Ford winning again

By The Associated Press

President Ford is back in the victory circle in an up-and-down Republican presidential campaign, rearmed for the skirmishes that will point the way to the last big primary election match in Ronald Reagan's California.

Ford won at home in a Michigan runaway, swept Maryland, and regained his momentum after a succession of setbacks. In three weeks, Reagan will be defending his home territory in the season-ending California primary.

As Michigan was a must for Ford, so California will be vital to Reagan, twice elected governor there.

While the President scored his comeback, Jimmy Carter's opponents gained ground in their effort to stop the Democratic front-runner short of White House nomination.

Carter said they can't do it, despite the trouncing Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. of California dealt him in the Maryland primary.

Carter defeated Rep. Morris K. Udall in Michigan. The final, unofficial vote total showed a margin of less than 2,300 votes for Carter.

Ford said he was really on the road to the GOP nomination after his twin victories on Tuesday with 65 per cent of the Michigan vote and 58 per cent in Maryland.

But the road so far has been marked by twists and detours, for the President and for his conservative challenger. And there may be more ahead, with a dozen primary elections still to come.

Despite Carter's insistence that he can afford losses and is too far ahead to be stopped now, he is encountering unexpected obstacles. It takes victories, not late season losses, to convince wavering delegates that they should sign up and transform a lead into a nominating majority.

So, for all the talk of crucial elections, crises and comebacks, the message of the primaries could turn out to be that there is no decisive message, and that the climatic fights will be waged on the floors at the Democratic and Republican national conventions.

Reagan remains the Republican leader in committed delegate strength, although Ford claims substantial support among GOP delegates who are formally uncommitted.

Carter is far ahead of the Democratic field, with nearly half the 1,505 delegates it will take to win the nomination.

These were the numbers they were talking about:

Michigan

With 96 per cent of the precincts reporting,

Ford 672,986 or 65 per cent.

Reagan 351,734 or 34 per cent.

That meant 55 nominating delegates for Ford, 29 for Reagan.

Among the Democrats, with 99 per cent of the precincts tallied,

Carter 304,291 or 44 per cent.

Udall 301,274 or 43 per cent.

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace had 7 per cent, 2 per cent were uncommitted, Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, Fred Harris, Sargent Shriver and Ellen McCormack got 1 per cent each.

In terms of delegates, that meant 69 for Carter, 58 for Udall. They were apportioned on the basis of congressional district pluralities as well as the statewide vote.

Wallace had two delegates, with four uncommitted.

Maryland

With the count complete,

Ford 94,784 or 58 per cent.

Reagan 68,916 or 42 per cent.

That gave Ford all 43 delegates, because he carried every congressional district.

On the Democratic side,

Brown 283,956 or 49 per cent.

Carter 216,687 or 37 per cent.

Udall got 5 per cent of the vote, Wallace 4 per cent, Jackson and Mrs. McCormack 2 per cent apiece and Harris 1 per cent.

In separate balloting for delegates, with 99 per cent of the precincts counted, Carter had 32, Jackson 10, Udall 7, and 4 were uncommitted. The popular vote primary had no bearing on delegate selection, and Brown had no delegate slate entered.

Ford names Choate to board of NCUA

President Ford today nominated Mayor Wade Choate of Big Spring to be a member of the National Credit Union Board for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1981. Choate, general manager of the Webb Air Force Base Federal Credit Union, would succeed James W. Dodd, Houston, whose term has expired.

Choate, in discussing his appointment, said "I am honored by the confidence placed in me by President Ford by appointing me to the NCUA Board. I look forward to working with Administrator Nickerson and the board of the NCUA in advising and recommending policies for Federal Credit Unions for the benefit of all credit unions as we move into a progressive and ever changing financial market.

"In accepting the Board position," Choate continued, "I know I receive the best wishes of my predecessor Jim Dodd of Houston. On behalf of the credit unions in Region V, I wish to express my sincere appreciation to Mr. Dodd for the fine leadership he has provided credit unions during his six years on the Board."

WADE CHOATE

The seven-member board, which consists of a chairman and one member from each of the six federal credit union regions, is appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate. The Federal Credit Union Act states that "the President shall appoint persons of tested credit union experience" to the six-year director terms.

Region V, which Choate will represent, is composed of the states of Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Louisiana, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas, Utah and Wyoming. The selection to this post was announced at 11 a.m. Wednesday by the White House and came after careful consideration of qualified candidates in region V. Eight candidates were submitted by Credit Union State Leagues; three were from Texas, three from Louisiana, one from Kansas, and one from Colorado.

Wade Choate is the first individual from Big Spring to receive a Presidential appointment, even though he and other citizens have received appointments by the Governor of Texas. The selection, which received the support of Sen. John Tower (R-Tex), Cong. Omar Burleson (D-Tex), and their staffs, not only brings recognition to the exceptional record of Choate, but also enhances Big Spring's viable place in the national business community.

Sen. John Tower, upon hearing of the appointment, said he knew that "Wade Choate would bring to the Board an expertise and ability which would insure a continued effective voice for the Fifth Region," which encompasses Texas, the state boasting the largest number of credit unions within the Region.

The senator continued his remarks by saying that Wade Choate "is an effective spokesman, knows the industry, and possesses a sense of civic commitment evidenced by his continuous service to the City of Big Spring as mayor since 1972." Sen. Tower also talked about the credit union leader's knowledge of financial legislation and his input into the consideration of legislation dealing with credit unions.

Rep. Burleson wrote President Ford prior to his appointment and said "it is my very great privilege to recommend to you Mr. Wade Choate for appointment to the National Credit Union Administration . . . he would prove an excellent choice. I have known Wade for a number of years both personally and officially."

He continued by saying that Mayor Choate has worked "untiringly in many civic projects . . . and has done an outstanding job" as general manager of Webb AFB Federal Credit Union. "His work with the credit union is recognized nationally, which I think would be a very definite aid to the National Credit Union Administration."

Concluding his remarks to the President, Rep. Burleson said he "is an outstanding candidate . . . and is a person of high integrity, high ability and is most energetic in all his undertakings."

According to the Federal Credit Union Act, the National Credit Union Administration Board" shall meet quarterly, and at such other times as the chairman of the administrator of the National Credit Union Administration may request, or whenever one-third of the members so request.

"The administrator shall seek the advice, counsel, and guidance of the Board with respect to matters of policy relating to the activities and functions of the Administration under this Act. The administrator shall make an annual report to the President for submission to the Congress summarizing the activities of the Administration and making such recommendations as he deems appropriate. Such report shall be made after full consultation with the board and shall contain any recommendations or comments submitted by the board for inclusion in the report."

Choate, who is also President of the Texas Association of Federal Credit Unions and Affiliates, was appointed to a second term as chairman of the board of Members Mutual Insurance Companies earlier this year. The insurance companies serve credit union members in Texas and surrounding states.

Utility panel nixes late charges, deposits

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Public Utility Commission has ruled that companies and cooperatives under its jurisdiction cannot add late charges to their residential customers' past due bills.

Commission hearings on an 88-page book of rules continued today.

In addition to prohibiting late charges, the commission adopted a rule banning the familiar "net" and "gross" items on bills unless a "net" billing represents a true discount for paying promptly.

Commission rules on rates and service will not apply to municipally owned utilities. They will govern privately owned telephone companies and cooperatives everywhere, as well as electric, water and sewer service outside of city limits. The agency's regulatory power takes effect Sept. 1. A year later, cities may elect to relinquish their regulatory powers over private utilities to the commission.

Among rules adopted by the commission Tuesday are provisions that will:

—Require telephone companies to give customers refunds if their telephones remain out of order for eight working hours after being reported, unless service is interrupted by a disaster or an act of the customer. Refunds also would be required for service lost for more than 24 normal working hours due to disasters.

—Exempt persons 65 and older from utility deposits unless they still owe money on back bills from the preceding two years.

—Require utilities to pay 6 per cent annual interest on deposits.

—Prohibit utilities from requiring deposits for residential service if the customer has been a customer of any similar utility with a good record of payment or furnishes a satisfactory written guarantee of payment or demonstrates a good credit rating.

The decision to prohibit penalties for late payment or "delinquent" bills was part of a trade-off between consumer and company interests on the issue of discontinuing service.

Companies obtained reductions in the amount of time they must wait to cut off service to delinquent customers. As approved by the commission, a bill's due date will be 15 days after it is mailed. A customer's service can be disconnected for nonpayment 20 days after the bill is mailed, but only if five days' written notice has been given.

Staff members had proposed originally a 5 per cent limit on late charges, but with longer deadlines for payment and before service could be disconnected.

As proposed by the staff, customers would have had 20 days instead of the usual 10 to pay a bill without penalty. If the bill had not been paid or a deferred payment agreement reached within 30 days, service could be disconnected, provided a utility gave 10 days' written notice.

Utility companies convinced the commission that this would have created overlaps with subsequent billing periods and cost them and their paying customers money from an increase in "uncollectables."

Court won't hear Jacobsen plea deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today declined to review a plea bargaining agreement by which the government dropped fraud charges against former milk industry lobbyist Jake Jacobsen.

The court let stand a decision of the U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans which had said a federal judge in Texas exceeded his authority in refusing to accept the agreement.

Jacobsen, a one-time aide to the late President Lyndon B. Johnson, was charged by the federal government with fraudulent misapplication of an $825,000 loan from a federally insured savings and loan in San Angelo, Tex. The government dropped the charge after Jacobsen agreed to testify at the bribery trial of former Treasury Secretary John Connally.

Jacobsen also faced state charges of misapplying the $825,000 loan. He pleaded no contest on Monday in state court in San Angelo and was given seven years probation. The state court action does not affect the federal case.

Action / reaction: Big Spring 4-A

Q. If Webb Air Force Base should close, would Big Spring High remain a 4-A school, or would it drop back to 3-A. What is the cutoff level from 4-A to 3-A?

A. According to the University Interscholastic League in Austin high school classifications are broke down thusly: B — 124 and under; 1 — 125 through 234; 2A — 235 through 519; 3A — 520 through 1,134 and 4A — 1,135 and up.

Harold Bentley, director of personnel for Big Spring High School, said Big Spring would remain 4-AAAA if Webb Air Force Base closed down. "Our attendance right now is 1,797. We have projected we would lose 353 students if Webb closed, which, of course, would leave us above the cutoff mark."

A CROWD OF 200 GATHERS FOR DEDICATION — Community representatives, mental health authorities and Big Spring State Hospital employes honor the late hospital superintendent.

'He heard the central melody of life'

Building named for Dr. Harrison

By DANNY REAGAN

Dedication ceremonies for the Preston E. Harrison Building at the Big Spring State Hospital were held Tuesday afternoon. The refurbished structure was dedicated to the late Dr. Harrison in honor of his love and devotion to work in the mental health and service field.

The presentation of dedication and unveiling of a plaque honoring the late hospital superintendent was witnessed by a crowd of about 200.

Honored guests at the ceremony were Mrs. Preston E. Harrison, widow of the pioneer in mental health research, and Dr. Preston E. Harrison Jr., son of the honored man and assistant professor at the Southwest Medical School in Dallas.

Other guests and friends from Big Spring and around the state included W. G. (Cotton) Kirklin, assistant commissioner of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation; Joe Pickle, Big Spring newspaper pioneer who gave the dedicatory address; and State Rep. Mike Ezzell from Snyder.

Other dignitaries included Mrs. Polly Mays, mayor pro-tem of Big Spring, Bill Cain, superintendent of the Abilene State School; Bill Williams, assistant superintendent of Abilene State School; Don DeLeeuw, chairman of the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Council; and Darryl Hohertz, the architect who was in charge of the renovation.

JOE PICKLE, eulogizes Dr. Harrison.

Following an invocation by Assistant Chaplain Foy Richey, Cotton Kirklin gave opening remarks. "It started with a dream in the fertile mind of Dr. Harrison," stated Kirklin, "and he (Harrison) was able to dream without making the dreams his master." Kirklin was referring to the success and progress the Big Spring State Hospital has made throughout the years which culminated in the symbolic dedication of the new administration building.

Master of ceremonies Dr. Lee Butler, hospital chaplain, then introduced the main speaker, Joe Pickle. Pickle, friend of the late Dr. Harrison, praised the man time and time again for his work and dedication.

"While all of us are carried along on the turbulent tides of life and are caught up in the storms and the eddies, the great souls among us manage to stay ever on course — to still hear the central melody of life, to never lose sight of the ultimate goal. Such a man was Preston E. Harrison," eulogized Pickle.

