Hornets, Mustangs Meet

1977 OLTON MUSTANGS

Olton Mustangs rode into the Hornets' nest in Tulia Friday night with an "underdog's advantage". The past four seasons have found the favorite coming out on the losing side in the annual Olton-Tulia conflict.

"And a single play won each of the four games," said Head Coach Ed Miller earlier this week." In '73, they ran a kick-off back; in '74 we blocked a punt and ran it in for a TD. A field goal won it for them in '75 and last year we ran a pass interception about 65 yards and won 7-6."

Friday night's starting offense found Billy Kersh and Rene Saldivar as ends with Steve Rose and Rodney Smith as tackles. Guards were Martin Brown and Gregg Davis with Marty Walters in center.

Charles Brown drew fullback duty; David Johnson, tailback and Mike Landrum as flanker. Brad Allcorn got the nod as quarterback.

Defensively Jeff Neinast and Manuel Lopez were ends with tackle assignments going to Roger Russell and Rose. Genio Garcia played the nose with Martin Brown and Jackie Fuentez in the linebacker spots.

Playing secondary were Saldivar, Billy Kersh, Vance Stroebel and Luis Casares.

"We played better defense than we had anticipated," Miller said of the Aug. 25 scrimmage with Cooper. "We were very aggressive and feel most of our young kids got a great lesson from the scrimmage."

Thursday (Sept. 8) OHS freshmen will take on Abernathy here at 5 p.m. Junior high games, scheduled for that date, have been cancelled due to a policy by Abernathy schools that junior high footballers do not play until after they have completed two weeks of school. Junior highs will see action Thursday, Sept. 15 when they host Lockney.

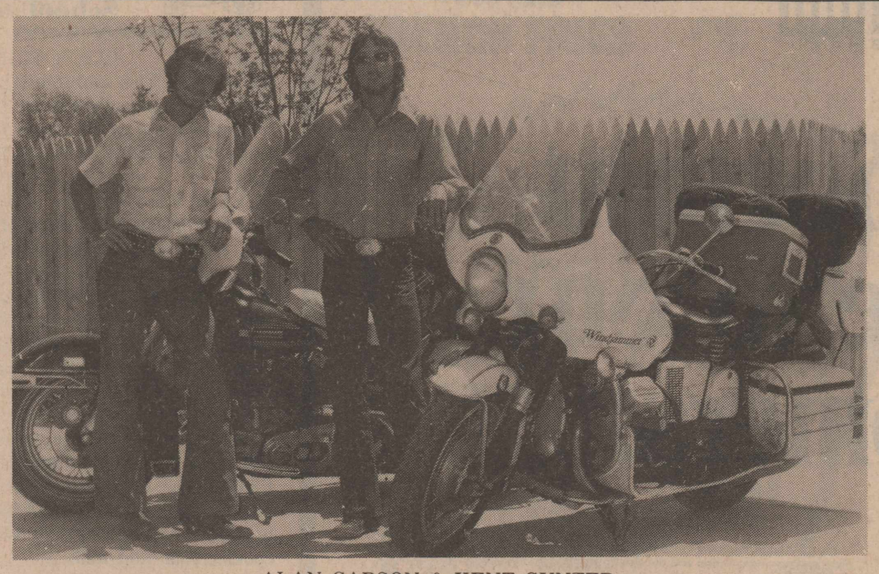

Friday night the Mustangs travel to Antelope country. Game time is 8 p.m.

"We watched Abernathy in both of their scrimmages," Miller said and cited rapid improvement on the Antelopes' play. "They graduated their skill people which causes their offense to be a little behind their defense."

"We need to improve fast and must play good against them (Abernathy) before we bring our show home."

Travel Over 8000 Miles

Cyclists Tour

ALAN CARSON & KENT GUNTER

"At one point I felt we were sitting right on top of the world," Alan Carson recalled an elusive moment of nature's beauty at a stop in Glacier International Park. The 21-year-old Carson and his 23-year-old cousin, Kent Gunter, were discussing highlights of an 8000 mile journey into the northwest they recently completed - astride motorcycles.

For the two Olton graduates, the trip was a culmination of several years of dreaming and wishing for just such a time and opportunity. And, according to the travel-weary pair, they had no regrets even for the hardships of the five weeks and four days of excitement and adventure.

Careful planning went into the preparations for the undertaking. Their gear included necessities for camping out: tent, bedrolls, air mattresses, Coleman cookstove, lantern, ice chest, CB radios, pots, pans and assorted tools. "We even had a rubber hammer," they explained, "At campsites, neighboring campers were often amazed to see that we had all the equipment they had - on a smaller scale."

Mounted on his 850 Motto Guzzi Eldorado, Gunter tipped the scales at 900 pounds. Road weight for Carson and his 1200 Harley Davidson Electra Glide was 980 pounds. Weights included loaded cycles and the travelers wearing western style boots (which the sight-seers almost wore out enroute, walking, climbing, slogging through mud and generally exploring.)

Consenting to the unusual trip, but admitting anxiety during the son's absences, were the wayfarers parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Carson and Mr. and Mrs. Uil Gunter.

For the tourist-campers the first and ever present hazard were the elements. They state they rode through rain every day the first week and at odd times thereafter, often were plagued by rain at night also. Sometimes it was made worse by accompanying hail. On the second day out, caught in a hailstorm near Pagosa Springs, Colo., Kent suffered a bruised lip from a hailstone and his rain suit was literally shredded, as though cut with scissors. Alan a little farther up the road had reached a safer place.

