ALLRED 2 TO 1 AHEAD OF CALHOUN

VOGEL, LONG, BROWNING AND EICHELBERGER WIN; FRIBERG IN RUN-OFF WITH FILLMORE

A sensational contest between John P. Marrs and T. A. Hicks for the county judgeship was the feature of Saturday's primary in Wichita county, and the complete official count will probably be required to determine the victor.

Early Sunday morning returns from 44 of the county's 45 boxes, including 36 complete, gave Marrs 5,324 to Hicks' 5,242, a difference of only 82. These figures include no returns from box 7, the Kemp Public library.

The same boxes gave Martin 4,497, Somerville 3,016 and Bunnenberg 2,862 in the race for judge of the 89th district court. Judge Martin took an early comfortable lead, but the edge in the race to see which of the younger attorneys would oppose him in the run-off fluctuated again and again through the evening.

Big Vote for Allred, Hunter

Wichita county went emphatically for submission and gave tremendous majorities to its two candidates for state offices, Tom Hunter and James V. Allred, and piled up a substantial plurality for B. D. Sartin, its candidate for congressman at large.

Two veteran precinct officers, Commissioner M. A. Bundy and Justice of the Peace Ran Gwinn had stouter opposition than had been generally expected and it could not be stated with certainty early Sunday that either had won. The figures, with the one box missing and four incomplete were: Bundy 3,417; Cooper, 3,396; Gwinn, 3,430; Lawler, 3,237.

County Constaniner F. R. Knuth of the Burkburnett precinct was re-elected, but Commissioner Kuntz of the Iowa Park precinct will go into the run-off, probably with Hines as his opponent.

In the races where there were more than two entries, Bob Long, seeking re-election to place No. 1 113th legislative district, was the only one who won without a run-off, he getting a clear majority over his three opponents, with a thousand votes or so to spare.

One change in the county's official family became certain early in the tabulating. Irvin Vogel, present judge of the county court at law, won the judgeship of the 78th district court by a wide margin over the incumbent, Judge Cook.

Whether there would be another change is contingent upon the results of run-off contests.

Run-Off Contests

Sheriff Browning won a decisive victory over Fred K. Smith for sheriff, and Mrs. Eichelberger had a comfortable majority over Moore for the district clerkship.

A number of run-off contests loom. One of these will be in the legislative race for place No. 2, School Teacher Tennyson was safely "in" for a place on the run-off ticket. The probability early Sunday was that Duncan M. Perkins would be his opponent, but Martin, Cowart and Williams were close behind.

Another run-off contest will be necessary in the county clerk's race. Miss Hall, incumbent, led the field, and Julian McFall, nearly 300 votes ahead of Jake Avis for the runner-up position, seemed almost certain to be her opponent.

In the race for tax assessor, Jim Robinson was well ahead of the field, and will have as his run-off

On Cushions, Rods, And Highways Majority Leave Capital

ONLY ABOUT 3,500 OF INDIGENT GUESTS STAY

Notice Given That Veterans Must Evacuate Federal Buildings

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—On the cushions, on the rods, and on the broad highways, members of the bonus army today were heading home, leaving only a fraction of their original strength in the nation's capital.

Frank T. Hines, administrator of the veterans' affairs, said today that only about 3,500 of the city's unexpected and indigent guests remained for officials to worry about and kind hearted Washingtonians to feed.

Hines expressed the opinion that at no time had there been more than 8,000 of the bonus seeking veterans here but police by actual count on parade days set the number at 11,700. Leaders of the army claimed a total of 22,000 at the peak.

Most of the departing guests went

PRIVATE RITES ARRANGED FOR FLO ZIEGFELD

WIDOW TO CONTINUE HER WORK AT STUDIO

Sorrow Blankets Theatrical World When Told of Death Of Impresario

LOS ANGELES, July 23. (US)—Some time tomorrow at a place and hour guarded from all except a few intimate friends, Billie Burke Ziegfeld and her daughter, Patricia, will attend quiet funeral services for Florenz Ziegfeld, world-famous theatrical producer, whose sudden death last night stunned the stage and film world.

Whether Ziegfeld's body will be sent east immediately or held in Los Angeles until Miss Burke completes the week's work still to be done on her current film production will be decided later. Word was being awaited today from the producer's brother and sister, William Ziegfeld and Mrs. Willis Buehl of Detroit.

Exhausted by the shock of the sudden tragedy, Miss Burke rested today at the Will Rogers ranch, while from all parts of the United States and many foreign countries, telegrams of sympathy poured in. She was "wonderfully brave," said Rogers.

Early today, shortly after she returned from the Cedars of Lebanon hospital where Ziegfeld died at

THREE HURT IN AUTO CRASH AT LAKE SPILLWAY

Three people were injured when two automobiles collided just south of the Lake Wichita spillway on the Archer City highway shortly after 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Belle Able of Olney suffered a broken arm and her husband, P. H. Able, was badly bruised. Both remained in the Wichita General hospital for treatment.

Anita Lee Deeds, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. K. S. Deeds of Holliday sustained lacerations and bruises but was dismissed from the hospital after receiving first aid treatment.

GOVERNORS OF THREE STATES ASKED TO HOLD UP WHEAT SHIPMENTS

MINOT, N. D., July 23. (AP)—The governors of North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana were asked by farm leaders of 11 counties today to prevent shipment of wheat from their states until prices rise.

Under the request, shipments of wheat from the three states would be prohibited until the No. 1 dark northern grade reached a price of $1.20 a bushel at Minneapolis. Today the top cash price for that variety in Minneapolis was 61 cents.

More than 1,200 persons, most of them farmers from the 11 counties, urged the proposal at a meeting last night.

M'FARLANE LEADS IN RACE FOR CONGRESS; BACKUS RUNS SECOND

W. D. McFarlane of Graham was apparently assured the commanding position in the 13th congressional district race for representative to succeed Gwinn Williams of Decatur with approximately 60 per cent of the ballots cast in the 12 counties tabulated at 1 o'clock Sunday morning. McFarlane will be paired with George W. Backus of Vernon in the runoff primary in August on a basis of the partial returns, eliminating Dillard Hinson of Graham.

4,000 Vote Lead

The tabulations gave McFarlane a lead of slightly less than 4,000 votes over Backus. McFarlane polled 12,802 votes; Hinson, 5,387; Backus, 9,096.

Gwinn Williams withdrew from the race several weeks ago and as the veteran congressman's hat was taken from the ring, because of ill health, the remaining three candidates immediately drew the lines of battle for a three-cornered scramble to succeed the representative from Decatur.

The heaviest vote was polled in Wichita county. The Wichita vote: McFarlane, 4,224; Hinson, 2,628; Backus, 2,249.

Archer county's vote was 60 per cent tabulated with 14 boxes complete of 24 precincts. Baylor county reports were based on complete returns from 11 of 17 boxes. In Cooke county 26 boxes were complete out of 35, while Denton county tabulations listed 28 complete boxes of 32.

A 60 per cent tabulation was recorded in Jack county with 14 of 22 boxes reporting. Partial returns from Montague county gave McFarlane, 622; Hinson, 169; and Backus, 263. Throckmorton county reported a 70 per cent tabulation, and in Wise county incomplete returns gave Hinson a wide majority with 269 votes to 205 for Hinson and 162 for Backus.

Young county tabulated 12 complete boxes out of 24 and in Wilbarger county 20 of 23 boxes were completed.

YOUTH DRIVEN MAD BY HOPELESS LOVE KILLS SWEETHEART AND SELF

CHICAGO, July 23. (US)—Maddened by a hopeless love, Herbert Souther, 21 and a cripple, today shot and killed the girl who scorned him and then committed suicide while his rival in love looked on.

His victim was pretty Mildred Chor, 17. Her fiance who witnessed the double death is Harold Peterson, 19.

Mildred and her new sweetheart were returning from a skating rink when they encountered Souther near the girl's home. He asked to speak with Mildred. Peterson had moved away only a few steps when he heard a pistol shot and turned to see the crippled youth firing a second and third bullet into the girl's prostrate body. Souther then shot himself through the temple.

WASSERKUPPE, Germany, July 23. (AP)—Gunther Groenhoff, leader of the world gallidine record, crashed and was killed during a flight here today.

County Races in Wichita Area

Archer Re-Elects Dycus

ARCHER CITY, Texas, July 23.—County Judge Harold K. Dycus apparently was re-elected judge of Archer county on the basis of incomplete returns early tonight. Judge Dycus had a majority over his two opponents with reports of 14 complete boxes out of 24. The vote was Dycus, 719; G. A. Holloway, 264; E. H. Cooper, 209.

For representative, 116th District: D. M. Harris had 749; R. S. Cowan 75; Sam Housholder, 90; F. C. Crow, 98.

SUSPENSION OF CHICAGO BOARD TRADE ORDERED

UPHOLDS COMPLAINT OF FARMERS CORPORATION

President of Board Says Privileges Not to Be Given Cooperative

WASHINGTON, July 23. (US)—Suspension of all activities of the Chicago board of trade, largest grain futures exchange in the world, for 60 days beginning Aug. 7, was ordered today by the grain futures commission.

The commission composed of three cabinet officers, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, Secretary of Commerce Lamont, and Attorney General Mitchell, upheld the complaint of the Farmers National Grain corporation, a cooperative, that denial to it of access to the clearing privileges of the board constituted a violation of the grain futures act.

The commission reserved the right to mitigate the penalty upon a showing "that the board of trade had receded from its position," with respect to the Farmers National Grain corporation.

The commission's order reads:

Copy of Order

"The commission having duly considered all the evidence in this case and the arguments of counsel, and having made its findings and conclusions aforesaid, it is hereby ordered and adjudged that the designation of the board of trade

THREE COUPLES ROBBED WEEKS PARK SATURDAY

Three married couples, singing a watermelon feast to Weeks park late Saturday night, were held up and robbed of about $5 in cash by a lone masked bandit, evidently the same one who has been holdstking couples in that section for the past several months.

The couples were Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Penrod, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Roberts.

The bandit's victims were out in front of the car cutting the melon when the hijacker stepped out of the shadows with drawn pistol. After the robbery he took their car keys and left them in an ice cream container in the middle of the road some distance away.

TRIALS OF PAIR HELD FOR SLAYING IN PECOS COUNTY TO BE CONTINUED

SAN ANGELO, July 23. (AP)—R. L. Thompson and George Montray, charged by indictment with the murder of H. M. Poland, whose body was found in the Pecos river near Imperial in March, 1930, will not be tried at the current term of 112th district court in Pecos county, it was learned here today.

Thompson, former Monte and dentist, is now held in the penitentiary at Walla Walla, Wash. Montray, erstwhile truck driver of Mr. Comey and Crane, was arrested in Tulsa, and taken to the Pecos county jail at Fort Stockton.

Thompson and Montray were said to have been in San Angelo in March, 1930, and to have left this section two days before the body of Poland was found in the river.

CROWN PRINCE MICHAEL BECOMES BOY SCOUT

BUCHAREST, July 23. (US)—Crown Prince Michael became a Boy Scout today, joining the organization at the wish of his father, King Carol II. The young prince and his father went to the mountain camp at Sinaia, where Michael will remain until he goes to England in the autumn to attend a boys school there.

HUNTER MAKES GAINS AS LATE VOTE TOTALED SUBMISSION FAR AHEAD

DALLAS, July 24.—Returns to the Texas election bureau at 1:30 a. m. from 180 out of 254 counties in the state, including two complete, show the following totals for candidates in Saturday's Democratic primary election:

Attorney General—Allred, 139,631; Becker, 17,065; Calhoun, 63,327.

Railroad Commissioner (Six Years)—Patterson, 29,591; Satterwhite, 48,008; Tennant, 33,978; Terrell, 74,255.

Railroad Commissioner (Four Years)—Culberson, 32,468; De Ware, 15,671; Hatcher, 60,552; Murphy, 25,959; Thompson, 56,695.

Congress, Place 1—Adams, 8,491; Cox, 10,225; Darden, 7,474; Hood, 9,718; Jurney, 6,610; Nelson, 3,471; Parrish, 20,828; Reed, 4,503; Schleicher, 4,320; Senter, 8,186 Terrell, 20,576; Westbrook, 11,351; Williams, 14,645.

Congress, Place 2—Bailey, 34,022; Davis, 22,382; Downs, 10,056; Fisher, 4,837; Gill, 4,569; Hawkins, 7,892; Holcombe, 13,459; Myres, 5,729; Sartin, 11,927; Sulak, 4,129; Warner, 9,287.

Congress, Place 3—Boag-Scott, 7,474; Burkett, 14,994; Cargile, 2,356; Harigel, 5,753; Hyer, 11,884; King, 6,666; Lea, 4,678; McGregor, 12,764; Meany, 1,714; Mitchener 1,594; Real, 5,554; Sasse, 4,409; Strong, 31,295; Warner, 4,142.

DALLAS, July 24. (1:30 a. m.)—Governor Ross S. Sterling will go into the August run-off with Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as his opponent, if unreported returns are correctly indicated by returns tabulated Saturday night. Tom F. Hunter was running third. Early returns put Sterling in first place but as the figures piled up he slipped into second. Mrs. Ferguson started in second place but closed the night in first place with a comfortable lead over the governor.

Sterling's lead over Hunter is not impressive, and with a large unreported vote there is possibility of a change in their positions. So few counties reported complete that at the close of the night there was no substantial basis for estimating the total vote, but such basis as there is indicates around half a million to come. Submission seems to have carried by more than two to one, with many counties reporting the votes on this question.

Shaver started the night with a majority over Woods for superintendent of public instruction but closed in second place.

Terrell and Satterwhite seem destined to make the high pair in the August run-off for railroad commissioner, six year term. Hatcher

Two of Three Suspects in Idabel Bank Robbery Slain and Officer Seriously Wounded in Gun Battle

BROKEN BOW, Okla., July 23. (AP)—Pistols roared when officers sought to arrest three men near here tonight. Two of the suspects were killed and one of the officers was wounded dangerously.

John Leonard, 28, who escaped from the McCurtain county jail at Idabel 18 months ago while awaiting trial on a murder charge, and Clay West, 17, were shot to death.

The shooting followed an attempt of Darby and other officers to arrest Leonard, West and Johnnie Burns, 21, as suspects in last Monday's $12,000 robbery of the First National bank of Idabel. Burns, a cripple, escaped on foot.

Darby was accompanied by W. H. Wagner and John Stevens, other Broken Bow officers. Stevens said Leonard opened fire as the officers drove alongside an automobile carrying the three suspects.

The Idabel gun fight followed by only six days the triple killing in a pistol duel at Madill, of Cleveland Long, state operative, and Wiley Lynn, acquitted slayer of Bill Hightman, pioneer peace officer, and Rhody Watkins, a bystander.

Another triple killing occurred in the unsolved fastnesses of Southeastern Oklahoma last year. Charley Draper, giant moonshiner, now is serving a life sentence for the slayings, which he said he committed in a drunken robbery attempt.

INCREASE IN CRUDE PRODUCTION REPORTED OKLAHOMA PAST WEEK

TULSA, Okla., July 23. (AP)—Reports to the Tulsa World estimate Oklahoma crude oil production shot up sharply this week, from 480,000 barrels daily, an increase in the average of 40,000 barrels.

CARNERS STAND IN LINE HALF HOUR TO CAST VOTE

UVALDE, Texas, July 23. (AP)—Speaker and Mrs. John Nance Garner stood in line 30 minutes today to cast their votes in the state Democratic primary election.

Due to long audience in his voting precinct, the Democratic vice presidential nominee holds poll tax receipt No. 1. Mrs. Garner holds receipt No. 2.

Participation in the election was Garner's first political activity since coming home last week from Washington to vacation. He spent the balance of the day resting and planning fishing trips.

Ohio Bank Robbed

TOLEDO, Ohio, July 23. (US)—Three bandits today robbed the State Bank of Hamler, Ohio, 35 miles south of here, of $2,000 after holding two customers at bay with pistols.

OWEN YOUNG HOLDS LONG CONFERENCE WITH ROOSEVELT

INTERCHANGE VIEWS ON MANY WORLD PROBLEMS

Candidate Plans Conversations With Leaders In Various Lines

HYDE PARK, N. Y., July 23. (US)—The significance of recent developments at home and abroad on America's economic future was considered today by Governor Roosevelt in a lengthy conference with Owen D. Young, industrial magnate and recognized authority on international finance.

For nearly two hours the Democratic nominee enjoyed a frank interchange of views with the author of the now-defunct Young plan for German reparations, in the library of the Roosevelt home here.

Conference over, Young motored to his home at Van Hornesville, N. Y., without revealing what took place. Governor Roosevelt said:

"We discussed the entire economic situation both national and international. We talked of facts and trends and needs. I expect to see Mr. Young frequently during the campaign."

Roosevelt added that he and Young talked over the reparations settlement recently agreed upon at Lausanne by the European powers without mentioning the expected demand of the allied powers for cancellation of their war debts to this government.

Other Conferences

This move for debt cancellation or drastic revision is regarded as certain to come, with the approval of American international bankers who hold large foreign credits. The Democratic platform, to which Governor Roosevelt gave his hearty approval, is against cancellation.

Shortly after the Chicago convention, Young pledged his support to the Democratic ticket in a personal letter to Governor Roosevelt.

The plight of the railroads was considered by the Democratic nominee in his conversation with Young and later in a talk with W. Averill Harriman, newly-elected chairman of the board of the Union Pacific and a member of the executive committee of the Illinois Central.

From these conversations, Roosevelt hopes to evolve a definite and concrete program of remedial legislation for the rail carriers. He has already obtained the views of leading transportation economists.

Dinner guests at the Roosevelt home tonight included Miss Jane Addams of Chicago and Miss Lillian T. Wald of New York, both of them noted social and welfare workers.

MARRS LEADS HICKS BY NARROW MARGIN

opponent Max Shumake, the incumbent. Hodge and Deaton were some distance behind.

Oran L. Gibbs defeated J. W. Nicholson for justice of the peace, place No. 2. Bradford and Barker will contest in the run-off for constable.

Wichita county voters gave their own Tom Hunter a thumping vote for governor, Sterling being second. The vote for Jimmie Allred for attorney general exceeded that of Hunter.

A rather unexpected result in a state race gave C. V. Terrell, railroad commissioner who is seeking re-election, second place in the Wichita county vote. Satterwhite was high man in the county in this race.

R. D. Sartin's impressive vote for congressman at large was not sufficient to give him a majority over the large field of opponents and Joe Bailey of Dallas was second in the race for place No. 2. Westbrook led for place No. 1, while King and Hyer wrestled for the lead for No. 3 in which the vote was badly scattered.

Speedy Returns

Another result not altogether expected was that in the race for congress in this district. It had been thought that Hinson would get a plurality here. Instead, he was in third place. McFarlane lacked only a few hundreds of having as much as his two opponents combined.

In spite of the length of the ballot, election officials did a splendid job of counting and reporting the vote, and The Times' tabulation shortly after midnight was much nearer complete than it had ever been before in a first primary election here.

The figures given below are from 40 boxes, including 34 complete. The figures for the precinct races, the county judgeship and the 89th district judgeship, given above, include a few boxes not tabulated for other candidates.

MANY OF VETERANS LEAVE WASHINGTON

on "the plush," presenting railroad tickets furnished by the veterans administration. Others scorned to become "softies" and went out the way they came, on top of and underneath box cars.

A third large group rode away in the automobiles they came in, motors propelled by gasoline furnished by the government charged against the bonus certificates of the car owners.

Orders to Leave

The deadline for application for transportation loans is midnight Sunday night.

The treasury department served notice on those remaining that they would have to get off of government property, where they have dug themselves in, by Monday at midnight—or else.

Service of official notice, it was said, would place the men in the position of trespassers if they did not move and open the way for use of legal force to clear the areas.

Col. U. S. Grant, director of public parks and buildings, has asked the District of Columbia authorities to clear the men out the parks and property under his jurisdiction. Orders previously issued for evacuating the men, it was said, had been illegal, as district police, under the law, can not be used to evict trespassers from federally owned and controlled property.

One of the first to leave today was Roy W. Robertson, of Los Angeles, crippled leader of the California contingent which staged a four-day and four-night march in front of the capital. He went in his own car driven by a negro member of his group.

IMPROVEMENT IN GENERAL BUSINESS CONDITIONS NOTED

WASHINGTON, July 23. (US)—An appreciable improvement in general business conditions occurred in the week ended July 16, according to the commerce department's weekly survey of current business.

Automobile production increased and steel ingot output advanced to about 16 per cent of capacity after having declined to 13 per cent in the preceding week.

Building contract awards registered a sharp gain during the first half of the month, the daily average volume being the largest so far this year with the exception of the final week in May.

Commodity prices extended the recent advance, the gain of 0.6 of a point in the general index equaling the largest weekly increase since the decline started. The gain was the result of advances in both agricultural and non-agricultural prices, although the former showed the widest improvement.

Final statistics revealed an improved trend in several important indicators. Bond prices maintained a steady advance, the index reaching a new high for the current movement.

Business failures were sharply lower, the total being the smallest for any week of the current year.

Rebuilt Rome

ROME.—Rome wasn't built in a day, and Mussolini is giving Italian architects and engineers five years in which to rebuild the city. His idea is to make Rome "a marvel to all the people of the world." He has instructed architects to "free the majestic temples of Christian Rome from profane and parasitic buildings because the millenary monuments of our history must rise gigantic amid the necessary solitude."

PEACE IS WHERE THE DIPLOMATS ARE

Trouble in the Balkans. But in Geneva the diplomats are fanning themselves with state documents.

Martial law in Berlin. But not in Geneva.

Skirmishes, hoodlumism and the devil holding a first mortgage with no pitch hot. That way all over the world.

But not in Geneva.

What's the answer? Let's go to Geneva.

ZIEGFELD FUNERAL WILL BE PRIVATE

10:20 o'clock last night, Miss Burke sent a message to George Zukor, director of the picture in which she has been working at RKO-Pathe studios.

"I will be at the studio Wednesday morning, ready for work," the message said. "My husband would not have wanted me to hold up a production because of him."

Feared Death

And, it was revealed today Miss Burke had worked last night at the studio until the message came to hurry to the hospital with a presentiment in her heart that the end was near.

She told Dewey Starkey, assistant director, that she felt, somehow, that death was drawing near to her husband.

"But don't tell any one," she cautioned Starkey. "It would make it hard for them to do good work."

Shortly after 10 o'clock, a telephone message came from the hospital.

"Come, and come quickly."

Starkey took the message to Miss Burke on the set. In costume and make-up, she ran to her dressing room for her hat and coat.

On her dressing table stood a photograph of Ziegfeld and a picture of the virgin, with a candle burning before it.

With Starkey and Fred Spencer, another assistant director, Miss Burke's car raced at top speed to the hospital. As they stepped from the elevator and turned down the corridor toward Ziegfeld's room, the doctor met them.

Conscious to Last

Miss Burke took the shock heroically, Starkey said. She remained at the hospital during the night, and early today went to the Will Rogers ranch.

Ziegfeld was conscious to the last, it was said. Only an hour before his death, he waved a greeting to a friend who glanced into his room. The collapse came so suddenly that nothing could be done.

Because of the close interest taken by Ziegfeld in every detail of his vast theatrical enterprises, there was much speculation today as to how the work would be carried on.

That Ziegfeld productions would continue to be made, on lines laid down by the master showman, was generally accepted as a foregone conclusion.

May Carry On

Many of these questions were answered by Miss Burke, who during the last 20 years has virtually given up her own career to work with her husband.

Because of her close association with Ziegfeld in his theatrical enterprises, it was said today that she might herself carry on the work so suddenly interrupted or at least take an active part in whatever plan is decided upon.

Ziegfeld's personal manager died suddenly in New York only two weeks ago, adding a new complication to the situation.

Will Rogers, a close friend of Ziegfeld and Miss Burke, took charge of arrangements today. Ziegfeld's body was taken to the Pierce brothers mortuary.

