Jurors decide not to resign

Saying that they do not want to break the law, five members of a Mitchell County grand jury who earlier in the week resigned from the grand jury said Friday morning they will continue to serve.

Following a meeting with 32nd District Judge Weldon Kirk and District Attorney Frank Conard Friday morning, the five said they will serve out the remainder of their terms on the jury.

"Judge Kirk said he could not release us from the grand jury," said Apolinar Molina. "We do not want to break the law. We will continue to serve."

The five grand jurors - Tony Alvidrez, Chris Castillo, Adelinda Marquez, Susan Sanchez and Molina - said in a written statement Tuesday that they were resigning because they were disappointed in the presentation of a grand jury hearing last week on the May 13, 1988 police shooting death of 27-year-old Sammy Gomez.

"The prosecuting attorneys were very biased, they were acting as defense attorneys instead of prosecuting attorneys," they said in a letter given to Kirk.

Molina said Friday that he feels some of the witnesses were questioned "more intensely" than others.

Reports surfaced in area media that a task force, formed by the League of United Latin American Citizens, was to arrive in Colorado City Thursday or Friday and give legal advice to the grand jurors.

However, Molina said he had not talked to or requested to talk to a LULAC attorney and there was no sign of a task force at the courthouse Friday.

Castillo said she had asked for counsel from an attorney because she was "scared" at what the consequences might be if she resigned from the grand jury.

"I'm not scared right now," she said, "I feel like I've made the right decision to continue to serve."

Sanchez said she doesn't think the Gomez investigation was presented to the grand jury the right way.

"I felt it wasn't right to keep on the grand jury feeling like the justice system wasn't working the way it's supposed to," said Sanchez.

"We think something wasn't right," said Molina of the grand jury investigation will result in a no-bill of former part-time police officer Billy Ray Williamson who shot Gomez three times as Williamson and other officers tried to arrest Gomez as a suspect in a rape case.

"We think it should be investigated further, that's why we protested," said Molina.

"I feel like we accomplished what we set out to do - let the people know how we feel," said Molina.

Conard said there is no provision for grand jurors to resign once they've taken the oath. Conard said if for some reason, they had refused to continue to serve, "I don't think they would have been put in jail."

Conard said as far as the state is concerned, the Gomez investigation is over unless there is new evidence.

He said if there is a federal investigation, his office will cooperate fully.

County pecan show scheduled Dec. 5

The 14th Annual Mitchell County Pecan Show has been scheduled for Tuesday, Dec. 5, County Extension Agent Bryan Limmer announced.

The show, sponsored by the Horticulture Committee of the County Extension Program Council, Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce, City National Bank and First National Bank, will be held at the C.C. Thompson Room of City National Bank.

All pecans entered must have been grown in 1989. Nuts must have been grown by the person showing them. Growers are limited to one entry of each improved or papershell variety. If only one entry is entered in any class, the entry will be judged with "other varieties". There is no limit on the number of seedling or native pecans. All entries become the property of the Mitchell County Pecan Show and they will be given to a charitable organization.

Limmer said that each entry must consist of 43 nuts and they will be displayed on a paper plate during the show.

Entries will be taken between 1-3 p.m. on Dec. 4 and the judging will be at 2 p.m. on Dec. 5 at the C.C. Thompson Room. Anybody is welcome to help process the pecans the morning of the show. Pecans also may be left at either the county extension office or the chamber of commerce office beginning Monday, Nov. 27. Entries must be marked with the owner's name, address and variety of pecan.

Any alterations of pecan show shells by marking, filing or polishing will disqualify that entry. However, exhibitors are

Judge upholds
hair length rule

The attorney for a 17-year-old Colorado High School senior said Friday he doesn't know if his client plans to appeal a decision by a district judge upholding the school district's hair length rule for male students.

32nd District Judge Weldon Kirk ruled Thursday that a school district has the right to enforce its hair length rule for boys and denied a request by Mike Lara that he be allowed to return to class with his shoulder length hair in a ponytail.

The ruling followed two days of testimony in the suit filed against the Colorado Independent School District by Lara.

Pat Barber, Lara's attorney, said he has not been notified by Lara whether or not he wants to appeal the decision to the Circuit Court of Civil Appeals in Eastland.

Lara currently is in the school's in-school suspension program and will be forced to stay there until he conforms to the school's policy which prohibits male students wearing their hair longer than the bottom of the collar.

Lara has been in ISS from Sept. 6-13 and from Oct. 13 to present, except for the days he spent in the courtroom.