Sleeping out, every night except three spent in motels and a few spent with friends and relatives, the campers learned that extra thrills sometimes accompany darkness. "We got permission to sleep in a fenced area behind a laundromat in Seattle and during the night were awakened by intruders trying to gain access to the place by climbing over the steel fence.

"Once in a park we were waked by a Great Dane and a German Shepherd roaming the vicinity, we laid perfectly still and they didn't bother us.

"We liked to sleep in the little tent, although it's really not much protection, it gave a feeling of security and privacy.

"One night we were in a larger tent belonging to a KOA camp-unit the rain soaked through so badly, we got up and put our tent up inside the other."

Another great hazard for the cyclers, as for any travelers, was road traffic. Although the law provides a motorcycle is entitled to its full traffic lane for travel, and the same provisions for passing safely should be exercised as for passing a car, yet many thoughtless motorists forced the cyclists perilously near the edge or swung back in front of them much too soon after passing, creating some dangerous situations that the boys say they haven't even discussed yet.

With no real travel plan solidly in mind, Gunter and Carson spent their first night with an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Carson of Dalhart. Knowing they needed to be home in time for Carson's entry into classes at West Texas State University, they just headed west and north relying upon their interest in the area and local information as to interesting side trips.

Passing through Durango and Glenwood Springs, Colo., they visited Arches National Monument in Utah, with its spectacular sandstone towers which they pronounced fantastic.

In Wyoming they encountered road construction and rain and in one place even had to manuever a muddy dirt road with the heavy cycles. They were well rewarded by the state however as they passed through Jackson Hole country and majestic Grand Teton National Park.

They traveled through Yellowstone National Park and into Montana where at Butte they spent the night with a friend of Gunter's, and were greatly interested in the operation of a huge open pit copper mine. Carson, a geology major, was impressed with the covellite being produced there.

From Glacier International Peace Park they continued on to Calgary (but the stampede was already past). Gaining access to the Trans-Canadian Highway they joined the hundreds of other tourists visiting Banff and canoeing on Lake Louise. They even went up into glacier country, thereby wearing holes in their boots.

On to the west coast they lingered in Vancouver and Victoria a short while, but since time was going to be short for Carson and Gunter had been plagued with cycle trouble, they made the decision to turn south (though they really wanted to go on to Alaska.)

Giving the 'wheels' a little rest, they boarded an ocean-going liner for a four hour cruise to Seattle, which proved to be so rough it caused Gunter's cycle to fall in the hold where it was anchored, breaking the windshield and a minor part on it.

At Eugene, Ore., they visited the second family enroute, saw Crater and Diamond Lakes and noted that the wheat harvest was just winding up in the area.

Traveling down the California Coastal highway they slowed the motorcycles down considerably to better see the stately redwoods.

"In San Francisco," one of them stated, "we crossed the Golden Gate Bridge three times. Once when we arrived and were swept along with the traffic and couldn't avoid it. The second time after we found no place to stay over there, and the third time when a young engineer we met guided us to his place to spend the night. He said he wanted to return some Texas hospitality - favors he had received when he made a motorcycle tour into this state, a few years ago."

Continuing down the coast, with a side trip to Yosemite National Park, the excursionists were with relatives for several days. Visiting in the home of their grandmother Carson's brother, Ed Gentry and family, at Tustin, they visited places of interest in southern California and took part in an evangelistic campaign in session at the time. According to Alan, "We got some much needed spiritual food to go along with the beauty we had been enjoying, and the music was beautiful."

In the Los Angeles area Kent replaced some of his machine's parts with a Volkswagon coil and Fiat distributor points, and it performed beautifully all the way home.

Traveling through Death Valley at noonday was the very hottest part of the Baptist Church Plans Revival

First Baptist Church has scheduled fall revival services to begin Sunday, Sept. 11, continuing through Friday. Regular worship hours, 11 a.m. and 7 p.m., will be observed Sunday with weekday services at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m.

Presenting the gospel message in sermon and song will be Reggie Creekmore, evangelist, and Steve and Theresa Wright, music evangelists.

Creekmore entered full-time evangelistic work in AUgust, 1976. He has conducted more than 50 revival meetings since 1971.

A native of Duncan, Okla., he was converted at nine years of age and called to preach at 17. He was ordained at 22 by Immanuel Baptist Church of Davis, Okla. and pastored there from 1972 to 1976.

The Wrights bring dedication, experience and talent to the evangelistic field. Natives of Tennessee, they are "blessed with God-given talent -- an inspiration to old and young alike," says Ernest R. Wells, pastor of Kerrville's First Baptist Church.

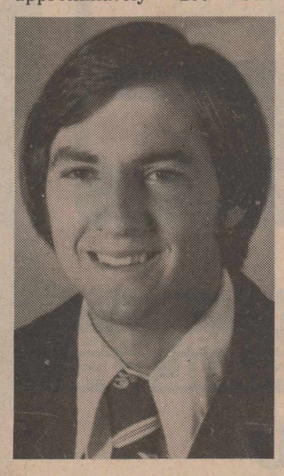

Wright served as minister of music and youth at First Baptist Church of Moberly, Mo. He holds a BS in music from East Tennessee State University. His experience ranges from directing music for revival services in Colorado, Indiana, New Mexico, Virginia, South Carolina, Missouri, Tennessee, Arkansas, California, Kentucky and Texas to approximately 200 solo performances at secular events.

Mrs. Wright is team accompanist and an outstanding pianist and alto. She began her musical career at the age of five. At 13, she began playing for church services and, since that time, has served several churches and revivals as organist and pianist. She studied piano and theory at East Tennessee State University.

An invitation is extended to everyone to attend each of these special services.

Season Ducats Still Available

Season tickets for the Mustangs home games are on sale in the business office at Olton High School. Persons holding options must pick up tickets by Sept. 16.