Hundreds of telegrams came today to RKO-Radio studios, the hospital and the Rogers ranch. Many of them were from stars of the stage and screen who first won fame in Ziegfeld productions.

Broadway Mourns

NEW YORK, July 23. (UP)—Broadway's brilliant lights that were made brighter by Florenz Ziegfeld blinked crazily in the after-midnight blackness today when New York's main street received word that its master showman was dead.

Sorrow blanketed the theatrical world—the gaudy, "heartless," world of tinsel, spangles, spectacles and make believe that heard of Ziegfeld first as manager of a strong man, knew him as the husband of Anna Held and the promoter of her now famous milk baths, and adored him for his "Follies."

Whispered words that passed over bars a few feet off Broadway, a word here, a word there, old troupers, stars, chorus girls, stage hands not yet in bed, retold the story of Ziegfeld's life—and most of the stories were of his follies, on the stage or off.

They began with the world's fair where Ziegfeld took Sandow the strong man and $50 in cash of his own to start a fortune.

They included Anna Held's milk bath in New York, a million won and lost at Monte Carlo, the Gibson girls, the Christie girls, Weber and Fields, the grizzly bear, the turkey trot, the glide, the dip and other such dances.

They recalled his marriage to Billie Burke, his mania for publicity, Marilyn Miller, Eddie Cantor, Ed Wynn, Will Rogers, Leon Errol, Mae Murray, Peggy Joyce, and a host of others who have been before the footlights on his pay roll.

Many Successes

Broadway had blazed with the success of "Sally," "Kid Boots," "Louis the Fourteenth," "Rio Rita," "Rosalie," and "Show Boat." Several of these productions earned a million in profits. And the Ziegfeld fortune, slowly ebbing of late, was showing signs of revival with the new popularity and success of "Show Boat," one of his finest successes, a hit that was revived as Ziegfeld went to his death bed.

Florenz Ziegfeld's "first venture in showmanship," according to the famous producer's own account, was with Sandow, the strong man in 1893, and started with a shoestring of $5,000, only $50 of which was his own.

The 25-year-old showman came to New York in that year, after an apprenticeship in the Chicago World fair, and found the muscleman exhibiting at the casino.

"Sandow was the most perfect human being I had ever seen," Ziegfeld reminisced in later years. "I had only $5,000 when I went to Abbey, who was managing him, and made a proposal to take over Sandow.

First Revue

"Abbey asked $1,500 a week. I countered by offering him 10 per cent of the gross receipts. We clinched the agreement, I took Sandow back with me and opened up at the midwinter fair in San Francisco.

"We averaged $35,000 a week. Abbey received $3,500 instead of the $1,500 he had asked. After the San Francisco fair was over, we traveled all over the country from town to town. With us were Evans and Hoey, playing Charlie Hoyt's 'Parlor Match.' Sandow appeared between acts."

According to Ziegfeld's story, he introduced the first revue in America in 1907, an imported attraction from Europe.

Publicity made Ziegfeld. And he made publicity. Beauty was his business, and his business was showmanship.

Back in 1889, Ziegfeld had heard Anna Held sing "Won't You Come and Play Wiz Me?"

Promotes Anna Held

So, after Sandow's popularity as a drawing card faded, Flo lured the singer to this country, established her in a New York hotel, ordered several great cans of milk sent daily to her room, and had the milkman sue her for the milk bill.

"How come?" the newspapers wondered.

And they wouldn't believe what he told them.

"All right, come up and see."

He took the reporters into the apartment, walked to the bath room door, shoved open the door, and there was Anna, wreathed in smiles and gallon after gallon of opaque milk.

Starting the first one with production costs at $13,000, Ziegfeld ran 24 editions in 24 years and his last Follies cost him $300,000 when it reached the stage on the opening night.

"I started at $3,000 a week to run the shows," Ziegfeld said in after years, "and by 1930, the Follies were costing me $33,000 a week."

In the later Follies, stars like Ed Wynn, Charles Winninger, Eddie Cantor, Will Rogers and others of the glittering stage firmament brought Ziegfeld's weekly salary bill to a figure higher than his whole show cost originally.

"At first, I got $2.50 for seats," the producer said. "At the latest Follies I got $6.60. Exceptions were made of course at the opening."

Seats Worth Hundreds

He has sold opening night seats for hundreds of dollars, and once sold closing night tickets for a thousand dollars each.

Ziegfeld's palm for "Queen of the old-time stage beauties," was awarded by him to Frankie Bailey.

"There wasn't a woman who could even challenge her for beauty," the Follies "king" once declared in an interview. "More than that there hasn't been a woman since. Frankie Bailey had the most beautiful form ever seen on the stage."

Who is the most beautiful of all stage girls, Ziegfeld was asked in 1922 of the current crop.

"Marilyn Miller has the most beautiful form in the world. Yvonne Taylor wears the most beautiful tights.

"The chorus girl of today isn't much like the girl of the black crook days. Our girls can sing; they can dance; they're pretty and they have charm and personality and intelligence.

"Charm is the important thing today and we have no iron-clad rules about size or form."

Best Known Follies

Among his best known Follies:

He loved lavender colored shirts, and dazzling suits.

He liked terrapin, and because a certain Baltimore chef's product suited him, he hired the chef.

He went hunting in Canada, always taking along no fewer than five Indian guides.

When traveling, he supplied a hundred trucks, and any horses or dogs his beloved daughter, Patricia, wished.

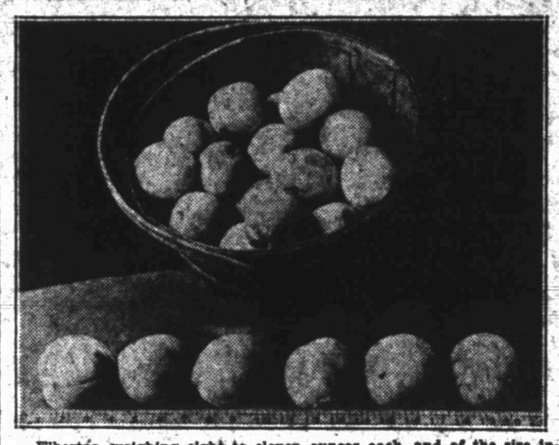

Once, when Patricia wept because she couldn't catch a butterfly, he bought her a $500 collection.

He never wrote if he could help it; he sent a telegram. And they were long, costly telegrams on trivial subjects.

He was extravagant and lavish in his gifts. He bought expensive clothing for relatives of cleaning women, and he sent chorus girls to hospitals for tuberculosis treatment.

In the words of Broadway, "he was a sucker for a good sob story," and Broadway loved him for it.

FANCY ELBERTAS FROM THORNBERRY

Elbertas, weighing eight to eleven ounces each, and of the size indicated by comparison with the scale in the picture, are being gathered now on the Rigsby place near Thornberry. There are about 4,000 trees on the Rigsby place and while there are comparatively few peaches per tree, due to a late frost, they are of exceptional size and quality and are finding a ready market.

BOARD OF TRADE ORDERED TO CLOSE

of the city of Chicago, respondent herein, heretofore made by the secretary of agriculture in pursuance of the grain futures act of 1922, be and the same hereby is suspended for a period of 60 days from the date this order shall become effective. This order shall not become effective until the expiration of 15 days from its date. The commission hereby reserves jurisdiction to entertain an application for mitigation of the penalty herein imposed, upon notice to all parties and after proper hearing, and upon a showing that the board of trade has receded from its position with respect to the petitioner."

Drastic Penalty

The penalty, considered the most drastic ever imposed upon a major commodity or security exchange in this country, followed the suspension of the Updike company, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Farmers National, from the board of trade privileges.

The Updike company had been acquired by the corporation to give it access to the privileges of the clearing corporation. Rules of the later organization excluded from membership any corporation or firm which liability was fixed or limited.

Although the Updike company was a corporation, two of its officers as individuals were members of the clearing corporation. Through them, the Farmers National was able to clear its transactions without paying supplementary fees equivalent to 60 per cent of regular trading commissions.

Appeal Denied

The grain futures act of 1922 provided that all cooperatives were entitled to the privileges of all grain futures exchanges. When the Farmers National found its clearing privileges gone, through the expulsion of its subsidiary, it appealed to officers of the board for clearing privileges in its own right as a cooperative. The board denied its appeal.

The corporation invoked the law on April 8, last by appealing under its provisions to the exofficio commission composed of the three cabinet officers.

The commission said in its findings "a number of questions of law arose for decision and inasmuch as the case may go to the courts for judicial settlements doubts as to debatable points of law were resolved in favor of the petitioner."

May Seek Injunction

The possibility of actual suspension ever taking place was generally regarded as exceedingly remote. If within the course of the next 15 days the board does not see fit to reverse its decision, it may, by taking the case to the courts, obtain an injunction. Such proceeding would probably defer final action for an indefinite time.

If its counsel holds legal recourse to be inexpedient, it will undoubtedly satisfy the commission by changing or amending the clause in the clearing corporation's by-laws, which have been found illegal. That would give the Farmers National access to clearing privileges as a cooperative.

The commission said:

"We are of the opinion that the petitioner has sustained the burden of proof in respect to its qualifications for enjoyment of all privileges of the board of trade, including the clearing privilege; that the clearing privilege has been unjustly denied it, and that the denial is the result of rules established and action by the board of trade, and that the board of trade is directly responsible for this denial, and by that denial it has violated the provisions of the grain futures act and has failed to comply with the requirements of that act, so as to render it subject to suspension or revocation of its designation as a contract market."

Fight to Finish

CHICAGO, July 23.—"The Chicago Board of Trade will not be closed and neither will the privileges of the board be extended to the Farmers Grain corporation."

This was the answer today of Peter B. Carey, president of the board, to the action of the grain futures commission in suspending all activities of the board for a period of 60 days, beginning Aug. 7.

"Make it as strong as you wish," said Carey. "We are going to fight this thing to a finish.

"We have 15 days and that will give us ample time to file our appeal with the United States circuit court of appeals under the provision of the grain futures act. We shall ask a restraining order. Our attorneys already have prepared for this situation.

"Our appeal, of course, will stay execution of the suspension order. If it is necessary, we will take our contentions before the supreme court of the United States. We are not going to be coerced."

Exclusion of the Farmers National Grain corporation from the clearing privileges of the board was a high spot in the feud between the board of trade on one hand, and Secretary Hyde and agencies of the federal farm board on the other.

George S. Milnor, general manager of the Farmers National Grain corporation, greeted the suspension as a wholly justifiable move on the part of the grain futures commission. He said:

"Naturally officers of the corporation are gratified with the decision.

"The corporation has contended that refusal of the board of trade to permit a cooperative membership privileges is an unwarranted hardship and a handicap to the cooperative.

"Extension of clearing house privileges will give the corporation an opportunity to compete on an equal basis with other grain corporations."

Don Quixote of Juarez Battles With Last Auto

EL PASO, Texas, July 23. (INS)—Augustin Olivares, 61, the Don Quixote of Juarez, Mexico, who fancied he was a skilled bull fighter and that all autos were bulls, fought his last auto today.

The Quixote "toreador" was killed when he went into the main street of Juarez to battle a sedan carrying several city officials, including the mayor.

The driver of the official car swerved three times, witnesses said, in an effort to miss the aged man, but Olivares continued his battle until knocked to the pavement and suffered a fractured skull.

For years, Olivares, using a cane for a sword and a battered hat for a cape, has frightened unsuspecting motorists by leaping in front of their autos to do battle with approaching cars.

FOUR-OUNCE EGG LAID BY RHODE ISLAND RED HEN PROPERTY HOLLIDAY MAN

Evidently believing that all producers should do their best in these times, a Rhode Island red hen belonging to C. M. Laurence of Holliday has produced an egg weighing four ounces. It has a longitudinal circumference of 9¼ inches. Mr. Laurence was exhibiting the egg in Wichita Falls Saturday.

"Canadian bacon" is boneless pork loin, cured and smoked like ordinary bacon. The loins of small pigs are used when the regular cuts are too small for sale.

Denmark now numbers its eggs so that they can be traced back to the farmer.

Times' Program for Wichita Falls

1. OIL—Place the Wichita Falls district on a parity with other centers in the marketing of both crude oil and refined products.
2. THE VALLEY—Systematic, vigorous development of the irrigated valley in keeping with its possibilities as Wichita Falls' greatest physical asset.
3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher education to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.
5. THE LAKES—Full development of the recreational opportunities offered by the three lakes.
6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the munity.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases; first in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek. Third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

THE TOO-LONG BALLOT

The Wichita county Democratic voter found 110 to 115 names on the ballot he voted yesterday. That doesn't include a dozen or so names of candidates who were unopposed; it covers only the offices in which there were contests.

In many instances the voter did not decide for whom to vote in some of the races when he started marking his ballot. The multiplicity of races and of candidates precluded his giving any thought whatever to such matters as duties and qualifications. He was called upon to vote for or against individuals about whom he knew nothing to fill offices about which he knew nothing. Intelligent voting was out of the question, in such circumstances.

Several states have adopted the short ballot, realizing the difficulty which the voter experiences when more than 100 names are presented for his selection. As a rule, the shortened ballot covers only the offices of governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general and the higher judiciary, so far as the state is concerned. The various financial and regulatory offices are filled by appointment.

There may be a sacrifice of democracy when the ballot is shortened, but the public is compensated by the increase in efficiency. The likelihood of unworthy men being chosen is greatly increased when the voter must wade through a great mass of names to make his selections.

EMPHASIZING THE LEGISLATURE'S FAILURE

We do not know, as this is written, who are the leading candidates for congressman at large. The six individuals who go into the three run-off races may be worthy, and they may not. The probability is that each of them reached the run-off not so much by reason of any qualifications he has as by the fact that he had the support of some particular section of Texas, or of some special group of interests or of some bloc of voters. The three who win in the runoff, therefore, are debarred in advance from being what they are supposed to be; that is, representatives of the people of Texas as a whole. It is no reflection on them that such a condition exists. It is the result of the method by which they are chosen.

The support of a special group or section may put a candidate into the runoff when he receives not over 10 per cent of the total vote. The run-off election will give the voters a chance to decide which of the two in each race is most desirable, but the winners, we repeat, cannot be expected to serve all of Texas. Their first allegiance must be to the special groups of voters who made their elections possible.

It is altogether the wrong way of choosing congressmen. It defeats the ends of representative government. It is a burlesque on democratic principles.

It isn't the fault of the candidates themselves. The fault is with the legislators who, selfishly indifferent to the spirit and the letter of the constitution, prevented the passage of a redistricting bill. The people of Texas should see to it that the situation is remedied when the legislature convenes. Once is more than enough of this sort of thing.

RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION

The subject of railroad consolidation has been before the country ever since Dr. William Z. Ripley, employed by the Interstate Commerce commission to work out a consolidation plan, submitted his report about 11 years ago. Just now, with many railroads in financial difficulties, and with the need of greater operating efficiency and increased financial stability greater than for many years, consolidation is a very timely question.

The complexities of the question make it doubtful that there will be any immediate action. There are many conflicting interests to be considered. There are the interests of the railroad stockholders, and there are the interests of the communities served.

The commission's decision of last Thursday probably has done nothing more than to put the idea on a working basis. The consolidation plan eventually adopted will be different in many lesser details from that approved by the commission, but may be expected to follow the general arrangement as proposed.

The question is one in which the whole country is deeply concerned, for when it has been worked out in the northeastern states, the other regions will come in for their share of attention. In the course of 10 or 15 years we shall probably see the consummation of the plan throughout the United States. If the plan for the northeastern states accomplishes for the railroads and for the public what it is expected to accomplish, the way will be opened for railroad consolidation elsewhere.

THE BRITISH FAMILY GATHERING

The task of the delegates to the British imperial conference, now in session at Ottawa, is to make of the British empire a more closely knit economic unit. It is a big task. When one considers how difficult it would be in the United States to adopt an economic program that was satisfactory to Texas and Massachusetts, for example, the task of reconciling the economic aims of England and Australia, or of Canada and India, is at once seen as presenting enormous difficulties. There is little community of economic interest among the dominions. A tariff agreement that would suit South Africa might be anathema in canada. A currency measure approved by London might be ruinous to Australia.

The conference may be likened to a family gathering, to a group of selfish brothers and sisters and a cantankerous, strong-minded mother. The children love their mother, but they are looking out for themselves.

THE SOBER, BUT DUMB, AUTOIST

It is the sober but dumb driver who causes most of the automobile accidents in this country, according to the National Safety council's recently published statistics.

The figures show that drunken drivers figured in but two per cent of the fatal motor accidents; that truck drivers figured in fewer accidents, in proportion, than drivers of passenger vehicles; that women drivers, for all the scares they give you, figured in only six per cent of fatal accidents.

The biggest single cause of fatal accidents was the failure of motorists to stay on their own side of the road. Disobedience of one of the elemental rules of driving, caused 29 per cent of all fatal accidents, and in a vast majority of such accidents the offending driver was sober. Sober, but dumb.

Business and Politics in 1932

President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine
(Copyright McClure Newspaper Syndicate)
By GLENN FRANK

Since business leadership failed to save us from dire depression, the 1932 campaign will offer unusual temptation to the demagogue to damn the business interests as a vast conspiracy against the common good.

I hope none of our national leaders will yield to this temptation.

The economic leadership of the nation has much valid criticism coming, and I would not see it shielded from any of this valid indictment, but what we need above all is a statesmanlike reconsideration of the inter-relation of business and politics in the American scene.

As I have indicated before in these articles, the inter-relation of business and politics has been oversimplified alike by the politicians and by the business men.

The politicians have over-simplified the problem by assuming that business is essentially an antisocial process, that the more successful it is the more sinister it is, and that the primary relation of politics to business is that of a policeman shadowing a suspicious character.

The business men have over-simplified the problem by assuming that business is essentially a private hunting preserve, that any suggestion of social concern with business policy or social control of business power is an impertinent intrusion, and that Utopia would be just around the corner if they could only get more business men into positions of political power or, failing that, could fill all strategic offices with colorless and controllable puppets, and thus put an end to governmental interference with business.

Both of these points of view are sterile.

Both deal exclusively with the negative problem of the abuse of business power, one asserting it, the other denying it.

The politicians have a catch-the-criminal philosophy of business and politics.

The business men have a dodge-the-policeman philosophy of business and politics.

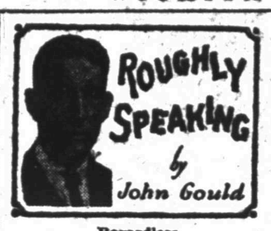

Both seem to regard modern business as just a big burly boy come suddenly into a neighborhood, about whom the boys already there have only one question: Shall we let him do as he pleases or try to control him?

But modern business is not something standing outside the social order threatening it; modern business is an organic part of the social order. Statesmen must wisely relate it to the other forces of American life.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

This book of stars (the Bible) lights to eternal bliss.—George Herbert.

Regardless

After the ballots are counted and the tumult and shouting are o'er,
The petty annoyances of life will be much as they were before.

Folks will buy tempting cantaloupes and presently will find
Nothing at all that's edible contained within the rind.

Women at bridge will chatter and prattle and talk and exclaim,
And cause their side to lose tricks by not keeping their minds on the game.

Folks will go to the country for peaches and find that they have to pay more
By far, than the same would have cost them in town at the grocery store.

Men will look for garments they had meant to wear to camp,
And learn that the wife has given them away to some lousy tramp.

Whether the election pleases, or whether it dismays,
Life will keep on being sour in quite a number of ways.

Again and yet again, my bank statement I'll find
Discrepant with the stubs I've kept to show the checks I've signed.

And when I am extra busy, a female will fret me sore
By walking aimlessly around and dragging her feet on the floor.

Sticks shall catch in the lawnmower and cause me dismay and pain,
And make me take, with my children near, the name of the Lord in vain.

Or the shoe-strings that break perversely when I am dressing in haste.

Most of the petty troubles of life will continue just as they were.

Women and Longevity

There was a piece in the paper the other day about a man up in Idaho who reached his 104th birthday and who told his friends that the reason he had lived so long was that he had never married and that no woman had ever told him what to eat and drink and that he didn't have to shorten his life by trying to gratify any women's whims.

He may be right as to the reason for his longevity. We are inclined to believe, however, that his logic is faulty. It is true that by remaining single he has escaped many things that might have shortened his life. But we want to raise the question whether the efforts he put forth to escape matrimony did not militate against longevity as much as married life would have. Our theory is that he probably would have lived just as long if he had taken unto himself a wife.

The fact is, it is just as hard on a man to avoid matrimony as it is to enter into it. The strain, the anguish, that a man undergoes in avoiding feminine wiles are just as hard on his system as anything that happens to him if he marries. Therein is the flaw in the Idahoan's reasoning.

He has forgotten, probably because it was a long time ago, the struggle that he underwent when some designing sister chose him, and set her cap for him. He escaped matrimony, but the effort undoubtedly left its scars upon him.

When a rabbit is being pursued by a dog, he may, by speed or strategy escape with his life. But if he has to run himself to death getting away from his pursuer, he obviously isn't any better off than if he had been caught and devoured.

The comparison, we freely admit, is an imperfect one, for once in a while a rabbit will succeed in eluding a pursuing dog. But it serves to illustrate, in a general way, the point we are trying to make.

It Depends

Whether marriage shortens a man's life depends on a number of things. The Idahoan may be right, in some respects. If a woman undertakes to reform a man, she is likely to shorten his days.

The discussion brings to mind a fellow that we once knew about, over in East Texas. When he reached middle age a spinster school teacher decided to marry him, and of course eventually did so. He resisted manfully. He put up one of the gamest fights on record. But the struggle finally broke his spirits and he gave up.

The first thing that happened to him was that she undertook to make him wear shoes. Shoes are not as generally worn in East Texas as they are in more civilized portions of the world and this man had never acquired the habit. He resisted, but there was not much fight left in him; the first thing he knew he was wearing shoes to church, and from that point it was not long before he was wearing them regularly. Emboldened by her success, the wife started in to make him quit, eating with his knife. Again she triumphed; after a few years he got to where he could handle a fork as if he had used one all his life.

Well, she didn't stop at that. She embarked upon a new reform effort. She resolved to make him give up chewing. For a woman to attempt such a thing in a region where male children are weaned on natural twist leaf says much for her courage and determination. It took all of the resourcefulness and force of character that she possessed, but victory was finally hers.

It was all in vain. Not long afterward her husband was fording the creek in his buggy and a freshet came along and caught him and swept him downstream. Spectators said he seemed to be making no effort at all to swim out.

So the Idahoan may be right, on that point. It depends a lot on the woman.

The defeated candidate this morning has one consolation. He doesn't have to smile if he doesn't feel like it.

BORAH REFUSES TO APOLOGIZE FOR CHARGE POLITICIANS TRADE RED CROSS WHEAT FOR VOTES

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—Refusing to apologize for making public letters charging a political machine in Memphis headed by Representative E. H. Crump, Democrat, Tennessee, was distributing Red Cross wheat in return for votes, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, said today the charges were "justified."

Crump, in two telegrams to Borah, demanded that he apologize for making public letters from Memphis chapters of the Loyal Order of Americans charging that the relief flour was being distributed in exchange for votes.

Commenting on Crump's demand for an apology, Borah said:

"If I felt that the charges made in the letters which I gave out were not well grounded I should apologize.

"But from facts presented before and statements since I made the letters public I feel there was justification for the charges which were made.

"I am satisfied some one was doing some of those hungry people an injustice."

This was said by Borah despite a denial of the charges by a representative of the Red Cross who made an investigation.

Sends Bristling Telegram

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 23. (AP)—Representative E. H. Crump, Democrat, Tennessee, sent a bristling telegram to Senator Borah today because of the latter's failure to apologize for making public letters accusing the Crump "political machine" of swapping government relief flour for votes.