In closing arguments Thursday afternoon, Barber called the hair-length rule "personally intrusive" and an infringement on his client's constitutional rights.

Barber said that there is not a "compelling or necessary" reason for the rule and asked for a permanent injunction against it.

School attorney Tom Rees said that rules of conduct are needed in children's formative years.

"We're dealing with children," said Rees, noting that even

County Thanksgiving service slated Tuesday

The annual Mitchell County Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Ministerial Alliance, will be Tuesday at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Colorado City.

Rev. Walter Barthol, new pastor of the First Christian Church, will deliver the sermon entitled "Are We Thankful?" St. Luke United Methodist Church song leader Jim Harris will lead the congregational hymns.

Special music will be presented by the First United Methodist Church handbell choir under the direction of David Jones. The community choir, directed by Margaret Baum, will sing Come, Ye Thankful People. Additional special music will include a quartet from St. Luke United Methodist Church.

Various pastors of the community's churches will be assisting in the worship.

"One special blessing our county has to be thankful for this Thanksgiving season is that of the harmonious fellowship between the Christian churches of varying denominations," said Rev. Jon Farris, secretary of the Ministerial Alliance. "Each church has its distinctive gifts, but isn't it wonderful that we all can come together at times such as this, and celebrate in one accord our living Lord and Savior Jesus Christ?"

Farris said that "all God's children of every age, race and denomination are extended a special invitation to attend this special service of Thanksgiving."

There will be a fellowship reception following the service. Everyone is invited. A free-will offering will be taken to fund benevolent ministries to benefit the poor and needy of Mitchell County.

The services also will be televised on cable channel 6.

Textile mill plans progressing

Maggie Compton, who is spearheading efforts to obtain a textile mill for Mitchell County, said Thursday plans are still progressing.

"I feel real encouraged at this point and time," she said. "I'm real hopeful and positive about it."

Local residents donated $5,000 for which a feasibility study was conducted.

"I really appreciate the people's backing in this project," she said.

The proposed mill, which will spin texcellano (a mixture of 30 percent wool and 70 percent cotton) will employ about 35 people. She said it is anticipated that local cotton will be used for the mill.

She has met with officials with the Texas Department of Agriculture and the Texas Department of Commerce about the project.

RULING

though all rules may not be fair, children need to learn to live with them.

"In the formative years of their lives, children need rules of conduct," said Rees, and cited a similar court case which ruled that "living by rules...is the lot of children."

Testimony was heard Thursday from Lara's high school math teacher, Connie Huddleston; ISS teachers Mark Merrell and Jerold Epperson; high school principal Jerry Reynolds; and Supt. Dr. Jim Ramsey, all called by the defense counsel.

Huddleston testified she sends daily assignments to Lara and that at first, his grades improved some, but that for the last two weeks, he has failed to turn in much of the work assigned to him.

She said that at Lara's and his mother's request, she went to ISS and personally instructed him for about 20 minutes one day.

Merrell, who helped develop the ISS program for the school system, showed a video tape of the ISS room at the Wallace Community Education Center and the study booths that students are assigned to when in ISS.

Merrell is one of three certified teachers who administer the ISS program, and he and Epperson described the setting and the manner in which the program is conducted. Epperson told how students are allowed to stand up and stretch and to get reference materials when needed. He also said that students are allowed to drink from water fountains and have never been forced to drink from a sink that only had hot water.

Reynolds testified that Lara has a history of hair code violations and that until this year, Lara would perm or hot-curl his hair to conform with the hair code.

Reynolds said that even when Lara conforms to the hair code, he will have additional days in ISS because of other rule infractions incurred in ISS such as tardiness and for not turning in his work.

Epperson testified that when Lara was first placed in ISS, he was a good student and turned in his work on time. However, he said Lara has failed to turn in his work this second time.

Epperson also said he's helped Lara with his assignments.

"I've helped Mike every time he's asked, except once when he asked me to help read music for band," said Epperson, adding that he is unfamiliar with music.

Ramsey, who did his doctoral thesis on discipline, said it is the function of schools to teach rules to children and said it is necessary for students to have rules and regulations.

Called to testify Wednesday by the plaintiff's attorney were Lara, high school teachers Kitten Arthur and Carl Moore, Big Spring psychologist Dr. Ross Wayne Bonner and Lara's father, Tanis.

Lara testified that before he filed his lawsuit, he was restricted during his suspension to drinking water out of a sink that has two hot water faucets. Lara also said he forced to sit facing a wall for about seven hours a day while he works on class assignments.

