VETS BOO HOOVER AS SENATE REJECTS BONUS

Jouett Shouse Starts Prohibition Ball Rolling For Democrats At Chicago

REPEAL PLANK UNLIKELY, SAYS PARTY LEADER

Executive Chairman Doubts Platform Will Call For Abolition

GARNER MEN ACTIVE

Walter Woodul Delivers Thrust as Roosevelt Campaign Head

By THOMAS L. STOKES
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 17.—The Democratic vanguard moved upon this city today, even before the littered debris of the Republican convention had been swept out, with all indications that prohibition, likewise, would absorb the attention of the Democrat's convention.

Jouett Shouse, the active chairman of the national executive committee, arrived with the prediction the Democrats would go further than the Republican prohibition plank but would not advocate outright repeal. He thought that undoubtedly there would be a floor fight such as the Republicans whipped up.

Shouse saw the Democratic answer to the Republican prohibition plank in a decision to leave liquor control to the "wet" states, instead of having the federal government supervise the liquor-dispensing systems. He thought otherwise the Democratic plank would provide, as did the Republican, for a modified 18th amendment, letting the states handle the question for themselves.

"I doubt very much," the chairman said, "that the Democratic party will go on record for repeal."

Many Sample Planks

In forecasting that the Democrats would concern themselves principally with prohibition—as regards issues—Shouse pointed out he had received 50 or more sample planks, ranging from the "most moderate submission proposals to the most extreme wet proposals."

Shouse, who is being pushed by the anti-Roosevelt forces for permanent chairman of the convention, reiterated today his name would go before the convention. A battle over control of the convention will be waged at the outset, with Senator Thomas J. Walsh, of Montana, as the opposing candidate of the Roosevelt forces. The executive committee chairman declined today to predict the outcome.

Nor would he discuss candidates.

Republicans Leave

It was still prohibition that monopolized the talk of Republicans as they caught early trains today and hurried away. Many are a bit dubious as to the important step they have taken away from their long-standing support of the 18th amendment. This doubt appears among the drys, who wonder how the people in the corn and cotton belts of the Middle West and South will react, and among the "wet" element which wanted to match the plank they felt the Democrats would adopt in order to attract the vote in the big cities of the East.

This uncertainty cropped up today in a meeting of Republican national committeewomen with Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice chairman of the national committee, who had called the women together for a little rally.

Hijacker Obtains $4 From Burns Station

A lone hijacker raided the Frank Burns filling station at Broadway and Iowa Park road at 1 o'clock Saturday morning netting about $4 in small change taken from the pocket of Clyde Holly who was on duty at the time. Holly was forced to go into a small room adjoining the station office while the bandit left on foot. Police investigated. Holly recently shot the tail light from a car when he suspected it was occupied by bandits. "I didn't see the lone man's tail light," Holly said.

Uncle Sam's Agents To 'Muscle In' For Big Tax Cut Here

Gas, Oil, Tires, Lights and Power, Long Distance Calls and Telegrams Cost More Beginning Tuesday; Banks to Charge Check Tax to Customers

Our forefathers in the Mississippi valley may rightly have regarded the federal government far beyond the Alleghenies as something distant and remote, but members of the present generation are going to be reminded daily during the next few months that Uncle Sam lingers very near; in fact, plays an intimate part in every day's experiences.

For the new revenue bill is now in effect, and will become applicable to the little odds and ends of shopping in Wichita Falls during the coming week.

Next Tuesday, June 21, in point of fact, is the day when the population generally will begin its task of filling up the financial gap which Uncle Sam essays to leap prior to July 1, 1934. (The bill is designed to take the United States out of the red in these two years).

Trickle of Pennies

In most families, the trickling of a tiny stream of budget pennies into the government's coffers will begin with the day. For while the radio entertainers early risers, while the bracing aroma of new coffee "perks" cheerily, your big tall uncle with the striped trousers is jotting down his share of the electric bill you're putting through the meter. At the end of the month, you'll contribute three per cent on your bill for electricity to this matter of balancing the budget. The Texas Electric Service company will be responsible to the government for it, but you won't be overlooked.

Your astute relative from Washington will stick closer than a brother during most of the day. He'll take five per cent of what you pay for the fragrant toothpaste, and 10 per cent of the cost of perfumes, toilet waters, and sister's lipstick—if she didn't borrow mother's.

One Cent on Gasoline

Well, breakfast over, and ready for the office. With the first "kick" of the motor, Uncle has his finger in the pie again. For the first draught of gas through the carburetor was part of a recently-purchased gallon, and on each gallon the new revenue act extracts one cent for our government at Washington. And one cent per quart on the "lube" in the crankcase. Not only the oil and gas will aid in the constant trickle-trickle of little tax payments, but other items of automobile upkeep such as new light bulbs, etc.

And, the car must run on rubber tires, and there you are again. Two-and-a-half cents a pound on the new casing you buy, and four cents a pound on the tubes. There are other little ways too, in which you'll have been helping Uncle Sam out of his difficulty, almost without thinking about it. The match you struck for your cigar, the package of gum you picked up for the stenographer, and the accustomed morning drink—at the soda fountain—all these little expenditures contained a small part for the budget.

Taxed at Every Turn

Write a check for your laundry bill, and at the bank the bookkeeper must charge your account with two cents—for the budget. Make a long distance call on that business deal, and if the toll is more than 50 cents, it will be a dime or more as a "tax addition" when your bill comes at the end of the month. Send him a telegram, and it's five per cent extra; if it's a cablegram, 10 per cent.

Transfers of property will do their bit, too, in putting Uncle Sam on his feet. Deeds and other instruments of conveyance will re-

Colorado-Southern Authorized To Buy FW&D Northern

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce commission authorized the Fort Worth and Denver Northern Railway company today to issue $110,000 of capital stock and at the same time authorized the Colorado and Southern Railway company to purchase control of the Fort Worth and Denver Northern and to lease the latter lims to the Fort Worth and Denver City Railway company.

The Fort Worth and Denver City is a subsidiary of the Colorado and Southern. The Fort Worth and Denver Northern is now under construction and the money to be paid for the 1,100 shares of stock is to be used to partly pay for construction of the line.

DECISION ON FURLOUGH PLAN

Conferees Fail to Agree On Plan for Reducing

WASHINGTON, June 17. (US)—Conferees on the government economy bill broke up tonight with the announcement that they had been unable to agree on whether to reduce federal salaries through a straight wage cut or the payless furlough.

Their action followed closely on the heels of a renewed plea by President Hoover for the furlough plan as the fairest method, in addition to applying the principle of the 5-hour day to the government.

House to Decide

The conferees agreed on all other portions of the measure, but will report disagreement on pay reduction methods to their respective branches tomorrow. Thus the house which adopted a straight pay cut of 11 per cent on salaries over $2,500, will vote on acceptance or rejection of the furlough.

The president's appeal for the furlough was voiced at his weekly conference with newspaper correspondents. He said:

"I am in hopes that the conferees and the congress will find it possible to accept the so-called furlough plan for dealing with federal employes. It is in reality the 5-day week applied to the government. It will produce a larger saving in expeditures in federal employment than any other plan which is likely to pass congress.

Denies Discrimination

"The objection that it permits of discrimination has been met by the proposal that the few employes receiving over $1,200 a year to whom it might not be applied shall take an 8 1-3 per cent reduction in pay, thus giving the equivalent reduction in government expenses. It avoids discharges and enables some increases in the number of people employed by the government through the necessity of some substitutions. In the large sense it maintains the standards of pay in the government. It must be borne in mind that government pay has never been on such high standards as that of private enterprise.

"It has a wider spread of importance than these immediate questions. It shows a willingness of the government itself to cooperate with the country in a movement for shortening the hours of labor with view to increasing the number of people employed. It is an adoption by the government of what has been done to a large extent in private employment.

"As I have said, the furlough plan is the application of the stag-

'PAPER SACK BANDIT' HELD AT ABILENE

Jack Carter Jailed After Exchange of Shots With Police

PAROLED FROM PEN

Bandit's Use of Paper Sack For Loot Brings Arrest Of Suspect

Jack Carter, 29, Wichita Falls debonair "paper sack bandit" of 1927 whose short but active career of crime finally earned him a 99-year penitentiary sentence, was back in jail at Abilene Friday night in connection with three recent robberies here and various crimes in other Texas towns.

Carter, only recently paroled from prison, was back in jail chiefly because his old habit of scooping up loot from his robberies in a paper sack. He became known all over the state in 1927 for this practice, and when a second "paper sack bandit" recently started operations here, Police Chief Dick Morris launched the investigations which resulted in Carter's arrest at Abilene.

Morris Leads Investigation

The suspect was taken into custody by Abilene police after Chief Morris had notified Chief Rook Sibley at Abilene that he believed Carter was in that city.

Carter is wanted here in connection with the hijacking of M. H. Thomason's filling station at 907 Twelfth Thursday night in which he took $15. John Farrell and J. C. Taylor, on duty at the station, identified pictures of Carter Friday morning as being likenesses of the bandit.

Pictures of Carter also have been identified here by W. T. Crouch, manager of the American Filling station at Tenth and Fillmore, as the bandit who raided that station 10 days ago. He is also wanted in connection with a hijacking at the Thomason station at 1400 Seventh. The bandit in each of these robberies used a paper sack to hold his loot.

Carter barely escaped capture 10 days ago at Cisco the night after he is accused of hijacking the American station here. He is under indictment at Abilene on a robbery with firearms charge the same night in which officers were in a pistol battle with him at Cisco.

Wounded in Battle Here

Carter was sentenced to 99 years in the penitentiary from Wichita Falls in 1927 following a series of "paper sack" hijacking both in this city and at Dallas. He was captured at Oklahoma City in 1927 following a gun battle with the manager of a Gulf Refining company station at Eighth and Brook in which he suffered two pistol wounds and wounded a filling station employe.

Chief Morris said charges would be filed against Carter here Saturday in two cases. He was captured after a gun battle with two officers at Abilene Friday evening but neither the officers nor Carter was injured.

HUNGRY BANDIT ROBS STREET CAR MOTORMAN

A highly nervous bandit robbed J. C. Mitchell, 3203 Buchanan motorman for the Wichita Falls Traction company at 10:45 o'clock Friday night when he boarded a street car at Avenue K and Kemp boulevard. The raid netted approximately $13, Mr. Mitchell reported.

T. M. Castle, 1620 Fourteenth, was a passenger on the car and was unmolested. The bandit carried a small caliber pistol and demanded Mitchell's money as he boarded the car. The bandit ordered the car to proceed during the hijacking but had Mitchell stop it for him to get off midway of the block, telling the motorman he had to do it, "because I'm hungry."

Highway Patrolmen Of Area Meet Here Today

A meeting of all state highway patrolmen in the Wichita Falls area, district No. 6, comprising 61 counties will be held at the Wichita county courthouse Saturday, Division Captain Fred Hickman said Friday night. Twelve patrolmen from throughout the area began arriving in the city Friday night to attend the session.

Captain Homer Garrison Jr., and Lieut. J. W. Longley, both of Austin, will attend the meeting and will discuss details of the patrol work. Changes in Texas highway laws will be discussed, including the recent federal ruling upholding the state law limiting commercial trucks to 7,000 pounds for highway travel.

Sherman Mills Sold to Kansas City Concern

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 17. (UP)—Announcement of the purchase of the G. B. R. Smith Milling company, Sherman, Texas, was made here today by the Larabee Flour Mills company.

The deal includes all the flour brands, elevators and flour mills.

The Larabee company, in making the announcement, also said it would build elevators in Sherman to store 1,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Raw Sugar Prices Continue Advance

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—Raw sugar prices continued to soar today and the refined product joined in the forward movement. At the same time futures quotations, which have advanced around 50 per cent in the past 12 days, reacted moderately.

Strength of the raw and refined classes followed reports that refiners had purchased between 20,000 and 25,000 tons of spot sugar at 2.90 cents a pound, duty paid.

Raw sugar advanced 1-10 of a cent a pound to 2.90 cents for spots, while the refined registered gains of 1-10 to 2-10 of a cent a pound to 3.90 to 4 cents for fine granulated. Futures were off from .02 to .04 of a cent a pound, due principally, it was said, to some realizing and hedge selling by the Cuban trade, which otherwise remained out of the market.

When Bonus Brigade Scored First Victory

Moving in orderly, undemonstrative fashion through the corridors of the capitol, a picked contingent of the "bonus army" is shown here as it waited to enter the gallery in the house of representatives. These veterans were present when an initial victory was scored for their cause—a vote to force a decision on immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus.

Administration Strategists Lay Plan To Capture Both Wet And Dry Votes

Hoover Campaign Speakers to Portray President to Antis as Liberal, to Prohibitionists as Their Champion

By ROBERT BARRY

CHICAGO, June 17. (US)—Administration strategy to beat the devil around the prohibition bush was revealed here today.

To the wets, President Hoover will be represented as a liberal, offering them the most direct route to modification.

To the drys, the president will be hailed as the champion of the principle of continued national prohibition.

Promises to Both

In wet states, Republican speakers will use this line:

"We are offering you the quickest road to liquor. If you attempt outright repeal, without providing a substitute, it would take you at least 10 years to put it over, because it is certain 13 states would stand out against ratification of the repealer wiping out the whole structure of the 18th amendment and the enforcing statutes.

Under our proposal ratification in two or three years is reasonably assured. Then any state which wants liquor can have it."

To the drys, unwilling to relinquish the 18th amendment, the chatter will be:

"We preserve the principle of national prohibition. We modify the amendment yet retain its essential provisions. We do not leave every state to do as it pleases about prohibition. National legislation will control in all the states and no wet state will be privileged to do anything which is not sanctioned by congress. We make it certain the corner saloon shall not return."

Effective Treatment

As they went away from Chicago, the administration high command believed that would prove a highly effective treatment of the problem which dominated the Republican national convention.

Coupled with the belief that such a circus feat of riding gracefully horses traveling in opposite directions could be accomplished, was a Republican hope that the Democratic convention, to open here June 27, would not vote for outright repeal and scarcely would go as far toward the wet side as did the Republicans. They were admonished not to rely too heavily on that in view of recent events in the South, chiefly North Carolina and Virginia, and that there would be in the Democratic conclave no administration pressure brought to bear for a straddling plank such as split some of the delegations from the midwest and north Atlantic seaboard states, where delegates carried support of the president to the point of submerging their real sentiments for outright repeal.

