HOW TURKEY TIMES HAVE CHANGED UP!

By RICK PEZDIRTZ
Daily News Managing Editor

Thankful Pilgrims, who sat down to break bread with ninety Indian guests, on December 13, 1621, would have been shocked to their shoe buckles if they had known that their day of thanks was to become a yearly national holiday celebrated by millions of people in the United States and Canada.

For the Pilgrims were dead-set against "annual holidays," and refused to celebrate even Christmas and Easter. They referred to religious holidays of the Church of England as "Roman corruptions," and believed in celebrating only when Providence granted them a particular blessing.

Even the turkey which proudly strutted the barnyard the past few days before being introduced to the keen hone of a farmer's axe, wouldn't recognize the gobbler that provided the Pilgrims with their first Thanksgiving Feast.

The resemblance between the two birds is comparable to the "before and after" pictures which accompany most body building advertisements.

The pilgrim bird was a skinny, scraggly, long - legged athlete who toughened up the meat of his bony frame by scooting through the woods at a rapid clip.

According to the World Book Encyclopedia, the modern turkey is an over-stuffed, full breasted beauty with a much larger body and short, meaty legs. Exercise for modern adult turkeys, just like for modern adult humans, consists for the most part, of walking about the barnyard at a slow, deliberate pace.

Possibly the only joy a farmer gets from a present - day gobbler is counting the money he pockets for ridding himself of the bird. For turkeys today have frail constitutions, miserable dispositions, and must be coddled and coaxed to market.

The trouble starts right from the moment mama turkey lays her eggs, and poppa turkey does his best to search them out and break them. If the turkey egg hasn't been pecked or stomped into oblivion, it will hatch in 28 days, only after being kept at a temperature of 100 degrees — no more, no less.

Then the little turkey gets the vitamin treatment and is carefully guarded until ready for market between the age of four and seven months.

So why do farmers raise turkeys? Probably because of the Department of Agriculture's report that last year turkey raising amounted to over a 300 million dollar business. Reason enough?

A questionable shrowd of mystery hangs heavy about just where the first turkeys did come from. The virgin woodlands of America at the time the Pilgrims landed were plush with wild turkeys to be sure. But it is written the English had tasted turkey meat many years before, probably first in the late 1400's.

The English have raised two kinds of turkeys for four centuries: the Norfolk, which is smaller and blacker; and the Cambridge, which is more colorful.

The Norfolk turkeys look much like the wild turkeys which still roam the remote forests in the Central United States, between Pennsylvania and the Mississippi River. But the Cambridge turkey looks more like the "peacock" turkeys found in the American tropics; down on the British Honduras - Guatemalan border to be exact.

And, from where was the name turkey derived: Not from Tur-

Cold Thanksgiving Forecast For Nation

United Press International

The coldest weather of the season closed over most of the nation at the start of the Thanksgiving holiday Wednesday night.

Temperatures hit 23 degrees below zero at Cutbank, Mont., and a Northern Plains blizzard left 14-inch snows and drifts 6½ feet deep across the Dakotas.

Weathermen said these wintry figures were the pace setters for a frigid holiday.

Only Southern California could look forward to a relatively warm holiday. Cold air was driving out of the west, promising the first freeze of the year in the southland, November's coldest night in upstate New York, and snow flurries and squalls from the Great Lakes to the mountains of West Virginia. Along the New England coast, winds were expected to reach gale force.

Americans On Move

Americans were on the move Wednesday night, despite the weather and two airline strikes which grounded one third of the nation's domestic airliners.

The National Safety Council declined to issue a prediction of holiday traffic deaths during the 102-hour period starting at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ending at midnight Sunday. Thanksgiving, traditionally, is not the kind of holiday when drinking parties and wild driving boost the traffic toll, the Council said.

However, the Council pointed out that on an average non-holiday period of the same length at this time of year, 470 persons could be expected to die in traffic smashups.

After last year's 102 - hour Thanksgiving holiday, the United Press International had counted 554 traffic deaths—84 over the normal.

Ready For Extra Traffic

Police departments across the nation were ready for extra traffic. A record number of 425 state highway patrolmen were to guard Missouri's roads, while extra police were ordered out at San Francisco and all holiday leaves were cancelled for Oregon's highway force. New York City added helicopters and unmarked cars equipped with huge speedometers on their tops to its regular fleet of patrol cars.

The vast majority of Americans will stay at home, observing the traditional holiday solemnities and joys — prayers of gratitude and family reunions around a well-turned turkey.

The holiday program also included traditional football games and spectacles such as New York's annual Macy's parade to Herald Square.

IN EAST BERLIN

Gromyko Talks Power Transfer

By CHARLES W. RIDLEY
United Press International

BERLIN (UPI) — The Communists disclosed Wednesday that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko has been conferring with East German leaders in East Berlin. It was assumed he was discussing the transfer of Russia's occupation powers in Berlin to the East German regime.

The East German radio announced Gromyko had been in Berlin "in recent days" to discuss "current political questions concerning the two countries" with East German Communist leaders.

A Soviet Embassy spokesman said the talks dealt with the "status of Berlin." The spokesman said the Soviet foreign minister left Berlin "today or yesterday."

Gromyko met with East German Premier Otto Grotewohl, Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz and Communist Party Chief Walter Ulbricht, the East German radio announcement said. It added that Soviet Ambassador Mikhail G. Pervukhin also sat in on the meetings.

Army Tests Blockade

Disclosure of Gromyko's talks came as an East German newspaper accused the United States of shipping war materials through the Soviet zone from West Berlin to West Germany.

The U. S. Army also announced it had tested Soviet blockade intentions by successfully sending a covered Army truck from Berlin to West Germany through two Soviet checkpoints.

In other developments:

—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told a news conference in Washington that Premier Nikita Khrushchev might be having second thoughts on his plan to give the East German Communists cotnrol of the Soviet section of Berlin.

Dulles also said that the United States, Britain and France reserved the right to use all means, including force if necessary, to keep open rail, road and air communications to Red - encircled West Berlin.

Must Preserve Status

—In Bad Kreuznach, Germany, French Premier Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer announced after a one-day conference they believed Berlin's international status must be preserved despite the Soviet threats.

Jet With Nuclear Weapon Aboard Goes Up In Flame

LET'S TALK TURKEY!

Depicting a familiar scene that is being duplicated around town on this Thanksgiving Day is the Glenn Dawson family, 1002 N. Somerville. The "Let's Eat" sentiment is spoken louder than words in the expression of young son and heir, Mike, while the teenage daughter, Carole, smiles her approval of her mother's culinary efforts with ye olde Tomasina Turkey. The Glenn Dawsons are entertaining other members of the family today in their home.

One Killed, Another Is Hurt Badly

LAKE CHARLES, La. (UPI) — An Air Force B-47 stratojet bomber with a nuclear weapon aboard caught fire and burned on the flight line at Chennault Field on Wednesday.

The Air Force said there was "no danger of a nuclear explosion and no harmful nuclear radiation is present."

One member of the plane's 3-man crew was killed and another man seriously injured, the Strategic Air Command said at Omaha. Their names were withheld pending notification of next-of-kin. SAC said the crew member was at the plane when it caught fire.

The B47 was on 15 minutes alert for nuclear retaliation in the event of enemy attack at the time of the fire.

"Well established procedures for handling such mishaps were carried out as a matter of routine," the Air Force said.

The fire resulted from the explosion of a JATO (jet assisted takeoff) bottle, a rocket-like device used to help boost the bombers into the air.

All personnel except firefighters were evacuated from the area. Other aircraft were moved as a precaution against possible fuel explosion.

The fire was brought under control at 3:30 p.m. (c.s.t.), about an hour after it started, and there was no further damage to other planes, an Air Force spokesman said.

Plane Caught Fire

He said the plane caught fire on the flight line, burned, "and there was no further damage to other planes."

The plane is one of the SAC's weapons primed for instant retaliation with nuclear weapons in an around-the-clock vigil against enemy attack.

Observers at Lake Charles noted that it was the second time a B-47 had burned at the base but the first time an evacuation alert had been sounded.

The nuclear devices aboard SAC aircraft are normally not armed until the plane has been airborne for more than one hour.

Despite the fact that the weapons are not armed until the planes are airborne, fear of a possible atomic explosion swept over the Lake Charles area until police and fire departments gave positive assurance the fire was under control.

Trans World Turns Down Offer; Hoffa Takes Hand

By DAVID SMOTHERS
United Press International

CHICAGO (UPI) — Trans World Airlines turned down a union's strike - settling offer Wednesday and Teamsters boss James R. Hoffa took a hand in the nation's other major air walkout.

The twin strikes against TWA and Eastern Air Lines appeared certain to last through the Thanksgiving holiday season, when an estimated 150,000 Americans had planned to travel by air. Airline sources figured one third of the nation's domestic airliners were grounded during one of the year's busiest travel periods.

Strikes against American Airlines and National Airlines were staved off at the last minute, although 1,491 American pilots may walk out after Friday. Eastern was also battling to get a court order ending its three - day - old strike by flight engineers and machinists.

But the hopes for a letup in the Thanksgiving air jam took a nose dive when TWA refused to accept a "compromise" proposal from nearly 7,000 machinists who have been on strike for six days.

Says No Compromise

TWA headquarters at Kansas City said the offer from the International Assn. of Machinists was no compromise at all, but "simply reduced to writing the offer made to the company last Saturday and which was found unacceptable."

The union offer, made late Tuesday, actually increased some of the IAM's demands, the TWA spokesman said. He indicated the proposal made no mention of the key issue of job classification.

Cliff Miller, general chairman of the Machinists' Union, reported "apparently management does not realize or recognize what has been involved in this dispute, for certainly the proposal I gave them is a modification of a previous proposal."

Prospects for a TWA settlement remained alive, however, as company and union negotiators continued to meet through the day.

On the other major strike front, an important new figure appeared in the walkout of 550 flight engineers and 7,500 mechanics which has grounded Eastern Air Lines, the nation's busiest air carrier.

The new figure was James R. Hoffa, controversial and powerful leader of the monolithic Teamsters' Union. He revealed the teamsters are giving the engineers "moral and financial help in their dispute with Eastern." And engineers President George R. Petty Jr. said he had a promise that Teamster-driven trucks would not cross the union's picket lines

HE'S THANKFUL

Turkey rancher, Wayne Cornwell, of Battle Creek, Mich., has something to be thankful for this Thanksgiving Day. He's thankful that the camera is only kidding. Cornwell hopes that turkey will never be this big a "pain in the neck" as one of his 4,500 birds prepares to give him the axe.

UF IS NEAR $50,000

The Pampa - Lefors United Fund Campaign has reached a point just short of $50,000, General Campaign Chairman Clyde Dickerson reported today.

The exact figure is $49,624.

United Fund is reaching out for its $64,000 goal, necessary for the budgets of eight agencies. Divisions are working in behalf of the Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Welfare Index, Salvation Army, Milk Fund, Heart Fund and USO.

The United Fund drive is the only public appeal for money that these agencies make. Since they are non profit and charitable organizations, they could not serve the community without money from the United Fund.

When the campaign is over, each agency will get a certain need - based percentage of the total. Contributors may designate their contributions for a particular agency and since very accurate records are kept in the United Fund office, the contribution will go to the agency of their choice.

NO FLIGHTS!

A ticket agent looks out of the window at a grounded Eastern Airlines Constellation at Logan Airport in Boston, Mass. Flight board indicates no flights were scheduled. Inactivity was caused by strike of Eastern Airlines flight engineers and mechanics.

Jailbirds Will Eat Like Kings

A United Press Texas Extra

HUNTSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) —A man might actually enjoy being in the Texas State Penitentiary from noon to 1 p.m. Thursday.

The reason is that the penitentiary serves Thanksgiving dinner at lunchtime Thursday and the menu would do credit to a hotel. It includes:

Combination salad with French dressing and hard-boiled egg.

Roast turkey.

Bread dressing and giblet gravy, and cranberry sauce.

Candied sweet potatoes with marshmallow, toasted.

Steamed rice with giblets.

Sweet mixed pickles and fresh celery.

Parker house rolls and fresh butter.

Hot coffee, cream and sugar.

Mincemeat pie and grape punch.

One apple and one orange for each prisoner.

Since there are 10,500 prisoners in 12 units in the penitentiary system at Huntsville, cooking started almost a week ago.

Each unit prepares its own Thanksgiving dinner, with a little supplementary kitchen help. The largest unit is the 2,200 men in the main penitentiary.

Most of the meal is raised on the penitentiary grounds. Turkeys, tea and coffee are bought with money earned at the prison rodeo and the amount the state allows for the feeding of prisoners.

MUSH, PHOOEY! IT'S GRITS NOW

DECATUR, Ga. (UPI) — Fred Copeland's Alaskan malemutes have become true Southerners.

Science May Yet Stamp Out That Ole Menace, Cockroach

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — There is a new possibility of science winning a total victory over certain insects, including that prime and seemingly unconquerable pest, the cockroach.

The new weapon seems to kill insects by physical rather than chemical means. If that is so, insects won't be able to learn to live with it as many have learned to live with DDT and other poisonous insecticides. It also means people won't accidentally poison themselves while exterminating insects.

The new weapon is a kind of sand. Add two oxygen atoms to the molecule of silicon, which is one of the most abundant of the elements, and you have silica. Nature frequently makes the addition; silica is everywhere, in sands and rocks. Now, toy with silica in technically easy ways, and you have an extremely fine powder which is aggressively greedy for moisture.

Draws Body Moisture

An insect walks over a sprinkle of that powder and very soon thereafter it is dead. Science doesn't yet know positively why, but the best theory is that the powder draws moisture out of its body. That's as physical a way of killing as swatting, but it's infinitely easier.