"If Preston Harrison had a theme song, it was 'love.' He looked upon this quality as being a transaction of one being with another. He regarded it as a mysterious, psychic force — a releasing, positive spirit which was indestructible and somehow cumulative in its effect," continued Pickle.

Pickle saw Harrison's greatest human attribute as an "infinite capacity and an unbounding faith in love."

After the dedication speech, Dr. Preston E. Harrison Jr. gave some thoughts on the life he had with his father.

"Buildings are static things," said the leader's son, "but Dad's principle objectives were staff. He could have run the show in mesquite and tumbleweeds."

After a closing prayer the entourage entered the building for the unveiling of the plaque which names the building. Dr. Wallace Hunter and Mrs. Preston E. Harrison removed the covering from the commemorative piece to the applause of the gathering.

The event concluded with refreshments and a tour of the building.

American's payroll rate of increase higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher payrolls in distribution industries helped quicken the growth in Americans' personal income during April, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department said personal income increased at an annual rate of 10.9 per cent in April to an annual rate of $1,347.6 billion. That represented faster growth than the 9.6 per cent jump at an annual rate in March.

The latest growth means per capita personal income in the United States now stands at $6,271 contrasted to $6,223 in March.

It also means personal income so far this year is now running 10.5 per cent ahead of the first four months of last year. Personal income increased at 7.9 per cent during all of 1975.

Combined with a reduced inflation rate during the early part of this year, the steady growth in personal income means more money available for spending by consumers as well as more fuel for the economic recovery.

Consumer prices in the January-March period rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 2.9 per cent, lowest in any quarter since the three-month period ending in June 1972.

Personal income represents all wages, salaries and other payments received by individuals before deduction of income and sales taxes. It represents much of the foundation of the economy.

Personal income has now increased for nine consecutive months. The growth in April of $11.6 billion at an annual rate was the largest since February's $12.4 billion.

Commerce said the primary influence behind the faster growth in April was a $5.4 billion jump in private wages and salaries, which had risen $4.4 billion in March.

The distributive industry sector, which includes freight haulers and other movers of products, provided most of that increase with a $1.9 billion jump, which was more than twice March's $800 million increase, the department said.

Payrolls in commodity producing and service industries increased at about the same rate as in March.

Ford won't let FEC commissioners take office, campaign funds delayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because President Ford won't let five federal election commissioners take office until a sixth is confirmed by the Senate, presidential candidates will have to wait a few more days for federal campaign money.

The Senate confirmed Ford's five reppointments to the commission Tuesday and the five prepared to immediately release $2.17 million in federal matching funds to 11 presidential candidates.

But then Ford sent word that he would't swear in the five until his sixth appointee, William Springer, had also been confirmed.

Unlike the other five, Springer would be new to the commission, so the Senate planned to take a bit more time processing his appointment.

Confirmation is expected next week.

Disputes in Congress, followed by indecision on Ford's part about whether to sign or veto new election legislation, has already resulted in a nearly two-month shutoff of the matching funds spigot.

Candidates have felt the financial pinch in varying degrees — Sen. Henry M. Jackson and Fred Harris claiming it was a major factor in their decisions to quit primary campaigning.

Had Ford sworn in the five commissioners Tuesday, checks could have gone to campaigns in time for last-minute media advertising before next Tuesday's six primary elections.

A White House spokesman denied that Ford was trying to hold up money for campaign ads.

"He feels like it's a bipartisan commission and that the whole law is set up in that manner; we sent them up there as a package and we'd like to swear them in as a package," the spokesman said.

The reappointed commissioners confirmed Tuesday were Democrats Neal Staebler, Robert O. Tiernan and Thomas E. Harris. Reappointed Republicans were VernoneThomson and Joan D. Aikens.

Springer is a Republican succeeding Thomas B. Curtis, the FEC chairman who asked not to be reappointed because he thinks Congress has stripped too much power from the FEC.

New legislation was needed because the Supreme Court ruled Jan. 30 that the commissioners were unconstitutionally appointed. Previously, two each were apointed by the Senate, House and President, with all subject to confirmation by both houses of Congress.

Martha Mitchell sick, broke, friendless

NEW YORK (AP) — In her heyday, Martha Mitchell was a celebrity whose barbed opinions on politics and personalities were easily volunteered and widely reported. "Good fun and games," her husband, Atty. Gen. John Mitchell said at the time.

But the family's fortunes turned sour. Mitchell was convicted in the Watergate scandal, the couple separated in 1973 and on Tuesday, Mrs. Mitchell was described by her lawyer as "desperately ill, without funds and without friends."

The lawyer, William C. Herman, told State Supreme Court Justice Manuel Gomez that Mrs. Mitchell owes nearly $10,000 on her Fifth Avenue cooperative apartment. He said bills are also due for an ambulance, a wheelchair, groceries, and Consolidated Edison, which he said has threatened to turn off her electricity.

Mrs. Mitchell, whose broad smile, Arkansas drawl and Princess telephone were part of her "Give-em-hell" trademark, asked the court to force her estranged husband to pay $36,000 in back alimony.

Herman told the court that since September Mitchell had not paid $1,000-a-week in temporary alimony awarded to Mrs. Mitchell pending her suit for separation, and that Mitchell doesn't deny he is behind in the payments.

He said Mitchell has received a $50,000 advance on a book he is writing about Watergate. Mitchell has appealed a conviction for obstruction of justice, conspiracy to obstruct justice and making false statements in connection with the Watergate scandal.

But the former attorney general's lawyer, Margaret Shaw, argued that her client has no money. "He is rooming on borrowed funds," she said, though acknowledging he had received the book advance.

Miss Shaw said Mrs. Mitchell, on the other hand, refuses to sell the 14-room cooperative or return Mitchell's books and records.

Herman claimed that Mitchell wants Mrs. Mitchell to sell the apartment so he can use the money to put her in a nursing home.

"This just isn't so," said Miss Shaw.

Mrs. Mitchell returned to her apartment last Friday after treatment for a broken arm. She had been treated earlier this year at another hospital for a painful bone cancer.

Known for her charming ways, outspoken opinions, Mrs. Mitchell was highly visible during the Nixon Administration. Republican Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois, Democratic Sen. J. William Fulbright of Arkansas, school busing and the press all felt the lash of her tongue.

After the Watergate affair began to unravel, she blamed then-President Richard M. Nixon and said he should resign. Later, she attacked President Ford for his pardon of Nixon.

Concorde opponents active

WASHINGTON (AP) — Opponents of the Concorde are launching a major legal offensive against the supersonic jet today as the object of their opposition sat on an airport runway only 15 miles away. A three-judge appeals court was to hear the case five days before the first scheduled U.S. flights by the controversial plane were to begin. Two days earlier, French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing arrived on a Concorde at nearby Andrews Air Force Base for a state visit.

Kissinger eyes NATO

WASHINGTON (AP) — The dual problems of Communist participation in the Italian government and western Europe's fear of a reduced U.S. role in defense will be the focus of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's trip to Europe, which begins today. The secretary's first stop was Oslo, Norway, site of the annual conference of North Atlantic Treaty Organization ministers.

Boston case landmark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi is considering whether to use the Boston school case to fulfill President Ford's request that he find a vehicle for seeking new Supreme Court limits on court-ordered busing. At Ford's request, Levi has been looking for a school desegregation case that turns on issues and circumstances considered appropriate for a broader review of busing, White House and Justice Department officials said Tuesday.

Israelis patrol bank

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Reinforced Israeli patrols were under orders today to maintain control but avoid bloodshed if possible in the riot-ravaged West Bank and East Jerusalem where three Arabs were slain this week. Defense Minister Shimon Peres, speaking on television, defended the policy of breaking up anti-Israel demonstrations. But he said new methods were being investigated to avoid fatalities in the area that Israel seized from Jordan in the 1967 Mideast war. Ten Arabs have been killed by Israeli forces in nearly four months of unrest.

Lockheed set back again

OTTAWA, Canada (AP) — Lockheed Aircraft Corp., shaken by a series of international payoff scandals, has suffered another sharp jolt with Canada backing away from a $1 billion purchase of patrol planes. Negotiations for the sale of 18 Orion aircraft collapsed Tuesday night because of a lack of cash to begin the project. The deal, years in the making, fell apart when the government reversed itself and decided it would not provide the cash Lockheed had been unable to borrow from Canadian chartered banks.

Admits guilt

Midland bound

After Alberta Johnson Tate, 44, Midland, pleaded guilty in Howard County Court Monday to driving while intoxicated, she was released to Midland deputy sheriffs.

County Attorney W. H. (Bill) Eyssen Jr. said he did not learn until after the plea that she was serving probation out of Midland for a felony.

County Judge Bill Tune fined the woman $50 plus $51 in court costs here and sentenced her to 30 days in jail probated for six months.

Local deputies probe thefts

Socket wrenches, hand tools and a citizen band (CB) radio base station were stolen from Burgess Automotive on the Lamesa Highway Tuesday night, the shriff's office reported.

The stolen items were worth a total of $1,500 to $2,000, Bill Whitton, chief deputy sheriff, estimated.

And the sheriff's office noted recovery of a three-wheel motorcycle belonging to Robert Ewing, Route 2 Box 25B.

Compromise bill would deregulate some gas

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new compromise bill is moving in the Senate to end federal price controls on some natural gas and allow prices to consumers to rise gradually.

Congress has been deadlocked on the issue. The Senate voted last October to phase out interstate price ceilings on natural gas but the House voted in February to continue the controls on major producers.

On Tuesday, the Senate Commerce Committee sought to break this impasse by voting 16-1 in favor of a compromise that would retain some price controls while eliminating others.

Although there were varying predictions of how the measure would affect consumer prices, committee aides said that at the very least, it would mean 10 to 15 per cent higher bills per year to those who use natural gas to heat their homes.

The new bill was given a good chance of Senate passage primarily because it has the backing of a number of former opponents of gas deregulation, including committee chairman Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., and Sen. Ernest F. Hollings, D-S.C.

Hollings said, "What we have always tried to do is make some incentive for the drilling of gas at a fair price to bring it on the market and protect the consumers. I think this compromise will do the trick."

Gas shipped in interstate commerce is now regulated at about 52 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

The new bill provides that:

—The price limits would be raised to $1.60 per 1,000 cubic feet for newly drilled onshore gas sold in interstate markets and to $1.35 per 1,000 cubic feet for newly drilled offshore gas sold in the same markets. Provision would be made for further hikes based on inflation.

—The limits on new onshore gas would be removed entirely by 1983 while new offshore gas would remain under federal price controls.

—All "old" gas, which is gas from wells drilled before last Jan. 1, would remain under the 52-cent price lid.

—Gas sold within the same state in which it was produced would continue to be unregulated.

—Using natural gas for "boiler fuel" or other low-priority industrial uses would be prohibited after 10 years.

The new Senate bill was criticized by industry groups as too restrictive and by consumer organizations as not restrictive enough.

What makes Newhouse different?

Robert Newhouse is a young man who has made something of himself.

In addition to being a mainstay running back for the Dallas Cowboys professional football team, he also has earned a degree in electricial engineering from the University of Houston.

By listening to him talk, one can tell that Newhouse is exceptional.

He's small to be a pro running back. He plays at only 205 pounds, although he's been making so many banquets this off-season that he's tilting in at 218 right now.

But despite his size, he made it big with the Cowboys. He runs with determination, and even in professional ranks that can compensate for lack of physical power.

While many of his peers were studying only football at college, and barely absorbing that, Newhouse was earning a degree in a difficult major. Electrical engineering is so difficult with so many dropouts that it is sometimes referred to by college students as a "pre-business" course.

What makes Newhouse different?

When he spoke to the Zales-Herald Youth Achievement Awards Banquet last Thursday night at the Big Spring Country Club, the running back attributed his success, at least in part, to an impressive piece of advice given him by a junior high school teacher.

The teacher told Robert: "What you are to be, you are now becoming."

It must have stuck with Newhouse, for he seems to have prepared himself very well indeed throughout high school and college. His combination of brains and determination allowed him to make it big in the most competitive area of America today: professional football.

That Newhouse would come to such events as youth achievement banquets and share this advice with young people across the state is terrific.

What he has to say is a sobering thought for young people: They are going to be tomorrow what they are preparing to be at this moment.

Too bad this advice never sunk in on Duane Thomas. With his ability, Thomas could have been the greatest running back of all times. Now he's starting over as a rookie after laying out several years unwanted, and he's darn lucky to have that chance. Newhouse says Thomas is working out with the team and appears ready to play.