Lara said if he lays his head down during suspension he is threatened with licks or more days of suspension.

Lara also testified that when he has requested help with algebra problems during suspension, teachers worked out the problems but didn't explain how to solve the equations.

Lara said he wears his hair long because, "it's a matter of personal style."

The two psychologists presented differing views on the ISS program and hair-length. Bonner said hairstyles should be left to the individual while Hedrick said it is important for young people to learn to follow rules and said that a hair code, although not absolutely necessary, is part of the educational process and is appropriate.

Acteens honor special ladies

The Acteens from Oak Street Baptist Church hosted a "Flowers in the Garden of Life" banquet on Nov. 4 in the church gym for some very special ladies in the church. These are ladies who add so much to the church but sometimes get overlooked.

Each lady honored was given to a family in the church and they became her "date" for the evening. They picked her up and gave her a corsage made by the Acteens. Once at the church they walked up a candle-lit walkway to be greeted by hostess Tracy Henderson. They then went past the silk flower garden to the "front porch" where Christy Easley took each lady's picture while she sat on the front porch swing. The pictures were then given to Renee Lindsey who glued them to a book about that lady.

The books were made by the girls who had called each lady and interviewed her to find out some little known facts about her. The books were read later in the banquet and presented to each one.

The ladies and their dates were then served tea, coffee and water by Christi Miller, Jami Ward and Amy Ward (Kelly Garrett was unable to attend). All the girls helped serve the salad, ham, corn, peas, cranberry sauce and rolls. The cakes for dessert were made by the girls.

There were about 75 people in attendance that night. Country gardens provided the silk flowers for the garden and the centerpieces and for the corsages.

Danita Roe made the rolls and helped in the kitchen. Of all the 28 ladies honored that night, together they have 92 children, 195 grandchildren, 92 great-grandchildren and three great-great-grandchildren. They have all together 511 years membership at Oak Street Baptist Church.

Others present were Mamie Lou New, Marian Craddock, Fannie Fay Feaster, Mary Ellis, Lonie Pruitt, Frances Cooper and Frances Godwin.

Sometimes in life there is a time when words can not express how you feel. That time has arrived in my life. My heart is broken and still I feel so blessed.

There are not enough words in the English language to express our heartfelt gratitude that has been shown us the past five months. It has made a heartbreaking situation bearable by friends and loved ones. I know now that God is with us by the wonderful people that do His work for Him here on earth.

So thank you for all your prayers, visits, flowers, and food.

I thank God for our hospital, doctors and nurses in Colorado City. And especially to Dr. Terry who has been our stand-by for many, many years.

God loves you and we do, too.

Christmas parade set

The annual Christmas parade, sponsored by the Colorado City Area Chamber of Commerce, has been scheduled for Saturday, Dec. 2, at 11 a.m.

The parade will start at the First Baptist Church parking lot on Chestnut street. The parade route will be west on Second Street and will end at the courthouse on Oak Street.

Entries will be divided into two categories — children/individual and organizational/commercial/churches.

Prizes in the children/individual category are $25 for first, $15 for second and $10 for third. Age limit is 3-12 years of age and the contestant cannot be a participant on an organizational or commercial float. Individual contestants may use props such as bicycle, tricycle, mini-bike, horse, pony, etc.

The best two commercial entries will each receive a trophy. Prizes for the best organizational/church float are $100 for first, $75 for second and $50 for third. All floats must be oriented to the theme of the parade, "Toys on Parade". Adult/child ratio should be at 4-1 for children under 12.

Chairman of the Christmas parade committee is Raymond Webb. Other committee members are Kit Lovell, Joy Morris, Gary Parker, Earl Plagens and Sheila Plagens.

Health care surtax reform is studied

WASHINGTON—U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has urged Congress to repeal or totally reform the Catastrophic Health Care surtax which will cost Texas senior citizens $127 million next year and over $2 billion by the end of the decade.

"Congress' extraordinary inability to admit its mistakes, coupled with its massive reluctance to correct them, occasionally leaves the American people to suffer," Gramm said. "Such is the case with the catastrophic care law."

Under the law, the average, taxpaying senior citizen in Texas will owe $250 more when they file their income tax returns by April 15, a recent study by Gramm's legislative staff showed.

"By the end 2000, a full 50 percent of the projected 1.4 million taxpaying senior citizens in Texas will pay an average mandatory government program, the study revealed. The total cost to Texas senior citizens from 1990 through 2000 will be $2.4 billion."

