you why you aren't married, claw back by making a snappy comeback to the effect that the reason you are still single is because you are more choosey and harder to please than she was. That will hold her and her kind for a while.

The next mistake you make is in thinking that if you married you couldn't possibly fail to get a paragon of a husband and that he would be sure to be tender and kind and domestic and a money-maker and that you would never have another care or worry in your life. Count up how many women friends you have who drew that sort of a prize in the matrimonial lottery. You won't need a patent adding machine to tabulate the results. Honestly, now, don't you have just about as easy a life as your married sister? Don't you have less work to do? Don't you have more money to spend on yourself? Don't you have less to lie awake and worry about?

Furthermore, nobody regards marriage as putting the stamp of approval on a girl and showing that she is worthwhile, as you say. Neither do they regard a girl's being unmarried as any indication that she is a failure. All that kind of bunk went into the discard when the first woman got a good job. Now whether a woman marries or not is purely her own affair and one that interests nobody but herself.

Finally, if you would rather die than not have a home and family and no man comes along that you want, then set up your own home and adopt a baby.

You say you hate pity, but you are indulging in the worst form of it, which is self-pity. Quit doping yourself up on that and try to view your situation with a little common sense and you will realize that to be single is not the worst thing that can happen to a woman. It is far better for her to be an old maid than not to be happily married. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix—Since I was 18 I have supported my mother, my small sister and myself. I have four married sisters, all of whom have good homes, cars and live well. They know I am the sole support for the three of us and that my salary is meager, but they have never offered to help even to the amount of a dollar. Six months ago I married and my husband and I are having a hard struggle to get a start, which is made the harder by my having my mother and sister to support. Don't you think that the others should help? Or am I being selfish?

—ORPHAN ANNIE.

Answer: I think your sisters are monsters of selfishness not to help you bear your burden. Shared among the four of you it would not crush any of you, but it is too heavy a load for you to bear alone.

They are just as much obligated to support your mother and sister as you are, and the thing for you to do is to tell them that unless they will voluntarily contribute a definite sum of money each month to your mother and sister's support you will take the matter into court and compel them to do so. They will give you the money rather than have their greediness exposed. —DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix—I have a son who has been living with me all his life. He has five children, whose mother deserted them when they were babies. I have cared for them for five years. The oldest boy I raised from infancy. He is now 12 and I am devoted to him. Now my son has married again and he and his wife are planning to move into a home of their own and take the children with them, but I am unwilling to give up this oldest boy. His father says that he loves this child as much as he does the others and that he does not want to separate the family and that the boy would never regard him as his father if he gave him up. I say I have done enough for my son for him to let this boy stay with me, as I am getting old. Which one should have the boy?—MRS. S. W. M.

Answer—The thing to be considered in deciding this question is solely what is best for the child. Search your conscience, Mrs. S. W. M., and deal honestly with the subject.

Do you think that a doting grandmother is fitted to bring up a boy? Can you discipline him, or will you spoil him? Don't you think that the difference between the age of a grandparent and a young child is too great for them to meet on a common plane, and for that reason aren't grandparents either likely to be too lax or too severe? Don't you think that a boy entering his teens needs a father's strong hand over him and the contact with other children that he would miss if he was brought up alone?

Consider the question from the boy's side alone and I think that you will see that he will be better off with the family group than he will be if he is brought up just by himself. —DOROTHY DIX.

Graceful Afternoon Frock

Pattern 1983

By ANNE ADAMS

The charm and beauty of printed chiffon trimmed with lace is delightfully emphasized in this frock with becomingly styled cape collar, and gracefully flared skirt. The figure no longer slim, will enjoy this model, too, as the long line of the vestee and the front bow tend to slenderize.

Pattern 1983 will be equally lovely made of georgette, flat crepe, voile, dimity or lawn. The shadow prints on pastel tones are very popular this summer, and most flattering. Cream or ecru lace, organdy or tucked batiste would be suitable for the vestee. Sleeves are optional.

May be obtained only in sizes 16, 18, 20, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material and one-half yard lace.

No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given.

Send 15 cents in coins carefully wrapped, or stamps, for each pattern. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, style number and size wanted.

Our book of patterns for adults and children, also transfer patterns, is 15 cents, but only 10 cents when ordered with a pattern. Address all mail and orders to Record News Pattern Department, 243 West Seventeenth Street, New York City.

TAX VALUES 57 MILLIONS

Shumake Issues Estimate Of Valuations

With a slight decrease from last year's figure, due to a natural decline in oil production over the county, Wichita county's assessed property valuations were estimated at $57,500,000 in the first preliminary report forwarded Tuesday afternoon by Max Shumake, county tax assessor, to the state comptroller.

The estimate made Tuesday is $500,000 less than the preliminary figure of 1929 but practically all other classes of property except oil land have shown slight increases and the final figure will probably exceed $60,000,000, Mr. Shumake said, in pointing out that conservatism is essential in the first report, on which the state bases its income for the year. The final figure on assessed valuations last year was $62,845,000.

At this time, the assesor said, it is almost wholly a guess as to what the final figure this year will show. Oil property valuations usually vary from $8,000,000 to $10,000,000, he said Mr. Shumake pointed out that a 10 per cent reduction in the basis of valuation for property assessment purposes, ordered by the commissioners court between 1927 and 1928, cut the county's assessed valuations from more than $70,000,000 to slightly more than $60,000,000 in 1928, and that at the present time, property in the county is assessed at about 45 per cent of its real value.

Before the commissioners set the county tax rate, Mr. Shumake will submit to the court another estimate of valuations. The court will meet as a board of equalization August 6-8 to hear protests in individual assessed valuations and the final figure for the county's property valuations cannot be determined until the work of that body has been completed.

Farmers Co-Op Elects New Directors Board

Edd McGrath, J. D. Cooper, D. Vaughn, D. V. Foreman, Frank Pecarns, Alex Warren, and J. B. L. Hansard were elected directors of the Farmers' Cooperative society at a recent meeting at the Wichita county courthouse. Meetings have been announced for Thursday night of this week at Allendale, Cashion, and Petrolia.

A general meeting is called for 2:30 Saturday afternoon, July 19, in the office of Judge R. V. Gwinn at the courthouse. All members are urged to attend this meeting, the final one until December.

Chillicothe Lions Sponsor Trades Day

Special to The Record News

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, July 15.—In order to stimulate the introduction of more poultry and dairy cattle in the Chillicothe trade area, the local Lions club is sponsoring a community trades day at which time a fine registered dairy cow, a registered sow, and three pens of standard bred poultry are given away. The local organization has been conducting this work for four months, and some very fine stock and poultry have been awarded already. Much interest in this work has been manifested by the people living in the rural sections in the radius of 15 miles of this place. The next trades day will be Wednesday, July 16.

Cooking by Electricity is the Best, Simplest and Easiest Method of Preparing Foods

Cooking by electricity is generally accepted by housewives as the best, simplest and easiest method of preparing food. It is gaining in favor as fast as housewives realize the many advantages of the electric range.

Best, because it retains the actual goodness of foods.

Simplest, because the heat is controlled. Even an amateur can cook with unvarying success in an electric oven.

Easiest, because the electric range is designed to operate with the least amount of attention.

These three advantages have convinced 2,500 housewives served by the Texas Electric Service Company that cooking by electricity is most desirable.

BANTAM CAR ON DISPLAY

Wichitans to See Midget Auto Today

Wichita Falls in general will be introduced for the first time Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock to the "bantam" type of automobile which has for many years been popularly used in Europe when Boone-Kemp, Inc., local Graham-Paige dealers, will have on display a carload of the new American Austin cars.

Persons who have not been privileged to witness the European counterparts of this "bantam" darting in and out among their larger brethren on London and Parisian thoroughfares may feel, at first sight of the American Austin, that they are victims of an optical illusion. It has all the style of the latest models in much larger automobiles—substantial bumpers, high radiator, stream-line design, four-wheel brakes, complete instrument board, crown fenders, integral spare tire rack—even to a comfortable seat for two persons. But the dimensions of the new vehicle are so remarkably reduced from those of other automobiles commonly used in this country as to make it appear almost unreal.

40 Miles to Gallon

According to information available on the performance of this bidget car during the past eight years in England and elsewhere in Europe, however, the Austin is anything but unreal. Repeated demonstration of a capacity to carry its own weight and that of a driver 40 miles over average road for each gallon of gasoline with which it is provided has spoken plainly of its efficiency. Materially reducing the difficulty of obtaining space for parking, the "bantam" has revealed another real convenience to its driver by its reduced dimensions. And with a 680 mile run in 24 hours without any mechanical faults showing up, according to certified records on a New Zealand run, its endurance greatly belies the apparent lightness of its construction.

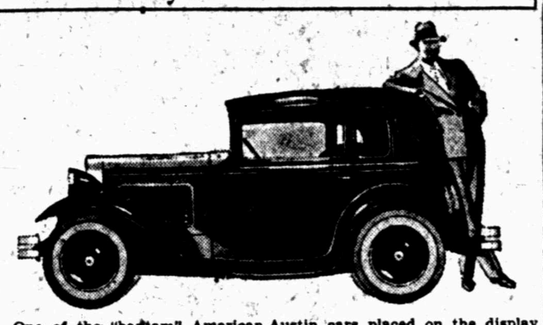

Some idea of just how much the picture of the usual automobile must be reduced to fit the Austin is conveyed by stating that a six-foot man, standing at the left of the car, may stretch his right arm out horizontally to shake hands with a friend on the other side of the car without touching its top. A more vivid appreciation of its miniature proportions springs from the sensation of swinging one's left foot from the driver's position in leaving the car to rest at once upon the ground, instead of upon a running board. There is no running board, because the pavement is there in its place—some 10 inches below the floor-level.

From the driver's seat, the bantam's windshield, instrument board, hood and radiator create a complete illusion of standard size. The familiar controls for which the feet instantly search on the floor board are in the usual places. The steering post, however, goes through the floor between the brake and clutch pedals, a transposition made necessary by the narrowing of the car by more than a foot. The doors appear to be of practically normal size, equipped with windows which raise on lower rapidly, and with remote control latch handles. Upholstery and interior finish of the car carry out its material and mechanical emulation of current models in larger patterns.

Four-Cylinder Motor

Beneath the hood is discovered a four-cylinder, L-head motor with detachable head. The length of the cylinder block appears to be little more than 12 inches. Yet it is of 2.2 inch bore, with a stroke of 3 inches. None of the accessories of the up-to-date automobile motor is lacking in this midget power plant, which supplies 14 h. p. strength for its task. Its Autolite ignition equipment includes the customary battery and coil. Carrying one and a half gallons of water, the motor cools by the thermo-syphon system.

Latest Entry in American Auto Field

One of the "bantam" American-Austin cars placed on the display floor of Boone-Kemp, Inc., Wednesday morning, representing the first offering of the small type automobile in this section. The "bantam" shown above weighs but 1,130 pounds and has a wheelbase of 75 inches.

Manager

Claude T. Boone, general manager of Boone-Kemp, Inc., local automobile dealers who will have on display in their show rooms at Ninth and Travis Wednesday morning the first American Austin "bantam" cars to be received in this section.

In its oil pan it carries five pints of oil, which is pumped and sprayed through the power unit. Something of the effortless action of the motor may be explained by the fact that its two main crankshaft bearings are roller bearings, one of them of double-row construction.

A front view of the Austin impresses one more forcibly with its reduced dimensions, for the 40 inches of space between the wheels contrasts noticeably with the tread of most passenger cars. Road clearance has been only slightly reduced, however, for its forged "H" beam front axle clears the pavement by 8¾ inches. Disc wheels, demountable rims, and four-wheel internal expanding brakes appear entirely standard in every respect except size. The tires for the bantam are 18x3¾ inches.

