GERMANS CLAIM ENGLISH ATTACK REPULSED BUT ADMIT GAINS BY FRENCH

By Associated Press:

Berlin, Sept. 27.—(Flash) The German war office announced today that the new offensive movement in the neighborhood of Lille, northern France had been brought to a standstill by fierce German counter attacks. The British attacks in other sections also are said to have broken down with very heavy losses to the attacking forces. The war office concedes, however, that the French offensive has made further progress in Rheims and the Argonne.

BULGARIA HAS ISSUED ULTIMATUM TO SERBIA

By Associated Press:

Berlin, Sept. 27.—(Bulletin) A dispatch from Sofia given out by the Overseas News Agency says it is rumored that Bulgaria has sent an ultimatum to Serbia and that the diplomatic representatives of the entente powers in Bulgaria are preparing to depart. The dispatch adds that this rumor has not been confirmed.

BIGGEST SUCCESS FOR ALLIES SINCE THE MARNE

20,000 PRISONERS AND 30 GUNS ARE CAPTURED

French Make Additional Breeches In the German Line—Allies Advance is General.

By Associated Press

London, Sept. 27.—In two days the French and British have gained greater results than in the preceding twelve months of fighting since the battle of the Marne. With upwards of 20,000 German prisoners in their hands and with something like 30 guns not counting machine guns and with a formidable breach in the enemy line the allies apparently have their long expected offensive movement well under way. Their advance has been general and its effect is emphasized by the fact that on the eastern front a substantial gain for the Russians is recorded.

Petrograd states that the army of General Ivanoff has won a striking victory over the Germans and Austrians in the southeastern theatre, where 1,000 prisoners are said to have been taken.

The Belgiums also are taking a part in the new offensive movement. Their official announcement reports the capture of a German post on the right bank of the Yser with the consequent evacuation by the Germans of adjoining trenches.

It is believed in London that the new move in the west will again bring the Germans face to face with the necessity of making a choice between the two fronts, as was the case earlier in the war. Military writers point out that the Russians are now holding the Austrians and Germans on a front of 700 miles while the presence of nearly 2,000,000 strongly entrenched Germans has failed to prevent an advance in France. This, they say, must increase the perplexities of the German's general staff and react immediately on any plan which has been formed for new attacks in the south or southeast.

The tremendous struggle on the battle front in the west inaugurated Saturday with the new offensive movement by the allies has resulted in further successes for their arms.

Paris reports that an additional German position has been captured in the Champagne districts, where in their initial drive the French penetrated the German line along a front of fifty miles.

On the eastern front the Russians seem to be holding their own at most points and doing even better in some sections. Their resistance around Dvinsk is apparently stronger while they are battling desperately with the Germans near Vileika and Smorgon. Petrograd reports new successes east of Nove Grodek and north of Pinsk with the taking of several hundred prisoners and machine guns.

On the west the French, who have the most important gain to their credit, made their chief onset around Parthes, Beausejour and Suippes in Champagne, where in December they made a considerable gain of ground. Saturday's attack, however, backed by a tremendous artillery fire, gave them possession of more territory than they had retaken from the Germans since the latter dug themselves in after the battle of Marne.

According to the French account, the Germans were driven out of their trenches over a front of fifteen miles varying in depth from two-thirds of mile to two and a half miles. The French, in this engagement, captured 12,000 prisoners. Apparently the advantage is being pressed still further, as the French communication makes only the briefest mention of the operations.

The importance of this gain lies in the fact that every yard of ground taken in this region weakens the German position around Verdun, from which the Germans might be compelled to retire should the French succeed in making any further advance.

The French also have regained Souchez and trenches east of the "labyrinth" in the Arras district, which was the scene of much heavy fighting earlier in the year. There the Germans had built what they considered almost impregnable fortifications.

This attack was made in co-operation with the British, who attacked on either side of La Bassee Canal. The attack south of the canal was, Field Marshal Sir John French reports, a complete success. Trenches five miles in length and about 4,000 yards in depth were taken at this point.

This push forward gives the British possession of the road from Lens to LaBassee, which was used by the Germans for moving troops and supplies north and south and threatens to outflank the German troops which hold the town of Lens.

Hill No. 7, one of the positions taken on the road, is less than a mile directly north of Lens, while Hulloch, which also fell into the hands of the British, is at the end of the road near LaBassee. It is only twelve miles from Hulloch to Lille, the capital of northern France.

The sinking of one British warship and the damaging of two others in the British attack on the Belgian coast in connection with the new allied offensive is claimed in the German official report as received by wire from Berlin today. Allied airmen have bombarded Bruges, Belgium, apparently putting the city's gas works out of commission.

BRITISH WARSHIP REPORTED SUNK.

Berlin, Sept. 27, via wireless to Tuckertown, N. J.—One British warship was sunk and two others were damaged in the attack by a British squadron on German batteries along the Belgium coast, especially at Zee Brugge, simultaneously with the launching of the allied new offensive movement on land, according to the German official statement of September 26. After these losses the British ships withdrew.

Tearful Scenes As Rescuers Bring Bodies To Surface In Subway Disaster

GENERAL VIEW OF DISASTER and FIREMEN TAKING VICTIM FROM EXCAVATION

For hours after the disaster firemen and police reserves from every station in New York sought bodies of victims who were caught when the entire construction work of the new subway in Seventh avenue, between 24th and 25th streets collapsed, following the premature explosion of a large blast of dynamite. The entire block caved in, and a trolley car crowded with people on their way to work was dropped into the chasm formed by the collapse of the shoring of the street.

All along the block between 24th and 25th streets the fronts of the buildings collapsed and fell into the cave in. To add to the terrors of the disaster a fire started underground where the car plunged through the street, and two alarms of fire summoned the apparatus. The work of rescue was promptly begun and scores of policemen rushed to the scene. The trolley car that fell through is said to have contained at least fifty passengers, mostly shop girls on their way to work. A cordon of police was thrown around the entire scene and more were hurried there to keep back the enormous crowds on their way to work.

Another cave in Saturday night—this time on Broadway—resulted in the death of one person and the injury of several others. No explosion preceded Saturday night's accident. A street car heavily loaded was stopped by the motorman just in the nic o' time.

This information was given to Ambassador Penfield when he informally advised Austrian officials that the United States sought the recall of Dr. Dumba and would not be satisfied with his departure on leave of absence. Mr. Penfield was assured that the wishes of the United States would be complied with and that a formal note on the subject would be handed to him soon. Officials here refused to comment on the situation.