North Blames South

Northern Republicans are blaming the southern delegates in the Republican convention for outvoting the industrial states which wanted direct repeal and are counting on the South to perform the same stunt in the Democratic sessions.

The proposal to make a wet appeal for the Hoover plank in the wet states and to persuade the drys

PRESIDENT TO DIRECT DRIVE

Hoover Takes Command Of Re-Election Campaign

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE
Universal Service Writer

WASHINGTON, June 17.—President Hoover today actively launched his campaign for re-election and while he will have a campaign manager and advisers galore, the White House let it be known that the president will personally direct the drive.

The president was up bright and early to receive the congratulations of his friends and his running mate, Vice President Charles Curtis.

Before the motion pictures, the talkies and the still cameras he went through a number of poses with the smiling Curtis. The president's favorite dog, a Norwegian elkhound named "Weejie," was impressed and went through his paces, chasing and retrieving a ball as it was tossed by the president, and the president and vice president shook hands time and again. The pictures are to be shown throughout the country.

Confers With Mills

The president next held a long conference with Secretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills, who rushed here from Chicago, where he was the principal administration spokesman and the force which put over the president's prohibition plank.

From now on the president expects to be in almost continuous political conferences, building up the party fences in the various

Denton Woman Named 'Cub Bear Obtainer'

SEATTLE, June 17. (AP)—Although she is not an official delegate to the general federation of women's clubs in convention here, Mrs. Fred Gray of Denton, Texas, however, is one of the busiest women attending the sessions.

Mrs. Gray has been delegated by the fire department of her home city to get a cub bear for a mascot.

She was commissioned "chief cub bear obtainer" when, en route to Seattle after a year in Europe with her mining engineer husband, she stopped at Denton.

Yesterday Mrs. Gray visited Dr. Gus Knudson, head keeper of the Woodland park zoo but Dr. Knudson couldn't part with any of his charges so he gave her the name and address of a cub bear in Longview, Wash., reported to be looking for a home.

Prison Official's Son Gets Clemency for Negro

AUSTIN, June 17. (UP)—The plea of an 11-year-old boy, the son of a Huntsville prison official, to Gov. Ross Sterling for clemency for a negro serving life for murder, was granted here today.

"Hon. Governor," read the little boy's letter. "I beg that this negro prisoner, John Bell, record No. 48426, has been taking care of me for two years. I take great pleasure in recommending him automatic clemency."

Bell, sentenced to life imprisonment in Colorado county, for murder, has served 13 and one-half years. Governor Sterling granted clemency to 49 other prisoners.

Ex-Soldiers Maintain Order While Waiting For Senate Vote

Senator Thomas of Oklahoma Leads Losing Battle for Service Men

By FRASIER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, June 17. (US)—That proud but pathetic tatterdemalian "army" of 20,000 jobless world war veterans, which calls itself the bonus expeditionary forces, "took it on the chin" like true American soldiers tonight when the senate dashed their hope of financial relief by killing the $2,400,000,000 cash bonus bill by a vote of 62 to 18.

When Commander-in-Chief Walter W. Waters bore the fateful word to the 15,000 ragged veterans

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP)—The $2,000,000,000 Democratic unemployment relief bill was made the senate's pending business tonight after disposal of the bonus bill.

massed on the capitol steps and in the wide plaza, their answer was to stand uncovered and sing "America" with the lusty-lunged abandon of 1917.

After giving three rousing cheers for Waters and Chief of Police Glassford, the "army's guardian angel," and a storm of Bronx cheers and boos for President Hoover and their foes in congress, the weary men formed in orderly fashion and marched back to their muddy camps and odorous billets—with the avowed purpose of "staying until we get our bonus."

The vote came at the close of nine hours and 15 minutes of furious debate. The result was not really representative of sentiment in the senate on the soldiers' bonus. Many real friends of the veterans voted against the measure for fear it would jeopardize the passage of general relief legislation.

Nine Democrats, eight Republicans and one Farmer-Laborite—Shipstead of Minnesota—stood by the veterans, while 27 Democrats and 35 Republicans voted against the Patman-Thomas bill, which had passed the house Wednesday by a vote of 209 to 176.

20 For Payment

The actual count for the bonus was 20, as Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma, and Senator Bankhead, Democrat of Alabama, switched their votes for it to against in order to be in a parliamentary position to make a motion to reconsider the vote and thus keep the bonus bill alive.

Foes of the measure, however, killed the bill not only for this session but next session as well by a shrewd parliamentary trick. After Thomas and Bankhead had served notice they would move to reconsider the vote, Senator Reed, Republican of Pennsylvania, made the motion to reconsider and then Senator Moses, Republican of New Hampshire, moved to table that motion.

Moses' motion carried by a vote of 44 to 26, and as it requires a majority vote to take the measure from the table, the friends of the bill concede it is dead for this congress.

Night had fallen along before the final vote but many of the veterans who had waited for 12 hours in the sun-baked plaza still awaited the "big word." It came from newspaper reporters to Waters who passed it along to the men.

News Announced

Bareheaded and in his shirt-sleeves, the blond Oregonian pushed through the densely packed crowd on the flight of marble steps. He blew a whistle for attention and raised his arm and said:

"Men, I have just received some bad news—the senate has failed to pass the bonus bill. That is just a temporary setback. We're going to get more men here and stay until we get our back pay."

A mighty shout rose from the bedraggled, shirt-sleeved derelicts of Pershing's victorious forces. It was flung back by the library of con-

GOAT IS GOAT DESPITE MAGIC

Incantations Fail to Make Billy 'Fair Young Man'

BROCKEN, Germany, June 17. (US)—A stubborn billygoat confounded occultists and believers in ancient cabalistic rituals when he refused to be transformed into a "young man fair and strong" on the summit of Mt. Brocken at midnight.

But after the experiment had failed—for the second time in several months—the promotors of the supernatural transformation announced that tonight's work was merely a dress rehearsal and that the goat would again be permitted his chance to become human tomorrow.

Recited Magic Formula

The procession to the summit of Mt. Brocken began just before midnight, when the required "young lady pure of heart," Fraulein Vera Bohn, threw away the cigaret she had been smoking all evening in the lobby of her hotel and donned a transparent nightgown of flimsy material.

Professor Harry Price, head of a London phychical research society, with both feet within a curious triangle surrounded by white letters resembling Greek symbols, recited for 20 minutes a "magical formula" allegedly taken from ancient cabalistic Books.

The billygoat's head had previously been annointed with a mysterious salve made of bat's blood and honey, after which Fraulein Bohn covered the goat with a white sheet. Price finished up his incantation by shouting:

"Away, you godless unbelievers!"

Magic Failed

A huge crowd of disparaging spectators watched closely for the "trick" and photographers' cameras clicked as Fraulein Bohn mumbled a strange chant and slowly began to remove the sheet from the experimental goat.

But mister billygoat was still a goat.

Nor did the moon darken, nor a mysterious light glow from the belfry of distant Cassel Tower, as the ancient magic books predicted. The weird ordeal had a background of black sky and brilliant full moon and the glare of a blazing bonfire near the "magic triangle."

Professor Price appeared to be satisfied with the experiment, declaring he only wanted to challenge the "supernatural powers" by providing that occultism is all nonsense. No recognized spiritualists were present, and the odor of publicity attached itself to the mysterious experiment of the magic goat.

Free Will Baptists Name Nashville for '33 Meet

Allred Opens Campaign Explaining Reasons for Huge Oil Ouster Suit

TYLER, Texas, June 17. (AP)—Atty. Gen. James V. Allred opened his campaign for re-election here tonight with a defense of the ouster suits he brought against certain major oil companies.

He declared he was seeking another term, not because it has been customary to give some office holders a second term, but because of his record as chief legal officer of the state.

"If my record warrants," he said, "I ask the people who elected me to continue their confidence in me for another term."

After reading a telegram from Robert Lee Bobbitt of Laredo, in which the former attorney general said "I feel you should have a second term as attorney general and I join other good citizens in wishing you success in the present campaign," Allred declared Bobbitt "has shown himself to be the best sport the world has ever known."

Allred was introduced by W. Dewey Lawrence, former assistant attorney general. Other speakers included former U. S. Senator Earle B. Mayfield, District Judge Walter G. Russell of Tyler and State Senator Tomas G. Pollard of Tyler. Mayfield lauded Allred's administration. Judge Russell spoke on the subject, "Allred as a Lawyer and Statesman."

Carl Estes of Tyler presided at the meeting, which was attended by delegates from 14 counties.

Referring to his suit to penalize certain oil companies for alleged

City May Equip Police Cars With Short Wave Radios In War On Crime

Prospects for installation of short wave radio equipped patrol cars for the Wichita Falls police department's use in combatting criminal activities was seen Friday with the return of City Manager V. R. Smitham from a business trip to Dallas. While in that city Mr. Smitham became interested in the use of short wave radio by Dallas police and admitted Friday he is "sold on the proposition."

However, the cost of installation may prove prohibitive for Wichita Falls at this time, Mr. Smitham said. Three local firms have been instructed to submit estimates on the cost of installation and if the prices are not more than a "few hundred dollars" bids will probably be asked by the city council, he added.

Mr. Smitham observed the speed the radio equipment gave scout cars in Dallas and described one instance in which a Dallas resident telephoned the police station that a car was being stripped. The call was broadcast and 30 minutes afterward five youths were brought into the police station to face theft charges in connection with the case.

The Dallas short wave broadcaster has a range of 200 miles but it is thought that a 100-mile range station would satisfy the needs of Wichita Falls. Police Chief Dick Morris pointed out that with such a station nearby towns would be able to assist in handling criminal activities of this area by installing receiving sets.

SENATE KILLS SOLDIER BONUS

Thousands of Veterans At Capital for Vote

greas and the congressional office buildings surrounding the plaza.

"Now boys," Waters continued, in spite of this temporary setback take it on the chin like real Americans. Show these guys in congress you are real Americans and can take it. Leave quietly for your billets, but don't leave for your homes. This fight has just begun."

Somebody raised an American flag above a truck, parked in the plaza. The battalion of defeat hailed it with a cheer. Then a mudcaked veteran in a battered straw hat wriggled through the press and started singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" and the boys took it up with a mighty chorus that sent shivers of patriotism down the spines of the listeners.

Another patriotic touch came a few minutes later. The marine band had fortunately been giving a regular Friday evening concert in the plaza, playing popular airs. The last piece on the program is always "The Star Spangled Banner."

The "white collar" contingent among the spectators out there to watch the bonus boys gave no sign, but at the first strains the bedraggled army snapped to attention. And soon the shamefaced crowd took off hats and followed the example set by the beaten bonus army in the moment of their bitterness.

Harold B. Foulkrod of Philadelphia, chariman of the legislative committee, then mounted the steps and urged the men to return to their billets, after warning them not to violate any laws or make a demonstration that would injure their cause.

Somewhere a bugler sounded "attention" and then "assembly." The boys fell into a ragged column of twos and started back to their camps, some of which are now ankle deep with mud from constant rains for the last five days.

In a statement to the press, Waters said he was "naturally disappointed by the action of the senate but was not discouraged." He added:

"We will not alter our plans and we intend to stay here until we get results."

Police Reserves Called

Extra police reserves speeded to the capital grounds to guard against any disturbance, but the veterans for the most part remained orderly, confining their activities to singing war songs and shouting "We want the bonus."

Leaders of the former service men made impromptu speeches advising them against any disorderly conduct. This also was urged by a group of congressmen, including Senator Thomas, a leading bonus advocate.

The disappointed army of marchers gathered on the Anacostia end of the bridge and looked forlornly at the raised draw.

One hundred police were mobilized from two precincts at the Anacostia end of the Pennsylvania avenue bridge. Traffic was permitted only toward Anacostia.

Another bridge a mile above also was closed to traffic.

Return to Camp

The group at the bridge over the river, after waiting an hour and realizing authorities were not going to close the draw turned and marched back the few blocks to their camp on Anacostia flats.

Capt. Sidney J. Marks of the metropolitan police, estimated the number in the main body of the marchers on the bridge as the draw was opened to be 600.

Behind them were several thousand who had remained during the day in the camp.

The closing of traffic lanes on the bridges resulted in such congestion that in many cases automobiles stood more than an hour before being able to move.

The precinct station in that vicinity was besieged by irate citizens demanding the closing of the draw or asking passes to use other bridges.

Meanwhile the senate vote which leaders had expected momentarily since mid-afternoon, was delayed by continued debate.

Senator after senator rose to explain why he was going to vote for or against the bill.

Amendment Sought

As the senate finally was ready to vote, Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, sought to amend the bill by providing for a bond issue to pay the bonus.

He asked unanimous consent to introduce an amendment providing for payment of the bonus by a bond issue, but Senator Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, objected.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, opposed the bonus bill, explaining he did not dispute its justice but felt it would be a "danger to our government."

The Nebraskan urged the senate to pass a public works program to give jobs to all unemployed.

"If we pass the bill," he said, "it will be impossible to pass an unemployment relief bill."

When darkness approached the army band drew up in trucks for its weekly concert in the plaza.

The concert normally is one hour, but Commander Waters said he would ask the band to stay longer for the entertainment of the men.

Mess wagons bearing tureens of hot coffee and soup arrived to feed those veterans who had remained doggedly at the capitol all day.

Under Dill's amendment the government would pay only the present surrender value of the bonus certificates, instead of the full face value.

Senators were crying "Vote, vote," in an effort to cut off debate.

Dill then moved to send the bill back to committee to provide for payment of the surrender value instead of the face value but the motion was beaten without a record vote.

At 8 o'clock, the roll was called to assemble a quorum for the vote.

Bridge Reopened

Later, the Anacostia bridge was opened after veterans' leaders, in conference with police agreed to an orderly crossing by the bonus marchers.

A great cheer went up as the bridge was lowered. Several hundred men who had been waiting on the bridge marched across in columns of four under leadership of Elmer Bollenberg, Cleveland.

One hundred or more veterans who had been waiting on the other side of the bridge crossed back to the camp side to join their comrades.

The veterans themselves tried to weed out all non-members from the ranks.

Bollenberg said he had promised police the men would continue the same conduct on the other side of the bridge they had maintained in camp.

Thomas Makes Plea

Standing on the capitol steps before thousands of massed veterans as the senate neared a vote on the bonus, Senator Thomas pleaded with them not "to break their record for perfect conduct."