DDT and the other organic insecticides kill by adding ingredients to an insect's body chemistry which the chemistry can't handle. Unhappily insect chemistry adapts to the added ingredients and eventually lines of insects emerge which are immune to what used to kill them, but meanwhile people, birds, fish, and other creatures are endangered.

Silica in any form is notably non-poisonous. The silica powder has been in use for a long time as a filler or diluting substance for resins and other materials. Dr. Walter Ebeling of the University of California discovered by accident that it was an insect killer.

Faster Than DDT

He was diluting DDT with it and discovered that when he decreased the DDT content of his insect poison while increasing the powder content, it killed more insects.

Since then there have been many experiments. In the laboratory, the powder alone will knock down cockroaches in 15 minutes and kill them in 45 minutes, which is faster than DDT, parathion, dieldrin, and a number of other poisoning insecticides can do it. It works as effectively on all insects experimented with so far.

The answer to the critical question of whether the powder is the total victory weapon, now is in the making. The Davison Chemical Co., whose scientists developed the powder formulation which tested best in the laboratory, has released quantities of it to professional insecticide users for strictly controlled scientific experiments under natural conditions. Their results will give the answer.

'Round Boy' Triggers Half Hour Of Humor For Godfrey

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jackie Gleason dropped into the CBS-TV "Arthur Godfrey Show" Tuesday night and triggered an enormously amusing half-hour.

The strange thing about the session was that it was not studded with many really witty lines, although Gleason did manage to inspring a few shots that might be labeled sportive.

What it had instead, however, was something infinitely more inviting in television terms: An air of unpressed and baggy good spirits, a give-and-takeness without strain, and the sort of untidy immediacy that the NBC-TV "Jack Paar Show" manages to channel out when it catches fire.

Gleason quarterbacked most of the show and he handled the ball with roistering confidence. After watching him Tuesday night, I'm convinced he should suspend the regular stage business on his Friday night CBS-TV program for a while, round up a few cronies and just talk.

Tuesday night Gleason talked to Godfrey about the huge money to be made in show business, but complained about the limited satisfactions that money gave him. He talked cheerfully about bulls and horses and celos, subjects about which he seemed to know nothing. He also talked to opera star Rise Stevens, another guest, about her profession. I recall these words best:

"The same thing that's wrong with Dixieland music is what's wrong with opera — they keep playing the same tunes...opera is like rock 'n' roll — you can't understand what they're singing about."

Over at NBC-TV Tuesday night, "Shirley Temple's Storybook" unpackaged the most diverting of its offerings since "The Magic Fishbone" back in August. It was called "The Emperor's New Clothes" and a fine, hard tale it was—well constructed and briskly played by a cast that included Eli Wallach, Sebastian Cabot and Richard Haydn.

Short Shots: CBS - TV's Red Skelton pantomime show Tuesday night was rather watered down—Skelton had an off-camera announcer explaining the meaning of much of the action for the duller members of the audience. Denise Lor's hole-in-the-water-bucket sketch on the CBS-TV "Garry Moore Show" Tuesday night was the highlight of the show — Denise has a large comic talent and it's strange more shows don't make use of it. Jack Paar unleashed a pull-no-punches attack on his NBC-TV show on a New York Newspaper (The Post) which recently turned out a series of articles on him.

The Channel Swim: "Dr. I.Q." will replace "Anybody Can Play," the George Fenneman quiz, on ABC-TV Dec. 15. Sherry Jackson is outgrowing her role as the oldest daughter on the CBS-TV "Danny Thomas Show" and the producers are looking for a replacement. There's talk that a new part may be written into the series for a girl who would join the Thomas family as an exchange student from Italy.

Cy Howard, creator of "My Friend Irma," wil produce and write a new CBS-TV Comedy series, "The Wonderful World of Little Julius" which will star Sam Levene and Eddie Hodges. ABC-TV will drop "Tales of the Texas Rangers" into a Monday night slot starting Dec. 22.

Barbara Bel Geddes and Jackie Cooper will join Don Murray in "The Hasty Heart," CBS-TV's "Du Pont Show of the Month" Dec. 18. Buddy Hackett, now a member of the CBS-TV "Jackie Gleason Show" cast, hopes to branch out on his own next season as star of "The Good Earthworm," a series based on a tractor salesman named Alexander Botts.

Move Over Hombre, Now They Got Gals Directng Westerns

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)— Ida Lupino, a mere slip of an actress, rode herd this week on ornery cowboys as the first lady director of a television horse opera.

When petite Ida yelled "jump," members of the cast of "Have Gun — Will Travel" didn't ask how far. They just took off.

Though she put on a brave front, Ida was quaking inside.

"The first day on the set my blood ran cold when all these men looked at me for instructions," she said. "I was terrified. The scene was one of the bloodiest fist fights in TV history. And I know nothing about fist fights.

"I just told the camera crew where to set up the camera, then I let the stunt men and actors stage their own brawl. No director tells them how to stage a fight. It's usually ad-libbee.

"Richard Boone, the star of the show, was wonderfully helpful and encouraging. He made it very clear that I was the boss."

She's An Old Hand

Directing is an old dodge with Ida. In the past 10 years she has helmed seven feature pictures, most successful of which was "The Hitch-Hiker," and six video films. But this was her first oater outing.

"The cast and crew didn't resent me a bit," Ida confided. "Of course they kidded me, but I passed right back. When I wanted them to put their horses in the barn I'd tell 'em, 'Unleash your little poodles and put them in the garage.'

"I wore very feminine clothes the first day on the set. But it was so windy and dirty that I gave up and appeared in western pants and boots for the rest of the schedule."

The peppery little actress was forced to leave her temperament at home every morning, too.

"In a job like this you can't be emotional or have hysterics," Ida laughed. "Can you imagine what all those men would have thought if I'd burst out crying?"

She Directs Him

Ida and her husband, Howard Duff, no longer are starring in the "Mr. Adams and Eve" series. They're currently involved in a new TV show titled "The Green Peacock" with Duff as star and Ida directing.

"If you think it's nerve-tingling for a girl to direct a Western, it's downright horrible directing your own husband," she went on. "I am afraid to go home at night for fear I've goofed on the job during the day.

Ike, Dulles To Confer On Berlin Crisis

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press International

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower announced Wednesday he would confer here Sunday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on Russia's attempt to upset the four-power occupation of Berlin.

It was the third major conference called by Eisenhower since he arrived here last Thursday for a vacation at the Augusta National Golf Club.

Maj. John S. Eisenhower, the President's son, was bringing secret government reports on the continuing Berlin crisis here for the Chief Executive to study before the meeting with Dulles.

Not Emergency Meeting

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters the meeting between the President and Dulles on Berlin was not of an emergency nature. He said Eisenhower also would discuss with Dulles a major foreign policy speech to be delivered by Dulles in San Francisco Dec. 4.

Dulles will arrive here Sunday morning and leave later the same day for Mexico City, where he will represent this country at the inauguration of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

In London, Vice President Richard M. Nixon reaffirmed an earlier White House announcement that the United States intended to remain in Berlin despite Russian pressure.

Studied Election Returns

Hagerty said the President had studied early election returns from Alaska and had expressed hope the Republican candidates would overcome Democratic leads.

The president and Mrs. Eisenhower planned to spend Thanksgiving with their son, John, and his wife and four children, David, 10; Barbara Anne, 9; Susan, 6; and Mary Jean, 2.

Eisenhower is scheduled to meet Friday with Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and Budget Director Maurice H. Stans to go over the 1960 defense budget.

Motorists Advised To Drive Carefully

Holiday traffic will again be heavy, and motorists have been warned by the Texas Highway Patrol to drive safely.

Sgt. E. G. Albers of the Pampa Patrol office, reminds motorists that exactly one year ago, on Thanksgiving Eve, five persons died in an accident near Wheeler. That tragedy could repeat itself, Albers said, unless caution is shown.

Albers said every man on his force will work long hours Thanksgiving in efforts to check speeders and drunken drivers. He requests that persons observing dangerous drivers notify the Patrol office.

Old Man Facing 30-Year-Old Murder Charges

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — An 80-year-old man faces charges of murder for a crime alleged to have taken place nearly 30 years ago.

Facundo Rodriguez of Brownsville has been docketed for trial Dec. 8 in the 138th District Court for the murder of his brother Ygnacio Rodriguez, on Dec. 13, 1926.

Rodriguez was indicted in 1927 but the case was dismissed. He was arrested again in San Benito in 1955 and has been indicted again since then.

Six witnesses originally scheduled to testify have all died since Rodriguez was first indicted.

B47s accidentally dropping atomic devices in flight. One Air Force bomber dropped a nuclear weapon in the sea off Savannah, Ga. The other accident occurred over Florence, S.C., when a B47 dropped an atomic weapon near a church. The incidents occurred within the last year. Police Sgt. David McDonald said personnel were removed from the base but that they were ordered back about an hour after the fire started.

He said he was informed by an Air Force official that the plane caught fire approximately 2:30 p.m. c.s.t.

The twin statements from Washington raised the possibility the engineers may get teamster backing in their jurisdictional struggle with the Air Line Pilots Assn. over a "third man theme" which may mean major trouble for the airlines in the near future.

The engineers are striking Eastern in opposition to company demands that the third man in the cockpit of a jet airliner be a pilot, not an engineer. The pilots union, in contrast, wants to strike American to back up its stand that the third man be a pilot. The dispute is expected to hit other airlines shortly.

Space Agency Plans Several Launchings

By DARRELL GARWOOD
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's new civilian space agency plans 8 to 12 rocket launchings next year, including an attempt to place a satellite in orbit around the planet Venus, a spokesman said Wednesday.

He also said the agency, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), planned to put a weather satellite in orbit over the North and South Poles.

Other 1959 launchings by NASA were expected to include three or four Vanguard earth satellite rockets, the first of which has been set for February.

The possibility of sending an instrumented robot on the 50-million-mile, 151-day trip to Venus was receiving top attention.

Venus Nearest to Earth

The agency said previously that Venus, nearest planet to th eearth, would be in a favorable position for a launching in mid-1959. The Air Force's Thor - Able moon rocket has the power to make the trip.

The Air Force, meanwhile, was planning to send up several experimental military reconnaissance satellites that could bring the total U.S. space launchings next year to a score or more.

The Air Force launchings will be from its Vandenberg base on the West Coast. "Aviation Week" magazine predicted Sunday the first would take place Dec. 15. The Air Force had no comment on this.

Could Observe Earth

The NASA spokesman said the agency was "very conscious" of the advantage of placing a weather satellite in a north-south orbit. With the earth turning evenly beneath it, a polar satellite could observe every spot on the globe once every 24 hours.

Such a satellite, if successful, could revolutionize weather forecasting. Meteorologists would be provided with a daily picture of the earth's cloud cover. In addition, the satellite could spot tornadoes and other disturbances.

A polar satellite could not be launched from Cape Canaveral without passing over populated areas. It could, however, be done from the West Coast.

Clean-up Campaign Has Own Playwright

A one act play, "The Judgement," will be produced Dec. 5 in connection with a clean up campaign, sponsored by City Improvement Club. Judging of clean - up posters will precede the opening.

The play was written especially for the clean-up campaign by Mrs. Samuel Motley, Club president.

Three prizes will go to Carver students with the best campaign posters, Mrs. Motley announced. First prize is a plate, second, $1.50; and third, 50 cents.

Students may turn their posters in to J. C. Randall, Carver principal, who is cooperating with the Club. Judging will begin at 8 p.m. Dec. 5 with the production scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in Carver auditorium.

The objective of the campaign is a general clean up in colored town. Mrs. Motley wrote the play in hope that more interest would be attracted to the judging of posters.

"The Judgement" has a cast of 14, all women.

"Come and see if you can follow the Holy Spirit, with all the temptations that the Devil has to offer," says Mrs. Motley.

FACES DRUNK CHARGES

BEVERLY HLLS, Calif. (UPI) —Edward G. Robinson Jr., 26, faces trial Dec. 3 on plain drunk charges stemming from his arrest last Friday at the Beverly Hills Hotel.

Civics Club Gets Official Charter From Washington

The Catholic Action Club, Civics Club of Holy Souls School, this week received its official charter from the Commission on American Citizenship in Washington, D. C.

The Charter formally recognizes affiliation of the local unit with the national organization headquartered at Catholic University of America. Pupils of seventh and eighth grades comprise the local Club membership.

The officers of the newly organized Club are: Susan Valesquez, president; Paulette Kotara, vice-president; Adele Pung, recording secretary; Bill Merrill, corresponding secretary; and Ralph Palmer, sergeant - at - arms.

The Catholic Action Civics Club is one of the thousands of Catholic Civics Clubs chartered in the United States for the express purpose of "fostering training for good citizenship."

Through monthly projects and study of articles featured in The Young Catholic Messenger — the national Catholic weekly for students of the upper elementary grades — these young citizens learn in a practical way the meaning of Christian social living based on principles of justice and charity.

This year the program of study and action will develop the practical theme, "To Serve God and Neighbor Best — Find The Career Just Right For You."

Bonds Totalling $7,500 Set Here

Bonds totaling $7,500 were set Wednesday afternoon for the release of J. W. Lee, 40 year-old Pampa man charged with rape and incest. Both offenses were committed against Lee's daughters, ages 13 and 15.

Charges against Lee were brought Tuesday by Juvenile Officer H. A. Doggett and District Attorney Bill Waters. Lee, held in county jail since late Tuesday, will be tried on both charges in district court.

Stove Fire Quelled

Pampa firemen used a carbon dioxide estinguisher Thursday morning when fire broke out in a stove at the Courthouse Cafe, 119 W. Kingsmill. Owner John Pitts reported no damage and said flames were confined to layers of grease inside the stove.