Reserve seats not purchased by that date will go on sale to the general public. Cost of the season pass is $11.50.

Football Contest Now Under Way

Competition begins this week in the Olton Enterprise football contest, a popular annual feature made possible by local merchants and the Olton Enterprise.

Last week's issue of the Olton Enterprise carried the first week's contest which must be placed in collection envelopes by 4 p.m. Friday (Sept. 2) in order to be counted in the first week's competition.

It costs nothing to enter and any person may do so. The sole requirement is that contestants are allowed just one entry per person. Entire families, however, may compete against themselves.

The fun contest requires no particular football knowledge -- lucky guessing often makes the difference. It's fun to try and you might be a winner.

Weekly prizes include $5 for the person who guesses the most games correctly. Second and third place earns $3 and $2, respectively. The contestant who compiles the most correct guesses throughout the season (which lasts as long as the Mustangs are in contention) wins $50. In the event of a tie, a coin will be flipped. Weekly ties are broken by the tie-breaker prediction. If a tie still exists, the winnings will be equally divided.

Pick a winner in each of the games listed in the ads of sponsoring merchants on the contest pages of Olton Enterprise. Circle the corresponding number on the accompanying entry blank. Predict a score in the tie-breaker game (which is always the Mustangs versus their opponents). Then fill in the entry blank with name and address and deposit entry blank with any of the merchants who help sponsor the contest.

Deadline for entering is 4 p.m. Friday.

Remember to tell the sponsoring merchants you appreciate their making the contest possible.

New Manager At Frontier Savings

Frontier Savings Association will be opening two new offices shortly in neighboring towns, according to information given by Jerome Gutheinz, company president.

Bill Kelley, office manager of the Olton office since its opening, will assume other duties as vice-president of the company, in marketing and branch co-ordination. More of his time will be spent among the five offices of Frontier Savings and he will no longer be branch manager of the local office. Kelley will, however, continue to office in the Olton facility.

Succeeding Kelley, as branch manager, will be Mrs. Bonnie McClain who has been with the company the past year and one-half, in all phases of its operation.

Gutheinz stated that since Mrs. McClain is well qualified by experience and qualifications and since she was already living in Olton, she was the logical appointment for branch manager's position.

"Before she came to Frontier Savings, Mrs. McClain was employed with a mortgage company in Dallas. She has a good background for her new position. We are confident that the Olton office will continue to have steady growth with professional service in both savings and loans."

An Olton graduate, Mrs. McClain is a home town girl who has lived in Olton all of her life with the exception of one year in Lubbock, when she attended Commercial College of that city, and three years that she lived in Arlington.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Denver Offield, she married Gale McClain in 1972. Her husband is president of Country Boy Fertilizer Inc., working with his father, Earl McClain.

Bonnie began work with Frontier Savings in April 1976, as secretary to the president, a position she has held until she assumed management of the Olton office, Aug. 15.

Mrs. McClain states that she is very happy to have the opportunity to work with Olton people and she invites friends and patrons to stop by the office either to visit or to transact business. She looks forward to any service she can render to Olton area people.

Used Band Instruments Needed

Market is opening this week in Olton for used band instruments, according to Band Director Bill Nelson.

A new beginners' band class is starting and some students will be needing instruments. Persons who have used instruments for sale are asked to contact Nelson at 285-2641, extension 28 for free listing on information which will be distributed to parents of the new band students.

This need is immediate so persons who have instruments they would like to sell are requested to call Monday, if possible. The available instrument list will be distributed Tuesday.

Booster Club Meets Monday

All supporters of Mustang athletes are urged to attend the Booster Club meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the school cafeteria.

Film of the Mustangs-Hornets game will be shown.

Bizzell's Vandalized

Malicious vandalism occurred in the city sometime after midnight Wednesday when two plate glass windows were broken in Bizzell's.

The broken windows of the ladies and girls ready-to-wear shop were discovered at 2:30 a.m. by night patrolman Gayle Morgan. Investigation disclosed that a large rock had been thrown through one window. The second had been broken by a rock but also had numerous small bullet holes.

Olton Lions View Film On Doves

Dove season opened Thursday but Olton Lions made a dinner table hunt two days earlier when David Peer of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department showed a color film, "The Mourning Dove."

Twenty-eight minutes in length, the film was educational and entertaining. Dove are hunted in all 254 counties of Texas and seem to thrive on being hunted, the film informed.

Good food and water must be availabe for dove to provide good hunting although it is difficult to "over-hunt." Dove have been known to fly 40 miles for a drink of water and will eat nearly every seed.