"Your silence in not correcting a dastardly falsehood forces one to the inevitable conclusion that you are big and mighty enough to commit a low and despicable injustice and get away with it," the telegram said.

"If you had an ounce of real manly courage in your makeup, you would at least try to tell the truth and acknowledge your error, and I say to you in a most positive way you will do it some day.

"You have done me an irreparable injury all over this country and common decency on your part should have made it unnecessary to call it to your attention more than once."

In a previous telegram, Crump told Borah that "every line" in the letters sent him by four residents of Memphis "was false," and said it was unfair for the senator to make public the letter "without making some fair inquiry," such as would have been "honorable, upright and Christian-like."

A report to the national Red Cross by one of its field workers exonerated the Crump organization of the charges.

The report pointed out the distribution of flour to the needy is being made by regular relief agencies, entirely independent of the county and city governments.

All Aboard for the Olympics

By WILL ROGERS

Well all I know is just what I read in the papers, or what I run into. I have prowled around the world quite a bit to try and see a lot of different kinds of people, but right here yesterday almost on my own doorstep I saw the biggest conglomeration of breeds and nationalities I ever saw. The League of Nations has moved right to Hollywood. How it all happened I went out to the Olympic Village, thats the place all these foreign and domestic athletes are stabled. There is just about 160 acres of solid cross breeds. Its built on a high hill overlooking Los Angeles, and its all laid out in streets, and the flag of each Nation is out in front of their Igloos. The little houses corrall four persons, a kind of two room affair that has two in each room, with a little porch out in front. They are not permanent, but they figure they will last till the medals are all distributed, and everybody that dident get one will be on his way home sore.

But I tell you the Committee that has handled this thing has done a fine job. They have made it just about as pleasant and convenient as it would be possible to do with a couple of thousand folks. They spoke about 19 hundred languages. There was a lot of em there already when I visited the place. Finland come in that day. Nurmi is kinder the Greta Garbo of the whole affair. They dont know now if they are going to let him compete or not. It seems over in Finland one time when he went to an Athaletic meet, he accepted too much expense money. They only allow em what they can live on, and they live on dried fish over there, so Nurmi took two more fish than he could have actualy subsided on, and they call him now a professional. I would call him a "Glutton" on fish, but the Athletic Association still call it professional. Well if they dont let him run it will be like having a Democratic convention and not have Al Smith.

These Finns, there is no Fords in Finland. Well there is Hellingsford, but no Model T Fords. And what we do in a Ford why a Finn can do on his feet. Instead of five or six folks going out on Sunday in a Ford, why five or six Finns just hit out in a high lope, and only stop at these fish filling stations, refule and run on.

The trouble with America is they are not "Running" minded, we are kinder "Riding" minded. Well these Finns are the stars of the show here. Then the Japs have the biggest bunch outside of our gang. I just kinder figure those little rascals will carry off the main end of the loot. They are here on horseback, on foot, in canoes, and every way. They will just try anything that anybody else will do. There is about 150 of em, all those that the emigration laws kept out got in as runners and jumpers.

India has a gang here all dressed like Gandi. The man running the "Round Up" of medal hunters, says you learn a lot about what the League of Nations is up against when you try to please all these. That is in laying out the cottages or who will be next to who. For instance they found they couldent put France and Italy on the same hill. Then they asked France who they wanted to be near, and France said Germany. Well that was fine. Then when Germany got here they asked them, and Germany said they dident want to be near France. Finland dident want to be near Sweden. They have tryed to arrange em in groups where for instance the English speaking Nations are together, England, U. S., Canada, Australia, South Africa. Then all the Spanish American bunch in one group.

Each country has its own dining room and its own cooks. They just give their order to the head of the village what it is they want in the way of groceries and meats and fruits, and its handed out to their cooks, then they prepare it for their gang as they see fit. I was in the Swedish kitchen and dining room, he said all they eat was fruit, that they dident eat two ounces of meat a day. He had twenty seven in there and said there was forty more coming. I asked him what he would do when they come and he said, "I will just slice up more fruit."

One old big Argentine boy that looked like Firpo was out near the village practicing the shot put, and heaved it toward one of these little houses and carried it away on his cannon ball. Now they have sent him out on the desert to practice. He will about knock down Mount McKinley.

They have one big assembly room or hotel lobby affair where they all gather, and meet friends. They dont allow any women visitors in the inside of the village, you can go to this reception room and that is as far as they can go. There is some women athletes but they are going to keep them over in some cages some place.

The events are held in about a dozen different places so no one knows where to go or what they really want to see. But its all done on schedule, so it is possible to see it. There is 48 Nations here, some with only one or two athletes some with a hundred or more. It looks like it will be a great show, you dont want to miss it. Its an awful lot of running and a lot of jumping for nothing, but as long as they enjoy it why I guess its all right. They give these boys all this for $2.00 a day, as thats cheaper than staying at home. So they just as well be here arguing with the judges as not.

DAILY HEALTH TALK

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Occasionally children drink kerosene or coal oil by mistake, and as a result way develop poisoning.

Dr. Julius P. Price has reported four cases of children who drank kerosene, one without any serious effects; one with immediate collapse from which he recovered; one who developed fever, difficulty in breathing, and later recovered, and one who died. The patient who died was a white boy, 11 months old, who while crawling around the floor picked up a container holding coal oil and started to drink.

Immediately he began to cough and attracted the attention of the nurse who rushed him to the office of the family doctor. The family doctor gave him some sweet cream, followed by a drug, which caused the child to throw up the mixture in the stomach. Everything possible was done to keep the child stimulated and to restore his circulation and breathing, but the next day he died from terminal pneumonia.

When coal oil is first taken into the stomach, there is a burning feeling in the mouth, throat and stomach, colic in the abdomen, vomiting and thirst. If the poisons of the coal oil are absorbed the patient develops drowsiness, shallow breathing, feeble pulse and turns blue, then becomes unconscious and not infrequently dies.

In grown up persons who take a small amount of coal oil or who work for a long time in an atmosphere where they inhale a great deal of coal oil, symptoms develop like those of a mild jag which is called a "naptha jag."

The first symptoms are a sense of excitement and lack of self-control; later, however, there is depression, headache, nausea, roaring in the ears, irritation in the throat and a trembling in the hands and arms.

If a sufficient amount of the fluid is absorbed, signs of shallow breathing, weak heart, convulsions and death follow.

Thus far medicine knows no specific antidote for coal oil poisoning. Therefore, under such circumstances the first thing to do is to wash out the stomach and to give a mild laxative.

Then stimulants are used in order to sustain life and the patient is watched constantly so as to lend him such support as can be given by medicine for the organs that need it.

One physician suggested the withdrawing of a considerable amount of blood from the veins and the transfusion of additional blood to take the place of the blood that has had its oxygen carrying power destroyed by the coal oil poisoning. This method is, however, still experimental.

ELECTRA CHILD BADLY HURT WHEN HIT BY CAR

ELECTRA, Texas, July 23.—Betty Gardner, 4, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Gardner, was painfully injured Saturday morning when she was struck by an auto driven by L. P. Warren. The child is said to be suffering from concussion of the brain. However, the extent of her injuries have not bee ndetermined. She was treated at the Parmley-Odgen hospital.

Mr. Warren stated that he was driving slowly on East Cleveland street when the child darted in front of his car. Mr. Gardner is employed by the Marion Machine and Supply company.

ELECTRA YOUTH DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

ELECTRA, Texas, July 23.—Lonnie Hilley, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Hilley, died Saturday following several months illness at his home on East Bryan. Funeral arrangements under direction of Tutton Brothers are incomplete. Survivors in addition to the parents are three sisters, Kathryn, Louise and Myrtle, 10, and one brother, Bobbie.

HEROIC RESCUE

DENVER, Colo.—When firemen stumbled through the smoke-filled home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Ryan, they came upon an inert form. Picking up the still form they rushed outside. They laid the body down on the lawn and gathered around to see if there were any signs of life. Suddenly the victim shuddered, and its eyes opened. Then came a faint, "cheep, cheep." The canary had survived the effects of smoke from a burnt toast which had been left to cook on the stove after the Ryans left the house.

The Political Follies of '32

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—It was a beautiful, balmy night and the more you watched those strange goings-on in front of the United States capitol the balmier everything seemed to be.

You drove up to the Hill this night to see the hundreds of ex-soldiers, broke and demanding the cash bonus, who were camping at the capitol as a method of protest and propaganda.

What happened later was so unlike anything that had ever happened before in that spot that your correspondent took quite a few notes. Here are some of them:

A Picnic Without Food

Vets won't be permitted to sleep on the grounds again. . . Band plays the Pilgrim's chorus. . . Boys and girls holding hands on the grass; kids with velocipedes. It's a picnic, but no food in sight. The vets had a few beans, some stale bread and some coffee for dinner.

Most veterans are beyond the plaza, on sidewalk, on the wall and on the grass behind. . . . There go the cops, just in few, telling everybody to get off the grass. It's tough on some of the bonus boys who have dropped off to sleep.

The cops slap them genially on the back and say: "I'm sorry, pal. We're all with you. We're all ex-service men ourselves. We have to do this. Sorry, Buddy!"

"Keep Moving, Pal"

The men are instructed by their leaders, since they can't sit or lie down on the sidewalk, to march slowly all night. They move reluctantly from the grass over the wall and the 800 or 900 of them are soon mingled with a crowd four times as large. . . . An airplane roars overhead, underneath a round, white moon.

The cops say, monotonously over and over again, "Keep moving. Keep moving. Keep moving." . . . Comes what is perhaps one of the greatest demonstrations of just "Milling around" of all time. The crowd merely circulates among itself. Everybody inches, shuffles, walks widdershins or wiggles.

Eventually, somehow, almost the entire mob, good-natured but hoping something will happen, advances to the foot of the tall house steps. . . . Six motorcycle cops charge it, scaring every one, forcing the crowd back 25 or 30 feet. The mob cheers the motorcycle cops, with a mild rasp. Everybody stops moving and all is stationary awhile. . . . Chief of Police Glasford deploys his men in a new campaign for motion. "Be very gentle!" he commands. Motion is again obtained. The crowd, constantly increasing, mills back and forth across the plaza.

Grass Is Soaked

The lawn sprinklers suddenly go on full blast, soaking every inch of grass where vets had expected to sleep. . . . Vets start a chain gang march directly at the foot of the steps, each with hands on shoulder of the man just ahead. . . . Some sing raucously most of the old army songs.

Again the crowd presses to the foot of the steps and again motorcycle cops clear them out as women scream. . . . Hundreds of women here. . . . Some of the marchers limp. Others are obviously disabled. One both limps and shakes. Soon he has a fit and the ambulance comes for him. Another has a fit every time a photographer's flash bulb explodes near him, but is always revived and marches again.

Urbain Ledoux, the Bowery's "Mr. Zero" who brought hundreds of bags of beans, leads the march. It expands until perhaps 700 or 800 are in a mile-long line and parades from the house side to senate side and back, again and again.

The Straw Tells

They begin to fall out and pile up on the steps. . . . Ten or 15 minutes and every one is kicked off the steps, gently again. . . . Lights on the dome go off well after midnight. Relative darkness. . . . The crowd is eased slowly from the grounds by police wedges. . . . Marchers drop out in greater numbers, pilling on dry grass near the capitol and on the steps again.

Cops are reasonable; they don't move them for half an hour. . . . Eventually some allow themselves to be led off for some sleep, promising them to return and relieve the others so the march will never cease.

It reminded you of the awful all-night session at the Democratic national convention, but no one except the bonus marchers themselves had any idea that their hardships would be crowned by attainment of their aims.

Twenty Years Ago Today

From Files Wichita Times

July 24, 1912

A light vote is expected in Saturday's primary here. With wheat, corn and cotton all demanding the attention of farmers, most of the latter are too busy to go to the polls.

The bull moose has been officially chosen as the symbol of the new Progressive party. It was suggested by some of Roosevelt's associates and accepted by him.

Home grown tomatoes, the first here in several seasons, are being offered on the local market at eight cents a pound. Some growers expect to net better than $300 an acre.

TWO BLIND SENATORS TO TAKE POLITICAL STUMP FOR OPPOSING TICKETS

WASHINGTON, July 23. (INS)—The nation's two blind senators will take the political stump this year for opposing tickets.

Declining to join insurgent western Republicans who have refused to support the Hoover-Curtis ticket, Senator Schall, Republican, of Minnesota, said, "I am a Republican." He will speak in Minnesota and probably other northwestern states.

Senator Gore, Democrat, of Oklahoma, will begin his speaking tour in Oklahoma, but is also expected to campaign for the Roosevelt-Garner ticket in other southwestern states.

WICHITA FALLS SOCIETY

Woman's Forum Artist Program For 1932-33 Offers Speakers Of International Prominence

Several months' work by Mrs. Raymond Myers, chairman, and her committee, have resulted in an artist program for the 1932-33 Woman's Forum season that has never been excelled in entertainment and information. Forum members will have the privilege of hearing a number of outstanding artists, including three celebrities of international fame.

In the first meeting of the season, an autumn tea, to be given on the afternoon of Oct. 4, Miss Winnie Mae Crawford of the department of speech, C. I. A., will be presented to forum members and their friends. She will give an interpretation of A. A. Milne's delightful play, "Michael and Mary," a perfect example of Mr. Milne's light, whimsical and amusing style. Mrs. Pearl Calhoun Davis, a musician who needs no introduction in Texas, will be presented in the same program.

In October, the Woman's Forum will bring to Wichita Falls a young Englishman who is in demand wherever his name is known. Major Francis Yeats-Brown, the author of "Lives of a Bengal Lancer," now in its 14th edition, served with the British army in India and after the world war, retired from the army and entered newspaper work, traveling widely in Europe, Canada and the United States. He revisited India in 1929 and is now writing books and articles. The story of his life in that country is like a tale from the Arabian nights; he is soldier, a mystic and a hunter. He will arrive in America just as his third book, "Ten Bloody Years," comes from the press. With India so much in the limelight, club women of this city are fortunate to have the opportunity of hearing a man who knows that land so well. He has delved into the mysteries of the Hindu religion and he has fought in the wild mountains of the Afghan border. His lecture will be on "When Kings Rode to Delhi."

Woman Spy

Baroness Carla Jenssen, a famous international woman spy, will be presented in lecture in January. Baroness Jenssen, a woman said to possess great personal charm, was born in Denmark. Her mother died when she was very young and she was taken by her father to South Africa, where he was serving as the royal Danish consul-general at Pretoria. For 14 years she was brought up by a man among men. She was secretary to Major Lloyd, commissioner of military pensions in Africa, and in this capacity, came in contact with the high officials of the South African intelligence service. It was there she began her thrilling career.

In her life as an international spy, her daily experience was fraught with danger. One of the highlights of her career was when she shadowed a Russian agent to an underground cave where a seditious meeting was being held. There she managed to escape with his private attache case, which contained papers of great importance to the British government. She risked her life many times, and her lecture is alive with thrilling experiences.

Baroness Jenssen is an accomplished linguist, speaking 12 languages. She has been all over Europe and the Orient and twice round the world. She was one of the most trusted operators in the British intelligence service during the war, pitting her wits against the most formidable men and women in the world. She has since the war, devoted her time to writing. Her first book, "I Spy," is to be made into a movie and it is said the baroness may take the leading role. Her second book will soon appear. Her lecture here will be on "Women in Espionage." Her fascinating personal charm and her experiences as an international spy are reported to hold her audiences spellbound.

A Gypsy Lecturer

Probably the best known celebrity to be presented in the coming season is Konrad Bercovici, a Roumanian gypsy whose short stories are exemplifications of masterly style. His lecture will be on "Gypsies of Many Lands." His striking personality, his rich and colorful language and his remarkable speaking voice will make him an outstanding attraction.

Konrad Bercovici was reared by a gypsy nurse and was familiar from earliest childhood with gypsy folklore and Roumanian traders. At the age of 16 he traveled with these traders and gypsy musicians all over Roumania. Two years later, sailed with his parents for political reasons, he went to Paris to study music. After traveling through France and Spain as a strolling player, he came to America in 1905 to teach music, but due to unsurmountable difficulties, was forced to work as a day laborer. He left America in 1911 but returned in 1915. In 1917 he completed a symphony which the People's Symphony orchestra of New York City was to produce, but the manuscript, the only one in existence, was lost. Terribly disheartened, he vowed he would never again put a note on paper. He made his last musical appearance in 1918. But the music born in him is apparent in his stories and lectures.

Rabbi David Lefkowitz of Dallas will be the March Forum speaker. His subject will be "Science and Religion; Is There a Conflict?" Rabbi Lefkowitz is a fluent and polished speaker and those who have enjoyed his interesting radio talks will welcome his personal appearance.

Altogether, the year of 1932-33 is one of outstanding interest. All lectures will be open to Forum members on their 1932-33 cards.

ZOE Beckley's Corner By Zoe Beckley

Red Light Ahead

"Dear Zoe—I am at present unemployed but am not a spendthrift. She is. She wants us to marry this month. Should I continue to avoid the subject, marry her, or quit? Could it be possible she is anxious to marry me to spite some one she has loved more than me, until recently?

—SPEED."

I know of no crazier thing than to marry because some one else wants you to. The choice of a lifetime mate is far too important a business to be entered haphazard. For your own sake, don't. For the girl's sake, don't. Women sometimes have to be saved from their own rash impulses.

Not that being unemployed necessarily spells disaster in marriage. But to be rushed into it unprepared, simply to satisfy a girl's whim, or spite, is too obvious a piece of folly to need discussion. There is something fundamentally wrong with a girl who demands marriage under such circumstances.

In breaking an engagement, tell the whole truth. It takes courage, but no man worth the name lacks courage. You have made a mistake in thinking this is your girl. Don't be fool enough to make another mistake on top of that. "Spite marriages" are invariably tragic. And surprising as it may seem, there are such things.

'Twas Ever Thus

"Dear Zoe—I love a worthy boy and was silly enough to tell him so in a note. We quarreled and parted and now he goes with a girl who loves somebody else who in turn dislikes her. She knows I care for him and sticks to him only to worry me. Can any of this be straightened out?

—BENOW DE CLEASH."

Follow the straight line—the shortest distance between two points. Let your "straight line" be a note saying quite simply that you confused loving and liking, that you are sorry to have got your emotions mixed but that you know better now and if he would like a little adventure in friendship, you would too. That'll make something happen.

The Hunt for Happiness

"Dear Zoe—I have been married 5½ years to a man who has made life miserable. He drinks constantly and goes with other women promising to quit but never doing it. A year ago I met a man who is almost perfect. Does not smoke, drink or have any bad habits at all. Although I tried to put him out of mind, I cannot help loving him as he does me. He also is married to a woman who began gadding shortly after their marriage. He says nothing matters now that we love each other. He sends me things and comes to see us every possible chance he has. I feel we have a right to our happiness and are planning to take it together. What do you think?

—ANXIOUS."

There is a lot to marriage besides happiness. I mean that it is a mistake to marry with the sole object of being happy. The most promising marriage often fails to bring happiness. And the least hopeful one sometimes develops bright and lasting glory. Why? Because determination and effort have been put into it.

The man who is not your husband "is almost perfect." If you lived with him you would find him just about as far from perfection as the rest of us. Changing husbands does not always make a success of a woman's life.

Besides, do you mean changing husbands? Or are you "planning to take your happiness together" without benefit of clergy? If so, I beg you to stop and read Fannie Hurst's "Back Street" before you make your life a drab, bedraggled affair—not to mention the lives of the other persons involved.

I'm With You!

"Dear Zoe: I've been your ardent reader for years but went on the warpath when you printed that letter from 'Just An Old Lady.' She'd like to make the laws! She doesn't believe in divorce and re-marriage. She doesn't—Oh, my goodness, she ought to—Unhappy."

Well, never mind the rest of it, dearie! I printed the letter from "Old Lady" because there are two sides (at least) to every question and people don't always agree with you and me about this marriage business. Don't get me started on the subject! I could no more condemn a man or woman to a lifetime of married misery than I could send a person to the electric chair for making a mistake in driving or adding up figures or building a house . . . More anon!

Air Race Derby

CLEVELAND.—National air race officials have announced a one-day cross country air derby for the William B. Leeds trophy and $2,000 in cash prizes. The race will be flown from New York to Cleveland, and is open, primarily, to sportsmen pilots, both men and women. Control stops will be made along the route, making the race a series of short legs.

LODGES ENJOY LAST PROGRAM OF SEASON

Members of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges enjoyed their last open house program of the summer at I. O. O. F. hall when an entertaining program proved popular diversion for a large crowd. The program was opened by presenting the beautiful new silk flag to the orders, while the assembly sang "America."

W. C. Martin offered prayer and this was followed by a tap dance by Beverly Ann Witherspoon. Gela Tribble gave a toe dance, and Florence Mooring and Dick Allen entertained with a dance. Faith Gelmiche gave a comedian tap dance followed with a reading by Mrs. Anna Lee Cherry.

The Rainbow drill was given by the Royal Neighbor drill team, and in a cake walk which proved especially amusing, 10 cakes were won by the contestants.

County and district candidates were introduced by C. B. McConnell, master of ceremonies, and music was furnished by a four-piece orchestra.

CAMP FIRE SPARKS

The executive board meeting planned for last week was postponed until Wednesday of this week. The Oawakiya group with Miss Clarice Clark as guardian will prepare and serve the meal at the Y. W. C. A. at 12:15 o'clock. All members are urged to attend.

Community Canning

The following girls helped last week with preparation of food for the canning kitchen sponsored by the women's auxiliary to the American Legion: Evelyn Jane Hawkins, Willie Mae Bralley, Margaret Hutchison, Ruth Loughridge, Mary Backus and Helen Bartholomew. Volunteers are needed this week for this splendid work, especially on Saturday morning. Credit is given to Camp Fire Girls toward the service honor.

Swimming Classes

Swimming classes continue interesting and worth while at Haven park on Wednesday mornings from 8 to 9 under the instruction of Mrs. Clifford Deaton. All of the classes worked hard on the over-arm speed stroke on last Wednesday. Mary Cantrell completed her frog test—second test in the standard Camp Fire swimming honors. All registered Camp Fire Girls are eligible for the free instruction.

Oawakiya Group

The Oawakiya group members are no longer orphans. They are happy over their new guardian, Miss Clarice Clark, a Wichita Fals torch bearer who has been away for two years and has returned with her continued interest and enthusiasm for Camp Fire.

Wednesday the group made a pretty out-of-door fireplace at the home of Mrs. A. H. Carrigan, as planned several weeks ago. Observing tree ants on some of the trees in the yard, a mixture of sour milk and cement was applied to the trees infected by one of the members.

Mrs. Carrigan showed her usual hospitality in serving cookies and punch to the members in the cool shade of the pretty yard at the home. The girls have planned to build a bird bath next.

This group will have charge of preparing and serving the luncheon for the executive board members at the Y. W. C. A. this week.

Mankilo Group

Members of the Mankilo group continued work on the pretty vases, lamp stands and vases done in plastex on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Maude Bartholomew.

Adi-Iwah Group

Members of the Adi-Iwah group met at the home of the guardian, Mrs. Frank W. Michaux, on Monday afternoon. The time was devoted to checking up requirements for rank for fire maker and torch bearer rank.

B. T. BARTON WEDS MISS THEO BRYANS

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Bryans announce the marriage of their daughter, Theo Mae, to Mr. Bonner T. Barton. The ceremony was read in Lawton, Okla., Sunday, July 17, by the Rev. John Walker Coontz, pastor of the First Methodist church. Mr. and Mrs. Barton are at home at 2909 Ninth street.

ATTRACTIVE BRIDE OF JULY 17

MRS. JACK CULLUM

is a recent bride and was before her marriage, which took place at sunrise Sunday, July 17, Miss Maurine Culton. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. P. Culton of Holliday.