"We're about ready for a vote in the senate," Thomas said. "I think it is going to be slightly adverse to our cause.

"But if I see the vote going against us, I will change my vote from 'aye' to 'no.' That will permit me to make a later motion to reconsider.

"Then the bill still will be alive. They can't kill this bill today.

"You boys will know who your friends are and who your enemies are and will be able to work on those senators who voted against the bill. Then I can make my motion to reconsider—and the bill will still be alive."

In conclusion, Thomas again pleaded with the veterans "to keep up your good record."

"Then," he said, "the country will respect you; any other course will destroy you."

He urged that they not "criticize too severely" those who vote against the bonus measure.

"If they are mistaken," he said, "they may change."

Before he started his speech he urged there be no demonstration and silence prevailed as he finished and walked back into the senate chamber.

Bugle Sounds

A bugle sounded from near the center of the park as the streams of veterans poured in from their camps about the city, calling most of them in that direction there to stand.

Police kept traffic moving with some difficulty but the crowd of veterans seemed in a good humor. In a few moments the great balustrades at the sides of the stairway leading to the senate were jammed with veterans. Occasional bursts of handclapping and shouts sounded as they responded to addresses of some of the leaders. Police eventually succeeded with the aid of the leaders in persuading two or three hundred who were standing in the street to move back across from the steps into the plaza proper stopping all traffic while they good naturedly walked across.

Reserves were held in readiness at precinct stations as the veterans marched on the capitol.

Leaders of the marchers moved among the throng, insisting the demonstration remain orderly.

Walter W. Waters, the commander-in-chief, was reported near collapse from his strenuous speech-making efforts. From early today he had been addressing the veterans, urging them not to give up the fight and promising he himself would remain in Washington until taken out "feet first."

As the caravan from Anacostia arrived, Representative Connery, Democrat, Massachusetts, hurriedly was sent for and addressed several thousand from the steps of the capitol urging they be orderly.

Connery was an advocate in the house of the Patman bill for bonus payment and has addressed the men at their encampments.

Only the minimum number of police was used to keep the men in order, but in the back of the plaza along the capitol building there was a large number of capitol police supplemented by a force of metropolitan police.

The reenforcements from the bonus camp reached the capitol late this afternoon. Those who had been on the lawn in front of the senate most of the day crowded on the steps leading to the senate chamber, where they were seated while moving pictures were made. The thousands were constantly increased by a steady stream of arriving comrades until they filled the plaza in front of the senate and spread over the large lawn. The newcomers marched in six to eight abreast.

Dawes Takes Parting At Washington Before Returning To Private Life

WASHINGTON, June 17. (US)—Gen. Charles G. Dawes today bade a happy farewell to President Hoover, his countless friends in the government, and the public life he entered 34 years ago.

To his friends he appeared more at ease than he has in years as he puffed away at his understung pipe and paced jauntily up and down the White House lobby, belying his 67 years of a very active life.

"I have said this before," he said, "but this time I am really through. I have come here time and again and when I left said that I would not come back again and they have sent for me and I came. But I am sure that I will not again.

"Just now I have a vision of cocking up my feet on my own desk in my own banking office and conducting my own business. I am really through with politics and public office and do not expect any emergency to develop which will prompt me to return."

When President McKinley came to the White House he brought "Charlie" Dawes with him. He was made comptroller of the currency. With Mrs. Dawes he was an almost constant White House guest. He enjoyed the warm friendship of that president. There came to the White House with him at that time "Doc" Frank Smithers, a confidential telegraph operator to presidents, a position which he still holds. General Dawes went to the telegraph room to tell him goodbye. He left for Chicago at 4 o'clock.

gering system, the 5-day week or equivalent symbol for indicating the shortening of hours of labor for the purpose of giving some employment to a mximum number of people.

"I am also in hopes that the emergency powers to the president proposed by the senate economy committee for immediate reorganization of government departments with view to immediate reduction of expeditures will be restored by the conference. It is one of the most important avenues for economy in government that has been proposed.

"The general principle of reorganization has been accepted by both houses but under the provisions of the bill as it was sent to conference the powers to take emergency action were greatly curtailed in one house or the other. Under the terms of the bill as it left the senate no reorganization of any great consequence could be made effective until next March. The economies are needed now more than a year hence.

"The emergency powers left in the bill by the senate reduced the bureau and commission which can be immediately dealt with to those expending only $25,000,000 a year and eliminating bureaus spending $500,000,000 to $600,000,000."

communities. It was said, however, that his campaign for the time being will be based on an effort to break the legislative jam and be able to go to the public with a constructive record.

His main objective is to balance the budget before adjournment, a task which he says will require the reduction in expenditures of $150,000,000 below the present estimates. There is a resolution by Senator Robinson, Democrat of Arkansas, asking the president where the cut is to be made and he is now working on it. It is generally understood that he will urge that it be from the independent bureaus, principally in allowances to veterans. He expects to make this reduction one of the issues of his campaign.

Sanders to Arrive

Everett Sanders, Indiana, selected as his campaign manager at the behest of the Coolidge forces, is expected to arrive here tomorrow and will immediately go into a conference with the president on the subject of establishing campaign headquarters and the necessary expenses for an unusually vigorous campaign. Sanders was secretary to President Coolidge.

George Akerson, former secretary to the president, who has been called back for the period of the campaign is already making elaborate arrangements. He is an experienced impressario and plans an extensive picture and newspaper campaign.

All of them, however, will take their orders from the president, it was made plain at the White House.

The president put in an unusually busy day and expects to be busy from now on. He held his scheduled cabinet meeting although several of the members had not returned from Chicago. Those present were Secretaries of the Treasury Mills, Interior Wilbur and Commerce Lamont and Attorney General Mitchell. All of them added their congratulations to those which are pouring in on the president from party friends by mail and telegraph.

NEW U. S. TAXES START TUESDAY

Owners of Big Boats Must Pay Levy

quire stamps ranging from 50 cents each upwards according to the amount involved.

While details of collection have not all been worked out, the general system through which the pennies, nickels and dimes are to flow toward Washington has been fairly outlined.

Manufacturers of tires, tubes, toilet articles, etc., will account to the government monthly for the computed tax on all outgoing products after June 21. The tax will be reflected in many cases in revised schedules of prices for retailers.

TANKERS RACE AGAINST NEW TARIFF TAX

NEW YORK, June 17. (UP)—Wireless orders were sent today to masters of a score or more tankers and freighters bound for the United States to make port at all costs before Tuesday when newly enacted tariffs on oil, lumber, and copper become effective.

In ports of the eastern seaboard, the Pacafic, and the gulf of Mexico, preparations were made for the speedy handling of last minute arrivals. The tankers and freighters were converging on New York, Philadelphia and New Orleans.

The chief cause of concern was tankers bearing crude oil from South American fields. Fourteen were bound for American ports.

Gasoline prices probably will jump one cent per gallon on all classes of gasoline next Tuesday, it was indicated by Wichita Falls refineries. Retail purchases of lubricating oil are expected to show no effect of the new tax. Taxes on both gasoline and oil are assessed at the point of manufacture; and it was said that most manufacturers of oil will absorb the one cent per quart tax.

Bankers Aid Customers

A tax of two cents each on bank checks, drafts, etc., becomes effectice Tuesday. The Wichita Falls Clearing House association voted Friday afternoon that member banks will assume all details and duties of collecting the tax. A daily charge, two cents for each check, will be entered against the customer's account. No use of tax-stamps will be involved, as the bank will pay the tax to the federal government. The customer's statement at the end of the month will show a new entry column, giving the number and amount of two-cent charges against the account. While the check and draft tax will entail an enormous amount of extra bookkeeping on the part of banks, members of the clearing house association said Friday afternoon that Wichita Falls banks will assume such burden in order to relieve customers of all inconvenience. Business transactions involving checks can be made as heretofore, with the banks assuming the duty of handling the government tax payments.

A 10 per cent tax on safety deposit box fees also applies after June 21. The tax does not apply to boxes rented and paid for before June 21.

Entertainments Taxed

Only the Majestic theater of this city's showhouses will be affected by the admissions tax of 10 per cent, and that only on first floor seats for the night show. The present price of 50 cents for such seats will become 55 cents. Other admissions here fall within the exempted class of 40 cents and lower.

Sportsmen of Wichita Falls and the adjacent area who have access to the three lakes and have accustomed themselves to the use of motor quipped boats will share in the new revenue tax levy which will go into effect Tuesday, June 21.

Deputy Collector D. G. Hunt of the internal revenue office here and his seven assistants plan to go into action next week and expect to be busy through July in collection of taxes in this district.

Owners of motorboats which come in the taxable class will probably receive notice in July to line up their boats at the shores of Lake Kemp, Diversion lake and Lake Wichita to pay off Uncle Sam's assessment to meet the government deficit. Mr. Hunt has not received definite orders on the new regulations for internal revenue but the new tax is expected to follow in principle the old taxes of 1919.

Big Boats Must Pay

Motorboat owners will receive a receipt or certificate that the tax has been paid allowing them to operate their crafts for the ensuing year. The new law states that boats will be taxable on and after July 1, 1932, and the crafts will be taxed regardless of power if the length is over 28 feet, the maximum length for exempted craft. The receipt given the boat owner must be tacked in the craft where it can be seen, and in effect will be similar to an automobile license.

The boat tax is primarily based on the "soak the rich" policy appearing in congress in connection with the tax proposition. Large pleasure yachts will bear the brunt of the levy, Mr. Hunt explained.

The amusement tax also will be felt directly by the public and again Wichita Falls sport fans will be called upon to contribute when they attend wrestling matches or other forms of profit-making athletic entertainment. The amusement tax will be 10 per cent and fans who have been paying $1 for wrestling entertainment will be charged $1.10. The maximum charge exempt for the tax is 40 cents, found to be the average charge for theaters in the United States.

Public school and collegiate athletic competition will be exempt from the tax by law and sport fans here may attend Coyote games next fall without paying directly for the amusement with a revenue tax.

Allred Defends Oil Ouster Suit

antitrust law violations, Allred said he had campaigned two years ago on a platform of enforcement of antitrust laws, and that the legislature had "passed a special mandate," requiring him to investigate and file suits for violation of these laws.

"I would have been recreant to my duties and subject to just criticism if I had failed to carry out my campaign pledges, my oath of office and this special mandate of the legislature," Allred stated. "Most of the attorneys for the companies who are defendants in that case are treating it as a law suit, and are willing for it to be tried in the court. They recognize that the question of whether the charter of any corporation shall be forfeited is a question not for the attorney general, but for the court or jury. If this suit is not to the best interests of the state, that can be readily demonstrated in court.

"I am not opposed to the oil companies or any other corporation so long as they abide by the laws. I believe they are entitled to fair treatment, but certainly they ought to be held accountable to the law, equally with any other citizen. Governor Hogg declared when he was attorney general, that the day had not yet come when the created was greater than the creator. His statement is as profound and true today as it was then.

"While I have been criticized in some quarters because of the filing of the oil suit, I want it remembered that just before these suits were filed I was commended for my fair treatment of the oil companies. I had been requested to file suit for more than 10 million dollars against the Texas and Gulf Oil companies involving the Landreth strip in West Texas. When a vacancy was discovered out there before any oil was ever heard of the land commissioner and the then attorney general treated the vacancy as public school land and sold it as such. The oil companies developed this land and brought in a great oil field. Thereafter it was asserted that the land was university land and that I ought to bring suit in behalf of the university against these companies.

"Upon the request of a member of the board of regents of the university, I made a careful study of the situation and arrived at the conclusion that the suit ought not be brought. I made the statement then that I did not believe the state should back water on the word of its land commissioner and attorney general, and the oil companies which had acted in good faith, just because it might later prove more advantageous to the state to do so. In my reply I stated that 'the most valuable asset the state can have is the confidence of its citizens and it would be impossible for citizens to be loyal to a sovereign that they did not trust.'"

ABILENE OFFICERS ARREST CARTER AFTER CHASE

ABILENE, Texas, June 17. (AP)—Mud spattered on the license plate, while the car itself was spotless led to the arrest here today of Jess Franklin Carter, alias Jack Carter, wanted here and at Wichita Falls in connection with hijackings. He was paroled six months ago from state prison to which he had been sentenced for 99 years, following conviction at Wichita Falls in 1927 in connection with a series of "paper sack" hijackings.

Local officers observed the muddy license plate, followed the car, and when the driver refused to stop gave chase. As they closed in, the driver leaped from his car and fired one shot. An officer returned the fire, shooting four times. No one was hurt.

The fugitive fled on foot, officers pursuing and capturing him a few blocks from the abandoned car.

Complaint of robbery with firearms was filed here against Carter following the holdup of C. L. Blankenship, filling station operator, on the night of June 6, when $25 was taken. A futile chase followed at Cisco, where the man sought was located two hours later, but finally eluded officers.

in the dry belt that it is their salvation and their hope was described as a very neat trick if the Republicans could do it.

To the skeptics, some of the administration regulars replied that the Republicans handle the economic problems of the country in the desire of the people to have the existing critical situation many thousands of voters would be willing to compromise their prohibition views to that extent.

Not So Dry

Some point was made of the fact that the administration has had fair success in picturing Mr. Hoover as a wet to the wets and a dry to the drys. It was recalled that although Mr. Hoover's acceptance speech at Palo Alto in 1928 was thoroughly dry on its face an effort was made to convey a contrary impression through important Republican newspapers of anti-prohibition viewpoint. Col William J. Donovan, then a Hoover right-hand man, called the correspondents of those wet papers under a tree on the Hoover lawn and outlined to them how the candidate was not at all as dry as his words might imply.

It was recalled, too, that when the president endorsed the misleading summary of the conclusions of the Wickersham report insofar as he declared against repeal he was stamped immediately as having definitely and conclusively cast his political fortunes with the extreme drys.

George Akerson, then one of the White House secretaries, took it upon himself to "interpret" the president as not meaning what the written word conveyed. The effort on that occasion was to have it understood that all the president meant was that he did not favor repeal in behalf of the plan of some such federal dispensary system as proposed by Col. Henry W. Anderson of Virginia, a member of the Wickersham commission.

With Akerson at the head of the Republican press bureau in the forthcoming campaign, political observers will be alert to see whether an association with Hollywood has dulled the edge of his wit or whether he will succeed in painting his old chief as a wet to the wets and a dry to the drys.