Hunters who practice good hunting rules never load till they arrive at the

They Die Too

By Rex Boyles

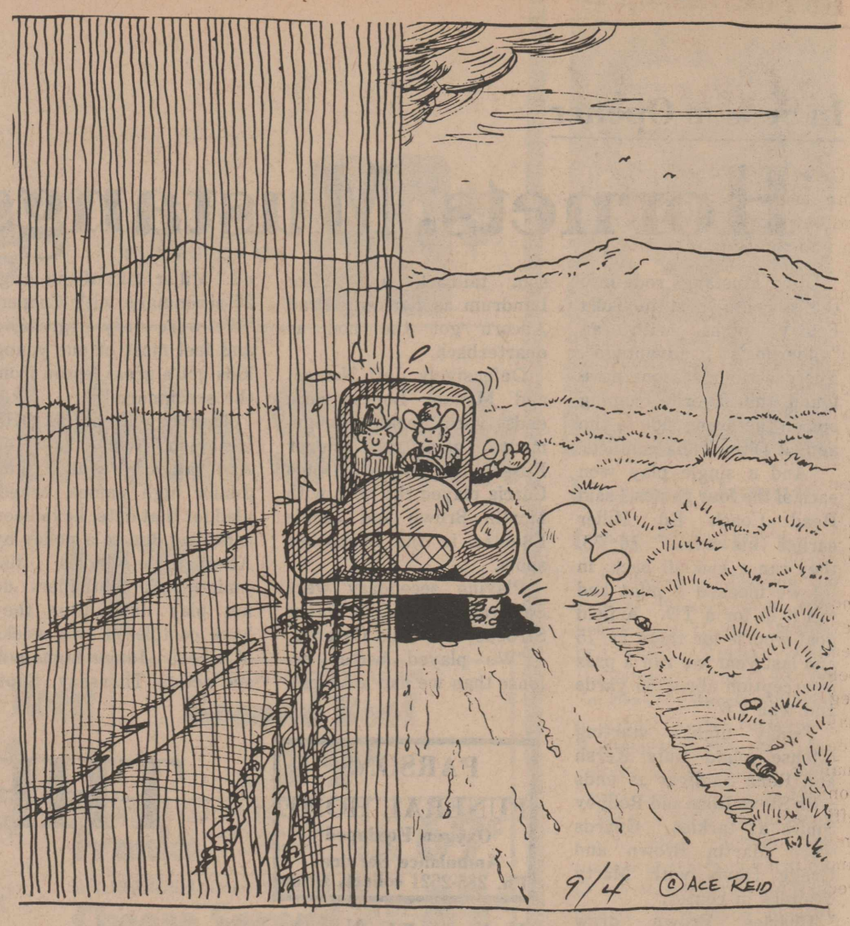

He was a "star". He was idolized by the teenagers of three decades. He was the "king of rock 'n roll". He was surrounded by fortune and fame. He seemed above the ordinary . . . but he died.

And with that news we all once again understood that they die too. It is not just the old and the lonely . . . not just the ill and frail . . . not just the poor and the ordinary . . . they die too.

One certain truth stalks our understanding. There is no security in recognition . . . the "stars" die too. There is no security in popularity . . . the "idols" die too. There is no security in position . . . the "kings" die too. There is no security in fortune or fame . . . the "extraordinary" die too. Regardless of their value . . . regardless of their influence . . . regardless of their experience . . . they die too. And so must we all . . .

Even the Son of God died. But out of the agony of that death the Lord gave birth to hope . . . the certain expectation that in that death we might experience life . .. "for do you not know that all of us who have been baptized into Christ Jesus have been baptized into his death? Therefore we have been buried with him through baptism into death, in order that as Christ was raised from the dead through the glory of the Father, so that we too might walk in newness of life" (Romans 6:3-4) . . . a life free from the bondage of the fear of death.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

By Mozelle Trotter

I've been smitten! I've been "exposed" and I think that genealogy fever has got its hold on me.

Last weekend, "Ezra's girls" -- my two sisters and me -- went to East Texas to visit with our Whittington kin. It was a memorable but short visit, seeing Kissing Cousins we had not seen in years.

After a Saturday picnic dinner and visiting in the park, we drove out by the "old home place" where our father was born and where he lived until old enough to set out on his own.

Our Grandmother W. was a remarkable woman. Widowed when she was scarcely more than one month pregnant with her tenth child (two died as infants), she managed to hold her family together and to rear them with the aid of her oldest son. My Daddy was not quite three when his daddy died so he really never knew a father's love.

Given 30 acres of land by her father when she was yet a bride, she and the grandfather who was just a name to me had added more land yet nothing to compare with a farm of this day.

For some years now, the "home place" has been grassland. No house was built to replace that small humble dwelling of years past.

It was sort of awesome crawling through a barbed wire fence to get to the ground where that little house once stood, a spot transplanted by the farm to market road that replaced the one of red dirt that became "impossible" when it rained.

The hill that our car could not conquer one long ago visit is a gentle grass covered slope today, filled in when the new road was built. Back then, in its wetness, it was a sticky, gummy trap of red mud which sucked at our feet as we plodded the remaining distance uphill.

Roving over the beautiful hillside, we discovered traces of that other age -- a rusted, corroded iron wagon hitch, a piece of the scales which were used to weigh the black-eyed peas and cotton that the small farm yielded and a portion of the cooking surface of the cast iron bachelor stove on which the family's meals were cooked.

My history, still there though many years have passed.

Yes, I'm caught. I want to know more about them, those ancestors of mine. Some day I shall.

FROM ABILENE

Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Allen of Merkel and their granddaughter, Tina Searcy of Abilene came Sunday to visit the Allen's son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Nixon.

VISIT SON

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Starritt went to Wewoka, Okla. last week to be with their son and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Robert L. Starritt, Billy Dan, Winona and Nevada. As they were returning Mr. and Mrs. Starritt stayed overnight with Mr. and Mrs. Ren Stephens, former residents of Olton who now live in Lindsay, Okla.

SUNDAY CALLERS

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gabehart were Sunday afternoon callers of their daughter and granddaughter, Jeanie Bailey and Stephanie of Hale Center.

FROM DENVER

Staying some ten days recently with Mr. and Mrs. D.M. Granbery were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Granbery, Devin, David and Doug of Denver, Colo.

TO HEREFORD

Mrs. Inez Yates and Mrs. Ruth Gautier of Lubbock visited recently in Hereford with their aunt, Mrs. Katie McGehee and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Stark.

IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Emma Hollingsworth, a patient in Central Plains Hospital of Plainview for the last several weeks is not showing satisfactory improvement.

