Large Crowd Is Broken Up In Budapest

BUDAPEST (AP)—Hungarian police, acting on Russian orders, broke up a mass demonstration in front of the U.S. Embassy today.

The police used their rifle butts in an assault on a crowd of about 400—men, women and children—who had gathered before the embassy shouting:

"Down with the AVH (secret police) . . No more deportations! . . .down with the government!"

American officials estimated at least two truckloads of the demonstrators were carted off by the police. Witnesses said some were children. Several Hungarians were seen to fall to the ground.

Hundreds of Hungarian women had congregated in the streets for the second consecutive day in mourning for insurgents killed in the anti-Communist rebellion.

The Russians moved more tanks and armored cars into the city as a precaution, but ordered Hungarian soldiers and police to handle the job of dispersing the women.

Most of the demonstration was orderly. It involved about 2,500 women, made up of groups of about 200 each. Yesterday about 15,000 demonstrated and one woman was wounded by gunfire after an altercation with a Soviet officer.

The women again marched with bouquets, flags and mourning wreaths.

The center of today's demonstration was Petoefi Square, on a bank of the Danube in the center of town, where there is a monument to the Hungarian poet of the 1848 revolution, Sandor Peteofi.

As the women approached the square they were blocked from approaching the monument by seven Russian tanks and about the same number of armored cars.

Halted, the women sang the national anthem, 'God Bless the Hungarians," holding high their flags and bouquets of red, white and green.

The Russians finally allowed three women from about a dozen groups to go to the monument and lay their flowers and flags at the foot of the pedestal holding a bronze figure of Peteofi, his right hand raised in the oath: "We shall not longer be slaves."

A MONGREL AND HIS MISTRESS—Mrs. George Enzinger, of Eureka Springs, Ark., the famed Irene Castle of the World War I era, poses with Tippy, a 10-year-old mongrel she claims was "snitched" from her by former owners after she befriended it as stray. She is waging a court fight for Tippy's custody and vowed to take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary. She has possesion under $200 bond. The former owners say they merely found the dog where they had left it on return from California.

Lloyd And Bevan Clash On Middle East Policy

Withdrawal Speeded Up

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—A vast armada of shipping converged on Port Said today, and a speedup in activity suggested British and French forces were preparing to disappear from Egypt even quicker than the "two or three weeks" predicted for their withdrawal.

As the cloudy dawn broke over Egypt, a line of ships stretching from Port Said to the distant harbor already was moving out. The crowded harbor indicated that shipping already was on hand to take away most of the occupation troops.

Canadian Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the new U.N. Emergency Force, flew in from Cairo to discuss the withdrawal schedule. Gen. Sir Charles Keightley, over-all commander of the British-French force, also arrived from his Cyprus headquarters to confer with Burns.

The U.N. commander was to go on to srael tomorrow to discuss Israeli plans for pulling out of the Sinai Peninsula.

Port Said shops were doing business once more today, after shutting down yesterday on orders from Egyptian 'intimidation squads" who sought to spike British demands for reopenings. Sidewalk cafes had tables and chairs out again and the general feeling was one of excited anticipation.

With few backward glances, more than 2,000 British and French soldiers filed aboard ship for home, just a month after the first paratroopers leaped into Egypt.

The withdrawal ordered by London and Paris was dubbed Operation Harridan—a worn-out strumpet or hag—signifying the military distaste for the exodus.

But the troops themselves were jubilant with hope they would be home before Christmas.

It was apparent the pace of the withdrawal was going to be extremely fast.

Some 3,200 French and British troops were withdrawn before British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced Monday that the two nations had written off their Suez invasion. The total strength of the expeditionary force has never been divulged.

No timetable was given for the withdrawal. But the British commander, Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, told his men he hoped he could get them all out of Egypt "in the next few weeks."

The U. N. police force in Egypt grew to nearly 2,600 men as the British and French packed up. The arrival of a company of Colombians swelled the U. N. forces in Port Said to 600. A Swedish company was due today.

The U. N. troops have taken over policing of a third of Port Said. Another U. N. detachment is spread across the no man's land dividing British-French and Egyptian lines 24 miles south of the city.

Challenge Is Issued

LONDON (AP)—The Eden government challenged its Laborite opposition today to dispute that British action in the Middle East stopped war from spreading there.

The challenge, voiced by Foreign Secretary Sewlwyn Lloyd, drew a quick rejoinder from Aneurin Bevan, the Labor party's foreign policy spokesman.

"On the contrary, the government connived at the war," Bevan declared.

The clash came in the midst of a House of Commons debate in which the future of Prime Minister Eden's government was at stake. The Labor opposition is demanding his downfall. Even some in Eden's Conservative party are opposing him because of his policy in the Suez crisis.

Lloyd argued that because of the invasion "the magnitude of the Soviet penetration of Egypt has been revealed."

Lloyd denied that Britain collaborated with Israel in the invasion but admitted "it is true that we were well aware of the possibility of trouble."

Turning to the U. S. position, Lloyd said:

"I hope the United States will pass on from membership of the economic committee to full membership of the Baghdad Pact."

The alliance of states along the northern tier of the Middle East binds Turkey, Iraq, Iran, Iakistan and Britain. It was formed last year — originally at the suggestion of U. S. Secretary of State Dulles.

The United States has limited its support of the Pact to economic and political measures.

Lloyd touched briefly on the tenseness in relations with the United States.

"I do not think that acute differences of opinion necessarily make it more difficult to associate together in the future," he said.

"I think it may do a great deal to clear the air and make possible a closer alliance in the future."

Lloyd put forward a five-point program on which he said British-U. S. cooperation in the Middle East should be based:

1. Prevention of new Arab-Israeli hostilities.
2. Restoration of a permanent system for the operation of the Suez Canal.
3. Promotion of a permanent peace settlement between Israel and its Arab neighbors which would also include provision for settling the Arab refugee problem.
4. Strengthening of the Baghdad Pact.
5. An approach toward the economic problems of the Middle East with the objectives of raising living standards among the millions who live in poverty there.

Lloyd, leading off a crucial debate in the House of Commons over the government's Middle East policy, declared "it is quite wrong to state that Israel was incited" by Britain to invade Egypt.

"There was no prior agreement between us about it," he said.

He maintained that "every time any incident has happened on the frontiers of Israel and the Arab states, we have been accused of being in collusion with the Israelis about it."

Beverly Sills, opera and television star, will be presented in concert at 8 p.m. Saturday in the high school auditorium as the second Civic Music feature of the season.

Previously it had been announced that the concert would begin at 7:30 p.m., but CMA officials said the time would be 8 p.m., same as the last CMA program.

Expansion Plans In Philippines Held Up

MANILA, Philippines (AP)—Negotiations on expansion of U.S. military bases in the Philippines were suspended today. No definite date was fixed for their resumption but President Ramon Magsaysay's office said it expected the talks to begin again "after the Christmas season."

The statement from the President's office said both sides still hoped "to arrive at an agreement satisfactory to both countries."

Action Scheduled On Race Violence

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP)—A federal judge at Knoxville was expected today to cite "several persons" in connection with Clinton's newest outbreak of racial violence.

U.S. Dist. Judge Robert L. Taylor declined comment on what he has decided to do regarding persons accused of taking part in violence which caused newly integrated Clinton High School to close indefinitely yesterday.

But court officials at nearby Knoxville said they expected "several persons"—they said they did not know how many—to be cited for contempt of court in connection with yesterday disorders.

In any case, no arrests are expected until late afternoon.

A Baptist minister, a white man, was beaten after he escorted six Negro students to the school past a jeering crowd. Inside the school a teacher was jostled by one of two youths who appeared at her classroom door and asked "Where's the niggers?"

In the midst of this racial turmoil Clinton residents turned out in record numbers yesrerday to vote 4-1 against prosegregation candidates in a municipal election.

Former Mayor T. L. Seeber received 1,241 votes to 343 cast for James C. Meredith, who had the backing of the white Citizens Council also were defeated.

An answer to a demand for help, Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell wired the Anderson County School Board last night that federal agents would investigate the Clinton situation and prosecute "those responsible for willful violation of court orders."

He told the board, however, that "the primary responsibility for keeping law and order . . . rests upon state and local authorities . . ."

Gov. Frank Clement agreed with this view and said, "I have had no official request (for help) from the officials of Anderson County or Clinton."

Clement sent state troopers and National Guardsmen into Clinton Labor Day weekend after admission of 12 Negro pupils among 800 whites at Clinton High led to a week of disorders.

Taylor, who had ordered the Negroes admitted last January, issued a permanent injunction at that time prohibiting anybody from doing anything which might tend to cause interference with peaceful integration of the school.

U. S. Dist. Atty. John C. Crawford said last night he had asked Taylor to "order the arrest of certain parties" on the basis of testimony he said showed violation of the injunction.

The Rev. Paul Turner, 33, pastor of Clinton's largest church, was beaten by a group of men variously estimated to number from six up. He suffered a bloody nose and facial scratches.

Enrollment Hike Noted

Enrollment at the Abraham Lincoln Elementary School here has grown to a total of 86 during the past few weeks, according to Daniel Johnson, principal.

Johnson reported that during the last week of November, the school gained seven new students, one each in the first, second, third, sixth, and eighth grades and two in the fifth.

Although the Lincoln School at the present time has only eight grades, three of the 86 students are receiving ninth grade instruction on tutorship basis.

In addition to the 86 students here, there are 12 Negro students attending high schools in other cities. Johnson receives reports on progress of those students periodically from the schools, and all are doing well now, he said.

One former Lincoln student, Ester Gift, is now a student at St. Philips College in San Antonio.

Teachers at Lincoln School are Calvin Edwards, Lois Powell, Elizabeth N. Grandison, and Anniece Hawkins.

Tangled Issue Facing Court

TYLER (AP)—The tangled discussion of a National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People request to move a permanent injunction trial to Dallas or Austin resumed today before Dist. Judge Otis Dunagan.

The NAACP was restrained from doing business in Texas by a temporary injunction issued here this fall.

The attorney general's office contends this court has jurisdiction.

The case was called Monday and the past two days were consumed trying to unsnarl a maze of technicalities. The NAACP, the Legal Defense and Education Fund and the State Conference of Branches all were named in the court action.

Atty. Gen. Shepperd has accused the NAACP of 11 violations of state laws, profit-making and political activity while chartered as a charitable group, and solicitation of law suits.

The NAACP has denied the state's claims and charged much of Shepperd's evidence was illegally obtained.

MORALE IS LOW

Invasion Bill Facing British

LONDON (AP)—Britons faced up with a shudder today to the bill for the invasion of Egypt. The country's morale was hit squarely by fears of mounting inflation, unemployment wage strikes, higher taxes and crippling fuel shortages.

