JFK's Will Is Regarded As Private

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today it considers probing of the late President John F. Kennedy's will a private family matter and will have no announcement on it.

Assistant press secretary Andrew Hatcher said, "I consider that a private family matter and will not entertain any questions on it unless a member of the family requests it."

Hatcher's comment came in response to a question about where and when the will would be probated. He said he did not know. When asked if he would check, Hatcher refused.

The late President is reported to have had holdings amounting to about $10 million.

The calculation, dating from the time of Kennedy's inauguration in January 1961, is a rough one.

At that time Pierre Salinger, White House press secretary, said he had income of about $200,000 a year—about $100,000 after taxes—from trust fund investments. Newsweek magazine figured that on the basis of a 5 per cent return that would represent capital of about $10 million.

Identical trust funds for the late President and his sister and brothers were set up in 1926, 1936 and 1949 by their multimillionaire father Joseph P. Kennedy.

Katz No. 1 Mattie Smith Estate is projected to 4,000 feet to test the upper Hope line and is spotted 1,623 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of the same section.

Dixon Drilling Company of Abilene has encountered another show of oil and gas in No. 1 I. M. Newman, Fisher County, wildcat 2 1/2 miles southeast of Longworth.

A drillstem test in the Strawn sand at 5,383-511 feet, open five minutes, recovered 5,300 feet of gas, 30 feet of heavily oil-cut drilling mud and one foot of oil.

Thirty-minute initial shut-in bottomhole pressure was 1,920 pounds. Flowing pressure was from 49 to 60 pounds. Final shut-in pressure, in an unreported amount of time, was 1,046 pounds. The project was drilling below 5,920 feet on a 6,500-foot Ellenburger contract.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of section 10, block 1, H&TC survey and 2 1/2 miles north of the Newman (Swastika) pool.

Earlier, a 1 1/2-hour drillstem test at 5,541-91 feet, in an unidentified horizon, recovered 340 feet of gas and 10 feet of drilling fluid.

Purexit Oil Company, Inc., of Wichita Falls will re-enter and clean out to 7,250 feet and test the Strawn reef time in No. 1 Ida Sue Johnson, a 7,713-foot Ellenburger duster.

It is 14 miles southwest of Claremont in Kent County and two miles northeast of a 7,000-foot Strawn producer in the Polar, Northeast pool. Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 61, block G, W&NW survey.

The wildcat originally was drilled by R. P. Fisher, Jr., and W. E. Butler of Abilene and was plugged in 1961.

Standard Oil Company of Texas has plugged and abandoned No. 1-5 Georgia Thomas, wildcat 10 miles southeast of Claremont in Kent County at total depth of 7,325 feet.

It is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 40, block G, W&NW survey.

Texas Pacific Oil Company has spotted location in Fisher County, six miles northwest of Hamlin for No. 11 Port H. Williams, in the Purdue (Canyon) pool.

Location is 1,485 feet from north and 330 feet from east lines of section 200, block 1, H&TC survey. Contract depth is 4,700 feet.

Robert L. Wood of Midland will drill No. 5 Wida E. McLain in the Claytonville (Canyon) sand pool of Fisher County, six miles west of Longworth to 5,400 feet.

It is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 189, block 3, H&TC survey.

W. L. Pickens of Dallas has scheduled No. 1 Allen as a 4,000-foot Swastika project in the Newman pool of Fisher County, five miles southeast of Longworth.

It spots 2,309 feet from north and 330 feet from west lines of section 6, block 20, T&P survey.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Why do adults make fun of teen-agers? They laugh at our clothes, our hair styles, our music and our dances. If they would just sit back and remember what they were like when they were teen-agers, maybe, they would stop criticizing us. Please print this letter, Abby. It means an awful lot to us kids.

DISAPPOINTED IN ADULTS: DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Adults who make fun of today's teen-agers must have amnesia.

Ask them to refresh their memories with their old high school yearbooks. The clothes and hair styles between 1935 and 1945 were as kooky as anything seen today. As for the music, come you top "The Dancing Queen" with a Dolly with a Hole in her Stocking? And the "Big Apple" should have been left in the Garden of Eden.

DEAR ABBY: How do a host and hostess get rid of a guest who has been invited to a cocktail party from five until seven but hangs around as long as drinks are being served and a few others remain? This can be very embarrassing when one has invited, say, 30 for cocktails and only 8 for dinner, immediately following the cocktail party. Thank you.

PARTY GIVER: DEAR PARTY GIVER: There is NO way "gracefully" to inform a guest that his well-meaning invitation to a party never out-drank him, so either hand him his hat, or invite him to stay for dinner. (And remember hand him the second time around.)

DEAR ABBY: We have just had a death in our family. Is it proper to send out Christmas cards as usual? I have heard it was considered bad taste.

NEEDS TO KNOW: DEAR NEEDS: A death in the family is no reason to withhold holiday greetings to your friends. Send them as usual.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "BEAT-ING MY BRAINS OUT AT V. M. J.": Perhaps this old Chinese proverb will help: "He who knows himself knows his enemy."

Dean Rusk Post Is 'More Secure'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The view in capital circles is that Secretary of State Dean Rusk's position in President Johnson's new administration is probably more secure than that of any of his colleagues.

Johnson has asked everyone in the late President John F. Kennedy's Cabinet to remain. Rusk is determined to continue to serve as secretary of state as long as the President needs him, his associates say.

Relations between the two men were always good. They seem to be on the same wavelength, as Rusk's associates explain it.

There is probably no completely satisfactory explanation for why two men have confidence in each other.

But there was one tangible reason for the rapport between the two. Rusk, a scholar, refused to accept the theory that the vice presidency is an office with few obligations and with plane's public address system rather vaguely defined rights.

He believed that the vice president must be thoroughly briefed on foreign affairs to be ready and our nation.

For almost three years, this office kept Johnson informed about foreign policy issues, showing him the important diplomatic cables and briefing him on all developments.

Rusk persuaded Johnson to make frequent trips to other continents, including the visit to West Berlin almost immediately after the Communists built the wall dividing the city.

Rusk, with five other members of the cabinet, was on his way to Japan when news of Kennedy's assassination reached the airplane over the Pacific.

He announced Kennedy's death through the plane's public address system to the party of about 30 officials, and concluded by saying "may God bless our new President and our nation."

Rains Are Timely, But More Needed

COLLEGE STATION (AP) — Texas farmers and ranchmen appreciate the recent rain. It has permitted them largely to complete plantings of grain, flax and cover crops, said John Hutchison, director of the Agricultural Extension Service.

He said more rain is needed to replenish subsoil moisture and to relieve the critical stock water situation in many sections. More warm weather would be welcomed to give emerging grains, other fall crops, grass and weeds a chance to make maximum growth before winter hits.

At midweek, district farm agents summed up the situation this way: Moisture generally was short over the Panhandle. The cotton harvest still was on and grain sorghum harvest reached the mop-up stage.

The South Plains cotton harvest is making good progress. Wheat is making good progress. Ranges and cattle are good.

Rains varying from one to 10 inches fell over the entire rolling Plains but 17 of the 22 counties still need more. Moisture will permit farmers to complete seeding grains and should make small grain grazing available soon.

Some North Central Texas rains were sufficient to bring up pastures, are making good grains but more will be needed soon to keep it growing. Heavy feeding of livestock went on. Much more rain is needed to restore subsoil moisture.

General rains ranging from one and a half to four inches fell over Northeast Texas. Run off was too light to improve the acute stock water shortages. Cattle lost weight and feeding increased. Grains and clovers are coming up.

Light to heavy rains fell over far West Texas and moisture conditions improved. The first frost over much of the district stopped vegetative growth. The cotton harvest is still on; most livestock shipments are complete.

Grain prospects improved in West Central Texas where the rains and winter weeds are up in pastures. Warm weather is needed for grain and weed growth. The stock water situation has improved in some areas. Feeding is continuing.

Moisture in Central Texas varies from short in the east to adequate in part of the west. Grain progressed. Grazing is short and feeding and marketing went on.

Much of the southeast and upper Gulf Coast received showers and the moisture situation is much improved. All counties still need more rain. Planted growth but feeding is necessary. Moisture and warm weather are needed to keep winter vegetation growing and for flax and cotton planting in South Central Texas. Ranges are greening but the Winter Garden area is nearing completion. Some citrus is very short. Moisture is short to very short being harvested. Connally Has Quiet Friday

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. John Connally was reported to have spent a quiet day Friday at Parkland Hospital where he is recovering from a bullet wound received when President Kennedy was assassinated.

A press aide said Friday night that the governor was sleeping after a day of little activity.

His physicians said that he read some mail and had a hamburger for lunch.

The "no visitors" sign remained on his hospital door.

Aides said that while he is showing steady improvement, some time will still be required for his complete recovery and that he would not be able to see visitors in the immediate future.