Mounted upon a semi-elliptic cross spring at the front, and two quarter-elliptics at the rear, the body provides ample riding space for two passengers with its 53 inches of width. From side to side, it requires almost 20 inches less space than the normal automobile, while its tread of 75 inches is 28 inches shorter than that of any standard car now in production, according to its makers. The overall length of the equipped Austin is 112 inches, and it makes a complete circle with a 16-foot radius.

Following eight years of production in England, and wide circulation throughout Europe, manufacture of the Austin is now established at Butler, Pa., by the American Austin Car company of Detroit. It was introduced generally throughout the country on June 28. According to information furnished by its agents at Houston, 101 of the cars were sold there on the first three days of its opening week in that city.

Auxiliary Car

The place of the small, two-passenger car in the automobile world as described by its designers, and as proven by its use in recent years, is that of an auxiliary to cars of standard size which are required for family use.

Manufacturers of the Austin car claim that its greatest utility is in its capacity for providing quick, comfortable and low-priced transportation to the individual who formerly has used the family car throughout the day for business purposes. With the considerable development of the "two-car family" idea during recent years, the Austin is recommended as the ideal second, or third, unit for transportation.

The group of cars to be shown here Wednesday will include seven coupes, and one special delivery car. At first glance, little difference will be observed in the two types, save in the color. The delivery unit uses exactly the same body as the two-passenger coupe, except that its rear-quarters are of solid stamp instead of having windows. In place of a righthand seat, however, in which to pick up passengers, it has space for packages which combines with that back of the driver to provide a total package space of 28 cubic feet. The driver easily may reach any part of the carrying compartment without moving in his seat.

Aside from the coupe and special delivery assembly, information from the Austin factory states that a roadster will complete the present line of the bantam cars for the American market.

New to this country, but already well established by its English makers both in England and on the continent, accomplishments of the diminutive car under test comprise a surprising testimonial to its ruggedness and endurance. It has won more than 500 cups in accredited competition with standard automobiles, many of which were for hill-climbing performances. Equipped with a special camshaft, the car attained an average speed of 53.53 miles per hour in a 200 mile race in England last year, while standard stock Austin cars set records of 65.98 and 59.60 miles per hour in other contests. Running in second gear, the bantam will dash through traffic at the rate of 40 miles per hour, it is claimed.

The show rooms of Boone-Kemp, Inc., at Ninth and Travis streets, will be open at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, it was announced, with the first Wichita Falls supply of American Austins on display to the public. Advance interest in the showing is reflected by a huge pile of inquiries from prospective owners and dealers which have been received since announcement of the "bantam's" coming was made through an ad in The Daily Times of last Sunday.

JAILER'S WIFE HALTS ESCAPE

Pecos Woman Shoots Life Termer; One Freed

PECOS, Texas, July 15. (UP)—Heroic action on the part of Mrs. John Duncan, wife of the Reeves county jailer, frustrated an attempted wholesale jail delivery of county prisoners during the night which resulted in the killing of Willie Hernandez and the escape of Pedro Aguilar who had received the death penalty for murder.

Mrs. Duncan shot Hernandez through the heart as he leaped down the stairs and in company with her husband fought off several desperate criminals until help arrived.

Widow of Warden Files $50,000 Damage Claim

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 15. (AP)—Charging that Clement L. Butler, former deputy state examiner, died July 15, 1929, from a blow struck Jan. 19, 1929, by W. S. Key, former state penitentiary warden, Daisy S. Butler, his widow, today filed a district court suit against Key for $50,000 damages.

Key walked behind Butler in a downtown hotel lobby here and struck him on the back of the head with his fist, her petition charged, the encounter followed publication of a purported audit of penitentiary books by Butler during Key's administration.

Crowell Couple See Life Reviewed In Pageant on Golden Anniversary

Special to The Record News

CROWELL, Texas, July 15.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Self, pioneer and prominent residents of Crowell and Foard county, recently celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at their home in Crowell. A feature of the celebration was a pageant in which major events in the lives of the honored couple were portrayed.

Mrs. Reid Williams of Loveland, Colo., a daughter, wrote the pageant, which was witnessed by a large number of friends and relatives of this section. Miss Allison Self, a granddaughter of Crowell, played the part of Mrs. Self and Ragsdale Lanier, also of this city, performed as Mr. Self. A number of other young folks of Crowell took part in the various scenes which were presented on a stage on the lawn of the home.

Married in Denton

Miss Lula Thompson became the wife of James H. Self at the home of her parents in Denton county 50 years ago. They moved to the section that is now Foard county in 1886 and settled in the community that is now Thalia, a town 10 miles east of Crowell. Foard county was not organized until 1891, when it was created from a part of Hardeman county. They drove from Denton to this section by covered wagon.

For several years they lived in a dug-out but with success in the farming industry they improved their living conditions with a new residence later. Mr. Self was the first man in Foard county to build a fence around his farm.

In 1900 Mr. and Mrs. Self moved to Crowell with their family and have since lived here. At that time Mr. Self engaged in the general merchandise business and continued in different lines of business here until 1924, when he retired.

Business leader

Three business firms in Crowell, a dry goods company, retail auto firm, and implement company, now bear the Self name and are owned and operated by three sons, Bert, Clarence and George.

Mr. Self was born in Buffalo, Mo., in 1860 and came to Texas in 1878, settling in Denton county. Mrs. Self was born in Collin county in 1762 and moved with her family to Denton county in 1877.

There are nine children in the family, six of whom live in Crowell. The children are: Bert W. Self, Clarence Self, George D. Self, Mrs. C. C. McLaughlin, Mrs. George Hinds and Miss Winnie Self, all of Crowell; Riley Self, San Francisco; Mrs. C. H. Melton, Wichita Falls; and Mrs. Reid Williams of Loveland, Colo.

Bay State Marks 300th Anniversary

BOSTON, July 15. (AP)—Three hundred years of progress in Massachusetts were commemorated today by a military and naval parade through the downtown streets and by a "great meeting" on historic Boston common.

Through streets of fluttering ticker tape the marchers, who included the celebrated Black Watch regiment from Canada and the crew of the British cruiser Durban, wound their way to the common where Gov. Frank G. Allen, Mayor James M. Curley, former President Calvin Coolidge and a host of other notables were waiting to receive them.

On a specially erected tribune sat, among others, Sir Ronald Lindsay, the British ambassador, Herbert Albert Laurens Fisher, warden of New college, Oxford, England, and his brother, Admiral Sir William Fisher.

Double Slayer Turns Pistol Upon Himself

WASHINGTON, July 15. (AP)—After shooting 14-year-old Mary Raff and his sister, Mrs. Lula Mills, late yesterday, Ross Golden, 29, killed himself.

The girl was in a critical condition in a hospital today. Mrs. Mills is expected to recover.

Golden left three notes saying he loved the girl.

At the home of his sister, he called Mary Raff to his room.

Mrs. Mills heard an argument followed by a scream and a shot. She told police she ran upstairs and met her brother at the door. He attempted to push her aside and when she resisted, fired at her.

DALLAM ROAD VOTE SATURDAY

$850,000 Bond Issue Up To County Voters

Special to The Record News

DALHART, Texas, July 15.—Every effort in behalf of the $850,000 road bond issue in Dallam county for paving highway 5, 54 and 41 is being put forth by the good roads committee and other individuals of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce. The election will be held Saturday, July 19.

For the past two weeks the trade extension committee of the Dalhart Chamber of Commerce has sponsored meetings in various rural communities in the county, at which speakers told of the benefits derived from voting for the bonds. The communities visited were Coldwater, Ware, Perico, Draper and Conlen. At each of the meetings a representative group of farmers were present.

Proponents of the issue point out the fact that the increase in taxes will be justified by the building of good roads. Opposition to the issue comes from the north part of the county where the taxpayers are opposing highway 41 which goes to the north Dallam county line.

Highway 5 from Dalhart to Texline is one of the most important arteries of traffic of the north Panhandle, receiving practically all the tourist traffic from Texas to Colorado. Highway 54 is a well established road carrying heavy traffic both in the summer and winter as it furnishes the most direct route to and from the Pacific coast from the central states.

Highway 41 has not yet received state designation but it is believed that if the issue carries that this road will receive designation immediately.

At least 90 per cent of the qualified voters are expected to vote in the election next Saturday.

Chicago School Board Seeks Payroll Funds

CHICAGO, July 15. (UP)—Stories of distress and want among Chicago school teachers, whose salaries are months overdue, again harassed the city board of education today as relief measures were being considered to obtain $6,100,000 needed to meet pay rolls.

Drowning Victim Buried at Brinkman

Special to The Record News

MANGUM, Okla., July 15.—Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at Brinkman Church of Christ for Vanis Whorton, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Whorton, who was drowned Sunday afternoon in a gin pond only six feet deep.

The boy was seized with cramps. On hearing his cries a youth who was swimming with him rushed to his assistance but the struggling victim sent him back saying it would only mean they both would be drowned.

Young Whorton is survived by his parents, three sisters and two brothers.

Oklahoma Has Cash Balance of $3,700,712

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 15. (UP)—The state of Oklahoma had a balance of $3,700,712.60 in its number one fund on June 30, State Treasurer R. A. Sneed said today.

The number one fund includes the general revenue, highway, educational, bond and coupons and miscellaneous funds.

The balance in this fund on Jan. 1 was $1,505,849.84. Disbursements during the six months' period for the fund totaled $16,651,849.51, while receipts were $18,846,912.27.

Registrations officially recorded by every State in the Union show that for this year more Hudson Eights have been delivered to consumers than any other eight in the world.

See For Yourself the Increasing Number of Hudson Eights on the Street

Hudson Beauty, Hudson Quality, Hudson Performance and Hudson Value frankly question the wisdom of ever paying more for any car. They have made Hudson the world's largest selling Eight. And the growing power of this conviction is shown in the increasing numbers you see everywhere.

In a statesman it's Vision

in a cigarette, it's Taste

FORESIGHT—an essential of statesmanship and of good cigarette-making too.

KNOWING WHAT SMOKERS WANT—and giving it to them in fullest measure—that's the sound basis on which Chesterfield's popularity has been built.

GOOD TOBACCOS, accurately blended—cigarettes of uniformly good quality and satisfying taste; no wonder that every day sees more and more smokers changing to this skilful blend of quality tobaccos . . . for mildness and for better taste.

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price.

A Menace to Peace
Il Duce the Gambler
A Prisoner Walks Out
The Lord's Will

By EMILE CAUVREAU

Mr. Mussolini says: "Machine guns are more beautiful than words." This stirs France to belligerent attention, as it would any nation at whom the threat is directed. The Italian premier demands revision of the Versailles treaty as well as other treaties signed after the world war. His ambition is to conquer through a new European alliance. Think this over when short-sighted fools tell you we should join the league of nations.

If the saber-rattling Mussolini has not profited by the fate of Germany and her kaiser, then no occurrence in all history can instruct him. He wants to gamble with the future and break with the allies. He stands today as the world's greatest menace to peace.

A professional pickpocket and burglar, Harry Siegler, walks calmly out of Harlem court during his trial and escapes to freedom. He does this while the bailiff looks on, disarmed by his nonchalance. This won't help justice. When burglars up for trial can stroll out of courtrooms unhindered we need wonder no longer that lunatics and murderers make their getaways from state prisons and asylums.