CHANGE IN GAME LAW WILLL BE RECOMMENDED

By Associated Press.

Austin, Texas, Sept. 27.—An amendment to the state game law is to be recommended to the Thirty-Fourth legislature in the event it is called by the governor in a special session this winter, by Will W. Wood, game, fish and oyster commissioner, which will have the effect of harmonizing the dove and quail open seasons. Commissioner Wood declares he has received hundreds of letters and petitions from hunters over the State, asking that such change be made. The dove season opens September 1, while the quail season does not open until October 15. Complaints have been made that the hunters, while hunting doves, are not neglecting the "potting" of a few quail. It is pointed out that such changes would facilitate the enforcement of the game law.

By Associated Press.

Another bandit from this party was captured today by deputy sheriffs. The list found on the leader of the bandits who was the first man killed in the fight indicated that there are ten others in the band in addition to five accounted for as dead or captured. Pecos officers have the names. These they were searching for today. Previous reports said Mrs. Maria Agraz, Mexican cook for Mr. McAllen fought with him, but today it was learned that she spent her time praying during the fight.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Official confirmation of the story of how Yaquis derailed a train between Hermosillo and Guaymas and burned sixty persons in a car of hay was received today by the state department. No foreigners were reported killed. There is no telegraphic communication between Guaymas and the Yaqui Valley.

ORIGINAL AGREEMENT FOR PERMANENT COURT HOUSE

By Acceptance of Present Site County Appears Bound to Maintain the Court House There.

That Wichita county could not erect a court house on a site other than the present one is indicated by an examination of the records dealing with the donating of the block to the county. The question arose following the interview with County Commissioner McCelskey, published in The Times of Sunday, in which he said that the present site must be used.

There is no deed on record of the court house block, which was given by R. E. Montgomery. There is recorded, however, a bond for title, for $50,000, setting forth that Mr. Montgomery had agreed to deed the block to the county "condition on said county's building thereon its permanent court house and jail to cots not less than $150,000." The commissioners' court minutes tell of the agreement with Mr. Montgomery to use block 149 instead of block 175, which is bounded by Indiana, Scott, Eighth and Ninth streets, but the minutes do not give the terms of the agreement.

The petition is said to be meeting little opposition, numerous signatures both inside and outside of town being affixed. The matter will come up at the commissioners' court meeting early in October. J. T. Young who is circulating the petition after securing more than 100 signatures here this morning went up to Electra with it this afternoon. The petition now has about 800 signatures. Only qualified, property tax paying voters are being asked to sign.

The front wheel of the automobile is said to have struck Haley who fell with his machine. His leg was broken just above the ankle. He was taken to the Amason-Hargrave Hospital where he was reported resting well today, though he suffered considerable last night. Mr. Neblett's car, a Hupmobile, was purchased by him only a few days ago.

JUDGE FRY ON TRIAL AGAIN

FORMER YOUNG COUNTY OFFICIAL PLACED ON TRIAL HERE ON FORGERY CHARGE.

MOTION OVERRULED

Defense Loses on Motion to Quash—And Selection of Jury Begun This Afternoon.

E. W. Fry, former county judge of Young county, is again on trial on a charge of forgery. The case was called at 1:30 this afternoon in the 78th district court and after a motion to quash the indictment had been overruled, the selection of a jury began.

In a former trial on the same charge the jury was unable to agree, standing seven to five for acquittal. The indictment, which is the first of a batch of 49 charges Judge Fry with forging the name of J. M. Watson as the indorsement on a check issued by the county treasurer for $14[illegible]50.

More than 100 residents of Young county are here as witnesses and spectators at the trial.

The motion to quash the indictment was presented by R. E. Taylor of Henrietta, of counsel for the defense. He alleged that the bank named in the indictment was the "Graham National Bank, county depository," whereas the corporate name of the bank upon which the check was drawn was the "Graham National Bank of Graham, Texas." Judge Taylor cited a similar situation in another forgery case, as a precedent. Judge Nicholson overruled the motion. The counsel in the case is the same as in the former trial. District Attorney Humphrey, P. A. Martin and John C. Kay for the state, Judge Edgar Scurry and Judge R. E. Taylor for the defendant.

When the jury was called, quite a number presented excuses, and it was necessary to summon a score of additional talesmen. Selection of a jury was in progress at 3 o'clock this afternoon with indications that the panel would be completed this afternoon.

The forgery charges against Judge Fry have attracted wide attention, first by reason of the popularity and prominence of the defendant, he having been county judge three terms and then elected to the legislature, and again by reason of the tragedy at Graham of which it was the direct cause. This tragedy resulted in the death of Deputy Sheriff G. T. Cherryholmes and Pat Carlton last February, soon after Judge Fry was indicated. Judge Fry, Pete Fry, J. B. Lischke and R. M. Todd were indicated for murder in connection with the death of Cherryholmes, who, with Riley Dollins was guarding the Young county court house. The trial was held in this city last April, resulting in acquittal of all four defendants.

The Missouri, Kansas & Texas Railroad as it exists today is a combination of several roads originally independent with headquarters in this city. A. B. FLANNERY OF DALLAS NAMED MASTER IN CHANCERY, Dallas, Tex., Sept. 27.—Charles E. Schaff, president of the M. K. & T. railway system, was appointed receiver for the M. K. & T. railroads of Texas by Judge R. Meek in the federal district court here this afternoon. The receivership suit was filed by attorneys on behalf of D. B. Hussey, who styled himself a general creditor of the company acting for himself and others. The legal proceedings were styled, a bill of complaint" by the petitioner who stated it is his information and belief that the defendant company has failed to meet interest of payment due.

Hussey alleges the company has been operating on a deficit for several months. That the deficit for twelve months ending June 30, 1915, was $900,000 and that the road's deficit for July, 1915, was $180,000.

The M. K. & T. of Texas through its general attorney C. C. Huff, acknowledged the petition's allegations in court and joined with Hussey's lawyers for speedy action.

Judge Meek, late today appointed A. B. Flannery of Dallas as master in chancery of the Texas line of the M. K. & T.

AUSTRIA CLAIMS THAT HER OWN ACTS DON'T COUNT

Amsterdam, Sept. 27.—The Austro-Hungarian government, according to an official telegram received here from Vienna, has, in reply to the American note of August 12 relative to the manufacture of ammunition in the United States, reiterated the position taken in its protest of June 29.

