Secretary Of State...

Haig Resigns; Shultz Nominated

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan summoned George P. Shultz, the man he has chosen to replace Alexander M. Haig Jr. as secretary of state, to meet with him today as administration officials stressed the continuity of the president's foreign policy.

Reagan announced Haig's resignation on Friday and nominated Shultz to be the nation's top diplomat. Shultz is a former Treasury secretary and president of the Bechtel Group Inc., an international construction company.

Shultz was returning to Washington from London, where Reagan reached him Friday and asked him to replace Haig, the first departure from the Reagan Cabinet.

Asked about his nomination, Shultz told reporters in London, "It has come as a pleasant surprise."

The Reagan-Shultz meeting was to take place at Camp David, Md., where the president was spending the weekend.

Senior administration aides said that Haig, a 57-year-old former four-star Army general, was leaving the Cabinet as the result of a series of disputes with Reagan and other key aides.

Haig said that when he took office as the 59th secretary of state, he and Reagan "agreed that consistency, clarity and steadiness of purpose" were essential to the success of the nation's foreign policy.

In his resignation letter, delivered to Reagan Friday after the secretary told the president on Thursday that he would quit, Haig said:

"In recent months, it has become clear to me that the foreign policy on which we embarked together was shifting from that careful course which we had laid out."

Some aides said that the latest difference with Reagan, and particularly with Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger, pushed Haig into leaving.

That involved Reagan's decision to block the use of U.S.-produced or licensed equipment in the development of a 3,500-mile pipeline to carry natural gas from Siberia to Western Europe.

The United States opposes construction of the project, contending it could threaten Western Europe's energy security and provide hard currency for the Soviet military buildup.

Reagan originally sought to block the construction in protest of the military crackdown in Poland. Last week, in a decision that reportedly irritated Haig, the president expanded the sanctions against the Soviet Union on the pipeline. Weinberger had sought continuation of the sanctions.

Weekend update

Astronauts In Training

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Ken Mattingly and Hank Hartsfield, military pilots turned astronauts, left an early wakeup call today to squeeze in final training for their seven-day flight aboard America's space shuttle.

Columbia's fourth and last test mission is scheduled to begin Sunday at 11 a.m. EDT. It will inaugurate the nation's manned military operations in orbit by carrying a top secret Pentagon payload of sensors.

Falklands Governor Returns

STANLEY, Falkland Islands (AP) — Dripping but ecstatic Falkland islanders clustered on a football field in a driving rain to welcome back Rex Hunt, the British colonial governor driven off the islands by Argentine invaders and returned after Britain's military victory.

The cheering crowd surged forward to embrace Hunt as he stepped from a helicopter Friday, almost 12 weeks to the hour after he and his family were expelled by the Argentine forces who invaded the Falklands on April 2.

Sondock Sworn In

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas has its first female fulltime state Supreme Court justice, who used her swearing-in ceremony to call for non-partisan election of judges.

Ruby Kless Sondock took the oath of office Friday as well-wishers packed into the Supreme Court chamber gave her a standing ovation.

Gov. Bill Clements last week chose the 56-year-old Houston state district court judge to fill the vacancy created by James R. Denton's recent death.

Families Leave Beirut

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Hundreds of Lebanese families, skeptical of the new U.S.-arranged cease-fire between Israeli invaders and PLO guerrillas, packed their belongings onto cars and trucks today and fled war-ravaged west Beirut for safer areas.

"It is all quiet on all fronts," the pro-Palestinian Voice of Arab Lebanon radio said today, after the guns had remained silent for more than 12 hours.

At the United Nations, meanwhile, the United States vetoed a French-sponsored Security Council resolution calling on Israel to pull back its troops six miles from the Lebanese capital and for the guerrillas to withdraw with their weapons "to existing camps."

Lone Star Gas Requests Hike

DALLAS (AP) — The gas bill of the average Texan in the 536 cities and towns served by Lone Star Gas Co. will increase by $4 if the Texas Railroad Commission approves the firm's most recent rate hike request.

Lone Star asked for the rate increase Friday. The higher rates charged to its 1.2 million customers would earn the company $90 million more a year, the company said.

Lone Star said it needed the additional revenue to recover higher costs of gas, inflation-related increases in operating expenses and a reasonable return on increased amounts of property used to serve customers.

It also wants to pass along to customers 100 percent of the increased gas purchase costs the company pays above the cost of gas set in the rate case. Lone Star can now pass along 95 percent of that cost.

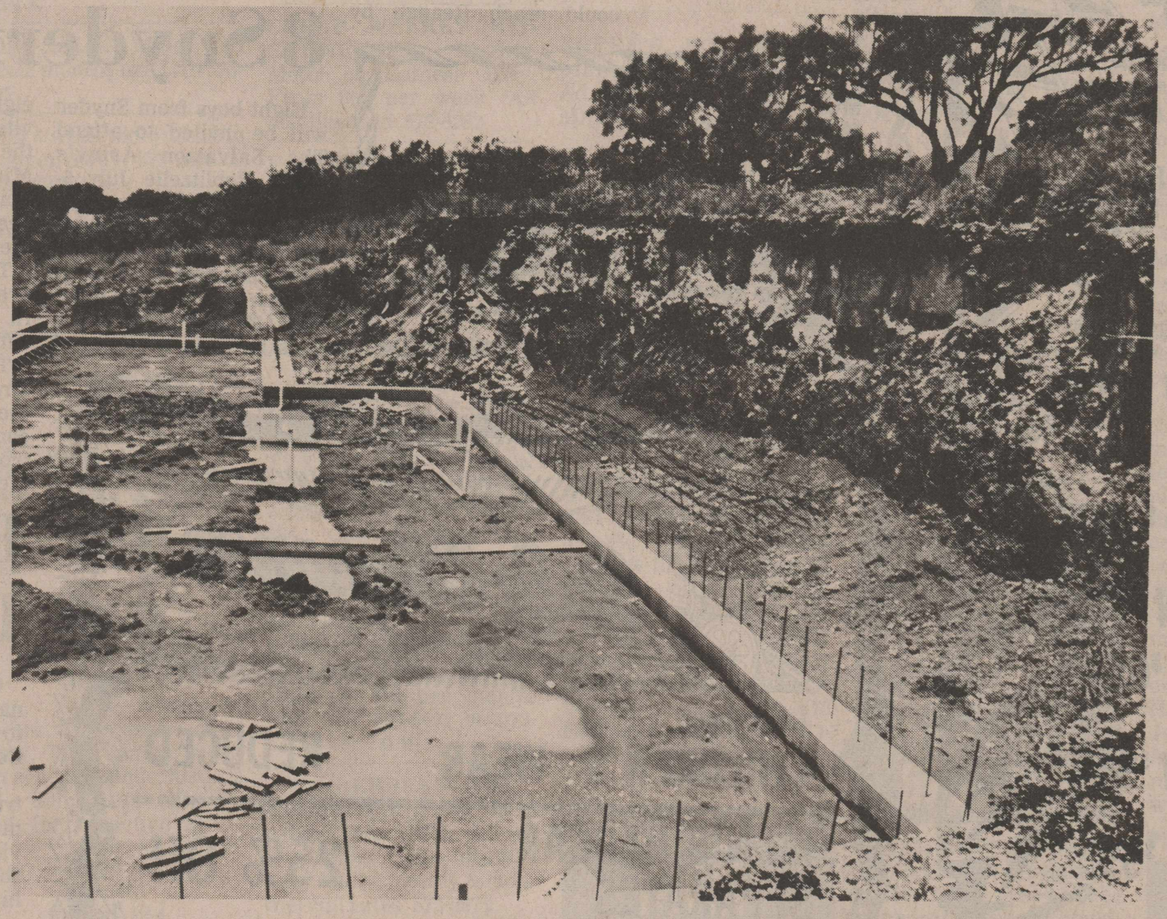

The increase would raise the city "gate rate" 68 cents for every thousand cubic feet (MCF) to $2.29, based on this past April's gas cost, Lone Star's application said.

The city gate rate is the charge that Lone Star's transmission division charges its local distribution divisons for gas delivered for sale to residential and commercial customers.

The higher rates would raise the average residential customer's bill — based on consumption of 6,000 cubic feet per month — by about $4.

The monthly average cost of gas purchased by Lone Star increased 83 percent from $1.85 per MCF in February 1980 to $3.38 in April of this year.

The gas utility also filed a rate increase request in Oklahoma.

NEW KIND OF HOUSE—Paul Sizemore's new house was beginning to take shape last week as he got part of the foundation poured on the side of a hill in west Snyder. When finished, the house will be completely covered with dirt to produce Snyder's first earth sheltered home. (SDN Staff Photo)

Paul Sizemore Building Area's First Underground Dwelling

By Noble Bryant Young

Paul Sizemore poured the first part of the foundation for Snyder and Scurry County's first earth sheltered or underground house in modern times last week.

Early settlers in this part of Texas often lived in crude dugout houses but Sizemore's newest project bears as much resemblance to those as NASA's space shuttle does to the Wright brothers' first airplane.

Plans for the new 2400 square foot house include central heating and air conditioning, indoor plumbing and all other modern conveniences.

The south wall of the house is designed to be almost entirely glass and will provide lighting and some solar heating for most of the house. Rooms at the rear of the house, will be lit by large skylights.

Plans for the home were drawn by Dr. E. W. Kiesling, head of the Civil Engineering Department at Texas Tech University. Sizemore says that the engineering studies on this type of house show that it should have about 50 to 70 percent better energy efficiency than a conventional frame structure.

This type of alternative housing is rapidly gaining popularity across the U. S. and Dr. Kiesling is one of its biggest boosters in the Southwest. Sizemore says that he first became interested in this kind of house when he heard Kiesling give a lecture on the subject at a weekend home show in the Scurry County Coliseum several years ago.

Since then, Sizemore, a retired engineer himself, has travelled as far as St. Louis to attend seminars, workshops and tours of the new breed of underground homes.

He is planning to do a good deal of the work on the house himself and even bought a backhoe-frontend loader rig to do the preliminary dirt work.