At a Brooklyn hospital a 13-year-old boy, suffering in the chest, is operated on over the protests of his mother. His life is saved. In order to rescue him from the hands of his well-meaning but bigoted parent the law had to be invoked against her. This sensible law permits the children's court, "where the child is one classed as neglected," to order an operation without the parents' consent.

In defense, the mother declares she gave the boy every care and attention, but that her faith in the Lord did not allow her to agree to an operation. "I have no right to complain if the Lord calls upon me to give Him back my boy."

The faith of such mothers is founded on ignorance and narrowness. Their religion is irreligion. Such mothers are less enlightened than Melanesian savages, who, when a child of theirs is ill, bring it to the native medicine man for treatment. They have not advanced very much from the time when Abraham, thinking also that he was serving the Lord, was ready to butcher his innocent son, Isaac.

A subway guard, Raphael Cioffi, is a millionaire in debts, but a pauper in assets. His bankruptcy petition reveals that he owes $245,000 to the Empire Savings bank, $135,000 to the Lawyers Mortgage company, $160,000 to the Equitable Trust, and a trifling $150,000 to William H. Barnum & Co., in addition to other petty items aggregating $200,000.

Cioffi, erstwhile builder of houses in the Bronx, takes his decline and fall like a Roman philosopher. Instead of going in for a nervous breakdown and contemplating suicide, he takes a $125-a-month job in the subway. And his "Step lively" is as lively as any uttered by his underground buddies. Cioffi will not stay underground long. He is too good at taking a blow.

The threat of a mother in Queens to picket a speakeasy, operating near a school has closed the bar up. Police and federal authorities were unable to bring that about. A determined woman and a few well directed newspaper stories can be effective at times.

Slot Sells Insurance

BERLIN—Railway stations in Germany are being equipped with slot machines which automatically sell insurance to railroad travelers. When a coin is put in the slot a policy in the form of a ticket is issued. In most cases the policy extends over a period of one or two days.

"I wouldn' mind competin' with the pauper o' Europe long enough to git a pair o' shoes," sighed Lon Moon, durin' a discussion o' the new tariff bill. It's the folks who'll pay even if they've got to mortgage somethin' that keeps business goin'.

A novelist asserts that an extravagant girl usually makes a poor mother. First, however, she makes a poor husband.

Generally speaking women are pretty and they are pretty generally speaking.

Mr. Dreiser's Pessimism

THEODORE DREISER, having completed an extensive tour of the United States, finds that his famous pessimism is more firmly entrenched than ever. He tells an interviewer that constitutional government has abdicated, that Americans can no longer express themselves as individuals, that the average citizen has lost his power to think and that literature is practically dead.

"Conditions here are in many ways similar to those in Russia before the revolution," he asserts. "I am more convinced than ever that the country is headed for great social changes that will frustrate the life of the ordinary individual unless they can be checked by a really important stand on the part of the intellectuals."

Mr. Dreiser never has been one to look on the bright side of things. His novels breathe a bitter doubt—or, rather, a firm conviction that humanity is fighting a hopeless fight against the powers of darkness. To have him bring back anything but a pessimistic report on the state of the nation would be a tremendous surprise.

Nevertheless, his attitude emphasizes a curious thing; the prevalence, among cultured and thoughtful minds, of a great discouragement and disappointment over our current civilization.

Why should this be? In a great many ways we have made very genuine progress in the last two or three decades. Living conditions are easier for millions of human beings. An enormous amount of soul-killing drudgery has been outlawed forever. Scientists have pushed the boundaries of human knowledge back almost to infinity. In the creative arts the land is more active than ever before. Why should so many thinkers be downcast?

The answer, it may be, lies in our increasing tendency to rely on machinery and science. We have, in this way, set ourselves free from some old evils, but there is not, so far, any clear indication where we are going. Our machines have developed faster than we have. If we are going to be able to control them intelligently, then we can enter into an era in history splendid beyond belief; but if we are not, an appalling sort of disaster is bound to befall us.

It will not help simply to shout the pessimists down. We need to study the new dispensation more closely than we have ever studied anything; to find out just what its possibilities are, and to set ourselves the task of realizing them. If we do this we can confound the critics; if not, their gloomy predictions will be justified.

Favoring Clouds

REGARDLESS of whether the decision handed down Saturday by the civil court of appeals at Fort Worth terminates the contest which has raged for almost two years between factions within the Democratic party in Wichita county, it marks at battle whose smoke has possibly favored certain participants therein by clouding temporarily various allied developments.

The question as to whether those who departed the regular Democratic fold in the fall of 1928 might regain their positions in local Democratic councils now, or later, has commanded the major portion of thought on politics in this section, despite the approaching state election as well as because of it. Any situation which has the appearance of curtailing individual liberty or of "expatriating" any group gives the stated victims of such a circumstance an excellent platform from which to call for public relief. Action of the Fort Worth court grants the petition, effective at least for the present.

But while the guns of battle roared and the smoke grew dense, it is entirely possible that those who voted with the Texas majority in 1928 had time to keep a weather eye on national affairs. If so, they may have concluded in the privacy of their own thoughts, that the less said about their choice for president the better. Considering the personal attributes ascribed to the regular nominee of the party two years ago, they may have suspected their presence in "the deep sea" which is the other half of the old idiom. As the nation now seems to regard the White House model of Hoover efficiency, it may have been a happy circumstance for one Democratic element in this county that everyone was preoccupied with a purely local issue. There might have been little of which to boast.

A Good Soldier Passes On

THE marine corps lost a good soldier and the nation lost a valuable citizen in the recent death of Maj. Gen. Wendell C. Neville.

Entering the marine corps in the early 'nineties, on graduation from the naval academy, General Neville found enough action in his military career to satisfy anyone. He fought the Spaniards in Cuba, served in the campaign in China against the Boxers, went to the Philippines to help put down the insurrection there, served in troublous Haiti and the Dominican republic, won the congressional medal of honor for bravery in the expedition to Vera Cruz, and took an extremely active part in the fighting in France.

As commander of the famous fifth marine regiment at Belleau Wood and later as commander of the fourth brigade in the hard fighting at Soissons and in the Meuse-Argonne, General Neville rounded out his career. His death removes from our midst a very fine soldier. During his 60 years of life he served his country as whole-heartedly and gallantly as any man could do.

An Exchange of Visitors

AMERICAN motorists are expected to spend around $300,000,000 in Canada this summer. The great dominion north of the border has unrivaled attractions as a vacation land—and we're not speaking of its liquor laws now, either. Citizens of the United States are discovering the fact in increasing numbers every year.

However, Canadians do a good deal of touring, too, and a lot of them cross the border to do it. In 1929, according to dominion government figures, Canadian tourists spent more than $111,000,000 in the United States, and more than 619,000 Canadian automobiles went south over the boundary. The figures probably will be higher this year.

Here is reciprocity of the finest sort. That famous unfortified frontier is in no danger as long as the two nations exchange friendly visits on such a scale.

Kalmar and Ruby, the writers of the RKO chin-ema that will star Amos 'n' Andy, offer the one about the dialectician who had been hanging over the tape in a "stuck" market office, watching the prices seek new low levels. He was moaning and groaning: "Oy!" he oy'd as he turned to the other customers, "this is somting tarrible. Look, what's heppening! Millions, billions. I wish I had 10 per cent of what pipple lust today."

"Yes," said a listener, "and you'd take one per cent, too."

"Not me! I couldn't afford to take less than 10," was the retort, "I got partners!"

And They Cut Corners!

Some of those types that tell the other fellow where to get off out in Hollywood were gabbing about the arrival on the coast of a New York producer who had come on to "uplift" the chin-emas.

"He's going to be a terrific flop," said one.

"How do you know?" asked another.

"Because I just heard," replied the first with disdain, "that he actually traveled out here in an upper berth!"

From Gags to Richman

Of course it is all very trying the way the Park Rowgues and the other journalists bother celebrities, but Harry Richman can kid them out of interviews when he isn't in the mood for shop talk. The other week-end when Clara Oh! came to town, she and her fiance, Harry, were looking at pictures in the hotel when the crew of interviewers called.

Richman, who was feeling gay, put his giggle goo to one side and pencilled this note to the newspapermen: "My fiancee just got off a train after a long trip and is very weary. Won't You Gentlemen of the Press come around later? Harry Richman." Apparently Richman feared that his note was too aloof so he added this P. S.: "Please give my love to all the little Pressys!"

"STEP-CHILD"

BY ROB EDEN

"I hardly think the accident was the cause of your amnesia."

Kay Smith, who can remember nothing of her past, not even her real name, runs away from the apartment of Mrs. Talbot because she is not trusted. She has fallen in love with Dane Talbot, but learns he is engaged to Julie Drew. Edith Nason, a friendly nurse, takes Kay into her apartment. Unable to give references and lacking experience, Kay looks for a job, without success.

CHAPTER VI

The apartment was cheery and warm. Kay was glad Edith had not returned. There would be time to prepare dinner before she came.

Hurrying into an apron, she looked through the cupboards. Creamed fish—she had seen the cook at Mrs. Talbot's prepare it. Some of her disappointment gone, she busied herself opening the can.

Edith would be coming anytime now . . . . . .

Fifteen minutes flew by. The table was set for two, the bowl of asters in the center. On the stove the little dinner was ready. Strange fussing around in the kitchen, wondering what to cook. Kay was glad now she had watched the cook at Mrs. Talbot's that long day. At least she knew a few things to make. And the creamed fish was delicious. She had tasted it many times.

Footsteps down the hall. Edith? No, they were too heavy. Probably some one else returning home. But, a key in the door. Kay's face fell. She had wanted to be alone with Edith tonight—so many things she had to tell her. So many things they had left unsaid last night, and this morning in the nurse's hurry to go to the hospital . . . .

Surprise!

An exclamation of surprise left the girl's lips when Edith entered, followed by Dane Talbot and Doctor Raleigh.

"Kay!" Dane caught one of her hands. "Kay, you shouldn't have left like this! I've been so worried about you—hunted all day for you, then finally thought of Miss Nason, so flew up to the hospital."

Then he had worried? He was sorry because she had gone . . . His eyes seemed a little stern, hurt.

"I had to tell Mr. Talbot that you were with me, Kay," Edith explained. She threw off the heavy blue cape, and the white cap from her hair.

"You should have told me you wanted to go, Kay—" Dane said slowly. "I didn't mean to force you to stay at Aunt Alice's unless you wanted to."

"I'm sorry," the girl murmured, "but I wasn't happy, and—"

"You'd rather stay with Miss Nason?"

Good Scheme

"Much."

"Will that be all right, Doctor?" Dane consulted Raleigh, who nodded emphatically.

"Miss Nason tells me you want to go to work," Dane continued.

Kay nodded, "I looked for a job today, but—didn't have any luck."

"What do you think of the plan?" Again Dane's eyes sought the physician's.

"A good scheme, if Miss Smith feels strong enough."

"I do, Kay cried eagerly. "Don't you see I must do something to take up my time—I thought at Mrs. Talbot's I'd go—mad, doing nothing. If I could work—at something hard, I might forget sometimes—"

"Nothing very hard, Miss Smith," Raleigh cautioned.

"How would you like to work in my office, Kay?" Dane asked.

Kay gave him a grateful smile, and her heart leaped.

"You can start tomorrow, if you like. We need a girl, and you'll do splendidly."

Forgotten were the discouragements of the day. Kay was radiantly happy. She was going to work for Dane. See him every day. Do things for him . . . .

"I'd rather not have anyone know — about me," she said suddenly, as a fresh thought struck her. "I mean, that I can't remember anything."

"Don't worry. I haven't mentioned you at the office. Gordon Drew, Julie's brother, is the only one who knows of you. I'll caution him to say nothing."