The lesson: If you prepare like Robert Newhouse, you can succeed like Newhouse. But if you don't . . .

The claims of Ford

William F. Buckley, Jr.

How to say it?

What are the bases of the bitter drive to effect the nomination of Gerald Ford? It is a commonplace that men tend not to give up positions of power gladly. Thus in his address to Congress a few days after his accession to the presidency, Mr. Ford made a flirtatious remark about the number of times he might be addressing the Congress in joint session, and instantly there was speculation — though no detectable resentment — that Mr. Ford would run again for President. In due course it became obvious that Mr. Ford would do exactly that, and most of Republican Washington rallied to that enterprise as if it were the most natural thing to do. Well, it is the most natural thing to do, the inertial force of the incumbency being what it is. But it is only arguably the right thing to do.

Beginning with Mr. Ford. What ends, other than his own gratification, does he seek to serve?

IT IS WELL known that Gerald Ford never thought in terms of being President of the United States. His ambition was to become Speaker of the House of Representatives. The two posts call for very different qualities. As recently as a few years ago, Mr. Ford had concluded that if the Republican Party did not organize Congress in time to give him the speakership within the near future, Ford would resign from the Congress to pursue a private career. Along came Richard Nixon who decided to name him as Vice President because Melvin Laird told Nixon he couldn't name John Connally and get him approved by Congress.

During the preceding years, Gerald Ford's name was never mentioned in connection with the presidency. There were no boomlets, let alone booms, for him in New Hampshire — or even in Oregon. Or even in Michigan. He became President because Richard Nixon decided he wanted Congressional support in his period of high stress. It is generally accepted that Mr. Ford's popularity in Congress was calculated by Richard Nixon as a kind of insurance against capricious impeachment.

On becoming president, Mr. Ford campaigned vigorously for his own party, and presided over one of the most humiliating congressional defeats in recent Republican history. Although it is not fair to blame this defeat on Ford, it is fair to conclude that Mr. Ford is untouched by those numinous qualities of the leader who inspires the voters to back his party. Even the home constituency of Mr. Ford was lost to a Democrat.

IN FOREIGN AFFAIRS, Mr. Ford was pretty much the organ of Henry Kissinger's ventriloquism, and everybody knew it, and everybody knows it. In domestic affairs, Mr. Ford's single important success has been in pursuing a moderately non-inflationary economic program, whose architects — William Simon, Arthur Burns, and Alan Greenspan — were named by Richard Nixon to their respective offices.

There was a series of vetoes, which one would have expected from a Republican president. There was a trip to China, without any apparent point to it. There was the loss of Indochina, and a rather pathetic attempt to persuade Congress to act to prevent that loss. There was the loss of Angola and, most recently, the identification of the one country against which the United States feels confident these days it can consolidate its foreign policy: the defeat of Rhodesia.

You can lose — without fasting

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Can you recommend a diet for a person who wants to lose six pounds? How many pounds can a person lose if he doesn't eat for 24 hours? — Mrs. A.V.

You could figure this out in theory, but a lot of factors you don't provide would have to be known — your present weight, build, activity among them.

If you weigh about 150 pounds, ate nothing for 24 hours, but continued your normal day's activity, you might expect to lose about a third of a pound in actual body tissue. In addition, there would be weight lost in liquid and waste, which would be put back on almost immediately the next day, once you started eating and drinking.

From this it's obvious that weight is directly related to calories eaten and calories burned.

But why starve yourself, even for one day? Why not cut down on calories evenly and lose your six pounds gradually? You can do this by cutting down on high-calorie foods such as fats, starches and sugar.

When nature has given us such a simple formula to work with, one wonders at all the fad diets that are so guilibly accepted.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am a female, 23 years old. I had a kidney stone removed last month. My doctor sent it away to be checked. He said I had to avoid cheese, milk and ice cream. He said it was a phosphate-calcium stone. Will avoiding these prevent another stone?

Is a kidney stone unusual for my age and sex? Are stones hereditary? — M.M.

The purpose of the restrictions are to cut calcium intake and reduce the odds that you will form new stones. You should drink lots of fluid, too, to keep the urine dilute. Between two and three quarts a day is usually suggested.

Stones are not common at your age. They are found most often in middle-aged persons, and mostly among men.

A urinary tract infection can be the cause. Women, having shorter urethras — meaning the canal from the bladder to the urinary opening — are more likely to get such infections. Being shorter, it may provide access to infecting organisms.

Stones aren't inherited. However, uric acid imbalance can be, and this can lead to both gout and stones of a different kind ("urate").

I might remind ulcer sufferers that too much milk can lead to stone problems. They should be careful not to overdo on milk as part of the ulcer-healing program.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have been told I have floaters. Can you tell me what they are and what causes them? Could watching television (sitting too close) cause them? Can they disappear? — Miss R.M.

These are loosened bits of tissue cells or gatherings of chemicals that "float" around in the fluid portion of the eye. Nearly everyone gets them. They are usually noticed when you look at a bright sky or into a bright light. The brightness only dramatizes the fact they are there.

Ordinarily they are not much more than a nuisance. However, certain diseases of the eyeball can sometimes be the cause. It is wise to check this out on the first appearance of floaters.

Simple floaters may disappear. Watching TV would be no more a "cause" of them than, say, the bright sky. But it is possible that a suddenly brightened TV set could make the floaters appear.

Dear Doctor: Please give your view on sniffing paint thinner. A group of boys are doing this. Their eyes turn black and their noses get red. I want to know if it's harmful. Please put it in the paper soon. — S.G.

Believe me when I say it is harmful. If these boys continue (and survive) this horrible practice they will wind up with shriveled livers, damaged lungs or both.

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to him in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have heard some people talk about "backsliding." What is meant by this term? — R.B.V.

DEAR R.B.V.: The Old Testament uses this term to speak of those who have been near to God but have allowed sin to take them away from God. The prophet Jeremiah said, "Our backslidings are many; we have sinned against thee" (Jeremiah 14:7).

Backsliding in Scripture is always seen as a very serious matter: "Thy backslidings shall reprove thee: know therefore and see that it is an evil thing and bitter, that thou hast forsaken the Lord thy God, and that my fear is not in thee, saith the Lord God of hosts" (Jeremiah 2:19).

Backsliding can be caused by many things. However, whatever the sin might be that leads us away from God, it must be dealt with honestly and brought before God in repentance. God loves us and wants us to be close to Him. Even when we sin against Him, He promises to forgive. "I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely" (Hosea 14:4). We must always fight against backsliding, but if we do backslide, we know there is forgiveness because of Christ.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

It was my privilege, on Mother's Day weekend to participate in the Big Spring Art Exhibit, which was held at the National Guard Armory. In this connection, there are many "Thank Yous" due several citizens of Big Spring.

First, a special "Thank You" to a young lady named Susie McGuire who gave instruction by CB radio on getting into Big Spring and to a place where I was met by her and led several miles to the front door of the armory.

Secondly, I'd like to say "Thank You" again to the ladies in charge of this fine show. They were some of the friendliest women I have ever met. It is no wonder that this art show was the best I have attended in some time. Everyone was most helpful, and their entire procedures in directing this show from start to finish were most excellent.

May I also give praise to the citizens and businesses who supported this endeavor with their contributions by various means. Such support is most encouraging to the many yet unknown and struggling artists throughout west Texas.

I am looking forward with much pleasure to a time when I may have the privilege of seeing and visiting with the members of the Big Spring Art Club again.

Leaving Big Spring

Around the rim

Julie Simmons

I brought an old Panhandler back to Big Spring with me this weekend. We neared the city around dusk, passed the State Hospital and the city unfolded before us. She took a look around the foothills and said, "Oh, it's so pretty."

I remember that is the first feeling I had when I came to Big Spring on a hot July morning last year to interview for what would become my first full-fledged journalism position. Seeing her surprise made me take a step back and look at Big Spring as a newcomer.

ANYONE WHO has lived in West Texas and the Panhandle and drives into Big Spring from Lubbock is in for a big surprise. Flat is the only way to sum up the topography from Canyon to Big Spring and from Big Spring on west.

The city is such a refreshing surprise in the topography. No one used to the West Texas flatness expects a pretty, sprawling town right out of Odessa-Midland and Lubbock.

One of the first things she asked about was "that huge white thing over on the hill." I launched into a proud description of our new Malone-Hogan Hospital while pointing out some of the interesting sights as we drove into the city.

I RECALL THAT the downtown streets looked very wide to me when I first drove into town. I was pleased to find a city built around a square. That is always a hint to me that the town has an interesting history and residents who don't think modern architecture and shopping centers are the only roads to progress.

I soon began to find out more about the city during the first few weeks I was in town searching high and low for a place to park all my possessions.

I was constantly surprised to find little shopping areas tucked in almost every area of town in little old buildings and along residential streets.

My impressions of Big Spring even got better when I found a place to live and began to settle in.

But best of all I found some unusually friendly people working at the Herald and in the community. As I became familiar with faces and places I discovered I was happy living in Big Spring.

NEXT WEEK I will be saying "good-bye" to Big Spring and my position as women's editor of the Herald. Although I will be jumping into a new life in Dallas I will certainly miss many of the fine people in the community and at the Herald that I have worked with since August.

You will see me back in Big Spring during the year poking around at the Herald and seeing what changes have been made in the city. I will be back for, as Danny Valdes would put it, "one mo' time" in Big Spring.

Study costs $4.2 million

Jack Anderson, Les Whitten

WASHINGTON — The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) spent an incredible $4.2 million to find out that untuned engines spread more pollution than do engines after they are tuned up.

The money was used to test various automobiles to determine whether their exhaust fumes violated clean air standards. We have carefully studied the findings, which have been withheld from the public. They can be boiled down to one basic conclusion: That the worst pollution is spread by cars in "less-than-adequate state of maintenance."

This led the researchers also to conclude, all for the same $4.2 million price, that there is a "need for finding ways of assuring that in-use cars are properly maintained."

THE LANGUAGE of the studies is often ponderous, as befits a $4.2 million project. But the conclusion, even after it has been dressed up in scholarly verbiage, was hardly worth $4.2 million. EPA could have obtained the same finding from any competent garage mechanic for, say, $4.20.

The EPA official in charge of car pollution control, Eric Stork, cheerfully contends that the $4.2 million data can now be used to convince state and city officials that they should compel owners to keep their cars tuned up.

Thus, EPA would pass the buck to the cities and states, blaming the whole auto pollution problem on poorly tuned engines. But the EPA tests produced evidence that seven engine lines appeared to be violating clean air standards.

IF THE FUMES from these engines were bad enough, EPA was supposed to order the manufacturers to recall all cars powered by the polluting engines. This would have brought in more than two million cars for adjustments, a massive expenditure for the automakers.

A confidential report, which we turned up in our investigation, explained what happened. The auto companies were actually furnished the test results and were permitted to make a case against recall.

"The affected manufacturers requested and received all data related to the testing of their cars and went through these materials in enormous detail," discloses the document. "From that review, various questions as to the validity of the data . . . were identified."

Top EPA officials quickly agreed the test results weren't really valid enough to compel the manufacturers to recall their cars. Stork was one who sided with the auto industry. He wrote a memo on the recall problem, stating: "My suggestion is that we write off this effort as a lost cause and waste no more time on it."

All this leaves of the four-year project, therefore, is the $4.2 million suggestion that auto owners should keep their engines tuned up.

Footnote: A House oversight subcommittee, headed by Rep. John Moss, D.-Calif., has started an investigation to determine why the EPA spent so much money for so little results.

SOVIET SPIES: In secret testimony, the FBI has advised Congress that of the 2,000 Communist diplomats in the United States, "40 per cent of them are active Soviet intelligence officers."

These figures on Soviet KGB agents were revealed behind closed doors by James Adams, the top assistant to FBI chief Clarence Kelley. He testified before a House Post Office subcommittee, which released the transcript of the hearing.

But in the interest of the Soviet-American detente, the committee carefully deleted all references to the Soviets. The sanitized transcript reveals only that the 800 spies were "active intelligence officers."

Ford country crossovers

Robert Novak

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. — In these white, prosperous, conservative suburbs, north of Detroit, loyalty to native-son Gerald R. Ford seems adequate — though perhaps just barely adequate — to overcome a Democratic crossover vote for Ronald Reagan.

But a full day of interviewing last Wednesday in Precinct 10 of Clinton Township indicated good cause for nagging fears in the Ford campaign. Our interviews, with the help of Patrick Caddell's Cambridge Survey Research, show a commanding 3-to-2 lead by President Ford — plus a less cheerful portent for the White House: the crossover vote, large though unmeasurable, prefers Reagan 2-to-1.