When asked when it will be finished, a vague "sometime in 1983" is the only answer he will give. He says that he intends to just get started and then work until he thinks he is finished.

Although building an underground house could conjure images of would be gold miners burrowing tunnels back into the hills, this project looks nothing like that.

The beginning of this project involved cutting a three sided slot in the side of the hill, just below and south of 32nd St. about two blocks west of Avenue V, and then leveling the bottom of it.

The house will actually be built as a free standing structure. When complete, Sizemore will then back fill around the north, east and west sides with dirt. The roof of the house will also be covered with dirt leaving only the almost entirely glass south wall exposed to the elements.

Plans call for construction of the three principal walls of the house from steel reinforced concrete blocks set on a poured foundation.

Prefabricated reinforced concrete panels will be laid across the walls to form the roof. Once the walls are up, they will be coated with a special sealant designed to stop any possible water seepage.

Paul says that four inch pipe, much like conventional septic tank lateral lines, installed around the base of the three walls facing the hill should eliminate any possibility of water draining into the house.

After the unusual aspects of the basic structure are complete, he says

A.—Since July 4th falls on Sunday, government agencies are scheduled to be closed on Monday, July 5, we are told. As for businesses, it will be left to the owners and-or managers to decide for themselves.

CRMWD Seeks Water Rights

Negotiations for additional water rights in the geographic area of the Colorado River Municipal Water District were authorized by its directors at a meeting in Big spring.

The district is looking toward securing reserves for the system, particularly its western anchor, for peaking purposes and possibly bolstering supplies until the Stacy reservoir project is connected with this area. O. H. Ivie, general manager, told the board some hydrology had been worked up on several prospective areas.

CRMWD's suit against SACROC repressuring unit in southwest Scurry County for more than a quarter of a million dollars the district claims is due it in a contract interpretation dispute has been remanded from U. S. District Court in Lubbock back to 132nd District Court in Snyder. SACROC was initially successful in getting the case moved to federal court, but U. S. Judge Halbert O. Woodward said that presence of Texas corporations as signators was sufficient to transfer the case. Directors authorized the execution of a contract with the City of Odessa to issue on Odessa's behalf $16 million in sewer improvement and extension bonds. This is similar to $23 million in water and sewer bonds the district will issue on behalf of the City of Midland, possibly in early August. The bonds are issued without recourse to the district and the cities, which are solely liable, do not have to provide coverage. This is calculated to result in a saving for them.

A request by Sayres Operating Co. for a contract quantity reduction and Mabee Petroleum Corp. for suspension of its contract quantity was denied. The board indicated that it would not consider such requests except immediately prior to the annual rate-setting session in January each year, and then only if such requests for variance occur within the first three years of the contract.

SDN Is Third In TPA Contest

Now they tell us that it may not be bad to put a little more salt on our food, especially if we get plenty of calcium in our diet.

Medical researchers are continually working to help us make our bodies last as long as possible. Sometimes they find cures that turn out to be worse than the disease in the long run. And sometimes they make a complete circle. Some years ago, people who engaged in summer activities that caused heavy perspiration were encouraged to take extra salt. It was needed, they said, to replace the salt lost in the perspiration, or "sweat." Athletes in training were given salt tablets during training.

It reached the point where the equal rights enthusiasts even challenged public schools that provided salt tablets for athlete but not for the remainder of the students.

Then, it was discovered that salt was bad for blood pressure. At least it appeared to be a major cause of high blood pressure, and low sodium diet programs began to spread. And so it has been for several years.

But now, we have been told the past week that more research has disclosed that insufficient calcium in the diet is probably a greater cause of high blood pressure than a surplus of salt. The experts even hint that an increase in calcium intake may make the low sodium diet obsolete. Although nobody has recommended that people on low sodium diets abandon them, this may become good news for those who like their salt but have not been permitted to consume it because of blood pressure problems. It also is good news for many because the handiest source of calcium is dairy products, including not only milk, butter, cheese, etc., but also ice cream.

But hold on. Some of us must approach those dairy products carefully and in moderation because there are other perils besides high blood pressure that are associated with diet. One enemy that nobody has been able to discredit or counter with an effective antidote is called the calorie. Calories were ugly back in the free-flowing salt days, continued their mischief during the low sodium era and appear likely to endure through the increased calcium period.

★ ★ ★

This gives us an opportunity to pass along some new (to us, at least) information on those little fat-forming nuisances. By now, everyone who has ever had a weight problem knows that a sure way to lose is to "burn" more calories than you take in. Our personal experience indicates that this is a certainty that defies all challenges. Thus, whether you need to lose weight, gain weight, or simply remain as you are, it should help to know how many calories will accomplish your objective.

Here's a formula presented by Dr. Robert L. Kaman, PhD, of the Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine in Fort Worth:

Multiply your weight by 11.43. Then multiply the answer by 1.3 if you get no exercise, by 1.4 if you get moderate exercise, and by 1.5 if you get vigorous exercise. The final answer is the number of calories you need to maintain your present weight. To lose, you simply take in fewer than that number. To gain, you take in more.

Simple, huh?

Emergency Spending...

Insists On Smaller Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — By vetoing two separate emergency spending bills, President Reagan is insisting that Congress keep cutting money for some federal programs and agencies.

Reagan cast his second veto in 2 days Friday on a slimmed-down $5.9 billion measure designed to allow several federal agencies to continue operating for the rest of the fiscal year that ends Sept. 30.

The president complained the bill was $1 billion too costly.

It contained money to keep student loans, food stamps, sewer construction and dozens of other programs in operation for the rest of the summer.

On Thursday, the president vetoed the first version of the emergency spending bill. It was basically the same as the second, except for an extra $3 billion to help low- and middle-income families buy new homes.

A third measure — awaiting Senate action — could reach Reagan by next week. Instead of providing money to keep some government programs running until the end of the fiscal year, the funds would last only through July 20.

This bill, a $4.5 billion fall-back spending proposal, was passed by the House Thursday before the start of the Fourth of July holiday. That measure can be sent to the Senate next week to complete congressional action.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said the third version still contained $250 million more in spending than the president wanted. Asked if Reagan would sign it anyway, the press spokesman replied: "Probably, but not certain."

Various agencies apparently had contingency plans drawn up in case no measure was passed. Speakes raised the possibility that several agencies will have to furlough employees a day or two each pay period to keep functioning.

In a three-paragraph message to the House after his most recent veto Friday, Reagan said the "American people need deeds, not just promises, to be convinced deficits will be reduced."

Unlike the first spending-bill veto Thursday, which was sustained by the House, there will be no attempt to override the second.

8 Snyderites Invited

Eight boys from Snyder will be invited to attend The Salvation Army's Camp Hoblitzelle July 5-10, Jack McGlaun, camp chairman for the Snyder Salvation Army Service Unit, has announced.

Each summer for more than 25 years deserving boys between the ages of eight and 13 have been invited to spend a week at the 380-acre camp near Midlothian. The participants from Snyder this year are being selected by the camp chairman.

This year, over 700 boys are expected to take part in three, week-long outings.

The trip for those from Snyder will be financed by the Snyder service unit committee, with donations from private citizens, said McGlaun.

Campers are housed in modern cabins with attached counselor's quarters. All activites are overseen by trained coaches and counselors. The daily schedule includes worship services and Bible study to augment the physical activities. Recreational programs include horseback riding, archery, swimming, boating, water skiing, baseball, volleyball, hiking, handicrafts and fishing.

George Shultz More Pro Arab

WASHINGTON (AP) — George P. Shultz, if confirmed by the Senate, will take over as secretary of state with a reputation as being more sympathetic to Arab interests than Alexander M. Haig Jr.

Although Shultz has said he is "strongly committed to a secure Israel," his nomination Friday by President Reagan is certain to raise Israeli doubts about the future course of the administration's Mideast policy.

"I'm sure the Israelis are very nervous, to say the least," said one Middle East expert who asked not to be identified.

Shultz, 61, the longest-serving member of former President Nixon's original Cabinet, has had links to Arab countries that date back to 1974 when he first joined Bechtel Group Inc., a San Francisco-based international construction company.

Among other projects, the firm has been engaged in the construction of a city for more than 300,000 people in Saudi Arabia. The firm's contracts with Arab countries are believed to involve several billion dollars.

White House officials maintained Friday that no foreign policy changes are contemplated despite Haig's resignation. But Joseph Churba, a former Arms Control and Disarmament Agency official who resigned last month, predicted an administration tilt toward Arab countries under Shultz's leadership.

Appearing on PBS's "MacNeil-Lehrer Report," Churba said Shultz and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger hold similar views on the Middle East.

Both disagree with Reagan's view that Israel is a strategic asset for the United States in that area, said Churba, who is known for his pro-Israeli views.

Churba is said to have particpated in the drafting of a staunchly pro-Israeli speech delivered by Reagan in September 1980 during the election campaign.

Little is known of Shultz's foreign policy views, although he is thought to be well liked in Europe based on his tenure as Treasury secretary during the Nixon administration.

A Princeton graduate and professional economist, Shultz joined the Nixon administration in 1969 as Labor secretary and then was named budget director in July 1970. He replaced John B. Connally at Treasury in June 1972.

He left the administration in May 1974, three months before Nixon was forced from office. Shultz was not tainted by the Watergate scandal.

Over Haig Resignation...

Capitol Hill Is Puzzled

UNDATED — Surprise and puzzlement swept across Capitol Hill as members of Congress voiced concern over what may have precipitated Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr.'s sudden resignation.

At the same time, European allies were cautiously silent.

Senators and House members strongly lauded Haig's Cabinet performance and forecast that George P. Shultz would win easy Senate confirmation as Haig's successor.

Neither Haig nor President Reagan, who made the bombshell announcement Friday afternoon, offered any immediate explanation for the change.

This prompted some legislators to speculate that Haig was the victim of a power struggle with ior White House advisers and Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger — particularly over Israel's invasion of Lebanon and U.S. efforts to block construction of a Soviet gas pipeline to Western Europe.