PEGGY PIEDMONT Says

ESTABLISHING itself as a restful and cool retreat for Wichita Falls' girls who because of the re-arrangement of working hours, find themselves with probably two hours of leisure in the middle of the morning and maybe a few to spare in the afternoon, and not time enough to go home before going back on their jobs, the Y. W. C. A. is indeed proving a comfortable place to rest on these long, hot summer days.

Cots are arranged for those desiring to take naps, also a table filled with magazines with which to while away an hour or so in pleasant reading. The Kemp Public library also maintains an extension there, where books may be checked out by those wishing more summer reading matter.

FLOWERS and music—time honored duo, has faded into the background for Wichita Falls' women this summer, and canning, pickling, preserving and jelly making has taken its place. Never in the history of the city and country, has there been so many women interested in the preservation of food for winter, and probably never has there been so much to preserve.

POPULAR topics of conversation at all gatherings are how to make various kinds of conserves, jams, and jellies, while the exchange of recipes is a common form of diversion.

Numerous women from all the clubs and churches are just as busy as they can be working at the community kitchen in the Memorial auditorium, helping to can all kinds of vegetables and fruits for those having a surplus, with the part which is received as pay for the work, being stored away for the welfare group to distribute among the needy this winter. The work is under the direction of the American Legion Woman's auxiliary, and the amount accomplished in the past few weeks is nothing short of marvelous.

And just because it is summer time, and vacation time, not every woman has quit work yet. Many of them are busy with many kinds of occupations.

THE Woman's Forum program committee has been a busy group the past few months, and last Thursday during the first district, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs hour, Mrs. Otis Nelson broadcast to club women all over the state who listened in on KGKO, the artist program which will be offered by the Forum the coming season.

MRS. RAYMOND MYERS is chairman of the program committee, and announces that activities for the organization will open on the afternoon of Oct. 4, with an autumn tea which will be for the Forum members and their friends. The season's program will include three celebrities of international fame, the world war Major Yeats-Brown, who retired from the army and entered newspaper work and is now lecturing and writing articles and books; the Baroness Jenssen, who served as an international spy, and is an adept at make-up and disguise, and Konrad Bercovici, a Rumanian gypsy, whose gypsy stories in popular magazines hold his readers spell-bound with their colorful language and description.

Mrs. Nelson closed her broadcast with these words: "Altogether, the year of 1932-33 promises to be an outstanding one for the Woman's Forum, with a program which is unusually varied, interesting, worth while and entertaining."

AND with all these other activities, women are also becoming more and more air-minded, according to recent news items concerning them from all parts of the world.

One says: "When Miss Pat Kendall wants to report a traffic violation she rides around the sky. She is the aerial policewoman at Alameda, Calif. It is her job to report people who don't drive as they should on the sky paths."

◆ ◆ ◆

ANOTHER: "Dr. Florence R. Sabin of New York has been awarded the national achievement award medal, which was presented at White Sulphur Springs, Va., by Chi Omega, the sorority that sponsors the award. Dr. Sabin is anatomist at the Rockefeller foundation."

◆ ◆ ◆

AND: "The distinction of being the first woman aerial chauffeur goes to Miss Marie C. Graham, of Arizona."

◆ ◆ ◆

AND that: "Mrs. L. H. Saunders of the Eastern Air Transport has the distinction of being the only woman in charge of reservation control of an airway line. Anybody who wants to ride on the line has to make his reservation through her teletype board, which is located at Richmond, Va."

◆ ◆ ◆

THAT: "Making airplane models may not seem to be a woman's work, but Miss Mary L. Goodrich has a factory at Hartford, Conn., where she turns them out."

◆ ◆ ◆

AND that: "Mary Bell Dann and Ilah Marian Kibbey have gone up in the air about their work. They sketch and paint pictures of airplanes from other airplanes."

◆ ◆ ◆

AS FINIS is written to this epistle (Friday), politicians are in the last stages of "politicing," and by the time this reaches you, you will have so much other valuable news to read and think about that you will probably be glad when you come to the last word written by

ONE WHOOPING COUGH CASE QUARANTINED IN CITY DURING PAST WEEK

A new record was set when only one case was quarantined by the city health department during the past week. The one case was whooping cough.

Forum Members Judges in Norge Essay Contest

Crossword puzzle fans, as well as those who have yet to become interested in that fascinating pastime, will prick up their ears at mention of the Norge summer contest recently announced. Norge is offering $25,000 in prizes to cross word puzzle winners and writers of short essays; 50 prizes of $500 cash each. Details are appearing in the daily papers and local women—or men—may procure booklets from the Norge dealer in the city. Members of the Woman's Forum have consented to act as judges in the local contest. These will include Mesdames Ben G. Oneal, Lesley Humphrey, Otis E. Nelson and another to be named later.

Everyone is eligible in this contest save the employes of the sponsor and associated companies. Details are fully covered in the advertisements appearing in the newspapers. "The newspaper," said Howard E. Blood, president of Norge corporation, makers of Norge Rollator refrigeration, offers that point-of-decision contact which is obtainable through no other medium. It is for this reason that we have chosen newspapers to tell readers about the Norge summer contest." Distributors and dealers will give information on the contest and in addition the prospective contestant can receive full information from a Norge dealer in the city.

The Norge crossword puzzle contest is fully outlined in the booklet available from any dealer. It shows the 15 puzzles presented for solution and gives complete rules for competing.

Articles of not less than 250 words and not more than 500 words must be submitted with each solution; these articles in the form of an essay on "Why I Prefer the Norge." Literary merit and style will be considered in passing on the manuscripts but understanding of the Norge desirability will be the real basis of judgment.

The winner's name in this section will be published in this paper as soon as announced. Who will win the $500?

The Story of Sue by MARGERY HALE

Sue Fears Burns' Men Will Attack Jack

As Jimmy ceased speaking a curious silence pervaded the room in the cabin. Sally, quite plainly, wasn't interested in anything that had been said. Dr. Raynor was puzzled but he was not concerned in the details. Only Sue understood.

She started to speak, then checked herself. It might not be wise to mention her fears in front of Sally, something seemed to say.

"Were the men masked, Jimmy?" she asked instead.

"All of them. There were three. They had black masks but I couldn't identify them, anyway. They steered clear and it all happened so quickly—you see, I decided all of a sudden to stop at your house, Sue, for a cup of coffee. I was heading down the road that leads that way . . ."

It was even clearer to Sue now. The last vestige of doubt disappeared. The men had wanted to get Jack. The only man who would want to frighten Jack into his way of thinking was George Burns, the lawyer who had formerly employed him. He wanted Jack to open his father's safe and deliver some important evidence to him, in regard to a case in which the two firms were fighting each other.

Sue's chin unconsciously grew more stubborn. Her head was flung higher. Jimmy noticed.

"Got an idea about the whole mess, Sue?" he asked. Her eyes signaled that she had. But aloud she said merely that she didn't know.

When the men learned that it wasn't Jack whom they had shot, she wondered what they would do. Make another attempt, probably. She was arfaid, with a cold, stinging sensation. It was hours before Jack was due back in town.

"Shall we take you home, Jimmy?" she asked, noting the pallor of his face. "We'll get an ambulance—"

"Sorry, but he shouldn't be moved for a couple of days," the physician interrupted.

"But he can't stay here very well." Sue hastened to explain. "Couldn't we take him just as far as my house?"

"Too much bumping over rough roads. He's better off right where he is. You won't mind putting up with some unexpected guests for a few days, will you Sally? You and your—husband?" he appealed to the girl who sat watching, her eyes sober, her lips a steady red line, no vestige of interest in her white face.

"We'll move out," she answered. "If we hadn't been so broke we would have found another place. But the cabin was for rent."

"It won't be necessary," Jimmy retorted. "I'll not disturb you. I'll—" He made a wry face, tried to talk and was silent.

"He's been talking too much. Keep him quiet," Dr. Raynor said. "And you had better call his wife, hadn't you?"

Sue nodded. She hurried to the nearest house where there was a phone, called Grace and explained. Grace's voice was curiously thin and hurt as it came floating back to her. "But—he didn't ask for me, Sue. I—can't come! Hadn't you better call—Natalie Webber?"

Next—Grace comes.

4th STEP to BEAUTY
The important last step is the one which you take before the world in your daily contacts.
Finish . . .
. . with the Beauty Creme if you want the perfect complexion. There is nothing like this unique preparation. It is base and powder combined, and can be applied in three minutes with the fingertips, producing a soft, smooth finish that stays on all day.
60c
The Beauty Creme resists perspiration. It is the ideal swimming make-up, as water does not affect it. Rouge and lipstick blend in with it naturally. No powder is required but may be added during the day if desired.

CANDIDATES MAKE 11TH HOUR FORAYS OKLAHOMA FRONT

Record Vote of 350,000 Expected for Runoff Primary

MURRAYISM ISSUE IN NEARLY EVERY RACE

Bassett-Rogers and Shaw-Walton Contests Hold Center of Stage

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 23. (UP)—Candidates today made eleventh hour forays along Oklahoma's political front as the zero hour of Tuesday's primary election approached.

A record vote was expected, perhaps 350,000, for the runoff primary. Interest was increased by clear-cut contests between the two contenders for their party's nomination and the shortened ballot.

The campaign reached a white heat pitch in several localities where Gov. W. H. Murray personally injected himself into legislative races. Murrayism is an issue in practically every race except that for U. S. senator, and even there the Murray support seems inclined to Gomer Smith against Senator Elmer Thomas.

At next Tuesday's primary the complexion of the next legislature will be at stake as will the effectiveness of the so-called revolt against the "ins," the prohibition sentiment of the new congressional delegation, and the tenor of next November's campaign.

Although the governor had remained aloof from the strange congressman at large race except for shooting barbs at his political foe, Mrs. Mabel Bassett, he was in that contest today.

Walton Comeback

In his personal journal, the "Blue Valley Farmer" he administered Will Rogers, the Moore schoolmaster who shortened his name to that of the famous humorist and won the first primary, a mild spanking then endorsed him, saying:

"He appears to be a conscientious citizen, a sober, upright man not addicted to the association of evil companions."

Unbiased political observers were baffled by the freak race. A week ago, Rogers ruled a strong favorite. But fickle voters who have heard the serious campaign often expressed disappointment that a man bearing the name of Claremore's witty sage could keep a solemn face during a three weeks' campaign.

The comeback of Jack Walton, former impeached governor, was another feature of campaign. A. S. J. Shaw, former state auditor, and Walton have made strenuous campaigns for the corporation commission seat. The ousted governor has pitched his fight on a vindication plea. Those opposing him have preached the "danger" of his re-election.

Thomas Favored

Walton has the active support of the Murray administration. Shaw's friends, a host of volunteer workers, have stressed Shaw's long and faithful public service.

Senator Thomas was favored to decisively defeat Smith.

Whether Governor Murray will have a working majority in the next state senate that he claims will depend largely on the outcome of six senate runoff races: Alvin Moore-Nat Taylor in Roger Mills, Beckham, Dewey and Ellis counties; Sam W. Carmack-W. M. Williams, in Greer and Harmon counties; Louis H. Ritzhaup-Harry F. Brown, Logan county; John D. Pugh-Harry Jolly in Caddo county; Louis A. Fischl-Stephen A. George in Carter, Murray and Love counties, and Clarence Lohman- H. M. Curnutt in Osage and Washington counties.

Wayne Bayless continued a favorite over E. A. Summers in the first district supreme court races. Then fifth district contest between John B. Ogden and Monroe Osborn defies prediction.

Tom McKeown was favored to defeat Bart Aldridge in the fourth congressional race. The real congressional battle was in the second district between W. W. Hastings, incumbent, and Alex Johnston. In the other Democratic congressional race, Jim McClintic, won the nomination by default when Neil Gardner withdrew. The names went on the ballot, however.

Frank Frantz, former territorial governor, and Bailey E. Bell were opponents in the only other congressional runoff contest. They seek the Republican nomination for the first district congressional seat.

JOE WITHERSPOON JR. JOINS FIDELITY LIFE INSURANCE OFFICE HERE

Joe P. Witherspoon Jr., 1201 Monroe, has accepted a position with the local division of the United Fidelity Life Insurance company and is in a position to offer policies from that company, Fred Story, manager, announced Saturday.

Since being graduated from the Wichita Falls High school in June, Witherspoon has been associated with the company in preparation for his present position.

Many More, Grandma

PUYALLUP, Wash.—Grandma Wilson, whose real name is Mrs. Sylvia Wilson, recently celebrated her 104th birthday and now is said to be the third oldest woman in the United States. She was born in Tennessee in 1828 and has seen the country pass through four wars. She is one of the few women in the country on the pension rolls of the war of 1846. Her first husband, Willis Moore, took part in that war.

START CRATING OF CANTALOUPES FOR FIRST CARLOAD

Grading and packing of valley cantaloupes started Saturday at Iowa Park, in preparation for shipment of the first car. A warehouse near the Fort Worth and Denver station is being used by representatives of the United States Fruit company, for crating.

Wichita Falls shipments will be packed at the M-K-T station and a crew is expected to go on duty there early this week.

Although the local production has been reduced by insects, enough cantaloupes are in prospect for heavy shipments.

CONTEST BLUE RIBBON MALT COMPLETED WITH ANOUNCEMENT JUDGES

The $15,000 Blue Ribbon malt contest which was featured through newspaper advertising and over the Columbia Broadcasting System by Ben Bernie has come to a happy ending, with the judges making their decision. The contest closed June 5, but due to the thousands upon thousands of entries, it has taken some time to give each and every entry careful consideration. Each entry was also acknowledged.

The eminent judges, Hon. Anton J. Cermak, mayor of the city of Chicago; Robert Isham Randolph, director of operations, Century of Progress World's Fair, Chicago, 1933, and Al Jolson, internationally known entertainer, judged the 115 winners in the contest.

DRUNKEN MAN WALKS IN HOUSE ON BURNETT AND GOES TO SLEEP ON BED

Charges of drunkenness were filed here Friday night against a man alleged to have walked into a house on Burnett street and calmly gone to sleep on the bed in the guest room.

The owner of the house, when the drunk was discovered, called the sheriff's office and Deputy Ben Howie took the defendant into custody and filed charges in justice court.

The drunk had made bond Saturday and date for trial had not been set.

POLICE MOBILIZED AS MAJORITY OF STRIKERS TURN DOWN COMPROMISE

HIGH POINT, N. C., July 23. (UP)—Police reserves were mobilized here today as a majority of this city's 6,000 textile strikers rejected a compromise proposed this morning by C. V. Bradley, their leader.

All groups of strikers had not reached a decision this morning on whether or not to continue the strike in protest against a wage reduction.

No action was taken on Bradley's resignation as chairman, but the executive committee was assembled to compile the complete strike vote and to act on him.

Police said the determined stand of the strikers might lead to violence, if backed up by the central committee, and they were prepared for any emergency.

SEVERAL GOOD PRODUCERS COMPLETED IN AREA DURING WEEK

Sixteen New Sites for Future Tests Staked Out in Archer, Young, Jack And Wichita County Oil Districts

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

Development of the pools of this district during the past week resulted in the completion of several nice producers and the usual number of dry holes. Sixteen new sites for future tests were staked out, Archer, Young, Jack and Wichita counties being the favored spots.

In the southeast corner of Archer county in the new Tedford pool a couple of new wells were brought in from the wonderful 690-foot pay and others are nearing the pay depth, due for completion at any time. The completion of C. C. Williams No. 1 Matlock in the northeast corner of block 25, Saunders survey, abstract 645, as a small producer rated at 25 barrels, was the means of adding a considerable amount of new acreage to the southwest of the pool's producing area.

Young county activities consisted of the usual number of spudder tests under way in the shallower horizons in the Orth-Jean and other areas, but nothing except the usual routine of field work was reported. Northeast of Graham three deep tests are drilling to the deeper pay and within the next week some interesting news from these localities is looked for.

Cooke, Jack, Montague and other pools failed to report any happenings of importance.

Pipe line runs from the nine pools of the district average 49,045 barrels daily, a decrease of 97 barrels per day as compared with the previous seven-day movement.

Tariff Decreases Imports of Oil Mid-Continent Production Declines Refined Products Demand Drops

AUSTIN, July 23.—The outstanding factors affecting the oil business during the summer, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research, are operations of the new tariff to decrease importation, a continued decline in oil production in the Midcontinent, in spite of a marked increase in drilling activity, gain in number of new well completions, and an increase in gasoline stocks due to unexpected low midsummer demand for refined products.

"Imports of oil into the United States for the week ending July 2, the first week after the tariff became effective, were down about 50 per cent, and gasoline decreased 100 per cent," the bureau's report said. "It is too soon, however, to predict what effect this change will have on the Midcontinent oil situation, because without doubt more oil will be shipped by tankers from California to make up for the lack of oil from Venezuela. Stocks of crude in California are on the increase, and a broader market is badly needed. Daily production July 1 for the first time since September, 1931, dropped below 2,100,000. One year ago the daily production was 2,450,000. The increase in productive wells in the Midcontinent field during the first quarter of the year and continuing during the summer has amounted to 55 per cent. However, more than half the new wells have been drilled in East Texas, so that the new production gained by the completions has been more than offset by the decline in the old fields since production in East Texas continues to be held down by proration rules to 333,000 barrels.

Want Revision Upward

"In connection with the proration rules there is evidence of increasing agitation on the part of independent companies for a revision upward of the allowable production per well. This feeling is engendered partly because of allowed increases in Oklahoma and because Van oil field, controlled by a few large companies is permitted to produce 100,000 barrels or about 200 barrels per well, whereas East Texas was reduced to 46 barrels per well on July 16. The operators point out correctly that production in the rest of the state is not being controlled so well as in the big field.

"American Petroleum institute figures on refinery operations for the first week of July showed a decrease of 47,000 barrels in the total crude consumed. At the same time there was an increase of 275,000 barrels in stocks of gasoline at refineries, but this increase is not regarded as serious in view of the fact that Mid-Continent refineries have curtailed runs to stills by an average of more than 50,000 barrels since June 15, and it is thought that prices will hold. Most encouraging of all are the figures of the United States bureau of mines issued for May, which indicate a very favorable balance between supply and demand factors. The barometer accompanying the report shows the weighed index of supply to be 97.4, whereas the weighed index of demand stood at 97.1.

"New discoveries in undeveloped areas and new developments in old fields were notably meager. Perhaps it is the midsummer heat, but it is also a fact that new pools are becoming rarer. Two extensions to the producing area were recorded in northern Duval county, a wildcat well drilled by Concord Oil company in Colorado county encountered gas, and Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil company completed the largest well yet drilled in southern Ward county, West Texas. In 19 hours, the well produced 680 barrels of pipe line oil from a depth of 2310 feet. No other features of sufficient importance to reach the headlines happened."

Panhandle Field Registers Gain 993 Barrels Day

AMARILLO, Texas, July 23.—One new producer in the Panhandle field of Northwest Texas and operating conditions caused the Plains area to register a daily gain of 993 barrels a day the week just ended, or 53,901 barrels a day, comparable with 52,908 barrels a day the previous week as follows:

Area—	Past Week Wells	Prev. Week Output	Prev. Week Wells	Prev. Week Output

Comets From Jupiter

A theory of S. Vsesviatsky, who's connected with the astronomical institute of Moscow, teaches that many of the comets that appear in the night sky may be the product of eruptions from the surface of the planet Jupiter.

IMPROVEMENT OIL INDUSTRY SEEN BY BEATY

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—The oil industry is showing much improvement, even under present conditions, Amos L. Beaty, president of the American Petroleum institute, writes in the organization's quarterly review.

The volume of business, Beaty believes, is sufficient to produce fair profits, provided operations are conducted on a rational basis. While estimates indicate demand for motor fuel in the last nine months of this year will be about 6 per cent less than in the corresponding period for the previous year, and possibly as much as 15 per cent, Beaty views the industry as being in a fortunate position, comparatively.

"We are in a trend which is sharply upward, except for the general depression. The drift from other forms of transportation to those involving consumption of our products is and for some years has been steady and strong. There is no telling what the consumption of gasoline and motor oil would be today if the depression had not intervened."

Mid-Continent Oil Activities

TYLER, Texas, July 23. (UP)—Wednesday's completions in the East Texas oil field totaled 11, a figure far below the normal trend, but delayed data from the Henderson district not incorporated in the report was believed responsible for the drop. Addition of the 11 completions brought the number of East Texas producers to 6,975.

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, July 23. (UP)—Three completions in the North Los Olmos shallow pool of Starr county and four new locations, three of them for deep tests, marked activity in the Starr county field this week.

FORT WORTH, July 23. (UP)—Texas headquarters of the Sinclair-Prairie Pipe Line company, transportation subsidiary of the Consolidated Oil corporation, will be located here after Aug. 1, officials of the concern said today. Sinclair-Prairie is the fifth major department of the Consolidated to move here within the last month.

SEMINOLE, Okla., July 23. (UP)—Although a 40-quart shot of nitroglycerin increased the flow of oil in the H. H. Taylor No. 1 Nea, a semi-wildcat extensioner in the Sacred Heart area of the St. Louis pool, it halted operations temporarily.

Immediately after the shot, set off at from 4183 to 4222 feet, oil rose 4000 feet in the hole. But the charge damaged half of the last joint of pipe.

Pipe Line Runs Show Slight Loss for Week

Crude oil runs from the pools of the Wichita Falls district for the week ended Saturday, July 23, averaged 49,045 barrels per day, a decrease of only 97 barrels daily as compared with the previous week's run. Four pools of the North Texas division, Haskell, south Young, Throckmorton and Jack counties, maintained an average of 5,334 barrels daily, a gain of 20 barrels over the previous seven-day run. Following is the run by pools:

Wichita Falls District

Pool—	Barrels Daily—Last Week	Prev. Week
Archer county	11,381	11,383
Baylor county	407	401
Clay county	507	502

OLD SPOTS WIN ATTENTION IN DUNCAN FIELD

FIVE TESTS IN COUNTY HAVE REACHED SANDS

One New Operation Under Way During the Last Week There

DUNCAN, Okla., July 23.—Attention has turned again to tests around the edges of old producing areas of Stephens county, which may prove a big factor in determining the trend of development for the immediate future. Five tests in the county have sands and one new operation got under way during the past week.

Oil men continued to watch the English Drilling company No. 1 Heenan and Coe, in the NE SE NE of 32-3n-7w, interesting wildcat in southern Grady county, two miles north of Marlow. Operators were drilling ahead at 2850 feet in shale, after failing to get production in sand from 2684 to 2692 feet. The wildcat is contracted for 3500 feet, and a test of deeper pay levels is promised.

The well is three and a half miles south and two east of the Carter's No. 1 Carson, in the SE SE SE of 12-3n-8w, a wildcat recently abandoned at 4992 feet. The No. 1 Heenan and Coe is reported running about 40 feet higher than the Carter wildcat. The Carter logged sand from 2884 to 2889 feet; from 3181 to 3190 feet; from 3275 to 3277 feet; from 3411 to 3415 feet and from 3590 to 3608 feet but had nothing good enough to test.

R. W. King and associates have casing cemented and are testing sand topped at 2024 feet in the No. 1 school land, in the NE NE NW of 36-1s-9w, on the west edge of the old Empire district, southwest of Duncan. This is one of the Stephens county tests being watched as holding a chance to open new territory for drilling.

Keith to Test Sand

George Keith and associates are drilling out plugs with standard tools, after cementing six feet of liner, to test sand topped at 2115 feet in the No. 1 Blake, in the NW NW NE SW of 16-1s-8w, near old production four miles west and two south of Duncan.

J. C. Chambers and associates are shut down for casing after topping oil sand at 2111 feet in the No. 1 Dolen, in the SW NW NW of 15-1s-8w, in the same district.

Carl Wille and associates staked out location for their No. 1 Perry Cates, in the SW SE NW SW of 15-1s-8w.

The Meridian Oil company has casing set to test the 1450-foot pay level in the No. 2 P. H. Peck, in the NW NW NW SW of 1-2s-8w, in the field five miles south and two west of Duncan.