Another bitter pill to many was the thought that the nation had once more gone begging for help from the United States, widely blamed here for Britain's empty-handed withdrawal from the Suez Canal zone.

Newspaper headlines exhorting everybody to pull together and get Britain out of the mess often had an effect opposite to that intended. Too many people were reminded that similar inspirational slogans in the past had heralded a period of grim struggle to rescue the national economy from dire peril.

The House of Commons continued the big post-mortem on the Egyptian military adventure with the start of a two-day foreign policy debate, due to reach a climax tomorrow night when the Conservative government asks for a vote of confidence.

Prime Minister Eden's government was expected to survive the vote, probably by a reduced majority, but feeling continued to mount that Eden himself would resign soon. The Prime Minister is due back in two weeks from Jamaica, where his doctors sent him for a rest at the height of the Suez crisis.

But the political furor was all but drowned in a chorus of groans from the man in the street as his immediate future struck home.

A quick rise in the cost of living was accepted on all sides as inevitable. A hike of 1 shilling 5 pence (20 cents) on diesel oil were alone enough to guarantee this. These increases were announced by the government and oil companies yesterday.

Cold Front Is Due In State Panhandle

By The Associated Press

A cold front is due in the Texas Panhandle Thursday. The state's weather was mild again Wednesday.

Temperatures ranged from 34 degrees at Salt Flat at dawn to 72 at Corpus Christi.

A few scattered showers were expected in East Texas.

Highs Tuesday ranged from 85 at Alice to 66 at El Paso.

Building Is Accepted By School Board

The Snyder school board yesterday accepted the new Northeast Elementary School from the contractor after an inspection of the school following a noon meeting.

The board's acceptance was made providing several small corrections were made in the building and authorized Skipper Joyce, director of maintenance and transportation for the schools, to make a final inspection to see that those corrections are made.

Meeting with the board were Fred Buford and D. V. Prichard, both of the Dallas firm of Buford & Associates, architects and engineers for the schools on the project.

The Northeast Elementary School has been in use since the school year began, but parts of the building have been completed since that time. Until yesterday's inspection, the school's speech arts-physical education room had not been in use.

The board, in yesterday's meeting, also voted to extend the contract of Pritchard & Abbott, the school's tax valuation engineers, for another two years at the same rate which had been charged by the firm previously, $15,000 annually.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday to take bids on the high school addition at the Abraham Lincoln School. A bond election recently authorized the spending of $160,000 to construct and equip the high school addition.

Firemen Answer Two Snyder Fire Alarms

Firemen were called out twice last night, once to the scene of a mattress fire and later to a truck fire, but neither did serious damages, D. A. Porter, fire chief, said.

The first fire was about 1:15 o'clock this morning at an apartment at 2010 Twenty-sixth Street, about a block west of the central fire station. A mattress at the apartment caught fire, but had been dragged from the building by the occupant before firemen arrived. The mattress was damaged.

The truck fire was about 5:10 o'clock this morning at the Phillips 66 Super Station on the East Highway. A truck which uses butane for fuel was reported on fire, but was out before firemen arrived. There was no damages.

Peace With Egypt Offered By Iraq

BAGHDAD (AP)—Iraq offered today to make its peace with Gamal Abdel Nasser and challenged the Egyptian President to state his terms.

The challenge was issued by Foreign Minister Burhan Eddin Bashayan in an interview with this correspondent.

He said:

"We are ready now to come to terms with President Nasser. It is up to Nasser to stop his propaganda attacks against the Baghdad Pact and either forget about the Pact or join it.

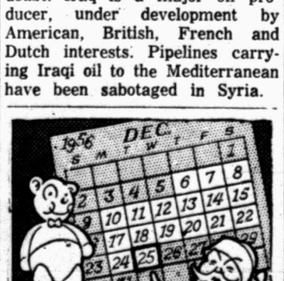
"We are prepared to cooperate in any other matter if Egypt does not like the Baghdad Pact.

"If she wants a new collective security pact we are prepared to talk about it. If she wants to modify the present Arab collective security pact we are prepared to discuss it.

"We are prepared for any negotiation but we are not prepared to compromise on the Baghdad Pact."

Bashayan said his statement could, be considered a challenge to Nasser to say plainy what he wants of Iraq as well as informing him this country wants him to leave the Baghdad Pact alone and leave Iraq alone from the viewpoint of propaganda.

Members of the Baghdad defense alliance are Iraq, Turkey, Pakistan, Iran and Britain—with Britain's participation now in doubt. Iraq is a major oil producer, under development by American, British, French and Dutch interests. Pipelines carrying Iraqi oil to the Mediterranean have been sabotaged in Syria.



Supper Held At Hermleigh Tuesday Night

About 80 persons last night attended the first of a series of farmer-businessman suppers scheduled in the county by the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee.

The supper was held at Hermleigh, and about half the crowd was made up of Hermleigh men, the other half Snyder businessmen.

The informal gathering lasted about one and one-half hours. Snyder businessmen hosted Hermleigh men at a supper in the Hermleigh High School cafeteria. The barbecue supper was served by Hermleigh homemaking students under direction of Mrs. Hugh Robison.

John Boren, one of the Snyder businessmen, was master of ceremonies, and he opened the meeting by having all attending introduce themselves.

O. B. Paty, Hermleigh school superintendent, introduced the evening's program, which included several numbers by a duet composed of Twilla Jackson and Viola Roemisch, Hermleigh High School students. They were accompanied by Ted McMillan on the piano. McMillan also played one piano solo.

A drawing was held for door prizes of two thermos jugs, won by Aubrey Williams and Arthur Lee Piper, both of Hermleigh.

Entertainment also included a novel "pass the orange" game by two teams of farmers and businessmen.

Another of the farmer-businessmen suppers is expected to be held in February or March in another rural community near Snyder. The affair was planned by the chamber agriculture committee, headed by Henry Burchett, with the aid of a Hermleigh committee headed by Bill Jordan and Paty.

Anybody Seen A Tall Thin Ape Anywhere?

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Stolen: one tall, thin ape.

George Craybill, a partner in the Jungle Restaurant, Anaheim, made this complaint to police yesterday. The ape — a young female gibbon worth about $300 — was taken from its cage the night before.

"Somebody took a small lion one time," said Craybill. Another time a boa constrictor was taken, he said, adding: "The people who took them brought them back."

"But they never did bring back the alligators they stole," he added, thoughtfully.

Adlai Says He's Not Planning Third Drive For President

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's announcement he will not seek a third chance at the presidency opened the way today to a scramble for the Democratic nomination in 1960.

Stevenson, defeated by President Eisenhower by about 10 million votes last month, said in a statement yesterday: "I will not run again for the presidency." He said he will resume private law practice in Chicago in January.

The twice-defeated Democratic candidate said his interest in the party will "continue undiminished." He said he had accepted membership on an advisory group being set up by the Democratic National Committee to counsel on a par legislative program.

Stevenson's vice - presidential running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, was asked if he too might be in a mood to remove himself from consideration for the 1960 presidential nomination. He replied:

"I am only in the mood to be the best senator here that I know how to be."

Kefauver's friends expect him to bid again for the top nomination in 1960.

Stevenson's statement he "will not run again" generally was accepted as removing him almost entirely from consideration four years from now. He did not, however, close the door tightly against a draft movement, if the unlikely event one should develop. William Jennings Bryan set a previous precedent by winning three Democratic presidential nominations, but not an election.

Stevenson's withdrawal makes many Democratic governors and senators potential candidates for the 1960 nomination.

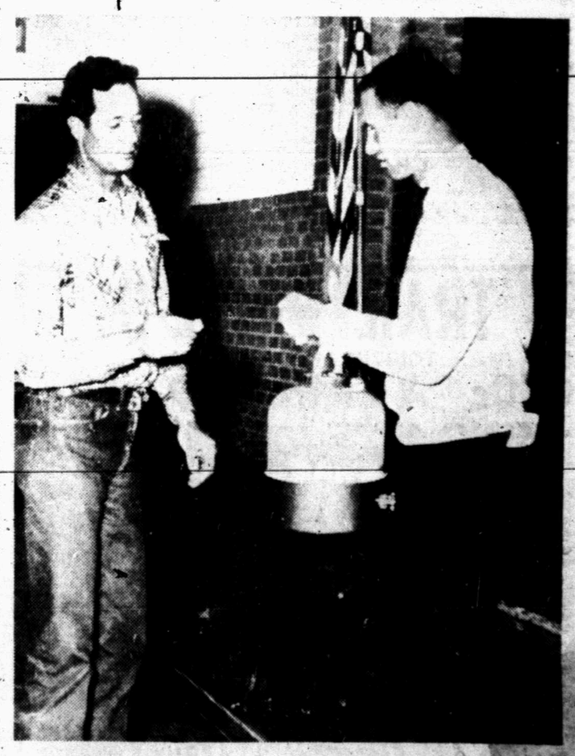
And four years hence, there is likely to be a free-for-all for the prize because Eisenhower is barred by the Constitution from a third term.

Apart from Kefauver, only Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate's majority leader, is regarded as a standout possibility among Southerners for the Democratic nomination.

Newly elected senators who may get a chance include Joseph S. Clark of Pennsylvania, Gov. Frank Lausche of Ohio and some others.

Among sitting senators, Albert Gore of Tennessee, John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota and Stuart Symington of Missouri are regarded as possibilities.

The list of Democratic governors who might bid for the nomination includes G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, Frank G. Clement of Tennessee and A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky.



FARMERS of the Hermleigh area and Snyder businessmen met at a supper held in Hermleigh last night for the purpose of getting better acquainted. The supper was sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee. Another test was scheduled at 6,312 feet.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 4, block 3, H&TC survey, eight miles southwest of Rotan.

Forest Oil Corp. No. 1 Roy Minear and others, North Howard County wildcat, which recovered free oil in a drillstem test in the Spraberry at 6,248-6,352 feet, now has found water.

That fluid came in a two hour test at 6,367-6,430 feet. Recovery was 1,590 feet of muddy salt water and 90 feet of salt water.

The project is making hole below 6,500 feet in shale and lime. It is 13 miles northeast of Big Spring and 2,310 feet from north and east lines of section 24, block 31, T-2-N, T&P survey.

The 6,242-6,352 foot section recovered 2,310 feet of oil, 40 feet of oil and gas cut driling mud and another 90 feet of oil. Gas surfaced in 27 minutes.

Miami Operating Co. of Abilene No. 1 Roy L. Goolsby, Central Fisher County wildcat, one mile north of Roby completed as a small flowing discovery from the Cisco sand.

On the potential test the well flowed 24.72 barrels of 45-gravity oil plus 28.6 per cent water in 24 hours through a one-half inch choke.

The production was from perforations at 3,882-86 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 1,950-1. Tubing pressure was 240 pounds.