While U.S. allies were silent, U.S. policy foes, including the Soviet Union, saw the sudden move as proof of fierce feuding within the Reagan administration over the Middle East and other volatile issues.

The Soviet Union suggested Haig resigned because of discord within the Reagan administration over the Middle East crisis. Tass said "contradictions within the U.S. administration became further aggravated" after "Reagan decided to give the green light to the Israeli assault of west Beirut."

Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker, who talked to Haig shortly before the announcement, said Haig resigned because of policy differences.

Theft Cases Keep Snyder Police Busy

Snyder police investigated five theft cases, one criminal mischief complaint and one minor traffic mishap.

At 9:39 a. m. Friday, Earl Alexander reported the theft of a T-Top from His 1979 Trans Am at Windridge Apartments.

At 11:35 a. m., Karen Pibuldhanaphatana of Village Apartments reported the theft of a billfold. It wwas found later by a Dumpster near the Tropicana Motel.

At 1:46 p. m., David Burkett of 3742 Avondale reported the theft of a bicycle valued at $125.

Denise Carter at the Food Basket at 13th and College reported that a car left without paying for $4 worth of gasoline at 8:30 p. m.

Debra Collins reported at 8:50 p. m. that an 8-track tape player had been taken from her car on the Timely Parking Lot.

Ricky Rio reported at 4 p. m. Friday that a tire had been slashed on a 1982 Jeep at the Bunkhouse.

At 9:01 a. m. Friday, a 1978 International truck driven by Wilford Gobert of Lufkin, was towing a mobile home which hit a utility pole on the East Highway. Damage was listed as minor.

Underground House

that finishing out the interior of the house will be totally conventional. He plans to finish the interior with common drywall techniques and says that the house should be indistinguishable from a more conventional structure once you are inside.

Plumbing, wiring and other aspects of the construction are so normal that he says that he has had no trouble getting his plans approved by city hall.

In fact, he says, "Most everybody in city hall is as interested in the outcome of this project as I am."

According to Sizemore, this type of house has two distinct advantages over conventional above ground structures.

The most obvious advantage is the energy savings brought about by the insulation value of the dirt. The annual energy savings of 50-75 percent should pay off the anticipated 10 to 20 percent higher construction costs in a very few years.

The other big advantage lies in the ease of maintenance for this kind of house. Since there will be no painted outside walls and no shingles on the roof, painting and reroofing costs will be eliminated.

Sizemore says that mowing the roof could become the most major routine chore around the house.

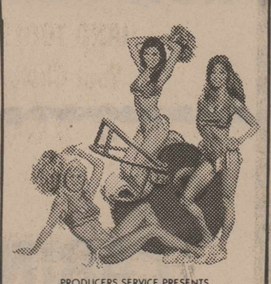

Keep grass clippings to use as a mulch on the garden.

Astros Beat Dodgers

HOUSTON (AP) - Alan Ashby and Tony Scott hit two-out, run-scoring singles in the sixth inning to snap a 5-5 tie and give the Houston Astros a 7-5 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Friday night.

Jose Cruz doubled with two out in the sixth off loser Terry Forster, 2-5, and scored on Ashby's single. After Phil Garner walked, Scott's single brought in Ashby.

The victory went to Mike LaCoss, 3-2, who pitched four innings in relief of starter Dave Smith. Bert Roberge went the final three innings to record his first save of the year and the club's first since since May 28.

LEG CRAMPS

A simple exercise to stretch the hamstring muscles may prevent leg cramps at night. Simply stand at arms length from a wall and place palms of hands against the wall. Keep the back straight and heels on the floor. Lean forward until the forehead touches the wall; hold position for 5 seconds; then stand upright for 5 seconds. Repeat this 5 times. This procedure, followed 3 times a day, should succeed in stretching the hamstring muscles.

Rain Top News At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) - It's rained so hard and so long at Wimbledon this week that mushrooms have sprouted on No.9 Court, putting it out of action for the All-England Lawn Tennis Championships.

Nature, it seems, has turned its wrath on Wimbledon, and with the rain, a subway strike and the absence of five of the world's top-ranked men players, everything's coming up mushrooms.

Bimbi Holt, member of the All-England Club Management Committee, says $260,000 has been lost so far because attendance is down sharply over previous years.

Fred Hoyles, the chief referee, says the rain has put Wimbledon 117 matches behind schedule. However, he says, with luck, the finals will still be held Saturday and Sunday, July 3-4.

Saturday's card - which was to start two hours early, at noon (London time) - was optimistically full, featuring clashes between third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis and New Zealander Bruce Derlin; No.5 seed Johan Kriek and Peter Elter; Gene Mayer, the sixth seed, and Brad Drewett; 11th-ranked Brian Teacher and Australian Rod Frawley.

On the women's side, fourth-seeded Andrea Jaeger faced Rosalyn Fairbank of South Africa; Bettina Bunge, No.11, met Canada's Marjorie Blackwood, and, on Center Court, Billie Jean King, in her 21st Wimbledon, was challenged by South African Tanya Harford.

In Friday's seven completed matches, there was one upset - and plenty of hilarity.

After a four-hour rain delay during which Pam Shriver napped on the locker room floor and Kathy Rinaldi played charades with top seed Martina Navratilova and veteran Virginia Wade, 14th-seeded Andrea Leand of Brooklandville, Md., was defeated by Claudia Kohde, the tall West German, 7-5, 6-2.

Navratilova, meanwhile, ousted her lanky opponent, fellow American Anne White, 6-1, 6-4, completing the match as the day's first sunshine burst through the clouds.

Over on Center Court, Rinaldi, the 15-year-old sensation from Jensen Beach, Fla., battled fellow American Shriver and a bee - and lost to both.

Shriver rode her powerful serve and attacking volley to a 6-4 triumph in the first set. In the second, she raced to a 4-1 lead and was about to serve in the sixth game when a bee stung Rinaldi on her left arm.

Play was interrupted as Shriver removed the stinger and applied ointment, supplied by a fan, to Rinaldi's arm. When it resumed, Shriver nailed down a 6-4, 6-1 victory, but not before narrowly averting a fate similar to Rinaldi's by swatting and stomping on another bee.

None of the men saw action Friday, but two other women's seeds did.

Tenth-ranked Barbara Potter of Woodbury, Conn., ousted Kim Steinmetz of St. Louis 6-2, 6-3 and Anne Smith of Dallas eliminated Australian Sue Leo, 6-4, 6-4.

TAE KWON DO -- A public demonstration of Traditional Tae Kwon Do will be given July 3 at 6 p.m. in Towle Park, south of the pond. Participating in the denomstration will be black belts and high degree belts from Abilene, Breckenridge, Sweetwater and Snyder. The following local students from Steven Alcala's Tae Kwon Do class completed belt test requirements recently. They are, left to right, back row, testing for second degree red belt, Brenda Fritz, assistant instructor; testing for sixth degree green belt, Santos Chaidez, Darrell Clement, Greg Gafford and Donna Gafford, and black belt instructor Steven Alcala; and first row, testing for seventh degree yellow belts, Wade Pierson, Eddie Bolin, Gene Groce and Rusty Radican. Those interested in further information concerning Tae Kwon Do are urged to attend a workout any Tuesday or Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Stanfield Elementary Gym. (SDN Staff Photo)

McCatty Comes Back To Dazzle Rangers, 6-2

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The "Cat" came back Friday night and gave the slipping Oakland A's a much-needed dose of first-class starting pitching.

Steve McCatty, actived after 21 days on the disabled list, limited the Texas Rangers to just five hits over seven and two-thirds innings as the A's prevailed 6-2.

"It was great to pitch without pain," said McCatty, who was shelved with tendinitis. "I didn't have a good fastball. I got by mostly on my slider."

He said he got tired in the eighth inning when the Rangers scratched out their only two runs.

STRACHAN

Strachan to remain free under the $50,000 property bond he posted after the first indictment on May 21.

The new indictment charges him with conspiring with "other persons whose names are known and unknown to the grand jury to distribute cocaine," and with 11 counts of distribution between Feb. 4, 1980 and Jan. 4, 1982.

Maximum punishment would be 75 years in prison and a $125,000 fine.

Dannel had asked that the trial set for July 1 be delayed a month or two, but the magistrate left that issue to Judge Veronica Wicker, the trial judge.

The superseding indictment comes in the wake of newspaper reports naming Rogers, the best running back in Saints history, and Dave Wilson, the team's quarterback of the future, as being among Saints who told federal investigators they bought cocaine from Strachan or his associate.

Both Rogers and Wilson were No.1 one draft choices.

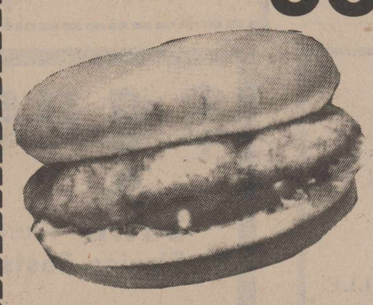

Rogers spent more than $10,000 last season to buy cocaine, the New Orleans Times-Picayune, the States-Item said Thursday in a copyright story. The newspaper quoted sources as saying Rogers told a federal grand jury he paid for cocaine with personal checks on several occasions.

CRMWD Board Re-Elects Four

P. C. (Codie) Harbour of Odessa, last surviving member of the original board of directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, was re-elected its president at a meeting in Big Spring.

Other officers re-elected were Rex D. Fields of Snyder and John L. Taylor of Big Spring, vice presidents; and Joe Pickle of Big Spring, secretary-treasurer.

R. L. Searls Jr. and Harbour from Odessa, John Currie and J. T. Little Jr. from Big Spring, Hubert Cargile and James O. Rosser from Snyder, were sworn for two-year terms on the board.

Harbour's connection with the district actually goes back to the initial meeting in 1946 when J. B. Thomas, then president of Texas Electric Service Co., proposed a multi-city water supply for West Texas. The district came into being and was organized formally in 1949. Harbour has served as president since March 2, 1972, when he succeeded fellow Odessan, the late Charles Perry.