Wichitan Arrested On Oklahoma City Charge

Thurman Daniels of Wichita Falls was arrested at 9 o'clock Friday night at the request of Oklahoma City police. He is wanted in that city on a burglary charge. Daniels told Police Chief Dick Morris he would waive extradition and the Sooner officers are expected to arrive Saturday to return him to that city. Night Captain Ed McDonald and George Garrett made the arrest.

The defendant was recently sentenced to 30 days in jail in connection with the theft of several purses from the Elwyn shop, 912 Eighth.

worker, told the women there were some things that happened in the convention that would need explaining, though nothing of which they need be ashamed.

"The 6,000,000 Methodists of the country love Mr. Hoover so much," she concluded on a note of hope, "that I think we can be assured everything will be satisfactory."

Leaders of dry organizations held an indignation meeting, at which the high note was resentment over what they called President Hoover's "betrayal!" The final decision, after prolonged and bitter discussion, was to wait until the Democrats act. Letters began to come in today to dry leaders talking of a possible third "prohibition" party.

Sanders in Chicago

Republicans, nearly all of whom were gone tonight, left things here in charge of Everett Sanders, the new chairman of the Republican national committee whose selection was a surprise. Sanders is regarded as a compromise choice. Leaders were looking for an outstanding figure, nationally known, but no agreement could be reached—and some considered actually turned down the job.

Sanders announced today he would make his headquarters here, instead of New York or Washington, as is usual. This enhanced the impression that Postmaster General Walter Brown, at President Hoover's side in Washington, will be the real manager and director of the campaign for re-election.

That the Garner campaign in the Democratic convention will smack of Texas freshness and outspokenness was made certain today in a statement issued by State Senator Walter F. Woodul, of Houston, Texas, campaign manager of the Garner forces, when he swung open the doors of headquarters here.

He directed his jibes at James A. Farley, Roosevelt manager, who, he said, should wear on his breast the "sign of the double-cross" because of dropping Shouse as permanent chairman after the chairman of the executive committee had been selected for that post.

Roosevelt, Woodul declared, can not win the nomination. He was confident of that.

Garner Has "Edge"

"In the only two states where an opposition candidate was placed before the people, Massachusetts and California, Roosevelt took a decided beating," the Texan declared. "In the light of recent publicity, Mr. Garner is in much better position with the rank and file of the voters than is Mr. Roosevelt, and besides Mr. Garner is well-fitted to make a strenuous campaign."

Woodul claimed that Farley, throughout, has angled for support of other candidates and states by holding out the hope of the vice presidential nomination, mentioning Kentucky, Texas, Ohio and Illinois.

"When one considers that none had fallen for the bait, it is evident that Mr. Farley will never have his candidate within striking distance, and that there is no danger of a stampede," he said.

Mrs. Ross Arrives

Shouse was only the first of the host of Democratic leaders and candidates who will get on the scene early. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, former governor of Wyoming who is in charge of women's activities among the Democrats also arrived today.

Farley, campaign manager for Governor Roosevelt, will arrive tomorrow to set up headquarters here. Alfred E. Smith, regarded as the leader of the "stop Roosevelt" movement, will arrive Wednesday in company with his close friend, Chairman John J. Raskob of the Democratic national committee. Headquarters for other candidates, including former Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma and Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, will be set up early next week. Headquarters for Speaker Garner formally were opened today.

Shouse said he had heard that Roosevelt has reserved a suite of rooms here. Whether the New York candidate will come here is still a question. He may make a dramatic appearance here if the "stop Roosevelt" movement makes headway.

The convention preliminaries will begin when designated members of the resolutions committee meet here Thursday. They can not officially begin to draft the platform until elected by the convention, but they plan to go over the ground thoroughly, in order to prevent, if possible, the tedious all-night sessions which are the torment of platform-makers at every convention.

Shouse said the sample prohibition planks showed a trend toward repeal, and that many of them included liquor control plans.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN RATHKE

Wichitan Succumbs At Home at Age of 71

Soap-Soap-Soap-Soap-- which can you believe the best?

A thousand and one brands of soap are flung at your head—which are you to choose?

What do you want in the soap you buy?

We believe you want absolute cleansing—positive proof of labor saving, sure economy—and decent treatment of soft hands and fine fabrics.

FOR ABSOLUTE CLEANING:
Select a soap that is all soap. Don't use a soap that contains silicate of soda* or tallow base. Both of these ingredients retard the cleansing process materially. Use a soap made of pure, sweet, vegetable and nut oils—these take out the dirt and put none in.

TO SAVE LABOR:
Select a soap that makes a rich, foaming suds in luke-warm water. Soaps with a tallow base require hot, boiling water to melt this base that holds them together. Boiling water not only adds labor—it destroys your clothes and roughens your hands.

TO SAVE MONEY:
Don't buy a soap heavy with water nor bulky by flaking and puffing. Soap granules, made of pure vegetable oils, without a tallow base, without silicate of soda, without free alkali, will go farther than any other type of soap and will do the work quicker and easier.

FOR SAFETY:
Use a soap that requires no boiling. Boiling water destroys the fibres of fabrics as well as spoils your hands. A pure, vegetable soap works better in luke-warm water than most other soaps do with intense boiling. It leaves clothes sweeter-smelling, softer, and whiter. It rinses freely and clothes iron white instead of turning yellow under the heat.

White King Granulated Soap is a pure soap—made of sweet, clean, vegetable and nut oils. It has no tallow base, no silicate of soda, no free alkalis, no glycerine. It washes quickly in luke-warm water, makes a rich, foamy suds, requires no rubbing, no boiling and rinses out easily. Best for every household use.

Relatives Starve Man To Death To 'Drive Out Devils'

BALTIMORE, Md., June 17. (UP)—Strange circumstances connected with the death of a "devil ridden" cripple, apparently from starvation, was presented today at a police hearing here.

"The Lord told us not to feed him; to drive out the devils," officers were told last night by Paul Aubel, 30, after the body of his 26-year-old brother, Grant, had been found in the Aubel home.

"We stopped giving him food on March 20. We relented two days later and gave him one meal. We didn't feed him again. On April 3 the Lord told me to bind him hand and foot and cast him into the outer darkness.

"I tied his hands and feet, but he chewed the strings and I tied him again. He died the next morning."

"Bring 'Em Back Alive"

By FRANK BUCK with EDWARD ANTHONY

For 18 exciting years, Frank Buck has been gathering live animals, reptiles and birds for American zoos, circuses, and dealers. He hunts them barehanded in jungle and mountain-fastness, in wildest Africa, in darkest Thibet—but he always brings 'em back alive.

He now tells about a 16,000-mile journey into the interior of Nepal to capture, at the order of Dr. William T. Hornaday of the New York Zoological park, a great armor-plated, single-horned Indian rhino—rare as the unicorn of fable. He obtains help from General Shum Shere, a nephew of the Maharajah of Nepal. Buck's plans are frustrated by the Ganges river which is on a rampage. He starts back for Singapore. Later he returns to collect the rare rhinos the Maharajah has captured for him. The most difficult part is transporting them to the rail head in India. After an exciting journey, he arrives in Calcutta with his rhinos.

Of the thousands of monkeys and apes Buck has brought to America from Asia, the most interesting was a female orang-utan picked up in Borneo which he named Gladys. In the last chapter, Buck related the experience of a white adventurer named Holter, who gave up the tea business to go on a tiger trapping expedition. Meeting Holter a year later, Buck hears the story of how Holter lost his leg when caught in his own steel trap.

Returning to America with one of the biggest of many floating zoos Buck brought back, he has trouble with a huge orang-utan and is aided by a powerful sailor, "Chips," to subdue the animal.

CHAPTER XX

I wanted to see if I couldn't tame down this little demon before reaching San Francisco. After all, Barnes wanted a manageable specimen, and, if possible, I didn't want to disappoint him. If I could get a collar around the animal's neck and take him out of his cage daily, in the process getting him used to the idea that I was a friend, not an enemy, some progress would be made toward taking the fight out of him. Once he got it through his head that he was safe in my company, and saw how much fun it would be to be let out of his cage for exercise in the warm sun, he'd be a different animal. One can't ever be sure about these things but that was my guess about this particular orang.

"We're going to take Shrimpo out of his cage?" asked Chips. This was the name he had given the ape.

"Yes."

The carpenter's disappointment was obvious. "Hell! I thought you had a real job." Chips had never taken the orang seriously on account of its shortness of stature. It was less than 4½ feet in height, which was no reason to assume, as Chips had done, that this was not a formidable creature. An orang can't be judged by its height. The short back legs give an impression of squatness that has more than once resulted in an underrating of the fighting powers of these dangerous apes.

Chips had evidently not taken the trouble to notice that Shrimpo's arms, for instance, were all out of proportion to his height. They were enormous, with great bulging muscles. I thought I had a pretty sizeable pair of biceps—(I weighed about 200 pounds at the time, most of it bone and muscle, thanks to years of strenuous work that was death to fat)—but Shrimpo's were much bigger around than mine. Chips had also failed to notice the animal's big mouth and wicked teeth—or, if he had noticed them, he had lacked the perception to see that this ape was not to be taken lightly. As a matter of fact, Shrimpo was a good match for the average two or three men.

"This is a real job, Chips," I said. "You'll find that out when we get started."

"Quit your kidding, boss," said Chips, as he disdainfully eyed Shrimpo, in front of whose cage we were standing. "If that little feller got fresh I'd put him on my knee and spank him."

"Don't be so sure of that, Chips. But we'll go into that later. I want to explain how you and I are going to get the ape out of his cage and hold him while Lal puts on the collar."

"What!" exclaimed Chips. "Three people to put a collar on that little runt! Gimme the collar. I'll do it myself."

Lal started grinning.

"What the hell's he laughin' at?" roared Chips. "I suppose he thinks I can't do it alone. He thought I couldn't move those tiger cages alone either."

"Calm down, Chips. This is different from moving tiger cages."

"You ain't tellin' me that monks is worse than tigers, boss, are you?"

"When they're loose and the tigers are boxed, yes." Chips didn't seem capable of getting anything through that thick skull of his. "We're going to get started now, Chips," I said. "Here's the dope. First we'll knock the front of the cage out. I'll make a quick reach for him and grab a wrist. Then—"

"Let me do that part, boss. I'll show the little shrimp."

"Don't interrupt. I'll grab him first. I've done it before. Looks easy but is isn't. It takes experience. I'll drag him out of his cage with a swift yank. Your job is to grab the other wrist quickly. We'll stretch his arms out straight, like this. (I stretched out my arms till they were parallel with the floor of the deck.) Then, while we're holding the little devil, Lal will snap the collar, with chain attached, around his neck from behind. Then we'll all let go together, jump back and run the end of the chain around a stanchion."

"There's nothing to that," said Chips.

"Let me finish. It'll take every bit of strength we've got to keep that animal's arms stretched out. Don't fool yourself about that. He's a powerful little cuss. If I should let go he'd make a quick lunge for you, to break your hold. He could snap your wrist with one bite. But I'm not going to let go. How about you? If you let go, I'd be in the same danger."

"Say, boss, you don't think that little roach is going to bother me, do you? I've handled bigger roaches than him. Take Osgood. One day—"

"Never mind about Osgood. We've got to get busy. Do you understand what you're to do?"

"Hell! There's nothing to understand. It's as easy as—"

"Remember what I said before. If one of us lets go the other will probably get hurt. Maybe badly hurt."

"There's a swell chance of me letting go, boss! If I couldn't hold a little flea like that I'd—"

"Let's go!" I said.

I proceeded to pry off the iron bars of the cage with a crowbar. The occupant didn't wait to be yanked out. The idea of getting out of his cage appealed to him. With an angry grunt, which was his way of saying, "Get out of my way!" he stepped forth. As he did I grabbed one wrist, Chips grabbing the other. We pulled his arms out straight, firmly holding him as we had planned. The carpenter had followed instructions and seemed to have a very good grip on the wrist he was holding.

The orang, boiling over with rage, was making frenzied efforts to reach us with his teeth, violently twisting and bobbing his head. His struggles to get at us were nothing to worry about, for we were holding him securely; but that head was moving in all directions in a perfect riot of twists and squirms, making it impossible for Lal to get the collar on. The only sounds that came from the animal were the alternate grunts and sucking-in of air that are characteristic of an orang on the warpath.

"Again, Lal!" I yelled after the boy had made five or six unsuccessful attempts to get the collar around the struggling ape's neck. Once more Lal tried but again he failed.

"Don't take all year, Blacky!" came from Chips, whose breathing was an indication that the animal was giving him more work than he had expected.

"Hold on, Chips!" I yelled. The carpenter, normally the most talkative fool I had ever encountered, made no reply except a muttered oath. The strain was beginning to tell on me and I knew the carpenter must be feeling it too. I gave Lal a cussing he didn't deserve, imploring him to snap that infernal collar around the animal's neck if he didn't want to be tossed overboard.

Chips was heaving and panting as if he had been running a marathon. Suddenly I saw him go white. Instantly I knew he was going to let go. He did. I lost no time in following suit. It would have been silly to try to hang on alone.

I jumped back, the orang coming after me with those great arms outstretched. I'm keen for affection but I didn't want one of those embraces. The orang's method of fighting, described elsewhere in these pages, is to draw his victim to him in one of those great hugs and then tear him to pieces with his teeth.

As I cautiously backed away I could hear Chips yelling. "This'll fix him, boss!" He was holding up the crowbar with which I had opened the cage. The idot was trying to hand it to me, nervously edging up.

"Get to hell out of here, you ——!" I yelled.

This boob was committing the added crime of trying to get my attention while the animal was closing in on me. As if he hadn't sinned enough in letting go that arm.

The orang, as I kept scrambling for position, made a sudden rush at me. He had the advantage of a longer reach but I knew more about boxing. As he spread out his arms to grab me he gave me a beautiful opening. I waded in and let him have it smack on the point of the jaw. It was one of those uppercuts that gets results, a wallop that had all of my beef behind it. The collision with the enemy's chin came just as the arms were about to enfold me. Shrimpo kissed the deck with a bang while some sailors who had run over to see the scrap broke out into applause like fans at a prize fight.

It was a clean knockout. The orang, landing flat on his back, slept the sleep of the kayoed.

After Lal had snapped the collar around Shrimpo's neck, we fastened the ape to a stanchion by a short length of the chain. When we brought him back to consciousness by dashing a bucket of water over him, that was where he found himself.