The well is 330 feet from south and east lines of lot 15, Bastrop County School Land survey. It is one-half of a mile southwest of West Central Drilling Company No. 1 Barness, a Swastika discovery from pay at 3,962-66 feet. There is a 5,920-foot dry hole between the two wells.

Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. of Midland No. 1 A. R. Brownfield is to be a 13,250-foot wildcat in West Terry County to try for production in the Devonian.

It is 7½ miles northwest of Wellman and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of the south half of section 60, block D-14, D&P survey.

Sunray Mid-Continent Oil Co. and Lauderdale & Straughan Drilling Co. of Abilene No. 1-126 Kate Daveport, Southwest Fisher County wildcat, five miles north of Claytonville drilled to 7,061 feet. It has been plugged.

The dry hole is 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 126, block 3, H&TC survey.

In Central Nolan County, Reaho Corp. No. 1 R. H. Berton drilled to 7,300 feet in lime and was abandoned. It was nine miles northeast of Maryneal and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 40, block X, T&P survey. The wildcat started out to test the Cambrian.

'Pot Luck' Supper Set

The annual recognition "pot luck" supper for the Lone Buffalo Boy Scout District has been planned for Dec. 13 at the West Elementary School cafeteria.

The dinner is for all volunteer scouters, including scoutmasters, cubmasters, advisors, committeemen, denmothers, institutional representatives, assistant leaders, heads of sponsoring in situtions, and guests, alone with their wives and husbands. Because of limited facilities there will be no children.

Each person attending should take a covered dish, paper plates, silverware, and a paper cup for coffee.

The program will include recognition of scouting leaders and a speaker. Honor units will be recognized, training certificates presented, and special recognition will be given to many scouters for their work during the past year.

Units are now making reservations for the number they expect to attend with Bill Smallwood, district commissioner.

Daniel Goes To Meetings

Daniel Johnson, principal of the Abraham Lincoln School here, attended two meetings in San Antonio last week.

While in San Antonio for the meeting of the Texas State Teachers Association, Johnson attended a meeting of industrial education teachers.

Dr. B. A. Turner of Texas Southern University, S. R. Collins and C. L. Wilson, both of Prairie View College were all speakers at the industrial meeting. All expressed the need for good workmanship and good design, as well as the need for bringing about a complete understanding of the purpose of industrial arts to students, parents, faculty, and others in the community.

Among the purposes of industrial arts, the speakers said, was "To participats in or lend support to worthwhile civic and social undertakings in the community and to put forth every effort to learn new methods and ways by which our land might become an even better place in which to live; to provide an opportunity for creative expression in industrial materials in addition to regular classroom period or shopwork; to encourage boys and girls to enter industrial and technical careers."

YOU AND YOUR TEEN-AGER

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

Dear Miss Brandow:

Do you believe that a teen-ager who is deeply infatuated and then deeply hurt by learning her affection is not returned can be permanently hurt?

One national columnist said no in a recent article. What are your views?

A Worried Mother

With due respect to the national columnist, I cannot believe in the wisdom of such an all-inclusive answer.

Most teen-agers are infatuated several times during the teen-age years. These infatuations fade and others arise quite normally. There may be a few dramatic tears but usually no scar is left and in a few months the object of all the intense emotion is forgotten.

However all teen-agers do not follow the general pattern. There are some, and they are in the minority, who love deeply, though perhaps unwisely. When these sober, sensitive, sincere people are hurt, it goes deep and does leave a lasting scar.

Those who have many interests, are gay, lighthearted, flighty, and unable to make lasting decisions may be "in love" many times and never be hurt, but the teen who takes live seriously and loves sincerely and for keeps is quite apt to be hurt to the quick by those who do not share the same capacity for deep feeling.

When speaking of teen-agers, it is unfair to class them all together in their responses. They are people, and like people they do differ from each other.

They may help salve the wound of unrequited love by seeing your teen-ager is active, has hobbies, and an opportunity for meeting new people.

The World Changes

While most Americans go about their customary chores and preoccupations pretty much as usual, choosing apparently to shrug off the happenings in Hungary and in the Middle East as just another passing phase of a world in ferment, such is not the case among peoples who live closer to the scene.

There is an undercurrent of concern and uneasiness in this country too, but nothing approaching the intense worry and active fear current in Europe, Asia and Africa along the fringes thereof.

One small but very pointed instance of this developed this week. Early this year the Social Democratic party in Iceland waged a campaign for removal of U. S. forces stationed on the island. The campaign was successful, so in March the Icelandic Parliament, reputedly the oldest in the world, demanded that the U. S. Air Force withdraw from the airbase they had created and occupied at Keflavik since 1951.

The world situation has now brought about a complete aboutface on the part of the Social Democrats of Iceland. In a statement issued last Saturday they announced the international situation has deteriorated to the point that the presence of U. S. armed forces on the island is necessary to bulwark its defense installations.

Negotiations to that end have been under way for some time, and earlier last week a Washington dispatch said tentative agreement had been reached on continued U. S. operation of the airbase. No details were available.

Of course that is good news, for the Iceland base is an important factor in our ability to carry out the "massive retaliation" which is supposed to be our chief deterrent to Russian agression.

Iceland would be worth its weight in gold should we lose our bases in North Africa, or be invited to pull out of Great Britain. There is a small likelihood of this latter, as both Britain and the U. S. have too much sense to commit mutual suicide; but we could quite easily lose our African and Middle East bases if Nasser and his Arab empire are allowed to get out of hand.

For the moment we are almost wholly dependent upon the United Nations to avert calamity that would deal a cruel and perhaps fatal blow to Western Europe.

On past performance the prognosis of U. N. success is not good. For eight years both sides on the Israeli-Arab gorder have pushed it around almost at will. And Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's first confrontation of Abdul Nasser certainly gave no indication of U. N. ability to accomplish anything really worthwhile toward a permanent settlement.

No Relief In Sight

The 30-day U. S. Weather Bureau forecast calls for below-normal precipitation from Montana and North Dakota south and southeast to the Gulf of Mexico and the South Atlantic seaboard. Only California and a slice of southern Oregon to the west and New England in the northwest show heavier than normal precipitation, with near normal elsewhere.

Temperature-wise, all of Texas except the upper Panhandle and the lower Rio Grande Valley shows near-normal for the next thirty days. The Great Plains-Rocky Mountain area can expect above-normal temperatures, and the whole region east of the Mississippi can expect below-normal.

As this was written Monday another cold wave with snow was booming down the Great Plains area, heading in our direction. If it gets here at all it should show up by the time this sees print.

Some of the cold of previous spells did reach to the Gulf, but so far they have been "dry northers," with little or no precipitation in any form.

From the way it looks now the 30-day forecast of "below normal" precipitation for Texas and adjoining states looks like a good bet, unfortunately.

The normal December rain-and-snow combo has averaged only 1.37 inches since 1885, so we cannot expect much activity from the clouds anyhow. From 1951 through 1955 the total of December rainfall here stood at the amazing grand total of 1.69 inches—for six long years handrunning, mind you.

In His Palm

Crimes By Juveniles Increase In State, But Small Percentage Believed Involved

By ED OVERHOLSER

AUSTIN (AP)—In 1955, more than 2 of 5 major crimes in Texas were committed by youths 17 or younger.

Almost two thirds of all auto thefts were by juveniles under 18. More than half the burglaries were executed by this same age group.

Texans are appalled at actions of some teenagers and demands have been put to the Legislature to enact laws for stifling this segment of crime.

"A small per cent of our juvenile population is branding the rest of the great body of fine kids as vandals and hoodlums. The power to deal with this small per cent strongly and effectively should be reflected in the laws passed by the 55th Legislature" said Rep. Moyne Kelly of Afton.

The Associated Press wrote each legislator and asked his views on the top issues. Many listed juvenile delinquency as one of the biggest. Finding the proper solution undoubtedly would be much tougher, however.

Several statewide groups met here in November and urged the law makers to enact a law to require parents to be held financially responsible for the actions of their children.

These organizations included the County Judges and Commissioners Assn., Texas Police Assn., Sheriffs Assn., and the Department of Public Safety.

A few states have such a law, including Michigan which allows a collection of up to $300 from parents of any minor who "maliciously or wilfully destroys property." A tougher law in Louisiana holds parents responsible for all damage caused by their minor children.

Sen. Grady Hazlewood of Amarillo called for a law "that will place some degree of conscious responsibility on parents for their neglected offspring—and, as well instill some sense of responsibility on the part of children toward the society they live in."

Rep. Ted Springer of Amarillo said it was a local problem "but there is a great deal that we can do on a statewide basis."

"This problem is growing progressively worse in our major cities, particularly in the field of traffic violation," said Corpus Christi Rep. Dewitt Hale. "I shall propose legislation to make juveniles punishable for all traffic offenses together with other controls."

Rep. Gordon Forstyth of Corpus Christi said the juvenile act should be amended to reduce the age to 15. He suggested "removing hardship cases from the jurisdiction of county judges."

Rep. Howard Green of Fort Worth said he planned to introduce a bill to make juvenile drivers responsible "in the same manner as adults."

Others listing juvenile delinquency as a principal problem were Reps. Joe Hensley of San Antonio, J. E. Winfree of Houston, Marshall Bell of San Antonio and Leroy Saul of Kress.

The FBI said in 1955 a total of 42.3 per cent of major crimes—homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, theft and auto theft—were committed by juveniles under 18 and of that per cent, 47.9 per cent were 14 or under.

This age bracket committed 62.2 per cent of auto thefts and about one third were stolen by children too young to qualify for a driver's license.

Thugs 17 or under also were responsible for 46.9 per cent of thefts, 52.7 per cent of the burglaries and 21.4 per cent of the robberies.

Glen McLaughlin of the Department of Public Safety said the percentages nationally were about the same in Texas.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

MIRROR FOR GOTHAM. By Bayrd Still. N.Y. University Press.

Hudson sailed up the river named for him in 1609; in 1524, however, Verrazzano had already looked at the site from off shore; it was soon to be called New Amsterdam.

In all the years in between then and now it has been pretty much the same: too big for its boots, an eyesore to some visitors and Paradise to others, noisy, smelly, uncean, full of slums or full of mansions or full of vistas.

Prices are too high, they complained in 1770; the cost of living is shooting up, they said in the Civil War. Broadway was not safe to cross in the 1830s; it was "almost impassable" in the 1860s.

In 1815 a Frenchman saw "nothing unusual — in literature or the arts" here. In the last quarter of last century one man credited the city with "good food, good theater, fine horses and prety women," but at the same time an Englishman dismissed Brooklyn Bridge as "unnecessary" and declared "scarcely a building repays a visit." It was "a vast cash register" at the opening of this century, and to Henry Miller, "the most horrible place on God's earth." An Irishman was happy to land here after the Civil War because it was "just like Cork," but a desperate visitor from Chicago demanded, "When is the next train for the United States?"