Julie's brother at Dane's office? Before the girl had time to think more about it, Dane rose to his feet. "Doctor Raleigh wants to speak to you, so I'll go," and with that he walked to the door. "I'll send your things to you this evening—the clothes you left at Mrs. Talbot's."

Kay flushed, and bit her lips. She wanted to tell him she didn't want them, but decided not to. After all, she must have something to wear. Those garments would do as well as any others.

Then Dane was gone, and Edith had disappeared into the dressing room to take off her uniform. She was alone with Doctor Raleigh.

He looked at her kindly through his slightly blue spectacles. She liked him. At the hospital he had been good to her. Something so fatherly about him. His voice, too, was soothing. She leaned back on the couch and relaxed, not minding the questions she knew he would ask her. He was trying to help her. Had from the first, and she understood.

"Now, Miss Smith," he started, bending his iron gray head a little to one side, "anything new?"

"Nothing, doctor. I still can't remember."

"You've struck nothing that's the least familiar? A face, a street, a house?"

"Nothing. I keep hoping—"

"I told you, Miss Smith, that you were not to worry too much. I see you disobeyed me."

"I know—but I can't help it. I'm better, though, since I came here to Edith's. I feel calmer, more at home, Doctor." She caught his hand impulsively. "Do you think I'll ever remember?"

"I think you will—when you least expect it. Some day, it might be soon, and it might not be, you'll run into someone you knew in your past life. Someone who has been dear to you. The past will come back like a flash. You'll see a picture which will remind you of that someone. You'll recognize a landmark. There are hundreds of ways your memory may come back. As I told you, there's a blocking somewhere in your consciousness. A blocking brought about by shock."

"But it might be years?"

"I don't know, child. I can't tell. We can only hope it will be soon. The best thing to do now is to accept your new identity. Don't try to hurry things too much. Everything will come back to you in time."

"I've tried not to worry—"

"I know. You've been very brave about it."

"You think if I could remember any detail that happened before the accident, that I'd remember everything?"

"What Do You Mean?"

"I don't know. I hardly think the accident was the cause of your amnesia."

Kay gasped. "What do you mean? The accident not the cause of all this forgetting? What, then—"

"I haven't told you this before because I didn't know how you'd take it. The accident might have contributed, but was not the ultimate cause. There were no injur-

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing to our Information Bureau in Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, or undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. The reply is sent direct to the inquirer. Address the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—How is the name of the French town Hyeres pronounced?—R. T.

A.—As if it were spelled E-air.

Q.—What is the English name for the pari-mutuel system of betting on horse races?—L. D. B.

A.—The English use the word totalisator.

Q.—What is meant by a hard spot in the stock market?—G. H.

A.—Strength in a portion of the market as a result of considerable buying, is called a hard spot.

Q.—When did Lindbergh's father change his name?—P. D.

A.—It was the grandfather whose name was changed from Manon to Lindbergh after he reached America.

Q.—Were women interested in publishing English newspapers in the early days?—S. K. N.

A.—The pioneer daily paper published in England in 1702 was published by a woman.

Q.—What do the abbreviations mean in the following: ob. Oct. 5, 1794. AE 46 years?—G. K.

A.—Ob is the abbreviation for obiit meaning died. AE is the abbreviation for the word aetatis, meaning of the age.

Q.—Why aren't walks built for pedestrians along the highways?—A. C. L.

A.—Such walkways are being considered by some states. New Jersey has recently passed a law permitting the highway commission to build sidewalks along state highways. Delaware and West Virginia also have made such provision.

Q.—Why does the moon sometimes appear so much farther to the north in the heavens?—V. C.

A.—Owing to the fact that the moon's orbit does not lie in the plane of the earth's equator, the moon has an alternating north-and-south motion—moving north for two weeks and then south for two weeks.

Q.—What is meant by patent flours?—R. M.

A.—Patent flours are classed as long patents or short patents, depending on what proportion they represent of the total flour milled from the grain. A short patent may contain less than 50 per cent of all the flour milled from the grain, and is seldom made except for commercial bakers, who want a flour of maximum bread-making power and longer patent, which contains perhaps 60 or 65 per cent of the total flour, is more common.

Q.—Please give some directions for one preparing a short talk to give over the radio.—S. F.

A.—A prominent educator gives the following suggestions for preparation of material for broadcasting: Write out your exact wording. Begin with one or more striking statements. Do not overrate the intelligence of your listeners. Use a few pertinent historical allusions. Give informational details of your subject, even though these seem too simple to you. Anecdotes, short and to the point, are good. Avoid too much generalization. Minimize preachment and advice. Close with three or four short sentences of five or six words each, clinching the main points presented. Revise for clearness and delivery. Read aloud several times for practice or, better still, memorize the talk. Do not change position while speaking. Sitting position is preferable.

Q.—Please give a short biography of Paul Robeson, the negro actor who played Othello in London.—H. T. J.

A.—Paul Robeson is the son of a minister. His father was a college man and his parents were North Carolina slaves of reputed royal Bantu descent. His mother's people were of Indan-Quaker-Negro stock, a family of teachers. Robeson's first fame was acquired in winning a succession of victories for the football team of Rutgers university. Obtaining a law degree from Columbia university, he began working in a law office until the opportunity came to join the Provincetown Players. Here he played leading roles in "The Emperor Jones" and in "All God's Chillun Got Wings." His wife, Eslanda Robeson, is the author of his recently published life.

The Record News Makes a Special Offer of a Handy Letter Writer

Everybody writes letters but surprisingly enough there are otherwise well informed people who do not know the fundamentals of correct letter writing. Many find themselves frequently at an utter loss to know what to do in a situation that calls for a certain kind of letter, note, invitation, acceptance, regret or announcement; and an incredibly large number do not even know how to address an envelope correctly, as the records of the Division of Dead Letters of the post office department prove.

Hence there is widespread demand for the new booklet, the Handy Letter Writer, now offered to readers of the Record News through our Washington Information Bureau.

There are no hard and fast rules for writing letters, as there are for correct English, but there are accepted standards of good form and good taste. These are detailed in this booklet and illustrated with examples of almost every kind of communication used in business or social correspondence and in that more intimate correspondence classed as love letters. There is an index, so that the reader is able to turn instantly to whatever form he may require.

In ordering a copy, write name and address carefully, enclose ten cents in stamps or coin, and address the Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

In some instances we had to send Texas rangers to recover some of the state's road machinery where workers had been loaned machinery and had been renting it back to the state as though they owned it, your tax money paying for the rental on machinery your state already owned.

Healthy Condition

"The commission is now in the best condition it has ever been in. Your roads are in constant repair and building is going on. But I have come to the conclusion after close study of the situation that the present system is all wrong. The pay-as-you-go method of building and maintaining highways cannot give the state the coordinated highway system it needs and demands. By means of it the counties and road districts must vote bond issues and no refunds can be made by the state to the counties.

Gas Tax Praised

"The gasoline tax is the best we can find. The man who uses the roads pays for them. North Carolina has one of the finest systems of highways in the nation, paid for by a bond issue. South Carolina tried the pay-as-you-go plan and had no highway system, until it followed in the footsteps of its sister state. Louisiana and Arkansas and the majority of the other states of the union are using the bond plan to build their roads. Arkansas is paying off its bonds at the rate of $6,500,000 a year and building a magnificent system of highways.

"It would take only two and three-quarters cents tax on the gallon of gasoline to pay for a $300,000,000 bond issue in Texas. This would not touch the school tax. The bond issue would be paid for by the gasoline tax or by a tax on any substitute which might be developed for this power. We have about 16,000 miles of highways yet to build in Texas. Many of the counties have not a foot of paved roads.

"It is not fair that the small, poor counties should pay $1.50 and more on the $100 valuation for state roads when Dallas and Harris counties and others with huge amounts of traffic pay at the rate of 20 to 22 cents on the $100 valuation. I know what I am talking about when I say the income to the highway commission next year will be from $33,000,000 to $34,000,000. None of this money can be refunded to the people of the counties which pay it out. Many of the counties over the state have smaller populations than they had 10 years ago, yet their taxes are going up while their property valuations go down."

VERNON HEARS ROSS STERLING

Special to The Record News

VERNON, July 15.—Carrying his campaign into the territory of Senator C. Small, R. S. Sterling of Houston, gubernatorial aspirant, today reiterated his stand on the state highway bond proposal and charged his Panhandle opponent had evidenced a change in viewpoint toward the bond plan.

"Up until yesterday the Panhandle candidate has been campaigning the state in opposition to my state highway bond proposal," Mr. Sterling declared. "Evidently he has changed his mind. At Harlingen he spoke in favor of reimbursing the counties for money they had spent for state highway construction. He and all of the other candidates are fighting Ross Sterling now, because they realize that he is going to lead the race."

The Houston candidate explained his plan to finance the highway system by voting a state wide bond issue at length, speaking an hour to an audience of approximately 500 persons. He declared his plan will relieve the home owners of the state of a tremendous and unfair tax burden through an equitable adjustment of the cost of construction and maintenance of highways. He made frequent references to his opponents as what he termed "professional politicians in the race," already recognizing that "they are beaten."

California Heat Wave Claims Two Victims

LOS ANGELES, July 15. (US)—Torrid weather today in Southern California caused two deaths and almost claimed a third victim.

The body of an unidentified old man, killed by the heat, was found near El Centro on a desert road. John Schmid of San Diego, 55, was prostrated in a stage station in Brawley and died. The temperature of both towns was 111½ degrees. With a temperature of 112 degrees, Paso Robles was the hottest place on the Pacific coast.

She's Getting Thinner Every Day

Her Fat Is Melting Fast Away

Here's the recipe that banishes fat and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

Every morning take one half teaspoon of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Cut out excessive eating—exercise regularly.

Be sure and do this every morning for "It's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning.

The Kruschen habit means that every particle of poisonous waste matter and harmful acids and gases are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are toned up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving salts is carried to every organ, gland, nerve and fibre of the body and this is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

Get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts at Allison Drug store or any drug store (lasts 4 weeks) with the distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

One Montana woman lost 19 pounds of fat in 4 weeks and feels better than she has for years.—Adv.

Wilford Harrison Drug Stores Sold; New Owners to Resume Operation

The assets of the Wilford Harrison Drug company, involving the No. 1 Store on Eighth street and the No. 2 at the corner of Grace and Eleventh were sold Tuesday, subject to the confirmation of Walter Nelson Sr., referee in bankruptcy.

J. E. Hall, manager of the Staley building, bought the Eighth street stock and fixtures for the Staley interests. The McKeason-Crowdus Drug company of Dallas, wholesalers, purchased the store at Grace and Eleventh streets and sold it in turn to Henry G. Truly, owner of Truly's Pharmacy at 2400 Holliday. The transactions are to be submitted to the bankruptcy referee who had not received the sale papers Tuesday night.

Mr. Hall indicated that he will continue the operation of the downtown store, one of the most modern in the state. In acquiring the stock and other assets of the establishment at Grace and Eleventh streets, Mr. Truly is expanding his business and will continue the operation of both stores. He entered the drug business in Wichita Falls in connection with the Wilford Harrison organization six years ago. Since 1926 he has operated the Truly Pharmacy. The new store will be re-opened and ready for business within a few days, Mr. Truly announced.

Mysterious Poison Claims Three Children After Family Picnic

Father Fights Losing Battle for Life After Trio Succumbs To Agonizing Malady

NEWTON, N. J., July 15. (AP)—With three of his children dead, and his wife and a fourth child in a critical condition, Wilburt Stanton tonight was waging a losing fight for life against a poison which which puzzles doctors.