Stolen Auto Found Tuesday

An automobile, stolen Monday from the Rex Rose used car lot, was found Tuesday afternoon near Poteau, Okla., Pampa police reported. Poteau is situated about 40 miles southwest of Ft. Smith, Ark. on U.S. 271.

The car, a 1956 hardtop, was taken off the lot Monday afternoon by a young man who told salesmen he wanted "a trial run around the block." Salesman Canara Carruth phoned police that the man never returned.

DEAR ABBY...

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have been married 24 years and loved every minute of it. We have had bad times, strikes, lay-offs and illness but we have come through all right. If one has a complaint, we air it out and talk it over. We never go to bed mad at each other. We have one son who recently married. His wife is a doll. A little older than him — but so what? They are happy. I had been married before but that is never brought up. My husband lived with another woman before he married me but that is never brought up, either. We get along with our in-laws like eggs and bacon. We trust each other. I just thought you might like to get a letter like this for a change. Isn't it a relief from the crazy mixed-up world?

MRS. J. MAC N.

Dear Mrs. Mac N.: You bet! And what an appropriate letter to print on Thanksgiving!

DEAR ABBY: I am a sophomore in college. Last night I went out with a girl and she tried to get fresh with me. I am not square, Abby, but I believe that some things are sacred. I don't object to a good-night kiss or a few affectionate hugs along with hand-holding at the proper time, but I don't think advances on the part of the girl are right. Is there something the matter with the way I was raised, or is this the accepted mode of courtship these days?

DISGUSTED

Dear Disgusted: Nothing has changed. There will always be girls who think "a gentleman is a patient wolf." Stick to your principles!

DEAR ABBY: We are two working girls who share a one-bedroom apartment. We have to get up at 6:30 every morning to go to work and we need our sleep. An old bachelor, who has a very active social life, moved into the apartment next to our and he keeps very irregular hours, but our biggest problem is this: We can hear him gargling at all hours of the morning and night. Two nights last week he gargled between three and four in the morning. This morning he was gargling at 5:30. You can't call a man up and tell him to stop gargling, but it is very annoying just the same. Any suggestions?

ANNOYED

Dear Annoyed: Ask your landlord to either silence the gargler, move him — or "cough up" a more quiet apartment for you. (P.S. Last resort — ear plugs.)

DEAR ABBY: Will you please settle this argument between me and my husband? My husband refuses to wear a wedding ring. He says wedding rings are for women not men. I told him that if he doesn't have to wear one, neither do I. What do you think?

LITTLE GOLD BAND

Dear Little: Silence IS golden, but the little gold band is far from silent. It speaks volumes. If your husband refuses to advertise his marital status he is wrong. Two wrongs don't make a right. Wear yours.

CONFIDENTIAL TO P.T.A. "V. P.": No one can keep a chip on her shoulder very long if you allow her to take a bow.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

If you want a collection of Abby's best letters and answers in one book, ask your bookdealer to get "DEAR ABBY" for you.

Briscoe HD Club Recently Formed

WHEELER (Spl) — Briscoe Homemakers Club was the name chosen for the recently organized home demonstration club in the Briscoe community.

Officers for the new organization are, Mmes. John C. Vise, president; Dean Tipps, vice president; Melvin Helton, secretary-treasurer; Truman Zyback, council delegate; Thurman Horn, alternate delegate; and R. L. yback, reporter.

The club will meet the first and third Monday afternoon of each month. Mrs. Elizabeth Litsch, Wheeler County nome demonstration agent, assisted in the organization of the new club.

RUTH MILLETT

"Go right on telling parents how foolish they are to let their teenagers go steady," writes the dean of girls at a large city high school.

"So far this school year six of our senior girls have dropped out because they had to get married. Every one of them is from a good home. Every one is a smart, attractive girl without personality problems.

"They are the kind of girls it 'just couldn't happen to' — but it did. Needless to say, their parents are heartbroken and are asking themselves, 'Where did we fail?'

"I think I can tell them where they failed, but it is too late to help them. They failed when they went against their better judgment and let their daughters start going steady at 14 or 15.

"They failed when they refused to take these teen-age crushes seriously enough to foresee what might happen.

"Next year more girls will make the same tragic mistake that these girls made — and for the same reason, that their parents have let them try to handle emotional situations they aren't old enough to handle wisely.

"When are parents going to wake up? Why do they stick their heads in the sand and think that all they can do is hope their daughter has more character and more sense than the girls who have to drop out of school each year?

"I can tell them that they ought to do more than hope for the best. They ought to protect their daughters by refusing to let them make one boy their whole life.

"I know parents say they can't buck the trend of the times. But I think they are underestimating themselves. All they need to do is stick together and they could put a stop to this too-early steady dating.

Cage Season Opens Friday In Mangum

Harvesters Play Quanah There on Saturday Night

By RED GRIGGS
Daily News Sports Editor

Last year, the Harvester basketball team won 28 games and lost two on its way to a state championship.

Pampa won't match that record this year, because only 27 games are scheduled. But they would like to keep the percentage that high.

The Harvesters open what they hope will be another successful season Friday night in Mangum, Oklahoma. Then Saturday, they travel to Quanah for a game.

After that, they'll return to Pampa for a three-game home-stand, playing Mangum Monday night, and San Angelo Friday and Saturday.

One of the two games the Harvesters lost last year was the opener — 49-48 to Childress — so they'll be wary of the first one. However, they've been working out since Oct. 15, so they should be ready.

The Quanah game Saturday night may not be a pushover, either. Quanah is a AA school but so was Childress. The Indians opened their season Tuesday with an impressive 52-37 win over Burkburnett, so the Quanah crew may prove pretty rugged.

Three returning regulars, a returning letterman, and one player up from the B team will start for Coach Clifton McNeely's cagers Friday.

All - state forward Coyle Winborn, 6 feet, 4 incnes tall, is expected to lead the Harvester attack.

Starting at center will be Mack Layne, 6-5, a returnee from last year's state champion squad. Charles Minor, 5-11, is also a returnee and will man one of the guard positions.

Rounding out the starting lineup will be Bob Gindorf, 6-4, letterman forward now playing guard; and Craig Winborn, 6-3, forward up from the B team.

The starting team, which averages 6-3, is the tallest starting five which has ever played under McNeely.

Backing up the starting quintet will be four former Shockers, all juniors, and senior squadman Don McGuire, 6-3 guard. The former Shockers are Joe Timms, 5-10 forward; Hershell Terrell, 5-9 guard; Phillip Gist, 5-11 guard, and Bill Wray, 5-11 guard.

Probable starting lineup for Terry Culley's Shockers will be Pat Carter, 5-11 guard; Bill Neslage, 5-10 forward; Eben Warner, 5 - 9 guard; Allen Wise, 6-2 center; Bengi Richardson, 6-0 forward.

Larry Stroud, 6-1 forward, could possible start in place of one of the other boys. Jimmy Wilburn, 5-10 guard, will probably see some action, according to Culley.

Other Shockers making the trip will be Harold Green, Jerry McGuire, Don Curry, and Duke Garren.

Marion Buys Houston Team

ST. LOUIS (UPI)— The St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday announced the conditional sale of their Texas League franchise at Houston and a roster of 18 players to Marty Marion, former shortstop and manager of the Cards, and his business partner, Milton Fischmann.

No Cardinal minor league prospects remain on the Houston roster.

The sale is bnding only in the event that Houston is admitted to the AAA American Association, a move which is regarded as a virtual certainty.

No announcement of the sale price was made but the Cards' asking price for the club was understood to have been $100,000.

The purchase price does not include the stadium, which will be available for the new owners on a three-year lease.

Pampa Boxers Fight San Angelo Friday

A rugged team of boxers from San Angelo invades Pampa Friday night for matches at Pampa Optimist Boys' Club.

Going against the San Angelo team will be an already good Pampa squad, strengthened this week by the addition of two of the best amateur boxers in the state.

Carl McClure of Dumas, who went to the state Golden Gloves heavyweight finals last year will be available for Friday's fight, and for several other matches during the season.

Joining the Pampa team this week was Kenneth Wood, five-time regional lightweight champion. Wood has had well over 100 fights in the last 10 years, and had lost less than 15 of them. He did not live in Pampa last year, but he has done most of his boxing here.

Joe Valdez will bring nine, or possibly 10 boxers from San Angelo. Among them will be three regarded as really tough customers — lightweight Lencho Castaneda, featherweight Ray Salazar, and heavyweight Ronnie Jordan.

Other San Angelo boxers will be Dick Valdez, 96; Charles Dalton, 116; Vince Garcia, 120, and Sylvan Carlin, 142. A light - heavy and a middleweight are also expected to come up for the matches.

No definite matches can be made until the San Angelo fighters arrive Friday, but Pampa coaches have a general idea of how the boxers will be paired.

Wood will probably go against the rugged Castaneda in a lightweight scrap. That's expected to be one of the two top bouts of the night.

The other is expected to be the heavyweight fight between McClure and Jordan. In a third feature match, former state runnerup Rabbit Ramirez will probably go against featherweight Salazar.

Other probable pairings are Dickie James vs. Dalton, bantamweight; James Tucker vs. Valdez, 96; James Morse vs. Garcia, bantamweight; and Gary Wilhelm vs. Carlin, welterweight.

Also, Wesley Crites will probably fight for Pampa in the light-heavy division, and Glenn Ward is expected to box for Pampa in the middleweight class. Their opponents are not yet known.

After Friday, the next match for Pampa will be here Dec. 4 against Fort Sill. The Fort Sill squad includes many of the best service boxers in the country.

Red Griggs ★ the pipeline

Borger (if you'll pardon the expression) plays Wichita Falls next Saturday in what should be a real good bi-district game.

As late as last Friday, we were firmly convinced that Borger would go through the district undefeated, then roll over and play dead for Wichita Falls in bi-district.

However, we aren't so sure of that now. After watching the Bulldogs take the Harvesters apart Saturday, we don't think they'll roll over and play dead for ANYBODY—including the Baltimore Colts or LSU Tigers.

Wichita Falls is supposed to be one of the toughest teams in the state, but after all, they only beat Pampa by 34-2. The Coyotes had better be thinking about Borger Saturday, instead of Abilene, or their season will come to an abrupt halt.

Wrapping Up Football

Speaking of football powers, what about those White Deer Bucks? Are they going to win themselves a state championship, or is it going to snow in the middle of July?

I haven't seen them play this year, but from what Rick Pezdirtz says, and from what I've read about them, they must have a team just slightly worse than Abilene or Notre Dame.

They seem to thrive on undefeated, untied teams with almost perfect defensive records. And they don't just beat them, they tear them into very small pieces.

First they came up against Lefors — undefeated, untied, unscored on. They made the Pirates walk the plank to the tune of 36-6.

Then last week they rolled over Gruver, the best defensive class A team in the state, by 46-6. The 46 points were more than had been scored against Gruver ALL YEAR.

Another area team, Groom, won a regional title Wednesday by beating New Deal; and Miami is a good bet to take a regional crown today.

Miami meets Weinert at 2 p.m. in Harvester Park.

For those fans who've never seen a six-man game, the Miami-Weinert game should be a real treat. Six-man football is a wide open offensive game — a lot of fun to watch.

Miami runs an even more wide-open game than most six man teams, and it's worked for an average of more than 40 points per game.

Basketball Starts Friday

While all this football is still going on, though, the BIG BIG BIG thing starts Friday. BASKETBALL.

The Harvesters, who are defending state champions, open Friday night in Mangum, Oklahoma, then travel to Quanah for a game Saturday night.

They'll be here for a three-game home-stand next week. Mangum will be here Monday night, then the San Angelo Bobcats move into town for Friday and Saturday games.

The Harvesters and Coach Clifton McNeely are on a spot this year like no one has ever been on before — unless it's Bud Wilkinson or Frank Leahy. If they don't go to the state meet, it will be considered a bad year.

Many teams and coaches would not mind being on this kind of spot at all. The Harvesters have a returning all-stater, Coyle Winborn, and two other returning regulars,

Groom Tigers Cop Regional Crown

CANYON (Spl) — Groom's Tigers won the regional class B title here Wednesday afternoon by whipping New Deal's Lions, 30-20.

The Tigers had to come from behind twice, in the second and third quarters, to down the hard-fighting Lions.

New Deal scored first, on a 78-yard pass, to take an 8-0 lead going into the second quarter, in this battle of the big, mean cats. But Groom bared its claws quickly in the second quarter, and scored two touchdowns in two minutes.

Jim Neves scampered 47 yards for the first Groom tally, but the try for point failed, leaving the score tied at 6-6. New Deal fumbled the ensuing kickoff, and the Tigers recovered it. Moments later, Melvin Britten galloped 19 yards to put the Tigers in the lead, and Ernest Lewis added a two - point conversion run.

The Lions marched to a touchdown, then converted to tie the score at halftime. The payoff play was a 1-yard run.

New Deal passed 39 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter, to grab the lead again, 20-14. But Lewis passed 51 yards to Britten to tie the score, and Robert Reed ran the extra points to put Groom ahead for good.

Reed added a little insurance in the fourth quarter by running 2 yards for the final Tiger touchdown.

The game ended Groom's season, since class B schools play only a regional championship. The Tigers finished with a season record of 8-3-1, including the bi-district and regional games.

NAMED ARMY COACH

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Hal Fischer, former University of Nevada court star, has been named coach of the All-Army basketball team. The squad will play interservice and AAU teams with an eye toward a possible berth in the 1960 Olympics.

Miami, Bucks Play Today

Two area football teams will be playing for regional championships this afternoon. White Deer meets Farwell at 2:30 p.m. in Canyon, and Miami plays Weinert at 2 p.m. in Harvester Park.