Chips spent the rest of the voyage making excuses. One day his story was that his hands were perspiring so freely he had been unable to hold on. "No man," he bellowed, "could 'a' held on with his hands moppin' wet." His listeners—fellow sailors who taunted him for the rest of the trip, no longer fearful of his bullying—broke into a horse laugh.

The next day the carpenter's story was to the effect that he had shifted his fingers to get a better grip, the animal eluding his grasp as he did. This story was also greeted with derisive howls.

Chips ceased to be the bully of the forecastle. He had been unable to change the opinion of his mates that the reason why he let go was that he was scared. What really broke his heart, however, was the fact that Osgood ("that roach!") had witnessed his disgrace. Osgood was his hated rival, having once come close to licking the carpenter. Now Osgood acted as if he'd enjoy another chance at the champ. I often wondered whether the fight took place.

Shrimpo soon discovered that there was a lot of fun to be had basking in the sunshine on the deck. We had fine weather practically all the way back and my orang got the benefit of most of it. There were one or two minor flare-ups and when the animal decided that these weren't getting him anywhere he decided to behave himself.

By the time we arrived in San Francisco he was conducting himself in such mannerly fashion that I was able to lead him over by his chain to where Al Barnes came up to meet me. The showman was greatly pleased with the animal and the deal was closed then and there.

NEW LIGHTING METHOD FOUND

Scientist's Invention Gives Illumination Like Day

WORCESTER, Mass., June 17. (UP)—A new illuminating medium which produces "a steady white light, having all the qualities of daylight," has been discovered and will be announced soon, John J. Donovan of Bellingham, Wash., declared in the commencement oration at Worcester Polytechnic institute today.

He was graduated from the school in 1882. He said the discovery would "change the history of electric lighting." He had learned of the discovery, he revealed, "after spending hours in the private laboratory of a friend."

The new light would be produced by "carbon dioxide gas, introduced into clear gas tubes under proper electric current," Donovan explained. "We are going to take transparent gas filled tubes and arrange them around our rooms in rows of three or four at the cornice level and regulate intensity by the number of tubes we turn on; some of the tubes have shown therapeutic value and will help out our ultra violet ray deficiency."

Railway Credit Corp. Ready to Aid Carriers

NEW YORK, June 17. G. Buckland, president of the corporation, stated today.

He also added that the Railroad Credit corporation would be in a position during the year to assume $60,000,000 in advances to roads unable to meet their fixed charges and which did not have collateral adequate to obtain a loan from the R. F. C. Buckland estimated that aid amounting to $100,000,000 would be necessary for the needy roads to meet their interest payments.

The R. F. C., he said, is expected to take care of the balance amounting to $40,000,000.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, June 17.—When a veteran like Senator Reed Smoot rakes memories of his 30 years in the senate to find no parallel for the lack of partisanship displayed in working the tax bill through that body, there must be something to it.

REED SMOOT

Particularly when James E. Watson, G. O. P. senate leader, Pat Harrison, spearhead of the Democratic finance committee platoon, and "Jim" Couzens, who is located somewhere on the near side of the Republican left flank, are all in agreement with Smoot.

This all came out the day after President Hoover did what Harrison called his "Paul Revere ride" to the senate to talk balance-the-budget. There was a veritable love feast of non-partisanship. Everybody shared but Mr. Hoover.

Harrison Stands Pat

Senator Harrison cast suspicious glances at the motives of the presidential visit.

"If he wanted to come here, express his views and have his name carried on the front page of many papers as having brow-beaten the senate into action, he had a right to do so; but I say that the revenue bill would have been completed yesterday whether or not the persident had come to the senate," the Mississippian said. And no Republican disagreed with that.

In the face of that Democratic thrust at Hoover purposes, however, the non-partisanship love feast got going with Smoot's assertion that he had "never experienced or witnessed such unity of purpose" as there had been on the revenue bill.

"There has not been an intimation of partisanship," Smoot said, and he specially thanked Harrison for his "splendid cooperation."

Not to be outdone, Watson said he never had heard of anybody "more heartily and sympathetically cooperating" than had the Mississippian.

And just to complete the mutual admiration circle Harrison allowed that nobody had "acted more patriotically" than had the Republican left winger from Michigan, Couzens, in putting his shoulder to the balance-the-budget wheel.

Everything Lovely

What could be sweeter—and in a presidential year, too? Everybody but President Hoover got thanked for something or other and a pleasant time was had by all.

Yet Harrison was right about Mr. Hoover's getting the headlines. And senators, be they Republicans, Democrats or what-have-you, seemed to suspect that maybe Secretary Ogden Mills had something to do with it, particularly when Watson disclaimed, for himself and Smoot, having been consulted about the presidential visitation.

Americans Warned To Evacuate Zone Of Chinese Conflict

WASHINGTON, June 17. (INS)—All Americans at Kaichow, Hopei province, China, have been urged to leave there immediately because of imminent hostilities between bandits and government troops.

Kaichow is occupied by the bandits and the place is surrounded by government troops, the American legation was informed by Samuel J. Goering, of Mound Ridge, Kan., who is now at Tamingfu.

There are seven Americans residing at Kaichow, the state department said today. They are H. J. Brown of Mountain Lake, Tenn., his wife and two children; Miss Elisabeth Goertz, of Hillsboro, Kan.; Miss Frieda N. Sprunger of Berne, Ind., and Dr. Pannabecker of Elkhart, Ind.

A Paris composer has been charged with assaulting his publisher with a roll of music. Just being sure that his songs would make a hit.

A writer says that a good story must always have an ending that satisfies. The trouble with that is that most wives won't wait to hear the end.

The only real trouble with congress' soak-the-rich idea is that Wall street beat them to it.

Consumers Must Pay

A FLAT and final announcement comes from Washington that the new levy of 3 per cent on electrical energy in the billion dollar tax measure applies to domestic as well as commercial or industrial consumption. Secretary Ogden Mills emphatically declared that it is to be levied against the person paying for the electrical energy and will be collected by the vendor, who will in turn make the remittance to the government. Of course. It is ever the ultimate consumer who pays the tax.

Lynch Davidson bounded into the political arena a few days ago. In drafting his platform he inserted a plank advocating the turnover of sales tax. His advisers advised Davidson to delete it. Very greatly against his will he eliminated his pet plank. Now he is convinced that the American people who will carry the burden for a year or two with nuisance taxes of every kind as well as income taxes will be given an education that will turn their minds not only to the fairness of the sales tax but to the necessity of the congress adopting it as a taxing system in the near future. They are going to be ridden raw in the payment of nuisance taxes.

Standard Oil Points the Way

NOW following in the wake of several large corporations the Standard Oil company of New Jersey has announced the doctrine of a five-day week for all salaried employes and wage earners, and a general rearrangement of working schedules to afford employment to the largest possible number. All this will become effective July 1. More than 43,000 workers, including executives, have accepted pay reductions of one-eleventh of the present compensations. Those receiving salaries of $100 a month or less have been exempted.

There are many signs in the industrial skies that the five-day week plan is on the way. John D. Rockefeller Jr., threw a large sized dynamite bomb into the political tents of America when he shot his bolt demanding the repeal of the 18th amendment. Now the Standard Oil executives are shooting the five-day week into the camps of the wage earners on their pay roll. Where is Henry Ford? What is he going to do to startle the industrial world and his people?

Alabama Re-Elects Hugo Black Senator

SIX years ago Hugo Black was elected United States senator from Alabama. He had the support of James Thomas Heflin and the klan. In 1928 he refused to bolt and went dodwn the line with and for the regulars. He was a candidate for renomination this year. He failed to attain a majority over all in the first primary. He fought it out with the second man in a run-off. He won by a handsome majority. Now James Thomas Heflin is on the outside looking in. He bolted in 1928. Hugo Black, who did not have a collapsible conscience, gave loyal support to all the nominees on the Democratic ticket from president down to constable. Now he has been given his reward by the unterrified of the Alabama state. Rank and filers of the southern states have excellent memories.

All the Credit to the Women

SECRETARY OF WAR PAT HURLEY is a prize spellbinder of the Republicans. Speaking before a thousand men and women attending the national convention "Handsome Pat" paid tribute to the activities of the women in elections and said: "In 1928 their votes carried Herbert Hoover into the White House." Why rob Dr. Hiram Evans and his followers of the credit of having carried five southern states in the month of November in the year 1928? That was the pledge given and Dr. Evans and his lieutenants claimed to have made good their pledge. Why should "Handsome Pat" discriminate in thus placing the credit four years afterward?

A County Auditor Quits

IN DALLAS county a special grand jury, after investigating county finances, recommended the dismissal of the county auditor for inefficiency. He resigned. Private auditors made a report that Dallas county for some years had bought groceries for the county detention home at such rates as 60 cents for a loaf of bread and $1.10 for a pound of crackers. Also, that asphalt costing $102,997 had been purchased without bids and for which the private auditors had said no delivery tickets were found. Why a county auditor? Why not authorize the state auditor and his assistants to do the work the state over?

SO THEY SAY!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE MOST GIGANTIC PAINTING EVER MADE—The picture 70 feet high and 40 feet wide, the largest ever painted, was the work of Hokusai, the Japanese painter. It was done at Yedo in 1817 on the occasion of the Temple Festival on the 14th day of the 4th month. The gigantic figure of Dharma was painted with enormous brushes dipped in veritable casks of India ink. The work is on such a scale that the design could only be seen by those who mounted with ladder to the temple roof.

This picture brought Hokusai great fame and the favors of the Shogun Iyenasi. But when he died in 1849, at the age of 89 years, leaving behind him more than 30,000 paintings and drawings in accordance with his last wish his tomb was inscribed Gwakioyen Manjing Haka (Tomb of Manji the Old Drawing Fool).

JAILING THE RAINDROPS—Emperor Shirakwa ruled Japan from 1073-1129. In the last year of his reign violent rainfall caused the river Kammo to rise and to devastate the countryside by a disastrous inundation. To cope with the flood the emperor ordered a pailful of rainwater placed under arrest by way of chastisement. It does not seem as though the emperor's stern measures had any salutary effect upon the fgractious rain. History records that emperor's dying words: There were only three things that did not obey me, the waters of the Kammo river, the dice in backgammon, and the Buddhist priests.

THE PASSKEY TO PARADISE—"Om Mahi Padme Hum" are the first words taught to babes in Tibet. It is the most frequently uttered sentence in the country, and is the last prayer of the dying. An all-compelling, irresistible talisman and password to paradise, it is carved endlessly upon rocks and walls and inscribed upon the prayer wheels with which people pray without opening their mouths.

AWARDS MADE AT FESTIVAL

Winners Announced In Style Show at Olney

Special to The Record News.

OLNEY, Texas, June 17.—Over 2,000 people attended the first annual cotton goods style show sponsored by the Olney Chamber of Commerce under the direction of Misses Edrye Raines and Lela Dalton, here last night.

Of the 75 entries, divided into six groups according to age, the 12 to 20 inclusive girls created the most interest. There were 34 of these girls wearing dresses they made themselves and represented eight 4-H clubs over the county. As there were so many excellent dresses entered, it was necessary to award six prizes instead of the announced three.

The judges Miss Marie Strange, home demonstration agent of Baylor county; Miss Virginia King, home demonstration agent of Jack county, and Mrs. G. R. McNeil of Archer City, had to call the girls back several times in order to decide on the dresses to be awarded the prizes. Finally they eliminated all but six and duplicate prizes were awarded in the case of the ties.

Prizes Awarded

Doors through which the contestants entered appeared to be a huge bale of cotton.

Among the entries were representatives from the 4-H clubs at Colston, Bitter Creek, Jean, Proffitt, Ingleside, Red Top, Loving and Olney. These clubs were organized by and are under the supervision of Miss Norfleet Grimes, county home demonstration agent.

Len C. Warren, president of the Olney Chamber of Commerce, awarded prizes of $3 for first place, $2 for second place and $1 for third place in each group. In the group for girls 7 years and under, Misses Jaffie Ray and Joe Dell Keeter, twins age 4, won first place, Cherri Hannis, age 3, second place and Elisabeth Ann Graham, age 7, won third prize; boys 7 years and under Will Morris Hannis, age 7; Emmitt Forrester Jr., age 2, and Billy Joe Tillman, 7; girls 8 to 12 inclusive, Edith Wolverton, Mattie Lee Atchley, and Dorothy Rogers; boys 8 to 12 inclusive, Glenn Atchley, Dick Mullins and Barney Wilborn; girls 12 to 20 inclusive Lois Groves, Jean, and Charlsie Guimarin, Olney, tied for first place, Lucille Winnett, Loving, won second, and Misses Juanita Hankins, Ingleside, Alletha Harris, Loving and Mildred Jones, Loving, tied for third place, duplicate prizes were awarded to ties; women 21 and over, Mrs. Olin Bratcher, Loving, Mrs. H. Archer Has Vexing Problem As Agent For Penitentiary Refuses Prisoner

Special to The Record News

ARCHER CITY, Texas, June 17.—Archer county officials are in a trying predicament. The county has a prisoner, sentenced to two years in the penitentiary but whom the penitentiary agent won't take.

The county doesn't want him; neither does the state.

The agent was in Archer City yesterday and took into custody Leo Bellows, convicted in the May term of court on charges of forgery, and sentenced to four years.

But when the agent saw Henry Cagle, given a two-year term on a plea of guilty to cow theft, he flatly refused to accept him for the penitentiary.

Cagle suffered a crushed leg when the truck in which he was alleged to have been hauling stolen cows turned over. He has not recovered from the injury.

The agent declared that he had specific instructions not to bring cripples to the penitentiary. The prison had no place for them, he said.

So, the Archer county sheriff is forced to board and lodge the unwanted prisoner, for which he is paid by the state in script.

The sheriff doesn't like the idea, the commissioners court doesn't like it, and a complaint is being lodged with the prison commission.

Meanwhile, Cagle continues to be the "guest" of the county.

Sunset News

Special to The Record News

SUNSET, Texas, June 17.—A. J. Halford of Seymour is visiting here in the home of his son, Robert Halford. Mr. Halford is 75 years old and has been in poor health for several months.