The reply affirms that Austria-Hungary never intended to imply that it expected Washington would forbid American citizens to do a normal traffic in war material with the enemies of the dual monarchy, but solely protested against the economic life of the United States being made subservient to the production of war material on the greatest possible scale, whereby the United States became militarized. The note proceeds:

"According to paragraphs 2 and 3 of the preamble of The Hague convention, No. 13 of 1907, and supplemented by the general principles of neutrality, the Austro-Hungarian government considers the concentration of so much American energy on one aim, namely, the delivery of war material, whereby, although not intentional, but in fact effective support is rendered one of the belligerent parties is a fair nouveau (departure) which confutes the reference of the United States to supposed precedents.

"The dual government is further of the opinion that the excessive export of war material is not admissible even if it exported to countries of both belligerent parties. The above mentioned fait nouveau should be sufficient reason for altering the existing practice of the United States in regard to its subservience to neutrality.

"The suggestion of the Austro-Hungarian government on the question of the supply of war materials was intended to prove that it is in the power of the United States to open the way for commerce with the central powers because this possibility has been prevented by the entente powers by measures which even the government of the United States regards as illegal.

"The reference by the United States to the Boer war is less apposite, since at that time England did not prohibit commerce and therefore there was no question of the commercialization of South Africa."

TRANSPORT SUNK BY GERMANS WAS LINER TRANSYLVANIA.

By Associated Press.

New York, Sept. 27.—According to private advices the large British transport reported by wireless from Berlin on September 21st to have been sunk off Crete by a German submarine was the Cunarder, Transylvania. This big liner, a 14,000 ton vessel had been chartered by the British government to carry troops to the Dardanelles. She was built only two years ago.

DALLAS IN LEAD FOR DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION

Widespread Campaign Appears to Be Having Effect in Moulding Sentiment for Texas City.

Dallas, Texas, Sept. 27.—Possibly the most illuminating development thus far in the campaign to bring the Democratic convention to Texas next year is the statement which William F. McCombs, chairman of the national Democratic committee, gave out to the New York press last week. As a part of his statement Chairman McCombs announced that Dallas is the leading candidate for next year's convention.

Another helpful development of the campaign was received this week through Judge William H. Atwell, Republican member of the Texas national Democratic convention committee. Judge Atwell has secured from past grand exalted rulers of the Elks, and other prominent Elks over the country the following statement: "I attended the grand lodge session and the national Elks reunion at Dallas, Texas, in July, 1908 and gladly say that the city handled the crowd splendidly and comfortably. The Dallas folks know how to entertain." Among the prominent Elks signing this certificate are Chester F. Ray, chairman of the Elks reunion in Philadelphia in 1907 and a member of the 1915 Liberty Bell commission.

Comment By Henry A. Melvin.

Henry A. Melvin, associate justice of the supreme court of California, and past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, in attaching his signature jovially states: "Being a rock ribbed Republican I could suggest a much more appropriate place for the national Democratic convention than Dallas, but as the place to which I refer is one which is not visited even by Democrats until their political days are over, probably it would not be adopted by the convention of live ones." L. F. Williams, of the Elks Journal, Detroit, in attaching his signature adds: "The hospitality of Dallas is of the deep, sincere type which can not be simulated." John K. Tener, former governor of Pennsylvania, former member of Congress, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks and president of the National League of Baseball clubs, is another signer of the certificate.

As is generally known, there are 53 committeemen whose votes decide the location of the convention. Of these 32 have written letters indicating that they are strongly inclined toward Texas. Of these 12 had stated outright that they will vote for Dallas. It is worthy of comment that only one, the committeeman for Porto Rico, has declared himself as opposed to Dallas.

There are 28 Democratic governors of the United States; 15 have declared themselves unequivocally for Texas and are acting on the advisory committee to further the success of Texas, seven United States senators are working for Texas. The State Democratic chairmen of 12 States are for Texas. Six justices of State supreme courts have declared themselves for Texas.

Committees Which Are Busy.

The committees which are working to bring the convention to Texas are three: First, an active committee composed of 150; next, an honorary committee composed of 1000 Texans from every section of the State, and third, an advisory committee composed of 10,000 prominent or representative men in other States. The last committee has among its members the governors, senators and other public men referred to, and also men of national prominence and influence, such as Hon. Luke Wright of Tennessee, Irvin S. Cobb, war correspondent and writer; John Burk, treasurer of the United States and other men widely known whose support means a great deal in the campaign.

Some of the results of the campaign have been the indorsing of Dallas for the convention by the commercial clubs of Texas, whose membership aggregates 100,000 business men and the whole souled support of every other influence in Texas.

FOR SOME TIME THOUGHT SOMETHING WRONG

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 10.—"For some time I thought that something was radically wrong with my kidneys and my condition was such that I almost entirely lost my appetite. This caused my system to become run down and in the morning when I would get up, especially since the earlier weather has come on, I had to drag along and practically force myself to do my usual work, which is not at all like me, as I am inclined to be rather energetic and I like to work. I also suffered from loss of sleep and my kidneys were in such shape that I had to get up several times during the night.

"A friend of mine advised me to take Tanlac and it was a happy day for me when I accepted his advicce and secured a bottle. I now sleep like a log, can eat anything that is put on the table, in fact, I hardly seem able to to get enough to eat; my kidneys no longer bother me, and owing to the fact that my system is now beginning to build up I am gaining steadily and have already gained four pounds. I am now on my second bottle of Tanlac and expect to continue taking it from now on."

This was the statement of Mr. J. C. Combs, who lives on R. F. D. No. 6, near Cement City.

Tanlac will continue to be explained at the Palace Drug Store.

Gratitude.

Where many others hurried by,
You smiled, as one whose heart was light,
And caused me to forget that I
Had room within my breast for spite;
Because your eyes were all aglow
With friendly gladness when we met
You made the morning bright, and so
Have left me deeply in your debt.

I know not whither you may fare
Nor what high hopes may urge you on,
But may your paths lead far from care,
Your joys increase from dawn to dawn,
You gave me but a passing glance,
And, smiling, hurried on your way;
That made me better all the day.

MISS MARTIN ENTERTAINS JUST SO CLUB SATURDAY

Saturday afternoon Miss Laura Martin was hostess to a pleasant meeting of the Just So Club. The resumption of fall activities formed the topic for many a pleasant chat between the members the while they busily plied the needle or crochet hook. Refreshments of grape juice and angel food cake were served to the following: Misses Adah Anderson, Florence Barrier, Ruth Downing, Hazel Jones, Lulu Smith, Mrs. Jason Walker and the hostess.