If White Deer wins, the Bucks will go on to the state class A quarterfinals. A Miami win would give the Warriors the regional six-man title, but they can go no further. Regional playoffs are the end of the line for six-man teams.

White Oak Out; Buck Hopes Soar

AUSTIN (UPI)—White Oak, defending co-champion in Class A schoolboy football, was ordered Wednesday to forfeit all of its district games because it used an ineligible player.

The Texas Interscholastic League's state executive committee stripped White Oak of its 1958 title in District 15-A, and awarded the bi-district crown to Edgewood, which was trounced last week by White Oak, 70-12.

White Deer must now be considered the favorite for the class A state championship, as the Bucks were rated as the second team in the state behind White Oak.

Will Texas Start New Win Streak?

By LLOYD LARRABEE
United Press International

AUSTIN (UPI)—Coach Darrell Royal's Texas Longhorns hope to start a new tradition when they meet Texas A&M in their historic Thanksgiving Day grudge battle before a national television audience.

Two years ago, the thundering Aggies broke the spell of the Memorial Stadium "jinx" by thrashing Texas, 34-21. It was A&M's first victory on Memorial Stadium turf since it was built in 1923.

However, that was before the youthful Royal a former Oklahoma great, came along and behoma great, came along and began rebuilding the Longhorn football fortunes. Last year, Texas stunned the high-rated Cadets, 9-7 in Royal's first season as Longhorn coach.

The contest, which had its origin in 1894, will pit the split-T attack of Texas against A&M coach Jim Myers' newly-installed single wing.

Milstead Threat

Longhorn power, generated by the inside slants of George Blanch, Mike Dowdle and Rene Ramirez and the passing of Booby Lackey and Vince Matthews, will face one of its sternest tests of the season, in efforts to offset Aggie tailback Charley Milstead.

Milstead, whose go-for-broke play this season has included a 74-yard touchdown run from scrimmage although he isn't noted for speed, has gained far more recognition as a passer and stands near the top nationally in total offense with 1,189 yards amassed this year.

Longhorn play under Royal has been characterized by "jaw-to-jaw" rugged football, capitalizing on the breaks and effective use of the kicking game. A 62-yard quick kick by since-graduated Walter Fondren put A&M in a hole last year from which it never recovered.

Lackey has stepped in to fill the vacancy, and has been ably backed up in brief appearances by sophomore Larry Cooper, a left-handed passer. Ramirez, also a left-hander, often throws the opposition off guard with a pitchout run-or-pass option.

Minority Believes Turkey Is Over-rated As Official Entre

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)— Turkey Day goes back to the 17th Century and, over the years, it has won federal and state recognition. All of this has been over the protests of a minority of citizens who have no objections to the sentiment of Thanksgiving but who hold that turkey is over-rated as an entre.

This anti - turkey minority is supported by two smaller groups of citizens:

—Those who are unable to carve the bird.

—Columnists who like a topical column when it is come by easily.

My father was writing a pretty good column for the Topeka (Kan.) Daily Capital back there at the turn of the century and, one day, he wrote this:

"Under ordinary circumstances I would feel very thankful today. I have a steady job, a happy home, good appetite and excellent digestive works; but I am feeling a little out of harmony with the conditions that should prevail today, because I know when I go home to dinner there will be a big brown turkey on the table.

"I despise turkey, and so does my wife. I do not believe that one-half of the people who buy turkeys for Thanksgiving do so because they like to eat turkey meat.

"Yesterday, as I came down to work, I queried 17 people to get their views regarding turkey meat. Fifteen agreed that turkey makes mighty poor eating. Twelve of the 15 agreed that a good piece of beef, well roasted, would outclass turkey every time. I was glad to find that so many favored beef, for I am a beef eater myself. I would feel a great deal better if I knew I was going home to a roast beef dinner today, instead of a turkey dinner.

"But the turkey goes, just because it is Thanksgiving; not because it is particularly good. My wife has invited some friends in to eat with us. I asked her yesterday what she was going to get for dinner, and she said she already had bought a turkey.

"I didn't make any roar, but remarked that I wished she had bought a big beef roast. She said she preferred roast beef herself, but that she knew that her guests would not feel as though they had been to a Thanksgiving dinner unless there was turkey on the board.

"So the turkey will be on deck, the ace-high card of the feast, although no one really wants him; for I am sure that our guests feel just as my wife and I do about the matter. But I am not going to let the presents of a turkey beat me out of enjoying my dinner, for there will be a great lot of other stuff on the table which I can eat and enjoy in spite of the fact that the Thanksgiving turkey—the national fraud—takes the leading role."

Major Crimes In US Are Increased

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Major crimes in the United States increased 11 per cent in the first nine months of this year over the same period last year, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover has reported.

Robbery, burglary, forcible rape and larceny led the mounting crime wave.

The figures were given in the first of a series of FBI quarter-yearly "crime index" reports aimed at showing the nationwide crime picture more frequently. The FBI's regular "uniform crime reports" will henceforth be published yearly instead of semi-annually.

Today's first "crime index," based on preliminary reports for January through September, 1958, showed an overall rise of 11 per cent in major crimes and the following rises in the seven major classifications:

Robbery, 18 per cent; burglary, 14 per cent; forcible rape, 13 per cent; larcey over $50, 13 per cent; auto theft, 5 per cent; murder, 3 per cent; and aggravated asault, 2 per cent.

The report noted that the former classes of negligent manslaughter, (mostly traffic deaths) and larceny under $50 have been dropped from previous categories for purposes of the quarter-yearly index.

Chuckles

CHICKEN TURNOVERS

KINGSTON, Tenn. (UPI)—A lot of Thanksgiving menus here may feature chicken rather than turkey. A truck turned over outside of town and its entire cargo of 3,024 live chickens scattered in all directions.

CAMOUFLAGE HYDRANTS

GREAT NECK, N.Y. (UPI)— The town board took quick action when firemen complained beauty-conscious residents were making hydrants hard to find. The board ordered all vegetation and other obstructions removed from the bright red hydrants.

TURNS DOWN LOVE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Sheriff E. B. Bowles said no when newly-licensed beer dealer James B. Love asked if he could name his package store for the sheriff.

THINK BEFORE SIGNING

Whenever you are asked to sign something, your signature should be a warning signal that in some way you may become legally obligated by what you sign.

Usually you are asked to sign something as a result of a business transaction, such as a contract, a receipt, an order, a release, an option, a mortgage or a deed. For your own protection, you should clearly understand what you sign, why you are signing it, and what the consequences may be. It is rarely possible for a person who has signed a document to avoid its legal effects.

You can decrease your legal risks by always taking these precautions before you sign anything.

Know what you are signing and what the document contains. Understand clearly what it means. Don't be confused by its title — a "statement" may be a release of all your claims, or a "contract" may be a negotiable promissory note. "Co-signing" a note may result in your having to pay it.

Read Everything in any document. Clauses in fine print may be important. Remember, too, that oral promises not included in writing may be unenforceable. Take nothing for granted.

Check and verify the document. Be sure the dates, prices, names and conditions filled in are correct. You are bound by what it says, not by what you thought it said.

Ask questions. Inquire about conditions and items of importance to you. Don't sign unless you understand what it means. Language clearly stating what you want can be inserted. If substantial sums are involved, consult with your attorney.

Retain a copy. Be sure the proper persons sign. Request and retain a copy. Record it, if necessary, with the proper public official.

Like you fingerprint, your signature is unique. No one else has one exactly like it. Only you can sign it, and affixing it may set into motion events of great legal consequences. Treat it with the importance it deserves, and do not bestow it carelessly. If in doubt, seek information and advice.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform — not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

HOW?—The problem for this bird in Rome, Italy, is not getting out but getting in a modernistic cage. The futuristic birdhouse is the work of Vittorio Falchi.

'Till Christmas

Wise Santas Fill Their Gift Lists Early, and Have More Time and Leisure to Enjoy all the Holiday Festivities Ahead!

Jewelry Items Are Ideal Gifts For Christmas List

THE PERFECT JEWEL for beneath the Christmas tree is this lovely set of massed and mobile jewelry. The multi-strand necklace of milky pearls has a moveable shower sparked by iridescent peacock stones. Wear it as you will for throat, shoulder or back accenting. The huge drop earrings are miniatuure showers of pearls and stones to match the necklace.

The warmest, nicest way to say "Merry Christmas" — that's what you look for on your holiday shopping expeditions. To keep you toward that goal, the Jewelry Industry Council has just issued its annual Christmas gift roundup.

Known for expert gift counseling, the Council has previewed Christmas gifts in jewelry stores across the country and has emerged with a list of gifts for all age groups, in practically every price range.

There are jewels real and synthetic, styled in new, beautiful pieces for women and handsome accessories for men.

There are shelves of silver holloware and many flatware suggestions to please the host and hostess on your gift list. The preview highlights briefly the treasury of gift ideas at your jeweler's, inviting you to pay a visit soon.

FOR THE LADIES

If there's a special lady on your list, you'll find that jewelry or watches have a magic appeal, whether she's sixteen or sixty. She appreciates the flattering personal compliment expressed in a gift of jewelry or of a watch.

LET JEWELER HELP

The actual choice of a piece of women's jewelry or a watch is often a stumbling block, particularly for men shoppers. It need not be, for your jeweler is trained and ready to be of assistance in guiding your choice according to your budget. He knows, for instance, that a strand of cultured pearls is as much an ideal gift for a woman of mature dignity as it is for a young girl.

He may suggest a single lovely pearl, the start of a future necklace for a very young lady. There are bracelets designed for future additions of diamonds, too, offering a wonderful gift idea for important occasions in the years to come.

SILVER, MOST WELCOME

If it is to be a gift for her home, the bride and experienced homemaker alike will cherish a gift of silver. One of the most practical and beautiful gifts you could choose is silver flatware, either a chestful of silver plate or individual pieces of sterling.

If she's planning a wedding, a place setting of six pieces (fork, knife, teaspoon, salad fork, butter spreader and soup spoon) or perhaps a pair of serving spoons will be a welcome contribution to her collection.

FOR THE HOMEMAKER

She may be a housewife of long standing who has never acquired a group of place settings in sterling. If so, flat-silver in her favorite pattern is sure to be the beginning of a dream come true. Continuation settings, which include extra pieces such as the dessert spoon and cocktail fork, also make fine gifts if the lady on your list has begun her sterling collection.

In the holloware department, your best gift clue is to take quick inventory of her silver supply. She may not have a vegetable dish, candlesticks, cigarette urns, coasters or a platter. Remember that the price range is wide because beautiful holloware is available in both sterling and silver plate.

There are gifts for the whole family to be found on your jeweler's silver shelves. Starting with the youngest, there are attractive porringers and cups that can live a lifetime of beauty, growing up in usefulness with the lucky youngster who owns them. Bent handle spoons and other baby silver, junior place settings, brush and comb sets and picture frames are also suggested by the Council for the small fry.

Young gentlemen, who need encouragement to brush their hair, will find a pair of silver - backed military brushes a distinct inducement to good grooming.

Men's jewelry gifts are many and among the many gifts for men are watches, rings, tie clips, cuf flinks, watch bracelets, lapel emblems, pen and pencil sets, pocket knives and money clips.

NEW! TOP TO BOTTOM! From the looped mohair chemise cardigan sweater . . . to the pleat-flounce-band trim treatment on this 100% wool tweed skirt . . . it's utterly new! Colors collaborate, capturing rich jewel tones.

Toppings For Gay Belles

A wonderful gift for the style-conscious are the newest costume cover-ups, loose-lined jackets artfully designed to overlook the waist, and snuggled to a controlled stop at the hips.

In varied shapes, sizes, and colors, they are created to turn any outfit into a high-fashion costume.

Topping skirts, slipped over sheats or used as mini - wraps over cocktail and evening outfits, these cover-ups are available in "everyday" or evening fabric from rich brocades to bright woolens and plushy mohairs.

The cocoon, bloused-back style is often seen in fake-fur fabric with an opulent look.

The trapeze style, flaring gently from a natural shoulder is often Empire - accented with a high set-in belt.

The newest casual jerkins are longer and unfitted, while the shortened jacket style is frequently self-belted at the hipline.

Knit toppings make fresh news in nubby - textured wools and straight-as-a-die, long-line orlons; coat-sweaters that turn casual separates into city-bound ensembles are favored, too.

Bracelets Charm Gals

A bracelt of a simple link chain and a single charm makes a gift that will grow with significance and sentimental value as the years go on, and one, incidentally, which will provide you with plenty of gift ideas for the future.

Fill her bracelet with a series of symbolice charms, or with a collection of one kind of charm, or with charms to complement her interests and activities — a chain of miniature dogs, for instance, or a fleet of tiny boats, a golf bag, a dress-maker's dummy, a diminutive typewriter with keys that push down, a tiny heart set with a ruby, or one of many, many more.

Bracelet charms are available in sterling silver as well as in karat gold. Some are set with tiny pearls, diamonds, or colored stones. For every occasion that you want a charm, you'll find several from which to choose at your jeweler's.

Really Click, Give Handy, Dandy Photographic Supplies

Anyone fortunate enough to number a "shutter - bug" among friends or family, knows that starting well before December 25th, and extending through all the holiday festivities, the click of his camera will record every moment of this wonderfully gay season.

There will be a permanent record of every family gathering, every thrilling moment, in movies or stills that will bring these gay occasions vividly alive, years afterward.

While the Christmas season is one of the best times of the year for picture taking, the camera enthusiast can always be counted on to take pictures of every vacation trip, every amusing incident, every party or get - together. What better way to thrill him than with the gift of a camera or accessory. Both he and you will derive lasting satisfaction from such a gift.

Family movies are no longer a technical mystery, with wonderfully inexpensive 8mm movie cameras that are so simple to operate even a beginner can obtain fine results.