Nuclear Ship Reactor Resumes Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The reactor in the nuclear ship Savannah, shut down six months ago, is again in operation, the Maritime Administration announced.

The administration said the reactor was started Thursday and will operate through December and January while the ship remains at Galveston, Tex., dock for the training of engineer officer candidates.

The Savannah, the first nuclear powered merchant ship, was idled by a labor dispute and is expected to resume operation with its new crew next April.

Jacqueline Kennedy Portrait Of Courage

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP)—"Profiles in Courage," the title reads.

And before the next edition of John F. Kennedy's book comes off the press, some one should prepare a new chapter—a chapter leading all the rest.

This—the world would agree—should bear the simple title: "Jacqueline."

Only who shall write it? A writer in a London newspaper tried, and fell short. For he seemed to relinquish reluctantly the notion that only those who wear visible crowns are queens.

"Jacqueline Kennedy," he said, "has given the American people from this day on one thing they have always lacked—majesty."

Some said only a little while ago that she was merely a high-society glamour girl. This winsome girl who, born of a well-known family, became a linguist, an inquiring photographer for a newspaper, a horsewoman, a water skier, a lover of the arts new and old, a person who gazed long at the Mona Lisa while her husband clamped to be off to his high duties, a woman who only last month sailed through the fabled isles of Greece dreaming "the dream of my life."

She is authentically a woman, too, for she sometimes has tarried over her toilette.

As on Friday, the black 22nd of November, 1963.

The president and she had been barnstorming Texas—she making perhaps a deeper impression than he. Coming out in a drizzle from their Fort Worth hotel, the president made a little speech to a street crowd. He was sorry his wife was late, he said with a grin. "She is organizing herself and it takes a little longer for her, but of course she looks a lot better than we do."

When she appeared, for a breakfast of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, she wore a woolly, two-piece fuchsia suit—and this was the garb that was to be stained by an assassin's infancy.

The world knows now how, when the shots struck in Dallas, she cradled his head and cried out: "Oh, my God! They killed my husband! Jack! Jack!"

That was the last public lament she was to utter—though the beautiful cheeks have become slightly swollen from weeping in private.

It is well known, too, how she accompanied her fallen husband every tragic step—to the Dallas hospital, to the jet plane bearing the corpse back to Washington, down the yellow cargo lift to the concrete of Andrews Air Force Base while the purple lights of the runways seemed to blink in horror.

Everyone knows, too, how—garbed in black—she walked behind the coffin from the White House to St. Matthew's Cathedral, followed by many of the world's great. This was the kind of procession the martyred Lincoln had had, and this was the kind she felt was due to the nation and the world.

And she visited the bier and the grave again and again, sometimes bringing the children—Caroline to kiss the flag and John-John to give the scarcely comprehending military salute of a 3-year-old.

As if to bring order out of woe, she found time to attend to many things:

She consented to her husband's burial in Arlington National Cemetery rather than in Brookline, Mass., as if to emphasize that he belonged to the nation. She designed the memorial cards for the Mass of the requiem; asked that his most loved passages from Scripture be recited; that his inaugural speech be quoted.

She suggested that she herself receive the foreign leaders who came from beyond the seas to her homage; and when the President, Lyndon B. Johnson, assured Latin-American diplomats that the Alliance for Progress would go forward, she too spoke to them, thanking them in Spanish for their sympathy.

Such is the character and faith of this woman that, as she sat with the Kennedy family at the Thanksgiving table in Hyannis Port, she could undoubtedly thank God for his mercies. And even find it in her heart to forgive the man who, in the blind brutality of his unerring aim, struck down the man she loved.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A magazine editor, an author, and a Pulitzer Prize-winning poet agree there is much to deplore in the way the English language is being used and being taught.

John Fischer, editor of Harper's, told the National Council of Teachers of English that the quality of current prose is "a national disgrace" and "a function of creeping sloth."

Fischer told the English teachers Friday that text books now in use are "horribly dull" and alienate students from writing and reading.

"Style," he said, "is looked upon as something added to, rather than an integral part of the work. Lack of style is found everywhere in our society, from cooking to repairing automobiles."

Madeline L'Engle, author of a prize-winning book for children, protested the limited vocabularies in children's books.

"A controlled vocabulary list manipulates the author," she said, "taking away his creative freedom. The good writer will always limit himself. The simple word is almost always the right word."

But, she said, "the more limited our language, the more limited we are, and the more limited the literature we give our children, the more limited their capacity to respond, and in their turn, to create."

Karl Shapiro, who won a Pulitzer Prize in poetry for his post-World War II volume, "V-Letter: Other Poems," declared flatly that poetry is not an American art.

He told the council he agrees with those who say, "American poetry is very easy to discuss for the simple reason that it does not exist."

Shapiro said, "Poetry is a European transplantation which has never really taken root with us and never will. Ours is a hot-house poetry kept alive by artificial respiration and fluorescent light."

Between 5,000 and 6,000 teachers of English from grade schools, high schools and colleges all across the country attended the council's annual convention, which ended today.

Trainer Safe Despite Fire

BELLE CHASSE, La. (AP)—

A twin-engine Air Force trainer made a safe emergency landing at the Naval Air Station here late Friday night after catching fire over the Gulf of Mexico.

Capt. David T. Werner, pilot of the Convair T-29 plane, which had a total of nine persons on board, radioed to New Orleans Coast Guard headquarters at 8:22 p.m. (CST) that one of his engines was on fire.

His location at that time was 30 miles south of New Orleans. The plane was on a routine training flight from Connally Air Force Base, Tex.

The Coast Guard sent an air-search and rescue plane from its detachment at Keesler AFB, Miss., to escort the crippled airplane to the Belle Chasse Naval Air Station.

The fire destroyed the plane's electric power and it had no lights or navigational aids. Werner reported he almost lost his second engine just before reaching the mainland.

The brakes caught fire when the plane landed here but it was quickly doused and there were no injuries.

Montgomery Police To Accept Negroes

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Montgomery police department will accept applications immediately for a Negro police reserve.

Police Chief W. M. Stanley said Friday that the unit would be composed of 36 Negroes "trained in police fundamentals in order that they might be prepared for active duty assignments in the event that circumstances should require."

There are no Negroes on the police force.

Red China Sees LBJ As Enemy

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — Red China, which looks to say a generous word about the late John F. Kennedy, looks with trepidation and distaste on the administration of his successor, President Johnson.

Speaking for the Chinese bloc—which includes North Korea, North Viet Nam, the Pathet Lao of Laos and the Communist party of Indonesia—Peking calls the new chief executive reactionary, aggressive and imperialist.

For the Chinese and North Koreans, Johnson is no more than a new face at the same old window.

But if the Communist attitude is sharp and simply etched, the outlook of America's friends and allies in Northeast Asia is not. Publicly, these nations—Nationalist China, Japan and South Korea—express confidence Johnson will continue Kennedy's foreign program.

But there are private anxieties, jogged by their special problems.

Nationalist China has seized on Johnson's reply to Chiang Kai-shek's cable of condolence, in which the new President assured Chiang, "I firmly intend to continue the policies adopted by President Kennedy, convinced of their wisdom."

The generalissimo, who announced periodically his intentions of invading the China mainland, is left with the unanswered question: Will Johnson go further than Kennedy in thwarting this goal by refusing U.S. military support?

South Korea's special problem is continuing military and economic aid to a new civilian government headed by former military strong man Chung Hwee Park. Kennedy insisted on cutting down on direct aid, shifting to loans instead. Will relations, somewhat strained in the past, improve? Only the months ahead will show.

In Japan, a big trading partner of the United States, businessmen fear Johnson may be less than enthusiastic about Kennedy's free trade policies, which may lead more towards protectionism. That would be a blow to this exporting nation, and these same businessmen already are recommending less dependence on the U.S. market, more on Europe.

Texas Gets More Cold

By The Associated Press
Freezing temperatures chilled most of Texas' western half and part of the east central section Saturday. There was even frost in the semi-tropical Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The mercury sank to 19 degrees at Dalhart in the upper Panhandle for a second straight morning. Low marks elsewhere ranged up to 45 at Galveston.

Readings at other points included Lubbock 25, Alpine 25, Amarillo 27, Midland and San Angelo 30, and Del Rio 31.

Skies were clear throughout the state except for a few high, thin clouds and no rain was expected.

Farm Bureau Delegates Make Report

The Scurry County Farm Bureau had its first board of directors meeting following the State Convention in Fort Worth Nov. 10-13 in the Farm Bureau office here.

This was a report meeting of the delegates to the State Convention. Those attending the meeting were County President, Ross Williams, Martin Murphy, Leon Sterling, T. B. Knight, Buford Light, Mal Address, Herman Hundsmurder, J. E. Wall and Whit Farmer.