MOREOVER, SCORES of Democratic voters told us they still were undecided whether to vote Democratic or Republican in Michigan's open primary Tuesday. The valid assumption that some of them will cross over for Reagan makes it difficult for the President to score an overwhelming victory in his home state even while probably avoiding a ruinous defeat.

Precinct 10 is 47 per cent blue collar and gave Gov. George C. Wallace 70 per cent of the 1972 Democratic primary vote. But affluent businessmen and professionals make the precinct one of Macomb County's most Republican areas.

A solid Ford margin in such precincts, therefore, is essential to neutralize Reagan crossovers in distinctly working-class areas.

Superficially, our interviews with 60 registered voters sure to vote in the Republican primary provide that margin. Ford, 34 voters; Reagan, 20; undecided, 6. Beneath the surface, however, at least 16 of the 60 are Democratic crossovers, and Reagan leads the President among them, 9 to 4, with three undecided. Furthermore, the trail of Wallaceites to Reagan is unmistakable.

THE 1972 WALLACE boom in Precinct 10 has disappeared along with the threat of cross-country busing into Detroit which spawned it. Little more than one out of 10 among all voters interviewed admit voting for Wallace four years ago; of them, not one intends to go into the Democratic primary this time.

One Wallaceite, a 38-year-old auto plant supervisor, described himself to us as normally a Republican who cast a 1972 Wallace "protest vote against busing like everybody else" but now supports Mr. Ford as "more experienced." Reagan? "He takes too many potshots."

'Killer' blast burns west of Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — Over 14,000 barrels of Westbrook crude oil and asphalt residue burned for almost a week at the site of the explosion at Cosden's tank farm on the hill west of Colorado City.

The oil, which is piped from the Westbrook field to the tank farm for storage for Cosden Refinery, caught fire at 4:21 p.m. Wednesday with an explosion which killed 20-year-old Johnny Lee McKinney of Loraine and injured his father, John McKinney, who is still is satisfactory condition at Root Memorial Hospital.

The men were acting as subcontractors in a cleanup operation of the storage tank area, according to Cosden officials. They were acting according to instruction and taking an asphalt heater off the storage tank which contained the crude oil.

They were working with a cutting torch when the explosion occurred. Johnny was on top of the tank and his father was coming up the ladder and was hit in the chest by a hatch, which knocked him down the steps and possibly saved his life.

The crude oil was pumped out of the tank after the fire and the pumping was stopped only after it got too hot. The rest was allowed to burn off and it was still burning Tuesday, although the fire had almost subsided.

For two days it burned high and precautions were taken to keep other storage tanks from going up. Texas Electric linemen worked in heavy smoke to reroute a highline with electricity to a large part of Colorado City.

Arnel Smith, retired Col-Tex employe is supervising removal of property from the old Col-Tex Refinery, now owned by Cosden. Most of it is sold to private firms or individuals.

Sam Baker, inspector for the Texas Railroad Commission who has authority to investigate any oil-connected fire, was on the scene almost immediately from his Midland office.

Baker determined that there was no immediate danger of surrounding tanks catching fire as long as the wind continued to blow from the north or northwest, as it did through the night after the explosion.

There was thought that there might be pockets of low-lying sulphur gas and around 100 homes were evacuated for two days.

County Judge Bill Carter called for the evacuation, and Sheriff Bill McGuire's department carried it out.

City Manager James Campbell said that the air pollution expert from Abilene finally agreed there was nothing that could be done, although the city told the man that if he knew how to put out the fire, it would probably be appreciated.

Texas Electric did successfully reroute a 138,000 volt line before poles burned under the line. The crude oil burned off in two days, but the asphalt residue continued to burn for almost a week.

Enrollment declines 18

School enrollment showed a drop of 18 in all schools from the previous week. Weekly drops are typical during the month of May in the school system.

The overall total at this time is 6,184. There were seven dropped at the secondary level last week including one in each junior high and five in high school. There were two students dropped at the state hospital.

A total of nine was shown as lost at the elementary level with only College heights showing an increase with three new students. There were five who checked out at Boydstun, three at Kentwood, and two each at Marcy and Park Hill.

Gartland shows works

Robert Gartland, an artist now showing his works at the Heritage Museum, presented a two-hour lecture at the Treasure Chest, 1609 Scurry, Tuesday.

Art teacher Barbara Merworth explained that Gartland spoke to 12 students about two-point perspective in drawing and how to take advantage of vanishing points in the scene.

In addition to the regular students, the class hosted four members of the Big Spring Art Association for the lecture.

Pair indicted for Mexican jail raid

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A burley ex-Marine and an automobile salesman have been indicted by a federal grand jury in connection with an assault on a Mexican jail which freed 14 American prisoners.

Federal authorities say their investigation of the jailbreak is not complete.

Donald Floyd Fielden, 29, and William McCoy Hill Jr., 32, both of Dallas, were indicted Tuesday on charges of illegally exporting a firearm from the United States to Mexico. Both were charged earlier and freed on bond.

Government lawyers contend the two exported a 12-gauge shotgun allegedly used in the raid. The indictment says the gun was taken from Eagle Pass, Tex., across the border to Piedras Negras, Mexico, on March 12.

The maximum penalty for the offense is two years in prison and a $25,000 fine.

Asst. U.S. Atty. John Pinckney said further information would be presented when a grand jury convenes late next month at Del Rio. He said more indictments were possible.

Fielden, an ex-Marine who served in Vietnam and has no previous felony convictions, is the self-professed leader of the trio of armed men who stormed the jail at Piedras Negras in the predawn hours of March 12.

The Mexican guards were held at gunpoint while members of the trio opened cell doors and the American men and women fled two blocks to the Rio Grande to Texas. Some prisoners swam the river; others ran across the international bridge to Eagle Pass.

There were no injuries reported in the jailbreak.

Fielden has said Dallas psychologist Sterling B. Davis bankrolled the mission to free his son, Sterling Davis Jr. Davis also has said he paid Fielden for freeing his son.

The younger Davis was charged in Mexico with possession of nearly 170 pounds of marijuana. Most of the other Americans also were held on drug-related charges.

In addition to Fielden and Hill, a 15-year-old boy also is believed to have participated in the raid.

Fielden, Hill and their attorneys were in the city Tuesday as the grand jury met. Hill, a car salesman, was subpoenaed before the panel, his lawyer said. Fielden's lawyer said Fielden was available if called.

Davis and his son also were in town, court sources said, but it could not be determined whether they testified before the grand jury. Federal authorities would not comment.

Hill, Fielden and their lawyers held an informal news conference in front of the Alamo before going to the U.S. district courthouse.

Mike Aranson, representing Hill, said he would try to make the real issue in the case "a rallying point for concern over inhumane treatment" of American citizens in Mexican jails.

Ernest W. Kuehne, Fielden's lawyer, said he has begun exploring possible motion picture and literary contracts for the jailbreak story.

Neither lawyer would allow his client to say much besides, "no comment."

Kuehne said Fielden may already have damaged his case by talking too much to reporters.

The Mexican government is seeking extradition of Fielden and the 14 American prisoners who escaped.

The last time an American was returned to Mexico was in 1970 to face charges in a Mexico City payroll robbery in which four persons were killed.

High Plains 'breadbasket of world'?

DALLAS (AP) — A plan to bring water to the High Plains area of Texas could make that section of the state "the breadbasket of the world", according to the executive director of the Texas Water Development Board.

James Rose said the project concerns Oklahoma and Arkansas water and ways to move it into dry areas of West Texas.

Texas voters turned down a project in 1969 that would have caused a canal to be dug from the Mississippi River to Lubbock.

Rose said studies show the water supply for much of the High Plains is in danger, with depletion staggered over the next 10-20 years. He said heavy irrigation by farmers in that sandy area has contributed heavily to the depletion problem.

Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton owns farmland in the Texas Panhandle. "I think importing water is a necessity for this area. Maybe I'm more optimistic than some, but I'm very much in favor of this plan if we can get it of the ground," Clayton said Tuesday.

Several variables affect the tri-state plans.

The Oklahoma Legislature has before it a water use plan which calls for a canal to transport water from southeastern Oklahoma to central and western portions of that state and to a point near the Canadian River at the Texas Panhandle. No action has been taken on that plan.

Rose said Texas could buy water from Arkansas and transport it on the proposed Oklahoma canal to the Canadian and then build a canal from that point to below Lubbock. Or it could bypass Arkansas and buy water directly from the proposed Oklahoma canal.

Methods of funding the Texas project could range from federal funding to local usage fees to a state bond election, Rose said.

The Water Development Board is expected to have an updated water plan to give the Texas Legislature when it reconvenes in January.

Cotton base loan rate, discounts told by USDA

LUBBOCK — The U.S. Department of Agriculture recently fixed at 38.92 cents per pound the base Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) loan rate for 1976-crop upland cotton at average U.S. location. Also revealed was the schedule of premiums and discounts that will apply to cotton in grades and staples above and below the base, plus the discounts for cotton outside the tenderable micronaire range of 3.5 to 4.9.

Strict Low Middling 1 1-16 inch cotton is used by CCC as the base quality. Freight differentials for warehouse locations across the Belt were not announced, but PCG officials later learned there will be a .07 cents per pound location differential for Lubbock-area warehouses, giving the High Plains area an effective base loan of 38.85.

The High Plains loan rate for 1976 is 2.85 cents higher than the 36 cents in effect for the 1975 crop. However PCG calculations show that greater discounts for some qualities and micronaire readings, assuming an average High Plains crop, will reduce the net loan increase for area farmers from 2.85 cents to something like 2.7 cents.

For cottons stapling 15-16 of an inch or longer and grading Strict Low Middling White and better or in any of the Light Spotted categories, discounts either were left unchanged from 1975 or were changed only slightly. Discounts on all staples of 29-32 and below were made more severe, with increases ranging from .05 cents per pound in the better grades to a maximum of .65 cents for the lower descriptions.

There are also greater discounts for all 1976 cottons grading Strict Good Ordinary and below, or Spotted, with increases in a range from .10 to .60 cents per pound.

Preplanting irrigation has hazards

LUBBOCK — Recent dry winds across the South Plains may have dried up the tops of seed beds in some areas. Producers who have encountered this problem and are planning to water up their crops are urged to consider both the costs and possible hazards of irrigating at this time.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service specialists say that late watering not only will add to production costs, but could result in the concentration of nitrogen salts (fertilizer) in the seed zone if water is applied by the furrow method.

Dr. James Supak, Extension Service agronomist, says the salt problem is likely to occur only where the nitrogen fertilizer was applied in a band directly into the beds. If fertilizer was applied with a broadcast applicator or banded at an angle across the field prior to listing, the liklihood of a salt problem is more remote.

Leon New, area Extension Service irrigation specialist, says nitrogen concentrations are less likely to occur with sprinkle irrigation as opposed to furrow-type.

Farmers get jump on spring crop planting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unusually cooperative weather this spring has enabled farmers to get a fast start on planting key crops for harvest in 1976, including corn and spring wheat, says the Agriculture Department.

By May 16, about 79 per cent of the corn crop was planted, compared with 63 per cent on the same date last year and a normal progress of 55 per cent, the department said Tuesday in a weekly weather review.

Farmers in northern states had planted 92 per cent of their spring wheat against 33 per cent on May 16, 1975, and a normal pace of 61 per cent, the report said. Planting "was virtually complete" in South Dakota and Minnesota but in Idaho farmers had seeded only 72 per cent of their crop.

Soybean planting, which usually follows corn, was 29 per cent done by mid-month, compared with 18 per cent a year ago and a normal progress of 16 per cent.

The cotton crop nationally was 62 per cent planted by May 16, compared with a year-earlier pace of 50 per cent and a normal rate of 52 per cent, the report said.

Harvesting of the 1976 winter wheat crop was under way by mid-month in several states, including Florida, Alabama, Texas and California, the report said.

Feeder cattle up in Texas

AUSTIN — Total numbers of cattle and calves on feed in Texas, at 1,603,000 head, are half again as many as were reported being prepared for slaughter a year ago, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

"Upturns in the fed cattle business seem here to stay for awhile," White said, "as feedlots, many of which were idle for much of 1975, fill again with Texas beef on the hoof."

The current estimate for May 1 is 51 per cent above a year earlier, though four per cent below the previous month.

Placements of cattle into Texas feedlots totaled 285,000 head, 22 per cent above April, 1975, but 21 per cent below March, 1976. Marketings of fat cattle were also down in April from the previous month by 29 per cent, but at 330,000 head still stood some 28 per cent above the previous year.