A Pretty Evening Frock For The College Girl

ON SIMPLE LINES

This good looking model is featured in navy broadcloth. The skirt's fullness is obtained by three side plaits on the hips, and its bottom is finished with a strip of navy velvet, as is the coat. A novel demi-belt confines the coat's full front, and velvet buttons are used as trimming.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell.

I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good.

I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together.

My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it."

Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlastingly tired feeling?

If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century.

Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists.

THE ALL-IMPORTANT HOUSE DRESS

New York.—Our modern housewife, be she bride or matron, does not prepare breakfast in a be-ribboned and be-ruffled morning robe, or dinner in a passe afternoon frock. She delights in her trim morning dress, with open throat, short skirt, and sleeves, developed in some fresh material which may be tubbed every Monday morning. Her hair is drawn back daintily and becomingly, and often confined under a cap of the same material as the housedress, to protect the hair from dust or cooking odors.

The Material of the Housedress.

Gingham, chambray and percale are the staple fabrics for these dresses, but someone who desired to simplify matters still further, decided that plain white soiled no quicker than starched gingham or chambray; that soft, white cotton crepe, which washes so easily, requires no ironing, does not wrinkle, and is fresher looking, was more practical, for these dresses than the old time fabrics which require starch and careful laundering.

Of course, many an old time housewife laughed at the idea and considered the very thought of housework in white ridiculous, but many have taken it up and find cotton crepe, whether in pure white, or patterned in color, a most satisfactory and practical material for the workdress.

Popularity of the Smock.

The gardening fad, which took a strong hold upon the fancy of the city dweller and the suburbanite, this summer, was responsible for the introduction of the smock. It has become decidedly popular with housekeepers and promises to find a permanent place in the wardrobe. These smocks are fashioned of dark blue linen, chambray, duck and similar materials, often trimmed with smocking in contrasting thread. They are especially practical to slip on over an afternoon frock when there is some slight task to be performed which might possibly result in a spot or stain on the gown. The woman who delights in regilding a picture frame, or brightening up a piece of furniture, will also find them convenient, as they are generally made up in a somewhat heavier material than the regulation apron, and, therefore, offer more protection.

Bungalow or All Enveloping Aprons.

These large all enveloping aprons play no small part in the housekeeper's scheme of things. Crepe is also being used considerably for these aprons, but gingham still holds first place; this is a garment that requires a bit of crispness to make it look fresh. Percale, striped or patterned in some conventionalized design, is attractive, too, and there are a number of other wash fabrics, thin duck for instance, that are used.

Pockets and Trimmings.

Large, roomy pockets are features of both dresses and aprons. They come in very handy for carrying a dust cloth, a short handled duster or whisk broom, a pair of shears, or some other article to be used at various times during the morning; besides being useful, they break the severity of the dress and render it more becoming.

Buttons are used to trim these dresses, too; but they must be a washable button—bone or crocheted. Pearl buttons, which are not removable, are apt to break when the garment is laundered. The large pearl or bone buttons, however, the shanks of which may be slipped through buttonholed eyelets, secured with a bar, and removed when the frock goes to the tub, are the height of the practical. The skirt, which unbuttons from the belt to hem and may be laid out flat on the ironing board, is another happy notion.

Another way to brighten the house dress without making it fussy is to pipe the neck edge, armholes, cuffs, down the front and around the pockets, with a contrasting bias tape. This comes in linen or cotton in many attractive colorings; also in stripes and checks, and makes most effective trimming for both dresses and aprons also for children's wash dresses. It may be purchased by the piece, comes folded, ready for use, and being bias may be applied readily to armholes and neck edges.

Detachable Sleeves.

With never a thought of the washboard or the flat iron, one of our big dressmakers, in the early spring, designed a dainty tennis costume. This costume had a huge, flaring pocket on one side for tennis balls, and detachable sleeves. That is, the sleves were arranged to button on to a drop shoulder; they could be removed when playing, and buttoned on again when the game was over. It was a pretty notion, and a highly practical one for the tennis girl; it was still more practical for the housewife and she readily adapted it from the frock of serge and satin, with its tight fitting, smart sleves, to her frock of chambray and cotton crepe. Now, instead of rolling back, pinning, wrinkling and generally soiling a fresh dress, she merely removes he rsleeves, proceeds with her work, and when the necessity for freedom of action is past, buttons them on again. The wide pocket, too, is made good use of.

The Pantalette Skirt.

Practical housekeepers are obliged to climb a ladder now and then, to hang pictures, drape a curtain or portiere, or reach a glas sof jam on the very tip top shelf of the cupboard, and then—what a nuisance a fluffy petticoat is. Along comes the efficiency expert and designs—the trouser skirt. Blouse and trousers, which resemble a pair of overalls, are joined together; there is an outside skirt worn in the ordinary way which may be omitted when there is strenuous work to do, and donned when desired. This is, perhaps, one of the most sensible costumes of the year. While it is ideal for the blouse it is quite as good for the out of door girl, who enjoys a mountain climb; excellent for walking, boating and like sports. The idea may be carried out attractively in the dance frock; the pantalettes being fashioned of filmy fabrics to correspond with the frock.

PRACTICAL SUGGESTIONS FIRE PREVENTION DAY

Fire Chief Receives Copy of Governor's Proclamation Suggesting What Should Be Done.

Saturday, October 9 has been designated as "Fire Prevention Day" by Governor Ferguson and Fire Chief McClure today received a copy of the official proclamation. The observance of the day is asked along the following lines:

"It is recommended that all heating apparatus, electrical wiring, chimneys and flues be carefully gone over and placed in safe condition for winter use and all public and private institutions, hotels, asylums, factories and theatres be carefully looked over on that day and all changes effected that will tend to the protection of such buildings and their occupants."

School teachers are urged to cooperate in fire prevention work by urging the importance of precautions, and by inaugurating fire drills. Particular attention is directed by the governor to the following sentence in his proclamation:

"Let no one be deceived into the belief that because, perchance, he does not pay insurance premiums and has not suffered an individual fire loss, he has escaped this tax. In modern business the fire waste tax is a part of the cost of every article of trade and commerce. The significant and interesting feature of the fire loss problem is that 50 per cent of it is 'preventable.'"

Wichita Falls, Texas, Sept. 27, 1915.

Amarillo, Abilene, Vernon and other progressive cities in this section of the state are holding fairs this fall that are attracting thousands of visitors to those towns. Wichita Falls is in a splendid position to establish one of the best fairs in the state. Organization and preparation are needed. The question of a fair generally comes up every spring and summer but at such times it is considered too late to get ready for a fair for the ensuing fall. If organization was started and preparations begun a year in advance, lack of time ought not to cause the effort to be abandoned. If there is thought of a fair next year, it is not too early to organize and get ready for it now.