At its meeting, the board also took cognizance of the 30th anniversary of the first delivery of water by the district in 1952. A suitable anniversary celebration of the occasion will be staged, probably in August in Big Spring, which got its initial district water in that month 30 years ago. Odessa had received water from the district initially in June of that year.

Postmaster Tries To Delay Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster William F. Bolger says the U.S. Postal Service is trying to delay another rate increase until 1985, about year beyond what he previously had said was planned.

"I'd love to go as far as possible. I've set the goal for our management people of 1985 in testimony prepared for the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee.

Bolger had previously said that the next rate increase would be put off until at least November, 1983, and that he hoped it would not be until sometime in early 1984.

"THANK YOU SNYDER"

To the merchants who were so helpful and considerate when I visited their store to pick up the gifts they so generously gave... To KSNY Radio station for the 'Kiva Cruise" which I am enjoying this weekend... And to Everyone who gave me their warm congratulations and kind words. I feel very fortunate to be a citizen of Snyder. So thank you all, I had a ball.

Mary Helen Green

Each year an estimated 1 million Americans suffer serious reactions to insect stings. Stings by hornets, honeybees, yellow jackets and wasps are most likely to cause serious reactions. About 50 deaths occur annually from insect stings, although the toll may actually be higher since sudden death from an insect sting can be mistaken for a heart attack.

New Indictment Handed Down Against Strachan

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A lawyer, representing former New Orleans Saints running back Mike Strachan, says prosecutors tried to coerce his client into helping a drug investigation by offering a plea bargain and threatening to add charges against him if he did not cooperate.

A new federal indictment came down Friday against Strachan, who was accused in a previous indictment of similar charges of selling cocaine to some current and former Saints, including 1981 National Football League rushing leader George Rogers.

Strachan's 12-count superseding indictment did not say who bought the cocaine, but the charges emerged in the midst of newly reported drug use by more than a dozen present or former Saints.

Strachan's lawyer, Dennis Jude Dannel, made his charges against prosecutors Friday, but U.S. Attorney John Volz would not comment on any deals.

"Dannel knows we cannot comment on any pretrial negotiations and, though he has violated the court's rule, I will not," Volz said.

Volz said no other indictments were expected in this investigation unless new evidence crops up.

He added that he is not inclined to push charges against athletes who may have used cocaine and other drugs, but may prosecute their dealers.

"We are principally concerned in the people who supply the drugs," Volz said.

U.S. Magistrate Marcel Livaudais allowed

Tractor Pull Among Celebration Activities

Snyder Jaycees, in cooperation with the West Texas Tractor Pullers Association, will sponsor Snyder's annual Tractor Pull on July 2-3 at the old rodeo grounds.

The event is planned to coincide with the city's Independence Day festivities with performances beginning nightly at 8.

A large crowd is expected to attend the two-day event to watch local, area and out-of-state pullers, noted Wayne Nobles, Jaycee president. Among the local pullers expected to compete are Royce Patterson aboard "Paddy's Pacemaker, an Econo tractor; Tommy Patterson on "Ole Yeller", a modified four-wheel drive truck; and Eldon Kirkpatrick aboard "The Predator", a modified tractor.

Others include Larry Lee and his "Flamin' 44", an econo tractor; J&J Pulling Team (Jimmy Don Lloyd and Jimmy Shannon) with "Junk Yard Dog", a modified 4WD truck; Curtis Stipe on "Plowboy's Pride", an econo tractor; and Jessie Allen behind the wheel of "Snoopy", a modified 4WD truck.

Locals competing in the stock class will be B&B Pulling Team (David and Darren Brooks), Steve Lee and E.E. Shifflett.

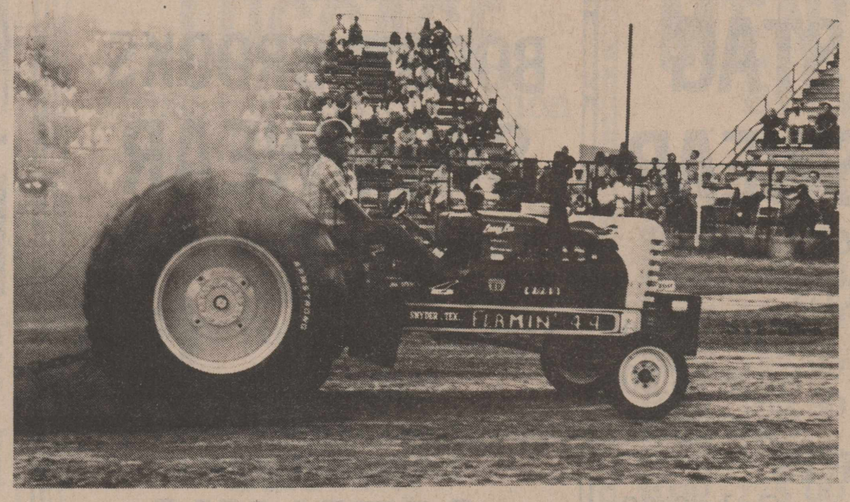

Tractors will be divided into two classes, stock and modified.

The object of a tractor pull is to pull a weighted sled as far as possible down a prepared dirt track 300 feet long. The sled is mechanized so the farther down the track it is pulled, the heavier it gets. The tractor pulling the furtherest in its class is the winner.

There will be three tractor weight divisions: 5500 modified, 7200 modified and 6200 economy. Other competition will include a 6200 4WD open competition.

In addition, there will be three Jack Pot pulls, 5800 and 7200 stock and 600 stock 4WD.

Tickets will be $4 for adults and $2 for childred ages six to 14 at the gate.

Jaycees Sponsor Fishing Rodeo & Two More Events

Snyder Jaycees and Jaycettes will sponsor a fishing rodeo, bicycle judging and tractor pull during the annual Fourth of July Celebration in Snyder next weekend.

Kids of all ages may register for the bicycle judging at 8 a.m. Saturday, west end of the Armory. The event is being held by the Jaycettes. First, second and third place prizes will be awarded on the basis of decoration. All participants may ride their bikes in the parade.

The Fishing Rodeo, sponsored by the Jaycees, will be held immediately following the parade, beginning at approximately 10 a.m. and extending until noon. Boys and girls age 12 and under should meet at the silver pump house at the east end of Towle Park. First, second and third place prizes will be awarded for most fish caught. One prize will also be awarded for the largest fish caught.

The annual Fourth Of July Tractor Pull is sponsored by the Jaycees in cooperation with the West Texas Tractor Pullers Association and will be held 8 p.m. July 2 and 3 at the old rodeo grounds. Tickets are $4 for adults and $2 for children age six through 14.

MR. AND MRS. KERRY DEE HAGINS

Chapel Ritual Unites Heffernan And Hagins

Jana Lynn Heffernan and Kerry Dee Hagins were married at 2 p.m. on May 22 in the chapel of First Baptist Church. Glen McCathern, minister of education at Colonial Hill Baptist Church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Heffernan of Snyder. The groom's parents are Robert Hagins of Bridgeport and Shirley Hagins of Snyder.

Pianists were Kathleen Lewis and Lori Sealy. Kristi Masters sang "Ice Castles" and "The Wedding Song.

The bride's mother and father gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of dacron polyester organza trimmed with silk Venice lace. Long tapered sleeves were capped with double ruffles of organza and lace circled the high neckline. Matching ruffles and lace appliques highlighted the flowing skirt and chapel length train. Her bouffant veil of illusion, made by her cousin, was framed with lace and fell from a crown covered with pleated lace and dotted with seed pearls.

The white Bible which was carried by the bride's mother in her wedding was topped with various flowers in spring colors for the bridal bouquet. Mrs. Lonnie Heffernan of Sweetwater, the bride's aunt, fashioned all the floral arrangements.

Ronda McFaul, the bride's cousin, of Roscoe served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Kelly Heffernan, cousin of the bride, of Sweetwater and Carmen Parmer. They wore dresses of peach, yellow and lavender, respectively. The dresses featured square necklines trimmed in lace, empire waists and long skirts trimmed with ruffles. Each attendant carried a long-stemmed matching rose.

Best man was Terry Hagins, brother of the groom. Andy Elkins of Monahans and Walter Banks served as groomsmen. Ushers were Randy Wolf of Odessa and Ricky Harlan of Midland. They all wore silver gray tuxedos.

Shane Heffernan of Sweetwater was ring bearer. He wore a pale blue three-piece suit.

A reception in the garden room of the church followed the ceremony. Both the traditional wedding cake and the groom's cake were made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Cecil Walston of Oak Creek.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and crystal appointments were used. Kristi Masters and Debra Banks presided.

A silver coffee service and crystal appointments were used on the groom's table which was presided over by Candy Turnbo and Dusty Mruph. The cake was a pair of bride and groom penguins.

Following a wedding trip to Abilene the couple is at home at 2806 Ave. X in Snyder.

The bride attended Snyder High School. The groom is a graduate of Snyder High School, attended Western Texas College and is employed by N. L. McCullough.

Author Says Babies Need Books

By HEIDI NOLTE

NEW YORK (AP) — Dorothy Butler believes babies should be read to virtually from the time they're born and that access to books greatly increases a child's chances of becoming a happy and involved human being.

"It isn't always realized, but it's quite easy to see that children are learning to read from the time they first open their eyes," the author of "Babies Need Books" said in an interview.

"They naturally exhibit so many of the skills involved in reading, such as the directional skills — that is, the business of the eye traveling from left to right and then down the page," she said. "It is one of the most important parts of learning to read."

Mrs. Butler, who runs a remedial reading service in New Zealand and lectures and writes about children's books, suggests certain practical guidelines the parent should follow to help the child in the reading process:

—For the very little ones, Mrs. Butler recommends fairly simple books and books which she calls theme books, rather than story books.

"For example, a small child loves a book about a typical child going through the day: getting up in the morning, having a wash, having breakfast, playing in the back yard and going shopping with mommy.

"This isn't really a story, it's a sort of theme book."

—Then quite soon, 18 months to 2 years, they are able to take a simple story about something that happened to a child, or a teddy bear, or a duck.