The children, Elizabeth, 13, Fanny, 12, and Alice, 4, died today shortly after being stricken. Mrs. Stanton and William Cortwright, a stepchild two years old, also are suffering from the ailment, but are expected to recover. Stanton was not expected to live through the night.

Returning to his farm yesterday in agony, Stanton failed to arouse his family. He dragged himself into the house and found his wife and children near death.

The farmer crawled to the main road which runs past his house and was found by a passing motorist who summoned Dr. Lamar Voorhees. By the time the doctor arrived, the three children were dead. Dr. Lamar called two other physicians and together they labored to save the remaining three.

Sunday the family went on a picnic, taking with them sandwiches made of preserved meats. On their way home they stopped at a stand and ate some ice cream. It has not been determined whether these foods caused the illness.

Oregon Forest Fires Checked by Rangers

BEND, Ore., July 15. (AP)—First definite progress was made today toward control of fires in the Cascade and Deschutes forests west of Bend, which since Friday had burned 5,000 acres of private and government timber on an 18-mile front.

Aided by improved weather and a turn of the wind, 700 weary men were reported by forest rangers to have halted further spread. Trenching and back-firing brought the fires virtually under control, although in many places flames were burning fiercely.

U. S. Sues Kipling For Back Income Taxes

NEW YORK, July 15. (US)—Rudyard Kipling, the British poet, owes the United States $2,104.50 in back taxes, according to a lien filed against him in Brooklyn today. No details are given. It is presumed that the government's claims are based on income from his works published here.

20 Armed Men Pursue Mexican Murder Suspect

EDINBURG, Texas, July 15. (UP)—A posse of 20 armed men continued its search for a Mexican suspected of the slaying of Bruno Villareal, 23, on a farm near Raymondville, Monday. Villareal's body was found with an ax imbedded in his head. Robbery was believed to have been the motive.

RECEIVER FOR STORES NAMED

Clarence Saunders Hears Court Decision

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 15. (AP)—Clarence Saunders, once a child of poverty and later a man of millions, sat smiling in a court room today and heard a federal judge place the Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., operating unit for 150 of his self-serve groceries, in the hands of a receiver after Saunders had said the firm was insolvent.

The grey-haired man, who as an 11-year-old boy started as a country store clerk at 25 cents a week, said he would go to California to direct the Clarence Saunders Pacific corporation operating stores in Oakland and Los Angeles. He declared this and another concern, the Clarence Saunders corporation, which leases rights to operate stores under his name, still is in a sound condition.

The receivership was granted by Judge Harry B. Anderson at the request of three creditors with $2,963, and against insistent requests for delay by counsel for Myrtle, Rawls & Donaldson, New York bankers, who lent $500,000 to the Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc. The loans come due this month and in August, and were blamed for the present difficulty.

Walter Armstrong, attorney for the bankers, said his clients feared Saunders could claim he no longer was personally responsible, since someone else had caused the receivership. Armstrong said that the loans were for expansion purposes, and that Saunders might contend the expansion no longer is possible.

The Clarence Saunders Stores, Inc., operates stores in the South, Missouri and Texas. Saunders has said it is distinct from his other chains.

Many today remembered Saunders' return from New York in 1923, after he had lost control of Piggly Wiggly stores, which he had built up to a huge proportion. Wall street bears who sold Piggly Wiggly stock short made him angry. He fought them, lost at least $4,000,000 and returned to borrow $12,000 and start his present project.

les to your skull—remember that. Your arm was badly bruised, that was all."

"I don't understand—"

"I didn't really mean to tell you this now, but I think you will reason it all out for yourself. At any rate you should know. I'm inclined to believe that some happening in the past caused your condition. The accident made it fnial. Clinched it."

"An accident in my past?"

"No, child. Something that happened to you. I can't say what. A condition you loathed. A crisis of some kind. Very probably a crisis. At the time Mrs. Talbot's car struck you, you might have been walking around in a half daze.

Otherwise why should you have tried to cross the street in the pouring rain? On such a night?"

"It's all so strange—what you're telling me."

"I know. I've been talking to you more freely than I should—"

"I'm glad. I should know. Some crisis in my past—"

"You see, child, you are very impressionable. I imagine you always have been that way. Extremely sensitive. Too sensitive. Something in our past has made such a deep impression on your mind that it has frightened everything else away—frightened even the event, or crisis itself."

"You think this crisis, then, might be something I was terribly ashamed of?" Kay had uttered her thoughts at last. She watched Dr. Raleigh's face intently, her eyes wide with fear.

Unhappy Childhood

He laughed heartily. "Didn't I tell you you were too sensitive? No, I don't thing so. I don't think you ever did anything in your life that you should be ashamed of. Don't worry about that, now. I told you once what I had re-constructed of your past, from my tests at the hospital. I'll repeat it all now. I think you were well educated, well brought up. I think, though, that your childhood was not so happy. I've no reason for that statement except for the fact that your eyes are entirely too sad for a girl of your age. We can tell a good deal from eyes. Yours are especially expresive.

"Now we'll forget all this and talk about the work you're going to do in Mr. Talbot's office. You really want to work?"

"I do. I must."

"A very excellent idea, but I want you to come to see me every week, and we'll talk over everything that has happened. See if you remember anything." He reached for his hat, and smiled. "You won't worry over anything I've told you?"

"No—and I'm glad you told me." Miss Nason came out to bid the doctor goodby. He gave her no instructions about Kay. When he had gone, the two girls sat down to the dinner Kay had prepared.

"Well, I've got a job anyway," Kay sighed. Edith said nothing. She found herself wishing that Dane Talbot had not offered Kay a job in his office. It would mean that Kay saw him constantly, and Edith knew already that the girl was fond of him. Too fond. She had seen her face when Talbot had come into the room that evening. At the hospital, too, she had watched the two closely on Dane's visits.

It didn't matter of course, then, when she knew so little about Talbot. But last night Kay had told her Dane was to be married. The way she had said it, so bravely, her eyes registering her real hurt . . .

No, she didn't want anything to happen to Kay. She liked her too much. And she couldn't bear to think that Kay's friendship with Dane would hurt her, now, when she needed so much love, so much sympathy. Perhaps she should warn Talbot. Silly, no. That would be interfering. But she would watch, and watch carefully . . .

Hoover Cuts Sentence Of Roundout Mail Robber

WASHINGTON, July 15. (INS)—The 25-year sentence of James Murray, Roundout mail robber, now in Atlanta, was cut in half by President Hoover on May 12 last the department of justice revealed today. The executive reduced Murray's sentence to 12 years, of which six has already been served. No explanation of the reasons was made.

Modern Method Lift Them Out CORNS

Callouses Go Too

The safest and real modern way to remove corns, root and all—out to stay is soak them every night for 3 or 4 nights in an invigorating, stimulating Radox Footbath.

Then put on modish shoes again, walk and dance with greatest comfort because there's nothing left to ache. No pain, no trouble.

Radox liberates oxygen which softens hard outer layer of corn, each night penetrating further and further through the pores, carrying the salts to actual root of corn, so loosening it that it comes right out. Nothing like healthy, free from corn feet to assure happy days! Get a package of Radox at Allison Drug store or any drug store.—Adv.

OKLAHOMA TAX PAYMENTS GAIN

Motor License Collections Show Increase

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 15. (UP)—Automobile license tax collections in Oklahoma during the fiscal year ending June 30 totaled $6,765,709.61, Secretary Ed McDonald, of the state highway commission, reported today.

ANOTHER VICTORY

FOR THIS REGULAR STOCK MOTOR OIL!

CLOSE ON THE HEELS OF ITS ACCOMPLISHMENT AT INDIANAPOLIS MAY 30, CONOCO WINS 3RD, 4TH, AND 5TH PLACES AT ALTOONA AT BETTER THAN ONE HUNDRED MILES PER HOUR!

Frank Farmer, in a Miller Special, "placed" third with an average speed of 102.2 miles per hour. "Shorty" Cantlon, in a Miller-Schofield Special, was fourth with 101.5 miles per hour. "Speed" Gardner was fifth in a Miller Front Drive Special. All three used CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil in this convincing demonstration of the qualities of this regular "stock" motor oil. At Altoona, as at Indianapolis, this was the first time that a stock oil had placed so high in the finish of the race.

The story of the Altoona race cannot be told without reference to the accomplishment of CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil at Indianapolis. For it was in that 500-mile classic that the stamina of this new oil was impressed on the racing fraternity. After observers had seen the oil at the close of the Indianapolis race; after they had observed its full body and good color as it came from Dave Evans' motor, the word went out that CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil had displayed the qualities necessary to solve the lubrication problems of racing motors. CONOCO had earned the respect of this most skeptical group—and earned it fairly.

In view of the Indianapolis results, it was only natural for a majority of the drivers at Altoona to choose CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil for America's fastest competitive race.

CONTEST BOARD AAA CERTIFIED TEST

The Contest Board of the AAA took all the necessary precautions to make sure that the oil used was the regular CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil.
CERTIFIED TEST No. 2335

And as these cars whizzed around the boards at Altoona on June 14th, CONOCO again proved its worth in a field previously dominated by castor blends—a field which other stock oils have repeatedly tried to enter without success!

So chalk up another victory for CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil, close on the heels of Indianapolis . . . a victory won with the same stock Germ-Processed oil that you can buy at any Red Triangle station.

CONOCO

These CONOCO victories have a definite meaning to every one who drives a car. They substantiate every claim that was made for it when the oil was introduced last November.

You can experience the safety and economy of this oil by stopping at the next Red Triangle Station and asking for:

How to Keep the Colon Clean

If you would avoid the many troubles which originate from constipation you should begin immediately to keep your colon clean. Learn how to live so that your bowels move at least twice a day. Once the habits of healthful bowel eliminations are established they endure, provided the patient lives correctly. It is not difficult to train your bowels to act naturally, and you save yourself a lot of worry and illness. Once your colon functions normally, you will lose that heavy feeling and feel gloriously alive.

Those who are drowsy when they should be wide awake are being poisoned slowly by bowel contents which have stayed in the body longer than they should.

The first habit to establish is to go to the toilet regularly at definite times and stay there for at least five minutes. It is a great mistake to wait until you have to go. If you do not set aside a definite time in the morning and evening, something else is sure to avert your attention, and before you know it the bowels will become accustomed to their additional load and will fail to notify you.

In nearly every case of habitual constipation these nerves become less sensitive and the patient may not be aware of his condition.

The second good habit to form is to eat enough of the foods which contain cellulose to provide the bowels with roughage. At least two large raw salads and several non-starchy vegetables should be used each day, and it is often a good plan to eat a little fruit just before bedtime, such as an apple or an orange, or some fresh apricots. One who lives entirely on concentrated foods which do not have the bulk that is contained in vegetables and fruits invariably is constipated. You have to give the bowels something to do if you expect them to work.

Another good habit to form is to drink plenty of water. This tends to keep the bowels moist so that they function more smoothly. A good plan is to take a drink of water when you first awaken in the morning, then drink some water in the middle of the morning, and in the middle of the afternoon. Try to drink at least six or eight glasses during the day. This, in itself, often brings speedy relief.

Another good habit to form and possibly the most important of all for those who do not get much daily exercise is to develop the abdominal muscles. If the abdominal muscles are weak, you cannot expect them to do their part in assisting the colon. If they are weak it is usually an indication that the entire circulation in the abdomen is poor and needs improving. One who is constipated should take exercises for developing the abdominal muscles at least twice a day until they become strong and firm.