Gramm was one of only 11 senators who opposed final passage of the surtax. "As I said then, 'The burden is going to be placed on basically middle and upper income senior citizens, people who have worked all their lives to be secure in their retirement, and they are going to have catastrophic costs whether they get any catastrophic benefits or not,'" Gramm noted.

"Millions of senior citizens, both in Texas and across America, will be forced to pay a surtax they can't afford for benefits that many will never receive," he added. "This is outrageous, immediate repeal or top-to-bottom reform of this bad law," Gramm said.

Breast cancer unit receives certification

The Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit of Odessa, which services Colorado City, received the certification of the American College of Radiology Mammography Accreditation Program.

Mammography is an x-ray examination of the breast, which the American Cancer Society and other medical experts see as the best means for the early detection of breast cancer.

The program is voluntary and is designed to insure that women receive optimum quality mammographic examinations. The process is done through a peer review evaluation of the facility's staff qualifications, equipment, quality control and quality assurance programs, image quality, and breast dose. The accreditation must be renewed every three years.

The accreditation program was instituted because of the concerns of radiologists, other national medical organizations, and the public that qualified personnel perform and interpret mammograms and that dedicated mammographic equipment be used. The American College of Radiology received an American Cancer Society Control Grant which was used to pilot test the Accreditation Program.

Breast cancer will strike one in 10 American women. The American Cancer Society predicts that about 41,000 women will die of breast cancer this year. As there is no way to prevent the disease, early detection and treatment offer the greatest hope for survival.

The American Cancer Society recommends that women do monthly breast self-exams and have regular physical breast exams by a doctor. It further recommends mammography on the following schedule:

A baseline mammogram (for reference) between age 35 and 39.

A mammogram every one or two years between age 40 and 49.

An annual mammogram from age 50.

The Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be in Colorado City on Tuesday, Nov. 30. You may call 728-3431 Ext. 222 for an appointment.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

QUESTION: How many 'phone calls have been answered by the Colorado City Police Department so far this year? 1,200? 12,000? 21,136? (Answer at end of this column)

If you followed the Colorado High Wolves out of town this season, you probably noticed no school on the schedule had a stadium to compare with Wolf Stadium. Best of all, our facility is kept looking good. JAMES OWEN and his crew, LEWIS MOLINA, TROY DON GRIMES and BEN CLOUD, put in long hours keeping the field and the stadium in tiptop condition. Programs, paper cups and other debris have to be picked up after each game. And the West Texas wind plasters lots of other rubbish up against the fence. It all has to be picked up and James and his helpers get it done. (They even vacuum the dirt off the lower level concrete walkway). Thanks, fellas! Score another plus for Colorado City!

And, let's hear it for the LIONESSE CLUB...they sponsor the quarterly blood drive and Madam President CONNIE SIMPSON and lady Lion helper LINDA HEARIN do a good job. About 45 Mitchell County residents respond to each blood drive...70 has been the biggest turnout so far...and the Lionesses hope to one of these days crack the "75" barrier.

Visitors are always welcome at meetings of the Colorado City Council. And this past Tuesday evening, two WTC students were in attendance. LISA PUTMAN and GEORGE LARA kept notes to file a report for their government class. Among some of the choice tidbits they picked up: It costs the city $5,192.81 per month to provide street lights for local citizens.

A STRONG HANDSHAKE! Did you know "80" JOHN WALLACE bought his first 640 acres of land in Mitchell County and the deal was sealed with a handshake? When Judge R.H. LOONEY sold Wallace the land (for $2 an acre) the two men trusted each other and the agreement was finalized by shaking hands.

That was in January of 1885, so the Wallace Ranch has actually been in the same family for 104 years; however, it wasn't until 1889 a deed was drawn up on the land, so this past Thursday in Austin, the Wallace heirs were recognized by the state for having the property in the same family for 100 years.

A round of applause, please, for the one and only...the amazing, the unbelievable TOM GOSS. Tom, you'll recall, was in a serious traffic accident a couple of years ago. But through the tortuous months of recuperation, he has learned to walk again, first with the aid of parallel bars, then a walker and cane and now...unaided. It's good to see ol' Tom up and around again. He's probably good for another 76 years.

Answer to the question: 21,136 telephone calls have been received at police headquarters through Oct. 31 at the Colorado City Police Department.

Lady Wolves lose opener

The Lady Wolves opened up the regular season last Tuesday against Forsan in "The Pit", but lost in overtime after a round-about game 46-45.

The Ladies started out slow, falling behind 11-3 after the first quarter of play. But they rallied back and were only down 18-17 at the half.

In the third quarter, the Ladies' exploded for 15 points compared to just 7 for Forsan.