O. W. Myers, superintendent of Sunset school, has gone to College Station to attend school for several weeks.

E. E. McConnell attended the general assembly of the Nazarene church, which convened at Wichita, Kan., last week-end.

Dan Baker, a farmer three miles east of Sunset, reports having been held up and robbed by two men as he was returning from Bowie one evening this week. He said the men approached him from a vacant house as he was driving his wagon by it a few miles from Bowie, and relieved him of $5. He had some more money but managed to slip it from his pocket and drop it in the wagon before the robbers reached him, thereby saving it from being taken. He had sold some hogs that day and supposed the men had seen him get the pay for them and had gone ahead to wait for him at the vacant house. Darkness prevented identification.

Rev. Calvin Dennis of Marysville, Okla., will occupy the pulpit at the Sunset Baptist church Sunday morning and evening.

Rev. C. D. Droomgole of Waurika, Okla., will be here to fill his appointment at the Lake Valley Baptist church, east of Sunset, Sunday morning and evening.

The Sunset singing class will meet for a regular monthly song service here Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2:30. Representative singers will be here from several other classes.

Kaiser Wants To Attend Wedding Of Prince, Paper Says

BERLIN, June 17. (AP)—A report that former Kaiser Wilhelm wants to return to Germany from exile was printed today by the society news weekly, Kleines Journal, but it was immediately denied in responsible quarters.

The paper said the kaiser wants to come back next autumn for the wedding of Prince Gustaf Adolf of Sweden and Princess Sibylle of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha. Thereafter the former monarch was reported wishing to take up residence at Coburg.

Hohenzollern agents reiterated that Wilhelm never wants to come back until Germany calls him, and a government spokesman professed ignorance of the kaiser's intentions, declaring it would be up to Holland to say the first word.

But the newspaper said "there is no doubt that the government is willing to permit him to come back."

Police sought a gambler seen last with Winslett as the assailant.

After the shooting, the man dropped the pistol in Winslett's automobile, leaped into a waiting machine and escaped.

Q.—Is the Panama canal threatened by earthquakes?—L. J.

A.—The canal is located in a region of the world where earthquakes are of frequent occurrence. They average about 45 a year but are normally slight, with insufficient seismic strength to injure the canal. Two new seismographs have just been installed by the Panama canal in the administration building at Balboa Heights. Should an earthquake of the intensity of the one which almost completely destroyed the Central American city of Antigua many years ago, demolished its famous cathedral and caused the removal of the capital of Guatemala from that city, be experienced, it is probable the canal would be temporarily put out of use. Demolition by earthquake of the locks might drain the Lake of Gatun.

VERNON GOLFER WINS GREENBELT MEDAL IN PLAY-OFF

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Hall of Fame

Many factors entered into the success of this year's Greenbelt tournament. Credit is especially due the committee of the Electra Country club in charge of the program and arrangements. The committee included Rollo Davidson, U. G. White, J. H. Marriott Jr., and Joe Creager.

The Marchant's department store kept interest in the tournament alive by displaying in its windows the prizes for the winner and runnerup in each flight.

One of the prizes was a meal ticket, and maybe you think there wasn't a scrap for it.

May Enter Trans-Mississippi

Some of the Greenbelt golfers may enter the Trans-Mississippi Golf association tournament opening next Monday at Oklahoma City. Roy Farrell and Bill Rogers of Vernon and Jack Parr of Electra were counting on going.

Our best wishes for success to Jack Parr, if he decides to enter. The bronzed Electran is the official hard luck champion of the Greenbelt. He is one of the best golfers in the association, yet year after year luck runs against him, either in the early or the later rounds of the championship flight. This year he lost in the first round on the 20th hole to Frank Foxhall, the southpaw former champion from Memphis.

Last year he had a little better run of luck. In the first round he bumped off R. V. West of Memphis, also a former champion, in the first round, 6 and 5. In the second round he floored Roy Campbell of McLean, 5 and 4. In the quarterfinals he was still going good, defeating the veteran C. E. Haynes of Frederick, Okla., 2 and 1. But there he stopped. Ira Merchant of Clarendon bounced him out in the semifinal in a tight battle that ended with Merchant two up and one to play.

Bill Rogers also went to the semifinals of the 1931 tournament, only to be eliminated by City Walker of Quanah. A peculiar coincidence is that both of these semifinalists in 1931, were beaten in the very first round of the 1932 tournament.

About "Mother" Cooke

The board of directors may not have taken action on this but the Rambler is going ahead and announce anyway that Mrs. W. H. Cooke of Clarendon ought to be, and hereby is, nominated and elected the official "mother" of the Greenbelt Golf association.

Her three sons—Al, Dick and Bill—are members of the association. With her sons and a daughter, Francis, Mrs. Cooke journeyed to Electra to attend the tournament and followed the march of events with the same enthusiasm she showed at the Clarendon tournament last year. She is one of the few remaining women of the picturesque southern aristocracy. Her face is familiar to every golfer in the Greenbelt, and she is beloved by each one of them.

When the writer was a lad I read many books about the old Confederacy, just as any southern boy does, and the books of one particular author made an impression that has not faded to this day. Have you, by any chance, read "Surry of Eagle's Nest," or "Mohun," or any other books by John Esten Cooke; and have you read his military biography of "Stonewall" Jackson? If you have, you doubtless share those thrilling impressions with me.

The Cookes of Clarendon trace their family history indirectly back to this same John Esten Cooke. Mary Esten Cooke, the second daughter in the family, is named after him. Incidentally, she, too, is a writer of fiction.

John Esten Cooke was an officer on the staff of Col. "Jeb" Stuart, the gallant cavalry officer who served under Stonewall Jackson. Despite the grim tragedy of war, Cooke's lively imagination built up many a thrilling plot for war stories, and these he incorporated in his novels. He was capable, also, of authoritative biography, as is evidenced by his life of Jackson. Though written by a southerner, it is a remarkably impartial account of old Stonewall's stormy military career.

The Mail Box

A Crowell booster writes as follows:

"Next Sunday the Electra Oilers and Crowell will meet on the Crowell field in one of the most exciting baseball games of the season. The Oilers are leading the league by one full game and the Crowell boys are still smarting under the defeat that they got at Electra earlier in the season, and they certainly aim to get revenge by knocking them off the top or bring them down to a level with Frederick.

"One of the largest crowds ever to see a ball game in Crowell is expected to see the Oilers go down to their first defeat in eight games. People will probably come from Electra, Vernon and other points to see this game as it is one of the most important games of the season.

"The Crowell club has added four of the best ball players in West Texas since they met the Oilers last, and were nosed out in the ninth inning by the score of 6 to 5.

"We are making no apologies for our present standing and making no predictions for the second half but just warning the other seven clubs in the league to watch our smoke especially Electra, Vernon and Chillicothe.

"Crowell will also meet the Vernon orphans the following Sunday on the Crowell lot."

RAIN STOPS NETTERS

WILMINGTON, Del., June 17. (AP)—Rain halted play in the men's singles division of the Delaware state tennis championships today soon after Mrs. John B. FARRELL BEATS BILLY HOLMES

Champ's 79 Lags Behind Winning Score of 75

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 17.—Worn down by Thursday's 36-hole battle, in which he bagged the 1932 Greenbelt Golf association title by defeating R. G. Greenhaw of Memphis, Billy Holmes of Shamrock today lost to Roy Farrell of Vernon in their play-off for tournament medalist honors.

The two shot sub-par 70's in the qualifying round last Monday. Today neither was able to get anywhere near such a figure, but Farrell came out the winner with a 37-38—75, three above par, while Holmes lagged with a 40-39—79.

The stiff wind that prevailed during the championship match Thursday was still whipping across the course today, and this contributed to the worries of the golfers and held down the gallery to a mere handful.

Farrell's victory gave to Vernon at least one of the major honors of the tournament, in which 89 golfers of this section participated. Shamrock, however, ran away with most of the spoils, Holmes bagging the title, A. N. Wood capturing the senior flight championship while H. E. Pendleton was the runnerup, O. T. Nicholson being runnerup in the senior flight consolation, and Frank Mitcham Sr., winning the championship flight consolation.

In addition the Shamrock team won the association's team trophy.

Farrell's and Holmes' cards in the medalist play-off today follow:

Irate Fan Scraps With Wrestler In Mat Battle Here

By MACK TURNER

Mr. Frederick Kuffer, otherwise known as "Ferocious Freddy," lost a wrestling bout, his temper, and came very near losing his ear in last night's grapple show at Govro's arena.

The ferocious Mr. Freddy became impatient after he and his opponent, Silent Condell, had won a fall apiece, and so he decided (while Referee Govro wasn't looking) to punch Condell a good one on the button. This he proceeded to do, and Condell passed out. Unaware of what had happened, Govro at first gave Freddy the decision. A storm of protest greeted this decision, and after Govro had learned what had occurred Condell was given the match on a foul.

But this wasn't all. As Kuffer started out of the arena, an irate Condell fan jumped the ferocious wrestler and was making pretty fair progress in an attempt to bite his ear when the cops were called.

After Billy Love had spotted Mike Howard to the first fall of the semifinal, the popular little Louisville lad came back to win the second and third falls in rapid order to capture the semifinal. Howard won the first fall in 9 minutes and 10 seconds with a headlock. Love used a Japanese toe hold to win the last two falls, the second in 5 minutes and 40 seconds and the final in 5 minutes and 27 seconds.

Alva Anderson and Tommy Walton, both local boys, grappled for 15 minutes to a speedy draw on the preliminary. Govro announced that he had booked a world's championship match between Hugh Nichols, the light heavyweight champion, and Don Juan Humberto the popular Mexico City sheik, for next week. The match will be for the best two out of three falls to a finish.

AUSTIN, June 17. (AP)—Trial of an injunction suit brought by the Texas and New Orleans Railway company to restrain the Texas Railroad commission from interfering with its plan to discontinue a passenger train schedule between Orange and El Paso was passed indefinitely in Travis county district court today.

The railway company several weeks ago consolidated its Argonaut train with its Sunset Limited, running between New Orleans and Los Angeles, after the railroad commission denied permission for it to drop its Argonaut schedule. A temporary injunction was obtained by the company against the commission. Trial of the case on its merits was to begin today but the court was unable to get to it on account of other business.

Russia Not Invited To Paris Oil Parley

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—It was said in oil circles today that representatives of the Russian oil industry have not been invited to participate in the international oil conference in Paris June 29.

The parley will include representatives of the Rumanian oil industry and spokesmen for American, British and Dutch companies and possibly others. Previously it was believed the Russians would take part.

Charles E. Arnott, president fo the Socony-Vacuum corporation, an active leader in the move to stabilize petroleum export markets, will sail next week to attend the meetings.

Dean Makes Up With Cards And Leaves to Rejoin Team

'Dizzy' Admits He Was 'All Wrong' After Talk With Rickey

By LELAND L. CHESLEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 17. (UP)—Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, the eccentric rookie pitcher who recently "deserted" the St. Louis Cardinals because of alleged mistreatment, was en route to Philadelphia tonight to rejoin the Cards—thoroughly convinced of many things, including his age.

Branch Rickey, vice president of the club, handled the situation today and induced Dean to continue his mound work with the Cardinals. Rickey succeeded in convincing Jerome that he actually was 21 when he had signed his contract this spring, and not 20 as Dean thought. The pitcher had contended that a contract signed by him at 20 would be void and that he could not be held to it.

Admits He Was Wrong

After matters had been smoothed over, Dean made public a statement addressed to Rickey in which he admitted he had been "all wrong" in walking out on his club in Philadelphia Wednesday.

"We had some trouble over trivial matters," the statement said, "And I got mad, and while I was mad, I said some things that I should not have said to the newspapers. I have no claim against the St. Louis National league baseball club for $700, referred to in recent newspaper stories, and I find that my marriage license and life insurance policies show that I am past 21 years of age.

"You have made an adjustment with me on behalf of the Houston baseball club on an item of a small amount of money which was sent by the Houston club to my father during the season of 1931. I hope Mr. Street will give me chance to start in the Giants series and I will set them down."

Still Thinks He's Good

Jerome is still convinced that he is good. Before leaving Rickey's office today, the question of walking batters came up. Some one suggested that Jerome might walk "nine or 10 men" in the Giants game.

"Me walk nine or 10 men?" Dizzy inquired. "Why I wouldn't walk than many men in four ball games."

Many things added to Jerome's embarrassment during today's conference, and when he tipped over backwards in a chair and hit the foolr hard as the conference neared a climax, Jerome didn't appear pleased.

The Arbitrator Fixed It

Dizzy quit the Cards in Philadelphia because he claimed his wife had been insulted by Cardinals officials, who, he said, refused to give her an advance on his salary. He also said he had been kicked around like a dog by his teammates. These things too, were changed in the mind of the hurler by Mr. Rickey.

So Dizzy, who said he would rather play with the Alton, Ill., club, one day a week than for the Cardinals, admits that everything is rosy now because the old arbitrator, Branch Rickey, stepped into the picture.

'Rabbit' Benton Switches Clubs Before Game

BEAUMONT, Texas, June 17. (AP)—The league leading Beaumont Exporters came home to give the Tyler Sports a 12 to 1 trouncing this afternoon, Luke Hamlin restricting the visitors to six hits and fanning eight. He had a shutout until Sisler walked and Washington tripled in the eighth.

The Exporters reached Milt Steengrafe for four runs in the first and duplicated the attack in the fifth. When three men got on in the sixth Willis replaced Steengrafe and hurled good ball.

Rabbit Benton switched clubs shortly before game time, joining the Baker boys to play second base in the absence of the injured Tom Holley. When Holley returns to the lineup Benton is expected to occupy the utility role.

Gus Whelan was chased by Umpire Kober in the third for his protest on Easterling's bunt which Whelan contended rolled foul. Fox hit a home run for Beaumont in the eighth. Score:

STEERS 8, TRIBE 1

SAN ANTONIO, June 17. (AP)—Too much left-handed pitching by Oscar Fuhr held the left-handed San Antonio Indians in check while the Dallas Steers fattened their batting averages on Joe Vance with 14 hits to win the opening game of the series on the home lot Friday afternoon, 8 to 1.

The Steers had a big session in the third inning when they scored five runs on four hits and an error by Schofield on a wild throw in attempting a forced play, which let in two runs.

The Tribe scored its lone run in the second inning when Cox doubled to right, advanced on Zaepfel's grounder and came home on Baker's single to center.

Outfielder Langford of the Steers was ordered out of the game in the sixth inning when he objected to Umpire Coe's decision, calling him out at first base on a close play.