If you learn how to keep your colon clean now before it is too late you may avoid the serious consequences of constipation and at the same time be rewarded with a feeling of better health than you have ever known before.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Ileocecal Valve

Question—Mrs. W. P. asks: "What diet and treatment do you advise in ileocecal valve trouble for a patient of 14 years who has been sick most all her life?"

Answer—I advise treatment with a sinusoidal electrical current. The diet should be one which tends to correct constipation. Do not worry about your trouble, as nine out of ten have it. Just pay attention to overcoming constipation so that your bowels move regularly three times daily.

Cherries

Question—J. Y. writes: "In your catarrh fast, you give cherries. Is it all right to eat sour pie cherries raw? Are they just as good for one as the sweet cherries? You also state that cherries are a blood builder. Would the sour cherries be as good a blood builder as the sweet?"

Answer—The sour or pie cherries would be just as beneficial for a fruit fast as the sweet cherries, if you prefer them, providing they are eaten without sugar.

Burning Feeling

Question—I. O. M. asks: "Will you kindly tell me what might be the cause of a burning pain in the breast that comes and goes? Have had these symptoms for many years. Do you suppose it would be a cancer slowly advancing? Have been examined by a doctor recently and he says there is no cancer. What causes the burning sensation which gives me such an uneasy feeling?"

Answer—This may be due to recurring acute attacks of chronic mastitis which means inflammation of the mammary glands. A good blood cleansing diet and local treatments to improve the circulation should bring about relief.

Kelly Field Officer Leaps in Parachute

SAN ANTONIO, July 15. (AP)—Deserting his pursuit plane while it soared north of Kelly field near the Fredericksburg road today, Lieut. E. H. White, 29, a member of the 24th wing headquarters at the airdrome, saved his life when he landed safely with his parachute. The ship was demolished.

The altitude from Lieutenant White was forced to jump was not known by Kelly field officials, who had not been advised of details of the mishap shortly after it occurred. They learned, however, that Lieutenant White escaped injury.

Y. M. C. A. Beneficiary Of $1,000,000 Bequest

NEW YORK, July 15. (UP)—The Young Men's Christian association was $1,000,000 richer today because it taught a young man from the country the principles he used in developing the gyroscope.

The young man was Elmer A. Sperry, inventor of the Gyro stabilizer for airplanes and ships, and other devices promoting aeronautical safety.

Dr. Sperry, who died a month ago, left a $1,000,000 trust fund to the organization, his will disclosed.

SPUDDERS SCORE SIX IN NINTH BUT LOSE TO BUFFS, 11 TO 7

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Giggles in the Headlines

"Moody Scores Jim Ferguson," read a headline in Tuesday morning's Record News. You can count on it that it wasn't a sacrifice, but a base slam.

"Triple Slaying Resolves Triangle," read another. One more murder, we presume, would have squared the circle.

When we watch these Waco and Beaumont pitchers dish out passes to Larry Bettencourt, generally we are moved to scorn, and always we are reminded of the story concerning Hal Waltse and Babe Ruth.

During Hal's two years with the Boston Red Sox, in 1926 and 1927, he never walked the bambino. He always pitched to him. And in those two seasons, Ruth didn't get but five home runs off Wiltse.

Wiltse confided to us that he never had much trouble whipping the Yanks. In the 1926 season, the Red Sox, hovering way down in the second division, whipped the Yankees only four times, and Wiltse pitched three of them. The fourth time Wiltse pitched against them he was beaten, in the eleventh inning. He had them beat in the ninth, 5 to 4, but Tony Lazzeri hit a home run in the ninth to tie the score, and another run in the 11th gave them a 6 to 5 decision.

Considering Wiltse was pitching for a losing club, that's a record to be proud of. Had he been backed up with support such as the Spudders could now give him, it is possible he would have had a great deal to do with the Red Sox becoming real contenders for the pennant. But the Red Sox then, as now, failed to come up to standards. Whether they could stand the pace now in the Texas league is extremely doubtful.

The talk of who will be here next season and who won't is now burning up local fans. There's not a one of them who has the faintest hope of seeing Jim Levey in a Spudder uniform next year, for instance. He's going up, they say. To whom they haven't figured out just yet, leaving that matter for Jim and the higher clubs to decide. But they all expect him to dash into the big time. Some also just can't figure out how major league baseball can get along without Howard Fitzgerald. It is generally known that Howard doesn't hanker for the big time again, but some of the boys say with determination that the big leagues are just going to force him to come up and join them once more. Some have it all doped out that Skipper Williams, undoubtedly the most skilled manager in the Texas league, will be piloting a big league club next year. Bettencourt, they contend, is with us for the last time, his home run swatting having started legends all o'er the land, many of which have even made the mighty Babe twist inquiringly in his boots. Others further declare that without Wiltse next year, some major league club is going to hit the rocks. And so it goes, far, far, far into the night.

These cafe-counter orators may or may not be all wrong. It is true that Spider Levey is burning up the Texas league at the present time, and that he has a good chance to break the ice higher up. The same goes for all the rest mentioned. But the one answer to all these cogitations that seems to have real meat to it was uttered the other night by Skipper Williams himself.

"In baseball," said he, "a man never plans ahead from one season to the next."

Well, baseball players and newspaper men are in the same boat when it comes to that point. Shake hands, mates, and pass around the iced tea.

Ho Hum!

In future, no one but sports writers and others working on the game will be allowed in the press box atop the grandstand down at the lot, because, said Prexy Huff, when said slaves bring along guests, it "makes it just that much harder on the roof."

Of course, we would be the last to wish that roof to cave in, and we hold that the ruling is more than just. In fact, we are so much in favor of protecting that roof that we suggest, Mr. Huff, that you issue a general order prohibiting entrance to the press box of sports writers who weigh more than 150 pounds.

RALLY RUINS DAY FOR STOUT

Twirler Holds Hopefuls To 3 Hits Until Last

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Little Allyn Stout, whose sun grin looks like a continual smile, pitched three-hit baseball against the Spudders for eight innings Tuesday afternoon but when he did wilt in the ninth it was to give up six hits and six runs, enough to chase him from the box.

Nevertheless, the rampant Buffaloes had already nicked the fences with the ineffective pitching of Lester White, Dick Florrid and Fred Vincent, and the six run rally came too late to overcome the Bison's 10-run lead.

The final score was 11 to 7 in favor of the Buffaloes. It was a heart-breaking game. Had the Spudders scored not a single tally in the ninth, the loss would have been accepted as something that must happen soon or late to the best of clubs. But to come so near and yet be so far behind . . . !

Little Stout, with his furious fast ones and his expert change of pace was in rare form. He struck out seven men, Bettencourt being the victim twice. Had he lasted the final frame he would have left the park in a blaze of glory.

Burns Hits Home Run

Not a single blow did he allow the first three innings. In the fourth he gave up two, one of them Burns' home run over the right field fence and the other Bettencourt's single to center. In the fifth Geygan took one of his offerings for a double to left. Then the sixth, seventh and eighth went hitless for the Spudders.

The Spudder pitchers fared not half so well. Selph scored in the second on his double and Holm's two-base knock. Levey threw wild to first when Hunt hit one to the infield in the fourth and a stolen base and a single by Peel accounted for a second Buff tally before the Spudders had even made a count. Burns clouted his homer in the last of that inning, but in the sixth the Buffs knocked White from the box in the course of a six-run barrage. Hook singled past second and took second on Mishkin's sacrifice bunt. Hunt doubled to right, scoring Hock. Lester hurled a wild one and Hunt took third. Kaufmann doubled to left, scoring Hunt. Peel singled through the box, scoring Kaufmann. White hit Selph and Peel advanced to second. White then was relieved by Florrid. Holm forced Selph at second, Storti to Levey. Morrow then socked a home run over the left field fence, scoring Peel, Holm and himself. Stout grounded out, Storti to Burns.

Florrid gave way to Vincent in the eighth, whereupon the Buffs scored three more runs. Peel walked, went to second on Selph's single, and then Holm drove them both in with a triple to right. Vincent hit Morrow, who, on a passed ball, took second. Vincent struck out Stout. Hock sacrificed to center, scoring Holm. Mishkin flied to Bettencourt.

The Attack Starts

The Buffs were retired with ease in the ninth, and then started the attack on Stout. Bettencourt opened the rally with a single to left. Crouch doubled to right and Bettencourt took third. Geygan singled to right, scoring Bettencourt and advancing Crouch to third. This unnerved Stout and he tossed a wild one, Crouch scoring and Geygan going to second. Euller singled through first, Geygan taking third, and on Stout's balk Euller went to second. Orr batted for Vincent and scored Geygan with a sacrifice fly to left. Storti singled to left, scoring Euller. Fitzgerald singled through short, advancing Storti to second. Brown then relieved Stout and was greeted with Kloza's double to left which scored Storti and advanced Fitzgerald to third. Burns sacrificed to center, scoring Fitzgerald. Bettencourt fouled out to the catcher for the third out, and there was all that work for nothing.

But that ninth inning rally gave the fans a thrill they had been wanting, for otherwise the game was slow and so-so.

Euller Back On Job

The game was marked by the reappearance in the lineup of Walter Euller, third sacker whose ankle was injured some weeks ago. Euller, in the eighth inning, relieved Levey at shortstop, the shortfielder being out of condition due to various minor injuries.

It will be up to the veteran Milt Steengrafe to stop the Buffs today in the last game of the Houston series.

Two Men Killed Testing Speed Car at Detroit

DETROIT, July 15. (INS)—Speeding at a rate of more than 100 miles an hour, two men were hurled to their deaths this afternoon when a tire blew out and sent their automobile rolling over and over for 300 feet.

The accident occurred on the speed test track of the General Motors proving ground at Milford, near here. Gus Bell, 38, a test driver, and then McCollen, an engineer, were killed.

Spit is a horrid word, but it's worse if on the end of your cigar

One of many actual photographs of "spit-tipping" cigar makers. The above picture was taken in Pittsburgh, Pa., April 4, 1930. An affidavit from the photographer is on file, showing that this workman used spit in making cigars.

. . . the war against Spitting is a crusade of decency . . . join it. smoke CERTIFIED CREMO!

Over 7,500 cigar factories are registered by the U. S. Government. Over 7,400 of these hand-roll cigars, producing 50 percent of the output. Every hand-rolled cigar—made by American Cigar Co. or anyone else—is subject to the possible danger of "spit-tipping." Certified Cremo is absolutely free from spit-tipping—No Cremo is made by hand.

Every leaf of the choicest, finest tobacco entering the clean, sunny Certified Cremo factories is scientifically treated by methods recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture. And its purity is safeguarded along every step of the way by amazing inventions that bind, roll, wrap and tip the cigars!

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—Early selling on reports of better weather in the South and relatively easy cables was absorbed on declines of 6 to 12 points in cotton here today, and prices later rallied on covering and some trade buying.

Contracts became comparatively scarce on the advance from 12.78 to 12.99 for July and from 12.58 to 12.88 for new October. Some realizing was encountered at higher figures, and the close was several points off from the best with the market steady at net advances of 3 to 10 points.

Liverpool cables attributed the decline there to Bombay selling, and both the Liverpool and the continent were credited with selling here later, while part of the buying during the day was attributed to New Orleans interest. Exports today 2,569, making 6,748,427 so far this season. Port receipts 3,286. U. S. port stocks 1,605,634.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 15. (AP)—Cotton developed a little more activity today, and the price trend was rather upward following early declines on poor cables and rains in the east.

The opening dip attracted active short covering which was added to by an official prediction of fair and warmer weather for the Western belt, the market gaining 26 to 27 points from the lows. After covering demand had been filled, prices reacted 7 to 8 points from the highs on realizing.