Accessories and projection screens are moderately priced, and also make "oh-and-ah" gifts for the picture-taker.

Children or beginners who have expressed interest in this hobby will welcome one of the wide assortment of still - cameras, and still-camera sets obtainable. These range from the basic box-type to the 35 mm cameras that provide excellent pictures, no matter what the time or light conditions.

If your favorite photo-fiend already has a camera, consider a good supply of film, either color or black and white, a dark room and enlarging outfit, a projection screen or projector. Even the one who has everything will welcome a stereo kit and viewer.

Gadget bags, flash attachments and bulbs, fine photo albums, and filter kits will always "click" with a home cameraman.

To thrill the experienced, you can't go wrong with an editing and splicing outfit, which will give a professional touch to his home movies, and make them so much more interesting.

Whether it's a stocking-stuffer, or a luxury gift, you'll find just what you want to thrill every picture taker on your list, available in the local shops. Have fun shopping!

Gifts Designed To Delight All Junior Scientists

From missile launching to space stations, the limitless future of our scientific age is reproduced in miniature for Christmas-giving.

It's the age of the junior scientist, and such subjects as chemistry, minerology, entomology, archeology, atomic energy, missile construction and ICBM launchings are featured in a variety of new play kits, designed to discover and develop the scientific aptitude of young Americans.

A portable junior planetarium projects 60 constellations and can be adjusted month by month to fit the changing pattern of the sky.

A space-station was designed by the noted scientist Werner Von Braun, and is an authentic replica of our projected bridge to outer space.

The topical problem of atomic waste is tackled with a miniature car modeled after the latest design approved by the AEC.

Even the traditional electric train sets have adjusted to the new era with a train accessory that reproduces rocket launching in exact detail.

Select Presents From Big Variety Of Good Books

Books hold the answer to just about every practical or esthetic problem we can encounter — and at Christmas time, books are definitely the answer for the "have everything" or "difficult to please" on your list.

Whether selected for reading pleasure or reference, you'll find just the book to suit every taste, preference and interest on the shelves of your local book shop.

Family groups will appreciate a beautifully bound Bible. Dictionaries and works of reference are also fine family gifts which will be used constantly.

For the hobbyist you'll find complete volumes on every subject from astronomy to zoology, including gardening, cooking, sewing decorating, "how-to" subjects, and all the sports.

There's a host of informative books for the arm-chair traveler, which will transport him mentally to every far-away place he's ever dreamed of.

Books for children cater to every youthful interest, from the love of adventure to their eagerness to learn.

From books they can learn in a practical manner just what it takes to be a doctor, jet - pilot, atomic scientist, or whatever else they are interested in becoming.

It's plain to see, that whatever their age, a good book can still be the perfect answer to "what to give so-and-so."

Here's Good Line For Good Sports

It's almost a sure thing that almost every man in your life and a lot of women too — indulges in some sport for fun and relaxation!

And, you can be sure that any gift that caters to a favorite sport will be a hit!

FOR MIGHTY NIMRODS

If you've a hunter in the family, you've heard enough "gun-talk" to have a shrewd idea of what kind of rifle or shotgun is wanted.

Since these range from about $25 to over $300, it might be a good "chip in" gift by the whole family.

Handsome gun cabinets, weatherproof gun cases, ammuntion or high-powered scope attachements will also please your hunter.

DOWN TO THE SEA

Skin-diving and water skiing have achieved new heights of popularity; if you know any water-sports addicts, you know that whether it's an expensive gift of an aqua lung, modestly priced swim fins, mask, or ballast belt, it will be just what is wanted.

TENNIS, ANYONE?

The tennis enthusiast can never have enough balls, and a new racquet can be an ideal gift.

LET'S GO FISHING

If fishing's the favorite—there's an almost unlimited choice of gifts! Rod and reel sets are specifically designed for sport or fresh-water fishing, and come in a wide price range.

Accessories for the fisherman include special flies and lures, spin kits, creel and net combinations, tackle boxes and water proof vests complete with small pockets to hold gear.

FOR OTHER SPORTS

The golfer and bowler fall into easy-to-please categories. New clubs, golf balls, or a golf cart or bag will please the former. The latter is probably hoping for a ball and shoe bag, a pair of bowling shoes or personal bowling ball.

A gift all the family will enjoy eventually is camping equipment or accessories. It will be put to good use as outdoor living is more and more indulged in as a family activity.

Sleeping bags, air mattresses, duffel bags, camp stoves and lanterns, and all types of portable equipment can be used throughout most of the year.

So for all good sports, gift-giving problems are easily solved. From simple to extravagant, there's a grand selection to choose from.

Give Sterophonic Sound Equipment For Music Lovers

The Christmas holiday brings with it a wealth of stately religious hymns and heart-warming carols! Even pop tunes add notes of listening pleasure. And, gift recordings can extend that pleasure through the whole year.

Music lovers this Christmas have a special treat awaiting them in stereophonic sound, the new tonal magic now available for home high fidelity music systems.

With stereophonic sound, the concert hall is literally brought right into the living room. For the first time, music lovers can enjoy most faithful reproduction . . . actually listening in depth!

Without being technical, this new dimension in recorded sound is achieved through the calculated placement of performers and equipment in the recording studio. Two microphones are used, resulting in two independent sound tracks impressed on a single record groove. For play-back on your hi-fi system, a special stereo cartridge designed to pickup both tracks is used.

Up to now, home music systems have been designed to play a single track record, disc or tape. Opposed to this monaural or "one-eared" system, stereophonic recording is binaural or "two-eared."

It is simple to adapt existing home music systems to stereophonic. The main requirement is a stereo cartridge. Other components needed are an auxiliary amplifier and speaker easily incorporated into any existing system.

Anyone of these pieces offer a gift opportunity to delight the music-lover and his entire family.

For tall trees, not symmetrical, hang strings in straight vertical lines. Recommended for short, too-stocky trees too.

TELECAST HOLIDAY BOWL

NEW YORK (UPI)—The third annual NAIA Holiday Bowl football game at St. Petersburg, Fla. will be televised nationally by the Columbia Broadcasting System on Dec. 20. Four teams will playoff Dec. 6 for the right to meet in the Holiday Bowl.

New Transistor Clocks Are Novel

There is something new under the sun! A brand new selection of high-fashion, cord-less transistor clocks that operate for a full year on two ordinary flashlight batteries!

This is the ideal gift for the hard-to-please, or that rare person who up to now has had everything!

Designed by Raymon Loewy Associates for Charles Denning, Ltd., these time-keeping marvels combine advanced engineering, advanced electronic principals and the most advanced design.

Traditional and the newest contemporary models complement any decor. And, with no ugly cords to dangle, they can be used on wall or mantel with equal effectiveness.

Sparkle Your List Of Gifts With Stones

Since ancient times the inner fire of a diamond has been likened to love . . . as a ring on your finger it is the traditional symbol signifying mutual devotion . . . and, nowadays, many families delight in showing their love for Mother and Grandmother by pooling finances in order to give them an impressive diamond gift.

Jewelry designers today have produced diamond pieces in just about every price scale to meet happily with purse and budget.

Small diamonds lend themselves artistically to excellent designs in earrings, brooches, and rings of fine workmanship.

If you're buying for a lady who is sentimental (and who isn't at Yuletide!) consider a heart motif . . . as a locket of gold or platinum paved with diamonds, or a cut-out heart framed in diamonds suspended on a necklace chain.

Religious medals and crosses set with diamonds are popular gift items in tune with the Christmas mood . . . ranging in price from well under fifty dollars to several thousands, depending upon the size and quality of the diamonds.

No rule exists to prevent a husband from placing a diamond engagement ring on his wife's finger even after years of marriage; jewelers say many men do it.

Anniversary rings, too, are a memorable way of renewing the original promise to love and to cherish. They come in a galaxy of delicate blossoms, swirling scrolls, and refreshing modern designs; to be worn either on the fourth finger of the right hand or on the pinkie finger.

Why not visit a reliable jeweler and pre-select several pieces of jewelry well within your price range? Then, be prepared for a stir of excitement as you usher the lovely recipient into the jewelers to make her final choice from those you've already set aside! Remember, diamonds are dateless . . . to be worn a lifetime!

Variety Stores Offer Many Gift Choices

You may not find that "million dollar baby" (to quote an old song) in a "five and ten cents" store, and very few items for nickle or a dime — but there are any number of under - a - dollar "good buys" to be found there.

Bulk candy, for instance, often the "old-fashioned kind" is wonderful to serve or cleverly-package as a gift.

There are many toys for boys and girls that cost less than one dollar . . . and they're toys children will really like, too.

Desk items — memo books, papers, notebooks, pens, etc. — are all available for 99 cents or less.

Take a look through your favorite variety store . . . you may be amazed at how rapidly, inexpensively and perfectly you can check off the names on your gift list

REALLY "HOT" WORK—These women work in a laundry but they aren't ironing. They're using radiation counters to make sure that radioactive contaminants have been removed from protective clothing in the "hot" laundry at the Hanford, Wash., atomic plant. An average of 280,000 pounds of clothing is laundered each month at the plant, operated by General Electric for the Atomic Energy Commission. This special clothing is provided persons who work in zones where radioactive materials are located.

The United States is the largest meat producing country in the world, with 12,600,000 tons per year.

IT'S A FAMILY AFFAIR . . . little sister, teenage brother and big sister, they are all dolls . . . and so is the little "mama" who is dressed just like a little doll! It's a new idea, "dress alikes," for doll and "mother" . . . there is a variety of different patterns in girls' wear to match the dolls' ensembles. They are easy for true-to-life mothers to make for the little "mother." The Ginny, Jeff and Jan dolls shown here have extensive wardrobes, too.

Exciting Dolls And Accessories For 'Little Mom'

The instinct of most little girls to play "grown-up" is catered to more than ever in the pack of toys that herald the approach of Santa.

Fashion consciousness seems to be instinctive with little sister, judging from the Yule-tide crop of dolls. Completely clothed with extra outfits available, these dolls reflect the newest Paris trends in silhouettes and accessories. Empire gowns are of course, the favored style.

A note of nostalgia is achieved with the popular re-emergence of the Shirley Temple doll, which was also one of Mom's favorites.

The doll mother of 1958 will find that good grooming gets special attention with kits designed to provide top-to-toe care for her charges.

This basic training in personal care is equalled only by the head-start she receives in the profession of baby-sitting, provided by a kit containing pinless diapers, colic-proof nipples, a draft-proof doll carriage and a miniature bath-master.

All in all, it seems to be just a few steps from "play - pretend" to "for-real," with toys acting as her introduction to an adult world.

Finding Gift Is No Problem Now

Finding a gift for the people who seem to "have everything" is no problem this year; say the Luggage and Leather Goods Manufacturers of America. A selection of distinctive and unusual items will be available to solve your problems.

For the man who smokes, what could be more perfect than a leather covered pipe? A similar guy might like a tobacco humidor in pigskin, shaped cans, sized exactly like a football, or a smaller cigaret box just like a basketball.

The convivial traveler will be delighted with a deluxe bar-in-a-suitcase which contains bottles, shaker, glasses and the necessary accoutrements for mixing.

If it's a relative who is family minded, choose a perfect gift from among several photo albums labeled "My Grandchildren," "Family Reunions," or other titles for the unoffocial collector of family records and events.

One puzzler on your list will enjoy a leather kit containing several decks of cards and pencils, plus score pads for his or her favorite card games; these come in sets of six or more. Another complete game set will allow for many evenings of fun with checkers, chess, backgammon and many more, all in one handy case.

The executive on your list gets checked off when you see the desk accessories covered in polished leather, piped in gold. There is a special gadget which holds his spectacles in an upright case, or a combination scissors and letter opener.

Something "different" in billfolds is ostrich, which is luxurious and yet practical, or fine morocco dressed with a gold tab on which the owner's signature is engraved.

TRY FREE MONEY

LONDON (UPI)—A bank that opens in the plush Mayfair district next week will try to attract lady customers. The Barclay's Bank branch will have a woman manager, a ladies' writing room and a powder room decorated in pastel shades.

CRITICIZE LIPSTICKS

VIENNA (UPI) — The Czech Communist Party organ "Rudo Pravo" has criticized Prague beauty shop owners who introduced light blue and pea green lipsticks as following "decadent Western manners."

GIVE GAMES TO THE KIDS

It was once a standing family joke that Junior's model trains were really purchased for Dad! Today, with Christmas, '58 upon us, it becomes more and more apparent that the latest children's games are really designed for family fun!

The trend toward flexible rules makes it easier than ever for different age groups to participate on equal terms.

"Name that Tune," a form of musical bingo is the first game to base the play on a phonograph record. Ten can play, and probably will.

Continuing in popularity is "Rack-O," a numbered card game played with racks. "Go To The Head Of The Class," a take-off on T.V. quiz shows, comes in a new edition that caters to the knowledge of three different age levels.

A gay new game with a wide age span is "Monkey's Wild," which involves getting a zooful of animals back into their cages.

Games like "Candyland," based on matching colors are for the youngest.

From 6 to 60, everyone plays games this Christmas!

GETS JET PERMISSION

NEW YORK (UPI) — National Airlines has become the fourth line to receive permission to operate commercial jet flights at Idlewild Airport.

DRINK "STOYANE"

LONDON (UPI)—Russians, who have been told to cut down on consumption of alcoholic beverages, today were urged to try a new soft drink, "stoyane." Radio Moscow said Stoyane made from a plant which grows in the Altai Mountains, is invigorating, increases resistance to illness and sharpens the appetite.

FRIENDLY MEN'S WEAR

In doubt about size, color, style? Give a Gift Certificate!