The Fort Worth Young Men's Business League announces that from this time on it will not allow the organization to be used politically. It's a good resolution to make, and a good one to live up to. About the quickest and easiest way in the world for a business organization to destroy its usefulness is to permit or allow it to be used—even under cover to promote the interests of this or that political faction. It may be that the dissatisfied members will not show their displeasure or resentment at such tactics, but they will just naturally drop out, one at a time, and say nothing of why they withdrew.

It is what some ignorantly call gambling in cotton that's fetching the price up to 12 cents.—Waco Times-Herald.

In our judgment, gambling in futures has not caused the price of cotton to advance. In the first place, there was a reduced acreage. Add to this bad crop conditions which, according to estimates will put the 1915 cotton crop at least five million bales under the 1914 crop and the further fact that the federal government has set aside a large amount of money to be distributed to banks in the cotton states and loaned to cotton farmers at not to exceed 6 per cent ner annum, has cut some figure in advancing the price of cotton. In fact, it looks like the supply is not going to be equal to the demand, and if by the aid extended by the federal government to cotton farmers through the banks the cotton farmers will take advantage of their opportunities, cotton will advance to at least 12 cents per pound during the next sixty days. Gambling in cotton has more often proved a detriment to cotton farmers than it has helped them, so far as advancing the price is concerned.

Editor McCollum is glad that the Federal authority went into Corpus Christi and cleaned up ugly conditions. But Editor McCollum is backing Bob Henry in his contention that the Federal authority ought not to come into Texas and put a stop to the liquor traffice. Strange all this difference should be 'twixt Tweedledum and Tweedledee. —Waco Times-Herald.

As we understand it, there was a ring or gang of politicians at Corpus Christi who kept themselves in office and power by voting Mexicans at $2 per head, most of whom were not citizens of the United States. It was up to those in office and power to see that the State laws were enforced, but when they themselves were the persons who violated the laws and gained office and power by doing so, it could hardly be expected they would prosecute themselves. There was nothing for those who felt they had had their votes "killed" by fraudulent Mexican votes to do except to appeal for protection as American citizens to the federal government. Where it is a rule to vote Mexicans who are not entitled to vote, or negroes or white men, it is to be regretted that our State laws are not enforced. The reason they are not enforced in most instances, is simply for the reason that those in office and in power whose sworn duty it is to enforce the state laws regarding the casting of illegal ballots, have gained their office and authority in that way. That is why the federal authorities "butted in" at Corpus Christi, and no man who really believes in an honest ballot and fair count ought to complain, unless his complaint be that our State laws are not enforced in that respect, and on that account it has been necessary at Corpus Christi for those who believe in an honest election to appeal to federal authority to protect them in their rights.

WHITE SLAVING, DRUGS AND LIQUOR.

The Houston Chronicle of September 19th, published an article written by W. H. Cousins, formerly of this city but now editor of the Southern Pharmaceutical Journal that is a most able defense of the pharmacists against an attack made on that profession by a writer in the Houston Post, which the Times considers well worth reproduction and is as follows:

The craft of pharmacy has toiled and labored long hours to serve the world and to aid the physician in the alleviation of pain and the cure of disease. Pale-faced young men and women have starved through school to master the science of pharmacy and stand the grilling test that is required of those who would prepare and compound the remedial agents that are to restore to health those who are in the clutches of disease. No craft in the world renders more faithful service than the druggist. He is dependable Call him at morning, noon or midnight and his response is swift and sure. No craft shoulders greater knowledge of science than the druggist. Be he located on the city's busy street or in the rural village, he has had to pass the test, and his qualifications must be up to a standard, because in the practice of pharmacy there can be no guesswork—he must know.

The druggist must meet every class of humanity. He sees poverty and disease. He watches with trained eye the nervous movements of the wild-eyed young woman who asks for carbolic. He talks sense, assurance and sympathy to the young man whose movements tell him that he is halting between the gun and the river. He takes the starving beggar and buys him something to eat to keep the poor devil from buying a drink with the money.

We do not believe that in all the world there is a class truer to its calling, its country and its God than the pharmacists of today. Yet, in the face of these facts, the Houston Post permits a man through its columns to slander and defile the good name of as noble a calling as the world ever knew.

In the issue of Saturday morning, August 15, William T. Ellis says:

"The pitiless publicity of our day has revealed whole classes of men and women who seduce the unwary to sin. The entire hideous white slave traffic is made up of such. So is the drug business. So in a great degree is the liquor business."

Our beloved profession, according to Mr. Ellis and the Post, is as bad as the white slave traffic and worse than the liquor traffic. Was William Proctor, Jr., the father of American pharmacy, to whom the druggists of this country have erected a monument, one of the devil's own? Should Joseph P. Remington, our "grand old man," be burned at the stake? Should Eberle and Cline, who have taught Texas boys and girls pharmacy, be executed? Is Adolph Kiesling as bad as a white slave trader and worse than a liquor dealer? What of Burgheim, Leitchworth and scores of other Houston druggists? After the awful Galveston storm, when S. J. Schott opened his great store and bade the people of his wrecked city to take the earnings of his life of all, and pay when they were able, if ever, could you place him in the class in which Mr. Ellis says we belong? Does this kindly old man look like a bartender? Does he resemble the demon who lures girls from home, or does he seem to have some of the traits of the Man of Sorrows who, in Gethsemane, paid the greatest debt that mankind ever owed? When the San Francisco fire left that great city in ruins, when men saw the toil and labor of a lifetime reduced to smoke and ashes, the National Association of Retail Druggists immediately sent $40,000 to the relief of the sufferers. Does this act on the part of the druggists of the United States indicate that we are the spawn of perdition and a disgrace to the mothers who bore us?

How does the statement of Ellis in the Post set with the sons and grandsons of the Alamo, Goliad and San Jacinto? Is this man Ellis a native son? Was he reared to manhood in the light of the Lone Star? We hope not. We regret profoundly that there is within the borders of our great state a man who can find it in his heart to defame a profession that has stood for the highest ideals of life throughout its history. We hate for such a statement as this to go out to the world from a Texan. It is not only a blot on the records of the commonwealth for which Bonham, Bowie, Travis and Crockett died like men, but it is a disgrace and insult to every druggist on this continent. Mr. Ellis' iconoclastic tirade is a part of the Post's Sunday School section. We would marvel at seeing such a statement in the Police Gazette, or hearing it from a bum on a shady corner; but when a great daily mixes it up with the International Sunday School Lesson, we can but exclaim, "What next?"