Hundreds of visitors and residents, too, have been stricken with admiration or shocked and appalled. They say their exciting say in this fascinating picture of this fascinating metropolis.

Boom In Office Building Is Taking A Fresh Spurt

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The office building boom—brushing aside the question "How can they ever fill all that space?" — is taking a fresh spurt.

In New York chiefy—but also in many other cities across the land—new skyscrapers are rising today and plans for still bigger ones are being announced.

And they are being filled as fast as built. The older buildings — some of them being modernized and air conditioned — are mostly filled too. Vacancy rates in New York are put at 1.25 per cent.

The nation's chair-borne population grows steadily. And there is a continuous trek to New York by giant and medium-sized corporations, setting up either headquarters or branch offices on Manhattan to be near their suppliers or customers or bankers.

Counting in buildings being finished this year, the National Assn. of Building Owners and Managers estimated the nation's total office space at 440 million square feet. And 60 million square feet of that has gone up since the end of World War II.

New York's building spree has added 36 million square feet of office space in the 11 years since the war, the Real Estate Board of New York estimates. Some 110 new structures have room for 290,000 workers. Announced plans for still more tall buildings will bring the total to about 40 million square feet.

This outpaces the other big office building boom, in the 23 years between the two world wars, when 32 million square feet — including the huge Rockefeller Center development — were added to the city's office working space.

Latest skyscraper projects to be announced here include a 60-story building with 1,700,000 square feet of office space, adjoining Rockefeller Center. Two other huge structures in the same neighborhood are in the talking stage. A 46-story building with one million square feet of office room, to be known as Astor Plaza, will occupy a square block between Park Avenue and Lexington.

Lack Of That Old Pioneer Spirit Puts Farm Labor Situation Into A Dilemma

By HOLMES ALEXANDER

WASHINGTON, D.C.—In Florida this winter there are over 5000 British West Indian Negroes working on the fruit and vegetable farms It's odd that Florida should import foreign labor. The American Southeast is where we have plenty of farm people in the lowest income brackets. You'd think that hard-up farmers and their families in Alabama and Mississippi (where many make less than $1000 a year from their land) would hustle after those jobs. But instead, we have to bring in mercenary troops from other lands to harvest our food. The West Indians are just an example. We bring in more than a million Mexicans, Canadians, Filipinos and Japanese. You want to know why?

"So long as we have an economy where people get easy jobs at fat wages," said a spokesman at the Labor Department, "you won't find workers for the hot, hard jobs in the fields."

In the famous farmland of the Pennsylvania Dutch, at least two farmers lost more than $5000 apiece on their tomato crops for lack of workers to pick the plants. The name of one farmer is Guy Behney of Myerstown, Lebanon County. The name of the other is Robert Thorpe of Newton, Bucks County. Many other farmers lost smaller amounts. Why couldn't they get crop workers?

"We have consistently run newspaper advertisements of jobs in Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Reading, Pottstown, Wilkes-Barre, Hazleton and Allentown, "I was told by Clarence Wilson, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Farmer's Association. "We have had absolutely no response. None whatever."

Its odd that workers can't be found in this region of Pennsylvania. The Labor Department lists some of these communities as areas of "surplus" labor and "distressed" conditions. Bucks County, where Farmer horpe's tomatoes went unpicked, is just asross the river from Trenton, N. J., and not far from New York and Philadelphia, where there are plenty of hard-up people.

"The unemployment compensation law doesn't require a man to take a job unless he's qualified for it," I was told by an expert in these maters. "The people in the cities will say they can't stand the heat of the fields and that they're not experienced in harvesting. They may take the easy jobs for awhile, and then go on unemployment compensation for beer money. Nobody will work the stoop crops."

So into the Pennsylvania valleys, made famous by the thrifty, hard-working "Dutch," come the imported mercenaries to harvest the food. It is piled on top of the subsidized surplus of last year. It is given away by Federal adminstrators to "distressed" areas where idle men won't work for it, to school children whose families really ought to provide for their own, to foreign nations whose friendship we are supposed to need.

Quite frequently the Labor unions or the union-controlled agencies of the States obstruct the process a bit. In Pennsylvania, for example, the minimum crop-picking wage is 70 cents an hour, below the minimum of $1.00 an hour for industrial workers. Labor influence delayed the arrival of 400 West Indians last summer. Labor leaders wanted to keep the wage scale from being depressed, even though nobody would take the jobs in the fields.

So here we have a picture of the "farm problem" which wasn't on exhibition during the recent election. The President and his cabinet officers made speeches, as did the Democratic candidates, but nobody held up the mirror to the farm economy and invited the electorate to see for itself what's wrong. Nobody said, although it's true, that our two-party welfare state is breeding a yeomanry too lazy to bend down and pick up its own food.

Last April, the Department of Agriculture published one of those blubbering documents on welfare entitled, "Development of Agriculture's Human Resources: A Report on Low-Income Farmers." In the preface it says:

"The principal cause of . . . low earnings has been found to be the inadequate agriculture resources . . .rather than any lack in the people themselves."

There's no "lack in the people" except that they are allergic to work. Oh, pioneers!

An Individualist Doesn't Have To Be Rugged At All

By INEZ ROBB

It is no secret that I am just crazy about rugged individualists. And I met a bona fide, 22-carat individlalist the other day. But, he sure ain't rugged!

He is Ben Bagley, 23, Broadway's youngest theatrical producer and non-such. But above and beyond that, Ben is the only living skellton who ever made good in the business end of show biz. He has a built-in lean and hungry look that makes the renowned Cassius a dead ringer for Diamond Jim Brady.

"The first thing people want to do when they meet me is buy me a square meal," said this emaciated young maestro who celebrated his last birthday anniversary recently by producing "Shoestring '57', a hilarious revue to which the Broadway critics and columnists have dedicated paeans of praise.

This is the second edition of "Shoestring Revue." Ben, the boy bag-of-bones, produced the first when he was 19, and the critics liked it, too. He was then earning $45 a week, writing obituaries for McGraw-Hills' "Engineering News Record."

"A man will do anything to get away from writing obituaries," Ben explained. And, anyway, all my life I had wanted to produce a revue, ever since I was seven and my mother took me to Radio City Music Hall.

"When my grandfather died and left me $1,500, I spent it all on a trip to London where I think the intimate revue is done better than any place else."

When Ben returned from his study of the London revue circuit, he was strictly broke and from hunger. It was then he began writing obits for McGraw-Hill while tracking down talent and money on the side for his first "Shoestring."

How he ever assembled both is a mystery. Bagley looks less like a theatrical producer (a middle-aged feller with a lecherous eye, a pot belly, a long cigar and a flamboyant manner) than anyone since the late Charles Evans Hughes.

But, somehow, he conned $15,000 out of 75 backers and persuaded exceptionally bright young talent, eager for a Broadway showcase, to take a chance. The first revue was a success, and Ben went on to the Phoenix Theatre to work his magic with the "Littlest Revue."

In the meantime, he was plotting "Shoestring '37,' haunting off-beat night clubs, which he hates, for off-beat talent, which he loves. And he met up with a backer, Edwin H. Morris of the Morris Music Company who not only gave him a check for $20,000 but a new suit (with both belt and braces!).

With that $20,000, a sum insufficient to buy feathers for one scene in the average Broadway musical extravaganza, Ben managed to produce "Shoestring '57."

The revue is packing 'em in, and Ben, who looks like a refugee from a blood transfusion, hopes at last that the theatre will earn him enough to keep body, such as it is, and soul together without further recourse to obits.

No Plan Is Apparent To Fill Middle East Vacuum

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—If the Eisenhower administration has any plan or policy for filling the vacuum left in the Middle East by the pathetic performance of the British and French, it hasn't been seen or stated yet.

Yet a clearly stated policy, which can be a rallying point for the chaotic Arab world and at the same time is understood unmistakably by American allies and Russia, is needed unless the Middle East is to be left to drift.

The Russians would like to fill the vacuum. Fortunately the Russians have given this country time to formulate a policy. Their barbarisms in Hungary were a warning to the Arabs what to expect if they became Soviet satellites.

Both the Truman and Eisenhower administrations had an opportunity in the postwar decade to make this country a rallying point for the people struggling out of colonialism by speaking out repeatedly against colonialism.

Neither administration did much of that although both opposed colonialism. In other circumstances both no doubt would would have done more talking against it.

But this country needed its two principal allies, Britain and France, which, with the exception of Russia, are the biggest colonial powers. Apparently both administrations feared too much anti-colonial talk might wreck the alliance.

There is no clearer example of the lack of a thought-out policy in dealing with the Middle East than Secretary of State Dulles' handling of Egyptian President Nasser. First he hemmed and hawed on letting Nasser have arms.

When Nasser then turned to the Communists for them, Dulles got busy on arranging a loan to Egypt to build a dam. In the end he refused the loan in such a way that he infuriated Nasser, who a few days later seized the Suez Canal.

The hope of the Truman and Eisenhower administrations seemed to be that colonialism was withering away and that meanwhile American economic help to newly freed peoples would show them where the American heart was.

Things didn't work out that smoothly.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Writer Recalls Trail Blazing In Airplane

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — They called me a "trail blazer" and a "Lady Lindbergh" and said I was "plucky" back in June, 1927. Now — in this jet age when women piloting their own planes are setting world speed records and breaking the sound barrier — I blush to think of it.

All I did to deserve any attention was to climb into a plane, make myself comfortable and start writing about my experiences as the first passenger on the combined passenger and air mail plane flying from Chicago to San Francisco.

That 1,950-mile flight of mine 29 years ago (it took 24 hours and 20 minutes) is briefly mentioned in "Vision," a new book on American aviation written by Harold Mansfield. The book is concerned mostly with the imaginative and courageous men who have built war planes, from the early crates to the latest intercontinental jet bombers.

The book reveals that scientists, engineers and aircraft designers are now thinking of building planes that will be able to penetrate thermal barriers; of air travel in outer space which will make it possible to get to any place on earth in one hour.

The flight on which I was privileged to ride as a young reporter eager to get a real scoop was far different from what we have today. The limousine compartment in which I sat was up in front of the cockpit where the pilot sat. It was designed for two passengers, but I never was able to really stretch out and consequently arrived in San Francisco stiff in the joints. When we started the descent for our first landing, I was scared. I thought we were about to crash!

This trip was not accomplished in the same plane. It was made in three different planes, with three different pilots, the first of whom was Ira O. Buffle, who gave Lindbergh his first seven-hour "joy ride" in the air at Lincoln, Neb., in 1922.

"Twenty-three flying hours after leaving Chicago, Jane Eads put her foot down on California soil, like an explorer who had discovered a new world, air transportation," says the book.