Cattle and calves on feed May 1 for slaughter market in the seven major feeding states totaled 7,519,000 head, up 35 per cent from last year's record low number, though still 10 per cent less than May 1, 1974.

Midday prices were $1.00 to $2.85 a bale lower than the previous close — July 65.30, October 65.40 and December 64.20.

Odor hearing will continue

AUSTIN (AP) — A public hearing in Del Rio on possible odor violations by Southwest Livestock and Trucking Co. will be continued May 26 in order to complete testimony, the Texas Air Control Board said today.

The hearing first began May 6.

The company has requested that it be granted a variance from the odor emissions provisions of the Texas Clean Air Act for 100 years.

HC profs receive salary increases

By MARJ CARPENTER

Approval of salary consideration for the staff, a report from the tax appraiser, changes in the faculty handbook and a report on the coliseum highlighted the regular meeting of the board of trustees of Howard College at 12:30 p.m. Monday in the Dora Roberts Student Union building.

Three new faculty members were also hired, following an executive session in which three resignations were accepted. The new employes include Mrs. Diane L. Austin, named as an ADN instructor in the nursing school. She is an RN from Arkansas who has worked at three hospitals, including the Veteran's Administration Hospital here. The nursing department is showing rapid growth.

Samuel G. Scott, from the juvenile department of the Lubbock police department, was named instructor of law enforcement technology in another fast-growing department at the college. John Massey will serve as director of the revised police academy and supervise the law enforcement program.

Horace (Hoss) Rankin was named to the position of rodeo team coach. The resignations were from Ms. Wanda Fergason, girls' volleyball coach; Mrs. Movelda Rhine, who is retiring from the business department, and Bobby Menchaca, who resigned as director of student activities.

Tenure status was granted to Dr. Robert Seyse and Al Long. In the faculty handbook, one of the things that was changed was a five-year requirement for tenure, rather than three years. This new reulgation does not affect anyone presently employed, but new employes only.

Teachers had been awarded a salary increase earlier in the year and the board approved increases for the administrative staff on an individual basis, bringing their present salaries up to better relate to similar positions in colleges of the same size. The increases ranged from $400 to $2,150 and went to 18 administrative staff members. The board did not grant a raise to the college president.

The increase averaged out to 5 per cent across the board. Other changes in the faculty handbook included clarification of positions.

Board members agreed to go ahead and let bids on the floor, ceiling and seats for the new coliseum since a price rise is expected on these items in the near future. They plan to hold a "show and tell" type meeting with seat equipment companies in the old gymnasium to study the various types of seats available.

Also discussed was the possibility of letting bids for the parking areas on the old campus that are in the landscape plan, in order to possibly pave them along about the same time as the parking area at the coliseum. The board will study the landscape plans at the next meeting before making a decision on this matter.

Carlton Harry, senior tax appraiser, commended the Howard College board and all other taxing agencies, including the Big Spring Schools, the city of Big Spring and Howard County.

"There has not been a single tax increase since 1970 at any of these governmental agencies. People who say taxes have been raised are wrong. Actually the college and county, along with the state, have had a slight cut of a nickel a year. I don't really see how any of you have done it with prices going up like they have. Taxpayers in this area should certainly be grateful."

The tax appraiser outlined to the board the fact that when the new appraisers arrived in the middle of the year, they began to change some valuations trying to bring them up to market value before they realized that they were not instructed by the board to be taking this type action.

"All changes have been changed back and we are going to try to stay at 1958 market values until instructed otherwise by the board," Harry told the group. "This will necessarily include some depreciation, even though actual market values are higher, to stay within the 1958 guidelines," he continued.

Dr. Hays briefly outlined the overall budget, which will show a 10 per cent increase for the coming year, and which will be brought to the next board meeting.

Dr. Charles Warren presided at the meeting Tuesday with members present including Dr. P. W. Malone, Jimmy Taylor, Harold Davis, and Don McKinney present. Unable to attend were K. H. McGibbon and James Barr.

Bond reduction hearing slated

AMARILLO (AP) — A bond reduction hearing is scheduled today for four of five persons arrested in connection with an apparent embezzlement scheme which officials say bilked the Producers Grain Corp. out of several hundred thousand dollars.

State District Court Judge Edward Nobles said he would hold the bond hearing.

Charged with theft of more than $200 but less than $10,000 were Kelly Spain, 28, and his wife Peggy, 22; James T. Warwick, 28, and his brother Jerry, 19, all of Amarillo; and Garrett Gilmore, 20, of Houston.

Potter County Justice of the Peace Cliff Roberts set bond on the four from Amarillo at $20,000 each and at $10,000 for Gilmore. Gilmore was the only one who posted bond Tuesday.

District Atty. Tom Curtis said Tuesday his office, which had gotten a tip from the Harris County District Attorney's office in Houston, is still conducting an investigation.

Curtis says he is not sure of the exact amount of money taken from the company but "we think it will run into the hundreds of thousands of dollars."

He said the alleged offenses in question appear to span a period from around April 1974 to April 1976.

Curtis said PGC lawyers are cooperating with his office in the investigation.

Graves of two Texas Rangers marked in Colorado Cemetery

Ranger Ware credited with killing Sam Bass

By MARJ CARPENTER

The graves of two historic Texas Rangers are in the huge Colorado City Cemetery and both are marked with historical markers, in addition to the gravestones.

R. C. (Dick) Ware was the Texas Ranger credited with killing the notorious Sam Bass and later was sheriff of Mitchell County and then a United States Marshal.

At one time, he was camped out in Howard County just over the Mitchell County line a few miles to the west. At a private Howard County ranch, Dick Ware's name and the year 1880 is carved into a rock above a spring that still runs part of the year. Other mementos of that earlier camp have been found at the site.

Ware joined the Texas Rangers in 1878. He was born in Georgia in 1851. He was in the battle with Bass at Round Rock at which time Bass was attempting to rob the bank there. Ware's bullet was the one credited with downing the outlaw.

The ranger became Mitchell County sheriff in 1881 and then was made a U.S. Marshal from 1892-96 at which time he retired. He died in 1902, barely spanning into the Twentieth Century.

He was definitely a 19th Century lawman, with all of the flare and color that went with the Rangers of that day and time. In the same cemetery with Richard Clayton Ware are two of his brothers, Charles Ware, who was born in 1859 and died in 1925 and Benjamin Ware, born in 1827 and died in 1908. His sister, Della Ware Carter was born in 1867 and died in 1931.

The tall tombstone over Richard Clayton Ware bares the simple inscription "At Rest."

William M. Green is also buried in the Colorado City Cemetery. He was a member of Co. A, Texas Frontier Batallion. He was born in 1854 and was orphaned when he was 7 years old. He joined the Texas Rangers when he was 19.

In 1874, when he was 20, he helped capture the men in John Wesley Hardin's gang who had been conducting raids in the Comanche area.

He helped take seven of them to jail. Later, he was instrumental in 1920 in organizing the Federation of Ex-Texas Rangers. He died in 1930. His grandson, Mike Smith, still resides in Colorado City.

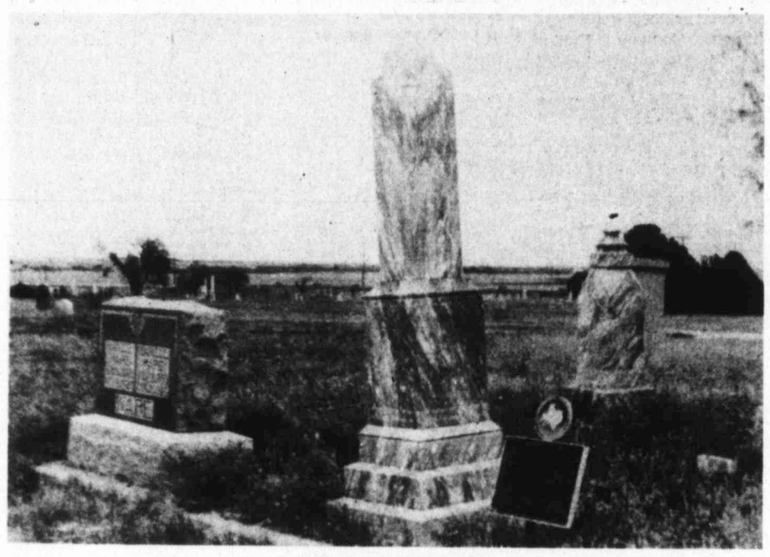

His wife's first name was America. She was born in 1859 and died in 1936, during the Texas Centennial year. His daughter, was the late Mrs. Bert Smith, also of Colorado City.

The Colorado City Cemetery has been used by citizens of that area since the 1870s and it is one of the oldest West Texas cemeteries.

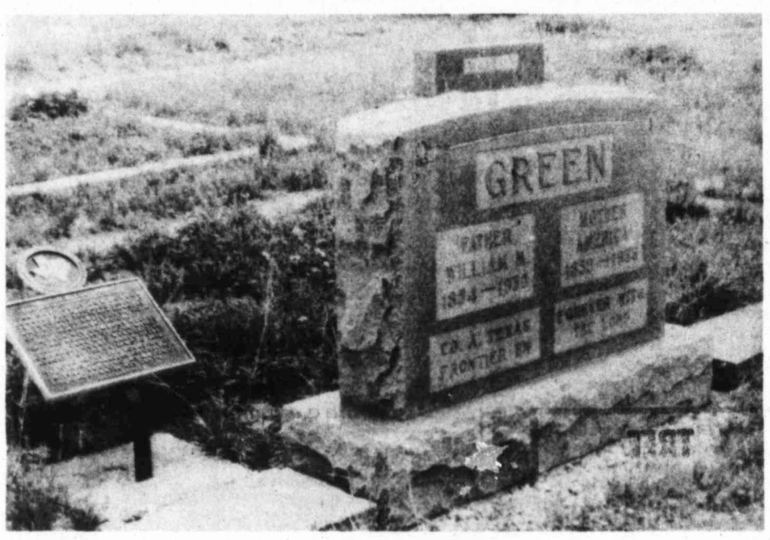

It has been added to and extended four different times. Different sections of the cemetery have citizens from different decades.

Recently, the city has begun a plan of permanent care that will be available to lot owners at the facility.

Texas Rangers went to Colorado City during their special observance two years ago and paid their respect to the two Rangers buried there.

Military 'Foolproof' secret computer cracked

WASHINGTON (AP) — A team of Navy scientists used regular telephone connections to penetrate the memory bank of a supposedly theft proof computer system containing classified military information, a congressman says.

Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., said Tuesday he had obtained a copy of a secret report detailing results of the computer-cracking operation, undertaken in mid-1974 by scientists at the Naval Research Laboratory.

"The mere fact that they could get into this system is a matter of considerable concern," he said, noting that comparable computer systems currently are being used throughout the military as well as by various civilian federal agencies.

The California Democrat asserted that "obviously, if one group could crack it, there's no reason to think that others can't."

The disclosure came in the wake of a General Accounting Office report last week contending that many of the federal government's 9,000 computers are insufficiently protected against sabotage, vandalism and natural disasters.

The GAO said lax physical security practices at many major federal computer facilities make the installations especially susceptible to "losses caused by bombings, fires, floods, frauds, thefts, embezzlements and human errors."

An aide to Moss said the computer penetrated in the 1974 operation, a Univac 1108 executive system, had been "sold to the Navy with the idea that it was an absolutely foolproof system."

Without prior authorization from officials supervising the computer system, the Naval Research Laboratory scientists successfully dialed into the computer's memory bank over ordinary telephone lines, according to the report obtained by Moss.

The group obtained certain sensitive data and "no one was the wiser" until being informed later about the experiment, Moss' aide said.

Although further details were not immediately available, many computer systems can be contacted by using telephone lines to connect a computer databank by dialing the databank number. In such a system, knowledge of the telephone number is essential to gain access.

The scientists, surprised at how easily they had been able to crack into the computer, included in their report a number of recommendations for strengthening the system's electronic security measures. The Moss aide said it was unclear to what extent, if any, the group's recommendations have been adopted since the report was prepared and submitted to Navy officials nearly two years ago.

Paving bids to be let

COLORADO CITY — Bids are to be let on June 8 for 420 blocks of paving improvements in Colorado City, according to James Campbell, city manager.

Other work to be done in the city under the recently approved bond issue will be remodeling of the water and sewage treatment plants.

The plans also include water storage tower work.