We of the drug trade must meet poverty and minister to its needs many times without money and without price. During my long experience in the business no sweaty, brine-covered man with a sick wife or child ever asked me for medicine, and said he had no money, who left my store without it. I claim no credit for this, because you can find thousands of my craft in Texas who have done the same thing, and not only in Texas but in every state in the Union.

A notable example of the druggist's charity is the child of a poor family stricken with diphtheria. The antitoxin for this disease is one of the most expensive items known to the trade, but the child must have it or die. How many of us can stand up and tell the poverty-stricken parents that they can't get it without the money, which is equivalent to telling them they can't get it at all? I never had the heart to say "No." I'd rather my own child had less clothing and fewer meals than to say "Your child is nothing to me; I want the money" and in this, I am happy to say, I am only one of thousands who thus interpret the casting of bread on the waters.

Probably in charity we should have turned the other cheek and passed this insult by, but the spirit of the Alamo is in us, and when our honor is attacked we can't keep our gun hand off our hip, although we know Stephen was stoned, Christ was murdered, and that hell hath no terrors like a penny-a-liner who has run out of something to say.

THE "DOWNS AND OUTS"

The enforcement of the misdemeanor laws presents some interesting problems to the city and county officers. Especially are recorders and justices of the peace confronted with problems that bring up a conflict of emotions, between their sense of duty and their sympathy for the unfortunate prisoners. Every day they are called on to pronounce judgment on the chronic offenders—the "down and outs," whose bodies are physical wrecks and whose minds have lost their will power to resist temptation. The average citizen, who does not attend the daily sittings of the recorder and justice courts, can not know the conditions that surround the lives of the derelicts that drift into the official nets, during the twenty-four hours of each day in the year. Consequently, they accept these conditions as a matter of course and go on their way to attend to their own business, giving little thought or concern unless they are called in as witnesses or jurors in the administration of the laws.

This leaves the solution of all problems of enforcement of misdemeanor laws up to the officers. And they will be damned if they do, and be damned if they don't," according to criticism, just or unjust. But this does not relieve the condition nof the "downs and outs" who have become objects of charity, though they continue to be a menace to society by violating the misdemeanor laws. Often times the recorder or justice, in addition to assessing the customary fine, considers he has performed a humane act in sending the defendant to jail, where he can receive both food and medical attention that his weak physical condition demands, after a long debauch.

—CONTRIBUTED.

R. E. Wade, who farms in the Cooper school house neighborhood, brought to the Times office today a small vial filled with Mexican bool weevils, which he says are destroying the cotton crop in his community. He thinks the weevils have already destroyed fully one-half his crop, and they are working energetically on what is left. There are others, however, who seem to be of the opinion that the boll weevil is not doing much damage in this county from the fact that they were late in getting here.

Possibly the recent Federal court trials at Corpus Christi were an invasion of state's rights, as some of the breathren aver. But we wonder how long it would have been before the State District court grand jury would have returned an indictment in the cases. The practices complained of in the Federal court have not been uncommon in Nueces county elections for a good many years, judging from the evidence deduced at the recent trial, and the State courts might have taken action long ago had they desired to do so. Local influence is somtimes strong enough to prevent local courts probing matters affecting the influence-wielders. And it is good, we think to see the Federal courts undertake to put a stop to a state of affairs from which the remainder of the state has suffered more or less, but which the remainder of the state was quite powerless to remedy.—Denton Record Chronicle.

CORN LAGGED WITH WHEAT

Oats Held Steady by Smallness of the Offerings—Packers Selling Stopped Provisions Advance.

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Big receipts northwest had a bearish influence today on the wheat market, the opening which ranged from 2 and 3-4 decline to 3-8 to ½ advance with December at 94 3-4 to 95 1-8 and May at 97 to 97 1-4 was followed by something of a rally but later the market showed a loss all around as compared with Saturday night's level. Corn sagged with wheat. At the start, however, the market displayed a little strength as a result of cold weather. After opening unchanged to half higher prices underwent a moderate general setback. Smallness of offering tended to steady oats. The chief things watched by traders was the action of corn. Provisions hardened owing to a limited amount of buying by commission houses, packers selling checked the advance. Wheat closed: Sept. 1.03; Dec. 4; May 96 3-4. COTTON BRINGS ELEVEN AND A HALF CENTS HERE

From eleven and a half to eleven and five-eighths cents was the quotation for middling cotton in the local spot market today, but even at that figure little was offered and practically no cotton is being bought here. Very little new crop cotton, probably less than a score of bales, has come in and there does not seem to be any rush to sell the cotton stored last season and held over.

NEW HIGH RECORDS MADE

October Closes Strong at $11.95 While Later Months Went Still Higher On The Rise.

By Associated Press

New York, Sept. 27.—There was another big advance in the cotton market at the opening here today on a renewal of active general buying and aggressive bull support. Firmness in Liverpool the strong showing of the stock market, bullish southern spot advices and reiterated predictions of very slow condition figures seemed to stimulate the demand and after opening at an advance of 16 to 20 points the active month sold at 20 to 40 points net higher with October contracts touching $11.78; December $12.18 and January $12.31 and with all months making new high records for the season.

Cotton closed strong at a net advance of 41 to 51 points. October, $11.95; Dec. $12.36; Jan. $12.51; March at $12.80 and May 12.91.

WEST INDIAN HURRICANE BARELY MISSED JAMAICA

Now Advancing Toward West End of Cuba—Uncertain Whether It Will Strike the Gulf Coast.

By Associated Press.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—The West Indian hurricane sweeping northward through the Carribean Sea narrowly missed Jamaica and apparently is advancing towards the extreme western end of Cuba and the Yucatan channel. Whether it will continue northward and reach the gulf coast the weather bureau officials are unable to say.

MOUNTAIN ARTILLERY MAY BE USED ON BORDER

Pointed Out That Such Artillery Could Sweep the Mexican Side Without Necessity of Crossing.

By Associated Press.

Brownsville, Texas, Sept. 27.—Instead of crossing the Rio Grande in pursuit of Mexicans who invade openly as occurrerd last week, it was suggested here today that the use of mountain artillery may stop these attacks. Apparently the use of these guns would not involve the danger of hostilities with Mexico, such as is threatened by pursuit across the border, because the territory which these cannon would sweep has been declared officially free of the presence of any Carranza troops. Under the wording of orders issued by General Nafarrate Carranza commander of this section of the Mexican side of the Rio Grande for several miles back from the river front except at Matamoras and other river towns is no-man's-zone. The order was intended, Nafarrate said, to keep his troops so far from the river that they could not fight with the American soldiers. At the same time this order was equivalent to a public notification to all bad men of both sides of the line, such as smugglers, bandits and fugitives. It is believed that a few shells from a mounted gun dropped into the trenches at the Progreso crossing would stop the operations of such organized covering party as protected the fleeng bandits from capture by American troops after last Friday's Mexican raid. The army in this section has at present no mounted artillery.