M'CABE BLANKS BUCS

GALVESTON, June 17. (AP)—Manager Dick McCabe gave his Fort Worth Cats an 8 to 0 victory over the Galveston Buccaneers here tonight, when he kept the seven Galveston hits widely scattered. The veteran right-hander was in trouble in only one inning, the second, when the Bucs filled the bases with one away, but he settled and retired the side by striking out Ballew and causing Faussett to fly out.

Art Seydler, Galveston right-hander, found miserable support from his mates, with three errors coming at crucial moments letting in five unearned runs.

Big Tom Nash led the offense for the Cats, getting two triples, a single, and a sacrifice in five trips to the plate. Score:

Through an arrangement with Pete Cawthon, Tech coach and director of the school, Miller will supplement in lectures on tackle play and field work. STAR HURLERS HARD TO FIND

Cards and A's Have Two Between Them

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—The question of pitching came before the baseball forum on a day totally devoid of major league games and a quick survey of records, past and present, added a few more dark clouds along the horisons of the two 1931 champions.

Today the A's were tied for second place with an average some 200 points below what they had on June 17, 1931, and the Cards were fourth in the National league struggle. On the two teams only about two really dependable flingers were to be found.

Lefty Grove and Bill Hallahan have kept up their good work, but most of the other aces of the teams which battled in the world series last October have been disappointing. The highly touted newcomers haven't done much to ease the strain.

Grove's current average of .800, gained from 12 victories and three defeats, compares well with his record mark of .886 last year, when he won 31 out of 35 decisions. Hallahan has won six games and lost three, and is only a few points below last season's .679 mark.

On the other hand, Burleigh Grimes, fourth in the National won and lost records in 1931 is doing well with the Chicago Cubs and Flint Rhem was shipped to the Phillies after winning four games and losing two for St. Louis.

Paul Derringer, top man of the National league last season, has lost five of his eight decisions so far while Sylvester Johnson has won three games and lost four as compared to 11 victories and nine defeats in 1931.

The sensation-producing "Dizzy" Dean, who just couldn't lose in the Texas league, stands credited with five victories and four defeats, the second best rating on his club.

Texan In Finals Of Net Tourney

TULSA, Okla., June 17. (AP)—Fred Royer of Dallas and Hal Surface of Kansas City advanced to the finals of the men's singles event in the 31st annual Missouri Valley Tennis tournament here this afternoon by defeating their opponents in straight sets.

Royer disposed of Lowe Runkle of Oklahoma City, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3, while surface found the going only slightly more difficult in defeating Wilbur Hess, youthful Fort Worth star, 6-3, 6-1, 7-5.

The play for the championship tomorrow afternoon.

Earlier, 18-year-old Nelson McIninch of Kansas City won his second successive junior singles title by conquering Albert Rollins, of Okmulgee, Okla., 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Mae Ceurvorst of Wichita, women's champion, added another jewel to her crown by winning the women's doubles title with Miss Eunice Dean of Fort Sam Houston, Texas, 6-3, 6-4, from Miss Charlotte McQuistion of Dallas, and Mrs. Mary Zita McHale-Jacoby of New York.

Vernon Senators Defeat Yankees by 13-12 Score

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, June 17.—Led by Nathan Webb who pounded out four hits, including a home run and double, in five trips to the plate, the Senators increased their lead over their nearest opponent to one full game in the Junior council playground baseball league by defeating the Yankees, 12-13, at the Shive school ground here Thursday evening.

This gave the Senators a firmer grip on first place in the league standing, with two games won and none lost.

N. Webb, Meyer and Weir each crossed the plate four times to lead the run scorers. Bill Coffey paced the Yanks by tallying three times. Aside from N. Webb's heavy hitting, Weir garnered a home run, and Rogers, Meyer, S. Webb and Mason each connected for a double for the Senators.

The lineup:

JACOBS HOWLS OVER REFEREE

Champ's Boss Denies 'Plot' To Give Sharkey Win

By STUART CAMERON

NEW YORK, June 17. (UP)—Today's blast of ballyhoo for the Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey fight came from the hills of Kingston when Joe Jacobs, manager of the champion, declared he wouldn't allow his man to enter the ring unless the boxing commission names an acceptable referee.

"Max Schmeling is in perfect condition," Jacobs said. "We feel that he is destined to win the fight. We are not going to jeopardize the champion's chances by allowing him to enter the ring with some referee who could steal it."

Denies "Ugly Rumors"

Jacobs said that there are "plenty of ugly rumors floating around New York today." The rumors, he said, inferred that the fight is "in the bag" for Sharkey.

"You don't have to go very far along the line if you want to hear this talk," he said.

"I've been before the boxing commission to ask them to appoint an outside man. They wouldn't listen. They said they had plenty of capable men right here in New York, and that one of them will handle the fight.

"They're right when they say they have capable men. But I'm telling you if I hear the rumors I expect to hear on the night of the fight, and if one of the men I'm thinking about is named as referee, Max won't take off his dressing robe."

Jacobs, who sought the services of George Blake of Los Angeles, who handled the Schmeling-Stribling fight at Cleveland last summer, believes he holds the winning hand in the debate over the referee. He laughed at the suggestion that the commission, if Schmeling refused to enter the ring, would declare Sharkey winner of the bout by forfeit.

Sticks to His Story

"With that crowd looking on?" he asked. "Just try and picture Joe Humphries telling all of those people, some of whom will have spent hundreds of dollars to see the fight, and others who have saved up for weeks to get enough money for a cheap seat, that 'There isn't any fight, ladies and gentlemen, you may all go home.'

"No, I'm right and I'm sticking to my statement."

Jacobs refused to name what he considers either acceptable or unacceptable referees. Nor would he intimate whom he believed would attempt to tamper with a referee.

"The people concerned know who I'm talking about," he said. "That's all that matters."

James A. Farley, secretary of the New York state boxing commission, was asked about the matter. Farley said that the commission will appoint officials in accordance with the plans pursued in all heavyweight contests and other bouts. There will be no deviation from this plan.

Usually, at important fights the commission orders two or three referees to report. One of them is given the nod a few minutes before fight time.

PRICES OF FIGHT SEATS REDUCED

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—The desperate efforts to get Max Schmeling's heavyweight title defense against Jack Sharkey out of the financial "mechanical lung," where it is breathing faintly, took a decided turn today in favor of the cash customers.

Drastic reductions in whole sections of high-priced seats in Madison Square garden's new bowl on Long Island have increased to approximately 50,000 the number of tickets that are selling for between $3 and $5.

Poor Gate Predicted

On this new scale it is estimated a complete sell-out Tuesday night would gross only $500,000, with every indication that no more than half that amount will be lured from the pockets of the faithful.

No other heavyweight championship battle in modern ring history ever presented such a discouraging financial prospect so short a time before the firing was due to begin.

The garden also has been harassed by the federal tax situation. After tickets were printed, only for a 10 per cent tax in conformity with the new bill that goes into effect June 21, the day of the fight, it was discovered the federal government intends to collect the 25 per cent levy of the old tax bill on all tickets sold prior to the day of the contest. The garden will be forced to pay the difference, materially reducing net proceeds.

Good Fight Expected

While hope of financial success has about died, there seemed every possibility the duel will be one of the artistic triumphs of modern heavyweight history. Both warriors are in superb condition. Both are clouters and can take tremendous punishment.

Schmeling still feels keenly the fact that he won the title from Sharkey in four rounds while sitting on the floor claiming foul, the only heavyweight champion in history with that dubious distinction.

The Boston sailor, with nothing but bitter memories at his own lack of control in a match he was winning easily, is further aroused by the fact he can gain little except the title in victory. Whereas Schmeling will receive almost 50 per cent of the net receipts, Sharkey will get only 10 per cent.

Furthermore, fouls will not count this time because of an amendment to boxing commission rules in effect when Sharkey whaled the German low two years ago.

While the elephant is producing one offspring, an oyster is able to lay 1,000,000,000 eggs.

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—The major league turnstiles did not click a single click today. There was not a game in either league, the first time there has been such an occurrence this season.

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Phillies came closest to playing at Philadelphia. They were ready to go and the batteries had been announced when the rain set in.

Port Arthur Leaves Cotton States League

PORT ARTHUR, Texas, June 17. (AP)—Financial difficulties caused the Port Arthur Baseball club to withdraw from the Cotton States league today. J. F. Jakowicz, who took over the franchise May 23, paid off his players in full and declared he was through with organized baseball.

He claimed he had been losing about $200 a day since gaining control of the club. Failure of the Refiners to attract crowds was responsible for finances going into the red, he said.

The Eldorado, Ark., team, which arrived in Port Arthur today to open a scheduled four-game series, planned to return home tonight. Eldorado declined a position to play the Refiners for the gate receipts in place of the usual $100 guarantee.

14 ENTERED IN DERBY TODAY

Wide Open Race Seen As Favorites Drop Out

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

CHICAGO, June 17. (UP)—The $50,000 American Derby, which has been packed with turf drama since it was first run way back in 1884, will bring together a field of 14 3-year olds for its 24th renewal tomorrow at Washington park.

Boatswain, son of Man O'War and winner of the Withers mile at Belmont park, was made the overnight favorite at odds of 5-2. The eastern colt, owned by Walter M. Jefferods of New York, will carry top weight of 126 pounds. All others will carry 118 pounds, except the filly, I Say, which has been assigned 113 pounds.

Stepenfetchit, owned by Mrs. John Hay Whitney, was second choice at 4-1, and Osculator, owned by W. R. Coe, third at 6-1.

Several weeks ago the American Derby loomed as the most important 3-year-old race of the year, but mishaps and injuries have eliminated Burgoo King, Kentucky Derby and preakness winner, Economic, Ohio Derby winner and second in the Kentucky Derby, Tick On, second in the preakness, and other leading contenders for the 3-year-old championship.

Absence of these horses, however, has tended to make the American Derby a more open race. The American Derby, since its renewal in 1926, has been famous for its upsets and thrilling finishes.

Mate, last year's winner, barely held on to nose out Pittsburgher, while two years ago Reveille Boy, 100-1 shot, came home in front.

Adobe Post, owned by Knebelkamp and Morris, Yonkel, owned by A. Bartelstein, and Gusto, owned by M. L. Schwartz, are three of the leading outsiders. Adobe Post, the west's leading hope, likes the Washington park racing strip and may battle it out with the east's three representatives, Boatswain, Stepenfetchit and Osculator.

A crowd of 30,000, including Col. E. R. Bradley, owner of Burgoo King, is expected to see the race.

New Yorker Beats Shot Put Record

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 17. (UP)—A few hundred enthusiasts who braved threatening weather to attend the eliminations of the eastern Olympic tryouts today saw Leo J. Sexton of the New York A. C. put the 16-pound shot farther than it had ever gone before.

The former Georgetown star, six feet, three inches tall and weighing 230 pounds, tossed the ball 52 feet, 8¾ inches to better the old world record of 52 feet 7¼ inches established by E. Hirschfield of Germany in 1928.

Rain had left the cinder track soggy but several good performances were recorded in the running events.

Paul Rekers, the fourth Penn star, assured himself a place in the try-out finals at Palo Alto, Calif., by winning today's only final, the 5,000-meter run, in 15 minutes 1 3-5 seconds.

Emmett Toppino, the slow-starting flash from Loyola of New Orleans, sprinted through the puddles to set the best time of 10 3-5 seconds among the six qualifiers in the 100-meter dash. Toppino won one of the semifinals, the other going to Earl Widmyer of University of Maryland.

Harvard's Pen Hallowell stretched his lanky frame out 15 yards in front of the field to win the fastest 800-meter semifinal with ease in one minute, 53 1-5 seconds, exceptional considering the track's condition.

George Bullwinkle, New York A. C., won the other semifinal, edging out Roy Smith of Asbury Park in a close finish.

Percy Beard, New York A. C., and Gene Record, Harvard, had little difficulty winning their semifinal heats in the 100-yard hurdles, and some believed a record might be broken when they meet in the finals tomorrow.

Another world record was threatened when John F. Anderson of the New York A. C., on his final throw, sent the discus whirling to a distance of 173 feet, 5¼ inches. The world record for the event is 163 feet, 8¾ inches, held by Eric Krenz of California.

AIMS OF IRISH CHIEF STATED

House of Commons Hears About De Valera

LONDON, June 17. (AP)—The house of commons was told today that the ultimate aim of President De Valera is a united Irish republic recognizing the British crown "in certain circumstances."

J. H. Thomas, secretary for dominions, said the president of the Free State made this assertion to him in Dublin last week during negotiations to settle differences.

Mr. Thomas said De Valera envisioned an Irish republic including Ulster, which would be called, understood and accepted as a republic.

De Valera was pictured as recognizing circumstances in which the British commonwealth would act as a unit for external purposes. Then "his majesty the king would be recognized as the head" of the British commonwealth.

Mr. Thomas told commons that he informed President De Valera that it would do no good to talk about such a proposition because neither this nor any other British government would agree to such a proposal.

The dominion secretary's remark came when he read a dispatch from the head of the Irish Free State during a debate on the Irish question.

The purport of this dispatch, Mr. Thomas said, was that De Valera had not deviated one iota from his original position on the abolition of the Irish oath of allegiance and the land annuity payments.

(The Free State dail has passed a bill abolishing the oath to the crown and annuities due from land turned over by Englishmen when the Anglo-Irish treaty was signed in 1921 have been withheld by the Free State government.)

This stand, the dominion secretary added, left the position of the Anglo-Irish difficulties worse than it was before.

He went on to say that the Irish note accepted the principle of abritration on land annuities but declined to agree to a restriction of personnel in such an arbitration to citizens of the British commonwealth, and insisted that other annual payments to Great Britain must be included in any arbitration.

Road Survey Begins In Collingsworth

Special to The Record News

WELLINGTON, Texas, June 17.—Survey of the proposed highway through Collingsworth county connecting the Wheeler county pavement with the new Childress county highway, now under construction, started from the Childress county line north, Monday, but was delayed until Thursday due to rains and bad weather.

The survey is being made by E. W. Mars, resident engineer, Paducah, who plans to complete his work within 30 days. Following the completion of the survey, federal officials will select the route and the matter of securing right of way will be placed before the commissioners court.

Despite the fact that the securing of right of way was doubtful in certain sections, County Judge Edward Brown stated that he had hopes of securing it because the survey would follow the old road beds where the route was economically feasible.