Forsan came back with 15 points of their own in the fourth quarter and tied the score at 40 all at the end of regulation.

The Wolves were ahead 45-44 when a Forsan guard was left open at the baseline and she hit the game-winning shot at the buzzer.

Leading the way for the Wolves were Brittany Bridgord who had 14 points, and Tracy Hoover who added 10.

Also scoring were Cami Redwine 9, Amy Chitsey 6, Angie Piccola 3, and Rosemary Rosas 2. Melissa Rivera also added one point and four assists. Chitsey dished out three assists.

In the preceding JV game, Angela Biggers 13 points weren't enough to hold the Wolves up as they fell 54-35 to Forsan's JV.

Four players fouled out for the Wolves in this their first outing of the season.

Scorers for the JV were Bea Rivera 10, Jackie Smith 2, Windy Bradbury 2, Sheila Cates 2, Sylvia Melendez 2, and Lisa Martinez 2.

The Varsity Wolves next game was played last night against Stanton, but results will not be posted until Thursdays' addition due to deadlines.

CMS teams win, lose, tie at Greenwood

The CMS girls basketball teams opened their season last Monday in Greenwood and came away with a combined record of 2-1-1.

The eighth grade "A" team came away with a 43-24 victory led by the scoring of Jennifer Omelas, Veronica Moreno and Maggie Espinoza who had 9, 8, and 8 points respectively.

Stephanie Minyard, Kimberly Cates, and Lori Kay McElvaney had six points each in the eighth grade "B" teams 24-6 win.

Jennette Ceballos had 8 of the 11 wolf points in the seventh grade "A" teams loss. Greenwood came away with the victory 36-11.

The seventh grade "B" team tied with Greenwood 10-10. Kamie Lamb had eight of the Wolves ten points.

The next test for the girls will come in the form of Forsan, who will be in town on Monday the 27th.

BAGS A BIG ONE - Joey Wright of Colorado City shows the eight-point white-tailed buck he killed Thursday morning near Champion Lake. The deer weighed 148 pounds field dressed.

10-POINT BUCK - Don Denson of Colorado City shows the 10-point white-tailed buck he killed Thursday morning 16 miles southwest of town on the Rob Holman place.

Lady Wildcats lose opener

The Westbrook Lady Wildcats traveled to Midland Christian last Tuesday hoping to start the season off with a roar.

But Midland would have none of that as they defeated the Wildcats 37-33.

Sherry Putman led the way for the Wildcats with 10 points in the tight contest. Jeran Ware added 6 while Shanna Burnett and Angie Morris threw in five each for the cause.

Stephanie Matlock brought down 16 rebounds for the Cats.

The Westbrook jr. high girls have been busy of late, defeating Grady and Ira 26-18 and 26-24 respectively.

In the defeat of Grady, Sheila Hale had ten points to lead all scorers.

Also scoring for Westbrook were Mayola Rincones 6, Tammy Putman 6, Patricia Alanez 2 and Tara Burkhardt 2.

In the Ira game Hale once again led the team with ten points. Rincones and Alaniz added six each while Putman and Burkhardt hit for four each.

Lake level drops as dry spell continues

The continuing lack of rain in the area is taking its toll on Lake Colorado City which is several feet below the full level.

TU Electric's Morgan Creek Plant officials who keep records of the lake level said the current level is 2061.40. It is full at 2070.03.

Even though the level is lower than it has been in some time, it's not as low as it was in January, 1972 when it was 2057.65. But, it's almost as low as it was in July, 1983 when the level was recorded at 2061.03.

WTC classes canceled

SNYDER - A fire reported shortly before noon Friday in the Western Texas College dormitory complex caused extensive damage to one room on the third floor of the west wing and prompted college officials to cancel classes on the Snyder campus next week.

Classes at the WTC extension centers will be on regular schedule.

Investigation into the cause of the fire was continuing Friday afternoon.

There are 189 students housed in the dormitory. Many students had left the dormitory to eat lunch or for the weekend and those remaining were evacuated quickly with no injuries.

Smoke and water damage to other rooms had been not been determined early Friday afternoon.

Offices at the college will be open Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 20-22, on regular schedule. However, offices will close at 3 p.m. Wednesday for the Thanksgiving holidays.

Classes will resume Monday, Nov. 27.

Grand jury returns six indictments

A Mitchell County grand jury Friday afternoon returned six indictments, four of which were sealed.

The two indictments not sealed were against Donald Gene Dearing and Silvero Guerra, both for driving while intoxicated.