President Williams called on Sterling to give the first report. This was the first State Farm Bureau meeting that Sterling had attended. He reported that it is hard to visualize how large and important Farm Bureau is until you attend a meeting like this. Sterling reported that 1,000 people registered for the convention, with 812 voting delegates. He also reported on the State, Queen's contest, Talent Find and Talk Meet.

Herman Hundsmurder was asked by President Williams to give the next report. Hundsmurder reported that it all was so fascinating that it was hard to pick out one or two things that were outstanding since everything on the program at the convention was outstanding. He reported that some very good speeches were presented at the convention.

One of the best speeches, Hundsmurder said, was the speech made by Governor John Connally. Governor Connally gave some interesting facts, such as the average age of farmers in Texas being 53½ years of age. A problem that, he said, we must try to correct by encouraging younger people to stay on the farm.

T. B. Knight reported that Farm Bureau was more than successful in the Legislative field this past year. This is due to the fact that in the halls

Fine, Jail Time Given For Illegal Driving

Earl W. Hardy of Snyder had entered a plea of guilty in county court to a charge of driving while his driver's license was suspended.

The charge had been filed by the Texas Highway Patrol. Hardy received a fine of $100 plus costs of $26.35 and was sentenced to three days in jail.

Texas Wells Completed

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission said Saturday 110 oil wells and 32 gas wells were completed in the state during the week.

The completions bring the totals for the year to 7,666 for oil wells and 2,254 for gas wells. During the same period last year, 9,464 oil wells and 3,074 gas wells had been completed.

Of the 88 wells plugged during the week, 46 were dry holes.

Seven oil wildcats and 24 gas wells were drilled.

The total average calendar day allowable is 2,844,021 barrels, an increase of 5,607 barrels.

Automated Phone Call Plan Eyed

By DIAL TORGERSOON
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You answer the phone and a silky voice you remember from somewhere says:

"This is Gloria Glamour and I have a grand idea for a party. Invite your friends for a dinner downtown and afterward, all of you come to see me at the Bijou, where I'm appearing in 'Practically Nothing at All.' Wednesday through Sunday. I'll be waiting."

This could happen—if a couple of bright young men succeed with their telephone advertising brainstorm.

Jeff Schottenstein and Joe Fischer have come up with:

A machine which can take a list of 50,000 telephone numbers, call them, tell when a voice answers, play a tape-recorded message, say goodbye, and hang up. Or call you back if the line is busy, or if you're out.

It's called Electro-Com, and it has some fantastic possibilities—as well as some aspects that Schottenstein and Fischer want to be very careful about.

"We're very aware of the resentment factor in telephone so-

BC's Concannon Is First Pick In AFL

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Quarterback Jack Concannon of Boston College was the No. 1 draft pick of the American Football League, at the draft meeting held today.

Concannon was selected by the Boston Patriots.

Boston got the right to pick first in the AFL in a trade with the Denver Broncos.

Denver traded its No. 1 pick to Boston—obviously to clear the decks for the signing of the hometown quarterback—and received in return Boston's No. 1 pick, No. 3 pick and a player to be named later.

Kansas City, picking second, selected another quarterback, Pete Beathard of Southern California.

The New York Jets selected Matt Snell, Ohio State fullback, as their No. 1 choice.

"Concannon is 6-foot-3, 200 pounds from Carver, Mass., and is also a baseball and basketball player. He is 21 years old."

Beathard pitched the Trojans to the No. 1 national ranking and a Rose Bowl victory last season. He is 6-foot-1, 197 from El Segundo, Calif.

Denver, with Boston's first choice, picked Bob Brown, 269-pound Nebraska guard. Brown is 21, and stands 6-foot-4.

Buffalo picked Carl Eller, 6-foot-5, 212-pound tackle from Minnesota.

Snell is 6-foot-2 and 215.

Brown, 21, is from Cleveland, and may be selected by the NFL. Brown also has been tabbed one of the outstanding prospects among the college linemen. Nebraska is going to the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day.

Of the first four men selected, all are either playing today or still have a game on the schedule, and could not be signed immediately.

Houston picked Scott Appleton, the big Texas tackle, 235 and 6-foot-3.

Oakland selected Tony Lorick, Arizona State halfback. Lorick is 22 6-foot-1 and 200 pounds.

San Diego, completing the first round, picked Ted Davis, linebacker from Georgia Tech. Davis is 6-foot-2 and 225 pounds.

FIRST ROUND

SECOND ROUND

THIRD ROUND

Denver — Marv Woodson, Indiana halfback; Kansas City, Ken Korta, Louisville tackle; New York—Gerald Philbin, University of Buffalo guard; Denver — George West, Michigan State end (choice acquired from Boston); Buffalo — George Rose, Auburn back; Houston — Bob Orenshaw, Baylor tackle; Oakland — George Bednar, Notre Dame tackle; San Diego—Perry Lee Dunn, Mississippi quarterback.

KING HALTED—Anthony King (20) Univ. of Texas wingback, is stopped by Rickey Whitley (89) Texas A&M end, before he can make a gain by an end run in the first quarter of the game at College Station. (AP Wirephoto)

Defending Champs Tumble From List

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
Two defending state champions were ushered out and such stalwarts as Katy and Hull-Daisetta were eliminated as smashing upsets hit Texas schoolboy football Friday night.

San Antonio Brackenridge found out something everybody had been telling them—a one-man team just can't win them all.

The Class AAAA defending champions made quite a fight of it and Warren McVea rolled up 38 points but still the Eagles lost 55-48 to San Antonio Lee in the highest scoring game of Turax, LSU end; Oakland — Dan Conners, Miami, Fla. tackle; San Diego — John Kirby, Nebraska linebacker.

THIRD ROUND

Denver — Marv Woodson, Indiana halfback; Kansas City, Ken Korta, Louisville tackle; New York—Gerald Philbin, University of Buffalo guard; Denver — George West, Michigan State end (choice acquired from Boston); Buffalo — George Rose, Auburn back; Houston — Bob Orenshaw, Baylor tackle; Oakland — George Bednar, Notre Dame tackle; San Diego—Perry Lee Dunn, Mississippi quarterback.

Reaching the quarter - finals and the eighth team will be decided tonight when Paul Hewitt Garland, Spring Branch, Pasadena and San Antonio, Three. All eight teams have been decided for the quarter - finals in Class A, which has no defending champion but has established Albany as the favorite.

Albany, however, was unimpressive Friday night in eking out an 8-0 victory over Henrietta.

Dumas, the Class AAAA defending champion, is the only title team still in the race. Others in and Henrietta lost a touchdown Class AAA quarter - finals on a clipping penalty.

Petersburg, Merkel, Van Al-Corsicana, Conroe, LaMarque, and Gonzales. The eighth team will be decided Saturday night when San Antonio - Alamo meets South San Antonio at San Antonio.

Dalhart, Crane, Rockwall, Taylor, Liberty, Missouri City might get its come uppance to Dulles and Sinton have gained the quarter - finals of Class AA in the quarter-finals.

Celtics Thrive On Neutral Site

By The Associated Press
There seems to be something out of the ordinary whenever the Boston Celtics play one of their National Basketball Association games on a neutral court in Providence, R.I.

Persol Set For Ranking

NEW YORK (AP) — After only 10 pro fights Johnny Persol is ready to step into the light heavyweight division's top 10.

The undefeated, 22-year-old Brooklyn shipping clerk served notice on the other top-notchers by whipping ninth-ranked Allen Thomas of Chicago in a television 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden Friday night.

"I can hold my own with any of them," he said.

The upset victory made it 10 straight for the poised youngster who turned pro in January after winning all of his 85 amateur fights.

Called in to sub for Peruvian Maruo Mina only 11 days ago, Persol displayed poise, skill and stamina in going 10 rounds for the first time.

The rangy, broad-shouldered underdog swept the first five rounds, tired and lost the next two, and then came on to wrap up the verdict over the 125-favorite.

A natural light heavy, Persol weighed 174½ to Thomas' 172½. Thomas' record now is 19-3-1.

The officials had Persol ahead by the following rounds scores: Judge Bill Reicht, 6-2-2; Judge Joe Armstrong, 7-3, and referee Joe LoScalo, 5-4-1. The AP's card had Persol in front, 7-3.

Back on Feb. 15, Bob Cousy tossed in pro basketball's longest shot on record, a 79-footer, against the Syracuse Nats. Friday night the Celtics found a slippery floor to their liking and raced to a 112-78 victory over the Philadelphia 76ers, see the Nats.

The 76ers, who took over the Syracuse franchise after last season, played the last quarter under protest. Player-coach Dolph Schayes claimed the floor at the Rhode Island Auditorium was too slippery from rain seeping through the roof. At the time Boston led 63-34 as Tommy Heinsohn, with 18 points, Bill Russell with 15 and Clyde Lovellette with 13, seemed to have no trouble getting around.

It was the seventh straight victory and the 14th against only one defeat for the Celtics who are after their sixth straight NBA championship.