Law Against Peddlers Proposed at Frederick

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., June 17.—Discussion of proposed ordinances occupied much of the attention of the city council in its regular session Tuesday night. Two of the proposed ordinances were suggested by the Western Oklahoma Chamber of Commerce and are aimed to protect local concerns. One makes the solicitation of peddlers a misdemeanor after cards are placed on the premises warning against trespassing.

The other proposed measure is aimed at the concerns which drop into the city in the fall to get the cotton grower's or cotton picker's money and when this business is over, like the Arab, folds up its tent at night and leaves.

KENYA TAXES OFFICIALS

NAIROBI.—Kenya's new tax list includes a levy on official salaries of 5 per cent on all below $5,000 a year, and 7½ per cent on all above that figure.

Garden to Come Out Of Retirement to Sing Role of Carmen

CLEVELAND, June 17. (INS)—Mary Garden, the eternal "Our Mary" of grand opera fame, is coming out of retirement to sing her favorite role of "Carmen" in Cleveland's summer open-air operatic festival, it was learned today.

Lovers Charged With Murdering Woman's Husband

OAKLAND, Calif., June 17. (INS)—In a Pacific coast parallel of the Ruth Snyder-Judd tragedy Harry Nelson, 46, world war hero, died today from a terrific beating assertedly administered by his wife's sweetheart to "get him out of the way."

Nelson, deputy assessor of Alameda county and prominent in legion and fraternal circles, was slugged with a piece of pipe early last Tuesday morning as he lay asleep in his bed. He died without regaining consciousness.

Both the "other man," Claude Forbes, 25, and Mrs. Nelson, 36, were charged with first degree murder.

Forbes, who assertedly was urged by Mrs. Nelson to "get rid of Harry," laughed when informed of Nelson's death, according to officers. Forbes, eight years the junior of Mrs. Nelson and considered by her as "extremely handsome," is the husband of the maid servant in the Nelson home.

Mrs. Nelson broke into tears when told her husband had died.

"I had hoped that Harry would get well," she said, "but it's all over now. I'm going to stick to Claude."

Aimee McPherson Free Of Typhoid, Officials Report

LOS ANGELES, June 17. (AP)—While Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, Los Angeles evangelist, sought rest and seclusion in a bay district sanitarium today, the city health department announced her typhoid test was negative.

One of Mrs. Hutton's physicians, Dr. C. McKenzie Jones, had reported to the health board he believed the evangelist was suffering from typhoid fever, probably contracted on her recent tour of Panaman countries. The health department was asked to determine whether Mrs. Hutton was to be quarantined.

Meanwhile other physicians sought to diagnose Mrs. Hutton's case. One physician claimed the evangelist was "emotionally worn out." He said she has a normal temperature and pulse and an apparently calm exterior.

American Charged In Shanghai Death

SHANGHAI, June 17. (UP)—A warrant charging murder was issued for John Martin Hansen of Brooklyn, N. Y., today after the bullet riddled body of R. K. Keim of Canbury, Conn., was found at the side of a road outside Shanghai.

Hansen, an ex-marine and former assistant manager of the American Oriental bank, was said to have been a known enemy of Heim.

Authorities believed the shooting was the result of a long standing feud which had caused bank officials to discharge both men recently.

A Chinese taxi driver said Heim had been shot while in an automobile, then thrown into a ditch. His assailant shot him again as he lay on the ground.

Hansen was scheduled to sail for the states June 18, and Heim had booked passage for June 19.

Juarez Rancher and Companion Found Slain

EL PASO, June 17. (AP)—Lorenzo Barrios, Juarez rancher, and an unidentified companion were found shot to death today in an arroyo six miles south of Juarez, Mexico.

Manuel F. Espinosa, district attorney of Juarez, said the men were killed in a cattle feud.

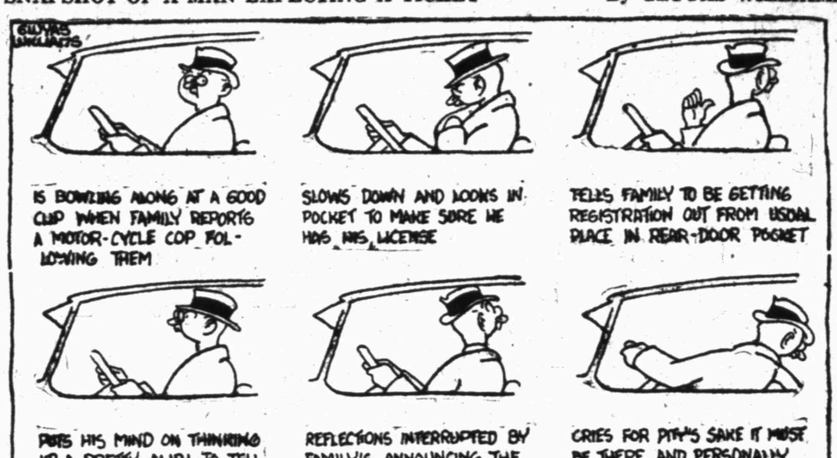

A man whose name was withheld by police was jailed for investigation.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—After holding comparatively steady during most of the day, cotton sagged in the late trading, along with the grain and stock markets.

July contracts broke from 5.28 to 5.13 and closed at 5.15 with the general market closing steady at net declines of 7 to 10 points.

December sold off to 5.51 with active months generally showing net losses of about 8 to 12 points, the close was slightly up from the lowest.

On the whole, rather a more favorable view seemed to be taken of the weather map, and while there were reiterated reports of insects they evidently failed to stimulate buying materially.

Liverpool cables said that liquidation had been absorbed by the trade, and reported a fair cloth inquiry, although the turnover was disappointing. Exports today 4,094 making 8,228,249 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,662,222.

The market gave way late in the session on the weakness in the stock and grain markets, closing steady 7-10 points lower. Spot quiet, middling 5.25.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 17. (AP)—Cotton after ruling steady with fair trading and a narrow range of prices during the morning and early afternoon, turned weak in the late trading on a sharp break in stocks and wheat and closed at net losses of 12 to 13 points.

Prices turned decidedly easy in the late afternoon and made new lows right at the end at 5.14 for July, 5.33 for Oct. and 5.48 for Dec. or 14 to 15 points down from the highs of the morning. The close was practically at the bottom, July and Dec. showing net losses for the day of 13 points and Oct. at net loss of 12 points.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 6 penny points down.

Profit-Taking Blamed For Reaction In Stocks; Bonds Close Unchanged

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 17. (US)—Reaction set in among stocks today, but bonds were able to close relatively unchanged on the average. Performance of stocks, while disappointing, might be attributed to profit-taking, however small the profits were, and some new selling induced by absence of additional stimulating news. All day long the market looked anxiously toward Lausanne. Developments there were rather confusing, indicating plainly that nationalistic prejudices were playing a prominent role in the economic discussions taking place. Nevertheless, even the slight concession made by France in admitting Germany cannot bear the burden of reparations "at present" left some hope that a permament alteration in the reparations schedules may not be at all improbable of achievement. It would be rash indeed to draw hasty conclusions from a gathering of Europe's politicians and leaders; but the very universal agreement on the gravity of the situation may bring some results. Meanwhile, the stock market here was responding in the main to its impaired technical position. Trading amounted only to 800,000 shares.

It was quite apparent during the few days of strength in the past week that professional activities were playing a leading role. That such sponsorship was extended to an indiscriminate group of stocks, instead of being restricted to outstanding issues, in itself created suspicions. Then, too, Auburn's exciting gyrations were not to the liking of the more conservative faction, who would like to see the market develop stability rather than excitement at this stage. Auburn broke 9⅝ points today and its weakness affected the entire list. Losses among leaders were sufficient in most cases to cancel the gains of several preceding sessions. American Can dropped three points, New York Central 1⅝, Steel 2⅛. Steel preferred was an early weak feature.

Wheat broke under the former lowest prices, and this also tended to unsettle stock prices. Perhaps the most cheerful fact in the recent sharp reaction in wheat is the quite obvious narrowing of the margin between American and world prices for the commodity. Once this margin is wiped out, there will be no more basis for the nervousness created by the artificial support heretofore furnished wheat.

Omission of Radio corporation preferred "A" dividend was fully anticipated, but omission by Sears Roebuck of its dividend came as a complete surprise. The news was not announced until the market had closed. Preliminary forecasts, however, had indicated nothing worse than a reduction in the rate, which had been 62½ cents quarterly.

There may be a renewal of nervousness toward stocks by reason of the latest reaction in prices, but the best-informed interests are quite unlikely to take any worthwhile short positions. Their attitude still is that short-selling on a broad scale no longer is warranted, even though industrial conditions have shown no improvement.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—Cotton goods ruled quiet and barely steady today in the gray cloth division. Some trading is being done on domestic wide sheetings at the new lower prices.

Silk goods for fall are in moderate request. Some increase in interest is shown in men's wear worsteds and in sampling lines of women's wear for fall. Rayon prices are irregular. Burlaps were unchanged.

Wichita Falls Markets

Both the local grain and cotton market were slightly off Friday. Wheat decreased from 28 cents to 27 cents; spot cotton lost eight points.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 17 (AP)—Collapsing under the first heavy selling pressure from the 1932 United States harvest, all deliveries of wheat outdid today the season's low price record.

Favorable weather for domestic winter wheat operations, together with good rains in spring crop territory had a contributing bearish effect, together with New York stock market downturns. Besides, export business in North American wheat appeared to be almost nil.

Wheat closed nervous at nearly the day's low, 1⅛@2¼ cents under yesterday's finish, corn 1¼@2c down, oats ¼@½c off and provisions 2 to 7 cents up.

Unsettlement of securities had a deterrent influence from the outset, and a rise in wheat quotations at Liverpool was almost ignored.

Much of the selling was generally believed to be against large purchases made in the country as a result of the northward spread of the harvest of the new winter crop, with Kansas City reporting the first arrivals of the season.

Corn and oats gave way with wheat. Kansas City July delivery of corn, which yesterday was around ½-cent over the same future in Chicago, dropped to a discount today.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 46⅝@46⅞c, 49½c; Sept. 49⅝c. 52c; Dec. 52⅝c, 55⅝@55⅞c. Corn—July 28⅝@28⅞c, 29⅝c; Sept. 30⅝c, 31⅝@31⅞c; Dec. 30⅝c, 31⅞c.

Wheat closed nervous, 1⅛@2¼c under yesterday's finish; corn, 1¼@2c down; oats, ¼@½c off, and provisions at a rise of 2 to 7 cents.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 17. (US)—Strength in other commodities and in the stock and bond markets has developed underlying support in wheat, which traders expect will continue if other speculative mediums remain strong. Weakness in these other markets has been a depressing feature in wheat for months and it is only natural to assume that the bread grain should respond to any general improvement.

Stocks of wheat in the chief continental ports have decreased 1,500,000 bushels during the past fortnight and are about the same as this time a year ago, Broomhall says.

Reports of unfavorable weather conditions in the sections where most of the export grains are raised in Russia continue to come to market in private cables, but like the rest of the Russian news are receiving little attention.

Threshing is getting under way in the Southwest, but so far there has not been enough to determine yields. The suggestion persists that much wheat will be left standing in poor fields because the harvest costs would be more than the wheat would bring.

Some inquiry for future shipment of corn parcels is reported abroad, following a period of very dull demand. Argentine shippers' offers are being firmly held.

SHERIFF TO RETURN NEGRO

Johnson to Hear Death Sentence at 10 Today

Richard Johnson, convicted negro slayer, is scheduled to hear the death sentence passed at 10 o'clock Saturday morning according to plans when Sheriff Perry Browning left at 6:30 o'clock Friday evening for Dallas to return the negro to Wichita Falls.

Johnson was convicted last fall in connection with the death of A. N. Nodurft. The negro will be returned shortly before 10 o'clock Saturday morning and will be taken directly to the courtroom where Judge Allan D. Montgomery will assess the penalty.

Johnson has been held in the Dallas county jail for several months and District Attorney Sam Spence and Jailer L. N. McKelvey accompanied Sheriff Browning to Dallas to return the prisoner here.

Sheriff Browning plans to start for Huntsville with Johnson as soon as the death sentence has been pronounced, he said.

Johnson and Richard Brown also negro, were indicted for murder, criminal assault and robbery with firearms after Nodurft and his fiancee were surprised by the two blacks while parked near South Brook avenue in this city last September. Brown also has been given the death penalty by a jury in Young county on the robbery charge.

Better Fire Record Cuts Rates at Nocona

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, June 17.—Nocona's decreased number of fires, and the resulting decrease in fire loss has brought about a reduced fire rate for the city.

The city has a better fire record at the present time, according to recently released reports, than at any time in the past few years. Several years ago two gins were destroyed. Considerable other damage was caused by lesser blazes. As a result, the insurance rate increased heavily.

BLAST TAKES LIVES OF 30

Horror Attends Explosion Of Tanker at Montreal

MONTREAL, Quebec, June 17. (US)—The death toll exceeded 30 this afternoon, with 40 seriously injured, in the triple explosion which wrecked the dry dock of the Canadian Vickers company and the oil tanker Cymbeline today.

As Diver Sylvestie Cormier tonight brought up the first body from under the damaged drydock and reported seeing many others imprisoned between the side of the ship and the wall of the dock, an official announced to waiting relatives that there was no hope that any of those still missing had escaped death.

Raoul Gauthier, director of the Montreal fire department, was one of the victims of the blasts. He was killed when the second and most powerful explosion wrecked the dock, quickly followed by a third. Four other city firemen were killed in the same blast.

A crew of 34 men were asleep in the after part of the tanker and a night shift of 70 workmen were aboard when the first explosion occurred, early today. The second came an hour later, when the ship was by then a mass of flames and the entire fire fighting force of the eastern district was fighting the holocaust.

Scenes of horror stunned the workers. One man, Paul Henrichon, was hurled from the dock to the blazing ship and burned to death before the eyes of his comrades, powerless to save him.

The dock was split in half by the second explosion, and the foremost part was towed into the water and sunk.

Bodies of the victims lay beneath the wreckage of the dock and the ship, in 20 feet of water.

Firemen worked desperately today to recover and identify the bodies, but it was thought identification would be slow.

A majority of those killed were employes of the Vickers shipbuilding plant.

The tanker was undergoing repairs at the Vickers plant when the explosions occurred.