"That sort of child will also listen to a story that they can't really understand simply because they so love the words."

Nursery rhymes and simple poetry should be introduced at this stage, too, she suggests.

—"Then you come to a stage, say about 3, when children start to love very simple, traditional stories like 'The Three Bears' and 'The Gingerbread Man.' They love the element of repetition in those.

—"And once they are about 4 the range has almost no limits if the youngster has had a good reading background." If the youngster has not had a good reading background, she adds, it needs to be taken through the very simplest stages.

"So if you can persuade parents to use a book with the child at this very early stage, you've got something under way that you might not be able to implement later, because 3- and 4-year-olds are very choosy about what they like to do," she says.

"They may have been overexposed to television with all its effective flashing lights and strident noise."

Mrs. Butler said it would be absolutely ideal if no child was confronted by television until about 10 years of age. By that stage they would have learned to read.

"You see, reading involves a sort of deferring of gratification while you learn," she explains. "Because you're not truly reading until your eye can sweep down the page of print while the meaning pours into your mind. That's true reading.

"Until you can do that, you're not reading with real enjoyment and that requires an enormous amount of practice. Kids who are going to be watching television a couple of hours a day are not going to get the practice. Not only are they not prepared to invest that degree of intellectual imagery, but it's unlikely that they are going to find the time."

Mrs. Butler says it can be established that when a child is watching television, his mind is absolutely slowed down because there can be no response on his part.

"And at a time of life when it is absolutely essential for a child's mind to be involved, to be ticking over all the time, here we go and arrange for their minds to be slowed down almost to a stop," she said. "And we as adults have to face the responsibility of the fact that that's what we do.

"My own children were read to from the time they were just babies," says Mrs. Butler, who has six daughters and two sons. "And they all became enthusiastic readers.

"But I really do rebel at the notion that one of the reasons for reading to children is so you can turn them into what I call lawyers instead of laborers," she adds.

"I don't go along with that at all. What we want is for all people to lead enriched and good and fulfilled lives. Whatever this youngster wants to do, well, that's what matters," she says.

"There is no reason why this youngster needn't go on reading and becoming better-educated all his or her life."

The Treaty of Portsmouth ended the Russo-Japanese War on Sept. 5, 1905, amid political chaos throughout Russia. The Russian fleet was sunk at Tsushima three months before the treaty and a general strike had swept through Russia the previous fall.

The final episode of "The Fugitive," which aired Aug. 29, 1967, was watched by more people than any other single episode of a regular television series to that date. The record held for 13 years until Nov. 21, 1980, when the "Who Shot J.R." segment of "Dallas" aired.

Expert Predicts Bright Outlook...

Unemployment, Slow Growth Mar Economy

By Paul Recer
Associated Press Writer

The gold at the Texas end of the nation's economic rainbow is tarnished slightly by layoffs, a slightly increasing unemployment rate in some areas and a mild slowing of growth.

But the experts say Texas' economy is still strong, healthy and may be poised for another surge forward.

"I think we're starting into a boom period," said a San Antonio economist.

Said a Houston expert: "The outlook is exceedingly bright for the rest of the century."

Texas, as a whole, has been touched lightly, so far, by the general national recession. But it has taken some locally severe bumps, scrapes and bruises.

The "oil patch" has been staggered by a severe cutback in drilling, a decline in refinery capacity and a dramatic reduction in demand for oil field equipment. Experts are predicting that some companies may fold before the picture improves. Dozens of oil-related businesses have experienced layoffs and more are predicted.

The Dallas-Fort Worth area has been stunned by the loss of Braniff International. About 4,500 workers lost their jobs when the airline stopped operations on May 12. There also have been layoffs in some manufacturing firms.

Unemployment rates have risen slightly in a number of areas of the state and may get worse. Some experts are predicting rates as high as seven percent this summer in Houston and Dallas, the state's economic powerhouses, because of seasonal trends.

Statewide, the Texas Employment Commission said that the April figures, the latest available, show an unemployment rate of 5.9 percent, compared with 4.3 for the same period of 1981. Only four major labor markets, Amarillo, Austin, Odessa and McAllen-Pharr-Edinburg, showed improved employment pictures for April.

But these problems, according to the experts, are but minor bumps on a high-speed Texas economic highway into the future.

Economists making predictions nearly all agree that Texas is the place to be no matter what the national economy does.

"Texas is usually the last to feel a recession, is affected the least and is the first to recover," said a Houston economist.

Nat Eisenberger, head of the respected Economic Advisory Services firm of Houston, calls Texas "the strongest regional economy in the country."

The reason, he says, is a superior "mix" of economic sectors. The state's economy is based on five sectors — energy, high technology, service and finance, old line industry and agriculture. The first three are expected to be the major growth industries for the rest of the century.

"It just so happens that Texas is strong in all three," said Einberger.

In addition, said the economist, Texas has more cities over 100,000 in population than any other state, giving a great capacity for industrial and market growth. The state, though classified as 80 percent urban, has vast areas for expansion. And, lastly, the state has a distinct "pro-business" attitude with low taxes and a strong tradition of encouraging expansion.

"The future is extremely bright, no matter how it looks in the near term," said Eisenberger.

HOUSTON:

An abupt decline in drilling is being felt strongly now in the oil field equipment and services industry. Layoffs are common and production is being cut back across the board.

Refinery workers have been laid off as capacity has dropped to 60 percent.

Part of the problem stems from an over-optimism in the oil business, said C. A. Kasdorf, manager of economic research at the Houston Chamber of Commerce.

Oil field service companies, enjoying a boom in 1981, geared up for high production. When drilling suddenly dropped by 35 percent early this year, said Kasdorf, the companies "were caught by surprise."

This added to an existing "energy recession" caused by a decline in demand, unstable prices and the uncertainty about gas decontrol.

All of these negative factors may disappear next year, said Kasdorf, and drilling activity could resume it hot pace.

Housing starts in Houston continue strong, despite the high interest rates, with the city expected to lead the nation in housing starts for the eighth straight year. Non-residential construction again passed $1 billion dollars for the year and is 38 per cent of the pace for 1981.

Unemployment in Houston, however, was 5.6 percent for May and may get to "six or seven percent," said Kasdorf, in June and July because of seasonal effects. One reason for this, he said, is that many people moving to Houston from out of state find themselves "mismatched in skills" for the Houston jobs.

ABILENE:

Unemployment rose in Abilene in May, primarily from layoffs in the oil industry. The rate increased from the 4 percent of April to 4.8 percent.

Diane Duncan, a TEC official in Austin, said the decline is statewide.

"It doesn't take a whole lot of layoffs in major industries to reflect a decrease in employment, especially in smaller areas," she said.

Ann Carman of the TEC office in Abilene said the rate was affected by the April layoff of 400 employees of Nucorp Supply Inc. The firm laid off another 200 early this month. She said Abilene may experience other layoffs this month.

EL PASO:

Unemployment improved in El Paso in May, but the rate is still far above the state average. TEC officials in El Paso said the rate dropped in May to 10.4, just a bit below the 10.5 percent of April.

Elke Schabel of the city's chamber of commerce said the unemployment figures reflect the large number of unskilled workers in the El Paso area, and not the effects of major layoffs.

On the bright side, she said, there have been 73 new business open in El Paso since January, 1981, including a new Atari plant that will hire 600 workers.

NEW DOCTOR—Karen Houpt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Houpt, former Snyder residents, received the M. D. degree from the University of Texas Medical School in Houston. She is a member of Alpha Omega Alpha honor medical society. Her residency is at the UT San Antonio teaching hospitals, where she is specializing in internal medicine. Dr. Houpt received the BA degree in biology from UT Austin.

Luera, White Exchange Wedding Vows

MR. AND MRS. AUTHOR LEE WHITE
(Photo by Pam Zeck)

Patricia Ann Luera, daughter of Mrs. Julia Luera, became the bride of Author Lee White at 7 p.m. on May 22 at Knapp Baptist Church. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Udell White of Ira. Rev. Dennis Teeters officiated.

Vows were exchanged before an altar centered with an arch decorated with apricot colored roses and streamers with a seven-branch candelabrum on each side.

Gwen Patrick, pianist, and soloist, Gale Northcott, sister of the groom, presented "You Light Up My Life," "Nadia's Theme," "Trumpet Voluntary," "The Wedding Song," and "One Hand, One Heart.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Joe Luera. She wore a white gown with a Venice lace bodice and a Queen Anne neckline. The long, full, sheer bishop sleeves had deep lace cuffs. Scallops of bridal satin appliqued with re-embroidered Venice lace adorned the A-line knit chiffon skirt and the cathedral train was edged with re-embroidered lace. Her four-tiered fingertip length veil of silk illusion was attached to a headpiece accented with crystal and pearl asares.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white silk roses, rosebuds, azaleas, and gypsophila accented with crystals and pearl asares imported from Mexico. It was attached to a lace back with streamers of white bridal ribbon.

Something old was her mother's wedding band and something new was her wedding gown. She borrowed a pearl necklace from Mary Jones and wore a blue garter.

The groom wore a three-piece nutmeg colored western tuxedo with a white pleated shirt.

Maid of honor was Mary Lou Luera, the bride's sister. She wore an apricot jersey dress accented with a val lace ruffle scoop neckline and carried a colonial nosegay of apricot, brown and white.

Jareen Hammitt lit the candles. She was dressed the same as the maid of honor.

Darryl Calley of Ira served as best man. He wore a three-piece western nutmeg colored tuxedo with an apricot ruffled shirt. Steve Northcott and Martin Pena Jr. seated guests.

Yvette Ramos and Jennifer Northcott presented both parents with a red rose. Flower girls were Annette Ramos and Lindsey Northcott. They all wore white floor length gowns with re-appliqued lace roses.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Knapp Community Center.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth with apricot edging. The bridal bouquet was used as a centerpiece. The four-tiered white cake with cascading roses on each tier was topped with a traditional ornament. Sendy Beasley and Linda Ramos served.