Prices rallied again in the late trading to levels 30 points above the lows on covering but lost about half the advance near the end. The general market closed steady at net gains of 11 points on all active months.

Profit-Taking Checks Advances After Recent Vigorous Recovery

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 15. (US)—There was a disposition today among the best-intentioned sponsors of the stock market to permit prices to settle after their recent rather vigorous recovery. As a result, the majority of active and leading issues closed with only moderate price fluctuations the average of which among the important groups ranged within a point range, with losses and gains about equally divided. Many leading stocks closed without change from Monday's final levels. Volume, however, expanded still further and crossed the 3,000,000-share mark for the first time in weeks. It was apparent from the opening that greater opposition was being encountered to further sharp advances following the most encouraging markets of Monday and Saturday. There was only slight diminution of the bullish feeling however, the best-informed being inclined to view a reaction as entirely normal and rather helpful to the market, since occasional adjustments in price will prevent any undue and weak market structure developing. External developments of the day were rather helpful, particularly an improvement in grain prices, maintenance of low call money rates, and an optimistic report on steel operations.

Considerable profit-taking was evident in leading stocks, with a renewal of professional endeavors to unsettle prices. The combined selling was sufficient to halt the price appreciation in the general list, although new highs for the recovery were scored in numerous issues. Sponsors of the most active stocks were anxious to prevent excitement in their favorites, knowing that such a development would work more harm than good. The best-informed attitude is to permit natural reactions to occur, not only to undo possibly dangerous situations but also to create a more powerful fundamental condition throughout the market. The good work already accomplished in improving confidence throughout the financial and business world is fully appreciated and the desire is to continue constructive efforts.

The market had about reached its best prices of the day when the Steel News appeared. It disclosed that mill operations for the industry had recovered further to about 57 per cent of capacity compared with 48 per cent, the low point reached around the July 4 holiday. Steel common was a conspicuous feature of strength throughout the day, closing at 164 for a net gain of ⅜ after being as high as 164⅝. Other Steel shares failed to do as well, but showed only minor change. American Telephone & Telegraph proved somewhat of a sensation by jumping nine points on buying which obviously was largely of investment character. The six-month's report showing the $9 dividend rate fully protected despite the increased capitalization and the slowing down in business attracted large-scale buying. The stock's improvement was one of the most encouraging signs in the entire session. It indicated that investment buying is taking place in various of the high-grade stocks, despite the recent price enhancement.

In the belief that a temporary setback was fully warranted, offerings of various stocks increased but were taken rather well. American Can, for example, was offered in greater supply than for almost a week and the stock closed unchanged. Supposedly well-informed profit-taking was also reported in such issues as Electric Power & Light, where a large interest was being liquidated to realize a substantial profit scored since the lowest price was reached. Foster-Wheeler, which has been particularly strongly sponsored of late, likewise reflected profit-taking. Despite continued huge turnover in Radio-Keith, with the specialist again most active, the stock closed up only ⅜ of a point. Oil stocks responded to the substantial reduction effected in production last week by holding firm in the face of the general market uncertainty. Standard of Jersey continued the leader of this group, influencing greater activity in other oils. The sponsors of Mexican Seaboard, encouraged by the more favorable news on the California situation, were persistent buyers of the stock. News that the Oklahoma producers had agreed to a 25 per cent curtailment provided additional cheer.

Durant was reported active in Electric Auto-Lite which scored a five-point gain and carrying the stock up about 20 points from its low for the year. Greater interest was also evident in Eastman Kodak. Case Threshing Machine closed down a few points but good demand was reported for the issue despite general recognition that there has been some slowing down in demand for agricultural implements. The stock's 200-point break from top to bottom prices this year discounted the recession. Strength in grains, particularly wheat, was a welcome development. Some shrewd observers think that the bearishness on wheat may have been overdone, and that the commodity might recover sharply, similarly to what the stock market recently has witnessed.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, July 15. (AP)—Excellent demand continued for wheat on the cash grain market here today with exporters and mills both taking all offerings. Exporters were bidding 93 to 93½ for ordinary No. 1 hard wheat delivered Texas gulf ports while mill bids ranged 93½ to 94c basis No. 1 ordinary hard delivered Texas common points with 13 per cent protein bringing 94 to 94½c and higher proportionately more.

Corn and barley were in fair demand but oats were hard to sell while light offerings strengthened the grain sorghums under improved demand.

Bids and offers on coarse grains ranged as follows, basis carloads delivered Texas common points, freight paid:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 97 to 97½c; No. 3 white $1.03½ to $1.04½; No. 2 yellow, 99 to 99½c.

Oats—No. 2 red nominally 44 to 45c.

Barley—No. 2 delivered T. C. P. 56 to 57c; delivered group one 54 to 55c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo per 100 pounds $1.75 to $1.80; No. 2 kaffir $1.65 to $1.70.

Dealers also quoted as follows, basis delivery Texas group one: No 2 mixed corn 95½ to 96c; No. 2 white corn $1.02 to $1.03; No. 2 yellow corn 97½ to 98c. No. 3 white oats 45½ to 46c, to which add 1 cent for delivery group three.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 15. (AP)—Corn instead of wheat became the price maker today, the chief reason was apparent likelihood of a new heat wave threatening serious curtailment of the 1930 corn crop.

The stock of corn now on hand here is meager, and the present difference between quotations on July delivery of corn and July delivery of wheat is said to be the smallest since 1895, when corn sold at 5c a bushel over wheat for a brief period. Later in the same year, wheat went to 51c over corn.

Closing quotations on corn were strong at nearly the top level reached, 1@2¼c higher than yesterday's finish, wheat closed unsettled 1¼@1⅝c advanced, oats ½@⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12c.

Wheat and oats moved upward in price with corn.

Provisions reflected improved export demand for lard.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—91¼c (offers); September 90⅝@90¼c, 93¼@93⅝c; December 96⅝@96½c, 99⅝@99⅝c; March $1.01¼, $1.04; Corn—July 79⅝c, 83¼c; September 76⅝@76⅛c; 79⅝@79½c; December 70⅛c, 73½@73⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, July 15. (US)—Sentiment toward the wheat market today showed the most pronounced change in weeks. Sufficient buying interest to offset the consistent hedging pressure was by itself a bullish influence. Added to this the better export trade and the critical crop conditions reported in some localities made a situation which caused conservative bulls to align themselves on the constructive side for the near future.

Shorts in July corn found that position uncomfortable today with an open interest of 5,912,000 bushels at the close Monday, contract stocks in Chicago down to 84,000 bushels as of Saturday night and still no sign of any great increase in the movement to the market and half of the delivery month gone.

Acreage of wheat in Germany is 412,000 larger this year, while rye area is 61,000 acres smaller, according to Broomhall. He also said that while rains had been beneficial to root crops last week, oats have been irreparably damaged.

Stocks of Canadian grain in bond in the United States now total 16,099,000 bushels compared with 23,973,000 bushels at this time last year, according to the bureau of agricultural economics.

St. Louis wires spoke of continued good demand for spot wheat offerings with accumulators taking the bulk of the heavy arrivals.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 15. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Cattle trade around the 11 market circuit was very slow at weak to unevenly lower prices with some choice yearlings holding steady. With advanced estimates calling for another liberal run for Wednesday, the late market on steers was dull with many matured steers and grassers promising to sell on a 25@50c lower basis. Fat cows and heavy heifers were also tendered a sharp decline of 25c or more. Chicago had a top of $11.50 on choice weighty steers and long yearlings while at Kansas City the same figure was realized on choice 975-lb. yearling steers. Receipts were estimated at 41,200, as compared with 30,878 last Tuesday and 37,904 a year ago.

Hogs moved slowly at steady to 15c lower values with some points reporting losses of 25c on under weights. The day's extreme top of $9.75 was paid at Chicago for choice light weight hogs. Total offerings were around 87,000.

Sheep approximated 50,000 against 45,717 a week ago and 36,709 a year ago. Killing classes were unevenly steady to 25c higher with range lambs generally showing the most upturns. Choice range lambs in Chicago cleared at $11.50, while at Kansas City choice Idahoes made $11.00.

TEXAS LIVESTOCK

FORT WORTH, July 15. (AP)—Trading in slaughter cattle here today was a little more active and about steady. Figures called for 2,500 cattle, 1,000 calves, 700 hogs and 1,000 sheep.

Steers sold from $4.25 and $4.50 to $7.90 and $8.25; the latter prices bought loads of well finished heavy beeves.

Two loads of heavy cake-on-grass yearlings sold at $9.00 while short loads of medium quality slaughter yearlings sold at $6.50 and $7.50.

Bidding on cows was spotty, and some buyers were inclined to make further reductions, canners sold from $2.50 to $3.00. Butcher cows make from $4.00 to $4.50.

A load of strong weight calves sold at $9.00 or fully steady. Heavy calves in carlots sold at $7.75.

The hog supply was light. Truck hogs 10c lower with top of $8.90.

Sheep scarce. Steady. Fed truck lambs $7.00 to $8.00 with a few at $8.50. Yearlings $6.50.

—Hogs—Receipts 700; no forenoon bids on rail hogs; truck hogs 10c lower; top $8.90.

Cattle—Receipts 3,000, including 600 calves. All classes about steady; grassers at $4.25@4.50; good fed steers $7.90@8.25; heavy fat yearlings $9.00; butcher cows around $4.00; slaughter calves $9.00.

Sheep—Receipts 700; steady; fat truck lambs $7@8.00; fat yearlings $8.50; feeder lambs $3.50@5.50.

COTTON CROPS LOOK BETTER

Feed Stuffs in County Need Rain, Says Agent

Cotton fields in Wichita county are in good shape, feed crops are in need of rain, and pastures are practically devoid of grass or other nutrition for cattle, according to G. C. McGown, county farm agent.

Free of pests thus far with the exception of grasshoppers, which have done only limited harm, cotton throughout the country has grown rapidly and much of it now has small bolls, Mr. McGown said. The cotton crop is in no immediate need of additional moisture, in his opinion, but much of the row stuff being grown for feed purposes is showing the effect of hot winds and insufficient moisture. Following rapid growth during the heavy spring rains, pasture grass has faded out under the high temperatures of the past three weeks, it was said.

Little damage was done to terraced land in Wichita county by general rains in June which destroyed vast amounts of terracing in other communities. Southern Oklahoma suffered heavily through leveling of terraced fields, and many sections in this portion of Texas sustained similar losses, according to Mr. McGown.

Politics Enter Strike Disorders in Egypt

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, July 15. (US)—Egyptian political feeling fanned the flaming discontent of workers in a general strike and riot in the crowded district surrounding Mohammed Ali square today. Tonight, an official communique announced the toll of clashes as 14 killed and 250 wounded. Eight of the slain were European citizens.

A detachment of 2,000 Egyptian troops was rushed to the scene of the all-day fighting from roof-tops and street barricades, and at a late hour the troops were reported as having the rioters under control.

NEW SCHEDULE IN HOBBS POOL

35,000 Barrels Set as Daily Production

ROSWELL, N. M., July 15. (AP)—The Hobbs pool of Lea county, N. M., will go on a daily marketing schedule of 35,000 barrels of oil tomorrow under the proration agreement reached by 24 operators of the Hobbs area.

The agreement has the approval of the state land commissioner, Austin D. Crile of New Mexico and state geologist, Glen Staley.

The proration agreement will give Hobbs a monthly production of 1,500,000 barrels. The field at present has a potential production based upon active wells of 24 companies of 4,710,000 barrels monthly.

Operators entering the proration arrangement have agreed no well in the Hobbs pool will be shot unless necessary. No oil will be placed in storage on the field; no wells in the area will be placed on air or gas lift; and no well will be operated in such a manner as would unnecessarily or unreasonably waste gas or dissipate gas pressure in the field.