The 420 blocks of paving improvements will be redoing present pavement "to keep from losing it all," according to the manager.

Fire truck

COLORADO CITY — W. B. Crockett Jr. has a 1922 fire truck in his back yard. It belongs to the Shriners.

Local firefighters are going to take the truck under their wing and restore it during extra hours at fire practice. They hope then to be able to use it on special occasions, including parades and demonstrations in the fire department for children.

Brass uninterested in military thefts?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex, says he has told Senate Armed Services Committee chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., that Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) officials cannot get the Pentagon interested in a project to crack down on military weapons stolen to trade for drugs in Mexico.

"Some 700 stolen military weapons have already entered Mexico and the DEA has received repeated reports of numerous aircraft carrying weapons into Mexico and returning with drug cargoes," said Bentsen, who wants Stennis' committee to look into the matter.

Defense Department records show that since 1965, 1,259 M16 rifles, 169 machine guns and 5,600 pistols have been lost or stolen and not recovered.

Bentsen said El Paso DEA officials have told the Pentagon of the problem but "they've had trouble getting any kind of cooperation from Defense officials beyond a get-acquainted visit."

An El Paso DEA official, Jacques Kiere, says revolutionaries and narcotics traffickers want the automatic weapons and perfer to use marijuana and heroin for the exchange.

An ounce of heroin buys an M-16 rifle worth about $1,000 on the black market, Kiere says.

He said major source for stolen weapons are National Guard armories along the border, particularly in California, and soldiers who lose their rifles during field exercises.

In ammonia truck crash

$3.5 million in suits filed

HOUSTON (AP) — Three damage suits totaling $3,550,000 have been filed against a Corpus Christi trucking firm in connection with an ammonia tank truck explosion that killed five persons at a busy Houston freeway interchange last week.

A Sugar Land widow, Mrs. Marjorie Pearson, one of the five victims became the latest to file suit Tuesday when she filed a $2 million damage suit against Texas Transport Co. of Texas as defendant on behalf of herself and her two children, Rose Anna Lynn, 7, and George Howard, 5.

The May 11 accident occurred at the intersection of the Houston's Southwest Freeway and Loop 610 when the truck filled with ammonia crashed off an interchange ramp and plunged 15 feet onto the Southwest Freeway.

The truck then exploded, sending a large cloud of ammonia fumes over the entire freeway interchange.

A Houston family filed a $58,000 suit against the trucking firm Monday and last week a $1.5 million suit was filed.

The $2 million suit alleges that negligence caused the death of George Henry Pearson, 33, who was a passenger in an automobile moving south on the Southwest Freeway as the ammonia truck crashed through a guard rail and fell onto the freeway.

Mrs. Sadie Belle McAdams of Conroe, filed the $1.5 million suit. She is the widow of Gordon McAdams, an auto transport truck driver who also was killed while driving on the freeway.

The $50,000 suit alleged Mrs. Gail Ann Eckhardt, 22, and her three children, Amee, 2, and twins Steffan and Jason 5, suffered injury, pain and mental anguish. The petition said the mother and children were driving south on Loop 610 at the time of the accident and required hospital treatment for ammonia inhalation.

Church robbery suspects nabbed

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Parker County, Tex., deputy sheriff was to arrive here today to question two men who were shot as they allegedly tried to rob a church Sunday.

The pair was reported in critical condition at a Nashville hospital Tuesday.

Parker County Deputy Sheiff Troy Sessums wants to question the two men and a woman arrested with them about a series of church robberies in Texas.

However, Lt. David Thompson of the Nashville police Department said Tuesday afternoon he was afraid the men were not the ones sought in Texas.

"I wish it was your people but I have mixed emotions about it," Thompson told the Fort Worth Star Telegram. He said he had questioned the woman, Mrs. Sadi G. Sowdon, about the Texas robberies and that "she denies it and says it wasn't them."

The two, Larry Lee Sowdon, 37, Culver City, Calif., and Harold Rodovich, 35, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., underwent emergency surgery for gunshot wounds Sunday night at Vanderbilt Hospital.

Maj. Glenn Bowers, chief of criminal investigation for the Metropolitan Police Department, said the two posed as investigators and sought to speak alone to the pastor of Woodmont Baptist Church, Dr. Bill Sherman.

Police said Vice Squad Lt. Dorris Sharber and detective Jerry Moore fired shotguns at the two men after they reached for their guns when told to halt.

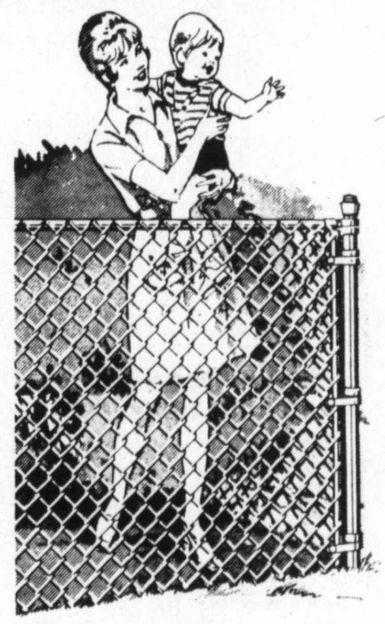

Mrs. Sowdon, 21, was arrested on an armed robbery charge in connection with the $1,270 holdup of a night club Saturday, police said. Officers said she was in a car near the church when the others were shot.

Police were at the church, Bowers said, because officers had information that a church would be robbed Sunday night.

Sessums said he wants to question the trio about about church robberies in Azle and Reno.

Reader endorses church ban on babies

DEAR ABBY: I just read in a local newspaper that a clergyman urges a ban on babies attending church. After what happened at our church last Sunday, I have to agree with him.

Today, parents dress up their kids real cute and take them to church to show them off, but they don't discipline them.

One little girl about 18 months old did everything but swing from the chandelier, and all her mother did was "shush" her by putting her fingers to her lips. Her brother (about 8) kept stirring her up by poking her, and the mother just gave him a few dirty looks.

Another child sitting behind me kept trying to grab off my earrings. When I turned around and glared, her mother just smiled. At one point, when announcements were made over the loudspeaker, there was so much commotion from kids yelling that no one could hear the announcements.

The minister was disgusted, but he didn't have the courage to say anything. He should have told the mothers of those unruly children to take them to the bathroom and give them a good learning experience!

What do you think? I am ...

HOPPING MAD IN POCATELLO, IDAHO

DEAR HOPPING: I think you're right. Parents who love their children discipline them. And contrary to common belief, "to discipline" does not mean "to punish." It means "to teach."

DEAR ABBY: My husband owns a garage, and I keep his books and send out the bills.

There is a woman who lives near us who has owed us a bill for over a year. I sent her one on the first of the month (a year ago), but she ignored it.

My husband told me not to send her any more bills and just to forget it. When I ask him why, he tells me to mind my own business. She works and so does her husband, so they can't be hard up.

Why do you suppose he doesn't send her a bill?

"SILENT PARTNER"

DEAR SILENT: Maybe she paid him. In cash.

Rubber strike may spark layoffs

CLEVELAND (AP) — The possibility of layoffs for non-striking rubber workers has risen as the national rubber workers strike entered its fifth week today with no major progress reported in bargaining.

Two of the Big Four tire companies — Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. and Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. — being struck reported Tuesday that they already have or plan to lay off some workers at various plants because of a decline in business.

Meanwhile, a fifth rubber firm, General Tire & Rubber Co., has ceased bargaining although about 2,400 of its workers in Akron and Waco, Tex., are working on a day-to-day basis. A national contract betweeen the United Rubber Workers and General expired Saturday.

With a deadlock on major economic issues which had idled 60,000 rubber workers, the strike has developed into a war of nerves between the union and the companies.

URW President Peter Bommorito is in Washington, drumming up further support from the AFL-CIO for the URW boycott against Firestone products. Firestone has been the target company for talks in the hope that a settlement with that firm will set a pattern for the rest of the industry.

On the other side, the companies have up to now stuck together on their refusal to grant the URW an overall package increase of 42 per cent over their previous contract and an unlimited cost of living adjustment calculated by a formula proposed by the union.

In addition, some of the firms have said that the prolonged strike is hurting business and therefore forcing them to furlough workers. Firestone said that over the past three weeks it has laid off about 50 of 900 workers at its synthetic rubber plant in Lake Charles, La., which produces styrene-butadiene rubber, SBR, the mainstay of the tire industry.

Goodyear said earlier it expects to lay off about 25 of its 680 workers in its Houston, Tex., SBR plant. And on Tuesday the firm said that it would furlough 100 of about 400 production workers at its Windsor, Vt., plant. Goodyear said the plant has lost more than $1 million in orders from six customers.

B.F. Goodrich Co. said that no layoffs are planned. A spokesman for Uniroyal Inc. said, "We have limited production at all our plants and we have limited shipping." He added that he knows of no layoffs.

Throughout the strike sporadic incidents of mass picketing have been reported, especially in Akron, the so-called rubber capital. Another incident was reported Tuesday in Chicopee, Mass., where police were called to the Uniroyal plant to disperse a picket line which had been hampering access to the plant.

A spokesman for the URW local there said the confrontation stemmed from rumors that management employes were performing inspections and other union tasks inside the plant. No injuries or arrests were reported.

Although Bommarito will be in Washington until Thursday, he has informed federal mediator, Gayle Wineriter, that he will return if there is progress in the talks. Wineriter rejoined the talks Tuesday after a five-day absence.

"Nothing has changed as far as I can see," he observed.

Scouts play at lake site

The Liberty, Pedro, Rattlesnake, Apache and Panther patrols of Boy Scout Troop 401 spent the weekend at the Scout camp located on Lake Colorado City.

About 30 Scouts enjoyed boating, fishing, and swimming and cooking out. All involved greatly appreciated the two days of fun.

Scoutmaster Charles Burk was helped in organizing the outing by Bill Priebe and Mike Shockley.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1976

Quiet man speaks with bat, glove

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Texas Rangers were stunned— and Amos Otis was speechless.

The fleet Kansas City Royals center fielder shocked the Rangers with a home run and a game-saving catch Tuesday night—but he saved his real surprise for sports writers.

"Nah, I don't have anything to say," Otis said after sparking the Royals to a 3-1 victory over the Rangers and into first place in the American League's Western Division.

"Nah, no comment," he insisted as various writers approached his locker and a sign reading, "A.O.—No Interviews."

It really wasn't a new attitude for the intense, sensitive Otis, whose seven home runs give him a share of the American League home run lead.

The agile, flycatcher has been reluctant to talk to interviewers for several seasons, since some local writers interpreted his languid style as lack of effort.

The feeling intensified in 1975 when Otis experienced his worst season in the major leagues, batting .247 and hitting just nine home runs while hampered by illness.

But if Otis has been silent so far this year, his bat has not. His home run and single against the Rangers lifted his average to .283 and his runs batted in total to 19.

He scored twice against Texas, the second time on John Mayberry's double in the eighth inning.

Just moments before, Otis had raced into shallow center field to snare Mike Hargrove's sinking liner off his shoetops to end the eighth inning and leave Lenny Randle stranded on second.

"That catch that Amos made was something," said winning Royals pitcher Al Fitzmorris, shaking his head in admiration. "That's a triple and a run in if he misses.

"I was in a position to really appreciate it. I could see it slicing away fast before he came up. I really think it's the best catch I've ever seen."

Fitzmorris, a sinker-balling right-hander, put on a show of his own, scattering seven hits for his second complete game and fifth victory against no defeats.

OUT AT THE PLATE — Houston Astro's catcher Cliff Johnson starts to make the tag on Atlanta Braves' Dave May (27), when May tried to score from third on teammate Darrell Evans' fly to right field in fifth inning. Umpire is Harry Wandelstedt. Game was played in Houston Tuesday night.

Rhubarb brings Braves together

HOUSTON (AP) — Atlanta's Jim Wynn is a former Houston player who is greeted with boos each time he returns here but he was driven by another force Tuesday night in the Astrodome.

"I've never seen this team so mad," Wynn said after he delivered a game-winning single in the 10th inning that gave the Braves a 3-2 victory over the struggling Astros.

"Last night was the maddest I've ever seen this team," he said. "I think the situation brought us closer together. We normally come into the dressing room and just look at each other."

The Braves' outspoken right fielder referred to a game-ending rhubarb Monday night when the Astros won the second game of a doubleheader on a controversial call at first base that allowed Houston to score the winning run.

"We felt a little looser tonight," Wynn said. "We just wanted to go out and play the best game we could. Last night is history."