RADIO-TV REPORT

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Danny Kaye, a man who hurldes language barriers with the greatest of ease, has given television one of its finest 90 minutes. The occasion was "The Secret Life of Danny Kaye" on See It Now (CBS-TV) Sunday.

Kaye's secret life turned out to be most uncomplicated. He loves children. He also happens to be one of the merriest and most imaginative pantomimists alive. So he took his love and his talent on a 50,000-mile tour of 10 foreign countries, accompanied by a camera crew, as an unsalaried and undignified representative of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund.

The result, as viewed by the television audience on Edward R. Murrow's See It Now, was an extraordinarily moving dramatization of an often forgotten fact. The only great international laughter is laughter. Children speak it most eloquently. More than half convinced that most adults are idiots, they'll go more than half way to laugh at one who purposely makes an idiot of himself.

Superior photography furnished striking evidence of what UNICEF is doing in such diverse places as Nigeria and Yugoslavia and Morocco. Had See It Now belabored the purpose and nature of UNICEF further, the result would have been tedious. As it was, Kaye has made many millions of Americans receptive to the purposes of that most worthy organization.

For Kaye and the cameras demonstrated another often forgotten fact. Children are alike everywhere. In faces and reactions they cannot be separated into nations and creeds. Often during the program it was impossible to tell in what country Kaye was performing as the cameras searched the rapt faces of his audiences.

One wishes, of course, that Kaye would consent to embrace television as a constant medium. But it might be even better for the world if he were sent abroad into it to organize all its children to laugh down all the adult idiots who are trying to run it these days.

Topping the Tigers on scoring was ham with 63 points on 10 touchdowns, a safety, and an extra point. Berry ran second with 42 points, while three Tigers tied for third with 30. Oklags Whip Baylor 52-51 Arkies Lose

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference didn't do so well in basketball Tuesday. Oklahoma A&M squeaked past Baylor 52-51 and Wichita slammed Arkansas 64-47.

All are off Wednesday.

Oklahoma A&M built up a 10-point lead midway of the second half, then staved off a Baylor rally. The Aggies led 28-23 at the half, although at first the lead changed hands frequently.

Bears Jerry Mallett and Tom Kelly were high scorers with 15 points each.

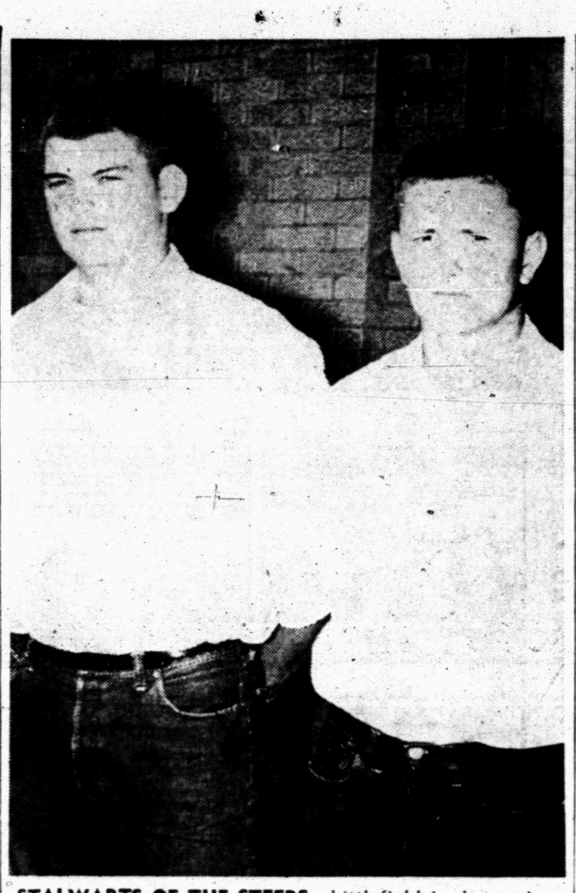
Mallett stole the ball three times for fast layup goals and the game's last six points, but Oklahoma gained the ball with less than 10 seconds to go and ran out the clock.

Wichita shook off a lethargic first half to whip Arkansas.

Joe Stevens rolled up 20 points for the Kansans.

It was the first loss for Arkansas, which opened the season with a victory over Oklahoma.

Baylor, playing its second game, took its second loss from Oklahoma A&M.



STALWARTS OF THE STEERS—Littlefield is due to become well acquainted with these two members of the Graham football team when they meet Saturday afternoon in Tiger Stadium for their quarterfinal AAA game. At left is giant Fred Thigpen, 235-pound tackle. Thigpen, a junior, played an outstanding game against the Snyder Tigers last week, and he kicked the extra point to give the Steers their margin of victory in the 7-6 decision. At right is Don Mac Miller, 165-pound halfback.

Sox, Senators On Verge Of Big Swap

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Minor league baseball clubs were set to start their annual player draft today while Washington and Boston appeared on the verge of completing a five-player deal.

Manager Chuck Dressen of the Senators acknowledged that a player deal was brewing between his club and the Red Sox. Players involved reportedly are outfielder Roy Sievers and third baseman Eddie Yost of the Senators and third baseman Ted Lepcio, second baseman Billy Consolo and outfielder Gene Stephens of Boston.

And Manager Bill Rigney of the New York Giants continued to dicker in the trade market in an effort to bolster his club, which finished sixth in the National League last season.

All minors from Class A up scheduled their draft session for this third day of the minor league baseball convention. Class B and C leagues do their drafting tomorrow.

Minor league officials held a closed door session yesterday and discussed the 29 proposed amendments to the major-minor agreement. Spokesmen said nothing startling developed. A vote on the various amendments comes tomorrow.

On another front, Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, held a peace-pipe pow-wow with Gabe Paul, general manager of Cincinnati, and Harold Cooper, general manager of Columbus of the International League.

Paul and Cooper engaged in a one-punch fight yesterday in a dispute over territorial rights. Cooper got in a grazing blow to Paul's shoulder before peacemakers stepped between them. Both agreed to drop the matter at the Frick meeting after Paul promised Cincinnati would no longer telecast Redleg games into Columbus territory when the Jets were playing at home.

Rigney is in the market for some player strength as a result of the Giants' sixth-place finish last season, combined with a military call on four of his most likely looking youngsters — outfielder Jackie Brandt, first baseman Bill White, rookie outfielder Willie Kirkland and pitcher Dick Fitzgerald.

Rigney and Charles (Chub) Feeney, vice president, have been dickering with Pittsburgh, Milwaukee and Cincinnati. The manager said he is confident something will be worked out soon, either here or during the major league confab in Chicago next week.

He added that ace lefthander Johnny Antonelli definitely is not on the trade market, but the Giants would consider parting with Dick Littlefield, Joe Margoneri, John McCall, Pete Burnside and Jim Constable.

Among the minor league clubs signing managers for 1957 were Nashville of the Southern Assn., Columbia of the South Atlantic League and Binghamton of the Eastern League.

Nashville selected Dick Sisler, 36, former major league outfielder and son of the great George Sisler. The lefthanded first baseman hit .329 with San Diego of the Pacific Coast League last season. Sisler, who will be a playing manager, succeeds Ernie White, who left Nashville and the Cincinnati chain recently. White signed with Columbia, where he won pennants in 1952 and 1955.

Kell Planning To Play With Orioles

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — George Kell, 34, headed for his Swifton, Ark., home today after announcing his plans to play again next year for the Baltimore Orioles.

Kell had been considering retirement or possibly a manager's post. But after a talk with manager Paul Richards at the minor league's convention here, the infielder said he would remain on the active list.

Texans On All-Star

HONOLULU (AP) — Two Texas players were among 11 added yesterday to the College All-Star squad for the 11th annual Hula Bowl Game Jan. 6. They were Norman Hamilton of TCU and Dick Miller of Texas.

Hornung Is Selected As Top Player

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Paul Hornung, the one bright spot in Notre Dame's most disastrous football season, yesterday was awarded the Heisman Trophy as the nation's outstanding college football player of 1956.

The trophy was established in 1935 in honor of famed Coach John W. Heisman. It was awarded by the Downtown Athletic Club of New York.

"I am grateful to Terry Brennan and his coaching staff and to the team as a whole — they deserve credit for making it possible for me to have a chance for such an award," said Hornung.

The senior from Louisville, Ky., started the season at quarterback but later was forced to play halfback and fullback because of thumb injuries which hampered him in taking snap-backs from centers.

Tennessee halfback Johnny Majors was second in the balloting. Hornung received a total of 1,006 points in the poll conducted by 1,318 electors across the nation. Majors had 994 points, marking the closest finish in years.

Halfback Tommy McDonald and center Jerry Tubbs, both of Oklama's national champions, finished third and fourth respectively. Other players listed in the voting were Jimmy Brown, Syracuse; Ron Kramer, Michigan; John Brodie, Stanford; Jim Parker, Ohio State; Kenny Ploen, Iowa; Jon Arnett, Southern California; Joe Walton, Pittsburgh, and Jim Swink, Texas Christian.

Cage Season Gets Off To Good Start

By DON WEISS
The Associated Press

College basketball is only now shaking out the kinks of a spring and summer layoff but already there's a familiar look to it.

Like death and taxes, North Carolina State and Oklahoma A&M always are around winning and hotshots like Lennis Rosenbluth and Hot Rod Hundley are finding the round hoop easy pickings for the round ball.

State got off to a good start last night, spinning in 51 points in the second half to defeat a tough Wake Forest club 73-63 after trailing by five points at halftime.

The Aggies, held off a late rally to defeat Baylor of the Southwest Conference 52-51.

Rosenbluth broke two North Carolina scoring records as he dropped in 47 points, including 20 field goals, during a 94-66 victory over Furman.

Hundley, scoring 25 as West Virginia romped over Florida State 89-54, ran his career total to 1,557 points—four more than Mark Workman collected for the Mountaineers during three seasons of work from 1950 through 1952.

Indiana, another consistent power, also turned up a top performer in 6-8 Archie Dees, a junior who scored 28 points and grabbed 25 rebounds in defeating Valparaiso 64-57.

Duke scored 13 points in the last three minutes to overhaul Clemson and win 84-78. Three free throws in the last 50 seconds gave Georgia Tech a 67-64 victory over Murray State of Kentucky. Virginia Tech opened its season with a 79-71 decision over Richmond. Wichita, with Joe Stevens scoring 20 points, shook off a bad start to defeat Arkansas 64-47.

Breen Cracks Mark, Leads US Swimmers

MELBOURNE (AP) — George Breen of Buffalo cracked the world record for the 1,500-meter free style in a qualifying heat today as U.S. swimmers tried to keep pace with Russia's powerful fringe-sport point machine in the race for the unofficial Olympic team title.