Continued killing of American soldiers has produced a bitter feeling among American enlisted men. As the body of Private Henry Stubble, field of Big Stone Gap, Va., was carried to the train here yesterday afternoon the soldiers lined the street here, many of them in tears.

MUST KNOW DESTINATION OF ARMS SHIPMENTS

Some Consignments to Mexico Stopped To Prevent Supplies Going to the Mexican Bandits.

By Associated Press.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Orders have been issued to all American officers on the Mexican border to seize all shipments of ammunition when the destination is not definitely known. No embargo is being laid on commercial shipments of war munitions to the principle factions but it is the purpose of the government to prevent war supplies reaching bandit hands and raiders operating independently. One shipment is being held up at Laredo until its owner can be determined.

All In Readiness For Forty-Ninth Encampment Of Veterans Of G. A. R.

UPPER, G.A.R. NAVAL VETERAN. LOWER, MEETING OF G.A.R. VETERANS

Final arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the Grand Army veterans at their forty-ninth annual encampment, in Washington, during the week of September 27th have now been completed. To correct any impression which might be gained by the association of ideas, it should be stated that the encampment is not to be a tented affair. The reunion will not be held under canvas, as has been the case with these affairs in many cities. Instead the Washington citizens' committee has provided for the use of the veterans a building adequately adapted for the purposes of the encampment and having, with the exception of the capitol itself, the largest ground floor space of any structure in the city. This building is the one in which the last census was compiled and stands on First street, adjoining the capitol plaza. The main floor is divided into two mammoth auditoriums, in one of which the big reception on Tuesday night and the regular business session of the encampment will be held. The other has been set aside for campfires and thedog watch of the naval veterans. On the floor above there is a row of twenty or more rooms wherein the various corps and departments will have their individual headquarters throughout the reunion. A feature of the arrangements never heretofore provided will be a branch postoffice established in the encampment building to which will be assigned by the postmaster of Washington a force of clerks who will handle all incoming and outgoing mail for the veterans, and all hospital and other appointments and equipments necessary for the comfort and convenience of the old soldiers have been installed in the building.

SCHOOL TEACHER ASKS DAMAGES FROM TRUSTEES

Officials of McKee District Defendants In $17,500 Damage Suit Filed by R. A. Logan.

(Henrietta Independent)

R. A. Logan of Young county, through his attorneys, Arnold and Taylor has filed suit in district court against J. P. Adair, J. N. Edwards and W. H. Forrest, who were in 1914 the trustees of the McKee school district in Clay county, in which he asks for $10,0... actual and $7,500 exemplary damages.

Mr. Logan as set out in his petition was employed by these trustees to teach the 1914-15 term of the McKee school, but after he had taught between two and three months they discharged him. The reason assigned for his discharge was that he had written an indecent letter to one of his young lady pupils. The letter is not among the papers filed, but it appears that the defendants have stated that the nature of it was to suggest a meeting with the young lady at a place where it would have been improper for her to meet him.

When the trouble first arose, it was taken up before the trustees, and the petition alleges that they had a hearing with County Superintendent Carter, which resulted in an agreement to let Mr. Logan teach two weeks longer and if nothing further unsatisfactory developed he was to go on with the school, but before the two weeks were out the trustees served notice on him to quit, which he did. He then took the matter up again with the county superintendent who sustained the action of the trustees. Prof. Logan then appealed to the county board of education who affirmed the action of the county superintendent in sustaining the action of the trustees in dismissing him. Appeal was then taken to the state superintendent, who reversed the action of the county school board and directed that Prof. Logan be reinstated as the teacher of the school. The trustees in turn appealed to the state board of education, and upon a hearing of the matter the action of the state superintendent was affirmed. This being the highest court for such matters, Prof. Logan's right to teach the school according to his contract was established, but the trustees never gave him the school back.

The basis of the large damages asked in the suit is statements alleged to have been made by the trustees after the decision of the state board of education that Prof. Logan was not guilty of anything wrong in writing the alleged letter, and he sets out in his petition that the trustees knew thhat the statements circulated by them about him and about the contents of the letter were false.

SWEDEN MAINTAINS RIGHT TO TRADE

DISPUTE WITH ENGLAND OVER TRADE WITH GERMANY IS FAR FROM SETTLEMENT

VIEWS CONFLICT SHARPLY

England Claims Goods Going Through to Germany—Sweden Admits this But Asserts Right

Stockholm, Sweden.—The English Swedish commission which has for two months been striving to adjust the trade differences between the two countries, is no nearer a satisfactory solution of the dispute than at the beginning of its session. Meanwhile, over twenty-five million dollars worth of supplies for Russia which she urgently needs, have accumulated in Sweden, owing to this country's refusal to allow the transit of goods to Russia until England has modified her demands regulating the amount of Sweden's imports.

The resumption of the meetings of the commission after an adjournment which followed apparently ineffectual attempts to arrive at an understanding, has reawakened fresh interest in the trade question which is for the moment the most widely discussed topic in Sweden. Hope is generally expressed that a compromise will be effected which will result in more friendly relations between England and Sweden. Few are pessimistic enough to believe that the misunderstanding will widen into a more serious breach between the two countries.

Viewpoints Conflict.

The two sharply conflicting points of view which were presented to a correspondent of the Associated Press by Swedish and English members of the commission do not, however, promise any immediate settlement of the dispute, nor do they contain in common to suggest the possibility of compromise. The English members of the commission argue that a large amount of supplies, many of which are directly connected with prolongation of the war find transit through Sweden to Germany. They contend that a conspicuous increase increase in Swedish imports beyond her own needs is evidence that these supplies find a way to Germany and that a great many of them are articles which Germany particularly needs notably meat, coffee, cocoa, cotton, copper and lubricants of various sorts. Being assumed that these are destined for Germany, England claims the right to place such cargoes in the prize courts and is enforcing this right.