MAKE IT A "LUGGAGE CHRISTMAS" — It will be one that's treasured for years to come! Streamlined is the keynote of these smartly matched pieces that feature: hidden locks, vinyl bonded to magnesium, extra roomy design, long wearing colorful linings, and lightweight construction. Special pieces for men and for women.

Luggage Welcomed By All Travelers

Fashion-wise today's line-up of suitcases offers a wider choice of shapes and covering than ever before.

Budget-wise, almost everyone can afford to give at least one piece as a "starter," or another as an accessory case to a set already in use.

Three pieces constitute a basic set for a girl or woman, including a train case for cosmetics, a week-ender or overnite bag, and a wardrobe case for hanging garments.

To these, or as a substitute may be added the large square hat and shoe case, or a pullman for flat packing. Frequently, round hatboxes (which may double as overnite bags) may be had to match other pieces of luggage, or in a pleasing contrast.

For a man, a two-suiter and companion bag are the all 'round favorites to begin a luggage wardrobe. The latter will serve either as an auxiliary piece for longer trips, or as a week-ender on a few days' journey.

Other luggage which might be a fine choice for the traveler already equipped with a complement of suitcases falls into the accessory class, such as the traveling garment bag, designed for motor trips but useable anywhere — or the varied shaped zipper and duffle bags suitable for shoes, incidentals, the beach, laundry or last-minute packing.

To choose luggage properly, consider the use to which it will be put; check the styling for ease of carrying and handling, the locks if burglary is a factor. Select colors for fashion and personal preference, and add a set of luggage tags for permanent identification.

You 'Auto Buy' Gift Items For Motorist

The person who's proud of his auto will be delighted to receive a gift along the motoring line. And the array of items to chose from is extra big.

Quite inexpensive, novel and nice are packs that attach to the visor and hold glasses, cigarettes, tissues, etc., all within easy reach . . . or a tissue dispenser to be placed under the dashboard . . . along with trays to make snacking in the car more convenient.

Because he is proud of the auto, spruce up gifts are always better than good. The whirling car-washing-brush that attaches to a regular garden hose is the first consideration . . . but how about a water bucket filled with jars and cans of cleaners and waxes, scrub brushes, a full-skinned oil-tanned chamois, and a can of spray-on touch-up enamel for those tiny scrapes and nicks on the car.

White rubber tire sidewall disks can be bought to slip on right over regular black tires.

For safety's sake, how about a directional signal kit or seat belts!

For the man "on the road" here are some real-glad-to-get gift ideas: a compass just might come in handy someday . . . roof - top luggage carriers get the extra baggage out of the way . . . a lantern or flashlight is a "must" . . . garment bags and clothes hanging-equipment are always favored by the man on the go.

An electric shaver adapter and a radio are two more gifts the moving motorist will go for. And, if he must leave the car parked on the street for any length of time, a locking gas tank cap could save money and inconvenience one day!

Check your nearest auto supply store for these and many more marvelous motoring gifts . . . your favorite service station carries many good items, too.

Plan Ahead For Holiday, Then—Relax

For a gift both useful and beautiful, there's nothing like a set of matched luggage.

The "fuss" of Christmas is very little "bother" if you plan and begin to carry out those plans well in advance of the 25th.

To help you get started right — here's a general check list:

1) Make Christmas gift list: Check on sizes, addresses, mailing deadlines.

2) Make card list: check addresses.

3) Plan holiday entertaining: Guest lists, food, entertainment (if any).

5) Plan decorations; Check left-over items and note what must be replaced or added.

5) Buy gifts: File receipts in case of exchange. Buy cards (order ahead if to be imprinted). Buy decorations. By fancy and mailing wrappings, ribbon, twine, stickers labels. Buy postage stamps for cards.

6) Wrap gifts for mailing. Address cards for out-of-town mailing. Take both to post office.

7) Wrap and deliver fancy gifts. Address and mail intown cards. Address and mail any invitations to holiday parties.

8) Prepare home: Clean, decorate, do baking, buy food.

9) Relax! Get manicure, hair done, clothes in order, etc.

10) Last minute meal preparation, etc.

Enjoy this holiday more than any before!

Your Christmas Male Goes for Real Comfort

Jingle, jingle, jingle, what to give Kris Kringle! Since Dad is the guy who loves, counsels and provides for his family all year 'round, he is a real Santa Clause — so, what's more appropriate than a gift of "comfort" for him.

Present him with his very own easy chair, or contour chair — to be reserved exclusively for him. Then, at his feet you might put a pair of cozy slippers, handsome robe, and at his side — a tobacco cannister, pipe rack and a good reading lamp.

There's Warm & Woolly Gifts For Your Male List

What do men want for Christmas 1958? Particularly popular during the cold winter months ahead are soft, comfortable wool sports shirts. They look like a page out of a man's fashion magazine when worn with fine tweed sports coats on winter weekends or even sans wool jacket.

When buying one, check first the color of his sports coat to make sure the shirt harmonizes correctly. Remember, solid-color sports shirts look best with striped or checked wool Shetland sports coats. Other sports coat patterns go with fancy patterned sports shirts.

You'll find men prefer wool shirts because they're light on the shoulders, yet provide the right degree of warmth when temperatures drop to the below freezing mark.

If that man is athletically inclined; let's say he spends his winter weekends at a ski lodge, then gift him with an easy-to-pack of the pull-over type.

Wool jersey is the newest fashion fabric for active men this winter. It will be available in time for Christmas gift giving in button-front and pull-over sports shirts, sweaters and sweater-vests and sports coats. It won't crease or show a wrinkle; therefore, it's the right gift for travelers, too — especially business men.

As you've probably observed — shawl-collar sweathers are the favorite wool sweater style this winter. So, a Yuletide gift of a handsome shawl-collar sweater is proof that you think lots of him — be he the favorite son . . . Dad . . . or Grandpa!

Perfect for the college boy is the shawl collar pullover wool sweater; it's easy to get into and is the authentic campus sweater this year. At schools east, west, north or south, "Joe College" will be grateful for a shawl collar come cold weather.

And Dad, and Grandad, too, will appreciate the comfort, warmth and good looks of a shawl-collar sweater, but for them, we suggest a wool cardigan.

It's specifically designed for snappy cold-weather wear. Long, loosely - knitted and made to ride away from the body, the shawl-collar cardigan with four or five buttons will give the man of the house many moments of pleasurable wear now and later.

Tops, too, in every man's gift list is a lightweight, yet warm sweater-vest in either a wool jersey or woven fabric. Buy one to match his favorite worsted suit. Patterened sweater vests look best for the casual life; more tailored, conservative designs rate in town.

Sports-car fans will go for the new "shortie" zip outer - jacket with stand-up collar and wool liner.

There's still more to come in fine wool gifts for men of all ages. Keep in mind, plaid and solid color wool flannel robes. Soft wool, here, provides warmth so you can save on fuel bills and keep the thermostate down low.

Last, but not of least importance, are wool plaid blankets. They're perfect for picnics, beach and stadium, for sports lovers and camping.

GIFT IDEAS FOR GARDENERS

Nothing could be more appreciated by the gardening enthusiast than a gift that reminds — spring is coming!

Anything from a package of seeds to a power tool, such as electric hedge clippers, is sure to make a hit.

But, the indoor gardening gift is one any gardener can enjoy right now . . . so it should be included as a part of the outdoor gift:

A gift-wrapped azalea, laden with buds, will decorate a home all during the holidays. Choose one in white, rose or Christmas red. Next May, the gardener can plant it outside to be enjoyed for a long time.

Or, why not fill a gardening basket with small, but very useful items, such as insecticides, soil, food, stakes, pots, and a gardening book!

Remember, the pleasure from a gardening gift grows year after year!

The Twelve Days of Christmas were set aside by Alfred the Great of Britain.

TREATED LIKE A KING—Like U.S. teen-agers storming around a rock 'n' roll idol, Jordanian girls surround King Hussein in his palace at Amman. Despite various plots aimed at deposing him, the 23-year-old monarch remains a popular favorite.

DENY MASSU REPORT

PARIS (UPI)—A German press report that Maj. Gen. Jacques Massu, Algiers security chief, would be named French commander in Berlin, was termed ridiculous today by a spokesman for the French National Defense Ministry. Massu was one of the generals who masterminded the May 13 uprising in Algiers which helped bring Gen. Charles de Gaulle back to power in France.

Many Gifted Ways To Please Menfolk

A new Yultide custom is for the entire family to chip in and buy their favorite male something big!

A handsome wool outerjacket is one gift, whether he's sixteen or sixty, that's really appreciated.

Even junior will be glad the folks gave him a good - looking melton cloth outerjacket with a warm wool shawl collar. It's smart and practical, just what boys and youths are wearing today.

Wool plaid outerjackets are the right gift for the out-of-doors man, too. Keep the hunter happy and warm in the new safety color — yellow — now being endorsed by hunting and safety clubs. Yellow wool hunting shirts, caps and outerjackets are shown too.

For other warmly-welcome gifts, choose wool socks in either fancy designs or conservative ribs . . . sleeveless lamb's wool sweaters, in gay solid colors to go with a checked or striped Shetland sports coat . . . or, comfortable wool slipper-socks for at-home ease.

Wool flannel slacks are new in pleatless types with back-strap and buckle . . . for young men.

The more mature look best in pleated trousers. But whatever the style, remember that all - wool slacks hold a sharp crease and wear best.

Gift that sports car enthusiast with knitted wool gloves with leather palms.

Wrinkle - and - crush - proof wool challis ties in striped and foulard patterns are popular and many can be bought with matching belts. Knitted wool ski caps are tops of course, for sportsmen.

A gift set of matching ski-patterned gloves or mittens and muffler in wool, provides warmth, helps prevent chills and lends a bright inexpensive note to the Christmas season. They're popular-priced, so kids can give them to each other.

High schoolers and collegians will write a very warm thank-you note if you gift them with a six-footer wool muffler in campus colors, maroon and white, blue and white, or what-have you.

Appliances May Be Big Pleasers

"Come out of the kitchen . . ." can well be applied to the newest small appliances!

Smart Santas will note that these convenient time - savers have blossomed forth with a sparling beauty of modern design that makes them "at home" on dining, buffet, supper or patio table, as well as in the kitchen work-center.

Making table-cooking easier is the single-unit heat control plug and cord which fits all appliances interchangeably.

This is featured by many of America's finest appliance makers, and serves the double purpose of reducing the price on individual appliances, plus making it a cinch to feature an attractive, modern "cook center" anywhere.

It's also a wonderful way for a family to pool their funds and give mom the gift of a lifetime — a heat control plus a complete set of appliances to go with it!

Whether home is a one - room kitchenette apartment, or a rambling ranch type, electrical appliances fit the bill!

Who wouldn't welcome an electric percolator, Dutch oven, fry pan, sauce pan, skillet, or deep-fryer!

A waffler-grill combination is a terrific double-hit gift! With this single appliance, she (or he) can fry bacon and eggs, pancakes, toast sandwiches, even make waffles!

The new automatic griddle-servers are another two-bagger! You can prepare a complete hot meal on the large cooking area, then place it right on the table for de-luxe serving!

Steam and dry irons, toasters, automatic corn poppers, bun warmers and the newest hot 'n' cold servers are other gifts that rate "thank-you's" straight from the heart!

Fun-to-use rotisseries are available in many sizes, and make baking, grilling and broiling a thrilling experience.

And, there's the ever-so-useful blender which also purees vegetables. An electric mixer whether large and complete with bowls, or the smaller-hand type is another "I want" at the top of every homemaker's list.

As you can see, appliances are gracious to give, heavenly to receive, and rate top consideration for Christmas.

Be 'Scents-ible' When Choosing Man's Fragrance

How often have you heard the men in the family balk over the after-shave lotions and colognes they have received at Christmas.

Too often well-meaning friends select what they like and forget a man's personal preference in fragrances.

First of all, a man generally likes of all, a light scent, with emphasis on woodsy, spicy or tweedy bouquets.

No matter how wonderful the scent, or how smart the bottle, if it doesn't strike him the right way, he'll never use it!

To solve the problem, play a subtle game of "20 questions" to get him to disclose his preferences!

Many Kids Interested In Building

Today's model toys are a far cry from the days when children easily assembled simple cars, wagons or planes.

The model kits on the market for Christmas '58, are created to develop ingenuity and dexterity, and make available everything from authentic miniatures of antique cars to an exact reproduction of an army "box car" plane complete with combat team.

The famous Harley - Davidson motorcycle is recreated in a model kit designed from official blue prints, accurately detailed and scaled to 9 inches in length.

The world's first experimental helicopter-plane the McDonnel IV1 is also available in authentic miniature and comes with three lifelike figures.

From the first Ford car through the Stutz-Bearcat of Dad's day, right to today's sleek Thunderbird, model cars auhentically detailed and scaled are instructive and fascinating for "boys" of all ages.

Stock Up On Practical Pocket Items

At Christmas time, when everything seems to be going out of a man's pockets, it's a good idea to give him something special to put back into them.

The Jewelry Industry Council suggests a list of "pocket fillers" that the Santa Claus in any family is sure to appreciate and use for a long while.

A gold - filled pen and pencil set, handsomely and sleekly designed, is a moderately priced gift that a man will use with pride. If he is a smoker, a slim cigarette case in sterling or silver plate will do away forever with crumpled cigarette packs and tobacco-filled pockets. A good companion gift is a new lighter.

Coming under the heading of accessories a man rarely buys for himself — but he would enjoy owning — is the money clip No longer merely an oversized paper clip, modern money clips are carefully designed to be as interesting to look at as they are functional. In the proper shape and weight, not too heavy or too light, there are many with classic design motifs and others inspired by pure whimsy.

New wallets or billfolds also make thoughtful gifts, particularly if they are personalized with a man's own initials in gold.