The groom's table was covered with a beige lace cloth and held a beige and brown centerpiece. A German chocolate cake and coffee were served by Tina Canales and Kellye Elrod. Both cakes were decorated by Mrs. Alice Guerra.

Flower girls passed out ricebags.

Out of town guests were from Lamesa, Lubbock, Abilene, Seminole, and O'Donnell.

Winner by a neck

A smooth, soft neck is a beauty asset — keep yours looking youthful with these hints. Wash your neck only once a day, because the thin, sensitive skin can dry out with overcleansing. Use comfortably warm water and a mild soap.

Keep your throat firm with gentle exercise. Try dropping your head onto your chest, and roll it to the right, then back, then left, then down again to your chest. Try to relax, and keep your shoulders down. Repeat five times.

By Oswald Jacoby and Alan Sontag

"Greed is a terrible thing," remarked the unlucky expert.

"You aren't actually admitting you made a mistake?" we asked.

"Yes, I did," he replied, "I should not have redoubled six clubs. Without the redouble, West would surely have opened a heart as his partner had asked him to do. After my redouble, West got off to the deuce of trumps lead. Then West got in with the spade ace in order to lead a second trump. That left me with just 11 winners. Two spades, a diamond and eight trump tricks. I had to choose between a diamond finesse or an attempt to drop the diamond king.

"I tried the finesse that was a 50 percent chance. It lost. Without my redouble the defense would only get in one trump lead against me and I would wrap up the slam on a cross ruff."

A lot of people would criticize the unlucky expert for taking that diamond finesse, but he was correct there. The finesse was a 50 percent chance. The play to drop the king has to be less than 50 percent.

The reason is that the odds are better than even to find the king with the man who has the longer holding in the suit.

ill-advised move

Residents of the nation's capital have complained for more than a century about what their forebears objected to more than two centuries ago——taxation without representation.

It is only two decades since Washingtonians were first allowed to vote in presidential elections, and a single non-voting representative in Congress dates back only from the early 1970s. Now, citizens of this country's self-described "last colony" are seeking the ultimate autonomy——statehood——but in a fashion almost guaranteed to fail and to set back the cause of home rule indefinitely.

Congress approved a proposed constitutional amendment in 1978 that would give the district two senators and a representative, all with the right to vote, but only 10 state legislatures have ratified it and an equal number have rejected it.

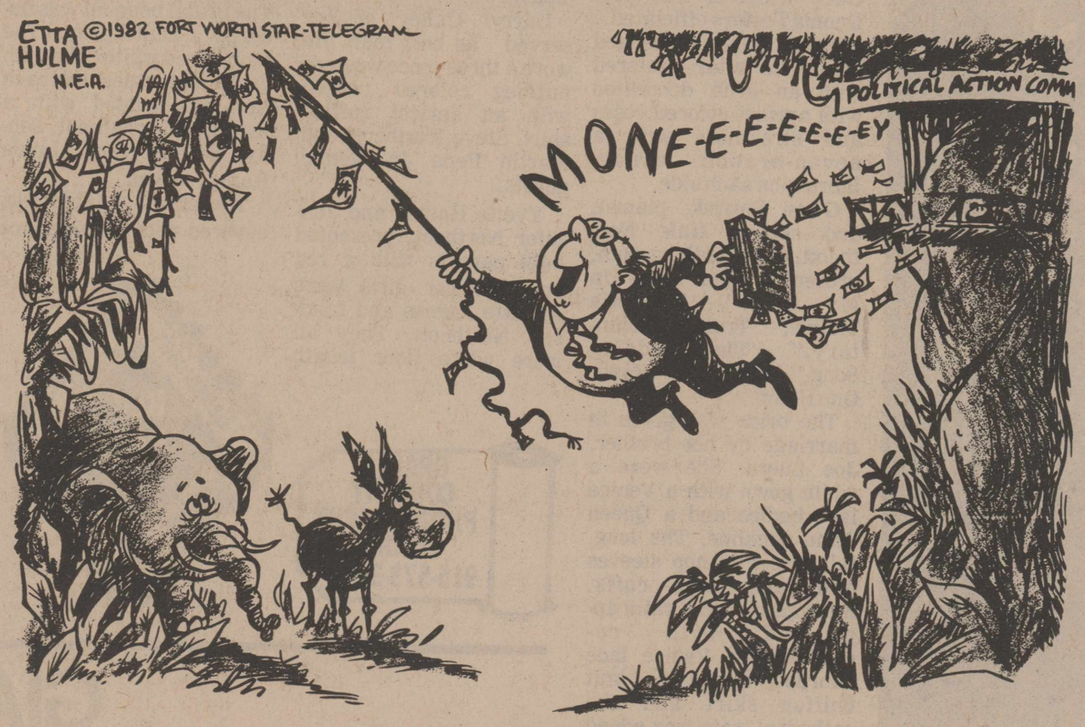

Refusing to give up, Washingtonians pushed through a local initiative in 1980 that set up a constitutional convention. Then, heedless of warnings from more cool-headed quarters, the delegates decided to go for broke.

They produced a document that, among other things, guaranteed everyone a job "or an income sufficient to meet basic needs," gave police and firefighters the right to strike, forbade taxes on groceries and vested our putative 51st state——dubbed New Columbia——with the power to take over utility companies.

Any one of those matters is a legitimate subject for debate and legislative action in a democracy. But in a city ruled jealously by an increasingly conservative Congress never much inclined to give more than token power to local officials, proposing such a constitution——one which must be approved not only by the voters but by both houses of Congress and the president——can scarcely be described as anything less than suicidal.

In approving the proposed constitutional amendment four years ago, Congress showed it had yielded far more than any home rule advocate dared dream even a decade ago. But the political winds have shifted. Even a more prudent draft constitution might have tough sledding on Capitol Hill today.

By writing a document that is more of a wish-list than a fundamental charter, its authors may have done a greater disservice to their fellow citizens than if they had done nothing at all. It is enough to make a person wonder if they are capable of properly administering statehood.

KING OF THE JUNGLE

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The dime isn't worthless in spite of inflation. In an emergency it makes an excellent screwdriver."

A school board member once told a prospective member to expect more calls concerning cafeteria food than anything else related to the school system.

Snyder is no different from most public institutions--be it public schools or institutions of higher learning. It's traditional that the kids gripe about the cafeteria food.

Still, there are few places where a balanced diet can be obtained so economically. It's just that some things that are good for us don't conform with out fast-food taste buds.

A college dorm in California decided to use psychology in getting the students to eat and enjoy the local fare. At the university there were the normal complaints that everything had to be dipped in catsup or mustard in order to be swallowed.

Tired of such complaints, dorm chefs began cooking home-style meals based on the experts--mom and dad. Parents of dorm residents were asked to send in their student's favorite recipes for mass production on campus.

In the second year of the program, about 650 suggestions were received. Most were described as "not fancy and a lot seemed like mom's leftovers turned into someone's favorite casserole."

Ten persons--including cooks, students and a staff nutritionist--evaluated the suggestions on the basis of dietary merit, cost and taste. The result was 48 "Favorites from Home."

Included on the dining hall lineup were Italian, Oriental, Mexican and other entrees which included enchilada pie, the most popular.

On nights when home-provided recipes were prepared, consumption was up as much as 20 percent.

One problem with mom's cooking direction, the college said, had to do with terms like "a pinch of this," or "a handful of that." Lamented one cook, "I don't know if my hands are the same size as someone's mother."

If a person is hungry, then most anything is tasty. We also read of a college in New England where scrounging had become a tradition.

It seems that the poorer college kids waited for the more affluent to turn in their trays, then dined on the leftovers. The tradition had been going for some 50 years, to the benefit of everyone.

Now some do-gooder is trying to eliminate the practice on the basis of unsanitary conditions. It might be a lot more unhealthy not to eat.

In our college days, we wished we would have practiced the art of tray scrounging. The dorm food looked pretty good back then.

Can't Get Data Fast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most common problem uncovered in recent test exercises conducted at nuclear power plants was the inability of operators to get data quickly to officials who need it, according to Brian K. Grimes, director of Nuclear Regulatory Commission's Office of Emergency Preparedness.

Grimes told the commission Tuesday that a 12-month study ended in April found that up to half of the nuclear plants in the country are "generally deficient" in one or more areas in their ability to respond to hypothetical accidents.

Thirty persons died when the steamship Lady Elgin and the schooner Augusta collided in Lake Michigan in 1860.

Rental cars are like blind dates.

They sound terrific over the phone, but personality isn't everything.

The car rental people make it sound so easy. You step off the plane and your wheels are waiting for you. What they don't tell you is:

Where do you stick the key that opens the door?

How do you get the seat back so you can fit under the steering wheel?

How do you get the motor to turn over?

Where are the lights?

How do you get out of the parking lot?

It doesn't make sense. You're being thrown together with $7,000 worth of electronics but you've had more instruction on how to ride an elevator.

Ever sit in traffic and try to pick out people driving rental cars? It's easy. He's usually the guy with the windshield wipers going back and forth when the sun is shining. Or the woman who releases her hood going 60 miles an hour on the expressway...with her eyes closed.

Recently, I rented a talking car. From Japan. My car doesn't talk. It's tried to communicate on a few occasions, but it sounded expensive so I ignored it.

No sooner was I settled in this car than a voice said, "Your trunk is open." Now that line may be a scream in Japan, but not to me, who couldn't find the trunk in the first place and whose luggage was piled on the front seat beside me.

The voice had other phrases. "Your left door is open. Your right door is open. Your lights are on. Your seat belt is unfastened."

"Your brake is on," she said mechanically.

When I returned the car, the girl at the desk said, "Where are your keys?" I motioned to the parking lot. "Let her tell you."

There was the car sitting alone in the darkness with a voice saying over and over, "You keys are in the ignition.

Your keys are in the ignition. Your keys are in the ig--"

Would it have killed her to tell me how to get them out?

If that bum Hinckley handles it right he can make a million dollars off this assassination thing. And do it while leading the life of Riley at the expense of the country whose leader he tried to kill. And the jury said HE was crazy?