An important message to our customers.

The House of Representatives has just voted to raise the price of your electricity! And the Senate is looking at the same Legislation. These bills are going to cost you plenty — nearly $50,000,000 a year for the next ten years. That's almost half a billion dollars!

Who cares? Of course you care. And we care. That's the reason we want you to know what's happening in Washington.

Not only did the House vote to raise your electric bill, there's a strong chance you'll get less reliable service, too. The Government is trying to take over regulation of your electric company. That's right! A Washington bureaucrat will decide who gets electric power and how much instead of your state and local officials.

That means your electric company will lose control over how we operate our own power transmission lines and facilities. We might not be able to give you — our customers — first priority. The Federal Government could use some of the money you pay for your electric service to make your electric company build a transmission line for a government-subsidized utility. You pay twice that way — in your electric bill and in your taxes. And you don't even get to use the line.

Let's not beat around the bush. The cost of doing business is going up. It costs you more for your electric service than it used to. But now when you pay your electric bill, you pay only what it costs to serve you, plus a controlled profit, so that we can keep updating our generation facilities and our technology to keep serving you better.

Well, if some Congressmen have their way, some people will pay less than their fair share of the electricity cost. Who will decide who gets the special rates?

You can bet it won't be you . . . or us . . . or our state and local government who know our needs best.

It will be some government official in Washington!

There's a whole lot more bad news in this legislation that has passed the House and is now being considered in the Senate. It's all part of Senate Bill 1469, Part E . . . and . . . Now for more bad news . . . Senate Bill 1472!

That's a dandy. It's the one that taxes you because some of your electricity is generated with natural gas. The gas users' tax is a case of the Government telling us to build coal-fired power plants faster than you can afford them.

It's as though the folks in Washington just woke up one day and decided there was an energy crisis and decided to try to right all the wrongs over night. The facts are that your electric company has been doing something about our diminishing natural gas reserves for more than six years. We haven't planned or constructed a gas-fired generation facility since 1971. And since that same time we've been planning to use coal as our primary generation fuel. We've just completed and put into operation Harrington Station -- a coal-fired Generation plant near Amarillo.

But we need the opportunity to phase out the gas-fired facilities at a savings economical to you, our customers. New power plants cost money . . cost you money, because you are our only source of money. We have a program that makes it possible for us to stop using natural gas to make electricity by 1995 at the latest.

It's a program you can afford. It's a program that will help alleviate rising costs. Sure, you'll pay more for electricity in the future. You'll be paying more for everything, but under our plan you'll pay a lot less than you'll have to pay if Senate Bill 1472 passes. $423,000,000 less between 1983 and 1990.

Why? Because Senate Bill 1472 says that even though we are building coal-fired power plants as fast as you can afford them, you're still going to be penalized, by almost a half billion dollars. Just because some staff member in Congress thinks you should build them faster. And remember it is your money that builds these new plants.

The Good News in all this is that your Congressman voted against raising your electric bill, voted against giving you poor service . . . but he was outvoted. Now what you can do is write your United States Senator (His name and address are printed below for your convenience) and tell him to vote against Part E in Senate Bill 1469 and against the gas users' tax in Senate Bill 1472. Why? BECAUSE YOU CAN'T AFFORD THESE BILLS. And that's a darn good reason. Let the people in Washington know that YOU CARE what they're doing with YOUR MONEY!

Thank you

Good Cook Is Avid Collector

Collecting cookbooks, clipping recipes from magazines and newspaper and keeping up with the offerings found in this column of the Enterprise are a part of a hobby of Mrs. Mack McGill. Acclaimed by family and friends as a good cook, Gayland has an extensive collection of favorite recipes of Olton friends through the years plus some treasured recipes which had one time been clipped by her mother, the late Pauline (Mrs. Lloyd) Graham.

Gayland has compiled those favorites into a revolving file with the recipes and the person they belonged to written on regular index cards which have been placed on a ring to keep them together and make their use more convenient. She has efficiently organized them into their proper categories and can find a sought-after recipe in moments.

Just as efficiently, Gayland has organized her photos into chronological order in albums. Looking at family photographs in Gayland's albums is a bit like re-living memories just as they happened.

Gayland likes to sew and enjoys painting. Working in her yard and garden also are satisfying hobbies and she states that this year has been the most enjoyable ever.

Keeping up with the interests of her family are major hobbies. Living as far from school as they do, some of their would-be interests are curtailed because of distance.

The McGills are Baptists. Gayland and Sherilyn work with Vacation Bible School.

Gayland was born in Wellington but was just 18 months old when her parents moved to Ferris. They came from Ferris to Olton when she was a sixth grader. Her father managed Olton Coop Gin from 1953 until this summer, when he announced his retirement.

The McGills were school mates, Mack having been born and reared at Olton. Mack, whose real name is Thomas Bryant, is the fourth generation McGill to carry the name of Thomas. Gayland, who was named for her father, and Mack extended the family name another year when they named their eight-year-old son Thomas Jarrod. They also have a daughter, Sherilyn, sixteen.

Two pets have won their special places in the McGill family. Henry, a three months old St. Bernard, has a puppy's boundless enthusiasm and believes he is a definite member. Tipsy, a mother dog, won the McGills with her plucky courage a few years ago. A stray, Tipsy "adopted" the McGills. One by one, she moved each of her 14 babies to the McGill home with the instinctive trust that she had found refuge for her babies.

One of the recipes Gayland shares with Enterprise cooks is Oven Barbecued Chicken, a good main dish to fix for Sunday dinners. It is one which her mother clipped in 1961.