P. L. Gilbert and associates were drilling at 100 feet in the No. 3 Green, in the SE SE SE NE of 2-2s-8w.

The Continental Oil company was drilling at 2041 feet in the No. 3 Dare, in the SW SW SE of 2-2s-8w.

To Test at 1724

George L. Pace has casing set to test sand topped at 1724 feet in the No. 4-B Watkins, in the SW NW NW SW of 22-2s-7w, a mile east of the town of Comanche, and was drilling at 1200 feet in the No. 7-B Watkins, in the NW NW SE SW of 22-2s-7w, three locations east of production.

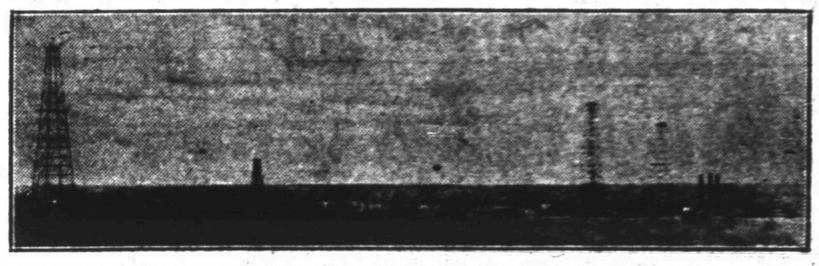

The Parry and associates No. 1 Laura McPhail, in the SW SW SW SW of 14-2s-7w, northeast of the Watkins field, still is a location.

Pace was drilling at 1165 feet in the No. 1 Tillerson, in the SE SW NW of 14-1n-9w, northwest of the Oil City field.

The Shasta Oil company was drilling at 500 feet in the No. 1 Nellie Cary, in the NE NE SW SW of 18-1s-9w, a wildcat northeast of the Walters field of Cotton county.

The Wilson & Kinnett No. 1 Wilson, in the SW NW NW of 6-2s-9w, just east of the Walters field, is plugged and abandoned after testing salt water in sand from 2180 to 2187 feet.

Ratliff and Colvin were setting the 6⅝-inch casing at 1659 feet to test oil sand in the No. 1 Ratliff, in the NW NE NW SW of 19-1s-2w, twin to a dry hole on the east edge of the Tatums field of Carter county. Total depth is 1670 feet.

Among the Derricks

By JIMMIE MAXWELL

W. Exsley and associates have staked out location for No. 1 J. W. Maxey estate to be drilled 1470 feet from north, and 150 feet from east line of section 2 abstract 2018 in Jack county.

O. N. Beer and associates No. 1 W. L. Andrews, located in the Collingsworth survey, abstract 68 southeast of Anarene is plugging back from 1555 feet to test out a lime at 903 feet showing oil.

N. H. Martin and associates No. 2 G. W. Lewis, located in block 23, W. V. F. L. subdivision one mile west of K. M. A. field in Wichita county is drilling at a depth of 1560 feet.

Burns & Long No. 1 D. L. Harolson, located 150 feet from north and 1170 feet from east lines of block 19, Meade L. M. Pasture northeast of Megargel in southwest Archer county is rigging up rotary.

Mitchell & Cooper No. 5 J. P. Dunigan, located in the north half of section 163, T. E. L. survey, south of Olney in Young county, completed early in the week is being equipped to the pump as a 100 barreler from the sand at 940-41 feet.

J. M. Seaberry and others are testing out a sand at 965-67 feet in their No. 1 Andrews test located in the F. A. Whittaker survey, abstract 674, about three and a half miles southeast of Anarene in Archer county.

George Proctor No. 1 L. H. Tarr, located in the southeast part of block 136 Harris subdivision northwest of Archer City in Archer county is drilling at 700 feet.

A. J. Pepper and others have made location for No. 1 F. F. Brown test and is drilling at 300 feet. The test is 1325 feet from south, and 800 feet from east line of section 258 T. E. L. survey, one and a half miles a little southeast of True townsite in Young county.

Fain & McGaha corporation No. C-5, fee, located in the northeast corner of block 2, league 3, Denton county school lands northeast of Holliday in Archer county, completed the first of the week in the sand at 1780-90 feet is making 100 barrels.

Pennell and others No. 1 W. E. Sullivan, is a location 150 feet from north and west lines of the east 40 of the south 80 of west 185 acres of section 1918 T. E. & L. survey, one mile southeast of Jean townsite in north Young county.

G. I. O. Oil-Jennings, No. 1 Mrs. Grace Jennings, located in the southwest corner of section 8 H. & T. B. R. R. survey, abstract 475 two miles southeast of Electra in Wichita county, an 1850-foot rotary test is drilling at 700 feet.

R. R. Clark and others is spudding in on their No. 25 Bickley estate well located 300 feet south of No. 20 in section 2, C. & M. R. survey, 594 northeast of the city of Electra in Wichita county.

Burns & Long No. T-1 L. F. Wilson, located in block 3, section 75 A. T. N. C. L. survey, completed during the week in the Chalk Hill, Archer county, horizon at 2230 feet as a 300 barreler is being equipped to the pump.

Newt Maer and associates are drilling at 400 feet on their No. 1 G. M. Jones test located in the southwest part of section 26 T. E. L. survey south of Orth in Young county.

Seitz-Comegys-Seitz, No. 1 J. W. Bullock, a wildcat five miles west of Orth townsite in the northwest quarter of section 61, T. E. & L. survey Young county is shut down in a gas sand at 610 feet with an estimated flow of 5,000,000 cubic feet daily.

White-Duncan-Holt and Tedford No. 6 S. Webb is located 150 feet from the north and 450 feet from the east lines of the I. G. N. R. R. survey, abstract 239 in the Tedford shallow pool southeast Archer county.

Deep Oil Development company has staked out No. 1 Jehlik test to be drilled 1711 feet from south and 150 feet from east lines of block 131 Harris subdivision in Archer county. The test will also offset the A. Kouri No. 1 J. Montgomery producer to the west and about two miles north of Archer City in Archer county.

S. P. Schmitt and associates No. 1 Henry Lewis, located 1300 feet from north, and 1200 feet from east lines of the most easterly northeast corner of E. D. Wray survey, abstract 882 in Jack county is abandoned as a dry hole at 1105 feet.

Deep Oil-Lindsay, No. 1, lease 18, L. F. Wilson, is a 2300-foot location staked out 330 feet from north and 1368 feet from the east lines of lot 3, block 75, A. T. N. C. L. survey, offsetting Burns & Long No. 1 Wilson to the west, in Chalk Hill area of Archer county.

H. L. Gross and associates have staked out location for a 1400-foot test to be drilled 450 feet from the west 750 feet from the north lines of block 51, A. T. N. C. L. survey, Albert Finkler from about two and one-half miles south of Lake Wichita in Archer county.

Fain & McGaha corporation have staked out No. 2 J. W. Campbell to be drilled 150 feet from the south and east lines of the west half of block 26, Denton county school lands, league 4, a short distance northeast of Holliday townsite in Archer county.

Chapman & Parker No. 1 Parker estate, located in the southeast part of block 24, Polo Pinto school lands in southwest Wichita county, spudded in and is drilling at 250 feet.

R. R. Clark and others No. 24 Bickley estate, located in C. & M. R. R. survey, abstract 594, northeast of Electra, is completed in the sand at 844-67 and making 150 barrels per day.

C. C. Williams has made location for his No. 2 J. Matlock well to be drilled 2011 feet from north and 150 feet from the east lines of block 25, Saunders survey, abstract 645, and two locations south of No. 1 producer in the Tedford pool in southeast Archer county.

W. D. Cline No. 1 J. M. Brooks, located in the south 40 acres of the Brooks land in block 25, Polo Pinto school lands, southwest Wichita county, is clabbered at 1365 feet.

C. R. Cox and associates No. 1 B. F. Dutton, located in the east 60 acres of the south half of block 18, D. C. S. L. survey in the Holliday pool south Wichita county is underreaming 5 3-16 pipe at 1105 feet.

Golding & Cochran No. M-2 J. & J. Waggoner, located in the southwest corner of block 23, H. George survey, abstract 454, Beaver Creek district of Wichita county, completed several months ago as an 80-barreler from a sand at 1295-1302 feet but since declined is drilling deeper and is down 1400 feet.

N. H. Martin and associates are drilling at 1550 feet in their No. 2 G. W. Lewis test in the southwest part of block 23, Wichita valley farm lands, one mile west of production in the K. M. A. pool, south Wichita county.

E. H. Pigg and others are rigging up rotary on their No. 1 Foster-Allen 1850-foot test, located in the south 124 acres of block 832, S. Denison survey, abstract 832, four miles northwest of Clara townsite in Wichita county.

C. A. Reid and others No. 1 J. B. Sisk, located 450 feet from north and 150 feet from west line of block 15, league 2, Denton county school lands, south Wichita county, is setting surface pipe at 25 feet. This is to be drilled to a contract depth of 1100 feet.

Joe Minton and associates No. 1 L. F. Wilson in block 121, A. T. N. C. L. survey northwest of Archer City in Archer county, is shut down at a depth of 1906 feet.

Deep Oil Development-Lindsay No. 1 Crawford-Plowman, located in block 16, H. Corzine survey, abstract 56, one mile west of production in Chalk hill, Archer county, is looking for the sand and drilling at 2200 feet.

Falls Refining company No. 1 L. F. Wilson, located in block 119, A. T. N. C. L. survey, one-half mile south of Chalk hill production in Archer county, is shut down at a total depth of 2222 feet.

Gilliland & Rosser No. 4 J. S. Walsh, located in the southeast quarter of section 2417, T. E. & L. survey, southwest Archer county, is drilling at 1150 feet.

The Continental Oil company, putting down a 2500-foot test in block 23, Harris subdivision southwest of the Turbeville land, and on the C. L. Abercrombie tract, Archer county, is drilling at a depth of 2200 feet.

George Pace and others are drilling at 700 feet on No. 2 H. L. Dennis test in the A. Pope survey, abstract 818, in the Bulcher pool, northwest Cooke county.

Schlaffke & Blair No. 1 Guy Beard, located in the north half of northwest quarter of block 17, league 4, Denton county school, south Wichita county, and in the Holliday area, is dry and abandoned at a depth of 725 feet.

Barkley & Meadows No. C-14 W. T. Waggoner, located in block 5, section 5, H. & T. C. R. R. survey, southeast Wilbarger county, is drilling at 1000 feet.

W. B. Hamilton No. 1 L. Cartwright, located 1103 feet from north and 330 from west line of James Webb survey, abstract 664, north of Anarene in Archer county, is estimated at 50 barrels after a 70-quart shot in the saturated lime and sand at 1162-81 feet.

Texas State Oil company No. 1 J. F. Shipley, located in D. L. & C. survey, abstract 1215, in the Fluhman pool west of the old South Vernon pool in Wilbarger county, is drilling at 1250 feet.

King Royalty company's No. B-1 C. L. Abercrombie, located in block 138, Harris subdivision, southwest of Archer City in Archer county, is cleaning out the hole after a shot in the saturated lime at 1178-88 feet.

Walter D. Cline, No. 1 W. Burris, located in the southeast corner of the west half or section 1395 T. E. L. survey in Young county is abandoned as dry at 868 feet.

A. Z. Kouri and others No. 2 Montgomery, located southwest of No. 1 producer in block 133 Harris subdivision north of Archer City in Archer county is shut down at a depth of 1140 feet.

Texas Plains Oil Co. (McCarty Oil) No. 2 W. H. Terrell, in the W. H. Herring survey, abstract 268, block 17, an offset to No. 1 completed last week with an initial production of 700 barrels from the usual 690 Tedford pay in southeast Archer county, has spudded in and drilling at 400 feet.

Henry Craig and others No. 2 J. W. Davis, located in the east 200 acres of section 1395 T. E. L. survey north Young county is drilling at 500 feet.

MID-CONTINENT STUDIES PLAN REDUCE OUTPUT

Industry Leaders Say Hike Of 25 Cents Would Follow Production Cut

EXPECT TO CURTAIL BOTH REFINERS AND PRODUCERS

New Wilcox Well Sand Expected in West Seminole District

TULSA, Okla., July 23.—Overshadowing all other aspects of the oil situation among mid-continent oil men the week just ended was the conference of leaders of the industry at Colorado Springs. Interest in the gathering at the Colorado resort city was the nation-wide publicity that has followed efforts of Thurman Hill, associate commissioner of public service commission of Kansas, to stabilize the industry through a plan of curtailing production. While Hill has intrigued the oil producers with a promise of a 25 cents a barrel hike in price if they agreed to curtail output, executives of many of the major firms say that he was not authorized to make such a bid for agreement, although they are in sympathy with his efforts.

The oil states advisory committee, made up of official delegates from the oil states, and the American Petroleum institute directors were in frequent conference, and a national curtailment program is to be worked out. It will apply to refiners as well as producers.

In spite of appeals of operators and lease owners to have the Sacred Heart extension area of St. Louis pool, southeastern Pottawatomie county, and in southwest part of Greater Seminole field, State Umpire Ray M. Collins has ruled that it is a south extension of St. Louis. A 10-day's gauge is now being taken after which the production will be restricted to 44 per cent of potentials determined.

All of the production is from the Simpson formation, with a little oil from Hunton and Viola limes. The Wilcox sand on some outside tests contained only water. The Simpson pay is close to the water stratum, and the newest well there and one which extended it more than a mile to the east is also showing some unsalable fluid. It is H. H. Taylor and others No. 1 Bean, in the southwest corner of the northwest of 36-7-4, which had the Simpson from 4174 to 4225 feet and made 60 barrels an hour for six hours, and then fell off because of a lack of gas. It was given a 10-quart shot at 4204 to 4209 feet, but it did not increase the oil content much. Swabbed for 11 hours it made 170 barrels and the production was cutting about three per cent from water intrusion.

Expect Another Wilcox

The West Seminole pool at the southwest door to Seminole, capital city of the big field, is expecting another Wilcox sand well right away. The Amerada Petroleum corporation and Stanolind Oil and Gas company No. 3 Chase, in the southwest of the northwest of the southeast of 29-9-6e, was waiting on six-inch casing to cement before drilling out and ahead. The Woodford shale was found at 3795 feet, the Sylvan shale at 3910 feet, the Viola lime at 3990 feet and bottom of hole is 4015 feet, and the well is running normal.

In the Fish area, Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation had to kill a 32,000,000-foot gas well at No. 1 Jacobs, in the northwest of the northeast of the southeast of 9-7-8e, west of Holdenville, in Hughes county, so a string of lost tools could be fished out. They were lost in sand at 2875 to 2913 feet when the crew drilled out the plug and into a big body of gas.

Does the great Oklahoma City oil structure pick up to the northwest of the Oklahoma state capital, and some 15 miles northwest of the field? That is what oil men have been asking.

The query is to be answered soon when Carter Oil company and associates announce location for a community test well to be in 12-12-4w. They must start by Aug. 1.

Revised figures show that the capital field from Dec. 4, 1928, when it was discovered, to July 1 had produced a total of 108,038,639 barrels of oil.

The most southerly well in the Wilcox sand does not look like a producer and will be plugged back to the Prue sand. It is Indian Territory Illuminating Oil company No. 1 Miller, in the northeast corner of the northwest of 35-11-3w, which got the sand at 6675 to 6685 feet and showing water was being swabbed dry so it could be cemented back to 6550 and the hole prepared to test the Peru at 6800 to 6515 feet. It made 28 barrels in eight hours and 23 barrels the next hour and three barrels in the following eight hours. The oil was cut five per cent by water.

Field men report 22 first reports from over the Sooner fields the week just ended, compared with 20 the previous week. Most of the new operations are in proven areas and forced by lease obligations.

Completions totaled 16, a gain of 12 over the week previous, but few big wells were in the list. Eight oil wells did 11,242 barrels, one gas well 20,000,000 feet and the others were failures.

Financier Says Third of Value of Grain Goes Into Pockets of Those Who Grow Fat at Farmer's Expense

CHICAGO, July 23. (AP)—Arthur W. Cutten, financier and grain trader, in a signed article published today said one-third of the value of the domestic wheat, corn and oat crops goes "into the pockets of those who grow fat at the farmers' expense."

"The department of agriculture," he said, "for the year ending June 30, 1932, got rid of $318,976,516 and the farm board has a revolving fund of $136,238,555.

"If those bureaucratic lapdogs who are fed out of the public purse could be compensated by farm products instead of the almighty dollar, the entire wheat crop of the United States at present values would be gobbled up and still leave a balance of $100,000,000 to be obtained elsewhere. This is about the present value of the entire oats crop of the United States, hence the bureaus and their sponsor, the department of agriculture, could absorb these two crops in their entirety; and yet they have the gall to say they want to help the farmer."

He suggested that farmers, instead of working puzzles during the long winter evenings, spend their time on "this problem of the destruction of agriculture.

"It will not be a time-killing pleasure, but rather a time-absorbing tragedy," Cutten wrote "in the realization that farmers are being exploited, and the public gouged, only to benefit partisans of a political party—in reality, a machine of destruction, a steamroller of ruthless violence, crushing all alike in its greed for waxing fat on public money."

RELIEF PLAN LABOR BEFORE PARTY CHIEFS

Begin Drive for Five-Day Week and Six-Hour Work Day

PROGRAM ALSO INCLUDES UNEMPLOMENT INSURANCE

Council Adjourns After Two Weeks Session at Atlantic City

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 23. (AP)—A five-point relief plan, drawn up by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, was before the nation's leaders today as William Green, federation president began a drive for a five-day week and six-hour day unemployment insurance.

The council, before adjourning after a two-week session yesterday, issued a formal statement outlining its relief program and directed a six-hour day and unemployment insurance.

The council recommended:

"1. That relief agencies in all cities be strengthened and supplied with funds adequate to meet the situation. Drives should be made locally in an effort to secure relief funds.

"2. The municipal governments should exercise all power at their command to raise funds to appropriate city funds for the relief of the unemployed.

"3. State governments should also draw upon the resources of the state and through their taxing and borrowing power supplement the work of local relief agencies and city governments.

"4. The federal government must do its part. While the relief bill passed by congress will serve to help in a very large way, the executive council is of the opinion it does not represent the full service which the federal government must render in the trying situation which all familiar with the facts know must arise when cold weather comes.

"5. The call of the hour is for cooperation and assistance on the part of all groups and all individual citizens. The executive council directs organized labor to cooperate with all organizations."

ST. LOUIS CHOSEN FOR NEXT CONVENTION OF INTERNATIONAL LIONS

LOS ANGELES, July 23. (AP)—Officers elected and St. Louis named for the 1933 convention, many of the 3,000 delegates to the 16th annual convention of the International Association of Lions Clubs today planned to remain here for the Olympic games.

Charles H. Hatton of Wichita, Kan., was elected president at the final session yesterday. He succeeded Julien Hyer of Fort Worth, Texas.

Five directors elected included Samuel Braswell of Clarendon, Texas.

Big Circus Revue At Lakeside Park Splendid Program

With everything all set for the big circus revue that opened Saturday in Lakeside park, Wichita Falls has its first opportunity to see a complete circus at this popular amusement spot.

More than 40 human and animal actors present the show. The revue opens with a novelty act of skill and precision, by Wingo and Guesnard, followed by a clown comedy, then Kellys riding dogs and monkeys will perform an act of great merit.

Glyndon Burns will be the next big feature act and will offer many a thrill and laugh on the slack wire. A number of clowns will work in this spot and will be followed by military ponies.

Next will be seen "The Posing Marvels," a beautiful act, then "Picture Taking Day," a funny clown number.

"Over Your Heads" is an act that will be long remembered. Jim Roberts, the rubber man, will give some idea of how a human pretzel would look.

Next on the program will be America's foremost talking pony, with a novelty acrobatic act to follow. Then comes Zipo, the trick mule, that nobody can ride, and "A Merry Mix Up," a novelty of music, beauty and skill.

The program will come to a close with the Myer duo, performing on the flying trapeze.

Cows Milked by Telegraph Ticker At Florida Farm

GAINESVILLE, Fla., July 23. (AP)—Cows were milked by telegraph at the Florida experiment station here today.

It was another case of necessity mothering invention. The milking machine broke down. A spring in the pulsator, which causes the suction to alternate from front to rear teats, was broken.

The part could be replaced but it had to be ordered from New York. Meanwhile there were 30 cows to be milked.

Then Johnnie Wilson, campus electrician at the experiment station on the University of Florida grounds, went to work. He took an ordinary telegraph ticker and connected it with the pulsator so it would make and break the current that alternates the suction.

By operating the ticker at a speed of 45 to 48 times a minute, just as though he were sending a message over the wire, he caused the milking machine to do its morning work nicely.

COUNTRY PUBLISHERS PROTEST GOVERNMENT SALE OF ENVELOPES

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 23. (UP)—Southwestern country newspaper publishers protested today that the federal government, by printing and shipping envelopes at less than one dollar for five hundred, is taking a share of their rightful income.

The protests came at a congressional hearing into alleged federal bureaucracy. The investigation was sponsored by Representative Joseph Shannon, of Missouri. Representative Samuel Pettingill of Indiana also is hearing the evidence.

"When I buy envelopes, they cost me 85 cents for 500," said C. L. Hibbart of Medlen, Mo. "Yet the government prints and delivers envelops for 98 cents for 500. That's the kind of competition we get from the government."

Oklahoma chambers of commerce are using government-printed envelopes because they are cheaper, according to Harry B. Rutledge, Norman, Okla., president of the Newspaper Managers association.

"I made an investigation and discovered that," Rutledge said. "By rights, that business belongs to the newspapers."

AMUSEMENTS

Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Joan Crawford, Wallce Beery and Lionel Barrymore in "Grand Hotel," coming to the State theater August 1 for three days as a road show, with two performances daily, at 2:30 and 8:30 p. m.

Hank Mann and Jack Oakie in a scene from "Million Dollar Legs," coming to the Majestic Tuesday for three days showing.

Majestic Has Summer Bargain Show Made Up of Five Entertaining Units State Features 'Love Is a Racket'

All of the elements that go to make perfect screen entertainment will be found in the first summer bargain show now at the Majestic theater. According to Manager C. H. Stewart of the Majestic, the most exacting theatergoers will find it to their liking.

This summer bargain show, which is being presented at regular admission prices, is composed of five big units of screen entertainment that have been especially selected for their variety and amusement value. Unit No. 1 which heads the list is "Washington Masquerade." It is a sensational story of the scandalous happenings in society and political circles of the national capitol. Lionel Barrymore, Karen Morley and Nils Asther head the superb cast.

Unit No. 2 furnishes the comedy element of the show and is an excellent mirth provoking featurette titled, "Niagara Falls." The story concerns the madcap antics of the employes of a radio store. The cast, most of whom would do credit to any feature picture includes such well know players as Eddie Nugent, June McCloy and Marion Schilling.

Betty Boop, that famous little cartoon character in her latest offering, "Bizzy Bee," is unit No. 3 and the musical part of the show, Betty, like Mickey Mouse, has more admirers than most flesh and blood stars.

The unusual or different note in the program is furnished by Ripley's "Believe It Or Not," which is unit No. 4. Rip takes you on a tour to strange places where you see strange people and things.

Majestic sound news, truly "the eyes and ears of the world," brings the latest news events to the Majestic screen and rounds out this great summer bargain show.

"Million Dollar Legs"

"Million Dollar Legs," Paramount's Olympic games comedy, which comes to the Majestic starting Tuesday, with an all-star comedy cast headed by Jack Oakie, W. C. Fields, Lyda Roberti, Ben Turpin, Hank Mann, Andy Clyde, Susan Fleming and Dickie Moore, is said to be a completely dizzy burlesque which out-slapsticks slapstick.

Lyda Roberti, noted comedienne of Broadway musical comedy, has the role of the seductive Mata. Susan Fleming, another Broadway showgirl, is the romantic lead, and Dickie Moore turns comedian as the heroine's young brother, who has a bow and arrow and a penchant for shooting arrows at inopportune moments. Ben Turpin plays a new kind of spy: He watches both sides.