Cincinnati, the only club to beat the Celtics so far this season, crushed the New York Knicks 135-110 in one of the three other scheduled NBA games Friday night. Baltimore edged San Francisco 100-99 and Los Angeles drubbed Detroit 127-111.

Pro Stars Take Aim On Records

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Bald old Y.A. Tittle and bruising Jimmy Brown will be shooting for National Football League records Sunday afternoon while the New York Giants, Cleveland Browns and St. Louis Cardinals attempt to solve the three-way snarl at the top of the Eastern Division standings.

The three teams share the top with 83 marks, but it would take a couple of ties for it to remain that way after the Sunday affairs. Cleveland plays at St. Louis in the key game while Giant quarterback Tittle shoots for a couple of passing marks at Dallas, 3-8.

In the West, the big game has Minnesota, 4-7, visiting leading Chicago. The Bears are 9-1 and hold only a half-game lead over defending champion Green Bay, tied 13-13 by Detroit Thanksgiving Day. The Packers are 9-2-1.

The rest of the schedule has Philadelphia, 2-8-1, Pittsburgh, still very much in the Eastern running at 6-3-2, Los Angeles, 4-7, at San Francisco, 2-9, and Baltimore, 5-6, at Washington, 3-8.

In the American League, Houston is at San Diego in a game that could be a preview of the playoff game. Houston leads the East at 6-4 and powerful San Diego tops the West at 8-2. In the others, Buffalo is at Boston, each with a 5-5-1 mark, and Kansas City, 2-6-2, is at New York, 4-5-1.

Oakland beat Denver 26-10 in a Thanksgiving Day game.

The only way the East could remain in a three-way tie is in the unlikely event of a Cleveland-St. Louis tie and a New York-Kansas City tie.

Kidd Gunning For 2nd Championship

NEW YORK (AP)—Canada's Bruce Kidd guns for his second National AAU cross-country championship today—and he's heavily favored to win it.

The 26-year-old University of Toronto ace leads a star-studded field of 208, which tackles the 10,000 meters (6½ miles) course at Van Cortlandt Park. Starting time is 2 p.m. EST.

Kidd, winner of the event in 1961 in Louisville and later winner of numerous three-mile and six-mile crowns, is expected to deliver a defending champion Pete McArdle of New York.

JAY HOOKS UP—Jay Williamson, Tiger back-of-all-trades, (21) hooks up for a gain in the Snyder-Graham bidistrict game. He is being pursued by Graham's Joe Bill Bennett (40), while the Steers' Freddy Gough (24) tries to get off of a block to make the tackle. Graham won the game, 19-0, to advance to the quarterfinals.

Liston-Clay Plans Fuzzy

By CHARLES MAHER
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The latest on the heavyweight title fight between champion Sonny Liston and Cassius Clay is that it may come off in Las Vegas Feb. 24. If not then, possibly Feb. 17. Or maybe even Feb. 10.

Of course there's not much chance the situation will remain that definite. These two guys may have fixed the date of a rematch before they agree definitely when they'll fight the first time. And when they've exhausted the publicity potential of vacillating about the date of their ground confrontation, they may be expected to honor an old boxing tradition by arguing about the size of the ring, the weight of the gloves, the color of the trunks, the wattage of the ring lights and the position of the planets on the most recent fight date, which they will have just changed.

Here, selected at random, are a few chapters of the Clay-Liston story:

Philadelphia, Aug. 1, 1963—The Pennsylvania Athletic Commission indicates Clay and Liston can fight in Philadelphia in September, provided Liston renounces his role as co-promoter. But "formal agreement" is postponed.

Philadelphia, Aug. 6—Liston says tax problems compel him to postpone his Philadelphia title defense against Clay until "some time next year."

Los Angeles, Aug. 7—Matchmaker George Farnsworth says Clay, forgetting Liston for the moment, might fight British heavyweight Brian London at the Los Angeles in September.

London, Aug. 9—Brian London's manager says he has agreed to terms for a Clay-London fight at Los Angeles in September.

Louisville, Aug. 29—Clay's manager says negotiations for a Clay-Liston fight "have completely broken down."

San Francisco, Oct. 15—Chairman of Gov. Brown's committee for boxing safeguards says a Clay-Liston fight would be "a mismatch of the first magnitude."

Denver, Oct. 31—Liston denies report that he and Clay will sign early in November for a title fight, but says "serious negotiations" are in progress.

Denver, Nov. 5—Liston and Clay sign for fight to be held in February at a site to be announced about Nov. 20.

Los Angeles, Nov. 7—Matchmaker Parnassus says Los Angeles "definitely is the No. 1 choice to land a Sonny Liston-Cassius Clay heavyweight title fight."

Denver, Nov. 20—The fight site that was to be announced about Nov. 20 is not announced. Las Vegas, Nov. 26—A friend of Liston says Clay-Liston fight probably will be held Feb. 10 or Feb. 17. Las Vegas is likely site. Las Vegas, Nov. 29—Liston's friend says please add Feb. 24 to list of possible dates. The exact date, he says, will be announced next Monday, maybe.

Perfect Record

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Pittsburgh, Calif. Mallards finished an undefeated, unscathed season by scoring a 33-0 victory over Philadelphia's Mayfair AC Friday in the fifth annual Pop Warner Disneyland Bowl 130-pound football game played in the rain and on a muddy field.

Collegiate Cagers Off To Races

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer
College basketball edges into the sports picture tonight with, as usual, numerous intersectional games taking the spotlight on the official opening of the season.

George Washington at Cincinnati, Penn State at Duke, Wyoming at Wichita, Virginia at Kentucky, Minnesota at Kansas State, Tulane at Toledo and Oregon State at Washington State top the list.

Results of these clashes are expected to provide a clue to such questions as: Can Wichita beat out Cincinnati in the tough Missouri Valley Conference? Is Duke, the champion of the Atlantic Coast Conference, as good as rated? Is Kentucky really as bad as its Coach Adolph Rupp fears? Is Toledo a real dark-horse? Can Kansas State beat out Oklahoma State in the Big Eight? Will Oregon State again be the top independent on the Pacific Coast?

The main question is, of course, can any of them beat out Loyola of Chicago and New York University, rated one-two in the pre-season Associated Press poll?

The Loyola Ramblers, who upset Cincinnati for the national championship last March, and the Violets do not open until next week, the same as the sixth-ranked Arizona State Sun Devils.

Cincinnati was third in the pre-season poll, Duke fourth and Wichita fifth. After Arizona State came Ohio State, Michigan, Kentucky and Oregon State with UCLA, Kansas State, North Carolina and San Francisco close behind.

Ohio State begins things today with an afternoon game at home against U. California of Davis.

Frank Ryan Handy With Figures

CLEVELAND (AP) — Frank Ryan, quarterback of the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, is a handy man to have around when a mathematical problem pops up.

Aware that Ryan is about to get his doctor's degree in mathematics—a subject which he hopes to teach in college someday—Hal Lebovitz, sports writer of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, telephoned Ryan with this problem: "As of today, how many possible final standings combinations are there" among the top four teams in the NFL's Eastern Division?

"This is a challenge," Ryan, whose team is a contender, said eagerly. "I'll call you back."

"Remember," Lebovitz cautioned, "in your league tie games are thrown out. They don't count when you figure the percentages."

"Of course I know that. Doesn't everybody?" Ryan hung up and called back a little later.

"I've established the maximum number, the most it can

Playoff Tilt Slated Here

The Merkel Badgers and the Petersburg Buffaloes will play their Class A quarterfinal football game at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Tiger Stadium.

Woody Forrester, Manager of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, announced Saturday morning that the two Class A grid powers had agreed upon Snyder as a neutral site for their game.

The Badgers, champions of District 6-A, advanced to the quarterfinal round by bouncing Big Lake, 19-8, Thursday, while Petersburg moved ahead by walloping Stratford, 33-8, Friday night.

In first round playoff games, Merkel eliminated Seagraves, 21-0, and Petersburg triumphed over Farwell, 20-14.

Forrester said arrangements for ticket sales for the game here would be completed over the weekend.

Tiger Basketball Opens Season

The Snyder Tiger Basketball team will open its 1963-64 season at Big Spring Tuesday night. Both A Team and B Team are scheduled to play. First game will begin at 6 o'clock.

Snyder had been scheduled to play at Loveland last Friday, but the game was cancelled due to the football team being in the playoffs.

A complete rundown of the team will be given after Coach Ned Underwood has been able to work out with all members of the squad. Several boys were on the football team and were not able to work out for basketball until after the Graham game.

'Have Nots' Are Favored

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP) — The "have nots" of Canadian professional football, the British Columbia Lions, are favored to knock off the mighty Hamilton Tiger-Cats today in the Grey Cup game for the national championship.

The game will be carried live on American television by ABC, 4-7 p.m. EST.