First will come the exclusive interviews. Exclusive to writers who: One, can come up with the most money; and two, are willing to portray him in the manner he wishes to be seen. If he let just anybody have a shot at it, no telling what they would write. He might come off looking like an insignificant, confused, little wimp, who blasted our top hand just for the attention. You know how vicious and uncontrollable these crazy writers are sometimes. Some innocent people could get hurt.

Then, after everybody else has written about him, he can make another bundle by, "finally speaking out and writing his own book." Any publishing house will jump at the chance of putting such a distingished figure on their dust cover. Think what it will do to the figures in their bank account. Only in America.

After the book, of course, will come public appearances and talk shows. No matter who you are or what you've done you can't just hack out a book and sit on your duff. You've got to get out there and promote it. People forget so easily.

The Donahue show should probably come first. The strategy is to get the chatty women of this nation to talking about it so regular people will know who he is when he takes on the Carson show.

The Donahue scene might go something like this: (Donahue) "Today we have with us a controversial celibrity, who made national headlines by opening fire on Ronald Reagan, a former actor and personal friend of mind, who was working as president at the time of the shooting. Ladies please welcome America's best known psychopath, John Hinckley Jr."

(Hinckley) "Hello Phil, thank you ladies, and I want to point out first of all that I didn't shoot any women in my crazed attack, only four men."

(Donahue) "That's correct John. Good point. Its never been brought out before. Lets explore that, come on help me out, why was that?"

(Hinckley) Well Phil, its this way I love my mother but I never liked my father because sometimes I don't think he really loves me, cause I could never do anything good enough. Do you ever feel that way Phil?"

(Donahue) "Uh...I'd love to explore that John but now its time for questions from our studio audience. How about it ladies, here is the man who almost changed the course of history."

(Indignant lady in 1st row) "Why did you shoot my president while As the World Turns was on. I'd been waiting weeks to find out what was going to happen and zap they cut into the show to say somebody shot Reagan. How do you justify this kind of behavior?"

(Hinckley) "Look lady, I was crazy but I didn't think they would have the audacity to break into your show or I wouldn't have done it, I promise. (starts crying) Tell'em Phil."

(Donahue) "Please ladies, have some compassion, this poor man has been through a lot."

After the interviews, book, and talk shows will come the product endorsements. In this highly competitive arena he will be wise to leave the big stuff like toothpaste and Coke to the real heavies, the athletes. Failing to recognize his limits could ruin his entire career. He'll do better to stick to small stuff, like guns.

"Buy a gun just like the one that shot Reagan and maimed a press secretary and get a free autographed picture of John Hinckley. You'll get a $5 rebate if you have papers certifying you are insane."

Of course no one can rest on his past laurels forever. Maybe he'll be content with his fortune and free medical care, but who knows. Some day a snickering little kid may say, "Sure you shot a president and got away with it grandpa, but what have you done lately?"

Your Birthday

June 27, 1982

This coming year you can look for many favorable changes to begin to occur. Much of what happens will come from events or circumstances over which you'll have little control.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Adhere to your charitable impulses today when you see others who need your help. Try to be the type of giver who doesn't put strings on your aid. Predictions of what's in store for you for each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Don't let it be said of you today that you are a good sport only as long as all is going your way. Should the tide turn, take your lumps with grace.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) In situations where you don't take yourself or what's occurring too seriously, you come on like a champ. Getting uptight sends you back to the bush league.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You can accomplish your purposes today by being resourceful and diplomatic. Push too hard and the results aren't apt to be fruitful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Don't let pride or stubbornness stand in your way today if others want to be helpful. You know how you'd feel if you wanted to assist them and they rejected you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Someone in your group, in order to suit his own purposes today, may try to rearrange things in a manner which could unfavorably affect everyone. Don't permit it.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Associates are prepared to be supportive today, but only up to a point. Use your good judgment in knowing how much to ask of others.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are socializing with persons today who happen to be in a work-related field, keep things on a friendly basis. Don't bring business into the picture.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Put family and community obligations above your more frivolous activities. Unless you attend to duties first, you could cause problems for yourself and others.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Misunderstandings with your mate can be resolved today if you are not too insistent upon getting in the last word. Parting shots produce problems.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) It may require assistance to get the things you want today. Be prepared to divvy-up the rewards with those who help you make the acquisitions.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Guard against tendencies today to be too demanding or possessive of those you love. You may feel it's for their good, but they won't.

June 28, 1982

This coming year could be a very unusual one for you, in that you are likely to take two projects which appear to have little or no promise and turn them into something personally rewarding.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You have a talent today for wrapping up things that others don't know how to finalize. Get on them now. Predictions of what's in store for you for each season following your birth date and where your luck and opportunities lie are in your Astro-Graph. Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) One of the reasons your friends hold you in such high esteem: When you make a promise, they know you'll follow through. This is true of you today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) You have both the mind and muscle today to advance your self-interests and to better your position in life. Devote your abilities to worthy goals.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Fortunately, you are blessed with a good memory. It isn't likely you're going to repeat any mistakes today which caused you problems in the past.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) If you are privy to any confidential information today you'll know how to use it advantageously, especially if it pertains to something financial.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) In a situation where you are involved with old friends today, something mutually beneficial could result from a project which began as a pleasurable venture.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your greatest promise of reward is likely to come today from something which you have well under way. Don't begin anything new until it is finished.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) It's important today to lock-in on a "w:n" philosophy, regardless of whether it is for a fun activity or something serious. Attitude is everything.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You have the marvelous ability today to influence others constructively without making them feel they are being manipulated or talked down to.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Although you normally enjoy operating independently, your greatest successes today are apt to come from involvements which require partners.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Conditions look promising at this time for furthering your ambitions as well as for adding to your resources. Be enterprising and money-minded.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you have been neglecting an old friend lately, take some positive steps today to refurbish the relationship. Don't wait upon him or her to make the move.

Pipeline Is Behind Times

WASHINGTON (AP) — The planned extension of the Soviet Union's natural-gas pipeline into western Europe is "behind schedule" and will be further impeded by recently broadened U.S. economic sanctions against the Soviets, the State Department says.

Responding to West German criticism about the sanctions, department spokesman Dean Fischer said Tuesday that the decision to broaden the sanctions was essential to underscore "deep disatisfaction" with the situation in Poland since the military crackdown there in December.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP—Anthony Tate, 1972 graduate of Hermleigh High School, has received a $1,200 Permian Honor Scholarship to attend any area junior college or the University of Texas of the Permian Basin. The scholarship was awarded through the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation for placing fourth at the state-level journalism contest in 1981 and 1982. Tate, who plans to enter Western Texas College this fall, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tate of Hermleigh.

United Way...

Riggan Named Drive Chairman

Directors of the Scurry County United Way met Thursday to hear recommendations from the budget committee and to appoint the drive chairman for the 1982 campaign.

Appointed as drive chairman was Tim Riggan. A local investment counselor, Riggan was described by a United Way official as "a person who is very interested in the community, dynamic, and very much able to spearhead a successful campaign."

Rodger Sullenger, chairman of the Budget and Admissions Committee, submitted a goal of $70,253.00 to fund the work of eight participating agencies. The 1982 goal represents an increase of $9,353.00 over last year's budget.

Increases in the amount of services provided by several agencies and a subsequent need for additional funds were cited as primary reasons for the increase. Agency requests totaled $78,323.00, of which the committee rejected $8,000.00.

The largest single increase was earmarked for the Snyder Child Day Care Center, whose budget has been severely affected by cutbacks in federal spending. Committee members pointed out that decreased federal assistance places a heavier responsibility on local funding sources, and that the United Way response was actually a small part of the Center's funding needs. The allocation was $10,000.00, an increase of $4,000.

Other agencies and their allocations include: Boy Scouts, $17,000; Boys Club, $24,000; Girl Scouts, $7,000; Red Cross, $2,800; Salvation Army, $4,500; West Texas Rehabilitation Center, $1,000; and Texas Community Services, $203. The local United Way operating budget was cut to $3,750.00.

Two agencies, USO and the Texas Assocation for Autistic Citizens, were not included because United Way is attempting to fund agencies directly at work in Scurry County,

Dr. Ed Barkowsky, United Way president, complimented Sullenger and his committee for their work. "They are a very dedicated, hard-working, and dilligent group of volunteers who spent literally hundreds of man-hours screening and researching agency requests," he said. "They did their work with a keen sense of responsibility to the agencies and to the community, and we can be assured that their decisions were made carefully and with great delieration.

In other action, the board accepted with regret the resignation of Frances Wiman as second vice-president. Monette Sentell was elected to replace her, and Dr. James Palmer, professor of geography and economics at Western Texas College, was elected treasurer.

JoAnn Nunley was appointed to chair the publicity committee for the summer while it prepares United Way campaign materials and brochures.

Dear Abby

Wife's Dog Becomes Bone of Contention

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1982 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Before I entered into my second marriage, I had a small dog. The dog is housebroken, does not get on the furniture, rarely barks and is in no way destructive.

Now, after four years of marriage, my husband informed me that he has never liked dogs in the house, and he insists that the dog be put outside on a permanent basis. He issued an ultimatum — either the dog goes or he does.

Naturally, I am heartbroken over this. My husband gave no indication of his seemingly deep-rooted feelings prior to our marriage, or even during the time we have been married up to now.

We've always taken the dog on trips whenever possible, and it was so well-behaved that one hardly knew a dog was around.

I am wondering whether to let my marriage go down the drain over a dog, or if I have to give up my beloved pet. My husband was well aware that I had an "inside dog" when he married me. Please comment but don't use my name or city.

IN THE DOGHOUSE

DEAR IN: It strikes me as strange that your husband has lived uncomplainingly for four years with a dog in the house, and suddenly he's giving you an ultimatum — the dog or him.

If you really care for each other, you will get counseling and resolve the real problem.

I think your husband is using a four-legged animal as an excuse to take a two-legged walk.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My best friend and I have been having a sexual relationship for the past eight months now. It's the natural result of our being very close, confiding friends. We are both married, have young children and our wives are also good friends.