"Unashamed"

Mystery and the modern age, an amazing dramatic twist wherein the heroine is faced with a choice between her own honor or the death of her brother, and a courtroom sequence that sets a new mark for dramatic suspense, figure in "Unashamed" which will open Friday at the Majestic.

"LOVE IS A RACKET" SHOWS STATE STARTING SUNDAY

Opening Sunday at the State theater is "Love Is a Racket" featuring Douglas Fairbanks Jr., with Ann Dvorak, Lee Tracy, Frances Dee and Warren Hymer. The picture will play a three-day engagement, closing Tuesday night.

Doug Jr. appears in "The Love Racket" as a big-city newspaper columnist, Broadway-wise and cynical, the story of which concerns his adventures with the great-and-near-great of Broadway, as well as his own love affairs which parallel with those on whom he tips the so-called scandal. No doubt many admirers of the Walter Winchell type have been a bit curious as to how these wise-cracking columnists gather their "news" for the daily broadcast of scandal, and Doug leaves no stone unturned to give you the real low-down. He takes you from the celebrated hangouts of Fifth avenue society to the dens of New York's racketeers and gangsters, combining throughout the story elements of amusing comedy and drama.

"New Morals for Old"

"New Morals for Old" will open a three-day engagement at the State Wednesday. The cast in this attraction includes Lewis Stone, Robert Young, Margaret Peery and Laura Hope Crewes. Portraying vividly the conflict between the older and the modern young generations, "New Morals for Old" deals with the struggle of a brother and sister to escape the restraints imposed upon them by their parents. As is typical in countless families of today, the father is anxious for his son to follow his own line of business, and has no patience with his desire to become a famous artist. The mother on the other hand, fights a bitter battle in an attempt to keep her daughter from running away with a married man. How son and daughter meet their respective problems provides the dramatic plot of an unusually entertaining picture. Jean Hersholt and Myrna Loy complete the all-star cast.

"The Expert," featuring Charles "Chic" Sale, Dickie Moore, Lois Wilson and Earle Fox will play a one-day engagement Saturday.

In the Dark

"Daddy, how much are you going to give me for my trousseau?"

"Your trousseau! But I didn't even know you were engaged."

"Goodness. Don't you ever read the papers?"—Karlakkturen, Oslo.

Weissmuller in 'Tarzan' at Gem Starting Sunday

"Tarzan, the Ape Man," based on the hair-raising story of jungle adventure by Edgar Rice Burroughs, will be the attraction at the Gem theater Sunday and Monday. Johnny Weissmuller, world's champion swimmer and considered to have one of the finest physiques of any man living, plays the title role of the strange white man who lives in the jungle like the apes. Prominent roles are also played by Neil Hamilton, Maureen O'Sullivan, C. Aubrey Smith, Doris Lloyd, Forrester Harvey and Ivory Williams.

The story, laid for the most part in the beast-infested Lake Alberta region of Africa, concerns the attempt of a handful of English adventurers to find the mysterious "Elephant's Burial Ground" where they hope to secure a fortune in ivory. The daughter of the leader of the safari is abducted by Tarzan, the ape man, who lifts her bodily from the ground and carries her away beyond reach of human hands by swinging through the tops of trees at dizzying heights. Their continually exciting and oft-times thrilling adventures with wild beasts, pygmies and other jungle terrors make this a picture which is said to contain even more hair-raising episodes than the celebrated "Trader Horn."

Among these are numbered the attack upon the safari night camp by starved lions; a fight between Tarzan and a bull ape; the rescue of an elephant trapped in a pit; the charge of elephants through a pygmy village and the escape of the safari from death in a man-eating gorilla pit.

Much Importance Is Attached to Stage Settings in 'Grand Hotel' at State Theater Starting August 1

In few other film productions has so much importance been attached to studio settings as was the case with the picturesque interior scenes for "Grand Hotel," all-star road-show which comes to the State theater Monday, Aug. 1, for a three-day engagement. The importance of settings here was largely due to the fact that the Berlin hotel in which the entire drama was enacted, became a personality, rather than a mere background, in the unfoldment of the Vicki Baum story.

"The Grand Hotel" is not an actual place. It is entirely mythical, and just happens to be in Berlin, and therefore, has a German influence. Otherwise it might be in any other cosmopolitan center. Motion picture settings usually serve as a background for the actor, but here the sets take the place of one of the actors, and therefore were designed on a spectacular scale in order to bring the background forward on the same plane with the players.

The near million-dollar cast enacting the various roles in "Grand Hotel" are Joan Crawford, Greta Garbo, Wallace Beery, John and Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone and Jean Hersholt.

Only two performances a day will be given during the three-day engagement of "Grand Hotel," the afternoon performance beginning at 2:30 p. m. and the evening performance at 8:30 p. m. All seats will be reserved and range in price from 50 cents to $1.50 top. Tickets have been placed on sale at several downtown stores.

Fight Breaks Out Nashville Meeting Democratic Board

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 23. (UP)—A free for all fight broke out this afternoon at the meeting of the Democratic state primary board which convened to hear protests that wholesale fraudulent registration of negroes was being permitted at Memphis for the Democratic primary of Aug. 4.

Bedlam broke out during a speech of William Gerber, agent of Congressman Ed Crump and assistant attorney general of Memphis.

He called supporters of Malcolm R. Patterson, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, and the one who protested negro registrations, "damn rats" and said "I'm going to name every—damn one of the rats."

The fighting started as he began reciting names.

Allen McNamara of Memphis struck Gerber but Squire Louis Morris of Memphis, retaliated by severing McNamara's ear.

Women screamed and the free for all fight was on.

Patterson supporters claim that Crump's political machine in Memphis and Shelby county is behind the registering of negroes. Crump is supporting Hill McAlester, state treasurer for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

NO POISON FOUND VITAL ORGANS TWO GIRLS FOUND DEAD

ROCHESTER, Minn., July 23. (AP)—No poison was found in the vital organs of the two girls found dead under mysterious circumstances near here this week, examining physicians said today.

The authorities made public statements taken from two married men who admitted escorting the two single girls to the Zumbro river where their bodies were found. They believed the statements solved the mystery.

The men, both of Plainview, near here, said the party drank liquor, drove to the river bank, disrobed and waded into the water. The men, according to the statement, had gone quite far out when they heard a scream. Looking back they saw in the moonlight that both girls were struggling in the water and that one girl had her arm around the other. Before they could reach the floundering pair, the statements continued, the girls disappeared.

One man dived several times without avail and then, according to the statements, they drove away without even dressing.

The statement of the men, Reuben Kruger, 25, oil station employe, and Jesse Salley, 30, garage mechanic, and the subsequent findings of the chemists appeared to officers to have solved a mystery that prevailed since the bodies were found, one Wednesday night and the other Thursday.

PIRATES LENGTHEN LEAD WITH WILD WIN OVER RIVAL CUBS

THE LOOKOUT

BY AL PARKER

Good news for the duck hunters is contained in President Hoover's decree setting a two-months' season this winter. It is not all that might be asked, but it exactly doubles last year's 30-day season. More important it provides conclusive evidence that the wildfowl situation is much improved over that prevailing at this time a year ago. If the department of agriculture was not positive that ducks are far more plentiful than a year ago, it never would have recommended to the president a season twice as long as that of the year before. That does not mean, however, that hunting necessarily will be better in these parts. Many factors enter into the migrations of ducks and geese and some sections always are more fortunate than others. It is quite likely, nevertheless, that the duck hunters not only will have a longer season this year, but a more fruitful one.

This section of the state will be open from Nov. 1 through Dec. 31, and those dates are about as good as possibly could be arranged for a two months' season. There is a chance that the opening will be too late to catch the heaviest flight of the deep water ducks, including mainly the redheads and canvas backs, but none can forecast the time these ducks will put in their appearance, and early November may catch the heavy flight. December always is a good month for the brush ducks, mallards and pintails, probably better even than January, the last month of shooting under the old limits. The mallard hunters of this territory always have howled for later shooting, for the mallards nearly always linger in these parts through February and sometimes early March, but as long as there are only two months of shooting, November and December would be hard to improve.

Improved conditions in the duck situation should not be taken too seriously, and every sportsman should continue to lend his influence wherever possible toward something offering permanent betterment. The $1 federal wildfowl tax seems to be the plan that the various sportsmen's organizations have centered on. It is likely to come before the next congress and is doomed to certain death if it does not receive full support from those who will be affected—all who hunt ducks and geese and none others.

The action of the federal government in increasing the shooting season this year undoubtedly is due to the surveys that have shown last spring's hatch far more substantial than those of the two preceding years. It still is a debatable question whether the shorter season of 1931 saved ducks and geese to any great extent. The 1930 and 1931 hatching seasons were the poorest on record for wildfowl because of drouths in the nesting areas, and this condition was alleviated this spring by rainfall that kept the breeding grounds flooded. The seriousness of the situation is to be found in the comparative scarcity of suitable nesting areas in the northwest part of the United States and western Canada. Flooding of additional areas and the establishment of preserves along the line of flight migration to provide resting places, are the chief objectives of the proposed $1 federal license. This project will mean far more in the preservation of wildfowl than shorter seasons and lower bag limits.

Another angle that the wildfowl experts are giving consideration is the advisability of some time in the future providing rest days in every week during the open season. This plan has both its proponents and its opponents and the idea really is too new to have proved anything yet. It has been under trial in several states, however, in relation to other game. Its chief advantage is that it does not take the real sportsman entirely from the field and leave the game at the mercy of the illegal hunters, as does the closed season. There is absolutely no doubt that the closed season makes things much easier for the game hog who refuses to recognize closed seasons and bag limits; and sad to relate, too many of this kind still are at large, employing their slaughterhouse methods both in and out of season.

A rare "double catch" of a crappie and a bream was registered at Lake Kemp the other day by a youthful fisherman, Gerald Pond Jr. The youngster was roaming the upper deck of the Pond boat when he noticed a sizable crappie floundering about the top of the water at the side of the boat. A casting rod rigged up with a plug was put into action by young Gerald and after several tries he succeeded in hooking the crappie in the side and bringing the fish aboard. Closer examination developed that the 12-inch crappie had tied into a bream of about four and a half inches in length, and the intended square meal become crossed in the crappie's gills and could neither be swallowed nor expelled. Coming from the junior member of the family, we are willing to believe that one, but earnestly pray that in repeating it we are not starting a contest. This true story wouldn't stand up through the first round of preliminaries when some of the old experienced spinners of fish yarns got strung out.

Ted Gullic, the big third strike man in his final visit with the Spudders, is playing the greatest baseball of his career this year at Milwaukee, leading the American association most of the season and hitting something like .360 at present. Ted accounts for the happy turn of events in an interview with Sam Levy in The Sporting News as follows:

"I've got confidence in myself. O'Rourke has helped me, so has King Bader, the coach. Last year when I went to bat I was too stiff and rigid. O'Rourke and Bader got out on the coaching lines. They kept yelling at me: 'Loosen up, Ted, Loosen up.' That helped me. Now, I don't care who's pitching—my mind is made up to drive 'em where they ain't.

"I feel like playing ball this year. I'm better physically and mentally and am carrying about 10 pounds more in weight than I did a year ago."

Piet Leads Heavy Attack as Buccos Take 11-8 Scrap

Giants Advance With Double Win; Phillies Also Knock Off Pair

PITTSBURGH, July 23. (AP)—Pittsburgh's battling Pirates took one of the season's stormiest ball games from the Chicago Cubs Saturday, 11 to 8, to increase their first place lead to four and one-half games.

Bickerings between rival players and between players and umpires dragged the wild struggle through two hours and 28 minutes.

The Cubs used five pitchers in a desperate effort to silence the Pirates' bats. Pittsburgh called upon four moundsmen to clinch the victory.

Texas League Prexy Sees Spudder Return

Texas League President J. Alvin Gardner, back in his old Wichita Falls haunts for the few hours necessary to vote in the Democratic primary Saturday, expressed confidence that the Texas league is going to weather the current financial strife and struggle through the rest of the campaign without further changes in the league's present makeup.

"Yes, sir, it is a hard struggle," he declared, "but every clubowner has set his heart on finishing out the race, and I believe in spite of the handicaps we face the league will finish out its schedule and start immediately to adjusting its affairs for next season. I confidently believe that another year will find the league's and individual clubs' expenses pared to the point that the game once more can be conducted on a sane and sound business basis, and that the storm will have passed when this season is over."

Fort Worth Situation

Gardner intimated that the Fort Worth situation still remained a serious problem for the league and the owners of the franchise, but refused to divulge any of the particulars. He did say that the league was not operating the franchise and that any announcement concerning the Panther club would have to come from Business Manager Roy Meehan.

The former owner of the Wichita Falls club expressed a belief that Wichita Falls would be back in the Texas league no later than next season. "Interest has not been up to expectations at Longview, and I'm sure that with any sort of substantial boost in business conditions generally, Wichita Falls not only will receive another chance to support Texas league baseball, but that it will make good the opportunity. The return of a $2 oil price, I feel sure would make certain this result."

Expenses Too High

The present financial difficulties of the Texas league in particular and baseball generally, Gardner attributes not to a declining interest among the fans or entirely to prevailing depressive conditions. "All of us in the Texas league simply set our standards too high when spending money was more freely used, but another year will find budgets constructed to fit income, and I believe sincerely that baseball is in for far better things beginning no later than 1933."

Gardner remained in the city only a few hours, returning to his home at Dallas late Saturday after exercising his right of franchise.

Fort Worth Statement

FORT WORTH, July 23. (AP)—The Fort Worth baseball team will operate for the rest of the season and the franchise will be retained by the Fort Worth Baseball club, President Clarence O. Kraft said Saturday after a series of meetings Friday and Saturday.

A written statement clarifying the status of the team was issued by Sam Lard, majority stockholder. The franchise was not turned back to the Texas league as formerly announced and the only change in the former order to things was the official election of Kraft as president to succeed Ted Robinson and Kraft's appointment to the board of directors of the club.

It was reported that the effort to return the franchise to the league met with both legal and other difficulties, and it was decided at the meeting of the league owners Friday that the franchise was still the possession of its former owners.

First Christian church indoor baseball team takes its perfect record into battle Tuesday afternoon against one of the up and coming teams of the Church Baseball league. Temple Israel, winner of its last two games after dropping the first two, is slated to make its bid to stop the Christians' pennant march at 6:15 o'clock on Culbertson field.

First Methodist and Highland Heights Christian teams open the week's play Monday afternoon, and Floral Heights Methodist and First Baptist end the week Thursday afternoon.

A state-wide band contest with cash prizes totaling $3,500 was arranged as a feature of the 1932 Texas state fair.

TOTAL CONTRIBUTIONS TO FOOTBALL STADIUM FUND NEARS $300 MARK

The Kiwanis club's stadium fund neared a total of $300 Saturday as a dozen additional contributions were announced by Grover Bullington. Funds to pay football players $1 per day for work in completing the stadium are to be obtained through popular subscription, according to present plans, and those fostering the movement hope to have the new plant, located on 11 acres of land between Fifth and Roberts, Van Buren and Sunset, ready for the Coyotes' first interscholastic league contest this fall.

The following contributions were reported Saturday:

Dr. R. H. Peterson, $5; Dr. Everett Jones, $5; Kemp hotel, $6; W. T. Knight, $5; Harry Hines, $5; L. H. Cullum, $5; C. W. Snider, $5; R. O. Harvey, $5; Dixie Tire Service company, $5; H. D. Fillers, $5.

Yanks Devote Six Hours to Task of Taking Pair Tilts

Senators Finish Strong to Whip Macks; Browns Split With Tigers

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—The Yankees devoted more than six hours Saturday to taking two close games from the Boston Red Sox. The first game went 15 innings to a 4 to 3 decision and required some 3½ hours playing time.

The second was delayed a half hour in the first inning by a shower and was decided, 5 to 4, in the eighth when Lou Gehrig and Tony Lazzeri hit homers. Smead Jolley had put the Sox ahead with a homer in the sixth. Scores, first game:

OKLAUNION AND TIPTON CLASH FEATURES CARD

VERNON, Texas, July 23.—The battle between the two pace-setters will feature the fourth week of play Sunday in the second half campaign in the Red River Valley Baseball league. In the feature contest, the two undefeated teams in the race, Tipton, Okla., and Oklaunion, will clash at Oklaunion, while in the remaining contest, Chillicothe's Cubs invade Quanah. Electra, first half champions, who have lost all three starts in the last half race, will remain idle.

The clash Sunday at Oklaunion will be rated a tossup. Tipton has turned in the better defensive baseball to date, but Oklaunion has displayed more offensive power and will have the added advantage of playing at home. Tipton's starting hurler will be either Simpson, Rye, Waldrop or Hutton, while either Bert Williams or Albert Arp is expected to draw the Cardinal mound assignment.

Chillicothe, with Ollie Walker slated to pitch, will be favored over Quanah, despite the present rating of the clubs in the loop standing. Mitchell probably will hurl for Quanah.

BABE DIDRIKSON TO TURN TALENT TO GOLF

LOS ANGELES, July 23. (AP)—Mildred (Babe) Didrikson, who is willing to say anytime and any place that she will win three events in the Olympic games for her Uncle Samuel, said Saturday she is going out for the women's national golf title next year.

"I've only been out 10 times," said the 19-year-old Texas miss who won five national championships in the women's track and field meet at Chicago last Saturday, "but I shoot around 82 or 83. The first time I handled a stick I did 90.

"My events? Javelin, high jump and hurdles. I could win the discus throw too if my coach would let me compete."

Star-Red & White in City League Scuffle

Thomason's Service	5	3	2	.600
Red & White	5	2	3	.400

Having turned the half-way mark in its second half schedule, the City league entries play their sixth games Sunday afternoon at Athletic park, with the leading Star Transfer company outfit matched against Red and White stores and Thomason's Super Service swatters aligned against Meyers grocery.

For the second week the City leaguers play at Athletic park under the sponsorship of Pat Carrigan American Legion post, the legionnaires sharing in the whatever profits that might materialize from the remaining games of the season.

Refuse New Entry

The league in its regular meeting last week declined the bid of Noble-Little Hardware company to enter the City league for the remainder of the season. With one club struggling to make a go of it at the end of the first half, the Commercial league leaders were extended an invitation to enter the City league, but declined. When the Noble-Little nine changed its mind last week, so did the City league, and President William B. Ward announced that the race would be completed with the present four clubs.

Star Transfer seeks its sixth straight triumph in Sunday's encounter with the first half champions, and the game may provide a more or less accurate line on the strength of the two teams as they go into the play-off series several weeks hence. Star Transfer, of course, has not yet clinched second half honors, but its lead of two full games and Lefty Robertson steaming along winning game after game indicate a play-off some five weeks hence between the current pace setters and their rivals of Sunday.

Red and White Sags

The Red and White champs of the first half have never been able to hit a winning stride since the start of the final half but a victory over Star Transfer Sunday would be pleasing indeed to the Red and Whitet forces. It may be taken for granted that Skipper Johnny O'Neal will bend every effort toward this end. Manager August Storbeck of the Star team intimated Saturday that he would give his ace southpaw, Robertson, a rest Sunday and start a newly signed flinger against Red and Whites.

Thomason's Service nine has not abandoned its flag hopes by any means and still is hopeful of overcoming Star Transfer's two-game lead. The team has an excellent chance to make headway in its flag bid Sunday in being matched against the Meyers entry. The latter, though apparently bolstered in talent since the end of the first half, has dropped five straight decisions.

The first game Sunday will start at 2 o'clock and an admission charge of 25 cents for the double-header will be made.

Cuban Team Drops Out of Sight As Initial Mystery

Many Distinguished Visitors Among Those Due To Arrive Monday

LOS ANGELES, July 23. (US)—Americans, Danes, French, Hungarians, Austrians, British, Canadians, South Africans and Irish.

This assortment of nationalities will arrive Sunday and Monday to join the Olympic colony.

And, with numerous arrivals scheduled, the Olympic management was confronted Saturday with its first major mystery—the complete disappearance of the entire Cuban team.

Booked to come in on the Panama Pacific liner California Saturday morning, the eight Cubans in charge of Capt. Ramon Fonts did not arrive. Dr. J. A. Torralbas, Cuban Olympic attache, and the welcoming committee were on hand but there was no team.

Officials of the committee said that the Cubans probably had changed their plans at the last moment and that they would undoubtedly arrive, but whether by way of San Francisco, New Orleans or New York, nobody knew.

Curtis Due Friday

It was announced Saturday that Vice President Charles Curtis, officially named as the representative of President Hoover to open the games, would reach Los Angeles at 8:30 o'clock Friday morning, July 29, over the Union Pacific Los Angeles Limited.

His telegram to the organizing committee stated that he would travel alone, except for one secret service man, and that he would be under the necessity of returning to Washington at once, leaving Los Angeles July 31.

Thirty-four men and six women, making up the Danish team, are scheduled to arrive at 8:15 o'clock Sunday morning on the Santa Fe, and a second group of Irish athletes will be in at 10 p. m. on the Union Pacific.

Twenty-five Mexican athletes in charge of Max Tejada Vega were due to arrive at 10 o'clock Saturday night on the Southern Pacific.

Arrivals scheduled for Monday include the French, American and Hungarian water polo teams, due at 10:40 a. m. on the Southern Pacific; the Austrian party at 11:30 a. m. on the Santa Fe, and at 10:30 a. m., a Santa Fe special bringing 200 competitors from Great Britain, South Africa, Canada and Hungary.

Distinguished Visitors

Four especially distinguished members of these groups are Dr. Leo Donath, honorary secretary of the International Amateur Swimming federation, coming in charge of the Hungarian delegation; Prince Ferdinand von Und Zu Liechtenstein and Dr. Theodore Schmidt, president of the Austrian Olympic committee, and Lord Burghley, captain of the British team.

A. F. De Barros, consul for Brazil, announced Saturday that the temporary difficulties which beset the Brazilian team on their arrival had been cleared up.

"The men are here; they have plenty of money, and everything is settled," he said. "Delay in the arrival of one of the officials, who was expected to meet the team, and trouble in Brazil, which started after the team left and which made it impossible to send money out of the country, created some difficulty, but things are all right now."

The load of coffee brought by the Itaquice is a commercial affair and has no connection with the Brazilian team, De Barros said.

To meet the increasing demand for tickets, the office at Eighth and Spring streets will be kept open Sunday from 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m.

U. S. Takes Davis Cup Lead in Doubles Win

PARIS, France, July 23. (AP)—Needing but a single victory in two singles matches Saturday, the United States was accepted Saturday night as the challenger of France for the historic Davis cup in the big Roland Garros stadium here next week-end.

A brilliant young pair of Americans, Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn, brought the prediction within a step of certainty Saturday by overwhelming the German doubles team of Daniel Prenn and Gottfried Von Cramm, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1, to give the United States a lead of two matches to one in the American and European inter-zone final.

Within the ranks of the Davis cup defender, France, Jean Borotra, who insists that he is too old for such things, will be drafted for one of the singles roles while the great Henri Cochet will carry the other, leaving Jean Borotra to team with his old partner, Jacques Brugnon, in the doubles.

Thorpe Yearns to Don Spiked Shoes In Olympic Games

Indian Marvel Would Like To Test Prowess Under Modern Conditions

LOS ANGELES, July 23. (UP)—Jim Thorpe, generally recognized as one of the greatest athletes the world has known, will be looking on with a misty eye when the 1932 Olympic games are run off July 30 to Aug. 14.

He thinks the celebration of the 10th Olympiad will be the best in history and he'd like to be out on the field himself. He'd especially like to be the Thorpe of old and try his luck against the modern decathlon and pentathlon men.

All the applause the great Indian athlete won as the best of all football players and in other lines of sport he would trade, he said, for such another day as the one climaxing the 1912 Olympic games in Stockholm.