It is admitted that these cargoes are vouched for by Swedish merchants as having Swedish consignees as their ultimate destination but it is claimed that through intermediate steps in Sweden they find their way finally into Germany. It is also stated by the English members of the commission that the collusion of the Swedish shippers with Germany has led to the deliberate surrender of ships and cargoes to German vessels and that their capture was part of a prearranged plan. English commissioners admit the right of Sweden to continue the export of her own products to Germany and to import any quantity of goods that it may be reasonably supposed is for Swedish consumption, but argues that this aomunt should not exceed her normal imports. Calling attention to her increase in imports, the English commissioners ask Sweden to guarantee that supplies except for home manufactures will not be sent to Germany or in other words that there shall be no transit of supplies through Sweden to Germany.

TWO WOMEN ARRESTED FOR ROW SUNDAY NIGHT

One Plead Guilty to Disturbing Peace —Other Case Continued For Investigation.

Two married women residing on Scott avenue near the river were in police court this morning, following a neighborhood row last night. One of the women plead guilty to disturbing the peace and was fined five dollars; the case of the other was passed for further investigation. The one who plead guilty, a nice looking young woman with snapping black eyes and other Irish characteristics admitted that she dared the other woman out of the house, saying it was because the other woman had been making remarks about her husband: "The second woman" firmly, if not politely, declined to come out into the street, seeming to prefer the comforts of home. It was brought out in court that there was another row several days ago, in which the two women clashed. The woman who was accused of doing too much talking came off second best. Last night just as the row was ending a youth who was passing that way laughed at the woman who had been doing the daring, she promptly turned on him and advanced, with a few well chosen words, and he executed what is termed in Russian official dispatches as a strategic retirement. Neighbors who were witnesses in police court this morning declared that the young woman had several times shown her ability to take care of herself.

OKLAHOMA SCHOOL BOARD TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES

By Associated Press.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 27.—The state board of education will hold a meeting here today to pass upon the final drafts of contracts with publishers of school books to whom state contracts have been awarded and to transact other business among which is the report of the special committee appointed to investigate certain charges against President Grumbine of the Alva Normal school. This committee made its investigation Saturday.

TEACH YOUR CHILDREN HOW TO DO BUSINESS

The School Banking Department Conducted By The

Wichita State Bank

Is the first step in fundamental principle of sound business. Last year we inaugurated this plan of teaching the school children of Wichita Falls the principles of banking and the value of saving their pennies. Over 700 took advantage of the opportunity, all of whom had bank accounts when school closed, and most of them are still maintained.

By our school banking plan, any pupil can deposit any amount, from a penny up, with the teacher. When $5.00 have been accumulated the teacher will deposit the amount in this bank, and a bank book with the depositors name on it will be issued. Two prizes of $5.00 each will be given at the close of the school year. One to the student having the largest number of deposits, the other to the student having deposited the largest sum of money. In case two or more pupils shall be tied, the prizes will be awarded to the one having the best grade marks.

Will Receive Deposits on Any School Day.

Don't let your children miss this opportunity to learn the first principles of successful business life. Small daily deposits soon become powerful assets for either children or grown up people. By one time saving a dollar a month, Carnegie is now able to spend a million a month.

For full particulars as to our plan have the children enquire of their teacher or come direct to the bank.

At The Theaters

The Gem.

Harry Milliarde, Alice Hollister, Helen Trindoth and Henry Holman are featured in a three part Kalem "The Crooked Path" and a one part picture, "The Treasure Ark" completes the program.

The Empress.

Victor Moore, the inimitable comedian who made "Snobs" one of the most remarkable successes of the screen is again at the Empress in "Chimmie Fadden" that story of the Bowery that has no equal.

The Majestic.

A two part Selig, "The Melody of Doom" is today's headliner at the Majestic, with the program finished by a Hearst-Selig News Pictorial and an Edison comedy, "Poor Baby."

"KREUTZER SONATA" AT THE MAJESTIC TUESDAY

A return engagement of "Kreutzer Sonata" is on schedule for the Majestic Theatre Tuesday, Theda Bara, featured as Celia Friedlander.

Herbert Brennon, the noted producer of "Neptune's Daughter" directs the William Fox screen version of Count Leo Tolstoi's greatest work "Kreutzer Sonata." There is scarcely no other director in the country so well endowed as is Mr. Brennon, for the purpose of making a picturization of this powerful and noted book. Under his skilled hand the somber shadows and the thrilling situations of the work are brought out so masterfully as to make "Kreutzer Sonata" in many respects the greatest picture play ever shown. Mr. Brennon has, naturally, marked decided views on direction. He believes in working himself with the players under his generalship, throwing himself into each part and bringing out every ounce of ability in the members of his company.

"I am a strong believer in the power of suggestion in moving picture directorship" he said in speaking of his views, "A director must infuse himself into each part to bring out the best that is in those he is directing. Otherwise, according to my ideas, there is bound to be a lack of harmony and continuity in the picture he is making.

"In theory at least, there should be no sub-titles to break up the continuous thread of the story, which is relied upon to hold the attention of the spectators. Sub-titles interrupt the narrative and sometimes can ruin the most powerful of plays. A superfluity of sub-titles indicates a lazy director. It means that, in order to save himself the effort of keeping his scenario moving by legitimate means, he resorts to the slip shod method of slapping in a sub-title. There could not be a worse fault."

THAT BULGARIAN MOBILIZATION FOR OFFENSIVE DENIED

London, Sept. 27.—The Bulgarian government this morning officially communicated to the powers a note stating in the most categorical fashion that the mobilization of the Bulgarian army was ordered in the national interest and that it had not the slightest offensive character.

The text of the note is virtually the same as the wording of the semi-official statement issued at Sofia, Sept. 23, which said that "the entry of Bulgaria into a state of armed neutrality is explained by changes which recently occurred in the political situation" and that "Bulgaria has not the slightest aggressive intention, but is firmly resolved to be fully armed to defend her rights and independence."

The official note to the powers also was dispatched from Sofia on Sept. 23, so that it was framed before Greek mobilization had been decided upon. Dr. Ghenadieff, ex-Bulgarian foreign minister, whose inclusion in the Sofia cabinet is reported possible, has been known lately for his pro-entente views and it is believed here that, unless he was certain of the government continuing its good relations with the entente powers, he would not have assured them of his support.

SELECTING JURY TO DETERMINE MYERS SANITY

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 27.—Whether C. A. Myers is sane enough to die on the gallows will be decided by twelve men, the choosing of whom will begin here today in district court. Myers is condemned to die for the death of A. E. Montague, a Texas & Pacific official killed last January, because he had discharged Myers. In August Myers was snatched from the gallows thirty minutes before he was to hang by a higher court decree, granting him this hearing of his sanity.