Atlanta took a 2-0 first inning lead on a two-run single by catcher Biff Bocaroba off Houston starter Joaquin Andujar and the Astros tied it up with Cesar Cedeno's fourth inning homer and a run in the seventh when Braves starter Phil Niekro forced in the tying run by walking Rob Andrews.

Wynn, who was greeted with a chorus of boos each time he went to the plate, said he does get up for the Astros.

"You've got to give a little extra hitting against your old team," he said. "When I played for the Dodgers I did pretty well against Houston. I guess I just get up when I come back here."

Wynn's game-winning hit came after Dave May had led off the 10th inning with a double between center and right field. May scored from second base on Wynn's hit, which bounced off Houston shortstop Roger Metzger's glove into left field.

Atlanta starter Phil Niekro had cuffed the Astros with three hits until the seventh inning, when he walked four batters and yielded the tying run.

"I can't remember walking three guys in a row before," Niekro said. "I struggled through first three innings. Then I found my knuckleball in the fifth.

Siebert joins Astros

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros have brought up lefthanded pitcher Paul Siebert from the National League Cub's Class 3A Memphis farm club and sent down reliever Larry Hardy to make room on the Astros' roster.

Siebert will join the Astros today as they start a 23-game road trip at San Diego.

Hardy appeared in 15 games for the Astros, pitching 21 2-3 innings and compiling an earned run average of 6.55.

"We decided before the season began that we didn't want to make hasty judgments on some players about which we needed to find answers," Astros General Manager Tal Smith said. "We wanted to find out who could help us and give people every change.

Buc bombs Mad Hungarian

When you can't bunt . .

By The Associated Press

Home runs can be either a surprise or a shock — it depends which side you're on.

Bill Robinson surprised not only himself but just about everyone else in the ballpark Tuesday night when he blasted a three-run homer in the ninth to help the Pittsburgh Pirates beat the St. Louis Cardinals.

To tell the truth, he really wanted to bunt.

"I'd tried bunting and that didn't work," said the Pirate outfielder.

St. Louis relief ace Al Hrabosky forced Robinson to swing away after getting two strikes on him.

"Hrabosky is a power pitcher; he throws a lot of fastballs," said Robinson. "It seems that as hard as he was throwing, that was as hard as I was swinging and trying to hit it. When I had two strikes on me, I just said, 'Well, if I strike out I'll still be happy.' (But) home runs always come when you don't expect them. I didn't think the ball was going to go out."

Hrabosky admitted it was a mistake pitch.

"The pitch was just where I didn't want it," said the lefthander known as the "Mad Hungarian" for his flamboyant manner.

Dodgers 5, Reds 0

Rick Rhoden fired a three-hitter for his first major league shutout and had three hits and Joe Ferguson slammed a three-run homer as Los Angeles beat Cincinnati. Rhoden scattered three singles, walked four and struck out three for his third victory of the season without a loss.

The Los Angeles right-hander broke a scoreless tie with a run-scoring double in the fifth inning, only the third hit off loser Jack Billingham, 4-3. An inning later Steve Garvey doubled, Ron Cey walked and then Ferguson slugged his fifth home run into the center field pavilion.

Padres 7, Giants 6

Dave Winfield hit a one-out double and scored on Fred Kendall's force-out grounder in the 11th inning, lifting San Diego over San Francisco. Winfield doubled with one out off loser Randy Moffitt, 2-2, and, after Doug Rader was walked intentionally, Kendall grounded to Speier. His throw to second forced Rader but the relay to first was late and Winfield, running all the way, beat Willie Montanez' throw home. Butch Metzger, 4-0, got the victory in relief.

Yankees 11, Indians 6

The New York Yankees, trailing 6-1 after eight innings, erupted for five runs in the ninth, then came up with five more in the 16th to beat the Cleveland Indians 11-6 Tuesday night in the longest American League game so far this season.

Red Sox 5, Tigers 3

Rick Miller, getting a chance to play regularly because of Fred Lynn's shoulder injury, drove in two runs with a bases-loaded single with two out in the ninth inning to lift Boston over Detroit.

The Tigers had rallied for three runs in the bottom of the eighth — their first runs in 31 innings — to tie the game.

White Sox 5, Angels 0

Bart Johnson stifled California on three hits to record his first complete game of the year and his first victory since his initial appearance of the season. Pat Kelly's belted a three-run double for Chicago, and Bucky Dent drove in the White Sox' other two runs.

Twins 4, A's 3

Dan Ford singled home pinch-runner Steve Brye in the 11th inning with the winning run for Minnesota. Twins starter Dave Goltz went all the way, scattering seven hits.

Davis signs with SMU

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University has announced that Mark Davis, a 6-foot-1 guard from North Mesquite High School, has signed a basketball national letter of intent.

Davis averaged 20 points per game and 10 assists per game.

TCU names golf coach

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Mel Thomas, 38, has been named head golf coach at Texas Christian University, replacing Jewell Waallace, who retired.

Thomas served the past five years as an assistant football coach and equipment manager at TCU.

Aeros center playing 'for peace of mind'

HOUSTON (AP) — Terry Ruskowski, the Houston Aeros' tightly wound center, will be playing for peace of mind Thursday night when the Aeros meet Winnipeg in the first game of their best-of-seven World Hockey Association (WHA) championship series.

"The Winnipeg series is the whole season as far as I'm concerned," Ruskowski said. "We're playing for peace of mind and that feeling inside that comes with knowing you're the best.

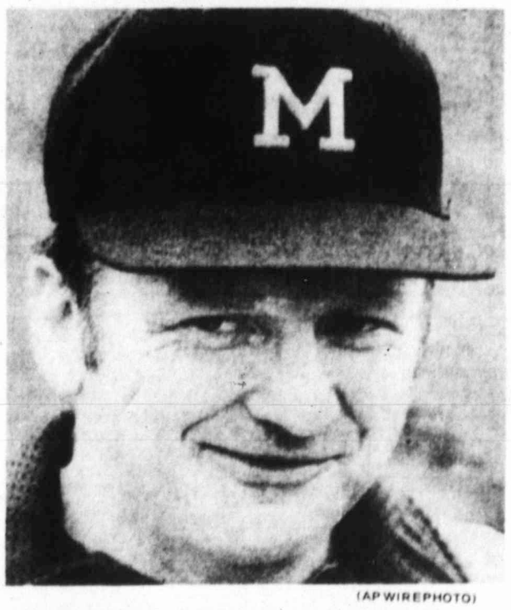

"It's not the money. It really isn't. You think about that later. After you've won."

The Aeros wrapped up their semifinal series against New England Sunday night with a 2-0 thriller and now are waiting for the Jets, who have been idle since May 2 awaiting an opponent in the finals.

"Waiting is one game Ruskowski doesn't like to play.

"Yeah, I've been a little keyed up," he said. "You can't leave the game at the rink any more. It's too important."

After the rugged seven-game series against New England, most of the Aeros were ready for a rest. Gordie Howe wanted to go fishing and rest his 48-year-old legs. Not Ruskowski.

PALMER ON COURSE — Pro golfer Arnold Palmer shows insignia on his Learjet to Philippines Tourism Secretary Jose D. Aspiras, right, during a brief refueling stop in Manila Wednesday.

After record

Arnie's Air Force?

MANILA (AP) — Golfer Arnold Palmer took off through a lightning shower into the fringes of a typhoon today to keep his red peppermint-candy-striped small jet on a record-breaking course for an around-the-world flight by an executive jet.

Palmer and three companions left Manila after 60 minutes on the ground during which the veteran golfer chatted on the telephone with President Ferdinand E. Marcos, a golfer, too; was garlanded by pretty girls, and serenaded by a mandolin band playing Filipino folk tunes.

"We're right on the 60-hour situation right now," said Palmer, referring to his goal of making it around the world in 60 hours, including time on the ground.

The goal is well within the 86 hours and 9 minutes held by a business jet around the world in 1966, the standing record.

Palmer headed for Wake Island, 3,000 miles further east of here.

He would have to pass over the Marianas where seven children and three women were killed Tuesday in a landslide triggered by a tropical storm at Truk Atoll.

However, Miguel Campos, agent who sells the Learjet aircraft Palmer is piloting, said the aircraft should be able to pass over any storm at 41,000 feet.

He said Palmer left with a 100-knot tailwind, which should help him make up some of the four hours lost on the flight between Colombo, Sri Lanka, and Manila. Campos said the four hours did not affect Palmer's personal goal of 60 hours.

Rookie chances slim at Indy

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The crop of rookies for this year's Indianapolis 500 is likely to be pretty lean unless ideas and conditions change drastically by the weekend.

Only two rookies, Vern Schuppan and Bobby Olivero, are among the 23 qualifiers so far. Among six other hopefuls, the one considered the best prospect, Jerry Sneva, doesn't even have a ride at this point.

Of those who do have cars assigned to them, Spike Gehlhausen, who crashed in pre-qualifying practice last Saturday, is considered the only "probable."

Billy Engelhart is rated "possible" but all the others, including Janet Guthrie, are considered "not likely" in an informal Associated Press poll of officials, veteran observers and other drivers.

Sneva, 27, brother of front row qualifier Tom Sneva, passed his rookie test last year but is being asked to take a "refresher test" this year before being cleared to practice at speed and qualify for the field.

"The refresher is the big problem," Sneva advised. "They've divided the driver's test in two 20-lap halves this year. Before this it was in four parts and the refresher was only the final 10-lap part. Now its the final 20-lap half.

"And not very many people here feel they can afford to put 50 miles on a car just for a refresher test. It sure makes it harder."

The younger Sneva eclipsed many of his brother's records in winning the Canadian American Modified Racing Association title in 1974. He won 30 of 37 races that year.

One of the pollsters commented, "It's a shame, really. That kid really knows how to drive a race car."

Gehlhausen's probable status is contingent upon repairs being made well enough and fast enough on his damaged McLaren.

"We should have it done soon," advised 1975's top rookie in Indy racing. "I'm not too worried at this point."

At least 20 other cars are considered potential qualifiers this weekend and observers forecast a speed of 180 miles per hour will be needed to insure a starting position in the May 30 race.

Foremost among drivers not already in the field is 1969 winner Mario Andretti, who should be a cinch.

Other likely prospects are Steve Krisiloff, David Hobbs, George Snider, Jerry Grant, Sheldon Kinser, Bob Harkey and Lloyd Ruby.

Gordon Johncock had Tuesday's top practice speed at 186.994 m.p.h. in his Wildcat-DGS.

BEATING OUT A HIT — Mike Hecker of the Cabots beats out an infield hit Tuesday against the Hawks in American Little League action. The Hawks Tom Cudd has the ball in his mitt, but it arrived after Hecker touched first.

Big Spring grad returns as coach

Wayne Nail, who played for the Steers under Coach Don Robbins for three seasons, graduated from Big Spring High School in 1966. He is returning to this area to take over the head football coaching duties at Goliad Jr. High School.

Nail will not have too far to travel to his new position — he has been head football coach at Coahoma Jr. High School for the past five years.

After graduating from Big Spring Nail attended Cisco Junior College for two years and played football for the Wranglers. They had winning seasons both years concluding each season in the Wool Bowl.

WAYNE NAIL

Nail's play earned him a full scholarship to Sul Ross State University from where he graduated in 1971 after being red-shirted for one season with an injured knee.

He did his practice teaching in Crane and then took the coaching position at Coahoma Jr. High.

Nail will not be returning to his old home town alone. He will be accompanied by his wife, Kathryn Ann, and their son Ronald Wesley.

Just another night's work

Celtics make finals 14th time

CLEVELAND (AP) — "Just another Tuesday night in Cleveland, that's all," chortled Coach Tom Heinsohn of the Boston Celtics, a smile brightening his usually dour face.

"Our poise was the difference. We had chances to get blown out several times," Heinsohn reflected of his team's 94-87 triumph over the Cleveland Cavaliers that propelled Boston into the National Basketball Association finals for the 14th time.

The Phoenix Suns are the Celtics' next target Sunday in an ironic twist. Charlie Scott, a member of the Suns last season, was Tuesday's hero.

"The single play of the game was Scott's steal," said Heinsohn.

Scott, who teamed with fellow guard Jo Jo White for 49 points, picked off Campy Russell's pass intended for Austin Carr. He drove unmolested for the deciding stuff shot and an 88-85 lead with 1½ minutes left.

For Scott, often maligned for his defensive weaknesses, it was a dream come true. "I've wanted all my life to make the NBA championship. It's my biggest thrill. It's fantastic," he said after scoring 20 points.