Lost His Awards

"That's my fondest memory," he said, speaking of the time when the king of Sweden presented him awards for winning both the decathlon and pentathlon titles, a feat that never has been duplicated.

"The king told me I was the greatest athlete in the world," Thorpe recounted. "You know, I think I believed what the king said about me."

Thorpe later lost his awards and his records, when, after the games were over, he was declared a professional because he accepted money for playing baseball after he left Carlisle Indian Institute and before the Olympics started.

Improved Coaching

"But I'll give my scalp—and that's not supposed to be a joke—to have another chance. I'd like to be in the coming games. They'll be the biggest ever. The crowds will be larger and more records will fall than at any other Olympics.

"Coaching and training is improving and it helps the athletes. I'd like to have my 1912 ability and the benefit of modern training and coaching and I'll bet I'd hang up some records for the boys to shoot at."

Thorpe, at 45, still healthy, husky, devotes himself now to work in motion pictures and writing an occasional book. He hopes the sale of his latest book "Jim Thorpe's History of the Olympic Games," will profit under his name and the publicity of the present games.

Wide Variety Foods Served Athletes Quartered at Olympic Village

The chefs catering to the hunky athletes from all parts of the world proved to be very fussy about their kitchens. Their welcome on the whole, was about as cordial as that extended by an American housewife to an iceman with muddy shoes.

Many Strange Dishes

However, it was possible to learn that 46 kitchens behind the 1,500 feet of space included in five separate dining halls furnish almost any dish known to any part of the globe. Each kitchen has a chef representing each of the major nations participating in the games.

All food is ordered through the village commissary at a rate of $2 per day for the board and room of each man. The attaches of each nation are delegated to see that their athletes receive the food they want and need for training.

The Japanese have their seafood, or raw fish, ruled as a great delicacy. But a most unusual situation has developed, the chef admitted through an interpreter. The athletes, practically to a man, have developed a mania for American style ham and eggs. They demand them almost every morning for breakfast.

Too Much Cuisine

The Germans ask that their meat, mostly beef and mutton, be roasted in huge chunks and sliced. They have no patience with the American custom of frying "everything, even chicken," in grease. Their chef says they get their meat in big chunks and plenty of potatoes, steamed until they are dry and mealy.

Dr. Paul Hilton, who will run the 800-meter race for Switzerland, dispelled the idea that a real Swiss athlete his Swiss cheese. He said he liked American cooking, especially soft boiled eggs for breakfast.

The Anglo-Saxons, particularly the college football players of the United States, were described as eating anything and lots of it.

Both Lions and Rotarians have won their games from the other two rivals, and Friday's skirmish will establish a league leader.

Kansas 'Deadeye' Tops Gunners for First Half Year

Fred Eichen Leads Trapshooters With .9892 Average for 650 Targets

VANDALIA, Ohio, July 23.—Fred R. Eichen of Wichita, Kan., is the high average trapshooter of the United States for the first half of the year 1932, according to official averages just released from headquarters of the Amateur Trapshooting association. The Wichita marksman has an average of .9892 on 650 targets which is the highest average for amateurs and it also gives him the lead in the 600 to 1,000 target division. In this same division, Ted Rentfro of Dell, Mont., is in second place with .9885 on 625 clays.

Charlie Bogert of Sandusky, Ohio, who made a clean-up of the Ohio state championship tournament by winning three titles, has been going strong all of the first half of the year and tops the 1,000 to 2,000 target division with an average of .9859 on 1,425 targets. Steve Crothers of Philadelphia, Miss., is on top or near the top all the time in second place in this division with .9859 on 1,300 targets.

Globetrotters Ranks High

R. M. Jenkins, Orleans, Ind., heads the 2,000 to 3,000 target division with .9865 on 2,200 clays. Sam Sherman, Salt Lake City, Utah, is second with .9863 on 2,500 targets. In the 3,000 and over class, Harry E. Johnson of Haines City, Fla., tops the list with .9913 on 3,300 clays.

Mrs. W. P. Andrews of Atlanta, is the high average shooter among the fair sex with .9837 on 1,700 targets. This gives her the lead also in the 1,000 to 2,000 target class for women. Mrs. J. Murphy of Freehold, N. J., is second in this division with a mark of .9830 on 1,000 targets.

Mrs. Harry Harrison, Rochester, N. Y., is the leader in the 300 to 1,000 target class with .9130 on 300 targets. Mrs. H. E. Grigsby, Oklahoma City, Okla., is second in this division with .9122 on 300 targets.

Professional Leaders

Fred S. Tomlin, Glendora, N. J., not only leads the 1,000 to 2,000 target division for the professionals but is the high average pro. Tomlin has the remarkable high mark of .9884 on 1,650 targets. Earl Donahoe of Minneapolis, Minn., with .9878 on 1,600 targets is second in this division.

J. C. Jackson, Duluth, Minn., leads the 300 to 1,000 target class with .9793 on 650 targets with William Wickes of Houston, in second place with .9669 on 300 targets.

John R. Taylor of Newark, Ohio, leads the 2,000 and over division with .9731 on 2,000 targets. Arthur W. Comsden, Jr., Tampa, Fla., is in second place with .9688 on 2,300 clays.

A merry battle for national honors is expected from these leaders of the trap world when they gather at Vandalia, Ohio, Aug. 22 to 27 for the annual Grand American handicap championship tournament.

SECOND, THIRD FLIGHT WINNERS DETERMINED

VERNON, Texas, July 23.—Flight championships in the 36th annual Hill Crest Country club golf tournament were completed Friday with the playing of two matches, but no final consolidation match has been played as yet.

Cope Gibson, 14-year-old Hill Crest golfer, won the second flight championship by defeating W. Ely Burgess, 3 and 1, and Jack Curtis annexed the fourth flight title with a 4 and 3 win over Ed Pace. Roy Parrell had Sunday won the championship of the annual tournament by defeating Whitney Anderson, while early this week, Jimmy Lide won the third flight title by beating Walt George.

MORIARITY EXPECTED TO RETURN TO JOB SOON

CHICAGO, July 23. (AP)—President Will Harridge of the American league Saturday said he expected Umpire George Moriarity would be back on the job again in a few days.

A report from Washington Friday said the umpire was so seriously ill that he probably would take a leave of absence for the rest of the season and possibly join the National league umpiring staff next year.

President Harridge refused to discuss reports that the umpire was suffering from injuries received in a battle against the White Sox Memorial day in Cleveland, although one of his spokesmen said he was the victim of an intestinal complaint only.

EQUIPOISE TAKES DUST FROM 'SURPRISE HORSE'

In an thrilling, heart-breaking finish as any race crowd ever witnessed, Pitchy Play, the surprise horse of the turf, broke the winning streak of Canadian Vanderbilt Whitney's great 4-year-old, defeating him by a neck in the Arlington handicap, a race that was worth $37,800.

Pitchy Play ran the mile and a quarter, leading from start to finish, in 2:02 1-5. Pittsburgher was third, Trod Avon, fourth, White Clover II, fifth, and Stepentetchit last.

Pitchy Play closing at 10 to 1 in the mutuel betting, paid $26.04 to win, $9.48 to place and $6.22 to show. Equipoise paid the surprising price of $3.18 to place and $2.76 to show. The show price on Pittsburgher was $4.62.

Frederick Invades Vernon

VERNON, Texas, July 23.—Golfers of the Hill Crest Country club will entertain approximately 35 Frederick, Okla., linksmen in an intercity meet here Sunday afternoon. The Sooner golfers defeated the Vernonites early this year, but the Hill Crest players will be a slight favorite on the course here.

The Truth about WHITE OWL CIGARS

THE executives of the General Cigar Co., Inc., early in 1931 met to consider what was the most important step the company had ever been asked to take.

It was proposed to reduce the price of the White Owl cigar, which for fourteen years had sold at 7 cents, and up, to 5 cents.

The price reduction was to be made without decreasing the size of the cigar, or changing the tobacco in it. In blunt terms, the proposal meant selling at 5 cents the identical cigar which was then being bought by millions at a higher price.

* * *

TO speak frankly, there were misgivings among the executives of the company—justifiable and logical misgivings.

The White Owl was a long invincible shape. It was a long filler cigar; not made of scraps and broken leaves, typical of oversize 5-cent cigars.

Furthermore, the tobacco in it was the most expensive long filler leaf that this country grows.

To market the White Owl exactly as it was, at 5 cents, seemed a manufacturing impossibility.

To reduce the size, or take anything out of the quality of the cigar, was not for a minute considered.

If this were done, White Owl would become merely another 5-cent cigar, trading for a limited time on the name, popularity, and prestige it enjoyed at higher prices.

* * *

IN the face of facts and figures of production which said "No", the executives continued to study the proposal because the underlying principle of the General Cigar Co., Inc., argued for the reduction.

Giving the consumer the utmost which can be delivered at a price, and still make a profit for dealer, distributor, and manufacturer is the basic policy of the company. Its progress and its success have been written in adherence to this principle.

After days of analysis of costs of production, and a far-seeing forecast of results, the executives decided to reduce White Owl to 5 cents, and still manufacture it exactly as it was being made.

No economy in buying tobacco aided them. White Owl long filler tobacco had been purchased two and three years before they took this critical step.

The margins of profit of manufacturer and distributor were narrowed. The dealer was to pay more for White Owl than standard 5-cent brands. All were to net less on the sale of one cigar, and gain increased profit through the rapid turnover of multiplied sales.

But basing the decision most of all on vast output, the executives of the General Cigar Co., Inc., in June, 1931, ordered the reduction of White Owl to 5 cents.

* * *

THE mathematical results of White Owl at 5 cents were amazing. Within a month it broke all cigar records for rapid increase of consumption. In one year the White Owls smoked have passed the 425,000,000 mark.

Smokers who smoked White Owl at higher prices at once knew it for unmatched smoking value. Smokers of higher priced cigars, turning to it as a real economy, found no let-down in smoking satisfaction. Smokers of standard 5-cent brands flocked to its generous size and fine appearance.

* * *

HERE and there a skeptic could not believe that it was the same 7-cent White Owl being sold at 5 cents, and his skepticism was not so surprising.

Though the cigar looked the same, and smoked the same, some men could not but distrust a value which seemed impossible.

All the time the guarantee of the General Cigar Co., Inc., backed up their statement that it was the same identical White Owl. Doubt cannot stand up in the face of quality. White Owl at 5 cents established itself at the cigar case as the same cigar which sold 14 years at 7 cents, and up.

If one seeks the secret of how the General Cigar Co., Inc., can manufacture a cigar and sell it at 5 cents, which sold for 14 years at higher prices, the answer lies in organized production and vast output. It is explained by the fact that manufacturer, distributor, and dealer all net smaller profit on the sale of one cigar.

* * *

SMOKE White Owl because it is top value in a 5-cent cigar, but never expect your dealer to sell it for less than a nickel.

He cannot afford it. He pays more for White Owl than for ordinary 5-cent cigars. It is sold without premiums or prize contests. Big buyer or little buyer, the dealer should get a full nickel for White Owl. The price to the consumer is all in the cigar.

DEMOCRATS TO TRAIN GUNS ON G.O.P. STATES

Attempt to Be Made To Win Hopelessly Republican Areas

FARLEY MAKES CLEAR PLANS FOR CAMPAIGN

Chairman Predicts Victory By Greatest Demo Majority

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—Democracy will concentrate many of its big guns this fall on certain "hopelessly Republican" states in an attempt to wrest them from the Hoover-Curtis forces.

Frequently in Democratic campaigns of the past, the electoral votes of such states have been conceded to the enemy, and all the campaign fire has been directed toward states which held more promise of victory.

But James A. Farley, national chairman, made it clear today that such strategy will not be followed this time.

States like Pennsylvania, Ohio, Vermont, Michigan and New Hampshire, which rarely go Democratic, will receive just as much attention as any others, he said.

"All reports we have had from around the country are encouraging and we are confident of the outcome. I am predicting Governor Roosevelt's election by the greatest majority even given a Democratic nominee in a two-party fight.

"But nevertheless we are going to make an aggressive campaign in every state in the union. Regardless of the fact that some states have been hopelessly Republican in the past, we are not considering any state lost yet and will do battle in each of them."

Farley will go to Washington Monday night to consult with Capitol hill Democratic leaders over the detailed campaign plans he has drawn up.

Upon his return, he will send invitations to organization leaders in every state in the country to come to New York as soon as headquarters are formally opened on Aug. 1 to go over these plans.

Roosevelt himself was continuing a series of conferences which is giving him a clear insight into a variety of the country's outstanding problems.

Austin Precinct Asks Repeal Of All Liquor Laws

AUSTIN, July 23. (AP)—At least one Texas Democratic precinct favors not only repeal of the 18th amendment and the Volstead act but also repeal of the Dean law, the state enforcement statute.

At the convention for precinct No. 13½, Ward 3C, Travis county, the voters adopted resolutions favoring repeal of both the national and state prohibition laws.

On the objection of Ferguson, the resolution was divided and a separate vote taken on each proposal. Not a dissenting vote was heard.

Ferguson said the resolution on national prohibition was in line with the Democratic platform. He urged the precinct convention to move cautiously, saying he believed the victory won by repeal advocates at the national convention might be jeopardized by a double-barreled resolution. He pointed out that the national platform called for return of liquor control to the states.

Hoover to Spend Busy Week-End At Rapidan Camp in Effort to Select Five Directors of Home Loan Bank

RAPIDAN, Va., July 23. (US)—President Hoover will put in a busy week-end at his Blue Ridge camp in an effort to select five persons for the directorate of the home loan bank and two for the reconstruction finance corporation.

He is anxious to make the selections as soon as possible so that all of the provisions of the $2,122,000,000 relief bill and the $125,000,000 home loan measure may become operative. Tremendous pressure for relief is being requested through both agencies.

With federal relief legislation now in final form the president turned from struggling over its details with congress to finding the right men to carry the program to success.

Senator Watson, Republican, of Indiana, majority floor leader, after a chat with Hoover at the White House today, expressed the opinion the president would go to the Pacific coast for a successor to Charles G. Dawes as president of the reconstruction finance corporation.

He has two names under consideration: Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, and Mark Requa, San Francisco, retired, both personal friends. Each in the opinion of the president has the necessary qualifications, but there is some doubt as to whether they would accept, it was said.

Takes Large Party

When Mr. Hoover came to his Blue Ridge retreat today, White House attaches compiled a history of the relief legislation as enacted by congress. They went back to the president's program of November last and sought to show that in all major respects his contentions had prevailed over various other proposals originating on Capitol hill.

The president was accompanied by Secretary of Commerce Lamont, one of his chief advisers in framing the home loan legislation; former Senator Henry J. Allen, director of publicity for the Republican national committee and one of the negotiators of the St. Lawrence waterways treaty; W. L. Hoonold, Los Angeles, mining engineer; Louis F. Slade, New York capitalist, and Mrs. Slade, personal friends, Theodore Joslin, his secretary and Mrs. Joslin and Capt. Joel T. Boone, personal physician.

The president was tired and worn as he left the White House immediately after lunch. He had an uneventful trip. Mrs. Hoover has been in the camp for the last 10 days and greeted the party on its arrival.

A. P. I. ENDS WEEK DEVOTED ENTIRELY TO PRODUCING END

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 23. (AP)—The American Petroleum institute closed a week of discussions of problems of the oil industry tonight with a brief statement the producing end of the business had been given foremost attention during the meeting.

No plan of curtailment of production had been discussed by the board of directors, the statement said, explained deliberations of the board had followed the "usual course" of such meetings. Whatever conclusions the institute arrived at, if any, were not mentioned in the formal statement by Amos L. Beatty, president of the institute.

Beatty's statement said:

"The week has been devoted principally, to operating problems of the producing branch of the oil business. The legal subcommittee spent five days in the consideration of technical questions.

"The subcommittee reported progress to the production practice committee, of which Mr. Charles F. Roeser, Fort Worth, is chairman.

SASKATCHEWAN WHEAT POOL TO FINISH YEAR WITH MILLION SURPLUS

REGINA, Saskatchewan, July 23. (AP)—The Saskatchewan wheat pool will complete the present crop year with a surplus of over $1,000,000 after providing for all operating costs, A. F. Sproule, director for wheat pool district No. 2 said today.

Commenting on this result, Sproule remarked that the agricultural cooperative movement "had been able to withstand the shock of the depression better than most mercantile concerns."

Plentiful moisture and sunshine and ideal growing weather have brought western Canada's grain crop rapidly to maturity and a better than average crop is promised, the seventh seasonal crop report issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce said.

WARRANT SOUGHT FOR BUGS MORAN'S ARREST FOR BEER MANUFACTURE

CHICAGO, July 23. (AP)—Federal authorities revealed today warrants they were seeking for the arrest of George "Bugs" Moran and Leo Mongoven, notorious Chicago gangsters, on charges of operating a huge beer manufacturing syndicate in northern Illinois.

Evidence against the gangsters was uncovered, it was said, in a series of raids in lake and McHenry counties near Chicago in which 23 persons were arrested last night.

Moran, whose gang was decimated in the St. Valentine's day massacre, has been reported operating in the district for months.

Head Without Body

The paloio, marine worm, is said to sever its head from its body when full of eggs. The body floats to the top of the sea, bursts, and scatters the eggs about. The head then grows another body.

All real amber, which is a mineralized resin from a certain extinct tree, is said to be at least 600,000 years old.

MANAGER STORE BLUFFS BURGLARS

SAN FRANCISCO, July 23. (UP)—Harold Woodworth, manager of a suburban grocery store, is such a bluffer that his firm made a profit out of an attempted holdup.

Two men entered the store and bought a dozen eggs. As Woodworth rang up the money, the men produced pistols and ordered him to hand over the contents of the cash register.

MERGER TO REDUCE EASTERN RAILROAD EXECUTIVE STAFFS

Presidents to Be Cut From 50 to About Five Rail Circles Disclose

WHITE COLLAR WORKERS TO BE SLASHED HARD

Laboring Classes Not to Be Affected So Keenly As Office Men

WASHINGTON, July 23. (US)—Consolidation of railroads will cut the number of eastern railroad presidents from about 50 to five, it was disclosed in railroad circles here today.

The ranks of executive staffs and white-collar workers generally will be slashed hard.

Trainmen, shopmen and others of the laboring classes will not be affected so keenly since their jobs depend on the volume of traffic.

The only roads which will retain presidents in the area affected are the New York Central, the Pennsylvania, the Baltimore and Ohio and the Chesapeake and Ohio, around which the four large systems are to be built.

The Delaware and Hudson will also retain its president and executive staff since the Interstate Commerce commission has ruled it may remain as an independent line.

Ticket offices, soliciting forces and general offices of all merged lines will be combined at every point possible for the sake of economy.

To Be Gradual

Shops, of course, will be combined but the personnel will not be reduced because of the consolidation. The number of workers in shops, as on the trains, will depend as in the past on the volume of business.

Railroad men emphasized today that the slash in executive and office ranks will not dump men wholesale on the streets, since the mergers will be brought about gradually and the further fact that these ranks have already been depleted on account of the depression.

Few men have been hired in recent years. Deaths and retirement are also gradually reducing the ranks. So, railroad men say, there will not be many left to be fired by the time consolidation is completed.

Although terminals will be consolidated in some points, railroad men said that is a detail that has not been studied. They do not foresee many changes, however, in New York, Chicago and other large cities.

The New York Central and Pennsylvania terminals will remain in New York. The Baltimore and Ohio is eager to move its terminal from Jersey City to New York but cannot do so until the war department approves its plans for a bridge over the Hudson.

ESCAPED SLAYER OF TWO ARRESTED BY OFFICERS HERE

Cornelius Gray, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Pat Allen, Ben Howle and Hugh White here Thursday, is wanted in Canon City prison, Colorado, where he escaped while serving a life sentence for murder.

Sheriff Perry Browning identified the suspect by fingerprints and wired Colorado authorities who replied that Gray was sent up in 1916 for the murder of a cowpuncher and a sheriff from Cheyenne, Wyo. The convict escaped after serving 15 years of his life sentence.

Gray told local authorities he would waive extradition and Colorado officials will send for him within the next few days.

GERMAN PILOT LANDS IN REYKJAVIK HARBOR ON ATLANTIC FLIGHT

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, July 23. (INS)—Capt. Wolfang von Gronau, German seaplane pilot, who is making a leisurely flight to the United States with three companions, brought his craft down on the barbor here at 3:05 o'clock this afternoon after a hop from Sedisfjorder, where he arrived last night.

Von Gronau made the hop, a distance of about 300 miles, in about three hours.

RITES PLANNED SUNDAY FOR CANDIDATE WHO DIED DURING RALLY

CLEBURNE, Texas, July 23. (AP)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon for A. C. Womack, 64, candidate for district clerk of Johnson county, who dropped dead a few minutes after making his announcement for office at a county-wide political rally here last night. His death was attributed to heart disease.

EFFORT TO EXTINGUISH GLADEWATER WELL FAILS

GLADEWATER, Texas, July 23. (AP)—The Steen Drilling company's No. 2 Rodden oil well, seven miles northeast of Gladewater, continued burning today despite efforts to extinguish it.

H. L. Patton, oil fire extinguisher of Overton, was in charge of the crew attempting to halt the fire. Chemical extinguishers having failed, he said he would use water, trying to kill the well at the tubing.

The well took fire yesterday after the explosion of gas accumulated in low land a quarter of a mile away. The flames increased gradually today, destroying the well connections.

Burning oil and gas was shooting 300 feet into the air.

Leisurely Flight From Minneapolis To Bergen Norway With 20 Passengers Planned by Business Man-Aviator

MINNEAPOLIS, July 23. (AP)—Plans for a mid-August transatlantic flight from Minneapolis via Montreal, Greenland and Iceland, to Bergen, Norway, were announced tonight by L. S. Clark, Minneapolis business man, who said Bernt Balchen has been engaged as chief pilot.

Twenty passengers, a crew of six, in addition to mail, supplies and fuel will be carried, Mr. Clark said. A flying boat now is being constructed and will be delivered here about Aug. 1, he said.

Mr. Clark is secretary of a syndicate, Aerial World Tours, Inc., organized to finance the flight. He said the chief consideration will be safety and a test of the feasibility of establishing an air mail line operating on regular schedules over the northerly route. He said arrangements have been completed for underwriting the venture with an insurance company, asserting this is the first time a transatlantic flight will be covered by a policy.

"Our entire plans have been laid with a view towards making a safe and sane flight," Mr. Clark said. "The route we propose will include stops at Toronto, Montreal, St. James, N. F., the Island of Saint Pierre, Greenland, Iceland, Bergen and Oslo, Norway. The longest water jump will be 780 miles, from Iceland to Bergen. This will be well within the safety limit as the boat has a cruising range of 1,300 miles."

Balchen was retained several months ago by the syndicate which is seeking to engage as co-pilot, Clyde Pangborn, who with Hugh Herndon, flew from Japan to this country.

To assure safety, the plane will be taken up only when weather conditions are favorable and a month will be consumed for the journey if necessary.

Precendent Dating Back to Civil War Days Smashed in Some Texas Counties When Negroes Cast Vote

DALLAS, July 23. (AP)—A precedent dating back to carpetbag days was smashed in some Texas counties today when negroes were allowed to vote in the Democratic primary. In other counties election officials turned away negroes who came to the polls with the intention of voting.

Reports from over the state indicated that the negro vote was extremely light in counties where it was permitted. In reality, the election served as a testing ground for decisions handed down in numerous civil suits brought by negroes in their fight for the franchise.

In Grayson county last night unidentified persons attempted to intimidate negroes by circulating anonymous handbills warning them not to vote. The demonstration was augmented at Denison when a fiery cross was lighted in front of a negro church. Police extinguished the symbol but it caused considerable excitement.