Russia outscored the Yanks for the day 68-48½. The United States retained the over-all lead, under the American point system, but by only a 20-point margin, 538½—518½.

Under the European scoring system, Russia took the lead 451-445½. The European system awards seven points for a first, the American system awards 10 points.

Breen bettered the 17:59.5 record held by Australia's Murray Rose with a 17:52.9 clocking, but was the only Yank to qualify for Friday's final in the event.

The U.S. scored a grand slam in the women's 100-meter butterfly final with Shelley Mann of Arlington, Va., winning the gold medal in 1:11 flat.

Another Yank girl, Carin Cone of Ridgewood, N.J., shared an Olympic record with a 1:12.9 clocking in the 100-meter backstroke, but the gold medal went to Britain's Judy Grinham.

Women swimmers tried on Olympic records like spring hats in the 400-meter free style. The record was cracked five times. Australia's Lorraine Crapp finaltime in the fourth and final preliminary heat. Marley Shrivers of Glendale, Calif., with 5:07.6, and Sylvia Ruuska of Berkeley, Calif., qualified for Friday's final.

The United States also picked up 17 points in the yachting finals, winning a gold medal in the star class with Kathleen, skippered by Herb Williams of Evanston, Ill. John Marvin, Marblehead, Mass., won a third place bronze medal in the Dinghy finn class.

But elsewhere it was all Russia.

Soviet women won the team gymnastics title and picked up a pair of individual gold medals. The United States was last.

Romania and Canada took the final two gold medals in shooting, but Russia was an easy team winner for the seven events.

Russia smacked the Americans 3-1 in water polo and also advanced to the soccer final against Yugoslavia.

American entries couldn't get through the semifinals of the individual sabre fencing competition. And all five surviving Yanks were eliminated in the third round of Greco - Roman wrestling tournament.

In an important sidelight to the Olympics, U.S. Consul General Gerald Warner said the United States "would look with favor" on any pleas for political asylum from any athlete at the games. And a number of Hungarians admitted they were considering such a move.

Pleas For Asylum Talked At Olympics

By MILTON MARMOR

MELBOURNE (AP) — Hungarian Olympic athletes pondering the dream of political freedom away from their revolution-torn homeland received a helpful offer tonight from America.

"The United States would look with favor," said American Consul General Gerald Warner in Melbourne, "on any pleas for political asylum from any Olympic Games athletes — Hungarian or otherwise."

This statement came dramatically as many of the great names in Hungary's sports history faced a fateful 48 hours of their lives. For them this was a heart-tearing time of decision—to return to their Russian - devastated homeland or stay in Australia, far from their families but in freedom.

From Australia they could seek refuge in America. But in these next two days no decisions are expected to be announced, for all groups in sympathy with the lonely Hungarians don't want anything to occur before the games end Saturday to mar the Olympic spirit.

Responsibile sources have disclosed that the Australian government will permit any athletes who seek asylum to remain in Australia until the end of January.

These rapidly breaking developments in the Hungarian situation took place as quiet efforts were pushed to protect those Hungarians wanting to defect. There have been reports that from 15 to almost the entire Hungarian team here was waging a battle in their minds on what steps they should take.

Some already have decided to stay. Others notified Hungarian anti-Communist elements in Australia they would stay but now are wavering. Others are just keeping silent until Friday, when the first of two chartered planes take off from Melbourne's Essenden Airport with members of the Hungarian Olympic team.

One noted Hungarian athlete, former world record breaker Janor Somogyi, a walker, has openly stated he would seek refuge in Australia. He said he believed about 30 other Hungarian athletes would follow him.

Shivers Honored In Dallas Dinner

DALLAS (AP)—Some 2,200 Texans honored Gov. and Mrs. Shivers last night with President Eisenhower chipping in a salute by telegram.

"Add my salute to Gov. Shivers as a personal friend," President Eisenhower said in a telegram read at an appreciation dinner. Shivers, a Democrat, supported the GOP presidential ticket in 1952 and 1956.

Gov. and Mrs. Shivers were showered with gifts and praised by bankers, politicians, businessmen and educators.

Fred Shield of San Antonio said, "I can think of no more capable replacement for Ike and Mamie than Allan and Marialice."

Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, publisher of the Houston post, said "If we could have a guide to glass house living, you would be the person to write it.

"We are singularly fortunate—fortunate that you, Gov. Shivers—served our state as chief executive for seven years," she said.

State Sen. Ottis Lock of Lufkin said "under Shivers hospitals, colleges, highways, public schools, public safety and the prison system were improved.

He said the improvements were made without a state income tax or general sales tax.

Ruel Walker, Texas Supreme Court justice, called "Shivers "one of the tall men of our times. We know him and we love him and we believe he is a great man."

The banquet began with Gov. and Mrs. Shivers walking in to the strains of the "Eyes of Texas."

Conspiracy Is Charged By Nasser

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — President Nasser charged today the attack on Egypt by Britain, France and Israel represented a conspiracy aimed at the "full and complete destruction of his country.

"God was with us," he declared.

The 38-year-old President, a lieutenant colonel and a veteran of the 1948 Palestine War, gave his detailed account of the military operation in a signed article in the Cairo weekly newspaper Akhir Saa.

He wrote that he was surprised when Britain launched its attack because he had considered it "most improbable that any responsible Briton would take such action."

"It was not a question of a canal passing through Egypt," Nasser said, "but it was a question of Egypt itself."

He asserted that Egypt's military strength and political influence endangered Britain's position" in its struggle against nationalist rebels in Algeria.

Israel alone, he said, could not "do anything against us." Captured enemy documents, Nasser claimed, showed the aim of the Israeli forces was to reach Ismailia and contact British and French forces there.

Nasser said he felt Egypt had "won the battle" in its withdrawal from the Sinai Desert after Israeli forces struck in the area Oct. 29.

Detailing Egypt's military position on that date, Nasser said only the National Guard was responsible for the Gaza Strip and that Egypt always knew that narrow finger of land could be cut off easily.

Conservation Is Stressed

WESLACO, Tex. (AP)—The newly formed Water Conservation Committee of the Rio Grande Valley Chamber of Commerce urged yesterday that every effort be made to keep Valley residents mindful of the water shortage.

The committee said "A need for conservation of water exists all the time."

A study of rules on conservation and proration in water districts in the Valley was begun by the committee. Chairman Walter baxter of Weslaco said the study seeks to find a uniform program for water conservation for the committee to recommend.

He appointed a three-man group to study costs of an advertising campaign to remind Valley residents of the need of water conservation.

Bartender Greeted By Mountain Lion

LANDER, Wyo. (AP)—Bartender Jack Clark had just opened the tavern where he works. He looked up and there was a mountain lion, crouched as if to spring.

Friends report Clark scaled the side of a cooler cabinet, backward.

Then the jokesters entered and rescued Clark. Then he learned the mountain lion had been shot by hunters, frozen into an upright position and placed in the bar during the night.

Bootlegging Poor

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — For weeks local police have warred on bootleggers, and now they have testimonials the crackdown is taking its toll. Two bootleggers arrested on burglary charges complained their whisky business had become so unprofitable they had to take up burglary. Oklahoma is constitutionally dry.

Missionary Work Okayed

DALLAS (AP) — Distribution of $1,445,770 for missionary work in Texas was approved yesterday by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The board approved a Christian education information program. It opposed establishing a Southern Baptist Hospital in Miami by the Southern Baptist Convention.

The board voted $10,000 to help build a Negro girls' chapel at a correctional institution in Crockett, Tex.

Dr. E. N. Jones, president of Texas Tech, spoke for the need of a Christian education information program. He told the board an "impending tidal wave" of enrollments face all institutions of higher education and the peak is expected in 1958. Dr. Jones said Baptist schools are already hard pressed.

No Worries On Finances

SAN GABRIEL, Calif. (AP) — Death ended Mrs. Ramona Hughes' worries over financing Christmas for her four children. She killed them — and herself.

Her husband William, 47, came home from work last night to find the bodies of Mrs. Hughes, 27, Marguerite, 7, Juanito, 3, Augustina, 2, and Carlotta, 9 months, in the family car. A hose lead from the exhaust pipe.

When police arrived Hughes was hysterical and had to be placed in a doctor's care.

Police said the couple quarreled the night before about financial problems. A note found beside Mrs. Hughes listed household bills and overdue installment payments totaling $435.85.

Sgt. D. A. Ruiz of the San Gabriel police listed the case as "one suicide, four murders."

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Manager John A. Borcht saved the Workingmen's Savings and Loan Assn. several hundred dollars. When burglars entered his office, he simply told them there was no money. They left without looking in the open safe — but not before they had taken Borcht's wallet containing a souvenir $10 bill.

Augusta Gives President Seclusion

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—One reason this is a favorite vacation retreat for President Eisenhower is that it probably offers him greater seclusion by far than any other place.

The President in the last four years has visited a good many places where he has been able to get away from Washington pressures for a while — places like Palm Springs, Calif.; a hunting lodge at Thomasville, Ga.; Denver; and a spectacular oceanside golf course at Monterey, Calif.

But nowhere does he have the privacy — the almost complete seclusion — he has here at the Augusta National Golf Club.

It was here he came in 1952 within 24 hours after he was elected. Here he has come 11 times since he took office — far, far more than anywhere else.

Why? Well, he got to know the place even before he was president — while he still was in the Army. In those days, he came to know the area as one of the most celebrated golf courses in the country, the Augusta National. And Eisenhower loves to golf.

But it was not until after he was elected that he realized that here his seclusion could be more complete than perhaps anywhere else.

In the first place, the grounds literally are fenced in. No one goes down the magnolia-lined lane to the clubhouse who hasn't been cleared in advance with Secret Service agents on duty at the highway entrance.

Secondly, club members set to building a plushly furnished two-story cottage — called "Mamie's Cabin" for the President's wife — almost immediately after he was elected four years ago. Situated on the edge of the golf course, the cottage is all the Eisenhowers could want.

What's more, a good many of the President's favorite golfing companions are members. And most of them somehow show up every time he visits Augusta.

Then, too, there is that office above the pro shop. It's small — tiny in comparison to Eisenhower's spacious White House office.

But linking it with Washington and developments all around the world is an elaborate system of communications which puts the President in almost instantaneous touch with any trace of a crisis anywhere.

Truck Rushes Toward Town To Put Out Fire

CANON CITY, Colo. (AP)—A passing motorist spotted the smoke from a truck trailer and signalled driver John Bandimier of Denver 12 miles east of town. Bandimier chose to race here rather than try to fight the blaze alone. On the way, Highway Patrolman Ray Sullivan spotted the smoking vehicle and radioed ahead to alert firemen. They met it on the outskirts of town and quickly extinguished the blaze. A defective heater was blamed.

Caller Bothered By Spelling Of Bourbon

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"How do you spell bourbon?" the man on the telephone asked.