One of the most necessary of all pocket-fillers is the key chain. Long, medium or short, the variety of chain designs, and watch chains as well, is wide. A charm — strictly sentimental — is a nice addition to either one.

GOURMET GIFTS ARE ALWAYS GOOD AT XMAS

Gifts of food have a universal, unique and colorful appeal!

It's the gift that's bound to please those "hard - to - please" on your list.

Best of all food gifts can fit any purse. Whether it's $1 for a gaily-decorated box of snacks or $50 for a luxurious basket, you'll find food gifts to fit!

If you're one of the lucky ones with a treasured recipe, your problem is easily solved.

The flavor of home - made plum pudding, fruit cake, cookies, candies or relishes in unequalled; gaily wrapped and tied, it makes a gift hard to duplicate at any price.

Most of us will look to the local shops and markets for a tremendous array of every type of food gift.

Whether they're 6 or 60, you can always delight with a gift of candy. Chocolates, hard mixes, fruit centers, mints and nuts, in indivual boxes or assortments, will hit the spot with all goodie-lovers.

Delicious cakes and cookies ranging from traditional fruit cake and pfeffernusse cookies to tins and boxes chock-ful of other Holiday goodies also make tasty gifts.

A wide variety of gifts are available for the lover of the foods including exotic cheese assortments, and packs with a selection of imported and domestic spreads, crackers, olives, and cocktail tidbits.

A delightful-extra gift can be any one of a number of jam and jelly packages. These come in sets of 2, 3, and right up to a dozen and include very type of fruit preserve.

Out-of-season fruits are always something extra-special, whether packaged in a huge, fancy basket or in a simple crate.

And did you ever think of a ham, turkey, duck or goose as a Christmas gift? Oven-ready or smoked, these are real treats in their bright wrappings!

If you're undecided about what type of food your intended recipient prefers, play it safe with a Food Gift Certificate. These are available in any denomination at many local markets, department stores and food shops.

ARGENTINA INVITES BENSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Argentina has invited Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson to attend the famous Palermo Cattle Show near Buenos Aires next June.

'It's A Pipe' Many Men Are Yearning For

One of the oldest, and probably one of the most cherished of American traditions, is the manly attitude and relaxed atmosphere conveyed by a pipe smoker.

The Pipe and Tobacco Council points up an ever-increasing interest among the male populace in pipe smoking — so perhaps a pipe and-or smoking tobacco would make an ideal Christmas gift for the men on your list!

Pipes and smoking tobacco seem to follow the personality of their users. The sporty, carefree type of man chooses a pipe that has a slightly off-beat shape. It may be curved to a marked degree, or the bowl will be tapered or of an odd shape.

This type will also lean toward aromatic smoking tobacco, designed to call attention to the pipe and to themselves.

A law forbidding Christmas celebrations was written in 1659 by the Pilgrims. It wasn't repealed until 1681.

Thanksgiving

Here beginneth the account of Nathaniel Morton, secretary and keeper of the records for the Plymouth Colony, concerning those memorable circumstances of the year 1620:

"So they left that goodly and pleasant city of Leyden, which had been their resting-place for above eleven years; but they knew that they were pilgrims and strangers here below, and looked not much on these things, but lifted up their eyes to heaven, their dearest country, where God hath prepared for them a city (Heb. xi. 16), and therein quieted their spirits.

"When they come to Delfs-Haven they found the ship and all things ready; and such of their friends as could not come with them followed after them, and sundry came from Amsterdam to see them shipt, and to take their leaves of them. One night was spent with little sleep with the most, but with friendly entertainment and Christian discourse, and other real expressions of true Christian love.

"The next day they went on board, and their friends with them, where truly doleful was the sight of that sad and mournful parting, to hear what sighs and sobs and prayers did sound amongst them; what tears did gush from every eye, and pithy speeches pierced each other's heart, that sundry of the Dutch strangers that stood on the Key as spectators could not refrain from tears. But the tide (which stays for no man) called them away, that were thus loth to depart, their Reverend Pastor, falling down on his knees, and they all with him, with watery cheeks commended them with most fervent prayers unto the Lord and His blessing; and then with mutual embraces and many tears they took their leaves one of another, which proved to be the last leave to many of them.

"Being now passed the vast ocean, and a sea of troubles before them in expectations, they had now no friends to welcome them, no inns to entertain or refresh them, no houses, or much less towns, to repair unto to seek for succour; and for the season it was winter, and they that know the winters of the country know them to be sharp and violent, subject to cruel and fierce storms, dangerous to travel to known places, much more to search unknown coasts.

"Besides, what could they see but a hideous and desolate wilderness, full of wilde beasts, and wilde men? and what multitudes of them there were, they then knew not: for which way soever they turned their eyes (save upward to Heaven) they could have but little solace or content in respect of any outward object; for summer being ended, all things stand in appearance with a weather-beaten face, and the whole country, full of woods and thickets, represented a wild and savage hew.

"If they looked behind them, there was a mighty ocean which they had passed, and was now as a main bar or gulph to separate them from all the civil parts of the world."

These words, proclaiming faith in God against the vicissitudes of the new and harsh land which the Pilgrims were to call home, shine in the annals of men for they tell the story of man's reality in the human situation.

This message will, sadly, be lost on the vast majority of Americans today for the drive for "security" and "adjustment" has rendered the reality of the Pilgrims as distant from contemporary life as is imaginable. The modern man filing for his "unemployment insurance," the farmer applying for this subsidy, the businessman soliciting favors from government in the form of loans and subventions; all these are individuals further removed from their Pilgrim heritage than they are from that of their stone age ancestors.

One year after Morton recorded the Pilgrims' circumstance, the bountiful yield of the new land gave rise to a Feast of Thanksgiving which we today commemorate in a rather trite and ritualistic way because our dependency on omnipotent government, our lust for sensory pleasure and the exaltation of vanity have rendered the attribute of thankfulness almost archaic.

If today, however, a few, in their own way, search their hearts and find the great humanizer of thankfulness still burning brightly, the day will have gained some meaning in a world which has become entranced with false gods.

The Anarchist Rise

We have been apprised in recent days by several sources, of the re-birth of the anarchist movement. And now, only today, came to our desk the publications being put out by the propaganda agency for the movement, which unfortunately styles itself, "The Libertarian League."

We deeply regret this turn of events. It is too bad that the anarchists cannot simply style themselves anarchists rather than attempt to pervert a useful and meaningful word like "libertarian."

Still, we must not waste our time bemoaning their perversions. They call themselves in this 20th century resurrection, the "Libertarian League."

A perusal of their published efforts reveals immediately that the modern anarchists are about to commit the same follies committed by their 19th century forerunners.

What must be borne in mind in all reference to anarchism is that it is, at its base, a socialist movement. But let us use their own wording here so that no question can arise. "The exploitative societies of today must be replaced by a new libertarian world which will proclaim — Equal freedom for all in a free socialist society. 'Freedom' without socialism leads to privilege and injustice; 'Socialism' without freedom is totalitarian." (Emphasis is theirs.)

The famous writers of anarchism, Elisee Recluse, Prince Kropotkin, Bakunin, Proudhon and others extolled the virtues of individualism. And in this excellent guise, they made a profound and a noble impression upon the thinking minds of their day. But when these writers — and apparently their modern exponents are following in their footsteps — came up against the facts of economics, they came unglued. It is in the realm of economics that the anarchist betrays himself and shows himself to be nothing more than an exponent of the socialist conspiracy.

We would like to demonstrate, if we may, the true nature of socialism and its various branches, of which anarchism holds the long-sagging right wing of this belief.

Socialism is as old as the cave men. It prates of a social order in which all property is removed from private ownership. There are as many plans to accomplish this as there are needles to a Ponderosa pine.

Essentially, there are three main movements which attempt to achieve this unnatural and deplorable end. The three can be listed from left to right as: communism, fabianism and anarchism. But, fundamentally, all three are simply branches, tactical delineations of the socialist credo.

So, let us have it firmly in mind. Communism, fabianism and anarchism are socialist at their roots. The aim is to eliminate private property. The means to be employed are as follows:

1. Communism. This system explained and promoted by Karl Marx, says that those who own private property will never give up without a struggle. Therefore, the struggle is inevitable. The Communist disdains not to use force. And he envisions the government, any government, as his principal ally and protagonist. To move property out of the hands of its rightful owners, Marx called for the government to play the leading role. He also advocated the labor union as the shock troops to drive all means of production and distribution into the hands of the government. Then, with a picked crew within the government, the Communist could set up the dictatorship of the proletariat.

2. Fabianism. This system, expounded by the Webbs of England and endorsed by such persons as Annie Besant and George Bernard Shaw, modified Marx's position by adding the observation that while private property owners would not give up what they own without a struggle, still they were too dumb and too stupid to understand what was happening to them. Therefore, like Marx, they advocated the use of the government and the democratic process. They called for a gradual rise of socialist doctrine by means of the ballot. Everything that Marx had said was true, except the necessity for violence. He wishes to see socialism enthroned by the process of gradualism. It should be noted in passing that this method has been the most successful in all countries save Russia, which followed Marx much more nearly to the letter.

3. Anarchism. The anarchist has precisely the same end in view as his other socialist brothers. But he has seen the government, not as an ally, but as an enemy. The anarchist holds that governments have been established by capitalists for the sole purpose of protecting capital. Therefore, rather than employing government as the device for wresting property from the owners, the anarchist sees the destruction of government as the proper course of action. If the government could be destroyed, he argues, then people would revert to their natural state in which they wouldn't want to own property. The anarchists under Proudhon and Kropotkin stated: "Property is robbery." And an anarchist movement entitled "propaganda by action" was launched which led to a number of violent deaths of prominent government figures including our own President McKinley.

What all of us should realize is that each of these movements is but a branch of the centra idea of socialism. And socialism is a sort of mental disorder which preaches that no one should ever own any property privately.

We trust that this brief and perhaps over - simplified delineation will disabuse the minds of our readers as to the "libertarian" character of any socialist movement such as the anarchist. The true libertarian is he who is dedicated to private ownership of property. Against all socialism, he is forever opposed.

How Long Until More Price Controls?

The Economic Research Department of the National Chamber of Commerce in their bulletin says:

"Even though prices have not been rising as fast as incomes, there is growing talk of going back to price and wage controls. Nor does this talk come entirely from Leftists and planners. Price control deals only with the symptoms of inflation — not the causes. Worse still, in trying to prevent inflation through price control, innumerable unwanted economic consequences are thrust upon society."

I have been wondering for some time how long it would be until the public became so frustrated over the dollar buying less and less that they would consent to, or even insist upon, the government setting minimum and maximum prices on wages and commodities and service.

There, of course, is a very definite cause as to why the dollar is buying less and less. As Emerson wrote, "The ends do pre-exist in the means." When we do certain things, the dollar is bound to buy less and less and continue to buy less and less so long as we do the things that cause the dollar to depreciate. Instead of correcting the causes that bring about the lessening of the value of the dollar, we attempt to reduce its bad affects by doing other things, like price controls, that will even do greater harm.

I think the Chamber of Commerce bulletin errs when it talks about going back to price controls. The fact of the matter is, local, state and federal governments have always attempted to control prices. We have never had completely free and unhampered prices. This belief in price control is in the hearts of men. It is local. And when people believe in controlling the prices of schooling to the consumer, it is only natural that they believe in price control in other things. If charging nothing for a student to attend school is not controlling prices, then what is price control? That is 100 per cent price control.

Money Control

And we have always had more or less money control by the attempt to control credit and interest rates. The Federal Reserve System is one of the interventions that lead on and on until the dollar becomes worthless. When we went off the Gold Standard in 1933, that was an attempt to make prices go up.

The way to stop the dollar from depreciating is to repeal all laws that give anybody an advantage and attempt to give artificial wages or prices to any group. The fact of the matter is, you can have no true value of anything unless everybody helps establish values, and that includes wages as well as material things.

One of the examples of an attempt to control prices is the Agriculture Department attempting to regulate the price of major farm crops. How much has that helped? When you get the prices too high and the government buys the product, more people produce those farm products.

The government for some ten years has been trying to control the price of wheat. Let's look at the results as reported by U. S. Chamber:

"Wheat supplies for the current crop year are estimated at an all-time high of 2.3 billion bushels including carryover. Domestic use will absorb about 600 million bushels. Thus we have a current crop and carryover in sight sufficient to take care of all of our domestic requirements for nearly four long years!

"Exports may absorb some 400 bushels, which would leave us a carryover next July of about 1.3 billion bushels. This would be the largest carryover in the U. S. history, in spite of innumerable government controls and subsidized export programs presumably designed to wrestle with the problem.

"Uncle Sam already holds about $2½ billion worth of wheat. The government support price of $1.82 a bushel is nearly 60 percent above the world market price. Just to store the government's wheat hoard costs nearly $500,000 per day..." Or, in round numbers, $182 million a year to store the wheat the government has accumulated—not that held by private farmers or firms, but what the government has bought up. And this storage problem, as the surplus grows, will continue to increase. The only shortage is shortage of bins in which to store the wheat."

Yes, there is no question but that any interference with a free market, any attempt to control prices only leads on a step nearer to state socialism and communism and greatly retards production in the things needed and increases production in the things that have the most political votes.

As Henry D. Thoreau said, "The only thing the government can do to help industry is the rapidity with which it gets out of the way." But instead of it getting out of the way, it is getting in the way all the more with every price control, like minimum wages, fixed interest rates, graduated income tax, tariffs, immigration quotas and all interventions.

This Thanksgiving

Robert Allen Reports:

'New Look' Issue Might Hit Rayburn

WASHINGTON — A decidedly touchy "new look" issue is due to occupy a lot of time and produce much talk at the forthcoming meeting here of the Democratic National Committee.