Despite the demonstration, today's election was quiet and orderly throughout Grayson county. Election officials did not interfere with negroes who had qualified as voters. Sixteen negro votes were cast at Sherman alone. The only incident out of the ordinary occurred when a ballot was taken away from a negro after he had failed twice to observe instructions that he should receive no help in voting.

Warning Issued

The circulars distributed in Grayson county last night said: "Negro, the white people do not want you to vote Saturday. Do not make the Ku Klux Klan take a hand. Do you remember what happened two years ago May 9th?"

The latter referred to the burning to death of a negro charged with attacking a white woman. A frenzied mob burned the Grayson county courthouse in which he was held prisoner.

Ben F. Gafford, Grayson county Democratic chairman, said that under his interpretation of a recent decision of the United States supreme court, negroes could not legally be excluded from the Democratic primaries.

Negroes were allowed to vote in Nueces county. A report from San Antonio told of their being admitted to the polls in Bexar county after the fourth court of civil appeals vacated an injunction it had issued last night that held in abeyance the mandatory injunction issued Friday by Judge S. G. Taylor granting negroes the right to vote.

Judge Taylor's decision made it mandatory on the county executive committee chairman and election officials not to challenge negroes when they presented themselves at the polls.

Some Turned Away

A few negroes who tried to vote at Fort Worth were turned away, despite a notice from Assistant U. S. Attorney General Nugent Dodds. Wiring from Washington, Dodds referred to two articles in the criminal code. The telegram was sent to Federal Attorney Johnson. It read:

"Complaint has been made by R. D. Evans of Waco, Texas, that negroes were denied the right to vote in the primary election at Fort Worth. See section 19, criminal code, and case of L. A. Nixon vs. James Condon et al., matter referred to you for such action as facts and law warrant."

Accordingly, Johnson notified Evans, an attorney, and A. B. Borden, that they should tell election officials that negro Democrats are entitled to a vote in the primary and that if the judges refuse, they are not complying with federal laws. Johnson would not say what action he would take against election judges who refused ballots to the negroes.

Negroes were barred from voting at Texarkana in Bowie county and Corsicana in Navarro county. Dallas county officials allowed them to vote but few went to the polls.

At Port Arthur negroes were barred from the polls. Two negroes, one of them C. S. Eugene, west side political leader, attempted to cast ballots at a fire station box, but were ordered out by officials. Firemen rushed into the polling place when it appeared the negroes might ignore the order, but the latter left speedily.

Eugene had filed a suit to restrain the Jefferson county Democratic executive committee from barring negroes from the polls. Federal Judge Randolph Bryant of Sherman has the case under advisement.

Chinese Casualties

Chinese casualties during the recent conflict with Japanese troops in Shanghai amounted to 214 officers and 4,060 men killed, and 688 officers and 1,154 men wounded.

Mrs. Pat M. Faust of Comfort, Texas, has returned home after a week's visit with her sisters, Mrs. May Moore Shumake and Miss Ida Moore, and her brother, E. O. Moore, here.

FAIRBANKS HUNTS FOR OLD FASHIONED BAR TO USE IN EARLY PICTURE

EL PASO, Texas, July 23. (INS)—Douglas Fairbanks, movie star, and several friends were expected here late tomorrow or Monday from Vaughn, N. M., on his long hunt for an old-fashioned pre-prohibition bar with all equipment intact.

Friends of the actor have been looking for the desired relic, but they state all bars thus far located in Juarez are too modern.

AMARILLO, Texas, July 23. (AP)—Ten Amarillo negroes whose ballots were refused by election judges here today said they would meet Monday to discuss plans for taking the matter into the courts.

TRIALS OF NASSAU COUNTY POLICEMEN SET FOR AUGUST 15

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—Trial of 12 Nassau county policemen indicted on charges growing out of the third degree torture death of Hyman Stark was set today for Aug. 15.

The policemen, now free on bail, will be arraigned Monday.

Five of its defendants, it was learned, are charged with first degree manslaughter. Preliminary charges of second degree murder against four of them were discarded by the grand jury.

Of the others, seven are accused of second degree assault and one of being an accessory to first degree manslaughter.

Stark's body was ordered exhumed on Monday for a closer study. An autopsy, performed before the body was buried, showed death was caused by a crushed larynx.

Stark died a week ago today after questioned about an assault upon Mrs. Valerie Hizenski, mother of a Nassau county detective. The detective, Joseph Hizenski, was among the policemen indicted for assault.

MAYOR CERMAK TO SAIL FOR EUROPE WEDNESDAY TO RECOVER HIS HEALTH

CHICAGO, July 23. (INS)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago has obtained passports and will sail from New York for Europe next Wednesday on the Bremen, it was learned here today. He will make the trip primarily to recover his health but will visit Germany and Czecho-Slovakia, his native land. His son-in-law, Dr. Frank Jirka, who is also his personal physician, and his 13-year-old granddaughter, Vivian Graham, will accompany him.

MERCURY FALLS 68 IN CHICAGO

Lower Temperature Definitely Breaks Heat

CHICAGO, July 23. (US)—The heat wave that swept over the city during the week was definitely broken today. The temperature dropped approximately 30 degrees, standing at 68 this morning.

A stiff northeast wind whipped up high waves on Lake Michigan. A number of small boats were driven ashore but there was no loss of life.

The falling temperature is expected to spread over the eastern and southern parts of the country where temperature readings have been high. A reaction to higher temperatures was in prospect for next week.

ST. LOUIS, July 23. (INS)—Residents of this section today were enjoying the temperature drop which followed a violent wind and rainstorm late yesterday. From 94 degrees the thermometer skidded to 68 as the cooling wind and rain visited the city.

Ten persons, including two firemen were hurt when lightning struck a telephone cable and set fire to a bag company.

TENNESSEE'S INCOME TAX LAW HELD INVALID

NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 23. (INS)—Tennessee's new general income tax law, which was expected to bring the state an annual revenue of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 was held unconstitutional and void today by the state supreme court.

The court in affirming a decision of Chancellor B. C. Howell, of the Davidson county chanery court, rendered last May, held that the Tennessee constitution permitted the levying of an income tax only on income derived from stocks and bonds not taxed ad valorem.

Let's Talk About the Murphys . . .

In 1929 the Murphys were making $40 a week.

In 1929 the Murphys were paying $50 for a $35 house.

In 1929 Mrs. Murphy was forced to do considerable squeezing of pennies to keep the grocery bill within $12 a week.

In 1932 the Murphys forced the landlord to accept $35 for his $35 house. Rather he refused to accept it and the Murphys moved to a house owned by a landlord who had discovered times had changed.

The Murphys' income has been reduced $312 a year, but the Murphys have cut their rent bill $180 a year.

In 1932 Mrs. Murphy has discovered she feeds the family better on $7 a week than she could in 1929 on $12. The Murphys are saving $260 a year on food.

In 1929 the Murphys were in debt some $500.

In 1932 the Murphys are in debt some $60.

Mrs. Murphy needs at least two new dresses, which can be bought at less than half the 1929 price. Mr. Murphy needs a new suit.

The radio which cost the Murphys $160 in 1928 can be duplicated now for less than $75. The old radio has started to wheeze.

They have quit buying because they fear the depression.

TIMES' DAILY MARKETS

COTTON DECLINES ON CONTINUATION OF RECENT SELLING

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—Cotton declined today under a continuation of the recent selling in early new crop deliveries combined with some southern and scattered offerings on the favorable view of the weather map.

October contracts closed at 5.74. The general market was off 8 points net on all positions.

Prices worked off gradually to 5.84 for December, making net losses of 13 to 14 points on the general list. This decline was checked by the late week-end covering and closing quotations showed rallies of 4 or 5 points from the lowest.

Although conflicting opinions are heard as to the effect of prevailing weather conditions on the crop, a belief that the check to boll weevils will offset any deterioration in the plant is supposedly responsible for some of the current selling.

Liverpool cables said scattered buying and trade calling had absorbed offerings there and reported a fair cloth inquiry in Manchester.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, July 23. (AP)—Cotton became fairly active today and prices moved downward, the main depressing influences being the long distance forecast for fair and hot weather for the coming week and a renewal of selling of October by co-operative agencies. The close was steady at net declines of 11 points.

Activity in the July position was due to final liquidation as that option expires Monday. October dropped to 5.65 and Dec. to 5.80, the lows for the day and 16 points below the previous close. Both active months rallied 5 points at the end on covering and both closed at net declines for the day of 11 points.

Port receipts 9,266, for season 10,020,001, last season 8,982,994. Exports 38,455, for season 8,501,955, last season 6,982,994. Exports 26,455, for season 8,501,955, last season 6,853,997. Port stock 3,456,803, last year 2,584,931. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 71,409, last year 46,101. Spot sales at southern markets 1,707, last year 945.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, July 23. (INS)—Spots cotton was quiet at the opening today, with prices steady. There were no receipts.

At noon, middling fair was quoted at 5.59d, strictly good middling, 5.14d, good middling, 4.89d, strictly middling, 4.69d, middling, 4.59d, strictly low middling, 4.54d, low middling 4.44d, strictly good ordinary 4.24d and good ordinary 3.94d.

Futures opened steady, with October at 4.40d, December 4.44d, January 4.47d and March 4.51d.

Dry Goods Market

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—Cotton goods prices were unchanged at the week-end. Cotton cloths for the bag trade were in fine goods. Sales of rayon weaving yarns are continuing to expand. Silk prices were stronger, advancing 10 yen in Japan and 2½c here. Women's wool coatings in brisk demand for spot delivery.

Chevalier Denies Marlene Dietrich Is Other Woman

PARIS, July 22. (US)—Maurice Chevalier today denied that Marlene Dietrich, German talking-picture star of Hollywood, is the woman for whose love he is divorcing Yvonne Vallee, his actress wife.

At the same time, friends of the smiling song-plugger disclosed what they say is the real reason for Chevalier's separation from his wife—he wants an heir.

According to Chevalier's most intimate friends, the French screen idol wants to pass on to a son or daughter bearing his name the great fortune he has amassed in Hollywood. One close friend said:

"It's Napoleon and Josephine all over again, but we don't know yet who the Marie Louise will be."

Chevalier passed through a romantic, adventurous and glamorous stage of his life before meeting the wife he is divorcing.

He was rescued from a German war prison by Mlle Mistinguette, who obtained the intervention of former King Alfonso of Spain with the Germans.

Maurice became a co-star with her. He had a nervous breakdown, and it was Mlle. Vallee who nursed him to health. They married after he split with Mistinguette.

"Marlene Dietrich and I are the best of friends, as the world knows, but there is no thought of marriage between us."

Pathetic Picture

PROFIT TAKING IN STOCKS FAILS TO MAKE IMPRESSION

NEW YORK, July 23. (AP)—Profit-taking made little impression on the stock market today. There was some selling in the first hour, but losses were generally recovered and the list closed with a steady tone.

Traders who have been allowing themselves a dram or two of optimism on the strength of recent developments which have appeared favorable commented on the market's resistance, although it was pointed out that a Saturday session, especially at midsummer, could hardly provide conclusive evidence.

Some leaders dipped about a point after the opening. However losses of that amount were, on the whole, regained. Oils were active, making fractional progress. Rails were very quiet, suggesting that most of the nourishment had been extracted from the consolidation news. Sales totaled 365,800 shares.

Movement of revenue freight in the week ended July 16 rose 87,144 cars, or about 15,000 cars above the loss of the holiday week.

This was encouraging, although its significance will become clearer when the next report appears.

Livestock

Midwestern Livestock Review

KANSAS CITY, July 23. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—A sluggish demand for all classes of meat due to the prolonged heat wave reflected itself on the livestock trade during the week under review and prices ruled weak to unevenly lower. Most classes of cattle were tendered an uneven decline of 25 to 75c. Even highly finished native grain feds came in for a setback of 25c or more. Current quotations on the in-between grades of steers and yearlings are $1.00 or more lower than the high spot early last week. There was an increased movement of grass cattle out of Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, while a few shipments from the Northwest put in their appearance. Aggregate receipts of cattle at 11 markets totaled around 175,500 as compared with 173,068 last week and 173,676 the corresponding period a year ago.

Chicago had a late hog top of $5.00. Total offerings for the week approximating 310,000 were 46,000 short of last week and 29,000 less than a year ago.

Fat lambs and yearlings are steady to 40c lower for the week with most points showing losses of around 25c. Slaughter ewes were little changed. The supply of sheep numbered around 263,300, against 279,944 last week and 263,990 a year ago.

FORT WORTH, July 23. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Hogs—Receipts 400; truck hogs to small killers, 5@10c higher; no rail hogs; truck top, $4.45; bulk better 190-250-lb. truck hogs, $4.40@4.45.

Cattle—Receipts 400, calves 100; nominal. For week, slaughter steers 25@40c lower; butcher cows, 25c lower; slaughter yearlings, 25@50c lower; bulls unchanged; stocker trade poorly tested; slaughter calves 75c lower; spots $1 lower; week's tops, fed steers, $7; fed yearlings, $6.50; fat cows, $3.50; heavy fat calves, $5; stock steer calves, $5.25; fleshy feeding steers, $5.40. Bulk prices, fed steers, $5@5.50; grassers, $3.35@4.25; grassy yearlings, $4.50 down; butcher cows, $2@2.35; heavy slaughter calves, $3.25@4.25; cull sorts, $1.50@2.00; better stock steer calves, $4.75@5.25.

Boston Wool Market

BOSTON, July 23. (AP)—The wool market was slower again the past week and the demand recently centered on the finer western range wools tended more to hand to mouth buying. An increased movement of the wool crop, however, stimulated a cheerful sentiment in the market and encouraged a rather firm attitude toward prices, especially on the lines that have been selling most readily during the past few weeks. Buyers occasionally raised their bids on sales to secure wool in some cases with the margin between bids and asking prices only a fraction of a cent in the grease.

CORN TAKES LEAD IN UPWARD TREND IN GRAIN PRICES

Reports from Illinois, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska showed 1932 corn crop deterioration exceeded the average of the last 10 years. Prospects were for a return of higher temperatures over the corn belt and only scattered showers were reported.

After advancing almost a cent a bushel, corn closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to ⅛c higher, wheat ⅛c off to ⅛c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c lower, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 15c.

Wheat market upturns were handicapped by concentrated selling from sources that sometimes represent government-sponsored agencies. A sustaining influence, however, was belief expressed that the Ottawa trade conference would not much alter economic relations between Great Britain and countries outside of her down dominions.

Oats established a new low price record unequaled since 1896.

HOOVER ORDERS FURTHER STUDY FIVE DAY WEEK

Departments of Labor and Commerce Told to Make Survey

PLAN SUGGESTED TO RELIEVE UNEMPLOYED

Representatives of Recent Conference Asks for Hearing

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—President Hoover, leaving for his Rapidan camp today, announced in a statement he had instructed the departments of labor and commerce immediately to resurvey the question of the five-day week and the experience of industries in using such plans.

The president said he welcomed the request to him from Governor Winant of New Hampshire to receive representatives of the recent conference in New England to discuss their conclusions upon the five-day week or shorter week hours as a means of wider employment distribution.

Constructive suggestions by the New England conference and accumulated experience should make it possible "for a new stage for action" by further conference between employers and labor representatives, the president said.

"I have been requested by Governor Winant of New Hampshire to receive the representatives of the recent conference in New England to discuss their conclusions upon the five-day week, or shorter week hours as a means of wider distribution of employment. I welcome the opportunity to do so. In the meantime, I have instructed the departments of labor and commerce to immediately resurvey the present situation and experience of the industries now using such plans.

"At the White House conferences with employers and labor over two years ago the general policy of spreading available work over the largest number was adopted and has been consistently followed by a great many industries. The same action was further spread by the president's unemployment committee conferences held last fall. We have, therefore, a large amount of actual experience.

"These are many different methods in different industries to spread work through shorter hours. Some of them have adopted the five-day, the four-day or three-day week; some have adopted six-hour shifts; some are staggering employment; some are using the furlough plan for salaried employes; some of them have suspended night shifts; some are using the flexible week depending on the volume of business. In fact many varieties of attaining the same end have now been developed and I welcome the opportunity to review the situation and see what further steps can be taken.

"The New England conference has made constructive suggestions and without accumulated experience we should be in position for a new stage for action by further conference between employers and labor representatives."

Cut Those Weeds!

SAN FRANCISCO.—Guard John Brabson had charge of five prisoners outside the gates of San Quentin prison. They were engaged in cutting down tall weeds. Suddenly Brabson yelled: "One of you is gone!" An alarm was sounded. Other guards joined in the search. In the midst of all the excitement a thin voice piped out from the tall weeds; "Hey, how many more of these thistles do I have to cut?" The prisoner had been lost in the weeds.

No Place for Buggy

DENVER.—That buggy rides are a thing of the past has been driven home to five persons who went for one of those old-fashioned trips on Denver's crowded streets recently. Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Edmundson, their son, Donald, Mary King and Merle Ketch went a-buggyin'. While trotting blithely down the street an automobile, driven by Frank Condery, ran into the buggy. All passengers were hurled out and on to the pavement.

Mary Carolyn Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Carter, 2012 Brown street, was judged the most perfect girl, and Carl Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hudson of Burkburnett, the most perfect boy in the class over 1 year of age.

SHAKEUP IN FLORIDA'S PRISON INSPECTION SERVICE EXPECTED RESULT OF SWEEPING INQUIRY

STATE PRISON, RAIFORD, Fla., July 23. (INS)—A thorough investigation of Florida prison conditions was in full swing today, with a shakeup in its prison inspection service anticipated, as a result of the sensational charges of James Dennison, young Philadelphian, that he was shot in the back by a guard at a road camp last January.

Gov. Boyle E. Carlton ordered a special investigation of the Dennison shooting. The inquiry will be conducte personally by Commissioner Nathan Mayo, head of the state prison service. He will go to Kenansville, Fla., where Dennison was shot while working in a convict camp.

"I intend to find out if our inspection service is functioning," Governor Carlton told International News Service. "I want to know why our inspectors didn't report Dennison's charges and why we got them through International News Service."

Mayo declared he was "far from satisfied," with the reports of the inspection service on the Dennison shooting. The youth was reported as wounded in an attempted escape, on Jan. 12 last, at the same time that B. B. Reynolds, a Pensacola convict was shot and killed. The report said Dennison was shot in the back but gave no details.

The youth was felled by five slugs from a shotgun. He charged one guard, named Walter Gafford, then walked up to him where he lay on the ground helpless and fired a shot at him from a .38 pistol.

Task of Spreading Federal Relief And Creating New Employment Is Getting Under Way at Washington

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—Exploring pathways of economy and launching huge new enterprises is keeping the federal government high-keyed as never before at the end of a session of congress.

The task of spreading federal relief for destitution and creating new employment is getting under way, and probably will be in actual operation before the next week is out. Plans are being fashioned to launch a system that will relieve pressure on that oft-disregarded ordinary American—the home owner.

But the biggest job of all for government workers from the cabinet to the rank and file, is shaking down to a regime of bone-deep scrimping and saving. Many are finding that it can be done without loss of efficiency.

Congress Adjourned One Week

Congress adjourned just one week ago today. The national economy bill was already legally in effect but its application, hampered by countless technicalities, is proceeding slowly. The $2,122,000,000 relief bill and the $125,000,000 home loan bank bill were left on President Hoover's desk and have since been signed.

The president still has to appoint men to handle these tremendous tasks but many branches of the government have been drawn into consultation to map out their execution, and little loss of time is in sight.

Into this already busy week was injected signing of the St. Lawrence waterway treaty with Canada, charter for a giant enterprise of still unmeasured significance in its eventful opening of the mid-West to ocean commerce.

Problem Bonus Marchers

Less directly, federal officials have had to deal—and carefully—with the unprecedented occupation of the capital by the bonus-asking world war veterans who came to beslege congress and were reluctant to leave after their objective was lost.

At the week ended President Hoover still was deeply concerned with finding the right men to fill two places on the reconstruction finance corporation board. Both must be Republicans to balance the Democratic component of the board and they must be in office 10 days from July 21, when the bill was signed.

Five men are to be chosen to head the directing board of the home loan bank system. This enterprise, designed to absorb real estate paper and release fresh capital for mortgages and new construction, probably will be linked close either to the reconstruction corporation or the commerce department.

The economy act already has resulted in merger of all government radio activities under the radio commission and more such are to follow. It also has placed half a million government workers on a reduced pay basis.

Attendance at this year's land valuation short course at the University of Missouri set a new record.

ARKANSAS SENATOR PREDICTS VICTORY FOR DEMO TICKET

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., July 23. (AP)—Election of Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner and a Democratic congress as well as predicted today by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader in the senate.

"The chances of success do not depend entirely or even in large part upon the unpopularity of the Hoover administration," he said in a statement.

"Admittedly, there has been a signal failure on the part of the Republican party to carry out the platform promise of the campaign of 1928.

"The Democrats have a program that should inspire confidence. . . . It is manifestly in the interest of the general public and will challenge the support of every one who is anxious for a change in the control of our national government.

"Both Governor Roosevelt and Speaker Garner have had broad experience in governmental affairs and entertain sound views on the problems with which the next administration must deal."

BORAH URGES DEBTS PARLEY RADIO SPEECH

Would Consider Revision Or Cancellation Of War Obligations

SAYS LAUSANNE PACT MOST IMPORTANT STEP

Policies Will Make It To Interest of U. S. To Consider Question

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—Senator Borah of Idaho proposed tonight an immediate world conference to consider revision or cancellation of war debts integrally with a program for settling other post war problems.

Borah, chairman of the powerful senate foreign relations committee, delivered his message by radio, proposing the world conference as a follow up to the Lausanne reparations agreement, which he said was more of a "harbinger of peace and the hope of humanity" than the Versailles peace treaty.

Borah painted the Lausanne agreement as "the most important step taken since the war looking to the restoration of confidence in political and business affairs."

He added that if the policies initiated at Lausanne were carried forward "there will come a time when it will be distinctly to the interest of the people of the United States to again consider the question of war debts."

Sounds Warning

Borah warned, however, that revision of the debts should not be predicated on the reparations agreement alone.

He said the debts were just debts and the only reason for urging a reduction or cancellation of them would be "in the interest of the people of the United States."

"I entertain the belief," he said, "that the cancellation of the debts in connection with, and as a part of, a program, including the settlement of other war problems, would have the effect above indicated."

Borah opened his speech, over the Columbia Broadcasting company chain, with the statement that the "appalling struggle" which began 18 years ago with the opening of the world war "seems to be drawing to a close."

"Lausanne may be made the beginning of the end of this long period of human suffering and its beneficial effects may be carried into the homes of the harassed and tortured people in every country under the sun. . . . The old deadly doctrine of 'strict executions' died at Lausanne, and for that, let the world rejoice."

FREIGHT LOADINGS FOR WEEK SHOW INCREASE

WASHINGTON, July 23. (AP)—Revenue freight loadings for the week ended July 16 were announced today by the American Railway association as totaling 504,094 cars.

This was an increase of 87,144 cars over the previous week but a reduction of 25,395 cars below the same week in 1931.

Miscellaneous freight totaled 183,684 cars, a decrease of 100,168 under the corresponding week in 1931; merchandise 167,307 cars, decrease 48; 232; grain and grain products 42,218, decrease 18,606; coal 70,145, decrease 38,827; forest products 14,930, decrease 12,512; ore 6,638; decrease 30,232; coke 2,578; decrease 1,970, and livestock 16,594, decrease 3,000.

NEW VIEW OF AN OLD SUBJECT
How so?
He named a corporate executor—a Trust Institution similar to our own organization, which would be unaffected by the uncertainties of human life, would live for generations.
This desire for permanence is shared by an increasing number of men who want, above all things, to have their wishes carried out exactly as they have planned.
Are stability and permanence your watchwords? They are ours, too.

Safety Rules
Keep estate and trust funds left in our care entirely separate from other funds.
Give wholehearted, disinterested advice to the families of men who leave their money in our care.
Let us apply these same careful rules to the administration of your own estate.