"When we came into the locker room," said Heinsohn, "the guys were happier for Scott than for themselves. Charlie has taken more jazz for so long, it's indecent. He's done everything I asked him."

So now Scott goes against the Western Conference champion Suns, the team that traded him to Boston for Paul Westphal last year.

How does he like his new team's chances against his old club?

"You should ask how do you like Phoenix' chances against Boston. I like the Celtics' chances against anybody," he responded.

A horde of writers kept asking the fourth-year man from North Carolina to describe his steal. Scott patiently obliged, saying:

"Carr came out to get the ball. I was overplaying him and denying him the pass. He was killing us down the stretch. I knew that made it three points, they couldn't catch up with the basket. It put the pressure on them."

Carr, brilliant in reserve with 26 Cleveland points, sat chagrined in front of his locker, muttering, "He came off a pick. I didn't see him. He got between me and the ball. That was it."

Bill Fitch, the NBA Coach of the Year supposedly headed for the Los Angeles Lakers, bristled over questions about it. "I'm not much for talking about those things. I have no discussion of my future. That's been true in my six years here," he snapped.

Boston eliminated Cleveland 4-2 in the best-of-seven series, but Fitch wasn't overly impressed after White had scored 29 points, Dave Cowens 21 and Scott 20.

"I wouldn't take anything away from the Celtics," he said, "but if we had Jim Chones (broken toe) when the season ended, we could beat anybody. Boston got by playing one good half tonight."

The Elks defeated the Sonic Boomers in the minor division of Miss Softball America 11-5. Kim Madry was the winning pitcher while Tisa Bumgardner was accredited with the loss. The Elks are now 3-1 in the season play.

Bobcats rally down Haltom

SAN ANGELO — Kenny Perez put down a perfect sacrifice and Joe Paul Bramhall scored the winning run in the eighth inning, as the San Angelo Bobcats downed Haltom City 5-4 here Tuesday afternoon in the two teams' bidistrict baseball opener.

The come-from-behind win gave Central a 20-5 season record — and gave Harvey Reeves' team a lead in the best-of-three series.

The second game is set Friday at 3 p.m. at Martin Field in Fort Worth. If the Buffaloes force a third game, it will follow as part of a doubleheader.

Tuesday, Perez' sacrifice — with runners on second and third — more than made up for an error in the seventh which allowed Haltom to score a pair of runs and force the contest into the extra frame.

The hosts had taken a 4-2 lead into that inning before Steve Winger walked the first two batters and then saw Perez' two-out error allow both runners to score.

CLASSIFIED ADS
THE PLACE TO LOOK

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAY 20, 1976

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A strange day when there can be an unusual amount of conversation between persons in many ways, so it is necessary not to believe all that is told you. Doublecheck facts, figures, and any other type of statements made, since errors in stating or interpreting can be rife now. There is need for this extra precaution.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Work privately on your true aims. Use care in the handling of social affairs and don't irk your friends in any way.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 tro May 20) Hándle those outside activities awaiting your attention, then you can get into personal matters of importance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Some new project needs to be discussed with a bigwig before you get into it. Study a new contact's ideas, select the best.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Think out how to have more rapport with mate. Then get busy on that new ambition that means much to you.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Get into the basic issues in that relationship with a partner and don't rely on what appears on the surface for best results.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Schedule work for maximum accomplishment. See what co-workers have to suggest. Follow the best suggestions and forget the rest.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan in a.m. how to make your affairs work more efficiently, then get to the work required. Improve understanding with mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Give your home needed attention, then enjoy other activities. Avoid one who is using you for own purposes. Show you have will power, character.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Schedule work to get much done. Listen to kin's suggestions. Plan to entertain some at home in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Financial affairs should be handled early in the day. Get data needed to do a fine job. Listen to what an adviser has to suggest.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Get into personal duties early, then go after practical aims with gusto. Favors will come easily your way and you make big headway.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Get private backing needed to improve business, then attend to personal aim. Get good results throughout. A charming, social p.m.

Ridin' fence

Mister historian

with Marj Carpenter

J. Lee Jones is getting together a bus ride. And it's not going to be like any other bus ride that ever happened. However, it is going to resemble the first bus ride of all time.

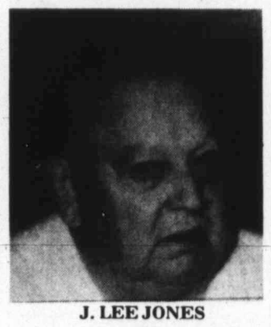

Jones is an historian on the history of Mitchell County by inheritance. His mother spent long hours compiling the area history and he has followed in her footsteps. His knowledge of the area, and the facts to back it up are incredible.

The very first bus ride anywhere was from Colorado City to Snyder on October 29, 1907. On October 29 of this year, a replica of the first early bus is to make another trip.

It's the bus that W. B. Chenoweth invented. He had written the National Engineering Laboratory in Philadelphia in 1899 and sent them a print of a self-propelled vehicle driven by a gasoline engine that would go up to speeds of 15-25 miles per hour.

The expert answered him and told him, "You must have been kicked in the head by a mule when a small boy which has left you under the hallucination or delusion that ice can be frozen by a red hot stove or that a self-propelled vehicle could go across a public road at 25 miles per hour. In our expert opinion, it's an idle dream of a feeble minded person."

Chenoweth kept working on his engine and on July 12,

J. LEE JONES

1907 was issued the first registration for a motor vehicle in the state of Texas.

Jones, being Jones, has a copy of both the letter to the expert and the origiinal No. 1 registration for a motor vehicle in Texas.

Snyder preachers preached against the early bus as a contraption that was an "instrument of the devil." The town passed an ordinance that nobody could ride on the dangerous, noisy contraption.

W. A. (Uncle Bill) Jones of Snyder had helped back the venture financially but he couldn't convince anybody that it was a good thing. C. H. Miles of Mississippi helped build it. It carried fourteen passengers. It had solid tires, was chain driven, and had no muffler.

The bus route was changed from Snyder to Big Spring and Lamesa, taking eight or nine hours instead of the 14 or 15 needed by a horse-drawn buggy.

Neither Big Spring preachers nor city aldermen cared one way or the other, so the bus line continued to run on this route. Chenoweth eventually, however, died penniless in Dallas. He didn't get rich on passengers to Big Spring and Lamesa.

Among the earlier passengers on that first run was District Judge James L. Shepard and William Robert Smith who was one of the early bank presidents in Colorado City and was also a Congressman four terms and named a federal judge by President Woodrow Wilson.

His son, Robert Smith, will be on hand for the ceremonies in October. He is a well-known San Antonio attorney.

Jones received from the Texas Interstate of Cultures Museum in San Antonio a blow-up of the original bus and it's passengers.

Only Lee would go to this much trouble. He has microfilm of the Colorado City Record since 1905. He also has copies of the Colorado Clipper, a second newspaper and Don Bigger's "Josher", a satirical weekly paper put out during the 1880s in Mitchell County.

Jones is a very methodical and thorough historian. He has little patience with those "who don't have sense enough to preserve our history and heritage."

Colorado City has one of the best museums anywhere in the area and it's been through the efforts of such persons as Jones, his mother, and a Dr. Richardson that so much of the history has been preserved.

I found Lee out hurrying around placing the blow-up of the bus on an easel at the museum — this week, when I was out ridin' fence.

Blood pressure screening program dates

The month of May has been designated Hypertension Month. A special hypertension screening program will be conducted at the Big Spring VA Hospital for all veterans to have their blood pressure checked on Wednesday and Thursday from 8 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. in room 219.

High blood pressure is a leading cause of death and disability. It is estimated that about 10 per cent of our population of men, women, and children have this disease, and only about 50 per cent of these are aware of it. Even a smaller portion have their blood pressure under control.

Left untreated, high blood pressure may kill or cripple many of these people. Uncontrolled high blood pressure can lead to stroke, heart failure and kidney damage.

Graham W. Ward, coordinator of the National High Blood Pressure Education Program, calls high blood pressure "a killer that few people die from." He explains that it is the consequences of high blood pressure — stroke, heart and kidney damage — that are listed as causes of death.

Yet most of the public is unaware that controlling high blood pressure is an important preventive measure that can significantly reduce these secondary causes of death.

Education funds eyed

COLORADO CITY — Superintendent Lloyd McKee went to Fort Worth this week to a meeting discussing Title IV funds.

The funds are for a community education program which might be augmented to train students at a middle school level in vocational courses.

The students in Colorado City recently moved into a remodeled Middle School, in the former high school building.

The work included lowered ceilings, new lighting, closure of the glass windows, carpet, air conditioning, and plumbing in the three-story building.

It now serves the sixth through the eighth grades with the top four grades in a brand-new Colorado High School at the edge of the city.

$319,000 car-truck suit may be decided

A $319,000 suit over a car-truck accident is to be decided by a jury trial in 118th District Court starting at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

District Judge Ralph W. Caton scheduled an appeal of a workmen's compensation case as an alternative.

Luther Ray Fortenberry is suing Byron Dale Huffman, Midland, and Lester Irvin Trucking Co. in the first of two suits scheduled.

Fortenberry was working for American Petrofina at the time of the October 1973 accident on IS-20, the file indicates.

The Travelers Insurance Co. has intervened for reimbursement on Workmen's Compensation payments.

In the second suit, Texas General Indemnity Co. and Leon Houston Jr. are contesting a workmen's compensation case. Houston was employed by Cabot Corp. when he was injured by a fork lift in June 1972, according to information in the file.

Trans Regional Airlines axes Austin-Houston bid

AUSTIN — Rather than face competition from Southwest Airlines, Trans Regional Airlines Inc. of Big Spring withdrew its request to serve the Austin to Houston route with commuter service.

Trans Regional vice president Robert McClure said the request was withdrawn because he had been told by Joan Holloway of the Texas Aeronautics Commission that she saw the need for both a large carrier and a commuter service to serve the route, and that Southwest would undoubtedly be the large carrier.

Dropping the Austin to Houston route will not affect the proposed routes connecting Abilene with Austin, Houston, Lubbock and Midland-Odessa, McClure said. The proposals for those routes stand, he said.

McClure said he "saw no point" in putting money into a route when Trans Regional would have to compete with Southwest. That would "kill" a small commuter line, he said.

The action does not mean that Trans Regional is scrapping plans to expand service, McClure said. He said he was not ready to reveal any other expansion plans, however.

Service to Big Spring will not be affected, he said. Trans Regional officials have said in the past that unless the airline was allowed to expand it might have to drop service to Big Spring.

The withdrawal pleading was filed by Trans Regional attorney Robert D. Miller of Big Spring, said John Soule, examiner for the Texas Aeronautics Commission.

Trans Regional is one of two commuter lines asking the Texas Aeronautics Commission for permission to connect Abilene with Austin, Houston, Lubbock and Midland-Odessa.

The Big Spring airline now runs two round-trip flights a day from Big Spring to Dallas. The other airline, Chaparral, is Abilene-based but has not begun air operations.

Earlier this month Soule recommended that Chaparral be given TAC permission to serve the four Texas destinations. Trans Regional has until Friday to file an exception to Soule's decision. No exception has been filed yet, Soule said Monday.

McClure said Monday that Trans Regional officials were "not certain" whether they would file an exception.

On Wednesday, June 16 the six-member TAC board will convene to hear Soule's recommendation in support of Chaparral. The meeting is at 10:30 a.m.

If the TAC board filed an order permitting Chaparral its routes, how long will it be before they can be in the air?

"After the commission meets, the losers have 15 days to file a motion asking reconsideration. Theoretically, 16 days after they meet and decide, then they could be in the air. But most make it in 30 to 45 days," said Soule.

Soule added, "Chaparral has been doing a lot of preplanning; they may be able to beat that — you'd have to ask them."

Firing of 'tough' cop upheld by Dallas board

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Civil Service Trial Board voted Tuesday to uphold the firing of a Dallas police officer who struck a handcuffed prisoner last year following a high speed auto chase. Police Chief Don Byrd dismissed Arthur W. Cannedy after he learned the officer punched a teenaged boy in the stomach last September.

Testimony revealed that Cannedy cursed the 14-year-old, saying "You could have gotten me killed."

The youth later filed a formal complaint against Cannedy and his partner, R.E. Pitman, who also has appealed his dismissal by Byrd to the trial board.

Councilman William Cothrum, who served on the board Tuesday, said that Cannedy's spotless record prior to the incident made it a difficult case to decide.

But Asst. City Atty. Ron Deutsch told board members Byrd no longer wants Cannedy on the force and urged them to uphold his decision.