The Lions won the Western title this year for the first time.

with a 10-6 record. In their previous nine seasons in the league they were always last or next to last.

The Tiger-Cats, 10-4, were Eastern champions for the sixth time in the last seven years.

WHO WAS THE WINNER?—Bob Clifton, 260-pound KSNV disc jockey, is shown entering the Canyon Drive-In at the end of a trip in a one-wheeled vehicle powered by Jay Thompson. Thompson was the loser in a contest between the two announcers in which listeners were asked to bid the most ridiculous possible things for a year's pass to the Canyon. Such items were bid as lumps of dried putty or a broken bird call. Clifton said he felt Thompson was actually the winner after Clifton was dumped from his vehicle a number of times along the road to the Canyon.

Sullivan Show In Gradual Change

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"It's a very personal show," said producer Bob Precht thoughtfully. "And when there's any question, Ed makes the final decision."

The show is CBS' long-running "Ed Sullivan Show" and Precht, now in his third season as its producer, was talking about his permanent star—and his father-in-law.

The tall, blond young producer, now 33, is not just a fortunate fellow with a sinecure. In the few years since he took over the production reins, "The Ed Sullivan Show" has undergone radical and happy change. Change has been gradual, however, and many viewers have not even been aware of all that has happened.

"I always felt that the show deserved the best of everything," Precht continued. "And I knew we could afford it."

A new director was hired, and gave the show a new approach, and better camera work. A new scenic designer was hired—and the show started coming up with some attractive, architecturally interesting backgrounds. He put a clever choreographer, Hugh Lambert, on the staff, and the dancing on the show became stylish rather than pedestrian. He demanded four days of rehearsals of stars instead of a quick run-through.

Result has been something like plastic surgery on a once-beautiful middle-aged lady. The basic bone structure remains, but the signs of age have disappeared.

"But the basic format of the show remains what it should forever be," Precht added. "A variety show in the truest sense. And Ed's character in relation to the show is untouched."

Precht and Betty Sullivan, Ed's only child, were married in 1952, when he graduated from the University of California. Bob continued with post-graduate work in international relations served a hitch in the Navy and finally, in 1956, entered television.

In a four-year apprenticeship he worked on a half dozen programs ranging from "Our Miss Brooks" to a daytime serial, and finally joined the Sullivan show, first as associate producer and then as producer-director of programs taped outside the New York studios.

He works closely with Sullivan on all phases of the show, particularly on that most important, difficult chore of all: Booking the acts.

The program has a talent coordinator, whose job is to find fresh talent. This man travels widely, in Europe and all over this country on the hunt for the new, the fresh, the unusual. Then Sullivan and Precht take a look at his suggestions and make their decisions.

Carmen Terrell got their name from their ability to squeeze in to rock piles for foxes and wildcats.

DeCarlo Is Back After Two Years

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—When actress Yvonne DeCarlo appears as guest star next Wednesday on "The Virginian," she will end an enforced two-year leave from television.

Miss DeCarlo, always in demand for motion picture and TV parts, is the wife of Robert Morgan, a top Hollywood stunt man.

Almost two years ago Morgan lost a leg when a stunt involving a train went awry in Arizona. For almost a year, he was recuperating in a Phoenix hospital.

Yvonne limited herself to work that would keep her close to her sons, aged 6 and 4, and permit weekend commuting to Phoenix.

Morgan has made a great recovery, and is thinking about picking up a new career—"something that has to do with golf." With the family reunited in Hollywood, Yvonne has picked up loose ends.

"John Wayne came up with a part for me in 'McLintock,'" she said, "and that was really what got me started again. I went on to the new Bob Hope movie, and then a Western. And now I'm back in television."

"Everybody has just been marvelous. Particularly because no one has suggested they were helping, but that I was right for the parts."

Best of all, she says, in "The Virginian," she plays an opera singer—not the usual girl-around-the-saloon which is the lot of an actress too exotic in appearance to play a school marm.

"The Joey Bishop Show" producers have scrapped an episode using the voice of Vaughn Meader in a practical joke. Before the episode was taped, Meader had said it would be the last time he would do his famous impersonation of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Card Is Treasured

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Jennie D. Bassett turned 105 Tuesday, and relatives say she got "lots and lots" of cards, cakes and flowers.

But one of Mrs. Bassett's most treasured remembrances is a birthday card from the White House signed by the late President John F. Kennedy. It was postmarked in Washington, D.C., Friday, Nov. 22, the day the president was assassinated in Dallas.

Ballantine Says He's Out-Ranked

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Fellow performers thought it strange when Carl Ballantine gave up one of the most successful acts in show business to become Torpedoman 2nd Class Lester Gruber in "McHale's Navy."

"I think it's kind of strange myself," says the elastic-faced comedian. "I'm losing about $2,000 a week."

As the Amazing Mr. Ballantine, he operated a hilarious, high-paid act in which his card tricks ended as 52-pickup and his disappearing birds became a featherly pulp.

He gave his reasons for joining the ABC comedy that stars Ernest Borgnine. "Theater business was disappearing and so were night clubs, which I don't like to play anyway because they keep me up too late. There were TV guest shots, but how many times can you play Ed McHale or not."

"My biggest pay was from industrial shows, but they don't come along too often."

So he enlisted with McHale for better or worse, and admitted that it has swung both ways.

"Somebody said there was no such thing as small roles; only small actors," he cracked. "I think it was Mickey Rooney. Anyway, it ain't true."

Trouble is, he said the director works not on the star system, but the rank system. The best stuff goes to the command-tricks—Borgnine—captain—Joe Flynn—and ensign—Tim Conway.

"What chance have I got—a torpedoman second class?" Ballantine wailed.

Ballantine still does guest shots as the maladroitness magician like to play anyway because they keep me up too late. There were TV guest shots, but how many times can you play Ed McHale or not."

THE NIGHT-SHIRTED SPENCER FAMILY is beaming evidence of why the Warner Bros. glowing romantic drama, "Spencer's Mountain," was selected Father's Day Picture of the Year. Grouped around their screen parents (Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara) are Veronica Cartwright, Susan Young, baby Michele Davis, Miss O'Hara, Rocky Young, Michael Young, Fonda, Gary Young, Kim Karath, Ricky Young and co-star James MacArthur. It is coming to the Palace Theater here Sunday, Dec. 8.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — A gentle real traditional posadas, with candle light parades and singing, held in the city these days. None that I know of for the general public anywhere. However, some of the hotels and night spots have modern versions which are straight parades with the Yule touch of decorations and possibly breaking pinatas.

Now if there was such a town it would be the site of the most thriving industry on this continent. And undoubtedly the most highly populated city in the world.

Possibly the rumor was started—and stretched—from the lushness of Toluca where they have some startlingly gorgeous ladies with blue eyes and light skin. They are said to be a result of the Spanish and French expeditions into that area. The ladies have been reluctant to marry local Indian gentlemen because they want to hold on to the blue eyes and light skin. Consequently you find them holding out for blond gentlemen, Mexican or foreign, who come wandering through. But nobody gets sold.

ANY WAY TO RENT CARS IN MEXICO AND IF SO, IS IT POSSIBLE TO HAVE ONE DELIVERED AT AIRPORT FOR ARRIVAL? Hertz has the only car rental office at the airport so that solves your problem. However, it would be a good idea to write the main office here (Hertz, Versalles 6, Mexico City) in advance and have one reserved for your arrival.

CAN WE BRING CHRISTMAS GIFTS INTO MEXICO FOR FRIENDS? Yes, within the bounds of reason. Don't try to bring them a Cadillac or new washing machine. Customs inspectors may or may not ask you to open gift-wrapped boxes but as long as you don't bring something out of this world, you'll have no problems.

LOCATION OF GOVERNMENT WAX MUSEUM IN MEXICO CITY? It is privately owned (called the Museo Historico) and is located on Avenida Republica de Argentina No. 21. You better have a guide take you unless you know the city well. The museum has life-like models of such historical gentlemen as Benito Juarez, Emiliano Zapata, Emperor Cuauhtemoc, Father Hidalgo, Hernan Cortes, Gandhi and uncle Joe Stalin.

Soviets See Continuation Of Policies

By PRESTON GROVER
MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet leaders apparently are fairly certain President Johnson will try to follow the foreign policy of slain President John F. Kennedy. They are assuring the Russian people that this will be the case.

Diplomats here who have talked with Soviet officials say the conversations usually have been based on the assumption there will be no policy change. Johnson is not well known to many Russians.

An important contact was made by First Deputy Premier Anastas I Mikoyan in his meeting with the new President in Washington. Mikoyan said he got a favorable impression. His observations will be studied closely by Premier Khrushchev and all the Kremlin policymakers.

Press comment in the Soviet Union normally can be considered a reflection of government thinking. While there were critical articles about Kennedy before his assassination, there were frequent references to the fact that he pushed the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, the first important Soviet-American agreement in years.