MRS. MACK McGILL

PEACH UPSIDE DOWN CAKE
2 T oleo
3 T brown sugar
½ c flour
1 t baking powder
¼ t salt
⅓ c sugar
2 T Crisco
¼ c milk
¼ t vanilla
1 egg
sliced peaches
(This makes 8" round cake. Double ingredients to make 9x13 cake.)

Melt oleo in pan and sprinkle with brown sugar. Arrange slices of fresh peaches in pan. Sift dry ingredients together and mix with Crisco and 2 to 4 T milk. Blend well and add remaining milk, egg and vanilla. Beat 2 mins. Bake in 375° oven 25 mins.

OVEN BARBECUED CHICKEN
Combine:
1 env Lipton's onion soup mixture
1½ c water
¼ c vinegar
½ c butter or margarine
¼ c sugar
2 T prepared mustard
1½ t salt
1 t pepper

Simmer 10 mins. Add 1 c catsup, stir. Makes 1 qt.

Cut up fryer (you may want to use more than one. Sauce is enough to amply cover one and will cover two). Place chicken skin side up in 9x13 baking dish, sprinkle with salt and pepper as desired. Pour in only enough water to cover bottom of pan. Arrange onion slices over chicken and bake uncovered in pre-heated 350° oven 30 mins. Turn chicken and bake another 30 mins. Turn again. Pour barbecue sauce on chicken and bake another hour.

HOT ROLLS
2½ c flour
1 t baking powder
1 t salt
1/8 c sugar
½ c shortening
¼ c warm water
1 pkg dry yeast
1 c buttermilk

Dissolve yeast in ¼ c warm water and set aside. Mix dry ingredients in order given, cutting in shortening as you normally do for biscuits or pie dough. Stir in buttermilk and water-yeast mixture. Blend thoroughly. Dough is ready to be refrigerated in large, covered bowl or may be made immediately into rolls.

When ready to make into rolls, turn dough onto floured board and knead lightly. Shape into rolls and place in greased pan. Let rise slightly (if dough has been refrigerated, it will take longer to rise than if first mixed). Pop into 400° oven and bake till lightly browned.

Allcorn.

Drama Try-Outs Slated Sept. 5-6

Try-outs for an upcoming play to be produced by Littlefield Community Theatre Club will be held in XIT Room of Security State Bank, Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 5-6.

"Cactus Flower" a comedy in two acts, by A. Burrows, is the play under consideration. The group plans production the second or third week in October.

Interested persons in the Olton area are invited to join in the action, try out for the parts. Linda Utsey, director, states that the production will not be strenuous and she will not expect professionalism from actors.

IS HOSPITALIZED

Mrs. Bessie Hutcheson was admitted the first of the week to Hale Center Hospital where she is being treated for sprains and bruises she received in a fall Saturday.

Robin Brown Makes Recovery

A letter from Morris G. Brown, a former resident and son of Mrs. Bonnie Brown, brings attention of Olton friends to his son, Robin Brown.

Brown reminds readers that Robin, a lad of three, was hit by a car as he darted across the driveway of the G.H. Bley service station in the year 1962.

Thereafter Robin spent many days in critical condition in Lubbock Methodist Hospital. Many Olton friends spent weary hours sitting with the family and helping in any possible way under these tragic circumstances.

Brown now writes, "Robin and I have been down lots of roads since this happened. But I would like for the people in Olton to know that Robin is holding down his first job now. He is self-supporting and a tax-paying worker now.

"Please let all those wonderful people know somehow. Robin is 18 years old now."

Brown listed a Phoenix, Ariz., address.

FROM IRVING

Mr. and Mrs. Gradean Franklin and Steve of Irving spent the weekend with Franklin's mother, Mrs. Patsy Franklin and his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.T. Hankins.

entire tour. By-passing Las Vegas, the cyclers halted at Hoover Dam and tried to concieve the fact that they were looking at enough cement to build 3000 miles of highway, as it stood there holding back thousands of acres of water.

Riding on into the night they arrived at Grand Canyon at 3 a.m. Rain kept them from sleep, so they just sat on the rim and waited dripping wet for the sunrise - a real spectacle.

Back to Durango, via Mesa Verde Indian ruins, the tourists were amazed to find the weather so much colder than it had been six weeks earlier.

The only motorcycle gang seen on the entire trip was near Tucumcari, N.M. Then the lonely twosome breathed a sigh of relief when they were safely away from some 15 riders, clad in solid black.

When questioned about the expense of the trip Gunter said because of his cycle trouble and a new set of tires purchased in California, it had run him over the $750 figure. "But I think I have learned enough on this trip that I could do it over for $500." Everything was so expensive, at one place gasoline was $1.06 per gallon.

The travelers also cautioned they'd not want to make the trip alone. They felt having a 'buddy' along was safer and more enjoyable, although they did see cyclists traveling alone.

Carson commented "I just praise the Lord for letting us make this great trip, and especially for bringing us back safely. It was a fantastic trip of a lifetime."

Gunter added, "Yes, and I was glad to get back to the good old USA. The only friendly people we saw outside the nation's boundary were American tourists who were also looking for a friendly face. I am really sold on my country. It is the greatest place and ours are the greatest people in the world."

COOKING FOR THE TEACHERS -- Members of the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture board served as hosts to the Olton school teachers Thursday night. Cooking the hamburgers are Leon Noack and Dale Cary. Looking on are Bill Morris and Lauis Hair.

hunt area. Statistics show that, on a national average, five shells are required per bird. Humorously the film noted that many hunters do not fall in that average.

Studies have shown that in the 18 states that have no dove season, there are fewer dove. Studies are also made by teams of biologists in a relatively new program. Dove hunters send in one wing from each dove they kill. From these, biologists can determine much about the reproduction, longevity and habits of the mourning dove.