Real intent of this secrecy-shrouded move is to ensure that whole new set of officials is put in charge of organizing and running the party's 1960 convention.

Foremost among the veteran leaders who would be hit by this move are:

Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex., who was Permanent Chairman of the last three Democratic conventions, and has been generally considered the virtually certain choice for the next one.

House Majority Leader John McCormack, Mass., who headed the important Platform Committee of the last two conventions.

Representative Clarence Cannon, Mo., who has been convention Parliamentarian for several decades.

They would be replaced from the following group of state governors who have made political history in recent years:

Governors Robert Meyner, N.J.; Foster Furcolo, Mass.; Abraham Ribicoff, Conn.; G. Mennen Williams, Mich.; Orville Freeman, Minn.; Herschel Loveless, Ia.; LeRoy Collins, Fla.; and Governors-elect Pat Brown, Calif.; Michael Di Salle, Ohio; Clinton Clauson, Me.; and Gaylord Nelson, Wis.

The convention Keynoter also would be selected from among them.

Another stormy issue slated to come before the National Committee's December 6 meeting will be raised by Chairman Paul Butler.

He is going to ask for a vote of confidence.

Almost certainly this proposal will draw sharp fire, particularly from Southerners who bitterly resent Butler's "reading them out of the party" over civil rights.

But he is confidently claiming enough votes to win the pat on the back he is after.

WHO'S DOING IT — Chiefly behind the backstage strategy to "modernize" the 1960 convention are three National Committeemen —Paul Ziffren, Calif.; Neil Staebler, Mich.; and Gerald Heaney, Minn.

Ziffren is to submit this plan to the National Committee meeting.

The Los Angeles attorney will do that in a resolution calling for the appointment of a special committee on arrangements for the presidential convention. This group of National Committeemen would have full charge of all preparations, including naming the key officials.

On this potent special committee would be Ziffren, Staebler and Heaney — with Ziffren the chairman.

Outcome of their plan is conjectural.

The trio has been very busy lining up support for it. They are personally discussing it with National Committee members throughout the country. They are known to be encountering opposition, particularly from sources close to Speaker Rayburn and the other congressional leaders.

Two important uncertainties on this issue are former President Truman and Chairman Butler.

While Truman is not on the National Committee, members will definitely consult him about the "new look" plan. He has been fully apprized of it, and will be in Washington December 6 to attend a session the following day of the Democratic Advisory Committee.

So far Butler has indicated no stand on the "modernization" move. He has been too busy lining up votes for his confidence motion. However, he and Ziffren have long been warm friends, and Butler doubtless will go along with him.

POLITICALS — Two new names are being mentioned in inner Democratic circles as possible successors to National Chairman Butler. They are Clark Clifford, special counsel to President Truman, and James McGranery, who was Attorney General in the final months of the Truman Administration. Clifford, now a highly successful Washington attorney, is reputedly favored by Truman for the Chairmanship. A number of influential congressional leaders also are said to be backing Clifford. Just who is supporting McGranery, other than himself, is not clear . . . Members of Senator John Kennedy's staff are crediting him with advocating retaining Butler "for the present." . . . Former National Chairman Steve Mitchell, Ill., and his law partner, Hy Raskin, are actively working for the 1960 presidential nomination of Senator Kennedy. Mitchell played a leading role in the 1952 nomination of Adlai Stevenson.

Looking Sideways

By Whitney Bolton

NEW YORK—For an individual, employed by it or not, to try to tell a titanic corporation how to conduct some of its economic affairs is a good deal like trying to still the wind or stall the tides. But I had dinner the other night with a man who is the manager of one average store in a system of stores belonging to a nation-wide chain of retail mail-order units with, of course, the major mail-order house headquartered in Chicago. And that's about as close as this piece intends to get in identifying this titan of the American way.

My friend is married and a father and his entire business life since completing his formal education has been passed with this company. He had two times out for Air Force service as a commissioned pilot, and each time returned to his job. He has risen from a kid in a humble spot to manager of a large store. He has five children, this way: girls: 14 and 12; boys: 6 and 3, an infant less than one year, girl.

"I'm beginning to worry," he said as we sat over coffee, the dinner behind us. "The oldest girl goes to college in three years and her 12-year-old sister will by then overlap on her two years, which means that for two years I will have two in college at once. Then there will be a breather and the boys will go, with a one-year overlap, as you can see by their ages. For one year, again, I'll have two college expenses to meet. The little one does not worry me at all. The baby goes for free when the time comes."

"How do you get at that?"

"The company has an annual bonus and participation program for all executives, which includes managers. I am making something beyond $10,000 a year now in direct income, but I also am receiving annual bonus-participation benefits which are not direct. That is: they pile up for me as cash and stock. The corporation holds them for me. I don't get them until I am 55 years old, which completes the full time I am to work for them. I cannot cash them in now and remain with the company. If I took another job with someone else, I could cash them in. That is, I would not lose them by leaving but I cannot use them by remaining. Which leaves me with the college expense problem to come out of a little better than $10,000 a year. It's a tough nut to crack."

"It ought not to be," I said. "Could a new program be suggested to the Board of Directors?"

"Not by me," he said. "I wouldn't. What's the program?"

"First, how much will you receive in accumulated bonus stock participation benefits when you are 55, about 18 years hence?"

"No reason not to tell you. About $250,000. I'll be worth a quarter of a million dollars, but by then four of my five will have had college education and I will have had to dig up the money before being worth that much."

"It's what I am getting at. You obviously can't be the only management executive in this spot. Across the nation there must be dozens. Families, fixed salary, benefits, however substantial, lying far ahead in the future. All of you are demonstrated men of loyalty, ability and intelligence, or you wouldn't have the jobs you have. Could the Board of Directors approve and then set up an Executive Educational Loan Plan for you fellows? Just you fellows, the ones with a pot of loot at the end of the road? You could, under it and with your already growing backlog of benefits in possession of the company take out, sa, $5,000 or whatever to be charged against your existing pool of benefits and this advance would have to be used for the education of your children and nothing else. The company would not be advancing you what is not already yours an the advance would be for a useful, important purpose. They could police the advances, if necessary, to make certain they were used only for education purposes. In your case, you might draw, in pieces, as much as a total of $25,000 to educate the four. You still, at 55, would come into $225,000 as your earned benefits. The company would have no risk, since it would not be advancing money that did not already exist in your name to your benefit. It would not entail any shattering amount of extra bookkeeping and would be helpful taxwise, as well. You want to suggest that to your company?"

"No," he said, "I don't. I'm a little guy in a great big company."

So, I have done so.

Fair Enough

Mulligan Family Books Passage For Hollywood

by WESTBROOK PEGLER

One day, amid the mealy squabbling of the American Bar Association in Los Angeles, William Mulligan, of New York, booked passage for self, wife and small daughter, both named Ciel, on a rubber-neck tour of the tattered illusions of the world of make-believe, including Hollywood and Vine which now is one with Nineveh and George M. Cohan's Broadway. My contempt for bar and bench is intellectual, not personal, so no compromise was implied by my invitation to the Mulligans three to come with me instead to the Hal Roach plant where my friend, Zasu Pitts, was working with an inspiring young blonde, Miss Gale Storm, in the joyous TV trivialities of "Oh Susanna," the Gale Storm show. Ciel, the lesser, age 9, is a Gale Storm devotee of considerable seniority so the doors of the studio were to her as the portals of the enchanted mountain which opened for the notes of the Pied Piper.

Later, Mr. Mulligan wrote:

"Gale Storm is a revelation, a tiny bundle of dynamite and chin-up personality, working 12 hours a day and pretending very persuasively that it is great fun. We had the pleasure of meeting Miss Pitts, a truly great lady of the cinema, and Miss Storm's stand-in and 'right-hand-man,' Miss Margie Kane, who enfolded a hesitant little girl and big-sistered her all afternoon. Before she ever saw California, Ciel's favorite TV show was this one. You know the definition of a child — a human being, between an adult and a TV screen."

I had studied other tiny show-troupes of the astringent new mode brought into being by TV, which generally holds together a cast of from four to six staff actors and employs other players by the day or job. Thus I was adjusted for the discovery that this unit consisted mainly of Miss Storm, Zasu, Roy Roberts, whom I had known around the Lambs, and Jimmy Fairfax, an Englishman and thus inevitably, to Americans, a cockney, although he was born in Scarborough.

Mr. Roberts is the skipper of the Ocean Queen, a cruise-boat artfully suggested by port-holes, sections of rail, a gang-plank, bulk - heads with simulated rivets and occasional newsreel glimpses of the S.S. Constitution. Mr. Fairfax is the permanent steward. Miss Storm is Susanna Pomeroy, the social director of a cruise which began three years ago and on this day put in at Lisbon for an incoherent episode complicated with spies. Zasu is the manicurist always drawn into embarrassments with the irresistible attraction of the egg to the electric fan. In support of these four we have Miss Kane, as aforesaid, and Miss Betty Danko, until recently a stunt - girl, who abandoned all that when a car jumped the curb as she waited for a bus and really used her up.

One's impressions of the opulent Hollywood of the moving picture phase were not pleasant, but TV harks back to the informality and humanity of the rep shows which toured the Blue Ridge and the Central Plains and of the show boats of the big rivers.

It is not as impromptu as the Essanay Comedies, for they do follow script, but William Seiter, the man on the tall ladder, directing all this, seemed to be improvising in a medium which makes a show in two or three days.

Gale Storm is a girl with everything. She has a husband, four children, home life, success, a voice, a fortune in earnings, ability and the command and patient kindness which keep down the nail-biting rancors of the silently aggrieved. Her two leggedy, well-behaved stalwarts, Peter, 12, and Paul, 11, obviously crowded with their spinach and formula by a versatile young mother, are as tall as she is already.

The resemblance to stock company theatre is more apparent on the set than it is in the weekly shows. However, "stock" seldom presented original material whereas the chapters of "Oh Susanna" all are new-mown and often as incoherent as the plots of Old Western Wheel Burlesque.

BUREAU RULING HAMPERS PRESS FREEDOM

Glasgow (Mont.) Courier (Rep.)

Government by pressure and edicts by bureaus that amount to law are not altogether new.

The latest of these comes in a ruling that the Bureau of Internal Revenue so far has failed to rescind, although it has been widely criticized as an infringement on freedom of the press.

The controversy lies on the edge of the public vs. private power debate. Public utility companies have purchased advertising space to present their side of this debate, and quite often we see advertising also presenting the public power advocates' side.

Now, such advertising, in any business, ordinarily is held to be a regular business expense. Cost of advertising is deducted from any business as a regular cost of doing business.

But the Internal Revenue officialdom has made a special ruling. For this particular type of advertising, it has held, no deduction can be made. So far as we can determine, no one has ever explained why one kind of advertising is a business expense and why another is not.

Newspapers and press associations, including the Montana State Press Association, have attacked this ruling as a direct attempt to curb freedom of the press and freedom of expression.

The utilities are carrying the fight to Washington, too. The Northwest Electric Light & Power association passed a resolution declaring that "the recent announcement issued by the Bureau of Internal Revenue that it intends to disallow the . . . advertising expenditures as income tax deductions is an attempt to impose political pressures on business activities and it improperly infringes upon the freedom of expression of the citizenry."

The resolution asks that the commissioner of internal revenue reconsider and reverse the ruling. With the recent appointment of a new commissioner, we hope that he will have the good judgment to do so.

As we have pointed out before, this is not a question of public vs. private power. It is far more fundamental and far reaching. An appointive officer in government today is in effect penalizing one group. What whim will stop him tomorrow from exercising tax powers to hit another? This is an indirect; subtle but wholly effective way of limiting freedom of speech. The only difference is that it has been done by bureau edict rather than by legislative act.

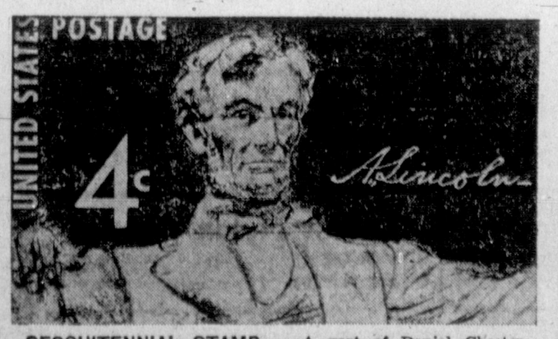
BRING 'EM BACK ALIVE—The first man who goes into orbit around the earth and returns is likely to do it in a free-falling space capsule instead of a winged craft. Such a vehicle is shown above—bullet-shaped, about seven feet in diameter, with a blunt nose. The spaceman is strapped in a reclining position at the base of the cone. Retro-rockets will slow the cone down as it re-enters the atmosphere. During the last few thousand feet, the capsule will descend by parachute (folded object, center). Drawing is based on a Northrop Aircraft idea which appeared in Mechanix Illustrated magazine.

"HELLO, YOUNG LOVERS . . ."—A new romantic team has come over the Hollywood horizon. They are Susan Kohner and John Saxon. Their tender romance is a theme in the forthcoming film, "The Big Fisherman."

GOLD IN THAT STEEL — Employe suggestions sometimes have a way of getting lost but not so for Oscar Dansler, 61, left, and Salvatore Lumella. The pair have been working together at a blast furnace in U. S. Steel's Gary, Ind., works for 15 years. Dansler came up with an idea for the separation of slag from the molten steel as it comes out of the furnace. Result? The biggest payoff of its kind in the industry—$10,000 to each man.



SESQUITENNIAL STAMP — A part of Daniel Chester French's famed statue of Lincoln is depicted on a new Lincoln stamp in commemoration of his 150th birthday. Also shown is a facsimile of Lincoln's signature. Drawing was done by Fritz Busse. Stamp will go on sale May 30, 1959.