Since his death, the newspaper comment about him has been universally warm. He is described to the Soviet people as a peace president.

Closely associated with that all remarks of President Johnson that he will follow Kennedy's policy have been carried in the Soviet press.

Soviet officials appeared, in their talks with diplomats here, especially pleased by the announcement that Johnson wanted all the Kennedy Cabinet and all his ambassadors to stay on the job.

Judgment In Price-Fix

HOUSTON (AP)—A district judge has signed a $125,000 agreed judgment by the state in a price-fixing suit against an electricians' union and a group of electrical contractors.

The lawsuit had been filed by former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson in June, 1959, after a court of inquiry held in Houston.

The judgment was entered Friday.

The state charged that the Southeast Texas Chapter of the National Electrical Contractors Association, Local 716 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and eight contractors conspired to restrain trade in the sale and installation of electrical equipment in the Houston area.

Penalties of $50 to $1,500 for each day of the alleged violations from Aug. 15, to July 8, 1956, were asked in the petition.

The lawsuit was dismissed Nov. 8, 1961, by Dist. Judge Ben F. Wilson, but that decision was reversed later by the state Court of Civil Appeals at Texas.

SECTION B

HOSTESSES — This group of homemaker girls served as hostesses for the courtesy dinner held at Travis Junior High School Tuesday.

MARK ANDERSON and Steve Burney were all set to be seated and dig into the delicious food.

Travis Jr. High Dinner

Something new and quite unique has been added to the curriculum of Travis Junior High School. Mr. Bob Smith, principal, gave the children a choice of having a dinner or the usual "Kid's Day" and the students responded much in favor of the luncheon. It enables the children to improve on their etiquette and table manners as well as giving them the feeling of importance.

The Student Council and Home Economics students sponsored the affair held Tuesday and to their delight it was very well attended. The students were given the option of dressing for the occasion if they wished.

We overheard some of the students asking Mr. Smith if they could have such a luncheon once a month, and Mr. Smith promptly replied they could if that was what the majority of the students wanted.

LARGE CROWD—348 were served in the cafeteria and 42 in the snack bar Tuesday at the Travis Junior High School. Colorful flower centerpieces graced the centers of the white tables giving it an atmosphere of a banquet.

BUFFET LUNCHEON—These students are shown going through the line as they were served a menu consisting of turkey and dressing, giblet gravy, green beans, combination salad, cranberry sauce, hot rolls, cookies, cherry cobbler, pumpkin pie and whipped cream, ice tea, chocolate milk, milk or coffee.

TO WED—Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ratliff of Comanche, Texas, have announced the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Doris June, to Larry B. Darden, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Darden of Hermleigh. The wedding date has been set for December 27, at Mercer's Gap Baptist Church.

CAT LOVERS have a treat in store... a book of their favorite subject with hundreds of superb photos by the country's best-known cat photographer. It's "Walter Chandra's Book of Kittens and Cats" (Citadel Press, N. Y., $8.50), a selection of his favorite pictures from 50,000 taken in the last 12 years.

Not everybody appreciates cats or understands the devotion of feline fanciers. Like the fellow in the train alongside Chandra as they discussed odd occupations. "I heard of a chap who makes a living raising earthworms in his cellar," ventured Chandra. "He sells the worms to fishermen and organic gardeners."

"That is not peculiar," his neighbor shot back. "Take this fellow in Annandale, N. J., who does nothing but take pictures of cats and dogs all day long. Dogs I can understand - but who in his right mind would want a picture of a cat?"

Chandra has discovered it's a full-time job all right to supply the right kind of cat photographs to magazines, advertising agencies, book and calendar publishers and to aleurophiles - cat lovers all. But if you want to provide a bit of competition or wish to take your own cat pictures, Chandra adds some helpful hints for other photographers.

You need four things: 1) a reflex camera; 2) flash - either bulbs or strobe; 3) an assistant; 4) lots of patience.

You can use substitutes for the first three items but you can't replace infinite patience. If you have a camera other than a reflex, you can still get good pictures. Instead of flash, you can shoot with available light or use reflector floods. If there is no one around to assist, you can work by yourself. But patience is the key, the secret ingredient, for good animal photographs.

A twin-lens reflex camera is recommended because you can follow the antics of a pet on the ground glass and know what you are shooting. You can focus it quickly, shoot, turn to the next picture and shoot again to make a series when the action is right.

A fast shutter speed of 1/250 or 1/500th of a second is advisable to stop a moving head or an unpruned paw. To get the entire zone of action sharp, the lens should be set at f-16 or f-22. This makes it imperative that flash be used to get enough light for the combination of fast shutter speed and small lens opening. However, since you'll be working at very close distances - around three feet - the smallest flashbulbs may be used or one of the new small speedlights.

Use any quiet corner of your home for your shooting, making sure that the background is simple and nondistracting. Visually, if the subject can be confined to a small area, such as one table or bench, it will be easier to keep in focus.

To evoke expressions, the photographer can use a battery of sounds or noises. Bark, whistle, sing or groan, crinkle cellophane, snap your fingers or beat a tattoo - anything to arouse the curiosity inherent in all cats. As soon as a certain sound gets a reaction from the subject, even if he looks suspiciously out of the corner of his eye - shoot! And keep on shooting. In pet photography, the slightest difference in expression or body action may make the picture you're after.

"But, good expressions or bad," Chandra sums up, "none of your subjects will ever complain that the pictures aren't flattering. You'll hit 100 per cent satisfaction - something you'll never get with pictures of people!"

THE KEY to drying gourds to the stage where the seeds rattle is in the harvesting, says Mrs. Fae Hecht of Congers, N. Y., a specialist in raising these plants of the cucumber and melon family.

Gourds are warm season plants in danger of destruction from frost at both planting and harvesting time. All gourds which are hard and firm should be harvested when signs indicate frost is coming. The gourds should be stored in a cool, airy room on trays that will permit free circulation of air.

Soft gourds should be left on vines. First frost may harden them - but if harvested soon they will decay. So take a chance on the frost. Shellac, wax or paint should be applied before the gourd is dried, as this will seal pores and prevent evaporation.

the North. Gourds (cucurbitaceae) often are fashioned into vases, bowls, lamps, and toys as well as musical instruments.

Gourds may be planted outdoors where there is a four-month growing season. Elsewhere, the thick-skinned ornamentals or hard-shelled lagarias may be started indoors in April and transplanted in the garden in May or June, when danger of frost is past.

They need a sunny, well-drained spot. If the soil is too rich, there may be many vines and little fruit.

Plant five seeds to a hill about one inch deep. Later thin to the three hardiest plants. When thinning keep plants with different types of leaves to insure a variety of fruit. The gourds should be watered until they take root, then only if the season is very dry.

If you have lots of land, let the gourd vines run. If your space is small, train the vines on trellises.

Gourds, our expert says, are monoecious - both the male (staminate) and female (pistillate) flowers grow on the same vine.

Prune to insure a better crop. Cutting stems off at 10 feet allows the plants to produce more fruit-bearing branches.

It is not unusual to find two or three kinds of gourds on the same vine. If you want one particular variety, seeds should be planted away from other gourd beds.

Pests of the gourds are cucumber beetles and aphids. Dust with rotenone when the plants are four inches high, and repeat the treatment after each rain. Discontinue the dusting once blossoms have formed on

GREECE GROUP—From a mountain-ringed village in a remote corner of Greece come one of the unique concert attractions to appear in America in many years. It is PAEDIA, the little singers, dancers and

Unique Company Of Greek Children Singers And Dancers To Play Here

Unique in the annals of the concert field is Paedia: The Little Singers, Dancers and Musicians of Greece, an ensemble of 25 enchanting young performers, aged 10 to 15, who will appear here on Dec. 5th, at High School auditorium, under the auspices of Scurry Concert Association.

This is the only children's group performing professionally in Greece today, and for the first time the Greek Government has given its permission for such a group to leave the country. The American tour of this singular ensemble may well be the first time that a cryday peasant costumes, a chorus of Greek children has ever traveled outside the borders of its native land.

While Paedia may be new on the international scene, its traditions go back three thousand years and more, to the dawn of recorded history. The music, for, stardard white ruffled songs and dances presented by these handsome children with their dark flashing eyes and the traditional artistic expressions of the Greek people handed down from generation to generation through the centuries. They represent every region of that varied and fascinating land — from Crete in the south to Macedonia in the north, from Byzantium in the east to Corfu in the west. They tell of wars and weddings, dawn and death, winter and work, Maytime and marriage. In time they span three milleniums. Some relate legends of the heroic age before the Trojan War. Some recount the bravery of the freedom fighters during the Turkish occupation. Still others are the popular songs and dances of the waterfront taverns of today.

The children accompany themselves on a variety of musical instruments. All of them play the mandolin and the mandola, both similar to our mandolins but much richer in sonority and more expressive in tone.