"Good hunting," Peer told his listeners, telling them that dove populations were reported heavy this year.

Lion Boss Gary Turner announce the Lions Club annual broom sale is Tuesday, Sept. 6 with the Lighthouse for the Blind Caravan arriving in town about 8 a.m.

BILL NELSON

JUDY NELSON

MIKE NELSON

Memories Bring Back Jamboree

Summer of '77 will be one that will long be remembered by the Bill Nelson family. Summer vacation for the trio was spent in an unusual way - all attended the National Scout Jamboree in Moraine State Park in Pennsylvania.

Bill, band director at Olton schools, was director of the jamboree band which played in various ceremonies during the eight-day event. Assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 220, he is a unit commissioner.

Mrs. Nelson, Judy, served as an assistant on the commissary staff for the jamboree. She is office manager for the South Plains Council office in Lubbock and commutes to work five days a week. The rewards more than compensate for the inconvenience of the distance she must travel, Judy says.

Mike, 12, attended the jamboree as a participating Scout. He was one of some 80 Scouts from South Plains Council who traveled to the jamboree by chartered bus.

Ironically, Judy was the first to apply for the jamboree. "The office told me I could go, so I was really excited about applying," she said.

Her application was sent in September, 1976. Three months later Bill applied, after learning that a band director was needed.

"Mike was the last of the three of us to apply," Judy says. "He saw that he was going to make first class Scout (the minimum rank) and he applied."

Since the Nelsons applied at different times, it wasn't surprising that each went to the jamboree by different means of transportation and each left on a different day.

Mike's departure was first with the bus contingent leaving July 25 and making several side tours enroute to the jamboree. Judy left by plane July 29 with her duties beginning the following day.

Driving a van, with 10 area Scouts who were members of the jamboree band as his passengers, Bill left several days prior to their July 30 reporting date.

"Next time, I think I'll fly and let Judy drive," he says.

Bill comments that the most impressive thing about the jamboree for him was that "six to seven thousand adult scouters, in different capacities, from all over the country in different walks of life, could put something that large together."

"They were all volunteer helpers, most never knew each other before but they walked in and went to work together."

The jamboree, he said, was "the biggest thing I've ever been involved with."

Everyone attending the jamboree was quartered in tents which made up 10 or 12 "tent cities." Boys were divided into seven region camps with each region having two or three sub-camps. Regions ranged from approximately 4,000 to as many as 6,000 boys. The staff was divided into three sub-camps.

The Nelsons saw each other "occasionally," Bill says. He saw Mike twice and one evening he and Judy had supper with Mike's troop.

Weather almost played havoc with the jamboree, Mike explains. "We had two days of sunshine. The rest of the time it was rainy or raining. A bunch of the tents were new (hadn't been weathered) and a bunch leaked. We stayed in the tents a lot of the time."

"We played Frisbee in the mud - Frisbee football and all sorts of games. There were bicycles to rent but that didn't help much in the mud."

"There was a little bridge across a stream and it got so muddy around it they had to close off the bridge and we had to walk two and a half miles around. You could go by buses but they just went about two miles an hour because of the crowds, so you could outrun the buses."

Mike grins as he recalls that Scouts revised the name Moraine State Park to "More Rain" Park.

A Merit Badge Midway was set up for Scouts to offer ideas and lend aid and information in earning badges. "Things like communications or electronics and such," Mike explains. "We re-named it Merit Badge Mudway. Mud was an inch or more deep everywhere."

Bill says booths were set up for every merit badge available and staffed by experts in each field. The music merit badge booth was manned by personnel from the Berkley School of Music.

"The most fun," Mike says, "were the arena shows."

"They were gigantic entertainment productions," his father adds.

Featured in the spectaculars were a country band from the Navy, a professional singing group that presented mostly patriotic songs, Burl Ives as a mainstay entertainer, Miss Teenage America and America's Junior Miss.

"And a fantastic audio-visual slide production show," adds Bill.

Mike and Bill were equally enthusiastic about the fireworks display. (Judy, at work during the Nelsons' interview, had no opportunity to comment on this.)

"It was the largest display of fireworks I've ever seen in my life," Bill says, explaining that it was accompanied by the Navy Band.

"There were some fireworks that had never been used before in America. They'd light up things just like daytime. Some were 36 inches in diameter and they even shook the ground. A boy behind me said, 'We're in World War III'," Mike added.

Bill's band, 70 members, was made up of Scouts from Seattle, Wash. to San Juan, Puerto Rico.

"They were very good," he says. "I was tickled to death to get to work with them."

Park concerts were given by the band in nearby Newcastle and Butler.

"Butler seems 'Small Town USA'," says Bill. "But the people turned out great. They gave us a very, very cordial reception."

Mike says his father was given a patch from every member of the band. Patch and memorablia swapping was a big part of the jamboree.

"It was the greatest single phenomenon," Bill says. "It was overwhelming -- constant. Little groups of Scouts sitting around trading patches or whatever -- almost like big business."

Mike says there were some "really prize trades." Rattlesnake rattlers were a big item sought by Scouts who lived in areas where the rattler is unknown.

"I had one to trade but one of my tentmates put his knee on it and it didn't rattle so good, so I didn't get to make a trade with it."

Most of the Scouts attending the jamboree, an every four years event, were older than Mike although he met one his age who had almost completed all the requirements in earning his Eagle Rank.

Despite the rain, the Scouts had the opportunity for a "row-in" every day. "There was this big, big, big lake. We had rowing and canoeing, it was a lot of fun."