The proration agreement will be in force for six months from the date of signing and may be renewed or extended for successive periods of six months each thereafter by agreement of all parties and with the consent of the state officials.

The agreement is based on the pipe line outlet of the Hobbs pool to be equally prorated among the 24 producing companies.

Oklahoma Operators Vote New Reduction

TULSA, Okla., July 15. (UP)—Oklahoma operators approved proposals today to ask the corporation commission to reduce the state's allowable oil production another 25 per cent.

The curtailment would reduce the state's flow to 550,000 barrels daily and would mean a virtual shutdown in several pools. In arriving at the curtailment figure, it was estimated that the state's daily potential flow is almost 1,500,000 barrels.

The adopted curtailment program is 5 per cent more than that recommended last week by the statewide proration committee of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association.

Capone Perjury Charges May Be Dismissed

MIAMI, Fla., July 15. (INS)—Three remaining counts of perjury against Alphonse (Scarface Al) Capone, Chicago gang chieftain and beer baron, probably will be withdrawn, it was announced today by Special Prosecutor Richard H. Hunt.

Capone was acquitted in criminal court Saturday on one charge of perjury by a directed verdict.

Sales Manager of Dairy Products Firm Tells Ad Club of Methods

Growth of the business now incorporated as the Lehrack-Ferguson Dairy Products company, and methods used in building up a volume distribution, were described by Clyde Greer, sales manager, before members of the Ad club at the Kemp hotel Tuesday noon.

Recognition that marketing of milk products could be made profitable only through volume production formed the basis of the Lehrack-Ferguson sales plans during the past three years, the speaker said. Extreme care in the producing dairies, handling the milk in such a way as to prevent souring, and a satisfactory payment plan were named by Mr. Greer as the three factors on which sales have been increased 50 per cent during the past two years.

Distribution of the company's products in this city requires the use of 21 trucks and two delivery motorcycles, he said. About 70 men are employed regularly and $250,000 spent here annually for raw products.

CRUDE YIELD SHOWS DROP

Daily Production Declines 50,700 Barrels

NEW YORK, July 15. (AP)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States decreased 50,700 barrels for the week ended July 12, totaling 2,530,800 barrels, according to the weekly summary of the American Petroleum institute. The daily average production east of California was 1,917,700 barrels, a decrease of 60,300 barrels.

Refineries representing 96.7 per cent of the estimated daily potential refining capacity, operating at 71.2 per cent of their capacity, reported daily average run of crude oil to stills as 2,511,000 barrels. Daily average the previous week was 2,478,300 barrels for refineries representing 96.7 per cent of potential capacity operating at 70.2 per cent of their capacity.

Rudolph Schildkraut, Veteran Actor, Is Dead

LOS ANGELES, Calif., July 15. (UP)—Rudolph Schildkraut, veteran motion picture actor, died suddenly at his home here early today after an illness of a few hours.

Dr. Cecil Reynolds, called to the actor's home, found him suffering with heart disease. The end came shortly afterward.

He was born in Foscani, Italy, in 1865, but was a citizen of Rumania until he became an American citizen last fall.

Bolt of Lightning Kills Boy, 2, In Mother's Arms

MARIETTA, Ga., July 15. (INS)—Robert Baswell, two years old, was dead today, his life snuffed out by a bolt of lightning which struck him as he slumbered in his mother's arms. Mrs. Baswell was knocked unconscious by the bolt.

SHRINE PICNIC SET THURSDAY

Maskat Temple Members To Frolic at Westmoreland

Shriners and their families will enjoy a basket picnic which will be followed by a dance at Westmoreland park Thursday evening beginning at 7 o'clock, it was announced by Al Ellis, recorder. The ladies are requested to bring lunch for their own family and watermelon will be furnished by Maskat temple.

Entertainment will consist of water events for men, women and children, in which prizes will be awarded. Contests for men include a plunge for distance, race from shallow to deep water, spoon and marshmallow race and a rope relay race. Events for ladies will be a race from shallow to deep water, log race, back stroke contest and a two-minute floating contest. Children under 12 years of age will compete in an inner tube race, a race from shallow to deep water and a retrieve race while events for those over 12 years of age will include a game of follow the leader, special swimming features and surface diving for objects.

Members of the committee for securing watermelons for the affair include Kendal Paulk and Charles Veros, while those in charge of events are Ray Wilhite, Louis Ulrich, Tim Thompson, Claud Young and Otto Lazenby, manager of the pool. M. E. Wallace has charge of the prizes while J. T. Yeargin is in charge of arrangements for the dance. Judges for the events include Dr. J. H. Fletcher, W. J. Morgareidge and C. A. Rogers. E. E. Fischer, editor of the Maskat Wildcat, local magazine for the order, has announced that he will give a prize to the person giving the best suggestion on how to improve the magazine. Special rates for swimming and lockers have been arranged.

STATE: Janet Gaynor in "Four Devils." Sound news and cartoons.

STRAND: "So This Is London" with Will Rogers. Cartoon, sound news and color novelty.

MAJESTIC: Ruth Chatterton in "The Lady of Scandal." Cartoon, "Noah's Lark," comedy and news reel.

GEM: "Chasing Rainbows" with Bessie Love and Charles King. Comedy.

"Four Devils" makes us think somehow of East Lynne and plays of such ilk. Not ever endeavoring to wean another's taste from what he likes, we, personally, thought the story rather melodramatic though we sighed with many others at many dramatic moments.

Having seen it ourselves, we decided it is a good thing to go see a show before letting a young daughter, should you happen to have one, go see it.

Of course it is the same old truth—that a picture means what you get out of it. But not having ever cared for ladies who wore black lace dresses like the vamp in "Four Devils," she gave us no thrill.

And we raved over the beauty of the little boy, Charles, in the play, but decided that we did not care at all for a man who was too good looking, after he grew up. Such men almost invariably have a wandering foot.

And while the "Four Devils" did their flying stunts at the State, Ruth Chatterton moved serenely on the Majestic stage with all the English family she tried out so bravely; the gentle old father of her lover; the sly and wicked man who had once tried to make love to her; the dear little old aunt Jane, (one of the sweetest faces we have ever seen on the screen), and that fat old actor who puffed and snorted so naturally.

The English family at the Majestic and the English family at the Strand were quite different. The Strand families changed in the twinkling of an eye. But then, so did the American family there.

To get the play just right, we feel that any critic would need to write it himself and then he would perish in seeing it acted.

Fiddler Added To Vaudeville Program

Several additional numbers on the free vaudeville program to be given Thursday evening at 8 o'clock on the lawn of the Memorial auditorium were announced Tuesday by C. C. Bunnenberg, park superintendent. Mr. Fox, one of the popular old fiddling artists of Wichita Falls, will entertain with several numbers after which Miss Pauline Hesley will give a dance. Musical entertainment will be furnished by a string quartet and Margaret Griffin and Emma Francis Campbell will sing "Sunbonnet Sally and Overall Jim." Miss Mary Lucille Thomas will give as a monologue, "Jimmie Entertains Sister's Beau." The last three artists are pupils of Miss Beatrice Fleming.

FLORIDA CLIMBS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 15. (AP)—Florida's population is 1,468,635, an increase of 500,165 during the last decade or 51.6 per cent, according to an unofficial 1930 tabulation completed today.

35 ENTERED IN BEAUTY REVUE

Judges Named for Contest At Lakeside

Thirty-five young ladies had been photographed and listed Tuesday evening for participation in the bathing beauty revue at Lakeside park Friday night, and 25 firms had registered as sponsors of entries, 15 of which already had been selected.

Local studios at which pictures of prospective entrants are being made were visited by a large number of girls Tuesday, and the revue committee was supplied with a considerable addition to the collection of pictures which they are offering to sponsoring merchants for selection of representatives.

Prior to the contest Friday night, the winner of which will be eligible to represent this community in Fort Worth and Dallas contests later in the month, a parade will be staged through the city, with all participants arrayed in the bathing or beach costumes in which they will promenade before the judges. Members of that august group will include Emil Hermann, local artist, Walter Nelson Jr., mayor, and the mayors of other cities near Wichita Falls, it was said.

Girls whose names were added to the list of available representatives Tuesday are Miss Betty Gaines, Miss Lois Hill, Miss Babe Brown, Miss Margaret Hopkins, Miss Elona Nelson, Miss Winnye Wilson, Miss Mary Ward, Miss Ina Fay Hoffmeyer, Miss Virginia Hoag, Miss Billie Clark, Miss Dorothy McAbee, Miss Evelyn Workman, Miss Jamie Hawthorne, Miss Myrle Wilson, Miss Margaret Mitchell, Miss Kitty Patterson, Miss Hazel Smith, Miss Emma Wall, and Miss Nell R. Smith.

Firms enrolled as sponsors up to Tuesday evening: Durnal-Jones Rubber company, R-F Finance corporation, Lakeside park, Zihlman Auto Supply company, Boone-Kemp Inc., Stroll Inn confectionery, Shepherd's Dyeing and Dry Cleaning company, Wichita Falls Ice Manufacturers association, the Hub, Kent Tire and Storage company, Longford-Hooker Insurance company, American Cleaners and Dyers, B. F. Goodrich Rubber company, Cline's Commercial college, Wichita Cigar & Tobacco company, Pond's Laundry, Optimist club, Wichita Mill & Elevator company, Wilson's Frozen Custard company, and the Wichita Banner. The city of Iowa Park will be represented by Miss Dorothy Harmon.

TORO TOUR

Texan Rides Bull East To Spread Fame Of Valley Area

SAN ANTONIO, July 15. (AP)—It might sound like "bull," and one phase of it is, but the fact remains that Ralph Sanders, 28, of San Benito, is making a ride on his imported mount from Brownsville to New York City solely to tell the easterners all about the Rio Grande valley.

Sanders, who arrived in San Antonio early today, expects to complete his journey in one year. He left Brownsville May 12 and since that time has placed two sets of shoes upon "Jerry," his prize Mexican bull, and incidentally lost 13 days in doing so. He leaves San Antonio Friday.

Electra Methodists To Entertain Friday

Special to The Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, July 15.—Mrs. W. C. Martin, president of the Methodist Missionary society, announces that the society will sponsor an ice cream social to be given Friday evening on the church lawn. Music will be furnished throughout the evening, and every one is invited.

BRIBERY CASE SET FOR TRIAL

Court to Call Former Constable Monday

The bribery case against J. P. Williams, former Iowa Park constable, indicted for alleged protection of beer sellers while he was an officer at Iowa Park, will be called for trial during the week beginning Monday, according to a list of settings for criminal cases in the 30th district court released Tuesday by Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney.

A total of 15 cases have been set for call Monday, including the two indictments against Williams, both on charges of accepting a bribe. The settings are the first to have been made on indictments returned by the grand jury for the July term of the 30th district court.

Other cases set for call Monday include the charge of burglary against Clifford Barrett, named in three indictments and scheduled to be tried under the habitual criminal act, in which a conviction would carry with it a maximum penalty for the offense. Other persons indicted and to be called into court Monday are; Bill Horton, forgery and passing a forged instrument; J. D. McAlister, burglary and theft over $50, second offense; H. A. Hight, named in two indictments charging burglary and chicken theft; H. A. Ward, swindling by check over $50; T. P. Chambless, drunk and driving; J. B. Haynes, automobile theft; E. M. (Happy) Cox, drunk and driving; W. A. Patton, automobile theft; Francis Ramey, automobile theft; H. L. (Dick) Womack, burglary, and B. M. Lanfair, child desertion.