The singing of the full company to the accompaniment of their own mandolin orchestra is one of the exceptional treats of the unusual program. Some of the children are virtuoso performers on their violin, guitar, accordion, drums, tambourine, and the exotic gaida, the ancient goatskin bagpipe. These native instruments provide the songs and dances with a rich background of tonal color.

Their costumes are dazzling to the eye. The dresses of the girls are simple but bright, well be the first time that a cryday peasant costumes, a chorus of Greek children has ever traveled outside the borders of its native land.

Speculation About Art Has Value

COLUMBUS, Ohio (U—Ohio State University's School of Art recently presented an exhibition called "The Junk Object."

Most of the objects involved are scrap metal and wood found in local junkyards.

Prof. Edward Hewett explained "Behind the humor and humanism, satire and sentiment of such an exhibition, open the endless fields of philosophy and aesthetic speculation. The question 'what is art?' is never asked in vain. . . .

"The idea of art as a discovery of new forms, must be matched by another idea; art as the recovery of ourselves through the forms we have lost, or which have been stolen from us by the artificial limits of our horizons."

1 pound snap beans
cup boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons seasoning salt
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 can (6 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
Snip ends from beans and scrub in cold water; cut into 1-inch slant - edged pieces. Place in a 1-quart saucepan with the boiling water, salt and seasoning salt; boil, covered, until tender - about 10 minutes; turn over beans midway through cooking period. Drain beans. Melt butter in saucepan with onion; add mushrooms; stir over moderately low heat until onions soften - 3 to 5 minutes. Add cooked drained beans; re-heat if necessary. Makes 6 servings.

THERE'S GOT TO BE A BETTER ANSWER

Most Congressmen Believe They Are Unappreciated

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Your congressman feels frustrated, tense, unappreciated, overworked and underpaid.

He is often confused and silenced by his leaders in the House.

He is jealous of senators and the publicity they receive, and so is grimly determined not to take any guff off them.

His constituents make so many demands on his time that his home life can be a joke — or a tragedy.

Yet he is almost pathetically eager to hang on to his job.

"The first duty," a frustrated, tense congressman has confessed, "is to get re-elected."

These views come from an unusual inside look at the house by Charles L. Clapp, formerly with the Brookings Institution but now with Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass.

Clapp got 36 representatives of both parties into roundtable discussions, talked with other congressmen and congressional helpers, and interviewed congressmen's wives.

Their observations are set forth in a book, "The Congressman: His Work As He Sees It," to be published in late December.

Here are some of the other things reported:

Many of those elected often arrive with foggy or erroneous ideas.

Many don't realize how important a first-rate committee assignment can be.

Many are unaware that the beginner has two basic choices: He can shoot off his mouth and get publicly a politician's grave, or he can work patiently, respectfully, to become an expert on his committee.

He picks the first course, he won't endear himself to the big, elder wheels who run the show.

One congressman puts it bluntly: "The yappers just won't get to be leaders."

If he chooses the second, he adopts a philosophy as dreary as leftover oatmeal.

"To get along, go along," the oldtimers say.

In theory, a lawmaker is here to make laws; in practice, he is often demoted to errand boy for the folks back home.

One member gives this uninspiring view of democracy at work:

"My experience is that people don't care how I vote on foreign aid, federal aid to education, and all those big issues, but they are very much interested in whether I answer their letters and who is going to be the next rural letter carrier or the next postmaster."

These are the things that really count."

Chores demanded of a congressman also can be absurd.

When Richard M. Nixon was vice president and was going to Moscow, one voter wrote her congressman: Have Nixon bring back a Russian spoon for me.

Well, her congressman figured Nixon would be pressed for time, but by congressional request, U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson was given the task.

Some congressmen say they spend 90 per cent of their efforts on constituents' case work. Others say too much is expected of them.

Living Costs Reach Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The cost of living edged up to an all-time high in October, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today.

But a spokesman said the rise of one-tenth of one per cent was strictly seasonal.

Right To Work Laws Big Issue

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — What is the philosophy behind "right-to-work" laws now on the books in 20 states and being actively pushed in 30 others?

The question, likely to be a hot issue in the 1964 presidential election, gets some sharply differing answers:

"The freedom of the individual worker," replies the National Right to Work Committee.

"Evil anti-unionism," retorts the AFL-CIO.

"The government at any level should stay out of it," says the National Council for Industrial Peace.

The right-to-work laws ban union shop contracts, under which a worker must join the union after he is hired.

The issue has cropped up in the political views of such Republican presidential possibilities as Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

The Labor Department has filed a federal court suit against the Right to Work Committee.

The committee has countered with a demand for a congressional investigation of what it called a conflict of interest by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz in assisting a campaign to repeal Arkansas' right-to-work law.

The votes of millions of workers could hinge on the issue in 1964.

The 20 states with right-to-work laws affect an estimated 20 million workers. About 48 million live in the 30 states that don't have them.

Both Goldwater and Rockefeller say they oppose a federal right-to-work law, and Rockefeller added that he and the New York Republican party are opposed to such a law in their state.

Goldwater's Arizona is one of the 20 states that have such laws.

Goldwater has called for "an open shop in all states" but at the same time advocated giving the states "the right to declare for a union shop."

A bill he introduced in January would outlaw compulsory union membership except in states which already have, or subsequently pass, laws permitting the union shop.

The Right to Work Committee, which says its sole financial support comes from its 15,000 members, declares its only function is educational and that it will not endorse any candidate in the presidential race.

However, several "Goldwater" signs are prominently displayed on its office walls. There are none for Rockefeller.

The Council for Industrial Peace, set up in 1958 when right-to-work laws were a major campaign issue in about half a dozen states, claims — like the Right to Work Committee — to be independent.

Four states have passed right-to-work laws since the Right to Work Committee began operations in 1955: Utah, Indiana, Kansas and Wyoming, the latter last May.

States which had such laws before the formation of the national committee are Arkansas, Florida, Arizona, Nebraska, Georgia, Iowa, North Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia, North Dakota, Ne-

Johnson Is Best Informed Of All Presidents On Oil, Gas Problems

By MAX B. SKELTON

HOUSTON (AP) — President Johnson has a detailed knowledge of the problems of the oil and gas industry.

Never before in history has the president been so familiar with the complexities of the industry that so frequently has been embroiled in Capitol Hill controversy.

The oilmen expect no miracles. They expect no abrupt policy changes.

But they are hopeful there will be a gradual change, particularly within the executive branch, that will lead to frank and open discussions on oil problems.

Many oilmen opposed President Kennedy politically but a major portion of their criticism of him involved administrative procedure instead of party philosophy.

In recent months, numerous oilmen have criticized Kennedy's executive branch for floor fights that defeated efforts in 1958, 1959 and 1960 to cut the tax allowance the industry considers so vital.

The circumstances surrounding Johnson's ascendancy to the presidency have minimized public comment by oilmen but the general reaction to the change is no secret.

The oilmen expect no miracles. They expect no abrupt policy changes.

But they are hopeful there will be a gradual change, particularly within the executive branch, that will lead to frank and open discussions on oil problems.

Many oilmen opposed President Kennedy politically but a major portion of their criticism of him involved administrative procedure instead of party philosophy.

In recent months, numerous oilmen have criticized Kennedy's executive branch for making what they termed secret reports and studies on the industry without consulting with oilmen.

The criticism became so widespread that on Nov. 7 three of the industry's top spokesmen conferred with Kennedy at the White House.

Only one result of the conference was announced—Kennedy's assurance the industry would be given an opportunity to comment on future oil studies before they reach the report stage.

It is known, however, the oilmen also were advised the administration normally bases its oil decisions on recommendations from the Interior Department.

Ironically, it was Kennedy's rejection of a late 1961 Interior Department report on oil imports quotas that led to the charges of secret reports and studies. In turning down Interior's 27½ per cent tax allowance, the president recommended 1962 imports quotas, Kennedy ordered an inter-agency petroleum study.

The report was completed in September, 1962, but was not published until last July. One recommendation that really upset the oilmen said complete abandonment of import controls could lead to a substantial reduction in the price of domestic crude oil. Interior's representative on the study group dissented.

While members of Congress, Kennedy and Johnson were on opposite sides on both national gas legislation and on proposals to cut the depletion allowance.

Kennedy, in the House, voted against the Kerr Gas Bill in 1956, and, as a senator, against the Harris-Fulbright Bill in 1956.

As a senator he twice voted for a graduated reduction of the depletion allowance.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE COMPASS

QUESTION: If you took a compass to the North Pole which way would the needle point?