"Well," said the caller, "you better tell that painter doing the new sign on your roof. He's spelling it burbon.

Train In Pennsylvania Leaves Blazing Trail

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad's slick new Aero-train really highballed — he had a date with a fire department.

The rear car of the 10-car diesel powered passenger train caught fire near here. Crewmen hastily moved passengers to forward cars and sounded alarm by radio telephone. At Portage, four miles away, firemen extinguished the blaze, no one was hurt and the train continued to New York with the damaged car attached.

Lloyd Nervous During Speech

By JACK SMITH

LONDON (AP) — John Selwyn Lloyd rose in the House of Commons this week to announce a humiliating decision — the withdrawal of British troops from Egypt.

As he read from his prepared statement, a red glow spread over his face. Labor party hecklers interrupted him — and the veteran of thousands of public speeches lost his place in his manuscript.

Probably nothing in public life has shaken the 52-year-old foreign secretary as have events of the last four weeks.

His icy composure has cracked. His lawyer's tongue has slipped. The confidence that some foreign diplomats had in him has been strained. To many, he has seemed to be a man who misses on-the-spot guidance from his mentor, the absent Prime Minister Eden.

Most thoughtful Britons consider Lloyd a brilliant chief of staff rather than a supreme commander who can create policy. He has a keen mind, an ability to grasp and sort out detail. He has patience, tenacity of character and a great capacity for work. But he has yet to show the imaginative qualities that make a great foreign minister.

One reason could be that Eden, with his abiding interest and long background in foreign affairs, tended to overshadow him, and some say second-guess him, in international affairs.

Lloyd has felt deeply the failures of British government policy in recent weeks. He is used to success.

The son of a Liverpool doctor, he went to Cambridge University, studied law and became a judge. He joined the army as a private, left as a brigadier.

He was the first Conservative backbencher Sir Winston Churchill called to high office after the Conservative election victory in 1951.

Churchill made him minister of state in the Foreign Office — chief deputy to Eden, then foreign minister. He became an Eden protege.

He represented Britain at the United Nations and won an accolade from the late Andrei Vishinsky of Soviet Russia: "The young Englishman, he's tough."

Eden made him minister of supply in 1954, six months later gave him Cabinet rank as minister of defense, then last December put him in the Foreign Ministry.

Lloyd has a 29-year-old wife who was once his secretary, and a daughter. He is portly, plays a poorish game of golf, likes an occasional movie, and has few interests other than his job. He lacks color and makes little impact on the people, although foreign diplomats find him vigorous and cordial.

His political chestnuts may still be yanked from the Suez fires, with damage minimized. Government spokesmen in the House have been careful lately to emphasize that although Eden is absent he is still taking prime responsibility for calling signals.

Albuquerque Convention Is Closed

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—About 400 New Mexico Oil and Gas Assn. delegates closed their two-day convention yesterday and elected Joe Lackey of Malco Refining Co. of Roswell, president.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Victor Hansen of Washington, chief of the Justice Department's anti-trust division, told the delegates:

"This administration has followed an even handed policy of anti-trust enforcement which is fair to all.

"We are not against big business or against small business. The antitrust laws are designed to preserve the competitive system of free enterprise which is perhaps the country's proudest boast."

Hansen told the group New Mexico has set an example in the work of oil and gas conservation.

"Its 1935 conservation law is generally considered to be a model," he said.

Berl Huffman, chairman of the state Economic Development Commission, said about one in every eight wage earners in New Mexico is directly employed in the oil and gas industry.

"We estimate their annual payroll at more than 72 million dollars," Huffman said. "This is approximately 15 per cent of all payrolls in New Mexico."

Lt. Gov. Joseph Montoya, speaking of the Suez oil crisis, said New Mexico could, upon very short notice, easily raise its oil production 20 per cent.

Local Water Funds Urged

AUSTIN (AP)—The cure to Texas' water problem must be financed on a local watershed basis because no statewide tax has been found which would be "fair to all parts of Texas," Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock said yesterday.

"It is high time that we realize the futility of trying to finance such a program from the state Capitol," Carr told Texas chapters of the Associated General Contractors meeting.

The unopposed candidate for Speaker of the House, Carr said the state could help local areas sell bonds.

Texas A&M construction engineering professor R. L. Peurifoy urged the contractors to help the course program. He suggested asking the Legislature for more money.

2 Students Suspended

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Two Texas A&M students have been suspended for hazing, school officials announced last night.

The two juniors were tried Nov. 27 by the Military Panel, a group made up of cadet and Army officers, for violating regulations against physical hazing. They were accused of beating with a broom five freshmen, four at one time and one at another.

One junior was suspended for the rest of the present semester and the other indefinitely, but with the provision he cannot re-enroll at A&M before September, 1957.

Names were withheld.

It was the first expulsion for hazing this year. Last year 12 were suspended on similar charges.

Bids Are Reported On Sale Of Lease

AUSTIN (AP)—The general land office yesterday received high bids totaling $4,418,420 on 55,133 acres of land in a mineral lease sale.

Texas Gulf Sulphur submitted the highest of 212 bids on 126 tracts of land. It paid $576,000 for ease on mineral rights of Tract No. 84s covering 640 acres in the Gulf of Mexico off Jefferson County.

Another offshore tract, No. 19 also covering 640 acres, received the highest oil bid. Hunt Oil paid $402,444 for leasing rights on it off Jefferson County.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Convicted of selling four marijuana cigarettes to a juvenile, Batiste Leroy Hames Jr., 36, a lunchroom operator, must serve 15 years in a federal prison.

U.S. Judge Ben Harrison sentenced Hames under the new Narcotics Control Act, which increases penalties for violation of narcotics laws. The law provides the death penalty for the sale of heroin to juveniles.

Oklahoma Oil Will Flow To Port Arthur

TULSA (AP)—Reversal of the flow in Gulf Oil's dual 8-inch pipeline between Tulsa and Lufkin for southward movement of Oklahoma crude to Port Arthur was disclosed today.

The switch was to allow increased tanker shipments from Gulf Coast ports to Europe.

DISASTER HITS BROOKLYN DOCKS—A pier employe holds the hand of a seriously injured dock worker and vainly seeks help at the pier adjoining Brooklyn's Pier 37 which was wrecked by an explosion and fire in New York. INDIANS NOT IN JAIL

Polish Boy Is Reassured

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Mayor Jack Williams has sent a letter to a 14-year-old Polish boy, assuring him that American Indians are "not locked up in prisons and camps."

The letter was in reply to one written by Jach Ladislaw, a schoolboy in Lodz, a central Poland city of about 500,000 population. Jach asked if "it is true what they are saying and writing in our papers" about the status of American Indians.

Williams wrote that Indians have a choice of living on reservations set aside for them by the Federal government or anywhere in the United States, and that reservation Indians have their own police, laws and economic system.

The youngster's letter, translated by a Polish-born Phoenix resident, read in part:

"I am interested in the living conditions of the peoples which are under your care and I am anxious to know if there are still wild Indians in your state, and if they are locked up in prisons and camps like our papers and books and films show . . ."

Mayor Williams said he will send Jach a year's subscription to Arizona Highways magazine and also have a 14-year-old Indian boy write to Jach and "tell him the truth about American Indians."

Tree Movers Get Surprise In Rochester

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Tree movers got a police escort and a big surprise when they rolled into this city with a 50-foot oak tree after a difficult, 75-mile trip from Cato, N.Y.

The police escort yesterday was to make things easier as the huge tractor-trailer with its massive cargo moved through the crowded streets to the new War Memorial Building grounds.

The surprise?

No one at the memorial wanted the tree.

"What's this?" asked Harold S. Rand, an official of the memorial, although he could see it was a tree.

"It was ordered," replied J. D. Butts, owner of the Butts tree movers of Cato.

Yes, agreed Rand, but not for delivery untill February.

Plans called for six of the tress, pine oaks, to be planted then between the memorial and the Genese River. Rand said February is the best month for transplanting such trees.

No one knew how the confusion arose.

The police escorted the tractor-trailer and its lonely oak back to the city line.

But Mr. Butt traveled the rest of the long way back to Cato alone with the tree and his thoughts.

Woman Ends Prison Term

EL PASO (AP)—Mrs. Patricia Arthur, 19, former El Paso waitress, was freed from prison in Juarez today after serving 15 months of a 13-year sentence for slaying an El Paso policeman.

Mrs. Arthur was liberated after the Supreme Court of Mexico ruled that her imprisonment violated the Mexican Constitution. The high court cited the Mexican injunction law which, it said, provided that no minor shall be tried as an adult for a crime committed while a minor.

Mrs. Arthur was convicted of the slaying Aug. 8, 1955, of Alberto Arreola Jr., an El Paso policeman described as her friend.

Testimony during her trial brought out that Mrs. Arthur and Arreola went to Juarez together the night of the slaying. Then 17, and twice divorced, Mrs. Arthur argued with Arreola in a night club, the testimony related and she shot him in a scuffle.

Fire Probed By Officials In Brooklyn

NEW YORK (AP)—Puzzled police and fire officials probed the blackened skeleton of a Brooklyn pier again today in hope of learning what sparked Monday's mysterious fire and blast.

Army bomb experts and the city fire commissioner expressed doubt yesterday that known cargo on the pier powered the tremendous explosion.

The blast shattered windows for miles around. It blew a gaping crater 75 by 150 feet in the heavy concrete floor of the pier.

Maj. William Vallassa, a 1st Army ordnance officer, peered into the crater and commented that the strength of the blast equaled that of two 4,000-pound World War II blockbuster bombs.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said he was "certain" the known cargo on the pier could not have produced the blast. The cargo included highly combustible paint, lacquer, rubber cement, chemicals, fuels, petroleum maphtha, powered resin, alcohol and other materials.

"Something unknown to the steamship company or to the dock workers must have been on that pier," said Cavanagh. "It is within the realm of possibility, if not probability, that there could have been in the cargo at that point some substance or shipment that was fraudulently and deceitfully marked as something else that was going out of the country."

Cavanagh estimated damage at 15 million dollars.

The pier was checked with Geiger counters but no unusual radioactivity was found.

FBI agents were also looking into the disaster.

Scalping Feared

RENO, Nev. (AP)—Paiute Indian Chief Avery Winnemucca reported he is in Dutch with his tribe because he lost a red leather bag containing $400 in tribal funds. "I sure hope the finder returns it," said Chief Winnemucca. "They'll scalp me."

British Appeal Considered

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Great Britain's plea for permission to pass up payment of nearly 82 million dollars due this country at year's end drew promises of sympathetic consideration from some key senators today.

The reaction at the State Department was similar, but officials indicated the Eisenhower administration will ask Congress to rule on the British request. Doubt was expressed that the executive agencies had authority to take final action.