Particularly impressive also to Bill was the "awareness trail" offered at the jamboree. "It was manned entirely by the handicapped. It was set up so that others might see how the handicapped coped. Each person went through as though they were handicapped in some manner."

"Everything was super organized," says Bill. "Each troop had their own correspondent for the news service and they published a daily paper. There were kids on the staff -- two or three hundred all over the place, trying to cover the jamboree. Each morning when they picked up their breakfast food, they picked up their daily paper."

"And there was a radio station, an AM station operated by Scouts. And ham radio - kids could try that too."

Judy was one of only about 100 women serving on the jamboree staff, the first year women have been allowed to serve. Never before have women filled any capacity, even as telephone operators. Not only the last member of the family to leave for the jamboree, she was the last to arrive home.

Mike and his fellow Scouts aboard the two buses arrived home at 6 a.m. after an all-night drive. His father arrived the next day about mid-afternoon but Judy, who knew in advance that she would be the last to arrive, had made plans for Mike to stay in Lubbock in the home of one of Judy's co-workers at the council office. Judy arrived home another day later.

Some of the "extras" for Mike included a stop-over in St. Louis, Mo. and a visit to the Arch although the boys did not get to go up to the top because their stop was not long enough.

The buses went into Canada and the Scouts saw Niagara Falls from the Canadian side. They saw two or three of the Great Lakes which impressed Mike as "endless water."

Enroute home, the buses stopped in Indianapolis and the Scouts rode a bus around the 500 Speedway and were shown pit stops used this year by Richard Petty and the first woman qualifier. They also saw the offical pace car and visited the museum where they saw trophies of past winners, a hydrofoil boat and "all sorts of really early race cars that look soft of like soap box derbies."

VISITORS FROM JAPAN toured facilities at Olton Grain Co-op this week. Representatives of the largest cooperative in Japan, they are in the States to study American dairy farming.

Japanese Dairy Farmers Tour Olton Grain Co-op

A group of Japanese dairy farmers toured the facilities at Olton Grain Co-op this week as guests of Producers Grain Corporation.

Representatives of the largest cooperative in Japan, Zen-noh of Tokyo, they were members of the Shihoro City Agricultural Cooperative.

Their purpose for being in the United States is to study American dairy farm business and other coop farm businesses.

Two ladies accompanied the group of men on the tour, which is rather unusual. One of the guides explained that the ladies' husbands were too busy to make the tour and sent the wives to gather data for them.

Ron Okuyama, a trainee for distribution of grain sorghum and corn, said that the average size farm in Japan was four acres.

He stated that everything out in Texas "is so wide, is so flat".

Although the Japanese dairy farmers have to import about sixty percent of the grain fed to their cattle, they produce enough dairy products to supply the demands of Japan's 110 million people.

The grain is imported from the United States as whole kernel grains and process after it reaches Japan. The representative of the group stated that absolutely nothing was wasted.

George Bourns, representative of Producer Grain Corporation, stated that of the 52 countries that the U.S. supplies grain to, the Ken-noh Co-op buys most.

"Zen-noh owns seven ocean freighters which are loaded with grain out of Corpus Christi," Bourns said.

All sales are reported to the United States Department of Agriculture, Bourns said, and all sales are subject to USDA inspection and grades.

Bourns reported that after the grain export investigations made following the controversy, the co-op marketing exporters came through with a complete and total clean slate.

He remarked that "PGC has thoroughly enjoyed the relationship that we have had with these people from Japan in the last few years that we have been exporting grian to them. They are gracious people."

Ronnie Dennis Gets Master's

A Masters Degree of Animal Science was conferred upon Ronnie Dennis, by West Texas State University, Aug. 13 at Southwest Church of Christ in Amarillo. He received a Bachelor's degree of Agriculture Education from Texas Tech College in 1964.

He is a 1958 graduate of Olton High School and presently teaching vocational Agriculture at Kress High School, a position he has held the last 11 years. He is also a member of Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Nixon. He is married to the former Bobbye Tollett and has two children, DeAndra and Jill.

Those attending the graduation exercises from Olton were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Houston, Dana and Denise.

Higginses On LCC Staff

Two former Lubbock and Olton residents and charter faculty members of Lubbock Christian College are rejoining the LCC staff this month. Elvin and Myrtle Higgins of Garland will be working for the college as special representatives in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area.

They will "aid in recruiting, development and in general public relations for the college," states Dr. Harvie Pruitt, LCC president.

The Higgins moved to Lubbock from Olton in 1957 to help establish LCC. He had been minister of Main Street Church of Christ two years. They remained at the college until 1968. During their eleven years at LCC he served as director of Admissions and head of the math department while she served as dean of women, director of testing, and principal of Lubbock Christian Schools.

In 1970 they moved to the Dallas area where he now works for Littlefield Enterprises, a coal energy construction firm, and she teaches at Eastland Junior College.

The couple were very popular at LCC. The class of 1965 dedicated the college yearbook to them and honored them as having "the largest family in the world," because of their association with young people at LCC.

The Higgins have been associated with two other Christian colleges during their years. They both hold masters degrees from Oklahoma State University.

IN COLORADO

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pittilo, Mickey and Rodney were in Antonito, Colo. five days last week. They stayed overnight in Canyon with the Pittilo's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Pittilo.

RECENT VISITORS

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Starritt were their sons-in-law and daughters Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vaughn of San Manuel, Ariz. and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nipper of Odessa accompanied by their grandson, Allen Koester, also of Odessa.

DINNER GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. C.D. Tanner had as luncheon guests Monday her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Allen of Merkel, their granddaughter, Tina Searcy of Abilene and their daughter, Mrs. Gerald Nixon.