ANSWER: It would point as the black arrow points in (A) toward the North Magnetic Pole. Although compass needles (that is, the north end of them) point in the general direction of north, they rarely point to the true or geographic north, that point which is the northernmost end of the axis line which goes through the center of the earth. The reason is that the metal compass needle has been charged with the mysterious force called magnetism, which makes one end always point toward the Magnetic North Pole. This is the center of the earth's magnetism in the northern hemisphere, and it is located 1054 miles from the true North Pole, at the spot marked by the black cross, among the islands of northern Canada. Its location can be seen more clearly in (B) where the compass arrows in different locations point toward it. Compasses below the equator point south toward the South Magnetic Pole, located in the Antarctic continent.

When, in ancient days, it was found that bits of the mineral magnetite would point north when suspended from a string, it was used to lead travellers over land and sea, and so called "leadstone" or "lodestone." Later it was found that pieces of metal could be magnetized and so the modern compass came into being.

FOR YOU TO DO: See if you can understand the compass diagram at lower right. Each place will have a different variation according to its location. Sailors, when reading their compasses, will allow for the variation.

By applying this to the compass reading, they will know in what direction true north lies.

NORMAN LUBOFF

Norman Luboff And The Norman Luboff Choir To Appear Here December 7th

When Norman Luboff and the Norman Luboff Choir appear at Snyder High School auditorium on December 7 under the auspices of Snyder Jaycees, it will signal their debut appearance in Snyder at 8 p.m., for, although the unique artistry of Mr. Luboff and his choir is well known to music lovers throughout the world, the Fall of 1963 marks their very first "live" tour.

The popularity of this dynamic conductor - arranger and his group is based primarily on the many splendid recordings, on both the RCA-Victor and Columbia labels, for which the choir was originally created. The nucleus of the recording choir consists of 25 - 30 virtuoso professional singers (more are added if and as called for by the music at hand) with an amazing repertoire that quite literally runs the gamut from Bach to the blues. Ranging from such "choral spectacles" as "76 Trombones", arranged in the inimitable Luboff style, to an album of classical masterpieces, all of the choir's 20-odd discs have the distinction of being best sellers. The reason, to anyone who has heard any of them, is obvious: the enormous and mutually complementary gifts of Mr. Luboff himself, as a choral director of precision, elegance and verve, and an arranger of originality and solid musicianship, are clearly displayed throughout each of them.

Norman Luboff's background and experience represent a solid foundation for his distinguished accomplishments. Born in Chicago in 1917, he studies piano and voice as a boy, but it gave any serious thought to making music his profession. After attending the University of Chicago and Central College, however, his decision was made and he enrolled for graduate study in orchestration and composition under the noted composer, Leo Sowerby.

Mr. Luboff's professional career had a three - ply beginning; he taught theory, he began to make commercial arrangements and orchestrations, and - because it was relatively the easiest way to make a start in his chosen field - he employed his trained baritone to fine advantage as a "pops" singer. Soon the young man was appearing regularly on various Chicago radio programs, in local theatres, and on recordings. He gradually became equally sought after as an arranger, and this talent was utilized by such shows as the Chicago Theatre of the Air, Show Boat, Plantation Party, and others.

Following military service in the Signal Corps during World War II, Mr. Luboff transferred his base of operations to New York. Engaged as a singer at various times by most of the major radio programs of that era, he was frequently heard on such shows as those of Lynn Murray, Ray Bloch, Jeff Alexander, and the like. It was during this period that Mr. Luboff met his lovely wife, the former Betty Mulliner. A fine singer herself, Miss Mulliner did a great deal of radio and recording work, and her husband recalls that he was familiar with her voice long before he actually met her. They became acquainted in person shortly after his arrival in New York, when they found themselves booked on many of the same radio shows, and they were married in 1944. Today, Mrs. Luboff is the featured soloist and lead singer with the Norman Luboff Choir.

By 1945 the demand for Norman Luboff arrangements - from the Hit Parade, the Fred Allen, and Milton Berle shows, the Chorus of Stars, and others - had become so great that he gave up singing entirely. Shortly afterward, Hollywood beckoned, and in response to an invitation from Gordon MacRae to join the Railroad Hour production staff, the Luboffs moved to the West Coast. It was only natural that television and motion picture work would follow, and so, for the next seven years Maestro Luboff composed and arranged music for more than 80 moving pictures, including such hits as "Giant", "Island in the Sun", "Search for Paradise", "Cinema South Seas", and "The Miracle". In addition, Luboff arrangements have been heard regularly on such important television programs as "The Telephone Hour", "The Dinah Shore Show", "The Ford Star Jubilee", and "The Jerry Lewis Show"; and still others have been created especially for a star - studded roster of artists and music directors, including Jo Stafford, Frankie Laine, Doris Day, Harry Belafonte, Rosemary Clooney, Guy Mitchell, Johnny Ray, Vic Damone, Paul Weston, and Percy Faith.

For the past five years the Luboffs and their two children, Peter, 17, and Tina, 14, have made their home in London. Summers are generally spent in the south of France, where the head of the house enjoys a variety of sports as well as a connoisseur - sampling of the gastronomic specialties of the region. He finds the Mediterranean atmosphere stimulating to creative impulse, and last year wrote his first show, a fantasy

TRICK FOR BALKY EATERS -

By C. Robert Gruver

Editor All About Babies

A News Release came across the desk the other day that had more than a passing interest. Even though it pertains to children a bit older than our usual "toddlers", we thought we'd bring it to your attention.

Diets at The University of Michigan Medical Center have revealed some tricks parents can use to keep their children's balky appetites in a nutritious groove.

To help children overcome any sudden cantankerous attitudes toward food, the food specialists suggest:

— Let the child help prepare the meal. He will enjoy the experience and will almost surely insist on eating the meal he helped cook.

— Supply a variety of "finger foods" such as crisp bacon, carrot sticks, small sandwiches and meat cut into cubes. These are easily handled and likely to be most tempting.

— Offer nutritious dessert, but never as a "reward" for eating the rest of the meal. This, say the dieticians, creates more problems than it solves.

— If the child adamantly refuses to drink milk, simply include milk in puddings, custards and cereals and don't make an issue of it.

— Offer small portions when introducing new foods. If the child refuses it the first time, try again later.

The U-M dieticians say even very young children can develop honest likes and dislikes for foods, and that their tastes should be respected.

THE NEW TWISTABOUT—Here's an exciting sweater that's brimming with styling news from every angle. It's the "twistabout", designed in lacy, shell-stitch all-American wool. It can be worn either frontwards or backwards, with the crocheted buttoned collar flipped high or opened flat. Sleeves are new too with their soft fullness, and so is the drawstring-tied convertible hipband.

Folly Plus Farce

THE FIRST DAY OF FRIDAY. By Honor Tracy.

Give a cheer for a fanciful Irish frolic and farce, created by Miss Tracy with a delightful grace.

The scene is the economically depressed but beautiful Irish countryside, from which the younger generation is fleeing, leaving scarcely anyone but eccentric types.

Here we find Michael Duff, a tax-burdened landowner struggling with the temptation to chuck the whole thing in favor of parts elsewhere. He lives with an utterly bawdy mother in a mouldering old house, and his farmhands are morose or drunken misfits. His one solace is a pretty fiancée, Dulcinea Browning, daughter of a doughy old dilettante straight out of the 18th Century.

Michael's chief crux in life is a fantastic servant named Atracta, a red-haired, yellow-eyed mother of triplets; a bumbling catastrophe - prone woman with a Scotch - like quality of subsisting on others while driving them to distraction; a veritable left handed nemesis.

There are other affectionately grotesquely conceived characters - the obsolete fox-hunting set; the village bore who runs the post office; the fey bureaucrats of the city, who create an absurd crisis over nothing; and Father Behan, a much troubled man whose anger against the world is his own personal devil.

Folly is piled upon folly in these pages, a delicious sort of human foolishness, and in the midst there is the wildly illogical figure of Atracta, a phenomenon of comic, outrageous absurdity.

Such a skillful tale of savory nonsense is wonderful to come upon.

The quickest way to thaw a frozen turkey is to leave it at room temperature overnight. If you are thawing the bird in the refrigerator, allow two to three days for the defrosting.

Add a suspicion of curry powder to sour cream and use as a topping for bowls of hot cream of tomato soup.

Crunchy Jelly Cookies

2 cups sifted flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup margarine
1/2 cup packed light brown sugar
1 egg
1/2 cup packaged toeflake crumbs

Red Jelly
Sift together the flour and salt. Cream margarine and sugar; beat in egg thoroughly. Stir in flour - salt mixture. Shape dough into balls about 1 inch in diameter; roll in cornflake crumbs. Place 2 inches apart on ungreased cookie sheets. Make a dent with a thumb in the center of each cookie. Bake in a slow oven; press down dent; remove from oven and bake about 10 minutes more. Fill centers of cookies with jelly at serving time. Makes about 4 dozen. Store in tightly covered container so cookies will stay crisp.

A little cooked chopped spinach leftover? It's delicious added to cheddar cheese soup - homemade or canned.