Congress does not convene until Jan. 3. The payment is due Dec. 31, but it appeared that the question would be left hanging in the fire until Congress has had time to consider it.

The London appeal, coming on the heels of British-French invasion of Egypt, in effect amounted to a request to this country to share the cost of that U.S.-opposed venture.

Britain's chancellor of the exchequer, Harold Macmillan, told Parliament yesterday his country's gold and dollar reserves have shrunk. He said the request to the United States was a step essential to protect the stability of the British pound sterling and save it from devaluation which would have repercussions around the world.

The 82 milion dollars is an interest payment—71 million due on a U.S. postwar loan of 3½ billion dollars and 11 millions on a 600-million-dollar sum agreed to as settlement of Britain's World War II lend-lease account with the United States.

Also due Dec. 31 are payments of 57 million dollars in the principal on these two accounts. This sum is not affected by the British request.

"If the British can't pay, they can't pay," Chairman Hayden (D-Ariz) of the Senate Appropriations Committee told a reporter. Hayden said he would go along with an emergency "waiver" of the interest payment—the term used by Macmillan in describing the request.

"We have to support our allies even though they don't always act as we think they should," Hayden said. "We have taken the same kind of action in the past in emergencies."

Sen. George (H-Ga), retiring chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "I anticipate sympathetic consideration of a modification or postponement" of the interest payment.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis), the Foreign Relations Committee's senior Republican member, said he feared failure to grant the request might set off "a harmful economic chain reaction" from which the whole free world would suffer.

Mild Spell Covers South

By The Associated Press

It was wintry weather in the northern part of the country from Montana to the North Atlantic Coast today but mild air covered the southern two thirds of the nation.

Snow fell from Montana through the Dakotas and northwestern Minnesota. Montana had the coldest weather and the heaviest snowfall. Temperatures throughout the state were mostly below freezing and near zero in many mountain areas. Near blizzard conditions were reported in some regions yesterday, including Kalispell, ripped by wind gusts of 77 m.p.h.

The cold belt extended through the Northern Plains and Nebraska, and through the Great Lakes region into the North Atlantic Coast states. Readings fell to near 10 degrees in the North Atlantic area and were in the 30s in the northern Great Lakes region.

The cold air was expected to continue in the North Atlantic Coast states and from Minnesota to northern Missouri westward through Washington and Oregon.

Santa Claus Helpers To Get Beards Again

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some of Santa's street-corner helpers are going back to beards after trying clean shaves. The kids griped.

The Volunteers of America, which employ the helpers, said it abandoned its beards because they were wearing out. It went for the clean shave after trying masks, which frightened small children.

But the clean shave brought an uproar from older children. The volunteers decided to buy better beards.

Chairman Of College Deans Is Selected

DALLAS (AP)—Dr. Walter Martin, University of Georgia dean, was elected chairman of the Conference of Academic Deans of the Southern States yesterday.

Other officers elected were Dr. Ralph Page, University of Florida, vice chairman, and Dr. Adolph Streng, Texas Lutheran, secretary-treasurer.

Some 300 Southern college deans are here for their conference being held in conjunction with the meeting of the Southern Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The meetings end tomorrow.

Clarence Faust of New York, president of the Fund for the Advancement of Education, told the group liberal arts colleges will soon have to stop "spoon feeding" knowledge to their students.

Faust said the impending wave of students into America's colleges will make it impossible to continue using antiquated teaching methods.

By 1970, he said, colleges will lack some 350,000 teachers to meet the demands of expanded enrollments.

He said this would lead to either the adoption of changes in teaching procedures and curriculum or to play up even further existent weaknesses.

"And it will be our golden opportunity to clean our own house," he said.

Boat Sinks Suddenly

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — "I don't know what happened....it all happened too fast," Capt. Henry Bailey said last night of the sinking Monday night. He was brought ashore from the Coast Guard Cutter Boutwell.

The Luckey Star sank suddenly Monday night and the crewmen were in the water almost 12 hours before they were found.

The Boutwell found Bailey floating on a hatch cover about 60 miles south of Port Isabel yesterday morning. Carrancho was found less than an hour later and Fragate's body was spotted by airplane shortly afterward.

Lt. H. E. DeLong said Bailey told him earlier he was awakened by Fragate's screams that the boat was sinking. DeLong said Bailey was barely able to radio the message for help and get the men off the boat.

DeLong said Bailey reported all three were on hatch covers or pieces of wood, but they had become separated in the darkness by the rough sea.

DeLong said Fragate either fell or was knocked from his makeshift raft by waves.

One Guilty, Next Case!

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Traffic Judge James Demopolos often had wondered if other people agreed with his verdicts. So he summoned an impromptu six-man "jury" to hear evidence against a man charged with drunken driving.

The six, chosen at random from persons in the court room, agreed unanimously that the defendant was guilty. He was fined $40.

Five minutes later the foreman of the "jury" stood before Demopolos to answer the same charges.

"You can dispense with the testimony," said the man. "I'm guilty."

He too was fined $40.

Sheriff Goes To Jail In Dispute

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — Camden County Sheriff Martin Segal has gone to court in an effort to acquire jurisdiction over his jail.

Segal asked the state Superior Court to remove control of the jail from the all-Democratic County Board of Freeholders, which removed it from the sheriff's office just before Segal was sworn in Nov. 13.

Segal, a Republican, says the transfer was a "political grab." He succeeded Democrat J. James Hainesworth, who recommended the change to the board.

Deer Will Provide Dinner For Children

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two deer who wandered into town will provide dinner for the children at Kosair Crippled Children Hospital and the Children's Hospital today.

The deer, a buck and a doe, were captured by police and dog pound agents. However, both died shortly after they were caught in nets and taken to the city dog pound.

It was thought the deer died of exhaustion after being chased by dogs before being captured.

AFTER WHIRLWIND COURTSHIP

Hawaiian Romeo Is In Jail

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — A dapper Hawaiian whose whirlwind courtship of a Denver society woman started with an "aloha" went from honeymoon suite to jail yesterday. His mink-coated bride departed in tears.

Police held the balding playboy, who claims royal blood, without charge along with three members of his official party.

His bride of five days, the former Mrs. Jane Tomberlin, flew to Denver, where she conferred with her lawyers. Greeted at the airport by reporters, she said only: "No comment."

Police Chief I. B. Bruce said the 44-year-old bride told him she would seek an annulment of her marriage to the Hawaiian, Prince Keawe, who was booked as Samuel Crowningburg-Amalu.

The former Mrs. Tomberlin wired a stop-payment notice to a Honolulu bank on which she had written a $2,800 check payable to the prince, Bruce said.

Their marriage here last Thursday climaxed a weeklong courtship that began in a Denver hotel elevator. They met when Mrs. Tomberlin smiled and bade the prince "aloha." The prince, 37, took it from there.

The police chief said detectives arrested the four men after checking reports from a confidential informant on the West Coast.

Also held without charge were Walter Parman, 24, and Fredrick W. Aykens, 44, both of San Francisco, and a 17-year-old who acted as the prince's driver.

Bruce said Parman has served terms for bad checks in the Chillicothe (Ohio) Federal Reformatory and in the National Boys Training School at Lorton, Va. He said Aykens has a minor police record in San Francisco.

The police chief said neither man has any experience in the occupations for which the prince hired them—Parman as secretary and Aykens as business manager.

Bruce related these details:

Aykens told him he received a check from the prince last week for $45,000, with instructions to buy a home in San Francisco. The check bounced, Aykens said.

Aykens and Parman had been instructed by the prince to fly at his expense to Hong Kong. There they were to withdraw $7,000 the prince said he had deposited. In the excitement of the wedding, the two never got off the ground.

The four men and the former Mrs. Tomberlin were leaving their hotel when arrested. She had paid their bill.

Gas Explodes

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Ivan Read, 58, is being treated for painful burns received Monday when liquefied petroleum gas he used to operate his privately owned patrol car exploded. Authorities said the car was operated by butane and a special carburetor and the gas was ignited by a cigarette lighter.

Horseshoers Fail

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Sixteen of 20 applicants for licenses as professional horseshoers failed to pass the state exam. It seems horseshoers aren't getting enough practice these days, the Illinois Horseshoers Examining Committee soberly declares.

Youth Kills Stranger In California

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—A trigger-happy son of a retired Army major shot down two strangers yesterday, killing a woman and critically wounding a man.

Elmo Hatton Jr., 21, told Sheriff Melvin Hawley he spun around and chased Ferd B. Hansen, 32, before felling the tire salesman with a car-to-car shot.

Hansen fell out of his car onto the ground and Hatton pumped four more .22-caliber shots into him, the sheriff said.

Just then Mrs. Dorothy Minkel, 36, happened by and was killed by a single shot in the head.

Hansen was given a fair chance to live after seven hours of surgery.

Officers still were questioning Hatton to learn his motive.

The youth was jailed on a holding charge pending completion of Hawley's inquiry.

The shootings occurred in a rural area 10 miles south of San Jose.

Sheriff Hawley said the young gunman had been discharged from the Air Force after 10 months, much of which time he was under a psychiatrist's care.

Allotments On Cotton Are Listed

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Approximately 240,000 acres of cotton allotments were assigned to individual counties and small farms yesterday by the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The 1957 acreage allotments were released yesterday. The state committee released the adjusted county-by-county allotments after the Department of Agriculture in Washington announced the acreage exclusive of that reserved for new farms, small farms and hardship cases.

Texas' share of the national allotment for 1957 is 7,547,503 acres, more than any other state. The 1956 allotment was 7,410,893 acres.

Generally, the figures showed an increase for West Texas growers.

Washington announced 7,110,889 acres with 436,614 acres set aside as a reserve.

Most of the state's allotted reserve acreage went to counties in East Texas.

H. H. Marshal, state committee statistician, said the remaining 14,000 acres in the state reserve will be assigned to new farms about March 1.

The state committee also announced acreage allotments for long staple cotton. The year's total for long staple, grown in the El Paso-Pecos area, amounted to 29,977 acres, an increase of about 90 per cent over the 1956 acreage allotment.

Farmers vote Dec. 11 whether to continue the allotment program next year. If they reject the program, the support price falls.

West Texas cotton growers complained bitterly last year that about 100,000 acres were taken from them and returned to traditional cotton areas.

Farmers in the eastern areas had complained, equally bitterly, that in previous years allotments were taken from them and given to new West Texas growers.

Need For Carrier Pigeons Has Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — Development of advanced communications devices has ended the Army's need for carrier pigeons.

The Army announced yesterday that as a result of "progress in electronic communications" it is disbanding its pigeon corps.

It said 1,000 message-carrying birds — the last of some 40,000 used in World War II and in Korea — will be put up for sale soon. The Army said its pigeon training center at Ft. Monmouth, N.J., will be closed and nine trainers reassigned.