Since we started this relationship, we both feel better about ourselves. In fact, we both feel we have become closer and more sensitive to our wives as a result. Also, we both feel an improvement in our sex life with our wives. I must add that our sex life with our wives was very good even prior to the start of this relationship.

We find nothing wrong with this; we love each other, our wives and children very much. Is there anything wrong in our being so contented? Signed . . .

CONTENTED

DEAR CONTENTED: If you don't think there is anything "wrong," why are you asking?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: We have a big problem in our family. Our daughter-in-law does not want her child (our 2-year-old grandson) to be around his grandfather when Grampa smokes — and Grampa smokes a whole lot.

She said she read that a person could get cancer from breathing secondhand smoke. What do you think?

GRANDMA

DEAR GRANDMA: Let me put it this way: Recent studies show that secondhand smoke can be almost as damaging to the lungs as firsthand smoke, and I think your daughter-in-law is justified in protecting her child.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A while back you had a letter from an actress who deplored the bad manners of people who leave the theater while the cast is taking curtain calls. I share her annoyance wholeheartedly. It's not only bad manners to the cast members who have spent hours entertaining, but also to those of us who remain seated until the curtain calls are over.

The same applies to baseball games. I detest having my feet walked on by people leaving the ballpark during the ninth inning!

I once witnessed a ball game where the home team was behind 7-0. In the last half of the ninth inning the home team got eight runs and won the game! What a thrill those early-leavers missed.

Is it unAmerican to spend the 4th in a hotel suite?

Not in ours, it isn't.

Because when you check in on our 4th of July Weekend Special, we give each person in your party a free American flag.

That makes it legal.

But the suite you get makes it sheer genius. American-style. It's big and spacious, with separate bedroom, separate living room, dining area, bar and complete kitchen.

You also get some things you won't find under one roof anywhere else in Northwest Texas.

- A full American breakfast—cooked to order for each person in your party. Absolutely free. Every morning.
- A two-hour open bar party—for all registered adults. Also completely free. Every afternoon.
- A nice, invigorating whirlpool—to loll round in.
- A big, beautiful pool—when you get tired of lolling around the whirlpool.
- A sauna—coed, family-style.

If you get tired of all this rest and relaxation, you can always drive over and "flag" the fireworks. But if you do, just remember: you've got a nice cool suite waiting to come "home" to.

Girl Graduates With Honors

CORNWALL-ON-HUDSON, N.Y. (AP) — Name: Saturnelli, K.
Rank: Captain.
Number: 317.

Not many girls get their high school education at a military academy, but Cadet Karen Saturnelli has — with honors.

The academy was established in 1889, but only began admitting young women in 1976. Karen Saturnelli arrived in the seventh grade, at age 10.

"The guys gave us a real hassle," she recalls. "The first day I cried my eyes out."

Six years later, there are 12 female cadets among 82 graduates. Karen, 17, is captain on Brigade staff. She placed second in a class competition for the honors.

"I beat out all those guys, and that's what probably made me happy," she says.

As for the future, Captain Karen Saturnelli will study nursing at Russell Sage College in Troy, N.Y.

Three Year Old Has Fantastic Fish Tale

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Three-year-old Adam Schultz has a fish tale almost as tall as he is.

The boy, son of Dennis and Judy Schultz of Cudahy, Wis., reeled in a 4-pound northern pike that measured 26 inches long — just four inches shorter than Adam stands himself.

"The bobber went down, and we thought maybe it was just caught in the weeds," Mrs. Schultz said. "When we saw what it really was, we couldn't believe it."

Davis, Anthony United In Afternoon Ceremony

MR. AND MRS. PHILLIP DWIGHT ANTHONY

Retha Marie Davis became the bride of Phillip Dwight Anthony at 2 p.m. on May 8 at Mount Olive Baptist Church. Rev. E. D. Toines, pastor of the church, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Willie Faye Davis and the late M. R. (Pete) Davis and the groom is the son of Harry M. Anthony of Fayetteville, NC.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar set with a brass heart-shaped candelabrum flanked by seven-branch rainbow candelabra.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Hayward Clay, the bride wore a floor length formal empire style ecru gown of peau de soie and lace. The bodice was overlaid with lace and had long full lace sleeves. The train was floor length illusion accented with lace motifs. To complete the ensemble she chose a chapel length veil of bridal illusion.

The bride carried a cascading silk bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath accented with yellow and ivory streamers.

Jo Ann Bell of Lubbock served as matron of honor and Anita Biggers, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

Their dresses were of yellow and ivory chiffon and satin. Each carried a long-stemmed yellow rose.

Flower girls were nieces of the bride, Angela Biggers and Tonia Floyd.

Ron Atkins served as best man and Frank Biggers served as groomsman.

Wedding music was provided by Pat Edgeman, pianist, and Marge Sealy who sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "If."

A reception followed in the community room of Snyder Savings and Loan.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth over yellow linen and centered with a three-tiered cake decorated with yellow flowers and a miniature bride and groom on top. Silver appointments were used. Sandra Atkins and Dolly Harrison presided at the table.

Lillian Durst presided at the bridegroom's table which was covered with a yellow and brown lace cloth and centered with a German chocolate cake. Appointments were in silver.

Elowese Clayton registered guests in the bride's book.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will reside in Snyder.

Diabetes Camp Set For Kids

A special day camp for children with diagnosed diabetes in this area has been scheduled for July 12-16, Hendrick Medical Center in Abilene has announced.

The camp will be held at Hardin-Simmons University.

Children sometimes have a difficult time dealing with diabetes, said Elvira Flores, nurse with Hendrick Medical Center's diabetes treatment unit, and this is the reason for the camp.

"Sometimes, just understanding the effects that diabetes has on your body can be of great help to a child," said Mrs. Flores. "And this camp enables the child to monitor his diet, exercise and testing under the supervision of qualified personnel. At the same time, the child can spend time with other children who face the same daily poblems."

Physicians and nurses from Hendrick's treatment unit spend time with each camper, teaching him how to do urine testing, ear sticks to test blood sugar levels, how to give injections, what an insulin reaaction is and how to treat it, and how to handle diabetes control throughout the growing years. In addition, dietitians from the unit help the children to plan meals and snacks and teach them about the exchange system.

Physical education majors from HSU work with the children, providing exercise activities that are important to the control of diabetes.

Parents of the campers also have a learning experience planned for them. On Sunday, July 11, parents will gather in the Tom Roberts Conerence Center at Hendrick for an information session to learn more about the camp and about what their children will be doing in the following five days.

Applications are available for the camp from the Diabetes Treatment Unit at Hendrick Medical Center, North 19th and Hickory, Abilene 79601. For more information about the camp or to register a child, call the unit at 677-3551, extension 3451, or Dr. Fred White at 677-5201.

The camp is sponsored and-or funded by Hendrick Medical Center Foundation, Hardin-Simmons University, the Lion Clubs of Abilene and the Abilene chapter of the American Diabetes Association.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Self-diagnosis dangerous

DEAR DR. LAMB — Almost a year ago I experienced a severe pain in my left breast, which lasted for several days. After several visits to my doctor and a mammogram, my doctor determined that the lump he found was fibrous tissue.

I switched to decaffeinated coffee and cut out tea entirely. In about three months the lump had shrunk from the size of a half dollar to almost nothing.

A few weeks ago the same thing happened aqain, although this time my breast was much more tender. I realized that I had been drinking an enormous amount of iced tea and had not been careful about drinking caffeine-free coffee. I switched back immediately and within a few days the soreness was gone and the lump reduced in size.

Can you explain this further? Are there other drinks or foods that I should avoid? I am worried that one of these lumps may become malignant.

DEAR READER — You observed the same thing reported by Dr. Peter Minton of the Department of Surgery, Ohio State University College of Medicine.

He found that caffeine, theophylline and theorbromine stimulates a particular type of cell growth in the breasts that leads to "fibrocystic" disease. These do not become cancer. And later he found that the nicotine in cigarettes also can have this effect. It follows that coffee, tea, colas and even chocolate plus smoking cigarettes are things a woman who is prone to cystic disease should avoid.

I want to make it clear that any woman who develops a lump in the breast must consult her doctor. Don't assume that changing your lifestyle will solve the problem. While cysts do not become cancer, some lumps are not cysts and you should depend upon a professional decision. It would be a shame to miss an early cancer while trying a self-cure program.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 18-12, Breast Basics, which includes a discussion of breast cysts. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I read the letter from the lady who laughed at the 63-year-old man with prostate problems. I couldn't help but wonder if she were ever married, and what kind of marriage she had. My husband and I are both in our mid-60s and have been married 45 years. Our sex life has improved with age. Perhaps that is because we are better able to understand one another's needs as time goes on.

Neither of us has come to a place in life where we feel that all we need is a "sensitive, thoughtful companion" as the lady suggested ought to suffice at that age. We both find sex is a very important part of life and enriches our lives greatly. We believe sex belongs to marriage and proper usage helps preserve it. We know many younger people think of older people as being "baggy and saggy" sex-wise but experience is the best teacher. I don't think age has much to do with sex drive but that the mind has more to do with sex life than the calendar.

DEAR READER — There is no doubt that sex is a powerful means of communicating love. It need not be the sole one, but it is quite important at any age. And yes, many would agree with you and say that the brain is the most powerful sex organ we have.

I Was A Junk Food Freak Until I Found Diet Center
The most important thing about the Diet Center program is that it is natural. Diet Center showed me that I have to eat sensibly & the right kinds of food. When I look back on all the fad diets I laugh because unless it is natural & normal, something you can do from now on, the weight will come back on. The big trick is to keep it off & that is where you can't compare Diet Center with any other program.
I LOST 20¾ POUNDS AND 23¾ INCHES IN JUST 10 WEEKS
The counselors, Fairy & Donna, were fantastic. I needed extra help because I am only 4'10" my program was personalized and they gave me encouragement when my weight loss was slow. The daily weigh-ins are the only way to do it. Knowing I had to face the scales everyday encouraged me to stay on my program. The drug-free supplement helped eliminate hunger pains and cravings.
